If you are storing cartons of ice cream in the freezer for any length of time, you may want to give them an over-wrap of moisture-vapor-proof material. Ever add a little chili powder to canned baked beans in tomato sauce? You can add a dash of cumin, too, if you like that seasoning. Don't bake too many water-type cookies at a time and then you'll be able to remove them from the pans speedily before they harden.

MAD DOGS AND ENGLISHMEN

Current Politicians Make 'Good Old Days' Look Good

BY INEZ ROBB
The longer Mayor Robert Wagner and his cohorts rule New York the more wistfully many a citizen longs for the good old days of five or six years ago before Carmine DeSapio was given the gate. The reign of Tammany Hall was supposed to have broken when the "reform element in the Democratic party" got rid of DeSapio, a man with a George Raft air of elegance and a similar addiction to dark glasses. But the more things change in New York the more they remain Tammany Hall. There is this difference — at least DeSapio never had the unabashed political gall, or foresight, to campaign for the elimination of the English language literacy test for voters. Now, however, with their eyes glued to the 1964 national elections and, beyond them, to the city mayoralty election a year later, Mayor Wagner, Paul Screevan, president of the City Council, and Paul O'Dwyer, candidate for Democratic councilman-at-large in Manhattan, went to mock out the state's constitutional requirement that a voter be able to read and write basic English. Out of deference to the great number of votes available among the hundreds of thousands of Spanish-speaking Puerto Rican immigrants to New York, the Mayor, et al, are fighting to make Spanish the co-equal of English in the literacy tests. In short, Mayor Wagner, who has his eyes on a seat in the U. S. Senate; Screevan, who has his eyes on the mayoralty seat which would be vacated by Wagner, and O'Dwyer, a willing party "runner", are slaving after the Spanish-speaking vote. O'Dwyer, brother of New York's former and unlamented Mayor Bill O'Dwyer, with all the finesse of a Tweed Ring hanger-on, has already predicted that the 1964 Presidential election could be influenced by the enfranchisement of "several tens of thousands of Spanish-speaking Puerto Rican voters," if only they are permitted to take the literacy test in Spanish instead of English. In the meantime, Wagner and his chums are mounting a political campaign in behalf of the Spanish literacy test that would make the old-time Tammany swell with pride. Screevan has outdone himself and his cohorts by screaming that the English language literacy test is "the perpetuation of discrimination" and the base "exercise of racist policies." By golly, he has touched all bases in that outburst, and will be hard to top himself in the future unless he can prove that the English language test is inimical to American mothers, Southern womanhood, the Red Cross and hot buttered corn.

Ours is an English language no matter how we mangle the king's version. What kind of nonsense is this that associates the English tongue with discrimination and racism? If English is so despicable, why has it taken those gallant crusaders for more votes so long to make the horrendous discovery? What about the thousands of German-speaking voters around the Yorkville area of New York? Will it be less discriminatory and less racist if in the future, they are required to take a literacy test in Spanish rather than English? And will democracy be better served, for instance, if the new voter in Chinatown takes his voting test in Castilian rather than English? Millions of Americans are proud descendants of immigrants who arrived in this country eager and delighted to learn rudimentary English in exchange for the privilege of voting. To attach "discrimination" and "racism" to the mastery of a little basic English is the basest kind of cheap demagoguery and establishes a new low in Tammany tactics. O'Dwyer says he will carry to the Supreme Court his fight for the right of a Puerto Rican client to take voting tests in Spanish. His client has lived in the United States 15 years without bothering to learn the language of the country. If the client isn't bright enough to learn English, then he isn't bright enough to vote; if he is indifferent to the language, then he is too indifferent to vote. But hope that every Puerto Rican in the country can and does vote. The Blue Force paratroopers with such shameless tactics as an appeal to "discrimination" and "racism" through language would turn the stomach of an old, unregenerate Tammany goat. Columnist's Mail Brings New Reports

