Army Sec'y, McCarthy Set To Meet

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) questioned the "honesty or intelligence" of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker and told him: "You should be removed from any command" in their stormy closed - door session last week, it was disclosed today.

At the same time, it was announced that a scheduled appearance of Stevens before McCarthy's committee tomorrow had been postponed until Thursday morning.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), fresh from a running clash over McCarthy's interrogation of Army officers, meet face to face on the issue tomorrow before a nationwide audience.

Turned down twice in two days on demands he made to the Army, McCarthy has summoned its civilian head to appear before his Senate investigations subcommittee here at 10:30 a.m. EST tomorrow.

He said Stevens would be asked to explain what the senator termed an attempt by the Army "to coddle and promote Communists."

Stevens said he received no official notification, but would be glad to appear. That was after he had ordered two generals not to comply with calls for their appearance before McCarthy's subcommittee.

Objecting to the humiliation he said was inflicted on one of them at a hearing by McCarthy last week, Stevens said, "I cannot permit the loyal officers of our armed forces to be subjected to such unwarranted treatment."

The secretary is a former textile manufacturer who himself served as an Army officer in both world wars.

He said he was afraid the "prestige and morale" of the military would be weakened by "unfair tactics on our officer corps."

Tomorrow's hearing will be public and will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Co. television network.

On Friday the Army let go by a deadline McCarthy had set for it to produce the names of all personnel connected with the promotion and honorable discharge of a reserve officer who had declined to say whether he was ever a Communist. The information has not yet been given the senator.

McCarthy said in New York yesterday that the reserve major involved, Dr. Irving Peress, a dentist, was "commissioned, promoted, saved from overseas orders and awarded an honorable discharge, all despite an open record of active membership in the Communist conspiracy."

Peress was discharged from the Army at his own request Feb. 2.

He called McCarthy's charges "sheer nonsense" and said in a statement issued in New York:

"Prior to my discharge I invited an inquiry by the Army concerning my activities as an officer. Apparently this was not considered necessary. . . "

In his investigation of the Peress case, McCarthy last week summoned to a closed hearing in New York Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Wicker, commanding officer of Camp Kilmer, N.J., where Peress was stationed.

Afterwards McCarthy, who conducted the hearing without any of his subcommittee colleagues, said the general had acknowledged knowing about the subcommittee's purported evidence against Peress. But Wicker told reporters McCarthy "gave a colored and slanted version of my testimony, twisting everything he could."

McCarthy subsequently summoned Wicker and Maj. Gen. William Bergin, Army adjutant general, to a hearing.

"1. Because of the tremendous importance to the country of the Army's attempt to coddle and promote Communists, and then claim special immunity from legislative investigation and exposure of the malefactors, and

Indiana Pair Found Dead, Pose Puzzle

ROCKVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Two bodies in a wrecked automobile—a woman riddled by bullets and a man without a mark of violence—gave state police and the coroner a mystery today.

Coroner B. M. Merrell said the man was Clarence Anderson, 52-year-old Putnam County farmhand. He planned an autopsy to determine the cause of death.

The woman, in the late 40s, was not positively identified, but the coroner said she closely resembled a picture Anderson carried in his billfold, which bore the name of Marie Myers, Indianapolis.

The bodies were found in a car which ran off Highway 59 north of Bellmore last night. Anderson was slumped at the wheel, and the woman's body was in the back, covered by blankets. The rear seat cushion had been removed.

Other motorists told the coroner the car went off the road after weaving as if the driver were drunk.

Dr. Merrell said Miss Myers' parents in Indianapolis stated that she left home yesterday to be married to a man who looked like a farmer, whose name they did not know.

The woman apparently had been killed at the tenant home where Anderson lived alone on the farm of Oscar Clodfelter near Russellville, Dr. Merrell said. Anderson was a widower whose children were grown.

Bullet marks and blood stains were found in the home.

Police Think Big Snooze Error Also

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Giles F. Spiva protested to police who awakened him from his snooze that "it was all a big mistake."

The officers were summoned by Charles Lindsay, who said there was a strange man asleep in his bed.

Spiva, 29, told police he had lived at that house six months ago and had just made a mistake. He was led to jail to finish his nap there on a drunkenness count.

Rosenberg Orphans

Robert, 6, at left, and Michael Rosenberg, 11, sons of executed atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, hug their grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Rosenberg, after a New York court placed them in her temporary custody Saturday. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children had charged that the boys, living with a New York couple, were "exploited for fund raising propositions." Further consideration of the case will be made later. (AP Wirephoto).

YOUTHS ALMOST DIG WAY OUT

STANTON (SC) — Two Midland youths, jailed here Saturday night for being in their cups, almost left ahead of schedule.

Put into the city pokey, an old sandstone building on the courthouse square, they dislodged some of the plumbing before setting to work on the walls.

They almost had dug out some of the soft blocks before Night Patrolman Walter Graves happened by the jail in the patrol car. Sunday they were fined and released to their parents, with provision made for repair of the damage.

Suspects Are Quizzed In Rape-Death

DALLAS (AP) — Three Negroes were questioned today in the slaying of a white woman who may have also been raped. Two little girls found her beaten body yesterday in an alley behind a warehouse near downtown Dallas.

Homicide Capt. Will Fritz identified the victim as Mrs. Jewell B. Cola, 58, of Tucson, Ariz., wife of an Air Force sergeant stationed at Bangor, Maine. Fritz said she'd been visiting here about a month with a friend, Mrs. James R. Ferguson of Dallas.

Preliminary examination indicated death was from a blow behind the left ear. She also had been hit in the mouth. Two teeth were knocked out.

The three Negro men had been arrested in connection with other offenses before Mrs. Cola's body was found just a few doors from the rooming house where Mrs. Ferguson lives. Two were picked up for drunkenness.

Fritz figured the woman was murdered sometime late Saturday night or early yesterday morning and had been dead six or eight hours when her body was found. Fritz said she apparently had been robbed.

Police, tracing her whereabouts before she was slain, said Mrs. Cola visited several taverns.

"She left home about noon Saturday," Mrs. Ferguson said. "She said she was going to visit her sister, Mrs. George W. Scott (of Dallas.)" Mrs. Scott said her sister never arrived.

Stanton Set For Visit By State Legion Commander

STANTON (SC) — Program details for the appearance of L. E. Page, department commander for the American Legion, here Tuesday have been completed.

Page, an insurance and real estate broker in private life, is to speak on the topic of Americanism at a public rally in the high school gymnasium.

His appearance will be preceded at 7:30 p.m. by a 30-minute band concert by the Big Spring High School Band under direction of Clyde Rowe. Dan Renfro, chairman of the Legion's Americanism committee at Stanton, will introduce the speaker after the invocation by the Rev. E. B. Coon of the First Baptist Church. Ralph Caton will be master of ceremonies and Sam Houston, post commander, will preside. Presentation of a gift to the state commander will be made by Jack Arrington. The meeting, which is expected to draw a large crowd, will be climaxed with singing of "God Bless America."

Jap War Criminal Goes Back To Jail

TOKYO (AP)—A disappointed Japanese war criminal, released from captivity by mistake last June, returned to prison today.

He was former military police Sgt. Maj. Tetsuo Hayashi, 38, freed from Sugamo Prison, Tokyo, after six years confinement. Recently The Netherlands government, which had sentenced him, informed the Japanese Justice Ministry the record mistakenly listed his term as 10 years instead of life. Error was made during transfer from Dutch authorities to the Japanese government.

Informed of the error, Hayashi returned to jail.

GOP Speaker Sets New Efficiency Claim

FORT WORTH (AP)—A Republican speaker says the Small Business Administration is now doing the work of two agencies with the staff of one.

Robert C. Jones, assistant to the director of SBA, spoke yesterday on the Republican Party's weekly Texas radio program.

He said the SBA has taken on the loan functions of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. and the Small Defense Plants Corp. He said this work is being done with a staff of about 500, which was about the strength of the former SDPA.

Billy Graham In Fuss Concerning British Politics

LONDON (AP)—A Labor member of Parliament said today Billy Graham will meet British Laborites in an attempt to quiet bitter criticism sparked by an anti-Socialist reference in a calendar advertising the American evangelist's coming appearance in Britain.

Laborite Geoffrey de Freitas announced in a press statement that Graham "has asked to see me and my colleagues of the parliamentary Socialist Christian group on his arrival." The meeting will take place Friday.

Graham and his associates apologized profusely earlier today that they really meant to blast "secularism," not "socialism."

The uproar was touched off last weekend by a calendar put out by the Billy Graham Evangelical Assn., as Graham headed for a three-month religious crusade in Britain. This was the offending quotation:

"When the war ended, a sense of frustration and disillusionment gripped England, and what Hitler's bombs couldn't do, socialism with its accompanying evils shortly accomplished.

"England's historic faith faltered. The churches standing gradually emptied."

Graham from the liner cabled an apology which the pro-Labor Daily Herald printed on the front page. But the paper commented that "unwittingly or not," the evangelist had "slandered" the 13,948,385 Britons who voted Socialist in 1951.

In Minneapolis, the Graham Evangelistic Assn's secretary-treasurer, George Wilson, said the calendars had been sent from his office and "the word socialism was . . . inadvertently used instead of the word secularism"—a view of life which ignores or excludes religion.

China Reds Okay Parley

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China tonight put its stamp of approval on the Big Four decision to hold an Asian peace conference at Geneva starting April 26 and said the parley should ease world tension.

"The Chinese people express their support for it," said Peiping radio, the voice of Red China.

The broadcast heard here quoted an editorial in the official Peiping People's Daily as saying, "Without doubt this agreement will gradually reduce international tension."

Communist China will attend the conference, but U. S. Secretary of State Dulles has stressed that the invitation does not mean U. S. diplomatic recognition.

South Korea and Nationalist China both have assailed the Berlin decision as a sell-out of their interests.

Peiping radio called the Big Four decision a "result of the untiring effort of the Soviet government to bring about negotiations between the big powers to seek a solution of vital international issues."

Pope's Birthday Due

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII, convalescing and still very feeble after a month's illness, will observe his birthday in his Vatican apartment. He will be 78 March 2. That also is the anniversary of his election to the pontificate 15 years ago.

U. S. Judges Deny Plea From Anti-Parr Group

Goes Solomon One Better

General Sessions Judge Robert Hoffman, center, had trouble making the big decision in a case in Memphis, Tenn., Friday involving these two boys and a Collie (left). The facial expressions and the two dogs explain the outcome. Judge Hoffman let Johnny Thomas (left) keep Laddie and gave Richard Hargrove, 12, a Collie pup. Richard said he found Laddie and claimed ownership. It was mere coincidence, said the judge, with a straight face, that he happened to have the second dog in court. (AP Wirephoto).

Duval's Freedom Party Loses Out

By WILBUR MARTIN and MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Three federal judges today dismissed the petition of five Freedom Party members who sought to intervene in political boss George Parr's injunction suit against two Texas Rangers.

"It is the concensus of opinion the petition should be dismissed," Judge T. M. Kennerly said just 22 minutes after Arthur Garfield Hays, famed New York City civil rights attorney, had opened the hearing by moving for the dismissal.

Kennerly announced the ruling after conferring briefly on the bench with Judges Allen B. Hannay and Ben C. Connally.

The judges then turned to Parr's petition in which he seeks an injunction to keep the Rangers from harming him.

The five members of Parr's political opposition had sought to intervene, claiming that without the Rangers they would suffer from Parr and Duval County peace officers they claim he dominates.

Two Texas Rangers earlier charged that Parr is trying to dodge payment for his own wrong acts by seeking court action against them.

Hays said the intervenors' petition was "wholly improper."

"I brought my case here to protect his (Parr's) civil rights," Hays said. "What possible connection has their contention he has violated their civil rights?"

Markel Heath, an attorney for the Freedom Party members, told the judges that if the Rangers were dismissed from Duval County "our rights will be denied, our people could not speak as they please, vote as they please."

Heath and attorney Jacob S. Floyd Sr. of Alice said Parr has been a political dictator of Duval County over 20 years.

Parr, neatly dressed in a brown suit, sat three chairs from Hays and displayed no emotions. He kept his eyes turned to the ceiling during most of the discussions.

Hays opened by saying Ranger Capt. Alfred Allee and Ranger Joe Bridge had interfered with Parr's civil rights.

"My client is George Parr," Hays said. "The defendants, Texas Rangers, by course of conduct, by threats and words, have threatened his life on occasion, have threatened to get him whether or not he is responsible. The Rangers have acted under pretense of the law. We have no other recourse except to bring our case into this court."

"The Rangers actually have behaved in a violent manner," the New York lawyer added.

Hays said he will base Parr's case on two events which took place on Jan. 18 in Alice and on Feb. 9 in San Diego.

Allee and Parr had a scuffle in the Jim Wells County courthouse Jan. 18. Parr received a bloody ear.

Parr claims that on Feb. 9 Allee told him "I am holding you directly responsible if anything happens to me or my men."

Floyd, in the opening remarks for the intervenors, said the Rangers "deny that at any time did they ever tell him (Parr) they would kill him."

"They have never violated a law, do not intend to violate a law," Floyd said. "They are only trying to maintain law and order. They have failed to receive cooperation from him (Parr)."

Floyd quoted freely from an answer filed to Parr's plea for an injunction.

Parr "does not come in court with clean hands," the Rangers said. "Nor does he show himself free from guile but seeks to take advantage of equity to relieve himself of the consequences of his own wrong doings."

They said the Duval County political kingpin was tied up with "gambling and prostitution" in the county. They said that as sheriff he failed to help them investigate the murder of Jacob S. Floyd Jr. at Alice in adjoining Jim Wells County, although one of his own deputies was later convicted of a part in the slaying.

They said Parr is a "political dictator" whose rule in Duval County goes back more than 20 years.

They listed many incidents of threats, violence and economic pressure they said Parr employed "to control the electorate vote of Duval county."

They also claimed that "for the last 10 years his (Parr's) influence, economically and politically,

REPORTS ON BIG 4

Dulles Meets With Chiefs In Congress

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifteen key members of Congress heard a report from Secretary of State Dulles today on the Berlin Big Four conference and came away with such non-committal comments as "interesting" and "informative."

Beyond that, about all any of them would say to reporters was a statement by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) that he feels "certain" the Berlin agreement to have an Asiatic peace conference at Geneva in April, with Communist Chinese delegates attending, does not imply diplomatic recognition of Red China.

House Republican Leader Martin (Mass) said Dulles gave a "very interesting" report but he would not discuss it further. House Democratic Leader Rayburn (Texas) nodded agreement with Martin.

Others attending the session were Sens. Wiley (R-Wis), Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas), Clements (D-Ky), George (D-Ga) and Russell (D-Ga), and Reps. Arends (R-Ill), Chiperfield (R-Ill), Vinson (D-Ga), McCormack (D-Mass) and Richards (D-SC).

Dulles already has said that in the arangements the United States got 100 per cent what it wanted. Some members of Congress expressed fears that the Geneva conference might break the ice for ultimate recognition of Red China or "appeasement."

Today's closed meeting is the first of five reports Dulles will give on the results of the four-week session with Russia's Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Britain's Anthony Eden and France's Georges Bidault.

