OAS Unified Force Will Police Dominican Peace

Heavy Fighting Erupts Again in Santo Domingo

FOOD FROM AMERICA — Dominican civilians in Santo Domingo are splattered with powdered milk as they reach for American food being distributed from a truck in the beleagured capital of the Dominican Republic. President Johnson told newsman in Washington that the situation in Santo Domingo seems to be calming.

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Communist - led rebels today dumped the body of a dead U.S. Marine on the doorsteps of the Ambassador Hotel in an apparent demonstration of the terror tactics they plan to use against American military forces here.

The action came despite the conclusion Wednesday of a "firm truce" by the Organization of American States (OAS), and the OAS' unprecedented decision to send an inter - American peacekeeping force to police the Dominican Republic.

Heavy fighting broke out today in downtown Independence Square in Santo Domingo in what the United States has charged is a Castroite-Communist effort to seize control of the blood - bathed country. The firing was directed against a U.S. patrol but its fate was not known.

It was not known whether the Marine brought through U. S. lines under a flag of truce—a white undershirt—was the Marine reported to have been captured by the rebels Wednesday night in an incident in which four Leathernecks were wounded.

The rebels have warned repeatedly that any Marine or U.S. paratrooper found in rebel area would be "slaughtered." Only Wednesday night a rebel radio said the Dominican people must cooperate in the "patriotic task of killing in blood and burning foreign invaders and their lackeys."

The dead Marine was found lying face up at the hotel, and it appeared he had been captured and shot. The driver of the military-type vehicle was captured and was being questioned. He had driven through several Marine outposts to the hotel without being stopped.

A taxicab operator who witnessed the clash between the American military and rebel forces in Independence Square said two jeeploads of Marines appeared and that the rebels opened fire on them. The Marines returned the fire, and fighting was reported "very intense" for some time.

The Independence Square action was the only major fighting reported and this was along the Marine defense perimeter around the international refuge zone. A spokesman for the 82nd

U.S.-Sponsored Plan Okayed by 14-5 Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Organization of American States (OAS) voted early today to send an inter-American peacekeeping force to police the Dominican Republic. Recruiting was expected to begin immediately.

The hemispheric assembly voted 14 to 5, with one nation, Venezuela, abstaining, to approve a U.S.-sponsored resolution calling on member governments to provide army, navy, air force or national police troops for the new force.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said he was "gratified" by the vote, which was exactly the two-thirds majority needed He indicated that the inter-American force might become a permanent part of the OAS peacekeeping machinery.

But it appeared that any such action would need far more support than it now has. Chile, Mexico, Uruguay, Ecuador and Peru voted against the peace force resolution, and Mexico indicated it would not be able to contribute troops to the force.

Mexico's ambassador said he did not believe his government would be able to spare the troops.

On the other side of the picture, tiny Costa Rica, which boasts it does not have an army, immediately offered to place its 3,500-man national police force at the disposal of the OAS.

During the long debate on the resolution Bunker told the delegates President Johnson has promised to withdraw the 14,000-man U.S. force in the Dominican Republic once the OAS has determined that its joint force is adequate to police the island.

The U.S. resolution provides that the OAS will be in complete control of the peacekeeping force, which will be directed by a unified command with power to determine when it is no longer needed in the Dominican Republic.

Commaders of units to be made available to the force will be asked to work out among themselves and with the OAS committee the technical measures necessary to establish the unified command.

Participating nations were urged to make their contributions to the force according to a "progressive equalization" scale, that is, each would send troops according to their size.

Defense Fails To Shake Rowe

By United Press International

The prosecution was expected to rest its case today in the murder trial of a Ku Klux Klansman for the Alabama highway slaying of a woman civil rights worker.

An FBI ballistics expert testified at Hayneville, Ala., Wednesday that a bullet taken from the body of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit came from the gun of Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., charged with firing the shots that killed the mother of five.

Defense attorney Matt Murphy Jr. earlier had been unable to shake the testimony of FBI informer Gary Thomas Rowe, who said he was in the car with three Klansmen when Mrs. Liuzzo was slain last March 2.

The other klansmen, Eugene Thomas and William Eaton, are to be tried later.

Several FBI agents testified that Rowe had been working as an informant for the bureau and that Rowe had received money for information about Klan acitivities.

At New Orleans, the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, in a 4-3 vote, Wednesday dismissed criminal contempt proceedings against Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson and former Gov. Ross Barnett.

The court, in another split vote, also agreed to let a civil contempt judgment against Barnett stand, but ruled no sanctions be imposed.

Barnett and Johnson, the lieutenant governor, were cited for their refusal to obey federal court orders in September, 1962, directing the admission of Negro James Meredith to the University of Mississippi. Meredith finally was admitted but his entrance touched off a campus riot that killed two persons and injured scores of others.

The court, in setting aside the proceedings, said there has been "substantial compliance with the court's orders."

South Viet Armed Forces Council Dissolves Itself

SAIGON (UPI) — South Viet Nam's powerful Armed Forces Council today formally dissolved itself in a resounding vote of confidence in the Saigon government. On the military front, 50 U.S. Air Force jets scored a "spectacularly successful" raid against Communist North Viet Nam.

The Armed Forces Council voted to disband in an emphatic endorsement of the civilian government of Prime Minister Phan Huy Quat.

Standing in front of the prime minister's office, council Secretary-General Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu read a proclamation dissolving the body, which consists of about 20 centerals and colonels.

Meanwhile, a U.S. military spokesman in Saigon announced that 50 U.S. Air Force jet fighter-bombers this afternoon struck a "major ammunition dump" at Phu Van, 125 miles south of the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi.

