Conferences Fail

Charles Curtis As Mate For Hoover Draws Attention As Dawes Repudiates Move To Put His Name On

BY EDWARD J. DUFFY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 13. — A mighty convention-eve attempt by representatives of President Hoover to frame an acceptable plank proposing a substitute for the prohibition amendment had met only failure at a late hour tonight, but the word-weary conferees worked on.

Returning from a secret confab to be within telephone reach of the White House at Republican headquarters, they indicated anew it was a matter of phraseology rather than principle that caused the deadlock.

Brown In Charge

Postmaster General Brown, an ace among the Hoover political lieutenants, had taken charge.

State caucuses meanwhile kept a number of the delegates busy with the prohibition question as well as the vice-presidency.

Charles G. Dawes at Washington undertook to squelch talk of his being named to replace Vice-President Curtis on the ticket, but his statement did not reach here in time to keep Iowa and Texas from endorsing him.

Chairman Is Question

Meanwhile, too, the certainty developed that the party powers had yet to agree on a national chairman to succeed Senator Fess, of Ohio. Rumors have run their course in the crowded hotel corridors, but it can be said authoritatively this choice must wait at least for the convention proper to get underway.

Hour after hour of conference failed to produce the desired agreement on prohibition in the afternoon, despite communication with Washington. Finally it was left up to Brown.

The question won't be settled quickly, he said.

He looks for at least one minority report.

The indication was the administration plank would shape up this way:

Right To Be Stated

The right of the people to express themselves on such an important public policy will be stated; and it would be recommended a chance be given this country to vote on a substitute, which would outlaw the saloon and guarantee to protect states, wanting to be dry, from liquor importations; but the exact nature of the legislation would be left to congress.

At a meeting tonight, the strong Pennsylvania delegation deferred a decision on prohibition, an action that struck convention circles as favorable to the administration effort to thwart any major attempt for repeal.

Whatever disagreements are in store, tomorrow probably will bring

Demonstration Against Rolph Is Broken Up

Threat Of Communist Outbreak In Chicago Against Governor Of California Is Halted By Police Arrival

(By The Associated Press).

CHICAGO, June 13.—A threatened communist demonstration directed at Governor Rolph, of California and protesting the imprisonment of Tom Mooney evaporated today with the arrival of five carloads of plainclothes men at the scene.

Police stationed on Michigan boulevard reported several well known communists were passing out hand bills in front of the Stevens hotel criticizing Rolph's decision in turning down Mooney's plea for a pardon.

Rolph is a delegate to the Republican national convention and is staying at the Stevens.

With arrival of plainclothes forces the radicals disappeared, and no arrests were made.

Five Charges Filed Against Hardin County Tax Collector

BEAUMONT, June 13. (AP)—Five charges of misapplication of public funds were filed before a justice of the peace at Kountze today against J. A. McKim, Hardin county tax collector, following his resignation from office. County Attorney Bryant Coe, who filed the cases, estimated that from $10,000 to $12,000 was involved.

McKim gave no reason for his resignation. County commissioners' court accepted it and appointed Robert Hooks, former deputy, to the office.

Former Wilbarger Official Is Indicted On Six Counts

VERNON, June 13. (AP) — C. D. Greene, former Wilbarger county tax collector, was indicted on six counts today for misapplication of public funds. It was estimated that the sum involved was about $75,000. Greene made bond of $5,000 on each count, or $30,000.

Charles G. Dawes Declares Finally He Is No Candidate

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP) — Charles G. Dawes said formally tonight he was not a candidate for the Republican vice presidential nomination and requested his friends not to embarrass him by their support.

Party Leaders Overriden On Bonus Measure

House Responds To Pleas Of 20,000 War Veterans With Promise Of Vote On Bonus Measure Today

Passage Assured

Favor For Measure In House Certain But Other Channels Loom Dark; Hoover Promises A Certain Veto

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 13. — Responding to the pleas of 20,000 war veterans encamped at the capital, the house today overrode its party leaders and agreed to vote tomorrow on immediate payment of the $2,400,000,000 soldiers' bonus certificates.

While hundreds of veterans packed the galleries and many others loitered about the corridors in the hope of gaining admittance, the house decided 226 to 175 to give formal consideration to the legislation demanded by the bedraggled "army" of former service men.

House Passage Seen

By 225 to 169 it then agreed to vote tomorrow, after four hours of debate, on the Patman resolution for immediate payment. House passage is assured, but senate leaders claimed 55 votes—more than a majority of the 96 members — against the legislation. President Hoover has promised a veto if it reached the White House.

Scattered Applause

The only demonstration which followed the vote was scattered applause from the members themselves when the victory for the bonus proponents was announced. The veterans were orderly throughout.

As the house was voting, the other branch of congress heard Senator Harrison, the ranking Democrat on the finance committee, plead for rejection of the legislation.

Harrison told the senate he did not care if "a million soldiers come to the city of Washington and encamp around the capital and fill these corridors, they could not influence me."

"I shall not vote for any immediate payment of the bonus at this time, regardless of the effect on my political career," he shouted.

New Drive On Budget Opens

Unemployment Relief Fight Is Overshadowed; Date Of Final Adjournment Of Congress Is Speculative Matter

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 13.—A new drive to balance the budget marked by Democratic criticism of President Hoover, overshadowed the unemployment relief controversy today in congress and made the date of final adjournment a matter of speculation.

Senate Democrats blamed the president for failure of the economy bill to balance the budget and demanded that he submit definite recommendations for plugging a hole of undetermined size in the budget-balancing program.

Congressional leaders disagreed not only on the amount of additional economies or revenue needed, but on the method for getting them. The house and senate conferees went to work on the much maligned economy bill in the hope of solving at least a part of the problem.

Two Bandits Kidnap And Rob Laredo Bank Messenger Of $1,300 In Mexico

(By The Associated Press)

LAREDO, June 13. — A messenger for the Laredo National bank was kidnaped and robbed of $1,300 today by two men who waylaid him in Neuvo Laredo, Mexico, shortly after he left the Banco de Mexico with the money, which was in $100 bills.

Enrique Mogas, the messenger, told officers the robbers threatened him with pistols and forced him to enter an automobile. They sped out of Nuevo Laredo on the south highway.

At a point about 10 miles from town Mogas said he tried to take the key from the car. One of the robbers hurled him bodily out of the car. He walked back to Nuevo Laredo and reported the holdup.

Officers learned that Mogas had gone to the Banco de Mexico to make the noon balances. There he received the $1,300 and was on his way to the nearby Longoria bank to make a settlement when the robbers accosted him.

State Executive Committee In Meeting Adopts Proposal To Submit Prohibition Problem To Texas Voters

Matter Of Fixing Status Of Negroes Not Reopened; Meet Given City Over Invitations Of Other Towns

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 31. — The Texas state Democratic executive committee voted today to refer to participants in the July party state primary the question of asking the national congress to submit a proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

The proposition to refer the matter, offered by Carl Estel of Tyler, was accepted by a vote of 16 to 13. Two of the thirty-one committee members were absent and fifteen of the 29 votes recorded were cast by proxies for regular committeemen.

Separate Ballots

It was decided to submit the prohibition repeal proposition in ballots separate from those carrying seventy-three candidates for fifteen state offices. Thirty-nine of the candidates are aspirants for the three at-large seats in the national congress.

The Democratic state convention which met at Houston recently to select delegates to the national convention in Chicago, had adopted a resolution petitioning congress to submit the question of repeal of the prohibition amendment to the various states.

Records Sentiment

The proposal to be submitted at the July 23 primary would record the voter's sentiment toward "submission by the seventy-third congress of the question of retaining or repealing the eighteenth amendment, to the people through conventions especially elected in the separate states to consider that issue by itself."

The committee, accepting a suggestion of W. O. Huggins of Houston, chairman, refused to reopen the matter of fixing the status of negroes from a standpoint of eligibility to participate in primaries.

Resolutions Repealed

Huggins pointed out that the committee, at its Houston meeting, repealed all resolutions theretofore adopted which affected membership qualifications of the party, that action having been taken in line with a decision by the United States supreme court in the Nixon case from El Paso. He pointed out that there was not any action extant of the committee with reference to fixing qualifications for membership in the party.

He recalled that the state convention had passed a resolution opening the primaries to white members of the party, and said this expression together with the committee's action in repealing all resolutions bearing on qualifications of members would be certified to the various county chairmen for their guidance in conducting the July and August (run-off) primaries.

Six Sentenced In Court Here

Total Of 20 Years Is Meted Out By 72nd Court Monday; 16 Years Suspended; Dry Law Offenders Sent Up

Six persons tried in 72nd district court Monday afternoon were convicted and sentenced to a total of 20 years, of which 16 were suspended.

Four young men, charged with burglary, pleaded guilty and each drew four years suspended. They were Howard Tew, Floyd Ricketts, Mack Haggard, and Archie Jackson, who were arrested after the Ran Smith dairy here had been burglarized and bottles stolen.

Hub Johnson pleaded guilty of prohibition law violation, asked for a suspended sentence, but was convicted and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. W. D. Bostick, who also pleaded guilty of two charges of pro law violation, was sentenced to one year in each case. The state opposed Johnson's plea for a suspended sentence. District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley and his assistant, Burton S. Burks, directed the prosecution.

Lubbock Man Is Injured In Fall From School Scaffold

D. P. Brinker, 2414 Eighth street, toppled backward off a scaffolding at the Lakeview school building under construction near Floydada, landed on his hands, and broke both arms just above the wrists Monday afternoon.

The carpenter, about 35 years old, was knocked unconscious by the fall and was brought to Lubbock sanitarium for treatment. He was resting last night.

W. S. Moss, contractor, also of Lubbock, said the scaffold was about six feet high. The school building is about one-half completed.

