Democrats Favor Liberal Rule to Permit Dry Law Test

WILD CHEERS WITH VIGOROUS HANDCLAPS GREET SELECTION GARNER FOR SPEAKER HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (US)—After unanimously nominating Representative John N. Garner, Democrat, of Texas, for speaker of the house, the Democrats in that body in caucus today, voted in favor of a liberal rule for procedure in the forthcoming congress which would permit a record vote on prohibition.

With cheers and vigorous handclapping, Garner was acclaimed the Democrat's choice for speaker.

The Democrats voted to support a rule enabling 145 members by signing a petition to compel a vote on prohibition or any other measure backed by the signers.

It was by a vote of 138 to 38 that the Democrats decided in favor of supporting the so-called "145 rule."

Plan Democratic Program

Garner was authorized by the caucus to appoint a committee to collaborate with a similar committee to be appointed by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic senate leader, to draft a Democratic program for meeting the economic and other problems facing the country.

A resolution expressing regret over the death of Speaker Nicholas Longworth was adopted upon motion of Garner, who was a close personal friend of the late speaker.

LEADER CHINA TELLS LEAGUE COUNTRY FIRM

Resigns, Reconsiders and Consents to Stay With Government

FOREIGN MINISTER ALSO QUITS OFFICIAL POST

Japanese Spokesman Says Country Will Accept No Interference

TOKYO, Dec. 5. (Sunday) (AP)—A Rengo dispatch from Mukden today said there was an unconfirmed report from a Chinese source at Peiping that General Honjo, Japanese commander in Manchuria, had served final notice on Chang Hsueh-Liang to withdraw his Chinese troops west of Chinchow immediately.

(By The Associated Press)

The Chinese will not evacuate Chinchow but will "fight and die there if necessary," Dr. Alfred Sze told the League of Nations council yesterday.

After making this statement Dr. Sze conferred with Ambassador Charles G. Dawes to learn what attitude the United States would take if Japanese troops occupied Chinchow.

Japan's league spokesman informed the council his government was unalterably opposed to intervention by a third party in the Manchurian conflict. He explained such intervention was unacceptable whether effected through a commission of inquiry or by neutral observers.

Submit Resignations

Urged by President Chiang Kai-Shek, Dr. Sze reconsidered and consented to stay. Dr. Koo was expected to stick by his decision.

Railway traffic at Peiping was tied up by demonstrations put on by 2,000 university students. They demanded free transportation to Nanking that they might protest against the government's Manchurian policy.

A new drive against bandits in the vicinity of Hsinmintun was announced in Tokyo. Reports there were that negotiations between China and Japan for the establishment of a neutral zone had been broken off. A foreign office spokesman expressed fears the government might not be able to keep the army in check.

Col. James G. McIlroy of the United States army left Mukden for Chinchow where, with Col. Nelson E. Margetts, he will draw up a report for the Washington government.

TWO UNMASKED YOUTHS HOLDUP GROCERY STORE

Two young unmasked bandits held up and robbed the Queen City Grocery at 804 Polk, forced the proprietor, W. D. Bolding, to open the cash register, and escaped with about $10 in cash, about 7:40 Saturday night.

Mr. Bolding was alone in the store at the time the bandits entered. Both men were armed and immediately commanded Mr. Bolding to turn over the cash. After they had ransacked the register, the youths ordered Mr. Bolding to remain in the rear of the store until they had made their escape.

As they left the store they met a woman customer in the doorway. They struck at her but she dodged and was unharmed, Mr. Bolding told police.

The woman told Mr. Bolding the youths went to the corner of Eighth and Polk and stood there for several minutes, where they watched her until she entered her home near the store. She was unable to say in which direction they went from the corner where they stopped.

DEPOSED PRESIDENT REPUBLIC SALVADOR DECLINES PROPOSAL

SAN SALVADOR, Republic of Salvador, Dec. 5. (AP)—The new Junta government headed by Gen. Maximiliano H. Martinez disclosed today there had been an effort to induce the deposed president, Arturo Araujo, to strike back in an effort to regain his place at the head of the government.

The president fled into Guatemala when the rebels gave him 24 hours to get out of the country, but when he stopped on the way at the military garrison of Santa Ana, officers there told him they would support him in a counter movement against General Martinez.

The offer was not accepted, well-informed persons said, and it seemed certain today President Araujo had no intention of combatting the Junta.

He sent a message to General Martinez from San Cristobal, on the Guatemalan frontier, saying he had entrusted the executive powers to Dr. J. M. Olano, the second designate to the presidency. Dr. Orlano, however, also had fled San Salvador.

One of the first acts of the new regime today was to release all military prisoners.

'Round-World' Days Arrive in Wichita For Week-End Visit

A smiling blue-eyed young woman and a tall young man, both bronzed to a glistening tan by strong winds and the rays of the sun, flew into Wichita Falls at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon on one of the last laps of a round-the-world trip by airplane and steamship.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Day, of New York City. They are at the Kemp hotel during their stay here, to continue until Monday morning.

Last June the Days sailed for London, shipping their two-seater biplane equipped with an inverted Martin motor, and from there set sail, by a zig-zag route, for Shanghai, China. Their flight carried them across Europe, the Balkan states, Turkey, Palestine, Damascus, and the Assyrian desert, along the Arabian seashore and the Burma coast to Siam. From Siam they flew to Shanghai by way of Indo China, and from Shanghai they came home by steamer, again shipping their plane.

"A forced landing in the jungles of Burma," Mrs. Day said, "was the most thrilling part of the trip. We came down, short of petrol—they call it that in those countries—

Baering Down on News With 'Baer'

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Can't bulldoze Senator Borah.

Unless we get a reprieve from the governor, congress opens tomorrow, ready or not.

The boys have quite a few private grudges to settle in public.

There is an undercurrent of resentment running through the senate against the rule of the old guard.

Moses spoke out of turn. Anybody is talking out of turn when Senator Borah is listening.

List to Mr. Borah's defiance, "I will not be bulldozed, threatened, cajoled, flattered, browbeaten, nor reasoned with."

That has an international flavor. It sounds like the Japanese in Manchuria.

DEATH QUIETS LEONINE ROAR MODERN BARD

Vachel Lindsay is dead at the age of 52 years. He died here, the city of his birth, at 1 o'clock this morning from a clogging of the coronary artery.

Tonight his body lay in the Lindsay homestead where he wrote the poetry that made him famous and where, in expressing his "gospel of beauty," he wrote of Springfield remade in "The Golden Book of Springfield."

Minstrel, troubador, tramp, exponent of the art of the motion picture, art critic, journalist, Y. M. C. A. and anti-saloon lecturer, his interests were varied and contacts worldwide.

The loss literature sustained by his death was expressed by inpouring telegraphic tributes and regrets.

Time alone will determine the permanence of his place in literature but no book of modern poetry had neglected him. Fifteen years ago his poetry, particularly "General Booth Enters Heaven," precipitated violent controversy, fanned later by his "Congo," "Santa Fe Trail" and "Red Bartender."

Much of Lindsay's characteristic poetry depended upon his peculiar rendition and rich and powerful qualities of his voice. He regarded himself as a troubador, and read his poetry in a chant. He opposed any attempt to put his verse to music saying it was music in itself.

The men robbers pointed guns at Lulu Koester, bookkeeper, and H. W. Davidson, cashier, while the money was being given to their girl accomplice. Miss Koester and Davidson then were forced to lie on the floor while the holdup trio fled, early this morning.

The banquet which was given at the Woman's Forum building was attended by more than 450 persons, including many guests from neighboring cities and towns in Texas and Oklahoma. T. J. Waggoner Jr., president of the organization, presided.

VOTERS GIVE OVERWHELMING MAJORITY IN FAVOR OF PLAN FOR MUNICIPAL GAS SYSTEM

Totals	1491	62	1569

Citizens of Wichita Falls went to the polls Saturday and expressed their opinion in no uncertain terms by voting 1,491 to 62 in favor of the city council's proposal to establish and operate a municipal plan for the distribution of natural gas. The total vote cast was 1,569, several mutilated ballots being thrown out by judges.

This vote was a little better than 24 to 1 in favor of the proposal.

The election was called by the city council at the recommendation of the citizens' committee as a final step in the city's fight to establish lower gas rates.

The first step in the campaign was a request that the gas company be allowed to set up a new schedule of rates. When this was presented by the Municipal Gas company to the city the supposedly lower schedule was found to actually increase the rates charged a majority of domestic users.

The council then passed an ordinance reducing gas rates from 75 to 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet and abolishing the monthly service charge. This ordinance was to go into effect Oct. 1, but was blocked when the gas company had the ordinance suspended by the state railroad commission pending an investigation of the local situation.

The election held Saturday was for the purpose of determining whether the people of this city were in favor of a municipal gas plant with the stipulation that such a plant, if established, would be paid for out of its revenues.

The next step in the fight will probably be the obtaining of bids on the establishment of such a plant and a second election to determine if the plan worked out for the plant's establishment is acceptable to the voters.

Walker of New York for a pardon for Thomas Mooney, Mrs. Mary Mooney, 83-year-old mother of the alleged bomber, was removed to a hospital as a result of a nervous collapse.

At the hospital it was said Mrs. Mooney's condition was due to her excitement as a result of the visit of Mayor Walker and other attorneys to San Francisco. She has been ill for some time.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL IN BIG SPRING

BIG SPRING, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—An attractive woman, about 30 years of age, who registered at a hotel here last night as "Mrs. I. Hunt, Chicago," was found dead today in a hotel room.

An empty bottle which officers said had contained a disinfectant was found in the room and the woman left a note saying, "An autopsy is not necessary. Please turn my body over to the proper officials. Don't try to locate relatives. As an act of kindness to them and to me, I have come here with the intention of avoiding that and am far away. Kindly keep the suicide out of the papers and quiet so far as possible."

A cash fare Pullman ticket from Dallas to Big Spring, signed by the train conductor, was found, torn in bits, in a cuspidor in the room.

The woman was five feet six inches in height, had brown hair and eyes and weighed about 125 pounds. No articles were found which might establish her identity excepting two small snapshots in her purse and one picture of herself. Among her belongings was a pair of shoes with the label of an El Paso firm and a dress with a Dallas store label.

Senator Borah Offers Settlement World Court Issue This Congress Believe Opponents Have Advantage

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The leader of the fight against the world court—Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee—today offered a settlement of the issue at this session.

He proposed that the senate debate and dispose of the controversial question of American adherence after "pressing domestic matters are out of the way."

Willingness for a vote this session was expressed in a statement denying printed declarations that he would seek to defer the whole issue.

Meanwhile, there is a growing conviction among the court opponents that their strength in the senate is gaining. They make no predictions, yet. Advocates of adherence are still confident but the leaders are beginning to count noses. A two-thirds vote is necessary for ratification.

The senate, five years ago, voted overwhelmingly to enter the court with reservations

Two Women Booked for Attack On Daughter of Late Texas Official While Guest in San Antonio Home

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—Two women were booked at the police station late today in connection with a mysterious attack on Miss Alyta Terrell, 35, in her room early this morning.

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—Miss Alyta Terrell, injured in San Antonio today when struck on the head by two women who apparently mistook her for some one else, is a sister of former State Comptroller Sam Houston Terrell of Austin.

Her father, the late H. B. Terrell, also served the state as comptroller.

Miss Terrell, who was struck on the head with a heavy instrument, is a sister of former State Comptroller Sam H. Terrell of Austin. Her father, the late H. B. Terrell, also served as state comptroller.

According to Mrs. Annabelle Leigh, who lives with Miss Terrell, she was returning from a grocery store when she saw two women run from the house and get into an automobile. Which was then driven away rapidly. Mrs. Leigh told Detective Hugh Proudfoot that she overheard one of the women say "I believe we have made a mistake."

Mrs. Leigh said she recognized the women and detectives arrested two women.

Another mysterious angle in the case is the fact that a call was received at detective headquarters from the same address about 15 minutes before the attack on Miss Terrell was reported. However, the first report told of a burglary and the loss of a valuable watch belonging to Mrs. Leigh, detectives said. When detectives answered the call, Mrs. Leigh declared she had reported no burglary, the officers said.

KIBITZERS TO BE OUTCAST AT LENTZ-CULBERTSON MARATHON TO PROVE MERITS OF SYSTEMS

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (INS)—For five weeks, beginning Monday next, "kibitzers" will be outcast from the highest circles of bridge society, exiled as unwanted, interfereing meddlers.

The eagerly awaited Marathon contract bridge tournament between Ely Culbertson and Sidney Lenz, designed to prove the merits of their respective "approach-forcing" and "1-2-3" systems, will be a closed affair.

It will be played within the silent confines of a hotel room, with no heavily-breathing spectators on hand to offer gratuitous words of cheer or criticism, or to vent gasps of astonishment and apprehension if Mr. Culbertson or Mr. Lenz elects to discard an ace.

An adjoining room has been set aside for reporters and bridge experts wherein to cool their heels and porsibly indulge in a fumbling rubber or two while the epic match is in progress. At intervals, some duly constituted authority will issue from the tournament chamber and announce the score and standing to date. But those who hoped to profit by a few lessons from the outstanding contract bridge authorities in the world by hanging over the back of Mr. Lenz's or Mr. Culbertson's chair are doomed to disappointment.

Mrs. Josephine Culbertson, wife of the great star, who will partner her husband and write a description of each evening's play exclusively for International News Service, told somewhat apologetically of the decision to bar spectators from the match.

"On previous occasions," she said, "it was found a terrible handicap to have spectators present at a match of this sort.

"No one concerned in this tournament has the least desire to be secretive or 'exclusive,' but it simply is not practicable to have people standing around behind the chairs while play is in progress.

"In the first place, the player cannot help but feel uncomfortable when spectators are standing behind him, craning their necks to see what cards are played and straining their ears to hear every nuance of bidding."

Consequently, when Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson pair off against Lenz and Oswald Jacoby, their play will be witnessed only by referees, umpires, scorekeepers and a corps of statisticians and tabulators, each pledged to remain stolid and unmoved regardless of what happens.

So far as actual "kibitzing" is concerned, none of the players minds it in the least—provided the "kibitzers" do other stuff behind the closed doors of another room or the next day when they read all about it in the newspapers.

SEXTON SPEAKS AT JUNIOR C. C. PARTY

were elected by secret ballot during the dinner hour. The eight selected were Will Gray, Cliff Deaton, Frank Wolf, Don B. Haynes, J. Paul Montgomery, H. B. Dudley, Jack Jeffus and Ralph Pond. The seven carry-overs of the board are Temple Shell, A. L. Hecht, Paul Hines, Alvah Conner, Pat Hardage, Henry Penix, and Floyd L. Randel.

Dr. Sexton was introduced to the meeting by Walter D. Cline, city, who complimented the speaker as a man true to his theory of Christian living. Mr. Cline related phases of the speaker's life while located near Wichita Falls as a minister of the Methodist church, a man rich in wholesome, fine and clean thought, one who had experienced a lifetime of service.

"Civic Organization and Present World Affairs" was the subject of Dr. Sexton's address. He pleasantly told of the three types of man—the selfish, the lone wolf and the cooperator—and said that such civic organizations as the Junior chamber were classed in the third division.

Cooperation Outstanding"

"Cooperation and combined strength stand out," he said "and men, knowing of the cooperation in nature and how working together makes nature wonderfully supreme, are coming together in their works, following nature's principals."

The people of the world, according to the speaker, are facing the greatest tragedy since the world's creation, and only two courses are left for them. One to go down to extinction through selfishness, and the other to come together in the philosophy of Christ Jesus. Christ Jesus taught the world a philosophy of cooperation, and only combined power will produce in the one great recognition of God out of which inevitably will grow a brotherhood of men.

Christ was the first and reddest revolutionist of all—He, a mover and an organizer, worked to change the conditions of the world to a cooperating brotherhood.

""The only manner by which the world will come gloriously forth from its impednig tragedy will be through the realization of the doctrine of the Man of Galilee," Dr. Sexton said in closing his address.

An invocation, pior to the dinner hour, was offered by Dr. H. T. Wood.

Distinguished Visitors

Featuring the banquet entertainment was the presentation of a group of distinguished visitors, all rrom the different climes of the world. Due, however, to a misunderstanding, the true personalities were unable to attend, and local chamber members were substituted in their stead. They were Frank Haley as Mahatma Gandhi, Buck Freeman as Al Capone, George Watson as Walter Winchell, Ken Cushing as King Carol of Rumania, Judge H. J. Bruce as Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma and Jack Jeffus as King Joe of Nazilia.

"Cabaret Capers" by Ruthe Laird Lone Star Steppers of Dallas featured exceptionaly specialty dances. Among the outstanding numbers were a series of tap dances by Audrey Frederick, Anita Thompson's Russian dance and the husky-voiced blues singer, Lois Nixon.

Bub and Web, a stage duo, offered several pleasing song numbers with Web at the piano. Unusually appreciated was the musical program given by Gordon Shay's orchestra during the dinner.

"Bleatings from the Bovine Barracks," featuring Don "Hired Man" Haynes, was an interesting entertainment feature. Comedy skits offered were titled "A Junior Chamber of Commerce Directors' Meeting," "A Radio Broadcast," "Home in an Austin" and the grand finale.

Officials Are Present

Among the honor guests were Lee B. Thompson, Oklahoma City attorney, representing the National Junior Chamber of Commerce as a vice president of the organization, and J. Howard Hayden, Dallas, director of the national group, both of whom spoke briefly.

Introduction of out-of-town guests was made by T. J. Waggoner Jr. As a gift from the chamber, Mr. Waggoner Jr., was presented a reading light.

PLAINS DELEGATES MEET IN ABILENE FOR ROAD PARLEY

AMARILLO, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—Delegations from four Panhandle counties, Oldham, Donley, Gray and Ochiltree, and engineers associated with the Amarillo division of the state highway department left here today for Abilene for a conference with members of the state highway commission.

Road problems confronting these counties will be discussed with Chairman W. R. Ely and State Highway Engineer Gibbs Gilchrist in a week-end conference. Oldham and Donley counties will iron out problems concerning proposed road bond elections, and Gray and Ochiltree counties will discuss routes.

Gray county's bonds, an issue of more than $2,000,000, have been voted. Ochiltree county will vote Dec. 26 on an issue of $400,000.

A cheaper type of construction, involving the use of native materials, will be discussed for Oldham and Donley counties.

The conference was originally announced for Amarillo next Monday

GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND ORDERS PROSECUTION OF MOB LYNCHING NEGRO

BALTIMORE, Dec. 5. (AP)—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie tonight ordered Attorney General Lane to assist Wicomico county authorities in a "vigorous prosecution" of the mob which last night invaded a Salisbury, Md., hospital to seize Matthew Williams, negro, and burn his body after lynching him.

Clergymen here and the Baltimore branch of the International Labor Defense league demanded of the governor a prompt investigation.

CAPT. HAWKS SPENDS NIGHT IN SALT LAKE

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 5. (AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks arrived at the local airport at 4 p. m. M. S. T. today "a bit tired and still somewhat shakey" to spend the night. He came here from Yreka, Calif., making the 587-mile hope in three hours' flying time. He halted at Alturas en route.

Captain Hawks expressed deep sorrow when advised of the death of Lowell R. Bayles, speed flier in Detroit today. They were close friends.

about 10 miles from any settlement. The natives, frightful brown men, led us to a settlement."

Their narrowest escape, they said, was from the tropical fever which they contracted in India.

They arrived in San Francisco a week ago Friday. Monday they will fly to Oklahoma City, where they are to be the guests of the city, then back to Dallas and on to New York City by the American Airways route.

"London shirts were and are the main difficulty of the trip to me," Mr. Day replied when asked of the most troublesome detail of the flight.

The Days travel "light," carrying 60 pounds of luggage and a portable typewriter. Mrs. Day is preparing a story of the trip, to be in first edition within the next few months; a table which she believes will be both instructive and appealing.

They ate en route except in this country, where accommodations are better. They alternate on piloting the plane, while Mrs. Day handles the bulk of the navigating. In this country, she said, navigating is an easy problem, but in Europe and Asia it was especially difficult.

Once in the past Mr. Day passed through Wichita Falls by air, never having made a stay of length here.

Mrs. Day is the first American woman to fly around the world, and their plane, designed by Mr. Day, is the first American plane to make the trip.

SAD-EYED, ILL MAHATMA GANDHI COMPARES DESTINY TO CHRIST'S ON DEPARTURE FOR INDIAN HOME

LONDON, Dec. 5. (US)—A sad-eyed, ill Mahatma Gandhi left for India today, describing his destiny as similar to that of Christ.

While a crowd outside his third-class railroad coach sang "Auld Lang Syne" and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," the Mahatma—"saint" to his countrymen—meditatively suggested to an interviewer:

"Your Christ was crucified."

"Do you compare yourself with Christ?"

"Only to the extent that he died for a principle; I am willing to do that. One of your heroes—Nathan Hale—said he regretted he had but one life to give for his country. Had I a thousand lives I would give them for India's independence. It is difficult to convince you occidentals that nothing short of complete independence will stem my countrymen's passions."

A frequent cough shook Gandhi as he spoke. His son, Davidas, said he was worried at the cold's persistence. Gandhi shook the hands of many of the hundreds who crowded Victoria station. Madeleine Slade, his English disciple, accepted a bouquet from George Lansbury, former Laborite minister.

Leaving English soil at Folkestone, where he took a channel boat for Boulogne, Gandhi made a final public appeal to Britain to revoke the harsh ordinances promulgated for the Indian province of Bengal, describing them as "the most inhuman piece of legislation in history." Scotland Yard detectives accompany him to Brindisi, Italy, where he sails for India, Dec. 14. His farewell message to the English people was:

"If it falls to my lot to fight them, I shall fight without hatred, but with love, even as I would fight my dearest relative."

CONNALLY PREDICTS PRESIDENTIAL VETO FOR TARIFF MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—A presidential veto was the fate predicted tonight by Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, for any tariff reduction bill approved at this congress.

Speaking in the National Radio forum of the Washington Evening Star, he said:

"A bill repealing the present tariff law and restoring the old Fordney-McCumber rates has been suggested. There are those who propose the enactment of legislation based on reciprocity with foreign nations. No one knows what may transpire. It is assumed that the president will veto any amelioration of tariff burdens."

SECOND DEATH RESULT WILD DRIVE IN SAFETY ZONE IN KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 5. (AP)—Miss Ruth Herod, 18, died today from the broken neck suffered last night when she was struck by an automobile which swerved into a safety zone, killing Miss Louise Hartl, 18, and injuring 10 others.

Physicians today said there was little hope for the recovery of a third victim of the accident, Mrs. Vergil Collier, who suffered a fractured skull. All were employes of a mail order house.

S. A. BOWDEN OF MUNDAY DIES IN LOCAL HOSPITAL

A career of service ended S. A. Bowden, a prominent citizen of Munday since 1908, passed away Saturday at a local hospital.

Mr. Bowden, well known here, was a director of the Munday bank, prominent in the Munday Methodist church and a director of the church choir. He had never missed a conference of the church since residing at Munday.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. C. J. Reese of Fort Worth, Mrs. A. McGraw and Mrs. Oscar Spann, both of Munday, two sons, Chester Bowden and Levi Bowden, both of Munday and Mrs. Bowden. Funeral arrangements were not complete Saturday night.

TRIAL OF POWERS ALLEGED SLAYER STARTS ON MONDAY

CLARKBURG, W. Va., Dec. 5. (AP)—In an opera house within a block of where Stonewall Jackson was born and on a stage where George Arliss once played, Harry F. Powers, West Virginia's alleged Bluebeard, will go on trial for his life Monday.

The pudgy 45-year-old lothario of the Blue Ridge hills is under indictment for murdering two women and three children in an elaborately constructed slaughterhouse with subterranean death chambers at Quiet Dell, near here.

He will be tried first, however, only for the slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Lemke, Northboro, Mass., trained nurse, whom he is accused of luring from her home on a pretext of marrying her and taking her to a "big ranch out West." The opera house was being equipped for the strangest drama of its history.

On a stage once trod by celebrated theatrical folk, a bench was being erected for Judge John C. Southern. Seats were being built for the jurors who will be selected from a panel of 75 farmers and business men. Tables were being put in boxes for reporters. Twelve hundred seats in the orchestra pit were being dusted off for the crowds that will flock to hear the gruesome story of the Bluebeard killings.

Meanwhile, Powers sat smiling in a cell as he read newspaper accounts of the preparations. He showed no emotion when told Prosecutor Will C. Morris would demand he be hanged.

CLINT LEWIS GIVEN THREE-YEAR-TERM ON EXTORTION CHARGES

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—Clint D. Lewis, Burleson county sheriff, was convicted of extortion by a jury in district court here tonight and sentenced to three years imprisonment.

His attorneys planned an immediate appeal. Pending action on that, Lewis will be removed from office.

Lewis was charged with extortionate claims against the state for fees and mileage in criminal cases. The jury was out about an hour.

DEMOCRATS FAVOR LIBERALIZED RULES

a rule, its adoption by the house was considered certain, thereby paving the way for the first showdown on national prohibition since its adoption.

The anti-prohibition forces should have no difficulty in obtaining 145 member signatures since it is claimed that about 170 are committed against Volsteadism.

Democratic Control Assured

Election by the house Monday is practically assured, and Representative William W. Larsen of Georgia, were the only absentee today, but he will be here for the opening of the session.

Facing Garner for the speakership will be Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, the Republicans' choice. As his defeat is now considered likely, Snell will be named minority floor leader.

Representative John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, who has been serving as Republican floor leader, will withdraw from the floor leadership in favor of Snell at a Republican conference Monday night, assuming, of course, that Garner is elected speaker.

Representative Henry T. Rainey, Democrat of Illinois, white-haired veteran in congress, was elected by the Democrats as their floor leader, the next highest post to the speakership.

Representative Hatton W. Sumners, Democrat of Texas, nominated Garner for the speakership, charging the Republicans with misrule and failure to remedy economic conditions.

The nominating speech for Rainey was made by Representative Adolph J. Sabath, Democrat of Illinois, who described Rainey as "sound, sane and progressive."

Shoulder to Shoulder

Representative John J. O'Connor, Tammany Democrat from New York, who withdrew from the floor leadership race, made a seconding speech for Rainey. The 23 Democratic members from New York will march shoulder to shoulder with the Democrats from the rest of the country for a successful record in the forthcoming congress, he said.

With the Democrats coming into control of the house, it means that about 400 Republican patronage employes will be turned out and their jobs filled by Democrats.

At their caucus the Democrats selected Kenneth Romney of Montana; for years an employe in the sergeant-at-arms office, to be sergeant-at-arms. He will displace Joseph G. Rodgers of Pennsylvania, who has held the office all through the Republican rule.

For doorkeeper the Democrats chose Joseph Sinnott of Virginia, now assistant doorkeeper and a house employe for many years. Bert Kennedy, doorkeeper under the Republicans, will step to a minority job, probably assistant doorkeeper.

Dr. James Shera Montgomery, pastor of the Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, and chaplain of the house in the last congress, was selected to continue in that position.

DR. SEXTON TO PREACH HERE SUNDAY MORNING

Dr. George S. Sexton, president of Centenary college of Shreveport, La., will occupy the pulpit at the First Methodist church, South, at the morning services Sunday, it was announced Saturday night.

PHOTOGRAPHER FOR WASHINGTON PAPER BEATEN BY OFFICER

BLADENSBURG, Md., Dec. 5. (UP)—The Washington Daily News charged today that its photographer was blackjacked last night by a Maryland constable after threats had followed editorials charging laxity in investigation of a murder.

Thomas P. McAvoy, the cameraman, was taken to a Washington hospital with a severe wound in his scalp. It was received, he said, after the inquest into what is known here as "the old colonial tea house murder."

The beating was preceded, the News said, by telephonic threats purporting to be from Alan Bowie, Prince Georges county state's attorney, and a man representing himself to be Chief of Police J. J. Crowley of Hyattsville, the county seat.

The newspaper's cameraman and reporters were threatened with violence if they "set foot in the county."

As result of the beating received by McAvoy last night, Governor Ritchie has been asked to investigate. The department of justice may be asked to act if the case lies within its province.

The beating of McAvoy took place immediately after adjournment of the inquest into the death of Grover Amick, slain by gangsters who invaded the resort early one morning and shot down employes and patrons.

New Controversy Flares Oklahoma Municipal Battle

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5. (UP)—A bitter political controversy flared in the Oklahoma City municipal administration today with Gov. William H. Murray threatening to become a participant.

Councilman A. H. Jacoby, one of the four new members elected on a reform ticket, filed an expense claim for $199 for his trip to the Cleveland national air convention. The claim was approved.

Earlier in the week, the claim came under criticism and an ouster suit was filed. It was charged the claim was excessive. Governor Murray issued an executive order appointing Sid White as special attorney to prosecute the councilman. Today he notified the city auditor to preserve all expense accounts for inspection.

At the same time Mayor C. J. Blinn, ired by the accusations, ordered complete investigation of expense claims in his administration and the preceding administration.

"I'll fight fire with fire," the mayor declared. He branded the charges as "a vicious move to discredit the new administration, and return to power by ousting a councilman, the old political-contractor group."

Murray was caustically criticized for dabbling in city affairs by Carl Magee, editor of the Oklahoma News.

BEAUTIFUL NEW 1932 CHEVROLETS ON DISPLAY

NEW 1932 CHEVROLET SPORT ROADSTER

Chevrolet's new car for 1932 was on display Saturday in dealer showrooms throughout the nation. In Wichita Falls at Fox Chevrolet Co.'s new show room where a constant stream of people inspected the various models.

Embodying silent syncro-mesh transmission in combination with selective free-wheeling, a 20 per cent increase in power, top speed of 65 to 70 miles an hour, streamlined bodies and a wealth of other new features, the new car remains in the price range of the current series, the lowest at which a Chevrolet has ever sold.

Heralded as "The Great American Value for 1932," the car boasts more extensive changes than any annual Chevrolet model since the change-over to a six in 1928. Yet changes are mostly refinements over the basic design of the 1931 car which, from the standpoint of public acceptance, was the most successful in the history of the company, and brought Chevrolet first place in the industry during the highly competitive market of the past 12 months.

Practically every proven automotive feature of recent years is incorporated in the new 1932 Chevrolet, as well as a new "stabilized" front end construction embodied for the first time on any car. Outstanding improvements in the 1932 line over last year's models are down-draft carburetor, counter-balanced crankshaft, smaller wheels and larger tires, radically changed front end appearance, "finger touch" front seat adjustment, cowl ventilator on all models, hood doors instead of louvres, improved clutch and an additional cross member in the frame.

The 21 domestic plants are now busy producing the new line. The stimulus to employment in the Chevrolet organization, in affiliated Fisher body plants and among independent suppliers made possible by the introduction of the car, it is conservatively estimated, will add to the earnings of 200,000 people.

Twelve standard body styles are in the line this year—three open and nine closed Fisher bodies—all in new Duco color combinations and all with smart new features. In addition, eight models also are available with de luxe equipment, making possible individuality of ownership and providing selection from 20 different types.

New Transmission Unit

Of the mechanical changes, the outstanding one is the new transmission unit, which is entirely Chevrolet-built and is said to combine for the first time in any car the combination of syncro-mesh with simplified free wheeling as standard equipment at no extra cost. Free wheeling is provided by an overrunning clutch, engaged at the discretion of the driver by a control button on the instrument panel. This optional feature enables the driver to utilize the full breaking power of the engine if he desires, and to use the free wheeling feature only when traffic conditions make it desirable.

While the wheelbase remains at 109 inches, the car looks longer than last year, lower, speedier and more powerful—promises borne out by the greatly improved power plant.

The most striking change in exterior appearance is the new front end, which has been completely redesigned this year.

