THE NEW CITY PARK

Location Purchased and Donated to the City By Col. Ellison

Through the liberality of Col. R. L. Ellison, capitalist of Fort Worth, also vice-president of The Fort Worth National Bank, Wellington is to have a City Park. Col. Ellison is in the city this week and on yesterday closed a deal with L. H. Stall for the purchase of a five acre tract in the splendid Stall Addition. Aside from the five acres the deed is made to include the streets surrounding the park acreage—the land in the streets approximates four acres. The price paid for the park location was $700.

Col. Ellison in turn then made a gift of this purchase to the city of Wellington for a park. He has been interested in this matter for some time. Last winter the writer in an article in the Leader made a strong appeal to the citizenship to make some move to provide a park for the city. Col. Ellison sent back word by a personal representative complimenting us on the editorial and said by all means a park should be purchased at the earliest moment and the work of beautifying the same started that the citizenship could the sooner be enjoying its benefits.

The location of the park will be just a few blocks south of the south end of Barton Street, which street will be opened up and continued out to the park. This is indeed a splendid site.

Now that the park has been secured the ladies of the Civic Club and the citizenship generally will all join in a movement to lay out the plan of beautifying the land, go to work to fence it at once and get the ground in shape for planting trees and shrubs this fall and to eventually make it what it should be—an attraction and ornament to the city and a place of recreation

First 10c Cotton

The first to join the "Buy-a-Bale" movement in Wellington at 10c per pound was C. E. Stone & Co who on Tuesday of this week purchased two bales, one from J. B. Rhodes which weighed 560 pounds and for which 10c per pound was paid, and the other bale which weighed 481 pounds was purchased from W. J. Simpson at 10c per pound.

Mayor Strong tells us that as a matter of appreciation for the gift, and as a monument of the generosity of the donor, the City has chosen that the new acquisition be known as "Ellison Park."

Added Improvements.

As an evidence of their optimism and faith in good old Collingsworth county, the A. & W. Big Store, have just added new goods until they are carrying the largest stock ever before handled. To accomodate this great increase in new goods they are this week making additional improvements in the interior of the store by building a second floor or deck in rear of their apartment.

Will Hold Meetings Daily

Washington, Sept. 14.—A committee of Southern Congressmen and cotton growers was organized here today by Representative Henry of Texas to work for an advance of $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 to Southern farmers on the large cotton stock that must be held over because of the collapse of European demand. The committee will hold daily meetings and will urge the advisability of their plan upon President Wilson, Secretary McAdoo and the Federal Reserve Board.

Another Good Citizen Added.

We are indeed glad to learn that Mr. J. A. Mahan, who resides about nine miles southeast is making his arrangements to move with his excellent family to town, having closed a deal this week for the Earnest Sherwood residence property, which is among the best located in the city. We have not learned of Mr. Sherwood's intentions, but trust he will rebuild and remain one of our good citizens.

Telephone Directories.

The Wellington Telephone Exchange have issued a new Directory which is just off the press. These Directories are for distribution among our subscribers and those who have not yet received one of the new copies will please call at the Central office and get one at your earliest convenience, as the proper use of these will enable us to give the very best telephone service.

Yours very truly,
J. P. Barton, Mgr.

Will You Join the Rest?

Many of our town and country folks have already signified their intention to attend the Panhandle State Fair at Amarillo September 25th to October 1st. Considering the general situation throughout other sections of Texas, and of most of the States, the Panhandle stands forth as a country particularly blessed with abundance this season. We are entitled to a short vacation and a few days amusement and entertainment. No better opportunity could be offered us for this purpose than the Panhandle State fair. Make arrangements to join the rest and meet all your friends at the Fair.

We have some splendid exchanges in central Texas and other points to offer for land in Collingsworth county. What have you to offer? We also have city property we can sell you for small cash payments and good time on balance at a bargain. Pritchard & Childress.

Collingsworth 14,000 Bales

The biggest cotton crop ever heretofore raised in Collingsworth county was in 1912 when the government report gives a total of 11,163 bales ginned in this county. The condition of the crop now being picked is the best ever in the history of the county, it is extra well and heavy fruited, and this condition together with the increase in acreage, makes an estimate of from 13000 to 14000 very conservative.

the Famous, tells us that he has purchased three bales. Other business men say they expect to join in and encourage the movement. C. C. Rolls, tells us that he will have about 25 bales of his own from his farm near Quail but says he will also buy two bales at 10c on this plan.

Many wholesale and business firms of the north are encouraging business conditions in Texas by joining in this "Buy-a-Bale" movement. Many of these firms buying a large number. If our business men can persuade the wholesalers whom they do business with to make a part of their purchases of cotton on this plan in Collingsworth county, it would really be worth more than the trafficking among home people as it would bring altogether new money into circulation. One firm alone in Chicago wired their Texas representative that they would take 50,000 bales.

R. R. Sherwood.

THE "BUY-A-BALE" PLAN

Wellington is Giving Some Encouragement to the Scheme

The Leader believes the best plan yet devised to help the cotton farmers, the banks and the merchants, in handling the "distressed" cotton, is for the patriotic citizens who have the money or who can arrange to get hold of the necessary cash, to buy a bale of cotton at 10 cents a pound, and hold that cotton off the market until matters adjust themselves. Out of the entire population of Texas there ought to be at least enough people with the $50 to spare to buy one-fourth of the total crop of the state. This will help immensely. If there is a loss after that naturally the farmers will have to bear some of it, and dispose of their cotton as they need the money to liquidate obligations. But in time of emergency all people have to make some sacrifices. The merchants and bankers can not do it all. They as a rule are broad-gauged, patriotic people and will do as much as possible to help conditions of the country, yet there are certain limitations, and if they are not careful they will themselves meet disaster.

The Leader believes that as an emergency means of taking care of the surplus crop this plan is the most tangible one yet devised. As soon as the reserve banks get into operation the banks will be able to secure some additional help in the way of loans from these banks upon such collateral as they have in their possession upon a basis of 75 per cent.

Locally speaking, the movement has not thus far met with a hearty response. But the start has been made this week by several bales being purchased in Wellington on this plan. C. E. Stone & Co. has purchased two bales, and A. E. Brady of

R. Q. MABRY, Proprietor

Not For the Individual, but for Texas

Texas is the farmers' State.
Of every dollar of its natural wealth—from the farm, the mine, the forest, and the sea—
ninety cents comes from the farms through the production
of field crops and the sale and slaughter of livestock. Out of this dollar, forty-seven cents
comes from cotton and twelve cents from livestock. Sixty-nine per cent of the population
lives on the farm and ranches,
and only thirty-one per cent in the cities, towns and villages.

With these facts in view, can
any one doubt for a moment
where the saving and making of Texas must be wrought out?

Ordinarily, the cities—clearing-houses of news, centers of business transactions, places
where life and the things of life
are most highly developed and most artificial—get all the attention of the world; they take themselves too seriously because
in the stress and clamor of buying they forget the man who does the work that makes possible the profits of the undertakings they finance.

Some years ago Henry Exall pointed out to our traffickers and traders, great and small, the essential, vital fact that big business is not the trading, but the production of the things that are traded in; that prosperity is not in bank clearing totals, but in more farm products, which makes these totals possible; that our well being is not based upon the expertness of the merchan-
dizer, but upon the efficiency
index of the farmer. Henry Exall sought to raise this efficiency index, measurable in the net profit per acre taken out of the soil in field crops or livestock
production, and to that end he gave the Texas Industrial Congress the mission of acting as
the business man's agency in bringing about proper seed selection, right cultural methods,
conservation of fertility, crop rotation and diversification. Henry Exall pointed the way in the crop contests, giving the same importance to cotton, corn, the grain-sorghums, and cowpeas—
all of them feed for livestock.
Death called him when this vital
work was well outlined but only just begun.

