RUBY CONVICTED; GETS DEATH

Violence Is Feared In Brazil

By EDGAR MILLER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazilians anticipated a possible fierce reaction today to a controversial land reform decree expropriating land for hundreds of thousands of landless peasants.

Man feared the decree signed by President Joao Goulart Friday night would set off land invasions by the impoverished peasants. Landowners have vowed to turn them back with bullets.

In Sao Paulo state, Adhermar de Barros said he would use his 40,000-man police force to prevent any government seizure of land.

Goulart also signed an executive decree expropriating the seven remaining privately owned oil refineries. The state Petrobras oil monopoly was ordered to take over the refineries within 30 days by "friendly negotiations or by judicial action using its own resources."

After signing the decrees at the presidential palace, Goulart addressed a cheering throng of 200,000 workers and farmers in Republic Square and described the land decree as the "first step for the solution of Brazil's agrarian problem." He promised to begin dividing up the expropriated lands within 60 days.

The decree calls for the expropriation of unused lots of land larger than 1,235 acres up to six miles on either side of federal roads, railroads and waterways.

Goulart told the crowd Gen. Douglas MacArthur used this method in carrying out land reform during the U.S. occupation of Japan, and added "nobody can call this great American general a Communist or subversive."

HE GOT SUPPORT TO BEAT PAY RAISE—Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, gives victory handshake after his demand for a roll call vote ended in defeat of the bill which would have raised the pay of members of Congress and other high government officials by $10,000-a-year and the salaries of 1.7 million other federal employes. Yesterday's vote in the House was 222 to 184 to reject the measure as a whole. (AP Wirephoto)

In Viet Nam

Forces May Be Shuffled

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A reorganization of South Viet Nam's armed forces and development of an administrative corps to run the government more efficiently may result from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's mission, informed sources indicated today.

There also could be an increase in the size of the South Vietnamese armed forces and a heavier flow of U.S. supplies to help Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the premier, try to clean out and hold areas now Communist infested.

The consensus of the McNamara mission was that the situation is serious but not hopeless and that the Communist onslaught has leveled off since a sharp upturn after the January coup.

President Johnson has not made any decisions on how far to go on recommendations by McNamara and his mission, sent by Johnson to survey the situation in South Viet Nam in the wake of the Khanh coup.

McNamara, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and CIA Director John A. McCone made an hour-long report to Johnson Friday after returning from five days in South Viet Nam.

US Fliers Still In Red's Hands

FRANKFURT Germany (AP) — Three U.S. Air Force officers ended their fourth day in Communist captivity today without any official announcement of their condition or changes or release.

The men, a pilot and two navigators, were the crew of an Air Force RB66 reconnaissance jet downed by a Soviet fighter 20 miles inside East Germany last Tuesday afternoon.

The Soviet Union has thus far ignored U.S. demands that the men be released without delay. The United States claims the plane flew over East Germany by mistake, while the Communists maintain they were on an aerial espionage mission.

An Eastern source claimed Friday the Communists had obtained concrete evidence that the plane had been sent on a specific espionage mission, making possible trial of the crew on spy charges.

The three captives are the pilot, Capt. David I. Holland of Holland, Minn., a navigation instructor, Capt. Melvin J. Kessler of Philadelphia, and a navigator, 1st. Lt. Harold W. Welch of Detroit.

One source said Friday the Communists intend to put the three on trial on espionage charges unless the United States government admits publicly that the plane was ordered on a mission over East Germany.

The Snyder High girls choir rated Division I in concert singing and Division II in sight reading.

Both the girls choir and the mixed choir from Travis Junior High in Snyder rated Division II in both concert singing and sight reading. The Lamar Junior High mixed choir rated Division II in concert singing and Division I in sight reading.

Moroccans Sentenced In Death Plot

To Cyprus

Finns Boost UN Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Finland informed the United Nations today it is "taking immediate measures to organize a battalion of volunteers" for the U.N. peace-keeping force in Cyprus.

A U.N. spokesman announced Finland's projected contribution after Finnish Chief Delegate Ralph Enckell conferred with Secretary-General U Thant.

The Finnish battalion would add about 700 men to the 1,150 Canada has already moved to send over for the 7,000-man U.N. force. The United Nations is trying to raise 3,500 troops from various countries to replace half the 7,000 British soldiers now keeping peace between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Finland's decision, which had no qualification as announced here, was expected to bring along another battalion of about 700 Swedes. Sweden announced Friday it was recruiting the battalion and would join the force once another neutral came in. Finland is a neutral.

Meanwhile, the crisis had eased. The Security Council confronted Turkey's invasion threat with a warning of hands-off Cyprus.

Meeting in emergency session the 11-nation council moved swiftly Friday night after Turkey had threatened to send in troops and the Greek Cypriot government had reported that intervention would mean war.

Canada dispatched a planeload of officers toward the troubled eastern Mediterranean island as an advance party for 1,150 Canadian soldiers expected there within two weeks. The vanguard was due on Cyprus today.

Greek Cypriots, put on a war footing after the Turkish warning, were relaxed somewhat with the rapid U.N. move. A Greek Cypriot government spokesman seemed to sum up the feeling in several capitals with this remark: "We can sleep peacefully now."

The Security Council met on less than three hours' notice to hear Secretary - General U Thant plead with Turkey against going through with its threat to intervene to protect badly outnumbered Turkish Cypriots.

Angry Belli Vows Appeal

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby was convicted today of murdering Lee Harvey Oswald, and sentenced to death in the electric chair.

Judge Joe B. Brown read the verdict at 12:22 p.m. (CST).

He then ordered the jurors escorted back to the deliberation room and dismissed.

There was no demonstration — following the judge's instructions that the courtroom audience must remain quiet and seated until dismissed.

Chief Defense Atty. Melvin Belli said, "This jury wasn't even concerned with listening to our arguments. They had their minds made up ... we'll appeal ... we'll appeal today.

"Railroad? This was a kangaroo jury."

Belli shouted to newsmen that Judge Brown "went down the line with every motion the district attorney made, and they led him into some 30 errors." He asked that the record show that the jury deliberated only about two hours and 20 minutes.

Judge Brown, as he took the bench, said, "I am about to receive a verdict in this case. I want no demonstrations of any kind."

He looked toward the jurors and said, "you have your verdict ready?"

Several jurors spoke out in assent.

"May I have it?" the judge said.

A bailiff handed the slip of paper up to the bench. Brown riffled through the pages until he found the written verdict. He then read it aloud.

Turning to the jury he said, "Is this unanimous? So say you all? Please hold up your right hand."

The eight men and four women, as though on cue, made the gesture.

Instantly, a special detail of three deputies surrounded Ruby and hustled him out of the court room. The convicted man was whisked away before anyone could talk with him.

Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade said the facts fully warranted the death penalty. He described Ruby's killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, as "an assassination in itself."

Ruby shot Oswald in the basement of the Dallas City Hall two days after President Kennedy was killed here Nov. 22.

The defense's next move will be to appeal the case to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. Ruby will be held in the Dallas County Jail pending the decision of that tribunal, no matter how long it takes.

So ended this chapter in the story of a man characterized by the prosecution as "a vicious, cold-blooded murderer ... a thrill killer" and by the defense as "a very sick man, a character around town, the village idiot, if you like."

Belli and his assistant, Joe Tonahill, obviously anticipated the verdict of guilty. But the death sentence probably stunned them.

While waiting for the judge and jury, Belli said, "unquestionably they (the jurors) had their minds made up before the arguments and they didn't care about the lawyers' arguments."

Houston Court To Get Brief

AUSTIN (AP) — A Houston Federal Court was scheduled to receive today a brief from state officials supporting their plea that the court delay enforcement of its congressional redistricting order until after 1964 elections.

The attorney general's office mailed the brief Friday.

The federal court held last year that present Texas congressional districts gave rural Texans greater representation than city dwellers. It declared the state apportionment unconstitutional and ordered immediate action by the legislature to set up new districts.

On March 2, the U. S. Supreme Court upheld the court's decision that the Texas congressional apportionment is unconstitutional, but gave the state until April 1 to ask the Houston court to exempt this year's elections from its order that the 23 congressmen must run at large if redistricting is not accomplished.

A three-judge federal court in Houston struck down the congressional apportionment Oct. 19 in a ruling on a suit filed by Republicans. The court said Texas must redistrict by Feb. 3, but the order was stayed pending the outcome of the state's appeal to the Supreme Court.

The legislative council is making a study of the state's redistricting problems and says it will hold public hearings on the matter. The study was requested by Gov. John Connally, who said the council should pay special attention to guidelines of equal population in each district as established in the Supreme Court's Georgia redistricting ruling.

Bond Vote Underway In County

Scurry County's taxpaying voters were going to the polls Saturday to write their decision on a $1¼ million bond proposal.

Voting was underway at all voting boxes in the county, and reports Saturday morning indicated a moderately heavy turnout at the polls.

The bond proposal was presented to determine whether a county coliseum should be constructed by the county. County commissioners ordered the election in response to petitions bearing the names of approximately 1,600 persons.

Voting appeared to be going at a steady pace at polling places in Snyder on Saturday morning. The election judge at one box said the early turnout at that box was considerably heavier than he had expected. He had estimated that about 350 votes would be cast in that box, but said if the morning pace held up the total might go above 450.

Flooding Ohio Begins To Recede

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Flood victims along the Ohio River and its tributaries—most of them now waiting for the water to go down—had personal assurance from President Johnson today that aid would be sped to them.

He flew over the area and saw what they had lived with for almost a week—isolated towns, submerged homes and roads and other devastation from the third worst flooding in this century.

As Johnson made his flight Friday, the river was receding at Louisville and upstream. But its crest had yet to pass western Kentucky and southern portions of Indiana and Illinois.

It already has left 11 dead, more than $50 million in damages and, by Red Cross estimates, 110,000 persons affected.

Louisville relaxed as its flood wall withstood a crest of 6.2 feet, 18.2 feet above flood stage, but hundreds of residents outside the city had flooded homes. Little West Point, Ky., with some 100 people left in the 2,300-population town after mass evacuation earlier, had 99-per cent damage, in varying degree, officials estimated. Most of Main Street was under 4 to 8 feet of water.

Downriver, Lewisport was reported entirely underwater. The town's population of nearly 700 fled to homes of relatives and friends on high ground.

Owensboro, Ky., 16 miles farther downstream, awaited a crest of 49.5 feet Sunday. The city itself had little trouble, but several hundred persons in the area had to evacuate.

Evansville, the largest Indiana city on the Ohio, moved 300 cots into the downtown Coliseum to await evacuees expected before Sunday's crest. A flood wall was expected to protect most of the city.

Paducah, Ky., the last big city downriver, also has a flood wall. The Ohio joins the Mississippi at Cairo, Ill.

In West Virginia, Wheeling residents cleaned up sodden debris. No major flooding was reported in Illinois, although high water in the southern section drove out a few families.

Charges Are Filed Against Fred Hagler

PORT LAVACA, Tex. (AP) — Charges of destruction of personal property have been filed against ex-convict David Fred Hagler, 44, object of a South Texas search since his rented plane crash-landed in Matagorda Bay Tuesday night.

Texas ranger Quincy Lowman signed the complaint. It accused Hagler of destroying a $20,000 four-seater plane owned by Coastal State Aviation Co.

Hagler was last seen Wednesday by a motorist who gave him a ride to Corpus Christi.

A passenger in the plane when it went down, Mrs. Loretta Anderson, 49, told reporters Friday Hagler would not help her escape from the plane and refused to share a life raft with her.

Mrs. Anderson also said Hagler ordered her to tell her husband and other questioners that she last saw him climbing from the plane. Actually, the woman said, they both made it to land and a ranch hand drove them to Port Lavaca.

In Dallas, meanwhile, prosecutors scheduled Hagler's trial on a forgery charge for March 24. If he fails to appear, Judge Frank Wilson will be asked to forfeit his $1,000 bond. Hagler lost one $1,000 bond Wednesday, the day after the crash when he didn't show up in court for another forgery case.

Mrs. Anderson said Hagler never worked for her husband Jimmy Anderson, but that he visited them and her husband occasionally gave him money because he felt sorry for him.

She said Hagler went with her to Corpus Christi to buy a plane for her husband to use on trips to properties in Florida, Arizona, and Guatemala.

She said during a test flight of a plane from Corpus Christi, Hagler became irritated when she asked him to turn back.

"We started hitting bumpy air. He got mad and went to the control panel and hit all the dials. All of a sudden the plane started to sputter. I don't know whether he caused it or the plane was in trouble."

She said the next thing she knew, the plane hit the water. She said Hagler escaped through a door on his left and she eventually shoved open a front seat door and hung on to a wing tip.

She said Hagler was inflating a life raft when the plane sank. he climbed aboard it but ignored her cries for help.

"I realized this man was not going to help me at all," Mrs. Anderson said but she swam toward the raft. She said he cursed her and kicked her in the face to prevent her from climbing on it.

"'You're going to upset me,'" Mrs. Anderson quoted him as saying.

"If you have to hold on put your fingers on the back and swim and kick,'" she quoted him as saying.

She said in this manner they reached the beach.

RUBY

In the center of a wild courtroom news conference after court was dismissed, claimed that he had information that one juror, whom he did not identify told his employer that if he got on the Ruby panel he was going to vote the death penalty.

"Any independent appraisal of this all over the world," Belli said of the verdict, "would give a pretty good impression of one of the sore spots of America. If this venom spreads throughout the country, God help us all. This is the most disgusting thing I've ever seen in my life."

Asked if he thought that Ruby had been railroaded, Belli roared:

"This is a kangaroo rail road."

Ruby displayed not a single trace of emotion as he heard himself condemned to death. He moved his eyes from the jury to the bench as the verdict was given to Judge Brown but there was absolutely no facial movement when it was read.

Tonahill had said, before the verdict was announced, "The verdict is too quick for that many witnesses."

There were 66 who testified.

The strange case began on television when cameras recorded the fateful instant when Ruby shot Oswald, and it ended with cameras telecasting the climactic scene.

The end of the trial came with dramatic swiftness. The trial began Feb. 17 and had dragged on through four interminable weeks.

Then, less than 12 hours after the jury retired for the night at 1:05 a.m. Saturday, it was all over.

The courtroom, packed to the walls during the five-hour session of summation arguments Friday night, was not entirely filled as the verdict was read.

Doubtless, few potential spectators in Dallas had expected the verdict so soon.

Belli, from the first, insisted that Ruby could not get a fair trial in Dallas. And he emphasized that opinion even more strongly after the verdict was delivered.

"The Dallas oligarchy ordered Jack Ruby's execution," Belli said.

Judge Brown was at home when the jury sent word that it had reached a verdict. He started to the courthouse and other officials and attorneys began assembling.

Snow Slide Buries French Skiers

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — An avalanche of snow cascaded down a mountain ski trail today, trapping eight skiers under tons of snow.

Rescuers freed three skiers alive shortly after the avalanche, but five others were still under the snow.

A helicopter joined police and mountain guides in the search on the little-used trail near the crest of Lessieres Peak at an altitude of 9,300 feet. The sun shone brightly and temperatures rose, creating further avalanche dangers.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 32-year-old widow with four boys to raise. I have no desire to marry again, but all my friends tell me my boys need a father. They are always arranging for me to meet this man and that man. I love my boys very much, and am raising them in a good Christian atmosphere. They are good boys, and I discipline them when they need it just as a father would do. I take in sewing and manage to keep my bills paid, so I don't need a husband to support us. I believe if the good Lord intends for me to have another husband, He will take care of it Himself. Do you think I should accept the company of men with marriage in mind just because people think my boys need a father, even though I don't think I need a husband?

SATISFIED

DEAR SATISFIED: As a Christian you must know that the Lord said, "It is not good that man should be alone." (Genesis II, 18.) And the same goes for wman. God helps those who help themselves, and perhaps God is trying to help you through thoughtful friends.

DEAR ABBY: Have you any suggestions for getting our son to date a certain girl? This girl is charming, intelligent, has a wonderful personality, and would be an ideal match for our son. He is 25, but he seems to prefer the more glamorous flirty type. We know that once he gets to know this girl, he would appreciate her fine qualities.

PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: I can't tell you how to get your son to date a certain girl, but I can tell you how to sour him on her before he even sees her. Just keep telling him how "good" she would be for him! Your best move would be to arrange for them to meet "accidentally." And let him "discover" her for himself.

DEAR ABBY: Our baby is only three months old. My husband's family is quite wealthy and they have spent a lot on gifts for her. I must admit there is a great deal our baby wouldn't have if it weren't for them. On the other hand, my parents barely make ends meet, and though they would love to buy things for our baby, they can't afford to. Ours is the only grandchild on both sides, and both sets of grandparents are wild about her. But we don't want her to grow up thinking that because all the presents come from one set of grandparents the other set doesn't love her as much. What can we do about this? Or should we just keep quiet and teach our child that love means more than presents?

