August 31 Set for Confirmation Election on Salt Fork River Dam

Saturday, August 31, is the date the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority has set for the confirmation election, the next step toward securing a dam across Salt Fork River.

This is also the step that will hold for the authority its water rights on Salt Fork.

The date was picked in a meeting Thursday night, July 11, in Childress, attended by representatives of the 7 member cities, Wellington, Childress, Paducah, Clarendon, Hedley, Memphis and Quanah.

The City Council of each of these will within the next few days draft a resolution asking the State Board of Water Engineers to set this as the date for the election. The Wellington City Council took this action Monday night.

The confirmation election is the actual organization of the water authority, giving it legal power to begin action. What is now called the "authority" is actually a committee interested in seeing the project come about.

This confirmation election has nothing to do with the issuance of bonds or of voting a tax, George Shadid, Wellington representative, pointed out. That will come in a later election. The August 31 election will simply determine if each city wants to come in the authority or stay out. It does not cost anybody anything, Shadid said.

After the confirmation election, the cities in the authority will have a chance to look at the costs and other figures before any election is held on the issuance of bonds or levying a tax. Each city will know how much the cost will be and where the money will come from.

The water backed up by this dam would be used for industrial and municipal use by the member cities.

"Water is our No. 1 Problem, and this is our last source of good water. It is very important for the people to vote their sentiments in the confirmation election," Zook Thomas, another member of the Authority from Wellington said.

The Authority has begun looking into the irrigation and flood control possibilities of the Salt Fork Dam, the local members pointed out.

Representing Wellington at the Thursday night meeting were Shadid, Thomas, Mayor Hiram Cudd, Chamber of Commerce Manager N. M. Higdon, City Manager Bura Handley, R. T. Reeves, and Dr. Chas. B. Jones.

Mexican Youth Killed in Fall From Moving Truck

Petro Caldanas, 9-year-old Latin American boy, was killed at 6:15 a. m. Tuesday, July 16, when he fell out of the truck in which he and other members of his family were riding.

The boy came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Caldanes, from Kyle, and had been working for Barney Glenn about three weeks. Sheriff John Rainey said the accident occured a short distance east of the Glenn place on the Dodson highway.

Members of the family riding with the youth in the back of the truck told Sheriff Rainey the boy was leaning against the small gate in the tailgate, when it came open, throwing him out. His head struck the pavement and he was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The driver of the truck was identified as Chenco Galletan, uncle of the boy.

Petro was born January 1, 1948, in Hays County.

His body is being returned to Kyle by Kelso Funeral Home for funeral services and burial.

Five brothers and four sisters survive in addition to his parents.

Control Demonstrations in the Field

Three Cotton Insect Meetings Scheduled

Three meetings on cotton insect control are scheduled in the county by County Agent J. W. Thomas. All farmers and others interested are invited to attend these cotton-field demonstrations. All will be at 8 a. m.

The first will be at the Hayden Williams irrigation well in Fresno community Friday, July 19; the second on Dozier street Monday, July 22 and the other at Quail school Tuesday, July 23.

"Farmer calls show insects are building up as the cotton begins to fruit. We are holding these meetings in these communities with the hope we may be able to help you with your problems," Thomas declared.

A check of fields shows that in irrigated cotton, the flea hopper count is as high as 25 to 30 hoppers per 100 terminal buds.

"I believe we lose more cotton to flea hoppers than to any other cotton insects in our irrigated fields during dry years," he said. "Since we planted late, I think we should watch our fields closely and set a large percent of our first squares."

He farmed at Lutie until his retirement, and continued living there until three years ago, when he moved to Shamrock.

The truck was a total loss, but the tank appeared undamaged, according to O. D. Holton.

According to witnesses, the car pulled onto Highway 83 from 15th Street directly in front of the oncoming butane truck. As Hutchins pulled to the shoulder of the road and stepped on his brakes, the brakes broke, causing the truck to overturn.

Hutchins applied a fire extinguisher to prevent a butane fire.