Now comes a great crisis, a worldwide war, to stress, in retrenchment and hardships, the lessons that he taught. The cities are again reminded that the totals per month of their building permits are unimportant in comparison with the solvency and prosperity of John Jones and Henry Smith, tillers
of the quiet countryside, who must even shelter their work
animals behind pole windbreaks.
The convulsion of the nations is enforcing the the evangel of our visioner of progress.

Some of the lessons of Henry Exall, driven home by the European war are that we must give
to cotton an importance no greater than that we give to corn, the grain-sorghums, and cowpea
hay; that we must raise larger yields per acre so that the cost of production may be lowered
and our farmers be enabled to feed livestock in competition
with the states in the corn belt.
We must see that this work is not so much philanthropy to others as a necessity to ourselves. Every man must, in his way, become an Exall, giving of his time and substance, as an investment in his own business, to the movement for a livestock industry which means a low feed
cost, only to be attained by high yields per acre.

Colonel Exall was right. The high acre-yield of feedstuffs,
measured by the efficiency of farming, is the only key that will
unlock the portals of prosperity.
Texas must be taught how to exchange its 18-bushel yields of 72c corn for 40-bushel yields of 46c corn and other feeds in proportion or we shall never profitably feed livestock and double

our incomes per farm.

The European war, laying the necessity upon us of cutting down our cotton acreage next year, imposes the greater necessity of raising great corn and grain-sorghum crops at a cost of production sufficiently low to enable us to keep at home the $30-000,000 we send out of the State
annually for feed, and to feed
increased numbers of cattle and hogs cheaper than they can be fed in Iowa and shipped to Texas.

Therefore, the battle of the Texas Industrial Congress for better yields per acre, as planned by Henry Exall, takes on the semblance of a holy war and the business man who does not enlist in it is surely, though perhaps unwittingly, inviting conditions of hunger and distress to the State.

Hogs or Dogs—Which?

"We raise dogs," says Prof.
W. S. Taylor, of the Department of Agricultural Education, University of Texas, "when we should raise hogs." He then proceeds to give us a few startling figures:

The farmers of the South
spend more than $3,000,000 annually while producing the cotton crop. Texas spends her dard of this. Is there any reason why this condition should exist? Last year the estimated population of Texas was 4,208-265, showing an approximate gain of 100,000 over 1912. The cattle census showed 6,056,000
head in the state with a loss of 155,000 from the preceding year.
We had 2,493,000 hogs in the state last year which was 51,000 less than the year before. The statistics showed an increase of 41,000 sheep, but sheep are not raised essentially for meat purposes. Texas has almost an unlimited capacity for growing feed and producing meat and dairy products, but with all our possibilities we have only one
hog to every 67.3 acres of land;
one head of cattle for 27.7 acres;
and we import annually more
than $10,000,000 worth of feed
stuff to aid in growing a cotton crop, not to mention that we spend yearly more than $10,000-000 for butter alone. About 89.7 per cent, or approximately 3,033,000 of our population live
on farms. There were slaughtered for meat on farms last year
885,260 hogs, 86,476 cattle, 9,396
sheep, and 28,423 goats or a total of 1,009,555 animals. This allows one animal for every three people which is not as much
meat as the average rural person consumes.

School Statistics for Texas

Austin, Texas, Sept. 5.—Data
compiled by the State Department of Education shows that there are 8,500 country schools
in Texas and 6,500 of them are 1-teacher institutions. Two thousand are maintained less than three months in the year.
The average length of the term
of the country school in Texas
is only 119 days. In Texas there are 506,963 white children between the age of 7 and 17 years
living in the country, and only 415,633 of them are enrolled in the public schools, leaving 90-330 white girls and boys on the Texas farms that do not attend school.

The average daily attendance
for the year 1912 was 257,000
and the average daily absence was 240,000. Forty-six of every one hundred farm children in Texas do not attend school.

Hon. Jno. W. Baker, late candidate for State Treasurer, has moved his family from Lubbock
to Austin, the purpose of the move is said to be to school his children.

Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and
last time, was my worst.

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back
and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down,
until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles re-

The Wellington Leader

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING

Entered as second-class matter Aug. 25, 1909, at the post office at Wellington, Texas, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Leader Printing Co., Owners

The Texas cotton crop is estimated at four and a half million bales.

Hogs are bringing $9 on the Fort Worth market. Raising hogs will beat raising cotton.

President Wilson has set October 4th as a nation wide day of prayer for the peace of the world.

Cotton is opening pretty lively now, and the crop promises to be the largest ever raised in Collingsworth.

The "Buy-a-Bale" movement seems to be spreading, and all who have surplus money should join the ranks and buy a bale to hold for a year or better prices. This is the most feasible plan that we have heard of to handle the distressed cotton and maintain good prices.

Considerable cotton is coming in and is being ginned at our four splendid gins here. Of course there is practically no market yet but the outlook is more hopeful now, and it is believed that in the course of a few weeks a fair market for cotton will be established.

You can always depend upon the drummers to do what they can to help business conditions of the country. The drummers of Texas have heartily joined in the "Buy-a-Bale" movement and have taken steps to get them at least one apiece. This scheme will take many a bale at a fair price, and take it off the market in competition with others.

One of the old timers remarked the other day that greater road improvement has been made in this country this year than any five years heretofore. When one sees how much a very small number of men with teams can do in one day toward improving the roads, he cannot help wondering why everyone does not take more interest in better roads.—Shamrock Texan.

DON'T HURT YOUR LIVER WITH CALOMEL

When your liver becomes torpid and sluggish, you can take calomel and whip it into action, but the calomel will leave your body weaker and sicker than ever. Calomel is a very powerful drug, a form of mercury, and need never be used because there is a perfect remedy to take the place of calomel, that has all of calomel's good medicinal effects with none of its dangerous and uncertain follow-ups. Its name is Dodson's Liver Tone.

E. M. Williams Drug Co. sells Dodson's Liver Tone with the guarantee that if you don't find that it treats you much better than calomel, they will give you your money back with a smile. Dodson's Liver Tone is a true tonic for the liver, purely vegetable, and with such a pleasant taste that it is no trouble to get children to take it. It is absolutely impossible for it to do anyone any harm.

Precaution Against Typhoid

According to the twelfth census of the United States taken in 1900 typhoid fever ranks seventh in magnitude as a cause of death and, during that year, out of every 100,000 deaths 3405 resulted from typhoid fever. The general death rate for the country was fixed approximately at 18 per thousand. This means that out of every thousand people on an average, eighteen die per year.

Using the figures given above, since the thirteenth census figures are not available, and taking the population of Texas as 8,896,542 it is probable that 2,388 persons die of typhoid each year in the state; and assuming that only one case in ten is fatal, which approximates the truth, there are 22,880 cases per annum in the state. If each case costs only one hundred dollars in loss of time, doctor's bills, medicine, nursing, etc., the total cost to the state per annum is $2,388,000.00, three quarters of which $1,788,500 is paid by the rural population, and one quarter, $599,500 by the people living in towns of 2500 population or over.