The new "stabilized" front end mounting is an important feature of the new car. In conventional mounting the radiator, fenders and headlamps are supported from the sides of the frame, and in driving over rough roads the front end weaves and vibrates. This is annoying to occupants of the car and frequently results in the origin of squeaks and rattles at points of stress.

In the new Chevrolet, the fenders, radiator and headlamps are carried on a single fender support unit, which is anchored to the center of the front cross-member of the frame. This pivotal anchorage enables the front end to sway with the body as a unit, thus reducing the annoying weave as well as the possibility of squeaks and rattles developing at points of stress.

A double tie-bar, chromium-plated, arches gracefully between the fenders and braces them, thus acting as a structural unit as well as an ornament. A support also extends from the tie bar to the radiator, anchoring the units securely together, also carrying the horn.

The radiator is entirely new in design and construction. The exposed core area is larger than last year for better cooling, and a new grille is built integral with the radiator in all models. This grille has square meshes stamped in relief, with the vertical lines accentuated to increase the appearance of height. The radiator shell is chromium plated, and the top band has a narrow bead and a top panel embellished only by the familiar Chevrolet emblem in blue and white.

Mr. George D. Fox and his sales force are enthusiastic over the new models.

JUDGE REFUSES PLEA OF GIRL ACCUSED IN MICHIGAN BURGLARIES

PONTIAC, Mich., Dec. 5. (AP)—A 17-year-old girl who admitted two burglaries and a girl of her own age who she says was her only pupil in a "school of crime" will be given an examination by Justice Robert C. Baldwin Dec. 17.

Beatrice Webster offered to plead guilty to breaking and entering and teaching a minor to steal when arraigned yesterday but Justice Baldwin refused to accept her plea.

Georgiana Priest, a maid, pleaded not guilty and denied she had joined Beatrice in burglaries of a refreshment stand and a garage which, Beatrice said, netted 75 cents.

SULLIVAN'S WILL LEAVES $30,000,000 ESTATE TO HEIRS

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 5. (INS)—The will of the late Dan Sullivan, 87-year-old San Antonio banker who rose from a penniless and orphaned Irish boy immigrant to perhaps the wealthiest man in Texas, was filed for probate here today with his vast estate expected to aggregate $30,000,000. The estate will be handed down to his survivors according to "the laws of descent and distribution of Texas."

A son, D. J. Sullivan, was named independent executor without bond.

The fate of the Sullivan bank, described as one of the soundest financial institutions in the country, was placed by the terms of the will in the hands of the executor-son alone.

The bank, a private institution, nestles in its small two-story structure at the feet of several towering skyscrapers in the heart of the business district. Whether it shall be liquidated or operated further depends upon the son's decision. Sullivan died Nov. 30 after a protracted illness.

The grain inspection bureau at Plainview, Texas, inspected 3,500 carloads of wheat during June and July, 1931, as compared to 2,660 for the same months of 1930.

DRAMATIC MURDER TRIAL SAN ANTONIO NEXT WEEK

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 5. (INS)—A dramatic murder trial is expected to be enacted in the 94th district court here next week when W. H. Fuller, 45-year-old city health inspector and former deputy sheriff, begins his fight Monday to escape the electric chair for the alleged slaying of the woman he loved.

He was indicted for shooting Mrs. Mary Ann Cothron, pretty divorcee of an invalid husband, while she worked in a downtown millinery store here last September.

His defense is expected to claim insanity. Officers reported they found Fuller seated in a chair staring dazedly at the dying woman a few minutes after the shooting.

The trial, postponed from Nov. 23, is expected to get under way Monday since all witnesses are reported to be available.

'MERCY SLAYER' READY TO TAKE HER PUNISHMENT

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 5. (INS)—Mrs. Elsie Wille, 32-year-old Danish "mercy slayer," declared today she was ready to go to trial on a murder charge and to accept whatever punishment the law decrees for the killing of her mother, Baroness Anna von Duben.

According to the woman's confession to the police, she gave her mother an overdose of a narcotic poison because the baroness was suffering from an incurable disease and wanted to die.

ONE DEAD AND FOUR HURT IN PLANE WRECK

KEWANEE, Ill., Dec. 5. (AP)—A woman passenger was fatally injured tonight and four others were hurt, one critically, when a Braniff Air Lines passenger plane crashed in a farm yard near here while attempting to land in a sleet storm in an emergency landing field.

Mrs. Myrtle Messenger, Denver, Colo., died less than two hours after the crash, regaining consciousness only for a short time. She suffered a broken arm and leg and internal injuries.

Another passenger, Miss Elma Duncan, Kansas City, Mo., was reported near death with internal injuries.

Pilot Jack Ayres, who was not injured, said he attempted to land the plane for the night because the sleet storm was lowering visibility and ice was forming on the wings. The ship was en route from Kansas City to Chicago.

He said he piloted the plane over the field to get his bearings, but was unable to see clearly.

The other injured, all expected to recover, are C. A. Kimball, F. E. Quinby, Chicago, an Illinois aeronautical inspector, and Mrs. Chris Sunderson, Chicago.

SPECTACULAR DEATH ENDS BAYLES QUEST FOR SPEED RECORD

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 5. (US)—Death in a spectacular manner ended today the quest of Lowell Bayles, famous racing flyer, for the world's speed record in land planes.

He was flying his Bee Gee air craft at close to 300 miles an hour at the Wayne county airport here when, as he was rounding a pylon, the ship suddenly shot downward at terrific speed, crashing into the earth and bursting into flames.

Bayles was killed instantly. The motor of the plane was hurled for more than 300 feet. Of the plane, literally nothing was left except splinters and small bits.

The 31-year-old flier, whose home was in Springfield, Mass., made his greatest bid for fame at the national air races in Cleveland last September when he won $10,000 and the 1,000-mile Thompson trophy race, the big event of the meet.

After the races he announced that he was going out after the world record for land planes and it was in this attempt, with success in sight, that he came to his death today.

He several times had bettered the old record of 278 miles an hour by a slight margin, but had not been credited with the record because of the rule that the former mark must be bettered by at least five miles an hour. In a trial here, he made nearly 282 miles an hour.

Bayles worked in the mines of Illinois as a boy and later earned money to attend the University of Illinois for a short time. He taught himself to fly with an old plane he bought and operated in a cow pasture.

LIFE TIME PRISONER ESCAPES BY SWAPPING CELLS WITH ANOTHER

MALESTER, Okla., Dec. 5. (AP)—How a life term convict escaped by swapping cells with another prisoner was discovered today by state's penitentiary officials.

Until today, when they found D. D. Bryant, convicted car thief, locked up in the cell of Charles Stanley, the life termer, authorities had thought Bryant was the man who fled over the prison wall last night under fire of two guards.

But it developed that Stanley, trading his prison identity with Bryant, ostensibly went to work in the mess hall in Bryant's place while the short-termer was locked up for the night. They were confined in the same cellhouse.

Stanley, officers said, scaled the wall by placing a plank against it.

He had not been found this morning and Warden Sam Brown announced the discharge of the two guards who fired at him from their towers and missed. Their names were withheld.

MATADOR ENDS SEASON BY BESTING SILVERTON

MATADOR, Texas, Dec. 5.—The Matador Bullfighters completed their 1931 football schedule with a win over the Silverton squad here last Wednesday by the score of 12 to 0. The game was very evenly fought but the Matador team was successful in blocking two punts and recovering the ball inside Silverton's 20-yard line, carrying the ball over each time for touchdowns by employing straight football. The Silverton boys made consistent gains while in their own territory but were unable to penetrate the Matador territory with any success. The season just completed has been one of the most successful for the Bullfighters in recent years. Out of eight games played, the Matador team scored four wins, tied two and lost two. They made a total of 117 points to their opponents 51.

Ach! Depression!

BERLIN.—Beer consumption in Germany clearly illustrates the present depression. Only 1,280,000,000 gallons of beer were consumed in this country last year. This represents a decrease of 16.5 per cent over the consumption of 1929. Before the war more than 2,000,000,000 gallons a year were consumed in Germany.

FLOYD GIBBONS FINDS WAR IN CHINA SNAP FOR NEWSPAPERMEN WITH HELP OF MINISTER OF WAR

Editor's Note: Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent and radio headline hunter, dropped in on the Japanese war directors today for a pleasant chat, which he relates in his inimitable style. He is en route to the scene of operations in Manchuria and his dispatches will be sent to Universal Service and International News Service.

By FLOYD GIBBONS
(Copyr't, 1931, by Universal Service, Inc.)

TOKYO, Dec. 5—Hello, everybody. My first dispatch from Japan starts from scratch. Lesson No. 1 is to arrange credentials from war department of country to which correspondent is assigned—and, if possible, to meet the war minister.

In Washington and European capitals this takes from three weeks to three months, and all through that stormy trip over here I was wondering how long it would take me to get to first base in Tokyo.

Well, I sang my song of woe to the foreign office, and you could have ko'd me with a newspaper when the attache answered:

"Okay, it will be arranged. And if there's anything else you want, name it."

This reception to the visiting fireman blew my hat off. Tea appeared on the general's table and Jimmy Young, Universal Service correspondent here, the interpreter and I went to work on the eighth cup for the morning, while War Minister Jiro Minami answered our questions.

Minister Minami said that Japan has 14,500 troops in Manchuria and China has 220,000. When I asked how his army could successfully fight troops outnumbering them 15 to 1, he did not launch into an oration about his troops' superior fighting powers. No, sir. He actually made excuses for the conditions of cold weather, lack of organization, undependable supplies and like that under which the Chinese are handicapped.

No Secret

I had a passing feeling I was robbing a safe when Minister Minami spread out maps and showed where the troops were—this was secret information in all the other wars I've covered.

That map looked like a weather chart. Wide areas with red lines around them looked like depression zones, and other spots dotted with blue looked like cyclones—but they were only bandit groups, ranging in strength from 500 to 5,000.

Noon found me the guest of one full general, three major generals and a half dozen colonels of the imperial general staff. I told them I wanted to look over the Japanese army in Manchuria and they handed me a basketful of letters of introduction to commanding officers from Dairen to Tsitsihar. The old Kelly flipped off once more.

Nothing could have been more surprising except watching Will Rogers pick raw oysters off the half-shell with a fleet of chopsticks. Will lays his proficiency to his Cherokee blood, which recalls that our Indians are supposed to have picked on Oklahoma after crossing from Asia by way of the Bering Strait.

Ammunition Low

Minister of War Minami, unlike other war ministers I have met, does not consider war correspondents a grade lower than spies or second-story men. He's middle-aged, medium height, round in the face and shakes when he laughs. He won his spurs in the Russo-Jap war, not in as wivel chair.

His maps revealed the location of 48 seige guns and six groups of Chinese forces numbering 30,000 men around Chinchow, with the nearest group of Japanese troops, 300 men, guarding a Japanese railway station 100 miles away.

The Chinese soldiers have trouble getting more than one day's supply of bullets, Minister Minami said, so they fire what they have and then withdraw.

I expected him to say that the Chinese got their supplies from Russia, but he said merely:

"They are getting them from some source; we do not know for sure so I cannot say."

The interview closed when he assured me that there would be no restrictions and no censorship in my way—and believe you me, my first taste of the Japanese army is a mighty pleasant one. "No restrictions and no censorship" is as close to heaven as a war correspondent can get.

DAVID LEVINE DIES LUBBOCK

Youth Well-Known in Boxing Circles Is Dead

LUBBOCK, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—David Levine, 24, former amateur boxer, died in a local hospital today after two weeks illness. He succumbed to pneumonia, following attacks of influenza and acute Bright's disease.

His body will be sent to Wichita Falls early Sunday and burial will be there Monday.

Well-Known Here

David "Tabby" Levine was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Levine of 304 Travis this city and was reared here. He attended Wichita Falls schools and made his home here until his removal to Chicago about two years ago. He later moved to Lubbock, where he was making his home at the time of his death.

During the last few years of his residence here, he was popular among fight fans as an amateur boxer and often appeared in boxing bouts in Wichita Falls and surrounding cities.

After his removal to Lubbock he gave up the ring and engaged with his brother, William Levine of that city in the mercantile business.

Funeral arrangements had not been made late Saturday night but tentative plans are for services here Monday. The body is to be forwarded here from Lubbock, Sunday.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, of Lubbock, two brothers, William, Lubbock, and Morris Levine, of Amarillo; and three sisters, Mrs. Morris Zatlin, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Jake Foreman, Vernon; and Mrs. Sol Glickman, Chicago.

DEATH-BED CONFESSION EXONERATES PRISONER MICHIGAN PENITENTIARY

PONTIAC, Mich., Dec. 5. (US)—The death-bed confession of a prominent Pontiac citizen today was revealed by Supervisor Frank Springsteen as the basis for his fight to free Anson Best from Marquette prison.

The confession names two men, other than Best, as the slayers of Vera Schneider, Pontiac telephone girl, for whose death Best has served more than 11 years of a life term in Marquette.

The girl was strangled to death. Judge Glenn C. Gillespie, who was prosecutor of Oakland county when Best, then 21 years old, was convicted of the crime, said today he was as firmly convinced as ever that Anton Best was guilty.

Aviation fans mailed 800 souvenir letters from Wichita Falls, Texas to Amarillo on the first planes following the installation of air mail service between the two cities. The letters were stamped by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce cachet and mailed back to the senders.

NEAR END OF TRIAL SHERIFF AUSTIN COURT

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—A jury in Travis county district court late tonight was to receive the case of Clint D. Lewis, sheriff of Burleson county, tried on an indictment charging him with extortion in claims against the state for fees and mileage in criminal cases.

Introduction of testimony ended at the morning session of court. Six hours, three hours to each side, was allotted for argument of counsel, which began in mid-afternoon.

The state alleged Lewis collected $558 as fees and mileage for the transfer of two prisoners from Dallas to Caldwell when he should have charged only $148. The defense claimed that if Lewis had overcharged the state, it was "an honest error" and not done intentionally.

Lewis testified the $558 collected represented mileage for 2,400 miles for the return of the two men from Dallas. Each of the men was indicted on three charges and Lewis admitted he collected mileage on each of the six capiases, although the two were returned to Caldwell in the same trip.

He was the second sheriff to be tried on an extortion indictment in connection with sheriff's fee claims. Woody Townsend, sheriff of Bastrop county, was convicted and sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. His case is before the court of criminal appeals for disposition.

STUDENT LETTER ASKS REMOVAL OF OKLAHOMA DIRECTOR AND COACH

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 5. (UP)—A letter demanding removal of Ben G. Owens, athletic director, and Adrain Lindsay, head football coach at the University of Oklahoma appeared Thursday in the University Daily, student newspaper.

The letter was signed by Lloyd Holston, senior student at the university whose home is at Long Branch, N. J.

In commenting on his demand, Holston, a student leader, said he had the backing of hundreds of students and alumni. A secret meeting was held recently and a campaign seeking removal of the officials was planned, Holston said.

A meeting of Tulsa alumni has been called for the same purpose and other meetings will be called, the student said in his open letter.

The poor showing made by the University of Oklahoma football team this season under direction of Lindsay and Owen prompted the uprising, the student admitted. Owen is serving his 26th year at the university. Lindsay is completing his fourth year as football mentor.

"Whenever a man does not do his job he is fired. That is how the majority of students feel toward Ad Lindsay. He's a good old boy but he just can't make things click," the letter said.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

What Father Did

For some time William had been losing ground in school. He was not interested in his work. Every once in a while he failed to report for the afternoon. Things grew worse and worse and toward the middle of the term the teacher decided that something had to be done. She had exhausted her efforts. The principal had done likewise. The school visitor had been equally unsuccessful. "The boy is going to go to the bad if we can't find what is the matter. He is an intelligent boy, a boy of good instincts. Something must be done."

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

The teacher followed William out of school one afternoon and discovered that he did not go home. He went to a woodlot a short distance out of the village and lay down under a pine tree, pulled his hat over his face and lay there for a long time. The teacher felt she had no right to spy on him and went home herself, more mystified than ever.

The next day William seemed better in the morning session but he failed to return in the afternoon. This time the teacher went to his home. "He didn't go to school this afternoon? I'm sorry," said his mother.

"I've done all I can. The principal has done all he can. The truant officer and the school visitor and the nurse and the doctor have done all they can. Still William is headed the wrong way. You have brought up a family of children and they are all right. What is to be done with William? Are we to stand by and lose him?"

With an effort William's mother forced back the tears. "No, we won't. But it isn't William's fault. Everybody has done his best to help. William included, but as long as his father treats him as he does he won't be any better. He can't be. It was what his father did that kept William home from school this afternoon, and all the other afternoons.

"You see, I'm sorry to have to tell this, but it must be told now, William's father is not as young as he used to be. His business is not as good as it used to be. All this makes him cross. The other children left home just as soon as they were able because of their father's treatment of them, although they were not treated as William has been. He is worse to him than he ever was to them. He seems to blame him for everything that goes wrong.

"At noontime he came home in bad humor. William had used a rake before going to school in the morning and had left it leaning against the house because he was going to use it again after school. His father came in and shouted, "I'll teach you to use my tools and leave them lying around the place," and slapped William across the face leaving the marks of his hand.

"William snatched up his cap and ran out of the house. Can you blame him? You see whatever you did was wiped out always by what his father did. Tonight I take him to his grandmother's and I leave him there until he grows up. I must stay but he shall have a chance."

There is always a reason.

BORGER HAS DIVIDED TAX LEVY TO PROVIDE EXPENSE OF CITY

BORGER, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—City commissioners, wrestling with financial problems that have beset the city of Borger for several months, today had divided their tax levy to provide more funds for government expenses.

Of the $2.50 levy $1.44 was set aside for meeting administration expenses. The remainder will apply on the principal and interest of the bonded indebtedness. The administration's share of the tax last year was 50 cents.

Although the income for governmnt costs was increased, the board of city development budget was suspended and the offices of health officer and street cleaner were abolished.

Harry M. Bowers, former county Republican chairman, was named to the city commission to succeed J. Ross McGill, resigned.

Seeking to solve its utility problems, the city let two gas franchises and one power and light franchise to Borger men.

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (INS)—A 50 per cent cut in admission prices to home games of the University of Texas basket ball team was announced by athletic officials. The former charge of a dollar for adults and 50 cents for children was reduced to 50 cents for adults and a quarter for children.

TWO ELECTRANS FACE CHARGES

Duke Martin and Leverett Held After Still Raid

Charges of manufacture of intoxicating liquor and possession of intoxicants were filed against Duke Martin and J. H. Leverett, both of Electra, late Saturday. The complaints were filed before Judge Melvin Peters, United States commissioner, who set hearings in the cases for Friday. Both men were released on temporary bonds, Martin on $2,000 and Leverett on $1,000 bond.

Charges against the pair followed a raid on a still, described as one of the largest ever captured in this section, on a farm 10 miles south of Electra, early Saturday morning.

A 500-gallon copper still, 6,000 gallons of mash, four 1,500-gallon steel vats, 15 kegs of 25-gallon capacity, three barrels of gasoline, several cases of fruit jars, a quantity of groceries, in an army tent, about 15 feet from the still, were seized by the raiding officers.

SEVENTEEN GALLONS OF LIQUOR SEIZED IN RAID NORTH OF BURKBURNETT

The man was lodged in the Wichita county jail where charges of possession will probably be filed against him Monday.

HOME LOAN BANK PLAN APPROVED BY MEETING ON HOME OWNERSHIP

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—A spontaneous movement, unprogrammed and unexpected, late last night lined up the conference on home building and ownership in solid support for President Hoover's home loan bank plan.

Coming after an outbreak of discord over methods of financing home building, a resolution offered from the floor placed the more than 1,000 delegates on record for the project which is designed to free a volume of credit not now available for small, private construction.

WILL PROPOSE CREATION OF FINANCE CORPORATION

Will Deal With Special Issue in Messages Later In Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The Hoover administration's newest handbook—the president's annual message to congress—was in printed form tonight but with figurative blue pencil marks through sections dealing with specific aid for the railroads.

Word was passed through authoritative quarters that the chief executive had decided to withhold recommendations for helping the carriers, at least until the effect of relief measures already in progress can be measured.

If these fail to remedy the situation, it was said, Mr. Hoover will address a special message to congress.

President Works Steadily

Throughout the day the president worked steadily on his regular message, to be laid before the senate and house next Tuesday.

Mr. Hoover is reported authoritatively to have decided to recommend the creation of a huge government finance corporation. It would resemble in part the war finance corporation, and in the president's words of two months ago would be capable of answering any legitimate call for credit. Speculation has placed its capitalization at $1,000,000,000 or more.

Whether Mr. Hoover has worked out details of this formula to a point where it can be incorporated in the coming message was not definitely known.

Mills Drops Hint

What was considered by some as a possible hint was dropped by Ogden Mills, under secretary of the treasury, who was one of the few who talked today with the chief executive. Asked if the conference had touched upon the war finance corporation proposal, he made apparent reference to the coming message, expected to be completed tomorrow.

"You will know all about it within 24 hours," he said.

Announcement already has been made that the president will deal with the moratorium in a special message, to be delivered next Thursday, after the annual and budget messages have been disposed of. Effort will be made to have it first on the order of legislative business.

BUCKINGHAM SAYS MATERIALISM HOLDS RUSSIA IN BONDAGE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 5. (UP)—Materialism holds the youth of Russia in its bondage, Frank I. Buckingham, investigator for the national organization of DeMolay, reported today.

Young men and women of Russia have become enslaved to the machinery of industrialism, without interest in the arts, lacking in idealism, and facing the future with no hope of eternity, Buckingham said.

Buckingham, a Kansas City attorney, was sent to Russia by Frank S. Land, grand scribe of the national order of DeMolay to seek the reasons for George Bernard Shaw's declaration that young men should go to Russia.

He studied the social and industrial life of the nation, and returned to DeMolay headquarters here firmly convinced that "Shaw was wrong—all wrong."

Shaw made a hurried trip to Russia, asked the questions and answered them himself and came away with an erroneous opinion of Soviet life, according to Buckingham.

During a month in Russia, Buckingham said he saw no outward evidence of affection between parents and their children. The home as Americans know it has vanished, he added.

In school the children are taught to regard Lenin as the savior of the world and care is taken to stamp out the last remnants of faith in Christianity, according to Buckingham.

TEXAS ASSESSORS ELECT LAREDO MAN AT NEW BRAUNFELS

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—The Texas Tax Assessors' association closed its 26th annual convention at noon today after electing B. J. Leyendecker of Laredo, president, and selecting Longview as the 1932 convention city.

Other officers elected were Ira C. Turner of Fannin county, first vice president; Albert Turner, of Jasper county, second vice president; Ed Cobb, Dallas, third vice president; and Gus Seydler, of Wharton county, fourth vice president. A. L. Leonard of Longview was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Oscar Wood of Beaumont, retiring president, and F. W. Witt of Harris county installed the new officers.

State Senator W. K. Hopkins, addressed a plea to the association to appoint a standing committee to attend the next session of the legislature for the purpose of cooperating in supplying data to legislative committees drafting tax reforms.

The assessors applauded an address by H. A. Triesch, attorney and former mayor of New Braunfels, attacking the "full rendition" law.

Spoiling the Child
PORTLAND, Ore.—When the automatic furnace came in and the old-fashioned woodshed went out, the proverbial rod also took its exit and with it came the spoiling of the child, Gen. C. H. Martin opines. "The rod," he says, "is in excellent condition, but the child is devoting his time to increasing the juvenile courts' records. Lawlessness began when father put the rod away and let his boy develop his personality without any curbing hand."

The payroll messenger jumped aside, drawing his own gun. He fired and Lohman toppled forward, shot in the abdomen.

EARNEST EFFORT MADE TO BOOK FAMOUS NEW YORK PRODUCTION FANNIE BRICE AND OTHER STARS

H. C. Cheshire, manager of the Memorial auditorium shows, has made an offer to Billy Rose, the New York producer of "Crazy Quilt" whereby Wichita Falls may have the opportunity of seeing such stars as Fannie Brice, Phil Baker and Ted Healy in a single production.

The show is now booking its transcontinental tour which will embrace the entire nation. Between runs now dated in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Kansas City, Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Boston, a few large cities where less than week engagements will be played, are in prospect. It is to include Wichita Falls in the list of favored cities that Manager Cheshire is bending his efforts.

The show people are demanding a large guarantee for the appearance of the Rose show here. Manager Cheshire has countered with another proposition. In the meantime he is sounding local sentiment to learn whether the public will support an attraction of this magnitude. If the survey is favorable he will be in a position to accede to the company's terms.

"Crazy Quilt" is by far the biggest thing in the show line that has ever been routed through this section," said Mr. Cheshire today. "I mean to secure a date for Wichita Falls at all hazards if I am sure of the support of the local amusement lovers. When one considers the great expense involved in operating a troupe headed by three such stars as Miss Brice, Baker and Healy, the guarantee demand is not out of reason."

The show and its predecessor, "Sweet and Low," ran from December 1930 to the middle of last summer at the Forty-fourth Street theater, New York. In October, the show moved into the Apollo, Chicago, for what was set for a four week run. The engagment was twice extended, and broke the attendance record for a like period in the village by Lake Michigan.

Not only will the three stars of the New York and Chicago runs remain in the cast, but the complete metropolitan production will be carried.

'Twas No Bull

SEATTLE, Wash.—Two youths, armed with wooden swords and red beach pajamas, were playing toreador with "Betsy," W. F. Musk's cow. Musk wouldn't have minded it if the boys had confined their efforts to a bull, but their antics with Betsy cut down her milk supply. Betsy no longer plays "bull" with the boys, and those two worthies are now eating off the mantlepiece.

CANADA, MEXICO AND UNITED STATES URGED TO END ECONOMIC WARFARE

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 5. (AP)—Canada, Mexico and the United States were asked by Dr. Henry W. Grady, trade advisor to the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, to end their economic warfare and resume trade on old-time schedules.

Not satisfied with tariff restrictions, he told the western division of the United States chamber at its meeting here these three nations apparently have sat up nights devising customs regulations to discourage trade relations.

As an example, he said, the exports to Canada from the United States in 1928 were $916,000,000, but for the first half of 1931 they had fallen to $34,000,000 or at the rate of $68,000,000 per year. Imports fell correspondingly. Somewhat the same was true with respect to Mexico, he asserted.

He suggested the United States take the initiative in seeking peace-forget rigid tariff policies and bargain with these two important trade centers.

RAINS SLOW UP DRILLING ACTIVITY IN WICHITA DISTRICT

Chalk Hill Pool in Archer County Gets Another Deep Producing Well Making 800 Daily at Depth of 2220

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Impassable highways and unfavorable weather were responsible for a general slowing up of all kinds of oil field work during the past week. Heavy rain accounted for the shutting down of the greater portion of the district's drilling when it turned the roads leading to the various sites into muddy lakes of water, making it impossible to transport fuel

Operations in Chalk Hill pool, Archer county, during the week resulted in the adding of another deep well to its number, Deep Oil Development-Lindsay No. 2 L. F. Wilson in lease A-5, block 75, A. T. N. C. L. survey, rated at 800 barrels. The well, which is located 100 feet west of the deep test in the same block, Saturday was flowing in its semi-completed stage. Sixteen feet of sand topped at 2220 feet had been drilled late Saturday and the drill was still in the formation.

Failure to bring in wells from two tests offsetting the Bridwell Oil company's No. 20 Oil Investment in block 125, Harris survey, three miles west of Chalk Hill, will probably put a crimp in activities in that quarter for a time. To the north of the well Burns & Long No. R-3 L. F. Wilson in section 108, A. T. N. C. L. survey, encountered the sand at 1474 feet.

The Bridwell well is producing from 1436 feet, and after testing to 1487 feet failed to show oil. Southeast of No. 20, the Bridwell company also missed the 1436-foot sand and drilled to 1489 feet later to plug back to a show of oil in a sand at 1195-1214 feet. Pipe was set and cemented. Later this was drilled out and given a shot, but so far no indication of a producer is shown.

Young county's contribution to the district's quota of producers was represented in the bringing in of a few pumpers from the shallow sands in the Newcastle field, and the drilling of several deep tests in the southeastern portion of that county.

Wilbarger Perking Up

Wilbarger county, prior to the flop of the oil industry one of the most active pools in Texas with scores of wells drilling on the Waggoner and other tracts, but a section which has been on the inactive list for the past two years, is again beginning to perk up. Four tests are drilling at various depths, and in the past week another wildcat location for a 3000-foot test was staked out. North of the river the Bowman Drilling company's No. 1 Johnson, a rank wildcat in section 11, block 10, H. & T. C. survey, is cleaning out at a depth of 2997 feet preparatory to a resumption of drilling at an early date. This well, which has been shut down the past few months, had a nice show of gas at about 2505 feet, and its further progress will be watched with interest.

In the same area of the county several blocks of land have been leased by Wichita Falls parties and two tentative locations have been made to put down deep tests within the next 60 days.

Wichita county activities during the week were curtailed to the minimum. A few tests were able to continue drilling, but, on account of bad roads, the major share of work was forced to close down.

Crude oil movements from the field averaged 55,043 barrels daily, a drop of 418 barerls daily when compared with the figures of the previous seven-day period. Lack of new production from new wells and a natural decline in the old leases were responsible for the decrease.

HOWARD, UPTON AND WARD EACH GETS PRODUCER

Tests in Howard, Ward and Pecos Reach Oil Sands Past Week

REAGAN DEEP PRODUCER REVIVED ON DEEPENING

Production Five Deep Wells Restricted to 135,-936 Barrels

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Dec. 5.—Howard, Upton and Ward counties completed one oil producer each, one other test each in Howard, Pecos and Ward counties struck oil and Texon No. 3-U University, one of the world's deepest wells, in Reagan county, was restored to production at a greater depth, to furnish this week's high lights in West Texas oil development.

John F. Shipley and Byrd & Harmon's No. 1 Monroe, northwestern Ward county discovery well, swabbed and cleaned out preparatory to running 5 3-16-inch casing to close most of its 866 feet of open hole and possibly deepening a couple of feet from 4666 before inserting 2½-inch tubing. It swabbed 50 barrels of 32 gravity, sweet oil on Saturday, Nov. 28, 100 barrels on Sunday and 50 barrels on Monday.

Penn Oil Co. and Southwest Oil Producing Co.'s No. 1 J. B. Tubbs in west central Crane county had not obtained production in drilling to 4346 feet in lime, although, until it reached 4000 feet, it was checking closely with Gulf and Cranfill's No. 1 Tubbs, discovery producer in the area, one mile to the southeast. The Gulf and Cranfill well early in October, 1930, developed brief, heavy production at 4301 feet, 1775 feet below seal level, flowing 1315 barrels of 39.3 gravity oil in 38 hours. Production was obtained beneath two sulphur water levels and virtually ceased when gas increased at 4352 feet. The well drilled to 4352 feet without getting more oil, plugged back to 4305 feet, was shot and completed for 107 barrels daily, flowing.

The Penn-Southwest test encountered its first sulphur water, four bailers daily, from 4062-75 feet, had a small oil showing from 4104-11 feet, another oil showing at 4135 feet and a slight increase in gas from 4237-43 feet. Co. survey. Cardinal Oil Co.'s No. 3 Settles, in the same section, deepening from 2315 feet, struck more oil from 435-38 feet and had filled 1100 feet with oil when drilled to 2464 feet. Continental Oil Co.'s No. 1 Eason had begun deepening from 2240 feet and American Maracaibo's No. 4-C Settles was rigging to deepen. L. C. Co. survey, in Ward county, struck the first oil and gas at 2338 feet, the top of the sand, had an increase at 2400 feet and in drilling to 2450 feet, where it shut down, made several small heads. The well was estimated good for 50 to 75 barrels daily. Stanolind Oil & Gas Co.'s No. 1 Brown, in section 26, block B-29, public school land, gauged 12 barrels of oil in 24 hours in drilling to 2511 feet in lime without increase. It had drilled Thursday to 8846 feet in brown lime. Texon No. 1-B University, the discovery deep well, which has been making new hole below 5090 feet, where it cemented a whipstock and sidetracked casing after killing production at 8525 feet, had drilled to 6855 feet in lime. Drill pipe stuck at 4810 feet in Big Lake Oil Co.'s No. 6-C University's, a new deep test, and had not been loosened Thursday.