In a move to reassure uneasy legislators, Dulles is expected to stress that the forthcoming parley with the Communists, set for April 26, does not foreshadow formal American diplomatic recognition or membership in the United Nations for the Peiping regime.

The secretary is reported ready to argue that the terms agreed upon were necessary in order to cut through the deadlocked preliminary peace talk at Panmunjom, which had been stalled since last Dec. 12 over a name-calling wrangle.

The secretary plans to follow up today's meeting by reporting tomorrow to the full House Foreign Affairs Committee in a closed door meeting. On Wednesday he is to give a similar accounting to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He is to give a nationwide 30-minute radio and television report to the nation Wednesday night.

In between these assignments, he plans to give a detailed report to President Eisenhower after the President returns from his Palm Springs, Calif., vacation Wednesday.

Solon Has Idea For Red Prison

WASHINGTON (AP) —Rep. Omar Burleson says Americans convicted of subversive activity should be sent to a prison island somewhere in the Pacific.

The Congressman from Anson, Tex., told of his plan yesterday as a guest of Sen. Lyndon Johnson on his weekly radio broadcast.

Burleson said he has introduced a resolution proposing that the Judiciary Committees of the House and Senate, along with the attorney general, investigate the feasibility of establishing a prison island somewhere in the Pacific for persons convicted of subversion.

Burleson said other measures have been introduced with the purpose of outlawing the Communist Party.

"If Washington is serious about meeting the threat of Communism in this country, it is my very strong opinion that nothing would have a greater effect than banishing them from these shores," he said.

"It is my understanding that, at the present time, convicted subversives lodged in our federal penitentiaries are carrying on their contacts on the outside. They become martyrs to a cause. They can also work their schemes on prisoners with which they are housed. We should get rid of them completely."

Burleson said he had seen "small remote islands in the Pacific where they would be safe."

Other guests on Johnson's broadcast were Rep. Olin Teague of College Station, who discussed Veterans Administration hospitals in Texas, and Rep. Clark Thompson of Galveston, who said there is talk of shutting down the Texas City tin smelter operated by the government.

"I think the whole move is shortsighted," Thompson said, "and I hope the administration will help try to keep the plant in operation, "especially because it does not cost the taxpayers' any money to operate it."

Smokers Urged To Get Chests X-Rayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Cancer Society's statistical research director said today a heavy smoker "is very foolish if he does not have a chest X-ray taken twice a year"—although there is no proof smoking causes cancer.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, the director, gave the advice in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News & World Report.

And the magazine described him as smoking during the interview.

Dr. Hammond said a heavy smoker should take the recommended precaution "so long as there is even a strong suspicion that smoking causes lung cancer."

But he also said everyone, especially those over 45, should have an X-ray at least once a year, and he added:

"If you are a timid soul, then you should also give up smoking at least until the facts are known."

Dr. Hammond indicated the kind of facts he is after by saying, "If we should find that the death rate from lung cancer is much higher among heavy smokers and the death rate from other forms of cancer is not one bit higher among heavy smokers, then I'd say the evidence would be extremely strong that there is a cause-and-effect relation."

He said his "personal guess right now" is that there is such a relationship between smoking and lung cancer, but he does not know whether the smoking effect is "trivial" or so important that cigarette manufacture should be stopped "until we find what's in them that is bad and remove it."

He said there were some indications cigarette smokers were more susceptible to lung cancer, while cigar and pipe smokers were more likely to develop lip, tongue or mouth cancer.

As for his own smoking, he said, "I am not going to let it (the problem he is investigating) have any effect on my personal habits until all the facts are known."

Dr. Hammond is in charge of a research project under which 22,000 volunteers have been interviewing 204,000 men 50 to 69 years old about their smoking habits. Each year, the causes of any deaths among the group are medically investigated.

PUBLISHER CHECKS ON A. F. ECONOMY

Economy and efficiency are currently prime targets in the Air Force.

Charles A. Guy, widely known Lubbock publisher, recently visited bases from coast to coast and border to border to see how the Air Force is making out.

In a series of five articles which starts in today's Herald, he tells how the Air Force is getting maximum results out of dollars and men.

Mr. Guy, incidentally, is speaker at Webb AFB this week for graduation class 54-D, of which his son, Dorrance Guy, is a member.

U. S. Troops Chase Koreans Who Tried To Block Tracks

SEOUL (AP) — American troops, jabbing with bayonets, chased off without apparent bloodshed 200 to 300 South Koreans who early today tried to halt a train carrying homebound Indian soldiers, the U. S. 8th Army said.

South Korean police said three Koreans were slightly injured by the Americans' rifle butts.

The 8th Army said it had unconfirmed reports that the South Korean provost marshal general who last week threatened the Indians, Lt. Gen. Won Yong Duk, was at the scene.

The Koreans were cleared from the tracks after some minor jabbing and shoving, and the train continued to Inchon port without incident, said an 8th Army spokesman.

However, Kim Chang Heung, vice chief of South Korea's national police, said American tanks called to the scene. He denounced what he called the 8th Army's "heavy countermeasures" against "a righteous move by indignant men."

An American officer said the anti-Indian demonstrators were cleared in about 30 minutes, shortly after midnight. They had massed on the railroad embankment and had lighted fires to keep warm.

The incident was the first show of interference which South Koreans had threatened against the Indians.

A South Korean police official who said he was present reported that some of the group were former prisoners of war turned loose by Indian custodial troops last month.

In explaining how the South Koreans were dispersed, the ROK official said: "They were told to go and they just went."

The demonstrators were not armed, the police official said, and saw they could do nothing against "such an overwhelming force."

The Korean official claimed more than 1,000 Americans were protecting the train but the 8th Army spokesman said there was not anywhere near this number.

Filipino Rustling Has Unusual Oriental Air

By DON HUTH

MANILA (AP)—Cattle rustling has come to The Philippines—and with a distinctly Oriental slant.

Instead of the cow and steer, it's the lowly carabao, or water buffalo, that's being rustled. It's a lucrative business because of the prices the animals bring at the slaughterhouses.

Furious over the slaughter of this country's main beast of burden, President Ramon Magsaysay has taken quick action. He also has touched off a controversy.

On one of his first provincial trips after he became president last fall, he found water buffaloes were being deliberately maimed so they could no longer be classed as work animals and could be slaughtered.

Some had nails driven into their hoofs to make them lame. Others were slashed above the hoofs so their legs gave out.

Magsaysay hit the ceiling. He said it not only was cruelty to animals but was sabotaging his agricultural development program. The carabao supply, badly depleted during the Japanese occupation, was needed to increase the rural economy.

Magsaysay ordered the navy to seize shipments of carabao en route to Manila for slaughter. Inspectors found a majority of the animals were healthy.

Magsaysay put investigators to work. They found the country's carabao supply was decreasing and rustling was a thriving, profitable business. One area reported more than 3,000 carabaos stolen from farmers for butchering in Manila.

The President asked Manila Mayor Arsenio Lacson for permission to place an army veterinarian in the slaughterhouses. Lacson refused on the ground it would violate existing laws.

Magsaysay, countered by signing an executive order banning the slaughter of carabaos for one year. He said he was ready to approve the expenditure of a million dollars, if necessary, for frozen meat imports to insure The Philippines an adequate supply.

Meat prices jumped after the ban went into effect. Irate dealers went to the President's office to complain. Legislators argued over the issue. Letters both supporting and condemning the President's action appeared in the press.

Magsaysay is standing firm. The carabaos are needed, he said, if The Philippines expect to increase its food production and make his agricultural program work.

Study Club Gives Tea For Seniors

STANTON — The Study Club entertained high school seniors recently with an annual tea in the home of Mrs. S. W. Wheeler.

Mrs. Glenn L. Brown gave three readings, "Give the Counter Sign," "I Can't Breathe" and "I Am an American."

Mrs. R. B. Whitaker and Mrs. James Billington were in charge of decorations and refreshments.

The refreshment table was covered with an ecru hand-crocheted cloth over red linen and centered with red and white carnations. Favors were toy wind instruments.

Stanolind No. 1 Odessa Davenport, C NW NW, 14-34-3n, T&P survey, made it down to 3,190 feet in redbeds.

Youths Caught In Stolen Car

Two Latin-American youths who were riding in a stolen automobile were arrested by Big Spring police Saturday night before theft of the car had been reported.

One of them, a 16-year-old, was turned over to the custody of Juvenile Officer A. E. Long. The other, slightly past the age of responsibility, is being held in city jail pending charges.

The two youths were stopped at 2nd and Benton Streets after a brief chase. The chase started when police pulled in behind them on routine patrol. The driver of the stolen car apparently thought the police were after him and speeded up.

When the car was stopped, police found that the front window vent had been forced open and surmised that the car had been stolen. By the time they got the boys to the station, the car was reported stolen.

It belonged to G. S. Snowden, Route 3, Colorado City.

A camera was found in back of the car which the boys were arrested in, but Snowden said it did not belong to him. Then a report came in from John R. Payton, Webb Air Force Base, that a camera had been taken from his car. He identified the camera found by police as his.

Officers said this morning that another car was broken into at the Top Hat Cafe aboout the same time.

Man Claims He Is Murderer

A Tennessee man who was arrested here Saturday on vagrancy charges claims he is wanted in Alabama on a murder charge.

The man, who identified himself as Woodrow Wilson Ward, of Smithville, Tenn., 39, told District Attorney Elton Gilliland he has been sought since 1939 in connection with the death of an unidentified man on a railroad near Mobile, Ala.

Gilliland checked with T. J. Carlile, chief of the Alabama State Police, this morning, but Carlile had no immediate recollection of such an incident. He is to check police records, however, to determine if Ward is wanted.

Ward told the district attorney that the unidentified man was killed during a fight involving several persons. The fight occurred in a boxcar on the Southern Railway "out of Mobile," he said.

Ward was arrested in the local railroad yards here Saturday afternoon by city police. He first told police his story and officers turned the case over to the district attorney.

Facilities At AFB In Hobbs On Sale

DENVER, Colo., — Land and buildings located in the Ordnance Area of Hobbs, New Mexico Air Force Base are being offered for sale by the General Services Administration, Otto G. Klein, Regional Director of GSA, has announced.

The property, which will be sold as a complete unit for on-site use, consists of a tract of land containing approximately 26.57 acres, approximately one acre of easements, six buildings, electrical, gas and water distribution systems, and related personal property.

Sealed bids will be accepted at the Regional Office of the General Services Administration, Bldg. 41, Denver Federal Center, Denver, Colo., until 1:30 p.m., March 10.

Invitations to bid setting forth the specifications of the sale may be obtained from GSA at the Federal Center.

Klein urged prospective bidders to inspect the property before bidding by contacting Drew Thomas, resident manager Air Base City, Hobbs Air Force Base, who lives on the property adjoining the area for sale.

Tulsa Driver Drove Some Too Carefully

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A Tulsa motorist who told police he was "being very careful to drive good so as not to attract any attention" attracted lots of attention yesterday.

Officer Orval Bennett followed the car of motorist Troy James Bethany for three blocks enthralled at the fine driving performance.

"I stopped to congratulate him on his good driving," said Bennett.

But when he asked for his license, Bethany admitted he had been driving seven years without a license.

"I had no choice but to make the arrest under the circumstances," said the officer.

Stubborn Sapling Kills Sooner Farmer

BROKEN ARROW, Okla. (AP)—A stubborn willow sapling, crushed to the ground by a bulldozer, snapped back like an arrow yesterday after the machine had passed over it and speared a farm worker who was walking behind.

The victim, Jess Lee Henry, 22, was struck in the chest and died before reaching a hospital.

A Tuesday night meeting of Little League managers, sponsors and committeemen has been called by Poncho Nall, Little League president.

The conclave starts at 7:30 p.m. at Dibrell's Sporting Goods store.

Plans for the 1954 season will be discussed at the session.

Buyer, Seller And Best Beef

Buyer and seller posed Friday with the best beef in the San Antonio Livestock Show. Representing the purchasers was Harry Jersig, president of Lone Star Brewing Co., posing here with Ann White, Big Spring, who exhibited the classy calf, "Lone Star Special." Incidentally, Lone Star Brewing teamed with its distributors to boost the price to $12,750, the top price paid at any Texas stock show this year. Lone Star last year paid $8,000 to Joyce Robinson, another 4-H Club girl from Big Spring, for her reserve Hereford, which topped even the grand champion in bidding.

HAD CAUSE FOR 'ALARM'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A trash collector found what looked like, and ticked like, a bomb in a downtown alley yesterday. He called police.

Police called their crime laboratory director, Ray Pinker, and Army demolition experts.

A policeman stuck a nail into the clock part of the contraption, to stop the ticking. The "bomb" was taken to a field. Police Chief William Parker and Deputy Chief Thad Brown arrived.

A Geiger counter was used—negative results. Then the device was tied to a stake. A 50-foot rope was tied to the clock and from a safe distance it was yanked out of the "bomb."

It turned out to be a $1.95 alarm clock, sponge rubber, rags, paraffin, paper and beeswax.

"I think we've been had," said Brown.

"I'd rather be had than sorry," said Parker.

Degrees Bring No Extra Pay In Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP)—Barbers, meter readers, psychologists, X-ray technicians—all are in the same pay bracket on the city's payroll, and Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze wants something done about it.

He has arranged for a job evaluation survey to determine if lumping occupations calling for different skills in one salary band isn't unfair.

Others in the same group are hospital nurses, physical and occupational therapists, horseshoers, probation officers and recreational directors. All make from $2,928 to $3,882.

Directors of various city departments complain that they are having a difficult time hiring employes for jobs requiring college training.

Pay for a head doorman runs from $5,142 to $5,988, the same as a district physician.

Textbook Learning Appeals To Woman

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—At 60, after rearing nine children and operating a big ranch, Mrs. Goldie B. Cooper has decided it's about time she learned something about homemaking—the textbook way.

So she has registered for a home economics course at the University of Oklahoma.

have extended in Jim Wells County."

They further charged: "Characters of ill repute and dangerous characters have been under the apparent protection of the peace officers of Duval County controlled by Parr."

The Rangers said that "we were assigned to investigate the murder of Jacob S. Floyd Jr. in Alice on Sept. 18."

They said they arrested Mario Sapet, at the time a deputy sheriff of Duval County serving under George Parr, then the sheriff. (Sapet got 99 years for the murder).

The Rangers also said they arrested Nago Alaniz, "an attorney and political ally of George Parr, who was also indicted for murder."

Their answer to Parr continued: ". . . during the investigation of this murder and in our efforts to find the whereabouts of the man who actually did the killing, the Rangers tried to obtain cooperation of Parr, but had failed to receive any assistance from him or his deputies. . ."

Parr's petition claims Allee has told him, "I am holding you (Parr) directly responsible if anything happens to me or my men."

The five who have bared their own fears in a petition to intervene are J. L. MacDonald, Manuel Marroquin, Manuel Sanchez, Donato Serna, and Cristoval Ybanez.

Serna and Ybanez said they were beaten by Parr; Sanchez and Marroquin said their businesses were ruined when Parr ordered his supporters to quit trading at their grocery store and tortilla factory. MacDonald said he was abused orally by Par.

