Ike Sees Eventual Meet With Red China

Arrangements To Release Americans Is Primary Aim

WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that there eventually may have to be a meeting with Red China at the foreign ministers' level.

The United States and Red China will open a conference of ambassadors at Geneva Monday.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference that the United States, at the talks opening Monday, will be primarily concerned with arrangements to free Americans held by Red China.

The President said one of the biggest causes of tension between the two nations is the illegal detention of Americans by Red China.

He was asked how "arrangements" could be made at next week's talks that would not weaken the rights and interests of Nationalist China.

The President said the first arrangement which concerned the United States was how to get the Americans home. This subject, he said, does not affect Nationalist China.

Then he said the United States will have to listen to what the Red Chinese want to talk about. He said that at the Big Four Geneva conference just concluded the late Arab and African nations, for example, could not be discussed.

Then, Mr. Eisenhower said that the talks with Red China eventually might have to go to a ministerial meeting, but that he just did not know.

This was taken to mean that a higher meeting might involve other countries besides the United States and Communist China.

Mr. Eisenhower, in response to another question, said he never had discussed the idea of having two Chinas in the world if that would make for peace.

Meanwhile, this government prepared demands that Red China prove its peaceful intentions by agreeing to a cease-fire in the Formosa Straits and freeing 51 Americans held in Chinese jails.

San Angelo school board unexpectedly abolished segregation in all its schools early Wednesday.

The board had previously discussed the matter of desegregation but had given no hint it was ready to take action. The move came at a regular meeting of the board.

The board said it was ordering "an immediate end to all segregation and limitations of any kind based on racial distinctions. All elementary students will attend in the area of their residence regardless of race."

The present Negro junior-senior high school, Blackshear high school, will become a junior high school for students of all races, and the 81 Negro students in the top three grades at Blackshear will be eligible to attend San Angelo high school.

One formerly white elementary school will be closed except for certain special education classes.

San Angelo is a city of 51,000 in central West Texas. Board member Homer Jordan made the motion calling for an end to segregation.

The debate lasted well past midnight. Five members of the board voted in favor; one did not vote; and one was out of town.

Boyd Urges CC Support Underpass

Mayor Lynn Boyd, who is chairman of the public improvements committee of the Pampa chamber of commerce, recently reported to members of the chamber on the progress being made in the acquiring of an underpass on Hobart Street.

Boyd reminded the members that the underpass is going to be an expensive project for the city as well as the county and urged each member of the chamber to get behind the project.

He said, "The Gray County Commissioners Court has agreed to pay for the cost of the right-of-way widening Hobart Street 40 feet for three blocks north of the railroad.

The State Highway Commission demanded that this be done. It is estimated the cost will be $100,000 and in order to raise the money the least expensive way is for the county to levy a 14 cent ad valorem tax. In order for this to be legal, it must be voted on by the taxpayers at Saturday's election.

That would save calling a bond election to raise this money, which would be considerably more expensive. With this 14 cent levy the county would get enough money this year and next to pay for the right-of-way."

Boyd also stated that in building the underpass, there will be a considerable drainage problem, and a storm sewer will have to be built to take care of the water going down Hobart Street that will be expensive for the city. He said, however, that the city was hoping to get the state to participate to a considerable extent in paying for the cost of the drainage.

Boyd added, "The state is waiting on Pampa to get started on this underpass. The city has engineers working on the drainage problem at this time, and they will be ready to report in a very few days. It is most important that this 14 cent levy be voted on favorably by the citizens of this county in that there will not be any unnecessary delay in getting this project started."

He added, "This matter will be voted on Saturday. Regardless of how you vote, we urge you to go to the polls and cast your ballot."

Talbott To Quit Private Business

WASHINGTON — UP — Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott said he is pulling out of his $60,000-a-year private business partnership.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower said he personally will study the record in the Talbott case and decide whether the air secretary has violated ethics of government.

The President said at his news conference he will make the study after the Senate investigating subcommittee finishes its inquiry into Talbott's outside business activities.

Wont Resign Post Talbott earlier, told a reporter he does not intend to resign as Air Force secretary. He made that statement on entering the subcommittee room as the investigation was resumed at 8 a. m. east.

Then he took the stand and urged the investigators he has done nothing dishonest or illegal in his Pentagon post to further his interest in Paul B. Mulligan and Co., management engineers.

But he said he now realizes he was "mistaken" in using his office and Air Force stationery to help the firm's business.

"My greatest concern in the world is the Air Force," Talbott said, reading from a prepared statement. "I've lived it and worked it and it is part of my body."

"Rather than injure the Air Force, I would divert myself to Mulligan and Co. interest 10 times over."

Took Legal Action Therefore, he said, he took legal action on July 22 to end his partnership.

Talbott read to the subcommittee a letter to his partner, dated the 22nd — the day after he told the subcommittee he would quit (See TALBOTT, Page 3)

Pampa Gets Light Rain This Morning

A slow drizzle of rain fell on Pampa at mid-morning today but no more rain is forecast until tomorrow, according to KPND, local weather bureau.

Total rainfall for Pampa in July, not counting this morning's trace, is 1.23 inches. For the year the rainfall here has totalled 12.64 inches.

High temperature yesterday in Pampa was 90 degrees while the low last night was 6.6

Rain fell again Wednesday in West Texas and forecasters said it would become more general over the area later in the day.

Heavy rains mixed with hail fell in the South Plains sector Tuesday, causing some crop damage in the Lubbock area. Heaviest hail damage was reported south of Lubbock, in the vicinity of Slaton and Wilson.

The showers continued Wednesday west of the Pecos, extending into New Mexico.

Most of the rain in West Texas fell Tuesday night, and included Lubbock .61 of an inch, Salt Flat .52, Midland .51, Dalhart .10, and El Paso .09.

Some showers were reported in South Texas, including 1.06 at Victoria, .01 at Austin, and a trace early Wednesday at Galveston.

The scattered showers had some effect on temperatures over the state Tuesday, with Cotulla reporting the day's high of 101 degrees. Readings ranged on downward to 85 at Alpine.

Low overnight readings ranged from 41 at Dalhart to 81 at Corpus Christi and Galveston.

Korean War Ended 2 Years Ago Today

TOKYO — UP — Two years ago Wednesday an American and a North Korean strode into a straw-mat building in Korea's no man's land and ended an undeclared war that killed half a million free world citizens.

LL Gen. William K. Harrison of the United Nations command and Gen. Nam Il of North Korea were stony faced. They did not even look at each other as they took seats at adjoining tables in the Communist-built "peace pagoda" in Panmunjom.

At 10:01 a. m. Harrison signed the first of 18 copies of the bulky armistice document — one copy for each of the 16 UN members which provided troops for the war, one each for North Korea and Red China.

Signing Took Only a Minute The signing was completed in about one minute.

Twelve hours later, all firing stopped along the 155-mile front. But as Eighth Army commander Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor put it, there was "no strong feeling that the armistice is an occasion for unrestrained rejoicing."

It was realized that the armistice was just a truce and that a lasting peace was yet to be won. Two years later, there still is no peace.

It was realized also that the cost of the free world's first organized resistance to Communist aggression was too staggering for rejoicing.

451,877 Free Soldiers Die In the three years of fighting, 451,877 free world soldiers and Korean civilians met death by Communist attack or in Red prison camps. That was nearly four times the total number of American deaths in World War I. It was 50,000 more than all the Americans who died in World War II battles.