Evans, Gant and others' No. 2 Jeff Love, southwestern Kerr county wildcat and the only active test in the Hill country, resumed drilling at 4018 feet and had drilled past 4330 feet. It is scheduled to be carried to the Ellenburger lime unless production is obtained at a lesser depth. No. 2 Love is only a short distance southwest of No. 1 Love, which made oil for sometime from 3389-91 feet but for several months has been shut down at 4060 feet, not on production.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co.'s No. 1 W. H. Williams in section 1196, T. C. Ry. Co. survey, in southeastern Irion county, struck three bailers of salt water hourly at 6795 feet in sand and shale and shut down to change from standard cable tools to rotary equipment. A 122-foot tubular steel tower will replace a 94-foot steel derrick. The contract provides drilling to 7200 feet unless production of water in the Ordovician is struck shallower. Stanolind is seeking the pay from which wells flow from the Ordovician in Reagan county, about 50 miles farther west, at depths ranging from 8525 to 8923 feet.

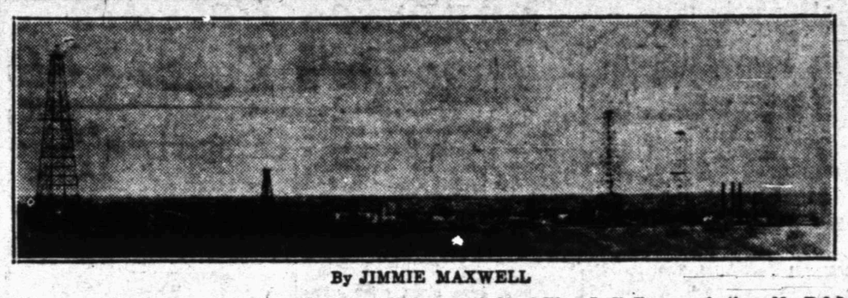

HUMBLE WELL SOUTH OF VICTORIA POINTS TO NEW OIL FIELD

VICTORIA, Texas, Dec. 5.—From the showing of the Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 1 D. M. O'Conner, located south of Victoria in northern Refugio county, another new deep producing area in South Texas is assured.

The well, which is an absolute wildcat, after flowing 3,360 barrels in a 24-hour test was closed in to await sufficient storage to cope with the enormous flow. The oil is 24-degree gravity with a rock pressure of 1,600 pounds. The well will be allowed to make another flow Sunday, when a gauge will be taken to determine the well's actual production.

Bringing in of the well has created considerable excitement in this section and many leases will probably change hands in the next few days.

Oil Fields in Southern Oklahoma Continue Quiet, Activity Confined To Tests Scattered Over Wide Area

DUNCAN, Okla., Dec. 5.—Oil activity continued slow in southern Oklahoma at the close of the week, with work confined to scattered locations over a wide territory.

George Pace has casing cemented to test gas sand from 846 to 868 feet in his No. 1 Bristow-Pace, in the NW NE SE of 18-2s-7w, in the field northwest of the town of Comanche, in Stephens county. The well showed for gas production on a drill stem test.

The Carter Oil company made location for its No. 2 Taylor, in the NW NW NW of 19-1s-2w, on the extreme northeast edge of the Tatums field of Carter county and is moving in tools.

The Mid-Kansas and Ramsey companies were plugging back to test sand at 8395 feet in their No. 6 Preston-Culp, in the NW NE NE of 6-5n-9w, deep test in the Cement field of Caddo county. Production was not found when sand at 8880 feet was shot with 130 quarts. Total depth is 10,079½ feet, for the deepest hole ever drilled in the United States. Efforts to get production from the bottom of the hole failed. Several upper sands remain to be tested if production is not found in the deeper levels.

H. J. Brown and the K. D. Oil company are shut down in sand at 942 feet in their No. 2 Hightower, in the SW SW SE SE of 15-3s-5w, in the shallow field southwest of the town of Loco, in Stephens county.

ADVOCATES OIL TARIFF READY RENEW FIGHT

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 5. (UP)—Interest of the oil industry shifted from troublesome production problems, martial law and prices to Washington today.

Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, arrived at the national capital to renew his fight for tariff on crude and refined foreign petroleum imports. The matter was to be presented before congress, which convenes Monday.

In the last congressional session, oil tariff advocates, riding to Washington in a special train, failed by only a few votes in their effort to gain a tariff of $1 a barrel on crude and 50 per cent on imported refined products. Franklin said he was assured stronger backing this year with the Oklahoma delegation behing him and influential leaders from other western oil producing states.

In addition to this support, the plight of the domestic oil producer has been dramatized in martial law episodes and near ruination of the domestic price structure during the past few months.

Lifting of the drastic curb permitted an October production of 73,079,000 barrels. Crude imports increased during the period from 3,426,000 barrels to 4,106,000 barrels. Refined imports rose from 3,478,000 barrels to 3,939,000.

Activity in Oklahoma wildcat drilling was reported this week. Five of the 18 new locations in Oklahoma were wildcats and if productive they will open new pools. Six wells were completed, three of them gassers, one an oil well and two failures.

Seminole county led with six first reports. Oklahoma county was second with four and Okmulgee county third with two. Beckham, Creek, Lincoln, Pawnee, Stephens and Wagoner counties had one each.

BIGGEST GASSER IN NEW MEXICO SHUT DOWN FOR TUBING

MIDLAND, Texas, Dec. 5.—Activities in the Permian basin, which were practically at a standstill the first half of this week were renewed Friday when a warm sun had melted the snow and made oil field roads passable. This week saw the longest shutdown due to a snowstorm in the history of the Permian basin.

Gas pressure in the Continental State No. 4, A-33, section 33-18-38, Lea county, is so heavy that the well is now shut down at 4170 to put in tubing. The well is flowing 138,000,000 cubic feet, which is the largest in New Mexico. The well showed 6,350 barrels daily at 4051 feet, but the gas waste is so enormous that unless tubing the well stops the flow, it may be shut down indefinitely, officials say.

Returning oil business to Hobbs is giving the Lea county, New Mexico, city a new brick postoffice. The building, which is being erected by John Scharbauer of Fort Worth and Midland, will be completed early this month. It is being constructed according to specifications of the U. S. postoffice department.

SEEK OUSTER SHERIFF IN OKLAHOMA COUNTY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5. (UP)—Ouster of George Payton, Ottawa county sheriff, was asked today in an appeal filed with the supreme court by Atty. Gen. J. Berry King.

The appeal was from the Ottawa county district court decision dismissing charges of irregularities in Payton's election last year. The appeal charged that private individuals had access to election boxes and that after a recount Payton had 5,154 votes which was 159 less than his Democratic opponent, Dee T. Watters, who had 5,313.

WILL ROGERS

WELL HERE'S OUR CONGRESS AGAIN

(Copyright 1931, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see as I prowl about. This is going to be a mighty noisy session of Congress for every man coming in will have a scheme to relieve the unemployed, and its going to take months just to read all the Bills that will be introduced. Of course they have to go to Committe first, but it will take the entire Congress and Senate Members to make up enough Committes just to read all of em.

There is going to be many a way to save the Country. In fact there will be six hundred ways. There is about five hundred Congressmen and 100 Senators. There is going to be an awful lot of other things too to argue about. This cancellation of the debt for a year that Mr. Hoover did, thats going to start a lot of yapping. They will say he didn't ask them about it. Of course as a matter of fact he did ask them, that is the main ones. But that is what will make em sore because he dident ask the others. Just knowing that they wasent the main ones will make em sorer than ever.

Then its going to come up as to a continuation of the Nations not paying. There is going to be great pressure brought to bear from the big financial Interests to get a total cancellation. Course thats what they want. Europe owes them big gobs of money, so if we cancelled what they owe us, why they would leave their loans in better shape. You see what they would lose as a taxpayer in cancelling would be nothing to what they would gain by having the first mortgage on Europe instead of the second as they have now.

Well all that will be dragged out and aired daily and by the hour in the next session of Congress. Then up will pop old League of Nations argument again. You see we have done a few things in the last few months that have been right on the verge of being in the League, so off that Gang will go again, claiming we should be in.

Then of course the fight over the Speakership. It looks like the Democrats have got the edge now. But even Congressmen die, and when they die at the right time why that always brings on complication. It looks like the old Prairie Dog of Uvalde will go dragging into his hole with the swag. If the Democrats can keep their health, or life rather till the first Monday in December why they ought to be the Head Men next time.

Poor Mr. Hoover with a foreign Congress on his hands, that looks like its too much to add to all his other troubles. Then will come also the argument over how to raise some money. "What to Tax?", "How to raise it?" I cant see where the argument against the Sales tax can stand up. It looks to be, (leaving out essentials) that it would be a mighty fair tax. If you bought high priced things, every one would know that you had paid your tax, or you couldent have them.

As it is now you cant look and tell if a man is paying a tax or not. He may be avoiding it in some way or the other. But with the old sales tax, if he is driving a Rolls Royce, why you know the Government got a big cut out of him, or he couldent drive it away. We don't miss the gasoline tax, its paid in such a way that it is painless. Mr. Hearst sent a bunch of Congressmen up to Canada to study it, as its used in Canada, and they all claimed that it was "Great." Well anyhow we will have some excitement in Congress this fall anyhow. If they cant be instructive and benefitial they can at least be amusing, and they will be too this fall.

Then there's the fight over the Speakership.

LUBBOCK BEATS QUANAH 26-0 IN FOURTH GAME IN 10 DAYS

Westerners Win Clash Early and Send in Reserves

Lubbock Blocks Punt for Touchdown in First Minute of Play

(Staff Special to The Times)

QUANAH, Dec. 5.—The Lubbock Westerners, playing their fourth game in 10 days, had enough power left here this afternoon to decisively defeat the Quanah Indians, 26 to 0. They had enough and some to spare. For they made four touchdowns and two extra points in the first 20 minutes of play, and then called it an afternoon, using their reserves the rest of the game. The second half was scoreless.

Lubbock scored in the first minute of play, converting a blocked Quanah punt into a touchdown. The second touchdown came not long afterward, being partly the result of the Quanah safety man's fumble of a Lubbock punt. The outcome of the game was never in doubt after that.

The Indians fought stubbornly, and at times they seemed to be a match for the district one invaders. They actually registered more first downs, 8 to 7, than the Westerners. But the latter, for all the heartbreaking schedule they have had to go through with since Thanksgiving, took full advantage of every Quanah mistake, and offered a smashing versatile attack that was not to be withstood.

Doc Merrill was the principal performer for the Westerners. Gene Barnett, Lubbock's backfield ace, did not get into the game at all. Merrill played less than half the game. The second string played part of the second quarter and all of the third and fourth, contenting themselves with holding the Quanah attack in check.

One Quanah Threat

Quanah threatened only once. Late in the second quarter an exchange of punts gave them the ball on the Lubbock 31-yard line, and they smashed through in three plays for a first down on the Lubbock 18. But the drive halted there.

It was a sunless, chilly day, and the temporary bleachers erected for the game held only about half as many customers as they might have. Wood fires were started on the sidelines for the benefit of the inactive squad members.

The game was not a minute old when Lubbock scored. Kicking off with the wind, they sent the ball deep into Quanah territory, where it was juggled and mishandled by the Quanah backs, so that it was finally downed on Quanah's 8-yard line. Two plays failed to gain. Then Abbott smashed through and blocked Rogers' attempt to punt, and Griggs covered the ball when it rolled along in the end zone. A place kick was good for the extra point.

The second touchdown took a little longer. Quanah was unable to gain after receiving the kickoff and punted. Lubbock promptly returned the punt and Rogers fumbled the catch, Watson recovering for Lubbock on the Quanah 16-yard line. Three plays gained but five yards, the Quanah line putting up a valiant fight. The fourth attempt was likewise stemmed and the ball went over. The kicker was rushed when Quanah punted and the ball went high and short, being recovered by Lubbock on the Quanah 16-yard line. Again Quanah turned back the Lubbock attack, and the home fans cheered mightily when the ball was taken on downs by Quanah on the 7-yard line. Once more the kicker was rushed, the ball going out of bounds on the 16-yard line.

This time the Westerners produced the power they had been lacking, and made a first down in two plunges that carried the ball to the 2-yard line. From there Scoggins plunged across. The try for point was missed, when Harrell partially blocked it.

Clipping Penalty

Quanah again received and got into trouble right away when a penalty for clipping set them back to their own 10-yard line. Plunges by Marsalis, Cox and Marsalis gained a little over nine yards. Quanah decided to try for the foot or two needed for first down instead of kicking. This sort of generalship was deserving of better results, but Lubbock stopped the next play and took the ball on downs on Quanah's 19-yard line.

A pass caught the Quanah defense napping and was good for a 15-yard gain. Then Scoggins carried the ball five yards to a touchdown. Abbott place-kicked the extra point.

Quanah made its longest running gain of the day soon after the next kickoff, Rogers getting away for 16 yards through his own right tackle. A fumble erased much of this gain, and an exchange of punts found Quanah with the ball on its own 10-yard line as the quarter ended.

Merrill made a nice return of a punt to Quanah's 33-yard line. He carried the ball 10 yards on the next play, and then took the ball on a pretty lateral pass maneuver to the eight-yard line. From there he went over for the final touchdown. The try for point was missed.

The Indians then staged their only threat of the day. After Cox intercepted a Lubbock pass on his own 28-yard line, Rogers cut loose with a remarkable punt that went high and far over the Lubbock safety and was finally killed on the Lubbock three-yard line. The return punt was a poor one and Quanah got the ball on Lubbock's 31-yard line, having gained 41 yards on the exchange of punts.

Cox sprinted around left for six yards, and Rogers hit left tackle for three more. Cox made it first down on Lubbock's 18-yard line. Rogers made a small gain, and then a fumble was recovered by Quanah for a loss. A pass across the goal line was grounded. The half ended soon after.

Coach Chapman had sent in a number of second string players after his team's third touchdown, and had practically all of his first string men out of the game as the half ended. Lubbock played all the second half with its second string.

Exchange of Punts

The second half was not a very thrilling exchange of punts. Quanah made five first downs during the last half, but they were well scattered. Lubbock made but one. Usually the Westerners would punt on second down, and they made no serious effort to advance the ball. Some passes were attempted but

St. Mary's Gaels Defeat Southern Methodist Mustangs 7 to 2

Corsicana Smashes Tyler Lions 19 to 0

CORSICANA, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—The Corsicana High school Tigers defeated the Tyler High school Lions 19-0 today, eliminating the Lions, 1930 state champions, from the interscholastice league race. Tyler won the state title last year by defeating Amarillo in the finals. The game today was a bi-district affair.

Corsicana blasted through for a touchdown in the first period on smart football. Playing in mid-field Quarterback Goodman of Corsicana called for a quick kick. Crowther's kick caught Tyler unaware. Shuford raced down and grabbed the ball but fumbled and Bowlin recovered for Corsicana on Tyler's 14-yard line. Two plays later, a triple pass behind the line of scrimmage from Goodman to Crowther to Wilson scored a touchdown. Stewart missed goal.

Corsicana's deadly aerial attack worked again early in the third period. A 28-yard pass from Crowther to Wilson drove Corsicana inside Tyler's 10-yard stripe. A pass from Crowther to Stewart scored. Stewart kicked goal.

Corsicana scored a third touchdown late in the fourth period. A long drive carried the Tigers down the field to where Simpson, after fumbling, picked up the ball and plunged through for a touchdown. Stewart missed goal.

Central 21, Oak Cliff 7

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—The Central High school Panthers of Fort Worth unleashed a spectcular running attack today to defeat the Oak Cliff Leopards of Dallas 21-7, in their crucial bi-district clash. The Leopards, relying mainly on passes, were eliminated from the state gridiron race principally because of inability to develop a scoring punch when they had the ball within the Panther 20-yard line.

Central took the ball on their own 20-yard line in the opening period and marched to the enemy goal line. Brilliant spinner and reverse plays put Boyer in position to knife through tackle for the score. Powers kicked the extra point.

The Leopards came back in the second period to tie the score when Cook passed to Harkey, putting the fleet-footed back in an open field. He raced 40 yards for a touchdown. Hosty kicked the extra point.

Another series of plunging line plays gave Central the lead again a few minutes later. Boyer made the score. Griffin circled left end for the extra point. The half ended with the score: Central 14, Oak Cliff 7.

Central's superior line play netted another score in the third period when Loffland went through tackle. Griffin again ran around left end for the extra point.

Beaumont 13, John Regan 12

BEAUMONT, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—The heavy Beaumont High school eleven won the championship district 13 and 14 of the Interscholastic league here today by defeating John Reagan High of Houston, 13-12.

Twice the scrappy Bulldogs from Houston struck, and twice Marion Asbell's try for extra point went wide, grazing the outside of the uprights. With these failures to convert the point after touchdown went John Reagan's chances for an outright victory or a tie.

The Beaumont one-point margin was made by a freak. After Beaumont had scored in the third period Swope attempted to crash the line, but fumbled. Standifer of Beaumont fell on the ball across the goal line.

Neither team scored in the first half. In the third quarter, Reagan got a touchdown on a pass and run by Rickard. A few minutes late Swope of Beaumont hit tackle for a touchdown. The freak point after touchdown gave Beaumont the advantage. In the fourth, Swope ran 37 yards for a touchdown. Royal then plunged for Reagan's final score.

Greenville 20, Sherman 0

GREENVILLE, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—Jay Arnold, 190-pound hard-hitting Greenville fullback, led the Lions to a 20-0 victory over Sherman High school today. The victory put the Lions in the quarter-finals of the state title chase.

Arnold snared a pass for one touchdown, cracked the Bearcat line consistently for another and made the third possible with a 25-yard sprint.

The powerful Lion front wall held the invaders without a single first down. Greenville made 11. Sherman did not complete a pass while the Lions made four good for 46 yards. However, late in the first period, Bill Polk, Lion halfback, recovered a Sherman fumble on the Cats' 33-yard line. That paved the way for a touchdown in the second quarter. Beauchamp, who called a heady game throughout, shot a pass to Arnold for 15 yards. After trying two plays through the line he flipped again to Arnold and the big fullback dragged three men across the goal.

The home eleven scored its next counter soon after the second half opened. Arnold made one gain of 23 yards and caught a pass for a small gain. Between times a pass to Ard was good for 25 yards. Line plays brought the ball to the Sherman four-yard stripe and Arnold plunged across.

An intercepted pass paved the way for the last Lion counter. Line plays picked up 20 yards and Arnold made a beautiful 25-yard dash to the Sherman three-yard line. Roy smashed over for the score.

Austin vs. Corsicana

CORSICANA, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—Austin and Corsicana will meet in Corsicana next Saturday in the quarter finals of the Interscholastic league football race. An announcement to this effect was made after a conference between Austin and Corsicana officials here today.

REVIVED NAVY ELEVEN DEFEATS PENN 6 TO 0

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—"Bullet Lou" Kirn of the Navy pierced a tight Penn defense today with a shot that brought victory to the Middies in the final period by a score of 6 to 0.

Standing on the Navy 45-yard line the Annapolis back field ace, flipped a pass to "Slippery Joe" Tschirgi for the winning play after a rather monotonious struggle featured by kicking exchanges between Kirn and Carl Perina.

It was the only pass completed by the Navy all afternoon but it was a dandy. The ball travelled 30 yards in the air before it settled in the outstretched arms of Tschirgi 25 yards from the goal line.

A Penn defender was covering Tschirgi but his desperate effort to bat down the ball failed and he fell at Tschirgi's feet as "Slippery Joe" got up steam for the final dash. Tschirgi isn't fast but he didn't have to be for there were no other Penn men near him as he stepped off the five chalk lines.

San Benito Wins

SAN BENITO, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—Although considerably outweighed, San Benito High school won the class B bi-district football championship from Aransas Pass today, 41-0. The field was muddy and several of the San Benito players were on the injured list.

Methodists Fail In Two Tries at Opponent's Goal

Winning Touchdown Came After Fumble by Ace Of Ponies

KEZAR STADIUM, SAN FRANcisco, Dec. 5. (AP)—In one of the most thrilling gridiron struggles ever witnessed in this section, St. Mary's Gaels staged a fourth period drive against Southern Methodist university today to hand the Southwest conference champions their first defeat of the season and at the same time remove them from the national ranks of teams who list no losses. The score was 7-2.

For three periods, the intersectional rivals battled in a fierce encounter while some 35,000 spectators gave thundering applause to spectacular play.

Just after they turned into the final quarter, the Gaels saw and seized their chance. Weldon Mason, brilliant Mustang halfback and the spark plug of his team's great charges down the field, fumbled on his own 33-yard line. Jorgensen, St. Mary's left tackle, fell on the ball. An old fashioned end around play, with Vlealdi carrying, netted 14 yards before the Texans could organize their defense.

Unable to gain materially against the forward wall, the Gaels took to the air. The first attempt clicked and Beasley, substitute halfback, whipped an eight-yard toss to Toscani and the latter raced 10 yards to score. Hebb Fletcher, quarterback, added the extra point with a place kick.

The last game of the season saw the Gaels rise to their greatest heights. In conquering the Mustangs they accomplished what 10 other teams had tried and failed to do this year. The Texas eleven came here with country wide recognition as a result of victories over Navy, Baylor, Texas and others.

With their bewildering aerial attack functioning perfectly, the Texans twice battered at the goal line of the Gaels in the first half. And on another occasion the visitors from the Southwest drove down deep enough to try for a field goal.

Only two gallant stands by the Gaels saved them from being scored upon. From the time Mason galloped back 20 yards with the opening kickoff, the Mustangs dominated the play. They started passing on the second play with the ball on the 29-yard line and kept to the air almost continuously.

First Period

St. Mary's kicked off and the Mustangs put the ball in play on their 28-yard line. A 14-yard pass netted a first down. They kicked and the Gaels were penalized 15 yards to their three yard line. Brovelli punted out to his 35. St. Mary's held on her 30 and kicked to the Mustang 30.

Brovelli tore off 18 yards around left end from punt formation to the Mustang 42-yard line. Brovelli punted out of bounds on the Methodist 26-yard line. Sprague passed to Oliver for nine yards.

Gilbert passed to Mason behind the line and he ran through center for 9 yards. Travis, substitute for Oliver, made a first down on the Gael 47. The short pass play gave the Mustangs another first down on the 37. Gilbert passed to Mills for eight yards. Mason made a first down on the 21-yard line.

Second Period

Neely's attempted field goal from the 25-yard line fell short. Baird lacked a yard of first down on the 30-yard line and Brovelli kicked to the 27-yard line. Fischer nailed Mason on the St. Mary's 10-yard

Tennessee Defeats New York Team 13-0

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Striking twice with dazzling swiftness in much the same spot, Tennessee's Volunteers came up from Dixie today to sweep New York university's rugged football forces off their feet and romp away with a 13-0 triumph in the first big game of the post-season metropolitan charity program.

Favored by a clear, crisp afternoon, the game attracted 40,684 spectators who contributed $70,597 in gate receipts, the bulk of which, after expenses are deducted, will go to the benefit of unemployed of New York City and Knoxville, home town of the Volunteers.

The crowd, filling about half of the big American league park, was rewarded for its turnout by watching one of the finest intersectional engagements of the year. Tennessee's victory kept the team's unbeaten record intact for 1931 and marked the conclusion of the career of Gene McEver, famous Vol back, with the distinction of never having tasted defeat in a varsity game. At the same time it was New York's third set-back at the hands of an intersectional rival and the most decisive suffered by the Violets this season.

PLACE KICK WINS GAME AND TITLE FOR DANIEL BAKER OVER CHRISTIANS

ABILENE, Texas, Dec. 5. (AP)—The toe of Linkenhoger, right guard of Daniel Baker college, won the T. I. A. A. Western divisional championship this afternoon as the Hill Billies defeated Abilene Christian college 3 to 0. In the third quarter Linkenhoger retired to the Wildcat 26-yard line and with Spec Smith holding the ball sent the winning kick over the crossbar.

In winning Daniel Baker demonstrated its superiority over the Abilene eleven for the second time in 10 days. The Billies won, 7 to 0, at Brownwood on Thanksgiving day to join the Christians in the sectional leadership.

OKLAHOMA CITY BESTS STATE UNIVERSITY 6-0

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 5. (AP)—Oklahoma City university's fighting Goldbugs continued in the van of the nation's undefeated teams for 1931 as they crushed the University of Oklahoma Sooners under a 6 to 0 score in a charity football game here today.

Approximately 14,000 persons witnessed the game, which was played on a damp field and under cloudy skies, with temperatures near freezing. An estimated $20,000 was collected for charity.

U. S. C. 44, Washburn 7

OLYMPIC STADIUM, LOS ANGeles, Dec. 5. (AP)—University of Southern California's Trojans won their first undisputed Pacific coast conference championship here today by turning back the huskies of Washburn 44-7 before an estimated crowd of 67,000 persons.

Coyotes Lose 25 Members of Grid Squad This Year

Graduation and Eligibility Rules Leave Little Material

Twenty-five members of the Wichita Falls High school Coyote football squad, including almost the whole of the regular starting lineups of the 1931 teams, have concluded their work for the Red and Black, a study of eligibility, age and playing statistics of the annual football report issued by Registrar A. K. Presson reveals. Of the starting lineup for the Vernon game, only Powell and Daugherty, and possibly Greenwood, will be back for more.

To show just how serious is the problem facing Coaches Barry Holton, Charles Lindsey, and Bill Morris, a closer analysis of the 57 men making up the A and B squads this year shows 25 completing participation, 29 eligible for next year, chiefly inexperienced rookies, and three doubtful.

Capt. Bennett Withrow and Max Sepkovitch, two main cogs of the team, are lost both by the rule allowing no more than four year's football in high school, whether lettering or not, and by spring graduation. Mid-year graduation takes Raymond Allen, end and center; Malcolm Mauldin, star guard; J. R. Holton, center and halfback; Harry Lucius, star tackle; R. G. Anderson, and Lloyd Smith. The rule allowing a maximum of 10 semesters in high school gets Allen, Claude Gorin, and Isadore Wolfson, manager. Passing the age limit for high school competition drops out Emmett Skeen and Dick Warren.

Spring graduation includes Herndon Chism, J. C. Daniel, Jack Gentry, H. R. Hanks, Neville Howell, William Huff, Jasper McBride, Edward Maag, Harold Reeves, Harry Shain, Newman Smith, Bob Souther, and Malcolm Vordenbaum, aside from Withrow and Sepkovitch already mentioned.

Pending further investigation of records or completion of graduation requirements, three, Ed Greenwood, Leroy McBride, and Bill Reynolds are on the doubtful list, with some chance of their being available next fall.

Thus eligible for next year's campaign are Bob Brandon, Bob Daugherty, W. J. Hawthorne, and William Jenkins, each with one more year of competition, and Cleo Creecy, Burns McKinney, and J. Z. Powell, each with two more years of competition allowed, Brandon, Daugherty, McKinney, and Powell, really being the only first stringers returning, though others have played in a number of games during the season.

Other squadmen eligible are R. J. Byrd, George Dimock, Tommy Durkin, James Hill, Dan Lundien, T. E. McGinty, Clifford Mann, Arvin Norwood, Herman Paul, Cleveland Pierson, Melvin Rogers, Karl ten Brink, Guy Underwood, and Robert Williamson, each with just one more year of high school competition ahead; Theodore Bratton, P. B. Cox, Francis Cyr, Cecil Decker, R. D. Foster, Ralph Hines, Ben Kelley, and Kenneth Stingel, each with two more years of high school football allowable. These players in order to be eligible next fall will also have to make their work during the coming spring semester, another item which usually reduces the list.

It is thus seen at a glance that little experienced material is available from the large squad going out this year and that, unless there are some strong recruits from junior high school, the coaches will face the same old task of building the team from new material.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 5. (AP)—Yale won a judge's decision over Brown, something unique in the history of eastern football, to win the final game and chief honors today in the round robin football festival for the benefit of the unemployed.

Held scoreless by the Bruins after defeating Holy Cross 6-0 in the first of two qualifying matches to determine the tourney finalists, a committee of judges decided Yale had outplayed Brown just enough to win the second decision ever awarded in this manner at a football game in the East.

The first award of the kind came after the second qualifying match when Brown gained the final by catching the eyes of the arbitrating board after a scoreless contest with Dartmouth.

All games were restricted to two periods of 12 minutes each.

MASONIC HOME AND CLARENDON WILL PLAY TITLE GAME HERE

Broncs and Masons Meet to Decide Regional Crown Next Saturday

The Masonic Home football team of Fort Worth and the Clarendon Broncs will meet at Athletic park at Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. to determine the class B regional championship of Northwest Texas.

This will be the outstanding game of the current season as far as football fans in Wichita Falls and surrounding counties are concerned.

Little doubt concerning the Masons' power could exist after the crushing 47 to 6 defeat which they administered to the veteran Olney Cubs in a bidistrict game at Olney Friday.

Incidentally the Masons have whipped one class A district champion and tied another this year. They played Central High of Fort Worth a 13 to 13 tie and defeated Greenville 20 to 0. Both of these won the district title in class A football.

The Masons also whipped two other class A teams, Fort Worth North Side 6 to 0 and McKinney 26 to 0. They have played 12 games this season without a defeat.

The Clarendon Froncs, who defeated Lamesa 12 to 6 in a bidistrict game Friday, also present a strong team but will enter the game next Saturday with the odds against them. The touchdown made by Lamesa marked the first time the Broncs' goal line had been crossed this season.

Fans who attended the Olney game Friday returned full of praise for the outstanding work of Captain McCall, the Masons' quarterback. McCall tips the scales at 175 pounds and is a triple threat man.

Black, 165-pound halfback of the Masonic team, is probably one of the fastest backs in the state. He won the 440-yard dash at the state interscholastic league meet last spring.

One of the mainstays in the line is Black, 145-pound end, who combines speed with a dynamite tackle that brings down backs weighing 60 pounds more than he does.

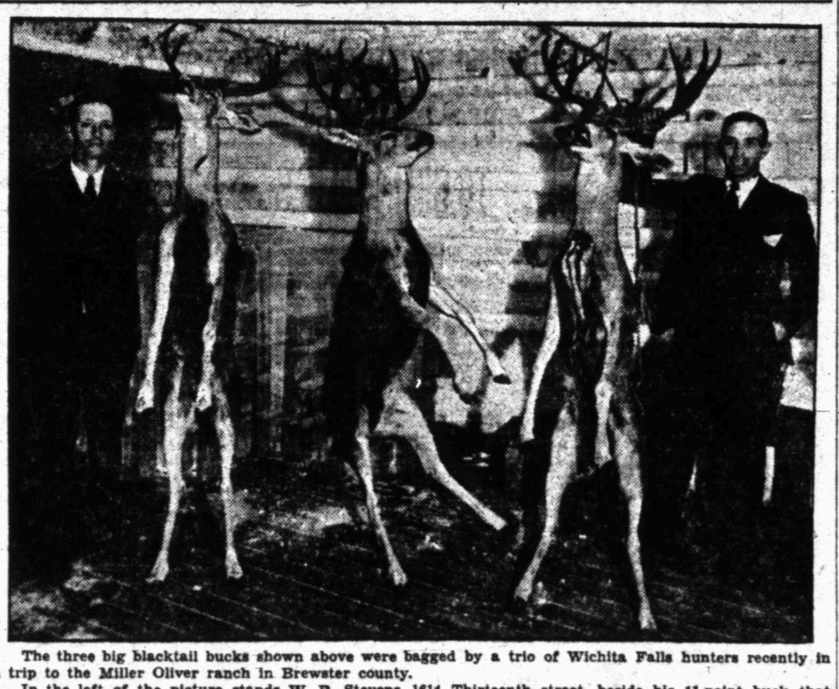

Clarendon will send a special train to Wichita Falls for this game and Fort Worth expects to send hundreds of fans by the highway route. The Masonic Home squad sent here for the game will include some 23 men, almost every one of whom is considered a regular. There is no dearth of reserve material on this team. Also only three regulars will be ineligible to play next year.