The spokesman called the raid "spectacularly successful." Direct hits were made on four underground ammunition bunkers and four other bunkers were damaged. He said clouds of "towering black smoke" were seen by pilots.

The jets also destroyed five of the six buildings above ground by dumping 80 tons of bombs on them during the 45-minute raid. All of the planes returned safely to their bases and encountered no Communist anti-aircraft fire.

The decision of the Armed Forces Council to disband was taken Wednesday at a council meeting at Tan Son Nhut Air Base. It was considered certain to win the endorsement of U.S. officials here.

About 200 government officials and newsmen were present for today's ceremony. The council had been in power since last September, when military commanders put down an attempted coup against then prime minister, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

The council was formed to keep Khanh from manipulating the armed forces for the sake

Senate Vote Due Next On House Remapping Plan

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Senate gets a House-approved congressional redistricting plan today that stacks the chips in favor of rural areas but sticks within 6 per cent of the federal courts' "one-man, one-vote" mandate.

Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba was expected to handle the bill which Rep. Gus Mutscher guided through the lower chamber unamended Wednesday, winning final passage 118-24.

"All you're leaving in San Antonio is the Alamo," said Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio. The Alamo City and Bexer County are carved into three districts in the bill, two of them dominated by other rural counties.

Johnson, who said the bill is unconstitutional, pledged to go to court "to assure that my county gets fair representation." Federal courts ruled last summer that present apportionment is illegal and gave the legislature until Aug. 1 to equalize it.

A conference committee is almost certain to draft the final bill after the Senate finishes its work on the House version.

Wednesday, the Senate broke its string of no-action House bill days, approving a flock of measures already passed by the lower chamber.

Included were a bill by Springlake Rep. Bill Clayton (HB 77) tightening water well driller qualifications, one by Rep. W. H. Miller of Houston transferring San Jacinto Battleground to Parks and Wildlife Commission Control from the Board of Control, and a measure by Rep. Bob Bass of DeKalb providing new jury service exemptions.

The Senate passed Lubbock Rep. Bill Parsley's "dual contracting" prohibition act and approved another measure authorizing the new mental health department to plan schools for mentally retarded children without asking the legislature for permission first.

Numerous amendments were offered to the Mutscher plan for redistricting, but all were batted down by a rural bloc vote. The sole Republican house member, Rep. Frank Cahook of Midland, garnered 18 votes for his plan.

Gray County Republicans Protest Redistricting Bill

Gray County Republican officials today joined in the vigorous objections by other state party leaders to the congressional redistricting bill passed yesterday by the House of Representatives in Austin.

Among the county GOP leaders who expressed disapproval of the remap plan for Texas were Clayton Husted, county Republican executive committee chairman; Jim Cambell and Mrs. Warren Fatheree, 31st senatorial district committeeman and committeewoman.

Chief objection to the plan as it affects the 18th congressional district was the addition of Lamb and Bailey Counties and the placing of Hale County in the 19th district.

The three Pampa Republicans joined in a statement in which they declared Hale County should "reasonably and logically be in the 18th district."

The Republicans also registered their disapproval of the bill which would divide Ector and Midland Counties.

The local Republicans labelled the redistricting bill, okayed by the House by a 118 to 24 record vote, "a masterpiece of gerrymandering."

The statement by the Pampa Republicans goes on to say:

"Gerrymandering, according to Webster, is to 'divide an area into political units of an unnatural and unfair way with the purpose of giving special advantage to one group.' This can be expected from a completely dominated one-party state.

"The Republican Party along with other interested groups appeared before the Texas Legislature at hearings throughout the state. The unanimous sentiment of these groups was that any reapportionment plea should conform to certain basic

"Time after time witnesses stated that any plan in addition

Titan 'Switch Engine' Rocket Soars Into Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) —A Titan-3A "switch engine" rocket raced into orbit with two satellites today on the first leg of a record-breaking string of space acrobatics calling for three orbital changes.

The sleek Air Force booster, keyed to American's soldier-in-space program, first soared into a low orbit around earth and then was to zip into three other paths around the globe within seven hours.

"It's through the gate," said Brig. Gen. Joseph Bleymaier, referring to the precise speed it needed to reach orbit.

The Titan's 7,000-pound third stage payload unit then moved into position to perform its next feat.

Such space maneuverability is necessary for military missions suggested for the Titan-3 family of rockets, such as satellite interception, reconnaisnace and space station supply runs.

Star performer of the final Titan-3A test flight was the booster's versatile third stage, sometimes called a space switch engine because of its course switching ability. It was required to start and stop an unprecedented four times in the harsh void of space.

The black and white rocket, making its fourth and toughest flight, roared into life at 11 a.m. EDT and eased smoothly into the partly cloudy sky.

It arched over the Atlantic and began its 11-minute climb toward orbit leaving a white vapor trail in its wake.

The shot followed the postponement Wednesday night of a second attempt to send a Project Fire spacecraft on a high-speed plunge into earth's atmosphere. The delay was blamed on cloudy skies that blocked camera coverage of the fiery reentry over the South Atlantic.

30 Dead In Plane Crash

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (UPI)— An Iberia Airlines Super Constellation crashed Wednesday night while landing in a fog and burst into flames. Authorities said 30 persons were killed and 18 injured, many of them critically.

The plane with 39 passengers from Madrid and nine crewmen touched down on the runway at mountain rimmed Los Rodeos airport but veered off to one side and crashed. There were reports it had hit machinery being used to improve the runway.

The dead included 10 foreigners but no Americans were aboard.

A spokesman issued a revised casualty list which said 28 persons died in the crash and two more in a hospital.