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail. Babies are thoughtful little critters. Fewer are born during the cocktail hour than at any other time of the day or night. Three out of four American adults have trouble with dan druff. But, 97 out of 100 suffer dental decay. Compliment: The greatest praise an oldtime cowboy could give a fellow saddle tramp was to say to him: "He is someone you can ride the river with." It takes an office secretary 15 more calories an hour to work a manual typewriter than an electric one. What is your favorite color? Experts say they rank in popularity in this order: blue, red, green, orange, violet and yellow (but if this is true, why do so many men going to work look like pieces of faded charcoal?) Legal milestones you may have missed: A Colorado court ruled that a telephone booth is a building. In Barre, Vt., an old law required everyone to take a bath on Saturday—whether he needed it or not. Our quotable notables: "The man who is always worrying about whether or not his soul would be damned generally has a soul that isn't worth a damn." —Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes. Sweat him on sight: of 625,000 known insects—some 2 to 4 million kinds are still unclassified—the common housefly is regarded as probably the most dangerous to man. Funny geography: There's an Odear, Me., an Ash, Kan., and a Houdy, Miss. Health note: In the United States only one out of 10,000 who get measles die of it. In Africa, one out of two die. Unique village: The community of Gildersleeve, Alaska, is built on 17 log rafts, which are towed from place to place when logging is to be done. Unemployment is strictly a human problem at present. The number of jobs for performing animals has increased 600 per cent since 1950. It was William Hazlitt who observed, "If mankind had wished for what is right, they might have had it long ago."

8,000 In Paratrooper Mock Battle

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—A mock battle rumbled over the South Carolina countryside today after a giant assault by nearly 8,000 paratroopers on Sunday began land action in Swift Strike III, the nation's largest peacetime war games. The 82nd Airborne Division landed deep in the Red Force territory near Joanna, about 50 miles southeast of here. The drop followed two weeks of jockeying by opposing air forces for aerial supremacy. Loads of heavy equipment carried by an unexpected wind fell dangerously near high ranking officers and civilian dignitaries, who had to scramble out of the way. No injuries were sustained. The Blue Force paratroopers suffered 35 per cent simulated casualties in their attack on two crack Red divisions. Fifteen actual injuries, all minor, were reported. About 100,000 Army and Air Force men are participating in the games.

Junior Editors Quiz on SUGAR

QUESTION: Why can't we raise our own sugar instead of importing it from places like Cuba?

ANSWER: Beside tasting so good, sugar has tremendous importance to us because it supplies the energy and heat we need to have in our bodies if we are going to be strong and active. Sugar can come from several sources, but the most important of these are sugar beets and sugar cane. Of these sugar cane produces the largest amount of sugar. Actually, we do produce a good deal of the sugar we consume. For example, Hawaii produces about 856,000 tons a year, California, 475,000 tons, Louisiana, 403,000 tons. Total production of the United States might be about 3,590,000 tons a year. This may sound like a very large amount of sugar, yet compare it with Cuba's production of 5,710,000 tons and Russia's 4,499,000 tons. The main source of sugar, sugar cane, requires special climate and soil conditions which do not exist in the U.S., except for Hawaii and parts of Louisiana and Florida. At the same time, we use an enormous amount of sugar in this country, far more than we can produce. That is why we have to import much sugar from other nations.

FOR YOU TO DO: Make a list of the way we use sugar in our daily lives. You'll be sure to list candy and sweetening; but you may not realize the extent which sugar is used in making other foods palatable and in acting as a preservative — in canned fruits, for example.

Mantle's Homer Like Old Times

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The proud, haughty New York Yankees were in serious danger of losing like an ordinary ball club.

But then the Big One stepped in just long enough to swing the bat once, and they were the Yankees again.

The Yankees' oft-injured superstar, Mickey Mantle, making his first appearance in a Yankee game since he broke a bone in his left foot June 17, cracked a dramatic pinch-hit home run into the left field bleachers, pulling the Yankees from behind and aiming them toward an 11-10 victory.

The Yankees had lost the first game of a doubleheader 7-2, their two starting pitchers had been bombed out and the Baltimore Orioles, helped along by five unearned runs, had a 10-9 lead in the second game.