Parr based his petition on the 14th Amendment to the Constitution. He said the governor, attorney general and head of the Rangers had denounced him publicly. He said this denied him the ordinary local court protection.

Allee and Parr have tangled physically once and crossed words—all in the last month.

The two engaged in a courthouse scuffle in Alice Jan. 18. Bridge and Archer Parr, Duval County sheriff and nephew of George, were also involved in the affair.

Parr's ear was bloodied. He said Allee was going to kill him but was stopped by the screams of Mrs. Caro Brown, a reporter for the Alice Echo.

Allee and Bridge were indicted by a Jim Wells County grand jury for assault with intent to murder Parr.

Parr was in the Alice courthouse for a hearing on a charge of illegally packing a pistol near a meeting of his Duval opposition, the Freedom Party.

The meeting was in Jim Wells County, which adjoins Duval.

Marroquin made the complaint against Parr, who will be tried on the charge March 15.

He is free on bond on this charge. So are Allee and Bridge on the assault to murder charge.

Allee booted and cuffed 79th Dist. Atty. Raeburn Norris in San Diego, Tex., Feb. 10. It was after this, Parr said, that Allee said he was going to hold Parr responsible for the safety of the Rangers.

A series of investigations by state and federal agencies has rocked Duval County the past two weeks.

Records of the county and its school districts were impounded. The state auditor examined them and said he found peculiar and seemingly illegal practices.

State banking examiners are probing the disappearance of filmed records of checks from the San Diego State Bank of which Parr is president.

An Internal Revenue agent and postal inspector testified that some 800 canceled checks had disappeared from the county auditor's records.

Parr's income tax is being probed by Internal Revenue agents.

The Duval County grand jury is conducting its own investigation into the affairs of the county.

State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd Saturday unsuccessfully tried to have the grand jury dismissed. He said its members were indebted or tied in other ways to Parr.

Dist. Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin refused to dismiss the grand jury on the ground Shepperd had no jurisdiction and his challenge of the jury's qualifications came too late.

The Texas Supreme Court is considering removal proceedings against Laughlin. Eleven attorneys of the 79th District charged he was not fit to hold office.

Arthur Garfield Hays, famed New York civil liberties attorney, headed Par's staff of lawyers.

Jacob S. Floyd of Alice, bitter political foe of Parr, and Shepperd headed the attorneys for the Rangers.

favorable facts constitutes abuse of the witness:

He added, in a statement:

"The issue raised by Mr. Stevens is whether the Army is supreme over the Congress, over government agencies and the American people, and can enjoy special dictatorial immunity in cover up of its own wrongdoings.

"An illustration of this cover up is the statement under oath by an officer involved that if he told the truth and gave the facts about the treatment of this Fifth Amendment Communist, he himself would be court-martialed by the Army."

Stevens' stand apparently was taken after considerable consultation within the Executive Department. A Defense Department spokesman said Stevens conferred with Secretary of Defense Wilson and Deputy Secretary Roger M. Kyes before issuing his statement and also that the matter had been talked over with members of President Eisenhower's staff. He said, however, he did not know whether Stevens' intention to issue a statement had been brought directly to the President's attention.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich), a subcommittee member, defended Stevens' reply to McCarthy as "perfectly proper." He said he does not believe the Army is withholding any information.

Sen. Mc Clellan (D-Ark), another subcommittee member, said he is not at all sure that Stevens has any authority to instruct subordinates to refuse to obey a subpoena but that "the question of whether the executive branch can tell its people not to reveal certain information to the legislative branch is an old question."

Held On Complaint Of Step-Daughter

A 26-year-old Negro man is being held in county jail for investigation of a report that he attempted to rape his eight-year-old stepdaughter. Sheriff Jess Slaughter said the man was arrested Saturday night. The sheriff was to confer with County Attorney Hartman Hooser concerning possibility of filing charges against the man.

DALLAS (AP) — The police radio, broadcasting a wanted report on a forgery suspect, described him as 6 feet 5 inches tall. His nickname: Shorty.

Jail Sentence, Fines Assessed In County Court

A 20-day jail sentence and fines totalling $350 were assessed in County Court this morning against four persons who pleaded guilty to charges which had been lodged against them.

The four entered the guilty pleas after Judge R. H. Weaver called the criminal docket and set five cases down for jury trials this week.

A panel of jurors has been summoned for 9 a.m. Tuesday to start hearing the cases.

Pleading guilty this morning to charges of driving while intoxicated were Opal Folks, Jessie Ray Ellis and Jimmy Bedwell. Tincy Merritt, who also is charged with driving while intoxicated, entered a plea of guilty to charges of selling liquor without a permit.

The jail term and a fine of $150 were assessed against Bedwell. Testimony of Policeman D. C. Sanders established that a car driven by Bedwell was in collision with another vehicle and that several persons were injured.

Fines of $50 each were levied against Miss Folks and Ellis. Mandatory three-day jail terms were probated in each case.

A fine of $100 was assessed against Merritt on the liquor law charge. Merritt's attorney, Carroll Smith, announced that he was not ready for trial on the DWI charge.

Cases set for trial this week involve driving while intoxicated charges which have been filed against each of the following: J. E. Barron, S. C. Hall, John Robert Moore, Paul Bishop and Jerome M. Williams.

Judge Weaver also heard a motion for dismissal of the appeal of F. E. Newlin from a City Court ruling finding him guilty of violating the city health ordinance. No action was taken on the motion.

Angelo Stock Show Boosters Due Here

Some 30 San Angelo businessmen will make a whirlwind good will tour through Big Spring Tuesday to boost the San Angelo Fat Stock Show and Rodeo.

They will arrive at the south city limits at 10:15 a.m. and will be escorted to the business district by a police honor guard. The San Angeloans will then talk to persons on the streets and in the stores concerning the stock show and rodeo.

The San Angelo event is scheduled Feb. 25-28, and the trip to Big Spring is one of four booster trips covering 1,350 miles.

Suit For Damages Draws Continuance

Trial of the suit for damages brought by the T&P Railway Company against Cosden Petroleum Corp. was continued this morning.

Attorneys reported that Procon Inc., of Chicago, which had been defendant in a cross action filed by Cosden, had not been given notice of the setting of the trial.

The suit resulted from the alleged collision of a passenger train with a tractor in 1952.

Executor Named

Judge R. H. Weaver appointed executor and appraisers for probate of the estate of Raymond G. Wilson this morning. William L. Wilson was approved as executor and R. V. Middleton, Lloyd Brannon and Edward Simpson were named to appraise the estate.

AF Seeks To Build With Fewer Dollars

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of five articles written by a widely known Texas newspaperman, on improved utilization of manpower, dollar economies and other efficiencies now in operation in the United States Air Force. The author, who has known the nation's air arm intimately for many years, visited air installations and talked with Air Force personnel of all ranks and grades from border-to-border and coast-to-coast to get the information upon which the series is based.

By CHAS. A. GUY

Editor, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal

Principal mission of the United States Air Force is still to be ready at a moment's notice to defend our shores against attack while simultaneously carrying the fight into the clouds over the lands of the enemy. But behind the men in American fighters and bombers are other officers, airmen and civilian employes whose principal task is considered only slightly less important: That of building more air power with fewer man and fewer dollars per wing.

Wherever there are U. S. air installations these days, from the caverns of the Pentagon to the desert sweeps of Africa, men with comptometers, slide rules, pencils and scratchpads are backing up their comrades who fly the planes and keep 'em flying. Commanding Generals are just as proud of their "businessmen" as they are of their pilots, and those who support them and well they may be. For a sustained economy drive of less than two years duration has made such an imprint upon Congressional minds by its accomplishments, both large and small, that the new defense budget for the air arm has been increased to assures maximum strength in the quickest possible time.

From the relatively tiny Air Reserve Training bases, where "weekend" pilots and airmen keep in step with progress against the day when war may come, to the largest of the Command Headquarters, the accent is on getting "a dollar's worth of air strength for every dollar spent."

As short a time as the late spring of 1953, conditions pointed to an Air Force of no greater size than 110 wings at the conclusion of the current calendar year. Now, however, the dawn of 1955 will see that figure pushed up to 115—with 90,000 fewer people on the Air Force payroll and at an expenditure of approximately $5,000,000,000 less than was anticipated.

Washington civilian authority in both political parties, and the military high command, have agreed that an air strength of from 140 to 143 wings is the smallest capable of defending American freedom and that of the rest of the world. Original plans were to reach the 140-143 wing goal by 1960, but already it can be seen that the job can be done long before that year dawns. The end of 1955, with no hostilities, will see an American air weapon of 120 wings — and again at great saving over original estimates in both money and manpower.

How is it being done—this surprisingly accelerated job, at less money and with fewer people?

It is being done by the greatest example of military and civilian teamwork since D-Day, back in 1944.

It is being done by application of the same sort of common sense employed by the best operated of American business and industry: By rewarding ability and increasing kow-how of individuals engaged in the effort all along the line.

Many of the men in blue, and their civilian counterparts who also play leading roles in the modern Air Force, have taken advanced college courses or engaged in similar outside technical and scientific study to enable them to give Joe Taxpayer a better, longer, run for his money. For instance, one example among many comes out of the Air Material Command which procures the Air Force's every need, from bolts and nuts to the largest Jet engines: brooms, booms, tugs and typewriter ribbons.

Heading Air Materiel is a Command Pilot, one of many officers who went back to school in uniform to learn newer and better ways to do a tighter job. He is handsome, quiet, pipe-puffing Gen. Edwin W. Rawlings, former—and first—Comptroller General of the Air Force, who breezed through Harvard's Graduate Business School with high honors. Now at Wright-Patterson AFB, near Dayton, O.—the Crossroads of the Air Force—General Rawlings not only runs his command like a captain of industry, he also has surrounded himself with military and civilian staffs which share his knowledge and experience and, above all, boundless enthusiasm.

By standardizing parts and equipment, cutting out waste in the handling of spare engines, adopting modern maintenance practices in keeping with today's improved aircraft and sharply conserving personnel, General Rawlings can prove actual savings in his command during the past two years of close to a quarter billion dollars.

But as General Rawlings is quick to point out the Air Material Command is not alone in displaying a record for greatly improved efficiency in operation. What is happening at Wright-Patterson is happening everywhere, in ratio to size and opportunity. Take Offutt AFB, near Omaha, where fabled and fabulous Gen. Curtis E. LeMay runs the Strategic Air Command like the old-time Infantry top-kick ran his outfit of hapless dogfaces. There the claim is made that "not only are we doing as good, or better, job as any command—we originated many of the most important efficiency moves." Whether or not the claim wholly can be substantiated, Strategic Air Defense, Continental Air, Air Training Research and Development —and all the other 12 Major Commands within the Air Force have "gotten into the act." adding goodnatured intra-service rivalry to the game of "saving a buck."

HOUSTON (AP)—L. H. Kern, 40, president of the Kern Directional Drilling Corp. and a Houston resident since 1938, died in a San Marcos hospital yesterday of a heart attack.

Car-Train Crash Killing Three Highlights Weekend Death Toll

By The Associated Press

A car-train smashup in which three died and a dynamite blast that killed two headlined weekend Texas violence. At least 18 persons were dead.

Eight victims died in traffic, five were shot, one wounded, one burned to death in a house fire and a woman was fatally beaten.

Judy Wilson, 16, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wilson, all of Iowa Park in North Texas, were killed when their car was hit broadside by a Fort Worth and Denver freight train Sunday night.

The accident happened at the crossing near the Iowa Park depot. The crossing has no automatic warning signal, only wooden crossarms. The girl and Wilson were thrown clear but Mrs. Wilson, apparently the driver, was pinned in the wreckage as it was dragged 250 yards down the tracks.

Engineer R. A. Johnson, 58, Wichita Falls, said he was traveling 25 to 30 miles an hour and the Wilson car appeared suddenly out of the dark.

Two men were killed near Palo Pinto in North Central Texas Sunday when dynamite exploded as they lowered it into an oil well, apparently to break up rock at the bottom.

They were Lew Fuston, about 55, drilling contractor from Strawn, and W. R. Ferguson, 20, Eastland. The accident happened on the Helen Watson ranch about nine miles west of Palo Pinto.

Mrs. Jewell B. Cola, 58, Tucson, Ariz., was found Sunday beaten to death, and possibly raped and robbed, in Dallas. Officers said she was last seen visiting a number of taverns in the vicinity Saturday evening. Three Negroes were held for questioning.

Ernest W. Gladden, 40, Fort Worth, was shot to death there early Sunday. Gladden entered the cafe of W. O. Chenault, 59, a former policeman, about 12:50 a.m. Chenault said Gladden took $224 from him at gun-point. Chenault said he shot three times as Gladden approached him. Gladden died at 2:30 a.m. of head and stomach wounds.

Pfc. Alfred J. Abbott, 26, a Fort Hood soldier from Lake George, Mich., died early Sunday of injuries suffered when the car in which he was riding left the road near Killeen late Saturday night.

A 43-year-old Houston man, David Hoskins, was found shot to death in his apartment Saturday night. A pistol lay nearby.

Isidor Martinez Jr., 3, was struck and killed as he ran across a Waco street Saturday toward his brother, Ralph, 6, after the two had become separated. Their father, a woodcutter at China Spring near Waco, had given them money to see a movie while he visited Waco friends.

Two persons were killed in traffic accidents at Houston Friday night. William Joseph Doyle, 29, Houston real estate salesman, was killed when his car failed to round a curve. George Dunham, 35, died in a two-car collision.

Wilmer Williams, 36, was shot to death at a home in Ferris near Dallas Saturday. M. C. Bailey, 29, was charged with the shooting. Deputies said it followed a dice game.

Edwin Wesley Purvis, 56, Houston, died in a Nacogdoches hospital Saturday of injuries suffered when his car and a pickup truck collided near Nacogdoches Friday night.

John L. Lockhart, 15, a Crockett Negro, was shot to death Saturday following an argument with three white men after a near car collision. J. L. Trawick, 19, one of the three, was charged Sunday with murder.

Jessie Hill, 35, was found dead inside his Austin home Saturday after fire swept through it. A peace justice returned a verdict of death from burning.

Roger Dale Krupalla, about 8, drowned Sunday when he fell from a dam across the Llano River near Llano. He had been fishing.

James Leroy Fackler, 66, a dragline operator from Ferris near Dallas, was shot to death Sunday at a Dallas residence. A 35-year-old Dallas tax consultant surrendered a revolver to police and said he shot Fackler when the latter beat and stomped him.

Robbery Effort Ends In Death As Wife Waits

FORT WORTH (AP)—Ernest W. Gladden, 40, was shot to death at a cafe here while his wife and infant son waited outside. The cafe owner said Gladden robbed him and he shot Gladden three times.

Gladden fell to the floor in a shower of currency. He had no previous police record here.

W. O. Chenault, 59, a former policeman who owns the cafe, said Gladden pulled a gun and took $224 from the cash register.

Chenault told this story to a Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter:

Gladden entered his place about 12:50 p.m. Saturday night. He ordered a beer and started drinking it.

"Ever been robbed?" Gladden asked. Chenault said he had.

