Fate Of Nation Said At Stake In Strikes

Public Service Workers Of Republic Transferred To Military Control Today

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Nov. 29—Premier Daladier, warning that "the fate of the regime and the nation may be at stake," marched troops to vital centers today and placed all public services under military control in an effort to break the scheduled general strike.

Posters announcing decrees which transferred public service workers from civil to military control were put up this morning all over the capital.

Troops Ride Into Paris

Army detachments rode into Paris by truck and rail to swell the ranks of 25,000 soldiers already garrisoned in the capital district, while thousands of mobile guards and gendarmes were massed in labor centers ready for duty.

The 24-hour strike, called by the powerful general confederation of labor, was scheduled to start at 4 a. m. tomorrow.

In a report to President Lebrun, Daladier said:

"Harmful propaganda, of which the government knows both the hidden goal and the inspiration, is attempting by rising against the laws of the republic to create in the country a state of agitation which threatens not only to compromise public order but to influence the external situation of France in a most dangerous way.

"The government, which will let none of the rights it holds by law be limited and which will fail in none of its duties toward the republic, will be able to take all necessary measures to face events."

The premier's requisition decrees, which already have placed railways under military control, extended military sway to subways, buses, gas, water, light, mail, telegraph, telephone and other services.

A war minstry spokesman said the number of employes thus

Waco Is After Federal Units

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Nov. 29 — W. L. Childs, president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce, said last night steps would be taken to keep the Federal Land bank and Texas headquarters of the Federal Farm Credit administration from being transferred from Houston to Waco.

A committee of business men has been appointed to seek improvement of conditions here of which complaints have been made.

Removal Is Urged

A group of Waco Chamber of Commerce members appeared at the last directors' meeting of the land bank and urged the removal of the bank to Waco. Childs said he understood Waco interests would present a brief favoring the removal at the next directors' meeting.

Car Is Found Abandoned In Haskell Area

John Buford, No. 1 West Texas Badman Is Object Of Extensive Search

Search for John Buford, escaped convict and No. 1 West Texas bad man, centered in the Haskell county section this morning after an automobile belonging to J. K. Jackson, County Line gin operator, was found abandoned near Rochester Monday night.

Jackson was hijacked by a man meeting Buford's description Saturday night, after the armed man entered Jackson's car at Broadway and Avenue Q between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Deprived Of Car, $2

The gin operator was forced to drive out on the Lubbock-Littlefield highway to within three miles northeast of Shallowater then to within three miles of County Line, in northwest Lubbock county, where he was deprived of $2 in "change" and his automobile, a 1938 sedan.

The gunman, who had assured his victim "I'm not going to hurt you if you don't cross me up," sped away toward the Littlefield highway, Jackson told the Evening Journal.

Identification Is Made

Identification of the gunman as Buford was made by the sheriff's department, rangers and police, independent of each other, because of the freedom exhibited in the gunman's remarks. Jackson said this morning the man had discouraged "my watching him closely."

The man told Jackson he had "knocked over" a filling station here and that his car was abandoned in Lubbock, where officers were watching it.

Jackson's assumption the bandit meant the immediate past was not

Lubbock's Portion Of Brief For Airlines Is Virtually Complete

Lubbock's portion of a brief supporting the application of Braniff Airlines for a certificate of convenience and necessity to establish a passenger and mail from San Antonio to Denver has been virtually completed, according to information given at the chamber of commerce this morning.

It will be submitted to an intercity conference in San Angelo Monday where a master brief developed from various of the local brieffs will be prepared for submission to the federal civil aeronautics authority in Washington, D. C.

The brief, which will be supplementary to one already filed by the airline, will stress the prospective sources of patronage should the line be established, chamber of commerce officials said.

C. E. Maedgen, chairman of the chamber's aviation committee, probably will attend the San Angelo meeting.

Board Of Advisors Is Named By W. Lee O'Daniel; Group Called To Meet On Dec. 5

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29—Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel Monday announced the appointment of a board of 30 advisors, representing various lines of endeavor and different parts of the state, and called for them to meet in Fort Worth Monday, Dec. 5.

Creation of the board was in line with a campaign pledge made by O'Daniel prior to his nomination at the Democratic primary last July.

Of the 30 members of the board, 28 are men and two are women.

In advising the members of their selection, O'Daniel said the appointments carry no political signifi-

SADLER CRITICIZES CABINET

AUSTIN, Nov. 29 (AP) — Frankly critical of Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel's selections for his advisory board, Railroad Commissioner-Elect Jerry Sadler said today that "the only thing wrong with it is that John D. Rockefeller, jr., was left off."

"If I were on a cabinet," he commented, "I would want to serve with persons who have represented the plain people. How in the world are most of those on O'Daniel's 'kitchen cabinet' going to advocate more liberal old age pensions?"

They also are to serve without remuneration, and will be required to pay their own traveling expenses.

"That," O'Daniel said, "will be their contribution to the cause of better government."

Something New Needed

"This is something new in government," he said, "but something new is needed."

He also said that the ideas and Monday's conference will be used as the basis of his recommendations to the legislature when it meets in January.

He announced the personnel of the board as follows:

Walter B. Pyron, Houston, vice president of the Gulf Oil corporation, representing natural resources.

J. W. Calhoun, Austin, acting president of the University of Texas, representing education.

Dr. E. M. Watts, Fort Worth, president of Texas Christian university, representing the religious life of the state.

Yangtze Closed To All But Japanese

SHANGHAI, Nov. 29 (AP)—Japan's armed forces tonight served notice on the world that the great Yangtze river, China's main trade artery, would remain closed to all but Japanese shipping until China is conquered and reconstructed under Japanese control.

A joint army and navy communique indicated protests of foreign powers, chiefly the United States, Britain and France, against the closing of the river to their commerce, would be unavailing.

The fighting services said this situation would be continued until the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek is destroyed and peace and order restored in China in accordance with Japan's plans for the new order in the Far East.

The Yangtze has been closed to foreign merchant shipping since the Japanese drive up the river began more than a year ago. The Japanese now hold the river to a point above Hankow, some 600 miles from the sea.

The communique was sent to the American, British, French and Italian naval commanders in China waters by Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, commander of Japan's China squadron.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — Two house subcommittees will get a head start on the new congress by working next week on some of the intricate appropriation bills for the 1939-40 fiscal year.

Rep. Taber (R-NY), senior minority member on the appropriations committee, disclosed today that one group would begin studying Monday a bill to provide funds for independent federal agencies. Another will start hearings Dec. 8 or 12 on supply bills for the treasury and postoffice departments.

This advance preparation will make possible early house debate on the first of the appropriations measures. The budget bureau's recommendations have not been made public, although some have been sent to the capitol.

President And Director Of Texas Institute Of Natural Resources Presents Plan

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 —Plans for speeding development of the "vast and comparatively unexploited natural resources of Texas" were outlined today in a Public Works administration hearing on a $500,000 loan and grant application.

Scientific research and educational programs would be paramount in bringing about that development, said Judge John M. Spellman of Dallas, president and director general of the Texas Institute of Natural Resources, who urged favorable action on the application of the institute for a $225,000 grant and $275,000 loan.

Plan Said Supported

He said each of the 254 counties in the state and all the industries in them supported the plan of the institute to develop resources between the Red river and the Rio Grande. Annual contributions and fees for display space in the institute's building on the Dallas Fair grounds would be used for maintenance and repayment of the PWA loan in 30 years at 4 percent interest.

Following a conference with PWA officials yesterday, Judge Spellman wired Dan Sullivan, Dallas park board president, asking that Assistant City Attorney A. J. Thuss of Dallas and Harry E. Gordon, vice president of the city park board, hurry here in an effort to overcome legal obstacles to the institute's application.

The institute occupies a building under a long term lease from the City of Dallas, the funds sought would be used to enlarge the building and equip it with a scientific research laboratory. Judge Spellman said PWA authorities felt there should be in the application a more definite tieup between the institute as an applicant for federal aid and the City of Dallas.

Grange Delegates To Be Greeted Here

A Lubbock delegation planned to leave early this afternoon for Littlefield to greet a group of approximately 85 leaders in the National Grange who are homeward bound over the Santa Fe from their recent national convention in Portland, Ore., according to information given at the chamber of commerce.

Those who planned to make the trip included Dean A. H. Leidigh and M. E. Heard of Texas Technological college, R. C. Hopping, president of the chamber of commerce, Ed D. Allen and probably several others.

The train is scheduled to reach Littlefield at 3:05 p. m. and Lubbock at 3:55. The Lubbock group will ride the train between those points. A stop of only five minutes is scheduled here.

Lubbock Goodfellows To Meet Thursday On Holiday Plans

Special meeting of Lubbock Goodfellows to put plans in more definite shape for their pre-Christmas activities will be held Thursday at a time yet to be set, according to announcement this morning by the Chief Goodfellow.

The Goodfellows make up an organization started four years ago to insure that poor children of the city will be remembered on Christmas. Names of officers and members are held secret.

The approaching meeting will be the second of the Goodfellows since they organized for the present season's activities. At that time, several committee chairmen were appointed.

First reports from those committees are to be made Thursday and decision likely will be reached as to when ornamental lights will be turned on.

Some of those strands of lights, purchased last year, already have been strung across business streets, having been placed there during the Panhandle-South Plains fair. Other strands are yet to be strung and there is the possibility that the illuminated area will be extended into business blocks without them during the last holiday season.

Five Believed Dead As Plane Lands On Sea

Pilot And One Passenger Are Reported Safe; Others Might Have Escaped

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29—Coast guard headquarters here reported today two persons escaped when the United Air Lines plane was wrecked near Point Reyes. The men were Pilot Charles Stead and Isadore R. Edelstein, Los Angeles.