Arrangements to hold the game in Wichita Falls next Saturday were completed at a conference held here Saturday and attended by Coaches Hutton and Stockings of Clarendon; Coach H. N. (Rusty) Russell of the Masonic Home; Dean W. H. Remmert of Masonic Home, and A. H. Odom, ardent supporter and ex-officio trainer of the Masons.

A committee to make arrangements for taking care of a banner crowd at the game has been named as follows: William E. Huff, chairman; John Boswell, Al Ellis, Carter McGregor, Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, Floyd Randel, Al Parker, Fred Thompson, W. B. Hamilton, Ed Peterson and Coach Barry Holton of the Coyotes.

HUNTERS FROM WICHITA FALLS BRING HOME VENISON

The deer in the middle was shot by A. S. Bates, 1110 Ninth street, and carries six-point antlers and weighed 165 pounds.

K. B. Kinsner, 1908 Tilden, stands on the right by his 12-point buck, weight 180 pounds. Kinsner got the first deer two hours and 40 minutes after the hunt started.

Deer hunting has been good in the Big Bend country this year and several Wichita Falls parties have reported successful trips.

Tulane Accepts Invitation Play Rose Bowl Game

Green Wave Maintains Perfect Record of Unbeaten and Untied

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5. (AP)—Tulane university and the University of Southern California will meet in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., New Year's day.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 5. (AP)—Dr. Wilbur C. Smith, athletics director of Tulane university, said tonight he had accepted an invitation for Tulane to play Southern California in the Rose Bowl tournament New Year's day.

TULANE STADIUM, New Orleans, Dec. 5. (AP)—Tulane's Green Wave hauled its football banner to the top of the mast and stepped on national championship soil here today by defeating the Washington State Cougars, 28-14.

But the Wave had to fight with all its might to stand off the hard-charging Cougars, who were snatching at Tulane's undefeated and untied seasonal record. The crowd of 25,500 Tulane rooters got the fright of their lives when the visitors drove over a touchdown in three minutes after the starters' whistle and showed a form of winning caliber.

The score was squared soon, however, after Capt. Jerry Dalrymple had left the side lines bench and took his post as right end. He rallied his team and five minutes later Tulane went over the goal line, making the score 7-7.

In the second quarter, the Green Wave hit its stride and rang up two more touchdowns. But in the third quarter Washington State scored again, making the score 21-14.

In the last quarter, Captain Dalrymple made his team safe by catching Zimmerman's pass from the 25-yard line as he stood behind Washington State's goal line, giving his team a lead of two touchdowns which it held to the end.

Each team attacked through the air, Tulane scoring three of its four touchdowns on forward passes. But Washington State was not afraid of Tulane's powerful line and hit it time and again for gains with Tulane retaliating against the stout Cougar line. Each team tackled hard and Sander and Schroeder shone for Washington, along with Tulane's Zimmerman and Glover.

Trainer Says Solon Was Real Ring Champ

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (INS)—Of course, Jack Cooper is glad that W. Warren Barbour is now a United States senator from New Jersey, but nothing ever will balance the grief Jack has known during the 20 years since Barbour quit the amateur ranks of Ringdom.

"He could have been a champion—champion of the whole world, I tell you, but he said 'no,' and then he said 'no' again and right after that he retired—the greatest athlete I ever knew, the greatest natural ringman I've seen in generations" is what Jack had to say about Barbour.

Jack was Barbour's ring tutor in the far-flung years when Barbour was slam-banging his way to heights of the amateur ranks, and it broke the old timer's heart when Barbour refused to turn "pro" and indulge in a session with Jack Johnson.

"I've watched them all" added Cooper, who conducts a gymnasium in New York "but never a boy like Warren Barbour. He wasn't quite 20 when he won the amateur championship. That was on May 6, 1910. He weighed about 212 then. He was more than 6 feet 2 tall, he was as fast as a featherweight, could hit as hard as any man that ever lived and he had brains.

"And only 18 he was—with four or five years ahead for developing, although, thinking about him now, I just can't remember anything that he needed to learn.

"After Johnson whipped Jeffries in Reno they wanted Mister Warren to fight Johnson. He could have named his own price.

"I guess he sort of hankered to get a crack at the negro. He loved nothing better than fight and he never liked the soft ones.

"I know how good Johnson was—along in 1910 and 1911. But if Mister Warren ever had gone against him my money would have been on the boy.

"There was pretty much ruckusing about a fight between Johnson and Warren back there in 1910 and 1911 and lots of times folks felt pretty sure they'd be matched.

"But right about that time his people said he must stop fooling around with the gloves and go to work in his father's factory so that he could learn the business and follow in his father's footsteps.

"I guess the family pressure was pretty strong because Warren just went into retirement, even though he was hardly past 21, and he never did any more real boxing.

"So he's a United States senator now, eh? Well, that's something, of course. But he could have been a world's champion and when you figure it out that's a pretty important thing, because there can be only one heavy champ at one time, while we have a whole lot of senators all the time."

Interest Centers on Significant Changes in Credit Situation and Plans for First Quarter of 1932

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY
United Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Business lines benefiting from Christmas buying pushed their sales programs this week, as interest was centered on significant changes in the credit situation and plans for the first quarter of next year.

The growing seriousness of conditions in Germany will affect American individuals and banking institutions with large loans. Fears of a Fascist dictatorship caused concern among them.

Early solution of Germany's affairs would go a long ways toward allaying nervousness in domestic banking circles and restoring confidence generally.

Meanwhile, automobile manufacturers are cautiously laying plans for the 1932 sales campaign, of utmost importance because recovery in the automotive lines would immediately be felt in all lines of business. Production schedules of the major companies have been stepped up recently to manufacture "show" models and this activity already has been reflected in better employment.

Growing seriousness of the plight of the American railroads, a factor that has tended to hinder business improvement, was thrown into relief this week by the receivership of the Wabash and its controlled Ann Arbor. It was feared a few other badly situated roads might follow.

Domestic Credit

Railroad men were encouraged by hopes that American rail workers will accept a voluntary 10 per cent slash in wages, predicated on the announcement of an involuntary cut of wages by Canadian roads.

The domestic credit situation showed continued improvement despite the unsettlement in securities markets. Better sentiment along these lines was caused by news that the national credit corporation, formed at the instance of President Hoover early in October, had found it unnecessary to make advances to impaired banks except in isolated instances. The mere formation of the credit pool has been enough to allay nervousness of the depositors.

Gift buying went ahead in substantial volume throughout the country. It was recalled that buying of this character was retarded a year ago by developments in the banking system.

Attracted by aggressive advertising methods and "sales," department stores and specialty shops throughout the country were flooded with customers. Volume sales of many merchandisers were ahead of last year but dollar sales and profits were not.

Aside from the December new model spurt in the automobile lines, heavier industries have shown little improvement. Uncertainties kept business men in the dark, as has the impending session of congress.

Southwest Review

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 5. (UP)—Stimulated by pre-holiday sales, wholesale and retail trade picked up in the Southwest during the past week.

Automobile sales showed a tendency to lag, many buyers waited for display of newer models due this month.

A wheat acreage reduction in the Southwest averaging between 10 and 20 per cent was reported by J. F. Jarrell, head of the agricultural department of the Santa Fe railroad, in his Dec. 1 crop report. He stated that approximately 2,000,000 fewer acres of wheat were planted in Kansas.

Winter wheat remained in generally good condition throughout the main belt with the exception of Western Kansas, where further moisture was needed, the U. S. department of agriculture reported.

Corn, due to weather and late frosts, was exceptionally well matured, but early returns indicated the yield was not up to pre-harvest expectations.

Inclement weather and wet fields were unfavorable for gathering the remaining cotton in western parts of the belt.

While hogs and lambs held at new low levels, cattle prices were being readjusted on a lower basis, with the result that big premiums on cattle and sheep prices were diminishing.

Cattle Decline

Fed cattle declined $1 during the past two weeks, while choice steers held at $10.50 a hundredweight at the local market, the highest sale recorded in this period.

The unusually high bids for restricted Indian oil and gas lease land was construed as a bullish factor in the mid-continent oil area. Gasoline shipments were smaller, off 22.5 per cent to 37,644,000 gallons.

An increase of 50 cents a ton in zinc prices was reported in the tri-state district last week. Floats sold at $17.50 and prime western at $18.50.

Demand for lead was good, although sales were small. Reflecting the $2 drop on New York quotations of the American Smelting and Refining company, lead declined $2.50 a ton for sales on odd lots. Carload sales brought $40 a ton.

Flour sales dropped last week as recessions occurred in wheat prices, the Northwestern Miller reported. Hard winter wheat mills sold on an average of 60 per cent of capacity, compared to 75 per cent for the preceding week, but 10 per cent higher than for the same period of a year ago.

The number of building permits issued in 18 reporting cities in the 10 months of the current year was 20.2 per cent less than in the corresponding period last year, the local Federal Reserve bank reported. The estimated cost of construction was 37.6 per cent smaller.

SECURITY MARKETS CLOSE WEEK WITH TONE OF OPTIMISM

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Financial markets assumed a much more cheerful appearance in the week-end trading today.

Evaporation of rumors predicting dire developments in Germany was quickly reflected in firmer security prices. German bonds rallied strongly and many railroad issues made substantial recovery. An advance in stocks was checked around the end of the first hour, only to be resumed in the second, with the result that net gains of 1-3 point were numerous. Repurchases by shorts probably constituted a fairly large proportion of the buying.

Washington intimation that President Hoover would not make specific recommendations for helping the railroads until steps already under way had moved to a conclusion presumably the wage negotiations and the freight rate case found Wall street willing to await the course of events. Railroad stocks were among the strongest of the session.

Although the French franc was a shade easier, $5,500,000 in gold was engaged for shipment to France. A small important of British gold, amounting $373,000 was announced at the federal reserve bank coincident with a drop in sterling exchange.

The turnover in stocks, totaling 873,400 shares, indicated that short covering had been in moderate volume, but the market closed with a strong tone and the best advances were generally made by pivotal issues. Santa Fe ran up 4½ points, finishing at the top.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 5. (AP)—(USDA)—Moderate to sharp price declines were enforced on most classes of livestock around the midwestern circuit this week. Cattle prices broke anywhere from 25c@1.00 with short fed classes, of which there was a liberal supply, showing losses of 50c@$1.00. Strictly good and choice weighty steers were in meager supply and at most centers were not more than 25c lower. Recent heavy rains which produced muddy feed lots were a factor influencing the increased movement of short fed cattle. Bulk of short fed steers ranged from $4.50@8.00 with a sprinkling of finished weighty steers in Chicago above the $12.00 mark. Country demand for stockers and feeders was narrow with closing prices about as low as any time this season. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 242,000 as compared with 199,378 last week and 230,786 the corresponding period a year ago.

The week's hog supply totalling around 806,000 was the largest received around the loop since February, 1928, when arrivals numbered 845,395. Offerings last week totalled 514,659 and a year ago 608,-135 were counted in. Values dropped 20@40c to new low levels for the season with the late top in St. Louis at $4.45.

Fat lambs closed the week unevenly 25@75c under a week ago while steady values were maintained on matured killing classes and feeding lambs. Chicago had a week's top of $6.10 on closely sorted native fed lambs. Receipts approximated 336,800 against 327,786 last week and 347,-906 a year ago.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5. (AP)—Cattle—Receipts 100; calves 50. PRICE MOVEMENT IN COTTON MARKET IN NARROW RANGE

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Cotton was quiet today, with the price movement rather irregular within a narrow range.

January contracts, after selling off to 6.01 at the start, rallied to 6.08 but later eased off to 6.05 under liquidation or southern selling and closed at that figure. The general market closed steady, net one point higher to one point lower.

The opening was steady two to four points lower under overnight selling orders which included some selling through brokers with continental connections. There was also some selling here supposed to be for the cooperative interest, but offerings were comparatively light and the market steadied during the middle of the morning on trade buying and covering. December advanced from 5.96 to 6.08 and May from 6.37 to 6.43, making net advances of three to 10 points, but there seemed to be a little more southern selling at the higher prices while prospects for clearing weather in the south caused expectations of an increased movement next week. This news led to some week-end realizing or liquidation and prices worked back to about yesterday's closing quotations at the close.

The disposition to even commitments over the week-end may have been increased by the approach of the final government crop report for the season, which is scheduled for publication next Tuesday. There was very little conjecture as to the probable showing of the crop figures, however, and trading seemed to consist largely of technical adjustments, with further switching from near to late months. There was a report of a slightly easier basis on inch cotton in some of the southern markets, but otherwise no change was reported in the spot situation and except for the selling attributed to cooperaive brokers, very few selling orders appeared to be reaching here from the south.

Liverpool cables were relatives steady on Bombay buying and trade calling and reported a fair business from the British home trade in cotton cloths. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 225,000 bales against 133,000 last year.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 5. (AP)—The cotton market was quiet today even for a short week-end session. Price fluctuations were narrow and there was little feature other than pre-bureau evening up before the government's final crop estimate due Tuesday morning.

Although cables were better than due the market here opened 2 points down. The close was at the top being called steady and showing net gains for the day of ½ point.

A private report issued during the morning made the crop estimate 17,250,000 bales.

Liverpool came in 4@5 penny points better than due but sterling exchange was lower. Private cables stated that though Bombay bought and the trade called there was liquidation. Manchester cabled that there was a fair cloth business from the home trade. Prices rallied slowly in sympathy with firmer stocks and on some trade buying and January recovered to 6.08 and March to 6.26, or 5 points up from the earlier lows. The market closed steady and at or near the highs with the active months showing net gains of 2 points for the day.

Port receipts 35,859, for the season 5,-401,264, last season 6,287,900. Exports 117,178, for the season 3,091,483, last season 3,313,116. Port stocks 4,726,492, last year 4,186,671. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 171,036, last year 121,760. Spot sales at southern markets 25,907, last year 17,905. A feature of the day was the large export total probably the largest single day clearances of the season.

BUYING IN STOCKS GIVES STIMULUS TO GRAIN VALUES

CHICAGO, Dec. 5. (AP)—Aggressive buying that resulted largely from stock market recoveries gave decided stimulus to wheat values late today, and brought about material gains. Indications of augmented export demand for wheat from North America were an additional strengthening influence, with estimates that new purchasing for shipment overseas totaled 1,000,000 bushels. There was no direct evidence, however, that this included any United States grain.

Wheat closed unsettled ¾@1⅜c higher than yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅝c up, oats unchanged to ⅛c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Preceding the late advance in wheat were setbacks which accompanied renewal of assertions that a wheat quota system for the British empire had been decided upon, leaving but a meager percentage for non-empire imports, and that official statements on the subject would be made public next Wednesday.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat. Primary receipts of corn were less than half those of a year ago.

Provisions tended upward, responsive to moderate buying.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Dec. 58c, offers; March 55½c, bids; May 57@57⅛ 60⅝@½c; July 56¼, 59⅝@½. Corn, Dec. 35¼, 37⅝@¾; March 40½, offers; May 40⅝@¾, 42½; July 42⅝, 44⅝@½.

Dry Goods Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Cotton goods were firmer today after news that an attempt is to be made to balance excessive production in the print cloth division. Burlaps were steady and quiet. Wool goods were selling in small lots for quick delivery, most of the buying being in the overcoating and coating field. Silk continued unsettled with a weak tendency. Rayon acetate yarn prices continued irregular and some pressure exists to sell inferior grades of viscose yarns.

Boston Wool Market

BOSTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Trading in wool during the past week was slower than during the latter half of November. Sixty-fours and finer western grown wools comprised the bulk of the sales and the movement of Texas lines was a feature of the market. Fine fleeces were very quiet. Only scattered sales were closed on 58s, 60s, and lower grades of either fleece or territory wools.

New Credit Corporation Having Pronounced Psychological Effect On Finance Declares Chairman

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (UP)—The National Credit corporation, formed to aid banks with "frozen" assets, was reported today as having "a pronounced psychological effect on finance," functioning perfectly and refusing no loans so far.

Mortimer N. Buckner, chairman, said the organization has made "a material influence among American banks." He declared American banks as a whole were sound, especially backed with the corporation credit.

Directors of the corporation after a meeting here yesterday issued a statement in which they reported the credit plan as functioning throughout the 12 federal reserve districts. Continual progress was noted in the local organization.

No Loans Refused

"The national officers," the statement said, "of the corporation reported that applications for loans to associations of subscribing banks have been received daily since Nov. 1 and thus far no loan has been refused.

"The organization is operating so effectively that loans are being accepted and funds remitted to the local association for borrowing banks on the same day on which the loan applications are received. In some instances loans have been arranged and funds placed at the disposal of borrowing banks within four or five hours."

Cooperation of large banks in New York City has enabled the corporation to borrow locally sufficient funds to cover all loans thus far, the directors said.

This has eliminated necessity for calling upon member banks to pay any part of their subscription to the corporation's gold notes.

The directors refrained from giving any publicity as to the amounts of loans made to associations, the districts concerned or names of borrowing banks themselves. They held that the corporations relationship with loan associations and individual banks was a confidential one.

BOWIE CHOSEN FOR DISTRICT MEETING MUSIC FEDERATION

VERNON, Texas, Dec. 5.—Bowie was unanimously chosen for the 1932 convention of the first district of the Texas Federation of Music clubs, at the closing session of the annual convention here, Saturday afternoon.

By a change in the constitution and by-laws, the present officers will serve for another two-year term. Miss Fannie V. Noah of Olney is president; other officers are Mrs. Fred Gillette, Fort Worth, vice president; Mrs. James Lovelace, Olney, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. R. R. Baird, Stamford, auditor.

The afternoon session was devoted to a discussion of work of juvenile clubs of the state and Mrs. Clara Baber of Wichita Falls gave a report on the activities of the junior organizations.

One hundred and thirteen miles of new railroad are under construction between Childress and Pampa, Texas, estimated to cost five million dollars when completed.

LUBBOCK DEFEATS QUANAH 26 TO 0

Norman and Harrell did splendid defensive work for Quanah. Barnett at center broke up many a Lubbock thrust. Outclassed though the Indians were, they staged a performance that was up to the high standard they had set in distris No. 3.

Lubbock sent a special train of fans, with the band and pep squad. Quanah's hospitality was at its best for the occasion, and supplied the warmth that the weather man had failed to provide.

ELKS MEMORIAL SERVICE TO BE HELD ON SUNDAY

Addresses to Be Delivered By Judge Martin and E. F. Fruechte

SERVICE HERE TO HONOR 72 DEPARTED MEMBERS

Public Invited to Attend Ceremony at the Elks Home

Annual rites in memory of members who have died during the existence of Wichita Falls lodge No. 1105, B. P. O. E., will be held Sunday afternoon at the Elks home here, 1005 Ninth street.

Memorial services will be held in the form of a program, which includes addresses appropriate to the occasion by Judge P. A. Martin and E. F. Fruechte. Special music which has been obtained for the services of selections by the Kay Bible class quartet, and Misses Thelma Nowell, May Bartlett, Mildred Anderson and Jesse D. Laue.

The calling of the names of those from whom no response will be heard will be performed in a tabloid in which H. C. English, lodge secretary, and little Miss Elizabeth Laue will be the principal figures. As each name is called, pages from the Book of Life will be torn and allowed to flutter away, symbolical of the passing of lives.

A total of 72 departed members will be honored in the ceremony three of whom have died within the past year.

The Elks lodge was founded here in 1908, and during the passing years 72 members have died. As the years go by, names accumulate and increase on the roll of the absent, yet, with each memorial service each name is called in that ceremony dedicated to the precept that the brotherhood of Elks extends beyond the boundaries of life.

Following the opening rites by officers of the lodge, invocation will be said by Rabbi S. J. Schwab.

Judge Martin will eulogize the three departed members of the current year, W. F. J. Reverty, J. A. Watkins and J. L. Downing. Mr. Fruechte will deliver the memorial day address.

Officials of the order announce that the public is invited to attend the ceremony, which is the only public rite which non-members are eligible to attend. Members of the families of the dead brothers particularly are urged to attend.

Robber Wounded Carlisle Battle With Merchant

KILGORE, Texas, Dec. 5 (AP)—One man was wounded and two others, believed by police to be his accomplices, were captured after an attempted holdup last night of J. M. Price at his mercantile store at Carlisle in Rusk county.

Price was at work on books in his store when two men entered, a third remaining outside in an automobile. They commanded Price to lie on the floor. He had a pistol in his pocket and as he lay down, rolled over and fired one shot. One of his assailants was wounded in the abdomen. The man returned the fire and one bullet grazed the side of Price's head but he was not seriously wounded. The other men fled but were arrested here early today and their automobile seized.

COMMUNITY STUDY CLUB HAS MEETING

IN THE PICTURES

Miss Edna Prechel, talented art designer, is in charge of the stage setting for "The Mollusc," a delightful three-act comedy to be presented by the Woman's Forum drama department at the clubhouse Tuesday evening.

Mesdames Paul Harrell and Porter Oakes will take leading parts in the play, and both are considered by local audiences as readers of unusual ability.

Mrs. E. L. Fulton, whose dramatic talent and training is well known to Wichita Falls friends, is chairman of the department and also one of the hostesses on this occasion.

PEGGY PIEDMONT Says

"FROM the family to mother." (Or to sister, brother or father). "From the family to the family." That's the way lots of Christmas cards are going to read this year. And a fine sentiment it is, too, when it's attached to a good, practical, usable gift. And that is the kind of gifts that will be popular too, if advance signs mean anything. Talk, about Christmas, is about all one is hearing now days, and inventories are being taken of the family wardrobe and other needs with a view to supplying these with the intended gifts.

◇ ◇ ◇

SEVERAL annual church bazaars have been announced, and women are busy making pretty things to be sold for the annual charity funds. Sunday school classes and aid societies are planning Christmas baskets, and the tinkle, tinkle, tinkle of the Salvation Army Christmas bell has already begun to be heard on the street corners.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE streets are gorgeous and colorful with myriads of small Christmas trees in front of the business houses. While at night, one believes he has been transported into fairyland when the strings of beautifully colored lights begin to shed their soft glow over the yuletide scene.

◇ ◇ ◇

STRESSING the spirit of charity, Mrs. Eleanor Robson Belmont, well known writer says that this is a winter for all Americans to develop the old-fashioned virtue of neighborliness.

She also says that if you are born a neighbor, you will die a neighbor. "All your life—whether you recognize it or not—you will live as a neighbor to hundreds of human beings around you. So it is not a question of being a neighbor during this winter's crisis. It is a question of what kind of a neighbor you are."

ANOTHER well known writer says that the present economic depression seems to present a real challenge to American women. That there is need today for women to help their men, as our pioneer grandmothers stood shoulder to shoulder with their men-folk in supplying food and clothing to their families and sustaining home-life.

She says further "That it is time for women to re-learn some of the great American virtues of usefulness that their colorful forebears knew so well. That period of luxury and plenty that we lately lived through seems to have made women "soft." There has been a general feeling that 'the best is none too good for me.' It spurred women on to spend more than they had, to lose a sense of the value of saving, and to put their family in the position of waiting for next week's pay to settle for last week's purchases.

"INDICATIVE of this living beyond their means are the requests many women are making today for financial help, saying: 'We have a fine house which we can't meet the payments on,' 'I must sell my jewels, do you know a market?' Men have earned good salaries and their women should have been saving for a rainy day. Instead of that, hundreds of thousands of them over the country have spent to the hilt and merrily charged to the limit of the family credit."

◇ ◇ ◇

MANY and varied programs are being given these days, some of them exceedingly interesting and artistic affairs. In the week just passed, Ethel Allen Nelson presented his symphony orchestra and Louis XIV Court Fiddlers in an elaborate annual program varied with other numbers in which some of the city's most talented artists appeared, as well as a group from Amarillo. And now another annual event is being arranged when the Christmas program will be given at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13, by the Musicians club. Mrs. Kenneth Bebb is arranging the program which is always looked forward to with much enthusiasm by musicians and lovers of good music.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE drama department of the Woman's Forum is also busy these days preparing its second play, "The Mollusc," which will be presented at the Forum clubhouse Tuesday night under the direction of Mrs. W. F. Pagan. Mrs. E. L. Fulton is chairman of the department, and through her untiring efforts assisted by a group of Wichita Falls' most able artists, the department is progressing in development and usefulness as never before. Stage settings are being arranged for the department by Miss Edna Prechel, whose training and artistry is of the highest order. Miss Prechel studied art design in New York City for several years, and those who have observed her work, declare that it is outstanding. With this phase of the department in such capable hands, leaders feel that they are indeed fortunate.

ANOTHER department of the forum registering unusual progress is that of the writers. Various kinds of articles are written by the active members and read at the luncheon meetings once a month, also poetry of real worth.

An annual one-act play contest is also sponsored by the department which proves inspiring and instructive, and in which many of the members take an enthusiastic part. The contest is open to writers of a large part of Northwest Texas and names of winners are awaited each year with interest.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS year, Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, with a dramatic one-act play picturing penitentiary life, "The Worm," was winner of first place and received the prize given by the Cargill Book and Stationery store, a handsome copy of a Burns Mantle "Review of Plays."

Mrs. Oneal compiled the "Prize Winning One-Act Plays," produced

Art Department Sponsors First Local Artist's One Man Show In Exhibit and Open House at Forum

An artist of local as well as of national fame will be sponsored in exhibit at the Forum clubhouse during the next week, when Polly Hoffman of Wichita Falls will give the first local artist's one-man show in this city. The art department will sponsor the show and the pictures will be sold on commission. Open house will be held at the clubhouse this afternoon and the pictures will be shown through Sunday, Dec. 13.

There are about 40 canvasses hanging in the Woman's Forum clubhouse, only four of which have been exhibited before in the city. The artist's love of flowers is shown by the number of flower pictures which display exquisite arrangements of almost every flower that blooms in a garden as well as startlingly lovely wild flower studies.

Wichita Scenes

Each spring Mrs. Hoffman makes a sketching tour to paint bluebonnets and other Texas wild flowers. It is known that she had the only bluebonnet landscape that has passed the Texas Fine Arts jury in two years; the breath-taking view was shown here last spring. A yellow bowl of bluebonnets in this show demonstrates excellent drawing and painting of the state flower.

Among the striking canvass to be noted, are many that were painted near Wichita Falls and 28 of the pictures shown have been done since March. "Desert Glory," rich in color and with an unusual rythm of line in the play of light through the sky and in the foreground, was painted near the city. "Fall Woods" and "Pond in Autumn" were painted in and near Weeks Park this fall. There are interesting woody places along Holliday creek and the Wichita river that may yet be immortalized by Mrs. Hoffman's brush.

Colorful Scenes

The five mountain landscapes hanging in the foyer were painted in New Mexico in August. "Oldham Lake at Red River" shows luscious shades of purple, blue and rose in the distant mountains with rich greens of pine and blue spruce silhouette against them. Aspen trees towering above a log cabin and a sunlit path in a smaller picture, are exquisite in their pale slenderness; one almost hears the rustle of their leaves. A small canvas of distances done at Diversion dam is also extremely interesting.

As to flowers, six pictures with brilliantly hued zinnias, Indian blankets, black jars and red peppers are delightful still life studies. A canvas of Texas wild flowers is full of the gorgeous colors of the fire wheel, or gallardia, coryopsis, thistle and wild sweet peas. There are chrysanthemums and daisies, calendula and tulips, snapdragons and cosmos, trumpet vine and wistaria—masses of mixed bouquets that makes the lover of beauty catch his breath.

The Artist

Mrs. Luther Hoffman, known in art cricles as Polly Hoffman, has been listed for the past five years in "Who's Who in American Art." She has exhibited several years in the annual Texas Fine Arts show, in the Southern States Art League show, the Dallas artists' annual exhibit, in New York and in San Francisco.

She studied three years and several summers in New York at Pratt institute and Columbia university and was also a pupil of Henry Snell while in New York. Mrs. Hoffman is vice president of the Texas Art colony and while there, she has studied with Olin Travis of the Dallas Art institute, Nile Stevens of Sophia Newcomb, Reausseau of Oklahoma university and Gonzales of San Antonio.

Always a lover of beauty, Mrs. Hoffman describes her style of painting as a combination of the impressionistic and modern schools. Good drawing is to her a basis of good art. The grotesque has no appeal for her, and she maintains that all modern schools will finally come through the epidemic of featuring ugliness in art and literature just because it is "life" and will re-establish the old love of the truly beautiful.

MRS. MOWERY HOSTESS AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. L. D. Mowrey was hostess to a group of children at her home on Fillmore street Friday afternoon, observing the third birthday of her son, Lester Stanley Mowery. Games were played in which prizes were awarded to Billy Arnold, Betty Hicks, Dorothy Jean Sharber and Joanne Arnold.

Alamo Parent-Teacher Unit Answers Plea for Lunch Fund

"These are happy days; days when every one is thinking of Santa Claus and is filled with the Christmas spirit," said Rev. H. T. Wood, pastor of the First Christian church in his message on "The Christian Spirit and its Relation to Welfare Work," at the regular meeting of the Alamo P.-T. A. Friday afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Wood spoke of the three rules related to the season of the year, naming them as the iron rule, a rule of pain, the spirit of which is 'might makes right;' the silver rule of Confucius, which is merely a negative spirit; those who follow it do nothing unto others they would not have done unto them but in following this rule of indifference, miss the greatest pleasures in life; the golden rule, the speaker said, is the greatest rule and its spirit makes the Yuletide season. The greatest philosophy of life was stressed as that philosophy which shares with others, especially the needy and less fortunate.

Miss Mary Quinn, in talking on "Child Infection of Tuberculosis," stated that tuberculosis is a curable disease if diagnosed in time. She stressed the necessity of building up in the children a physical resistance to the infection.

Lunch Fund Aided

Mrs. T. R. Boone made an appealing talk for the needy children in city schools. Contrary to the custom of the association, a free will offering was taken after the meeting and $40 was collected for the City Council P.-T. A. lunch fund.

Mrs. E. C. Stirman, welfare chairman, reported in detail the work Alamo P.-T. A. is carrying on among the children in the Alamo district. She made an appeal for clothing for needy children.

Miss Jennie Louise Hindman, music instructor, directed a chorus of 12 girls from the low fourth grade in a group of songs, including "The Merry Drum," "If I Were a Rose" "Lullaby" and "Dreams." The chorus personnel included Ada Ruth King, Nelsine Rodocker, Odelle Gaines, Geneva Mooney, Anita Lewis, Patricia McCarthy, Wilma Ruth Baber, Nina Gwynn Taylor, Betty Collins, Frances Nabors, Virginia Corbin and Mildred Clades.

The devotional was the Lord's Prayer by the audience led by Mrs. J. C. Martin. A playroom was arranged under the sponsorship of a member of the P.-T. A. with sixth grade girls assisting. Announcement was made that Miss Dora Raiborn won the attendance prize with Miss Lena Davis' room second.