Typhoid is a disease of the intestines and the bowel discharges of persons sick of this fever contains millions of the germs of the disease. There is no other source of these germs, and each germ has the power of communicating the disease to another person should it by any means find its way into his stomach. There are many ways in which this may occur. It is therefore important to protect ones self from this possibility. If the excreta of typhoid patients are thrown out upon the ground, or into an open privy vault, the germs may be washed by the rain into the well, spring or creek, used as a source of water supply by yourself or others; liquids containing the germs may percolate through the ground from a privy into the well nearby; or flies may travel from filthy places to the kitchen and leave the germs on food. All this occurs, not infrequently, but often. The result is the trouble, expense and sorrow resulting from typhoid fever.

If you wish to escape typhoid fever protect your water supply and your food. See that your well, or water supply, is located as far from all privies as possible, and that no surface water finds its way into it. Screen your house and "SWAT THE FLY." Do not permit a single fly to live in your kitchen or dining room. Screening the house will prevent this and incidentally protect you from mosquitos and consequently from malaria. One case of typhoid will cost you much more than the screens for the house. In addition to this be careful of what you eat and drink away from home. In case of doubt about a drinking water or some food, take the safe course—go thirsty or hungry until you reach home.

Attention to these simple details may save the lives of those near and dear to you.—E. C. H. Bantel, Professor in the School of Civil Engineering, University of Texas.

The fellow who lives in a good town and does not help boost is sponging upon his neighbors; and the merchant who profits by a trade brought to his town by the liberal advertising of his fellow merchants, and spends nothing for advertising himself, is a bum riding the "blind" on his own town's business train.—Estelline News.

Consolidation of Rural Schools

The consolidation of rural schools is becoming a live topic in educational circles in Texas; and in several counties of the state, notably in Harris county, very beneficial consolidations have been effected. The idea of consolidation can be briefly expressed as follows: It is more economic to have one large school, centrally located, even though the community at its own expense must transport the children to this school, than to have a number of scattered one- and two-teacher schools serving the same area. The argument whic Prof. E. V. White, head of the Division of Public School Improvement, of the Department of Extension, University of Texas, advances, will be shown on five charts exhibited at the Dallas Fair this fall. His charts will show the ineffectiveness of the one teacher school. They will show how impossible it is for one teacher, no matter how well qualified, to teach the many subjects required of her in the little rural one-teacher school. He will show how impossible it is to have the proper equipment in such a school. He will show further, the lack of interest consequent upon having such small number of students. Furthermore, he will indicate the great economic waste of having small units, at the same time showing the economy of consolidating a number of these units into one first-class school.

Chas. Wall purchased twenty-four head of steers this week from Roy Williams to feed. The average weight of the steers was 1009 pounds and the price paid was 61-2 cents per pound.—Shamrock Texan.

Big Cattle Deal

A deal involving about $150,000 and differing from any other transaction has just been closed by R. B. Masterson of Amarillo, in the sale of his entire herd of cows and calves of the Hereford breed, to Letts brothers of Clarendon, Texas. In this sale something over 1,000 cows and calves were sold at $70, while several hundred dry cows went at $50 per head.

For about 15 years Mr. Masterson has been conducting two ranches, one in King county, which was used as a breeding ranch and the other in Gray county, where steers exclusively were matured. From this latter ranch each spring Mr. Masterson shipped steers to the Kansas grazing district, where he is pasturing about 800 head this summer.

In this cleanup sale, however, it must not be understood that Mr. Masterson is going out of the cattle business, by any means. He is merely changing breeds, having decided to raise and handle the Angus breed instead of Herefords. Mr. Masterson has made a purchase of about the same number of Angus cows and heifers from the well known ranch of J. M. Shelton in Wheeler county, and the panhandle territory. These heifers are two years old and extra choice in quality, costing $47.50 per head. With registered bulls, Mr. Masterson will now carry on about the same breeding of Angus cattle on about the same scale as heretofore, except that he expects to increase the number, using both ranches for breeding purposes, instead of one as before.—Oklahoma City Livestock News.

REMEMBER YOUR LAST DOSE OF CALOMEL?

You probably recall the bad after-effects of the calomel more than the sickness you took it for. You need never again go through with being "all knocked out for a day or two by calomel."

Next time your liver gets sluggish and inactive, we urge that you go to E. M. Williams Drug Co. for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, a splendid vegetable liquid medicine that will start your liver as surely as calomel ever did and with none of the after-effects of calomel. It is absolutely harmless both to children and adults and demands no restriction of habits or diet.

A large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone costs only fifty cents and the druggists who sell it guarantee it to take the place of calomel, and will refund your money if it fails in your case or if you are not satisfied.

United States World's Financial Center

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, told the Illinois State Bankers Association today that the European war gives the United States the opportunity of becoming the greatest financial center in the world. His declaration was concurred in by Arthur Reynolds, president of the American Banker's Association, and another speaker at today's session.

"The United States is entering upon the greatest are of general prosperity that has ever been known," said Senator Owen. "It will be an era that will not be interrupted by a panic but will be attended by permanent stability."

Another Woman Lawyer in Texas

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 5.—Fort Worth now boasts a woman lawyer in the person of Mrs. R. E. Baker, the first female ever admitted to the bar in Tarrant county. When the last Federal census of Texas was taken, Houston and Waco were the only two Texas cities that had women attorneys. Each city had one. In the entire State there were only three female lawyers at that time.

We Take Pleasure in Announcing the Second Annual Exhibition of the—

PANHANDLE STATE FAIR

At Amarillo, Texas, Friday, September 25, to Thursday, October 1st.

The exhibition facilities of the Fair have been greatly enlarged this week, owing to the increased demand for space from every section of the Panhandle.

With the marvelous agricultural showing throughout our country this season, visitors may rest assured that the exhibition of products of the farm at the Fair will compare most favorably with that of any similar exhibition in the entire country.

In the Live Stock Divisions there will be nothing wanting, the entire promising a showing which would do credit to a live stock exhibition of national pretensions.

In the Poultry, Milling, Manufacturing, Garden, Kitchen, and other departments the exhibits promise a revelation to all.

Which include several fast events each day, many of the famed harness horses of the country having secured entry in the various races.

The classiest carnival attraction in the United States, carrying 18 carloads of equipment and a Band of Thirty Pieces, has been engaged for the entire Fair, thus assuring to Fair visitors the best of entertainment.

All Panhandle people, all Texas people, all the people of all the States, are invited to the Fair. Come and enjoy a week's holiday. We promise you an enjoyable and profitable time at the Fair. Special Fair Rates on all Railroads. For any information address,

THE FARMERS FALL NEEDS

At the beginning of a new season the farmers' needs are many.

They need 10c per lb. for cotton.

They need 10c per lb. for their hogs.

They need $20 per ton for their milo maize.

They need $1 per bushel for their corn.

They need $40 per head for their calves.

We cater to the rural farmers trade and offer drug store goods of the best quality, at right prices. They need to try our parcel post service.

J. Z. Hankins of Aberdeen was doing business here this week.

C. X. Woodruff returned Tuesday from Plainview, where he placed his daughter, Miss Eula in Wayland College.

Seymour Collins, a former splendid citizen of Wellington but now lives in the coast country, was here this week looking after his farm interests. He says the coast country is splendid for good health, but for farming he prefers this very much.

Misses Alma Alexander and Clay Wells two Wellington High School graduates, left this week for Denton where they will enter school for the ensuing term. They will be greatly missed among our best young people.

C. C. Terry, our home bailiwick member of the Commissioners Court, was in attendance at the court this week, and as Judge Cocke, Jr., was busy with County Court, Mr. Terry occupied the position as Chairman of the board of Commissioners.

J. A. Mahan, one of Collingsworth's best and most substantial citizens, and who lives in the Fresno community, was in the city trading Monday. Mr. Mahan had The Leader sent to his son, Jas. A. Mahan, who is attending the Lebonon University Law School, one of the very best in the United States.