Five persons were missing and the coast guard said no bodies had been sighted.

The coast guard report said the pilot and Edelstein were taken up a steep cliff by ropes.

N. F. McNabb of the Point Reyes lighthouse, 34 miles north of here, said the coast guard had located

PILOT TELLS STORY

POINT REYES, Calif., Nov. 29 (AP)—Pilot Charles Stead fought his way through pounding surf after his big transport plane alighted on the ocean here early today, and told how five other persons disappeared into the water before rescuers had a chance to reach the scene.

Stead and a passenger, Isadore R. Edelstein, apparently were the only ones saved of the seven persons aboard the plane, although the pilot said there was a slim chance some of the others might have reached the rocky shore.

"We landed perfectly safe," Stead said, after he had pulled himself 300 feet up a rope to the top of a cliff. "When the plane came down, we all climbed out the top of the hatch to the roof of the plane.

"We drifted several hundred yards in the darkness, but the others dropped off one by one. I don't know whether they slipped off or jumped and attempted to swim to the shore.

"The water was very rough and Edistein and myself were the only ones to reach the shore."

the plane but could not determine whether the passengers and crew were still aboard.

At Foot Of Steep Cliff

McNabb said the plane, which came down while enroute from Seattle to Oakland, was at the foot of a steep cliff along the ocean front, and the only way to reach it was by perilous descent of the cliff.

Attendants at the Point Reyes lighthouse reported they saw the airliner alight about 1,000 yards offshore. McNabb said they could see the craft's lights for about eight minutes. Then they blinked and disappeared.

McNabb said a heavy sea was running, but it was possible the plane might have drifted around a cove, thus accounting for the fact the lighthouse attendants could no longer see its lights.

Coast Guard Goes Out

Three coast guard patrol boats, a coastguard amphibian plane, and other planes and boats searched through the murky dawn but at latest report had not sighted the ailing ship.

United Airline authorities said the plane, if it had alighted without mishap, should remain afloat for some time.

The plane, which left Seattle at 10:30 p. m. (cst), was due at Oakland at 2:10 a.m. pst (4:10 cst). En route from Sacramento, Calif., to Oakland, however, the radio beam went out, presumably because of weather conditions, and veteran Pilot Charles Stead was unable to find the Oakland or San Francisco airports because of overcast skies.

Unable to find the regular airports of the bay area cities, Pilot Stead circled his plane to the north.

'New Order' Will Be Explained To U. S.

TOKYO, Nov. 29. (AP) — Kensuke Horinouchi, new ambassador to the United States, said today on the eve of his departure for Washington that the "new order" in Eastern Asia holds "no threat for American interests either in the present or future."

"This appears to be a serious problem standing between the United States and Japan," he declared. "Actually it is not serious at all.

"I intend to prove to Americans that cooperation between the United States and Japan today holds greater potentialities than ever before in history."

"I do not believe the present attitude of Americans toward Japan results from any intrinsic dislike," he asserted. "Therefore, the obvious thing to do is lay the cards on the table and let them see the entire situation."

Four Are Injured In Chicago In Attack On Silver Shirt Legion

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Four persons were injured and nine were arrested at a riotous meeting last night of an organization known as the Silver Shirt Legion of America.

Three police riot squads, supplemented by 20 other officers were needed to restore order. Opponents of the organization charged it was pro-Nazi, and anti-semitic.

More Attaches To Be Asked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — The war department will ask congress, it was learned today, to double the number of military attaches in South America.

The action will provide another link in inter-American protective bonds. It follows a steady increase in Latin American military and aviation attaches in Washington, and in the number of special military and naval missions being sent from the United States to neighboring republics.

Has Only Six Now

Because of lack of funds, the war department now maintains only six military attaches below the Rio Grande. They are on duty at the embassies and legations in Argentina, Cuba, Mexico, Brazil, Chile and Costa Rica.

Some of these attaches are accredited to four or five countries, often widely scattered. They have little opportunity to remain long in any one place and thus familiarize themselves with military work in

Exchange Says Crisis Ahead

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. Nov. 29.—The board of directors of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange said in its annual report today the South faced a "readjustment of the first magnitude which virtually affects" the entire nation, if the present plan of crop control continues.

After pointing to the unprecedented crop production of 1937 and the resultant record carryover, the board said the department of agriculture estimate for the 1938-39 crop was in excess of 12,000,000 bales.

Facing Great Crisis

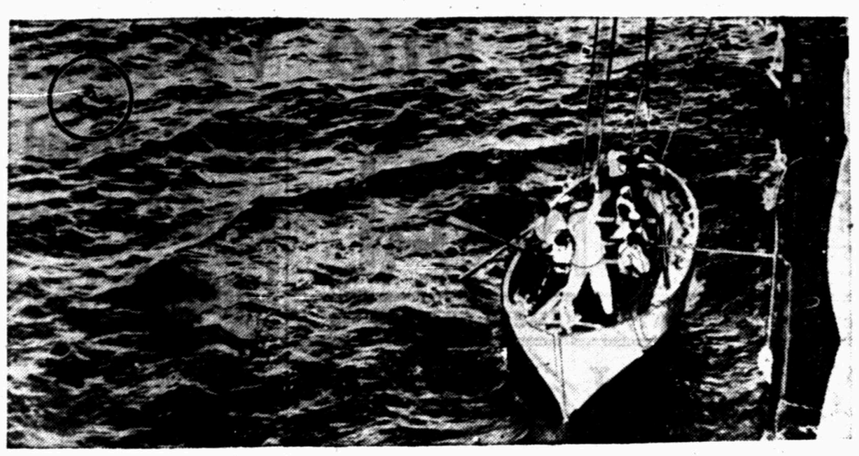

"Your board of directors feels," the report said, "that if the present plan of crop control, in all its ramifications, is to continue, the South is facing if not the greatest economic crisis since the Civil war, certainly a readjustment of the most serious magnitude which vitally affects, not only the cotton industry and its people, but the entire nation.

"We are at the cross-roads. Are we going to give up our foreign markets and plan only for domestic use? Or, are we to regain our world markets and again take our place as the greatest cotton producing country?"

The report said "in no sense" was criticism of Secretary Wallace and his associates intended.

"It must be realized," the report said, "that his hands are at times politically tied, which frustrates his plans and in the end nullifies his efforts."

"Man Overboard!" On High Seas

Death was cheated by Coincidence in dramatic fashion during a recent trip of the S. S. Borinquen from Puerto Rico to New York. When the dread cry "Man overboard!" sounded on the ship, it at first seemed just part of the game being played—a routine lifeboat drill. But the fact that a life was really at stake was quickly realized when seamen spotted one of their mates thrashing about in the sea. By the happy coincidence of the boat drill, everything was in readiness for a quick rescue. In the unusual photo above, the sailor is seen in circle at left, while at right the rescue crew goes into action.

'Phantom Slasher' Is Menace To North England Women

(By The Associated Press)

HALIFAX, England, Nov. 29.—Women of this grimy North England town today were ordered to remain indoors after nightfall because of a "phantom slasher" who strikes unseen along darkened byways.

The slasher added an eleventh victim to his list early Monday morning, slipping up behind Mrs. Constance Wood, a mill worker, only a few yards from her doorway.

He knocked her down, hacked through her heavy coat to inflict two gashes in her left arm, and escaped.

Police have been unable to trace the slasher who has attacked eleven persons within the past seven days. All but two of the victims were women. None was seriously wounded.

Screams from one of two women who were slashed Sunday night brought nearby firemen to the rescue. Crowds leaving church joined the hunt but without success.

It was feared the phantom, who so far only has wounded his victims with a sharp-edged weapon, might suddenly turn murderer.

Women of this industrial town, at least those brave enough still to venture out at night, were arming themselves with large hatpins, bags of pepper and walking-sticks for self-defense.

Patrols of boy scouts were pressed into service.

The only clue to the slasher's identity has come from one of the women victims who described him as having "staring eyes and a big mouth" which she said she would recognize again.

It was expected troops would be brought in soon if other measures fail to catch him.

Nazis Not To Be Throttled By Anglo-American Trade Agreement

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills

Goods Can't Be Substituted

BY PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Anyone looking for the New Anglo-American trade treaty to draw a throttling cordon around the neck of German trade likely will be disappointed.

Trade experts point out that German exports to this country are largely goods in which Germany specializes. Two of the largest classifications are chemicals, of which this country's importations are extensive, and cameras and lenses. The boom in the German export of cameras to this country has been one of the outstanding trade developments in some time. Camera-conscious America is demanding an increasing portion of German types as well as those made in America.

Since the German exports to this country are mostly her own specialties, trade experts say English goods are not likely to replace them extensively even with the concessions granted by the U. S. in the treaty.

'Intangibles' May Hit Nazis

Any blow at Germany will be found in the "intangible" factors in connection with the treaties. These treaties and others already negotiated have linked France, England, Canada and the United States in a trade group pledged to treat one another fairly and without discrimination. Among these nations and others willing to reciprocate, trade will be on a non-preferential cash basis as distinguished from the German-style barter basis which has proved onerous to some nations.

It should be remembered that both the United States and the British Isles enjoy extensive trade with Germany in spite of barter difficulties. It is a fairly advantageous trade in both instances. Both the United States and England find Germany a good market for petroleum products. England also sells Germany coal, iron ore and copper, of which she has either plenty or access to plenty.