Mantle, to a wild ovation from the Yankee Stadium crowd of 38,553, stepped in in the seventh. Batting right-handed against the left-handed George Brunet, he lined the second pitch into the left field bleachers.

The Yanks won it in the 10th on Yogi Berra's sacrifice fly.

The second game Chicago inched to within seven games of the leading Yankees on an 8-1 romp over Los Angeles, Kansas City beat Minnesota 6-2, Washington stopped Boston 7-5 and Detroit and Cleveland split a pair, the Tigers taking the first 2-0 and the Indians the nightcap 3-2.

In the National League, the leading Los Angeles Dodgers whipped Houston 4-0. San Franisco took over second by edging Chicago 2-1 in 10 innings while Philadelphia swept two from St. Louis, 7-3 and 5-2. Cincinnati won 5-2 from St. Paul, 5-2 and 4-1. Milwaukee beat the New York Mets 2-1.

Mantle, who had missed 61 games since his injury in Baltimore, said the ovation when he came from the dugout "actually chilled me. I could feel the bumps rising on my arms. I was shaking, told myself, 'I'll settle for a single.'"

The homer was his 12th of the season.

Brooks Robinson had a homer for the Orioles, and Elston Howard connected for the Yankees.

Home runs by winning pitcher Steve Barber, Jim Foyell and John Orsino made it easy for the Orioles to win the opener.

The White Sox closed up a half game on Camilo Carroen drove in three runs on a double and a single and scored another against the Angels.

Slumping Boston was bombed by two home runs by Jim King and a three-run pinch-hit homer by Minnie Miñoso.

Hank Aguirre tossed a sparkling two-hitter in Detroit's easy first game victory against the Indians, and rookie Mickey Welch had another shutout until the Indians erupted for their three runs in the ninth and gained a split.

Kansas City backed Mike Drabowsky's five-hit pitching with a 12-hit attack in subduing the hard-hitting Twins, who got both their runs on homers by Harmon Killebrew and Jim Hill. The A's rushed in five runs in the third and coasted behind Drabowsky.

Many Positions Set For Cowboys

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys have a very low cutoff point and this indicates the team is well set.

Few players have been released although the Cowboys have been training for three weeks for the National Football League season.

So many positions are set that the club is ready right now to make its bid, Cowboys followers will learn Thursday night if the indications of improvement are authentic. The team plays its first game, meeting Los Angeles in an exhibition.

"We've made good progress," said Coach Tom Landry.

Scrimmages have shown that the Cowboys never had so much defensive potential. Defense was the albatross last season as the Cowboys amassed a 1-11 record in 1962. In the first game but managed only a 5-1 record.

And there's no indication the offense will slump. Quarterbacks Eddie LeBaron and Don Meredith both have had outstanding days this summer.

It looks like another year of dual controls for the Cowboys' offense and a year of relatively little action for rookie Sonny Gibbs, the third Cowboy contribution to Friday night's all-star game in Chicago.

Don Perkins, the top ground-gainer of the Cowboys last season, is gradually working into shape after an off-season bone graft in the foot. His understudy of last season, Amos Bullocks, finds himself behind a rookie free agent, Wendell Hayes of Humboldt State.

Another battle involves an outside linebacking post, where Harold Hayes of Southern Mississippi operates as the stand-out rookie of the camp. He'll get some heady competition from Lee Jordan of Alabama and Jim Price of Auburn. Both reported to the Cowboys Saturday after playing in Friday night's all-star game.

With the all-veteran defensive backfield set—although two members are just in their second year—rookie Ed Ulmer of Ohio State and Nat Whitmyer of Washington still are waging an argument for jobs.

Defensive end Bob Lilly, a Pro Bowl selection last season, has relinquished his position to rookie Paul Holmes of Georgia while he nurses a slight knee injury.

Wally Butts' Libel Suit Begins Today

ATLANTA (AP) — The $10-million libel suit brought by former University of Georgia Athletic Director Wally Butts against the Saturday Evening Post was to begin today in U.S. District Court.