E. W. Groves, who has been prescriptionist at Williams Drug Store for about a year, left last Saturday for Dallas, and from there will go to his home in Oklahoma. Leroy Davis, a registered prescriptionist from Galveston, and whose parents live in the Fresno community, has accepted the position made vacant by Mr. Groves leaving.

W. G. Price was in from the Quail community Monday. Mr. Price is another of our good citizens who is not greatly perturbed over the cotton market situation. It is true, he says, that he has 30 acres in cotton but he also has a good bunch of hogs and a good acreage in forage crops and maize. The present situation emphasises the need of a greater diversification of crops grown here—or better strict stock-farming, if you please.

Andy Bell is having a set of Public Scales put in this week. The scales will be located immediately in front of the Goforth Produce Company's place of business and this firm will have charge of the weighing. The scales will be handier here to the public traffic than on the cotton grounds where Mr. Bell will be required to be most of the time. The scales are being installed in accordance with the promise made by Mr. Bell before the primaries that in case he was elected Public Weigher he would put in a set of platform scales.

C. D. Shamburger was in from his home at Wichita Falls yesterday, looking after the interests in his lumber yard here. Mr. Shamburger reports crop conditions good pretty generally over all the territory in which he has lumber yards, and he also says that he is certain that it will be but a short time until business conditions will be normal and times prosperous. Mr. Shamburger is a brother of Mrs. W. A. McFarlin. Mr. and Mrs. McFarlin recently moved here from Henrietta and the latter has a position with the Shamburger Lumber Yard here.

Commissioner Dave Worley was in to the regular grind of commissioners court work this week. Mr. Worley reports a very destructive hail and wind storm in his section last Sunday afternoon. He stated that the storm began close to his place and covered a strip of country from a half to a mile wide and sixteen miles long in a northerly direction from his place, possibly doing heavier damage at his place than anywhere else. Hail fell thick and furious for about three minutes and along with it was a heavy wind, but no rain at all. Some of the hail stones were of immense size. He estimated it did about sixty per cent damage to his cotton crop and did about 25 to 30 per cent damage to his maize. The fodder on the latter he says was completely beat off. The wind also turned his hay stacks completely over—bottom side up, but did not scatter it so he re-stacked it.

Gentry Brothers Shows Coming

Famous trained animal circus will give two performances in Wellington next week.

Wellington and surrounding territory has been extensively advertised by a number of advance agents representing Gentry Brothers Shows, which well known and popular exhibition will exhibit in Wellington on Saturday September 26th.

The circus train, which will be loaded down with animals actors and human performers, will arrive early Saturday morning and by noon everything will be in readiness for the afternoon performance which will begin promptly at 2 o'clock.

The well known reputation of the Gentry Shows should be sufficient to pack the streets of Wellington with people from all sections of the country on circus day and as the show itself is meritorious in every respect the seating capacity of the tents will doubtless be taxed to capacity at both the afternoon and night performance.

It has been several years since the Gentry shows exhibited in this part of the country and everybody will welcome their return.

Besides being one of the best, if not the best trained animal circus in the world, the Gentry's introduce a number of high-salaried human performers, such as acrobats, wire-walkers, gymnasts and other features, all going to make up a program embracing almost everything from a monkey comic opera to vaudeville and a first class circus performance.

As both animal and human performers give a much better show when they are not called upon to parade for an hour and a half the management has adopted a new policy and have done away with the parade. The expense of transporting a parade over the railroads is enormous and the money thus saved is spent in hiring the very best acts obtainable in both America and Europe, which makes it possible to present a far more pleasing performance for the pleasure of those who pay their real money to see the show.

ORDINANCE NO. 53.

Wellington, Texas.

August 19th, 1914.

REGULATING SPEED OF AUTOMOBILES, MOTORCYCLES, BICYCLES, ETC. AND PROVIDING LIGHT FOR SAME.

Be it ordained by the City Council: Section 1.

That it shall hereafter be unlawful for any person to drive or cause to be driven, any automobile, motorcycle, bicycle, or any vehicle of such kind, within the limits of the City of Wellington, Texas, at a speed exceeding twelve miles per hour. Section 2.

Be it further provided that all Automobiles, motorcycles, or any vehicles of such kind, running within the limits of Wellington, Texas, between the hours from, ONE HOUR AFTER SUNSET TO ONE HOUR BEFORE SUNRISE, shall be provided with, both, head and tail lights: and be it further provided that such tail light shall be placed so as to enable one to distinguish car number. Section 3.

Any person found guilty of violating any provision of the above ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined in any sum not exceeding Ten Dollars.

Owing to the necessity of such an ordinance this ordinance shall be in effect and force from this date.

V. V. Davis, Secretary.
Clarence Strong, Mayor.

In connection with the publication of the above ordinance I want to give notice that I will rigidly enforce the same. The regulations in regard to speed and lights must be followed out.

J. B. Gillespie,
City Marshal.

Fine Soudan Grass.

C. A. Dysart visited the Leader office last Saturday and brought in a sample of Soudan Grass that had sprung up from the stubble from the cutting of the crop just two weeks before. This sample measured over three and a half feet high, and shows the rapidity of growth of the new forage crop. Ordinarily, it is claimed, Soudan grass will afford three or four cuttings a season of a fine quality of hay from three to four feet in height. However, Mr. Dysart having just an acre, let the first crop go to seed as he wants to increase his acreage next year and sell what seed he has left. Yet he will get a second cutting for hay and possibly a third cutting.

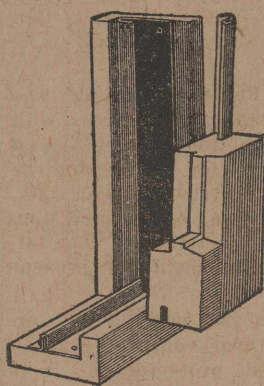

Baptist Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid Society met Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Baptist church. Mrs. Tom Speight led our devotional meeting. She read the 13th chapter of Romans for our lesson which was discussed with interest. Our devotional meetings are always so good.

Our meeting was dismissed and we went to work on our quilts. We will appreciate the help and co-operation of every member of the church.

Those present: Mesdames Couch, Fain, Howell, Bengé, Cook, Dobbs, Haralson, Carnes, Ladd, Leonard, Garrard, Winnie, Speight, Cochran, Williams, McFarland, and Davenport. We were glad to welcome Misses Richerson and Cochran as visitors.

THE DIAMOND WAY PRACTICAL WEATHER STRIPPING

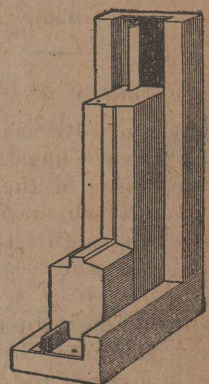

THE DIAMOND FLEXIBLE METAL WEATHER STRIP keeps out dust, dirt, storm, noise, wind, etc., and at the same time reduces your heating bills from 20 to 40 per cent. Can be put in house already built as well as new buildings.

They are entirely consealed and last the lifetime of the building.

It is a recognized fact that no building is complete or up-to-date without weather strips. They are a necessity.

The Diamond Flexible Metal Weather Strip not only accomplishes all that others claim, but does more, as the sash can be removed in case of necessity without injuring or destroying the strip, and the fact that it is flexible allows it to go and come with the swelling and shrinkage of the sash. These are two points no other strip has. Windows never bind, rattle or rust with our strip, and always slide up or down easy. It not only adds comfort, but actually makes a saving in your heat bill.

