Volume 42

Junction, Kimble County, Texas, Thursday, January 7, 1926.

Number 38.

A Hard Worker

Paul Cole, from Fort Worth, Texas, has plowed her Bell County farm for four years, making a living for six members of her family. Now that her young brothers and sisters are provided for, she is working her way thru Baylor College, serving as waitress.

P.-T. A. NOTES.

The Parent-Teachers Association held an unusually interesting and important meeting Monday afternoon.

It was a great pleasure to see the President, Mrs. W. P. Riley, with us again after her long illness. It was regretted that serious sickness in her family prevented the attendance of the treasurer, Mrs. Phelps, and all wish to assure her of their sympathy.

Several gifts to the library have been received recently, including three volumes from Mrs. W. A. Bannowsky and three from Miss Austin Durst. The Association voted to pay for the heating apparatus for the shower bath in the boys' dressing room. They also authorized the purchase of some maps for the fourth grade.

The fifth grade was awarded the picture for having the largest number of parents present.

Plans were made for the planting of trees on the school grounds. Mr. Cowles and Mr. Brison were appointed as a committee in charge.

Mrs. Fair, the Public Health Nurse, who visited the school just before the Holidays, sent in a complete report of her work. The help of the local physicians, Dr. Burt and Dr. Gray, who so generously gave their services, is much appreciated by the P.-T. A.

Remembering the financial difficulties in maintaining a nine months' term last year, and considering the fact that our school is now being operated with two teachers short of the number actually needed in order to avoid some of those difficulties, the P.-T. A. earnestly urge a meeting of the friends and patrons of the school to consider ways of increasing the school funds in the future.

Proud as we are of our splendid school building and equipment, we realize that we must have a sufficient number of teachers and a full nine-months term, or our children will fail to derive the advantages they should receive, and that we wish them to have. Think about it, and come to our meetings. Help us to plan and to work for our children.

NO CHANGE IN LIVE-STOCK TARIFF THIS YEAR

Claude B. Hudspeth of El Paso, Congressman from the 16th Texas District, has been assured there will be no change in the tariff affecting live stock and its products during the present session of Congress, he has written to T. Albert Kincaid of Ozona, president of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas. This, Congressman Hudspeth believes, insures continuance of good prices on sheep, wool and mohair. The extract from his letter dated December 12, follows: "There will be no tampering whatsoever with the tariff at this session, so the chairman of the committee on ways and means, Mr. Green, stated to me, and he has said in public statements, 'I see no reason why we should not rock along and get the same prices for lambs, mohair and wool we are getting at the present time during the next year and the year to come.'"

CONTRASTING HEADLINES.

Four daily papers, about fifty weekly papers and perhaps a dozen magazines come to The Eagle office regularly. Naturally, we find time only to glance through the dailies. We usually give considerable time to looking through our exchanges, in an effort to learn what other country newspapers are doing, and to get new ideas from them. It happened that we were reading the front pages and the comic pages in two dailies last Tuesday. The contrast in the kind of news featured as front page matter attracted our attention. To pass along something of the nature of the contents, we give below the headlines:

First paper:—"Young Couple at Waco Found Fatally Shot 'Crime Wave Strikes City'." "Many Thefts;" Warrants Issued for Four in Osage Murder;" "Queen Margherita Dies in Italy;" "Florist Slain;" "Ft. Worth Man Strikes Girl With Hammer;" "Paving Break, Victim Wants City to Pay;" "Two Dickerson Stores Robbed;" "Mexican Troops Ready to Crush Revolt."

Paper number two:—"Rail Coming Brings Towns as by Magic;" "$50,000 Asked for Disarmament Talk Expenses;" "One Dead, One May Die in Crash;" "Texas Road Bonds May be Upset by Decision;" "Doheny Loses in Oil Appeal;" "Queen Mother Dies in Italy;" "Queen Issues Tax Cut Edict;" "Greece Accepts New Dictator;" "Surrenders on Killing Charge."