The suit was filed against the Curtis Publishing Co., publishers of the Post, because of an article March 22 which said Butts and Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant conspired to rig last year's game between their schools.

Alabama, ranked No. 1 nationally at the end of the 1961 season, won the 1962 season-opener from Georgia 35-0. The Post article said Alabama was a 14 to 17 point favorite in the betting lines.

Butts and Bryant, who also filed a $10 million libel suit against the Post, denied all the charges.

Butts quit coaching at Georgia following the 1960 season, but remained as athletic director until his resignation one month before publication of the article. He said he was quitting for business and personal reasons.

Butts claims the article ruined his coaching career—22 years at Georgia. He also contends that the Post falsely charged him with "rigging and fixing the Alabama-Georgia football game with Coach Bryant as a gambling device in order to restore his financial resources."

The Post denies the assertions. The Post said the article was based on a telephone conversation overheard by an Atlanta businessman, George P. Burnett. He said he was accidentally cut into a long distance call between Butts and Bryant about a week prior to the Sept. 22 game.

Burnett said he heard Butts discuss information on the Georgia team to the Alabama coach.

Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook investigated the Post charges and concluded that Butts had given Bryant vital information on the Georgia football team. However, he said he could find no evidence that either Butts or Bryant was involved in gambling.

Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers said an investigation in that state had uncovered no evidence of wrongdoing. He called Georgia's probe a "political act of fish."

Introductions Not Needed For This One

ORANGE, Calif. (AP)—There'll be no need for formal introductions Thursday when the Los Angeles Rams meet the Dallas Cowboys' backfield in their first preseason game at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

It's the same backfield which nailed the Rams for a 27-17 defeat in last year's regular National Football League season.

The Cowboys' oldtimers include fullback Amos Marsh, who scored on a 66-yard pass, halfback Frank Clarke, who tallied on an 85-yard pass, and quarterback Eddie LeBaron, who tossed both aerials.

Also still around is halfback Don Perkins, who went over on a 57-yard run.

Rounding out the 1962 point makers is Sam Baker, who booted two field goals and three conversions.

The Cowboys took Sunday off from training at California Lutheran College, in suburban Thousand Oaks.

New York State has a law which prohibits children under 14 years of age from attending boxing bouts.

Packers May Be In For Trouble

Exhibition game s don't count in the standings but the electrifying victory of the College All-Stars over the Green Bay Packers and the surprising results in the first American Football League tuneups may have a bearing on the pro championships.

The 20-17 triumph of Otto Graham and the Green Bay native over the NFL, especially in the camp of the Giants, will lose two straight victories to the Packers.

Ron VanderKelen and Pat Richter, the passing-catching combination from Wisconsin, clicked on a 74-yard touchdown play that boosted the All-Stars' lead to 20-10 and swayed up the game.

VanderKelen, a Green Bay native signed by the Minnesota Vikings, completed nine of 11 passes for 141 yards and was named the outstanding player.

San Diego's victory proved costly. The Chargers lost to the Philadelphia 20-17, a quarter-back, on the second play.

Rote, an NFL and Canadian league veteran, suffered a torn rib and bruised breastbone and is expected to be out of action for two or three weeks.

John Hadl, available only on weekends from the Air Force unit Oct. 11, came off the bench and threw touchdown passes of two and 16 yards. Paul Lowe, one of the Chargers' cripples of the last three and 65 yards for the other touchdowns.

Rookie quarterback Mickey Slaughter threw two touchdown passes, George Shaw connected in another and Gene Mingo booted field goals of 44 and 41 yards in Denver's win over Houston.

Linebacker Archie Matsos climaxed an outstanding performance by Oakland with 22-yard pass interception return that set up the touchdown that broke a 17-17 deadlock in the last quarter. Charlie Rivers scored the winner from the one.