Sells Germany Cotton

In turn, the United States sells to Germany cotton and a host of agricultural products, just such products as she sells to England. In recent years the cotton market has largely failed, being usurped by Brazil which is able to absorb in exchange for her cotton a larger share of German manufactures than this country's competitive industries will permit. In 1934, however, we sent Germany 100,000,000 bales.

England's concessions to the United States are largely on agricultural products, which will not injure Germany's trade with England because Germany does not sell agricultural products. Instead she is an avid buyer of them from any country which will sell under her own particular exchange terms.

Same Concessions To Nazis

It is barely possible that the concessions given the United States in trade with Britain and the colonies may make it easier for Germany to compete with the U. S. in these markets. For while it is true that Germany is on our blacklist, she is not blacklisted by England. So every concession England granted to the United States she also grants to Germany. That isn't as ominous as it might sound, as here again, the concessions are mainly on goods which we have to sell but Germany doesn't.

The primary aim of the Anglo-American trade pact is to increase the net amount of trade between the two countries without necessarily squeezing out any other country. It is quite likely that such an increase will be reflected in an increased trade on all hands, Germany included, as Secretary Hull hoped.

The reductions made by the two countries and Canada are important but not exactly revolutionary. One trade analyst said the most immediate increase in trade would result from the assurance of stability of conditions. As long as the treaty was pending and uncertain, exporters and importers as well as domestic business men have felt uncertain as to what to expect. Many trade commitments have been held up. Now that uncertainty is gone.

Work Order Expected Soon On Lamb REA

Work order for construction of the Lamb County Rural Electrification Inc., system is expected at any time, according to Harry N. Roberts, engineer, who reports the bid of Reinhart and Donovan of Oklahoma City, Okla., has been accepted.

Sixty miles of high line has been staked, Roberts said. Copper wire was selected by the board of directors and approved by REA. The total cost is approximately $110,000.

Energization of the lines is expected before spring, unless extreme weather delays construction. Headquarters of the cooperative is in Littlefield, with C. W. Smiley as president.

Since statuette sellers of Ostend, Belgium, were ordered to clothe their "nudes," they advertise Venus modestly draped, at "26 francs without chemise."

New Program Introduced

Important changes in the national Girl Scout program particularly involving the youngest and oldest girls are being introduced to Lubbock council, leaders and prospective leaders by Miss Katherine Park of New York, national field staff member, who is conducting a training school here this week.

A recently organized senior Scout troop honored the visitor with an informal reception at the home of Mrs. Sam Newman, 1917 Main street, Monday night. Attending were Marian Mills, Marguerite Reese, Maxine McMillan, Eugenia Leathers, Lois Hinsley, Martha Hughes and Martha Jean Elliott.

They explained many interesting projects they have planned and this morning Miss Park said she was amazed and delighted with their ideas. The new program of Scouting eliminates ranks and badges except for the ten to fourteen age groups, substituting a selection of interests in which it is hoped girls will go deep enough for vocational interests and acquire ideas for hobbies and a life long sense of responsibility for community service.

Have Wide Choice

A distinguishing feature of the new method is selection and training of leaders rather than in offering a pattern program. The wide suggestive choice of material is based on ten fields of interest, which embrace the range of the normal girl, namely, out of doors, homemaking, international friendship, arts and crafts, community life, sports and games, nature, health and safety, literature and dramatics and music and dancing.

The older girl's programs also is based on her growing interest of boys and adult social life and the leader's responsibility is to help her formulate worthwhile attitudes and tastes.

Offers Opportunity

The Scout program offers opportunities for women interested in all variety of arts, music, dramatics, sports and outdoor activities, Miss Park explained this morning. She is anxious for the Lubbock council to sponsor consultants who assist with these special knowledges, leaders in home and social life.

The training course was opened Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at St. Elizabeth's hall and will be conducted at that hour each afternoon through Thursday. Anyone interested in learning of the Girl Scout program and projects is invited said Mrs. Newman. The school is sponsored by the Local council.

Tonight's program will be a rally at 7:30 o'clock at Senior high school gymnasium, open to parents and others interested.

Wednesday morning Miss Park and Mrs. Newman are going to Meadow to organize a troop with Mrs. Mark Whelan as leader.

Salvation Army Kettles Will Be Placed On Streets Saturday

Salvation Army kettles, to raise funds for the Army's Christmas dinner program, will be placed at strategic corners Saturday, Envoy V. M. Vansyckle, commandant of the local corps, said Monday.

"We will have five kettles this year," he said. "The Army plans to take care of 200 families. We are not going to provide toys for the boys and girls—the Goodfellows are doing that and the Army is cooperating with them."

Eighteen women, who are sewing for the Army, will make doll dresses and other clothing for the Goodfellows.

The Army's proposed clearing house for Christmas dinner baskets is receiving splendid cooperation, Envoy Vansyckle said. A number of individuals, as well as most of the organiaztions that annually give baskets to families in need, have reported names and addresses. Numerous calls have been made for the name of a family to look after for the holiday occasion.

Facts, Figures Gathered For Monopoly Probe Opening Thursday

Two Years May Be Required

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. — Experts of the monopoly committee were busy today assembling a mass of facts and figures on the past performances of the American business and financial system for presentation Thursday when the committee's long awaited hearings begin.

With their submission the committee will start a study of perhaps two-years duration during which, its members say, the entire economic machine will be scrutinized.

To Introduce Statistical Matter

Three days have been set aside for the introduction of the statistical matter. Then the schedule calls for an investigation of patent pools in the automobile and glass industries. This is expected to keep the committee busy until Christmas.

While the passage of the resolution creating the committee and allotting it $500,000 gave business some chills last spring, Chairman O'Mahoney, Democratic senator from Wyoming, and other members of the committee, have repeatedly asserted that no "witch hunt" or effort to make a "goat" of business is in contemplation.

To Be "Dull" In Spots

In fact, O'Mahoney said that the hearings probably would be "dull" in many spots, although he added that they would be "very important."

In nearly six months since the committe was organized, a staff of 100 statisticians, economists and investigators has been assembled, headed by Leon Henderson, WPA economist.

Those familiar with the situation express the belief that the committe, by devoting the opening hearings to the motor industry, has arranged to give first of all a picture favorable to business.

New York World's Fair To Have To Get Along Without Quints

TORONTO, Nov. 29 (Canadian Press)—Guardians of the Dionne quintuplets have decided the New York World's fair will have to get along without the famous sisters next year.

Premier Mitchell Hepburn issued a statement last night agreeing with Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe and Oliva Dionne, the girls' father, in opposition to exhibiting the quintuplets to fair-goers.

In North Bay, Dr. Dafoe said the amount offered for exhibiting the little girls was "considerably larger" than $500,000, but that the proposal never was discussed formally.

Notices On Farm Checks To Be Mailed To Farmers By Agent

Notices will be mailed from the county agent's office here when farm checks of various kinds are received, officials in the office said.

In recent weeks, it was said Monday, farmers have related a story of a rumor to the effect that notification would not be made.

"We will notify each recipient of a check," C. C. Jobson, agent, said. "There is no need for any one who has not received a notice of the arrival of a government check to call here. We are sending out notices, as we have always done."

Interpreter For Lindbergh On His Flight To South America Defends Great Flier

"Col. Charles A. Lindbergh"s ambition was not to become famous, wealthy or to reach social heights," said J. B. Mareno, who was closely associated with the noted flier as interpreter during a South American flight.

Wants To Forget Tragedy

"His purpose, I believe, for jumping from one country to another probably was to forget the deep tragedy that had occurred in his life," he added. Lindbergh has been criticised severely for taking his family to England.

Rumor that Lindbergh's success has "turned his head is false," says Mareno. "His aim in life now is to shake off the thing that is burning within his soul."

"Moderation In All Things"

During the time he was with Lindbergh, Mareno said he tried to get an insight on what made the airman great. "Moderation in all things" is the colonel's sliderule.

Lindbergh seldom found fault. His patience was remarkable. Mareno noted that he was reverent to God, his parents, and his country.

Sometimes they stayed in hotel's poorly equipped, that served unpalatable meals, but the Lone Eagle did not complain.

Had Keen Sense Of Humor

He had a keen sense of humor. He often made pun of his own feet. Once while grounded, Lindbergh ordered a pair of shoes from another town. In a short time an airplane flew over and dropped a package.

"There's my shoes," he said. But only one shoe was there. The next day the airplane flew over and dropped the other shoe.

Lindbergh concentrated on his ambition with calmness and temperance. He was clean in thought and body, and was always cheerful, Mareno said. His courage was proven when he took off to fly across the Atlantic. A determination to do something for aviation spurred him on.

Judgment Was Faultless

Lindbergh trained himself to stay awake, to breathe in close places and to go for long periods of time with no food. His judgment in aviation was faultless.

He never let any one else work on his ship, the Spirit of St. Louis. He did all repair jobs himself. He changed the oil, or took out parts to be repaired and replaced them.

Lindbergh was deeply concerned about his mental reaction to the tragedy that happened to him and his family. He consulted psychologists who told him that he was just an ordinary man intellectually, that the mental strain had been too much for him.

After all, Mareno said, Lindbergh is just an ordinary man, a likeable person, a pleasant companion who has a great desire to do something for the advancement of that which he loves best—aviation.

Farm Chemurgy Is Cited As One Of Most Significant Movements

HOUSTON, Nov. 29. (AP) — Farm chemurgy is one of the most significant movements in the United States today and is destined to have a favorable effect upon agriculture, Victor H. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of the Dallas News, told the fall meeting of the Texas News paper Publishers association here Monday.

"Especially applicable is the chemurgic movement to Texas and the south because of the wide variety of farm products which the region may produce annually from cotton, corn, grain sorghums, rice and pines to cattle, hides, wool, mohair, sulphur, natural gas, petroleum, lignite and limestone," Schoffelmayer said.