R. S. Price, owner of Price's Camp, who has been at the Camp for the past two or three weeks, left Monday. Before leaving Mr. Price gave The Eagle a nice order for printed stationery and went over the preliminary plans for his advertising campaign this season. Considerable improvements have been made at the Camp recently, and more is contemplated. While the Camp was built with only a summer patronage in view, most of the houses have been occupied so far this winter, and on several occasions it has been necessary for the manager, G. H. Delano, to turn prospects away on account of all cottages being filled. Mr. Price expects this summer to be the greatest tourist season so far, and is getting ready to take care of his share of the better class of vacationists who are always with us in the summer.

Geo. M. Doyle, Kerrville pianist, was here today on business.

TELEGRAPH WOMAN DIES AT HOME OF HER SISTER

Mrs. Lydia Fleming, wife of Ed Fleming, deceased, died at Junction at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. J. Phelps, at 2:40 o'clock yesterday after an illness of about a month.

About two weeks ago Mrs. Fleming was taken to San Antonio for treatment and underwent a transfusion of blood, in an effort to restore her health, but after about ten days there the medical attendants held no hopes for her and she was brought back to Junction.

Mrs. Fleming was born in Comanche County, October 7, 1875. She came to this county with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bishop, about forty years ago and has resided in the county since that time. About thirty years ago she married Ed Fleming, who died about three years ago. Most of these years they lived at the present homestead, just across the river and a short distance above, Telegraph.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon by Rev. J. A. Dekle, of the Baptist church and interment made at the local cemetery next to the grave of her husband.

She is survived by her father, J. L. Bishop; three sisters, Mesdames R. J. Phelps of Junction, Burt Johnson of Comanche and Elburn Byrd, San Marcos; two brothers, Buster of Junction, and Buck of Cartia Valley; two daughters, Mrs. Gus Henderson of Edwards County, and Miss Dottie, and four sons, Troy, Lacy, Irah and Lem. Miss Dottie and Troy, Lacy and Lem lived at home with their mother, while Irah is in school in Milwaukee. All the relatives above mentioned, except Irah and Mrs. Byrd, were here today for the funeral.

CAR ACCIDENTS

The papers over the country contain numerous accounts of car accidents and some fatalities during the Holidays.

So far as information is available, no one was seriously hurt in this county, however, there were several accidents that came very nearly resulting in serious injury to occupants of the cars.

Christmas night, a coupe, in which two young men and two young ladies were returning from Kerrville, turned over at one of the sharp curves beyond the W. G. Moos ranch on the Kerrville road. One of the young ladies received painful bruises, but none were seriously hurt.

A few days after, a roadster in which two young ladies were riding, turned over at the same point. Two other accidents of similar nature occurred at this place during the past year, all locally owned cars, and it is evident that the peculiar formation of the road-bed at this place is more or less dangerous to even a moderate rate of speed.

Sunday night a large car in which a young man and young lady were riding, ran off the edge of the South Llano bridge at a point about thirty feet above ground, and those who saw the position of the car the following morning stated that it was only a miracle that the car did not fall from the bridge, in which case it would have doubtless killed both occupants. The strength of the iron railings was such as to check the momentum of the heavy car and it was practically balanced on the edge of the bridge, about half the car hanging off.

E. C. Jordan was in San Antonio for a new Star Car last Tuesday.

MANY STUDENTS WERE HOME FROM SCHOOL.

Among those who spent the Holidays at home are: Messrs. Vic Urban, Bill Wright, Buddy Richardson, Shelby Jones and Murr Hodges, all of whom are attending Howard Payne at Brownwood; Miss Joan Wilson, and Lois Jarvis of C. I. A.; Miss Grace Fisher of T. C. U.; Miss Flora Mae Spiller of T. W. C.; Misses Nellie Bennett, Louise Farmer and Lillian Kendrick of Texas U.; Miss Clara Fritz, a San Antonio Business College; Jack Maddox, Murray Jarvis, Misses Margaret Oliver and Tild Fisher of Texas Tech.; Miss Verna Lawler of Baylor, at Belton; Miss Sally Blackburn of Southwestern; J. Thos. Kelly of State.

Five of the names below are new subscribers.

