Insects Cause Some Damage To County Crop

But Bug Population Lowered by Heat

County agricultural agent Buddy C. Logsdon Saturday said that insect infestations are on an increase in the county, but not to the point that insecticides are necessary at present.

He said that "this is a critical time during the year for protecting crops from insect damage."

On early planted cotton in Mitchell County, insect infestations need to be watched closely, he warned.

However, he indicated, due to the hot, dry weather experienced during the past few days, many cotton pests will not be too active.

Insects causing the most trouble at the present time are garden webworms, or, as they are commonly called, "careless worm."

Logsdon said the infestations are largely confined to China Grove and the area north of Lorraine.

The county agent said the webworm feeds normally on the careless weed, but when the weed is "hoed out" or destroyed by cultivators, the worm moves to cotton. He said a few substantial damages to cotton had been noted.

Boll weevils are present in the county. However, their movement from hibernation is not as high as had been earlier expected, he said, and indicated that this was also probably due to the hot weather.

In the southern portions of the state, boll weevils are increasing and migrating from heavily infested fields to younger cotton.

This situation, Logsdon said, may soon be expected in most of the state. He said "farmers in our area should keep a close watch for weevils."

Bollworm infestations may be expected in many areas of the state, according to Weldon H. Newton, assistant extension entomologist for Texas A&M College.

He said records indicate that bollworm eggs are being found in almost all areas of the state. He said "Cotton should be inspected regularly to determine when to initiate treatments for control of the worm."

Apad populations are reported as scattered and variable, but no area has reported controls being needed.

The newly-published "Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects" is now available at the county agent's office, Logsdon indicated.

He suggested that farmers follow the recommendations set forth in the publication, which has been published especially for this area.

Several Fires In City Area, Little Damage

There were three grass fires in the Colorado City area this week.

A grass fire was started at the Colorado Machine shop when sparks from pipe being cut flew into some grass, causing it to blaze.

There was another railroad fire this week. These fires are probably being started by passing trains, according to city officials.

The other grass fire was on the Dee Basham farm 12 miles south of Colorado City.

A sorghum alum patch 3 miles east of town blazed Wednesday evening, but there was no report available on the extent of damage.

There was relatively little damage caused by the fires.

Rites Held for David N. Pace

David Nelson Pace, age 60, died unexpectedly at his home in the Fairview community, of a heart attack, about 5 p.m. Tuesday.

A farmer, he was born in Mitchell County September 11, 1901 and had lived here all his life. He and the former Gertrude Odell were married here on December 24, 1927.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Thursday at the grave side in the Colorado City Cemetery, with brother G. F. Cauten, minister of the North Side Church of Christ, officiating.

Burial was under the direction of Kiker and Son. Pallbearers were Dick Thompson, Cecil Erwin, R. B. Baker, H.J. Stockton, Jack Bourland, Bob Golden, Drew Cawthron, and Tommy Davenport.

Mr. Pace is survived by his wife, two sons, Darrell Pace of Pecos, Horace Pace of Colorado City, one daughter, Mrs. Don Narrell of Odessa, two brothers, P. H. Pace of Colorado City, P. B. Pace of Lamesa, three sisters, Mrs. E. E. McMillan of Cuthbert, Mrs. C. L. Hale of Stanton, Mrs. T. J. Grimes of San Angelo, and 3 grandchildren.

A DANGER TO CHILDREN

Poison Suspected In Dog Deaths

A series of suspected dog poisonings caused concern here for the safety of children.

Police warned that poisoning of animals in the city not only is against the law, but could result in tragedy if the poison is found by small children.

The warning came after 4 dogs in the vicinity of E. Sixth St. and Austin died under mysterious circumstances and a fifth disappeared.

Owners of the dogs reported to the Record they believed the pets were killed by poison. They said one of the animals died soon after playing with a group of children.

"We want to impress upon all persons that any attempt to poison animal pets is a serious threat to the safety of small children," Assistant Police Chief Truman Henderson said.

"The poisoned food could be found by children too young to know the consequences, and thus result in serious harm or death to the unsuspecting child," he emphasized.

Mrs. Ora Compton, 796 E. 6th St., said her 7-month-old Collie was found dead in her

"STORY OF CLUB WORK"

4-H Club Holding Record Workshop

Buddy C. Logsdon, county agricultural agent, announced Friday that a 4-H Club "record book workshop" will be held Tuesday.

The workshop will be in the conference room of the City National Bank at 9:30 a. m. through noon.

Logsdon said 4-H club records are an important part of the 4-H club members training.

"They tell the story of the club member's work. A record includes a standard report which is a complete and accurate description of all the 4-H club activities in which the member has participated," he said.