NEW PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: The affection of very young children is easily bought with gifts. It takes a mature mind to reason that "love" means more than presents. Your husband should explains this to his generous parents. They'll understand.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a man who comes into someone's home and sits the entire evening in the company of men and women without removing his hat? Thank you.

D. McC.

DEAR D. He has either no manners, no hair, or a new hat.

Orphans Instruments

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — It was to be a big day for the wee folk.

Only once a year do the little ones get off from school to march down Euclid Avenue in the St. Patrick's Day parade.

But burglars have silenced practice sessions of "Danny Boy," and "Wearing O' the Green" for the 40-member band, whose members are orphans or from broken homes.

Stolen Thursday night from the band room at Parmadale Children's Village of St. Vincent de Paul in suburban Parma were 8 saxophones, 2 clarinets, 6 trombones and 2 trumpets. Without them the band cannot play.

Mann Speaks In Mexico

GUADALAJARA, Mex. (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American Affairs Thomas C. Mann congratulated the organizers of an Alliance for Progress celebration here Friday.

"I know President John F. Kennedy would have been deeply moved by this celebration honoring what he once termed as one of the most important projects of his regime," the former U.S. Ambassador in Mexico said in a personal message to Dr. Francisco Villagran, president of the Mexican Alliance for Progress Commission.

Mexican government officials praised the Alliance in ceremonies which marked the third anniversary of Kennedy's proposal of such a program.

"Like a tree the Alliance for progress has needed time to mature," Villagran said, "and now that tree is beginning to bear fruit in Mexico."

Texans Can Write-In GOP Choice

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Republicans can write-in the name of their favorite presidential hopeful on the GOP presidential preference ballot, State Republican Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr. says.

Four names will be on the printed ballot: U. S. Sens. Barry Goldwater and Margaret Chase Smith, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Harold Stassen.

"While the State Republican Executive Committee resolution authorizing the poll did not deal with this matter, in order to allow Texas Republican voters complete freedom in expressing their preference for President, write-in votes will be counted," O'Donnell said in a statement released here.

Four other Republicans frequently mentioned as presidential possibilities were originally listed on the ballot but withdrew their names: Henry Cabot Lodge, Richard M. Nixon, Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton and Michigan Gov. George Romney.

Pledges 'No Lost Time' In Aiding Flood Victims

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will designate parts of five states in the flood-stricken Ohio River Valley as major disaster areas.

The action, possibly today, follows a pledge the President made Friday at Cincinnati—the final stop on his five-hour, dramatic inspection trip—that "no time will be lost" in speeding aid to victims of the worst Ohio River flood since 1945.

The President will make the designations as soon as governors of the waterlogged states apply for disaster grants and establish eligibility for the federal money. Aid allocations will mount into the millions of dollars.

On the basis of first hand reports given Johnson durin his hastily arranged, 740-mile aerial survey, the following states will be able to claim federal funds to help rebuild and repair essential public facilities: Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Missouri.

Illinois and Pennsylvania, which were included on Johnson's low-altitude tour, will be eligible for less sweeping federal assistance such as ree grain for livestock and easy-credit loans for property owners victimized by the muddy water.

At the Cincinnati airport Johnson said he would expedite federal aid "on the basis of what I saw." And he said all Americans joined him "in expressing our sympathy to those who have suffered" in the disaster that affected an estimated 110,000 people and caused damage of $50 million.

The quick trip, to dramatize Johnson's contention that compassion is not incompatible with federal frugality, inevitably was laden with political implications in this election year.

Johnson did nothing to dispel the implications when he made a 15-minute, campaign-style handshaking and autographing foray into the airport waiting room at Cincinnati, where hundreds of well-wishers crowded around him.

Governors of the seven flood-affected states were invited by the White House to join Johnson for the trip. The only one who could not catch up with the Chief Executive was William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, a Republican who figures prominently in talk about potential GOP candidates. Scranton sent a deputy.

Smith Co. Woman Pays Well Penalty

AUSTIN (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Manziel of Smith County paid a $20,000 penalty in district court Friday for alleged operation of two deviated oil wells in Wood County.

FBI Seeks 4th Blast Suspect

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — The FBI looked today for a fourth man — and perhaps others — in connection with the dynamiting of Florida East Coast Railway freight trains that are running despite a strike.

Three former employes have been arrested. Two were charged with trying to blow up a train Thursday night. The third was charged with conspiracy.

Agents refused to comment on their investigation but one said, "At least we're getting a few breaks."

Two men were arrested after an 18-man stake-out at a railroad trestle in Indian River County, 10 miles to the north. They were John Wesley Davis, 23, of nearby Port St. Lucie known as the "barefoot picket", and Joseph Leo Vedder, 32, of Miami. They made bond of $50,000 each after being bound over Friday for grand jury action. No one would say who put up the money.

The third man, Hugh Winn, 56, of Miami, was held on $75,000 bond. His arraignment, in Miami was continued until March 26. Asst. U.S. Atty. Aaron A. Foosaner said Winn had sold dynamite to Vedder and Davis.

President Johnson ordered an FBI crackdown on the railroad bombings Feb. 27 after a dynamite blast had derailed a train less than 20 miles from where he was speaking in Palatka. It was the last in a list of more than 200 acts of violence the railroad has compiled since a strike began 14 months ago.

"It was just a good, educated guess" that led to the arrests of Vedder and Davis, FBI Agent Irvin Bruce said.

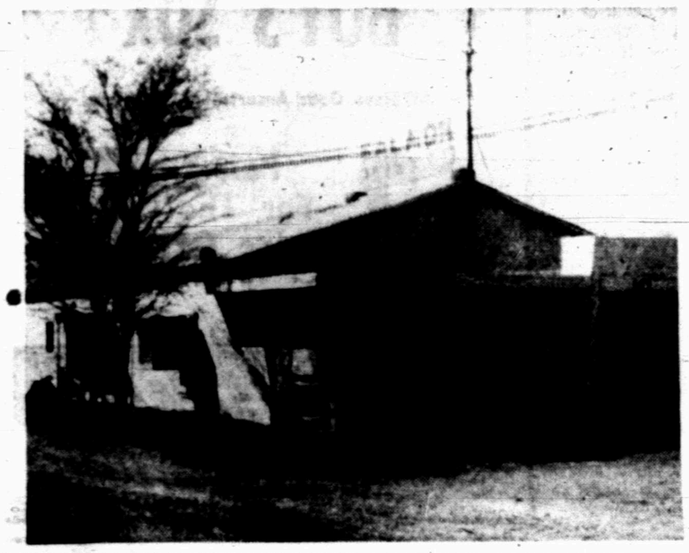

"We've been checking a lot of bridges," he said. "I was at that particular site four times. That was our target for that night."

Agent Robert M. MacNamara said he was hiding in the jungle when he saw an automobile drive up to the trestle. He said Davis was driving, that Vedder was a passenger, and that a third man was in the car.

When the car left, McNamara found 15 sticks of dynamite wired to explode when a train crossed.

Project Gemini Planned For '64

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Project Gemini, the United States next man-in-space program, is named for a constellation with twin bright stars, Castor and Pollux.

By year's end twin American astronauts may ride into space together in the Gemini spacecraft.

Eventually, Gemini astronauts will stay in orbit up to two weeks, join their craft with other orbiting satellites and step outside to see what it's like more than 100 miles above the earth. The flights will practice techniques necessary for rocketing men to the moon and planets.

Whether the Gemini spacemen will meet a first flight deadline in 1964 depends on results of two unmanned launchings. The first is scheduled late this month or early April from Cape Kennedy.

The initial flight will attempt to hurl a dummy model of the Gemini capsule into orbit. It will tell engineers many things: the structural compatibility of the spacecraft and booster, temperatures and pressures which will affect the combination, performance of the guidance system, and Titan 2's ability to place a payload in a precise orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will watch closely to see how well Titan 2 makes the transition from this nation's most powerful military rocket to a role as a manned space booster.

The first full-scale Gemini spacecraft will be flown on the second unmanned test flight, scheduled for midsummer. The vehicle is to be fired on a brief up-and-down course, parachuting into the Atlantic Ocean several hundred miles southeast of Cape Kennedy. A "mechanical man" will be aboard to simulate oxygen consumption and output of carbon dioxide.

Success of this mission would open the way for a launching in November or December of the first manned Gemini.

Charles Matthews, project manager, reported the first astronaut flight will be relatively short, probably only three orbits lasting about five hours.

"If all works well, we will build up the program rapidly after that," he said.

Beginning in 1965, length of the flights will be increased to a week and then two weeks to gather data on the pilots' reaction to extended space weightlessness.

Mrs. Burt, who had moved to San Angelo from Snyder in 1951, died at 8:45 p.m. Friday at a San Angelo hospital following a week's illness.

Born in Catoosa, Okla., Mrs. Burt was married to the late Mr. Grady Burt in Oklahoma in 1920, and moved to Snyder that year. Mr. Burt died in 1941.

The funeral services will be held at the First Baptist Church with Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Gail Cemetery under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Buster York of Ft. Sumner, N. M.; one son Jimmy Burt of Big Spring; one sister, Mrs. Vera Couch of Catoosa, Okla.; and four grandchildren.

Rotarians Here Observing World Understanding Week

Members of the Snyder Rotary Club are joining this week with other Rotary clubs around the world to observe World Understanding Week.

From Aabenraa, Denmark, to Zarate, Argentina, some 500,000 members of Rotary clubs will stage a simultaneous demonstration to advance international understanding during the week of Mar. 15-21.

In Snyder, Rotarians are taking an active part in the observance of the week by focusing special attention on the Spanga Klubb in Stockholm, Sweden. This is the club which was "matched" with the Snyder club by the president of Rotary International.

Information is exchanged between "matched" clubs of the organization as a part of the continuing program designed to promote better understanding between the 129 free countries in which Rotary clubs are active.

The local club has furnished the Spanga Rotary Klubb with a Texas Almanac, a Texas map with Snyder location noted, a pennant of the Snyder Rotary Club, bulletins of the weekly meetings here, and a club roster of members and their classifications. Correspondence by individual members will be carried on throughout the year.

The Snyder Rotary club has also sent magazines to foreign countries for use in the schools and for reading material in countries where magazines are rare. This is another aspect of the better understanding program.

C. D. Henry, president of the local Rotary club, said that in every case where magazines have been sent abroad, those who received them have asked for more. Especially, Henry said, were teachers anxious to get American magazines for use in schools.

As business and professional men, Henry said, Rotarians know the values of pesonal contacts. Several tours are being planned between Rotarians in matched districts as well as the exchanges of correspondence, tape-recorded programs with color slides and publication exchanges. More than 10,000 young people are sent abroad each year for study or vacations under Rotary sponsorship.

Says Lodge Not Candidate

AUSTIN (AP)—Former federal judge Albert Levitt of New Hampshire said in Austin today he has heard from Henry Cabot Lodge that the ambassador to Viet Nam is "not a candidate declared or active in any way for president or any other office."

Levitt, former U.S. district judge of Hancock, N.H., said the message was telephoned him this morning by his wife from New Hampshire. It came in the form of a cable from Lodge in answer to a question that Levitt asked Lodge the day before the ambassador's surprise win in Monday's preferential primary. Levitt said he asked Lodge to say "whether he was or was not a candidate for the presidency."

Levitt is in Austin to address University of Texas classes and a Unitarian forum Sunday.

Interpretation Dispute Delays Colorado Pact

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Differences in interpreatation of the international water treaty as far as the Colorado River is concerned have delayed settlement of a problem posed by the high salt content of that stream flowing to Mexico.

The Mexican ambassador to the United States, Antonio Carrillo Flores, said he feels a satisfactory solution for both countries will be reached soon.

He said "never before in the past have there been better relations between Mexico and the United States" as those since the recent meeting of Presidents Adolfo Lopez Mateos and Lyndon B. Johnson.

He said Mexico feels the 1944 water treaty between the two countries guarantees that the United States will furnish 1.5 million acre - feet of water for agricultural purposes from the Colorado River.

Texas Crude Buyers To Purchase Less

AUSTIN (AP) — Purchasers of Texas crude oil plan to decrease their buying 8,688 barrels daily next month, they have told the Railroad Commission.

Nominations from purchasers total 2,533,925 barrels daily during April, close to the U. S. Bureau of Mines demand forecast of 2,535,000 barrels daily, down 65,000 barrels daily from March.

The commission will determine the April allowable at a monthly hearing Wednesday.

THE "Write" WAY

By RUTH FOWLER BROWN

Dear Ruth:

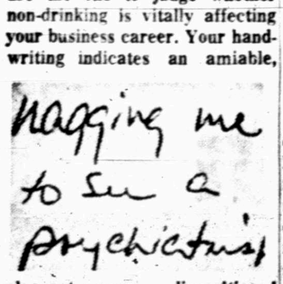

My wife thinks I have a problem. I'm a non-drinker, not because I object to the stuff, but because I can't drink without getting indigestion. My wife nags at me constantly saying I'm not climbing the success ladder as fast as the other junior execs because I don't drink when I'm out with customers, and nurse one drink all evening at VIP parties. Frankly, I think she does enough drinking for both of us. I'd like to attain this "happy, talkative, buddy-buddy" state, but I only get cramps in the stomach.

She persuaded me to see a doctor who told me to leave it alone, or try drinks mixed with cream. This looks pretty silly, when everyone else is drinking martinis and I sip a brandy alexander. Now she's nagging me to see a psychiatrist to find out if my liquor aversion is due to some kind of mental condition. Would it be possible to tell through handwriting analysis if I have a mental block?

Jr. Exec

Dear Jr.:

Your handwriting tells me youre something of a blockhead! That is if you allow your wife's ambition and nagging to overrule your own good sense. You are the one to judge whether non-drinking is vitally affecting your business career. Your handwriting indicates an amiable, pleasant, even - dispositioned fellow whose astute mind should merit the respect and appreciation of fellow execs, whether a drinker or not.

Dear Ruth:

Is it a fact that business firms are using handwriting analysis to help them appraise the qualifications and personalities of job applicants?

Business Man

Dear Sir:

A surprising number of corporations and smaller businesses have been using handwriting analysis since the early 1930s, and the ranks have grown through these years. Included are manufacturing concerns, department stores, banks, hotel chains, insurance companies, and various other types of businesses. And many of these firms use handwriting analysis for a variety of purposes beyond appraising job applicants.

Dear Ruth:

I am a carpenter, my dad was a carpenter, and so was my grandfather. I just sort of drifted into it. People say I'm a good carpenter, but I've never particularly cared for it. Would my handwriting show that I would be better suited to another field?

Board Man

Dear Board Man:

If you're really a bored board man, your handwriting reveals many excellent qualities which would be needed in engineering, electronics, even dentistry. But I'd never recommend a change in vocation without a detailed study — a psychographic vocational analysis, which takes much more than the sample you sent me. Any change requires extensive training, and all possible factors should be taken into consideration before advising a Switch.

Words Flying In California

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — California, where many senior citizens live, is the scene of a new Goldwater - Rockefeller talking match over Social Security.

Sharp words flew over the issue in the New Hampshire GOP presidential primary campaign, and they are flying again in California.

When Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona suggested in New Hampshire that Social Security should be made voluntary — in place of the present compulsory taxation of workers and employers—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York hit back quickly.

He said Goldwater's idea would bankrupt the system and "take us right back to the poorhouse" conception of relief.

Rockefeller kept peppering away, and Goldwater kept explaining. He denied he wanted to end Social Security; he said his aim is to improve it. The night before the balloting he wound up proclaiming himself a card-carrying member of, and firm supporter, of Social Security.

What part the issue played in the results will, of course, never be known exactly. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who wasn't there to talk about Social Security or any other issue, won a resounding victory.

In California Friday Goldwater and Rockefeller were at it again.

Goldwater said at a rally in Visalia that he wants to see the system strengthened but that it cannot be "if we saddle it" with medical and mental-health care.

Rockefeller, speaking at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, described the senator's views as "extremism."

The issue may not be so hot in California as it was in New Hampshire. Contrary to some popular impressions, the percentage of oldsters is smaller in California than, for example, in New England.

The 1960 census showed that 8.8 per cent of California's population of 15,717,204 was 65 years of age or older. But 11.2 per cent of New Hampshire's 606,921 people were in this age bracket. For the country as a whole the percentage of population 65 or older was 9.2 in 1960.

Short On Travel Time

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — A sleepy Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., used a jet age shuttle system to get here from Washington for a 6:30 a. m. appointment Friday.

He left the capital after voting on the salary increase bill Thursday night and spent the night traveling. He arrived 30 minutes before he was due to speak at Montana Gov. Tim Babcock's annual prayer breakfast.