Change of Name Now Official

C-C Names Four To Board of Directors

Directors of the chamber of commerce in a meeting Thursday night, July 11, canvassed the election that named four new directors, endorsed the change of name of the organization, and heard a discussion of a bridge across Salt Fork north of Quail by highway officials.

In the election, Floyd Teutsch was named director for Dodson, Orville Cunningham for Samnorwood, Z. J. Neeley for Quail. M. W. Stingel was named to fill the unexpired term of Luther Sullivan, who resigned due to the added duties of his business. The term runs until January 1, 1959.

Teutsch, Cunningham and Neeley have served on the board of directors previously.

The directors voted to change the name of the organization to Collingsworth chamber of commerce, since this will indicate more correctly the area it serves. The change was endorsed at a recent chuck wagon stew attended by directors, city officials, and business men and farmers.

At the invitation of the C-C, Palmer Massey, district highway engineer, and Clyde Drake, resident highway engineer, met with the group, along with Judge R. L. Templeton and Commissioner Pat O Hair and Fred Bourlnad of Quail.

State to Begin Aid Program to Totally Disabled

Complete and permanent invalids or persons in the community so mentally deranged that they require continuous oversight to keep them from harming themselves or others, may soon be able to receive small monthly checks from their State Department of Public Welfare through the new state-federal program of Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled. The Constitutional Amendment, which was adopted by the voters in November, 1956, limiting the amount of money that can be appropriated for this program to 1.5 million dollars per year, makes aid possible only to those who are helpless and have no relatives able to support them.

John B. Hessey, Welfare Supervisor for this area, points out this is the only welfare program which requires consideration of the ability of relatives to support. This law defines "responsible relatives" as children, parents, step-children, brothers and sisters. Mr. Hassey said that for the first time in nearly 20 years the Department's Field Workers will be required by law to determine the resources of persons who apply for aid.

The "permanency" and "totality" of the disability will be determined by a State Reviewing Physician after a complete physical of mental evamination by the person's own private physician. Complete helplessness from a medical standpoint, rather than inability to work, is the criteria. The state

Assistant drivers, all high school youths, are Jerry Eudey, Harvey Pat Bradley, Paul Schaub and Gene Latham.

Cooks for the school cafeteria will be Mrs. Charley Bradley, Mrs. Odis Bradley, Mrs. Billingsley and Mrs. J. M. Montgomery.

Cunningham also announced a meeting of all employees of the school for August 10, at 10a. m.

To Prevent Bank Robbery

Secret Kept 25 Years Tells of Bit in Wall

One of Wellington's best kept secrets was told this week to explain the bit that was found in the vault wall of the old City State Bank building.

It wasn't an attempted robbery, but a precaution against a bank robbery, according to V. H. Lindsey who admits "I guess I'm the guilty one."

"Back in the 1930's during the depression, a number of banks in this part of the country had been robbed, and the City State Bank decided it wanted some kind of burglar alarm system," according to Lindsey, longtime employee of West Texas Utilities Co.

"They called in Oran Starkey and me and asked us to install one, and we did. We worked three days in the vault before we got it fixed up," he continued.

Mr. Lindsey remembered it as a system in which anyone in the vault could press a button and this would sound a buzzer in the store next door. Most of the bank robberies of that period were daylight robberies, with bank employees and customers locked in the vault.

"We were sworn to secrecy, and this is the first time I've ever mentioned it," Lindsey said.

And the bit in the wall?

Lindsey and Starkey simply got it in and couldn't get it out. They had to get another bit and bore another hole.

Letters From The PEOPLE

Long Beach, California

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is $4.00 to renew my subscription to the Wellington Leader.

We enjoyed your articles on your recent trip to California. Did you forget to visit Long Beach? We think it is the prettiest city in California. From my kitchen window I can look out and see, on the hill, the Veterans Hospital, Long Beach State College, a beautiful old ranch home, and in the distance the smoke stacks of industry.

There is a heard of sheep grazing in the field across the street from us. They had a crop of some kind of grain, and they took the heads off of it, and instead of baling the hay, they turned this herd of sheep on it. There is a sheep herder and two dogs to watch them. People stop their cars to watch them when they are over this way. This land belongs to the State College and some day will have buildings on it.