We have letters of recommendation from satisfied users in all sections of the country. Some from Wellington. Ask our agent for illustrated catalog.

Our corps of expert mechanics especially trained for the work, are prepared to install the strip in your building, whether old or new, without causing you any inconvenience whatever, and at a figure that the saving in heating bills will pay for in a short time.

We are prepared to equip any style of window or door, as we make our strip to suit the particular requirements of each case. If you consult our local representative he will tell you how to remedy the defects of your doors and windows.

You will never appreciate the value of weather strips until you have them installed, and then you will wonder how you ever got along without them.

Science tells us that a wind blowing fifteen miles an hour will let into a room through a crack one sixteenth in. around a door or window 180 cubic feet of air an hour. In order to keep warm you have to heat this air which is continually coming in. Why not stop it and save fuel?

You want ventilation but not in the form of drafts coming from every window and door in the room.

If you go into any up-to-date home, church, school building or hospital, you will find weather strips installed. It is not an experiment with them, as the comfort derived as well as the saving in fuel has justified their installation. Why hesitate? Get in touch with our local representative today—Now.

The Diamond Metal Weather Strip has won its way to the front through merit alone. It wasn't luck. It didn't just happen, but the legin of satisfied customers has built up an ever increasing business by their singing and praises for the benefits derived from the strip.

Don't be fooled with inferior strips when the best cost no more. The first costs are its last and varies according to conditions to be met with, at no time is it excessive; no cost at all until job is complete and you see just what you are getting.

Estimates will be furnished on application without in any way binding you.

The calm season in the Panhandle is now coming to a close and the wintery one is taking its place. Why hesitate? Have your windows and doors fixed in due season.

J. A. DUKEMINIER,
Agent.

ALLIES REPULSE GERMANS

After Long Retreat, French-British Army Makes Stand on Chosen Battle Grounds North and East of Paris and Breaks Striking Wedge of Invaders.

SLAVS ADVANCE

Five Million Russians Crush Austrians and Push Teutons in Prussia.

DISSENSIONS IN AUSTRIA?

Various Reports Say Racial Elements in Dual Empire Near Revolt—Turkey Still Out of Trouble.

(Summary of Events.)

The French-British army defending France has finally weakened the force of the fierce German assault which persisted for two weeks straight, and there are signs of a distinct change in the fortunes of war.

Night and day, apparently without rest, the great Teutonic army drove the French and British from the Belgian and Alsatian frontiers almost to Paris. Then the allies chose a battlefield and turned on their pursuers.

and hold this city. The czar declares he has five million men in the field now, with four million more trained reserves. The objective point is Berlin and the advance line is said to be 200 miles long.

Turkey is still neutral, though she is daily expected to join forces with Germany. The action of Turkey is of grave importance, for if she joins the conflict, an attack by Greece, Italy, Bulgaria, Roumania, Serbia and Montenegro on her is imminent. The latter two states are occupied at present fighting Austria.

Great Britain has ordered all German and Austrian consuls to leave Egypt, a British protectorate. It is charged the consuls have been fomenting a native revolt of Mohammedans against all Christians—especially the British garrison and colony.

Japan continues to besiege Tsing Tau, the German naval base and colony in the Chinese province of Kaio Chow. About thirty thousand infantry and a strong fleet press the Germans.

Revolts in Austria.

Word has come from Petrograd (Russia has changed the name of her national capital from St. Petersburg to Petrograd), Rome and Athens that Austria faces a dangerous revolt of the various racial elements of the empire. It is predicted she will sue for peace independently of Germany within a comparatively short time.

Newspaper correspondents at Washington report that the German ambassador, the American member of the International Peace Tribunal and Secretary Bryan have held executive conferences regarding peace proposals. These men have refused to discuss the matter with the correspondents.

About the same time there came news from London that the British foreign secretary and the French and Russian ambassadors had signed a pact mutually engaging themselves not to conclude peace separately in the present war. Japan signed the pact four days later.

The dispatch says a German army corps seems to be marching to the south, passing between Oudenarde, East Flanders and Grammont. It probably is intended to reinforce the German right wing, which has suffered a check in France.

Since Monday, adds the dispatch, numerous German fugitives from the battle in France have been seeking refuge in Dordogne forest, between Courtrai and Herseaux.

The allied armies continue to have the advantage, according to French official reports, in what can be only the preliminaries of a great battle extending from Meaux, northeast of Paris, to the fortress of Verdun, about 120 miles further East.

The Germans, who have brought up reinforcements, are striking at the

had just come from the admiralty, where he has a near relative, who admitted that 150,000 Russian troops had been landed at Ostend. The admiralty official added that the fact probably would be officially announced soon.

It might seem incredible that a great movement of troops could be carried out without becoming known generally. But the power of concealment possessed and exercised by the European governments during this war have been found to be so astonishing that such a feat of mystification is by no means impossible.

Another dispatch from the same source says the Breslau Silesian landwehr captured seventeen officers, a thousand men, all Russian imperial guard. The place of the encounter was not given.

Austrians Thrown Back. Paris.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Nish, Serbia, says that the Serbians are continuing their offensive movements against the Austrians in the direction of Visegrad. They crossed the frontier September 6 and continued to advance successfully. Everywhere the Austrians were thrown back to the left bank of the River Drina.

News has reached here that the Montenegrin troops commanded by General Vucotich have occupied important points in Bosnia south of Sarajevo, the capital. The situation in North Albania continues serious. Battling in Galicia. London.—The Austrians and Russians are still battling in Galicia. Although Russian official circles are silent, reports from Rome, which generally have been accurate, coming as they do through German or Rumanian sources, indicate that the Russians are making progress through General Auenburg's army, which is being supported by the Germans.

Some doubt is now expressed as to whether the Russian enveloping movement from the south of Lemberg can be developed quickly enough to cut off the Austrians, should they be defeated by the Russians advancing from the north. But should the Austrians be defeated this second army is likely to hasten General Auenburg's retirement.

Allies Command Field. Bordeaux.—The minister of war, M. Millerand, following the issuance of the 3:30 o'clock bulletin, which was unusually optimistic in tone, said that the German offense had been broken. He said the strategy of General Joffre has now been crowned with success and that everywhere along the line the French and their allies are on the offensive.

The allied armies, after inflicting enormous losses on the enemy, the war minister said, withdrew to the line originally selected and then gave the Germans battle. This battle, still in progress, finds the allies in a peculiarly advantageous position.

As early as 10:56 the sovereign of Constantinople granted charters of extraterritorial privileges, called capitulations. The Venetians first were granted the right of trial by judges appointed in Venice and permanently residing in Constantinople. When the young Turks gained control the powers were sounded as to possible abrogation of the capitulations. The reply was unfavorable. This new declaration, so far as known, was not prefaced by any such discussion with the powers.

The Turkish ambassador described the privileges abrogated as relating to economics and the administration of justice. "In the economic field," he said, "the Turkish government can not fix or change the customs duties without the consent of foreign powers. Nor can the Turkish government impose a professional tax on foreigners because the powers have not consented."

"In the administration of justice the Ottoman government is not free to deal with foreign culprits in the matter of certain trials without intervention of the representatives of the foreign ambassador or minister to which the culprits owe allegiance."

In diplomatic circles the announcement of Turkey's attitude attracted the widest attention. The allies are known to expect at any moment a declaration of war by Turkey in behalf of Germany. Comment was heard among diplomats of the allied powers as to possible deliberations between the German foreign office and the port before the decision to abrogate the treaties was reached.

So far as diplomats of the allies would venture an opinion, the prediction was made that Great Britain, France and Russia probably would not make any representations on the subject to Turkey at this time, leaving it until the close of the war.