The hospitality committee included Misses Lelia Clifford, Alma Frances Abernathy, Ruby Lee Martin, Mesdames C. R. Lamphere, A. O. Idall and Glen Berry.

NOCONA P.-T. A. HAS DECEMBER PROGRAM

Proving one of the most interesting meetings of the autumn season, members and friends of the Nocona Parent-Teacher association enjoyed their December program at the south ward school building Wednesday afternoon.

The meeting was opened with the assembly repeating the Lord's prayer, led by Mrs. J. A. Fooshee, president.

"Planning and Furnishing the Home," was the theme of a talk ably given by Mrs. Frank Wood. She said, "A home should be planned on the principle of convenience and comfort, modern as far as possible, it can be simple, yet wholly livable and charming as to comfort. The average American family is a busy, active group, each member has his own interest and ambitions. The happiest homes are often those of families of modest means." She also stated facts about "What Home Should Mean to Every Child."

Mrs. Fooshee, president, presided during the business session when reports were heard from various chairmen.

Mrs. O. M. Allison read a brief report, giving the high lights of the convention in San Antonio.

Mrs. R. D. Stuart, membership chairman's report, stated that 169 paid members have been enrolled. During the membership drive, a membership tree, which is a beautiful spreading oak drawn upon beaver board, with a limb to represent each school room, was drawn and painted by Mrs. Guy Cone and Miss Iverle Flados. A prize was offered the room securing the greatest number of members during the drive. Each member's name written upon a pretty green oak leaf, fastened to the limb with a thumb tack, represented the 41 members secured by Miss Gladys Troxell's room, fifth and sixth grades, Mrs. C. B. Keene, room mother. This room received the membership prize. Evelyn Keene, fifth grade pupil, received the child's prize for securing the greatest number of members.

Supt. W. J. Stone in a brief talk urged parents to examine their children's report cards and know what their children are doing. Parents should cooperate with the teachers and see that their children prepare lessons at home. This home work is very necessary, he said.

Mrs. A. A. Stripling announced that she would sponsor a two-act play for the benefit of the P.-T. A. at an early date.

Treasurer's report was heard.

Mrs. W. J. Maddox, Red Cross chairman, made an announcement asking that all membership dues be turned in at once.

Mrs. Bruce Porter, secretary, gave the child hygiene report, stating that the chairman, Mrs. John Wood, had sent in her resignation.

Minutes of the November meeting were read and approved.

The attendance banner and money prize for the greatest per cent of mothers in attendance went to Miss Ann Porter's room, fourth and a part of sixth grade, Mrs. John Hill, room mother, South ward. Forty-one mothers and friends represented this room.

More than 100 parents, teachers and visitors were in attendance, in spite of the rain and sleet.

The meeting adjourned to meet again Jan. 6.

©1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I ran down the road." Ruth Bradley's words hung in the stillness that followed as the car went on out into the country now. Then the girl spoke again.

"I think Sally told me I had gone flat. Isn't it . . . rather awful of me to talk like this about my own sister?"

"It will do you good to talk to some one. And as for being your sister . . . she may be related to you but she certainly isn't interested in you."

"Sally had just loaned me the golden slippers. She said that they were hers. My check didn't buy them. She used some money of her own. And so I knew I had to be careful. I went running down the road . . ."

Sue had to read between the lines of the rest of the story, for Ruth made it brief.

She had gone running down the road, sobbing under her breath, wondering how she could ever face any of the people who had seen her do the crazy, barbaric dance. She had called herself dozens of names for daring to think that she could be light and graceful. She took off Sally's slippers and carried them. She was afraid they would be scratched.

"Oh what got into me, what got into me?" she moaned. "How did I ever do it?"

A car slowed down as it passed. Waited.

Then a friendly voice spoke, as she came along.

"May I give you a lift? I'm going into town and the road wasn't made for walking."

"Oh-h—" She had come nearer. "You were at the party, were you not? I danced with you once."

"You did. Climb in. I hunted for you after you did your stunt."

Ruth had obeyed meekly. She didn't know that there was something wistfully attractive about her with the dark hair falling rebelliously against her oval face. She tossed the hair away, and her eyes were dark and brooding.

"I was running away from the party," she said. "I hated it! I went . . . because I had to. I took off my slippers and carried them because the heels tripped me." It was a lie and she knew it. She had removed them because they were Sally's and Sally would complain if they were scratched. Some remnant of pride wouldn't let her tell that. But she made no effort to put them on again.

The man had laughed. She noticed that he was a little older than most of the men whom her sister knew. She had a nice face. She thought she would like him. Only he was laughing at her, of course. Every one was.

"Who is Sally?" the man asked.

"You mean you don't know her?" Ruth was surprised. He might just as well have said that he had never heard of Cleopatra or Helen of Troy. But it was reassuring. Maybe Sally wasn't so popular.

"I've been in town about a week. That's probably why. This is my first social event. That's the reason I don't know the goddess, I suppose. I'm Dale Courtney, manager of the new Palace theater. Come in some time and I'll give you passes." Then he changed his tone. Grew serious.

"I watched you and I followed you on purpose tonight."

Monday: Dale Courtney's reason for following Ruth.

PLAYS SELECTED FOR TOURNAMENT FINALS

"Saving Dad," a comedy by Mabel Conklin Allyn and sponsored by the Senior Epworth leaguers of the First Methodist church, and "The Semapore," a drama sponsored by the Scotland leaguers and written by Harold White, were the one-act plays selected to compete in the finals following the first elimination Friday evening at the Wilson Memorial Methodist church.

The second elimination will be held Monday evening at the Wilson Memorial church with plays from the Floral Heights, Grant Street, and Wilson Memorial leagues competing. Finals of the tournament will be held Friday Dec. 11.

Three well coached and cleverly presented plays gave the audience of more than 200 people a delightful entertainment and made judging of the plays a difficult matter. Special mention for outstanding characterization was given to Miss Edith McClure, who as Pierette in "The Maker of Dreams" produced one of the smoothest performances of the evening; Miss Beverly Calhoun as Aunt Jerusha in "Saving Dad"; and H. A. Jones as the station agent in "The Semapore." Other players whose work deserved mention were Valdon Brownlee, Georgia Johnston, and Helen Arnold.

"Dust of the Road," "Pa's New Housekeeper," and "The Rector," are the competing plays on Monday evening's program which will begin at 8 o'clock. A small admission will be charged to defray the expenses of the tournament. Judges of the plays are from the F. C. McClung School of Dramatic Art.

Camp Fire Girls Will Give Open Program Sunday

Camp Fire Girls will hold a grand council fire Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Episcopal parish house to which the public is invited.

The theme of the program will be "Christmas in Many Lands," culminating a year of study of other countries in keeping with the 1931 birthday theme of International Friendship.

Miss Mary McIlheran, who will conduct the council fire, will sound the call of "Wohelo" which will be answered by the members in the outer room with the Christmas carol "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day." Members will file into the room, forming three circles—inner circle of girls in costumes of different nations carrying banners, second circle of girls in ceremonial gowns, and outer circle of girls in service uniform of middies and skirts.

The three continents will be represented in the Wohelo candle lighting ceremony as follows: Europe, with Mary Love Appleby of the Acancan group representing Italy; Asia, with Jewel Gibbins of the Ahsonzong group for Japan; North America, with Kathryn Borden of Tanokiwin group for Mexico.

During 1931 Camp Fire Girls throughout the world have been learning more about each other. The different groups in Wichita Falls have each chosen one country for special study. City-wide activities have included International birthday council fire, vesper service, birthday party when members of different groups wore costumes representing their countries and put on programs. "The year would not be complete without knowing something about how the different countries celebrate Christmas, so we shall find that out this afternoon," said Miss McIlheran.

DOCUMENTS MISSING AND OUSTER PROCEEDINGS IN MINNESOTA POSTPONED

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 5. (INS)—Ouster proceeding against the Minnesota Railroad commission recessed today until Dec. 17 with documents in connection with the sale last July of elevator M still missing, despite promises of M. W. Thatcher, general manager of the Farmers' Union terminal, that he would produce them.

Called as a witness twice in the hearings, Thatcher was asked specifically to produce the documents, but excused himself both times. He said the instrument of sale had a clause whereby the elevator was turned over to the Farmers National Warehouse corporation, a subsidiary of the Farmers National Grain corporation, federal farm board super-cooperative.

Thatcher did produce a receipt for the sale of more than a million bushels of wheat in the elevator to the Grain Stabilization corporation, through the Farmers National as agent.

Congressional investigation or a local grand jury probe, or both, of charges that the sale of the elevator was not bona fide and that it was made for the purpose of concealing fraudulent grain grading at the elevator may result.

What a Sweet Tooth!

ACTON, Ind.—George Phenster, local druggist, in fighting for the $9,000 estate left by his mother, presented a rather odd argument in court. He claimed he should have the entire $9,000 because his mother owed him $25,000. He explained that this sum was the total of bills for candy, peanuts and ice cream he had provided for her during the last 20 years.

VARSITY NEWS

By BETTY LOVE RUGELEY

The University of Texas campus was completely deserted during the Thanksgiving holidays; the empty buildings, the dead trees, the unlighted halls, the whispering of a few lonesome voices were combined to give a dull, unromantic picture.

Even S. R. D. with all its color, and its wealth of pleasant sounds, had its family of 325 girls reduced to a noiseless, almost unheard, 20 girls.

The "drag" was a hopeless picture too, with few stores open and all drug stores closed at 9 o'clock.

Those students who returned to Wichita Falls for the week-end were Misses Helen Cline, Marjorie Vincent, Frances Bone, Bertha Mae Krueger, Velma Jane Miners, Ruth Bruce, Don Ruth Coffee, and her guest, Mary Anna Hunt, Dorothy Peckham, Ruth Turley and Mary Elizabeth Donnell. Messrs. Aaron Krueger, Raymond Strong, Vernon Black, Ralph Harver, Charles Warmon, George Bays, Lilliard Jackson, Bob Peckham, Dick Delaney, James Harvey, Alexander Cameron, John Flynn, J. C. Wagner, I. D. Brown, Clint Broday, Bob Crocker, Phillip Kouri, Darrell Dishong, Bill Duncan, Ed Napier and Elmer Parrish.

Miss Dorothy Bennett, of Dallas, formerly of Wichita Falls visited at the home of Dain Whitworth in Smithville over the week-end.

Miss Mizelle Hodge and W. A. Johnson drovt to Chatfield with Miss Hodge's aunt where they visited with relatives for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. J. M. Smyth with her two daughters, Pearl and Shirley, of Iowa Park, came to Austin to spend Thanksgiving with her son, Douglas, who is a sophomore in the university. They were also the guests of Henry Anderson and Maurice Allred, of Wichita Falls.

Macon Boddy, Beta Theta Pi, whose home is in Henrietta, went to Laredo with several of his fraternity brothers for a holiday visit.

Bruce Alexander of Electra, visited in San Antonio.

Walter Cline, and Bill Nichols came from Wichita Falls to visit with friends in Austin the first of last week.

Those Wichita Falls students who went to Bryan so far as I have been able to find out, are Jane Cameron, Betay Lee, Bill Hood and Elizabeth Beumler.

The annual Texas-A. & M. game draws the largest crowd of any of the football games. The game was held at College Station this year and three special trains took students to the game.

Bill Fitzgerald, of Wichita Falls, went to Houston to spend the holidays.

In spite of these many absences there were many students at the Thanksgiving service at All Saint's Episcopal chapel, where all university churches held a union service.

Texas regrets that we lost our final game to our oldest rival, and especially that we were unable to break the Kyle field jinx. This game was the last to be played by 12 men.

Those who did not go to College Station were invited to the grid party given by the university Co-op. And many university students attended the midnight matinee showing of that famous picture, Frankenstein.

Friends of Miss Fay Brown of Austin will be interested to hear of her wedding on Wednesday to Sidney Edrington, who is a professor in the university.

There is a tax study going on in Texas arrangements for which were screened with intention secrecy, according to some of those called to take part in it.

Mrs. Ross Sterling observed her "at home" on Tuesday afternoon when she honored as her guest, Miss Ruth Cross. Members of the Kwill Klub composed the house party.

The American Political Science association called a regional conference on state and local taxation in Dallas Friday and Saturday of this week.

A writer for the Austin American in listing the things that he was thankful for on Thanksgiving day said, "I am thankful that Gordon Fulcher is happy again because the "Missus" is back with him on Thanksgiving after a visit to Wichita Falls."

An interesting family of Wichita Falls people who are living in Austin is Mr. and Mrs. Louie Barrett, and their little daughter. Mr. Barrett was for four years a pre-med student in the university and he is now employed by Hirsch's Drug company.

Harwood Stacy, formerly of Wichita Falls, and now in business in Austin, is now holding an office on the vestry of the Episcopal church, and he was present at the last meeting of the Student's Sunday club.

BERG EVANGELISTIC PARTY TO CLOSE ITS SERIES SUNDAY EVE

The Berg evangelistic party will close its series of religious dramas and victorious life lectures at 807½ Tenth street tonight, it was stated Saturday by Rev. Albert E. Davis, who is pastor of "The Church of the Air" over KGKO. It has been reported that in spite of the inclement weather the crowds have been large at nearly every service.

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Evangelist Virginia Brandt Berg will preach on the subject, "My Farewell Message to Wichita Falls Pilgrims."

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 Evangelist Berg will speak on "Everyday Religion." This sermon, it is said, summarizes the "victorious life" addresses and ideas which the evangelist has presented in Wichita Falls.

Rev. Albert E. Davis announced that the final illustrated lecture by Evangelist Berg would be given Sunday night, entitled "The Pot of Gold at the End of the Rainbow." Mr. Davis stated that this lecture had been given with telling effect in many parts of the United States and in Canada.

It was also stated Saturday night that this lecture will deal with things of which the great majority of Christians have no knowledge, and which would bring untold blessings to the multitudes if made available. "Sister Berg" announced that a souvenir would be given to each one who attends this final evangelistic service.

WICHITA FALLS RECORD NEWS PATTERNS

This is indeed a sympathetic fashion season, as there are charming frocks for every woman whether she be tall or short, slender or stout. It's just a matter of choosing the right fabric and the right style. The latter we take care of for you, selecting hundreds of the best styles each season and sizing them carefully so that large and small women come in for an equal choice. And being directly on the spot for last minute information we quickly pass on to you all we know about fabrics and colors, leaving just the final choice for becomingness and suitability to you. At this minute there is great rivalry among four fabrics—canton crepe, roshanara, velvet and sheer wool. Of course satin has by no means entirely disappeared, but it no longer stands in the limelight for daytime, rather spreading its luster by night. And one other kind of fabric appears to be coming to the fore—the semi-sheer—such as crepe romaine or crepe Elizabeth — watch it for spring! As to colors for day wear, there is delightful variety among the browns, greens, reds, glorious new blues and black.

Pattern 1084

An afternoon frock for the matronly figure in an "easy-to-make" model that is simply but smartly styled. The molded bodice is worn without a belt, a boon to larger women; the skirt flare joins in a downward point that effects slenderness. The sleeves may be made in three ways, long with or without the flare, or three quarter with the flare. Collar and vestee add a becoming note of contrast. Sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 38 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch fabric, ⅛ yard contrasting.

Pattern 1142

A simple slip is made in just two parts, not counting the shoulder straps. It is slightly moulded through the bodice and will form a perfect foundation under your new frocks. Sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 16 requires 2¼ yards of 39-inch fabric.

Pattern 1089

AND now just as I am about to sign off, I read where one smart man says that there is no excuse today for women being dowdy or poorly dressed. That newspapers, magazines and the radio now practically make smart dressing a home correspondence course. He also says that prices are lower this year, but one thing he did not say was where to get the money with which to buy these things, and that is what mainly interests your friend—

Three-Act Play Will Be Given By Department

Expected to be one of the most delightful plays yet attempted by the drama department of the forum, is the three-act comedy, "The Mollusc," to be presented at the clubhouse Tuesday evening. IMPAIRING GANDHI'S LEADERSHIP

Mahatma Gandhi, returning to India to lead his people in a non-violent revolution against British rule, may find that leadership impaired by what has happened at London.

The failure of the round-table conference was due more to the inability of India's own leaders to agree than to the attitude of Great Britain. The British government said in effect that if India would tell it what kind of constitution was wanted, it was willing to go as far toward giving it as military and economic conditions would permit. But India's representatives could not agree on what they wanted. The Mohammedans wanted safeguards against the Hindu majority. The "untouchables" could not be ignored.

When a country has gone as far as Great Britain has gone toward granting India independence, neither the Hindus themselves nor the outside world can be as sympathetic with Gandhi as they would be if the British government had shown no disposition to be conciliatory. Gandhi may find his non-violent revolution difficult to carry on.

THE PUBLIC AND THE TRUCKS

In a communication which was published last Tuesday, Mr. W. O. Beeman accuses this paper of being under the influence of railroad propaganda. His letter was prompted by an editorial on the subject of motor truck regulation.

This paper's attitude toward the trucks is just this; that they should pay, and pay heavily, for the exceptional privilege they enjoy in the use of the public highways, and that such classes of truck transportation as menace the public safety should be barred altogether.

The question of the trucks' effect on the railroads is an incidental one. If this paper, or the public, seems to lean toward the railroad side of the argument, it is because the pounding of expensive pavement by the trucks, and the selfish, inconsiderate attitude of many truck operators toward other traffic, have created an unfriendly state of mind toward the trucks. The way for truck operators to combat this sentiment is to show more regard for the public's rights and the public safety.

The tax figures which Mr. Beeman submits are impressive. But they do not mean that the trucks are paying too much, or even, necessarily, that they are paying enough. The fact that they pay more than the railroads is of no importance. The railroads' right of way is not provided for them by the public, as the trucks' right of way is. No one wants to see all trucks barred from the roads, but if it is necessary to do that, in order to protect the public's enormous investment in the highways and in order to safeguard other traffic, we shall find it easier, after all, to do without trucks than to do without railroads.

The best way for the truck business to prevent that is to put its house in order. That is to say, to pay adequately for the high privileges it enjoys, and to help to eliminate those classes of traffic, such as the cotton trucks, that endanger and inconvenience the public. That may help the railroads but it also will help to prevent the trucks from being legislated off the roads.

England has imposed a 50 per cent tax on such "abnormal American importations" as silk stockings. Probably regard them as sheer nonsense.

THE JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Junior chamber of commerce, which is now winding up its work for 1931 and formulating its plans for the new Year, has abundantly justified its existence in the several years since it was organized. It has supplemented the work of the senior organization in a very able manner. It has initiated and carried out, on its own, such projects as were suited to its purpose. It has provided the younger business men of the city with the opportunity to participate in civic affairs, an opportunity that necessarily is limited in the senior organization. It has been of real service to the community. Its leaders and members should be proud of its record.

THE FAVORITE SONS

The next Democratic national convention will probably see a good many favorite sons put forward. Garner of Texas, Byrd of Virginia, Eby of Massachusetts, George of Georgia, Hull of Tennessee, Reed of Missouri, Lewis of Illinois, Murray of Oklahoma, are among those who are likely to have the support of their respective state delegations.

The Roosevelt strategists don't like this favorite son business. It offers too many opportunities for jockeying and maneuvering. The state that sends a favorite son delegation is simply announcing that it is looking for a good trade. If Roosevelt is not nominated, it will be the favorite son delegations that prevent his nomination. T. W. Davidson, the more or less leader of the Roosevelt forces in Texas, is speaking from the heart when he says that Texas should not have a favorite son delegation. He realizes the danger it holds for the Roosevelt candidacy.

There were some favorite sons mentioned at Houston in 1928, but the end of the roll call saw most of the chairmen of the favorite son delegations clamoring for recognition so that they might board the Smith band wagon. Roosevelt's workers are fearful that their candidates will not fare so well with the favorite son backers.

IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

The Democrats are girding themselves for a vigorous campaign in the first New Hampshire congressional district, where a special election will be held a month hence. Off-hand, one thinks of New Hampshire as such a solidly Republican state as to offer little hope to the Democrats; but a study of the record reveals that the Democratic cause is very far from hopeless. A Democratic victory would be less of an upset than the victories already won in Michigan and New Jersey.

New Hampshire is normally Republican by a ratio, roughly, of three to two. It went for Wilson in 1912. In 1916, it went for him again, by a 56-vote margin, the figures being Wilson 43,781; Hughes, 43,725. In 1922 it elected a Democrat to congress from the first district. That Democrat was William N. Rogers, who has just been nominated for the existing vacancy. New Hampshire is much less sturdily Republican than its neighbor, Vermont.

A Democratic victory would not be surprising. The party is to wage an aggressive campaign, it has an able candidate, and the psychology of these times is in its favor.

Safeguarding Capitalism

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

I have written a great deal about the dilemas that today harass our American system of free capitalism and political liberty.

I have written with complete candor and without evasion.

As a result, now and then I receive letters from readers of this column who, accustomed to defenders of the American system who vigorously deify everything the leaders of the American system have said, consider my comments as tending towards socialism and tinctures with communism.

Today I want, if I can, once and for all, to make sun-clear what I have been driving at in the articles during the last two years.

I am completely unconvinced of the workability either of socialism or of communism.

I believe that a system of free capitalism and political liberty is, in its central contentions, sounder and more workable than any alternative scheme today before the world.

I believe that capitalism is superior to all offered alternatives because it holds before the individual a greater lure than any other system.

I do not believe that humanity will ever submit, save for a time, to any artificial scheme of leveling that sets in advance restricted limits to individual achievement.

But capitalism, as we have managed it to date, has been marked by two things besides its incentive to individual effort. They are:

(1) Periodic depression.

(2) Periodic revolutions.

And these two—depressions and revolutions—have come periodically because capitalism has resulted in undue concentration of wealth in the hands of a minority.

This undue concentration of wealth results in the denial to millions of the one thing that makes capitalism superior to its competitive systems, namely, the possibility of great individual achievement.

The only sure defense of our American system of free capitalism and political liberty is the substitution of open-eyed and intelligent policies for distributing the national income for these blind and blundering policies of depressions and revolutions.

And, happily, it has at last become clear that it is to the interest of the successful leaders of capitalism to effect—through wages, hours, prices, and the other normal processes of business—the widest possible distribution of wealth, for only so can capitalism be sure of a steady market for its vast outpouring of products.

The day capitalism takes the lead in handling the problem of the distribution of wealth, it can laugh in the face of revolutionists, for it will preside over a nation in which a happy people and profitable business both exist.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheep.—Jhon. 10:13.

It is the just decree of heaven that a traitor never sees his danger till his ruin is at hand.—Metastasio.

Capacity

Time was, I could munch on pecans until
I had all that my system could hold,
But now just a peck or two make me feel ill,
I guess I'm getting old.

Dr. Goat-gland Brinkley says he is willing to run for any office that the people want to give him. The doctor may have his faults, but nobody can say he isn't broad-minded.

Danger

The Democrats have won the house, so now let them beware,
It may turn out that they are like the guy who caught the bear.

The new senator from New Jersey is a former pugilist, and a very powerful man physically. But not powerful enough, at that, to tame the senate's wild jackasses.

Weddings

One of the customers recently sent us a clipping about a wedding. He had read it in the Newcastle, Texas, Register, which credited it to an unidentified exchange. The customer appended to it a suggestion that this paper be more frank and more accurate in reporting weddings, that it follow the example of the editor quoted. To understand the force of that, you must read the clipping, which follows:

"It was a wonderful wedding. The girl was as sweet as any girl who ever lived, but modern. As she walked up the aisle on her father's arm, her lips lightly tilted at the corners with a happy smile, she was a picture of modest beauty. Her filmy wedding gown and gossamer veil floated around her fair blond head like a halo. She was as nearly an angel as girls get to be in this world.

"At the altar, as she passed from her father, the man she always loved, to the other man to whom she would devote the rest of her life, her dainty slipper touched a potted lily resting on the floor and turned it over. Smiling again, she turned to the dear old pastor waiting at the chancel, and said, 'That was a hell of a place to put a lily.'"

Well, we would like to adopt the customer's suggestion, and have weddings written up for this paper with the same faithfulness to little details, the same thoroughness, that mark the above write-up. Undoubtedly, there is room for improvement in the reporting of weddings. With the exception of the oil editor, the sports editor and the movie editor, no other newspaper worker is prone to take as many and as violent liberties with the truth as does the society editor. And in no other phase of her work does she treat the truth as roughly as in writing up weddings.

Probably there are times when she would like to follow the example of the editor who wrote the above item. But she doesn't. What's more, she isn't going to. It isn't safe. Newspapers can be truthful in writing about gas companies, whom nobody loves, but in other matters they must let diplomacy and tact dominate them.

Adjectives

Back in the days when one of our tasks about the office was to write up weddings, we often yearned for the opportunity to be absolutely truthful about them. This yearning beset us until finally we worked out a sort of code of our own, to follow in writing of weddings. Nobody else understood the code, but it was a great comfort to us, just the same. It had to do with the adjectives we used in describing the bride.

When the bride really was beautifully, we said so. She had to be a real good-looker to rate that adjective, but if she was entitled to it, she got it.

When she was rather good-looking, but still didn't have the sort of face that would launch ten thousand ships or fire the topless towers of Ilium, we shaded the adjective somewhat. Such a bride would be described, in our write-up, as charming.

When the bride was just so-so as to looks, not exactly ugly, but still not pretty, she was described as attractive.

And if she rated still further down the scale as to looks, she was written up as talented.

We were rather proud of that last word, because it was so safe and at the same time so comprehensive. You see, we weren't called upon to go into particulars as to what kind of talent the bride had. And it was accurate, too. Every girl has talent of some kind or other.

Opnisions

From time to time, we have noted incidents at weddings that we thought should be included in the society column account, but which were omitted.

For example, there was the affair of the bridegroom of more than average avoirdupois, who had to enter the church from the pastor's study and who discovered, too late, that the door was an unusually narrow one. To be pushed through a too-narrow door, in full sight of the guests, and then to go ahead and get married calmly after that experience, is a test of any man's soul. We have always thought that incident should have had wider publicity.

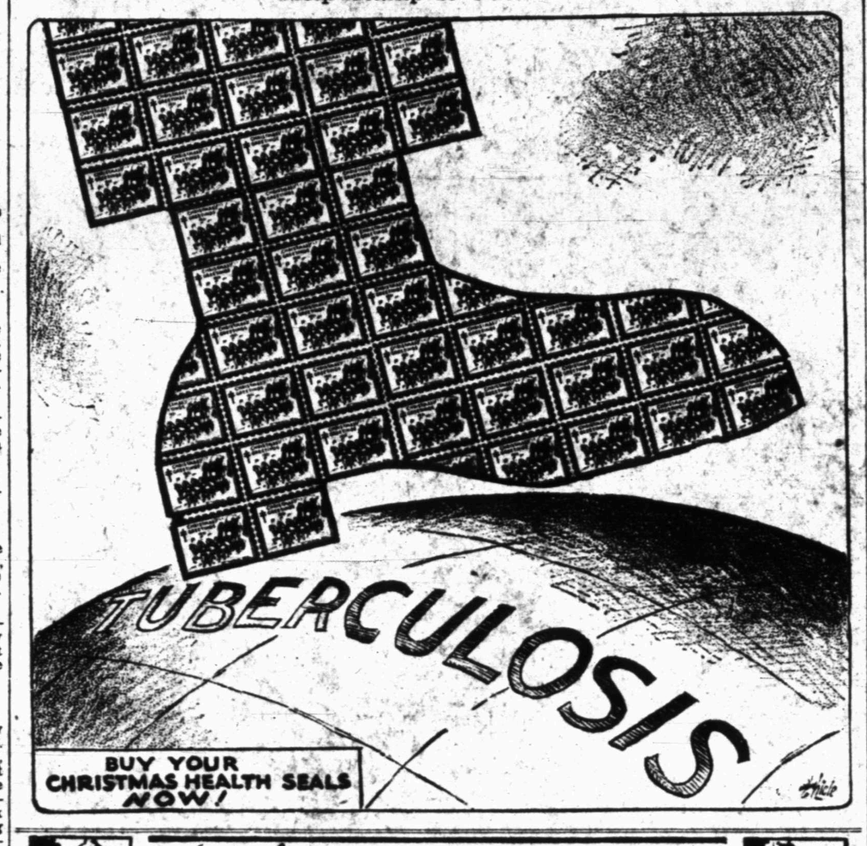

And the same goes for the too-tall bridegroom who didn't stoop low enough and who was married while a large, glowing lump burgeoned visibly on his head.

No write-up of a wedding ever does justice to the groom's best man. We have been at weddings where he really deserved more consideration than the groom, due to the difficulties he had in getting the groom properly placed and adequately braced.

Yes, sir, there are lots of things about weddings that don't get into the papers. We agree with the customer that greater accuracy would have its advantages. But it wouldn't do. The nearest that newspapers can come to it is to say the bride is talented.

As we understand it, Santa Claus' problem this year will be to keep the wolf at the door from chewing up his reindeer.

Help Stamp It Out!

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON. — Somehow, no murmur of applause has swept the country at one of the most extraordinary achievements recorded in this capital during modern times.

Four hundred Washington correspondents, whose trails are white with bleached bones of wrong horses they have picked in years past, and not one of whom has anything like a perfect record of doping elections or other results in public affairs, unanimously chose President Herbert Hoover to defeat President William Howard Gardiner of the navy league when the Hoover "Commission on Abysmal Ignorance" was appointed to decide whether President Gardiner's charges against President Hoover were correct.

Not even the greenest cub muffed that one. If no movement to commemorate this remarkable performance is begun from private sources it seems as if the National Press club and the White House Correspondents association should vote an appropriation to stick up a tablet somewhere.

But you cannot expect unanimity all the time, and now the same correspondents and the gentlemen who write the editorials for their papers back home are disagreeing as to whether Hoover gained more than he lost when he publicly excoriated Gardiner and appointed the committee of five which he said would return a report which should Gardiner to make public apology.

The incident has given those anxious to praise Hoover—his friends and others—a lovely chance to picture the president as a hard-hitting, Roosevelt an fighter. It has also tended to discredit the navy league, an extremist "Big Navy" propaganda group, for the commission seems to have shot many of its assertions of "fact" full of holes. The navy league has always boasted of its accuracy. Whether the effect of the incident on the league's president has been as beneficial to Hoover as to the country is one of those points now being argued.

Unfortunately, there are many persons who are just as sour on Hoover as Gardiner proved himself, and it is a question whether Hoover did not suffer more than he has profited when he laid himself open to the razzberries and ridicule of those who are always looking for such opportunities. Even some who are not Hoover's enemies have suggested that he didn't appear in a very good light when he jumped with all his presidential mightiness on an obscure private citizen and appointed a commission of five official and ex-official dignitaries from among his friends to brand this private citizen as a liar before the world.

A widespread tendency developed to spoof Hoover—rather than to join in the jump onto Gardiner. One cartoonist portrayed 10 fat little Hoovers—acting as judge, jurors, opposing counsel, witness and picture on the wall—engaged in finding Hoover not guilty. Another showed the president as a football player dashing offside to kick a water boy while an opponent labeled "Unemployment" rushed on with the ball toward a presumable touchdown. Regardless of the fairness or unfairness of such criticism it does a politician no good when he gives people such excellent opportunities to stick pins in him.

Perhaps nothing in the whole affair was more absurd in itself or more unfortunate from the Hoover standpoint than the part that phrase, "abysmal ignorance," was made to play. Thanks to the correspondents, the whole country was led to believe that the issue was whether Hoover was guilty of "abysmal ignorance." Hoover didn't mention the phrase at any time, and his committee, as his enemies now delight in pointing out, took no position on the accusation beyond cognizance.