"The plane broke in two and then burst into flames," a spokesman for the airport here reported. Cloudy weather was reported at the time of the crash.

Dr. Sam Planning High Court Appeal

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard planned to meet today with his attorney, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, to discuss a federal court order sending him back to the Ohio Penitentiary to continue serving a life term for wife-slaying.

The U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati set aside Wednesday an order of the U. S. District Court at Dayton that granted Sheppard freedom last year on grounds his constitutional rights had been violated by pre-trial newspaper publicity.

The appellate court's ruling means the former osteopath, convicted in December, 1954, for the bludgeon slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, in their suburban Bay Village home, may be returned to the penitentiary at Columbus on May 26.

Sheppard could remain free on bond, if the court so desires, while his attorney takes an expected appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

He has been out on bond since last July, pending the appellate court's ruling on the state's appeal of the lower federal court order.

Sheppard and his second wife, the former Arianne Tebbenjohanns, learned of the decision from Bailey, who telephoned them when he was advised of it. They were married shortly after his release from prison.

"I must admit I'm disappointed, but I have absolute faith in the highest court in the land," Sheppard said, indicating he would appeal.

"They thing I want most is a retrial and they (Cuyahoga County officials) know it. That's why they don't want me to have it."

Review Board Blames Poor Leadership For Air Force Academy Cheating

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special review board reported today that "institutional shortcomings" contributed to the cheating scandal that prompted 109 cadets to resign from the Air Force Academy in March.

The board, headed by Gen. Thomas D. White, former Air Force chief of staff, found "indications of instability emanating from the higher leadership" at the academy.

In blunt language, the report said the academy "has not received adequate guidance" from Air Force headquarters, has "suffered from frequent changes of leadership;" and has "generated confusion among officers and cadets concerning the academy's goals."

The review board strongly endorsed the "honor code" which the resigned cadets were found to have violated by cheating in examinations. But it recommended consideration of changes in the application of the code.

The board noted that cheating was eight times more prevalent among football players as compared with non-athletes. It demanded that "misplaced notions of loyalty" be eliminated from the athletic program.

"In our opinion, those football players who cheated came to the distorted view, for all the reasons we have discussed, that their primary loyalties were to each other," the board said in its 93-page report.

Trial Underway For Court Justice

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)— Oklahoma Supreme Court Justice N. B. Johnson, named "the outstanding American Indian of 1954-55," went on trial today on impeachment charges he sold his vote on two court decisions.

Expected to be the first witness when the trial opened at 10 a.m. was Hugh A. Carroll, head of the defunct Selected Investments Corp. and key figure in a historic investments scandal during the 1950s.

Carroll has sworn he paid $150,000 to Justice Nelson S. Corn for a favorable opinion in a multi-million-dollar tax case involving the investments firm. Corn alleges he delivered $7,500 of the payoff to Johnson.

Presiding over the State Senate impeachment court is Sen. Roy Grantham of Ponca City, who helped prosecute Nazi art thieves after World War II.

HE WAS PROUD TO FIGHT FOR U.S.

Marine Corporal Loses Legs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Marine Lance Cpl. Russell Rowe is in critical condition today at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. Both his legs have been amputated.

"All the fight has gone out of him," said his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Harkness of Zion, Ill.

It was different last week when he went into Santo Domingo. He wrote his mother:

"I'm in the first assault wave. There's really nothing to worry about. The rebels are very unorganized and ten to one it won't last long. I feel proud to be a Marine, protecting my country. I am only upset to a certain extent because I know that if I did get hurt, people who love me such as you would feel the pain."

In the dark hours before dawn last Friday, the 20-year-old Rowe was defending a mound of earth in the revolt-torn Caribbean island. A sniper shot him in the leg, knocking him to the ground.

Despite the wound, Rowe bounced up and fired his rifle into the darkness. The sniper fired again, hitting Rowe in the other leg. A third sniper bullet ripped into his back, stopping in his stomach.

Hours later, Rowe was near death in Ramey Air Force Base Hospital in Puerto Rico. Air Force doctors amputated his badly damaged right leg.

Rowe was flown to Andrews Air Force Base, Md., and then taken to Walter Reed in Washington. His mother and his 18-year-old fiancee were there to meet him.

"Oh, Mom, I'll get along on a wooden leg," he told his mother. "I'll hop around on one leg." He was in good spirits, his mother said.

Then, on Monday, the doctors removed his left leg.

But it wasn't until Tuesday, when they were changing the dressings on his wounds, that Rowe learned that both legs were gone.

"Since then, he has been staring at the ceiling," his mother said.

Rotary Club Hears School Principal

"Gentlemen of the Jury" was the title of a talk given by Cameron Marsh before the Pampa Rotary Club yesterday in the Coronado Inn.

In his talk, Marsh gave the background leading up to the arrest and trial of John Peter Zenger in New York in 1735. German-born, Zenger is credited with being mainly responsible for our nation having the "freedom of the press" it enjoys today.

British governor of New York William Cosby had Zenger arrested and tried for criminal libel as the result of stories Zenger published about Cosby in his newspaper. Andrew Hamilton, Zenger's attorney, argued that Zenger had printed the truth and that truth is not libelous. The jury found Zenger not guilty.

Jack Edmondson introduced Danny Turner, who was the recipient of the club's $500 scholarship award. A Pampa high school senior, Danny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Turner, 125 N. Faulkner.

April Junior Roatarian Jim Shelhamer introduced Peter Kaddoum, Junior Rotarian for the month of May. Peter is an American Field Service foreign exchange student from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Matson To Be Featured on New Signboards

Pampa will soon have new signboards on the east and west approcahes of the city proclaiming Pampa as the hometown of Randy Matson, "World's Champion Shot Putter."