Storks Welcomed as Good Omen. Immense flocks of storks arriving in the neighborhood of Toulon along the Mediterranean coast from the direction of Alsace are being welcomed by the French inhabitants there as a good omen.

There are scores of things every day which come before the state department in the form of representations, requests or protests, any one of which if acted upon immediately might involve this country in war. The censorship of the cables and of the German owned wireless stations was and still is one of the delicate subjects which the state department must handle. Moreover, there are the constant representations that this ship or that ship is taking out coal and provisions from American ports ostensibly intended for the supply of neutral countries and which as the protesters put it, are really intended to fill the bunkers of warships hovering off the coast.

It is pretty well assured here that the officials of the state department finally are convinced that it is a very much harder job to keep out of war than it is to get into war. If the United States government acted in everything as it has been requested to act by the representatives of foreign governments, we would be at war today with pretty nearly every country on earth.

Representatives of other countries in one hour were urging upon Mr. Bryan the necessity of taking notice of the bomb dropping, while in another hour, the representatives of still other countries were telling him to pay no attention to the pleas for a protest.

TURKEY DEFIES THE POWERS

ASSERTS RIGHT TO PLACE WITH INDEPENDENT NATIONS OF WORLD.

ACT IN CONSIDERED SIGNIFICANCE

Believed Probable Preliminary Step to Early Declaration of War Against Great Britain and Others.

Washington.—Turkey formally notified the United States and other nations that she had abrogated the series of conventions, treaties and privileges originating as early as the eleventh century, whereby foreigners in the Ottoman empire have been exempt from local jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases. Foreign subjects no longer will enjoy what is known as extra-territorial rights through which they have been tried by their own judges, diplomatic representatives or consuls.

This practice, abolished by Japan several years ago through her new treaties, Turkey has removed by a stroke of the pen. Her purpose, it is declared, is to assert her independence and free herself from the domination of the great powers.

Upon the rights revoked has rested the legal status of American missionaries in Turkey, permitting them to maintain churches, hospitals and schools in religious freedom.

War Turkey's Opportunity. "The removal of every kind of privileges enjoyed by the powers in excess of what the general principles of international law allow is the meaning of this step," A. Rustem Bey, Turkish ambassador to the United States, declared. "This war is Turkey's opportunity."

The ambassador did not intimate whether the action foreshadowed war against Great Britain, without whose consent in the past no such radical action would have been attempted. Diplomats of the allied powers, however, believe Turkey is appealing to the nationalist sentiment of her people and is ready to seize on any difficulties that may arise with Great Britain as a pretext to declare war.

The Turkish ambassador made known his government's action in a public announcement after it had been communicated to Secretary Bryan, as a formal note from the Ottoman empire.

"A cablegram to the Turkish ambassador from the Ottoman minister of foreign affairs states that by imperial irade the Ottoman government has abrogated from October 1, next, the conventions known as the capitulations restricting the sovereignty of Turkey in her relations with certain powers."

"All privileges and immunities accessory to these conventions or issuing therefrom are equally repealed. Having thus freed itself from an intolerable obstacle to all progress in the empire, the imperial government had adopted as the basis of its relations with the others powers the general principles of international law."

BRYAN'S HARD TASK

Warring Nations Seem Bent on Involving United States.

Secretary of State Visited Daily by Envoys With Complaints or Proposals, but Must Preserve Our Neutrality.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—If anybody thinks that the state department is not earning its salary these days, haste should be made to get another thought. The work and the worry of Mr. Bryan and his lieutenants have not been and are not in the tenth part the result of difficulties in getting Americans out of Europe. The real work and the worry come from the steadfast efforts of the United States government to remain neutral in the war now waging.

It is perhaps unkind to say that every one of the warring nations wishes that the United States would become involved in the conflict, and, becoming involved, would take up arms on its side. The unkindness does not consist in saying that the hope of a belligerent is that if the United States does get into it, it will fight for the cause represented by the hopeful ones, but perhaps it does consist in saying that any nation wishes us the ill luck that has befallen the countries now losing men and fortunes in the field.

Whether it is unkind or not to say it, there seems to be ample evidence in Washington that certain of the warring countries would like nothing better than to see us mix in. The state department daily has to withstand all sorts of subtle attempts to get it to commit itself, which means the committing of this country to some proposition which would cause trouble for the American people. The state department officials do not simply have to walk a tight rope, but they have to walk a swaying tight rope, and they are compelled to use a balancing pole for all the virtue there is in it, to keep them steady on the line.

Every day there go to the state department, one after the other, the ambassadors or the ministers of the different powers at war. Each one has a complaint or a proposition to make to the secretary of state.

The envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States from Belgium is E. Havenith. Mr. Havenith always writes his name as it is here set down, and very probably there is no one in Washington who knows what Mr. Havenith's first name is. It seems to be a sort of a state secret. The Belgian envoy insistently protested to the state department against the dropping of bombs on Antwerp from a German dirigible.

If Mr. Bryan, after consultation with President Wilson, had protested to the German government he would have been compelled to do it "in the name of humanity," for it was on a humane basis that the plea of Mr. Havenith was made. A protest of this kind is a serious thing, and it might, perhaps would, lead ultimately to war, for it would be tantamount to the saying by the United States government that the Germans were conducting a barbarous warfare.

There could be no such protest made, at least until the facts in the case absolutely were assured and the people of this country were aroused to the point of demanding action, and after a long and careful deliberation on the subject by President Wilson's cabinet. Of course Mr. Havenith wanted immediate action. He had to be met with suavity, with a promise to take the matter into consideration and with the usual diplomatic assurance of "good will and high esteem."

While the Belgian envoy was thus insistent, the representative of Germany in this country, acting in the temporary absence in New York of Ambassador von Bernstorff, was telling his side of the story.

Representatives of other countries in one hour were urging upon Mr. Bryan the necessity of taking notice of the bomb dropping, while in another hour, the representatives of still other countries were telling him to pay no attention to the pleas for a protest.

There are scores of things every day which come before the state department in the form of representations, requests or protests, any one of which if acted upon immediately might involve this country in war. FOOD FACTS What An M. D. Learned.

A prominent Georgia physician went through a food experience which he makes public.

"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know, from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients, that the food is a wonderful restorer and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients gain very rapidly, just as I did in strength and weight."

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely, and went to the mountains of this state, but two months there did not improve me; in fact, I was not quite as well as when I left home."

"My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change. Then I began to use Grape-Nuts food and in two weeks I could walk a mile without fatigue, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life."

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers, I consider it a duty to make these facts public." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Trial 10 days of Grape-Nuts, when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, works wonders. "There's a Reason."

GERMAN INFANTRY ON HURRIED MARCH

German soldiers making such a swift march that the men drink, without stopping, from water pails placed along the route.

The conflict has raged five days now along a 120-mile line and the outcome is not yet certain. Many reports from various sources say the allies are enjoying the advantages of re-enforcements, superior positions and fresh men and materials.

Troops are constantly coming from England and the French are drawing upon their last line of reserves. That the Germans consider the situation critical is shown by the transfer of 70,000 infantry from Belgium to the battle front. This infantry, it is reported, had already started eastward to re-enforce the army which is engaging Russian invaders of East Prussia.

The German war office has reported the fall of the French fortress of Maubeuge, near the Belgian border, and the capture of 40,000 men. The French and British deny this.

Russian Arms Winning.

Following a severe repulse at the hands of the German-Austrian army about ten days ago, the Russians appear to have had unbroken success at arms. They have covered the Austrian provinces of Galicia and Bukovina and captured the provincial capitals of Lemberg and Czernowitz, the latter 200 miles south of the Russian border.