Health and Diet Advice

A Strong Footing

Foot trouble often drains the system of nervous energy and in this way assists in causing more serious disorders. One suffering from flat feet may not feel any local discomfort and yet wrong position of the bones of the foot may throw the entire skeleton out of balance. Many cases of sciatica and pains in the lower back and legs can be traced to some condition of the feet.

It is essential to health and vitality to have strong feet and legs. One cannot possess endurance without taking a sufficient amount of exercise by walking each day. Athletes, regardless of their special branch of sports, realize that "road work" is vitally important to their success and they walk or run many miles daily.

Not only is a person with weak feet apt to be deficient in endurance, but the repeated jars of walking, not being properly absorbed by the limbs, are conveyed to the spinal column and produce a distinct jolting of the nervous system.

The most effective means of increasing the tone and strength of the feet is through the use of special exercises to develop the foot and calf muscles and to increase the circulation of blood through them. A very good exercise can be taken while walking and consists in simply turning the toes inward, pigeon toed, as the Indian does. In this way and wearing low heels the toes are used to grip the ground and the foot is arched naturally.

Another good exercise to accomplish the same purpose is to stand barefoot on the edge of a thick book and attempt to grasp the edge with the toes.

Obesity is a frequent cause of flat feet because of the great strain on the bones and ligaments of the feet by carrying the excessive weight and one cannot expect to correct flat feet until the weight has been reduced to normal. An average foot is equal to its task, but there is a limit to its endurance. Until the normal weight has been reached it may be necessary to use arch supporters to assist in relieving the burden, but these are only crutches and do not strengthen the feet.

These exercises, if persisted in, will gradually bring back the muscular power in the necessary muscles, and your arches will soon return to their normal strength. You can then discard the arch supports, and your feet will be strong enough to wear shoes with lower heels. At least wear those low-heeled shoes when walking, and continue to take the "piegon-toe" exercise, and you will keep your feet as strong as nature intended them to be.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Soft Foods for Toothless People

Question—"Toothless" writes: "A short time ago I was advised to have all of my teeth pulled as they were soft and broke easily. I had 21 teeth pulled in 15 minutes and no bad after-effects, but the dentist is unable to arrange a suitable plate for me as my gums have not yet become normal. What can I eat that will not cause trouble?"

Answer—You could follow the regular menus outlined every Friday in this newspaper. The vegetables may be cooked real soft and mashed and the meat may be put through a food grinder. Melba toast can be soaked in hot water so as to soften it sufficiently. Any raw vegetables may also be run through a meat grinder so that they can be swallowed readily.

Pterygium—Eye Trouble

Question—R. E. R. writes: "I have a growth extending from the inner corner of my eye almost to the iris. It seems to have formed a ridge there. What treatment would you advise?"

Answer—It is quite likely that you have a pterygium or growth on the outside of the eyeball. This type of growth is usually easily removed by a surgical operation.

Symptoms of Nicotine Poisoning

Question—F. K. asks: "Will you please give me a list of some of the symptoms of nicotine poisoning?"

Answer—The symptoms of acute nicotine poisoning are cold, clammy skin, nausea, a rapid pulse which becomes almost imperceptible with a large amount of the poisoning, a great feeling of depression, giddiness, difficulty in breathing, sometimes muscular tremblings, cramps and convulsions.

NEW YORK.—Information on what Gothamites are chatting about over their teacups and cocktails:

Art—Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney, devotes of the arts and a sculptress with sufficient fortune to care little about commercial values, has presented New York with its most interesting art gallery. The address is No. 10 Eighth street, and since it's going to be permanent there's no hurry. And there's a romance attached. Some 20 years ago, Mrs. Whitney decided that young and unrecognized talent should have a better break. She took possession of three buildings that had once been proud mansions of earlier days and turned them into the "Studio Club." It was for those youngsters who must grope their way through the esthetic mazes and scores of proteges have graduated into recognized artists. For the past two years the buildings have been remodeled, 500 paintings have been installed, together with etchings and sculptures and the museum has become the art event of the year.

Music—Now that Ethel Leginska is back in the limelight as a musical director of consequence, they are recalling the eccentric behavior of this excellent musician a few years back. In those days she had a quaint and disconcerting habit of making engagements to play the piano in one town and turning up somewhere else. Her fadeouts became front page material which she eventually blamed on nerves. In Europe, however, she directed her own orchestra and now, at 37, she finds herself acclaimed for directing the opera "Boccacio." Since taking up the baton, Leginska has been very happy. No more temperament or mental distress!

Which reminds me—her name isn't Leginska at all! She had an English name—the good plebian name of Ethel Leggett, and she came from Hull, England. "Leginska," apparently, seemed a better performing name than Leggett, and there you are!

Drama—The return of New York's favorites, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, is quite the theatrical tid-bit of the moment. That, and the fact that the tall and lean Robert Sherwood, who has been towering over first night crowds these many years, has written a brilliant piece titled "Reunion in Vienna," in which the Lunts appear. Herein, too, is a bedroom scene from which even the torchy Mae West could a thing or two. One of the lessons would reveal how to put on a fairly scorching act which brings laughter, rather than blushes. Not so easy!

Don't hurry! It will still be here next spring.

Literati—The season's best "lions" have proved strangely gentle. At the moment, they talk about the shy, soft-voiced daddy of Christopher Robin and Winnie-the-Pooh. A. A. Milne has thus far dodged the lecture platforms, but not the tea parties. At his "coming out" Milne appeared to be slightly gunshy and frightened of gushing ladies.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

FURTHER INFORMATION ON COST OF GASOLINE

Editor, The Times: In the editorial appearing in your issue of Dec. 3, you refer to an article in the Texas Weekly, by Edmunds Travis, on the cost of gasoline, and inviting further information.

The report of gasoline tax payments to the state for the month of October, shows sales of a little over 71 million gallons, of which 12 large integrated companies sold something over 55 million, or approximately 78 per cent, leaving approximately 16 million gallons for the other 123 refiners. Of course, the 71 million gallons was only a small portion of their outputs. A large amount was marketed through their own stations in other states.

Now it must be remembered that to the large integrated company there is principally one figure that determines its income, and that is the amount received from the consumer at the nozzle. It produces a large portion of its own crude oil, much of which comes from large flowing wells, consequently it does not pay the 83 cents per barrel, except on a small portion. It has its own pipe lines, therefore it pays the 39 cents pipe line charge mentioned to itself, in which there is a large profit, and it also makes a large profit from the oil transported for others. It does not have to sell its gasoline at 3½ cents per gallon in tank cars, because it has its own distributing stations. Then, too, all of these companies manufacture lubricating oils, which retail for a good price. The 35½ cents refinery cost mentioned can not all be charged against the gasoline, as there are other products.

Now, as to the refiners who are not entirely integrated, some of them have their own production from large wells, their own refineries and stations, but they have to pay an excessive pipe line charge to the large integrated companies, which helps those companies to absorb some of the losses elsewhere.

Coming to the small refiner, he does not have as high a manufacturing cost as 35½ cents, nor does he have any of the marketing costs, generally speaking, enumerated. He does have to sell his products in tank cars at a very low price at present, which certainly yields him no profit, and very probably an actual loss.

It does not cost as much to distribute what is known as the "third-grade gasoline." The station operator is not paid as high commission on the sale of it and it is sold only for cash. The carrying of retail charge accounts, some of which amount to less than $1 per month and a great many amounting to less than $5 per month, adds a tremendous cost to the sale of gasoline.

It must not be inferred that it is contended here that 83 cents for crude oil is an excessive price. Taking into consideration the large numbers of small producing wells in this state, that price is decidedly too low for the average producer. The 3½-cent tank car price is, of course, ridiculously low and few, if any, refiners can operate on it and pay 83 cents per barrel for crude at the wells, plus the high pipe line charge now existing. There is no question that the retail prices for gasoline, namely 8, 11 and 14 cents per gallon, exclusive of tax, would be much too low, if the refiner received anything like an adequate price for the gasoline at the refinery, but measured by refining capacity in this state, there is only a small portion that is compelled to pay according to the various steps given in the article to which you refer, and they are the small refiners whose very existence is now threatened.

Yours very truly,
J. E. WINEGART.

"Wichita Falls has more good paving in its business district than any other city in Texas," said Maj. R. M. Burroughs of Fort Worth, who was in the city on business today. "Some cities have more and even newer pavement than Wichita Falls, but none have so much good pavement."

The regular meeting of the city council Thursday night will be one of the most important of the year. At that session the tax rate for the ensuing year will be levied and the salaries of all the city officials for the next two years fixed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 6.—The right of the states to penalize railroads for refusing to receive goods for shipment in interstate commerce was argued today before the supreme court of the United States.

John Robertson, James M. Shepherd and Hon. R. L. Taylor of Henrietta were initiated by the Elks last night. The lodge here now has 293 members enrolled.

RADIO ARTISTS TO AID IN YULETIDE BENEFIT PROGRAM

Hal Hoffer and other popular KGKO artists will appear in a specitl benefit entertainment program, "Let's Get Funny," Tuesday evening, Dec. 15, at the Memorial auditorium in order that unfortunate children of Wichita Falls may have a happy Christmas this year.

The Advertising club is sponsoring this musical and comedy show, featuring a number of new entertainers of the city, along with a number of old favorites. "A big-time vaudeville show worth three times the money" is promised by those in charge of this show, the proceeds of which will make possible the annual Christmas party sponsored by the Advertising club.

An 11-piece orchestra directed by Hal Hoffer, staff organist and pianist of KGKO during the last six months, and formerly with the Paramount and Fox films, will be an especial attraction on the evening's program. Mr. Hoffer, well known to Wichita audiences for his ability as "master of the ivories," will appear also in solo numbers.

The Wichita Falls High School Stage band, under the direction of Tom McCarty, will lend color and attraction to the evening's show, along with Charles Doran and Leo Herzog, accomplished tap dancers of the city, whose interpretative dances have already delighted local audiences a number of times this year.

Emmett A. Davis, formerly of Hollywood, now with Knickerbocker studios, will lend his ability to the evening's program as mater of ceremonies. He promises many surprises in the form of his newly discovered comedian, Kyle Morgan.

Miss Juanita Kinsey, director of speech and dramatic arts at W. F. J. C., and R. E. Shepherd, "our singing ex-mayor," facorites with local audiences, will be presented in readings and songs.

Bob Godfrey will display his ability on the xylophone with a special negro comedy skit. Glenn "Rusty" Moore and Wendell "Windy" Rice will help him make the audience laugh.

Song and guitar numbers will be given by Dolores Myler, and musical selections will be presented by Lorraine Tucker, both well known KGKO performers.

"Strains of Yesterday" by Ted Grantham of KGKO will be an attractive addition to the evening's program, along with the Kappa fraternity act, and a clever one-act comedy put on by members of Tally-Ho, a Junior college fraternal organization.

Admission for the show will be 25 cents for students, and 40 cents for adults.

From 11 nominees—M. E. Wallace, Tom Moore, Dr. L. B. Holland, Paul L. Pearson, Fred Lane, J. M. Williams, W. A. Little, Gerald Pond, John Oechsner, the Rev. W. D. Bratton and Ray Patton—the new members of the board will be chosen.

PREPARE TO STRENGTHEN CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Hoping for success in passing it this session, Chairman Nye called together the senate campaign funds committee today to whip into shape a bill to put teeth in the corrupt practices act.

Principal item in the proposal of the North Dakota senator is greater publicity for campaign contributions so as to strength federal supervision of the elections.

The bill is a result of recent senate investigations into election campaigns, particularly of the lengthy inquiries by the Nye committee into the 1930 elections.

The committee still has to draft a report to the senate of its inquiry into the 1928 political activities of Bishop Cannon of the Methodist Episcopal church, South. As a result of this inquiry, the district grand jury inquired into the use of anti-Smith funds by Bishop Cannon in that campaign and indicted him on a charge of violating the federal corrupt practices act.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL - - —By James J. Montague

Never since then have I got as far as that pond without having to send the caddie to fish out the ball.

We're changing the golf course over again. That is they are. The club is divided between the we's and the they's. We we's are in the majority. There are probably 275 of us, while the they's number 25. We play around anywhere from a hundred and five to a hundred and thirty. They are always under ninety. If we were honest with ourselves, and admitted, after playing for 20 years or so, that we would never get any better, we'd have the kind of a course that we'd get something besides weariness and despair out of. That is, we'd have some holes that now and then, by happy strokes of luck we could make pars on. But, because of our stubborn pride and our constitutional optimism, and our pathetic belief that we can't be always as bad as we are, we agree to every change that is made, and never is there a change that doesn't make the course a little tougher.

Last year—or maybe it was the year before—I happened to get a ninety-nine. When I walked happily into the clubhouse I found a bunch of they's talking about the first hole, which is obstructed by 11 bunkers and two water hazards. The day before I had put up a terrific howl about that hole, and said that it was designed chiefly for a bunch of sons of members who had nothing to do but play golf, who had begun to play when they hopped out of the cradle, and who were mostly in on junior memberships anyway. But when I came in that particular day and heard the greens committee talking about lengthening the hole 50 yards, putting four more traps, and adding an extra pond right in the center of the course which would catch my average tee shot, I said:

"That's right. I always thought that hole was too easy. Make it even harder than you plan to do, and I'm with you."

False pride, is all that is. Just plain human presumption which gets the upper hand when by some chance you've had a good round. Never since then have I got as far as that pond without having to send the caddie to fish out the ball. But I brought it on myself. If, when I heard those boys talking of making the hole more difficult, I had called in a bunch of my own kind and organized a rebellion, they would never have carried out their diabolical purpose. But that ninety-nine made me think I was a golfer.

Early this spring a park commission decided to take over a strip out of the center of the course. We held indignation meetings and instructed the secretary to write letters of protest, which he did. But the commission replied, not too politely, that they had the power to take what land they wanted and proposed to exercise it, and that was all they had to say. So the next thing to do was to rearrange the course so as still to have room to play golf.

I was quite cheered up over this. I figured that if the commission took that land, it would naturally be necessary to shorten the course and that would mean shortening the fairways. Even the cracks couldn't do anything about that, but would have to put up with it, and the rest of us might now and then be able to get on some of the greens in less than four or five.

But pretty soon I noticed the governors, all of whom but one or two are as bad as I am, holding a consultation with the young cracks, and poring over blue prints. I took a seat where I could overhear them and listened in. As soon as I had listened for five minutes I discovered that they had talked the commission into giving them some land outside the course in exchange for the piece they intended to take. That would not only make the course the same length, but would lengthen three of the holes, and give them a winding twisting dog's leg character which it would make it practically impossible for any one to keep on the fairway unless he possessed the skill to drive his ball so as to describe a letter "s." Some people can do that, you know, if they allow for the wind.

So my hope dropped again. Then, a day or so afterward there appeared on a table in the locker room a blueprint of the course as it was to be. I had a few pets on that old course, short holes, with greens that were flat, instead of being pimpled with little hills cunningly devised to catch your ball if it landed on the green and spill it into a deep bunker.

The boys had changed all those fairways around, encircling one with a moat, over which you had to drive to play safe but into which you were practically certain to land. Those lads had apparently been traveling all over the United States and Great Britain, and whenever they had found holes so designed as to baffle any but four or five men in the club, they had photographed and measured them, and transferred them to the blueprint, and now were arranging to adopt them when the changes were made.

And after they had made the blueprint along came a member who had just been in Honolulu, where there was a hill hole that had made a lot of trouble, and so it was decided to take the soil that had been excavated to make the moat, pile it on top of the one tall crag we had on the course, so as to make it even higher, and then set the tee not on, but back of the miniature mountain thus constructed so every shot would have to be driven over it toward a green which nobody could see, and whose location it would be difficult even to guess.

I was all for giving up then, and playing on Tom Thumbs for the rest of my life. On that kind of a course a man doesn't have to run the risk of dislocating his arms when he drives. But by that time the Tom Thumbs had all disappeared.

They are still working on the new blueprint, with everybody making suggestions. And what makes things worse is that the worst of us dubs are always crashing in and either agreeing supinely with the suggestions that are being made, or else demanding that still more insuperable difficulties be placed between us now and then to win something or other.

But it isn't any use. I can't even trust myself. Last week the president, who plays a little worse than I do, said to me: "Don't you think, that now we are at it, we ought to have one eight hundred yard hole on this course. A good player could get on in three shots, and go down in five. And by narrowing three of the fairways to 60 or 70 feet we would work it out all right." At first I was tempted to brain him with a putter I had in my hand, but after I'd thought a minute it occurred to me how wonderful it would be, if when a match needed evening, I could lam out two three hundred yard shots, one two hundred one, and then hole out a pretty little approach shot, especially if it was a tight match and there was important money on it.

So I said, "Sure, that's a swell thing to do. Insist on it, and I'll stand behind you, and so will all the other boys. So you see how things are. You can't keep a dub golfer from hoping, and he, like everybody else, wants not the kind of a golf course that he can play, but one that he hopes he can play if ever some miracle changes over his muscular construction, his intellectual ability and his nervous system at one stroke.

PLAN FOR HOUSING AND FEEDING DELEGATION EXPECTED AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Plans for housing and feeding delegations of the unemployed which are to arrive in Washington tomorrow were virtually completed today.

The more than 1,000 trekkers converging on the capital from four directions are expected tomorrow afternoon, a prelude to their march to congress Monday.

After conferences between Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, it was tentatively decided today to lodge the men, women and children in a church and Salvation Army quarters.

Police are accepting donations of food and clothing for them.

Glassford has stressed that elaborate police arrangements are to maintain order.

Their demands include unemployment insurance and a $150 grant to each unemployed person for winter needs.

U. S. COURT ENDS TERM FOR WINTER SATURDAY MORNING

The November term of federal court for the northern district of Texas closed here shortly before noon Saturday after several motions were heard and ruled upon by Judge William Hawley Atwell.

Attaches of the court started leaving here Saturday afternoon and as far as Wichita Falls is concerned federal court is over until next March.

Judge Atwell will go to New Orleans next week to attend a three-judge hearing on the temporary restraining writ he issued here forbidding state and county officers from molesting interstate truck operators who did not have a contract truck permit.

The three-judge hearing was originally set for Dallas, but later transferred to New Orleans.

County Red Cross News

The Red Cross juniors shipped their second box of Christmas boxes to insular possessions Saturday. Plans are now being made for Christmas at home. Each year children in the orphanages of Texas are given gifts. Some of the children in Wichita Falls are cared for by the juniors.

The rooms which have completed enrollment for the new year in Junior Red Cross are now receiving their buttons. The room chairman takes care of the button and after each child explains his special act of service and the room agrees that his act was worthy the button is presented by the chairman of the group. After enrollment some of the children like to have a copy of the Junior Red Cross News come to their room and contribute pennies for this magazine.

The San Jacinto and the Barwise study clubs had their regular nutrition programs last week. This program will consist of six meetings and special topics relating to the health of the family, to the purchase and preparation of foods, and some demonstrations will be used in the work.

The regular meeting of the Benito Jaurez Parent-Teacher association occurred Friday. This association is sponsored by the Benjamin Franklin association. Mrs. John Martin and Mrs. Kate Samuels assisted the patrons in the meeting. A short talk on suitable foods for school children with illustrative material was given by the nutritionist. Mrs. Martin interpreted the discussion.

In some of the schools throughout the United States the children are being taught to choose what is called an "A" lunch. If certain foods are taken by the child at his lunch period a card is placed upon his tray. This card carried on its face the statement: You have an "A" lunch. Why? The reverse of the card tells the child the reason why. It reads, "Because you have:

"Milk—one-half pint, or two foods containing milk, as ice cream, milk soup, creamed vegetable or cocoa.

"Vegetable (besides potato) or both, a full serving.

"Other substantial food, two servings in addition to above, as bread and butter, potatoes, macaroni, beans, etc.

Walter S. Gifford, director of the president's organization on unemployment relief, has this in brief to say about the children of the nation: One body of our citizenry remains immune from all blame and responsibility in the difficulties with which we are faced and must be held in special guardianship during the period of readjustment. I refer to the children. Not alone to those children where there is actual unemployment in the home, but to all children. Hunger and poverty in children leave scars for the future to reckon with. Public machinery directed to the protection of childhood should be the last to be affected by measures of economy."

The White House conference for child health and protection is just now getting impetus for actual work. Over 3,000 persons from all walks affecting children have presented and compiled their findings. These are being made known to the public with the challenge that we do the things that should be done. Defective education, defective health, faulty habits are indeed hard to overcome. Mrs. Hugh Bradford, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, is also stressing our responsibility to children now. She says, "If children have needed us in time of financial prosperity, they need us all the more when days are less bright."

Bulletin No. 3 of White House conference happenings mentions the following organizations as having taken a hand in following up the findings: American Library association, Kiwanis clubs of California, general board of Christian education of the Methodist church, the social service departments of the New Jersey diocese, Protestant Episcopal, the parent-teacher associations of Missouri, Indiana, Kentucky, and the governors of Montana, Oregon, Michigan, Louisiana and Virginia. The Chicago Motor club and the National Safety Congress are using the findings in safety in their programs.

One teaspoon of wheat germ meal added to cooked cereals furnishes a higher nutritive value than would be found otherwise. The vitamin B found in the germ of the wheat is conducive to good digestion and nerve stability.

AMUSEMENTS

Junior Red Cross Sends Christmas Boxes to Islands

Members of the Junior Red Cross from the Crockett, Fannin, Alamo, Bowie and Austin schools shipped their Christmas boxes to the insular possessions of the United States Saturday. A total of 23 boxes filled with greetings of friendship went to the children of these islands.

This activity has been a popular one with the juniors of Wichita Falls for several years. The packing of the box means a great deal of pleasure to the children. It is surprising how much a box will hold—a pretty handkerchief, a toothbrush wrapped and sealed, a small doll, a ball, a purse, some marbles, several pencils, an eraser and perhaps a small notebook. Letters of thanks come back to the children helping to promote friendliness and a feeling of world fellowship.

Such contacts add interest to lessons in geography, history and language. Also the islands will be much nearer in the minds of the children.

One of Life's Ironies

LONDON.—It was discovered recently that one of the most noted radio entertainers in England had been listening in on his own set without a license. He is Paul England, vaudeville and radio artist. In England, to operate a radio receiver, it is necessary to purchase a government license—which England didn't.

Majestic and State Have Programs Of Unusual Merit for Coming Week Featuring Better Plays Past Year

Joan Crawford as the heroine of "Possessed," showing at the Majestic, wants a fling at life, but in this instance it is the desire of a suppressed member of the working class to better her situation and to improve her standards of living. To do so she becomes the intimate of Clark Gable—and here we have the Garbo touch—to the extent that her name comes up as a barrier to his being nominated for the governorship of his state. Miss Crawford, given her choice of giving up the man she loves or ruining his political career, faces conflict which has all the elements of excellent screen drama.

Clark Gable, as the politician who makes things so difficult for Miss Crawford, clinches his hold on the title of the most interesting leading man on the current screen. Excellent work is also done by Wallace Ford, a screen newcomer, and by Skeets Gallagher, who can always be depended on for an entertaining comedy impersonation.

Those who enjoyed Miss Crawford's singing in "Dance, Fools, Dance" and "Laughing Sinners" will be pleased to know that the star again introduces a catchy song in her new vehicle. It is called "How Long Will It Last?" and will probably be heard on every radio and vaudeville stage in the country for the next few months.

To make your evening complete you will see "Taxi Troubles," a Mack Sennett comedy, "Barn Dance," a Micky Mouse cartoon, Fox News in sound and surely not to be overlooked, the Majestic presents "The Knickerbocker Revue" on the stage.

"Street Scene"

"Street Scene," pictured from the famous Pulitzer prize play by Elmer Rice, will be presented at the Majestic Tuesday.

Sylvia Sydney in whose ears are still ringing the nation-wide acclaim that greeted her appearance in "An American Tragedy" has the romantic lead in the picture. William Collier Jr. plays opposite her. Estelle Taylor follows her brilliant performance in "Cimarron" with the exacting and difficult role of Mrs. Maurrant.

To add to your enjoyment you will see "Lesson in Love," an act, and Paramount news in sound.

"The Champ"

Two of the brightest stars of the screen, one very small and one very large, are co-starred in "The Champ," which comes to the Majestic next Friday.

The big star is Wallace Beery, the rough and tough mug of "The Big House."

And what a piece of work they do! In a story that brings both laughter and tears in quantity, packing punches from beginning to end, Jackie and Wallace top all their previous performances. To those who saw "Skippy" and "The Big House," that means a lot.

JOE BROWN AT STATE IN "LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD"

Joe E. Brown is in town. Lovable, old, wide-mouthed Joe, delighting his audiences at the State theater, but not with the exaggerated slap-stick that set 'em howling in his previous pictures. "Local Boy Makes Good" is the title of Joe's latest picture, with Joe in the role of a timid and near-sighted book clerk in the store of a college town, a man outwardly interested in botany and inwardly occupied with contemplation of the fair sex. He has seen pictures of Julia Winters, pretty co-ed of a distant college, and spends much of his time penning letters to her, in which he enlarges on his prowess as an athlete. He writes these passionate missives for the thrill of doing it, with no intention of mailing them. But some one mailed his masterpiece, Joe never knew who, and he is surprised to receive a reply from the lovely Julia, in which she informs him she is coming to attend the annual track meet and to witness his skill.

This is just the opening of Joe's laugh riot. You can see the rest at the state, opening a three-day engagement today.

"The Spider"

Wednesday "The Spider," featuring Edmund Lowe, Lois Moran and El Brendel comes to the State. "The Spider" is one of the most widely known mystery stories of the American stage and screen.

The story concerns the character of the famous magician Chatrand whose act is interrupted by a murder committed in the aisle of a theater. Thus begins the weird, yet thrilling story of "The Spider" murder. Edmund Lowe adds another vividly drawn character to his list of screen portraits. Lois Moran is seen as the innocent girl envolved in the coils of a sinister intrigue.

Saturday Hoot Gibson will play a one-day engagement at the State in "The Gay Buckaroo." The last chapter of the serial picture, "The Vanishing Legion," will also be seen on this program.

Youth of County Should Be Taught Science of Politics to Prepare Them To Meet Problems of Government

By ALFRED E. SMITH

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—It is unfortunate that the youth of our country have not in the past been taught to study public affairs but have rather been led to believe that their participation in government affairs is confined either to joining a political party or registering and voting at election time. Seemingly, it does not occur to anyone that at the very age when the minds of the young people are most receptive, they hear nothing and study nothing about their government. I think it is just as important that young children begin at a tender age to understand what their government is as it is for them to study geography. And if they are to study the history of the past, why not acquaint them with the present and enable them to have some understanding of what they may expect in the future?

There is no doubt in my mind that the success of Democratic representative government depends in a very great degree upon the understanding that the rank and file of the people have of the affairs of their government. Unless they understand just what is going on they have no way of making any determination as to whether or not they are properly or adequately represented.

The operation of the government reaches directly into family life. It should be a matter of great concern to everybody. Large deficits in the treasury of the government have to be made up by taxation. That taxation comes from the rank and file of the people. The government is spending their money and there is no way for them to know whether or not it is being intelligently expended unless they understand something about the operation of the government itself.

If our young men and women were not taught at least in the high schools something about their government and its operation in an intimate way, how can they be expected in after years, in the turmoil of business, or whatever occupation they may pursue, to get a sufficient grasp of the business and affairs of the country to permit them to exercise their right of franchise intelligently?

Congress is about to convene and all of the members of the house of representatives were elected over a year ago. The few elected this year to fill vacancies are more nearly representative of the real opinion of the country and present day issues, than those elected over a year ago. Young people in our schools simply know that congress is about to convene but they do not know why more than a year has elapsed since the election of the lower house. They should know the reason for this and they should further know that an amendment to the constitution has been proposed to provide that the biennially elected congress can go into session within two months of the time of its election instead of after an interval of 13 months.

Since the purpose of this amendment is to bring public opinion to bear more directly upon the federal government and to do away with a provision of the constitution which was the outgrowth of conditions of travel and communication as they existed over a century ago, they should also know what happened to this proposal. It should be explained to them that it passed the senate four different times only to go down to defeat in the house of representatives.

Would it not be interesting to the young people of the country to know what there is about the existing tariff schedules which, at the time they were pending, caused the thousands of leading economists in the country to suggest to the president that it be vetoed?

There could be no more interesting study for young people than the subject of our tariff. Political battles have been won and lost on the tariff as an issue. And I deplore the fact that so few people of even mature age really understand what the tariff is and do not appreciate that it is really a tax upon themselves. Why should not the youth of the country study these arguments? The tariff has an intimate relation to the industrial and commercial life of the country and goes into the very home itself. A great many people believe that only business is affected by the tariff. As a matter of fact, the housewife, the father and the mother and all the children are affected by it.

Young people reading the newspapers within the past few weeks find a headline telling them that Great Britain has adopted a tariff on imports in order to hit back at the United States. Ships are racing to reach there with American goods before the new tariffs become effective. The youth of the country should find out for themselves just how that came about and the reason for it.

When the country is confronted with a huge deficit, the people believe that it is entirely due a falling off of revenue from taxation. If they studied government they would find out that we have built up at Washington a large, costly, wasteful bureaucracy, which if properly reorganized would effect important changes and improve the administration of public business. This matter has been before the congress of the United States in the form of a report since 1920. And one of the reasons why congress has not acted on that report, to my way of thinking, is the belief that the great rank and file of the people have no understanding of it and, consequently no interest in it. Unfortunately, that seems to be so. But had they begun a study of the operation of government in their early years they would be able to focus public opinion with respect to this needed reform that would be sufficient in itself to urge the congress to pass remedial legislation.

The youth of this country have a distinct responsibility to prepare themselves for citizenship and participation in the affairs of the government. If they want to practice medicine, law, engineering or any other profession, the state requires of them a particular training defined by law. What reason is there why our youth should not assume the responsibility of studying the operation of their country in order to prepare themselves for intelligent participation in its affairs?

When an alien appears before our courts for naturalization, he is subjected to an examination as to his knowledge of our constitution, our laws, and our government, because we assume that unless he can answer these questions, he does not know sufficient about the government to be admitted to citizenship, so that he may participate in its affairs. It would be interesting to pick at random a number of our high school boys and girls and ask them the same questions that the alien is expected to answer. We assume that because our children were born in the United States and went to American schools, that they have absorbed this knowledge whereas, we compel the alien to study before he is admitted to citizenship.

A history of this country indicates that wherever a party has attained overwhelming strength, there is a temptation on the part of young people to join the strongest of the political parties in his community. It can truthfully be said that neither of the major political parties in this country makes any attempt to instruct young people in the principles or operation of the government, or the major issues of the day. Their duties of membership in the party consist of looking for votes. It is a noteworthy fact that the political history of this country indicates that in many sections under the complete dominance of one party, the young folks join that particular party without any consideration of the policies, principles, or performances of the respective parties.

It has been my experience that the children of men who hold public office become interested because of their father's activity and thus they learn about the operation of our government. If knowledge of governmental affairs is going to be confined to the children of public men who become interested because of the activity of their parents, what about the countless millions who have no contact with men of public affairs, who never meet them and who only see them on public occasions?

Next year we have before us the two national conventions of the dominant political parties at which they will frame their platforms and also the policies of the government of the country for the next four years. What preparation are we making on the part of the schools or by the young people themselves to understand what will be taking place? There will be several million people who will cast their first vote and I regard it as highly important that when a political party makes a promise that adults as well as young people should know the party's record on that subject. It is because of this lack of understanding of government that political parties can year after year continue to make political promises which they never carry out.