The meeting place of the 1939 annual convention will be selected Tuesday.

Uncertainty Exists After Letters PWA Are Received

Two letters from high sources in Washington, D. C., left officials of Lubbock independent school district as much uncertain as ever today as to what prospects are for favorable action on an application for a Public Works administration grant of $125,000 for building purposes.

One of the letters, from H. A. Gray, assistant PWA administrator, said in substance that there is practically no possibility of the grant being made available.

The other letter, also from a high source and of later date than that from Gray, said that the application still is receiving consideration. It caused school officials to continue the hope that the grant may be received.

Members of the board of trustees will discuss the problem at their monthly meeting at 7 o'clock tonight in the office of Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, board president, in Lubbock sanitarium. Scheduled for discussion also are the purchase of sites for two and possibly three new school buildings which are included in expansion plans.

Sound projection equipment and cameras have been donated to the department by various associations.

Duke Vs. U. S. C. In Rose Bowl; Cotton Bowl Selections Pending

Blue Devils Of North Carolina Accept Bid

By ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29. — It's Duke, the rock of the Southern conference, and Southern California, survivor of a bitter grid campaign along the Pacific, in the Rose bowl battle January 2.

Concluding in six hours negotiations that usually take a week or more, Southern California last night invited the Blue Devils of Durham, N. C., to play its Trojan warriors in Pasadena's annual post-season game, and Duke lost no time accepting.

Joy In North Carolina

There is joy in the hills of North Carolina today, for never before in the 23-year-old history of the Far West classic has one of its teams played in the rose-bordered bowl in the Arroyo Secco.

But just as there is celebrating in North Carolina, so is there gloom in the bluebonnet state of Texas and a yell for every rebel yell echoing over the rolling countryside of Tennessee. For Texas and Tennessee had unbeaten, untied Rose Bowl candidates, too, in Texas Christian and the Univeristy of Tennessee.

Supporters Were Legion

Duke's supporters in Southern California were legion, however, and no one could criticize its 1938 team or its record of nine straight victories with never a touchdown, never a point, surrendered.

Against this is the Trojan record of never having been defeated or tied in four Rose bowl games, three of which saw Howard H. Jones, who spent a year coaching Duke in 1924 before coming out here, at the helm of S. C. grid forces.

Whether the present twice beaten Warhorse of Troy, which dropped decisions to Alabama and Washington is as good as the one that kicked over Pitt, 47 to 14, in 1930, or Tulane, 21 to 12, in 1932, remains to be seen. An idea can be gathered next Saturday when S. C. winds up its regular season schedule against Notre Dame.

Neyland Says Duke Selection 'Natural Choice' For Bowl

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 29. (AP) —Major Robert R. Neyland, coach of Tennessee's unbeaten Volunteers, said last night Duke was the "natural choice" for the Rose bowl bid.

Neyland's team was one of those most prominently mentioned as a Rose bowl contender.

McShain To Be Here Friday

Lubbock will be host to a champion Friday night. Danny McShain, claimant to the light heavyweight title of the world, is signed to swap holds with Sailor "Tex" Watkins. The two wrestlers of "murderers' row in the ring profession" will provide entertainment for the fans in the main event.

The "Gentleman", as McShain likes to call himself, has been in some classy circuits on the West Coast since wrestling here. It has been during his absence from this section of the nation that he has acquired the light heavyweight belt. He plans to return to the coast soon.

McShain Fights "Rough"

Wrestling addicts of two and three years ago will remember McShain for the "undercover" and "unpopular" tactics he used to win the match. He is a strong believer in the saying, "anything is fair in war." And when he meets Watkins there will be two persons in the ring with the same ideas. The Sailor's ethics are in direct parallel to "Gentleman" McShain's.

The curtain raiser Friday night will feature clean-fighting Scotty Williams against Gus Johnson, victim of the Sailor in last week's semi-final. Scientific wrestling comes in for its share on the card in the semi-final bout as Joe Banaski clever Oklahoma City fighter, clashes with John Nemanic.

Thirty-Five Amendments For Minor Leagues Are Proposed

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 29. (AP) — Thirty-five amendments to minor league baseball law have been proposed to the National association which convenes in New Orleans Dec. 7. Many cover routine points of no concern to the baseball public.

Class E league would be permitted to play a minimum of three games a week, instead of four, under the terms of one proposal.

The International league proposes to increase the number of optional players class AA clubs can send out from 10 to 12. The Southern and Texas leagues want the class A-1 limit based from seven to eight.

The two class A-1 leagues — the Southern and Texas—seek the same privileges allowed the AAA circuits in giving percentage of sales of contracts and bonuses to managers and players.

Many proposals, if adopted, would have to be ratified by the majors, since they would affect the major-minor league agreement and rules as well as the minor league law.

Davey O'Brien Is Awarded Heisman Trophy As Outstanding College Player Of Year

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Wee Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian's sensational quarterback, wins the Heisman memorial trophy for 1938 as the outstanding college football player of the United States, according to an announcement made by the Downtown Athletic club of New York last night.

The trophy committee of the club, announced that with practically 90 per cent of the ballots in, O'Brien is making a runaway race of it. Marshall Goldberg, Pitt's great halfback, is second choice.

Ki Aldrich In Voting

Ki Aldrich, of Texas Christian, only center to appear in the voting, holds second in the Southwest with Goldberg third.

The winner is selected by the votes of sports writers on daily newspapers throughout the United States.

The trophy, a bronze figure of a football player mounted on an ebony base, perpetuates the memory of the late John W. Heisman, who was a top ranking football coach for 36 years.

The trophy will be formally presented to O'Brien at a dinner at the club next Tuesday evening. He will fly here with a contingent of Texans led by Amon Carter of Fort Worth.

RECEIVES MAXWELL AWARD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (AP)—Davey O'Brien, star passer of Texas Christian university, has been selected by the Maxwell club to receive its annual award as the outstanding football player in the United States.

The board of governors of the club, an organization of football coaches, officials and sports writers in the Philadelphia area, announced O'Brien would come to Philadelphia January 10 for presentation of the Robert W. Maxwell Memorial trophy.

Maxwell, an All-American player years ago, was a Philadelphia newspaperman. The T. C. U. coaching staff and prominent Texans will accompany O'Brien to Philadelphia.

Bi-District Games Are All Arranged

(By The Associated Press)

Sixteen football teams, survivors of a field of 109 that started the Texas schoolboy football campaign in September, dug in today for the opening round of the play-off that will bring forth a champion Christmas week.

Sites for all bi-district games have been arranged. The will be played at Vernon, Breckenridge, Dallas, Tyler, Austin, Port Arthur and Corpus Christi. Dates also have been set but one of them may be changed.

Decide To Play Friday

Bowie (El Paso) and Breckenridge tentatively decided to play Friday afternoon after an all-night's session at El Paso. Should Friday be definitely decided upon today, the bi-district schedule will be:

Friday afternoon — Lubbock at Vernon, Bowie at Breckenridge, Gainesville at Highland Park (Dallas), Lufkin at Tyler; Friday night —Pharr-San Juan-Alamo at Corpus Christi; Saturday afternoon—Masonic Home at Sunset (Dallas), Temple vs. Kerrville at Austin, John Reagan (Houston) at Port Arthur.

A protest over the selection of John Reagan as the district 13 representative loomed today. J. W. Gilpin, Conroe High school principal, said he would head a committee to Austin to appeal to the state Interscholastic league committee. Conroe finished in a tie with Reagan for the district 13 championship. The executive committee named the teams co-champions but designated Reagan to represent the district.

Monty Stratton's Leg Amputated Monday

DALLAS, Nov. 29 (AP) — Monty Stratton, ace pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, lay in a hospital here today, his diamond career ended by a surgeon's knife.

Stratton, 25-year-old Texan, had his right leg amputated yesterday by Dr. A. R. Thomasson; an operation made necessary by an accidental pistol shot wound suffered while he was rabbit hunting on his mother's farm at Greenville Sunday.

The leg was severed at the knee when it was noted during the day that the athlete had regained strength remarkably with the aid of two blood transfusions. He had been in a very weakened condition from the loss of blood.

Two of his seven brothers — Hardin and Roland — gave blood for the transfusions.

Dr. Thomasson said Stratton's condition appeared satisfactory under the circumstances, although it was still critical. It will require probably twelve hours more to determine how well his system responds to the operation.

Barring complications, the surgeon said, Stratton should "pull through."

WALKER DAWKINS DIES

DALLAS, Nov. 29 (AP) — Walker Dawkins, 68, former baseball player and manager and one of the organizers of the Texas league, died here last night. He managed the Dallas club 36 years ago at which time he was part owner.

Locals Out To Repeat Victory

It can happen again!

That seems to be the Westerner battle cry this week as the District 1 champions prepare for their "big game hunt" against the Vernon Lions Friday afternoon.

Indications that a large delegation of Lubbock rooters would follow the Westerners by special train and bus in quest of their first bi-district championship was noted this morning as over 1,600 reserved seats and 500 student tickets for the contest went on sale.

Westerners Plan Defense

Vernon plays — powerful line plunges, end sweeps, passes—will be run against the Westerners tihs afternoon as Coaches Chapman and Keyes attempt to work out plans to stop the Lions.

Lubbock took a 7-0 decision over the Lions and from their "business like" attitude have intentions of repeating the mid-season victory.