Threat Of Third Party With Al Smith As Standard Bearer Seen As Dry Law Split Looms Nearer

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 13.—A threat that Alfred E. Smith might be called upon to lead a third party if neither the Republicans nor Democrats adopted a plank calling for prohibition repeal rang out tonight amid pre-convention clamor over the dry laws.

It was raised by Raymond Pitcairn, Philadelphia anti-prohibitionist, in an address at a wet rally attended by several thousand persons in the coliseum. He was one of half-dozen speakers at a meeting ending a three-day wet demonstration.

"It is not secret that the American people are fed with both major party records, their taxes, and their failure to vote in favor of repeal," Pitcairn told the wet mass meeting.

"If the Republican candidate should fail to take command, he cannot be elected. What then should the people do?

"And suppose the Democrats should nominate Franklin Roosevelt, a demagogue and in time past a straddler, even on this issue? If leaders are not found in either major party to restore liberty and provide measures for a just prosperity, must the Republican form of government perish from the land?

"If both parties fail the people in this emergency we could and should endorse a strong leader of the people's cause. I have in mind the name of such a leader, fearless, strong, a man of action, and that man is Alfred E. Smith."

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who will present a repeal plank to the convention, told the meeting 2-3 of the Republican delegates would be in favor of the proposal "if left to themselves."

Three Ex-Convicts Sentenced To Pen Terms On Guilty Pleas

Two Given Life Sentences And Third Gets 24 Years; Trio Appears In Wichita Falls And Henrietta Courts

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, June 13 — Pleading guilty before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Monday morning to 10 charges of hijacking and theft, and before Judge Vincent Stine at Henrietta, Monday afternoon to bank robbery and kidnapping, two young ex-convicts captured here on May 30 by Sheriff Perry Browning were given life imprisonment and a third received sentences totaling 24 years.

J. O. Russell and Ted Rogers, pleading guilty at Henrietta to the robbery of the Continental State bank at Petrolia and kidnaping Miss Mary Frazier, cashier, were sentenced to life imprisonment. Max Berryhill, third member of the group, pleaded guilty to a charge of car theft and was sentenced to 12 years. The three prisoners were returned here for safe keeping.

Prison sentences meted out by Martin Monday morning after the three defendants had waived right of jury trial totaled 80 years. Russell and Rogers each received four sentences totaling 34 years, but running concurrently by the court's stipulation to send each man to prison for 25 years. Berryhill was sentenced on two charges to 12 years in prison.

Hitler's Storm Troops Will Be Made Again With Decree

BERLIN, June 13. (AP)—Adolf Hitler's storm troops, which were dissolved by the Bruening government April 13 on the ground that they constituted a "private army" menacing the state, will be made again in a government decree to be issued tomorrow.

The storm troops, 400,000 strong, were disbanded just before the diet elections April 24. The dissolution order caused bitter protests, Hitlerites declaring its purpose was to hamstring them in their preparations for the voting, from which they emerged, none-the-less, as the strongest party in Germany.

Jury Returns Verdict Shortly After Taking Case; Man Is Held While Lawyers Battle For Release On Bail

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Gaston B. Means tonight was found guilty in the District of Columbia supreme court of larceny of $104,000 from Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean in a fantastic plan to recover the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

Two hours after it had been given the case, the jury of eleven men and one woman returned verdicts of guilty on two counts of larceny of the $100,000 ransom money and of $4,000 expense money.

Held In Custody

Verdicts of not guilty on two counts of embezzlement of the same sums were returned.

Justice James M. Proctor remanded the former department of justice agent and ex-convict to custody after T. Morris Wampler, defense counsel, made a plea Means be freed under $50,000 bond, the same amount on which he had been at liberty during the trial.

Have Four Days

Failing to get favorable action on this plea, Wampler and his associate, J. William Tomlinson, said they would try for a writ of habeas corpus from some other justice.

Defense counsel has four days, beginning tomorrow, to make a motion for a new trial. If this is not made, Justice Proctor then will set a date for sentence.

The maximum penalties possible on each of the larceny counts is 10 years imprisonment, and, or, $1,000 fine.

World War Vet Slugged, Robbed And Left On Iatan Highway By Mexicans

(By The Associated Press)

COLORADO, June 13.—From his bed in a local hospital, Pete H. Hansen, world war veteran enroute from California to Washington to join the "bonus" seekers told the story of being held up by two Mexicans, slugged, robbed and left on the highway near Iatan early today.

Hansen told officers the Mexicans, who had offered him a ride, attacked him with a hammer, striking him above the left ear, and then robbed him of $9, a watch and a ring. The veteran has a fracture of the skull.

Passersby who found Hansen lying unconscious on the highway a mile east of Iatan conveyed him to Westbrook where first aid was administered, and he was brought to a hospital here. He is expected to recover.

Officers tonight were seeking the Mexicans, said by Hansen to have been traveling in a small green sedan.

Two Brides-Elect Are Complimented At Party Given Here Yesterday

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

IT'S THE good old summer time. And this angler for one is entirely grateful.

The good old summer with its evenings when bugs swarm around the reading lamp and drop carelessly down one's neck, into one's hair and eyes and make blots on the book when it is closed suddenly; the good old days that start in with a shiver in the early morning and shoot up to desert temperature by mid-afternoon; the time when there are weeks of sudden rains that fall from a cloud of almost any size and more weeks when rain wouldn't sprinkle from a cloud that blotted out light from midday; the good old summer is here again.

There are those who are inspired to poetry by the melancholy days of autumn and others who burst into rhyme over the swelling buds of spring. There are those who sing of the wintry blasts and of the cozy fireside. And there are others whose tongues are tied when poetry is fitting but who would sing the lyric of summer's joys. And this angler is one in the latter class.

* * *

She likes long warm afternoons and long balmy evenings, these grand cool mornings and nights that are so good they never last long enough. She's glad to overlook the drawbacks of summer just to have the good things it has to offer. Other people can have whatever seasons they choose, first choice here goes to summer time.

FOR ODD JOB MAN

NOTICE has come to this desk of a booklet issued by the government that may interest a number of people. It is a publication, "You Can Make It For Profit," and it comes from the National Committee on Wood Utilization. Colonel E. G. Bliss, chairman of the work creation committee of Washington, D. C., lends his support of the booklet in appealing to local citizens to foster an "odd job" campaign of one kind or another.

The booklet suggests more than 100 ideas to assist both the unemployed and the home owner in seeking ideas for home improvement. Those who published the booklet catered to the individual home owner's needs and will not compete with articles produced on a mass-production scale.

For example, it is pointed out in the booklet that exterior walls may be made attractive through the addition of simple trellisses, lawn furniture, side walk arches with seats, arbor seats and such and that sand-boxes, see-saws, swings and bird garden-sticks add to the enjoyment of a yard for the children. For the interior, many things are suggested such as shelves, racks for various articles, ladder stools, clothes basket stands, books, recesses and other built-in features.

Each idea in the book is clearly illustrated with complete lists of materials and instructions. The booklet, "You Can Make It For Profit," may be secured from the superintendent of documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., and it costs 10 cents.

Perhaps in this publication people can find many ways of improving their homes, making them more beautiful and at the same time providing employment.

A lot of us have forgotten that these "odd job" campaigns were ever put on. At the moment that the thing was being exploited, we may have made some effort to provide work but as the thing died we, too, lost interest. While wood and other articles are cheap, it is a good time to improve the home.

Lessons in the mission book, "Spiritual Adventuring," were studied by women of the First Methodist church in unit meetings held in seven homes Monday afternoon.

Miss Flora McGee taught a lesson when members of Circle 1 met at the home of Mrs. J. F. Hawthorne, 2113 14th street. There were 6 women present.

Women in Circles 5 and 7 met jointly at the home of Mrs. J. W. Branch, 1806 Main street, for a mission lesson taught by Mrs. Frederick Button. There were 8 members and 2 visitors of Circle 5 present and Circle 7 reported 8 members and 1 visitor present.

Mrs. G. B. Walden presided for a business session when members of Circle 3 met at her home, 1801 18th street. Mrs. R. T. Campbell was leader of the lesson and there were 7 present.

Members of Circle 8 met with Mrs. J. H. Whiteside, 2001 16th street, for an interesting lesson on the last chapter of the study book. Mrs. Whiteside taught the lesson.

There were 7 women present at a meeting of Circle 6 in the home of Mrs. P. B. Penney, 1632 19th street. Mrs. J. W. Watson was lesson leader. The unit is to meet next with Mrs. Erle Thompson.

Two Teach

Mesdames W. C. Rylander and J. D. Peters taught the mission lesson for a meeting of Circle 2 with Mrs. O. P. Harlan, 2522 21st street. There were 8 members and 2 visitirs present. These latter were Mrs. C. C. Miller of Dallas and Miss Rosemary Harlan.

Members of Circle 4 met at the home of Mrs. A. H. Crawford, 2426 20th street, for a lesson taught by the hostess. Nine members and one visitor were in attendance. This unit will meet next with Mrs. C. S. Mast.

Several women participated in the First Methodist Mary Helm program at the church. Mrs. M. B. Hilburn was leader and the subject was European home missions. She was assisted by Mesdames Rufus Rush, Dan Blair, J. C. Reynolds and Miss Flora McGee. Mrs. J. O. Haymes led the devotional. Mrs. M. I. Wilks was received as a new member.

POSTPONE PARTY

L'Alquille party which was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon has been postponed because of the district meeting of Methodist women in Lorenzo. No date has been set for the party.

"B.O." (body odor) often bars the way to success

NOT WANTED!" That's the verdict. Valuable friendships — business chances — all may be wrecked by carelessness about "B.O." (body odor). Play safe—bathe regularly with Lifebuoy. Its creamy, abundant, penetrating lather purifies and deodorizes the pores—stops "B.O." Removes germs from hands—helps protect against disease. Its wholesome, hygienic scent vanishes as you rinse.

Clear, healthy complexions

Every night, massage Lifebuoy's bland, creamy lather well into the face; then rinse. Watch your skin lose its dull, cloudy look—glow with new, healthy radiance! Adopt Lifebuoy today.