The boards are being put in place by the tourist development committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Harold Barrett, committee chairman, said the boards would have been erected sooner, but the committee has been awaiting approval from the southwest conference to insure that no violations were possible that would affect the amateur standing of Randy Matson. A letter was received this morning from Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, giving clearance to the project.

The boards will be finished in bright colors on a pale green background, and will carry the following copy:

Pampa—At the Top O' Texas
Home of Randy Matson
World's Champion Shot Putter
Where the Livin' is Good
Population - 26,664
Elevation - 3,234'

Art work at the bottom will portray the economy of Pampa showing production of wheat, cattle, oil, gas, and industry with a background underlay of an oil derrick.

One of the signs should be finished by early next week, Barrett said.

of his own political ambitions.

Khanh was ousted by the generals last February and sent into polite exile as a roving ambassador. He went to New York as an observer at the United Nations.

The council later declared the government of Prime Minister Tran Van Huong dissolved after weeks of demonstrations against the regime. Quat took over from Huong and has slowly won the confidence of Viet Nam's military leaders.

The council's dissolution was preceded by a Quat decree ordering all militariy men holding government positions to give them up and return to military life.

The United States had been pushing for a stronger and more stable civilian government in Saigon while the armed forces council was exercising life-or-death power over the struggling civilian rulers.

Leaders of the council scheduled a news conference to spell out exactly the meaning of the dissolution.

to dividing the population as equally as possible, should group communities of similar interest in the same districts. Furthermore, it was apparently agreed that the districts should be compact and continuous and that the integrity of the county lines should be respected.

"It became apparent that those in authority did not intend to bring about fairness and equiy to the issue of redistricting Texas. As a result the Republican Party offered a redistricting plan but this was to no avail."

In commenting on the passage of the bill in the Texas House, Republican Chairman Clayton Husted said:

"The Republican Party has always stressed fair play and will continue to offer the party to the people as an alternative of the closed society that runs Texas today."

Sousa Award To Be Presented PHS Student Tonight

Presentation of the coveted John Phillip Sousa Award will highlight the annual band banquet scheduled at 7:30 p.m. today in the Coronado Inn.

The award will be made to a senior band student who has exhibited outstanding achievement during the past three years while a member of the school band.

Fred Stockdale, band director, will present the recipient with a plaque and certificate.

The Band Boosters Club, made up of parents of the band members, will present the recipient of the award with a $100 cash certificate.

New officers of the band boosters club will also officially assume office tonight.

John Brewer will take over as president; Don Turner, vice president; Dorothy Francis, secretary and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Gardner, treasurer.

Band members, their parents and dates will attend the banquet.

Tomorrow, the Pampa High School band will leave for Arlington to compete in the Six Flags Music Festival Saturday.

The Harvester band will compete with other high school bands from over the Southwest.

A band must have received a sweepstakes award to be eligible for the contest.

Stockdale said the band will compete about 3:30 p.m. at the Six Flags Inn. He said the Pampa band has entered the concert division.

Pampa Jaycees Hold Ladies Night

The Pampa Jaycees held a ladies night dinner Tuesday in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

The program included presentation of the first place award to Chris Bankston, winner of the Teen Age Driving Rodeo.

Jaycee of the Month awards were presented to Morris Wilson for the Month of March and to Larry Wingert for the month of April.

The evening was topped off by the presentation of a one act play by John Callerman and Mrs. John McCausland, members of the Pampa Little Theatre.

Airborne Regiment said the paratroopers experienced no shooting since 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

There was sniper firing in the Marine sector.

The Americans now have 27,677 troops in Santo Domingo, either afloat or ashore. The Army has 12,439 paratroopers on the island, the Marines have 6,924 ashore and the Navy has 8,314 afloat and ashore. They will be incorporated in any OAS peace force set up in Santo Domingo.

The rebel terror tactics and the refusal to obey the cease-fire appeared to be new evidence of Communists taking over what started out as a popular revolution against the military junta which has ruled the Dominican Republic since it overthrew Presdent Juan Bosch and sent him into exile.

An OAS spokesman said Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, "provisional president" and nominal military leader of the rebels, blamed the sniper attacks on undisciplined bands of armed civilians over whom he has no control.

The rebels armed civilians in discriminately during the early days of the revolt. Many of these armed bands now appear to be under the control of for-eight-trained Communists intent on keeping the revolt going at any cost.

A high U.S. official said Caamao "seems to be moving closer to the Communists," although he is not known to be a Red himself. He said Communist leader Fidelio Despradel appears to be one of Caamano's chief advisers.

Early Greeks considered cow's milk unwholesome, preferring ewe's and goat's milk.

Pioneer Natural Gas Declares Quarterly Dividend

AMARILLO(Spl)—The board of directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, at a meeting held yesterday, declared a quarterly dividend of 16 cents per share on outstanding common stock, payable June 3 to stockholders of record on May 21 this year.

C. I. Wall, president, stated net income for the first three months of 1965 amounted to $2,300,814, or 32 cents per share on 7,173,028 shares outstanding on March 31. These earnings compare with $2,824,250 for the first three months of 1964, or 39 cents per share on the same number of shares outstanding, restated to reflect the two for one stock split in Oct., 1964.

The first quarter report to the stockholders will be mailed about May 11, Wall stated.

Another Policeman Resigns from Force

A. J. Dickens, 39, a member of the Pampa Police Force for one year, submitted his resignation to Police Chief Jim Conner today.

Dickens, who resided at 1820 N. Christy, did not give a reason in his letter of resignation, according to Conner.