National League Roundup

Oxygen Was Used In Near No-Hit

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Los Angeles left-hander Johnny Podres, a sore-backed pitcher who produced a spine-tingling, kept his bid for a no-hitter going with the aid of baseball's newest weapon—oxygen.

Pitching in Houston's sweltering heat Sunday night, Podres took a few shifts as he set the Colts down until Johnny Temple led off the ninth inning with a sharp single.

Podres then hit Bob Aspromonte with a pitch and was relieved by Larry Sherry, who preserved the 4-0 triumph.

There was no help for Roger Craig of the New York Mets as he trudged slowly off the mound after a 2-1 loss to Milwaukee.

The defeat, Craig's 18th in succession, matched the mark established by Cliff Curtis of Boston in 1910, and made him the 13th pitcher in major league history to lose 20 games two years in a row.

Now 2-20 following last season's 10-24 record, Craig led the Braves score the winning run on a wild pickoff attempt in the sixth inning and became the first pitcher to lose 20 games since Paul Derringer with St. Louis and Cincinnati in 1933-34.

Willie Mays hit his 27th homer in the 10th inning for a 2-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs that moved San Francisco into second place. Philadelphia dropped St. Louis to third, beating the Cardinals, 7-3 and 5-2. Cincinnati swept Pittsburgh 5-2 and 4-1.

The American League leading New York Yankees, lost to Baltimore 7-2 but took the nightcap 11-10 in 10 innings, the Chicago White Sox belted the Los Angeles Angels 8-1. Kansas City defeated Minnesota 6-2, Washington downed Boston 7-5 and Cleveland trounced Detroit 3-2 after a 2-0 loss.

Podres, who brought his record to 11-7 in his 275th major league start, said he was tired after running out a double in the seventh inning and took some oxygen.

The Dodgers scored in the sixth against Ken Johnson, 6-15, on Tommy Davis' run-producing single, and Forbes' double drove in two runs. Palmer And Nicklaus In Cup Matches

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, locked in a tense struggle for golf's No. 1 position, will put aside their rivalry to represent the United States in the annual Canada Cup matches.

Palmer, golf's leading money winner, and Nicklaus, the PGA and Masters champion, were overwhelming favorites to form the U.S. two-man team that will face tenders from 33 other nations in 72-hole stroke play near Paris Oct. 24-27.

The four-day tournament for both team and individual honors will be played over the Saint-Nom-Breche course, 10 miles from Paris.

The selection to the Canada Cup team was the third for Palmer, who teamed with Sam Snead in winning at Dublin, Ireland, in 1960 and at Buenos Aires last year. It's the first such selection for the 23-year-old Nicklaus, a pro for less than two years but already challenging Palmer as the world's premier golfer.

The selections, picked from a list of six submitted by Professional Golfers Association, were announced Saturday by Sidney L. Nassau, chairman of the executive committee of the International Golf Association.

The selection, as tradition calls, was made by the host country, and in this case France. The list of U.S. eligibles was compiled on the same formula used to select the U.S. Ryder Cup team. Palmer led with 439.5 points, followed by Nicklaus with 412.4. Other U.S. eligibles were Tony Lema, 396.7; Julius Berman, 364.17; Dow Finsterwald, 250, and Gene Littler, 153.1.

Old-Timers Added To Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (P)—Two outfielders and two pitchers who thrilled diamond fans half a century and more ago were formally inducted today into baseball's Hall of Fame. Two were being honored posthumously.

Honored were Sam Rice, 71, outstanding outfielder with Washington and Cleveland; Elmer Flick, 87, winner of the American League batting title at Cleveland in 1905; John Clarkson and Eppa Rixey, pitchers.

Clarkson, a right-hander who won 483 games from 1882 through 1894 in the National League, died in 1909. Rixey, a towering left-hander who won 266 games for Philadelphia and Cincinnati from 1912 through 1933, died last Feb. 28, a month after learning of his latest honor.

Presentation ceremonies were to be held at the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum at 9 a.m., EST, followed immediately by a luncheon and an exhibition game at Doubleday Field between the Milwaukee Braves and Boston Red Sox.