"It took four planes and a car to get me from Washington to Helena," the congressman said.

Observing the trip wasn't quite that simple. Babcock explained that Purcell went by commercial airliner to Denver, by Air Force F89 jet to Great Falls, Mont., and by the governor's plane to Helena.

"This may be the day of the common man in politics but it is the day when the uncommon christian is needed," Purcell told the 500 Montanans at the breakfast.

Heart Fund Here May Top $3,500

The Scurry County Heart Fund should top $3,500.

This was the report given by Joe Carroll, Heart Fund general chairman, at the March meeting of the Scurry County Heart Council.

Carroll noted that some funds from rural areas remain to be added to the total, as well as a final count from the golf tournament and memorial gifts which may be received between now and the end of the Heart Association's fiscal year June 30.

Carroll cited a marked increase in receipts from the rural areas and from the Coffee Day event. One area, Knapp, held a community night which netted some $200 for the Heart Fund and $145 was credited to Borden County residents which almost equalled the Heart Association's total "fair share" for that count of $150.

In other business, the council agreed to set its regular May meeting, May 12, as its annual meeting for the election of directors and officers for the coming year, and for recognition for outstanding cooperation in the heart cause.

President Pat Falls was in charge of the meeting and nine members of the council attended. Eddie Burroughs, area consultant for the Texas Heart Association from Abilene, also was present.

Legion To Celebrate

The American Legion is celebrating its 45th anniversary this month, and the local Legion post has planned a special event for Tuesday night.

The event will include a free barbecue at 7:30 p.m. for all Legion members and their families, and all World War I veterans are invited.

The school scholarship program will be discussed at the session.

Aleutian Volcano In New Eruption

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A major new volcanic eruption was reported late Friday on Unimak Island in the Aleutian chain, with a two-mile river of lava flowing from the mouth of the crater and debris hurled 2,000 feet into the air.

The lava flow and spewing debris was reported by a Coast Guard plane flying a low-level survey about five miles east of Westdahl peak, on Pogromni Volcano at the west end of Unimak.

Confusion, Suspicion Push Greeks' Anti-US Protests

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — What's behind the recent wave of anti-American demonstrations and rioting in Greece over the Cyprus issue?

Is this traditional ally seriously turning on the United States?

Out of a summary of views of people close to the situation — Greek government officials, political writers and U.S. government representatives here — two general answers emerge:

1. Confusion, Communist agitation, emotionalism and suspicion are behind the anti-American protests.

2. Despite the protests, Greece is basically a pro-West country and a friend of America.

The news that former President Harry S. Truman was coming to the state funeral for King Paul of Greece was generally hailed here. He is affectionately referred to by many Greeks as Barba Truman—Uncle Truman—for his role in helping Greece survive the postwar years.

In 1947, Truman asked Congress for a massive outpouring of economic and military aid to pull Greece from the misery of wartime destruction and save the Balkans from Communist conquest in civil war.

The Truman Doctrine was succeeded by the Marshall Plan. The programs worked. Greece defeated the Communists, became a North Atlantic Treaty Organization member and began the long hard pull toward increasing prosperity.

American military and economic aid up to last year came to a total of $3.4 billion.

Why then, with a history of that kind of assistance and support, has the United States come in for such hard knocks recently?

One reason is that emotionalism over the issue of Cyprus where Greek and Turkish ethnic groups are in conflict, runs so high that most people don't take pains to learn the facts.

Another reason is that the United States joined Britain in a NATO peace proposal for Cyprus. To many Greeks, Britain is automatically suspect because of its past control of Cyprus. The suspicion tends to rub off on anyone associating with Britain on the Cyprus issue.

A large left-wing element in Greece, mainly Communist, is out to use any handy issue to foment agitation against America.

Another factor—and possibly the most important—is that a good number of Greeks honestly feel the United States is pro-Turkish in the dispute. They believe that Washington regards Turkey as a more important NATO military ally than Greece in the alliance's southern flank along the Soviet bloc.

Groucho Marx Is Awarded Plaque

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Groucho Marx Friday got a bronze plaque as big as three of his cigar boxes because he had answered a classified ad in 1905.

The Distinguished Citizen Award of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers (ANCAM) annually goes to someone who launched an outstanding career by answering a classified ad.

The 1905 ad—which ran in the old New York World and which started Groucho on his 59-year show business career—read: "Boy singer wanted for star vaudeville act. Room, board, $4 week. Apply in person."

Mexico Prepares For DeGaulle Visit

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Preparations for the arrival of French President Charles de Gaulle on Monday moved at a feverish pace today.

Newspapers extolled De Gaulle as a great statesman, poster-size portraits of the French leader were hung along the capital's major boulevards, radio and television played French music and a government helicopter flew over Mexico City Friday playing the French national anthem.

The government ordered the tightest security measures ever imposed on the capital, and the preparations for the welcome appear to exceed those for the visit of any other foreign chief of state, including President John F. Kennedy, who received a tumultuous welcome in 1962.

Texas Has Big Stake In Space Probes

AUSTIN (AP) Texas has a big economic stake in the civilian space programs, a Texas business survey says.

The state can expect as many as 10,000 new jobs by 1970 in the aerospace industry, with civilian space projects the most likely source of the increase, the study by Robert Williamson of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said.

Commenting that defense spending for missiles and aircraft is expected to drop within the next few years, Williamson said Texas probably will not be affected by the decline during this decade.

"Assuming a continued decline in the nation's military aerospace requirements," he said, "the principal factor which might support long-run growth in Texas aerospace activities is the possibility of new civilian space programs.

"Texas is favorably situated with respect to the 'golden rescent' of the Gulf Coast area, which contains most of the key NASA installations."

The aerospace industry—aircraft and electronics, chemicals and components used in missiles—employs about 50,000 in Texas, making it one of the state's largest users of manpower.

The Dallas-Fort Worth area has the state's largest concentration of plants making aerospace products, he said, with three major aircraft firms, two of the state's largest electronics companies and a number of medium-sized parts manufacturers.

Howard May 'Give It Up'

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Frank Howard, the Los Angeles Dodgers' 6-foot-7 home run slugger signed out of Ohio State for a $108,000 bonus in 1958, may be forced to quit baseball at the age of 27 because of "personal problems."

Howard told The Associated Press Friday it would be "virtually impossible" for him to play this season.

"I doubt very, very much if I'll be able to play," the powerful young outfielder said after talking by phone with Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi.

"I feel as if I've had it," Howard added. "Spring training is well advanced and I'm so far out of shape both mentally and physically that it would be virtually impossible for me to play. To be honest with you, I haven't even thought of baseball."

Howard said he canceled plans to visit Bavasi at the Los Angeles training camp in Vero Beach, Fla., next week because "Buzzie and I talked about the situation and there isn't much else to say."

"I told him that the way I feel now, I'm not in a good frame of mind to play baseball and if I tried I would be doing an injustice to the club and more so to myself," he added. "Buzzie told me to relax and get myself straightened out. He spoke as a friend, not as a general manager. That's the way he always has been. The Dodgers have been more than good to me, but the way I feel now I couldn't play for them or anyone else."

Asked directly if he felt he was through baseball for good, Howard replied: "I don't like to say so definitely, but things would have to take an awful big turn of events to permit me to play at least this year."

Howard, who has been working as a sales trainee for a Green Bay firm during the off-season, said he planned to confer with officials of the company next week about continuing on the job.

He broke into organized ball with the old Green Bay Blue Jays of the Three-I League. He and his wife, a Green Bay native, and their four children live in nearby De Pere.

Howard declined to disclose his "personal problems," but said "a combination of things hit me all at once."

New Records Set In Odessa Relays

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

ODESSA (AP) — Three records already were in the books, including the highest vault ever by a Texas schoolboy, today as the collegians took the field in the big West Texas Relays.

The largest university class—eight teams—and 11 colleges entered preliminaries in the running events and finals in most of the field events.

Houston, champion of the Border Olympics, was favored to win the university class because of its depth, but Southern Methodist, Abilene Christian College and Texas offered stiff competition.

Lamar Tech was a heavy favorite for the college division title.

Feature events of the track and field meet are the 100-yard dash, the discus and the mile run. All three will hold their finals this afternoon.

The two sprint stars of Southern Methodist — John Roderick and Billy Foster, will be aiming at the 100-yard dash record of 9.4. Danny Roberts of Texas A&M appeared due to take down the discus record of 171 feet 2 inches.

Richard Romo of Texas and Jim McLatchie of Lamar Tech will vie to see which hangs up an overall record in the mile run. Each has exceeded the record of 4:14.7.

Gary Hobson of Kermit vaulted higher than any Texas schoolboy ever did Friday in featuring the high school preliminaries. He soared 14 feet 5¾ inches — a quarter-inch better than Warren Brattlot of Galena Park did in 1961. It also was 3¼ inches better than the Texas Interscholastic League record of 14-2½.

Hobson's was one of three records set. Willie Washington of El Paso Austin broad jumped 22 feet 8 inches and the Albuquerque, N. M., Manzana High School sprint medley relay team did 3:30.6 for the other new marks.

Amarillo Tascosa, Odessa Permian and Odessa indicated a hefty fight for the Division I championship of the high school class. Tascosa, the defending champion, was the only school to qualify in all four relays. The relays count twice as many points as the individual events.

Lubbock Dunbar gobbled up 18 points in the field event finals and qualified in eight preliminaries to become the favorite in Division II.

Odessa Blackshear had eight events to offer the strongest points to offer the strongest competition for Dunbar in today's finals.

Featured events this afternoon include an exhibition by Randy Matson, Texas A&M's freshman shot putter who has done 62 feet 5 inches, and girl runners from Abilene featuring Janice Rinehart, queen of the sprints, and a top candidate for the Olympics.

Jinx Hits NCAA College Tourney

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Friday the 13th jinx struck the NCAA college basketball championship tournament in full force.

Knocked out of the running were Chicago Loyola, the defending champion, Kentucky and Princeton.

Unbeaten UCLA, Duke, San Francisco, Kansas State and Wichita survived in the other second round games and led the way into tonight's quarter-finals.

Michigan put out Chicago Loyola 84-80 and Ohio University whipped Kentucky 85-69 in the Mideast regional at Minneapolis. Connecticut downed Princeton 52-50 in perhaps the biggest surprise of the season in the East regional at Raleigh, N.C., where Duke also thumped Villanova 87-73.

UCLA, the nation's top-ranked team, made it 27 in a row by defeating Seattle 95-90 and San Francisco chalked up its 19th straight by beating Utah State 64-58 in the Far West regional at Corvallis, Ore.

Kansas State made it 12 straight with a 64-60 victory over exas Western and Wichita took Creighton 84-68 in the Midwest regional at Wichita, Kan.

The night's activities set up these quarter-final pairings tonight: Duke vs. Connecticut at Raleigh, Michigan vs. Ohio University at Minneapolis, Kansas State vs. Wichita at Wichita and San Francisco vs UCLA at Corvallis.

The NCAA small college championship went to the Evansville Aces, who defeated Akron 72-59 before a record crowd of 12,244 at Roberts Stadium in Evansville.

Pan-American of Texas, the defending champions, and Rockhurst won in the semifinals of the NAIA tourney at Kansas City and meet tonight for the title. Pan-American edged Carson-Newman 56-54 and Rockhurst downed Emporia State 66-61.

Is Finley Through With His Forensic Exhibitions?

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball exhibition grind may just be starting for most of the major league teams, but Charles O. Finley's forensic exhibitions have ground to a silent stop.

That seems as impossible as Southern senators running out of arguments against civil rights legislation, but it's ostensibly so—at least temporarily.

The Kansas City owner's latest dispute ended Friday with signing of Rocky Colavito, the slugger the Athletics acquired from Detroit in a winter trade.

The contract settlement came on the eve of the Athletics' first exhibition game against Pittsburgh, which was one of 11 scheduled for today.

Finley, the commuting debater from Chicago, said Colavito agreed to a salary of $50,000, a $4,000 cut from his 1963 pay with the Tigers.

The Athletics' boss, whose forensic prowess reached its peak against Kansas City government officials in the stadium dispute, said he outargued Colavito on a clause which would have given the 30-year-old outfielder an extra $25,000 should he be traded during the year.

Colavito will be trying for a comeback with Kansas City. In fact Finley said, "We are expecting a great season out of Rocky and expect him to earn the comeback award of the year."

The 6-foot-3, 190-pounder hit 22 homers and batted in 91 runs last season. That marked the first time in six seasons he hadn't socked 35 or more home runs. The RBI total was his second lowest in six seasons.

While exhibition action in Florida was delayed until today, the Arizona-based teams continued their play Friday. Jack Sanford pitched six innings as San Francisco downed Cleveland 5-2, and Bob Duliba's wild pitch allowed the winning run to score in the Chicago Cubs' 6-5 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels.

In an international meeting at Mexico City, Sandy Koufax pitched three perfect innings and struck out five for the Los Angeles Dodgers, who romped over the Mexico City Tigers 8-3.

Spotlight Is On Drake And DePaul

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Top-seeded DePaul, with its best team since the George Mikan-era of 20 years ago, and Drake, considered the college basketball comeback team of the year, took the spotlight today in the National Invitation Tournament.

The Blue Demons from Chicago, ranked ninth in the final Associated Press poll of the season with a 21-3 record, tangle with the unpredictable NYU Violets in a quarter-final struggle that winds up a four-game program at Madison Square Garden.

The Drake Bulldogs from Des Moines, who bounced back from a 1963 last-place finish to become co-champions of the tough Missouri Valley Conference with Wichita, go against the Pitt Panthers in the nationally televised afternoon feature over NBC.

Maurice John, Drake coach, was voted the MVC Coach of The Year by his fellow conference coaches for his feat in guiding the Bulldogs to a 20-6 record, Drake's best regular season ever.

Rounding out the day's program is the Bradley-St. Joseph's quarter-final game that opens the night doubleheader and the Army - St. Bonaventure first round game tilt that starts the matinee activities.

New Mexico and Duquesne, the last two in the 12-team field, do not play until Tuesday night.

Texas Girls Basketball In Finals

AUSTIN (AP) — Championships in all three conferences of Texas girls basketball will be decided here today in Gregory Gymnasium.

The three games for the championship begin at 3:20 p.m. after third place winners are determined in consolation games earlier in the day.

In the title contests, powerful Friona meets Clear Creek for the Conference AA championship, Jourdanton meets Baird for the Conference A crown, and Trent plays Burkeville for the Conference B diadem.

In last night's AA semifinals, Clear Creek took Cotulla out 66-44 as three Clear Creek girls scored in double figures, paced by Bobbie Harper who pitched in 24 points. Rosemary Fleener scored 23 points and Gaylynne Robinson added 14.

In the last game of the night, Friona surged into the finals with a resounding 63-48 victory over Mineral Wells. Frionas' stellar Tito Jennings scored 35 points to come up with one of the tournament's best performances.

Baird jumped into the Conference A finals with a 49-34 triumph over Moulton as Paula Corn almost equalled Miss Jenning's scoring with 34 points. In the other Conference A semifinal, Carolyn Bornak, a 14-year-old freshman, led Jourdanton to a 39-37 victory over Wylie.

Redskins Get Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — The Washington Redskins, at the bottom of the National Football League heap in most departments during the 1963 season, had two consolations today—the individual and team NFL punt return championships.

Dick James of the 'Skins won the individual title with a 13.4 average for his 16 returns. Detroit's Tom Watkins gained the most yards on returns, lugging the ball 32 times for 399 yards. His 12.5 average gave him second place behind James.

Defending champion Pat Studstill of the Lions, was sidelined most of the season with injuries.

Washington swept the team crown with a 13.0 average for 30 returns. Detroit's 635 yards was the most any team managed on returns but its 11.1 average left it in fourth place behind Washington, Minnesota and Cleveland.

The average age of the five leading money - winning harness drivers in the United States in 1963 was 35.

Sprinter Begins 1964 Campaign

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Sprinter Bob Hayes of Florida A&M begins his 1964 outdoor campaign today, bent on establishing himself beyond dispute as the world's fastest human.

The occasion is the Florida Athletic Club's third annual invitation track meet at the University of Miami, the one that first catapulted him to international prominence.

Hayes returns to the scene of some of his greatest triumphs on a mission to correct a couple of bad breaks. Officials took away his record-tying 9.2 in the 100-yard dash because an improper starting gun was used.

The international federation tabled his record-breaking 9.1 at the national AAU meet because it was run on rubber asphalt.

Hayes sped the 100 in 9.1 seconds and the 220 straigntaway in 20.1 in the Orange Bowl meet. The times have been submitted for certification.

Hayes is being held out of the 440 relay to concentrate his speed in the two springs today, and all precautions have been taken to make official any records he may set.