"I don't know why I said that," Chenault said. "I've never been robbed before, though I always expected I would be."

Chenault said Gladden fingered his gun nervously and kept threatening to fire.

"I told him to take it easy. I told him he'd get his money. And I gave him the $224," Chenault said.

Then, Chenault said, Gladden turned his back and started for the door. Chenault reached under the cash register and got his .38 caliber revolver.

Chenault said he noticed Gladden was coming back toward him.

"He hollered something about me to stay where I was," Chenault said. "And then I shot three times —real quick."

Gladden's wife, baby in arms, rushed into the cafe when police arrived. "I didn't even know he had a gun," she sobbed to Det. A. C. Howerton. She disclaimed any knowledge of the robbery.

Church Votes Loyalty Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The First Unitarian Church of Los Angeles challenges a state law requiring a loyalty oath of nonprofit organizations seeking tax exemption as "a frontal assault on freedom of religion as guaranteed by the First Amendment."

This is the church whose pastor, the Rev. Stephen H. Firtchman, refused to testify before the House-Un-American Activities Committee on the ground it sought "to invade the intimate confidence of the confessional."

Mr. Firtchman was listed by the committee as a sponsor of "no less than 22 pro-Soviet organizations."

His congregation voted yesterday to instruct its trustees to decide against signing the loyalty oath. The trustees' chairman, Atty. Robert Schmorleitz, said the secretly taken vote was 206 to 31. He said Mr. Firtchman did not participate in the discussion before the vote.

A 1953 amendment to the state revenue and taxation code provides that the property tax statement for churches and other nonprofit groups shall include a loyalty oath if tax exemptions are sought.

Man, Woman Team In Morphine Theft

CHANDLER, Tex. (AP)—A man and woman teamed up yesterday to steal 600 half grains of morphine tablets from the Chandler Drug Store in one of the largest narcotic thefts in Henderson County.

Sheriff Jess Sweeten said the man engaged the store clerk, John A. Hall, in conversation about a mustard plaster while the woman slipped to the back of the store and took the tablets from an open safe. She also got $80 and 300 tablets of other narcotics.

Secret Sharpshooter Hits Lowry Airmen

DENVER (AP) — An unknown sharpshooter fired a barrage of bullets on a downtown Denver street yesterday. Three Lowry Base airmen, including two Texans, were hospitalized with wounds.

Airmen Ricardo Martinez, 19, of El Paso and Clyde LaRosa, of San Antonio received leg wounds. Airmen Ramon Vigil, 19, of Grants, N. M., was hit in the abdomen. All were reported in satisfactory condition.

Richard Nieto, 19, another airman with the wounded men, said the four had been in a tavern until it closed at midnight. He said they were walking along Larimer Street minutes later when "I felt a sting on my leg and saw my companions spread and fall. I never did see who shot." Nieto suffered only a slight bruise from a glancing slug.

Humanitarian Principles Plus Good Management Pays Dividends

From a long and sordid history as one of the worst in the nation, the Texas Prison System today is recognized as one of the best. (See the story by Raymond Holbrook on this page.)

The regerneration of Texas state prisons is a thrilling chapter in good management and humanitarian principles. It is the story of a great manager and a succession of able and conscientious prison board members, backed up by a Legislature that has either kept hands off, or did what was needed to be done in the way of appropriations and laws.

The manager is O. B. Ellis, former school teacher and football coach, hired from Memphis, Tenn., in 1947 to take hold of the Augean stables of an outmoded and badly administered system which had for decades been a political football and a despised and neglected burden on the state government.

The revolution has been complete, but much remains to be done. The prison board, currently presided over by French Robertson of Abilene, is constantly at work on the remaining problems. A great deal has been accomplished, but the task was so tremendous that it couldn't possibly be finished in seven years or less.

The new regime has given hope and self-respect to the inmates. It has reduced the cost to the taxpayer substantially. In 1952, the last figure available, it was costing the taxpayers of 44 states $2.23 and the federal prisons $3.59 to maintain a single prisoner a single day. The cost in Texas at the same time was only 49 cents per prisoner per day.

But the financial success of the prison system under Ellis and the prison board is only part of the story, pleasant as it is. The big story lies with the prisoners. They have been lifted from brutalized, hopeless enemies of society to a better life through self-respect and productive labor, and an educational set-up that enrolls one fourth of the prison population.

The difference lies in intelligence, good management, and an absence of political interference. Manager Ellis says he has none of that to contend with.

British Writer Gives Advice To Countrymen Who Come West

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

I've often wondered why the residents of the "tight little isle," as Winston Churchill often likes to refer to England, didn't pull up stakes and move to Canada.

It wouldn't do to suggest it to the majority of the Britishers. Chances are your suggestion would get a reception fully as chilly as you'd expect from a Californian who had been asked why he didn't migrate to Florida, or visa versa.

Migration of Englishmen to the Empire's Dominion across the seas has taken place on a limited scale, however, though not without complications.

A writer in England advises Englishmen planning the move to leave their 'know-it-all attitudes' behind them when they embark.

The Canadians, says he, are not impressed from people of the Old World. Fact is, he adds, most of them believe that Canada does not need any more immigrants.

The writer is Stephen Barber, who spent six months touring the Dominion, posing as an immigrant. His articles on opportunities in the New World appeared in London's Picture Post.

"You will encounter a certain prejudice against Britons in some folks," he wrote. "There is a widespread notion that Britain's economic woes are entirely due to the fact that we in this country have become hopelessly decadent.

"This is, I feel, due in large part to the influence of one-sided reporting on Britain reaching the Canadian public through United States news media.

"Thinking Canadians are very conscious of the fact that American press, radio and TV 'swamps' the country. The average American believes, because that is what he so often reads and hears, that the whole free world is battening on poor old Uncle Sam, and that the people of the old world (barring the Germans, perhaps) are a shiftless bunch of cadgers."

Barber advised the immigrants to try new jobs, move around and experiment. The writer was of the opinion that Canadians would applaud such moves, rather than consider the immigrants shiftless.

There is nothing vulgar in the New World about working, says Barber. "It is important to grasp this as early as you can. There is a peculiar quality to dollars.

"It jars a little at first, but Canadians like Americans, are supremely dollar-conscious."

Barber even went so far as to suggest the immigrants take up ice hockey, basketball, baseball and football and to forget about cricket and fox hunting.

"Do in Rome as Rome does," he advises.

Ike's Greatest Thrill May Be His Par Four With Bantam Ben

If we know our golfers, we imagine President Eisenhower got the thrill of his life at Palm Springs, Calif. last week when he shared a par four with a fellow Texan on the ninth hole at the Tamarisk Country Club course.

The President's partner was no ordinary Texan, but Ben Hogan, the greatest golfer of them all, the club's professional.

Mr. Eisenhower's approach shot, 150-yarder, was dead to the pin, but three feet short. He sank his putt as a gallery of 500 applauded.

Hereafter when Ike Eisenhower might be telling how he outsmarted the Germans in Africa or France, or solved some vexatious governmental problem, he will buttonhole some casual visitor and sy, "Did I ever tell you the time I evened a hole with Ben Hogan at Tamarisk? Well, see, it was this way—."

It is characteristic of golfers that they remember and talk about the good shots they make, while sweeping the recollection of misfires into the garbage can of memory. Golfer Eisenhower got his comeuppance on the very next hole, for he sliced his tee shot and it fell dead only 200 yards away, while Hogan laid one down the middle for 300 yards.

The President should enjoy his occasional jaunts here and there to shoot quail, wet a hook, or slice a tee shot. He rides a high tide of personal popularity, and if he should begin to slip his critics will start mouthing about his absences from official duties. So he'd better get in all the recreation he can while the atmosphere is favorable.

Acutally, of course, Mr. Eisenhower is probably a better President for stealing away from the onerous duties of that office at every opportunity. He has always lived a more or less outdoor life, and to change his habits at his age would be to invite trouble. Golf is a refreshing game, not too strenuous, but capable of making a man forget the cares of office or the pressures of business. And think of the pleasure it gives an ordinary player to be able to say he had stood even with Ben Hogan on the ninth.

George Washington Might Now Revise Part Of His Advice In Farewell Address

WASHINGTON (AP)—If George Washington could hear his Farewell Address read in Congress today, would he make any changes in the advice he gave the nation in 1796?

It was advice which the nation has always honored but hasn't always followed.

Washington might revise his thinking about political parties, about which he had deep misgivings.

"There is an opinion," he said, "that parties in free countries are useful checks upon the administration of government and serve to keep alive the spirit of liberty."

He said he thought this was probably true "within certain limits" and he mentioned monarchies as an example, but he added that in a government like this party spirit "is a spirit not to be encouraged."

At the time he wrote there was only one party, the Federalists, led by Alexander Hamilton and representing the monied and commercial interests of the East. It wasn't long afterwards that the Republicans, under Thomas Jefferson, rose up, smashed the Federalists, and set the two-party system in motion. These Republicans were the forerunner of the present Democratic party.

It was the rise of political parties which, by keeping any class or faction from controlling too long, probably was the main force in preserving the democratic American society which Washington wanted preserved.

Washington's advice to this country to stay out of entangling foreign alliances made his Farewell Address a hymn book for American isolationists. And for more than 100 years his advice was followed.

"Europe," he said, "has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies, the causes of which are essentially foreign to our concern."

But he didn't lay down isolationism as a blanket rule. He foresaw the time when this country might have to make alliances:

"Taking care always to keep ourselves by suitable establishments on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies."

What is an extraordinary emergency? This country thought it saw one in World Wars I and II, when it made alliances, and after World War II when it joined the Atlantic Pact with Western Europe against Russia, although it might be argued the Atlantic Pact is hardly temporary.

But Washington's advice was disregarded when this country joined the United Nations after World War II to try to preserve peace and stop aggression anywhere on earth.

And what would Washington think of Secretary of State Dulles' notice that the Communists would be paid back with massive retaliation if they attacked anywhere? There is nothing isolationist in that.

But when Washington wrote his Farewell Address the threat of world communism wasn't even a gleam in the eye of any Russian or Chinese alive then. If Washington were alive now he might consider it necessary—as Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower did—to have foreign allies.

Maybe he wouldn't. And, since history isn't all written yet, maybe he was right all the time.

Columnist Finds 'Agony' TV Show No Great Joy

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Out of a clinical curiosity, I went to an "agony" television program recently and everything went according to plan; I never felt worse.

The show was "Strike It Rich," which gives away about $250,000 a year to people who tell their troubles before the cameras. For that kind of dough, you can buy a lot of trouble.

The first contestants were Mayor Dominick J. Delucco of Hartford and Lionel Hampton, the band leader. After a few questions, they won $500 for a girl in Hartford, "who is very sick—very sick—just to prove how sick she is, her weight has gone from 143 to 73."

I also thought it was nice of Warren Hull, the host, to bring out the fact that the mayor owns a restaurant in Hartford, which bears his name, and that Hampton's next theater date will be at the Apollo in Harlem.

Next came two young honeymooners who wanted to win money for a Korean orphan boy whom the husband had once befriended in Korea. "The boy," we were told, "was hungry, cold, had insufficient clothing and his bones were swollen."

The couple had trouble identifying composers and won only $20. Hull thought that was too bad, but never one to miss a silver lining, he added: "That'll go a long way in Korea."

The last guest was a public health nurse who wanted to win money for a hospital bed for her patients but just then the program ran out of time. There were only a few seconds left to announce "heart-line" calls in behalf of the sick girl in Hartford. These donations included $50 from a meat market, which was named.

Later, I went backstage, where prospective contestants were being interviewed for future shows. They included a pregnant woman and her husband, two women with small children, two soldiers and one young lady, somewhat disheveled in a long coat and saddle shoes, who was crying quite visibly. "I'm so nervous," she sobbed. "I'm getting married next month. I want a tractor for my farm."

Report That Ike Won't Speak At Party Fete Disturbs GOP

The effort to operate a non-political administration in a political country is falling apart. The theory that patronage is a great evil to be eschewed by a Republican President is having this effect: when a Republican applies for a job, he is rejected for being a politician. What is wanted are career men, and most career men, after 20 years of Democratic rule, are mostly Democrats.

That is what all the shouting has been about over the Lincoln birthday week and those who have traveled hither and yon, delivering speeches on the greatness of Abraham Lincoln, have come back to Washington chagrined and frightened because unless the administration becomes political, the Democrats will win the 1954 election and possibly that of 1956. That is very discouraging news to the Republicans, particularly those who are important men in the newspapers but who have no way of cutting through the White House entourage to the President. They have no way of telling him the simple facts of political life as they see them.

Next March, the Republicans are going to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the founding of the party at Ripon, Wisconsin. This should be a lively affair, stirring this party to an emotional outpouring on the verge of a Congressional campaign. Having a President in the White House, Republicans would like to have their President at Ripon delivering a major address on the virtues of this party. It does not seem logical that so significant an event should be minus this leading personality.

It is now understood that the President does not choose to go to so strictly a partisan affair, even though the enthusiasm kindled there might bestir his party to unity and victory. Many rumors attend this decision, although I cannot vouch for the truth or falsity of any of them. Some say that he avoids Wisconsin because it is the state of the redoubtable McCarthy; others say that the decision was taken because of C. D. Jackson's psychological warfare theory that the President should be above politics, a monumental figure without a pedestal. Others say that it is the President's disposition to avoid such occasions, although all admit that his impromptu address at the Lincoln birthday box supper in Washington was an excellent performance, breathing sincerity and warmth.

In fact, it is recognized that President Eisenhower makes a better speech on his own than with the assistance of his speechwriters, who are acclaimed as very second rate, in no manner equal to the ghosts employed by Roosevelt and Truman. When the President stands up to talk without even a note, out of his own head and heart, it is usually a good speech, whereas the manufactured stuff, staff-written, seems to lack both body and soul. At Ripon, he would have a wonderful opportunity to establish his leadership over a leaderless party.

Some Republicans are particularly moved to inquire how it is that the President cannot find the time to go to Ripon, Wisconsin for this 100th anniversary when he can find time to visit Paul G. Hoffman at Palm Springs, California. Admitting that it is none of their business to inquire how the President chooses to spend his time, they do point out that Hoffman has, during the past 20 years, been on the New Deal side of things, whereas in Ripon, votes can be made for the Republican party. There are no votes in Hoffman except his own and no one knows how that would go in a Congressional election. As a matter of fact, such a visit stirs no enthusiasm among the Republicans in California as it highlights an individual whose political affiliations may be dubious.

So there is another issue to bestir the politically-minded and to cause dissension in the rank and file of Abraham Lincoln's party, which Senator Lehman of the Americans for Democratic Action denies belongs to the Republicans at all. It is beginning to look like one of those Hollywood marriages in which it is impossible to figure out who is married to whom and whether any of the marriages ever took.

The misfortune in all this is that there is lots of business to do which cannot wait too long without disastrous effects upon the nation and its economy, and that while the politicians fiddle away like a dissonant bebop band, the danger to the people increases.

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

Dulles Is Expected To Give An Optimistic Report On Parley

BERLIN — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is already working on the report which he will make to the American people covering the outcome of the Big Four Foreign Ministers meetings. This report probably will be made on a nationwide telecast next Wednesday night.