A comparison of the two forward walls shows the Lubbocks heavily outweighed. From end to end Vernon will have an advantage of 10 pounds to the man. Lightest man on the Vernon line is Hill, 155 pound passsnatching end. At the other terminal is 185 pound Kidwell, a distinct threat in anybody's ball game. Another outstanding player in the Vernon line is Capt. B. Wright, who holds down a right guard position and does a very good job of it.

Vernon Backfield Heavy

Probable starting backfield shows Vernon to have a three pound weight advantage. Leading the Lion attack is N. Southall, 155 pound fullback. His "bulls eye" passes will no doubt give the Lubbock secondary no end of trouble come Friday afternoon. And, when Southall is not heaving one of his touchdown passes Jack Judd is tearing up the line or circling end. The 162 pound left halfback is one of the outstanding performers in Interscholastic League football this year.

It is those facts that is causing the Westerners to work until the sun casts long shadows across their practice field these afternoons.

S. M. U.'s Mustangs To Return To Practice For Owls' Game

DALLAS, Nov. 29 (AP) — Southern Methodist university's Mustangs, with second place in the Southwest conference final standing already clinched, will return to practice today in preparatory to their closing contest with Rice at Houston Saturday.

Capt. Charlie Sprague and Chelsea Crouch, both of whom received brain concussions early in the game with Texas Christian last Saturday, are expected to report along with the other players. Sprague and Crouch were released from a hospital yesterday.

AMBERS WINS HANDILY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (AP) — Lou Ambers won a ten-round decision from Tommy Cross, Philadelphia, Nebraska, last night. The former world lightweight champion won handily.

Tech In Cotton Bowl Is Hopes Of Supporters

The "bowl" barometer of West Texas was setting new highs this morning as rabid football fans were caught in the excitement and speculation of the Red Raiders' invitation of such a contest.

On the lips of every gridiron addict was a desire and a prayer that Texas Tech would represent the Southwest in the Cotton Bowl, Jan. 2, against some strong Eastern eleven.

For the first season in the history of the college Tech's football team had completed an undefeated and untied season, and Tech officials and coaches were definitely open to "bowl" bids. And they were getting them.

Cotton Bowl Preferred

"Feelers" from Cotton Bowl official, J. Curtis Sanford of Dallas, asking Texas Tech to stand by in case T. C. U. did not accept the bid in preference to another "bowl" game resulted in members of the Touchdown club, meeting 350 strong last night, to send telegrams to the Cotton Bowl committee urging that Tech be selected. Many other such communications from over all of West Texas were rushed to Dallas last night and this morning.

Among the many other invitations extended the Crimsons are bids to play in an Eastern Bowl at the Polo Grounds in New York Dec. 10. Other "bowl" bids have been received from San Jose State for a "Prune Bowl" contest in California Dec. 26, a bid to the Coal Bowl at Charleston, W. Va., and a chance to meet a powerful Western squad in Colorado City in Will Rogers memorial stadium.

20,000 Would Follow Team

Never before has there been so much discussion and speculation concerning the gridiron game in Lubbock. Observers saw the climax to the Red Raiders' most successful season in a big and important "bowl" game. Belief was expressed that should Tech receive the Cotton Bowl bid 20,000 West Texans would follow the team to Dallas on several special trains.

Student interest on Texas Tech's campus also ran high. Everybody, from the team manager to the highest official, were in favor of "Tech for the Cotton Bowl." And they, like the general public, believed Coach Cawthon's Red Raiders would "give 'em a show they would never forget"!

And while fans talked and hoped, the squad planned to give serious thought to their post-season battle with Centenary's Gentlemen. The team will work this afternoon on defensive tactics aimed at stopping Centenary's ace ball toter, Weenie Bynum, one of the best backs in the Southwest.

Tech Ranking Is No. 14 For Grid Teams

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. — Between their final game of the regular season next Saturday and their appearance in the Rose bowl Jan. 2, Southern California's Trojans, champions of the Pacific coast conference, have a chance to test the accuracy of sports writers in ranking football teams.

The Trojans play Notre Dame Saturday and meet Duke in the Rose bowl.

Notre Dame No. 1

In the final Associated Press football ranking poll of the year, 90 sports writers and editors chose Notre Dame as the nation's No. 1 team with Duke in third place. Texas Christian, which hoped for a Rose bowl bid, came in between them.

The margins separating the first three weren't large. Notre Dame was awarded top ranking by 48 voters, T. C. U. drew 23 first-place ballots and Duke 15. Tennessee collected the other four and fourth place.

Texas Tech Fourteenth

Scoring ten points for a first vote, nine for second, etc., Notre Dame earned the lead for the third straight week with 823 points to 782 for the Horned Frogs and 733 for Duke.

The first ten also inculded Oklahoma, Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh, Southern California, Holy Cross and Minnesota.

Texas Tech was listed in the second ten, ranking fourteenth, with Cornell, California and Fordham ahead of it and Villanova, Michigan, Alabama, Tulane, Northwestern and Dartmouth trailing Tech in that order.

Spur Player Is Said Ineligible

MATADOR, Nov. 29. (Special)—The athletic executive committee of District 4-B, meeting in special session here last night, found a Spur High school player, Andy Hurst, ineligible for competition in the 1938 season, and ruled that Spur should forfeit all the games won in which the player, a reserve guard, had appeared.

It was the third time an executive meeting had been called for the purpose of studying Hurst's eligibility. No action was taken in the first two meetings "for lack of evidence." A picture, alleged to show the player had represented Roaring Springs High school in 1935-36, was introduced as evidence last night.

As a result of Spur's dismissal, the District 4 race ended in a tie for first place between Lockney and Flomot. At last night's meeting the committee voted to accept Lockney as the district champion. Lockney will play Wellington next Friday afternoon, at Wellington, in bi-district competition.

Weakest Nucleus For Arkansas Cage Team In Years Surveyed By Rose; Two Lettermen Back

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 29. (AP) — Coach Glen Rose today surveyed the weakest nucleus for a basketball team since the University of Razorbacks began winning championships years ago.

Arkansas' schedule follows::

Dec. 13—Phillips at Fayetteville.

Dec. 16-17—Drury college at Fayetteville.

Dec. 20-21—Oklahoma university at Norman.

Dallas News Says Its TCU, Carnegie Tech

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 29 — Texas Christian university and Carnegie Tech in the Cotton bowl?

The Dallas News said today that game appeared likely as the result of a conference between T. C. U. officials and officials of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association which lasted until early morning at a Dallas hotel.

COMMITTEE MEETING TODAY

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29 (AP) — The athletic committee of Texas Christian university met today to decide on its course toward post-season football games.

Coach Lee (Dutch) Meyer last night expressed deep regret over his team not being invited to the Rose bowl because "my boys wanted it so badly."

Meyer, scheduled to leave today for a week's hunting trip in South Texas, said the "bowl" game choice would rest entirely in the committee's hands.

Seems Little Doubt

No official comment was forthcoming but there seemed little doubt that Carnegie Tech would be acceptable both to T. C. U. and Cotton Bowl authorities, the News said.

Dan D. Rogers of Dallas, chairman of the T. C. U. athletic council and president of the Cotton Bowl association; Business Manager L. C. Wright, Athletic Director Howard Grubbs and Head Football Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer of T. C. U.; James H. Stewart, a Cotton Bowl director, and J. Curtis Canford, general manager of the post-season classic, attended the conference.

Would Like To Meet Frogs

Texas Christian, undefeated and untied in ten games, was extended an invitation to the game Saturday. Carnegie Tech officially announced last night it would be available for a bowl game and would especially like to meet Texas Christian.

Carnegie Tech scouted T. C. U. in its game with Southern Methodist Saturday when the Horned Frogs sewed up the Southwest conference championship.

The Tech team has won seven games and lost one — that to Notre Dame, 7-0.

Approval Is Given Carnegie Tech For Post-Season Game

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29 (AP) —The trustees and faculty of Carnegie Tech last night gave their approval of a post-season game for the school's football team, which has five tentative invitations to consider.

The Tartans, who lost only to Notre Dame by a 7-0 margin, and beat Pittsburgh and Holy Cross, made no secret of their desire to meet Texas Christian university next January 2, if that game could be arranged.

Athletic Director Clarence (Buddy) Overend said a decision as to which "bowl" invitation the team would accept might therefore, be delayed until the T. C. U. selection was made.

The tentative invitations came from the Sugar bowl, New Orleans, the Cotton Bowl, Dallas, the Orange Bowl, Miami, the Eastern Bowl, New York, and the Coal Bowl, Charleston, W. Va.

Unanimous Perm'ssion Is Given Oklahoma Sooners

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 29 (AP) — The University of Oklahoma Sooners, unbeaten and untied rulers of the Big Six football conference, received unanimous permission from conference members today to participate in a post season "bowl" game.

Tom Stidham, the big Creek Indian who has coached the Sooners through nine straight victories this season, was delighted with the conference action but still dubious about Oklahoma's one remaining game with Washington State of the Pacific coast conference.

Stidham declined to say whether Oklahoma has received a definite bid from any of the "bowl" sponsors but the university was reported to have received "feelers" from the New Orleans Sugar Bowl, Dallas Cotton bowl, Miami Orange bowl, and Philadelphia Eastern bowl.

TO ACCEPT BID

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 29. (AP) — With acceptance regarded as only a formality, the athletic council of the University of New Mexico was called to meet today to act on an invitation to send its football team to the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., January 2.

Work on Holland's Zuider Zee has reclaimed 900 square miles of land that had been under water for centuries.

Merrily Roll The Bowls

By Collier Parris

Alraddy, Elmer, there iss so meny 'bowls" flying around yistaday that you could haf fulled up your Aunt Gertrude's china closet, and ain't I just tolding you that you ain't heard even the haf of it, yet?