At the present time there are less than fifty names on our list whose time is not paid in advance. If your is among that number we will appreciate your remittance at your earliest convenience. Look at the expiration date following your name. Any error in the date will be gladly corrected.

During the past month or six weeks, we have been busy and have not checked up our subscription list to see who are delinquent. This will be done within the next week or two and all subscribers whose time expired before the first of the list, will be dropped from the list.

This is campaign year, and in addition to keeping up with what is happening generally over the country, you will want to keep abreast of the political activities, both local and State, and this paper will do its best to give you as complete information as possible for a local newspaper.

TO THE PEOPLE OF KIMBLE COUNTY

Believing that the citizenship of the county in general, as well as those who have previously supported me, in particular, expect at this time some expression from me as to whether or not I will be a candidate for re-election, I take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the many favors tendered me in the past, and since I have been serving as your County Judge, and to state that on account of the fact that I have a program laid out during this, my first term, that I would like to carry out, and which will require more time than one term, and on account of numerous solicitations of friends, I have decided to submit my name to the good people of this county as candidate for re-election as County Judge.

In every instance I have endeavored in my administration to serve the best interests of the majority of the people of this county, and in the year that has just passed have secured for Kimble County, due to the efforts of the Commissioners' Court, with the assistance of Mason and Edwards Counties, about 45 miles of additional highway maintained by the State, from London through Junction to the Edwards County line. With the burden of the maintenance of this road lifted from the county we are in a position to build and maintain the settlement roads of the county to a much better advantage than heretofore, as funds that have had to be spent on this road will now be available for other roads.

All progress and improvement follow a definite plan which takes time and effort to accomplish, and if my administration has met with your approval and I am re-elected, I shall be by reason of past experience and intimate knowledge of the affairs of the county, better able to serve you in the future than I have been in the past.

The schools of the county are all supplied with efficient teachers who are taking great pride in their work, and my object will be to use whatever means we have to advance and better the conditions of the schools of the county. During the past year I have given special attention to the selection of teachers, and to the supervision of all schools.

I have always been found in my office when not called away on business of the county, or in the interest of the schools, and the duties and obligations of my office will not be neglected, or sacrificed upon the altar of politics in the coming campaign.

I trust it will be my good fortune to have the opportunity of meeting all the people of the county between now and election time, and assuring them of my appreciation of their support.

Those who know me are aware of the fact that I am neither a politician nor experienced public speaker, and was not endowed by Nature with that peculiar characteristic commonly applied to politicians as being a "Good mixer."

At times I have been accused of being indifferent to meeting the public, but wish it to be understood by the people of my county that such is not the case as you can be assured by those who know me best. I wish to treat all humanity with brotherly kindness, and greet my fellow-man with cheerful good wishes.

I expect to conduct my campaign on a high moral plane, and leave the results to the fair judgment of the good people of Kimble County. Trusting that I may be given your consideration at the polls, and if nominated and re-elected, you can feel assured of my appreciation, and the same faithful considerate service, and courteous treatment that I have always tried to render in the past.

Sincerely,
A. G. FARMER.

A NEW DISCOVERY.

By Dan St. Clair.

I discovered that my highway tax this month cost me about $900.00! Well, that is a good deal of money, isn't it? Yes, it sure is a lot of money to have to dig up before you can start your business for the New Year.

The second New Discovery is this: it costs me $120.00 to buy one casing; I have four big trucks, and they each have four wheels; If it cost me $120.00 for one wheel, it costs me $480 to equip one truck; and my goodness! it costs me $1,920.00 to equip the four of them; and that has to be done two or three times a year.

I'll say I don't see how a truck man makes a living at all, do you?

Now to my patrons and friends, let's be serious. I have outlined only a part of the expense to run a transfer business. I have not figured any gas or lube, or have not taken anything off for drivers. By being conservative, we can run our big trucks on about 125 gallons of gas per truck per week, that largely depends on the driver. The common notion about driving a truck is that it is an easy and very simple task. That is wrong; it is not a common laborer's job at all, though efficiency man, a real man; an efficiency man, a man with lots of fore-thought and cool judgment to handle a truck on the highway. It takes a man who knows how to protect his load, and how to fix his engine; a man who is versed in the highway traffic laws, not mentioning the many times his life, and your merchandise are endangered.