Play-For-Keeps Begins For SWC

By The Associated Press

Three games mark Saturday's opening of the Southwest Conference baseball campaign.

The Texas Longhorns, perennial champions, meet Baylor at Waco. Southern Methodist plays strong Texas A&M at College Station. And Texas Christian and Rice meet at Houston.

Arkansas does not play for the baseball championship although is a member of the conference.

In two non-conference games Friday, the circuit lost both. St. Mary's of San Antonio whipped Rice 6-2 at Houston with a four-run splurge in the top of the 11th inning.

Sam Houston batters outslugged Texas Christian at Huntsville to win 14-8. TCU had taken a 5-0 lead in the second inning.

Dave Nicholson Is Man With Problem

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Dave Nicholson is a man with a problem. He strikes out too much. In fact, he struck out so often last year with the Chicago White Sox that he set a new major league record of 175. It is not something to be proud of.

The new strike zone may have had nothing to do with it but it is a matter of record that three men broke the old American League record. Don Lock of Washington had 151 and Dick Stuart of Boston 144. Donn Clendenon of Pittsburgh set a National League high by striking out 136 times.

"It did bother me a lot," Nicholson said at the White Sox training camp. "But it's all over now as far as I am concerned. You can't let a thing like that get you. Everybody knows I wasn't trying to strike out.

"The whole thing did puzzle me. I'd get my hits. I had 22 home runs and drove in 70 runs. Still I was striking out. Something was haywire but it takes time to find out. A couple of other guys broke the record, too. I think there were 10 or more over 100 in our league.

"The only thing I can do is keep swinging and trying to hit the ball. Maybe I was looking for something too good, getting too choosy. I was called out a lot. Maybe I'll have to go for the first two. When you're striking out a lot you don't get any break from those umpires. I remember one in Baltimore when they called me out on a pitch by Steve Barber that almost hit the ground."

Nicholson is the boy who was paid over $100,000 to sign a contract with the Baltimore Orioles in 1958. The Orioles traded him to Chicago a year ago with Ron Hansen, Pete Ward and Hoyt Wilhelm for Luis Aparicio and Al Smith.

Al Lopez of the White Sox gave Nicholson a chance to play every day and he came through with good power despite his strikeouts and his .229 average.

Clay Plans To Travel

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Cassius Clay has some traveling planned while the Army goes over his second Selective Service written examination. The verdict will be known in about four weeks.

What if he is drafted?

"I'll cross that bridge when I come to it," the heavyweight champion said Friday afternoon relaxing on his living room sofa after taking the early-morning examination.

"I'll be in New York for business the next three weeks and then I hope to tour Nigeria, other parts of Africa and the Middle East.

"I told the Army people and all they said was to check with them on the passport."

Clay went to Chicago Friday evening and planned to go from there to New York.

The 22-year-old boxer said the math bothered him most in the three-hour, four section test — math, English, mechanical aptitudes and pattern analysis.

He was alone for part of the test and then joined about 125 men for other portions. He had to take the examination again after the first one in Florida last January was inconclusive.

"The test was tough," he said, "tougher than the first one. Man, I'm tired! But I did my best—I don't want anybody to think I'm crazy."

Salvage Crews Dive To Search For Jet

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Salvage crews today probed a spot on big Lake Pontchartrain which apparently held the best lead yet in the 19-day search for the main wreckage of the jet airliner that crashed with 58 aboard.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said parts of the aircraft's center section, tail, landing gear, skin section and pieces of tires were believed uncovered at the spot.

William Lamb, chief investigator for the CAB team in New Orleans, said he was "reasonably sure" searchers had located part of the hull of the Eastern Air Lines jet that crashed into the lake Feb. 25.

A bed of mud and silt about 20 feet deep on the bottom of the lake hampered the search, centered about 25 miles northeast of New Orleans International Airport.

Norman Sloan is in his third season as basketball coach at the University of Florida at Gainesville.

Nicklaus Uncovers New Talent

By CHARLES STAFFORD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, the boy wonder of American golf, has uncovered a new talent—that of golf teacher.

His own performance in the $25,000 St. Petersburg Open through the first two rounds was unspectacular. But two days ago Nicklaus went to the practice green with Australian Bruce Devlin to attempt to diagnose Devlin's recent problems. They spent an hour there.

The 26-year-old Aussie fired an eight-under-par 64—only one stroke above the Lakewood Country Club record—to take the 36-hole lead with a 133 Friday.

Nicklaus, meanwhile, shot a 69 which gave him 140—seven strokes behind Devlin.

Raymond Floyd, who went on from his victory in the St. Petersburg Open last year to become professional golfing's rookie of the year, matched Nicklaus' 69. But he was unhappy with it.

The North Carolinian said, "I just didn't play well. I played the (par) five holes badly." He was tied for second place at 137 with Bob Shave, who shot a second round 67.

The first round leaders faded. Bob Harrison shot a 71 for a two-round total of 138. Mike Krak had a 75 for a 142.

She Can Tell A Real Fish Story

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

Mrs. Aleen Henninger has a fish story.

She opened her icebox recently to take out a 10-inch mudcat. The fish, wrapped in a plastic bag, gave Mrs. Henninger a cold eye and began flopping around.

Fishermen friends assured the Austin woman it wasn't too unusual. Such fish have been known to bury themselves in mud for a couple of years before rejuvenating themselves.

March 15-21 is National Wildlife Week. Several groups have scheduled programs. A conference on the conservation of natural resources in Texas is set for March 19-21 in Austin. Delegates will make field trips to the Bastrop and Palmetto State Parks and the Kerr Wildlife Management Area.

The Corsicana Junior Chamber of Commerce has scheduled its Fishing Fiesta for Navarro Mills Reservoir, 16 miles southwest of Corsicana, for May 29-31.

Each Texas game warden patrols an area larger than Rhode Island. On the average, a game warden has 1,300 square miles.

Park officials are preparing for up to 250,000 visitors at Texas' 58 state parks Easter Sunday. The largest crowds are expected at South Texas parks, such as Bentsen-Rio Grande Park near Mission and Lake Corpus Christi State Park.

Lake Texoma fishermen will start looking for floating tackle boxes April 5. It's part of a contest to publicize the big fishing-recreation spot. Each of the 24 tackle boxes will include the name of a prize which may be claimed by turning in the box.

To clear farm ponds of aquatic vegetation, begin work now, says fishery biologist James Wilcox. He suggests chemicals to control the vegetation, then fertilizing the ponds to increase murkiness and reduce sunlight penetration. Wilcox warns, however, "if a program is started it must be completely finished since partial fertilizer application may increase rather than reduce aquatic vegetation."

Floyd Mabry of Temple, defending champion in the State Bass Tournament, has indicated he will enter this year's meet at Lake o' the Pines April 23-26.

Vanderbilt Cup Teams Narrowed

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Only four teams remain in competition for the Vanderbilt Cup, the most highly prized championship of the American Contract Bridge League's spring national tournament, after Friday night's round.

A four-session open pairs event is scheduled for today and Sunday and competition for the cup will be suspended until Monday.

Only one team, headed by Howard Schenken of New York City, is undefeated. It drew a bye Friday night.

Team results included:

Don Oakie, San Jose, Calif., Meyer Schleifer, Los Angeles; Mrs. A. S. Coleman, Douglas Drury, San Francisco, defeated G. Robert Nail, Bob Strucker, John Gerber, all Houston, Tex.; Pauld Hoge, Abilene, Tex.; Charles Solomon, Philadelphia; and Harry Fishbein, New York City, 14 point.

SMU Leads Swimmers

LUBBOCK (AP) — Southern Methodist almost had the championship clinched for an eighth straight title as they prepared to enter tonight's session of the southwest conference swimming meet.

The Mustang rankers grabbed four out of five first places in Friday night's session. Of 10 events unreeled in two nights, Texas has managed to win only two. Texas Tech and Texas A&M have yet to win a first.

Only four teams are entered in the swimming championships.

Through Friday night's events, SMU had 122 points, Texas 75, Texas Tech 27 and Texas A&M only 12.

George Spear of Texas repeated as 200-yard butterfly champion in the only event last night not won by SMU. In the 200-yard freestyle, SMU's Tudor Lacey not only dethroned defending Jim Graves of Texas but also set a Southwest Conference record. He swam the event in 1:48.7. Graves, who set the mark of 1:49.5 last year, finished third.

SMU's other first place winners were Butch Schimmel, successfully defending his 200-yard backstroke championship; Jon Rowe, retaining the 200-yard breaststroke crown; and Tiny Barnetson, repeating as 200-yard individual medley titlist.

NTS Blanks SMU

DENTON (AP)—North Texas State blanked Southern Methodist 6-0 in tennis Friday for their sixth straight net victory of the season. SMU was able to carry only one match into three sets as the Eagles dominated all the way.

Sports Car Enthusiasts Gather Here

Sports car drivers from the western region of Texas will begin registration for the Sunday afternoon sports car rally at 1:30 p.m.

Registration will be held on the parking area of the Highland Shopping center. Rallymasters Ollie and Luna Maude Bruton said they expected the first car to leave the area on the 100 mile course at about 2 p.m.

The route will be largely over secondary roads, and will include four counties. All average speeds will be well below the posted speed limits.

The Snyder Citizens Band Radio Club will patrol the course and maintain two-way contact with the control center. Radio club members will give the time that each contestant passes a check point, and will also be available to aid the contestants in the event they become lost or have mechanical difficulty.

Anyone who drives an imported car or sports car, or is interested in sports cars, is urged to contact any member of the local club for information about membership in the club.

Trinity Tennis Team Hosts Lamar

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Trinity Tiger tennis team, which has won 48 consecutive matches, hosts Lamar Tech of Beaumont here today.

Friday, the Tigers defeated the University of Houston 6-0 without losing a set.

Schoolboy In Best High Jump Of Year

GREENVILLE (AP) — Max Mainord of Greenville High made the best high jump of the schoolboy season in Texas so far this year Friday with a leap of 6 feet and 5 inches. Mainord's high jump and first places he took in the shot put and discus helped the Lions defeat McKinney and Sulphur Springs in a triangular meet.

Colombia Bombs Do Little Damage

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Terrorist bombs exploded in scattered Colombian cities Friday night but caused little or no damage. No one was killed.

Police said the bombs appeared to be noisemakers intended to attract attention 36 hours before congressional elections.

Tigers Edged Out By Big Spring 6-5

BIG SPRING — The Snyder Tigers out-hit the Big Spring Steers here Friday afternoon, but could not outscore them as they were edged 6-5 in a non-district tilt. Big Spring now has a record of four wins against only one loss for the year, while Snyder has one win and three losses.

Errors proved costly to the Snyder team. The Tigers had four miscues the first inning which allowed Big Spring two unearned runs, giving the Steers a lead they never relinquished.

The Steers picked up one run in the second for a 3-run lead. The Tigers got that one back in the top of the 4th on Rob Hall's home run. Big Spring made it 6-1 in the 5th as Charlie West homered with two on.

The Tigers rallied in the latter innings, scoring two in each of the last two frames. Jerry Rose grounded out short to first, then Drew Bullard singled. Leslie Brown reached first on a fielder's choice as Bullard was out at second. Hall got on base by way of an error that scored Brown, then was driven in home by Jim Marcum's single.

With two outs in the 7th Mack Galyean singled to start things off. Two more singles by Bobby Kay and Brown, sandwiched in between with Bullard's walk, netted two more runs.

Brown started on the mound for the Tigers and was charged with the loss. He was relieved in the 6th by Jerry Owen, who struck out the last two Steer batters. Freddie Mierars was credited with the win, but he had to have help by Hope in the final inning.

The Tigers, coached by Speedy Moffett and Bob O'Day, will next see action Friday in San Angelo. They will meet the Bobcats in a single game Friday afternoon, and will play a double-header against the same team, Saturday afternoon.

Cotton Near Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Cotton feels he's "opened the door a little wider" to a light heavyweight title fight with his sensational fourth round technical knockout of previously undefeated Johnny Persol.

The 37 - year - old contender from Seattle, an 8-5 underdog, avenged a split decision loss to the New Yorker three weeks ago when he stopped his 23-year-old opponent with a fiery barrage of blows to the body and head at 2:37 of the fourth.

Persol, his back to the ropes and a dazed look in his eyes, was sagging to the floor when referee Zack Clayton sprang in between the two and ended the fight.

But until the sudden flurry, it appeared as if the fast moving quick hitting Persol was on his way to another victory over the old man of the 175-pound division.

"He's real fast and I had to set him up," explained the jubilant Cotton after the Friday night television fight at Madison Square Garden. "I knew I couldn't catch him with jabs and I had to soften him up with body punches."

Cotton had been dropped from No.1 contender to No. 3 following his loss to Persol. Persol had been promoted from ninth to No. 2. Cotton's record is 51-15-1. Persol's record is 11-1. He had won all of his 85 amateur fights, too.

1963 Llano Deer Kill Near Record

LLANO, Tex. (AP)— A total of 10,309 deer were killed in Llano County during the 1963 season.

Local officials of the State Parks and Wildlife Service said the total included 5,244 bucks, and 5,065 antlerless deer.

The total of 10,309 was exceeded in only two previous years, in 1960, when 10,753 deer were harvested here, and in 1961, the banner year, when the total was 14,190.

In 1962, the total was only 4,454. The drop-off was due to a very cold winter, a hot, dry summer, and screwworms.

The unusually high deer harvest in 1963 was not a surprise, as the weather had been more favorable, the screwworm problem about solved, a good persimmon crop, and antlerless territory had been expanded in the county. The deer were reported fat and numerous, and the fawn crop was estimated at 97 per cent.

The prospects for the 1964 season look very bright. Mild winter weather with timely rains resulting in plentiful plant growth have saved the deer from heavy die-off.

TCU Wins Meet

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas Christian took a quadrangular track meet over SMU, North Texas and Arlington State Friday with nine first places.

TCU scored 67 points, Southern Methodist 58, North Texas 23 and Arlington State 9. John Charlton paced the Froggies with firsts in the high jump, high hurdles and 220-yard dash. Roger Hunt of Denison won the 880 and 440 for TCU.

Joe Eaves is in his 15th season as basketball coach at Auburn University.

MORE FACTS about modern drugs

① In the past ten years, wholesale prices for all commodities went up 20%, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. In the same period, prices of specialty drugs did not go up at all.

② Most modern drugs go down in price after sales and production increase. Salk vaccine, penicillin, and streptomycin are typical examples.

Oscar Nominee Is Nearly Forgotten

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's Cinderella story concerns a Viennese architect turned actress of mature years and gentle manner. The only trouble with the story is that Cinderella has not yet made it to the ball.

A fortnight ago the Academy Award nominations were announced, and one of the nominees was Lilia Skala for her role as the vinegary nun in "Lilies of the Field."

She received congratulations at New York's City Center Theater, where she works in the lost and found department. She is still there among the neglected galoshes and forgotten umbrellas, toiling for $1.50 per hour.

Her reaction to the nomination?

"Of course I am thrilled. I did not expect it. I did not even think about it. I have known too many disappointments in my life to count on anything.

What a life it has been. It began in Austria, but don't ask her how long ago.

Lilia longed to act as a girl, but her parents had other ideas. She studied architecture and engineering at Dresden University and graduated with honors. "I was the first woman engineer in Austria," she says proudly.

After her marriage to a hat manufacturer, she appeared with Max Reinhardt and in Austrian films. She came to America after the Hitler takeover, and her acting roles were interspersed with jobs as waitress, saleswoman, babysitter, etc.

She had successful times — featured roles in "Call Me Madam" and "The Diary of Anne Frank" on Broadway and important parts in television. But you gather that there were also long periods of idleness.

Miss Skala was enduring such a period a year and a half ago when she was called about a role in the touring company of "A Far Country."

Meanwhile, she read a newspaper item that Ralph Nelson was casting for a new film to star Sidney Poitier, "Lilies of the Field." She had worked for Nelson on the "I Remember Mama" television series, and she sent him a note that she would like to be in his film.

Faced with the dilemma over a sure job and a nebulous one, Miss Skala did what she always does in times of trial. She prayed.

Nelson came through with the plum role of the mother superior. Did her fortunes change?

"No," she says. "Last year I did one co-starring role in 'The Defenders' and one soap opera. It was my worst year since I had come to America."

But things seem to be picking up. Stanley Kramer has said he wants her for "Ship of Fools." The Oscar night April 13 will bring her more attention. Will she be in Santa Monica for it?

"Only if they send me," she says. "I can't afford it myself."

Mitch Miller Bitter Over String-Along

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mitch Miller, the "sing along" man, says NBC is the string-along network.

"The network knew months ago that it planned to drop my show next season," Miller grumbled. "But instead of telling us then, they waited until March 1 to give us the news. Why did they keep stringing us along? Probably to keep us from making a deal to move elsewhere. They were afraid they'd look foolish if we landed on another network and started hitting one of their new shows in the ratings."