OTHER BOWL OBSERVATIONS: This town has, without a doubt, the greatest and most general football "spirit" for its size in the country... Take the attendance at local games, and the interest in out of town games; take the Touchdown Club, the Matador Club, the Westerner Club . . . and take those five hundred telegrams sent last night and the five hundred or more that'll go out today—urging Tech's appearance in the Cotton Bowl . . . Boy, you've got it here!

Selection of Duke over Texas Christian to play the visitor's role in the Rose Bowl was a smart move on Southern California's part, but an unjust blow to T. C. U. and to fans who attend Rose Bowl game to see the Best. . . . The Trojans have a better chance of beating Duke than they would have against the Frogs, although the dizzy whipping Southern California is going to receive this Saturday at the hands of Notre Dame may leave the Troymen better fit for the Iodine Bowl than for any other, besides taking the edge off the Rose Bowl . . . Rose Bowl spectators will see a lot of color—Pasadena's roses will take care of that—but not on the gridiron . . . Duke probably has one of the most colorless teams in the country, albeit a fair defensive outfit. . . . Personally, we think Texas Tech's record of 10 victories, no defeats, no ties and 264 points against 35 for the opposition is better than Duke's record of nine victories, no defeats, no ties and 114 points to none for the opponents—considering the competition each side had through the season . . . and Texas Christian's record, considering its competition, and the fact that the Frogs haven't really opened up till yet, is still better!

Duke has played Virginia Military Institute, scoring only three touchdowns; Davidson, a very weak team; Wake Forest, still weak but holding Duke to one touchdown, and North Carolina State, who also held the Dukes to one touchdown . . . Of course, Duke beat Colgate, one of the East's weaker forces, by a touchdown; Georgia Tech, a battered Southern force, by a touchdown; North Carolina, a fairly strong unit, by two touchdowns; Syracuse, a big disappointment in the East, by three touchdowns, and, finally, a well worn Pitt team by a touchdown . . . Outside of Pitt, Duke's schedule, while glowing with a few big names, was not an unusually tough one . . . Duke's defense, admittedly, must be a good one, and it is upon that, and that only, that the Blue Devils base their claim to fame . . . Southern Cal ma not be the team to stop Duke's unscored-on streak; Duke may win the Rose Bowl game, but . . . so what?

At the writing, the Frogs' immediate bowl future is undecided ,but by the time the type gets cold something may have been done . . . . Your attention is invited to a possible Page 1 story, this issue, of interest . . . Texas Christian probably will accept a Sugar Bowl bid today, probably to meet Tennessee, and that would make a very nice game—for the Frogs . . . Florida's Orange Bowl people are sitting back until the other major bowls have made their choices, then will nominate two of the best teams left . . . This is a wise idea; nobody's feelings can be hurt, or purposely so, by the Orange Bowl folks. . . .

Nice going, Amarillo . . . Them sentiments is fine, and your part in the "Tech For The Cotton Bowl" crusade are duly noted and appreciated . . . Texas Tech is YOUR school, too, y'know, and every little bit of fatherly interest you show is happily received . . . Now, if you'll just make arrangements to send Blazin' Bill Thompson down this way, everything will be swell. . . .

OTHER OBSERVATIONS: While the bowl talk is being bandied about, don't forget the foot-bowl game at Vernon Friday afternoon . . . The Westerners are going to need a lot of support, and all the 2,000 or so tickets allowed Lubbock should go in a hurry . . . For the first time this season, Coach Weldon Chapman is visibly, and vocally, worried . . . . If the teams hadn't met once before, and if Lubbock hadn't won from Vernon, and if the bi-district game weren't to be played in Vernon, the Westerners would have a much better chance . . . . Those "ifs" are quite large, however, especially in view of the fact that Vernon has the best team Lubbock has played against this season . . . If the Westerners can get by the Lions again, it looks like the semi-finals, at least. . . .

They're still talking about the relative merits of Lubbock's Warhorse Webster and Amarillo's Thumping Thompson . . . Each has his own qualifications, and they're good; Thompson is the better passer and the fastest runner, and probably the best suited for high school football . . . Webster is the better kicker and blocker, linejammer and defensive man—

That Girl on Broadway says the careless pedestrian usually gets hit in the end.

It is remarkable how many people who know exactly how to run the world choose to write newspaper columns, instead!

L. D. (Pup) Thomas is in trouble because he thinks a lot of his little girl, 8-year-old Juanita Mae, because Juanita Mae thinks a lot of her dog and because the dog has disappeared.

Furthermore, in order to get out of trouble, Mr. Thomas is willing to pay a liberal reward, with no questions asked, if the person who has the dog will bring it back to Juanita Mae.

The dog, a two-thirds grown male Boston screwtail bull, disappeared several days ago from the Thomas residence, 1921 24th street, and Mr. Thomas has been moving heaven and earth to find it ever since, but to no avail.

Weighing 11 pounds, the dog is black, has four white feet, good ears, a white face and a white strip between the ears in which there is a black spot about as big as a dime.

Whoever has the dog will gain by taking it back to Mr. Thomas and, to boot, will be doing him a big favor.

A vagrant was picked up in Denver the other day wearing six shirts.

HERE'S real news! For the first time in four or five years since he started the wrassling promoting business in Lubbock, Fletcher Manson "Sled" Allen, sr., don't want nobody to come to the wrestling program Wednesday night.

The reason is that there will not be a wrestling program this Wednesday night.

Instead, the regular weekly card will be presented on Friday night at 8 chimes for the very good and sufficient reason that only on that night can the local Maestro of Maul secure the efficient services and slam-bang showmanship of "Gentleman Danny" McShain. Mister McShain, come that evening, will match his brawn, fists and teeth with those of his ancient and honorable enemy, Kirby "Tex" Watkins, better known as "Popeye, The Sailorman," from Post, Texas, and Mississippi.

Bro. McShain, who since he usta be a regular mat star in these parts has won and lost the light heavyweight championship and become a moom pitcher star, to boot, will show against Watkins here en route back to Hollywood and the cinema arts. Friday night will be his lone appearance here this time, swears Maestro Allen.

Oldtime wrestling fans who remember how McShain and Watkins periodically committed assault and battery upon each other, officials and innocent bystanders two and three years ago will remember the change in dates from Wednesday to Friday.

Others, who enjoy watching mayhem and near murder on the mat, will do well to follow suit.

It'll be worth the dough.

There are days when the average man wonders, with considerable excuse, if there's any future to the future.

THE Plainsman has conversed with several deer hunters upon their return from the wilds this autumn but has not yet run onto one who has killed an exceptionally large buck.

In fact, the largest buck we've heard of being brought in this year was not brought into Lubbock, but into El Paso, instead.

Rex Kipp, former El Paso tennis star, went a-hunting with a party of his fellow townsmen down in the Alpine section of the Big Bend country. Each member of the party had good luck, but Kipp had the best of all.

He bagged a 250 pound blacktail buck with 12 points on his antlers, making the kill from about 500 yards.

Has anybody hereabouts killed a buck as big, or bigger?

We'd like to know so we could chronicle the event.

HERE'S a little incident that's worth inclusion in Mr. Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" cartoon:

The French embassy recently pitched a dinner party to introduce that nation's new ambassador to the United States, Count de Saint-Quentin.

All the lah-de-dah folks of capital society were there, including all the dowagers who are interested in French culture, since the ambassador is a swell looking gent.

As table decorations, miniature American and French flags, beautifully silken, were placed at each plate and everybody thought the idea was very ducky indeed.

But one guest examined the flags a little more closely than anyone else and found stamped in fine letters on the base of both the American and French banners the words "Made in Japan!"

The nosy fellow remarked to reporters later that from the way they sounded, the dinner program speeches, too, were written in Japan!

A good thing for the average American to remember is that no matter how big-hearted the government gets it can never give him as much as he can go out and get for himself!

TO BE SURE, it is now quite some spell since Thanksgiving Day but it is not now and never is too late for Americans to be thankful they are Americans.

Our old friend Nat Campbell, the bard with the human touch, penned three Thanksgiving verses for the El Paso Times and The Plainsman likes them so well he's passing them along.

Here they are:

Here's a thought, m'friend, for you
If you know how to drive.
You should be very thankful
That you are still alive!

And then there was this one:

Another thing: of our Free Land
We should be very fond,
And give continuous thanks that we Don't live across the pond.

And then this one, which is somewhat more serious in its vein:

I'm thankful, Lord, that I am poor;
I'm grateful for the day
When Want, a friend, came to my door
And taught me how to pray.

Regular readers of this column frequently see verses here from the pen of Nat Campbell, whom The Plainsman considers a near approach to James Whitcomb Riley and one or two other poetic greats who were great largely because they had and kept the human touch.

If some big syndicate would only get hold of and behind Mr. Campbell, he soon would be a national institution, like Walt Mason used to be.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MYRNA DOMBEY — heroine. Wife of the sensational swing band leader.

ROBERT TAIT — hero. Newspaper photographer—detective.

ANNE LESTER — Myrna's closest friend.

DANNIE FEELEY — officer assigned to investigate Ludden Dombey's murder.

Yesterday: After hearing Rogers' warning, Tait asks the janitor of his apartment and he is surprised to learn that the janitor had left no one in there.

CHAPTER IX

Vaguely troubled, Bob Tait went out into the alley and climbed into the rented coupe. He was certain that the janitor wasn't lying—which meant that Harris Rogers was. Either Rogers had managed to have a key made which would fit the lock of Tait's apartment, or he had a ring of skeleton keys.