Rice, who had a lifetime batting average of .322, was on hand to receive his bronze plaque in person. Flick, who batted .315 for 13 seasons, was doubtful whether he could attend.

The Cardinals led the nightcap 2-0 in the eighth when the Phillies erupted for three runs. Frank Robinson collected three runs batted in for the Reds with a pair of doubles in the opener, backing the pitching of Bob Purkey, 5-7. Tommy Harper took over in the second game, blasting a two-run homer, a double and a single while Joe Nuxhall, 9-5, checked the Phillies on five hits.

Kansas City Extends Lopat's Contract

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ed Lopat's contract as manager of the Kansas City Athletics has been extended through the 1965 season.

Lopat became manager last fall under a two-year contract.

General Manager Pat Friday asked Lopat Sunday if he would like a sign for an additional year.

Salary terms were not disclosed.

Rule Knows What Is Real Pain Killer

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Jack Rule Jr. had $3,300 worth of pain killer today, as well as the admiration of his fellow golfers for a gutsy performance Sunday in climbing out of a hospital bed to win the St. Paul Open.

The 28-year-old Waterloo, Iowa, golfer started his final round numbly with pain-reducing drugs after a kidney stone attack that put him in a hospital Saturday night.

They wore off, and he was up and with a splitting headache.

Despite all that, Rule fired a respectable one-over-par 73 for a five-shot margin over Fred Hawk of El Paso, Tex. Rule's 72-hole 266 was 22 under par on Keller Municipal Course.

It was the first professional tournament victory for the Iowan, who harbors memories of beating big Jack Nicklaus in a couple of amateur tournaments but who hasn't been any great shakes since turning pro.

"I just played from memory. I guess," Rule said after the finish. He said at the start he had "no feel" in his hands.

A doctor tagged along for the entire round, and ordered a folding camp chair kept handy for Rule to rest on between shots. He used it often.

"I wanted about a 71. Tied for third were Bruce Crampton of Australia and Dave Hill of Jackson, Mich., at 273. Hill fired a 30 on the front nine to tie the course record, and had a 66 for the day.

George Bayer, on the strength of a 10-under-par 64 Sunday, was fifth place with 274.

Miss Wright Likes That Golf Crown

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mickey Wright, the top money winner on the women's pro golf tour for three years, isn't ready to relinquish her crown but Kathy Whitworth is waiting in the wings.

Miss Whitworth, scored her second victory within a week by winning the $12,500 Milwaukee Women's Open Sunday at the North Shore Country Club.

Following up her triumph in the Wolverine Open last Monday, the 24-year-old Miss Whitworth buried her closest challengers with a closing round of two-under-par 70 for a total of 286 in the 72-hole tournament.

Miss Wright had to settle for a 72 and a total of 299 in a ninth place finish. She raised her earnings for the year to $15,212.

Miss Whitworth picked up $2,000 to boost her prize money to $12,750.

Miss Whitworth started the final round with a two-stroke lead and applied the pressure, winning going away. She finished seven strokes ahead of Louis Suggs and Jackie Pung, who shared runnerup money of $1,350.

One Cleveland Record Faces First Challenge This Month

EDITH'S NOTE - The First Lady was spending the summer at Cape Cod, awaiting the birth of her child. Her physician was nearby. The President was going about official business as usual. The year 1963, but 1963.

By CES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) - Frances Folsom Cleveland returned from summer vacationing near Cape Cod 26 years ago so her baby could be born in the White House. Today, Jacqueline Kennedy is at Cape Cod awaiting a baby, but has piled out a White House delivery.

As a result, Mrs. Cleveland's daughter, Estler, probably will retain the distinction as the only president's child born in the executive mansion.

But Mrs. Cleveland's record as the last first lady to have children while her husband was president is challenged by Mrs. Kennedy.

BABES IN THE WHITE HOUSE—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy challenges the record of Mrs. Frances Folsom Cleveland, right, as the last First Lady to have children while her husband was President. The birth of Estler Cleveland on Saturday, Sept. 9, 1893, got far less attention in the nation's press than the announcement last April that Mrs. Kennedy was pregnant.