The record books contain such things as member's personal story on "What I have

1 STATE EQUALS 3 OF TEXAS

Land of Kangaroo — Bigger than Texas

By PAT BARRY
Record Staff Writer

"Australians are very nice, friendly people, but they are always late."

So spoke Mr. G. F. Cauten, new minister at the North Side Church of Christ, who has recently returned from a two-year tenure in the "down under" continent.

The Alabama native, who is incidentally an Abilene Christian graduate, worked with the Heidelberg Church of Christ in Melbourne from June of 1960 'til May of this year.

He did not keep entirely to the big (2 million population) city, however, but worked "in the bush" as far as 2,500 miles north in the state of Queensland. Queensland is three times the size of Texas, a state which has lately been deflated at regular intervals by Alaska and some of the new African states and is beginning to take on some of the aspects of a pin-pricked balloon.

There are but six states in Australia, Cauten said. The small number is due to the very sparse population of the nation—about 10 million, of whom 6 million live in three cities.

He said that when one leaves the city, he is "really in the country." Three or four hundred miles between filling stations if indeed there are any is routine, and there are practically no people in the desert or the "bush" except for the sheep-farmers and rabbit hunters.

Many people, speaking of rabbits, make a fair to moderate living as professional rabbit hunters, he said. There is no restriction on the taking of rabbits, and the hides bring a surprising price. Farmers are more than eager for hunters to take rabbits—they eat what the farmers intend for the sheep to eat, and there just isn't enough for both. The hare is not a native of Australia, but was introduced several decades ago, and is now completely out of hand, even with poisoning, which is not very effective in the wide open spaces.

This pioneering, outdoor spirit is probably the cause of the Australian's tardiness Cauten mentioned. Holidays are arranged so that they fall on Mondays, so that weekends sometimes run from Friday at noon to Tuesday morning.

When these weekends come, the Australian packs up his family and hits the beaches, which are some of the best kept in the world, and stays there until he must go back to work.

There is an emphasis on beauty in Australia, a luxury none but a relatively new, unspoiled nation can afford. Mel-

SCHOOL SERIES REPORT

Tax Collector Has Difficult Duties

By PAT BARRY
Record Staff Writer

Editor's note: This is the fourth in a series of articles dealing with the operation of the Colorado Independent School District.

Schools are run by money. The necessary money comes to the schools in various forms, most of which eventually find their way to the school tax office.

This article is about how the money is gotten, and what happens to it after it is received.

The tax collector has a hodge-podge of duties, but they are oriented toward a single goal—keeping the school system on a financially sound footing.

The tax collector must assess and collect all local school taxes for the Colorado City Independent School District. He must also receive all money due the district from the state for school purposes.

Receipts of local and state funds are budgeted by the superintendent of schools and the president of the school board, and are approved by the board, however, and all disbursements of money are governed accordingly.

The collector must keep an accounting of all financial transactions by an accounting system which satisfies the laws of the state. The office is audited each year by a private auditor. The year is a fiscal one—September 1 through August 31.

He also serves as the recording secretary for the school board.

In short, the tax collector is

Chamber Studying Sites For Bypass Billboards

The Chamber of Commerce's sign study committee met Friday morning in the chamber offices, according to James Hull, chairman.

He said the committee decided on a three-fold purpose.

First, to study bids for making the signs, which are to be placed near the Interstate 20 bypass. The signs will promote Colorado City's recreational attractions to travelers.

Secondly, to study basic design ideas for the composition of the billboards and make recommendations, and thirdly, secure easements on property on which to place the signs.

The committee, which at present is comprised of two men—Hull and Don Benson, will add a third member shortly, Hull said.

After determining the functions of the committee, the committee, accompanied by chamber president Bob Carver, and manager R. L. (Dick) Kendall, went to the bypass area to look over site possibilities.

J. D. Norman Undergoes Surgery

J. D. Norman, 128 W. 10th St., is recovering from surgery performed Friday at Baylor Memorial Hospital in Dallas. Norman entered the hospital Tuesday. Mrs. Norman is with him in Dallas. He is manager of Higginbotham Bartlett Lumber Company here.

Fore!

W. R. (Jinx) Powell, left, and R. P. (Pete) Ainsworth practice for the 14th annual Colorado City Country Club golf tournament. The tournament began Friday, and will end today. The two local men will be competing with 110 other hopeful golfers.

County Simmers — In July Heat Wave

It is that season again. Pavement takes a liquescent hold on automobile tires as it turns a shiny black in the heat, automobile interiors reach the boiling point, and so do the tempers of drivers "out in the midday sun."

Mitchell County is in a July heat wave.

There has been no rain this month but a single, irritating trace on July 1, to relieve county crops.

Thursday the heat reached a peak of 105 degrees, and there has been only one day when the maximum temperature was under 100—July 5, when the little red lines dropped to 99.