They have overrun German East Prussia as far west as Königsberg, ington report that the German ambassador, the American member of the International Peace Tribunal and Secretary Bryan have held executive conferences regarding peace proposals. These men have refused to discuss the matter with the correspondents.

About the same time there came news from London that the British foreign secretary and the French and Russian ambassadors had signed a pact mutually engaging themselves not to conclude peace separately in the present war. Japan signed the pact four days later.

Allies' Lines Hold.

London.—German reinforcements estimated at 60,000 men are advancing into France in three columns, according to an Ostend dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Company.

The dispatch says a German army corps seems to be marching to the south, passing between Oudenarde, East Flanders and Grammont. It probably is intended to reinforce the German right wing, which has suffered a check in France.

Since Monday, adds the dispatch, numerous German fugitives from the battle in France have been seeking refuge in Dordogne forest, between Courtrai and Herseaux.

For all we have and are,
For all our children's fate,
Stand up and meet the war—
The Hun is at the gate.

Our world has passed away,
In wantonness o'erthrown;
There's nothing left today
But steel and fire and stone.

Though all we know depart,
The old commandments stand.
In courage keep your heart,
In strength lift up your hand.

Once more we hear the word
That sickened earth of old:
No law except the sword,
Unsheathed and uncontrolled.

Once more it knits mankind,
Once more the nations go
To meet and break and bind
A crazed and driven foe.

Comfort, content, delight—
The ages' slow-bought gain—
They shriveled in a night.
Only ourselves remain.

To face the naked days
In silent fortitude,
Through perils and dismays,
Renewed and still renewed.

Though all we made depart,
The old commandments stand.
In patience keep your heart,
In strength lift up your hand.

No easy hopes or lies
Shall bring us to our goal;
But iron sacrifice
Of body, will, and soul.

There's but one task for all,
For each one life to give.
Who stands if freedom fall?
Who dies if England live?

Withstood Terrific Fire of German
Batteries Until There Was No
Hope of Relief by the French Troops.

London.—The Daily Telegraph's
Paris correspondent gives a story of the earlier fighting at Namur as described by August Mellot, Belgian des-pate for Namur.

M. Mellot says that until August 13
the citizens of Namur had hopes that the Belgian army would be joined by the French and English and would meet and rout the German forces before they reached Namur, but on that day a detachment of Belgian horsemen met a detachment of uhlans and engaged in a smart fight, in which he Germans were smashed up.

"This incident," M. Mellot said, "left
no doubt that the Germans would return in greater numbers. The following day, while we were in Namur busy completing the defenses, the first three shells fell in the town. One shell struck the bridge at Salzinnes
and killed five persons. I was standing 20 yards away and must say the impression was a disagreeable one.

"From that moment we were shelled daily and numbers of persons were killed and great damage done. We still hoped, however, that the allied armies would drive the Germans out of Belgium, but the German cavalry
came ever nearer, and on the 18th
we felt that we were being surrounded.

"Then on the 20th we heard the news of the occupation of Brussels and gave up hope of a decisive battle
north of Namur. The cannonade increased during the night and on the 21st the battle around Namur became general. It lasted all day.

"While eleven German army corps
were passing the Meuse coming from Vise a powerful force was detailed to mask their march and kept up a heavy fire on our position. The German attacks were multiplied all the time and their fire extended over a line of some ten miles on the left bank of the Meuse and over the Himsar line or right bank.

"During this time the French force
sent to meet them tried to check the German advance.

(Here portions of the story were cut out by the censor.)

"Namur was the center of all this fighting. Toward noon of the 21st a German battery was hurriedly placed between the interval of two forts and began to bombard Namur. The fire
was kept up for a long time, doing material damage.

"At 10 o'clock that night I succeeded in getting out of town. During the time I was there the town was defended by Belgian troops. I do not know what became of them. I cannot say whether they beat a retreat or joined the French forces."

BRITISH CAUGHT BY A RUSE

Cavalry Regiment, Trying to Surprise
German Battery, Falls into Barbed Wire Entanglements.

London.—A private letter received here from a British officer at the front tells how a British cavalry regiment suffered severe loss through a ruse of the enemy.

The regiment, it seems, sighted a German battery not far off firing in a reverse direction and the British officer decided that the battery was unaware of their presence, whereupon
he ordered a cavalry charge down into the valley which lay between them
and the battery.

Unfortunately the bottom of the valley had been very cleverly studded with concealed barbed wire into which
a great portion of the regiment rushed
before the front rank could give warning. Immediately the German battery turned its guns around, inflicting
heavy loss.

Citizens Are Eager to Fight for

Extreme Gravity of the War Is Fully Realized—Business All Over
the Dominion Is Paralyzed.

Quebec.—Canada at last fully realizes the extreme gravity of the war,
both from an imperial and a domestic standpoint. A steady flow of volunteers and British army reservists are daily pouring into Quebec and drafts are almost daily leaving for England.

South African volunteers, smooth-
faced boys, stalwarts from the western plains and the camps and mines of British Columbia and the less robust
but equally game loyalists from the eastern cities, all are eagerly swarming to the colors and asking only one favor—to be rushed home as soon as possible.

Men who hold commissions in the Dominion forces and who can obtain
no commission with the expeditionary forces, are cheerfully resigning their commissions that they may re-enlist
as privates.

All ranks and grades are equally enthusiastic, but with all the prevailing military enthusiasm, the gravity
of the situation is fully appreciated
and men go about their business with sober, anxious faces.

Business is dull all over the Dominion and trade, especially in the eastern cities, is practically demoralized.
That things will steadily grow worse
is the firm opinion of the man in the street, and the belief that the war
will be a long and deadly one is shared by all. Canada is determined to fight to the last for her parent country,
and is confident of ultimate victory.

A pleasing feature of the mobilization is the readiness of the French-Canadians in volunteering—a readiness that was not quite so marked at the time of the South African war.

An officer who arrived here with a 2,000 strong contingent from Edmonton said there was no danger of loss
of crops through lack of harvesters,
as the labor deficiency would be filled
by Poles and Italians, who would otherwise be without work, on account of the acute trade depression.

DEATH CURRENT IN WIRES

How Electricity Was Utilized by Defenders at Liege, German Attackers Being Electrocuted.

Paris.—The Petit Journal publishes the following details of the fighting around Liege, obtained by it
from a Belgian officer:

German troops rushed on the barbedwire defenses before the forts of Liege
in the darkness of night. A very strong current of electricity was being maintained in these wires, and as a result the first ranks of the Germans were electrocuted.

Unchecked, the assailants followed in masses, but they were blinded by the glare of powerful searchlights.
They hesitated and started to retire.
At that moment a heavy fire of rifles
and artillery was concentrated on the mass of German troops and they were cut to pieces. The mass of bodies formed a mound, in some places many feet high.

To drown out the groans of the wounded, the German bugles sounded
martial airs, and the troops still alive
united in cheering.

Near one fort two columns of Germans, blinded by the glare of Belgian searchlights, attacked each other. This incident was seen from the fort. When one side seemed to have the better
of the struggle, the Belgian officer
goes on to say, "our artillery fired into both sides alike, thus making the struggle more even."

1. That mosquitoes only bite once.
 2. That mosquitoes only live one day.
 3. That mosquito bites won't itch if you don't scratch 'em.
 4. That if you hold your breath you can catch a mosquito and slay it.
- My experience is that mosquitoes only bite once (in the same place); that they only live one day (at a time); that their bites won't itch if you don't scratch 'em (but rub 'em with sandpaper and the edge of a buzz saw instead); and that if you hold your breath you can catch a mosquito and slay it (provided you have a shotgun in each hand and are a good shot).