More than 463,000 soldiers and civilians still are listed as missing. Another 543,441 were wounded, 18,000 were taken prisoner.

On their side, it is estimated that the Chinese Communists lost 900,000 men killed or wounded and the North Koreans 320,000.

A United Press check showed that at least 20 petitions have been filed recently by the National Association for Advancement of Colored People asking local school authorities in six states to get started with integration plans.

The NAACP is aiming at a September, 1956, deadline for complete integration in schools of the South out it is insisting that local boards begin making plans now.

The petition stage of the organization's long fight to get racial barriers lifted in the classrooms apparently was intended simply to keep the pressure on the schools. The petitions have no legal status, but the NAACP indicates it will file compliance demands with federal courts if the petitions are ignored for more than 90 days.

"We don't expect the school boards to act on them at this time," Louisiana NAACP attorney A. P. Trudaud said. "We expect they will cite present state laws to show that the petitions cannot be acted upon favorably."

Local Woman Killed In Auto Crash

Mrs. Osie Straggins Kennemer, 53, 846 E. Campbell, was killed yesterday when the car she was driving left U. S. 66 east of Cline Corners, N. M., and overturned.

State Policeman Robert Gordon said that her husband, Joseph M. Kennemer, 54, manager of the Pampa Hotel Barber Shop, suffered shock and internal injuries. He was taken to a Presbyterian hospital in Albuquerque.

Gordon indicated that Mrs. Kennemer apparently fell asleep. He said that the car left the road, hurled a 25-foot arroyo and rolled over, coming to rest on top of the victim.

The Kennemers left Pampa Thursday and were reported en route to California.

Mrs. Kennemer worked in the dining room of the Schneider Hotel for many years, and was waitress at the Country Club for about six months prior to her death. Born in Wallington, she later moved to Wheeler and then to Pampa about 17 years ago.

Survivors include her husband; four daughters, Mrs. Odell Riley of Amarillo; Mrs. E. A. Grady of Revere, Calif.; Mrs. J. A. Brown of Texas City; and Mrs. Clea Fay Mayer, 43 1/2, Henry; two sons, Sgt. Bobby Kweesee stationed in Japan, and Ike Kweesee of McLean; two brothers, J. L. Straggins of Bakersfield, Calif., and Richard Straggins of Belen, N. M.; three sisters, Mrs. Mamie Harrison of King, Mrs. Etta Rye and Bessie Lower of Turlock, Calif.; 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

Of the parents present this morning, most felt that the risk justified the vaccine, although there was some apprehension and mixed reactions. Dr. Joe W. Gates, county health officer, described the reactions as "apathetic."

Red Gunfire Forces Down Israeli Plane

TEL AVIV, Israel — UP — Gunfire from Communist Bulgaria Wednesday forced down behind the Iron Curtain an Israeli airplane, carrying 57 persons, including "a number of Americans."

(Reports from London said at least four Americans boarded the plane there and one American woman was reported to have gone aboard at Vienna.)

Representatives of the El Al Israel Airlines said the plane was forced down near the Greek-Bulgarian frontier while flying the Vienna-to-Istanbul leg of a flight from London to Lydda.

It was announced at the airport city of Lydda, between Tel Aviv and Jerusalem, that the plane was fired upon from Bulgarian territory while flying near the Bulgarian-Greek frontier, and was forced down.

The pilot flashed an SOS which was heard in Athens and Rome, when the plane was fired upon and reported he was being forced down.

Urgent efforts were begun at once by Israeli authorities to learn the fate of the seven crewmen and 50 passengers, including an undisclosed number of American tourists.

Rodeo Tickets 'Going Good'

Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. Wedgeworth reported late this morning that ticket sales and registration for the rodeo next week were "going good" and that business was expected to pick up even more as the end of the week nears.

Wedgeworth said that the downtown rodeo headquarters, in the old Spokesman building, was "keeping pretty busy" with a lot of entrants in the Kid Pony show as well as the rodeo.

He said that the rodeo directors were "in a deep and serious session yesterday, wondering and worrying about the idea of rain insurance for the show this year."

Wedgeworth said that after discussing the idea for an hour and a half, the group decided to do without insurance again this year.

One performance was rained out in the Top o' Texas show last year. The rains came on the last day of the show last year and forced the show to be presented on Sunday.

Half Eligibles Take Salk Shots

About one-half of the eligible first and second graders received their second polio vaccine shots this morning at Sam Houston elementary. Out of 201 possible, only 96 received vaccine from Drs. Raymond Laycock and J. Foster Eller.

Tomorrow at 7:30 a. m. the shots will be administered at the same time to Lamar and Horace Mann students.

Here's What New Military Bill Means To U.S. Youth

WASHINGTON — UP — The new military reserve program will have a tremendous impact on the lives of America's young men of military age. For the first time in history, they will be compelled to serve in the reserve following active duty.

Here are the major features of the bill and the various courses by which youths will be able to fulfill their military obligation:

COMPULSION

Men who fail to participate in the ready reserve will be ordered up for 45 days of duty penalty of court martial action.

MILITARY OBLIGATION

The overall military obligation of youths entering the service after enactment of the bill will be reduced to six years. This means that after completion of the five years in the active and ready reserve, men will be placed in the less vulnerable standby reserve for one year. The obligation of men already in the service will be left at eight years but they will not be required to participate in the reserve.

READY RESERVE DUTY

Ready reserve participation will consist of attending 48 weekly drills plus two weeks of field training annually or 30 days of field training.

CALL-UP

Up to one million ready reservists can be called up to active duty by the President in an emergency. Standby reservists can only be called up in a national emergency declared by congress, and then only through the selective service system.

SIX-MONTH TRAINING

Pre-draft age youths who volunteer will be given six months of training followed by 7 1/2 years of ready reserve participation. Failure to participate in the reserve will result in the youths being drafted for two years. Up to 250,000 youths will be trained annually under this program.

DRAFT

Youths will have these various courses by which they can fulfill their military obligation:

Be drafted for two years, followed by three years duty in the ready reserve

Enlist for two years in the Army followed by three years of ready reserve duty; enlist for three years in the Army or Marine Corps, followed by two years of ready reserve duty; enlist for four years in the Air Force or Navy, followed by three years of ready reserve duty.

RESERVE

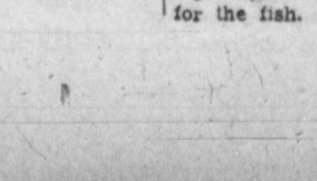

Youths from 17 to 18 1/2 could enlist in the reserve.

US Troops To Leave Austria

VIENNA - UP - The bulk of U.S. occupation forces will leave Austria during the next 30 days, American authorities said Tuesday.
The Austrian state treaty restoring the country's freedom for the first time since 1939 takes effect
Wednesday and American, Soviet,
French and British troops must end their 10-year occupation within 90 days.

Hundreds of U. S. troops and their families already have left for the United States or for Germany and reassignment in Europe. Officials said thousands will leave during the next few weeks, leaving only a token force for the end of the 90-day withdrawal period.
Soviet troops have been withdrawing since the state treaty was signed May 15. Austrian press reports Tuesday said at least 10,000
Red-troops and their families had arrived at the West Hungarian city of Koeszeg, causing a severe food shortage there.

Jane Talk By JANE KADINGO Pampa News Women's Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Guest columnist today is MRS. BOB MCCOY, who has written the following article on hobbies. Jane Kadingo, Pampa News Women's Editor, is on vacation. Mrs. McCoy herself is an avid collector of antiques, which is her hobby, and which she has turned into a business.