Temperature maximums, by day, have been as follows: July 4, 100; 5, 99; 6, 102; 7, 101; 8, 102; 9, 100; 10, 103; 11, 104, and 12, 105.

However, hot the present heat wave seems it is not unusual or a record of any kind. On June 30, 1907, the high temperature for the day was an egg-frying-on-the-sidewalk 115.

In the June of 1910, temperatures never dropped below 85 degrees, and only got that "cozy" on 4 days. That June, it rained only 10 inches.

The highest temperatures we can find for summer months were in 1902 and 1907. The last three days of June, 1907 were the hottest—103, 113, and 115 degrees. And it was 107 the first of that July.

In 1902, there were several days when the temperature was over the 110 mark. That June, after a week of temperatures of from 103 to 112 degrees, it suddenly dropped, on the 22nd, to 77—but then it was 105 the next day.

Up And Over

Work continues on the Interstate 20 bypass around Colorado City. This overpass, on the east side of town, has recently been completed. Road in the background is the route the Interstate system will take around the city. Work is expected to be completed in the fall.

CROWN BOWL TIPS

By Lonnie Bounds

Back-ups Don't Strike

A back-up ball is simply a hook that goes the wrong way.

Some back-ups result from a bowler who throws a straight ball gradually putting more speed on the ball as he bowls more and more.

Back-ups get few strikes. You have no leeway at all; it must be perfect. With a hook, however, you can be a bit off and still get a strike because of its motion.

The hook's motion makes the ball drive into the pins instead of going away from them, as the back-up does.

WESTBROOK METHODIST CLASS

The Will of God Is Discussion

"The Will of God" was the title of the devotion presented by Mrs. Jewell Criswell to members of the Builders Class of the Westbrook Methodist Church at the Thursday night Church at the July 5 meeting in the home of Mrs. T. L. McKenney, Mrs. L. E. Gressett was cohostess.

Mrs. Criswell told the members, "So many people say they want, but cannot find, the will of God for their lives. There is a reason for feeling so. We want God's guidance in some things, but not in all things. But, God will not guide us under those conditions.

"Jesus was the human life of God, and in him we see what God is like, and what we may be like. When in doubt as to our actions, do the most Christ-like thing and you will not go wrong.

"God guides us according to a pattern he has for each of us, for God does have a plan for each individual life. To find that plan of God, under His guidance, gives meaning, dignity and worth to life."

The president, Mrs. J. D. Iglehart, was in charge of the meeting. The opening prayer was led by Mrs. C. W. Newton.

The members voted to purchase new curtains for the parsonage. Mrs. Frank Oglesby, Mrs. Price Hendrix, Mrs. Iglehart and Mrs. J. L. Rees were appointed on the committee to purchase the curtains.

The meeting was dismissed with the motto.

Refreshments were served, and Mrs. McKenney showed the group the slides her family had taken on their visit to the Holy Land.

Donna Hall To Band School

Donna Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Hall, China Grove, will leave July 15 to attend the McMurry College summer band and twirling school in Abilene. She is a member of the Colorado City Junior High School Concert Band.

ARE YOU A MILLIONAIRE? Don't reckon so, but you'll feel like one when Dime Days come to the Palace.

Would You Like to Know More About . . .

. . . God?

. . . Christianity?

. . . the Episcopal Church?

Inquirer's Classes begin Sunday, July 15, at 7:30 P. M. in All Saints' Episcopal Church, E. Third at Locust.

Attendance implies no obligation whatsoever. These classes are for members of any church who wish to broaden their understanding of other Christian denominations.

py, dead in her yard Friday

The small brown dog had no collar, she said.

Mrs. Nancy S. Womack, 904

Cedar St. found her 9-year-old

Chow dead Friday morning.

She said she had let the dog in about 1 a. m. Friday morning, but put him out immediately.

The dog acted sick at the time she stated.

Mrs. C. J. Cobley, 761 E.

5th St., said that Friday she found her son's black and white pup sick. The dog died a short time afterward. She indicated that the dog had been in perfect health.

Yankees on Top Rung In Major League Ladder

The Little League in Colorado

City has bills of over $500 which must be paid.

A benefit game will be played at Little League Field Tuesday

at 8 p. m. by the league

"dads and managers." They hope to use receipts from the game to pay the bills. The concession stand will be open during the game.

The Major League All-Star

will have play-offs in Snyder on Thursday and Friday, (July 19 and 20).

The major league all star team will play the best of the rest of the league, Saturday,

July 14.

The all star team lost its first practice game with the second string 24 to 11, strangely enough. The second string ers had 5 doubles and 9 singles to the all stars' homer, triple,

2 doubles, and 10 singles.

But the real story was in the 9-count, 9 errors by the