Tait shrugged. There was nothing to be gained in worrying about Harris Rogers now. The manager's reasons for wanting the corpse of Ludden Dombey to stay quiet were good reasons. Good, that is, for Harris Rogers. The thing to worry about now, Tait told himself, was the eventual fate of Myrna.

He turned the car into the street, headed for an arterial which would take him straight to headquarters. Inside the dingy, grey stone building he went at once to Feeley's office. That individual lolled in a deep chair, his feet on his battered desk, a black cigar stuck at an angle in his mouth, and his eyes wandering over the skyline beyond the window.

"Well, well," said Tait jovially, "is this the way a dynamo of crime detection works?"

Dannie Feeley swung his feet down and turned to regard the newspaper photographer with a fishy eye. "You," he said, and that was all.

"No other. Robert Tait."

"Sit down," invited the detective. "I want to talk to you."

Bob Tait sat down and smiled at Feeley in what he hoped was a very disarming fashion. "Dannie," he said, "I've got Mrs. Ludden Dombey."

Not a flicker of expression went over Feeley's features. "I'm not surprised. And I ought to throw you in the hoosegow. I may yet. Where is she?"

"She'll be here. I'll send her down. But I'd kind of like to know what the set-up is. Will you give her a break?"

For a moment Feeley was silent. He looked out of the window, studied a thin trail of smoke from a streaked brick chimney. Then he returned his attention to Bob Tait. "Listen," he said, "I like you. You've played square with me before, and until somebody proves otherwise, I'll do it again. But you knew we wanted to talk to that girl. What was the idea of making her scarce?"

"I didn't. The fact is, I've been trying to find her all night. The kid is all upset. I had to convince her that she was making a mistake in running away."

Feeley grinned ironically. "That's putting it mildly. I gather, of course, that you don't think she's guilty."

"I'm not an idiot yet, Dannie, although I've been accused of coming close. She may be—but I don't think so. But you can't tell me that you've got enough to convince you that she's guilty."

"That's why I want to talk to her." He fixed Dannie with a piercing gaze. "This isn't child's play, Bob. I am going to put all my cards on the table. I'm on the spot with the chief. The chief is on the spot with the mayor—"

"And the mayor," put in Tait pleasantly, "is on the spot with the public. There's been a wave of crime, and the newspapers are asking why."

"That's it exactly. So I'm not pulling any punches in this Ludden Dombey business. I've got to find out who bumped him off. And there's another thing eating me, too. Leonard Macy has showed up again."

"The devil you say!" Tait knew Leonard Macy. He was a wealthy dilettante who interested himself in criminology. Macy was clever, too. He had a good mind and a lot of fancy, expensive crime-detecting equipment. He delighted in nothing more than showing up the police as a lot of blunderers.

Feeley nodded. "Sure. He's interested. This kind of thing is his dish. Lots of publicity and all that. I'm telling you, if Macey turns up something important, before we do, it means curtains for me on this job."

Tait took out a cigaret, lighted it carefully. "Then you'd let me help you?"

"I'd be glad for it—if it's help you'd be giving. What makes you think you can?"

"I'm pretty sure I can. But I want a square deal for Mrs. Dombey. I don't want her made a goat because the department hasn't got anything tangible."

Feeley nodded. "I'll do what I can. But don't forget we've a prosecuting attorney who's yelling for blood. If I know Barkley, he's already got a case against Myrna Dombey that would have a jury straining to convict her."

"It's going to be tough, all right."

"Tough is the word for it." Feeley leaned forward a little. "And listen, Tait, I'm trusting you. You're not to hold anything back."

"Not a thing." Tait reached into his pocket, brought out Myrna's silk handbag and tossed it on the table. "That belongs to Myrna Dombey." Then he brought out the revolver, laid it carefully on Feeley's desk. "This was inside the bag when I picked it up right after the shooting."

Feeley turned slightly purple. "And you took it out of the bag, and have been carrying it around until the fingerprints are all smeared!"

"My theory is that the gun was fired from the bag, Dannie. Though an opening in the zipper. I don't think there'd be any fingerprints."

Feeley's thick fingers took up the bag. "How'd you get it?"

Tait told him. Feeley listened attentively, and when the newspaper photographer was through, he said, "And so you think she didn't do it? You pick up her bag from beside her, and the gun is still warm, and you figure she's innocent?"

"Yes, Dannie. I think somebody got hold of that bag, slipped the gun into it, and then tossed it onto the table again after Dombey was killed."

"It sounds fine. How you going to prove it?"

Tait was silent. Then, slowly: "I don't know—yet."

"If you don't have Myrna Dombey down here by noon, I'm going to get a warrant for you, and it won't be a comic sheet, either."

"She'll be here, Dannie. But you've made your agreement. I'm going to help you, and in return you're not going to use Myrna as copy for the newspaper boys."

Feeley nodded. "I made the deal, and I'll stick to it—until I'm convinced you're rooking me."

Tait got up. "Okay, then. You'll see her here at 12?"

"At 12. She'd better be here. If she's not, I'll have you brought in. And you'll be up on the third floor where the old cells are."

WHY DUPLICATE EFFORT?

Suggestions originating in the University of Texas that appropriations be asked to establish a research foundation seeking additional uses for Texas products undoubtedly has much to commend it.

However, the suggestion that the foundation be at the university in Austin has less appeal. The logical place for any such foundation or laboratory is Texas Technological college which would not have been established in the first place had there not been obvious need for a state school in which technical education could be obtained.

It is the state's technical school and logic would dictate that those things which deal with technical education be concentrated in Texas Tech instead of being scattered here and there over this immense state.

The foundation, as proposed, would be no more than an expansion of the type of work Tech already is doing. To place it in any other school in Texas would mean a duplication of effort at the cost of efficiency.

John D. Rockefeller Died With But One Share Of Standard Oil Stock; He Was No Plunger

Until a successor to the late Rodney Dutcher is named, the column by John T. Flynn, noted economist, is being run in the space of "Behind the Scenes in Washington."

By JOHN T. FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—One of the interesting and singular features about the will of the late John D. Rockefeller was that the great oil magnate left among his effects only a single share of stock in a Standard Oil company.

FLYNN

Of course his Standard Oil holdings had long before been distributed among his foundations, his son, John D. Jr., and his daughters. He probably kept that one share as a souvenir of the vast empire he had created and out of which he had made the foundation of his fortune.

But it is an interesting thing, not generally known, that while Rockefeller made a great fortune out of the oil industry, by far the greater part of his fortune was made after he had ceased to be an oil magnate, after he had retired in fact.

When Rockefeller retired at the turn of the century, he was worth, probably, a hundred million dollars—an immense fortune for those times. Later he accumulated a fortune that was believed to be as much as a billion.

Investments Paid Off

But the striking thing is that this man, in one of the most active acquisitive careers, was able to amass a fortune of a hundred million, while from sheer investment he made almost 10 times as much.

Rockefeller made his fortune out of petroleum when its chief product was kerosene. It was only after his retirement that gasoline became an important product. The automobile was coming along slowly. But after 1910 the automobile became an omniverous user of gasoline and very soon the kerosene business was small along side it.

To most people who follow such affairs it was a surprise that he died possessed of so much as $27,000,000, large though that may seem. It was generally supposed that he had divested himself of all but a few million—perhaps three or four. By various means he had managed to pipe his vast fortune into the hands of his son and daughters and foundations. He kept a small amount to keep the wolf from the door.

Played With Market

Also he liked to fool around with the stock market. He kept an active account on the stock market all the time, buying and selling not so much because he needed the money but in order to keep from growing rusty. Whether he was a good trader is not known to the public. Many years ago Andrew Carnegie said of John D. that he was the poorest stock market operator he ever knew. As a matter of fact Rockefeller never made much of his fortune that way.

He was not a part of what was known as the Standard Oil gang, which was headed by his brother, William, and Henry H. Rogers. He did occasionally go into some of their adventures with a contribution. But he was never an active participant in all those rectic and daring plunges which made Rogers famous. Rockefeller was not a speculator, he was essentially an industrialist.

And when he died he had converted what he had left almost entirely into the most conservative investments.

land banks were chosen by a committee appointed to act for congress. The committee no longer exists and further congressional action might be required for moving one of the banks.
The City of Houston has not yet carried out its written promise, given when the bank building was erected, that the block facing it would be beautified as a public park or used for the site of a public building.
Complaints also have been made of poor street paving and inadequate sidewalks in the neighborhood of the bank.

The only permit issued this morning was to Meinecke Brothers hardware, owner, and H. A. McDaniel, contractor, for removal of the residence from the site at 1631-33 Broadway which is to be occupied by the new $16,000 Meinecke business building. Permit for the building was obtained last Friday.

matched by authorities here.
They recalled Buford, who escaped from Huntsville and, a few weeks ago, from Nolan county jail where he had been taken on a bench warrant from the penitentiary, several months ago had robbed a Lubbock service station at Broadway and Avenue Q, taken an attendant for a ride and from his possession approximately $40.
They also remembered the bandit after a wild dash through alleys, had left his automobile and apparently left for Littlefield by freight train.
The filling station attendant was not harmed and, as in the gunman's attitude toward Jackson, was assured he would not be injured if he made no outcry or suspicious gesture.
Wanted at Seguin, Coleman, Lubbock, Nolan county and various other Texas places, Buford, if the man who robbed Jackson is that person, related to his latest victim he once had escaped the Missouri penitentiary.
Authorities did not know late this morning whether FBI records would corroborate that statement, checks not having been completed.