NO MAN IS REALLY HAPPY or safe without a hobby, and it makes precious little difference what the outside interest may be — botany, butterflies, roses, tulips or iris, fishing, mountaineering or antiquing.

IF ONE COULD peek inside all the homes in America today, he would find approximately 19,000,000 people engaged in some form of indoor hobby.

People take up hobbies because hobbies bring happiness, friendship, knowledge and relaxation. They can also bring mental and physical health, and sometimes wealth.

WHEN A BIT of sunshine hits you after passing of a cloud, when a fit of laughter gits ye and ye're spine is feeling proud, don't forget to up and fling it at a soul that's feeling blue, for the minute that ye sling it, it's a boomerang to you.

HOBBIES ARE OLD as history, because the reason for hobbies is part of the nature of man. In all ages, men and women have wanted to learn. They have enjoyed doing things. They have found it amusing and instructive to collect things.

One could not begin to name the different kinds of collections, (you may invent a new one) but to name a few: button collecting, dollology, circusiana (anything pertaining to a circus, particularly old), numismatics (coin collecting), deltiology (post card collecting), miniaturia (small or tiny things) and antique glass and china.

In a recent hobby show, a little girl displayed a butterfly collection.

The tea table was covered with a white linen cut-work cloth with silver and crystal appointments. The centerpiece was composed of pink carnations, pink rose buds and baby breath, flanked on either side by white wedding bells filled with pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Cecil Dodd, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Kenneth Fuelscher presided alternately at the punch service.

Approximately seventy guests called or sent gifts.

Perryton Boy Honored By Boychoir

PERRYTON — (Special) Lawrence Ragan, son of Mrs. Sue Ragan, of Perryton was recently awarded the coveted "Best Trouper" plaque at the closing exercises of The Columbus Boychoir School in Princeton, N.J. Lawrence was chosen Best Trouper of the famous "America's Singing Boys" for his good citizenship and outstanding helpfulness during the Boychoir's Spring Concert Tour of the 1954-55 season, when the group appeared throughout the South, Midwest and West.

Lawrence completed the Boychoir School's top grade, the ninth, this year, and plans to enroll in Perryton High School in the Fall since his changing voice graduated him from the Boychoir. He plans to attend the Boychoir Summer Camp at Chautauque, N.Y., where he will sing his final appearance with the group in the Chautauque Amphitheatre on August 6th when the Boychoir appears with the Chautauque Symphony in Bach's Cantata Number Four, which they recorded this spring in the Decca Album "Columbus Boychoir Festival of Song". While with the Boychoir, Lawrence frequently appeared as soloist.

Chosen by audition for membership in the outstanding group of young musicians, Lawrence joined the Boychoir at its summer camp in 1953, and entered the School in Princeton the following September. At the school approximately 70 boys between the ages of 9 and 15, who have demonstrated unusual qualities of musicianship and academic achievement are given an education motivated by music with emphasis on training toward responsible and informed citizenship. Boys spend their first year learning the large repertoire of Boychoir, in order to be eligible for inclusion in the 58-voice Concert Choir, which annually tours the United States and Canada. Youngsters from the school also make many appearances on radio and television programs, both as a group and in individual roles.

The programs of each committee will be subject to approval by 23 institutional representatives, who will check for conflicting dates.

Don Cain and E. E. Shelhamer, district vice-chairman, will lead the group in correlating dates for the program. The organization and extension committee, headed by Kay Fancher, will present plans for the organization of three new units this Fall.

Guy Harris, chairman of the advancement committee, will discuss the training of troop members and procedures for the three district courts of honor.

R. L. Hendricks, chairman of leadership training committee, will present basic training courses for scout leaders this Fall.

Chairman Ross N. Buzzard of the camping activities committee will present plans for intensification of explorer activities, which may include a flying tour of Oklahoma, a ski expedition, and a river float trip. Definite plans are set for a camporee this fall and for a polo bear hike in January.

District Commissioner E. Roy Smith will present plans and dates for monthly round table discussions to be held on every third Tuesday.

Other committee chairmen are: Judge Clarence Williams, Panhandle of the finance committee and co-chairman Harry Wilbur, Jr., of Canadian; and Rufe Jordan, health and safety committee.

Senterliff Maps Plans For Campaign

AUSTIN — UP — Former House Speaker Reuben Senterliff Tuesday announced formation of a 22-member steering committee to direct his fourthcoming campaign for governor.

Announcement of the statewide group followed a weekend "gick-off" celebration in Senterliff's home town of San Saba, at which time Senterliff supporters revealed plans for opening a state campaign headquarters in Austin.

Members of the steering committee, many present or former members of the legislature, include Harry Wilson, Brookston; Raymond T. R. Tatum, Beaumont; Janette Buchanan, Longview; Fred Meredith, Terrell; Horace Houston, Dallas; Fay Fulk, Buffalo; James R. Paxton, Palestine; Charles Murphy, Houston; Jack Fisk, Wharton; Mrs. Frank Svadlenak, Thrall; Albert Jones, Valley Mills; Mrs. H. A. (Salty) Hull, Fort Worth; Richard Sark, Gainesville; J. F. Rice Acreage Cut Limited In New Bill

WASHINGTON — UP — The House Agriculture subcommittee approved a bill Tuesday limiting to 15 per cent a possible cut in rice acreage next year under the government's crop control program.

The figure represented a compromise between spokesmen for rice growers and corn millers. The millers had objected to congressional interference with the potential cuts in rice acreage.

Under farm law the Agriculture Department may order marketing quotas and acreage reductions on price-supported crops when surpluses pile up. If farmers refuse to approve the acreage cutbacks, support levels can be cut to 50 per cent of the "fair earning power" parity level.

The national rice acreage allotment for 1955 was 1,859,099 acres—a 24 per cent cut from 1954. A further cut may be ordered next year because markets for American rice have dwindled with the postwar recovery of Far-East growing areas.

The approved bill provides no rice allotment shall be set at less than 85 per cent of the previous year's allotment. A similar bill providing a 75 per cent minimum is pending in the Senate Agriculture committee.

Soybean production in the United States in 1954 totaled 342,795,000 bushels — greatest on record.

Beck Defends Union-Bought House Deal

SEATTLE — UP — Teamsters' union President Dave Beck said Tuesday the "transaction was as regular as you please" when the union purchased his home for $163,215 and gave it to him as a rent-free place to live.

"I didn't think the transaction was news," he explained. He added he didn't expect any complaints from the union's rank and file members.

"I wouldn't care," said Beck. "Since I've been president, I've made more money for the union than the salary they'll pay me for the next 10 years. I've increased the international's assets by $12 million."

The union president said the union's decision to buy his home for him came three or four months ago and he "had nothing to do with it."

"They wanted to build me a house in Miami," he said, "but my wife's health requires me to stay in Seattle. If I had to move somewhere else, I'd resign."

Beck said his home was "more than just a house."

"It's my West Coast headquarters," he said.

Houston Mayor To Run For Third Term

HOUSTON — UP — Mayor Poy Hofheinz, currently in a hassle with city councilmen who are trying to impeach him out of office, virtually announced for a third term Tuesday.

However, he predicated his candidacy on approval by the people on Aug. 16 of his omnibus city charter amendment calling for a Nov. 19 city election to elect a mayor and city councilmen.