The Pampa Police Department is four men short of its authorized strength.

Pampa Visitor Hurt in Wreck

A 56-year-old California resident was slightly injured this morning when the car she was a passenger in was in collision with another vehicle.

Admitted to Highland General Hospital and listed in good condition is Mrs. Jean Woodward of Escondido, Calif.

The accident occurred about 7:10 a.m. near the intersection of Murphy and Reid.

Driver of the other vehicle was Jesus D. Martinez, 27, of 928 Murphy.

Driver of the car occupied by Mrs. Woodward was her husband, John.

She was taken to the hospital by the Carmichael-Whatley Ambulance Service.

ASKS FOR ADDITIONAL FUNDS — President Johnson tells the legislative conference of the AFL-CIO in Washington that U.S. troops would be withdrawn from the Dominican Republic as soon as the OAS can get a plan into effect to bring peace and stabilty there. Referring to the fighting in Santo Domingo, the President said with a show of emotion, "If they are going to put American lives in Danger—where American citizens go—the American flag goes with them to protect them." The President has also asked and gotten Congress to vote an additional $700-million to finance military operations in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

Cause of Death Isn't From Old Age

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is a popular belief that old age itself is a disease and that people die from it. Nothing could be further from the truth.

"There is no known case of death from old age," says Dr. Edward L. Bortz, a Philadelphia expert on aging. "No pathologist has ever established at the autopsy table that a person dying of natural causes had body tissues correct and adequate in every way except that they had worn out in the process of living. In other words, people do not die of age. They die of diseases which occur with passing time. These diseases are recognizable and can be studied."

What does happen is that there is likely to be impairment of some of the faculties. Eyesight can deteriorate. About one in eight persons aged 65 to 74 has an impairment of hearing and after 75 the rate becomes one in four. Old people lose their teeth, but the experts are inclined to blame it more on lack of care than on advancing years. The American Automobile Association has found in simulated driving tests that reactions of persons aged 70 are a tenth of a second slower than those aged 20.

Probably the one thing that worries old people more than anything else is a decline in the powers of memory. In other words they become absent minded, and that rouses fears that they are drifting toward mental trouble. The President's Council on Aging gives this example of the problem:

Recently in St. Petersburg, Fla., Joseph Lefter was addressing an audience of 5,000 old people who had assembled to hear a concert. He opened his remarks this way:

"There's a brown Buick parked on the street behind us here. The owner probably won't remember the license number, but perhaps he will remember his Buick was brown. It's not in the way or anything. The owner simply walked away and left the motor running.

Many old persons accept the deterioration of their faculties with good grace and a sense of humor, but for millions retirement from an active life is a shock. Women make the transition better than men because there still are floors to sweep, dishes to wash and beds to be made up. A man who retires at 65 can be in for serious trouble as Dr. Alexander Reid Martin explains in "education for life off the job":

"Sleeplessness, the inability to relax and the fear of leisure are among the earliest and most common symptoms of so-called psychiatric illness. These syptons are, of course, unrelated to pain and any demonstrable physical disease.

"When these patients are confronted with leisure, they are restless, dissatisfied, irritable and they show great intolerance of inactivity and waiting. They have great feelings of guilt if they read a book, go to the movies, watch TV or do anything for sheer pleasure. They are especially intolerant of children. They can overcome this feeling of guilt somewhat if they place all these activities under the heading of necessity — TV and theater are musts for education and vacations are musts for health.

GAME VIOLATORS HIT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal agents have arrested or served summonses on 77 persons in 11 states in a crackdown on the selling of ducks, geese and other migratory game birds.

You, Your Child and School

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

In recent weeks there has been a great deal of concern with teacher certification standards which reject returning Peace Corps volunteers. Some returning members of the Peace Corps have been refused teaching jobs because they do not meet the requirements of certification.

Obviously, these Peace Corps volunteers have had some very valuable experiences and would be able to provide interesting instruction in certain fields for our students. This does not mean that they are qualified to teach everything in the public schools.

The teaching of reading to primary grade students requires a highly trained and experienced teacher. This is not a skill someone learns in the back woods of Nigeria.

A teacher of one of the current modern math programs must have strong background in the area of mathematics. He doesn't develop this background on a Peace Corps assignment in Latin America.

A high school biology class is not an assignment for an unprepared instructor. It is a place for an individual who has spent his college career studying the field of biology.

Membership in the Peace Corps does not in itself develop an individual into a qualified teacher. It does provide him with a unique experience which certainly has value in the field of education.

Educational programs in underprivileged areas require individuals who understand the people and their problems. However, it should be clear that understanding the problems of underprivileged people does not qualify one as a teacher.

Many Peace Corps returnees are qualified teachers. This combined with their Peace Corps experiences make them particularly valuable in the schools. These individuals should have no difficulty obtaining jobs. As a matter of fact they are probably sought after to fill many positions.

The returning Peace Corps volunteer who is not a qualified teacher may be utilized in a total program for an underprivileged area. His experience may go a long way towards supplementing the work of qualified teachers, social workers, doctors, and psychologists.

Jessie Andrews, the first woman student at the University of Texas, received her B.A. degree in 1886.

For a Memorable Dessert Serve This Strawberry and Cream Pie

A dessert light as a breeze, handsome enough to demand a special occasion, is this Strawberries and Cream Pie. It's an alluring choice to climax a banquet of majestic proportion yet capable of reigning alone at a simple coffee hour.

Its graham cracker crust is the perfect beginning to a pie that will be especially favored because it needs no baking. The filling is a combination of canned strawberry pie filling, strawberry-flavored gelatin and ice cream.