Estler was the second child of 26-year-old Mrs. Cleveland and Americans then were as familiar with nearly two-year-old Ruth Cleveland as they are now with the Kennedy youngsters John Jr., and Caroline.

Baby Ruth, Mrs. Estler, the New York Times said on page three "Joy For Cleveland" said the Chicago Tribune, also on page three.

"Baby Estler took the play in one hometown newspaper, the Washington Post.

Press accounts hinted that President Kennedy had a "disappointment" at the latest offspring was another girl, instead of a son. But they reported that those who saw the president at the time found he gave "no indication of any disappointment."

Telegram of congratulations and an outpouring of flowers greeted the event.

The Kennedys, like the Kennedys, had a home in the Cape Cod area, where Mrs. Cleveland stayed while awaiting the birth of her child. Her doctor, like Mrs. Kennedy's was nearby. Dr. Joseph Francis Ryan, New York City, family physician, accompanied the first lady and the president from their Buhanas Bay, Mass., cottage to the White House, where the doctor took Mrs. Cleveland to bed.

Two months before, Bryant had removed cancerous growth and a section of jaw in a secret operation on President Cleveland aboard a yacht in Long Island Sound.

Mrs. Kennedy's association in John W. Walsh of Washington, D.C., near the Kennedy summer home on Squam Island so he can accompany Mrs. Kennedy to the Heed Army Hospital in Washington for the cesarean birth of her child, scheduled for the last week in August.

born at Princeton, N.J. Another son, Francis Grover, was born July 18, 1903 at Buzzards Bay.

Estler Cleveland, Bosqueque, near Fort Worth, Texas, was born recently she would be happy to share her distinction with a Kennedy offspring. But "the chances of a White House birth have been virtually ruled out by medical advisers."

The baby was born at noon and Bryant noted with amusement that the baby was in the room where Mrs. Cleveland was resting, attended by a nurse.

When he emerged, Cleveland was informed that a scheduled visitor was waiting for him. It was Prince Yorimoto Komatsu, grandnephew of the Mikado of Japan, who was said to be traveling incognito in America and had called to pay his respects.

The president, during the brief audience, gave the prince no inkling of the birth. The prince probably had read about it in the newspapers, one press account noted with amusement.

Cleveland waited until 2 p.m. before he called in Thurber and told him to impart the news. The announcement included the statement that Mrs. Cleveland and the baby were doing nicely.

"Rumor has it that the youngster tipped the scales at 10 pounds and as fine as a baby as ever saw the light," said the official declaration left these important matters to the imagination.

In fact, there was a strange ignorance prevailing in the White House, as to any interesting news of the auspicious event, the Washington Star commented.

In typical Washington fashion, however, the news and word of the birth had spread throughout the department of government before the official announcement—the first public mention being made of it in the War Department, the New York Sun revealed.

When the news was confirmed, the President's official family and they were called to congratulate Mrs. Cleveland.

While there was no comment in the press from the White House, the Chicago Tribune added this inside tidbit: "Baby Estler, when in fact she had a little sister, greeted her joy in an infantile way and was very desirous of making the immediate acquaintance of her diminutive relative."

The Cleveland's eventually had five children—three daughters and two sons.

Their third daughter, Marion, was born at Buhanas Bay July 7, 1903, was the last child born to a president's wife during his term of office.

Two years later, Cleveland's first son, Richard Folsom, was HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Actress June Allyson has postponed wedding plans because she would lose her widow's allowance from the estate of her late husband, actor-producer Dick Powell.

Miss Allyson, 39, told newsmen she and Glenn Maxwell, 35, owner of two barber shops, would wed Saturday in Las Vegas, Nev.

But on Saturday, Miss Allyson said her attorney had advised her that immediate marriage would deprive her of income from Powell's estate.

Miss Allyson said Maxwell was a mutual friend of both herself and her husband. "I am sure that Dick would approve very much."