Dangerous Despite Courtesy
When Buford escaped the Nolan county jail he slid down an improvised rope directly in front of a window on a court room. Court was in session. Surrounded for the greater part of 24 hours by a cordon of authorities, he escaped the net.
The man is dangerous despite his courtesy, said authorities. "He is so cool he anticipates the slightest moves of those near him," said Sheriff Tom Abel.
Ranger Captain Mannie Galt went to Rochester directly after the Jackson machine, a wheel and a tire missing, was found abandoned and a Rochester deputy of Sheriff Giles Kemp had telephoned authorities here Buford was in the vicinity.

requisitioned ran into the hundreds of thousands.
"It means simply that instead of depending on ministries or private persons or being free, workers are placed under orders of military authorities and required to remain at their posts," he asserted.
Execution of the requisition decrees started at once with military occupation of vital centers in the northern industrial region where the strike began.
There were isolated incidents of minor sabotage. Several buses and trucks were halted by pickets who deflated tires or removed wheels.
But the requisition decrees generally were accepted quietly with workers clustering around posters announcing the move. The real test was expected to come tomorrow when the army attempts to keep public service workers at their posts.
Oficers of the national confederation of war veterans, who appealed yesterday for compromise, conferred with both government and labor leaders but no change in the situation was apparent.

Opening of a 4-Day training school for supervisors and area supervisors of four districts of West Texas Works Progress administration was held this morning in the Pine room of the Lubbock hotel with Miss Evelyn Richter, supervisor here, presiding. San Angelo, Amarillo and El Paso district supervisors were present.

Miss Richter presided at the morning session. Dr. I. E. Barr, assistant administrative field officer for this district, took the place of Director J. O. Jones, in greeting from the district office. Miss Richter made a statement of the objectives of the institute.

Bishop Seaman Speaker

"Organization, the tool of a leader," was discussed by Bishop E. Cecil Seaman, Amarillo, bishop of the Diocease of Northwest Texas of the Episcopal church. Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the department of economics and business administration at Texas Technological college, spoke on "Attitudes and Abilities of a Good Leader."

Miss Grace Williams, San Antonio, field supervisor of women's and professional projects, was here yesterday to complete arrangemer of the program. She is to rema here for the four days.

Leadership Stressed

Leadership is stressed by th organization, which seeks to teach those in the organization in executive capacities how to, in turn, teach women on relief housekeeping aid, sewing, weaving, matron projects, and library, renovating, clerical, lunch and other projects.

For instance, Lubbock has the only weaving project under way in Texas. One lunch project, which has for its goal serving of children at public schools, has been established at Spur and two others, at Floydada and at Olton, will be organized in early December.

Program This Afternoon:

12-1 p. m., "The Place of the WPA in the Federal and State Relief Programs," Mrs. Adeline Zeigenhals Cone, former social worker now in the Lubbock WPA administrative field office;

2-4:30, "How to Interpret Projects Operated by the Women's and Professional Division to the Community," paper of Al Melinger, state director of publicity of the WPA, to be read by Frank Peterson, area supervisor of the Amarillo office; "The Kind of Information Newspapers Want About the Work of Projects," Dick Martin, feature writer and news announcer of KGNC, Globe-News station, at Amarillo; "The Use of Displays and Interpretive Meetings," Mrs. Pearl Walker, supervisor of Women's and Professional Projects, from the Amarillo administrative field office.

On Tuesday's program will be Mrs. Loretta Rand, supervisor of El Paso; Miss Williams; Mrs. Mary Barry, supervisor of San Angelo, and Mrs. Pearl Walker.

Charge Given Thompson Case

A "double-barrel" charge was presented to a 72nd district court petit jury early this afternoon asking the body, if it found John W. Thompson, real estate man, guilty of passing a forged instrument, to specify which of two counts on which it based its verdict.

Thompson was indicted on three counts, said Burton S. Burks, district attorney, charging forgery; passing of a forged instrument calling for payment of a Tahoka bank, and passing of a forged instrument calling for payment on a Post bank.

Passed $7.10 Check

It was charged that Thompson passed a $7.10 check payable to Plains Body and Fender works April 2, negotiated to Bill Golden of Lubbock, who endorsed it to a grocery store here.

Signed G. L. Thuett and made payable at the First National bank of Tahoka, the check was returned unpaid. Golden said Thompson changed it to the First National bank of Post.

Twenty-two state witnesses were called from Lubbock, Post, Tahoka, Ropesville and Levelland to testify they were widely-known business men who never had heard of a G. L. Thuett whol ives in Garza county.

There were surprising elements of the case. The defense, Hill Stewart and Roy Carpenter representing Thompson, did not call a witness and the defendant did not take the stand.

Witnesses Not Sure

Defense on cross-examination pumped this question at state witnesses: "But you are not sure there could not be a G. L. Thuett, since there is a big number of transient persons in your county?" Most witnesses said they could not be sure.

But the distdict attorney succeeded in introducing testimony of alleged correlative cases involving Thompson, when he cited a Clay county case he said applied to the Thompson trial procedure.

The testimony was given over defensive protest. Thompson has been charged on check cases in at least three counts in recent months.

The state abandoned the forgery count in the indictment.

Lubbock witnesses were Golden, George Pilley, George Birdwell, L. D. Rankin and A. Sansom.

Plane Lands At Sea

He decided to try to make Crissy field, old-time army flying field at San Francisco Presidio, but he found his gas supply all but exhausted, and decided to attempt a landing on the ocean.

"Boys," he messaged tersely, "I haven't enough gas to make old Crissy field." Last heard from the pilot, he was about to put the plane down in a manner best calculated to leave it afloat. United Airline officials explained the plane would be unable to use its radio, once it alighted.

Passengers were listed as:

S. L. Shonts, J. B. Hefelbower and Phillip Hart, all bound for San Francisco, and F. R. Edelstein, bound for Los Angeles. Addresses were not immediately available.

Crew members besides Pilot Stea were Co-Pilot Lloyd Jones and Stewardess Frona Clay.

Tech's Choice Is Praised

(Special To The Journal)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29.—Presidents of TCU and Texas Wesleyan college joined with other educators today in hailing the appointment of Clifford B. Jones of Spur as president of Texas Technological college as beneficial to the Lubbock school's future.

Jones was appointed by the board of regents here Saturday.

Not Known Personally

Dr. E. M. Waits of TCU said:

"I don't know Mr. Jones personally, but I do know he is an outstanding man. He understands the West Texas territory.

"He has a good business background and the school is fortunate in getting him to accept the presidency.

"He's a very fine type of man."

Law Sone, TWC president, who was born at Dickens in the same county as that in which Jones resides, commented:

"Mr. Jones served on the Tech board since its inception and was one of the leading figures, in fact, in sponsoring the movement to have a great educational institution in West Texas.

"He is a leader and administrator of proven worth and I happen to know it took a great deal of persuasion on the part of friends to get him to take the job.

"His home folks who know him best think he's a good man."

Busy Rush Of Grocery Store Is Scene Of Wedding Ceremony

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 29. — Sam Tomme and Mary Louise Long wanted to get married, but, neither having had any previous experience, they did not know exactly what to do.

Realizing that a grocery store was an important part of married life's daily grind, they hied to a local store and began looking over the stock. They went towards the rear where they saw the kindly beaming face of D. C. Lindley, a minister who works there each Saturday.

Sam got up courage at last to ask the clerk "where does a young couple get married." The clerk for a moment was stumped. He had never heard of such a setting for a wedding before, but he was game.

"I'm a minister—I'll perform it right here," he replied.

So amid the busy rush of a Saturday afternoon's trade in a store, the minister performed the service that united the young couple.

"Gly-Cas Deserving Of Its Popularity"

Declares Mr. Crow; Years Of Bladder Disorder Had Completely Exhausted Him; Gly-Cas Toned His System

"It was not until I began Gly-Cas that I found the medicine to fit my stubborn case," said Mr. P. A. Crow, 1417 Margerite St., Corpus Christi, Texas. "I had been bothered years with a terrible bladder disorder that caused me awful distress. I was getting up as much as eight and ten times every night with frequent action, my rest and sleep was broken and I was worn-out completely, in fact, it entirely exhausted me until it was an effort to get about. To add to my already miserable condition, my stomach was badly affected. But finally I began Gly-Cas and my entire system was toned until I feel like a different person today.

"Gly-Cas seemed to begin to give results where the other medicines had left off," continued Mr. Crow. "From the very first few doses I could notice an improvement in my condition. My stomach and bladder were regulated and those awful poisons removed from my system. I am again able to sleep fine without any night risings disturbing me, have new strength and energy and cannot praise Gly-Cas half enough for all it has done. When once given the opportunity to help me, Gly-Cas did not disappoint but proved its proclaimed merit in my own case."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

WITH THE ANNOUNCEMENT of the handsome new 1939 Packards, no Packard owner now finds himself left with a style "orphan."

In fact, no Packard owner has ever awakened one morning, full of pride in his still-new car, only to discover that radical style changes have branded it an "out-of-date model."

Does this mean that Packard opposes style changes? Of course not—for change is the essence of progress. But Packard believes that style can, and should be, used in the best interests of the car owner, rather than against them.

This is why Packard makes its style changes with common sense and restraint, rather than with sensationalism.

So, again for 1939, you will find Packards re-styled, more beautiful than ever. But you will also find them unmistakably Packards—no one has to guess what they are.

And, again, you will find new advances in Packard design and construction—new evidences of the quality that contributes a long mechanical life to match Packard enduring identity.

See your Packard dealer today. Discover that a Packard—the car that is built to last longer and look well longer—is surprisingly easy to buy, own and run. It costs nothing to get the facts.

We'll deliver a new 1939 Packard Six 5-Passenger Sedan to your door, with standard equipment for only $1,294

Your present car, if of average value, will probably cover the small down payment of only $416