That is quite a variety to see in the city limits of a large city like Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Williams and daughters, Ann and Dale of Ohatchee, Alabama, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Gulley, Mrs. E. M. Gulley, Shelline and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Saunders and sons, Mrs. D. L. Cummings, Paula, Pat and Mike, all of Amarillo.

Miss Virda Raburn left last week for Waco where she will visit with relatives. From there she will go to Shreveport, La., where she will spend some time.

Mrs. Pete Fast and daughter, Reenie, of Port Arthur are spending several days visiting with Mrs. Fast's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slay.

Mrs. S. P. Phipps, who is in West Plains Hospital, Muleshoe, continues about the same, the family reports. She is the daughter of Mrs. M. E. Feemster.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ball of Mineral Wells visited over the weekend in the homes of Mr. Ball's sisters and brother, Misses Lena and Lee Ball, and Mr. and Mrs Jack Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cook, accompanied by their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wauer and Susan of Lubbock, returned recently from a three weeks vacation trip to Illinois. In Chicago they visited with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cook and children, and in Rockford with a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George McGill and family.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Payne recently visited the Manatee County Public Beach, managed by the Anna Maria Island Kiwanis Club, near Brandenton, Florida. This stop on the lower west coast was one of a number of points visited by them.

DRESS REVUE WINNERS

Winners of the yarious divisions of the annual 4-H Club Dress Revue Friday are shown with the dresses they modeled. Lois Amerson, seated second from left, will represent the county in the district revue in August, and the winner of that event will compete in the state contest. Lois wore a brown brocaded dress-up dress. Alternate to the district event is Edith Messer, left, wearing a brown and beige street dress. Winners in the younger divisions were Lynn Bourland, center, skirts; Jamie Ross, skirts and blouses, and Ann Ruth Messer, dresses for 12 and 13 year old girls. Lois is from Samnorwood, the others from Quail.

Lois Amerson Wins 4-H Dress Revue and Will Represent County in District Event

Lois Amerson, for 7 years a 4-H Club girl at Samnorwood, was named winner of the 4-H Club dress revue in the senior division Friday, July 12, and will represent the county in the district dress revue.

Edith Messer, Quail, will be the alternate.

This was one of four groups judged, in which girls modeled garments they have made in their club work.

Winning first in the skirt division was Lynn Bourland, Quail. Nancy Hill, Samnorwood, was second and Lonetta Neeley, Quail, third. Jennie Kennedy was the other participant.

By Mrs G. T. Stephens

The American Legion Hall was the scene of a family reunion Sunday, July 7, for members of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. P. DePauw, pioneer residents of the Quail community.

A number of relatives arrived Saturday, and on Sunday most attended church services at Quail and in Wellington. Donna Lowrie at Methodist Meet Donna Lowrie of Dodson Methodist Church returned Monday evening, July 13th, from the 41st Annual Youth Assembly at McMurry College. The Assembly of July 8, through July 13, was a great experience of Christian Stewardship. The theme of the Assembly was "What Is Your Purpose"?

Donna said, "I wish that all Methodist Youth could have gone to this Assembly. We were reminded that :"God needs the talents and skills of Youth today to lead men to his way. Our abilities are important to God, for it is only through those that love Him that His work is done. God demands the very best that we have. We would like a warless world, a world in which there is cooperation instead of competition, where greed is no longer the rule of life. We need to become flaming evangelists if a new, creative way of living in the home, in the church, in the field of recreation, in all phases of our daily life. Nineteen hundred years ago a Man came down to this world to do some very heavy work for us. He was bruised and battered about by men for us. We must do our part to bring His Kingdom Might. The task of kingdom building is not child's play. It demands the highest and best that we are; we must be willing to go the limit in heroic living and serving with Jesus."

I Saw-

By Virginia Robey

Donnitta Jones found how isolated you can get right here at home when she took her girls, Carol and Jan, fishing at the family ranch in the edge of Oklahoma. The car had a flat tire, and only then did she learn someone had borrowed the lug wrench. Al Bettis who lives at the ranch house several miles away was gone for the week end and the nearest neighbor was 9 miles off—too far for the children to walk over the rough country.