A PRODUCT OF LEVER BROS. CO.

Do you inhale?

"Let sleeping dogs lie"

Why should smokers accept this old-fashioned notion of the cigarette trade?

BY this time you must be pretty well convinced of the fact that other cigarettes do not like to talk about inhaling.

And yet—this subject—so "untouchable" in cigarette advertising—is very close to your welfare! For you do inhale—we all do—knowingly or unknowingly, every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

"Let sleeping dogs lie" may be the cigarette trade's answer to us! But what's their answer to you? Do you inhale? Lucky Strike does not avoid this vital question. It meets the issue fairly and squarely—because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Lucky Strike's famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

"It's toasted"

Levine's Celebrating Anniversary With Greatest Sale

Local Department Store To Open Greatest Sales Event Since "The Crash Of 1929"

Weeks Of Preparation Will Be Climaxed By Opening Of Sale Wednesday; Markets Scoured For Bargains

MARKING the twelfth anniversary in Northwest Texas and their third in Lubbock, Levine brothers will throw open to the buying public of the South Plains, Wednesday morning, June 15, the largest merchandising sales event held here since "the crash of 1929".

The occasion is the annual anniversary sale of the store. It will continue for ten days.

Weeks of preparations have been made in gathering stock for the sale which will "see some of the greatest bargains in dry goods and clothing ever offered in Lubbock," Mr. Morris Levine, president of the company has announced.

Low Prices to Prevail

Stock for the sale has been assembled from a number of the leading manufacturers of the nation and by reason of buying in large quantities, the management has announced that surprisingly low prices will prevail in all departments of the store.

"The markets of the north and east have been scoured for the season's best bargains in new merchandise," Mr. Levine said. "The Dallas purchasing office of the store under the direction of William Levine, vice-president, also has been alert in making unusual purchases for the sale."

Fifty extra salespeople will be employed during the ten days of the sale.

Daily Specials Offered

Besides offering special bargains throughout the store, "specials"—outstanding values for each day's business will be posted, Paul Barrier, manager of the store, said.

Three spacious floors give ample room for the sale, 14,500 square feet of space being available for merchandise.

Remodeling of the balcony and 3rd floor units were included in preparations for the sale. New oak floors, new fixtures and complete re-arrangement of both departments recently allowed more room for the gigantic selling event.

Storage Space Filled

In addition to storage space in the regular departments of the store, three large rooms on the third floor are now available for storage. They have been filled to take care of the demands of the sale.

Improvements on the balcony besides the new flooring included installation of new dressing rooms in the ready-to-wear department. The rooms have been placed to the rear of the store and a cooling system is used.

Eight separate departments offer the buying public one of the most complete lines of merchandise in West Texas. Ready-to-wear, men's clothing, work clothing, shoes, piece goods, infants clothes, millinery and economy department, third floor give ample buying selection.

The economy department on the third floor is a complete store within itself, the seven other departments of the store being represented in a cheaper grade of merchandise than offered downstairs. Stock of the third floor constitutes "unusual bargains" and since its installation little less than a year ago, it has experienced heavy patronage.

Executive Heads Of Levine's Are Proud Of Record

MORRIS LEVINE

Head of five hustling mercantile institutions in as many bustling cities, Morris Levine has etched a remarkable business record in Northwest Texas in the past dozen years. He is president of the Levine organization and makes his home in Lubbock.

WILLIAM LEVINE

Formerly of Lubbock, William Levine, second in command of Levine stores over the Panhandle-Plains and Eastern New Mexico, is now residing in Dallas where he controls wholesale purchases of the organization. He expects to return to Lubbock soon to make his home.

PAUL BARRIER

The manager of the Lubbock store of the Levine organization needs no introduction to local and South Plains people. A well known merchant in this section for more than a decade, Paul Barrier has many business friends and acquaintances over the territory.

Complete Line Of Clothing For Infants Kept At Levine's

Anything for the baby!

That's the slogan of Levine's infants department. And it's pretty well carried out, according to Miss Leota Hughes, manager.

A complete line of clothing for infants, toys, etc., is maintained at all times.

Miss Mary Florence Knox assists Miss Hughes in the department.

Banquet Is To Be On Tuesday

Littlefield Chamber To Stage Annual Affair Tonight And Election Of Officers Will Feature Session

LITTLEFIELD, June 13. (Special) The annual banquet meeting of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday night, June 14.

President Arthur P. Duggan will preside as toastmatser. Henry Ansley, Amarillo newspaperman, will be the principal speaker.

Joe W. Hale, secretary, will make his annual report. The program includes: music by the Littlefield orchestra, songs by the audience led by L. W. "Happy" Jordan, leader; reading by Maurice Igu; "My Home Town," the address given at the W. T. C. C. convention at Sweetwater, by Garson Glass; short talks by D. A. Adam, county agent; Miss Ruby Mashburn, home demonstration agent and Rev. Joe P. Grizzle. Rev. Joe Boyd will give the invocation.

Officers for 1932-33 will be chosen.

DRUG STOCK SOLD

SLATON, June 13 Special — John Dabney, owner of the City Drug store, has sold the stock to Gray and Davis. Mr. Dabney plans to go to his former home at Alvord, Texas.

Work Clothing Department Is Just As Important In Levine's As Any Other Unit

Levine's department store has one department which, although considered a minor part of many stores, gets as much attention as any other.

It is the work clothes department.

As complete a line of work clothing is maintained by the store as in other units considered more important.

Work shoes, gloves, hats, overalls, unionalls, pants, socks and other needs of a workman are carried in full lines. The Kangaroo line of work clothing is featured.

"We try at all times," Morris Levine said, "to supply the needs for any type of workman, whether he is farmer, railroad man, tradesman, day laborer or whatnot. We have clothing for all of their needs."

Valley Men Are To Face Charges

SAN ANTONIO, June 13. —(AP)— Federal Judge R. J. McMillan will try cases against six prominent Rio Grande valley men, indicted in San Antonio on charges of violating the internal revenue act, when court is held in Austin during the coming two weeks.

Although the men are residents chiefly of Hidalgo county and reside in the federal southern district, the cases are returnable in Austin because the capital is headquarters for the internal revenue office, and money alleged to be due the government is payable there, it was said.

The six who may face trial, if delays are not requested, are Cam E. Hill, Sam M. Hargrove, Marvin Evans, Plutarco de La Vina, Alex Champion and George B. Parr. It was alleged in the indictment that each failed to make returns on various amounts of their income during various periods.

DEFEAT CONSOLIDATION

TAHOKA, June 13. (Special.) — Voters in New Lynn and Magnolia school districts voted down a proposal for consolidation. In Magnolia the vote was nine for and 27 against consolidation while in New Lynn the vote was eight for consolidation.

NEW FILLING STATION

SPUR, June 13.—(Special)—Cash Wilemon has opened a new service and filling station here. It is in the front of the Spur Motor company's quarters.

"Doeskin" Dresses Latest In Styles; Triple Sheer Crepe Popular In Fall

The latest mode in ready-to-wear is "doeskin".

Doeskin dresses are now being stocked extensively by all stores and especially were they bought by Levine's for the anniversary sale.

Miss Grace Persky, manager of the ready-to-wear department, predicts heavy sale of the dresses.

The dresses are jersey and come in stripes, pastels, checks and solid colors. Cape effects with high stitched collars are featured.

Another style for late summer and early fall is the triple sheer crepe dress of navy in three pieces.

The American deer named blacktail, is so-called because its tail is black.

Republican Says Probe Is Certain

TRENTON, N. J., June 13. (AP) — State Senator Emerson L. Richards, Republican leader, today asserted an investigation of the entire police handling of the Lindbergh kidnaping case was virtually a certainty.

"The Lindbergh case," the senator declared, "has been slaughtered to make a Democratic holiday."

Richards said he planned no immediate move to request the governor to call a special session of the legislature. A police investigation he said, probably would be instigated by the Republican senate.

DALLAS, June 13. (AP) — Seven Dallas policemen were suspended from duty today by Police Chief Claude W. Trammell for alleged acceptance of bribes from operators of negro gambling resorts and "social clubs."

Twenty-Eight Persons Make Up Personnel

Eight Separate Departments Are Maintained By Store; Twelve Of Group Are Men And Sixteen Are Women

CONSTITUTING one of the largest staffs of a retail store in Lubbock, twenty-eight persons make up the personnel of Levine's store. Twelve of the group are men and sixteen are women.

Morris Levine of Lubbock is president. William Levine, Dallas, vice president and Mrs. W. R. Robinson, secretary.

Barrier Store Manager

Paul Barrier, an experienced merchandising man and formerly one of the owners of Barrier Bros. store here, is manager of the store.

Al Mirsky is advertising manager and head of the shoe department. Newell H. Woods is in charge of store decoration and is shoe salesman. Leon Hale is another member of the shoe department.

Mrs. Nina May Scarbrough is store cashier.

Other Departments

Other departments of the store, managers and members are:

Men's clothing—Mike Barrier, manager; J. W. Kennedy, James H. Kennedy and R. E. Mills, salesmen.

Ready-to-wear—Grace Persky, manager; Miss Marie Hale, Mrs. Bob Hester and Miss Hazel McComas, saleswomen.

Third floor—Archie Goldfine, manager; Mrs. Gladys Waldrip and Mrs. J. O. Easter, saleswomen.

Infant's wear—Miss Leota Hughes, manager; Miss Mary Florence Knox, saleswoman.

Piece Goods—Paul Barrier, manager; Mrs. J. J. Smelser, Mrs. Hattie Stoker and Miss Juanita Mills, saleswomen.

Hosiery—Mrs. F. Robertson.

Alterations—Mrs. H. E. Riddle.

Store secretary—Miss Rosaline Frieden.

White Felt Hats To Be 'The Rage', Miss Persky Says

White and pastel shade felts will be "all the rage" this summer and early fall.