Secretary Dulles will claim two achievements out of the month of argument between the West and the Soviet Union. With an eye on both domestic politics and world reaction, Dulles will make much of the claim that definite advantages to the West can be counted in what has often seemed in news reports a long and profitless bickering, with each side repeating over and over the old debating points.

First Dulles will claim that the complete intransigence of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, as revealed in the talks, has brought France nearer to ratification of the European Defense Community treaty. It is on EDC, of course, that Dulles has based the policy of the alliance with Western Europe. In December at the meeting of the NATO council in Paris he warned that if EDC was not ratified, an "agonizing reappraisal" of American foreign policy would be necessary. This produced considerable indignation and even resentment in France.

During the past week Dulles has received dispatches from top American diplomats in Paris which led him to believe that the French Assembly will move to consider the EDC treaty shortly after the end of the Berlin conference. This assurance comes from Premier Joseph Laniel through the American Charge d'Affairs in Paris, Theodore Achilles.

Premier Laniel did not go so far as to say that EDC would be ratified. No French politician, whether in or out of the government, could say that with any confidence. But the messages from Paris to Berlin did give Dulles and his associates reason to believe that at least the fate of EDC will not be subject to interminable delay.

That has been one threat—a permanent stall to avoid ratification or rejection. Another threat to the defense community on which America has pinned such hopes is that the treaty will be so loaded with amendments and reservations of one kind and another as passed by the French that it will not be acceptable to the Germans. There is no assurance that this will not be the case when the skeptics, who want to please the United States but are nevertheless fearful of Germany, get to work on the document.

The second claim Dulles will make in his report to the American public is that the conference solidified the West, ending the doubts and uncertainties about Russia's intentions, which have plagued the alliance for the past year. Certainly, the three Western foreign ministers have maintained a solid front here. Those who have carefully followed the conference from day to day point out that in a sense they had no choice in view of the granite facade presented by the never-yielding Molotov. The Russian position more or less forces the three Westerners to stand together, since it has been almost literally true that they had no other choice.

How nearly the solidity in Berlin is reflected among peoples and parties in France and Britain is quite another question. Both the Americans and the British speak of Foreign Minister Bidault in praise almost extravagant in its terms. But Bidault, the hero in Berlin, is bound to be a somewhat lonely figure when he returns to Paris and the turmoil of French politics, with the ever-growing pressure to bring an end to the Indochinese war.

While Dulles' position, on his return to Washington, will be nothing like as difficult, yet he, too, has powerful enemies in his own party who would like to see him out of the way. The natural tendency, therefore, will be to put the best-possible look on the four weeks of grim effort the American delegation has put into standing up to the dreary Soviet repetition of the line that has not changed essentially since the double-talk of the Potsdam Conference just as World War II ended.

So Dulles' report to the nation will in all likelihood be more optimistic than a sober evaluation would justify. He will be talking to an audience that has been led by hopeful statements from officials of the Eisenhower Administration to believe that economy in the defense budget is possible because of a slackening in the cold war.

Blood Record Claimed

MONTCLAIR, N. J. (AP)—Thomas L. Pier thinks he holds a world record for donating blood—250 pints in the last 28 years. He gave his first donation to a fellow-player injured in a football game in 1925.

At one time, he donated three pints in 33 hours to a woman at Mountainside hospital here. The American Red Cross has honored him and he received a letter of commendation from his commanding officer in the Navy in World War II for blood donations he gave on leave.

It's A Fast Track

BEAUFORD, N. C. (AP) — A highway patrolman flagged down a speeder near the junction of Highways 70 and 101.

"Don't you know the speed limit?"

"Sure," the driver relied, "it's 70 miles an hour. It says so on that sign there."

The cop looked at the marker for highway No. 70.

"Good thing I caught you before you reached Highway 101," he muttered, making out a ticket.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

The treaty signed by Spain and the United States on this day in 1819 setting the western boundary of the Louisiana Purchase caused all sorts of complications in Texas, some of which were not settled until as late as 1930.

Named as boundaries in the treaty were the Sabine River, the Red River and the 100th meridian "as laid down in Melish's map of the United States." It all sounded definite enough perhaps in 1819, but in later years certain inaccuracies in Melish's map showed up. First, that map located the 100th meridian a hundred miles too far east; it also showed only one "Red River" instead of the two main branches Randolph Marcy discovered in 1852.

A Supreme Court decision in 1896 finally fixed the south bank of the Red River as the Texas boundary. Discovery of oil in the river bed in 1919 brought further dispute between Oklahoma, Texas and the federal government which was not finally settled until 1927.

A three-year survey ending in 1930 finally set the true 100th meridian and gave Texas title to the area now incorporated in Lipscomb, Wheeler, Hemphill, Childress and Collingsworth Counties—a strip which Oklahoma tried to buy back from Texas.

Some historians claim that Andrew Jackson's contention that the "Sabine River" of the 1819 treaty was actually the Neches caused him to send U. S. troops across the Sabine during the Texas Revolution.

Marriage Ends With Nine Bangs

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three years of turbulent married life ended violently on Mrs. Edna Aaron's 21st birthday. Police said she shot her husband nine times.

Her husband James, a 33-year-old truck driver, died in a hospital an hour after the shooting yesterday in their apartment.

Mrs. Aaron, a waitress, was held without charge. Homicide Detective Vincent T. Morrow said the attractive brunette was vague about the reason for the shooting.

He quoted her as saying she felt she had to separate from Aaron, but that he had said he would never let her leave.

He said the couple was married in Knightstown, Ind., and the marriage had been marked by quarrels and numerous separations.

Jap Political Crisis Boils Anew Over New Graft Charges

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's political crisis boiled up anew today as a political opponent of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida indirectly accused two Cabinet ministers of accepting million-yen bribes from a shipbuilding company.

Yoshida's opponent, Progressive party Diet Member Yashuhiro Nakasone, named the bribe takers as Transportation Minister Mitsujiro Ishii and State Minister Bamboku Ono.

Both Cabinet members immediately went before the same Diet committee at which the charge was aired and denied receiving bribe money. Both demanded that Nakasone give the source of his information.

It was the latest development in a series of charges and countercharges of kickbacks and lush entertainments for government officials by representatives of companies doing business with the government.

Yoshida himself has scorned the charges of scandal in his administration and apparently is planning to fight the issue out without resigning or dissolving his Cabinet or the Diet.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Few Children Attended School

Few children went to school during the Middle Ages. These were fortunate, in a sense, but many of them suffered harsh treatment from their teachers. They were whipped when they failed to learn their lessons.

For hundreds of years, it was the custom in southern and western Europe to teach the pupils how to read and write in the Latin language, instead of their own. A French boy, for example, would learn to write in Latin, but might never know how to write two dozen French words. The same plan was followed in England. When Chaucer wrote his poems in an old form of English, he was breaking a new path for people of his country.

All over Europe it was the custom to have schools for boys, but perhaps only three or four boys in a hundred would go to them. As to girls, they were expected to stay at home and attend to their household work. It was a rare woman who knew the art of writing during the Middle Ages.

There was constant drill in Latin at the schools. The boys usually wrote at least one Latin composition a week.

After learning Latin, some of the pupils dropped out of school. Others entered a college or university.

Two famous universities were started in England during the Middle Ages. These were Oxford and Cambridge, and they still rank high among universities.

Other colleges existed in Great Britain and Ireland. Scotland had four of them.

On the mainland of Europe, there were dozens of colleges. Italy, France and Germany had famous centers of learning.

It was a custom for the teachers at colleges to read their lectures to the students, and this proved tiresome to many students. A rule was made at one place against "shouting and whistling" during a lecture. Another rule was directed against students who might be tempted to throw stones inside the lecture hall!

The Eyes Have It

Marjie Millar, soon to be seen in Paramount's "Money From Home," tells her favorite way of finding relaxation and sleep with some simple eye exercises.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Plenty Of Rest Held Important To Beauty

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Marjie Millar came to Hollywood from Tacoma, Washington, and won her first screen test because she lost her slip. She was at a party given in the home of the Darryl Zanucks when suddenly she found her slip was coming off. Mrs. Zanuck took her to the ladies room and while she was reparing the straps she chatted with her hostess. As a result of this the next day she was invited to make a test.

"I've been very lucky," Marjie told me as we sipped tea in her Hollywood apartment last week. "That test got me a contract with Hal Wallis and my first part was with Martin and Lewis."

"What is the most useful beauty suggestion you've learned in Hollywood?" I asked, getting down to business.

"Getting plenty of rest," was her quick answer. "You might think you can get away with late hours but when you face a camera without enough sleep it shows. Your skin looks dull, your eyes have no spark and even your voice reflects fatigue. If you need a rest you can't look your best."

We laughed at this unexpected rhyme. "That's a practical jingle to remember," I commented.

"There are times," Marjie continued, "when circumstances make it impossible for you to stop when you are tired. And then it is a good idea to refuel just as quickly as it's possible."

"Do you have a favorite way of letting down:" I asked.

"I find it very restful to do eye exercises. When I relax my eyes I can feel strain going out of my entire body. For example try palming your eyes when you are tired. Cover your closed lids with your palms so that your fingers cross above your nose. When you place your hands correctly every bit of light is blocked out. Begin to breathe deeply and rhythmically. Try counting five as you exhale and inhale to a count of five. After a series you should begin to yawn. This is a good signal that you are beginning to relax.

"Another exercise I find helpful," Marjie explained, "is to lie back and close my eyes and visualize the face of a large clock — the kind you might see on the tower of a building. I slowly examine every number going around the clock first in one direction and then the other. This usually makes me sleepy so that by the time I've gone around three times I find myself dropping off."

The next time you are tied up in knots or have trouble sleeping, try relaxing with these eye exercises of Marjie Millar.

Mrs. Ernest Pendley gave the devotion. Mrs. Ralph White, council delegate reported on the council meeting. Textile painting was decided upon as the project for the club year. Mrs. Sam Armstrong was elected to be the club nominee for delegate to the district Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting. Mrs. J. A. Roberts and Mrs. Jack Kountz were visitors.

Eleven attended. The next meeting will be in the county HD agent's office. Mrs. Shortes will be hostess.

Prayer Chain Is Hope Of Church Group

"An endless chain of prayer around the world" is the plan of the World Day of Prayer, sponsored by the Council of Church Women, to be held on March 5, at 10:30 a.m. in the First Methodist Church.

The idea of this international activity is to unite all Christians in a bond of peace, according to Mrs. Cliff Wiley, publicity chairman of the group. This year the theme of the program will be "That They May Have Life."

Each year, the program is written by a woman from a different country, and this year the work of Sarah Chakko of India will be followed.

Money from the free will offering which is taken in each place is used in the United States for two missions — home and foreign. The home mission collection is then divided among help for migrants, low income farm groups and the American Indian.

A World Day of Prayer will be held for children March 6 at 10 a.m. in the Salvation Army Citadel.

Members of the Board of the Council of Church women will have the regular meeting and a covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. Friend Talbott, 105 Canyon Drive, Thursday at noon.

Hyperion Will Help Entertain Officer

The 1948 Hyperion made plans to help entertain Mrs. A. J. House, first vice president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, who will be through here April 19.

Mrs. House has said that she wants to meet with all club women while here.

At the meeting of the Hyperion in the home of Mrs. Cecil Guthrie, Mrs. H. W. Smith was elected a delegate to the district convention March 17, 8 and 19. The nominating committee was composed of Mrs. C. C. Jones, Mrs. G. H. Wood and Mrs. Allen R. Hamilton.

Merlin Peterson and Tommy Thigpen and Charlie Partaine students at the University of Texas, visited their parents and friends here over the weekend.

Theta Rho Girls Propose New Members

Proposals for membership for Mary Ruth Hallowell and Joan Shultz were brought before a meeting of Cayloma Star Theta Rho Girls recently.

Refreshments were served by the Rebekah Lodge to 24. The next meeting will be Thursday and all members are urged to attend.

Spoudazio Fora

Spoudazio Fora will meet Tuesday at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Allen Huddleston, 708 W. 18th. Mrs. Clyde Angel will review "Snips and Snails."

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Don't Be A Country Bumpkin Around Girls

Are you a smooth operator or a clumsy country bumpkin when you're around girls? Lots of fellows spoil their chances of getting dates with creamy dishes simply because they leave the impression of being bungling ignoramuses.

Brush up on your dating know how. Let your girl friends feel lucky, not stuck. Rule one is this: In getting acquainted with girls or making dates with them, the fast approach is obsolete and will win you nothing but feminine disdain.

You see a gone Marilyn walking down the hall. She strikes your fancy and you want to date her. So what do you do? Run to the phone first chance you get and ask her to reserve Friday evening for you? Not on your life. Not if you want to start out on the right foot.

Wangle an introduction through a mutual friend, and have him give you a little build up. One word of praise from him will do more good than a thousand from you.

For goodness sake don't ask her for a date right then and there. Give her a chance to size you up and know whether she wants to spend a whole evening with you.

After you've had occasion to talk to her a few times and are sure she knows who you are, then ask for a date. "Guess who this is? Whatcha doin' Friday night" is not the smooth approach by a country mile.

Instead your line is, "Margie, this is Harold Hardy. If you haven't planned anything for this Friday evening would you go ice skating with me?"

This way she knows exactly what you have in mind before committing herself. If she turns you down by saying she has weak ankles and can't stand up on skates, you must be the judge of whether the alibi is sincere. All girls like movies. Tell her you're sorry about her ankles. Would she be interested in a movie instead?

Should she turn thumbs down on this also, give up for the time being. Above all, don't put her on the spot. Be tactful. You can find out whether she's giving you the run around without asking her. Trying to break down each excuse she gives you, asking her just what other plans she has made, or what evening she will be free is rude. The polite boy will take no for an answer graciously, although he may try again about a week later.

Well? Are you a smooth operator, or are your corners showing?

300 See Girl Scout Foreign Fashions

Three hundred parents and friends attended the Girl Scout International Day Fashion Show Sunday at the Howard County Junior College auditorium.

Troops 25 and 30 each received the book, "Hands Around the the World," for having the most troop members and parents present.

The Juliette Low Friendship Fund offering came to $23.86. This was made by each scout giving a penny for each year of her age.

Guests Entertained At Turtle Club Meet

Three guests were present at the meeting of the Turtle Club Thursday at St. Thomas Church Hall. They were Ralph Cianfrano, Charlene Eudy and Fay Bennett.

Plans were made for a party Feb. 27.

Members going to Colorado for the weekend were Vern Gertsner and Duane Quinn.

Mrs. L. D. Jenkins served refreshments to 15.

Threat To "Sleeping Beauty"

Looking especially menacing is Grimoes, the wicked witch of "Sleeping Beauty." The Clare Tree Major children's production will play here Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the Municipal Auditorium and is being sponsored by the local AAUW chapter. Admission is 75 cents or by season ticket. The ageless fairy tale will be dramatized by a cast of professional actors from New York.

Women's Gym Class To Resume At 'Y'

A new coach will be on hand Tuesday evening when the women's gym class takes up where it left off two months ago.