SHIPMENTS OF GILTS DISTRIBUTED AMONG CHILLICOTHE FARMERS

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, Dec. 3.—Shipment of gilts, recently purchased through the efforts of the two local banks and the chamber of commerce, arrived here this week and has been distributed to the farmers who placed their orders. All are of purebred type, mostly Duroc Jerseys. The plan of the three organizations is to assure more hog meat in this territory, thus preventing so much money being sent out of the county for meat and lard. This expenditure was draining this section of the state of many thousand of dollras each year. Farmers will not commercialize on this industry, however, but only produce enough for family use.

TIMES BOOK REVIEW AND LITERARY LANTERN

burns weekly in the Sunday Times and is intended to throw light on writings around and about the South. Communications for this column should be addressed to the Editor of the Literary Lantern.

It is high time the readers of The Lantern heard something more of that audacious, active, and contraversial bi-monthly review now being published at Chapel Hill and fittingly known as "Contempo." It was started some six or eight months ago, and at first call we, for one, looked upon the project with a cold, unsmiling eye. For we have seen so many literary magazines spring up, draw their rattling breaths, exhaust the pocketbooks of the editors as well as the patience of friends and die uncared for and unsung. But this "Contempo" seems to be of different mind and meat. To begin with, the editors have an uncanny ability for extracting unpaid contributions from well-known writers whose names spell interest as well as money. And in addition they are rash but wily showmen, and have a penchant for stirring up dust between authors like cocks in a pen, pitting them one against the other with their theories. They keep a storm fanned up and, sitting in the becalmed center of it, catch everything that falls, and somehow choke it through the press for so much copy to their readers.

For instance, Benjamin De Casseres—whatever you think of his writings—is certainly a success as a fire-eater. In his critique in a recent issue of "Contempo," he steps on some toes too sensitive to ignore the act. Upton Sinclair (who by the way was born in Baltimore of a southern family) rises up in wrath from his home in Pasadena, Calif., and calls Dr. De Casseres a bore, an ignoramus, and a vulgarian, and goes on to defend his own literary reputation by pointing to the wide demands for his books. De Casseres replies "the fact that his books have been translated into 42 languages and have sold into the 300,000,000 nothing . . . . The very fact that a book sells in that quantity and in all those languages proves that it is valueless, unartistic and has been written for the swine." Some of Sinclair's admirers write in sorrowful protest at being termed swine and Mr. De Casseres withdraws to a majestic height from which he writes sadly to the "Contempo" editors as follows:

"But so young and yet so false! I see you sliding into the bog of acclaim and success. Your walkin eye is already half-closed. Senility is already well upon you. Your hams are sagging. For you are deserting art for socialism and haywire Communism."

Perhaps there is some justice in this accusation, since a journal which styles itself "A Review of Books and Personalities" is hardly expected to print a preponderance of social propaganda in preference to literary criticism. But in the South we have had so much of the hush-mouthed, safe, listening and literary type of journalism that personally we welcome a bias towards the raw and raucous, and admiringly look on while the young editors exultantly court the day when their periodical shall be barred from the mails. All of which causes us to squirm a bit lazily at the back-thrust of Rupert Hughes in the Los Angeles Examiner where he declares "Contempo" a "singularly vivacious bi-monthly whose audacities are all the more amazing in a periodical issued from Chapel Hill, North Carolina."

For such a young review, "Contempo" has received remarkable press notices, though we regret to add that none of them seem to be from the southern press. Practically all of the New York papers have mentioned the periodical in their book review columns, and favorable comment has been made in journals as far off as Los Angeles and Honolulu. "The Town Crier" of Seattle, Wash., comments on its roll of distinguished contributors and remarks "presumably it is the consuming desire to get something off their chests that inspires these noted figures to write for "Contempo," because the masthead states firmly that no contributions can be paid for." Among the noted authors we see Harry Elmer Barnes, Gamaliel Bradford, Barrett H. Clark, Theodore Dreiser, Sinclair Lewis, Lincoln Steffens, Norman Thomas, Edwin Bjorkman, J. Middleton Murry, Ezra Pound and Llewelyn Powys (the last three from England), Countee Cullen and Langston Hughes. Among southern authors who have given their support are William Faulkner, Phillips Russell, Paul Green and Evelyn Scott.

Each issue carries a review by some well-known author of his own book. Here we learn what the writer did or did not mean to say, or something about his opinion of his critics—a grand and novel outlet for many who have had no way to answer the stupid or cutting comments of us the race of sad reviewers. Then of course the periodical carries a page of book reviews, several poems and literary "Notes."

It is encouraging to see how many interesting figures in the literary world have stopped by Chapel Hill to visit the editors, Milton A. Abernethy and Anthony J. Buttita, in their "Intimate Bookshop." And we had almost forgotten to mention one of the most unusual things about these young adventurers—they really are selling books, not making a great deal of money at it because their prices preclude much profit, but they are selling books—in the South. And how hard a thing that is to do in these days! Miss Catherine Wharton, who runs an excellent book page in the Sherman Democrat, one of four book-pages in Texas, reports the discontinuance of her feature. Publishers do not sell enough books South to squander their review copies as they once did. In spite of this passing slam upon the southern book-buying public, we shall wind up our comment on "Contempo" with mention of the subscription rate to that bi-monthly, $1.50 a year or 10 cents a copy.

There was nothing purposeful or over-serious in the meeting of southern writers Oct. 23 and 24 at the University of Virginia. In fact two or three resolutions introduced were killed by a leisurely majority who disclaimed getting together to do anything about anything, or to stand for anything, or to protest anything. The meeting would seem to have been aimless, and it was—of intention. The writers merely wanted to get together amid charming surroundings and relax for a week-end. It was really a house party, as Emily Clark has described it in the New York Herald Tribune "Books" for Nov 8. We wish we could quote Miss Clark's article at length, so well has she caught the informal quality of this particular party. She begins by stating that she learned in Richmond while editor of "The Reviewer" that "a really good party can accomplish what several years of correspondence and a conscientious reading of one another's books may never achieve." And Miss Clark must know, for she published contributions from many famous contributers during the lifetime of her non-commercial magazine. About the origin of the southern Writers conference, she quotes Ellen Glasgow's remark to Dr. James Southall Wilson of the University of Virginia "that it might enormously benefit the isolated writers from other sections of the country, to meet one another." That remark led to a plan and then to a committee—Miss Glasgow, Dr. Wilson and James Branch Cabell, Archibald Henderson, DuBose Heyward, Thomas Wolfe, Stark Young, and Paul Green. Thirty-four writers were invited and all but six managed to come, some from as far as the remotest ranges of Texas.

The local committee arranging entertainment consisted of John Lloyd Newcomb, acting president of the University of Virginia; Mrs. Agnes Rothery Pratt, author of novels and travel books—her latest a fantasy, "Into What Port;" Albert A. G. Balz, professor of philosophy; Stringfellow Barr, editor of "The Virginia Quarterly Review" and James Southall Wilson, former editor.

The University of Virginia was an attractive but lenient host. There were several meetings for informal and serious discussion but if one preferred golf to discussions no one was offended. The main thing was to have time to become acquainted. And as Miss Clark puts it "several writers who hated one another's books learned to like one another's personalities so well that they resolved henceforth to tolerate their books." An easy amiability was the prevailing temper and it did not hide from the discriminating observer the impression of group strength, for Miss Clark concludes, "all signs and portents point to the incredible but indisputable fact that the literary field held by New England in the middle 19th century and by the Middle West only 10 short years ago, belongs, by right of the strongest, to the South today."

Present were Sherwood Anderson, Katharine Anthony, John Peale Bishop, James Boyd, Herschel Brickell, Katherine and Struthers Burt, James Branch Cabell, Maristan Chapman, Emily Clark, Donald Davidson, William E. Dodd, William Faulkner, Ellen Glasgow, Isa Glenn, Caroline Gordon (Mrs. Allen Tate), Paul Green, Archibald Henderson, Dorothy and DuBose Heyward, Mary Johnston, Ulrich B. Phillips, Josephine Pinckney, Alice Hegan Rice and Cale Young Rice, Amelie Rives (Princess Troubetkoy), Mrs. Laurence Stallings, Allen Tate and Irita Van Doren.

For 30 guests we have listed only 29 names and the explanation is this—Maristan Chapman is two people, husband and wife, Mary and Stanley Chapman. These collaborators published "The Happy Mountain" and "Imperial Brother," letting the public accept "Maristan" as a woman. Well, now we understand a recent biographical statement that "Maristan" after marrying an engineer in England, was sent to America to inspect airplane motors! When we read that item we remember thinking "What an extraordinary authoress!"

THE BOOK SURVEY

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Writer

America's most famous criminal lawyer speaks for himself in "Clarence Darrow," by Charles Yale Harrison. The author, I mean, has included lengthy quotations from Darrow's speeches in his most famous trials—the Haywood case, the McNamara case, the Leopold-Loeb case, and so on—and thus has presented a strikingly complete and well-rounded picture of the man.

The book is fascinating. Darrow himself, or course, is one of the most interesting men in America today; and his long career of fighting for unpopular causes and unpopular men epitomizes the slow and painful development of the nation's social conscience.

Mr. Harrison's portrait is a friendly one. Yet it is far from being blindly uncritical. He has been wise, I think, to quote so extensively from Darrow's courtroom addresses. Those eloquent, sometimes rambling dissertations explain Darrow better than many pages of analysis and description.

They explain, too, the temper of the times in which Darrow has lived, the forces he has had to fight, the way in which the American spirit has marshaled its prejudices and its hatreds.

All in all, "Clarence Darrow" is a stirring and significant book. It is being published by Cape and Smith, and retails at $4.

Bible Gets American Translation

Few of the season's publications are more interesting than the new American translation of the Bible, issued by the University of Chicago press at $3.50. Here we have the Scriptures rendered into every-day language, with the occasional obscurities of the King James version made infinitely clearer.

The change is not all gain. If the narrative occasionally becomes much more lucid in this new version—and this is especially true, I think, in such a passage as the description of the trial of Christ before Pilate, in the Gospel of John—much of the lofty beauty of the old version is missing. For certain passages of the King James version represent the use of the English language at its noblest, and are simply beyond improvement.

Nevertheless, the translation fills a long-felt want and will be absorbingly interesting to a great many people. And I do not mean to imply that the translators have failed to produce some fine writing on their own account. Their rendering of the Song of Solomon, for example, can very easily stand comparison with that in the King James version.

The Old Testament was translated by scholars under the direction of J. M. Powis Smith; the New Testament was translated by Edgar J. Goodspeed.

Tragic Warfare on Eastern Front

As a politician and statesman, Winston Churchill probably has a great many serious defects; but as a writer he is exceptionally gifted, and his newest book—"The Unknown War"—is a book that no student of the world war will care to miss.

Mr. Churchill here describes the fighting on the eastern front from 1914 to 1918. It is a singularity tragic story. Its battles, in numbers involved and in bloodshed, destruction and all-around suffering, surpassed anything ever seen elsewhere on the globe; and, as Mr. Churchill points out, everybody concerned was defeated. Russia, Germany, Austria—each empire crashed, and all of the frightful sacrifice of men and treasure went for nothing.

The battles and campaigns are very well presented. Mr. Churchill has a sound grasp of strategy and tactics, and he has the ability to make a very complicated military movement look crystal-clear. His account of the events leading up to the war may well provoke disagreement from any historians, but once he begins the account of the war itself he is superb.

"The Unknown War" is published by Scribners, and sells for $5.

Col. Powell Writes About Canada

In "Marches of the North" the ubiquitous Col. E. Alexander Powell tells all about Canada; and he does it so ably that my ancient prejudice against "travel books" breaks down completely before him. I really enjoyed this book.

The whole dominion come in for Colonel Powell's breezy consideration, and he somehow manages to discuss its history, its economics, its scenery and its social customs in one book without seeming superficial or hurried. Apparently he visited every province, saw all of the prinicpal cities and found time to mingle with hundreds of the dominion's representative citizens; and he has written a book that is informative and eminently readable.

It is published by the Century company, and sells for $4.

Fall's Murder Mysteries

Those of you who are interested in murder might like to know about these:

"Who Is the Next?" by Henry Kitchell Webster (Bobs-Merrill; $2). One of the best. The old millionaire is scragged in his library (what deadly places the libraries of millionaires are, anyway!) and an airplane lands on the lawn some time during the night. You'll want to keep your eye on the snooty young brother, too. This story is recommended to those who like their detective yarns literate.

"Cat's Paw," by Roger Scarlett (Crime club, $2). Another good one. The eccentric old uncle gives a house-party to his nephews and nieces, and gets done in just after announcing that he's going to change his will. The suspects are surprisingly hateful, and you keep hoping all of them are guilty. The result may surprise you, though.

"The Moccasin Murders," by Kenneth Perkins (Alfred H. King, $2). All very eerie and mysterious, with a decrepit old southern mansion, a series of slightly improbable murders and a little mixture of the supernatural—including a corpse that won't stay put. I forgot, somehow, just how it came out, but my impression is that the guilty man finally got caught.

A Texas Poet Steps to the Front

"ARROW UNSPENT," by Patrick D. Moreland. Published by Clyde C. Cockrell Company of Dallas, for the Poetry Society of Texas. $1.50.

Each year the poetry society of Texas selects a collection of poems by some Texas poet and publishes them in book form. Winner of this year's competition for this honor was Patrick D. Moreland now of Kaufman, Texas, known to Wichita Falls and Archer City as a personable and eloquent Methodist minister, known to Texas writers as a poet of real promise. "Arrow Unspent" is the title adopted for the Moreland volume, and it contains 90 of his verses.

In my humble opinion, this collection of verse puts Pat Moreland in the front rank of Texas poets. One does not need to know anything of the technique of poetry-writing to appreciate the quality of his work. Delicate imagery, deep-thrusting poignancy and triumphant flight are among the attributes one encounters. In nearly all of the selections there is the depth of feeling that is the essence of poetry.

He stood beneath a tree whose fruit was stars,
And saw converging shafts of light cut through

My shadow is behind me
Blazing down airy chasms
Of illimitable space;

Flaming from fiery altars
Down unimagined years,
Streaming by constellations
And foaming mists of spheres.

My shadow is behind me—
I hear above my head
A plunging tide of horsemen,
Ride thundering with dead;

Within the shimmering sunlight
They top the distant crest,
Ten thousand ride abreast.

With roar of vagrant thunder
They glitter into space,
My shadow is before me,
And night is in my face.

Day is a crystal filled with burning light,

And planted it with seed
That never saw the noon.

The harvest grows each day,
Well watered with our tears;
The sowing took a night,
The reaping will take years.

He sobs its broken music through the night
That brings to him no day, the ages long—
Despair's dull gloom without a star of light,
No moon, no planet glow or shining sweep
Of Vast horizons dim within the sky.

And so we sell our heritage today,
Iscariots of greed, lovers of lust,
We dim the stars, or make the morning grey
Not Judas, only, sold a Christ for gain

In "The End" there is a poignancy that perhaps only those who have tasted the bitterness of that experience can feel:

You are so small,
Your baby hands
White petals found
On far sea sands.

Your mother weeps
So pale and bright,
For you are dead.

Now only God
Can understand
Dreams you hold
In each small hand.

The selections "Nostalgia," "He Was a Quaint and Funny Man," "Fashionable Congregation" and "Stampede" are among many others that this reviewer would like to quote, but which lack of space debars.

PATRICK D. MORELAND

The casual reader of poetry may wish that the collection were less macabre, that it partook of more cheerful themes; especially if he is personally acquainted with the poet and knows how consistently he radiates cheerfulness. The few verses that are in lighter vein are not enough to leaven the lump (pardon the mixed metaphor) but they suggest that the poet does have his sunshiny moments.

Those who know Pat Moreland are proud of him, and hope this little volume will inspire and stimulate him to carry on.

WELLINGTON SUPPORTS RED CROSS ROLL CALL

WELLINGTON, Texas, Dec. 5.—Wellington accorded the annual roll call of the American Red Cross excellent support, it has been announced by Mrs. Cleo Templeton, membership committee chariman, who says if all communities of the county had contributed in like proportion Collingsworth's quota of 550 members would have been reached easily. A substantial sum, amounting to $295 was raised during the campaign, representing 244 membershipe in the local chapter of the Red Cross. There were only 12 membershipe sold in the entire county outside of the Wellington district, Mrs. Templeton says.

DUNCAN WOMAN DIES OF BLOOD POISONING FROM INFECTED TOOTH

DUNCAN, Okla., Dec. 5.—Blood poisoning resulting from an infected tooth proved fatal to Mrs. Claude Inman, 36, at her home here Thursday after an illness of two weeks.

A Maze of Theology

ARTICLE THIRTY-TWO, by John Rathbone Oliver. The McMillan Co. $2.50.

The trouble about Dr. Oliver's new novel is that the characters in the plot are such changelings that by the time the reader finishes the story he wonders why he spent $2.50 for it.

The hero and heroine, both well fed up with the atmosphere of a clerical family, decide that their children shall be the children of a father and mother with quite other interests than those of the English church—the title referring to one of the famous "Thirty-Two Articles of Religion" of the Church of England—the article relating to the marriage of priests;—"it is lawful for them as for all other Christian men to marry at their discretion, as they shall judge the same to serve better to godliness."

Why that article was chosen is left to the imagination for George and Miriam marry and George, a perfect physical specimen who has been a college athlete, becomes so infatuated with the idea of explaining to members of the Y. M. C. A. "how to play the game of life," he slips back into ministerial entaglements. Miriam, on the other hand, goes the other extreme, becoming in middle age, emotional and amorous to such a degree that the small mystical son whom the two had brought to life, turns against her.

Catholic and Protestant traditions cross and never meet in the story. Though the son, grown to manhood, takes care of and loves his mother after his father's death, the sentence of the bishop (who with other teachers, preachers and theologians hold long reveries through the story)—at the close of the book, "Mighty few of us ever understand, you know. Or when we do—it's too late," seems to this writer to apply to all Dr. Oliver's far fetched story.—L. N. CASON.

An Ancient and Fascinating Art

"ILLUSTRATED MAGIC," by Ottokar Fischer, translated and edited by J. B. Mussey and Fulton Oursler. The Macmillan Company. $5.

How magicians do those weird things such as breaking up a watch, shooting the pieces from a pistol into a loaf of bread and then taking the time piece intact from the bread; allowing a spectator to merely think of a certain card in a deck and then calmly taking that card from the deck without another word, or turning a head of cabbage into a bouquet of flowers, has just about been answered for a gaping public.

"Illustrated Magic," a beautiful volume, lays bare many a secret of sleight, explains the connections between stage magic and laboratory science, tells the purposes of an ancient and fascinating art, and traces the history of a truly interesting profession.

Scores of photographic and pencil illustrations enhance a well-written book. Ottokar Fischer, the author, an internationally known authority on the art of magic, has proven himself as adept with a pen as are his contemporaries with cards or coins. The editors and translators, J. B. Mussey and Fulton Oursler, have given English speaking peoples a worth while book.

"Illustrated Magic" is not a boys' book; it is not an old man's book nor an old maid's book. It is a work to be read with interest and profit by any who has sat and watched a fakir do the impossible and then went home mumbling to himself the one word, how, how? how??

Composed of 14 chapters, the book takes up in detail the varied and various subjects under the general headings of "From Magic-Man to Modern Conjurer," "Why You Can't Always Trust Your Senses," "The Secrets of Magical Apparatus," "Feats of Dexterity and Skill," "Fakes, Gimmicks and Other Secret Accessories," "Vest-Pocket Magic," "The Wonders of Card Magic," "Mind-Reading, Clairvoyance and Telepathy," "Stage Illusions," "Ghosts and Other Apparitions," "The Wonders of Black Art," "The Mystery of Escapes," "The Feats of the Fakirs" and "The Wonders of Puzzles."

As a book to keep on the shelf for occasional perusal or for a source of concentrated study and entertainment, "Illustrated Magic" hardly has been surpassed by any publisher in the year 1931. To quote another reviewer:

". . . the author describes the trick as it is seen by the audience and then the means by which it is made possible—with the aid of scores of illustrations—so that the reader is let in behind the scenes and allowed to see the skill and ingenuity which have gone into the perfecting of the ancient and honorable art of humbuggery."

Take, for instance, the universally exhibited card trick known as the "palm." Probably more people have marveled and wondered at this sleight than any other but Fischer let us in on the whole secret in a few minutes. The reader learns just how simple this bit of magic is—but let him try it!—T. T.

COLLINGSWORTH LEADS ADJOINING COUNTIES IN COTTON GINNINGS

WELLINGTON, Texas, Dec. 5.—Collingsworth county has produced more cotton this season than any adjoining county, according to information released by the department of commerce at Washington through the bureau of census, and based on figures including total ginnings prior to Nov. 14. At that time, Collingsworth had ginned 33,561 bales from the 1931 crop, while ginnings in adjoining counties on that date were Childress, 22,641; Hall, 21,638; Donley, 15,023; and Wheeler, 20,952. These figures show ginnings in this county to be 11,000 bales ahead of Childress, 18,000 ahead of Donley, 2,000 ahead of Hall and 13,000 ahead of Wheeler.

John Masefield's New Book

MINNIE MAYLOW'S STORY, by John Masefield. Macmillan company, $2.50.

It is unfortunate that such a trite sounding title should have been selected for this excellent volume of verse. One finds it difficult to remember the name of the book for it is completely dis-associated with the contents. By venturing within, one mets John Mansfield in his varying and likable moods.

This new poet laureate of England wears the royal mantel of Tennyson and Wordsworth with all the careless grace of a vagabond—proud of his rags. He sings of the underdog and glories in shouting the praises of the lowly. His life's experiences show clearly throughout his work.

For instance, he once admitted to a friend that he became a poet through reading Chaucer and one has only to read his "Adams and Eva" in this new collection to clearly trace this influence. He has even resorted to old English spelling. And it has all the flavor and mellowness of the old master.

The title poem is a singsong melody in couplet form, intentionally used for its monotony—a very clever bit of setting for the subject matter. When the king proclaims his desire for an "endless tale" one senses that the young challenger has won as soon as he strikes his monotonous rythm.

John Masefield's life has been so full, so replete with adventure and assorted living that he is equally at ease writing of docks, ships, farms or tenements. All of them he treats with stern realism and one feels that if he has even caught a vision or interestedly observed an event he has the inspired power of making others see it clearly too.

"Young John of Chance's Stretch" could never have been written by the usual court poets. They would never have known the farm life as John Masefield knows it. Similarly, his "Evan Roberts, A. B., of H. M. S. Andromache" would have to be the work of a man of the sea. It is so technical as to be scarcely intelligible. He admitted this much by attaching foot and head notes which almost amount to a translation.

Although heralded as a poet now, in his 55th year, Masefield has always been in demand as a dramatist. In the gardens of his country home, "Bear's Hill," near Oxford, he has a private theater as a laboratory for his plays. Even now, the theatric powers of the genius shine through his poetry.

"Simkin, Tomkin and Jack" may not have been inspired by Lord Dunsany but it would at least fit perfectly in an evening's entertainment of fantastic drama. And "The Love Gift," in this new volume is the very essence of a "Midsummer Night's Dream."

The form employed by John Masefield is impossible to classify. He wields his scepter with kingly abandon. If a couplet serves his muse, he uses it until his mood changes. His apparent disregard of unity is a result, doubtless of his untrammeled spirit. But when a poet casts aside a series of forms in the same opus several times, it invites investigation. This is recommended. For, if John Masefield catches one's interest in any manner, he has won another conquest. He has the settled boyishness of a Stevenson and, when thoroughly absorbed in his subject, writes as well as any living author.

Youngsters Want Toys This Season Exact Duplicates

CHICAGO, Dec. 5. (AP)—Toys this season, more than ever, are miniature duplicates of the trains, airplanes, automobiles and other things which compose the grown-up world.

Because, said several toy department heads, modern youngsters are sophisticated and increasingly critical of details.

"They want their toy trolley cars exactly like the real ones they see," said one buyer in appraising the boys and girls, who, with their parents, already are crowding the toy sections.

In timely illustration, a 6-year-old appeared with his mother and announced he was in the market for a pedal automobile. He asked to see a sport roadster in a certain make of car—the last word in toy automobiles being models copied and named after adult cars.

The salesman rolled out several autos but the particular model—which his dad probably drove—was not in stock and the young prospect declined to be interested in any other.

VERNON ASKS $50,000 APPROPRIATION FOR POSTOFFICE ADDITION

VERNON, Texas, Dec. 5.—Every effort to secure apropriation of $50,000 for an addition to the Vernon postoffice has been urged in letters to Senators Tom Connally and Morris Sheppard and Congressman Guinn Williams, written by the chamber of commerce president, J. L. Showers. Allocation of $50,000 for the project was approved at the last session of congress with the understanding the appropriation would be made at the approaching session. The letters pointed out the need for the addition and the benefit construction would be to unemployed people here.

MORNING RECITALS OF CHAMBER MUSIC TO BE BROADCAST

Morning recitals of chamber music, performed by some of the most eminent instrumental specialists in the East, will be inaugurated over the WABC-Columbia network at 9:30 a. m., central standard time, Sunday, Dec. 6, by the faculty of the Community Center Conservatory of Music, of New York.

The conservatory, which is a non-commercial institution, was founded to develop talent in all branches of music, particular emphasis being placed on the instruments which now are most neglected in musical education.

Members of the faculty, who will be heard in these recitals, are drawn from the first-desk men of the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra, artists of international standing, and teachers widely recognized as authorities on their particular subjects.

The first recital will consist of string quartet numbers—a nocturne by Borodin and Glazounov's "Novelettes"—played by Mishel Piastro, Josef Gingold, Mitya Stillman and Naoum Dinger. Piastro, regarded by the late Leopold Auer as his most distinguished pupil, recently was appointed concertmaster of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony. Josef Gingold is a young American violinist who studied under Yaaye, and has attained remarkable success during concert tours of Europe and the United States. Stillman formerly was concertmaster of the New York conductorless orchestra, and Dinger is now cellist in the Philharmonic.

CONCERT PIANIST WILL PLAY CHOPIN'S SCHERZO

Ernest Hutcheson, one of the leading concert pianists of today, has chosen Chopin's Scherzo in C Sharp Minor as his solo work during his recital to be heard over the WABC-Columbia network on Sunday, Dec. 6, from 9:30 to 10 p. m., central standard time.

This work, by a composer who limited himself in the main to writing for the piano, is illustrative of Chopin's ability to have persistent charm in his work for hearers and players of all lands and classes and was chosen by Hutcheson for that reason.

Bullets? Ha! Ha!

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—Percy Foster, colored, has a skull that laughs at bullets. Foster walked into University hospital to have a bullet wound dressed. The leaden pellet had been fired from a revolver by Nick Blanch, he said. It had entered above the right temple, had been turned aside by the skull, and then had coursed along the bone for four inches. Hospital authorities extracted the bullet and found it flat.

Couldn't Stop Her

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Autos have been known to run into cows before, but reversing the tables is a rare incident. Edor Libert, driving his car, saw a cow charging down the road at full speed. Libert stopped his car, but the cow came steadily on. It collided with his right fender, stumbled slightly, and then continued on, disappearing in the distance.

RADIO CHURCH WILL FEATURE NOTED LEADERS FROM SEVEN RELIGIOUS DENOMINATIONS

Eminent clergymen of seven religious denominations will speak in the "Church of the Air" periods over a nation-wide hookup of the Columbia Broadcasting system during the month of December. A schedule of the speakers was announced today from station WABC, key station of the network. An average of more than 45 stations from coast to coast will broadcast the air church periods.

Included in the religious programs announced for the month are sermons by widely known members of the clergy of the Roman Catholic, Methodist Episcopal, Jewish, Episcopal, Christian Science, Baptist and Lutheran denominations. The periods will originate in New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Providence and Washington, D. C.

On Sunday, Oct. 6, the religious broadcasts will be in charge of the Most Rev. James DeWolf Perry, Bishop of Rhode Island and presiding Bishop of the Episcopal church, and the Rev. Eugene J. Callahan, of the Roman Catholic church of St. Gregory, in New York, and assistant director of the New York Holy Name societies.

Bishop Perry's broadcast will begin at 9 a. m., central standard time, and will originate at station WEAN, in Providence, R. I. The broadcast will be in the nature of an abbreviated Episcopal service, and the Bishop will be assisted by the Very Rev. Francis J. M. Cotter, dean of the Cathedral of St. John, in Providence. The music of the period will be furnished by a mixed choir from the St. Dunstan College of Music, also in Providence, and will include the following hymn: "O Word of God Incarnate," "Seven Fold Amen," "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" and "The Church's One Foundation."

The subject of Bishop Perry's sermon will be "An Advent Message."

At 1:30 p. m., central standard time, the Rev. Mr. Callahan will talk on "St. John the Baptist." Musical numbers in common use in the Catholic church will be sung by a mixed quartet. The program will originate from station WABC in New York.

The other preachers are scheduled as follows:

Sunday, Dec. 20, Dr. W. S. Abernathy, of Calvary Baptist church, Washington, D. C., and the Most Rev. John J. Glennon, Roman Catholic archbishop of St. Louis.

Sunday, Dec. 27, Orwell Bradley Towne, for the Christian Science denomination, and a not yet selected preacher for the Lutheran denomination.

VISCOUNTESS WILL GIVE SPEECH FROM STUDIO IN LONDON

Viscountess Rhondda, one of the few British women who are peeresses in their own right, will speak from London in the international broadcast scheduled for 11:30 a. m., central standard time, Sunday, Dec. 6, through the WABC-Columbia network, on "The Feminist Movement."

Daughter of a South Wales coal and iron master, who achieved international distinction during the great war as food controller in the Lloyd George administration, Lady Rhondda inherited the title by a special provision of the letters patent creating it. In the ordinary way, a viscounty is not heritable in the female line. In spite of the fact that she is in this unusual position, however, she is not able to take her seat in the house of lords, since that ultra-conservative body voted only last year against the proposal to admit women who are peeresses in their own right.

Viscountess Rhondda has assumed most of the business responsibilities of her father and is regarded as one of the most able women in England. Her part in the feminist movement has been noteworthy, and she is now actively engaged in the last phase of the struggle, which seeks to break down the barriers against her sex in the last exclusive stronghold of the male sex in England.

Toscanini Will Present Second Program Sunday

Seldom-heard works by classical and modern composers make up the major part of the program in which Arturo Toscanini will conduct the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra for the concert which will be broadcast from 2 to 4 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, Dec. 6, through the WABC-Columbia network.

This will be Toscanini's second broadcast of the season, and will originate in Carnegie hall, New York.

For his opening number, the Italian maestro has chosen the symphony in E flat major, for double orchestra, of Johann Christian Bach, youngest son of the great Johann Sebastian. This scion of the famous German, musical family settled in London, and spent the last 20 years of his life there, holding official positions at the court, and enjoying unusual success as composed for society music performances.

At that time, when orchestras were very much smaller than at present, the device of "doubling" the basic group of instruments was used, and the two parts of the orchestra were then employed, both together and as contrasting bodies. In this respect it resembles some of the concerti of the period, rather than the symphony as it was later developed.

Best Methods of Killing, Curing And Putting Up of Pork Described By Bulletin—Variety of Recipes

With the advent of cold weather, it is hog-killing time on the farms where swine are raised. The "live-at-home" doctrine can be applied in the happiest way to the supply of pork.

The directions and recipes given below are from government bulletins, and may be considered a safe guide to the putting up of pork for either the market or for home use.

The first essential in curing pork is to make sure that the carcass is thoroughly cooled, but meat should never be allowed to freeze either before or during the period of curing.

The proper time to begin curing is when the meat is cool and still fresh, or about 24 to 36 hours after killing.

A clean, hardwood molasses or syrup barrel is a suitable vessel in which to cure pork. The barrel should be clean and tight so as to prevent leakage. A large stone jar is the best container in which to cure meat, though the initial cost is high; such a container is very easily kept clean. If a barrel is used repeatedly for curing pork, it is necessary to scald it out thoroughly before pork is packed in it.