Miller, who owns "Sing Along With Mitch," complained that the only suggestion he had from the high command this season was to try some guest stars—"not to improve our ratings, but to work a little change in the show."

"We tried it in three shows," he said. "The only one that increased our audience was the show with Shirley Temple. People wrote in and asked us to cut out guests like Milton Berle and George Burns. They said they liked them but could see them other places and they liked our show the way it was."

Miller's show has been constantly moved around during four seasons in the NBC schedule. It has been seen on Thursday and on Friday nights and this season had a late Monday night spot, following a re-run of an old movie and "Hollywood and the Stars," which received consistently poor ratings.

Miller said NBC brass told him his show was out so the network could try something "new and fresh."

"New and fresh," he said. "I didn't say anything about old feature films for two hours at a clip. And the new and fresh thing they are bumping us for is Alfred Hitchcock's series, which has been around longer than we have."

Watlingtons Back From Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Watlington, 2212 Forty - fourth Street, returned recently from Dallas where they attended the National Farm Life Insurance Company's annual directors and managers convention.

Watlington is general agent for the company in this area. He received the annual "Crusader Award" for calling on more people than any other agent during the preceding year. At the awards banquet he was presented with a silver casserole dish in recognition of the honor.

In addition to the awards banquet and other activities, the agents' wifes attended a luncheon and style show in the Zodiac Room at Neiman-Marcus.

JERRY LEWIS stars in "Who's Minding the Store?" which is coming to the Canyon Drive In Theater here in color Thursday, March 19.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — A fellow from Illinois wrote the other day wanting to know about a town in Southern Mexico where they mine Amethysts and sell you a handfull for a few pesos. He says a mining engineer friend of his stumbled across this place last year and was speechless for several weeks. Now according to the Illinois reader, he personally saw a dozen or so Amethysts that were a deep purple, flawless and really gorgeous. His friend brought them back and said they were as fine as any in the world. So this fellow's problem is that his engineer friend has gone somewhere without leaving an address and My Reader has forgotten the name of the town and wants to know if I can find out for him.

So I'll tell you what, I will conduct an intensive search for this place (honest) and if I find anything you will get a couple of columns on it. Something telling you about the quality and price of the stones and the Great Search. But if I do locate, it, I'm not about to tell anybody the name or where it is. However, I will promise to buy a whole baskest of these gems and sell them at a moderate price (like double what they cost) to anyone who comes down. And thank you friend for giving me the tip. When I become wealthy I will invite you down for a month's vacation.

IF WE VISIT MEXICO AS TOURISTS DO WE HAVE TO TAKE OUR CAR OUT OF THE COUNTRY EVERY SIX MONTHS:

You not only have to take your car out but you have to go also. A tourist card is good for six months. Maybe you are thinking about the retirement regulations which permit you to bring your car, furniture and wife. Under these conditions, all of you are permitted to remain here as long as you like.

I AM A SHEEP RANCHER IN WYOMING AND WOULD LIKE TO RETIRE IN MEXICO. COULD I RAISE SHEEP THERE?

If you make an investment in a ranch here you can raise anything from sheep to spinach on it. If you come as a retired resident, you are permitted to set up any kind of business. My suggestion would be to write to Relaciones Exteriores, Avenida Juarez, Mexico City, and tell them exactly what you want. They can give you the appropriate rules and regulations.

PLANNING SUMMER VACATION TO ACAPULCO AND WOULD LIKE NAMES OF SOME ECONOMY HOTELS, WITH PRICES.

Acapulco has scads of hotels and boarding houses for us poor folks. If you drive, you can ride around town for half an hour and find about anything you want. You might check the hotels El Faro, America (not confused with the Prado Americas), Jardin, Terramar, Marilyn, Astoria, Leighton, Virginia, Panorama de Ensueno, Maya Suave, De Los Reyes or Aloha. They range from about $2.50 to $5.00 (US) per person a day and most include reasonable food. You'll find lots more in the economy class but this should give you a start.

Govt. Buying Beef On Small Scale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department's program of buying beef to help bolster cattle prices has started off on a rather small scale.

Purchases made this week —the first week of the program —were a little short of 1 per cent of a week's production of beef under federal inspection. The amount was 2,556,000 pounds. Last week's production was 271 million pounds.

The purchase program was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in an effort to help stave off legislation to tighten restrictions on imports. Cattlemen have been blaming foreign supplies for much of the weakness in livestock prices.

The government meat will be donated to the school lunch program, eligible public institutions and needy persons.

Francois Decides Not To Be Silly

By DAVE SMITH

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If you were born Oct. 24, 1927, in Toulon, France, and your name were Francois Silly, right away you'd have to make a choice: either do something mighty big in this world or just forget the whole thing, stay home and milk the cows.

Francois didn't bounce much for the latter, and in debating what to be or not to be, one thing seemed very clear to him: Don't be Silly.

So Francois Silly changed his name to Gilbert Becaud, and everything has been coming up roses ever since.

For the past 10 years Becaud has been one of France's most popular singers, particularly in interpreting his own ballads, which he has been writing since he was 19.

His romantic and dramatic ballads were first sung by Marie Bizet, Jacque Pills and Piaf. Then Becaud started singing them himself in small South American cabarets on his world tours as Pills' accompanist.

From there he stepped to film scores, and in the process he was drafted as an actor. His 1956 movie debut, at the age of 29, was in "The Country from Which I Come," in which he played dual roles opposite Francoise Arnoul and for which he wrote the sound-track score and songs.

In between films he continued giving one-man shows throughout France, Europe and New York.

Then about two years ago Becaud decided he'd better knuckle down to work. He decided to compose—of all things —an opera.

Working with his friend, the French poet Louis Amade, as librettist, Becaud turned out "The Opera of Aran," which was immediately snapped up and performed by the French Lyric theater.

Becaud, in Hollywood to film a short television snippet or two and boost his first ballad disc, says he plans to take a few weeks off this summer to take his wife, Monique, and their two sons to Ireland. Although Erin is the locale of his opera, Becaud has never seen it.

Electronic Count To Take Guess Work Out Of Ratings

By RALPH DIGHTON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Discovery of a new way of counting how many sets are turned to what television shows could revolutionize the controversial program-rating industry.

Its inventors say the system, which involves trucks with revolving circular antennas that pick up signals from each home set, will make obsolete rating methods using telephone interviews, diaries kept by preselected viewers and recorders attached to sets.

James L. Tanner, who with his brother Thomas and his father Charles operates a small electronics company in suburban Wilmington, says negotiations are under way to sell the survey system to a program rating company.

Current rating systems, frequently the deciding factor in whether a show stays on the air, have been criticized because they are based on samplings from a few hundred so-called representative homes.

Tanner says his system can sample thousands and that no viewer will know he is being sampled.

He figures the cost will run $10,000 to $15,000 per truck, depending on the number of trucks purchased.

One of the few outsiders who has seen the device, Frank Champion of ABC Television's transmission engineering department, says "I haven't felt so strongly about anything since the advent of video-tape. There is no question about it working —it is very accurate.

"It should have a profound effect on the industry, and it should revolutionize the rating system."

The device works on the principle that each home television set is in a sense a transmitter as well as a receiver. The signal the set picks up from the broadcasting station is converted into a beam of electrons that activate the screen in the tube.

The make-up of this beam differs according to the program.

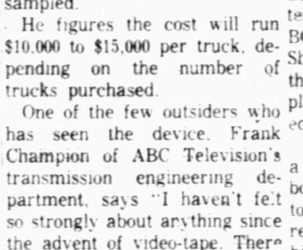

The revolving antenna on the truck is so sensitive that it can pick up scattered signals from the beam of electrons at a distance of 100 feet or more, Tanner says.

By electronically comparing signals given off by the set with signals transmitted from the station the device instantly identifies the channel to which the set is tuned.

Television sets in an apartment house are just as easy for the device, called a comparator, to read as one set in a residence, Tanner says, because it makes its identification in seconds.

Tanner said one truck can count 106 sets a minute cruising at 15 miles an hour. Fifty trucks, he said, can survey 160,000 sets in 30 minutes.

"It should end all controversy about program ratings and enable the television industry to determine exactly what the majority of viewers like," he said.

Who Gave Us The Bible?

The Bible is the Word of God. This is admitted by both Catholics and Protestants alike. The Bible was written by men inspired, moved by the Holy Spirit and while the Bible was being written, INSPIRATION was in the MEN who wrote the Bible. After the Bible was written the inspiration is in the BOOK and not in fallible man. Shall we trust the leadership of the inspired BOOK or shall we place our confidence in uninspired men?

Who gave us the Bible? It is a historical fact, supported by both sacred and secular history that the Bible was written, read, and circulated before the birth of the Roman Catholic Church or any Protestant denomination. The first Catholic Pope was Boniface III, who was proclaimed Pope in the year 606. His immediate predecessor as Bishop of Rome, Gregory, argued that no man should ever claim to be universal bishop.

The Bible came to us by ancient manuscripts and translations. The early Church writers quoted the Bible so much in their writings, that we can produce the Bible from their work. One early author quoted the New Testament 17,922 times in his known writings. All this before the birth of either Catholicism or Protestantism. Our best known manuscripts are: SINAITIC dating back to 340-367; ALEXANDRIAN dating back to the 5th century and now kept in the British museum; VACICAN, dating back to the 4th century. This latter manuscript is in the possession of the Catholic Church but is open to scholars of the world. The New Testament was translated into Syriac and Old Latin by 150 A. D. and into about a dozen languages by 250 A. D. How then can any informed person claim that the Bible is now or has ever been the possession of any denomination?

In 397 the Council of Carthage met and agreed to accept the books that already were being read and circulated. They did not DECLARE the books inspired. They merely ratified the books that had already providentially gained acceptance.

In 367 Athanasius names the books of the Bible. In 185-254, Origen lists the books of the Bible. In 195 - 220, Tertullian names the books of the Bible. This takes us back to Apostolic days. The apostoles urged people to read the Bible. Peter said that Paul's letters were in circulation. "Even as our beloved brother Paul also, according to the wisdom given to him, wrote unto you; as also in ALL HIS EPISTLES, speaking in them of these things" (2 Peter 3: 15-16). Did Peter tell the truth? 1 Tim. 5:18 quotes Matt. 10:10 and Luke 10:7 as "the Scripture saith." The Bible was written to be read and was circulated among the Christians as the books were written. Paul speaks of the New Testament as contained in letters and the Old Testament as being "read" (2 Cor. 3:14). As long as the apostolic doctrine and authenticity of the scriptures was held, there was no need for a formal statement of the canonicity of the text. The canon of the New Testament did not depend upon the decrees of any Church council in the past and it does not live because of the endorsement of any ecclesiastical council today.

The Bible is not the product of any denomination. We humbly challenge those who so label the Word of God, to meet us in public discussion to affirm their charges. We believe that the Bible is the Work of God independent of any church.

Hartford Claims Oldest US News

By ANGELO NATALE

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The primitive printing press was hauled to the small wooden building on Main Street two centuries ago, and from a room above a barber shop came the first issue of the Connecticut Courant.

Now the Hartford Courant—the daily newspaper that emerged from the weekly Connecticut Courant — is getting ready for a 200th anniversary celebration.

It looks back over two centuries that embrace all of America's history as a free nation.

It was on Oct. 29, 1764, that Thomas Green printed the first issue of the Connecticut Courant. There were times, in its infant days, when the Courant was printed on wrapping paper because nothing else was available.

The Courant survived its most serious crisis, in 1777, when fire wrecked its paper mill while the newspaper was being published by a young widow. A special state lottery furnished the money that saved the day for the Courant.

Thomas Green was 29 years old when he came to Hartford and started the Courant. He had managed the New Haven office of a New York printing firm before that.

Hartford was little more than a country town with some shops and dwellings near the river front.

The first issue of the Courant was, as Green announced on the first of its four pages, "A Specimen of which, the Publick are now presented with . . ." The announcement said that the Courant would be published each Monday, starting the following Nov. 19, with "due encouragement."

The Connecticut Courant got the encouragement it needed and became a weekly fixture. In 1836, John L. Boswell purchased the newspaper and the following year started a daily—the Hartford Courant—but continued the Connecticut Courant as a weekly for "our country readers."

Stories in the weekly edition were those that appeared during the week in the daily edition. The weekly edition finally was discontinued in 1914.

Is the Hartford Courant the oldest newspaper in the United States? John R. Reitemeyer, the present president and publisher, says the weekly and daily Courants were "each of a piece of the other, each was listed in the other's masthead, and each had the same common name."

Frank Luther Mott, journalism historian, says that evidence indicates to him that the Hartford Courant "has the best claim to priority" as the oldest U.S. newspaper.

Texas Oilmen Count New Wells

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas oilmen brought in 173 new oil wells and 44 gas wells this past week, the railroad commission reported Saturday.

The week's activity pushed the year's totals to 1,860 oil and 632 gas well completions. Comparable figures last year were 1,851 oil and 476 gas wells.

Total average calendar day allowable was 2,931,746 barrels, up from the previous week's 2,925,511.

Ten oil and 11 gas wildcats were drilled, bringing totals since Jan. 1 to 82 oil and 204 gas wildcats. By this time a year ago, 77 oil and 129 gas wildcats had been brought in.

The commission said 115 wells were plugged, including 68 dry holes.

Woman Charged In Shooting

DALLAS (AP) — Officers filed a murder charge Friday against a woman accused of shooting a construction worker who shared an apartment with her. Investigators said Mrs. Wanda Lou Huffman, 28, shot Eddie Wayne Chandler, 31, in the apartment early Thursday.

UT Plans Expansion Of Galveston Medical Center

AUSTIN (AP)—University of Texas regent chairman W. W. Heath described the school's medical branch at Galveston today as a "modern medical center of 30 buildings with plans approved for major expansion of facilities for teaching, research and patient care."

"Problems still exist, but they can and will be solved," Heath said in a report to the regents at their regular monthly meeting.

"They fade into proper perspective when the major strides of progress and accomplishments are considered," he said.

"Confidently we look to the future."

Construction now underway at the school, the report said, totals $5.9 million, while construction totalling $8.7 million has been approved as part of a master development plan for 1963-68.

The 12-page report was one of a series of reports on the University of Texas and other units in the university system.

In discussing various aspects of the medical school's program, Heath said the average salary for faculty members has risen in five years from about $9,500 to $12,000 annually in the school of medicine and from less than $6,000 to more than $7,400 a year in the school of nursing.

"This average is too low in a highly competitive market," Heath said.

"Despite salary deficits the faculty can be viewed with pride in relation to their accomplishments in teaching, in research and in patient care," he added.

The report said the "faculty of the school of medicine has revised and adopted one of the most versatile curriculums of a medical school today. The curriculum utilizes the full calendar year rather than the traditional nine months. . . The new program also includes an accelerated feature which permits a limited number of especially well qualified students to utilize their elective periods for regular clinical clerkships and complete the requirements for the MD degree in three calendar years."

The report said about the nursing school: "With increased salaries, an outstanding nucleus of nursing faculty has been achieved. Filling faculty positions, however, becomes increasingly difficult since there are not sufficient nurses prepared at the graduate level to fill the national vacancies. Salaries are still low competing in the national market place."

New developments at the medical branch are numerous, the report said, citing the establishment of the Shrine Institute for Burns, "the first hospital in the world exclusively for the treatment of severely burned children." The report also called attention to work done isolating immunizing antigens from cholera organisms —"A discovery . . . which can be valued only in relation to the thousands who die from this dread malady each year."

The report also mentioned the child psychiatry unit which is being set up at the medical school. "To our shame Texas has not had a single hospital bed for the treatment of emotionally disturbed children. Admittedly our start is on a small scale, but the longest race starts with the first step."

John Prude To Speak Here Monday Night

Mr. John Robert Prude will be at the First Methodist Church Monday at 7:30 oclock to show films and speak on Prude Ranch.

Prude Ranch is very conveniently located at Fort Davis — only a few hours from most West Texas towns and cities. The ranch was established as a cattle ranch in 1898 but due to the drought began taking guests in 1922. Since that time it has been a haven for families with children. It offers an opportunity for youngsters to come in contact with ranch life and the out-of-doors. They will learn to care for their horses and saddles and ride western style, rope and brand calves, and participate in the Camp Rodeos. They will enjoy camping excursions in the mountains at least one night a week. They learn the techniques of riflery, camplore, archery, and crafts as well as instruction in swimming, sports, ballet, tap, batton twirling and other activities.

The public is invited to attend the meeting, as summer is just around the corner and time to make plans for summer camp. Prude Ranch is known as "A Paradise for Boys and Girls."