The pie filling and ice cream are blended into the gelatin and stirred until the ice cream melts. Food coloring can be used if you are trying to match a very pink tablecloth or party accessories. Otherwise, you'll probably prefer the natural color of the filling. When the filling is slightly chilled, pour it into the crust and return to refrigerator.

This pie is a delight to eat with a delicate and rich flavor, and a texture pleasingly smooth to the taste. Add the recipe to your files and try it soon. You will be happy you did.

STRAWBERRIES AND CREAM PIE

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1-3 cup sugar
2-3 cup melted butter
1 tablespoon water
1 3-ounce package strawberry flavored gelatin
¾ cup hot water
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) strawberry pie filling
1 pint vanilla ice cream, cut into 6 chunks
Red food coloring (optional)

Combine cracker crumbs with sugar; mix in butter and water. Pat mixture into a 10-inch pie plate. To make an even layer of crumbs on bottom and sides place a 9-inch pie plate on top of crumbs and press firmly. Remove 9-inch pie plate. Chill.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add strawberry pie filling and vanilla ice cream; stir until ice cream melts. Add food coloring. Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Pour into crumb crust and chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and berries, if desired.

Yield: 1 10-inch pie.

Food Buying Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Food shoppers across the nation generally will find that beef and pork along with a colorful array of spring vegetables are in generous supply.

At meat counters, beef roasts and steaks, along with pork roasts, will take the spotlight in many areas of the nation. As for fish, look for plenty of canned pink and chum salmon and fish sticks and fish portions.

Fresh produce counters will feature good supplies of green beans, carrots, celery, lettuce, onions, spinach. In fruit bins will be plenty of bananas, grapefruit, oranges, and strawberries.

Safety Measure

If bottles containing poisons are kept in your medicine cabinet, they can be made safer by taping the tops down with adhesive tape. The tape prevents mistaking the poisons for something else.

Sixth Annual Men's National Cooking Championship Opens

The sixth annual Men's National Cooking Championsip to find the country's best male amateur cook and crown him 1966 National Champion, was opened today by the Potato Chip Institute International, sponsor of the competition.

Any adult male may compete for the coveted title which brings with it a $1,000 cash award, or the runner-up awards of $750 for 2nd place, $400 third prize and a $200 fourth award. Wives of men who cook will also be interested to know that all four men reaching the finals win a week's vacation for two at the fabulous Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada next winter.

The male amateur cooks may enter as many recipes as they wish for original dishes using potato chips as an ingredient. No box tops, labels or coupons are required to enter the recipes. Professional chefs are barred.

The recipes originated by the two top amateur male cooks in the 1965 Men's National Cooking Championship were selected from a field of over 179,000 recipes.

The National Champion J. A. Allard, an Air Force civilian training specialist created an exceptionally delicious people pleaser called—

CHIP-PREME HAM CUSTARD

2 cups finely crushed potato chips
2 tablespoons salad oil
¾ cup crisp bacon, minced
⅜ cup sliced onion, sauteed until soft
½ cup cooked ham, cut in thin strips
½ cup Swiss cheese, grated
¼ cup raisins
3 eggs
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup light cream, heated
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mix 1½ cups potato chips with salad oil and place in 8-inch pie pan, forming a crust. Mix bacon, onion, ham, cheese and raisins and place in pie crust. Beat eggs and mustard, add hot cream and beat well. Pour into pie shell and let stand 10 minutes. Sprinkle nutmeg and remaining potato chips on top. Bake until the custard is set.

And this recipe took second place for Julius Lipton, an Internal Revenue Agent. It is an ingenious variation of an old favorite, meat loaf, which in spite of its prize winning qulity is surprisingly easy to prepare.

BLEU CHIP MEAT LOAF

½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons oil
1 egg well beaten
chips
2 cups finely crushed potatoes
¼ cup commercial bleu cheese salad dressing
2 cups applesauce (1-1 lb. can)
2 lbs. lean ground chuck
¼ cup cooking sherry

Saute onion in oil until delicately brown. Combine egg, crushed potato chips, bleu cheese dressing and applesauce. Add meat and sauteed onion. Mix thoroughly, and place mixture in greased shallow baking pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Spoon sherry over meat. Bake another 30-40 minutes. Serve with whipped potatoes and green vegetable. Serves 8.

A panel of leading women food authorities will first select 50 State Cooking Champions after judging the recipes. Then, from among these State Champions, there will be chosen four Regional Cooking Champions to represent the Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western portions of the nation in the competition finals.

These four finalists will then cook for the culinary crown at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada where special kitchens will be set up for them to prepare their prize-winning dishes.

All recipes must be sent in before the closing date of December 1, 1965 to the Men's National Cooking Championship, 331 Madison Avenue, New York City, New York 10017.

Just about every imaginable occupational background has contributed men who love to cook to this highly popular competition. Salesmen, ministers, soldiers, accountants, mechanics, laborers and small business owners have particiapted. Many of the winners have cooked only a short time before entering a favorite recipe or creating one for the Championship.

Clinic Criticizes The Mayo Diet

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Q—I have a freind who is excited about the "Mayo Diet." She practically lives on eggs. I could well lose a few pounds myself. Would you recommend this diet which I believe comes from the famous Mayo Clinic?