No, men; just being able to hold a truck in the road and as the saying is "just give her gas" won't do at all. In fact, that is one of the least of the many requirements of a truck driver. Some of my drivers have been with me for years, and you all know as well as I do, that we can depend on them. I could no more change drivers and handle my business than a merchant could dismiss all his old clerks and put in new ones, and expect the same good results as he had from his old ones whom he had been years training.

Now listen; this being the first of the New Year 1926, new and good resolutions are in order. I have made one. On the first day of February, 1926, freight rates to Brady, 67 miles, will be 50c per hundred pounds; to Kerrville, 60 miles, 40c per hundred pounds; to Menard, 38 miles, 40c per hundred pounds.

Your orders will not be too big or too small for me to handle; my trucks will not be stopped on the side of the road with your freight exposed to the weather and the public.

My emergency truck is ready day and night to serve you. My service to you is 365 days in the year.

Now to my ranch trade; the rates will be the same as they have always been; the rate will be governed according to distance from railroad point to the ranch.

Another thing: Did you know to handle your freight and give you such service as you are entitled to and expect, I have $30,000.00 invested in equipment, and it takes it all to handle your freight in a proper and safe way.

Thanking you many times for your past business, and wishing you a very happy and a prosperous New Year, and hoping to be of greater and more valuable service than in the past, I am,

Respectfully,
Dan St. Clair,

Why Buy A Ford Car?

Additional Facts and Figures!

Isn't the buying public, everywhere in Texas, a pretty good judge of values? Out of 11,667 cars of all makes that were sold in Texas during November, 7,365 were Fords. In other words, nearly two-thirds of all cars sold that month were Fords, or making it still plainer, every time all other dealers sold one car, Ford dealers sold two.

Glance at the table below. See what people all over Texas are doing. Pick out individual counties, or look at the totals.

County	Ford	Chevrolet	Overland	Star
Bell	22	2	2	1
Bexar	227	41	21	5
Cameron	68	14	1	3

Total Nov.	7365	1211	276	186

Total Oct. 7606 2190 505 529

Compare the above totals with sales for October—the month previous. Some interesting deductions can be made. In October, the total sales of the Overland, Chevrolet, and Star amounted to 3,224. In November their total sales were 1,673, or practically one-half what they were the month before, while Ford sales only dropped from 7,606 to 7,365, or only about 3 per cent. During October, Ford sales were nearly two and one-half that of the total for the other three, while in November, the Ford sales were about four and one-half times that of all the other three.

THE FORD
COSTS LESS—FIRST, LAST,
AND ALL THE TIME

Such an astounding array of facts must mean something to the prospective buyer of an automobile. It does mean something. It means just this:

That Ford is the greatest value on the market today—that the upkeep is lower—first cost is lower—repair parts cost less, and that the great Ford organization has an authorized Ford Service in every town, no matter where you are, when accidents happen, or you need parts or service, there's a Ford Service Station near you, with a standard price for the part of the work.

We'll be glad to show you the new models and demonstrate them to you.

Nearly fifteen thousand buyers in Texas, appreciate these facts when they bought Fords in October and November.

A GREAT HUMANITARIAN.

Russell Herman Conwell is recently deceased. He was known to many of us by reason of our having heard him enlarge on "Acres of Diamonds," a lecture full of inspiration. He was born on a farm among the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts. At Yale poverty enabled him to eliminate social pleasures and take the law and academical courses at the same time. At this period Russell Conwell was an atheist which he remained until a dramatic experience in the war between the State affected the future course of his life and provided him with an ideal he always struggled to realize.

Soon after the war's outbreak he enlisted but his father forced him to release. The next year when 18, he was made a captain in his own volunteer regiment. He remained and was retired with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

Private John B. King read the Bible in Captain Conwell's tent until the sneers from his captain forced him to read it elsewhere. And yet there was a bond between the two young men. Private King cared for the unusual sword the regiment had given Conwell—a sword unfit for battle that hung in the Captain's tent.