Take the word of Miss Grace Persky, manager of the ready-to-wear and millinery department of Levine's.

"We have purchased several lots of these hats for our anniversary sale," Miss Persky said, "and I'm looking for us to have to fill some rush orders. They certainly are going strong in the north and east."

And all the styles, they're all smart, she says. Colors are white, pink, eggshell, light sand, bambino, blue, navy, brown and black.

"But the white predominates," she added.

Twelve outstanding styles are: large dip brim, trimmed with four strips of leather bands around the crown; large brim bandeau-three ridges in front of crown with felt bow inserted through them; medium dip brim, leather belting around crown with felt bow in front; large brim, new perforated crown, leather belt trim; large dip brim, felt bow, large buckle in front; large dip brim, cutout around bottom of crown with narrow band through the cutouts, three small bows in front; medium dip brim with large leather belt and silver buckle; large brim, new perforated crown with band and bows of felt; medium dip brim, ridge across crown and from front to back, felt bow trim; small dip brim with plaited leather band trim; large brim, ridge across front of crown, felt bow trims; and large dip brim, ridge on crown from front to back, felt bow in front and back of crown.

Scrivnor Sent To Pen After 4-Year Battle With Law

GALVESTON, June 13. (AP)—After a legal battle extending over four and a half years, W. S. "Shiloh" Scrivnor has been taken to the state penitentiary to serve an indeterminate 10-year sentence for the hijacking of the First National bank of Texas City on November 1, 19[illegible].

Three trials were necessary in the long drawn out case—the first resulting in a life sentence. It was reversed by the appeals court and the second trial resulted in a hung jury. The third jury gave him ten years and his sentence was affirmed by the appellate court.

Free on bond during most of the past four and half years, Scrivnor was arrested in Des Moines, Iowa, after his partner, Del McCabe had been killed in a gun battle with police. Scrivnor was charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. "Keggy" Jones of Houston and won an acquittal in the charge involving Mrs. Jones.

Hale Center Fiddlers Win Abernathy Contest Saturday

ABERNATHY, June 13. (Special) The largest crowd that is said to have been in this town on one day for several years, greeted the weekly trades day Saturday, Jun 11.

An old fiddlers contest was one of the main attractions. Mr. Shelton of Hale Center, won the class for fiddlers above 50 years of age while a Mr. Stambaugh, also of Hale Center, won the class for fiddlers under 50.

Levine Brothers' Careers Are Exemplifications Of Business Successes

Two Young Merchants Build Merchandising System In Short Space Of 12 Years; Store Sales Increase From $20,000 To A Million

Two Youngsters Started Out With $1,500 And Now They Operate Stores In Five Leading Panhandle Cities

From one small store, doing a first year's volume of $20,000 in an obscure rural community, to five bustling mercantile institutions now accounting for more than a million dollars in annual volume in five hustling cities—that, briefly, is the story of success written over the past 12 years in Northwest Texas by the two Levine brothers.

Morris and Bill, they are—the two Levine brothers—who are still scarcely more than kids. But possessing a natural spirit of business aggression, spurred by ambition and schooled in a world which insisted that if they made a mistake they must pay the price, Levine brothers—Morris and Bill—have written a saga of business acumen equalled by few in the vast empire in which they were reared and in which they have cast their business lot.

Reared In Wichita Falls

It has been something more than 24 years ago since Michael Levine, now retired, father of Morris and Bill, arrived in Wichita Falls and opened a small mercantile house. Wichita Falls was then a struggling little city of somewhere near 5,000 people, and at the time the elder Levine arrived had but three dry goods stores. The boys were brought up in Wichita Falls, completed high school there and then, with $1,500 they had laboriously earned and saved from the sale of newspapers, moved a few miles west to Iowa Park, where they made their first business venture. That venture since has carried them far along the road to leadership in their chosen field.

Levine's at Iowa Park—the town and contributing territory boasted few more than a thousand souls then—was housed in a store-room 40 by 15 feet and had a small stock. But the boys—and they were just boys—were ambitious and they sold merchandise right and left. That was in 1920 and at the end of the year they had done a $20,000 volume of business and were looking for new fields to conquer.

Branching Out Begins

Branching out in 1921, they opened their second store at Holliday, in Archer county. Fortune continued to smile and in 1925 they entered the mercantile field at Chillicothe and Vernon, financing these stores from the profits made at Pruitt store in Clovis. Stores are under operation today in Lubbock, Iowa Park and Holliday. The next year found them operating establishments in Pampa and Shamrock and in 1928 they went into Amarillo. The Lubbock store—leading institution of Levine's—was founded in 1929 when the brothers took over the Barrier Brothers store, and in 1930 they purchased the Joyce-Amarillo, Clovis, Pampa and Shamrock.

"But we aren't through yet", said Morris Levine, president of the corporation, yesterday. "We're not through yet. We have expansion plans and we're going to expand even further when general conditions improve. We feel that the policies which have stood us in good stead thus far will continued to stand us in good stead in the future."

World Is Market

From the little old store in Iowa Park, Levine's organization has grown today to where its first 600 square feet of sales space has increased to more than 60,000 square feet in the five stores. It has leaped from a field where it served scarcely more than 1,000 people to where several hundred thousand customers annually throng its various stores.

"It has grown", said Mr. Levine, "to the point where the world is our market; to where we maintain a New York office enabling us to keep our fingers forever on the pulse of price and style, thus being able to pass our knowledge on to the buyer in the form of savings."

Throughout the year there is scarcely a week when some member of the Levine organization is not in an eastern market, studying the trend of business and making arrangements for purchases of clothing, shoes or some other article sold in the stores. A wholesale department is located in Dallas, under direction of William Levine, where merchandising control is centered. The Dallas office, however, will soon be moved to Lubbock if present plans are followed.

Have Weekly Meetings

"When we began our business", Morris Levine explained, "we made up our minds that it must be built upon service rather than upon the scope of our profits, if we were to succeed in the extent that we hoped. We have always endeavored—and are still endeavoring—to keep uppermost in the minds of those in our organization that quality merchandise at non-exorbitant prices is the foundation upon which we must build. Each prospective buyer is a prospective friend of Levine's and we operate under a 'money back guarantee' to assure a continued growth of patronage.

"In our weekly sales and organization meetings, which are held in every store over which the banner of Levine's is unfurled, we stress the fact that 'no sale is completed until the customer is satisfied' as to texture and wearing qualities'.

"We learned soon after we started", he continued, "to operate our business so that our financial condition would enable us to take our discounts with wholesalers, thus being able to pass our own savings to the people who are our buyers and upon whom we depend for everything. We have made the world our market and our customers have been pleased."

"Buy For The Customer" Is Levine Slogan

"Buy for the customer".

That is the slogan, Morris and William Levine, brother-partners in Levine's use in their purchasing policies for the store here.

Cash purchases are made wherever possible and thereby additional savings are brought to the customers through discounts.

The two Levines have spent considerable time during the past year investigating wholesale and factory stocks over the country and have made purchases which have brought unusual savings to the buying public of the South Plains.

The company maintains a purchasing office in Dallas where William Levine, former manager of the Lubbock store, supervises buying throughout the southwest. An office in New York keeps alert for the latest in styles and merchandise.

Carrying the "buy for the customer" slogan further, the management has the major portion of the store purchases made by the managers of the various departments who know the type of merchandise demanded by the patrons.

"Family" Idea Prevails Among Levine Employes; Store Conferences, Parties And Other Events Bind Relationships

BI-MONTHLY store meetings and a closer relationship between salespeople and the management has created a "family" idea of the personnel of Levine's. This situation is credited with holding the original group of employes of the store almost entirely intact.

Not only are the bi-monthly meetings held but regular store parties, store picnics, annual store banquet and other gatherings are held to promote friedship and a closer feeling among the employes and the owners.

Subjects Discussed

Discussion of advance methods of store planning, descriptive discourse of customer handling, examples of stockkeeping, educational talks on knowledge of merchandise, enthusiasm building and other subjects are featured in the store meetings in which all members of the personnel attend.

In the store meetings, various salespeople give their views on problems confronting the store and ideas of improvement are presented in duscussions with the various managers. Roundtable discussions feature every meeting. Relationship with customers is another question given importance in the discussions.

Conferences Held

Besides the store meetings, managers of the various departments are called into regular weekly conferences with the store manager and other officials and matters pertaining to buying, sales policies, etc. are acted upon.

During the winter months, store parties are held and in the summer picnics feature the social side. An annual banquet is held each year at which employes and their wives attend as guests of the management.

An outing is generally held on July 4 and is the climax of a sales contest among employes, the losing side entertaining the winners.

An annual paid vacation is given every employe.

If Exporters Are Right

OUR recent reading of publications devoted to business subjects recalls a persuasive article by the vice-president in charge of exports for the American corporation which probably is the world's largest manufacturer of cereal foods. From him, high tariffs in other countries and our own Hawley-Smoot tariff act elicited a scorching arraignment.

Reflections which include many such utterances from the men who function for the export business of the great corporations raise pointed questions. In coming politics, what will be the attitude of the president, the other vice-presidents and the members of the boards of directors of these corporations? Are the export chiefs to stand alone? Are their associates nevertheless, as most of them have in the past, to make their big contributions to the political campaign funds that have for a principal objective, the retention and expansion of the high protective tariff system?

The near future evidently will provide another commentary. The newly organized World Trade League of the United States has called a rally of its members in New York, June 15, a date coinciding with the meeting of the Republican national convention at Chicago. The principal speaker is to be A. C. Peters, automobile export executive. We foresee that Mr. Peters, in common with other automobile export men will express an opinion of high tariffs which, if tariff reductions can contribute to a prosperous automobile industry, must look strange in contrast with subsequent large money gifts by other automobile men to the high-tariff war chests.