Rosemary Rice, who has an outstanding record as a volleyball player, will be on hand to give players tips, according to Grover Good, executive secretary of the YMCA.

The gym class is one of the oldest and most faithful of the YMCA, said Good. It has been active for three years but a two months vacation was ordered just before Christmas. Next session is set for 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Y gym. This activity is primarily for young married women, said the secretary.

GOP Fights For House Seats In Illinois Will Affect Senate

By RUSSELL LANE

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois' 10-candidate race in the Republican U. S. senatorial primary may be affected to a great extent by ballot fights which face two House leaders from the state.

The House members seeking renomination in Illinois April 13 primary election are veteran Leo E. Allen of Galena chairman of the Rules Committee, and old H. Velde, who heads the Un-American Activities Committee.

Some candidates in the record field for nomination to oppose Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas next November are planning extra campaign efforts in the northwestern Illinois territories represented by Allen and Velde.

The prospects of heavy voting in Allen's District, which includes Rockford, and Velde's 18th, embracing the Peoria-Pekin industrial center, make those regions vital to candidates in the statewide senatorial contest. Both congressional districts are preponderantly Republican.

Strategy of at least three senatorial candidates have already been oriented in this direction. They are Edward A. Hayes, Chicago attorney and former national commander of the American Legion, who has scheduled a Rockford meeting for today; Park Livingston, LaGrance attorney and University of Illinois trustee, who has done some preliminary speaking in the northwest districts and plans more; and Joseph T. Meek of Western Spring, head of the Illinois Federation of Retail Assn.

Others in the GOP senatorial primary lists are John B. Crane, Chicago economist whose campaign has been delayed while he accompanied Secretary of State Dulles to the Big Four talks in Berlin; Deneen A. Watson, Winnetka, secretary of the Illinois State Bar Assn.; Austin L. Wyman, Glencoe, former president of the Chicago Crime Commission; Julius Klein, Chicago publicist and National Guard brigadier general; Herbert F. Geller, Chicago alderman; Edgar M. Elbert, Maywood, former president of Lions International; and Lar Daly, Chicago manufacturer and perennial candidate.

In the 18th District Race, Velde faces State Rep. Robert H. Allison, 60, a Pekin fellow townsman and veteran of 20 years in the Illinois Legislature. Allison, a lawyer who lost his left arm in a coal mine accident in 1913, has a strong labor following.

His challenge to Velde is considered critical by some observers who say Velde has lost ground with some groups in his district because of his committee's anti-Red investigations in the religious and union fields.

Allen is in a four-way race in his district. His principal threat is Robert R. Canfield, state's attorney of Winnebago County, who claims strong backing in Rockford. Another Rockford resident who might draw heavily in Winnebago County is Eugene E. Clift, magazine publisher and television commentator. The fourth candidate is Roy C. Cleveland of Cherry Valley, east of Rockford.

There is no Democratic candidate in Allen's district, so a primary victory there would be tantamount to election.

Senator Wiley Attacks Bricker Act Alterations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) today denounced as a "hodge-podge" White House-approved changes the Senate has voted in a proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to curb treaty powers.

Wiley, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he believes one change—to require all past and future treaties to be made in "pursuance" of the Constitution—"would raise cain in the courts."

This proposal, adopted by a 44-43 vote of the Senate last week, would make all past and future treaties subject to court review on their constitutionality.

It was combined with proposals to require Senate roll-call votes on treaties and a requirement that treaties and other international agreements conform to the Constitution to make up what now is proved changes the Senate has known as the administration's bill.

Wiley, who has opposed any change in the Constitution at this time, said he hopes this measure—or any other that comes up for a final vote in the Senate—can be defeated outright.

Wiley added, however, that he is going to canvass the situation in advance and may vote for a proposal by Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) to send the whole subject back to the Judiciary Committee.

The CIO Executive Committee, in a statement last night, said the chief backers of Bricker's proposal are diehard elements trying to force the United States into "self-defeating isolationism." The statement urged defeat of the Bricker amendment and "any compromise which would appease" its backers.

No votes were scheduled today. Both the Senate and House planned no activity other than the traditional reading of George Washington's Farewell Address.

Physician Declares Godfrey Won't Be Operated On Again

BOSTON (AP)—Arthur Godfrey's physician says the famous radio-TV star will not have to undergo a second hip operation "at the present time."

Dr. Otto E. Aufranc of Newton told newsmen last night:

"Godfrey has continued to improve and made good progress in the past two months. It now remains necessary to develop additional strength by exercise and rest before he will be allowed to discard crutches and cane. He will need to use both from time to time until he has developed necessary endurance.

Dr. Aufranc said Godfrey flew here last Saturday for a consultation with him and is expected to return to Boston in about two months for another check.

An operation was performed on Godfrey's right hip last May 15 by Dr. Marius N. Smith-Petersen, who died a few weeks later leaving Dr. Aufranc in charge.

Godfrey's hips were badly smashed in an automobile accident two decades ago.

One On FBI List Caught In Action

Atlanta (AP) — A 32-year-old Tennessean who was one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men has been arrested on charges of burglarizing a grocery store.

Nelson R. Duncan of Memphis was picked up yesterday morning by city police after a routine check of a store aroused the suspicion of officers.

Nelson and a man listed as Thomas L. Sircy, 21, of Springfield, Tenn., were tearing open a safe which contained about $2,000 when police found them, Detective H. J. Standridge reported.

The two men were unarmed and did not offer resistance, police said.

The FBI says Duncan is wanted on charges of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile, unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and violation of the federal fire arms act.

Idaho TV Salesman Using Cars As Lure

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A Boise furniture dealer has reversed the field on the auto industry and is giving a used car free with each purchase of a television set.

"I figured that if they could give TV sets with cars, I could reverse it," said Mel Foster as he announced his one-week-only promotion.

The cars are 1948 models or older.

Newsmen To Get To See MIG In Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A selected audience will have a chance to see a Russian-built MIG15 jet fighter plane in flight Wednesday in Dayton, Ohio.

It is the craft a deserting North Korean pilot delivered to U. N. forces, and for which he was paid $100,000. The Communists have ignored an invitation to reclaim it by proving ownership.

The Air Force has arranged a flight demonstration for newsmen at Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton.

The plane already has been test-flown extensively. The consensus of U. S. pilots who have studied it is that, over-all, "it does not match the F86 fighter in performance and is considerably inferior in equipment.

Cripple Charged In Death Of Blind Man

FAYETTEVILLE, W.Va. (AP)—A 66-year-old cripple receives a hearing on a murder charge here today in the shooting of a blind tavern operator who dated his 30-year-old step-granddaughter.

Jerry Bradley, who has been on crutches since breaking a leg Feb. 9, was accused of shooting 56-year-old Billie (Blind Bob) Harris during an argument at the Bradley home early Saturday.

Deputies quoted Bradley as saying Harris beat Ana Lee Willis, Bradley's granddaughter and the blind man's girl friend, Friday morning and accused her of "two-timing" him.

Gigantic Changes Bring Hope To Texas Convicts

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK

HUNTSVILLE, TEx., Feb. 22 (AP) —The Texas prison system, once branded one of the most barbarous hellholes in the nation, is pulling itself up by its own bootstraps.

Six years ago, the Texas system was a black spot in America's penal picture. On the vast 15-unit, 72,888-acre system were almost all of the major problems that breed desperation and riots in prisons across the nation.

First offenders and hardened criminals were herded together in filthy, stinking tanks. Sexual perversion and venereal diseases were rampant. Men were maiming themselves — cutting their heel tendons, chopping off fingers or breaking arms — at the rate of nearly a hundred a year to escape the tanks and work farms.

The Texas Legislature had abolished beatings but convicts were still driven, bullied and abused. Surly, embittered and idle inmates were packed in the overcrowded tanks while prison shops and fertile farmlands remained unworked.

Then late in 1947 a revamped prison board took over. Sickened by the conditions it inherited, the board hired a former Tennessee schoolteacher to take over the prison system.

The new management revolutionized the prison program. Brutality and idleness disappeared, and in their place new hope and self-respect were given to the men behind bars.

"They treat you like a human being now," a prisoner says. "In the old days they used to beat you and curse you. Now they give you a job to do and if you do it right and behave yourself you can get somewhere. It's a different way of life."

To top off the reformation, Texas is doing it at a cost per prisoner of less than one fourth the average cost in 44 states and one sixth the cost in federal institutions.

How did all this happen?

O. B. Ellis, the new prison system director, was once a schoolteacher and football coach. When he became a county commissioner he studied up on penology and built the Shelby County (Tenn.) penal farm into a model institution.

Shortly after he took over the Texas prison system in January 1948, he laid a plan before the board and asked for four million dollars to put it into effect.

There were five points in the Ellis plan—a sensible rehabilitation program, improved housing and living conditions for the inmates, increased salaries and better living conditions for guards, modernization of the system's vast agricultural operation, and modification of legislation so that prison industries could be operated at a profit.

There was one other factor: a secret force that was deeply rooted in Ellis' own strong convictions concerning punishment and prisons.

To deprive a man of his freedom, Ellis believes, is punishment enough. Except for loss of privileges, loss of good conduct time, and solitary confinement, there should be no further punishment and no whipping, abuse, cursing, or any other form of brutality.

Men are in prison principally because they never wanted or learned to work, Ellis says. "The solution is to give them both the incentive and knowledge of how to work. An Ellis day is 10 hours of hard work for every able-bodied prisoner.

Ellis got his money and modification of laws to permit prison manufactured articles to be sold to other state institutions—but not on the open market—at a profit to the prison system.

The four million dollars was combined with the Ellis work program to change the face of the prison system and to completely modernize its agricultural operations.

Prison labor, using prison-made brick, has built new quarters for 1,500 prisoners to permit segregation of the criminally insane, the incorrigibles and the perverts. Other constructions include laundry and bath houses, recreation halls, modern dormitories for single guards and 68 new housing units for prison employes.

New equipment was installed in prison industries and more than 200 tractors were purchased to replace 2,000 mules used in farming operations.

The rise in prison morale is shown in the statistics. Self-mutilations have dropped from 87 in 1947 to zero in 1953 and escapes from 91 to 16 in the same period. It's even more vividly reflected in the convicts themselves.

"We are getting a fair shake now," a three-time loser declared. "It's as different as day from night."

On the financial ledger there's more evidence of the Ellis plan's success. In 1948, the prison industries and farm operations covered 57 per cent of the system's operating cost. In 1952 they covered 77 per cent. In 1951, when a national survey showed the average daily cost of maintaining a prisoner in 44 states to be $2.23 and in federal prisons $3.59, the cost in Texas was 49 cents.

This progress has not gone unnoticed across the nation. Austin MacCormick, a national authority on prisons, recently reported, "Texas in the past six years has made miraculous improvements in what was one of the most barbarous prison systems in the country."

Mitchell Favors Farm Supports, Power As Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Chairman Stephen Mitchell is expected to advise Democratic senators and House members from nine Western states tomorrow their best chance for re-election lies in attacking the Eisenhower administration's farm and power policies.

The Democratic chairman, just completing a tour of Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Washington, Oregon and New Mexico, has been sending back to headquarters here optimistic reports of Democratic chances in those states.

He will sit down with Democrats from those states to detail his findings. Aides said he is expected to stress what he believes is public opposition in the area to President Eisenhower's flexible farm price support program and the administration's reputed opposition to public power developments.

Although Mitchell hasn't been bearing down on the issue, he has made it clear that the Democratic high command doesn't share views voiced by some Republicans that talking about a recession will bring on one.

Some Democrats believe that if a business downturn broadens with the Republicans in power, the minority party's chances will be increased in the voting next fall on control of Congress.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), who is running for re-election, hit the issue again yesterday when he wrote Eisenhower urging the President to reconsider his tax proposals "to prevent a recession from deepening into a depression."

The Illnois senator urged the President to get behind a proposal of Sen. George (D-Ga) to boost personal income tax exemptions $200 as a measure of increasing buying power among low-income earners.

Democrats give every indication they are out to become the party of tax reduction, figuring that the average voter gives more attention to the taxes he pays than to statements about the government's position.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) put it into words in a speech before the Kansas Democratic Club at Topeka when he said the Republicans had adopted the "trickle-down theory" of tax cuts for business and big taxpayers.

"The Republicans are for tax relief for the few," he said. "The Democrats support tax relief for all. The Democrats are anxious to stimulate our sagging economy."

Woman Dodges Brick, But Is Injured Anyway

SAPULPA, Okla. (AP)—A 58-year-old wife dodged a brick thrown at her by her 60-year-old husband yesterday but stepped into the path of an oncoming car and was injured seriously, the state highway patrol reported.

A. M. Rivers was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. Mrs. Rivers suffered a broken leg, internal injuries and shock.

The 19-year-old youth driving the car which struck Mrs. Rivers told troops he was on his way to their home to meet their daughter for a date.

To all who braved atrocious weather to attend our second anual pancake supper Friday night, and especially to:

Pillsbury Mills, Dallas; Standard Meat Co., Fort Worth; Texas Meat And Provision Co., Rath Packing Co., Jacob E. Decker and Son, all of Dallas; Wilson and Co., Oklahoma City, Morton Foods and Gandy's, Big Spring and Webb-Davis Co., Midland, who furnished ingredients and materials, and to school officials who permitted us to use the fine facilities at the senior high school.

We're sorry some of you had to stand in long lines, and we promise to turn 'em out faster next year.

BIG SPRING KIWANIS CLUB

What'll It Be?

CHICKEN OR CHILI?

The Herald Newsboys Will Know In Two Weeks!

Yes, the annual "Chicken or Chili" Contest between Herald Newsboys is here again! These lads—more than 40 of them who serve you—will start competing Monday, in a two-weeks friendly game of business, and then they'll get together for a big party—one they look forward to all year! At that party, the winning team will sit down to a plate heaped with fried chicken, with all the trimmings, while the losers must be satisfied with a bowl of chili and crackers. But it'll all be fun, and the contest is a worthwhile enterprise for every one of them!

Herald Newsboys during the "Chicken or Chili" contest will be testing their mettle as little businessmen. Two teams will be in friendly competition, each out to best the other in such practices as signing up new subscribers, in making prompt delivery of papers, in giving good delivery service to all customers, in making prompt collections, so that they can be prompt in paying their own bills; and in taking active part in the Herald Newsboys' meetings and activities. It all means that the most energetic boys, and the best business boys, will get to eat good old fried chicken.

These Are The Boys Behind Your Herald

They make up a large group of people who are all-important to the readers of the Big Spring Herald. These are the nearly 50 carrier-salesmen who bring the paper to your home here in Big Spring. Six times a week they make their rounds and each trip plays an important part in our way of life and living. These boys in Big Spring are doing just as much as 50,000 other young Americans are doing on the newspapers throughout the United States. They are serving the public. They are a most important cog in the communication system of the country. They are receiving a healthful and wonderful training in the fundamentals of all business. They are learning to serve, to sell and to handle money just as any successful businessman must do. And, they will some day graduate from this same school of experience as have many of our successful and outstanding citizens. These boys are truly independent businessmen just as are the merchants of the city. They buy their merchandise, or papers, at a wholesale rate, and deliver them to their customers from whom they collect weekly. They pay their paper bill each week and the difference between the wholesale and the retail rate which they collect is their profit. When a boy is successful in building his route he naturally can earn more money. When his service is good and his customers like him, they will frequently recommend him to their friends and neighbors who might be interested in subscribing to the paper. Herald newsboys are encouraged to give good service, and they do their best, because they know it is good business. You can help your Herald carrier a great deal with encouragement and friendly tips.