Miss Miller Becomes Bride Of Mr. Cosby In MacArthur Baptist Church, Irving

Miss Lora Lanette Miller, formerly of Snyder, became the bride of Mr. Wayne King Cosby of Dallas, in a double ring ceremony Friday March 13th, at 8 p.m. in MacArthur Boulevard Baptist Church in Irving.

Jack D. Edmonds, minister, performed the rite before an altar, which was decorated with burning white tapers in branched candelabra, flanked with baskets of white gladiolas with greenery and white satin bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Miller, Clairemont Route, Snyder, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Cosby, Milford, Tex.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal full length gown of pure silk Peau De Soie combined with chantilly lace. It was designed with long tapered sleeves, modified scoop neckline and princess panel front appliqued with lace medallions scattered with seed pearls. The bouffant carriage back extended into a chapel length train.

Her fingertip veil of imported pure silk illusion, fell in tiers from a contoured cap of re-embroidered lace which tapered to a point at the center from which fell a teardrop that extender over the forehead. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephnotis stop a white Bible. She wore the traditional something old, a penny in her shoe, new, her wedding dress, veil borrowed from a cousin, and blue, a garter.

Miss Carol Ann Kimzey of Snyder was maid of honor. She wore an emerald green brocade satin sheath with roll collar extending to a bow back with a green chiffon overskirt and three - quarter sleeves. Her green satin pill box held a chin length tulle veil. Shoes and gloves were of white. She carried a cascade bouquet of Frenched carnations with emerald green ribbon streamers.

Mark Stroder of Euless and Buddy Brown of Fort Worth, both cousins of the bride, lighted candles. Andy Tarkington of Irving, cousin of the bride was ring bearer. He wore a white coat and black pants and carried a white satin pillow with pom poms.

David Cosby of Dallas attended his brother as best man. Roy Miller of Snyder, brother of the bride, and Mike Mullins of Lancaster, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

The bride sang "Because" before coming down the aisle for the ceremony. Mrs. Jack Edmonds, organist, played the "Bridal Chorus" and "Wedding March". Miss Jackie Dean of Denton, soloist, sang "Till" and "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride's mother wore a fawn pure silk chiffon shirtwaist type dress with matching hat and gloves and black silk shoes and bag. The groom's mother wore a deep rose lace sheath dress with matching shoes, white purse, hat and gloves. Mrs. E. L. Brown, of Corsicana, grandmother of the bride, wore a blue lace two-piece dress with black patent accessories. All three wore a corsage of lavender orchids.

A reception followed in fellowship hall, with Mrs. Bobby Brown registering guests.

The table was laid with a white satin cloth, centered with a white floral arrangement and appointments in crystal and silver. Mrs. Jerry Ward presided at the three tier pedestal cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, and Mrs. Glenn Morris ladled punch.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a camel colored wool one piece dress with jewel neckline, elbow length sleeves, gored skirt, fitted bodice and fringed belt. Black patent shoes and bag, white hat and gloves completed her costume. She wore the white orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will make their home at Le'Chantilly, 4214 Cedar Springs Road, Apt. 209, Dallas.

Adventure Set On Riverboat

RUN ME A RIVER. By Janice Holt Giles.

What is there about the old riverboat days that makes them so romantic ane exciting? They seem to embody the spirit of adventure.

Mrs. Giles' novel is not about Twain's Mississippi, but Kentucky's Green River, from the head of navigation near Bowling Green, northward to the Ohio River near Evansville, Ind.

The "Rambler" was a little 90-ton stern - wheeler that young Bo Cartwright had managed to acquire on mortgage. With the help of his crusty friend Foss, the engineer who nursed its clanking engine, Cartwright made freight runs on the Green, hauling marchandise and livestock. His ambition was to earn enough to get a big steamboat. But there was a war on.

The time was September of 1861, and the "Rambler" was upriver when word came that Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, C.S.A., had occupied Bowling Green. Downriver, there were reports of federal gunboats on their way.

So this is a narrative of five wild days in which Bo and his little steamboat make the run to Evansville, loading more and more cargo from frightened shippers, jumping a dam, picking up a stranded old tent showman and his pretty granddaughter — there's the love interest — skirmishing with the Confederates at a lock that was about to be blown up, dodging the federal gunboats.

Even the weather was a hazard, for you never could tell when a mizzle might turn into a real goose - drownder.

There's homely river talk, pioneer self - reliance and rugged courage in this good old wholesome thriller; horse-pistol adventures, knuckle - down escapes and real carrying on.

Bo is a dashing steamboatman all right, the girl Phoebe is mighty valiant, Foss and the zany old actor show they can be real hardy folks when they aren't being comical.

Cocoa-Mix Cookies

½ cup soft butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
½ bup instant cocoa mix
1 egg
1 cup flour
½ cup (about) chopped pecans

Beat together thoroughly the butter, sugar, cocoa mix and egg. Add flour; stir until blended. Cover and chill for several hours or overnight. Using a level tablespoon of dough for each, shape into small balls. Roll, pressing slightly, in pecans. Bake, 2 inches apart, on ungreased cookie sheets in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 30.

Leftover creamed vegetables may thicken up after storing in the refrigerator. In this case, just dilute with a little milk before reheating.

Snyder Mothers Working In Girl Scout Leadership

The Gardeners Corner

BY EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

THIS BEING garden planning time in much of the country, give some thought to your 1964 salad bowl. Many of the ingredients needed for your salad may be grown in a relatively small space.

Some of the salad vegetables are vine crops and may be trained upward. These include tomatoes, which may be staked, and cucumbers, which may be guided to climb a fence, wires or trellis.

Pepper plants are small and attractive enough to be ornamental. Radishes should be grown in successive or overlapping crops to assure small crisp results for the dinner table. Onions may be raised as a border item, and so may chives. Lettuce, especially those varieties with frilled or varicolored foliage, also are suitable for borders, or as boundary lines between flower and vegetable gardens.

Last summer a patch of tomatoes grew on the curbline of Main Street, Oneonta, N.Y., in front of a gasoline service station. This garden began as a joke between the station operator and a friend, Joseph Boschetti Sr., who asked if he could use the tiny piece of land hemmed in by the station and concrete curbing.

Boschetti, who had a garden at his own home, tended the tomato patch.

Don't spread lime on your lawn just because you think it should be applied in the spring. A soil test should be made. Some plants, especially ornamentals, prefer sour or neutral soil. The ground may be sweet enough already for your lawn and you may be wasting time and money by liming.

Asparagus and rhubarb are among the items that prefer neutral or slightly acid soil. In my northeastern area these two plants should have a soil pH of 6.0 to 6.8. They will get along also in a pH above 7.0.

Asparagus and rhubarb should be grown along the edge of the garden where there is no quack grass or other perennial weeds to choke them out.

You gain a year by starting asparagus from plants rather than seeds since you should not harvest the first or second year. The same is true for rhubarb. Select rhubarb varieties that have good color.

For rust resistant varieties of asparagus try Mary and Martha Washington.

Pumpkin Pudding

1½ cups canned pumpkin
¼ cup firmly - packed light brown sugar
¾ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
1 cup cold milk
1 package (2¼ ounces) custard-flavor dessert mix

Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat the pumpkin, brown sugar and pie spice until very hot — about 10 minutes. Off heat, gradually stir in the milk, keeping smooth. Add the dessert mix and stir in well. Bring to a boil over moderate heat; boil for 3 minutes. Spoon into six 5-ounce custard cups; chill until firm. Top with vanilla ice cream. Makes six servings.

Hard Sauce

¼ pound butter, soft
2 cups sifted confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cognac

With an electric beater, gradually beat the sugar into the butter so mixture is smooth and fluffy. Beat in vanilla and cognac. Cover and refrigerate until firm. Makes 1 1-3 cups. (In measuring sugar, sift it directly into measuring cup and level.)

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the designe-genius, Olga.

Be "Suddenly Slim" today in either girdle or panty version. Featured at

PAT ON THE BACK FROM HIS GREATEST ADMIRER

Celebration Handed Down From Washington Endures

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Come Tuesday next, around the shank end of the evening, Lyndon Baines Johnson, President of the United States, will celebrate St. Patrick's Day the way George Washington did.

He will lift his glass and toast Ireland's patron saint with the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at a glittering five-wine banquet attended by the flower of the nation's Hibernian issue.

With his pipes thus lubricated, Johnson himself will respond to the toast: "To the President of the United States."

Other toasts also will be offered, but they won't be as many nor as magnificently worded as they were in Washington's day, when they ran to as many as 37 and included such remarkable gestures as:

"May the sons of liberty never want roast beef nor claret."

And: "May the enemies of Ireland never eat bread nor drink whisky, but be tormented with itching without benefit of scratching."

And, finally: "To our noble selves."

Time and temperance have taken their toll, even on the the toasting capacities of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, and bar whisky no longer sells for three cents a glass, as it did in the early days of the republic. These hardships notwithstanding, the dinner this year is expected to live up to its nearly two-century-old reputation of being, as an early history of New York put it, "the most pleasant, witty and agreeable gathering of its kind in the city'."

By gracing the shamrock-strewn dais with his presence, Texas born and English-descended Lyndon Johnson will be carrying on a tradition that besides Washington, includes Thomas Jefferson, Ulysses S. Grant, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

As an organization, the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick antedates the republic. It was founded in Philadelphia on the 17th of March 1771, by Stephen Moylan, who was aide-de-camp to Washington at the siege of Boston and later quartermaster general of the Continental Army.

The chief object of the society was to supply immigrant Irishmen with reliable information on where to settle, help them find jobs, take care of them in sickness and want and, in general, to make smooth the process of Americanization.

Because of the notoriety given the Irish potato famine in the mid-1840s people tend to forget that the Irish were among the first immigrants to arrive in the new world in large numbers. Even before the Revolution, they left home at the rate of 3,000 a year and settled, for the most part, in the seaport cities. By 1754, New Yorkers were blaming the rising crime rate on Irish and German immigrants.

Alexander Hamilton, Thomas Jefferson, Robert Morris and others who held high rank in the Army, the Navy and the Cabinet were frequent guests at early meetings of the Friendly Sons. Washington, who attended fairly regularly, was unanimously adopted as a member of the Philadelphia society in 1781.

Washington signed the rules of the society on the same day as Dr. John Corcoran and William Constable, who two years later set about finding the New York Branch. Corcoran was surgeon general and director of hospitals for the Continental army. Constable was aide to Gen. Lafayette.

Known to the ancients as the "hub of the universe," Istanbul is the only city that straddles two continents, Europe and Asia.

Somalia Is Taking Aid From Many

By COLIN FROST

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) —In this dry and dusty corner of northeast Africa nations of East and West are falling over themselves in a race to give away money.

The United States helps build fishing boats. The Russians hit back with a fish cannery.

The Russians build a radio transmitter and throw in a printing press. The United States follows up this month with three DC3 aircraft to form Somalia's first airline.

The six Common Market nations sent a hospital equipped in every detail. For two years it has stood deserted for lack of physicians and nurses to staff it.

South of the capital U.S. aid is building a deep-water port. The Russians are building another to the north. Neither area has a single industry.

West Germany builds a technical school. The Russians build a technical school. The United States opens a teacher-training college.

Italy provides airline staff and subsidizes the economy by paying over the market price for Somali bananas. Red China, late on the scene, chips in with $3 million to balance the annual budget and promises $17 million for projects still to be decided.

On the receiving end of this bounty are probably 2½ million and perhaps 4 million handsome fiercely proud and patriotic people, most of them nomads who never stay still long enough to be counted.

Their republic was formed in 1960 by a merger of former British and Italian protectorates. They share a burning tract of bush and desert with millions of one-humped camels.

Ninety per cent are illiterate. All those who live in the desert would feel improperly dressed without a gun.

Next to foreign aid, the camel is Somalia's greatest benefactor providing milk as the nomad's staple diet and transport when the grazing gets low.

Mogadishu, the capital, is a sprawling city of 80,000, its Moorish buildings interspersed by tombs of Moslem holy men, like small square houses topped with onion domes.

The republic's first national elections are due in May, and Mogadishu is a ferment of talk. The party in power is the Somali Youth League. As always in African politics, the term youth covers anyone who can walk.

It is a nationalist party mainly dedicated, as all Somali parties must be, to the cause of a greater Somalia. The main opposition is the Somali National Congress, more pro-West in tone and advocating gradualism in seeking to extend national frontiers. On the extreme left stands the Somali Democratic Union, heavily plugging the benefits of Soviet aid.

Though the fisher weighs less than 12 pounds, this fierce North American mammal can kill a fox or deer and best a coyote or bobcat in a fair fight. The fisher appears to be the only animal that habitually dines on porcupine.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOGS

QUESTION: Why is an Eskimo dog called a "husky?"

ANSWER: "Husky" also means an Eskimo, or the Eskimo language as well as the powerful dog the Eskimo uses to pull his sled. The origin of the word is uncertain, but it seems exactly right when applied to the dogs. These animals can pull a sled 30 or 40 miles a day and spend the bitter northern nights cheerfully curled up in the snow. Although all northern sled dogs are often called "huskies," there are three main breeds connected with the name.

The "Eskimo dog," used in Greenland and Labrador, is a large animal with rather short legs and long hair. Weighing 50 to 85 pounds, his color is white, or white with a black head.

The "Alaskan malamute," bred by the Malmuit Indians, is also big but with thicker body and longer legs. The nose is more pointed; the face often has a black mask.

The "Siberian husky," though developed in Siberia, is often used in Alaska. Generally gray, with black and white, this is a smaller, more slender animal, but it is very fast. Another sled dog, the "Samoyed," is still smaller, 36 to 55 pounds, and is a gentle, devoted animal.

Gallup Gives Opinions

THE MIRACLE AHEAD By George Gallup.

This is a case of a man skilled in measuring public opinion now offering some opinions, beliefs and suggestions of his own. Gallup is concerned here with lifting civilization to a new level by "more effective training and utilization" of the human brain. He starts with a thesis recognized by many scholars, that man "uses only a small portion of his mental powers," and proceeds to sketch four areas of activity in which he believes a breakthrough can be made.

The first is in the education of the individual. As a former educator Gallup asks that learning be made a life-long process, not just a matter of youthful schooling. He favors the use of teaching machines in order to free the teacher for more creative efforts. He argues for for more emphasis in writing, new techniques for speedier reading and greater use of the case history method.

His second point is that collective effort can accomplish far more than scattered individual efforts; he is all for the team. His principal argument is that properly organized citizens committees can solve the governmental problems that otherwise get bogged down in bureaucratic red tape.

Methodology is the core of the third plank in his platform. He asserts that new scientific procedures make it possible to explore the realm of the social sciences in the way that the Baconian experimental approach opened up investigations of the physical world. Not surprisingly, he emphasizes the tool of statistical analysis.

His fourth point is no more than a challenging statement of a problem, without guidelines toward a solution, but in stating it he stirs up some fertile thinking. He argues that never before has mankind "been taught to expect change, to be prepared for change or to seek change." From that he goes to the assertion that experts and leaders cannot be expected to bring about changes in their own fields, so it devolves upon the citizenry to "force change upon its leaders." He charges education with the responsibility of fermenting this attitude among the people.

The book is provocative in and well worth reading — and contemplating.

Twins Change Partners

FALSE COLOURS. By Georgette Heyer.

Place: London and environs. Time : 1817.

First there is the flibbertygibbet widow of the old Earl of Denville, who has piled up a mass of debts her late husband never knew about.

The young Earl, 24-year-old Evelyn, would be glad to clean up those debts, but his inheritance is being held in trust until he shows signs of settling down. So he engages himself to enter into a marriage of convenience with Cressida (Cressy) Stavely.

But at the critical moment that he is supposed to be introduced to all the girl's relatives, Evelyn disappears. To the rescue of his mother and the young Earl comes Evelyn's twin brother Christopher. He returns from Vienna just in time to impersonate the missing suitor.

Naturally, Christopher and Cressy fall in love. And Evelyn, after an odd adventure, slips back into the family circle with the news that at last he has found the girl he really loves. So of course there must be a fast shuffle of identities to untangle the two romances.

Miss Heyer is the author of "The Nonesuch" and a long list of historical romances. This volume is a highly typical example of the Regency comedy of manners. It is decorated with all the trappings of fashionable life, the flowery language of the period, the old dowager with the sharp tongue but a heart of gold, and the rich old bachelor mooning over Lady Denville.

Quaint, isn't it? Pure cake and frosting. And yet — since it is the antithesis of the morbid, painful contortions which saturate so many sociological novels of the present day, the reader can find a pleasant diversion in this lacey valentine. Waltz, anyone?