No need to call the roll. To anyone interested, the lists are open to public scrutiny. Many automobile men have been relied on to give large sums to the political funds which promote the elections of high-tariff presidents, senators and congressmen. It is an interesting subject. In the automobile world and beyond it, wherever export business vitally counts, what are such gentlemen going to do about it this year?

POLITICAL LETHARGY

Whether it's because people generally are trying to make a living and pay taxes in spite of the current Republican administration, or because the early appearance of hot weather has caused the average citizen to grow lethargic, interest in state and local politics is uncommonly slow in starting this year.

In almost every county—Lubbock included—the ballot contains more names than it usually does, a condition which one would expect to accelerate political interest. But it is surprising to stroll up and down the streets of Lubbock, to visit neighboring communities and find that people haven't begun to consider state and local politics. Most of them don't know who they're going to vote for—and don't care.

That is not a healthy state of affairs.

The mere fact that an unusual crop of candidates calls for more sifting and re-sifting to find the man best fitted to serve in each individual case also calls for unusual and widespread interest on the part of the electorate.

Lubbock and the South Plains—yes, all Texas, too—had better revive interest in their home politics or they may wake up some morning to discover that it's too late.

RENEWED BANKING CONFIDENCE

Restoration of public confidence in the banking situation, already attested by reappearance of hidden money, is further indicated by a sharp reversal in the postal savings trend. Last year saving deposits rose sharply. In the last six months of that period they increased at the rate of $60,000,000 a month—four times the normal rate of increase. This phenomenon continued through January with a $62,000,000 increase.

But in February, when the Reconstruction Finance Corporation began operations, the effect of returning confidence in the banks was immediately reflected by a drop in the rate of postal savings accumulation to $25,000,000. In March the added postal savings were but $13,000,000 and the April figure, not yet reported, is estimated by the Postoffice Department at less than ten millions.

The abnormal flow of money to Uncle Sam's custody during the latter half of 1931 did not represent abnormal accumulations. The depositors were putting into the care of the postoffice money which ordinarily would have been lodged in banks, and in some cases money taken out of banks. The sudden growth of postal savings was an expression of fear. Getting back to normal is a wholesome sign. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is laying the foundations on which prosperity must ultimately be reerected.

Practical Health Problems

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN,
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, And of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

THE United States is in the temperate zone and our number of cases of sun stroke, heat stroke and heat exhaustion ought to be relatively slight. It is known that the ultraviolet rays do not penetrate deeply, but that the heat rays, that is the red rays of the spectrum, go more deeply into the human body.

The experts recognize two types of this condition: first, the sun stroke or heat stroke, in which there is high fever and a dry skin with some mental shock; and the second, heat exhaustion, in which there is a moist skin, sometimes even a subnormal temperature, and a considerable amount of shock.

Either type may follow exposure to excessive heat in the sun or in the shade.

For years it has been realized that a high relative humidity and a deficient movement of the air, when associated with the high temperature, will favor the development of the bad effects from heat in the human being. People also know that the taking of alcoholic beverages, fatigue due to over-exercise, weakness of the heart muscles, extra heavy clothing, and overcrowding may induce heat stroke or heat exhaustion.

It has never been explained just why some people sweat less than others, unless the cause may be assigned to their glands; and it has not been explained why some people with heat stroke fail to perspire, unless there is some special effect of heat stroke on the glands.

Drs. George C. Shattuck and Margaret M. Hilferty of the Harvard School of Public Health have looked over the situation as it exists in this country today. The number of deaths per year from excessive heat varies from 235 in 1904 to 4012 in 1901.

Investigations abroad indicate that the colored people are less susceptible to heat stroke than are the white, so that the large number in this country must be due to the greater likelihood of exposure.

The occupation, the type of clothing worn and the high temperature seem to be the factors of greatest importance. Obviously the prevention of sun stroke, heat stroke and heat exhaustion will depend on modifications of clothing to suit the weather, and on modifications of conditions of work with suitable rest periods and suitable cooling devices for those occupations which involve excessive heat.

Lack Of Uniformity Seen

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 13. — Exactly who suggested an international economic conference, to be held some time soon at one of the big capitals of the world, no one seems to know.

Maybe the idea evolved spontaneously, out of the depression.

The newspapers are discussing it considerably, anyway.

Whatever the plan's origin, Washington naturally regards it askance, suspecting an attempt to reopen the subject of debt cancellation. As the story is being circulated, however, it is made to appear that price stabilization is the only object sought.

If this really is the program, and the whole of it, numerous authorities can be found who are prepared to give it their heartfelt blessing, though generally predicting that it will prove mighty hard to get away with.

Most economists agree that price fluctuations are not what hurt; that what hurts is their lack of uniformity.

Illustratively:

The farmer could stand a slump in agricultural products if his mortgage and taxes and the prices of everything he has to buy were reduced simultaneously and correspondingly. Folk on fixed incomes would not be pinched by an advance in the cost of living if all their incomes were equally increased coincidentally.

Is it among the possibilities to devise a money sufficiently elastic to adapt itself to these ups and downs with reasonable accuracy?

ANY ECONOMIC CONFERENCE charged with the job of stabilizing prices will be expected to answer this query affirmatively—and then go ahead with the task of effecting stabilization.

Congress recently has been discussing various schemes to advance commodity prices. Indisputably they can be advanced by putting more money in circulation and thus cheapening it, but, under our present currency system, would not the same few folk who have so much of it now succeed in reconcentrating it ultimately?

As I once heard Senator Edward P. Costigan of Colorado say:

"The player who, with a large stack of chips, undertakes to beat a game in which the percentage is against him, probably will last longer than a player with a small stack, but in the end, the game will get all his chips just as certainly."

In any event, current inflation is not price stabilization.

ASSUMING stabilization to be what we need, must we, then, change our system?

On monetary problems, I believe that the late Joseph S. McCoy, for many years actuary of the treasury, will be recognized as having been, in his lifetime, one of the world's foremost experts—and no radical, either.

Not long before he died, some months ago, press cables carried one of their periodic accounts of an old world scientist who professed to have discovered an atom-splitting process of transmuting base metals into gold, and it occurred to me that it would be news interest to ask Actuary McCoy if it would not be extremely disorganizing to gold standard countries, should this savant's claim, by any accident, turn out to be well founded.

"After causing a little confusion," rejoined the veteran statistician, "I think it would be a God-send. A medium of exchange ought to be flexible—as it cannot possibly be, in the form of a money based on a single metal, from gold to iron, or even several metals."

"MY IDEAL MONEY," continued the actuary, "would be a token currency with labor's product as its base—not labor itself; laborers are too variable.

"My unit would be the equivalent of a day's or an hour's crystalized production, representative of say 500 or 1,000 staple articles and commodities—a sufficient list of them to give a fair average, by adding their respective indices and dividing by their number.

"Under that system, production and money would precisely balance.

"But a lone country," supplemented the official, "could hardly manage it. It would have to be international."

And then there would enter into the situation the difference between labor's standard in such a country as this, and, for example, China.

"Individual workers are cheap in China," replied Actuary McCoy, "but not necessarily labor. We run a pile-driver by steam, with one man at the engine. In China a large force of coolies hauls the weight to the top of the derrick for each whack at each pile. Their wages are low per coolie; altogether they cost as much as our one engineer—maybe more.

"My unit would be based on a day or an hour of pile-driving.

"On that basis, it might be that our engineer actually would get a larger share of his product, represented in international money, than he gets now in United States currency, redeemable in gold, here in the treasury building."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SUSAN CAREY, 20 and beautiful, is in love with BOB DUNBAR, son of a millionaire, although she is engaged to ERNEST HEATH, her former employer. She believes Bob is engaged to DENISE ACKROYD, a society girl. BEN LAMPMAN, former admirer of Susan's shoots at Heath and wounds himself. After his recovery Heath urges an early wedding. He arranges for Susan's aunt, who has been ill, to go south. JACK WARING advises Susan not to go through with the marriage stressing the difference in her age and Heath's. At a masked ball Susan meets Bob and her love for him flares up again. Denise intervenes. Bob finds Susan at her home and urges her to elope with him. Heath overhears.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV

This was the letter Heath had written to Susan:

My Dear: I hope you are going to understand what I am trying to say. It may seem at the eleventh hour and absurd gesture on my part. But after giving the matter a great deal of thought I have decided this marriage of ours is not wise. I am asking you to release me, feeling a quaint certainty that the release will actually be yours. Susan dear, you are much too young for me. I knew it from the start, but I deluded myself into thinking we could surmount that obstacle. Now, I have come to the conclusion it is too serious to be taken lightly. I am afraid I have been selfish through all this. I have been trying to recapture my own youth through your eyes, and that is neither natural nor fair.

I am hoping you will marry soon, someone of your own age or thereabouts. Be sure the man you choose is worthy of you. No, I take that back. Be sure you love him enough. Everything else will follow. I don't mean, my dear, to sound like a fatuous old dotard but perhaps you will forgive me for offering you all this advice.

There's another thing. It was on my account that you left gainful occupation. It may be difficult for you to find interesting and well paid work just now. For that reason I am asking you to accept in good part the arrangements I have made through my lawyer. A trust fund which will pay a modest weekly income has been placed in your aunt's name. You see, I have been so sure that you would try to refuse this that I have tied it up hard and fast. You can do nothing about it. It is, anyhow, a small favor to grant me.

You may explain this in any way you like to those who have known our plans. I am sailing the day after tomorrow. If I were not sure this was the wisest course, believe me, I should not be acting as I am. I wish you, as always, the very best life has to offer. Ernest Heath.

Susan read the letter through again, dazed. Then she folded it mechanically and put it beside her plate. Mrs. Milton bustled in.

"That coffee's cold, child," she said chidingly. "Let me get you a fresh cup."

Susan heard the words as in a dream. She sipped the steaming liquid, grateful for the burning sensation it afforded her. She felt numb.

"What's the matter, child? Don't you feel well?"

"Yes, perfectly. Only I've just remembered I have an errand to do."