How To Give Quinine To Children

FEBRILINE is the trade-mark name given to an improved Quinine. It is a Tasteless Syrup, pleasant to take and does not disturb the stomach. Children take it and never know it is Quinine. Also especially adapted to adults who cannot take ordinary Quinine. Does not nauseate nor cause nervousness nor ringing in the head. Try it the next time you need Quinine for any purpose. Ask for 2-ounce original package. The name FEBRILINE is blown in bottle. 25 cents.

GOODYEAR TIRES AT ANTE-BELLUM PRICES

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announces "No war prices on Goodyear Tires." Mr. F. A. Sieberling, president of the Company, thus explains their unique position.

"We advanced Goodyear prices, as others did theirs, when the rubber panic came. Almost in a day crude rubber rose in New York from 55 cents per pound to much over a dollar.

"The New York supply was too small to consider. We cabled our London people to buy up the pick of the rubber there. By acting quickly and paying cash they obtained 1,500,000 pounds of the finest rubber.

"That big supply of rubber is now nearly all on the way to the Goodyear factory in Akron. It constitutes the best of the London supply.

"We are using the same grade of rubber and the same amount of it as we always have used in these tires.

"We are running our factory with three shifts of men, twenty-four hours a day. So long as we remain in this fortunate position on rubber, we shall supply tire users at before-war prices to the limit of our capacity."

TO TAKE ELABORATE CENSUS

Statistics of the Prevalence and Possible Spreading of Tuberculosis
Will Be Ascertained.

A tuberculosis census of thousands of churches in various parts of the country will be taken in September, under the direction of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The census will be part of the preparation for the fifth annual Tuberculosis day, to be observed during the week of November 29. The ministers of several thousand churches will be asked to report on the number of deaths from tuberculosis in the last year, the number of living cases in their parishes on September 1, the number of deaths from all causes, and the number of members or communicants. These figures will be made the basis of an educational campaign, which will culminate in the Tuberculosis day movement, for which occasion sermon and lecture outlines and other forms of tuberculosis literature will be distributed free to ministers.

Last year nearly 75,000 churches, schools and other bodies took part in the Tuberculosis day observance. The movement had the indorsement of leading church officials of every denomination. More than 1,200 anti-tuberculosis societies, scattered all over the country, will work this year to make Tuberculosis day a success.

Great Confederate Soldier.

Gen. John C. Pemberton, who defended Vicksburg when that city was besieged by the Federal army under General Grant, was born in Philadelphia 100 years ago. He was a graduate of West Point and saw service in the Mexican war. At the beginning of the Civil war he cast his fortunes with the South. After service of a year or more in the East he was assigned to the command of the department of the Mississippi by President Jefferson Davis, with whom he was a great favorite. For nine months General Pemberton defended Vicksburg against the Northern armies. The siege lasted till July 4, 1863, when, owing to a scarcity
of ammunition and provisions, General Pemberton surrendered his entire army. After the war he retired to Warrington, Va., and in 1876 moved to Perth Amboy, N. J., and subsequently to Philadelphia, where he died
in 1881.

NO EXCUSE FOR EARLY RISING

Man Who Gets Up at Dawn Is Stupid,
Is Assertion Made by Father
Dwight.

The arrogance of the man who
arises to the minor heroism of a cold
bath has been complained of by less heroic folk who arise to a tepid or warm one. To be set apart by the ability to stand the shock of coldwater has seemed to less vigorous folk
an unsubstantial claim to immortality.
It lacks moral sufficiency and is too
much made of by the cold bather.

Another arrogance is given consideration by Rev. Walter Dwight, S.
J., in America. It is the arrogance of early risers. Father Dwight denies them heroism and enters into doubt as to their intelligence. As a rule he finds them a "notably arrogant set,"
appearing to believe that they move
on a "higher ethical plane."

Every normal human being, not given ordinarily to early rising, but being on occasion tempted or forced into it, has felt the strange spiritual affluence, the moral patting on the back in consequence thereof. The feeling that a good deed has been done for a naughty world is inexplicable, but supreme.

Father Dwight is remorseless. The early riser is the least intelligent of mankind.

RASH ON CHILD'S HEAD

2127 Division St., Baltimore, Md.—
"The trouble on my child's face and head appeared as a rash and then it got so that the skin looked drawn and water and blood would run out. That would cause a scab and her head and face were a mass of sores. They would crack and bleed and then her head began to get scaly and I thought it was dandruff. I started to take the scab off and found her head was a mass of them. When she would cry
it seemed worse because the water
would stream down her face and itch
and she would dig and scratch. Her little head was bald as it was so sore
that all the hair came out. My baby used to cry at night and I could not sleep.

"Then I decided to get Cuticura Soap
and Ointment. I would make a lather of the Cuticura Soap but her face and head were so sore I hated to touch
them so I would take a soft cloth and wash her head. After I dried it with a soft towel I would gently apply the Cuticura Ointment. With the first treatment I could see a change in my baby and before I used the whole
treatment she was completely healed
and her skin is beautiful." (Signed)
Mrs. Lillie Owens, Jan. 31, 1914.

The Psychology of It.

Stuyvesant Ogden, a San Francisco millionaire, said in Washington the other day:

"The present business depression—
if, indeed, there be a business depression—is psychological. There is, I mean, no smallest excuse for it. It is born of the nightmare fears of men's minds. In a word, it reminds me of a music hall girl.

"The stage manager of a music hall
rushed to the proprietor the other night and said:

"Turn 14 refuses to go on with her trained mice. She says she's been completely unnerved ever since that young student was eaten in Chicago."

Rare Minerals in Tasmania.

The number of rare minerals found
to exist in Tasmania is constantly be-

molybdenite, which is used in the man-

which it gives a special hardness and toughness that makes it suitable for use in propeller shafts, guns and boilers. It is also used, to lesser extent, in the making of pottery glass
and other things. The price of molyb-denite is now $2,500 a ton, or nearly four times the present price of tin.

Outlook Brighter for Cotton Market.

The Dallas News in its issue of yesterday states:

"With the reopening of the cotton exchanges in Dallas, Memphis, New Orleans and Savannah for the transaction of spot business, announced yesterday, the situation affecting the cotton farmer and the communities depending upon his prosperity for their own took on a decidedly more encouraging appearance. The opening of these exchanges gives a basis for cotton buying throughout the country. In addition to this, advices from Chicago are that the business interests of that city are taking an interest in the crop situation of the south and will lend what aid they can to finding of a market, or the making of one, for cotton. Added to this is the news from Waco that representatives of the Busch estate here have been advised that the estate will buy $100,000 worth of cotton, and news from Baltimore that business men there are raising a fund of $1,000,000 to invest in cotton at 10c a pound. Similar items came from other parts of the country."

Germany's Ten Commandments of Trade

1. In all expenses keep in mind the interests of your own compatriots.
2. Never forget that when you buy a foreign article your own country is the poorer.
3. Your money should profit no one but Germans.
4. Never profane German factories by using foreign machinery.
5. Never allow foreign eatables to be served at your table.

6. Write on German paper with a German pen and use German blotting paper.

7. German flour, German fruit and German beer can alone give your body the true German energy.

8. If you do not like German malt coffee, drink coffee from German colonies.

9. Use only German clothes for your dress and German hats for your head.

10. Let not foreign flattery distract you from these products; and be firmly convinced, whatever others say, that German products are the only ones worthy of citizens of the German Fatherland.