A—Diets that appeal to the hope for an easy way to weight reduction persist. The so-called "Mayo Diet" is a good example. Its continued popularity probably depends on the belief that it will achieve substantial wieght loss in some semimagical way because of the odd combination of foods specified. "Hope springs eternal," comments the Journal of the American Dietetic Association (April, 1961). Dr. Harry N. Hoffman, chairman of the committee on djetetics, Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., writes in the magazine, "The so-called 'Mayo egg diet' or 'Mayo reducing diet,' which specifies a large number of eggs and claims to achieve weight loss through some alteration of body chemistry, did not come from the Mayo Clinic and associated hospitals. Although we have received inquiries about this diet for many years, we are receiving them now at an increasing rate. Apparently this diet is circulated from person to person, usually in a neatly mimeographed form."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert T. Allen of Shearson, Hammill & Co. says there is just enough uncertainty in the international picture and the domestic economic picture to keep a large number of investors from bidding up prices despite a large supply of investible funds.

Allen points out that this large supply of funds has also been tested by several substantial stock offerings including the General Motors and General Aniline offerings which investors absorbed and came back for more.

Tessel, Paturick Inc. says that since the advance has carried about half way toward the firm's intermediate goal, the number of good buying opportunities have been accordingly shrinking. However, the firm says, many outstanding buys still exist and selective trades should prove profitable during the next several weeks.

Foreign Commentary

By RAY MOSELEY

CAIRO (UPI) — The Arab-West German crisis is moving toward its climax on a diplomatic battlefield strewn with casualties and regrets.

Within a few days West Germany is expected to announce its recognition of Israel, and 10 of the 13 Arab states are expected to retaliate by severing relations with Bonn.

In a sense this is almost an anticlimax.

Already over the past four months the crisis has played itself out, and its effect on the Arab world has been profound.

In the view of diplomatic observers here, these are the most important consequences:

—Arab unity has been put to the test over the single issue that is supposed to draw Arabs together as nothing else can—confrontation with Israel — and it has collapsed.

—United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser's leadership of the Arab world has suffered one of its most severe setbacks on record.

Loses Some Goodwill

Although West Germany has lost much of the goodwill in the Arab world that it has built up in recent years, diplomats believe it has salvaged more from the crisis than might have been expected at one time.

For it apparently has succeeded in dissuading the U.A.R. and other Arab countries from recognizing East Germany in retaliation for its recognition of Israel, and this, the West Germans made clear, was the issue of greatest concern to them.

The crisis arose last January with Nasser's unexpected invitation to East German Communist boss Walter Ulbricht to visit here.

When West Germany protested, Nasser brought up the matter of Germany's secret arms deliveries to Israel over the previous four years. He warned that unless these were halted, he might recognize East Germany.

Bonn Backs Down

Bonn quickly backed down, and it appeared for a time Nasser had scored a major political victory. Arab newspapers exultantly called it "another Suez," referring to the diplomatic success Nasser scored in the 1956 Suez crisis.

With Bonn humiliated and under attack throughout the Arab world, Nasser went ahead and received Ulbricht and gave him red carpet treatment.

Relations between Bonn and Cairo were virtually on the rocks. The remarkable thing about it was that only a few weeks earlier there had been no hint of crisis between the two countries.

But by now Bonn was maneuvering to gain the diplomatic offensive. With Ulbricht's arrival here, it suspended further aid commitments to the U.A.R., which badly needs foreign aid. It charged that Nasser had invited Ulbricht under pressure from the Soviet Union, and was opening the Middle East to unprecedented Communist influence.

Then as Ulbricht departed, Bonn unexpectedly announced its intention to recognize Israel.

POSTPONES VISITS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Secretary of State Dean Rusk has postponed scheduled visits to Norway and Finland this week in order to keep in close touch with developments in the Dominican Republic.

PICTURE NEWS
THE WORLD IN FOCUS

FANCY THIS—When it comes to dressing like a dog, you can't beat Susan, a golden cocker spaniel. The pert pooch walked off with a prize in a fancy dress contest in Greenwich, England. Daughter Candy wasn't impressed.

GUESS WHAT!—It could be modernistic sculpture or towers for electric trains, but neither guess is correct. The strange looking objects are actually new types of rough service frames for mercury vapor lamps. The girl is Rosemarie Castricone.

DOWN THE PIPE—A Sylvania technician takes a final look at a rocket thrust chamber before turning it over to the Air Force for testing. The chamber is treated with a special heat-resistant coating.

FAMOUS FACE—TWA hostess Barbara Kramer and Lou Walter make adjustments to a wax sculpture of the head of President Johnson that had just been flown in from France to be put on display in New York.

SUMMER SCENE—Summer will be here before long and many a man's head will be turned by sights like this. The girl is Blanche Devereaux. She likes her fun in the sun.

GOLF-ISHING—In Tucson, Ariz., you can do two things at once and enjoy both. Water hazards at one retirement community golf course are stocked with trout to take the grief out of slicing or hooking.

CELERY STALKER—Four-year-old Laura Smith takes her chances as she sneaks up on some celery. A certain degree of caution is required for such encounters.

HELPFUL HAT—Patricia Garon appears to be tilting a coolie hat at a provocative angle. The hat is really a Honeywell computer connections device.

NIGHT AND DAY—Two attractive models show the range of attire needed to stay in style at all times while enjoying a fashionable vacation both night and day.

SECRET WEAPON?—Although it's formidable looking, this device is a research tool rather than a weapon. It's the RCA deep space simulation chamber.

WRONG EGG—The baby dinosaur in this picture isn't real, but the chicks are. The large eggs in the background aren't real either, but the puzzled chicks keep an eye on them anyway. Scene took place at the Dinoland exhibition at the World's Fair, where models of the prehistoric giants are on display.

REBEL REPRESENTATIVE — Fulvio Nesa, 23, a representative for the Dominican Republic rebels, is escorted to the U.S. Embassy in Santo Domingo to speak with representatives of the Organization of American States. U.S. military strength has soared to 14,000 Marines and paratroopers right before (SEATO) declared a truce had been signed.