One day the Confederates made an unexpected raid during Conwell's absence. The Union soldiers fled and burned a railroad bridge behind them. As the timbers ignited, King then 17 years old remembered the sword he had forgotten. He went back for it, faced the Confederate volley, obtained it and returned—to die two days later in agony.

"When I stood beside the body of John King," Dr. Conwell said years later, "and realized he died for me I made a vow that has formed my life. I vowed that from then on I would not only live my life but that I would live the life of John King as well. From that moment I have worked 10 hours a day—eight for John King and eight for myself. Every morning I look at his sword or if I am away from home I think of this sword and vow anew accomplishment of 16 hours daily toil. It was through John King's sacrifice that I became a Christian. It did not come immediately, but it came before the war was over and it came through faithful Johnnie King."—Waco Times Herald

The Eagle editor believes that Dr. Conwell was one of the greatest men that ever lived. We had the good fortune, some years ago, of hearing him deliver "Acres of Diamonds," a lecture which he had delivered more than five thousand times. It is an inspiration to read that lecture, and more than an inspiration to hear a man whose influence had reached millions.

Although he died a poor man, he had made, on the lecture platform, more than a million dollars from this lecture, and perhaps as much from several other lectures that he gave on lyceum and Chautauqua circuits. In addition to what he earned as a lecturer, he collected additional millions from peo throughout the country who desired to help in the great work he gave his life for.

In addition to serving as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Philadelphia, the largest protestant church in the world, he was president of one of the largest charity hospitals in the country. It was to these institutions, and to students of the University, who were unable to pay their way, and to inmates of the hospital, that the millions he earned, was given.

In this day of commercialism, it is a source of comfort to rich and poor, high and low, to find an oasis, such as Dr. Conwell, in the great desert of human activities.

NO TOWN ESCAPES.

The Forney Journal has ceased publication and in Editor

Martin's farewell article, he says, in part:

"Every town has its quota of fellows who are eager to back (with hot air and advice) a newspaper venture in opposition to the old. To hear their flattering prospects the fellow intending to become a competitor of the old newspaper, sets to resolving in his mind that when he moves his plant in and gets to work all he will have to do is to reach out from the door of his sanctum sanctorium—pluck the gold dollars from the air. They are fellows that generally advertise themselves through the manufacture of hot air, and would like to see a hammer thrown into the moving machinery of the old newspaper."

In commenting on the article the Kaufman Herald says:

"Towns like Forney will not support two newspapers, neither will towns the size of Kaufman."

Plaintiff alleges that he is the owner of said tract of land in fee simple, claiming title thereto by virtue of Warranty Deed executed by August Moos in favor of plaintiff, dated Sept. 15th, 1920, and filed for record in the County Clerk's Office of Kimble County, Texas, on Oct. 2nd, 1920 and duly recorded in Vol. 24 page 553 of the Deed Records of said Kimble County.

Plaintiff alleges that he and those whose estate he has, claiming the same under a deed duly registered, has had peaceable, continuous and adverse possession of the land and tenements hereinabove described, by an actual inclosure of the same, cultivating, using and enjoying the same and paying all taxes due thereon for a period of more than five years before the commencement of this suit, and this he is ready to verify.

Plaintiff alleges that he now has and has had peaceable, continuous and adverse possession, open and notorious, of the land and tenements hereinabove described, by an actual inclosure of the same, cultivating, using and enjoying the same for a period of more than ten years before the commencement of this suit, and this he is ready to verify.

Plaintiff alleges that the defendants are set up some character of claim to the lands and tenements herein described, but that the claim or claims so set up by the defendants are unlawful, spurious, fraudulent and unjust, and without merit, and that the claims of said defendants casts a cloud upon the title of plaintiff's said lands, seriously depreciating the value thereof.

Wherefore, premises considered, plaintiff prays the court that defendants and each of them be cited to appear and answer to the petition and that on hearing thereof plaintiff have judgment for the title to and possession of said above described land and premises, and disinvesting out of defendants any claim thereto and vesting the same in plaintiff, and removing all clouds from plaintiff's title to said lands and premises, for cost of suit and for such other and further relief in law and in equity that plaintiff may show himself justly entitled to herein full but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and Seal of said Court, at office in Junction, Texas, this 22nd day of December, A. D. 1925.