She flung on her hat and coat and tore out of the house. There was a pay station at the corner drug store. She fumbled the pages of the telephone book and called a number.

"Is Mr. Dunbar in?"

A shadow of disappointment flitted over her face. "No, thanks, no message. I'll call him later." Susan paused, irresolute, at the stand where the telephone directories were kept and rifled the pages again. There was a chance Bob might at his father's office.

Again she was doomed to disappointment. Young Mr. Dunbar was not in, the operator said. She had no idea when he might be. He seldom came to the office on Saturdays. There was just a chance that madam might find him at the country club. Did madam know the number. If she would wait a minute it could be found for her. Susan held the receiver, the blood pounding in her ears. After a long wait the operator's mechanical voice came back over the wire. No, Mr. Dunbar wouldn't be at the club today. The operator had just learned Mr. Dunbar was leaving on the Century for New York.

Susan thanked her and stumbled out of the booth. So he had meant what he said yesterday about leaving town. She had thought it the idlest sort of threat. Bob had spoken recklessly about shipping on a tramp steamer for Central America. Oh, she must stop him before it was too late!

"The Twentieth Century leaves at 12:40 from the LaSalle Street station, doesn't it?"

The clerk behind the counter stammered, "I'm sure I don't know, Miss."

The huge clock in the corner testified to the fact it was 10 minutes past 10. Susan had not realized that breakfast had been so late. She flew back to the house.

"I'm going down town," she told Mrs. Milton. "I don't know when I'll be back.

"What time is it your aunt gets in?"

"Tonight at eight." The girl laughed aloud. She had completely forgotten about Aunt Jessie. Well, that was all right. She would have plenty of time for that later. The thing to do now was to catch Bob at the station. She changed her clothes and dressed with meticulous care. The fawn-colored suit hang-

SWIFT & COMPANY daily purchases many tons of poultry, eggs and dairy products from farmers. Its interest does not end by shipping this produce to a few big city warehouses, there to await the development of demand.

Demand seldom stands on the rooftop and yells for Supply to come into the house.

That's why, every morning thousands of Swift & Company Branch House and Car Route salesmen start out to sell poultry, butter, eggs and meat.

Perhaps these salesmen do not create demand, but they hunt for it with fine tooth combs; they stir it; they dig it up. When they find Demand, they turn it over to farm producers who sell to Swift & Company.

It is to the salesmen's interest to discover new outlets, to expand the old ones, to let the organization know which markets are best. Their incomes, their advancement, depend on how well they sell.

Salesmen are vital links in a human chain that reaches back to the produce plant manager and his helpers. Every man strives to better himself by selling more and by cutting the cost of handling.

The Swift & Company national market was made by digging up demand wherever it exists in the United States, by advertising brands of high quality, Swift's Meats, Swift's Premium Milk Fed Chicken, Golden West Fowl, Swift's Brookfield Butter, Eggs, Cheese and many other products. Local gluts and shortages are known, and Swift's products are then distributed to the best advantage. By having the same railroad cars equipped to transport produce or meat; by having the same salesmen sell produce and meat on the same order, important economies have been achieved. Costs are spread more thinly for livestock men and produce men alike.

Unflagging interest that begins with a purchase from a farmer and continues until his produce is in a retail store—and in demand by a consumer—that is Swift & Company service. The charges for it are low. Profits over a period of years, have averaged less than a half cent a pound of all products sold.

Babe Ruth Gets Homer No. 21 And Jimmie Fox Registers His 23rd; White Sox Nose Out Red Sox By A Point

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, June 13 — Sensational fielding by Ben Chapman, Lyn Larry and Tony Lazzeri in the ninth inning saved Lefty Gomez today and enabled the star southpaw to hang up his 12th victory as the Yankees nosed out the Indians, 8-7.

Babe Ruth clouted his 21st home run of the year in the fifth inning with one on.

Jack Russell, making his first start for Cleveland since he was obtained from Boston, went the first six innings and was pounded hard. Monte Pearson succeeded him to start the seventh and tossed the game away by issuing three passes before Hudlin was rushed to the rescue.

DETROIT, June 13. (AP)—Robert Moses Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics won his 11th consecutive game today, beating Detroit 8 to 1 and allowing only four scattered hits.

Isadore Goldstein, young Tiger right hander, gave Grove a fair pitching battle for seven innings, although at that point the Athletics were leading two to nothing, both runs being made by Max Bishop after he had doubled in the third and fifth inning.

Tommy Bridges replaced Goldstein in the ninth with Jimmy Foxx the first man up. With the count at three and two, Foxx slammed his 23rd home run of the season over the left field fence. It was one of the longest hits ever seen at Navin field.

Rainbows Defeat Carlisle Sunday

Manager M. K. Cole's Rainbow baseball club defeated the Carlisle team, 5 to 2, Sunday afternoon at the Rainbows' park here.

Red Dillard pitched a 4-hit game for the locals and whiffed a dozen batsmen while going the route. The team showed an abundance of pep and enthusiasm and committed only two misplays during the contest.

The Rainbows raked Pitcher Altman from Carlisle for 12 hits, scoring in the fifth, sixth and eighth innings for their victory. Carlisle put on a rally in the final frame for its only runs, Dillard having blanked them for eight rounds.

The Rainbows meet Hale Center at Hale Center next Sunday but have an open date on June 26. Manager Cole is looking for a game with "some fast team" for that date.

Norman Daniels, three-sport star at the University of Michigan, is trying for his ninth "M."

Schmeling Works On New Offense For Sharkey Go

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 13. (AP)—Max Schmeling, who a week hence must prove his right to the heavyweight championship of the world, engaged today in a workout that stamped him fit for his 15-round duel with Jack Sharkey, June 21.

Memories of the punch-absorbing German who battled the Boston sailor two years ago to win on a fortunate foul in the fourth round, and the steady, improved warrior who ploughed through Young Bill Stribling in 15 rounds last summer, faded at the sight of the Schmeling of today.

He handled three sparring partners—Lou Barba, Chester Mattan, and Dick Onken — with amazing ease, outboxing them through five rounds, belting them with short left hooks to the head, thumping their ribs with chugging rights. There was a calmness and cock-sureness about every move he made that set him far apart from the Schmeling of the past.

He still does not believe in punishing his assistants unnecessarily, working more as a student using a gymnasium for a laboratory. He failed to knock anyone out, though he staggered all three men several times.

He practiced blows today, with the finesse and polish of a champion, blows that he had not heard of when his title chance came to him two years ago.

Rotarians And Lions Get Set For Wednesday Scrap

Robert Burns wrote To a Fieldmouse but ddn't get an answer. Vaughn Wilson challenged Judge Raley to a Baseball Game and got more than he can handle, according to the judge.

To freshen your Memory, Raley is manager of the Rotary baseball team, which defeated Del Morgan's Kiwanians two weeks ago come Thursday in the first of a series of Civic Circuit contests. It was somewhat of a Ball game, however none of the parties of either part are willing to say that their style of ball playing is reflective of their styles in other walks of life.

Then it came about that the Lions club of the Civic League perceived that the Rotarians and Kiwanians were having too much fun, so, through their learned attorney, Mister Vaughn Wilson, they, the Lions, challenged the Rotarians. The Rotarians accepted. So there will be a Game of baseball at Merrill Park tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 5:30 o'clock and extending until Necessary.

Secretly satisfied to let Well Enough alone, having come through the first game more or less unscathed, the Rotarians felt called upon to uphold the Honor of Rotary International by accepting the bribed challenge.

Immediately preparations got underway for a return to the Rotary training camp at Buffalo Springs, not so far from Lubbock as the crow flies, but a Heckuva long ways by ox-cart around by Albuquerque. Arriving there, Raley will put his squad to work and the old weeding-out process will begin anew. He reports several prize rookies have reported for training and he is wondering how to feed them.

The learned Vaughn Wilson does not believe in training camps; says the lads get too interested in sleeping under trees, or fishing in brooks to practice baseball, and he is not a driver of men. He fishes himself. He says his men may do a workout or two on the courthouse lawn Wednesday morning and that'll be about all the Preparation the club needs.

North Carolina has only four municipal golf courses. They are at Asheville, Charlotte, High Point and Wilmington.

Petersburg And Shallowater Baseball Teams Meet In Woodrow Tourney Final

Baseball teams of Petersburg and Shallowater will meet next Sunday afternoon to decide the championship of the Woodrow tournament. The contest will be played at Woodrow, where four teams battled last week in six games.

Based on the two-defeat elimination system, Wolfforth and Woodrow, other teams in the tournament, were eliminated Saturday and Sunday, leaving Petersburg and Shallowater with one defeat each. Shallowater has won three and Petersburg two games. Petersburg went down to its first defeat Sunday in the last game when Shallowater won a 3 to 1 decision. Charles Pressley, pitching for Shallowater, held the Petersburg unit to only two hits, while striking out seven batsmen. Shallowater combed Mathis for five hits, four of them for extra bases.

Shallowater eliminated Wolfforth in the first game of Sunday's program, winning a 7 to 4 decision.