Satellite Set For Launching

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) - The U.S. space agency plans to launch late in September a satellite designed to study the atmosphere, the ionosphere, the reflective layer in the upper atmosphere which makes long-distance radio possible.

The satellite is to be fired into a 606-mile-high orbit around the earth's poles. The booster will be a 72-foot, solid-fuel Scout rocket.

Scientists believe reflectivity is affected by storms on the sun and the satellite will test this theory.

READY TO GO—Charles Silman, owner of the Silman Welding Service, is pictured alongside the company's truck. Small jobs as well as large are welcomed at Silman Welding Service on the Big Spring Highway.

Any Welding Welcome At Silman's

Silman Welding Service at 4008 Big Spring Highway is prepared to do large welding jobs. The welding truck is available to go anywhere anytime to do large jobs on-the-spot.

But Charles Silman, owner of the firm, said that when he went into business, he realized that there were also small jobs to be done: fixing bicycles, weather-vanes, lawnmowers and small items.

These small repair jobs were often "too much trouble" for many welders. They wanted the big jobs. But Silman knew how important these little jobs were to the people who needed them done. And so he always took time to do the little jobs.

Benjamin Franklin once said to take care of the pennies, and the dollars would take care of themselves. Silman's philosophy is much the same — to take care of the small jobs. And sure enough, the big jobs have taken care of themselves.

Along this same line of welcoming small jobs, the location of the welding shop was chosen with this in mind. Located as it is on the Big Spring Highway, Silman Welding Service is conveniently located to a large residential area.

So anyone with "a couple of pieces of metal that need to be stuck together" is just as welcome as the customer who has a large job to be done. Any job, whether large or small, will be done expertly and promptly by Silman Welding Service, 4008 Big Spring Highway.

School Clothes Readied At Highland Park Cleaners

In just about a month it will be time for school again. And that means that it's not a bit too soon to be getting the youngsters' clothes together and ready.

Highland Park Cleaners, at 3803 Big Spring Highway, is ready, willing and able to help harassed parents get those children off to school looking their best.

Now is the time to get those school clothes out, see what still fits, what can be made to fit, and get those clothes cleaned and pressed and ready for wear.

For those alterations, no one is better qualified to do the work than Mrs. Orville Taylor, alteration expert at Highland Park Cleaners. If it can be fixed, either by alteration to fit the child's new size, or by repair of rips or tears, Mrs. Taylor can do it.

Shelby Coker, owner of Highland Park Cleaners, invites residents to bring damaged clothing by the shop. Many times a small repair bill can save the cost of a new garment.

Highland Park Cleaners has, since its establishment here, constantly added new processes to keep the best services available to the customer.

Examples of services offered by Highland Park are the well-known quality cleaning and pressing, hand cleaning of finer or special garments, re-sizing and re-shaping of clothing, moth-proofing of clothing and blankets, refrigerated storage of furs and wools, free pickup and delivery service, use of plastic bags for protection of clothing, and other special services.

One of the special services, especially popular at this time of year is the cleaning and complete refurbishing service for leather clothing offered by Highland Park Cleaners. They are one of the few shops prepared and capable of handling leather—often more than cleaning is required to bring back

Fascist Congress In Rome

ROME (AP)—Italy's Fascist party ended a three-day national congress Sunday night with black eyes and split ranks.

A fist-swinging free-for-all that broke out when young members jeered a speaker sent two delegates to the hospital and left scores of others with shiners.

Then a group of delegates walked out and set up its own meeting in an adjacent room to dramatize their disagreement with Arturo Michelini, party secretary general, who favors achievement of party aims within the framework of the current parliamentary framework of government. Almirante's followers claim this won't work.

Highland Park CLEANERS
CUSTOMER CONVENIENCE knows no hour at Highland Park Cleaners on the Big Spring Highway. When night comes, those who have cleaning to be done, and were unable to come by the shop during regular business hours, or were unable to take advantage of the free delivery service, can use the depository at the side of the building. This is just one more of the extra services offered by Highland Park.