"If the amendment is approved," said the mayor, "there will be a new set of councilmen, a new system of government, a new day and a great day in the history of this community come Nov. 19."

Hofheinz said there will be a new "team" at city hall "for the first time in a long time" and he left little doubt that he expected to be captain of the "team" and head a slate of candidates in the election.

Hofheinz praised his mayor-appointed charter committee for an "outstanding job" and said its principal mission had been to come up with a charter amendment "to clean out the present councilmen."

The Hofheinz endorsed omnibus amendment calls for off-year city elections with candidates being able to run on slates.

Are We Partners?

Those who have taken the trouble to inform themselves know that government intrusion into the field of business enterprise is the backbone of socialism. Socialism is by definition a theory of economics dependent upon government regulation or ownership of the means of production and distribution.

Two widely separated news items indicate that both Communist Russia and Democratic America are furthering socialism. We learn, for instance, through the reporting of Kenneth de Courcy and his Intelligence Digest that the Communists in Burma have embarked on a program of state socialism to further the cause of communism.

It works like this: Ambassador Yoo Chi-ming arriving in Burma, began by purchasing four of the five Chinese daily newspapers through a dummy corporation. Next, he obtained control of two of the three Chinese banks. The two banks immediately began to grant to Chinese small businessmen loans and credit that the third bank could not match. Conditions of the loans were these: 1. Each signed by two pro-Communists. 2. The borrower must agree to send his children to a communist school. 3. He must fly the communist flag over his place of business on all communist-declared holidays. 4. He must agree never to employ a non-Communist. The results of this money policy is fast communizing or socializing Burma.

But here on this side of the world we have a similar movement under way. The Eisenhower administration has asked Congress to approve of the International Finance Corporation. This IFC is to be set up as a completely government-controlled World Bank subsidiary. Its function is to provide money for private or semi-private business all over the world, specifically in under-industrialized places like Burma.

It will be capitalized at $100,000,000, the bulk of which is to be furnished by American taxpayers. It is worthy of note that when this same proposition was suggested to Harry Truman, he gave it the well-known brush off. Yet Eisenhower has welcomed it with open arms. He appears to be adopting socialism to promote "democracy."

Thus, both Reds and Americans are getting into the business of furnishing risk capital for private enterprise through their governments. The result, whether it is sponsored by the Kremlin or by Congress, will be state socialism.

There are some who will aver that American participation in socialism is good, since it might serve to offset Russian participation in socialism. But socialism, whoever sponsors it, is wrong, and totally un-American.

The big question of the moment is this: Where is Ambassador Yoo Chi-ming getting the funds with which to debilitate and take over Burma business? Could it be that he is drawing these funds from the same World Bank which is supposed to handle the capital (via American purses) for the IFC?

Clearly, there is sound reason to suppose that this is so. It may be that in its moves toward collectivizing helpless individuals, America has gone into partnership with the Soviet.

THE NATION'S PRESS

THE THREAT OF CONFORMITY

(The Wall Street Journal)

Some 15,000 teachers, public school administrators and officials were told this week at the National Education Association convention in Chicago exactly what American education requires and exactly how to go about getting it.

The need is for Federal aid amounting to $1 billion annually and the way to get it is to put pressure on Congress. The Legislative Commission of N. E. A. wants the Federal Government to provide $500 million for new school buildings, $300 million for teacher salary increases and $200 million for scholarships for gifted high school students so that they may attend college. And the Legislative Commission unanimously adopted as a principle the formation of the nation's 1,250,000 teachers into a "grass roots" political pressure group.

The N.E.A. is not the first to point to a lack of school facilities or to modest teacher salaries, and certainly the inability of a gifted student to develop his potential ability as a scientist, physician or engineer because of a lack of funds is a loss to the country. There can be no quarrel with a desire to do something about these lacks.

But plainly the N.E.A.'s Legislative Committee is seeking the wrong cure for the ills. For Federal intervention is the path to Federal control of education. The guidance and control will come from a faraway bureaucracy which will set standards, rules and regulations and make demands. These things may not occur with the first annual $1 billion appropriation; but that will be the result all the same in the end. The threat of compulsion will always be present; for what Government grants Government can always take away.

There is similar objection to the proposed program of political action by the teachers. Educators, of course, have as much right to band together for their common objectives as any other persons who avail themselves of the right of petition. But to possess that right does not mean that it is always right or wise to use it. Will not the teachers lose more than they gain in a barter with office-holders and office-seekers?

For political barter is the only effective strength pressure groups possess. The support of the group must go to those who make the most promises; the corollary is that the promises exact the toll of support. A teacher pressure group may intend to remain non-partisan but it cannot once it enters politics; for the pressure will be as much on the teachers as on those whose favor they seek.

The dangers here are rather obvious. There is the danger that teachers will be told by their own bureaucracy whom they should support and what candidates they ought to work for. There is the danger that partisan politics will be brought into the classrooms. And there is the danger to the individual freedom of teachers which allows them now to vote for whomsoever suits their fancy, without instruction from their own pressure group or any other dictatorial agency.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

I have a letter from George L. Combes, Jr., a private in the U. S. Army, which I am reproducing the controversial parts with numbers so that I can comment by numbers. He refers to an article that appeared in "Better Jobs" under the heading of "Ideologies of Labor Unions Primary Cause of Depressions" which appeared in the Clovis (New Mexico) News-Journal, a sister paper of Freedom Newspapers. His letter follows:

"Mr. R. C. Hoiles: "(1) I have read the Clovis News-Journal many times in the past few months and have enjoyed the editorials in the main, but I feel your article entitled 'Better Jobs' of June 13 that puts the blame on organized labor for our economic failures was a prejudiced misconception.

"(2) We are long passed the days when it was not considered a right for a man to retain some sort of security when unemployed. Every working man puts security first in his mind and labor unions have gone far to aid 15,000,000 workers to establish some sort of job security.

"(3) Can you not remember when workers suffered under low wages, long hours, unhealthy atmosphere and many others, when there was little or no organized labor? I detect a tone of 'the good old days' in your article, and I wonder how you can forget the gay 30's? Of how many depressions has labor been the primary cause and how many have been caused by mismanagement by the leaders of industry?

"(4) I feel you are wrong in saying that labor unions do not advocate the 'profit motive' for both sides, because they know that only if a profit is made will they continue to enjoy the better things of life. Today the worker, mainly through the high standard of work performed, can enjoy through higher wages an automobile, his own house, television and better clothing and schooling for his family. I graduated from college last year and my best friend was the son of a union man. Could he have been sent 1,000 miles from home to college in the so-called 'good old days' when we had all the 'unalienable rights' or the 'natural rights' that you consider so important?

"(5) I am not a great 'labor lover,' but I do feel that unions have been an integral part of making our economy and way of life the best the world has ever known. These unions have been accepted and I don't see the world going to rot, rather I see great strides in raising the standard of living.

"(6) My home is not in the New Mexico area, and I must admit to knowing little or nothing concerning the thinking of farm people. I would enjoy learning from you, and I hope that you will not take this letter as an affront, but in the friendly, American way of free thinking and debate.

Sincerely yours, George L. Combes, Jr."

Answer to No. 1: Mr. Combes gives no evidence to show that the article was prejudiced.

No. 2: Mr. Combes does not explain how a worker can have security in a job without taking away from another person his equal right to help establish values. Those people who will answer questions without once they do not believe in seniority or the caste system, which is the only way labor unions can temporarily give their members an advantage over other consumers.