They went to the old ranch house, where fishing parties sometimes stay, to spend the night. They had food, but could find nothing to use for a wrench. Next morning they walked several miles to North Elm school, where somebody MIGHT pass. All day went by—nobody came. Carol got frantic; she was supposed to go to Methodist Camp. Little Jan simply got thirsty. That night Donnitta bedded the girls down in the school, and about 10 she saw lights of the first car to pass all day. It was two ranchers she knew, who took her to the home of friends. Sunday morning the whole group, with a lug wrench, went and fixed the flat.

Several days later Donnita told her experience to Al Bettis.

"You know", he said, "I've always figured I'd have a flat over there somewhere without anything to fix it, so I hid a lug wrench under such-and-such a board out a piece from the old house."

School folks Dorothy and Jack Davis have been chopping cotton at their farm in Oklahoma this vacation . . . and Dorothy says she's enjoyed it. "I've done more visiting with my husband as we walked along the cotton rows than I've done in a long time," she told us.

Herschel Francis, known hereabouts as one of the most daring of crop-dusting pilots, had an errand out at John Harpers the other day. Coming in from a spraying job, he simply set his plane down on Highway 83, taxied up the Harper drive way, did his errand, and left the way he came.

A story we heard this-a-way: One of the auditors in the tax office, representing the car tag division of the state, became curious at some of the pickup owners living in town whose vehicles wear farm tags . . .He phoned one of these: "Mr. Blank, are you a farmer," he asked without identifying himself. "No, I'm not a farmer, why do you want to know," replied the man. Stating his name and business, the auditor added: "Since you're not farming, you'd better come down and buy some commercial tags for your pickup."

Young Jimmy Ferguson, pride of his grandparents, is visiting Rev. and Mrs. John Ferguson . . . and Sunday morning Rev. Ferguson gave him a little heart-to-heart talk about being nice at church. "But Granddaddy, how long do you preach," Jimmy wanted to know.

Helen Peeples, who always makes the harvest run north with Ray, came home with the girls from the north plains a few days ago to rest and relax a little before they moved into Kansas. She was just settled when Ray called; the cook had had an accident, could she come back and do the cooking for them?

DON'T CULTIVATE
Accident on your farm

National FARM SAFETY WEEK JULY 21-27 1957

A field half plowed, a furrow left unturned, work stopped by accident?

To the farmer, working against time and weather, delay can mean the difference between a crop and no crop, a good year or a lean one. So accidents have no place in this schedule; they cost money, delay production and the growing season keeps rolling along.

While the death rate for all industry is 29 per 100,000, in agriculture it is 55 per 100,000.

The wise farmer knows where his hazards are and avoids them. Don't "cultivate" accidents and losses! Instead "cultivate" safety and success.

Carelessness
will cost you money

Carelessness about the farm and ranch will cost many people loss in time and money this year . . . it has every year in the past.

That is why we have Farm Safety Week to point up the dangers of farming.

You can help save yourself by taking a careful survey of your surroundings, your machinery, home, barn and everything you work with from day to day. Hazards are not hard to find if you look for them.

for SAFETY
ON THE FARM

Electricity is the farmer's hired hand and the farm wife's chore girl. Hundreds of you enjoy the convenience of electricity in your home and around the place.

Some of you are getting it turned on. But you cannot be careless with electricity. So if you are one of our customers . . .

MAKE THIS ELECTRICAL CHECK-UP

Are all electric circuits equipped with proper fuses?

(Branch fuses should generally not exceed 15 amp.)

Do you cut off current when working on electrical equipment?

Are you using an approved commercial electric fence controller?

Is the pathway to main switch box free of all obstructions?

Do you avoid replacing burned out fuses with coins, wire and other metals?

National FARM SAFETY WEEK JULY 21-27 1957

Do you use moisture-proof cords for outside weather conditions, and heavy rubber cords for motors and motor driven appliances?

Are all electrical appliances in proper condition? Are they being properly operated?