L. R. Hodges, Clerk, District Court, Kimble County. By Lela Taylor, Deputy. 87-41c

Three lawyers have been appointed to defend F. M. Snow, who admits that he killed his wife, his mother-in-law and his step-son, at Stephenville and destroyed their bodies in the most brutal way. The lawyers have set about to devise some scheme to get their client out of the trouble on the basis of a fair trial. Life is too cheap in Texas, and most any kind of a trial would be a fair trial for such men.—Ballinger Ledger.

The management of this paper would indeed be deserving of more criticism than he now gets, if he did not take occasion in this, the first issue of the New Year, to express his appreciation of the splendid patronage accorded The Eagle during 1925, by both advertisers and subscribers, for the many acts of kindness done and numerous expressions of appreciation of his efforts.

Running a country newspaper and making a living out of it, while at the same time trying to accumulate enough money to buy new equipment when the old must be discarded, is no easy task, the opinion of the public to the contrary notwithstanding.

standing. You get cussed if you do and cussed if you don't. If you charge for what some don't want to pay for, they cuss you, and if you don't charge for it, you are cussed because you can't pay your bills.

Seriously speaking—if that be possible—the past year has been by far the most successful of any in the short newspaper career of this editor, from the standpoint of the paper's finances.

Four years ago this paper only owed the insignificant sum of $5,000.00. Paying interest on this and a little on the principal; paying high insurance rates; meeting the expenses of two moves and gradually adding to the mechanical equipment, has cost money—lots of money—for a small business like this one, but by using every means of economy, and working on an average of four-hour days, (which few will believe) we have managed to keep the sheriff from closing us up, and managed to keep the good will of the supply houses—or we guess we have, as they still want to sell us supplies on time.

We take a pardonable pride in The Eagle plant, and the paper too, even if everyone doesn't. Comfortably housed in a new concrete building, 24x60 feet, conveniently arranged and nearly all paid for, we have a plant that is capable of taking care of the needs of a town of five thousand people. In our dealings with advertising customers, we have always been fair, as we saw the facts. More than three-fourths of the business houses of Junction are regular and liberal advertisers. They want the patronage of the people of this trade territory, and you can always count on the truthfulness of advertising placed in this paper, and you can always do better by patronizing our advertisers—they make the paper possible.

In dealing with news matters and with our subscribers, we have tried to be fair. In the matter of news, we have tried to use all that was submitted or that we could gather, that was of real news value. In the way of courtesy news matter, we have been loyal to those who have been loyal to us.

It has been the policy of this paper to be progressive. The paper has done what the management thought was for the best interests of the community, and has taken its opinions from the expressed ideas of the majority of those who are active in community affairs. We have tried to represent the spirit of the community. If in being progressive and forward looking, we have made enemies, we have no regrets; if we have made enemies by oversight or unfairness, we are sorry for having done so.

We have given our subscribers the best paper that our ability and the finances of the business makes possible. Perhaps we have not given you the paper you think we should and surely we have not given you the paper we would like to have published each week, however, we have no apologies to make, as we think it will compare favorably with any paper published in towns of this size, with the county having less than 5,000 population.

We thank our advertisers and subscribers for past patronage and hope that the paper and any commercial job work we have done for you will merit your continued good will and support.

During the New Year we will give our best efforts to publishing a home paper that you will want to read each week

Mr. McWright stated in the telegram that he would leave for Junction within a day or two if weather conditions were favorable. He has been delayed on account of disposing of his property, in order that when he comes here he will make his home and will not have any interests elsewhere to take any of his time from the building and development program that he has planned. IT'S A HARD LIFE

Being a newspaper man is by no means an easy thing. Sundry editors aver that it is a hard life—but very few of them are willing to quit it after having once begun. Some of the qualifications for the job are outlined by Editor Sam Miller of the Mineral Wells Index, as follows:

"A young man asked us our opinion about entering the news paper field. We answered this wise:

"If he can listen with a smile to tiresome things he's heard oftentimes before; if he can refuse to do what three or four people ask him to do without making them mad; if he can write in a way to make people laugh when he feels like cussing or in a way to make them weep when he feels like cracking his heels together and laugh out loud; if he can remain silent when he feels like he'll burst wide open if he does not talk; if he can argue without getting mad or making the other fellow mad; if he can refuse a woman's request for free publicity without making all the members of her set mad at the paper; if he can react to the loss of a good news story and catch a better one on the rebound; if he can explain a typographical error without using up more than thirty minutes time; if he can concentrate and write intelligent copy while three different conversations are going on around him; several typewriters clicking away and the telephone ringing and the subdued hum of the presses in the next room drumming on his ears; if he can explain why Mrs. Jones' poem on 'The Syrian Depth of Oregon Woods' did not appear in the paper without her husband stopping his advertising; if he can take a four line story and spread it to a half column, or take a two column story and condense it to two paragraphs; if he can read proofs without overlooking an error and write headlines without murdering the King's English; if he has a nose for news, an itch for writing and an inclination to work fifteen hours a day, then we'd advise him to get into the game. In fact, if the young man can qualify under the above statement of requirements, we've got a desk for him in this office."

But that isn't all. Here is some testimony by Editor Harry Schwenker of the Brady Standard:

"Here are samples of newspaper men's trials and tribulations, as gleaned from issues of various papers coming to our desk—all in one week's time. The editor of the Rockdale Reporter recounted that for the first time in his 25-years newspaper experience he had been threatened with personal violence by a party who objected to his statements on road matters. The ruffled party asserted several times that he personally covered all the ground he stood upon, and advised under dire calamity to be inflicted by him, that his name must never again be mentioned in the columns of the Rockdale Reporter. And further, that the subject of highway maintenance in Milam County must never again be mentioned in the columns of that paper. How the Reporter editor must have enjoyed and appreciated such pleasant advice."

"The same week the editor of the Menard Messenger made due apologies for getting the heading of an article on the sale of fine sheep mixed in with the heading over an account of a marriage ceremony. Oh, it happens in best-regulated newspapers, sometimes."

"The same week the Junction editor disclaimed the current report that he was responsible for the light attendance at some sort of an entertainment, because he had refused to advertise it. The editor stated that he had not been asked to advertise the affair; that he had printed the circulars free, and had intended giving a complimentary notice in his paper, but in the rush of an unusually heavy run of work, had overlooked doing so. Foolish editor! No doubt he expected to get thanked for giving his work free."

"The Standard editor didn't lafalot over his contemporaries' misfortunes, for he knew full well his time would come soon enough. And it did! Thisweek we experienced getting called to account for reporting statements made at a public meeting and which were freely talked in public. Also for an editorial which concerned Brady's endeavors of the future, as well as of the past and present. In future, it seems, we had best devote our editorial talent to weighty discussions of the why and wherefore of young men's sewing societies."

"Ah, well! The drygoodman thinks his is a hard life; the automobile man thinks the same. The newspaper man knows lots of work and little of glory—but just the same, we guess the newspaper business will just have to continue to employ us a little longer until we learn just how to please everyone."—Brownwood Banner-Bulletin.

The following front page editorial, which appeared in last week's Menard Messenger, while perhaps write to apply to Editor Warren's town, applies with equal force to every town. There is no place in a live town for such a person as he describes, and the question that often comes to us, is: If conditions about the knocker is so distastful to him, why does he not move to a place more in keeping with his ideals, if he has any, and allow the progressive citizens an opportunity to work together, without his interference.

When you hear a citizen criticizing his home merchants, lambasting his home schools, belittling his home churches, saying hard things about his home markets, just put it down that he would do the same thing if he lived elsewhere. It isn't the fault of the merchants, the schools, the churches, nor the markets, by a long sight. The fault lies elsewhere. His mouth is simply screwed on wrong and instead of saying nice things that will help his town, the words are reversed and instead of sounding nice and honorous, they are harsh and no one likes to hear them—except possibly the fellow who has the same kind of mouth screwed on him. It is well to offer suggestions, fair criticism in the right spirit and all that, but the fellow who is always finding fault but never offers anything better in the way of suggestion is far from being a community builder. In fact, such fellows usually persistently refuse to take upon themselves any kind of responsibility with the net result that they never accomplish much either for themselves or for their home town.