No. 3: Mr. Combes doesn't define a "sweet shop." He implies that sweat shops, whatever they may be, were eliminated by labor unions. If there be such a thing as a sweat shop, we have more of them not less because of labor unions; by their caste system restrict production, and when production is restricted the consumer who is not part of the labor monopoly suffers.

No. 4: Labor unions certainly do not advocate a profit motive for those people that they keep down by seniority.

There would be more and better education if there were no labor unions because there would be a great deal more wealth produced, and what is produced willingly has to be distributed.

No. 5: Unions have been accepted only by people who will not answer questions without evasion. I know of no one who believes that every man should get all he produces who accepts labor unions.

No. 6: I am glad to get letters from readers who criticize my conclusions. The farmers, of course, have been made to suffer by labor unions, and in attempt to reduce this suffering the government has established farm parity prices. If the farm boys were not prevented from competing for jobs by labor unions, that leads to inflation we would not have the farm problem we have today.

Enemies Of Ike Attempting To Show Rift With Dulles

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The more extreme enemies of the Eisenhower Administration, political and journalistic, have set out to promote the impression that serious disagreements separate President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles on the conduct of foreign policy, especially with respect to future relations with Russia. It is an aftermath of the Geneva Conference, although the campaign was hatched several months ago.

Emphasizing and exaggerating several minor differences between the two men on foreign problems, the purpose seems to be to accuse Ike of being too agreeable to concessions to Moscow, while Dulles is portrayed as favoring a stiffer and sterner policy. Regardless of future developments, the President's conciliatory attitude and remarks at Geneva have been interpreted as proof of a top-level clash.

Adopting the same tactics, numerous British and French commentators, who usually reflect the viewpoint of their Foreign Offices, ask whether the soft "Eisenhower" or the harsh "Dulles" policy will prevail in any forthcoming showdown with the Russian and Chinese Communists.

The underlying scheme is, of course, to cast full responsibility on the President, not the Secretary of State, if agreements germinated at Geneva can be made to appear as another Yalta sellout. For months, and in defiance of the strategy of the Democratic leadership on Capitol Hill, opposition extremists have insisted upon a direct frontal attack on the man in the White House in preparation for the 1956 election.

The critical politicians and columnists cite what they regard as circumstantial evidence for their duty theory of a White House-State Department division. They note that Dulles maintained silence while Ike was feting and goodwilling with top Red delegates at Geneva. Although protocol demanded that the President act as official host and spokesman, Dulles' subordinate and silent role and behavior are represented as proof that he and Ike disagree on basic policy. Eisenhower's wartime friendship with Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Russian Minister of Defense, was ballooned far beyond its intrinsic importance.

Earlier disagreements have been recalled. Eisenhower, according to the opposition's contention, did not support Dulles' demand for an "agonizing reappraisal" of foreign aid to Europe, after the death of the European Defense Community program. Instead, Ike backed Prime Minister Anthony Eden's

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

The question of allergy is brought up frequently by many correspondents. Some write that they are allergic to foods, others to dust, pollen, or other things breathed in. Sometimes the allergic sensitivity takes the form of asthma, sometimes hives, and sometimes other unpleasant reactions of the body. What is known as allergy then, is a complicated subject and only one aspect of it can be discussed today.

Allergy is an increased sensitivity to some foreign protein, and this protein can be contained in foods, inhaled in the form of pollen from the air, or contact with such things as weeds or lacquer.

FOODS, THEREFORE, are only one source of allergic reaction, but they can produce many kinds of difficulty.

When the food causing the trouble is known and there is only one kind of food, and that rarely used, the difficulty can be controlled by avoiding it. In some cases, however, a person may be sensitive to wheat or milk, both of which are used in the cooking and preparation of so many foods that a real problem exists.

The management of food allergy is almost always difficult. The first problem is to find out what food, or foods, are at fault. Sometimes simple diaries may give a clue. The patient himself may be able to tell from sad experience what foods (like shrimps or strawberries) always give trouble.

THE HISTORY of reactions is important. In other words, a person ought to know pretty well what he or she has eaten at a meal which was followed by hives or other signs of food allergy.

Skin tests with various foods are commonly used, but are not always completely reliable and it requires an expert to interpret them. Trial diets which include or exclude suspected foods are often helpful in finding the foods responsible. A food diary by which a record is kept of the foods eaten each meal may be of help.

British Paper's Sneers At America Could Be Returned

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

GENEVA — The Manchester Guardian is an English paper which maintains a correspondent in New York whose dispatches to the Mother Country often depict our country and ourselves in repulsive terms. It is hard to disagree with his representations because a dishonest American must admit that our summers are terribly warm and humid, that the streets of New York are, with few exceptions, filthy, that our swanky set is vain, extravagant and not genteel, and that hamburgers bought at public places are likely to be unappetizing.

On the other hand, although Americans go to Manchester only on unavoidable commercial business, those who do go could fairly return these compliments in detail or in kind. Manchester will never be called the garden spot of the world except in derision. As against the hamburger, Manchester, and all Britain must defend the kippered herring or kipper. There is a disadvantage to the United States in this sort of journalism, which is not confined to the Guardian. Some British papers of mountainous circulation wielding considerable influence over the opinion and emotions of the vasty predominant lower classes, are obsessed with a gnawing jealousy and harp on this theme year after year.

Our Press prints only political news from Britain plus a little theatrical stuff and trivial but generally amiable features. The disadvantage to us is not serious. We did rescue the Mother Country in two wars, but Roosevelt severed their lifeline and dissolved their empire. And, in consequence of Teheran and Yalta, where Roosevelt sneered at Churchill, Britain actually is, as many exasperated Britons have pointed out, an American air-base for the war with Russia if and when it comes. That is the fact and the poor devils are stuck with it.

These observations are not at all hostile to the British people. They are tempered with a vain wish that our country had been represented at Teheran, Yalta, and Potsdam, too, by agents of our destiny as patriotic as Winston Churchill. Geneva is an observation post for all the enemies of the world and peace is her principal industry, surpassing watches, cheese and cuckoo clocks combined. She is prosperous with dignity, her people are markedly more vigorous than ours — or the British — and the beauty of her lake and her countryside has been sung with a fidelity to truth absent from our tributes to Dixie.

Neither people would have it otherwise, of course, but there are spiritual fundamentals which forbid real trust and affection between the American people and the English.

Granted that our hot dog is a horror to the British palate, the fact remains to balance that abhorrence that when lightning struck the Ascot races recently one of the London papers unblushingly reported that many of the crowd were "milling around the stalls for tea, ice-cream and jellied eels." Did Eisenhower think he could really dispel suspicion and repugnance between a hamburger people and a people who eat jellied eels? Further in the same vein, when an English woman was repatriated from Czechoslovakia where she had been in prison, she exclaimed that she was longing for a kipper, which is a herring so desiccated as to deserve decent burial. Still further, a British firm with insight into the British palate, of delicacy advertises an ingredient for a sauce to mitigate or enhance the qualities of the kipper as follows: "Pillip for Herrings. Serve them with homemade mustard sauce! Grill or fry the Herrings and keep hot. Make a white sauce with 1/4 pt. milk, nut or margarine, seasoning and one level teaspoonful 'patent' cornflour, following directions on packet. One heaped teaspoonful mustard. Mix smoothly with a little vinegar and stir in. Since herrings with plenty of sauce."