Do you know how to treat cases of electric shock?

Correct These Hazards on Your Farm

Don't try to repair outside lines and equipment. It can be highly dangerous. Instead, phone us (119 day or 469-J night) and we will be out immediately to fix the trouble.

The main line serving your place carries 3 times the voltage used on an electric chair.

CROSSROADS * REPORT

I see where a government expert says the living standard of farmers is 15 per cent higher than it was in 1950. This shows the high grade of experting we get these days. He doesn't just say farmers are getting along better; he draws it down to a gnat's bristle and says they are living 15 per cent higher.

My farming neighbor says the figures are pretty accurate. In his case, he is now 50 per cent deeper in debt and is paying only 35 per cent more interest and taxes, which obviously leaves him 15 per cent for higher living.

I see where a National Conference on Education for Leisure has been organized. With the four-day work week coming, I guess the idea is to teach people how to loaf elegantly the other three days.

The non-dues-paying advisory committee of our chamber of commerce here thinks a good new business for our town would be a Loafing College.

The whole faculty could be recruited right here at home. We have plenty of journeyman loafers to teach the fundamentals, and past masters of the art to instruct students working toward a degree in loafing.

I note considerable dismay in some financial circles about what is liable to happen to the U. S. economy if the disarmament threat materializes.

Economics experts figure that if the government stops spending so much money for arms, business will fall off and a bad depression set in.

But our local to-the-rescue committee has a plan to offset this peril. If the government will let us citizens keep the money saved by disarmament, the committee thinks we can support business in its usual style by spending just as fast and reckless as the armed forces buyers.

I see where Agriculture Secretary Benson says if farmers would take lower prices for their products they could sell lots more of same and the bigger volume of business would make them all rich.

My laboring neighbor says this sounds very logical. And he don't see why this same magic formula wouldn't work for other businesses as well as for farming.

Figures he could get two jobs by offering to work for half price, and this would enable him to get himself some of this high-volume prosperity.

I see where Senator Douglas says the main aim of the Civil Rights Bill is to stop civil rights stealers before they can do their dirty work.

This is a noble objective. And we can hope the crystal ball department set up by this law will also be useful for putting murderers away before they kill anybody.

Would be mighty helpful, too, if we could call on the dirty-aim spotters just before elections to point out congressional and presidential candidates who are going to crawfish on their campaign promises.

Does seem like we do a lot of unnecessary worrying about what the world is coming to. Nature always comes up with some kind of an answer.

Like this matter of the 4-day work week which is predicted will come. Our local world improvement committee has worried considerable about how people can manage to stay out of mischief with three off days every week.

But Providence has already provided for this situation. By arranging for man to discover TV. Now a citizen can hibernate in front of this instrument and bridge any length of gap between periods of usefulness.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Moore and children of Amarillo visited their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Polk Hooten Saturday in Shamrock. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Coleman also enjoyed a visit with them.

Co. Paul Contana and family of Washington, D. C., flew from that city and visited over Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wood Coleman. Col. Fontana is their brother-in-law. They then went to Amarillo to visit the children's grandmother and family, Mrs. Mamie Lockwood.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson Jr. and his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Wilson visited Mr. and Mrs. Alex Coleman and girls while here for the funeral of their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Edd Sublet.

—By Deskins Wells

On August 31 an election will be held to confirm the water rights to seven associated cities including Wellington to the water that flows down Salt Fork. It is not a bond election and will not and can not affect taxes in any manner. It will simply enable the Greenbelt cities to hold on to the water rights that Oklahoma has been coveting for years. You may depend on it that if we ever give up these water rights, we will never get them back. This is one election that should pass by an overwhelming majority. We have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

I see no reason for any person voting against the proposition. The election will give us time to make plans for the future. The 55th Legislature amended the original legislation to make it possible for cities to withdraw from the Authority after the confirmation, so as I said we have everything to gain and nothing to lose by holding on to water rights that belong to us.