In this very connection we might state that everyone makes mistakes, city, county, state and national officials make errors for all are human. It is much easier to stand back with arms folded and find fault than it is to accomplish real results. But this fault finding will never improve matters. It's the man who is in the thick of the fight in every public move who counts most for his home, his town, and his home county. He will be missed when he passes on, but the other fellow—well, he will be missed, too, but missed in a different way.

The course of least resistance is the easiest course to pursue, but like a mushroom, it leads to nothing worth while. Keep the above thought in mind "from here on out," and when you see a fellow doing or attempting to do some public work, before criticizing him either to yourself or to some others, see first if you can think of a better way.

Columns of criticism have been published about the Madam Governor's method of dealing with opulent violators of the prohibition law. We have never discussed the Madam Governor of Texas. We voted for her believing that James E. Ferguson would be governor of Texas. Whatever we say is of James E. Ferguson. Be it known that we never voted a prohibition ticket but have no sympathy with violators of the prohibition law, rich or poor. It might be well for some critics in Texas and out of Texas to bear in mind that the name of James E. Ferguson, in all his political career, has never been connected with any drunken orgy. Nor has he had to explain any hotel incident in which the name of a woman is whispered. James E. Ferguson married when a young man, has veiled happily with his wife and seems devoted to her. While some are hurling brick-bats at Jim Ferguson, we toss this little bouquet in his direction. It seems to us that some who live in glass houses are becoming rather reckless in hurling missiles. At least, if they desire to criticize Jim, they ought to take another subject. How far down the line can your candidate for office bear investigation? The home life of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Ferguson furnishes an example that many citizens need to emulate.—Lockhart Register.

BUILD NOW!

As a matter of fact there is no inopportune time for building. The quicker you get into the new home of your own—the quicker it will be "all yours."

Many experienced builders prefer winter's lively building days. There is a crispness in the air which makes for rapid and good construction.

Certainly materials of all kinds are cheaper in the winter of each year. Our price scales have not been lower in many moons. We are also headquarters in this territory for building materials and supplies of all kinds.

BOY IS KILLED AS CAR PLUNGES FROM BRIDGE.

Thursday night, as W. W. Lynn and his 6-year-old son, Hershel Ware Lynn, were enroute from San Antonio to Center Point to spend Christmas, their car broke through the curbing of the Comfort bridge and plunged into the deep waters of the Guadalupe river. The little boy was killed, his body being rescued by John Bergman of San Antonio who responded to the father's shout for help.

The father left Friday afternoon with the body for burial at Wichita Falls, their home, at which place Lynn is traveling agent for the Wichita Daily Times.—Boerne Star.

FORD OWNERS, ATTENTION

Do you ever stop to think that it is important and for your own benefit to insist on Genuine Ford Parts when you have your Ford car repaired?

Genuine Ford Parts are made by the Ford Motor Co., and are equal in quality and strength to parts used in the high priced automobiles. Bogus Ford parts can be purchased for less than Genuine Ford parts, but are sold to you at the same price. This means bigger profits to the fellow who sells you bogus parts, but much less service and satisfaction to you. It costs you no more to insist and see that you get Genuine Ford parts when you have your car repaired, and you will soon notice the difference in the service you get.

When you buy parts from us you get only Genuine Ford parts. When you buy parts for your Ford car any where else, insist that you get the same. No bogus parts will stand the test of Genuine Ford parts.

Quick Way to Stop Night Coughing

New Method is Remarkably Effective

No need to put up with that distressing, weakening, sleep-robbing night cough another night. For there is a simple but very effective treatment which, usually with a single dose, stops all irritation and lets you sleep soundly the whole night through.

This treatment is based on the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful at night before retiring and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of night coughing. So the coughing stops quickly and you sleep all night undisturbed.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for cough, chest colds, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children as well as grown-ups—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for