Salt, saltpeter, sugar and molasses are the principal preservatives used in curing pork. The use of borax, boric acid, formalin, salicylic acid and other chemicals is prohibited in connection with meats and products to which the federal meat inspection law is applicable.

Salt when applied alone to meat makes it very hard and dry, because its action draws out the meat juices and hardens the muscle fibers. Salt, which is at least 99 per cent pure is desirable. A good grade of dairy salt, or salt intended for table use, is reasonably free from impurities and gives the desired penetration in less time than impure salt. Good results can not be expected if coarse or impure salt is used. Saltpeter is used to hasten the curing of the meat. It is more astringent than salt and should be used sparingly. Sugar and molasses soften the muscle fibers and improve the flavor of the meat; hence a combination of salt and sugar makes a good cure.

Place for Curing

A cool, well ventilated cellar, free from rats, is the most desirable place for both brine and dry curing. The smokehouse may also be used for this purpose, but it should be observed that when curing by the dry-salt method special attention should be given to the ventilation to prevent excessive dryness.

Cold storage and ice plants generally have rooms equipped with partitioned shelves, where farmers may store their meat during the process of curing at an even temperature, which will insure excellent results. This should be beneficial in southern climates, where the weather is warm or subject to sudden change. In localities where such refrigeration facilities have not been established cooperative cold storage plants conducted by a number of farmers in a community may be found to be a good investment, as plants of that kind may be used also for the purpose of manufacturing ice during the summer and the power may be utilized further in generating electricity for lighting.

There are two methods of curing pork—the dry cure and the sweet-pickle or brine cure. The dry cure is preferred, as it is simpler and requires less handling of the meat, as will be observed from the formulas outlined in the following paragraphs. The sweet-pickle or brine cure is not advocated in the southern sections of the country, in view of the uncertain temperatures, the cure being uncertain when the temperature ranges above 50 degrees Fahrenheit, often causing spoilage. Dry-cured meat improves with age and is better several months after it is smoked. Irrespective of the curing method used, it is advisable before curing to rub the surface of the meat with fine salt and allow it to drain, flesh side down, for from 6 to 12 hours.

Dry-Cured Pork

Formula No. 1—For each 100 pounds of meat use

Eight pounds salt.
Two and one-half pounds molasses or sirup made from sugar and applied hot.
Two ounces saltpeter.
Three ounces black pepper.

Mix the ingredients well. Rub the mixture over the meat thoroughly and pack it away in a barrel, box or on a table. About the third day break the bulk and repack to insure thorough contact with the cure mixture, then allow the meat to remain until the cure is completed. This will take two days in cure for each pound that the individual pieces of meat weigh; for example, a 10-pound ham will take 20 days. After the meat has cured hang it in the smokehouse without washing. When the meat is packed in tight barrels the liquid formed will aid in curing the heavier pieces of meat, which should be at the bottom.

Some persons attempt to use the foregoing formula without the saltpeter, but the result will not be satisfactory. The saltpeter should by no means be omitted. Be sure to cook dry-cured pork well before it is eaten.

Sweet-Pickle or Brine-Cured Pork

Nine pounds salt.
Two and one-half pounds sugar or four pounds molasses or sirup made from sugar.
Two ounces saltpeter.

If the weather is warm 10 pounds of salt is preferable.

Allow four days for curing each pound of ham or shoulder and three days for each pound of bacon and smaller pieces. For example, a 15-pound ham will take 60 days; a piece of bacon weighing 10 pounds, 30 days.

All the ingredients are placed in the water and thoroughly stirred. The brine mixture should be prepared the day before it is to be used, so that it will be completely dissolved. Place the hams on the bottom of the container, shoulders next, bacon sides and small cuts on top. Cover with boards weighted with stones or bricks, as iron rusts and stains the meat. Pour the pickle in and be sure that it covers the meat thoroughly. In seven days take out all the meat, remove the pickle, replace the meat in the container, weight it down, then cover again with the pickle. Repeat this process every seven days until cure is completed.

If the pickle becomes ropy, take out all the meat and wash it and the container thoroughly. Boil the ropy pickle, or, better, make new pickle. When each piece of meat has received the proper cure, remove it from the pickle and wash in lukewarm water. String it and hang it in the smokehouse. The temperature of the smokehouse should not exceed 120° F. Smoke the meat until it has a good chestnut color. Cook sweet-pickle or brine-cured pork thoroughly before it is eaten.

Curing Smithfield Hams

The following method for producing Smithfield hams has been furnished:

The hams are placed in a large tray of fine salt, then the flesh surface is sprinkled with finely ground saltpeter until they are as white as though covered by a moderate frost, or, say, use four to six ounces of the powdered saltpeter to each 100 pounds of green hams.

After applying the saltpeter, salt immediately with the fine salt, covering the entire surface well. Then pack the hams in bulk, skinside down, put in piles not more than three feet high. In ordinary weather the hams should remain thus for three days. Then break bulk and resalt with fine salt. The hams thus salted and resalted should now remain in bulk one day for each pound; that is, a 10-pound ham should remain 10 days and in like proportion of time for larger and smaller sizes. When the cure is complete wash with tepid water until the hams are clean, and after partially drying rub the entire surface with finely ground black pepper. They should then be hung in the smokehouse and the important operation of smoking begun. The smoking should be done very gradually and slowly, extending through 30 or 40 days.

After the hams are cured and smoked they should be repeppered to guard against vermin and then be bagged. Such hams improve with age and are in perfect condition when one year old. As in the case of other uncooked pork products, be sure to cook Smithfield hams thoroughly before serving.

Pickled Pork

Fatbacks cut into suitable pieces for curing are generally treated in the following manner: The pieces of meat are packed in a container and a pickle made of the following ingredients is poured over the meat: To four gallons of water add 10 pounds of salt and two ounces of saltpeter for each 100 pounds of meat. Cook pickled pork thoroughly before it is eaten, thus avoiding trichinosis, a disease likely to result from eating uncooked pork.

Pickled Pigs' Feet

The feet may be used for pickled pigs' feet or pig's-foot jelly.

In preparing pickled pigs' feet, place them in salt pickle for several days. Then boil them for a varying length of time, depending upon the size of the feet, taking care to remove them from the kettle before the separation of the meat from the bones. Split the feet lengthwise, place them in a jar or other receptacle, and cover with vinegar to which bay leaves, allspice, and whole black pepper have been added.

Pig's-foot jelly is prepared by curing the feet for several days in salt pickle, after which they should be boiled until the meat separates from the bone. Add vinegar, allspice, and pepper, and pack into molds.

Making Sausage

Trimmings and pieces of meat which otherwise might be washed may be converted into some form of sausage. Sausage making is a trade well worth learning. Often on the farm when animals are butchered for home consumption portions of the carcass are not utilized to the best advantage. A demand for fresh and smoked country sausage always exists, and it is just as important for every farmer to know how to make good sausage as it is to know how to make good hams and bacon.

The only equipment necessary to make sausage is a meat cutter with a stuffer attachment. A knife, cord string, and casings or muslin bags also will be needed. Muslin bags can be made of any size, but the most convenient are 12 inches long by two inches in diameter. When sausage is stuffed in muslin bags they should be paraffined after stuffing. Sausage stuffed in muslin bags and paraffined keeps longer and better than in casings. When set in a cool place sausage will keep very well in stone crocks or tin pans if a layer of hard lard or paraffin is poured over the top.

Pure Pork Sausage

Sixty-five pounds fresh lean meat.
Thirty-five pounds fat.
One and three-fourths pounds salt.
Two ounces fine sage.
Four ounces black pepper.

Cut the meat into small pieces, mix and add the spices, and then put through the grinder, using the small plate. After it is well ground, mix thoroughly to be sure that it is uniformly seasoned. No water should be added if the sausage is to be stored away in bulk. If it is to be stuffed in casings a little water may be necessary to soften the meat so that it will slip easily into the casings. Cook thoroughly before eating.

Smoked or Country Sausage

Eighty-five pounds lean pork.
Fifteen pounds beef.
One and one-half or two pounds salt.
Four ounces black pepper.
One ounce red pepper.
One ounce sweet marjoram.
One ounce mace.

Cut the meat into small pieces and sprinkle seasoning over it, then run it through the grinder, using the small plate. Put it away in a cool place for from 24 to 36 hours, then add a little water and stuff into hog casings and smoke in a very cool smoke until a dark-mahogany color is obtained. Cook sausage well before eating.

Bologna-Style Sausage

Bologna-style sausage is used extensively for lunches on picnics or outings. Its keeping qualities are excellent. The following ingredients are used in making it:

Sixty pounds cured beef.
Forty pounds pork.
Twenty pounds water.
One and one-half or two pounds salt.
Two ounces mace.
Four ounces black pepper.

Grind the beef and let it cure for 24 hours in a cool place, then grind it very fine. Put the pork through the grinder, using the medium plate. Then put the beef and pork together into a container and add the spices and water. Mix thoroughly until it takes on a dull color and becomes sticky. Stuff into large beef casings or into beef rounds. This sausage can also be stuffed into muslin bags and paraffined. It will keep perfectly prepared in this way. Allow it to hang about 20 minutes in a cool place. Smoke for about two hours, or until a good color is obtained, at a temperature not to exceed 140 degrees F. After the bologna is smoked it should be cooked, the rounds about 30 minutes, and the larger bolognas about one and one-half hours, at a temperature of 160 degrees F. To tell when bologna is cooked enough, squeeze it in the hand, and if done it will squeak when the pressure is released. Place in cold water for about 30 minutes and then hang it up in a cool place to keep.

Blood Sausage

Seven pounds cured fat skins.
Six pounds blood.
One-half pound onions.
One pound salt.
One-half ounce white pepper.
One ounce sweet marjoram.
One-fourth ounce cloves.

Cook the fat, which has been dry-cured or sweet-pickled, for about one hour and the skins two hours at a temperature of 200 degrees F. When cooked put through grinder, using small or medium plate. Put into a container, add blood and seasoning, and mix thoroughly. Stuff into large beef casings and boil, in the same water that the meat was cooked in, until the sausage floats. Dip the sausage into cold water and hang away to cool.

Headcheese

The head is frequently used for making headcheese. The head should be shaved clean, the snout skinned and nostrils cut off just in front of the eyes. Cut out the eyes and eardrums. The fattest part should be used for lard. When the head is cleaned, soak it in water for some time to extract the blood and dirt. After the head is thoroughly cleaned cover it with water and boil until the meat separates from the bones. Tongues may be cooked with the head. When thoroughly cooked take out the meat, saving the liquor for future use. Chop the meat up fine. Season with the following for every 50 pounds of meat:

Three ounces black pepper.
One ounce red pepper.
Four ounces ground cloves.

All should be mixed thoroughly so that seasoning is obtained. If casings are available, stuff the mixture into large beef casings. A hog stomach, after it is thoroughly cleaned, may be used. If the meat is stuffed into casings it should be boiled again in the same liquor in which the meat was boiled. The meat in the casings should be boiled until it floats, then placed in cold water for a short time. Store it away in a clean, cool place on a shelf or table. Place a board over the meat in the casings with a weight on top in order to hold the shape and to prevent the moisture from collecting in one spot. If there are no casings available in which to stuff the meat it should be kept in shallow pans.

Liver Pudding

All the odds and ends of trimmings not used for sausage, resulting from cutting up the hog carcass, may be used in making liver pudding. The head, if used, should be cleaned as previously described under "headcheese." The jowl should be cut off and salted down. The head, liver cut into slices and some beef or veal, if any is at hand, should be put into a kettle and boiled. The skin which has been cut from the fat also can be boiled with this meat. The skin will cook more quickly than the meat, so that it should be put into a cloth sack and removed when thoroughly cooked. Livers also cook in a very short time and should be removed. The meat should cook until it falls from the bones. All the meat except the skin and liver should be ground, using the smaller grinder plate. To 40 pounds of meat add about one gallon soup (the broth the meat was cooked in) and the following seasoning:

One pound salt.
Three ounces sweet marjoram.
One ounce allspice.
One ounce black pepper.
Garlic or onion, if desired.

The seasoning should be worked into the meat. This finished product can be put into jars covered with paraffin or stuffed into beef rounds. When stuffed into casings it should be cooked until it floats in the same water in which the meat was cooked. Then place in cold water until it is thoroughly cooled.

ALFALFA CONTEST AWARDS DELAYED, BY SLOW RETURNS

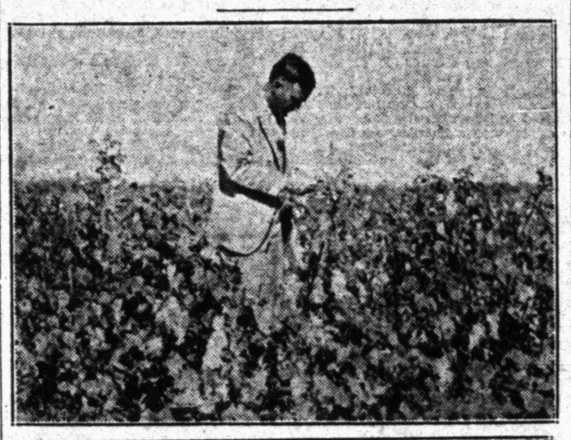

Some farmers who participated in The Times and Record-News alfalfa growing contest this year are about to lose their chances of getting some of the prize money, due to their failure to complete the records on their crops.

One of the rules of the contest is that all contestants must fill out blanks giving a complete record of their operations and expenses. Few of the contestants have done this so far, and the delay of the others is holding up the awards. Some who might share in the prize money may fail to do so as a result of not furnishing the records.

The committee asks that all records be turned in at once.

A McLennan county farmer has obtained 75 cents per bushel for corn fed with oats, alfalfa and cottonseed meal to a carload of sheep that sold for 5½ cents per pound. Twenty-five farmers in the county are conducting feeding demonstrations with 5,000 sheep this year with the help of the county agent.

Check-Row System of Planting Cotton Offers Many Economies, Tests Made On Farm Show—Chopping Eliminated

The hill planting of cotton and checker cultivation was demonstrated successfully this year in the Wichita valley on the Birk farm near Iowa Park. The cotton was planted in 40-inch check rows, and cultivated at right angles to eliminate chopping the cotton to a stand, or hand hoeing grass from the rows later in the season. The field where the check-planting was made has some growth of Johnson grass, and unless the cotton had been checked would have required a considerable amount of hand labor during the growing season.

Check-planting of cotton can be recommended for the irrigated lands of the Wichita valley, or for planting on bottom land, or on other lands of a reasonable degree of fertility. This system of planting cotton will eliminate the expense of the chopping and hand hoeing operations; and save cotton growers several dollars per bale in the cost of cotton production.

The yield per acre, according to the man in charge of picking, is as high as one and one-quarter bales per acre from the best part of this field. Which is a higher yield than produced last year when planted in rows, and the plants more closely spaced in the rows.

The machine used for check-planting was similar to those used in the corn belt for check-planting corn. This machine plants four rows of cotton at a time, the seed being dropped in checks regulated by a cable that is stretched across the field, and moved when the machine reaches the end of the row. The function of the checking cable is to drop the seeds at regular intervals, and not to keep the planting machine in line; a row marking device that is part of the machine enables the driver to guide his team or tractor in a straight row.

Check-planting equipment is available for any machine of the two row sword opener planting machines or machines of similar type. The check row attachment and 80 rods of checking cable cost approximately $20; the checking cable is made of 36-inch to 48-inch links. The 36-inch spacing of the hills is the most desirable for two row planters where horse drawn cultivators are used. For tractor cultivation 38-inch to 42-inch rows or either check planting is recommended.

During the growing season the check planted rows have more light and air than the rows in which the plants are closely spaced. This makes for healthier more vigorous growing plants, and comparative freedom from insect pests; as boll weevil and other cotton insects prefer to work in cotton that is closely spaced where there is plenty of shade.

The use of corn planting equipment in check row planting cotton was possible because cottonseed that had been completely delinted were planted. The seed were delinted with chemical gas at the plant in Iowa Park, which is the first plant to use this patented delinting process; as the chemical gas method of delinting is the invention of local people.

Every Day Life of the Farmer's Wife

Well, folks, about this time each year my sweet tooth begins to ache, and about the only way I can stop the pain is to go to the kitchen and make a batch of candy by one of my favorite recipes. And I really get more fun out of making it than I do eating it because I am a long ways from a flapper weight, and my conscience hurts me when I eat candy, still I will do it, it's a feminine weakness you know, and today I am going to give you some of my favorite candy recipes.

I acquired the candy making habit years ago and I still make it for gifts. Then it is mighty nice to have on hand when some of my friends drop in these long winter evenings. Sometimes I make it after the guests arrive, and let every one help, then we play 42 while we wait for the candy to cool, and the fun we have makes up for the pounds we gain. There is still a lot of fun and good times that rural folks can enjoy if they will only think so. I think the depression has made people more neighborly. If you are one of those folks who is worrying yourself sick because you don't have the money to buy presents, give a box of candy to each friend, and prepare a few boxes for the children to give their friends and teachers.

I wonder why we never value the things we have, often it is more appreciated, but we will worry ourselves sick because we can't buy our friends some little frivolous thing we have seen in a show window.

Nine cases out of 10 our friends would be much better pleased with a sack of our delicious country sausage, or a quart of that home made mince meat that you are famous for. I know a little boy who lives where black walnuts grow wild and he sent a little cousin in the city a sack of walnuts for a Christmas present. Needless to say the cousin was overjoyed with his present. With much pleasure I am looking forward to an old fashioned splint basket which a friend of mine 70 years old, and who lives in the eastern part of the state, is making for me. He is making it especially for an egg basket, and I don't expect Santa Claus to bring me anything that I will be more pleased with than I am that basket. Folks, let's learn to use and appreciate the things about us.

Now for the candy recipes. A girl friend who was teaching in El Paso got this recipe from a Mexican candy maker and gave it to me. It is easily made and delicious: One cup of sugar and one cup of sweet milk, bring to a boil. Put another cup of sugar in a frying pan and melt until it becomes a rich brown syrup, stirring all the time and be very careful not to burn. Add the brown syrup to the milk and sugar and boil together until it will form a soft ball when dropped in cold water, then take from the fire and add two cups of pecans, beat until creamy, spread on a buttered plate. When cool cut into squares.

I also make a delicious candy from prunes: Take a dozen large plump prunes and soak them in warm water a few minutes, then with a sharp knife make a small split on one side of the prune, take out the seed, press half a pecan in the place where the seed was, press the opening together and dip in chocolate. Use regular baker's sweet chocolate. I shave the chocolate into a small bowl that fits in the top of my teakettle and melt the chocolate over the steam. Never add water to dipping chocolate, and never try to substitute cocoa for dipping chocolate. Stick a long hat pin through each prune and dip it until it is the size you want, then put a half pecan on each prune. A box of these is a fit present for a queen.

Date Roll—Three cups of sugar, one cup of milk, one cup of pecans, one package of dates. Cook milk and sugar together until sugar is well dissolved, then add the dates which have been seeded, and cook until it will form a soft ball when dropped into cold water, take off fire, add pecans and beat until stiff. Now ring a cloth out of cold water and spread the candy on it and work into a long roll, keep the cloth wrapped around it until cold, then cut into slices.

Don't forget to make generous use of the old-fashioned popcorn balls during the holidays. I won't give the recipe because most all housewives have it.

An Apt Pupil

"Do you desire to learn how to play golf, madam?" he asked one of them.

"Oh, no," was the reply. "It's my friend who wants to learn. I learned yesterday."—Tit-Bits.

Boys Average $10.84 More Per Acre Than on Dry Farms

AWARDING OF PRIZES TO BE MADE SHORTLY

Contestants to Feed Calves On Feed Raised During Year

There is $10.84 more profit, per acre, in raising feed on irrigated land than on unirrigated land, judging from the records submitted by farm club boys who took part in the feed-raising contest in this county this year.

The boys who raised feed on irrigated land made a net profit of $14.96 per acre. The dry land average was $4.12 per acre.

The records of the contestants are now being checked and the awards will be announced shortly. Cash prizes offered by the chamber of commerce will be given the winners. The boys who took part in this contest are now eligible to participate in the calf-feeding contest this winter, and some of them have already acquired their calves.

Item—	Irrigated	Unirrigated
Man labor, 5 acres	$ 6.09	$ 7.39
Average per acre	1.22	1.28
Seed, 5 acres	1.33	1.41
Average per acre	.27	.28
Rent on 5 acres	25.00	15.00
Rent per acre	5.00	3.00
Other expenses	9.94	1.96
Expense per acre	1.99	.21
Total expense	46.05	32.46
Average per acre	9.21	6.49
Total value, yield	120.90	52.63
Value per acre	24.18	10.52
Total profit	74.82	24.41
Profit per acre	14.96	4.12

The average yield per five acres of irrigated land was 30,853 pounds of heads, of 6,162 pounds per acre. On unirrigated land, the five-acre average was 13,790 pounds, or 2,758 per acre.

"The profit was larger than these figures show," said County Agent G. C. McGown, "because there was no allowance for the roughage. Only the value of the hegari heads was figured in, in determining the yield per acre.

Plans are under way for repeating the contest next season.

CREEP-FEEDING OF CALVES IS PROFITABLE

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 5.—Evidence continues to come into extension service headquarters at Texas A. & M. college that creep feeding of beef calves which features county agent demonstrations in beef cattle feeding this year is a decidedly paying proposition. The advantages for giving calves access to feed while nursing their dams are substantial gains at very low cost, easy weaning without shrinkage, and quick response to full rations when put in the feed lot.

In Howard county 300 well-bred calves, creep-fed from the middle of July to Oct. 8 by S. C. Fisk on the H. H. Wilkinson ranch, carried 100 pounds of extra flesh per calf due to creep feeding, put on at a cost of $3 per head. The calves were fed a mixture of 40 parts wheat, 50 pounds ground oats, 50 parts ground barley and alfalfa hay in mangers.

The success of nine Mason county ranchers leads to the prediction that 20 ranches will creep feed calves next year, the county agent says. When J. W. Lee put 30 of the 47 calves he has had on creep feeds since July 1 in the fattening pen Oct. 14, he estimated the entire 47 head to weigh 100 pounds more than they would have without creep feeding and that the cost of feed was less than $4 per head for the 105-day period. He fed oats, corn and cottonseed cake together with two or three pounds daily of roughage. When the calves consume seven or eight pounds daily of the grain mixture they go into the feed lot.

Irvin Ellebracht, also of Mason county, put 13 head of high grade Hereford calves into the feed lot Oct. 12 after being creep fed since July 14 in a feeder built near his water trough. They averaged 575 pounds apiece which he says is 150 pounds per head heavier than they would have weighed under old methods of handling. The feed cost was about $3.50 per head.

TESTING OF LOCAL COWS SHOWS HIGH BUTTERFAT YIELD

Yields in excess of 400 pounds of butterfat in a 10-month period were recorded by three registered Jerseys on the Jack Martin dairy farm, in official tests conducted by County Agent G. C. McGown.

Royal Majesty's Aldan's Lady, a 2-year old, produced 7,178 pounds of milk in 305 days. The percentage of butterfat was 5.56, totalling 400.63 pounds. A calf was carried for 148 days of the period. A butterfat yield of 351.3 pounds is required for cows of that age, the actual yield being about 60 per cent above that figure.

May Blossom's Butter Girl a 6-year old, milked 8,770 pounds in the 305-day period. The butterfat percentage was 5.33, totalling 466.55 pounds. A calf was carried for 224 days of the period.

Sheep not only keep weeds in check on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Witt Hines of Conway community, Mitchell county, but furnish meat for the table and cover for the beds. Meat has been eaten fresh, and canned for winter, and bed covers obtained from a manufacturer by exchanging 16 pounds of wool for one blanket.

At a 4-H pantry achievement program at the home of Mrs. Joe Regan, Berry Creek, Williamson county, it was shown that she had 375 containers of 68 varieties of food worth $303.80 on her pantry shelves, and that 41 other demonstrators and cooperators present had preserved 18,843 quarts of food worth $4,539.60.

Your Car Will Be Better Lubricated and Serviced by the Dealer Who Sells That Car

Whoa! In This Matter of Brakes

You may be lucky, but friend, you're a poor insurance risk if you let an amateur monkey with the brakes on your car.

There's just one outfit qualified to tamper with these, and that's the dealer who sells the automobile.

More, he is anxious and eager to be sure they are functioning perfectly, because he realizes that if they fail in the emergency he's likely to lose an owner—and how!

His interest in your satisfaction and safety is far above his possible profit in merely selling you a brake job. He expects to sell you another car.

He is in position to guarantee a dependable job, because he knows just what that job requires.

In the matter of brakes, depend on the expert every time, and in the split-second of emergency you won't be vainly wishing you had thought of that earlier!

COLLECT $150,410 IN TAXAS DURING MONTH NOVEMBER

Tax Roll for 1930 Still 25 Per Cent Delinquent Here

URGE EARLY PURCHASE 1932 LICENSE PLATES

New Law Requires Affidavit on Weight Commercial Vehicles

State and county tax collections for November totaled $150,410.04, according to figures released Saturday by Tax Collector Arthur C. Howard as follows: 1,287 poll taxes, current taxes, $130,435.45; occupation, $605.85; partial payments, $118.41; delinquent personal property, $151.09; inheritance, $193.32; independent schools, $6,775.59, and delinquent property tax, $9,913.08.

Mr. Howard said he expected to collect approximately $100,000 during December, as many property owners would probably pay their state and county taxes this month and their city and school taxes in January.

About 25 per cent of the 1930 tax roll is still delinquent. Mr. Howard has made trips at his own expense to Tulsa, Houston, Fort Worth, Dallas and other cities to ask large corporations holding property in this county to pay their current taxes early.

The tax collector's office is also urging motorists to buy their automobile licenses early and avoid the rush. Automobile owners must have light test receipts and the receipt for 1931 license plates before they can purchase new plates.

Under a new law owners of commercial vehicles are required to weigh their vehicles empty and make an affidavit of the weight before receiving a license.

Novel Goodyear Tires Shown by Wichita Dealer

Experimental application of tires similar to Goodyear airwheels, those big, pillow-like tires of extremely large air volume but low pressures, successfully used for several years on airplanes to insure safe and comfortable landings, is now being made on automobiles and trucks, and now being shown by the Rio Tire company, Goodyear tire dealer.

"For three years Goodyear tire experts have been experimenting with this big tire applied directly on a hub, pointing out that this is probably the next step in the steady trend to larger tire and smaller wheel diameters, which has been going on in the industry starting with the first oversize tire, the intermediate balloon and then the present balloon tire," said Vic Wisely, manager of the Rio Tire company.

"An interesting comparison of the greater cushioning and easier riding qualities of the new airwheel type tire with the balloon tire in present use on automobiles and trucks is that the new large tire has a greater air volume but requires only 10 to 20 pounds pressure, while the present balloon calls for from 32 to 40 pounds.

"Again the new airwheel type balloon offers from two to two and a half times more surface to the road with greater resultant traction. Furthermore, it has greater anti-skid properties on slick pavements."

BIRTH CERTIFICATE OFTEN IMPORTANT OFFICIAL EXPLAINS

"One duty of the health department is to keep a record of all births and deaths occurring in the city," it was announced Saturday by Dr. R. B. Worford, city physician.

"Birth and death certificates are becoming more important to the individual. In settling death claims a certified copy of death certificates is required and many schools are requiring certified copy of birth certificates before accepting students.

"The health department has requests almost daily for certified copies of both birth and death certificates.

"We have a means of getting properly filled death certificates for we do not issue burial or removal permits until we get a complete death certificate.

"In getting properly filled birth certificates, we must depend upon the interest of parents and attending physicians, so we urge the parents to furnish all necessary data, including name of baby, to the attending physician so that your baby's birth will be properly recorded, for a certified copy may be urgently needed later. It it does not contain the baby's full name it will be practically valueless to you.

"The health department records certificates here and then sends the original certificates to the state registrar at Austin, so that the birth or death is on record here and at Austin, also."

Highland Heights Christian Church To Celebrate Sixth Anniversary at Birthday Party on Tuesday Evening

The church was organized in the month of December, 1926, by a group of earnest men and women who saw the need of the church in the community in which it is now located. The following names are those that were on the board of the First Christian church and took the lead in this work: J. A. Patton, John W. Bradley, T. E. Durrett, P. B. Curd, Joe Crouch, B. D. Sartin, W. P. Killingsworth, W. P. Baldridge, with their families. There were several other families that assisted in the organization. Harley Snyder was appointed as the first Bible school superintendent and B. D. Sartin was the first chairman of the board.

Dr. Paul Henry Packard was called to conduct a revival meeting and March 7, 1926, was called as the first pastor. He served as pastor until October, 1928.

Rev. Patrick Henry was called as pastor the first of the year, 1929, and served for two and one-half years. During his ministry and under his leadership the beautiful building which is serving its purpose so well was erected.

In April of this year Mr. Henry was called as state secretary for the Texas Missionary society, and Rev. J. E. Montgomery was called to take his place May 1, 1931.

Through these years the church has enjoyed a splendid growth. Many members are being added to the church. The spirit of the congregation is making it much easier to carry on the financial program, even in the face of present conditions. The budget exceeds that of last year by $3,000.

J. N. Sherrill is serving as chairman of the official board, and Mrs. Frank Creighton is president of the woman's council. Joe Crouch is superintendent of the Bible school.

Dinner.

History of Highland Heights—Frank Creighton.

WICHITANS URGED TO BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS GENEROUSLY

The tiny Christmas seals, sold for one cent each, have made possible an organized campaign against tuberculosis that has been carried on with ever increasing emphasis year after year. But they stand for something more, for they are truly health sales, since whatever helps to prevent tuberculosis makes for health.

The accumulated pennies provide a nurse, clinics supervised by specialists in chest diseases and promote open air schools and preventoria. Most important of all a widespread educational campaign has been prosecuted vigorously through schools, clubs and many other channels. To thousands of afflicted people there has been borne the news that the disease is curable if recognized early enough and given adequate treatment. Health bond and the seals have been mailed out this year urging each business concern to buy bonds whenever possible. This year every penny will count and therefore every one should be able to purchase at least one seal. During the past week the association has been receiving very generous checks for bonds and seals and wishes to thank all who have bought these bonds and seals and it is through such cooperation that the work is made possible.

All those who have received seals are urged to buy as many as they can afford, even if only one, as this educational program is of vital importance to the community.

Dec. 13 at 7 p. m. station WABC, Columbia Broadcasting system, will have Dr. Howard L. Haggard, who speaks on the Christmas seal under the title of "Devils, Drugs and Doctors." Be sure and tune in on this program.

Prosperity won't COME back—We must BRING it back

Narrow Escape

"I heard the train coming but thought I could beat it. You see, we were hurrying home. Company coming to dinner. I stepped on the gas and—well, we made it. But, by George, it was a narrow escape.

"The rest of the way home we just crept along, I can tell you, and I had plenty of time to think things over.

"Suppose we had been hit—what would have become of the children at home? Who would bring them up and educate them? Who would settle up my business and look after the money and see that the youngsters had a decent amount to live on?

"Brother Jim couldn't do it—he's a better doctor than he is a business man. Uncle's too old. Who then?

"I made up my mind right then and there. A will—and a corporate executor.

"So now you know what I'm here for, Mr. Trust Officer. You know how much I'm worth, and how my property is invested. You know what I want to do for my wife and children. Tell me how your institution can carry out my wishes."

How about your family—are you going to protect them with a well-thought-out estate plan? Let us show you what we can do to insure their protection in the years ahead, and give you peace of mind today.