Keith Waterhouse, a journalist of standing, had an essay, profound in the new English idiom, about excessive hours worked by English truckdrivers since the industry was returned to private ownership. I do not attempt to interpret the head on the article which said: "A-I for fiddling. Where the code of the road cocks a snook at the law."

One more citation and I am done explaining that we shall never embrace except in the shuddering clasp of cousins. This is a quote from a column entitled "by the way" written by "beach-comber":

"The absence of a famous name from the herds of carnival queens this summer has been remarked upon. But Mimale Sloppomer, is not likely to repeat the mistake she made when she consented to be the plastic dustbin queen of bi-thorpe-cum-fuddle. One never knows what one will find in a Dustbin nowadays, said the mayor with forced bonhomie. This year she is said to be considering an offer to officiate as the Gasworks Fairy Princess of Smogworthy."

Marriage Advisor Business Should Be Easy For Hank

By HENRY McLEMORE

Within the space of sixty days I have read newspaper accounts of three marriage consultants being given the ol' heave-ho in the courts by their wives, which means that the profession is below playing strength and needs new recruits.

I am giving more than passing thought to hanging out my shingle and going into the harmony-and-happiness, bluebirds-around-every-door, business myself. It couldn't cost much to start. All a man would need would be a small desk, a big ego and two or three months' supply of gall.

The one thing that makes me hesitate is that there are several wrinkles in my own marriage that could stand a bit of ironing out. Just when I was telling Mrs. Jones that she could ease the tense situation in her house by bowing to Mr. Jones' dislike of veal kidneys and parsnips, most likely Mrs. Jones would stick her head in my office door and tell me we were going to have meat loaf for dinner.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Matthew 11:25-30
Jesus enjoyed good spiritual health. The most striking characteristic of Jesus was that he enjoyed amazingly good spiritual health. Life never seemed to irritate him; people did not bore him; delays did not anger him; controversy did not upset him; opposition did not unman him; he harbored no hatreds, was moved by no jealousies, allowed no envies to spoil his joys.

A LITTLE BETTER THAN a month ago, June 20, Red Dial veteran Oiler righthander, sported only a mediocre 7-7 record.

Dial's showing up to that time caused a little concern among the Oiler management and fans because the red head just didn't seem like the "Dial of old."

After all, Red had won 20 games or more in each of the four preceding seasons that included 25 or more the last three years.

You can see why Dial's 7-7 record through almost half of the season might cause some concern among the Oiler management and fans.

But no one is worried about Red anymore.

Dial has more than regained the form that has led him to those victorious seasons the past four years.

Since sporting that 7-7 mark, Dial has racked up eight victories against two losses that has boosted his season record to 15-9 at present.

Two defeats suffered by Dial during this spell were both by 2-0 margins. No one, of course, can gripe about getting beat in this manner.

Dial's E R A (earned run average) since June 20 has been remarkable. He has pitched in 84 innings during this time, allowing 27 earned runs for a 2.88 E R A, a very respectable figure, especially in this league where hitters hold the upperhand.

Despite Dial's "sluggish" start, his E R A figure for the season isn't anything to be sneezed at. Dial's allowed 80 earned runs in 202 innings for a 3.56 E R A.

Red, in fact, is enjoying his best season even though it doesn't show up in the won-lost column.

Dial's record the past three years went like this:

1954—Won 25, lost 12—ERA 4.42
1953—Won 28, lost 11—ERA 4.27
1952—Won 27, lost 10—ERA 5.09

You can see by the above E R A figures that Dial is having a fine year after surviving his slow get-away.

Dial has never been a fast starter anyway. He usually doesn't come around until the weather warms up.

Dial, incidentally, has beaten every club in the league at least one time this season. He holds three wins over three clubs, Albuquerque, Clovis and El Paso; two over Plainview and Amarillo; and one each over Abilene and Lubbock.

With Dial back in the groove, the Oiler chances of holding the top rung rest of the season is good, to say the least.

Holy Souls Edge Baptists For Title, 8-5

Activity in the Church Softball Leagues came to a close last night when the Holy Souls captured an 8-5 win over Central Baptist in the Senior Boys League championship playoff.

Holy Souls thus joins First Baptist of the Senior Girls League and First Baptist Junior Boys League as the 1955 kid softball champions.

Holy Souls took charge of last night's game early, scoring four runs in the second to take a 4-0 lead and then holding the lead all the way.

The Souls made it 6-0 before the Baptists rallied in the fourth for four runs to cut the difference to two runs, 6-4. Gene Brown homered for the first Baptist run in the fourth and the losers continued for three more runs before being stopped.

The winners then pulled away to an 8-4 lead with single runs in the fifth and seventh while holding the Baptists to a single marker during the remaining time.

It was the 16th victory without a loss for the Holy Souls this season.

Pampa Pony 9 Wins On No-Hitter

Heiskell Whiffs 20 In 5 To 0 Victory

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Gary Heiskell, husky righthander for the Pampa Pony League All-Stars, turned in one of the finest pitching performances ever seen on a local diamond when he tossed a no-hit, no-run game last night to lead the Pampans to a 5-0 win over the Roswell All-Stars in the first of a best of three-game series for the District 8 championship.

Heiskell, in addition to his no-hit pitching efforts, recorded 20 strikeouts.

The second game of the series will start at 7:30 p.m. tonight. If a third game is necessary, it will be played immediately following tonight's game.

Gary Meyers will likely draw the starting mound assignment for the Pampa nine.

Heiskell and Don Williams of Pampa hooked up in a brilliant mound duel in last night's game. Williams allowed only one hit until the sixth when the winners scored all of their runs.

A single with one away in the first inning by Mike Conway was the only hit off Williams until the sixth.

Heiskell, in the meantime, was moving the Roswell lads down via the strikeout route, striking out the side in every inning except the seventh and final frame when he recorded two.

Jess Tenores, Roswell leftfielder grounded out for the final out to become the only Roswell player to make an out without fanning.

Only four Roswell players reached base. Heiskell walked one, hit one, and two got on via an error. The visitors didn't get a runner past second base.

Larry Ingram started the big rally in the sixth for the Pampans with a scratch single. He scored promptly on a triple to center by John Campbell.

Campbell then scored the second run on a single through the middle by Conway. Conway moved around to third on walks to Raymond Duke and Heiskell and scored on a wild pitch.

FINAL RUN—Gary Heiskell, who hurled a brilliant game for the Pampa Pony League All-Stars last night, is shown crossing home plate with the final run in Pampa's 5-0 win over Roswell. Heiskell scored on a double by Bobby Gindorf. On the mound, Heiskell hurled a no-hit game and struck out 20. The Roswell catcher shown in Morey Carpenter.

Perryton Trips Junior Oilers

PERRYTON, July 27 — The Junior Oilers won over Shattuck Perryton Blue Sox defeated the Oklahoma, 6-4. Secreted all the way in this game for the Pampans.

Grim Undergoes Exam Today

BALTIMORE —UP— Pitcher Bob Grim of the New York Yankees, the American League "rookie of the year" last year but plagued by a sore arm this season, was scheduled to undergo an examination Wednesday at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Dr. George Bennett, who has treated many baseball players was slated to examine Grim.

The Yankee righthander won 20 games and lost six last season, his first in the major leagues. So far this year he has won only four games and lost two. He has been on the disabled list for a month and has not thrown a baseball in three weeks.