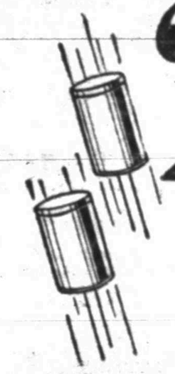

Boston Trades Earl Webb To Tigers For Dale Alexander

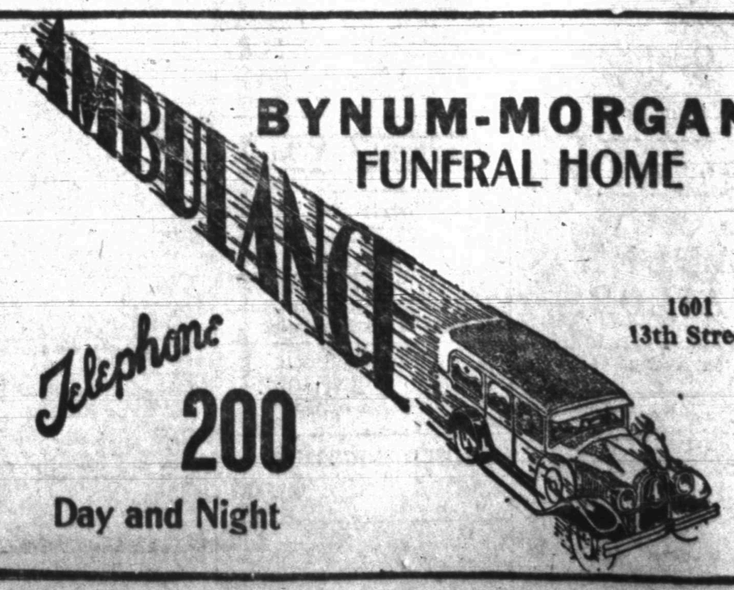

BOSTON, June 13. (AP) — Making its third important trade in a week, the Boston Red Sox today sent Earl Webb, hard-hitting outfielder, to Detroit in exchange for Dale Alexander, the big firstbaseman, and Outfielder Roy Johnson. President Bob Quinn said no cash was involved in the transaction.

The first baseball league was formed in New York in 1857.

WE MADE A MISTAKE
—A STATEMENT BY THE GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR COMPANY

THE Gillette Safety Razor Company feels called upon to make a confession and a statement that are undoubtedly unique in the annals of American business. It is with deep regret and no little embarrassment that we do this in order to tell you frankly what actually happened when we introduced a new Gillette razor and blade.

Soon after this was done, we found that, although the great majority was pleased, some users complained quality was not up to standard.

We learned why. Our equipment had not been equal to the task of producing millions of blades at high speed without a certain variation in quality that affected a small portion of our output. As a result some blades that left the factory were not as good as you had a right to expect. Immediately we directed our principal effort toward the achievement of uniformity. Everything within our power was done to end variation. More than this—impossible as it seemed of accomplishment at the time—we set out to develop or find a better production process, having as a major requirement the elimination of varying quality.

We discovered and purchased for our exclusive use and at the cost of millions of dollars a manufacturing process that was amazingly superior to our own.

By this method, modern and automatic, millions of blades can be made at top speed without variation in quality.

We incorporated refinements of our own invention and installed the new machinery, throwing out all of our old equipment.

Now we announce today's Gillette blades, made by the new management. The usual superlatives have no place in this sincere statement of ours, so we will let the quality of the blades speak for itself. The green Gillette package remains unchanged, but the blades are new in every respect, quality, performance, and method of manufacture.

You can try today's Gillette blades without risking a cent. If you don't agree they are superior, return the package and your dealer will refund your money. Our reputation depends upon the proof of these claims. Being absolutely certain of the quality of these Gillette blades, we do not hesitate to make this statement over our signature.

The Gillette Blue Super-Blade

The $2 Kroman De Luxe blade has been withdrawn from production. We offer the Blue Super-Blade as its successor. This sensational blade is far superior to the Kroman and costs considerably less. You pay only a few cents more than for the regular blade and get unmatched shaving comfort. Its extraordinary shaving performance will convince you that the Blue Blade is the sharpest ever produced. A blue color has been applied to the blade for easy identification. It is contained in a blue package. Cellophane wrapped.

10.—Tailors, Hatters, Laundrys

WE THANK YOU

People of Lubbock and the South Plains, for your continued support, of our new institution, for the past six months.

We positively are not in the dry cleaning business — as we leave that up to the tailors of the city . . . but we are concentrating all of our efforts on just one thought . . . "To give you the very best laundry service available," at a very nominal cost.

We know that you appreciate the service that we pledge ourselves to give you.

We "do not" give away something, in order to induce you to trade with us, as we feel that you appreciate quality work and realize that we can and will give you better laundry work, as we are doing now, than if we were giving something "Free"? . . . as, after all, you get just what you pay for.

However, if you want to send your dry cleaning along with your laundry, we will gladly get it, and take it to RESPONSIBLE cleaners, and return it to you at a very, very reasonable price.

Thanking you again, We are

Read the Classified Ads very carefully. Then pick out some phrase (one to six words), in one of the ads on the classified pages, that you think describes your interpretation of the cartoon, the best. Write your title in the space directly under the cartoon, and attach copy of ad, from which you extracted the title, along with your name and address. The titles will be judged every day, and the best one, each day, will receive two tickets to Lindsey Theater to see "This Is The Night," the second best will receive two tickets to the Palace Theater to "Young America."

BRING OR MAIL YOUR TITLE N-O-W TO THE CLASSIFIED AD DEPARTMENT, AVALANCHE-JOURNAL. Titles accepted until 6 p. m., Wednesday, June 15.

Crash Victim Dies In City

Services For Harry Campbell Are Pending Arrival Of His Father From Dallas; Hurt Sunday Night

Funeral arrangements for Harry L. Campbell, about 24, who was fatally injured at about 11:15 o'clock Sunday night when the motorcycle on which he was riding collided with a taxicab, were pending arrival of his father, J. A. Campbell, from Dallas, late Monday night. Campbell died at West Texas hospital at about 3:45 o'clock Monday morning without regaining consciousness.

Raymond Coleman, who lives about a mile and a half northwest of Lubbock, was piloting the motorcycle, on the back of which Campbell was riding. The motorcycle struck a cab, which the driver, Charles Hicks, 1312 Avenue F, had stopped crossways near the middle of the street, preparatory to backing the automobile so he could complete a turn. J. D. Johnston, motorcycle patrolman, said.

Coleman Scratched

Coleman, escaped with a scratch on the forehead and a slightly bruised arm. It was his motorcycle.

A small boy was on the driver's seat with Hicks. M. E. Fisher, 1619 Main street, was a passenger in the cab. All three were uninjured.

The cab had been headed westward before Hicks began the turn near the middle of the block. It was pointed virtually southward when the fatal crash occurred, Johnson said. A Sanders ambulance took Campbell to the hospital, and subsequently the body was taken to Sanders Funeral home.

En Route To Harvest

Campbell had come to Lubbock from Phoenix, arriving here at 2 o'clock Saturday morning on a freight train, and was en route to harvest fields in the Panhandle. Here Campbell renewed an acquaintance with Carl Capps, 1911 Tenth street, whom he had met in the harvest fields. Campbell was invited to the Capps home and had intended to leave this morning for the Amarillo vicinity.

Found on Campbell's body were his membership cards, in the Phoenix Social club, the Cactus Social and Recreation club of Phoenix and the Sage Brush club of Phoenix.

An attending physician said Campbell suffered a compressed skull fracture, a large artery under the skull being torn through. A hemorrhage into the skull cavity caused the death, the doctor said. Campbell's condition was so critical that an operation was not attempted.

Three Minute Relief From Your Headache

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B.C.", a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B.C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B.C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B.C.", in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—(adv.)

ing in the closet tempted her but she ignored it. Instead she put on her old blue coat with the beaver collar. It was a cold damp day and the moisture brought out the waviness in her cloudy dark hair. She smiled at herself in the glass, not ill pleased at the reflection. She was shabby, it is true, but some how it didn't seem to matter. She was conscious of a deep surge of happiness within her.

She was dressed and ready with time to spare but in spite of the fact she became horribly nervous as the trolley jerked and dwadled its way down town. What if she should miss Bob? What if he should change his plans and leave from another station? She paled at the thought. It was not quite 12 o'clock when Susan reached the station. All at once her errand seemed undignified and foolish. He might be traveling with other people. He might not want to see her after their quarrel yesterday. Her face grew hot and her palms icy.

The big station with its rows of wooden benches its gloomy reaches of space oppressed her. She watched, fascinated, a little group of foreigners who had alighted from an eastern train and now stood, ill at ease and restless waiting for tardy relatives. One of the women wore a yellow scarf tied around her graying hair gypsy fashion.

Susan was interested in them for a few minutes but soon her nervousness was uppermost again. She had an almost overwhelming desire to run away. She had come on a fool's errand. With fast beating heart she assured herself that Bob would be remote and cool to her. He would not forgive her for things she had said the day before.

What was it he had said at parting? "You don't love me at all. You never have. I'm through with you!"

Of course he had been angry but what if he had really meant it? The girl shivered and the woman wearing the scarf who had been envying and admiring the tall man in the furred coat looked at her curiously.

Susan wandered out to the region of the train gates and strolled back and forth. The minutes lagged. It was cold and draughty here. Several well-dressed couples passed briskly with laden porters in their wake. A rakish looking man in a romantic wide-brimmed hat swung by, carrying a brief case. There was the hustle and subdued excitement attendant to the departure of the crack train.

Twelve - twenty. Twelve - thirty. Twelve - thirty-five. Susan's heart was like lead in her breast. She had lost him—she had lost him! Trainmen began to shout orders. Last-minute stragglers hurried through the gates, impatient at the delay over tickets.

Her eyes raked the crowd. No tall young man in a dark topcoat. No fair head, or stern jawed profile in sight. The clock's hands crawled inexorably ahead. Then all at once she saw him. He was striding as rapidly as his long legs would carry him through the swinging doors. A liveried chauffeur was at his heels, blue tickets in his fingers.

The girl stood frozen, immobile. "All aboard!" came the call.

Just as Bob Dunbar came abreast of the gate, intent on the business of getting through, he heard a soft voice call his name.

He raised his eyes in an intimidating glare.

"Susan!"

He was at her side. The chauffeur, respectfully interested, said "Shall I go on with these things sir?"

"No. Wait here." Bob rapped the words out.

The man who was punching tickets interposed swiftly, "The lady may go through with you, sir, if you like. But you'd better get aboard. There's only a minute left."

Bob took Susan's arm and swung her along beside him.

"But I thought you wouldn't—thought you wouldn't go," she protested.