Always grease the top of yeast dough that is being allowed to rise for the first time so as to keep this surface from drying. A dry surface might interfere with the dough's ability to stretch and rise.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

GOOD DIAPER HYGIENE — C. Robert Gruver, Editor, All About Babies

The prevention of diaper rash should rate high among your routines of good baby care. At every diaper change, you should watch for even the slightest sign of oncoming rash, though redness may also be due to allergy or prickly heat.

If you don't have your doctor's advice about diaper rash, call him. Diaper rashes respond promptly to proper treatment. Avoid the use of remedies recommended by relatives or neighbors. Medication belongs to the doctor.

Diaper rash can be prevented by good diaper hygiene. Good diaper hygiene can be practiced simply and surely in the home by diapering your baby with correctly processed diapers and by following a fastidious diapering routine as long as the baby wears diapers.

If you use a professional diaper service, your baby's diapers are given a complete scientific treatment. Professional diaper processing is done under strict laboratory control, using specialized washing and rinsing equipment. Continual, independent laboratory tests are made on the processed diapers to check the quality of the finished product. Diapers are inspected, folded, stacked and packaged for delivery under hygienic conditions.

Good diaper hygiene for the prevention of diaper rash begins as soon as you are aware that baby has wet or soiled the diaper. Remove the diaper. Clean the entire diaper area thoroughly using a fresh wash cloth or fresh cotton each time. As a cleansing agent, lukewarm water is advised, followed by thorough drying of the area and perhaps by a light application of a protective baby lotion or powder.

If baby is wearing waterproof panties, check baby's diaper frequently. Waterproof panties keep baby's skin in closer contact with the wet and soiled diaper.

Since it is neither desirable nor convenient to continually disturb baby's sleep, all diapers for night and nap time use should be treated with a special diaper antiseptic which dries into the diaper and substantially delays the formation of ammonia, the most common cause of diaper rash. Your physician will suggest a special diaper antiseptic with which to treat your diapers, if you wash them at home. If you use a diaper service, you can be rest assured that all diapers have been protected with such an antiseptic.

Civil Defense Program Has 'Packaged Hospital' Here

Snyder is one of 90 Texas cities which have "packaged" hospitals on hand, ready for almost instant use following enemy action or a major natural disaster. Most of them are located at least 15 miles from assumed strategic target areas.

The hospitals, costing $21,000 apiece were provided by the federal Office of Civil Defense Mobilization as part of a nationwide stockpile program. They are administered in Texas by the Office of Defense and Disaster Relief with technical cooperation from the Texas State Department of Health.

Outgrowths of the mobile army hospitals developed and tested during the Korean War, they can be completely installed by 40 or 50 people in four or five hours.

Local civil defense organizations in designated locations store and otherwise manage the hospitals and equipment. Emergency conditions such as the Cuban crisis are occasions for making sure the hospitals are in a high state of readiness.

Each unit—already crated for instant shipment into stricken areas, is a complete 200-bed affair with facilities for three operating rooms, a pharmacy, x-ray service, clinical laboratory, sterilizing room, central supply room, and electrical power supply.

Each hospital weighs 24,000 pounds and contains 8,000 individual pieces of equipment, including a 1,500-gallon water tank and pump for mergency water supplies. Theare are also complete medical supplies, from surgical caps and gowns to ether and alcohol which are separately packaged and marked to avoid fire hazards.

Local civil defense authorities provide refrigeration for items such as insulin and blood derivaties. Antibodies and other materials with expiration dates are labeled "deteriotive" to indicate they must be periodically inspected and rotated.

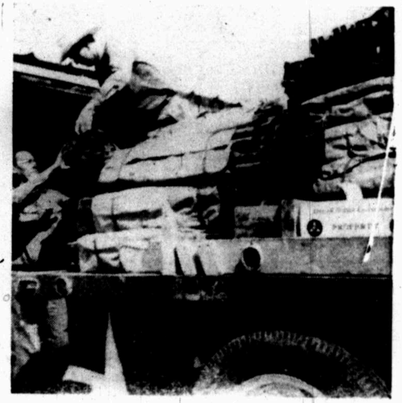

State civil defense and health authorities estimated that emergency hospitals will have to provide at least half the total hospital beds following a major emergency, since most conventional hospitals are located in metropolitan centers which may be targets of enemy action.

Most Taxes Paid On Time

The City Tax Department collected 90.84 per cent of the 1962 Real and Personal Advalorem property taxes in the fiscal year which closed September 30, 1963.

The total 1962 levy was $325,875.00. Of that amount, $296,047 27 was collected. Taxes still unpaid are referred to the City's special delinquent tax collector for collection.

During the past year, the tax department also collected $22,819 64 in delinquent City taxes, for a total combined collection of 97.84 per cent of the current levy, plus $3,271.01 penalty and interest.

THE 200-BED CIVIL DEFENSE HOSPITAL was transferred from the old warehouse to the new where it is more easily available in case of need.

THE CIVIL DEFENSE HOSPITAL contains all of the basic necessities of a hospital, and is stored according to a pre-planned system, with each item clearly marked.

INSECT CONTROL is a joint operation of the city and county, and is under direction of the Snyder-Scurry County Health Unit. Aimed at controlling insects which transmit communicable diseases, the program is in effect six months out of the year. Some 12,000 gallons of insecticides are used annually.

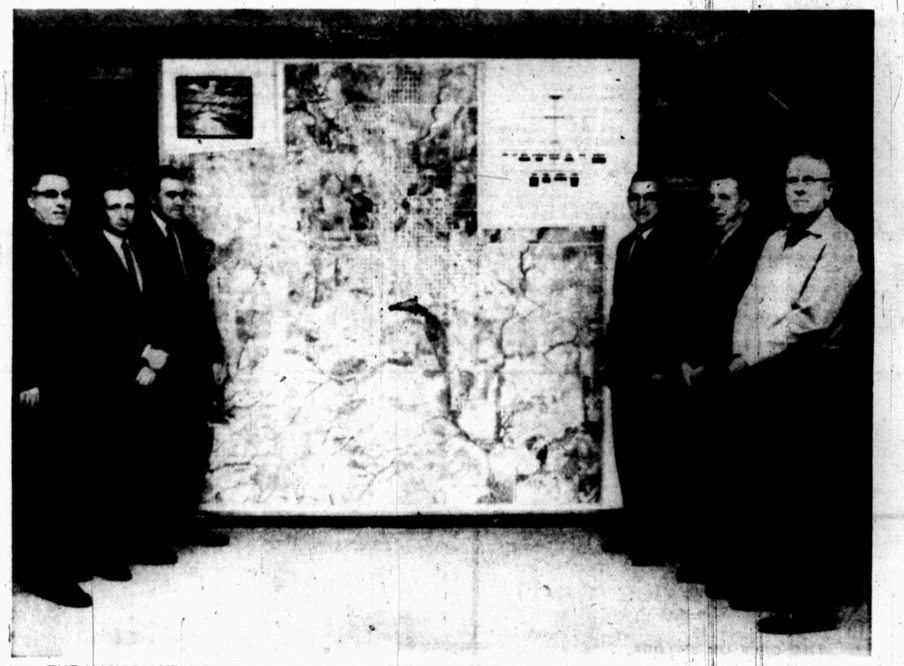

STOCKING OF APPROVED SHELTERS in the City of Snyder was completed last year. Stocking of the courthouse is pictured here. That facility will care for 450 persons for 15 days if necessary.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 14, NO. 273 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, MARCH 15, 1964 SECTION C

CITY OF SNYDER

.... Annual Report

THE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL pose before this air view of the City of Snyder. From left are Mayor John Hamblen, and councilmen Marshall Erwin, Jack Lawrence, Guy Sullivan, Bobby McCormick and H. A. Johnson, Jr. Not present was councilman M. L. Broman. This group sets the policies of the city which are carried out by the city manager and city employes.

Your city is governed by the Mayor and City Council. This group sets policy and decides major questions coming up for consideration. All members of the Council are elected and are responsible to the citizens for sound, efficient government. Your elected Mayor and City Council receive no pay for their efforts and are not permitted to conduct personal business with the City during their term of office. The City Council appoints a city manager to administer the affairs of the city under their supervision and direction. After a policy question is settled by the Council, it is up to the city manager to see that the directive is carried out in accordance with the wishes of the Council.

Your city now has 70 full time employees plus two attorneys on a retainer basis. One is City Attorney and the other is Corporation Court Judge.

During the past year, the City's payroll was $334,280 as compared with the previous year's payroll of $346,636. This reduction is the result of combining jobs and improving work schedules as a part of the city's continuing search for improving efficiency and providing economy in local government in times of steadily increasing costs.

THE CITY OF SNYDER, TEXAS

To the Citizens of Snyder:

The Municipal Government in Snyder is vested by the people in the duly elected Mayor and City Council. During the past year these public officials have shown both wisdom and foresight in planning and implementing sound and progressive programs for community improvement.

The Citizens of Snyder should be proud of their most active City Council for they are to be commended for the accomplishments the city has made the past year. I think it only appropriate to list some of the most important accomplishments in this report to the people.

POLICE & FIRE

1. Authorized the construction of a new Police - Fire and Civil Defense Building to provide needed space for these functions.
2. Installation of teletype system to improve communications between the Snyder Police Department and surrounding cities for more efficient law enforcement.
3. Authorized the purchase of two new fire trucks to improve our firefighting capabilities and gain additional fire insurance credits.
4. Renegotiated County fire contract to a realistic level based on actual costs.
5. Construction of a new animal shelter and the initiation of an animal control program throughout the City.

STREETS

6. Award of contract for seal-coating 240 blocks of city streets.
7. Installation of 250 new street name signs throughout the City.
8. Authorized the City to participate with the County in widening and reconstructing 21 blocks of Avenue E with curb & gutter and new mercury vapor street lights.

GARBAGE COLLECTION

9. Purchase of one new 24 cubic yard residential garbage truck to insure uninterrupted garbage service.
10. Award contract for Dempster Dumpmaster Garbage System for commercial garbage collection. Storage and disposal 100 new containers will be installed in June, 1964.
11. Purchase new track-loader to improve the sanitary landfill garbage disposal operation.

WATER & SEWER

12. Implementation of a contract to sell water to the City of Rotan on cost plus 10% basis.
13. Purchase of additional property and construction of a new central warehouse and garage facility at 37th Street and Avenue M.
14. Awarded contract for cleaning, repairing, and painting two 100,000 gallon elevated water storage tanks.
15. Awarded contract for the construction of an additional million gallon ground storage reservoir to insure an adequate supply of treated water for the peak consumption months during the summer.
16. Reconstruction of water lines to increase water volume and pressure to 92 residents in areas where service had been inadequate for many years.

These are only a few of the major accomplishments but they indicate the City Council's effort to make Snyder a better place in which to live.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Mayor and each member of the City Council, Department heads and employees for their loyalty, respect, and effort in making this a year of progress in our city.

Sincerely,
L. A. Patterson
City Manager

The purpose of this Annual Report is to point out the services provided by your city, to acquaint you with its operation and to inform you of your city's progress.

THE EMERGENCY OPERATING CENTER which was authorized last year is nearing completion on Twenty-seventh Street. The building at the right will house fire trucks. The large tank seen at left, foreground, will hold diesel fuel for the emergency generators.

A LARGE EXCAVATION was required before the basement area of the new Emergency Operating Center could be started. The basement will serve as the firemen's dormitory and the corporation courtroom.

WATER FOR SNYDER was once stored in this old underground tank behind the old city hall. It's shown here being filled in as a part of the new construction of the fire-police-civil defense building.

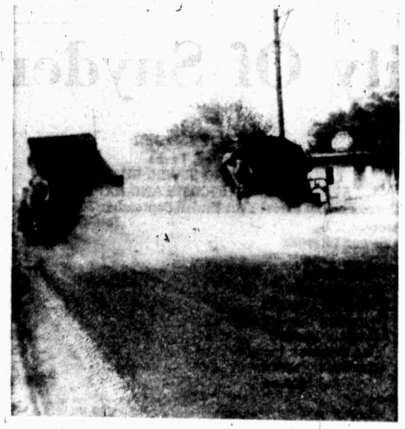

THE NEWEST WATER STORAGE FOR SNYDER will be a "clear well" storage facility at the filter plant, shown here in the first stages of construction. It will be located in the rear of the picture behind the crane.

of the fire-police-civil defense building.

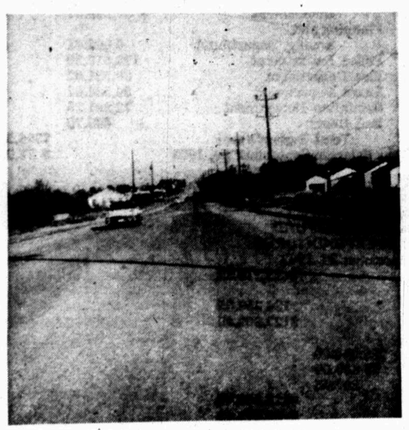

shown here in the first stages of construction. It will be located in the rear of the picture behind the crane.

AVENUE E from Twenty-fifth Street north to the new Highway 84 was completely rebuilt in a joint effort of the city and county. Shown here is the first step after removal of the old paving — the blading and rolling of caliche to form a strong supporting base for the new paved surface.

COMPLETE NEW PAVING was applied and curbs and gutters were built on Avenue E so that the street would be suitable as a main artery of traffic on the eastern side of Snyder. Plans call for similar work to be done on the street south of Twenty-fifth Street all the way through to Thirty-seventh Street.

LOOKING NORTH on Avenue E following the completion of the paving program, the street presents a "new look." All that remained to be done when this picture was taken was the installation of street lights.

THE STREET LIGHTS put the finishing touch to the "new" Avenue E. Snyderites count the $25,000 spent yearly for the city's electric service as a good investment in safety and crime prevention.

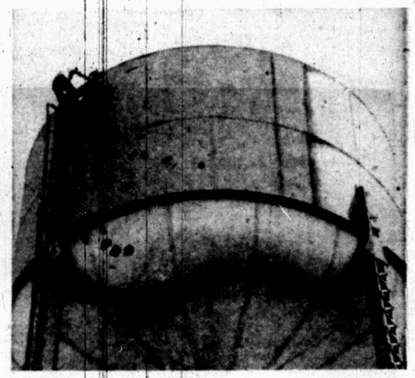

THE QUESTION "Where am I" is easily answered in Snyder because of its well marked streets. Pictured are some of the 250 new street markers installed during 1963.

THE NEW STREET SIGNS were purchased at a cost of $10.61 per unit, including steel post, sign plates and brackets. A workman is shown erecting a new sign at a previously unmarked intersection.

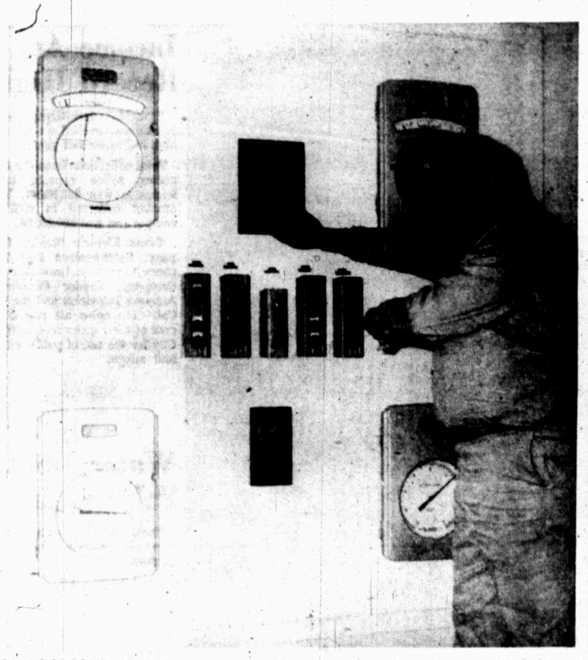

A PROGRAM OF MAINTENANCE AND REPAIR is required to keep the city's $2½ million water works system in good condition. Complete renovation of overhead tanks must be accomplished every seven or eight years. This work was accomplished last year by a tank service contractor.

PATCHING AND PAINTING and thorough cleaning on the inside of water storage tanks was accomplished during the year.

QUALITY CONTROL is important in water production for the City of Snyder. This test is run daily to insure constant control on chemical analysis of Snyder's water.

SPLIT SECOND TIMING is necessary when operating the radio controlled valves at the city's water production plant. Just 70 seconds of operation of the valve will open it to the point where a 4,700 gallon per minute flow is achieved. The water, in this step of distribution, comes from the storage tank west of Snyder to the filter plant for purification.

BEFORE INSTALLATION of the radio controlled water valves, it took 45 minutes to open this valve to give the same flow that 70 seconds give with the new system. Also, this valve is located six miles from the filter plant.

THROUGH THIS METER will pass 100,000,000 gallons of water this year for use in Rotan. A meter reading is taken every morning.