Yanks Win Opener Behind Byrne, 1-0

By UNITED PRESS

Tommy Byrne, baseball's one-time "wild man," is being turned loose only on the Yankees' chief contenders whereas not so long ago it wasn't considered safe to turn him loose at all.

Byrne, who led the American League in walks from 1949 through 1951, finally took one himself — to the minors — in 1953 but the Yankees rescued him last year and now he's rescuing them.

The 35-year-old Byrne cooled off the pennant-minded White Sox 1-0 Tuesday night, marking the second time in a week he defeated Chicago and threw a road-block in the path of Marty Marion's forces. Yogi Berra produced the only run of the game when he connected for his 17th homer off Dick Donovan in the sixth.

Byrne's fine four-hit job and third shutout of the season gave him a 9-2 record and the Yankees a little more comfortable two-game lead in the tight American League race. Byrne struck out three and walked five.

"It's a good idea to walk a few men," he explains, "tongue-in-cheek, 'otherwise people would wonder if that was really Byrne pitching out there.'"

Indians Drop Back Two
Like the White Sox, the Indians also fell two games behind the pace when the bowled to the Red Sox 5-1. Frank Sullivan recorded his 13th victory by pitching a five-hitter while Ted Williams and Sammy White helped him with home runs. Larry Doby's 17th homer in the fourth inning saved Cleveland from being shut out.

The Detroit Tigers climbed to within seven games of the top by beating Baltimore twice 3-0 in the 12-inning opener and 7-2 in the nightcap. Ray Boone doubled home the tie-breaking run in the 12th inning of the opener, driving in a total of four runs with two doubles and two singles. He also drove in two more runs in the nightcap.

Kansas City beat Washington 3-1 in the second game of a two-night doubleheader after the Senators hammered out 17 hits to win the opener 9-3.

In other games, Brooklyn beat Cincinnati 4-2. The Pirates downed the Cardinals 3-1. Milwaukee downed Philadelphia 6-3 and the Giants edged the Cubs 6-5.

Newcombe Wins No. 17
Big Don Newcombe of Brooklyn racked up his 17th victory against a lone defeat in beating Cincinnati on a seven-hit effort. The Dodgers got to Rudy Minarcin for all their runs in the first three innings, clinching the win with two runs in the third.

Southpaw Dick Littlefield hurled the Pirates to their fifth straight triumph by beating the Cardinals. Johnny O'Brien and Gene Frrese each homered off loser Luis Arroyo.

Milwaukee rallied for five runs in the fifth inning to beat Philadelphia, as southpaw Warren Spahn gained his ninth victory. A walk, four singles and Johnny Logan's two-run double made up the Braves' five-run rally.

Alvin Dark's two-out single in the 12th inning gave the Giants a 6-5 decision over the Cubs who fought back to tie the score at 5-5 after New York had scored five runs in the first inning.

Tuesday's Star
Tommy Byrne of the Yanks for his 1-0 win over Chicago.

Oilers Suffer 3rd Blanking Of Year

B-Sox's Owen Turns Trick With 5-Hitter

ABILENE, July 27—Tall Maurice Owen became the third pitcher this season to blank the league leading Pampa Oilers here Tuesday night when he pitched the Abilene Blue Sox to a 6-0 victory.

Owen turned the trick by allowing the pace setters only five hits. Buddy Woods absorbed his seventh defeat against eight wins for Oilers. Woods started the game and hurried until being lifted for a pinch-hitter in top of the seventh inning.

Paul Halter came on and blanked the Sox on three hits the final two Sox turns at bat.

Much of the Sox damage off Woods were homerun blasts. Lynn Corta and Bob Pascal pounded homers for the winners.

The Sox took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, added three more in the third and coasted to victory.

Owen was in trouble in almost every inning, walking eight in addition to the Oilers' five hits but flawless fielding by his team mates enabled Owen to escape damage.

The Blue Sox executed three double plays.

Jim Martin was the only Oiler to collect more than one hit. Martin pounded a double and single in two official trips.

Tuesday's victory was the fourth for the Blue Sox over the Oilers in 11 starts this season.

The two teams will wind up their series with a single game Wednesday night. Then the two clubs will continue their series at Pampa Thursday night at which time a clubhouse has been scheduled at Oiler Park.

Sports Moments Of Past Relived

NEW YORK — UP — Electric sports moments of the past — Babe Ruth's pain-wracked voice in a final farewell to Yankee fans; Jack Dempsey's smashing triumph over Jess Willard; the classic Knute Rockne pep talk to his Notre Dame football players; Adolf Hitler's tirade speech at the opening of the 1936 Olympics in Germany — these and many others were re-lived Tuesday.

The occasion was the presentation of a new documentary record album "Greatest Moments in Sports" in a premier for sports writers.

The record also brings back the candid reaction of Tami Mauriello when he came to before a nationwide radio audience after Joe Louis knocked him out and observing that "I thought I was going to knock Louis out but I got too careless."

Two explosive moments in recent baseball history, the breakup of a Yankee no-hitter by Cookie Lavagetto of the Dodgers in the 1947 World Series and Bobby Thomson's homer off Ralph Branca that brought the Giants the pennant over the Dodgers in the 1951 playoffs, bring out the near hysteria of the announcers, Red Barber and Russ Hodges.

The album covers highlights sports for the past 30 years.

Western Downs Eastern In Little League Meet, 9-4

PLAINVIEW, July 27 — (Special) — The Western Little League All-Stars of Pampa jumped off to an early lead and held it all the way here Tuesday to down their fellow townsmen, the Eastern Little League All-Stars, 9-4, in the first round of the Area Little League Tournament.

The Western nine exploded for five runs in the first inning and then came back with two in the second to take a commanding 7-0 lead.

Eastern rallied in the fourth when they scored all of their runs to narrow the gap to three runs, 7-4, but the Western stretched it to five with two in the bottom of the fourth, ending the scoring for the day.

Larry Wilson went all the way for the Western nine, allowing only three hits, two of them coming off the bat of Jerry McGuire.

Wilson struckout seven and walked six.

The righthanded Wilson also figured heavily in the 10-hit attack run and then Jerry McGuire singled to drive in the final two.

Wilson braced at this point and pitched shutout ball rest of the way.

The Western team joined Plainview in the semi-finals Wednesday. Plainview defeated Muleshoe, 6-3, in this first game of yesterday's action.

Pampa meets Childress today at 6 p.m. which will be preceded at 4 p.m. by Plainview and Dumas. Childress and Dumas each drew first round byes.

Ford Gives Wife Day Off After Winning PGA Tourney

NORTHVILLE, Mich. — UP — Doug Ford spent his first day as the PGA golf champion baby sitting with his three children Wednesday.

He gave his wife the day off because she had watched them the seven days it took him to win the Meadowbrook Country Club course. He climaxed his brilliant performance Tuesday when he won the title is worth about $25,000 in was shooting for the only major U.S. golf title he never has won, a and 3.

For Ford it meant a lot more than the first place money of $5,000. It was his first major tournament victory — his first triumph of any kind since he won the Fort Wayne-Open more than a year ago.

A Rare Case
And it put his name down in PGA history. For he became the second player ever to win the title — which pros cherish most — in his first try and the fourth medalist ever to go on to capture the crown. Tom Creavy won it in his first try back in 1931 and the only other medalists who kept their games hot enough to go on to victory were Walter Hagen in 1926, Olin Dutra in 1932 and Byron Nelson in 1945.