Amateur Boxers Bid For State Crowns

By BARD LINDEMAN

FORT WORTH (AP)—A pair of patriots, both former soldiers, headline the semi-final card as the 18th annual Golden Gloves Tournament stages its wrap-up night tonight here on Washington's birthday.

George Villa, 161, El Paso, a veteran of 15 months service in Korea and Fort Worth's Gene Stacy, 159, an ex-front scout who fought through two bitter yeers of World War II in Europe, will box in one of two middleweight semi-finals.

Thirty-two the the state's finest amateur fighters are matched in 16 semi-final bouts. The winners will then clash in the second half of the show to determine the state championships. The eight Texas titlists go to Chicago March 1-3 for the Tournament of Champions, the Golden Gloves finals for the western half of the United States.

Here's How

St. Louis Cardinals' owner, August A. Busch Jr., sports his club's uniform as he gets instructions in the proper method of bunting from his ace second baseman, Red Schoendienst, at the team's training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla. Red, who doesn't have to report for several days, was on hand for the opening session for pitchers and catchers. (AP Wirephoto).

Villa is the champ killer. On Friday night the stocky slugger whipped Amarillo's Pete Perez, former state lightweight and welterweight champion who was shooting for a triple crown. Villa got up off the floor in the second round to drop Perez and grab the decision. The fight was called one of the finest seen here in a gloves tournament.

Stacy is the knockout artist. He has two, he's levelling for three. "I think I'll knock him out before the third round," he said yesterday.

Stacy, a 31-year-old southpaw, has won both his tournament fights with clean KO's. One was a first round job. The other came at 1:42 of the second round.

Villa, 22, is soft-spoken and wears horned-rimmed glasses. He said, "I don't make predictions. I will fight my heart out. This is my last year of fighting."

Villa plans to go to college next fall.

Stacy and Villa both hold Army titles. Stacy won an all-Army tournament in England in 1944 by scoring 17 straight knockouts. He said, "I was in shape." Villa took an Army light-welter title in Seoul, Korea, in 1952.

The team title is also on the line tonight. San Antonio, the defending champion, carries the lead into the semifinals and has more fighters going than any other club.

The San Antonioans have 12 points with six semifinalists. Fort Worth, the host team and not actually in the running for the trophy, is second with 10 points. Fort Worth has five boxers in semifinal bouts.

Beaumont and El Paso rank third with nine points each. They have four semifinalists each.

Two 1953 gloves champions returned this year to defend titles. They are still "alive." Two other winners from last year returned to box at another weight. They have been beaten.

Featherweight Ray Garcia, 127, El Paso, meets Ward Yee, 126, an airman fighting out of Lackland Air Force Base and San Antonio. Garcia was the '53 feather king. Yee has won his two tournament fights by TKO. He's left-handed and is a good defensive boxer.

The other defender is the Houston heavyweight, Roy Harris, 174. Harris eliminated the 1953 state heavyweight king, Donnie Fleeman of Fort Worth, Saturday night. Harris took the decision.

Harris, out of Cut And Shoot, Tex., is in with Austin's Billy Bruton in a light - heavyweight semifinal. Both are tall, stand-up fighters with good reach. Harris holds one TKO win, one decision. Bruton has a pair of decisions behind him.

Here are some of the other bouts that bring tournament favorites into play:

FLYWEIGHTS

Elmo Sams, 112, Amarillo vs Tony Ramirez, 102, San Antonio.

Jim Jarrett, 113, Beaumont vs Ricardo Lara, 112, El Paso.

BANTAMWEIGHTS

Frank Valdez, 117, San Antonio vs Ray Fleming, 119, Fort Worth.

Duggie Jamerson, 118, Amarillo vs Baltazar Flores Jr., 19, Beaumont.

FEATHERWEIGHTS

Raymond Garcia, 127, El Paso vs Ward Yee, 126, San Antonio.

Scott Sherman, 126, Brownwood vs Johnny Ramos, 124, Austin.

LIGHTWEIGHTS

James Earle, 134, Waco vs George Carter, 136, San Antonio.

Charles Aviles, 135, Corpus Christi vs J. C. Crowley, 136, Fort Worth.

WELTERWEIGHTS

Melvin Gragg, 147, San Antonio vs Bobby Wilhelm, 148, Amarillo.

Joe Batson, 147, Fort Worth vs Billy Dickerson, 147, Brownwood.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS

George Villa, 161, El Paso vs Gene Stacy, 159, Fort Worth.

John (Cheeta) White, 159, Dallas vs Nelson Fontenot, 158, Beaumont.

LIGHTWEIGHTS

John Lisotta, 175, Beaumont vs Ed Castillo, 170, Waco.

Roy Harris, 174, Houston vs Billy Bruton, 173, Austin.

HEAVYWEIGHTS

Bill Roberts, 207, San Antonio vs Wesley McDonald, 211, Fort Worth.

Clarence Johnson, 217, El Paso vs Ed Lieberum, 186, Houston.

TEXAS OPEN CHAMP

Harper To Pass Up Trip South

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Golf's winter tour rattled on to Mexico City today but without Chandler Harper, the tournament old-timer who put on one of the greatest finishes in the game's history in winning the $12,500 Texas Open with three straight rounds of 8-under-par 63.

The 40-year-old star, playing better now than any time in his long career, tied the all-time PGA record for 72 holes as he wound up with 259 to take down $2,200 in the Texas Open yesterday and vault into fourth place among the year's leading money winners.

The Mexican National Open wanted Harper but he passed it up to go home to Portsmouth, Va., on business.

The tall man from Virginia, who boasts an amazing scoring average in the three tournaments he has played this year—67.33—shot a 39 on the first nine of the Texas Open.

It put him close to last in the field at the time. But he negotiated the second nine over Brackenridge Park's 6,400-yard course in 31. And from then on he never had a nine over 32.

He came from 9 strokes behind in the first round to a 2-stroke lead at the finish and the Texas Open never before saw such golf as the veteran turned in on those last 54 holes. He putted from 12 feet for a birdie on the final green that would have beaten the PGA record for 72 holes held by Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan and barely missed. His 189 for the last three rounds bettered anything ever posted for 54 holes. And his 259 was one stroke under the Texas Open record set by Jack Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., in 1952.

Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C., who started the final round with a 6-stroke lead over Harper and Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa., took a 70 on the last 18 and finished second with 261. Hebert had 67 for 263 and third place while Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., wound up fourth with 264.

The money winners:

Chandler Harper, Chattanooga, Tenn., 70-63—63—63—259 ($2,200).

Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N.C., 65-62-64-70—261 ($1,500).

—263 ($1,170).

Lionel Hebert, Erie, Pa., 63-67-66-67

Shelley Mayfield, Chicopee, Mass., 63-69-66-66—264 ($960).

Jack Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., 67-64-65-69—265 ($790).

Tommy Bolt, Maplewood, N.J. 67-64-66-68—265 ($790).

E. J. Harrison, Ardmore, Okla., 66-71-65-65—267 ($595).

Al Besselink, Grossinger, N.Y., 68-63-65-68—267 ($595).

Fred Haas, New Orleans, 67-66-67-68—268 ($440).

Wally Ulrich, Maplewood, N.J., 63-73-65-68— ($440).

Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N.Y., 66-73-60-69— ($44).

Jimmie Demaret, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., 67-70-68-66—269 ($315).

Henry Ransom, Pine Lake, Mich., 66-68-70-66— ($315).

Doug Ford, Yonkers, N.Y., 66-70-71-63—270 ($223.33).

Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., 66-64-71-69—270 ($223.33).

Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., 66-68-66-70—270 ($223.33).

Al Brosch, Garden City, N.Y., 68-65-70-68—271 ($155).

Dick Knight, Omaha, Neb., 64-68-71-68—271 ($155)

Ralph B. Lomquist, Glendale, Calif., 69-66-67-69—271 ($155).

Art Doering, Cincinnati, O., 70-65-66-70—271 ($155).

Oil Cavanaugh, Cedarhurst, N.Y., 68-64-69-70—271 ($155)

Bob Inman, Tulsa, Okla, 71-66-66-67—272 ($110).

Rudy Horvath, Windsor, Canada, 61-71-70-70—272 ($110).

Jerry Barber, La Canada, Calif., 70-65-66-71—272 ($110).

BABE ZAHARIAS TIRED BUT HAPPY AFTER WIN

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Babe Zaharias had a "knocking headache" and her muscles were weak from exhaustion, but she was happy.

She was trodding slowly away from the 18th green at the Bayshore Golf Course yesterday and her spirit was high in spite of the nagging ache in her bones. She had just won a golf tournament—the $5,000 Serbin Women's Invitational.

Over the years, the Babe had won many tournaments, including all of the world's important championships, but this was the big one.

It was the victory she needed to know that she could come back after conquering the toughest enemy of her fabulous sports career—cancer.

"I guess I'll have to call this the biggest thrill of my life," the Babe said. "I didn't think I would ever win another one."

Tied for first with Patty Berg at the start of the fourth and last 18-hole round, the Babe whipped the tough Chicago veteran by one stroke in a thrilling battle down the home stretch.

They fought on even terms for 13 holes. Then the Babe jumped into the lead with twso traight birdies and hung on against growing weariness. She was two under women's par for the 72-hole grind with 294.

It was her first tournament triumph since the cancer operation 10 months ago in a hospital in Beaumont—the same Texas town where she launched the career that won her fame as the century's greatest woman athlete.

Charles Clark Led Steers With Total Of 288 Points

In the basketball season just completed, Charles Clark led the Big Spring High School team in scoring both in conference and full season play.

According to figures compiled by Head Coach Wayne Bonner, the bespectacled junior ran up 167 points in 12 district games and 121 points in ten non-conference engagements for a total of 288 points. He averaged slightly more than 13 points a contest.

Wiley Brown, a senior, had 132 points in conference play and 59 points in exhibition games for a total of 191 points. His average would be nine points a start.

Senior Jerry Brooks was ninth among the Steers in the scoring parade with 71 points in conference games and 47 in practice tilts for a total of 118.

Only other player to tally more than 100 points was Junior Al Kloven with 53 in district goes and 59 in non-conference tests for a total of 112.

Morris Rhodes, a senior, had 53 and 38 for a total of 91. Junior Wayne Tollett came in for 40 and 41 for 81 while Sophomore Charles Saunders scored 20 and 30 for a total of 50.

Raider Football Drills Under Way

LUBBOCK (SC) — Spring training for Texas Tech's Gator Bowl champion football team begins today.

Highlights of the session will be Tech's annual coaching clinic March, 12 and 13 and the Red Raider Round-up spring game March 19. Coach DeWitt Weaver said that visiting lecturers for the clinic would be named soon.

Warren To Direct A-AA Regionals

LUBBOCK (SC) — Buist (Buzz) Warren will direct the Region I University Interscholastic League Basketball Tournament for Class A and AA high schools here Feb. 27.

Warren, who directed last year's meet, is Tech's baseball coach and assistant football coach.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Perhaps no team in the lower minor leagues anywhere faces the 1954 season in better financial shape than Carlsbad of the Longhorn circuit.

Pat McLaughlin's club led the league in attendance last year and Pat is supposed to have picked up an additional $25,000 through the sale of players.

Elias Osorio, Audie Malone and Lefty Marshall Epperson reportedly brought the top prices.

The other Osorio, Pedro, will be back with McLaughlin this year, as will Ike Jackson, the big Negro catcher. Ike is to be moved into the outfield, however. He tended to be a scatter-arm when he had to hurry his throw.

McLaughlin could have disposed of Jackson for a sizeable sum but felt his value would go up with another year in C ball. Jackson gives the ball a long ride with that wagon tongue he uses for a bat.

• • •

The schedule-maker originally planned to have each club in the circuit play six double-headers over the course of the 1954 campaign but, on the suggestion of the executive committee, extended the season for five days as an alternative.

As of now, the Big Spring club will play one scheduled double-header. As recently as 1953, the league directors frowned on any scheduled twin-bills.

• • •

The schedule calls for Big Spring to play nothing more than six-game home stands and only two of those. Pepper Martin, owner-manager of the Steeds, says he has no complaints about the schedule. Charles Ruggles, the veteran Texas League statistician, drew it up.

He's probably been corrected a dozen times by now but Ben Peeler of the Odessa paper remarked recently that Hal Sayles was the only president the Longhorn League ever had, until Harry James took over recently.

Let's give credit where credit is due. Howard Green organized the Longhorn League and spent long hours at it, at a time few in this area thought professional baseball would 'go' again. He distinguished himself, both as an organizer and as the chief executive of the circuit.

• • •

Charles Hester, who serves Breckenridge as its basketball coach, played high school ball under Bob Percival, now the Vernon cage mentor, at Wellington some 15 years ago.

• • •

They tell this story on Fritz Crisler, athletic director at the University of Michigan:

Crisler, then the Wolverine football coach, was approached by a tipsy alumnus soon after his team had belted USC in the 1948 Rose Bowl game.

"What was the score?" asked the weaving old grad.

"It was 49-0 our favor," replied Crisler.

"Didn't we play out here once before?"

"Sure," said Crisler. "We beat Stanford in the first Rose Bowl game in 1902.

"What was the score?"

"We beat them 49-0, too," said Crisler, quite proudly.

"What?" the drunk shouted, "Forty-six long years and no improvement?"

IT PROVES A LONG DAY FOR GLOVES FIGHTER

By BARD LINDEMAN

FORT WORTH (AP)—This is the day of the fight.

Gene Stacy got up at 7:30 a.m., put on his sweat pants, a heavy shirt, his old Army fatigue hat and trotted two miles easily.

Stacy fights in the Golden Gloves semifinals here tonight. If he wins he fights in the final. Then if he wins he's Texas middleweight champion.

Stacy had a holiday today. There's no work at the fancy meats department of Swift's & Co.

When Stacy got back home after running he read the morning paper. Mostly about the fights. Then he had two soft-boiled eggs, biscuits and jelly and a little coffee. He did the dishes.

Stacy is 31, a father of three—two boys and a girl.

"I been boxing since I was 19 when I first went into the service," Stacy said. "Keeps you out of honky-tonks. I like it mostly cause it keeps you in shape. You feel better."

Stacy has won both his fights on the way to the semifinals by knockouts. He's a left-hander. He knocked out one man with a left-hand, the other with a right, after he set him up with a left uppercut. He's 5 feet 11, with long arms. The program said he won 17 fights with 17 knockouts in the Army to become European all-Army middleweight champion.

"We were in England all waiting for D-Day. This was 1944. There was an all-Army tournament with fighters from all armies, Englishmen and all. Joe Louis was there and he helped put the tournament on," Stacy said.

"I was in good shape. The colonel gave me every day, from 10 o'clock in the morning on, to train. I had 17 fights and won them all. By knockouts," he said.