CONSTANT MAINTENANCE AND IMPROVEMENT of the water distribution system of Snyder is programed throughout the year. City equipment is shown being used to open a ditch on Thirtieth Street so that a 3 inch main can be replaced with a 6 inch main. Paving improvements are planned for that street, and the work was planned to be completed before the paving program this year.

Snyder Now Sells Water To Rotan

Official acceptance of Lake Thomas water, treated and sold to the city of Rotan, by the city of Snyder came about on May 27 1963, when officials from both cities met at the Rotan pump station in Camp Springs.

Acceptance of the water culminated efforts of the two cities which started in December, 1960. The final contract called for Snyder to sell water to Rotan on a "cost plus 10 per cent" basis for the treated water.

The Rotan Water Board was responsible for construction of the main line all the way to the Snyder treatment plant at Thirty-second Street and Avenue M. Rotan is not permitted to sell water within five miles of the Snyder city limits without special permission of the Snyder city council.

While the official ceremony took place on May 27, Rotan had not been able to wait on the ceremonies before starting to use the water. Down to the point where certain sections of Rotan were without water at least part of every day, the city put the need for water ahead of the ceremony.

Rotan's population is estimated at 2,788 persons.

Water was actually turned into the Rotan lines at 2:15 p.m. May 21. The water reaches Rotan through a 12-inch pipe line from Snyder to Camp Springs, where it is then taken to Rotan through lines which existed prior to the purchase of Snyder water. Additional lines, however, are being constructed to carry the water from Camp Springs to Rotan.

The pipe line system, when full, contains 944,432 gallons of water.

Water consumption in Rotan reached approximately 750,000 gallons per day during peak consumption days last summer.

A SURVEY OF TRAFFIC SIGNALS during 1963 indicated that two were not needed. Here W. A. Cooper, city electrician, replaces a signal with a blinker light.

Franchise Income At Record High

Franchise and Gross recipts collections reached an all time high in Snyder last year.

Total collections from the companies which operate under franchise was $32,786.01. The amount collected in 1960 by comparison was $26,230.00.

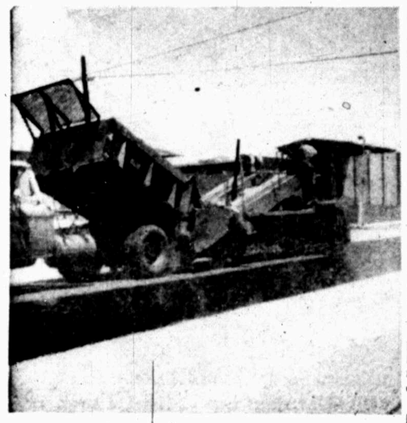

Texas Electric Service Company, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Lone Star Gas Company, Snyder Community Antenna Television and the Taxi Cab Companies all pay 2 per cent of their gross recipts to the City for the use of public streets and alleys.

Water Dept. Sales Gain

The City of Snyder Water Department had a successful year in 1963.

Total water sales of 578½ million gallons grossed the city $278,850 in revenue, an increase of $17,141 from the previous year.

During 1963, Revenue Bonds in the amount of $38,624 were liquidated. The current outstanding revenue bond debt is $543,000.00.

A GRAVEL SPREADER hooks on to a truck during resurfacing operations. The self-propelled spreader then pulls the truck along behind it.

Seal Coat Program Continues

During the summer of 1963, 240 blocks of the City's paved streets received seal coat treatment.

Scurry County precincts 1 and 3 accounted for 30 blocks of seal coating on city streets which connected county roads. The seal cost operation consisted of the application of 3-10 of a gallon of hot asphalt applied to 1 square yard of paved surface. The asphalt is then covered with an application of rock thereby forming a mat of approximately ½" thickness.

Sealing the streets helps to prevent moisture from penetrating the pavement and weakening the base material and causing holes in the pavement.

A continuation of the seal coat program is planned for the coming summer, and it is anticipated that another 200 blocks will be completed to prevent deterioration of Snyder's streets.

"BIG RED" is the nickname of the Fire Department's Tanker No. 1, shown here demonstrating the water streams available from its 200 pounds of pressure. These nozzles, set as a spray, are valuable for fighting grass fires. Big Red carries 1000 gallons of water and pulls an additional 1000 in a trailer. He can also hook on to a fire plug if necessary. Maximum distribution rate is 500 gallons per minute.

City, County Join In Firefighting

The prevention of fires, and the reduction of loss to an absolute minimum when there is a fire, is the primary job of your Snyder Fire Department.

To do this job, Snyder has 11 paid firemen and 36 volunteer firemen. To accomplish their job of firefighting and other emergency services, the department maintains a number of vehicles, including two 750 gallon pumpers, two 500 gallon pumpers, two booster trucks, one large tanker truck (known affectionately by firemen and citizens alike as "Big Red"), one jeep mounting a light plant, one personnel carrier, one ambulance, one 21 foot cabin cruiser for water rescue operations, and also has on call the mobile canteen provided by the volunteer auxiliary.

The operation of the Snyder Fire Department is a joint city-county venture, with the city accepting all responsibility for the actual operation of the department.

During 1964, the cost of operating the department was $68,554.84. Scurry County contributed $21,000, or about 30 per cent of this amount.

During the year there were 291 fires within the city limits of Snyder, and 157 fires outside the city limits in Scurry County. On a percentage basis, this would show that 65 per cent of the fires were in the city, and 35 per cent outside the city.

By dividing the number of fires into the cost of operating the Fire Department we find that each 1963 fire cost the city $163.41 and the county $133.75.

A further breakdown of the 1963 fires shows that there were 50 general alarm fires included in the 448 alarms to which the department responded.

Seventeen of the alarms turned out to be false alarms. False alarms include those calls where the person calling makes an honest mistake, such as mistaking steam on a cold day for smoke. By far the largest number of calls are to extinguish grass fires. Nearly 300 such fires were reported in 1963.

The worst months for grass fires are January, February and March — the months when grass is dry, and the spring rains have not yet arrived. One day in March, 1963, the department answered 16 grass fire calls in a 24-hour period.

Fires in residences accounted for 46 calls during the year and there were 12 "wet" fires recorded. A "wet" fire is one in which a pumper attaches lines to a fire plug. By contrast, "dry" fires are those in which the water on the truck or chemical extinguishers are adequate for the job.

Fire Chief Warren Boyd reported at the annual fireman's banquet in November, that the insured loss for the year ending Oct. 31 was $88,289.37. Chief Boyd's report at that time also showed that 3,500 man-hours had been spent in fighting the fires.

Regular firemen on the payroll are Fire Chief Warren Boyd, Fire Marshall G. L. Autry, Jr., Lieutenant Mark Vaughan, and firemen Ed Shuler, H. A. Smith, Jr., Newt Bonner, David McIntosh, Bennie Benitez, Bill McCright, W. J. (Butch) Martin and Bill Arrendale.

The volunteer fireman with longest record of service to the department is Melvin Newton who joined the firefighters on Nov. 3, 1921.

Other volunteers are Leonard Keller, Bill Brown, Kenneth Wood, G. W. Bigham, Doug McGlaun, Bill Engler, Floyd Allmand, O. R. Brown, Odis Glasscock, John Sanders and Odell Cox.

Also L. O. (Doc) Bynum, Melvin Calhoun, Bill Chambless, Floyd Pate, Wayne Jones, Ross Rochell, Jim Caddell, Mert Way, S. L. Terrell, Ralph Yielding, Joe Vincent and Tommy Johnson.

Also Dale Geiger, Mickey Nunley, Tommy Guynes, Ronald Bearden, T. V. Early, Wilbur Finley, Garland Williams, H. M. Lomax, Tommy Overby, Kenneth Terrell, Gerald Stroder and Floyd Simons.

THE POWER UNIT mounted on Big Red is a GMC truck engine salvaged from a surplus vehicle and rebuilt by Snyder firemen. The pump was salvaged from the old water works system and was originally used to pump water from the storage tank behind the old city hall.

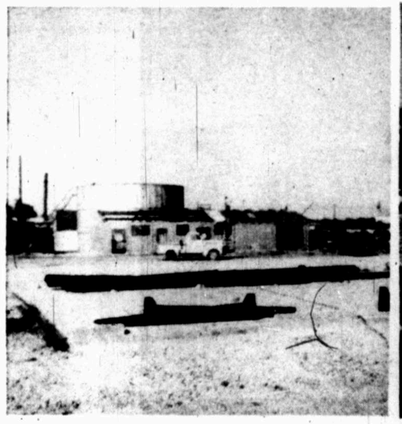

GRASS FIRES accounted for about two-thirds of all the department's calls during 1963. Able to go almost anywhere, the big tanker shown is invaluable in fighting this type of fire.

West 25th St. Improvement Launched

The Texas Highway Department has agreed to a request by the Snyder City Council and Scurry County Commissioners Court to improve approximately one mile of West U. S. 180, from Avenue Z to the West city limits.

The improvement calls for widening the paving to 68 feet with curb and gutter on each side. Protected turn medians will be established at El Paso Avenue and the bridge just west of El Paso Avenue will be widened to accomodate the 68 FT. highway.

Construction is scheduled to get underway during the latter part of 1964. Cost to the City and County is expected to be around $20,500.00.

CONSTRUCTION on the new city service center was started in August, 1963, and completed in December. Steel joists for the garage are seen in the foreground with the partially completed shop and warehouse buildings in the background.

THE CITY GARAGE is taking shape here about the first of November. The city maintains 65 pieces of motorized equipment here. The services of one mechanic and one helper are required.

THE COMPLETED FACILITY at Thirty-seventh Street and Avenue M was built at a cost of $10,000. The additional space provided for service and maintenance and for storage are contributing to a more efficient and economical operation of the city's motor driven equipment.

THE NEWEST ADDITION to the fleet of sanitary trucks is this 1963 model shown here being serviced at the city's new service center. It is used largely for residential area trash removal.

SOON TO BE SEEN on Snyder streets will be new trucks similar to this one being viewed in operation in Andrews by sanitation head Earl Davis. He and the city councilmen visited Andrews to view the trucks in operation before ordering them for Snyder.

Firemen Take Course At A&M

Three Snyder firefighters attended the 34th annual Fire Training School July 21-26.

The City of Snyder sent G. L. Autry, Jr., Snyder fire marshall; Leonard Keller, first assistant chief; and fireman Mickey Nunley to the school which was held at Texas A&M.

The purpose in sending firemen to such schools is twofold. First, the knowledge they gain there is applied to the protecting of the property of Scurry Countians. Second, the companies which write fire insurance think as highly of the training courses that they make a five per cent reduction in the "key rate" for cities whose firemen attend the schools.

The "key rate" is a figure used by insurance companies to figure costs of insuring property aginst fire loss.

The training school consists of classroom work and actual demonstrations in the field. Various types of fires such as automobile, oil, chemical, dwelling, and grass fires are actually fought and extinguished by the students under the supervision of the instructors.

At the July training school over 1,000 firemen were registered, representing 459 towns from 18 states and three foreign countries. There were 288 instructors.

Boards Aid In City's Operation

Dedicated Snyderites give many hours of their time each year serving the City on advisory boards.

They perform a wide range of services, handling details and doing the groundwork that enables the overall program of the City to move forward effectively and efficiently. Members of these boards are appointed by the City Council and serve without pay.

Those serving on the Various Boards the past year are:

PLANNING AND ZONING BOARD: Bill Lee, Leland Herod, Fred Bullard, Bennie Pinnell, James Mathis.

ZONING BOARD OF ADJUSTMENT: W. A. Vestal, Mark McLaughlin, Ernest Sears, Clyde Hall.

TAX EQUALIZATION BOARD: J. L. Browning, R. E. Weber, R. H. Melton.

Police Chief Reports To Citizens

By CHESTER SIMONS
Chief of Police, Snyder, Texas

In every way possible, we try to make the Snyder police force one in which the citizens of Snyder can take pride.

It's true that we have to give traffic citations, and nobody likes to get a ticket. But we are convinced that this is the best way to keep people conscious of the fact that they should be careful drivers. And a ticket is a forceable way of reminding them of their driving faults.

Traffic control and the prevention of accidents is a big job. We take what we think is justifiable pride in the fact that Snyder's accident rate is down 23 per cent from 1962. This is especially good, we of your police department think, because the state-wide and national accident rate is steadily increasing.

Maybe someday the time will come when there are no accidents on Snyder streets, and maybe someday a whole year will go by without our having to write a single ticket. But people being what they are, and cars being what they are, the chances of that are pretty slim. But that's the day we're working for here at the police department.

In addition to the chief of police, you have working for you at the police department one captain, three sergeants (one for each shift in the day), three dispatchers, two meter patrolmen, seven patrolmen and one humane officer. To do their job, they have four patrol cars and one truck.

During 1963, these police units traveled 294,173 miles. And unfortunately during the year there were two accidents involving these units, with a total damage of $35.

Still along the traffic line of our work, I think the new program which we started last year of cooperation with the school system, may pay dividend in the years to come.

For two hours each day for four days each week, one of your officers takes students who are enrolled in the driver's education classes. There, riding in a patrol car, the students can see traffic violations, and have the reasons for many of our laws explained. We also think that better public relations can be developed through this program.

Still along the line of traffic work, during the past year we conducted what we called a street improvement campaign. Parked and abandoned cars and trailers were removed from the streets and alleys, which not only helped with the traffic situation, but incidentally improved the appearance of those streets and alleys.

Officers of your city police force improved their professional capabilities last year by attendance at schools. Each officer on the force attended a school here to account for 130 hours of classroom instruction. In addition, the supervisors attended several schools.

New equipment added to the police department last year included three new patrol cars. Also, the arrangements were completed for the installation of the teletype network which went into effect this year.

I feel that the teletype is, and will continue to be, a real asset to your police department. It saves on the use of the radio which is already crowded with traffic, and as most of you know, information received over the teletype resulted in the capture of a man wanted for a murder in Houston.

Police officers worked 7,153 hours during 1963. During those hours they made 3,443 arrests. Most of these were simple arrests for drunkenness, disturbances, gambling and like offenses which cannot be tolerated in a "clean" town.

In addition the police department also handled 36 juvenile offenders who were admonished and released to their parents. Nine juveniles were referred to the county juvenile officer, and two others refered to other agencies.

Investigation of burglaries and thefts occupy considerable time of your police officers. During the last year four theft cases were investigated, and all were solved.

Eight burglaries were investigated, with seven solved during the year. In addition to these, numerous break-in, theft from auto, and similar minor burglary cases were solved. The majority of these involved juvenile offenders.

During the investigations in Snyder, the police department here solved several crimes which had been committed in near-by cities. This is good, because although your police force is the "Snyder" force, the elimination of crime in the area will benefit not only the area, but Snyder as well. And besides, we never know when our neighbors will help us too.

Six cases of auto theft were reported during the year, and all were solved. However, we consider ourselves more lucky than skilful in that all these were solved. We dont' promise to do that well all the time, and we suggest strongly that those who wish to keep their cars, lock them every time they leave them. A car with keys in it is just asking to become a stolen car.

There were 28 arrests in the city during the year for liquor law violations. One man was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon, and three cases of forgery were all cleared.

We at the police department are public servants. We are here to serve the big majority of law abiding people in Snyder. We hope that our efforts during 1963 have contributed toward making Snyder a better place in which to live.

THE TELETYPE NETWORK was installed at the police station this year after arrangements were made last year. It has already proved a valuable law enforcement tool according to police here.

Investment Program Pays Big Dividends To City

Last year, the City of Snyder earned $16,736.40 through a well managed investment program which put cash reserves to work instead of permitting them to lie dormant in the bank.

The City rarely ever has any "surplus" money, but it is required by law to protect its bonded indebtedness with substantial cash reserves. In addition, the City often has bond money being held until certain projects are completed.

This money is available for short term investment, within limits prescribed by law. U. S. Securities and time deposits in local banks are approved investments. It is good management of public business to invest surplus funds in short term investments instead of permitting to lie dormant in non-interest bearing accounts.

Fostering an investment program reduces the cost to the tax payers and results in a substantial benefit as a painless source of revenue. By comparison, it would take the evaluation of 250 $10,000.00 homes to render this amount of revenue in taxes.

FINGERPRINTING and record keeping are valuable to Snyder officers. Capt. Kohl is shown taking a set of prints. The new police station will offer more adequate space for this type of activity.

THE ANIMAL CONTROL PROGRAM started during 1963 has as its main objective the insuring that all dogs in the city are vaccinated. Pictured in front of the dog pound building is the poundmaster, Bill Blythe. Blythe investigates complaints about animals, thus freeing police officers for their traffic and other police duties.

TRAFFIC SAFETY is one of the most important phases of police work, and in every investigation of a mishap, the officers look for ways to prevent similar accidents in the future.