"Why not?" The words were like pellets of ice.

"Something's happened. I'm not going to marry Ernest after all."

They were at the second coach now and a white-coated, grinning porter was reaching for the bags. Up ahead the whistle sounded warningly and a bell began to clang.

"Never mind, Grimes," Bob shouted. "I'm not going."

The chauffeur's face remained impassive. "Where shall I put the luggage, sir?"

"Anywhere you like." Bob's arm was linked in Susan's.

forth none. The day is devoted to traditional schedule to the routine of organization, from the time that Chairman Fess of the national committee pounds for order at 11 a. m., Central daylight time.

Absolutely authoritative information was lacking as to how thing in a position of command expect the prohibition plank to shape up.

Uncertainty had evidenced itself as to just what "resubmission" means, whether it should definitely be taken to mean—for example—a plan to allow another decision by the electorate on the prohibition question as a whole. Both dry and wets had lambasted "resubmission" propdsitions.

The high spot of the morrow's session will be the keynote speech by Senator Dickinson of Iowa, newly-risen to national eminence in the party.

By custom this is a statement of the indisputable sections of party dogma and claims, accompanied by castigation of the Democratic opposition.

Temporary Officers

Once the senator has rung the party praises to the enthusiastic approval of the thousands, temporary officers will be elected and the convention will proceed to selection of committees.

Small groups will be designated to pass on credentials, winding up the contests for delegate seats; to effect a permanent organization for and devise rules to govern the sessions.

And—most important — to draft the platform on which Mr. Hoover will campaign for re-election in November.

Cotton — Improvement In Cotton Is Seen; Livestock — Steer Values Hold Steady; Grain — Wheat Market Flattens Out

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 13. (AP)—Cotton although only moderately active today developed a gradual improvement in prices, due to showery weather in the belt, talk of boll weevils and a late rally in stocks. The close showed net gains of 10 to 12 points.

The market continued fairly firm all afternoon supported by showery weather in the belt and firmer stocks. Despite some profit-taking at times, July traded up to 5.11, Oct. to 5.31, and Dec to 5.46 up 12 to 13 points from the lows of the morning. The close was near the top with July and December showing net gains of 10 points and October a net gain of 11 points.

Stocks Mark Time Monday In Dullest Trade Session Since That Of May 23

BY JOHN L. COOLET
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP) — On the theory that nothing was to be lost by waiting, stocks merely marked time today in the dullest trading since May 23. Net changes for most leaders were inconsequential, with the downside slightly favored.

National politics and preparations for Lausanne did not wholly obscure financial matters still before congress. Estimates that between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000 was still needed before the budget could be called balanced suggested possibility of a delay in adjournment. However, the market appeared undisposed to do much worrying.

Bonds developed sharp irregularity. It was reported that the new banking corporation had so far made only small investments. Perhaps it is waiting for more of a setback or for final removal of legislative uncertainties. Foreign exchanges lowered dollars.

pating in Democratic primaries could be held amenable for such action.

A resolution presented by Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, candidate for governor, proposing that election officials be instructed to have primary clerks or judges calling ballots to those making up the tally sheets endorse on each ballot the name of the person who called it, was adopted.

The committee decided that in certifying the ballots, where an application for a place on the ballot used a "nick" name in parenthesis that the part inclosed in parenthesis should be omitted. It directed, however, that where a "nick" name was used without employing parenthesis it should appear on the ballot as asked.

Effort Fails

An effort of J. E. Kilday of Houston to have ballots bear a pledge that voters bind themselves to "support nominees of the Democratic party by voting for them in the general election," failed when Chairman Huggins held Kilday out of order. He said the proposed pledge conflicted with the statutes which prescribed a pledge that the voters agree only "to support the nominees of this primary."

The Kilday proposal was aimed at tying would-be voters of the Democratic national nominees. Under it voters participating in the state primaries would have pledged themselves to support the presidential and all other nominees as well as those nominated in the state primary.

Lubbock Is Named

Lubbock was selected for the September state convention, when nominations of the July and August primaries will be formally ratified and a party platform promulgated. Austin, San Antonio and Fort Worth extended invitations for the convention to meet in those cities, but withdrew their bids after the roll call proceeded far enough to indicate that Lubbock would receive a preponderance of the votes.

Names of Wright Morrow of Houston and Senator W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, who had been proposed as candidates for governor by friends who petitioned the committee to certify them as aspirants for the chief executiveship, were not ordered on the official ballots.

Hopkins wrote Chairman Huggins Saturday asking that he be not regarded as a candidate and Morrow requesting the committee today questing that his name be not certified.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, June 13. (AP)—Under moderate receipts at most of the larger markets, values on fed steers and yearlings held generally steady with the close of last week, but a limited supply of western grassers found a slow outlet with a few sales listed at 13 to 25 lower levels. Majority of fed steers and yearlings brought 5.50@6.75 with a sizeable supply of better grade kinds at 7.00@7.50. Chicago scored up to 6.75 on best weighty steers and long yearlings. Good fed Texas steers of medium weight sold up to 6.65 while a consignment of mixed yearlings made 6.00. A few sales of South Texas steers noted at 4.00@5.25.

A larger percentage of butcher stock made 5.00@5.75 and a few at 6.00@6.35. Stockers and feeders were in very limited supply at steady prices. A range of 3.50@5.00 took most replacement steers with a few loads at 5.25@5.75.

Grain

Joe Burkett Urges Right Of People To Vote On Dry Law

Submission of the prohibition question to Texas Democrats in the July 23 primary was urged here last night by Joe Burkett, of San Antonio, who is a candidate for congressman-at-large on place No. 3. The former state senator did not know when he made his address in the court house that the state Democratic committee already had taken this action.

"The inherent right of a free people to vote upon any public question and to change, modify or abolish any existing law is so fundamentally constitutional and unquestionably Democratic that it is not even debatable that the people have a right to have the prohibition issue submitted to them for a vote," he declared.

Burkett favored "cheap money and high commodities and high wages," he said here.

Frank Fletcher, editor of the Southland Sun, accompanied by his son, was here Monday afternoon on business.

Joe Bowman Is Put "On Spot" By Democrats

Joe Bowman, Lubbock bus line operator, has been put on the "spot" by Texas Democrats. The operator of South Plains coaches said as much himself Monday and started greasing up his buses for a trip—a free trip—to the Carlsbad Caverns when the state Democratic convention meets here in September.

Skeptical of Lubbock's securing the state meeting, Bowman good naturedly said he would take the delegates to the caverns and back free, if they came here.

The group planning the fight to obtain the convention for Lubbock had included a trip to Carlsbad as an added attraction, and Bowman made the promise, after remarking that Lubbock hadn't a chance any way.

This morning, after Lubbock had been selected as the Democratic convention city, the Hubtown representatives at Austin telegraphed the bus line operator they were holding him to his word.

Lubbock was the unanimous choice on the second ballot. On the first ballot, Lubbock received 20 votes, Fort Worth 4, Austin 4, and San Antonio withdrew.

Lubbock was represented in the invitation for the convention by Senator Pink L. Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Goodman, delegates, Garnet Reeves of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and C. A. Sheffield, manager of Hotel Lubbock.

Parrish Gives His Platform

"Give Government Back To The People," Lubbock Candidate For Congressional Post Says In Statement

State Senator Pink Parrish of Lubbock, candidate for congressman-at-large on place No. 1, Monday issued a statement declaring himself for congressional control of the mints, lower tariffs, circulation of more money, and placing the burden of governmental costs on the "five percent of our people which own 80 percent of the wealth."

"Let's give the government back to the people," is Parrish's slogan.

"I feel that I should devote my time in East Texas, feeling that my friends where I have lived so long will take care of my campaign in this section, for West Texas people realize that we are entitled to representation out of three congressmen-at-large who are to be elected," the senator said, after pointing out that he was author of the Parrish fee bill and joint author of the constitutional amendment to be voted on in November which takes a state advalorem tax off of homesteads to the value of $3,000.

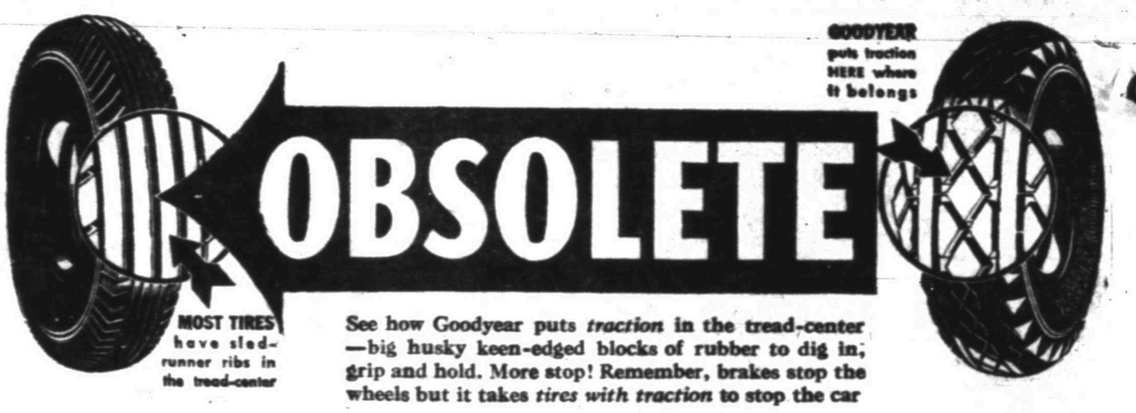

"If I go to congress, I will go free and not tied to any corporation or interests, but free to serve my people.

"The policy of the government to permit securities, that are non-taxable, to be issued is wrong and should be stopped.

"We must cease permitting big business to go unbridled, and see that the average man receives a square deal and a fair competition in his business."

Miss Kathleen Jennings, former Tech student, is leaving this morning for her home in Plainview where she is to spend the summer. Miss Jennings has been making her home with Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Overton, 1808 Broadway.