When Ford closed out his match hole with a par — putting him 39 under par for the 194 holes it took him to win the championship — he rushed through the gallery of 4,000 to the clubhouse where his pretty wife, Marilyn, was sitting with their five-month old daughter.

Pamela, and four year old son, Michael. His other son, Doug Jr., 10, had followed him around the course.

He kissed her — so long that the photographers didn't even have to ask him for that "one more" — and when he broke away, she smiled.

"You're baby sitting tomorrow, you know."

"That's okay with me," he smiled back. "Don't worry, it will be a rest after what I've been through."

Ford felt he had the match won when he went ahead for the first time on the 26th hole.

"This was the best golf I've played," Ford said. "My irons were my best game and I think I shot more birdie 2's on par three holes in this tourney than ever before."

Now on Ryder Cup Team
He sure played it to the hilt Tuesday, but he seemed prouder of the fact that he had dived

Shelley Mayfield the day before. "Why?"

"Because that made me an automatic member of the U.S. Ryder Cup team," he answered. "And that's an honor I was shooting for."

All sentimentalists in the tourney become automatic members of the squad.

So while that money was important to Ford — the pros figure turned back Cary Middlecoff, who all in endorsements and exhibitions — he wanted that honor, too.

"It sure was nice, getting them both," he said, as he went off to his trailer for his baby-sitting chores.

470 GIs Still Missing In Korea

WASHINGTON — UP — The Defense Department said Tuesday that 470 members of the U.S. armed forces in the Korean War remain unaccounted for and some of them may be held prisoners by the Communists.

In reply to a request by Senate GOP leader Sen. William F. Knowland, the Defense Department said in a letter that the Reds failed to account for 944 Americans after the Korean truce.

The department said that it never believed all the unaccounted for were alive and held prisoner by the Reds. The demand on the Reds to account for them was an attempt to force them to live up to an armistice provision that each side should give a "full accounting" for all prisoners.

"Through our own efforts we have accounted for 474 of the personnel on the list presented to the Communists," the department said.

"As to the fate of the 470 remaining missing from the Korean war, we have no evidence that they are still alive or being held by the Communists. However, it is possible that at some date in

SEE, HEAR

Stan Everett, of Alhambra, Calif., isn't content to see a ball game. He wants to hear the broadcast as well. So he invented this tiny radio complete with earphone receivers and adjustable antenna. He tried it out at a game in Cleveland Municipal Stadium.

The future the Communists will admit holding in China additional U.S. personnel.

The only members of the armed services known to be prisoners of the Reds now are 11 airmen and two Army civilians.

'Lettuce' Found
NEW HAVEN, Conn. — UP — Garbage Collector James O. Bishop found a bag of "lettuce" in a garbage pail, but it wasn't the eating variety. It was $300 in cash which he picked from a pail of refuse at a restaurant. The owner rewarded Bishop with $25.

Off Screen Jane Russell Works To Aid Foreign Kids

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD — UP — Jane Russell on the screen is a voluptuous siren, but offstage she's launched a sincere drive to help Americans adopt unwanted foreign children as she did.

These days the homony actress is wearing split curls, spangles and jars of body make-up as she plays a sexy gypsy in a picture at Columbia Studio, "Tombourine."

Yet the real-life Jane has turned into one of the busiest social helpers of the movie colony with her international adoption group, "Waif."

The organization's purpose is to raise funds for the long-established International Social Services Migration Service. ISS, Jane explained, is allowed to bring 4,000 orphans into the U. S. this year, if it can get the necessary money.

"My husband (Bob Waterfield) and I went to Europe to find a child," Jane said. "Babies are so hard to adopt here. Besides, we wanted one that was a year old. We went to Italy, France and Germany. That's when we found how difficult it is. Nobody's the heavy — it's just that adopting a foreign child never has been cleared properly."

"I actually brought back this Irish boy, Tommy, to give to some body else, because I met his parents and I did not want to know the parents of any child I would adopt. But the legal trouble took eight months and by that time I couldn't give him up."

"When I got back from that trip I started to find out what I could do to help other American couples who can't get babies in this country."

Jane's charter chapter of Waif is six months old. She hopes to establish others in New York, Chicago and Dallas. She has 20 members on her board, plus an auxiliary membership of 150 headed by the ex-Mrs. Gregory Peck. The group stages its first fund-raising party Sept. 20 at Ciro's nightclub.

Jane spoke in her dressing room as she climbed out of her gypsy costume and put on a brassiere. (I noticed she has broad shoulders) and a housecoat for her lunch

Old Customer's Complaint Embarrasses Department Store

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP — A local department store was embarrassed recently about a complaint against the quality of its merchandise.

Seems an odd thing about a man had bought himself a night cap. He was back the next morning, howling mad.

"Never had that trouble with the old-fashioned flannel caps," he said. "Something about this new-fangled material."

"Seems the cap itched him the night long," and something in the tassel ticked his wife's nose every time the old man sneezed, and gave her a fit of sneezes.

He got his money back.

Believe it or not, you can still buy nightcaps, among other relics of the past that the oldsters demand. In fact, according to the old-line "factoring firm" of William Iselin the demand keeps several factories fairly busy. The firm is a financing specialist in the textile industry and has made a study of out of fashion garments which still are being produced and sold for a small but insistent public.

that the long under-wear with the buttoned tail-gate is selling fairly well in some quarters.

Thousands of men still are devoted to shirts with detachable collars, in a wide variety of colors. The old-fashioned paper collars are hard to find, but many a die-hard, anxious to hang on to the tin-type era, still insists on celluloid collars that can be washed with a damp rag.

The four-button coat has its customers in considerable numbers, and a lot of men still require three tailors to put buttons on their pants instead of zippers.

Requests, according to one Chicago firm, still come in for raccoon coats for men. Davy Crockett if his memory holds for a time longer, likely will fix all of that. Every available coonskin will be used up for Davy Crockett hats.

The average American is expected to eat about 77 pounds of beef in 1955.

Johnson To Talk For U.S. With China

NEW YORK — UP — U. S. Ambassador to Czechoslovakia who will represent this country at Geneva talks with Red China officials, said Tuesday he hoped the conference would be productive.

Johnson arrived by plane from Europe en route to Washington where Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will brief him on the Geneva meeting. Its purpose primarily is to discuss on the ambassadorial level release of civilian and military prisoners now held by the Chinese Reds.

Johnson, of Glendale, Calif., initiated talks with the Chinese a year ago for release of the Americans. He was reluctant to discuss the forthcoming talks but said he was hopeful the Chinese delegates "will be in a reasonable frame of mind so that we can make more progress."

Johnson said he planned to remain in the United States 24 hours. He boarded a plane for Washington shortly after arriving.

Take high buttoned shoes, for example. You still can buy them, if you look real hard, but it's a Dickens of a job finding a button hook.

And, take spats, which with a steady hand can be buttoned with the fingers, or if you go modern, can be zipped up. "Garters" still are made for sale in a lot of department stores. The "sales leader" at the moment is the four-button kind in pearl gray, although spats also come in black, pink, brown and pastels, yet, I once had a friend who used to wear spats the year around so that the only shoe-shining he had to do was on the toes. I couldn't decide if he was a dude—or just lazy.

In small towns, according to the Iselin people, vest-piping remains popular among some old-line politicians, doctors and professors.

In rural areas you'll often still find sleeve garters. Also black half sleeves, held up by elastic. A saving on cuffs and elbows.

Drop-seat underwear, for both summer and winter, is making a remarkable comeback. They say