There is more than meets the eye in all the face lifting of buildings that is going on around the square in Wellington. Most observers don't believe that it is the amount of business the various firms are doing for that is only average good. Neither do they believe that it is due entirely to the extensive gas development that El Paso is making in the north part of the county. They think that the leasing south of Wellington is an important factor. Representatives of a major company have leased almost solidly from Fresno through Dodson. Just to find out who it was, I refused to lease unless I could lease direct to the company. Since it is now a matter of record in the courthouse, I don't mind telling you that it is the Shell Oil Company.

That inimitable and industrious Nimro Higdon has been doing a wonderful job in building a positive and forward looking spirit in Wellington since he took charge of the Chamber of Commerce, and it has been enlarged to be a County Chamber of Commerce. The other day he stood flat footed and told all the Leader people that Wellington was the most prosperous town east of Amarillo.

Just looked out the window and saw Joe Morgan, the architect, and Taddy Pounds who is working for him this summer, carefully measuring every part of the Small building on the south-southwest corner of the square. That means something also. Joe Morgan does not go around measuring buildings just to keep in practice and people do not pay his price if they want a patch job on the roof or a minor repair job in bricklaying.

Lefty Thomas says that the flea hoppers are as bad this year as ever before and plans to hold three field demonstrations or possibly it would be better to call them inspection trips. The first will be in Wellington Friday and at Dozier next Monday and Quail Tuesday. It is Lefty's opinion that the flea hopper causes more money damage to cotton than either worms, grasshoppers and other inscets. The flea hoppers destroy the early cotton that would bring the best price.

You people who live in town should go out and take a careful look at your evergreens. Mine are literally loaded with bagworms and they can kill a tree in a few weeks. Poison can be used when the worms are small to good advantage. People with small evergreens can pick them off and burn them; but this is a very tedious matter and is not too satisfactory. Don't be deceived by the fact that they seem to be immobile and throw them on the ground. They simply inch about half way out of their protective covering and climb back on the tree and start eating again. They like evergreens best. but I have seen them go from the evergreens to the Sycamores and other deciduous trees. To save Bernice Welch from looking it up in the dictionary I will explain that a deciduous tree is one that sheds its leaves in the winter time. The evergreens are called conifers.

About twenty years ago the town became infested with bagworms and many evergreen trees were destroyed before people knew what was happening. (That must have been before the day of Lefty Thomas on account of he would not let that happen nohow). It was in the days when I was full of enterprise.: I offered a free theatre ticket to every boy and girl who would bring me a one eight bushel poke (that is a paper sack) full of bagworms. The children had a picnic and by nightfall of the first day the office of The Wellington Leader was stacked nearly to the ceiling with paper sacks filled with bagworms.

About six o'clock I left the office feeling mighty good and reveling in the pulling power of the printed word and remembering the happy faces of the children. What I didn't konw was a single thing about the habits, actions and even criminal instincts of this sly little catepillar that clothes itself with foilage of the tree it is destined to destroy.

I was the first to open the office the next morning. The bagworms had eaten through their sacks. They were crawling over the front windows and it looked like the newspaper had bought solid green "moving" shades. They were on the floor and on the desks. They were up on the walls and the shelves eating away at the new paper we had to sell and the yellow files of old papers. The smell was terrible.

We started cleaning up as soon the the full force arrived. A big ink barrel was fired in the alley. The girls took brooms and raked them from the front windows, shelves, and swept. Two boys carted them away and dumped them into the former ink barrel. One man did nothing but watch the fire and pour on more crude oil which we purchased from Ralph Ball by the hour. The next day the children optimistically kept bringing in their sacks of bagworms. They were given their Ritz theatre tickets at the front; but they were "ordered" to take their sack of bagworms around to the alley. No printing was done on Thursday, Friday or Saturday. It was the first and the last time that The Leader ever sponsored a bagworm hunt.

tion of a bridge across Salt Fork north of Quail, in the Marella community, would divert money that otherwise would go to build farm-to-market roads, that would serve more people than would the bridge.

He urged the group, however, to continue work for the bridge and expressed the opinion that later on it could be had.

This bridge was washed out by floodwaters in 1955.

A Field Worker will then call, as soon as possible, at the home to take the application.