After 17 knockouts Stacy landed at Normandy.

Stacy fought through Europe. He fought two years and holds the Purple Heart, Bronze Star, Presidential Unit Citation and Combat Infantryman's Badge. He was with the 4th Armored Division, 53rd Infantry Battalion which, he said, spearheaded for the late Gen. George Patton's Third Army.

Tonight Stacy must get by George Villa, El Paso, an ex-soldier who served with the Eighth Army in Korea. The two meet in a middleweight semifinal bout.

"I got to keep him out," Stacy said. "I'll box him. I'll get him groggy. I believe I'll knock him out before the third round."

Mahoney Levels Blast Against Track Promoters

NEW YORK (AP)—The man who helped clear track star Mal Whitfield of charges that he was on the "take" levelled a blast at foreign promoters today, charging they were interested only in exploiting American stars.

Jeramiah T. Mahoney, former president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States and still one of the most powerful members of its inner circle, added that in Europe the men who run the meets were interested only in the gate.

"Whatever trouble we have is mostly the fault of the Europeans," Mahoney, a prominent jurist, said. "All they want is our top stars and they aren't interested in what happens to them.

"They have eyes only for the gate. We always have tried to help, but from now on our rules will prohibit that sort of goings-on."

The new set of regulations, adopted yesterday after the committee headed by Mahoney cleared Whitfield and barred Wes Santee, Sim Iness, J. W. Mashburn and Parry O'Brien from foreign competition for one year, provides:

1. No athlete be permitted to take more than one trip abroad during any calendar year.

2. No team going abroad be broken up for any reason whatsoever—that teams must remain intact from time of departure to time of return.

3. That only citizens of the United States be selected as members of touring teams.

4. That no teams be sent on foreign trips during the period preceding the United States outdoor championships.

Whitfield was accused by a Swedish newspaperman of demanding $200 to run the 1,000-yard race in a meet and another $100 if he broke a record, and for demanding excessive travelling expenses to the Washington Star meet last year.

None of the charges were substantiated but as a result of the shadow of suspicion, Whitfield's name was taken off the ballot for the Sullivan award which annually goes to the amateur athlete who has done the most for sports during the year.

The penalties to Santee, Iness, Mashburn and O'Brien were doled out because of "breaking training and curfew rules" in Europe. The AAU declined to eleborate.

HC Drills Open About March 1

Only one letterman returns to the team. He is Tommy Randolph, a pitcher.

The Hawks reigned as Zone champions and state finalists two years ago. Last season, however, Amarillo beat them out for the Zone championship.

Arizona-Texas Will Open Play April 17

EL PASO (AP)—A 140-game schedule starting April 17 and ending Sept. 8 was approved yesterday by directors of the Class C Arizona-Texas Baseball League.

El Paso opens at Juarez, Cananea at Bisbee-Douglas, Mexicali at Phoenix and Nogales at Tucson.

Rice And Texas Tied For Lead

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest Conference basketball championship is between or among Rice and Texas with the decision on which way it goes resting with four other teams.

The champion has little more than a week to run and during that period Rice and Texas, tied for the lead with 7-2 records, each plays three games, two of them on the road.

Those road jaunts come this week and start Tuesday night when Rice battles Baylor at Waco and Texas tries Southern Methodist at Dallas.

There's dynamite stored up in those games. Baylor upset Texas on the Bears' home court. And Southern Methodist beat Rice at Dallas.

Arkansas is a rough customer on its home court and so is Texas Christian and both are disappointed, disilusioned teams that would like to ruin somebody else's chances.

If Texas and Rice survive this week without a beating they will be expected to finish the season tied for the title. The Longhorns close out the campaign against Texas Christian at Austin while Rice plays Southern Methodist at Houston, March 2.

Texas, which appeared ready to tumble out of the race following its defeat by Rice the week previously, snapped back to whip Texas A&M, 66-49 and Baylor, 78-63, last week while Rice was downing Arkansas, 76-62.

If the two teams wind up in a tie for the title, they will play it off for the NCAA spot at Kansas City but will not be playing off the championship tie. They will be co-champions.

Gene Schwinger, Rice's great center, has the scoring championship sewed up. Schwinger has 481 points—a record in the conference—and his lead over second place Henry Ohlen of Texas Christian is 113 points.

Indiana Can Wrap Up Big Ten Cage Crown Tonight

By RIP WATSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Indiana's Hoosiers can wrap up the Big Ten basketball title tonight and qualify for the NCAA Tournament, which they won last year.

A victory over Iowa's fading Hawkeyes will give Coach Branch McCracken's boys at least a tie for their second straight Big Ten crown. And should Wisconsin whip Illinois, the Hoosiers will have the title without any further argument.

Indiana, ranked third nationally in the latest Associated Press poll, has a 10-1 record in conference competition, with Iowa (8-3) and Illinois (7-3) the only challengers. A three-way tie is theoretically possible but not likely. The Illini and the Hoosiers meet in the windup March 6.

The Hoosiers could well go into the NCAA Tournament as the favorites since first-ranked Duquesne already is in the National Invitation Tournament in New York and the three stars of second-rated Kentucky—Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos—may not be welcome in the NCAA Tournament because of their postgraduate status.

Oklahoma A&M, which won the NCAA crown in 1945 and 1946 behind Bob Kurland, could clinch another Missouri Valley Conference title—No. 9 in 11 years—by beating Wichita again Wednesday. That would qualify the fifth-ranked Aggies automatically for the NCAA Tournament since the Missouri Valley is one of 15 conferences sending representatives directly to the tournament.

Three conference representatives already have been named to the NCAA tourney, and the next two weeks are the weeks of decision for the collegians, with both big postseason tournaments filling up like a pair of camels in an oasis.

Besides Duquesne, the NIT already has fourth-ranked Western Kentucky, Dayton, Louisville, Wichita and Niagara in its 12-team field. The roster should be completed by the end of the week. The competition gets under way March 6.

La Salle of the Mid-Atlantic Conference joined Idaho State of the Rocky Mountain and Toledo of the Mid-American in the NCAA cast over the weekend and celebrated by thumping St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, 78-67. Seventh-ranked Seattle, Oklahoma City and Bradley have been named as "at large" teams.

Colorado A&M, trying for its first Skyline Conference title, can join the NCAA club by beating Utah and Brigham Young this weekend.

Champions in both divisions of the Pacific Coast probably will be determined by Saturday, but then there's the matter of a playoff.

UCLA, leading the Southern Division with 7-3, needs only a split in two games at home against Southern California (6-4). Up north, Oregon State will settle for a split in the home-and-home series with Oregon since State has a 10-4 mark to the university's 8-6.

But all the other conferences will carry their fights into next week. Here's a rundown on how they stand coming into the home stretch:

Eastern—Penn (8-2), Cornell (7-2) and Princeton (6-3) in a three-way battle, with a key game Thursday when Penn visits Princeton.

Southern—George Washington has clinched the league race, but the championship, and NCAA chance, are determined in the annual tournament March 4-6.

Atlantic Coast—Duke out in front, but the Blue Devils also must win a tournament March 4-6.

Southeastern — Second-ranked Kentucky and Louisiana State are almost certain to go through without losing any conference games, which would necessitate a playoff on a neutral court.

Southwest—A playoff is likely here, too, for Texas and Rice are tied at 7-2 and don't play again.

Big Seven—Kansas and Colorado rolling along in front with 8-1 records and a return date at Kansas March 1. Colorado won on its court.

Border—Texas Tech leading with 9-1 to West Texas State's 8-2 and both teams will play one conference game before their March 2 meeting at Tech.

Stephenville 11 To Play Here

Coach Carl Coleman and two aides will work with a squad of about 72 boys in spring football drills, which get under way at Steer Stadium this afternoon.

Of that group, 20 are Ninth Graders. The others are all candidates for varsity posts.

The workouts will continue through March 12, according to present plans.

Coleman expected to spend most of the first afternoon issuing equipment. He said the team will concern itself with fundamentals.

"We'll block and tackle most of the time," said the head mentor.

Coleman will be assisted by Wayne Bonner and Roy Baird. Baird will divide his time between the football and baseball fields. He is head baseball coach.

Harold Bentley will coach track this spring.

Coleman said Stephenville had agreed to play the Steers here on Sept. 24. The contest completes the 1954 Big Spring schedule.

Texarkana To Sit This Season Out

TEXARKANA (AP) — Texarkana has given up hope of having a professional baseball club this season.

The last chance faded yesterday when the sponsor of a companion team at Longview, Tex., declined to field a team. Had Longview agreed to go along, the two teams would have joied the Cotton States League.

J. C. Stroud, East Texas oilman and contractor, said he decided not to enter Longview in the Cotton States because of the short time remaining before baseball season opens. Leaders in Texarkana's movement to field an entry said they are giving up for 1954 but "we'll try again in 1955."

Tech Track Team May Be Snake Bit

First, Kenneth Fannon of O'Donnell, state Class A champion in high and low hurdles last May, became scholastically ineligible. Then the doctor said Allen Hood, district champion hurdler from New Deal, would be sidelined at least four weeks with a back ailment.

GOP Gets New Publicity Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Bassett, 41-year-old political editor of the Los Angeles Mirror, today was named director of public relations for the Republican National Committee.

Bassett, who was Vice President Nixon's publicity director in the 1952 campaign, succeeds Robert Humphreys, who was promoted to campaign director, a new job.

The shifts were interpreted by party spokesmen as an effort to step up the 1954 congressional election campaign by relieving Humphreys of what was termed "double duties" in recent months.

Also, the appointment of Bassett by Chairman Leonard W. Hall was looked on as reflecting, in some measure at least, the rising prestige in the party of Nixon. Both Nixon and Bassett are Californians.

In announcing the two appointments, Hall said:

"In line with our policy of leaving nothing undone to assure President Eisenhower of increased Republican majorities in both the Senate and the House next year, I am making these additional moves to intensify our 1954 effort."

Hal said the party organization will gear itself to tell the "complete, factual story" of the administration's "many accomplishments" to the country between now and election day Nov. 2.

Bassett was born in Glendale, Calif., Oct. 18, 1912. He graduated from Bowdoin College, Maine, and joined the Los Angeles Times in 1934, transferring to the Mirror as political editor in 1948. He was given a leave of absence to assist in the Nixon campaign in 1952.

During World War II he was public relations officer for Fleet Adm. William F. Halsey, commander of the South Pacific area.

Humphreys is 49 and a native of Greenville, Ohio. A former Washington political reporter and national affairs editor of Newsweek magazine, he was public relations director for the House Republican Campaign Committee before assuming the publicity post of the National Committee before the start of the Eisenhower campaign.

Laredo Fete Nears Finish

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—For George Washington yesterday the Mexicans killed six bulls. For George Washington last night Aztec Indians danced and mariachis played.

And today, Laredo's four-day 57th annual George Washington Birthday celebration ends on the theme, "International Good Will Through Education."

The U. S. Commissioner of education, Dr. Samuel Miller Brownell, was here to address a luncheon attended by U. S. and Mexican educators.

This morning, schoolchildren from neighboring Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, skipped across the bridge over the Rio Grande to a Laredo junior high school for judging of scrapbooks of international good will.

Laredo started this George Washington Birthday celebration along the banks of the Rio Grande 57 years ago. The idea was to have some events both Mexicans and neighboring Americans could join in. Washington is one of the few American heroes Mexicans revere.

President To Fly Back To Capital Tuesday Evening

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Vacationing President Eisenhower will return to Washington Wednesday morning and get a report on the Berlin Big Four conference a few hours later from Secretary of State Dulles.

The President's plans were announced here yesterday by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty who told newsmen Eisenhower had sent a message congratulating Dulles on "the fine job he did" at the conference.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to board their private plane Columbine Tuesday evening for an overnight flight to the capital.

They have been vacationing at this desert resort since late last Wednesday.

Eisenhower planned to get back on the golf course today after a quiet Sunday. He and the First Lady attended services yesterday at the Protestant Community Church of Palm Springs, where the pastor—Dr. James H. Blackstone Jr.—praised them for devotion to Christian principles.

The pastor said their regular attendance at church services had inspired "many, many thousands to think of righteousness."

Freedoms Foundation Awards Announced Near Valley Forge

By LEE LINDER

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—Freedoms Foundation today cited 817 American citizens, organizations and schools for "outstanding work for freedom" during 1953.

At ceremonies in a flag-draped Revolutionary War barn within sight of hallowed Valley Forge, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower—brother of the President—presented awards to the 28 top winners.

Cited for special mention and presented with George Washington honor medal awards were the Boy Scouts of America, News Magazine of the Screen and the Reader's Digest.

Dr. Eisenhower, president of the Pennsylvania State University, said the special awards were in recognition "of extraordinary merit in the nation's interest."

Freedoms Foundation, a nonprofit, nonsectarian, nonpolitical group incorporated in 1949, estimated the 1953 awards are worth $75,000, about $20,000 of it in cash.

The organization is dedicated "to maintain the American way of life" and honor those groups or individuals who develop "new programs which further a better understanding of the American system."

Twelve top awards of $1,000 each went to winners in the following categories: general, cartoons, community programs, essays, editorials, photographs with captions, public addresses, sermons, college campus programs and letters from armed forces personnel.

A gold George Washington honor medal went to winners in advertising campaigns, company employe publications, magazine articles, 16 mm. motion pictures, radio programs, and television programs.

Five schools—Elementary 51, Buffalo, N.Y.; Sunol Elementary, San Jose, Calif.; Southern High, Baltimore, Md.; Alamo Heights Independent School District, San Antonio, Tex.; and Oceanside (N.J.) Public Schools—were honored in today's ceremonies.

Winners of second-place awards, in most instances carrying cash awards of $100 or $50, and honor medals will receive awards at regional ceremonies to be held in various sections of the country in March, April and May.

Among those lauded for outstanding contributions to American freedom were 47 high school publications and 183 elementary and secondary schools. The school awards include 70 which provide an expense-paid student and teacher "pilgrimage" to Valley Forge and 110 which will receive specially compiled "freedom libraries."

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame, headed the 34-member awards jury which screened more than 100,000 entries.

The Boy Scouts were cited "for supreme achievement in teaching and practicing functions of patriotic citizenship dedicated to preservation of this Republic."

News Magazine of the Screen was honored "for comprehensive and sparkling patriotic documentary motion pictures of the America's Heritage series produced by Warner-Pathe News, distributed to public schools."

The award to Reader's Digest cited "its teachers edition—a project of vast beneficial influence—and foreign language editions."

Special Police Guard Set For McCarthy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A special police guard was planned today for Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) when he arrives here to accept the Philadelphia chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution's Good Citizenship Medal at a Washington Day luncheon.

Authorities revealed yesterday they had received an anonymous letter saying, "We think McCarthy ought to be bumped off and this is a good time to do it."

Chief Inspector Albert E. Du Bois said he thought the letter was the work of a "crackpot."

Savoy Church Burns

SAVOY, Tex. (AP)—Fire broke out in the Church of Christ in this Fannin County town yesterday while a Sunday School class was meeting. The Rev. William E. Hallagan and the worshipers escaped but the building burned to the ground.