Financial Gossip

By LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some hundreds of thousands of small homeowners across the United States suddenly are having trouble getting their fire insurance policies renewed. Others are getting letters from the companies serving notice of cancellation of their policies.

The Georgia Legislature has appointed both Senate and House committees to investigate the matter. The trouble began in Georgia some months ago after state insurance Commissioner James Bentley denied some rate increases demanded by the underwriters.

The homeowners who are having the insurance miseries all have houses valued at less than $8,000, state officials say 40 per cent of Georgia's homes are in that class. But the Georgia officials and insurance brokers in the state said they learned the problem is country wide.

"They're absolutely right," agreed Kent H. Parker, general manager of the Fire Research and Actuarial Association in New York. "The problem is country wide—it's acute in about 15 states and exists in varying degree in most of the others. It's just as serious in the North as in the South."

Parker said that what has happened is that separate fire insurance policies for dwelling houses, which a generation ago were close to the most profitable business the insurance companies wrote, have become unprofitable—to the tune of a $50 million annual underwriting loss for the companies. This has been caused by rising fire and tsorm damage claims due to rapid inflation of repair costs, failure of the states to grant needed rate increases on time and growth of the homeowner policy.

The homeowner policy issued by the big multi-line insurance companies has become very popular in recent years. It protects against fire, storm, burglary and all sorts of liability claims at inclusive and quite reasonable rates. But, generally, it is obtainable for houses worth substantially more than $8,000.

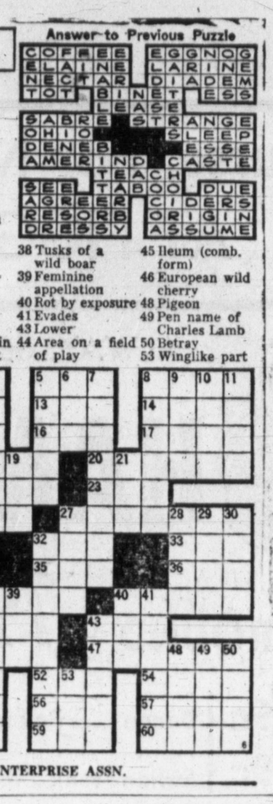

Diseases due to dietary deficiencies are rare in the U. S.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Look Alive, Step Alive And You'll Feel Alive

By PERCY M. HANSEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
(Third of a Series)

The next step in this campaign to retain the appearance of youth and to remain acceptable is physical. If you have taken the first step of changing your mental attitude — if you are thinking young — you already have taken a part of the second step.

When you started to think, read and talk about the things of the present and of the future, your eyes brightened and your entire attitude became more alert. One cannot think and talk of the exciting events of today and the even more stimulating possibilities of tomorrow without a distinct physical change.

Today, no one questions the tremendous influence of the mind over the body. Physicians and psychologists have demonstrated it in countless experiments. Mental attitudes affect one's physical state without any conscious effort. It is impossible to "think young" without a lessening of the tension of the nerves throughout the entire body. The deep, moody lines of the face will be less severe, a smile often will replace a worried frown and there will be a quickening of breathing and the pulse.

Now that you have made the involuntary changes in your physical appearance, you must continue to improve by making more definite voluntary changes. Begin by standing more erect. Posture has a definite influence upon mental attitude, just as mental attitude has a definite influence upon posture. The person who stands erect has a feeling of well-being and of increased power.

Of course, years of faulty posture cannot be overcome immediately. Some persons will find it impossible to overcome completely stooped shoulders and other results of improper habits of standing and sitting, but make a definite effort.

This effort to improve your posture can be started even before you get out of bed in the morning. When you awaken do not get up immediately. First stretch your legs as if you were trying to touch the footboard. DO THIS AL TIMES, AND AT the same time stretch your arms high over your head and draw your stomach in as far as you can. Rest a moment and get out of bed slowly.

Even as you shower, you can throw back your shoulders and draw your stomach in as far as possible. Do not overdo the first morning, or even that first week or first month.

In all your efforts to sit and stand more erectly, you will be using muscles which you may not have used for some time, and only you can determine how rapidly you are able to advance. Do not become discouraged. If you have spent years becoming round-shouldered, it will take weeks or months to attain the posture you desire.

When you are standing more erectly, move more alertly. Any one can quicken his step. It may not be advisable to do this for long periods at first, but try it for a longer time each day. This is especially important when in the presence of others. This new physical alertness will be the subject of favorable attension.

Warwick Adopts Rules-of-Thumb for Teenagers

by PAUL MARTASIAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WARWICK, R. I. (NEA) — Whenever two or more parents get together the subject, more likely than not, will be adolescents — and what to do about them. And, more likely than not, the end result will be just a lot of random talk, nothing concrete.

Not in Warwick, however. Here the Warwick Parental Code Committee, comprised of parents of youngsters between 13 and 18, have come up with a code.

What the code amounts to is a protest against the "blackmailing" tactics used by some teen-agers to force mom and dad into allowing them more liberties — such as staying out a little later at night, taking an occasional alcoholic drink and going steady when they're in the eighth and ninth grades. It has evoked favorable reaction from parent groups throughout the country.

Mrs. J. Arthur Dore, president of one of Warwick's high school's Parent-Teacher Associations and chairman of the code committee, said the idea of the code evolved from her conversations with other parents who felt that they were being forced by their children to keep up with the Joneses, morally speaking.

Warwick, a growing suburban community of nearly 80,000 population, has a juvenile crime rate rated among the lowest in Rhode Island.

Several months ago the code committee sent out questionnaires to 5,000 families having high school - aged children, asking opinions about dating, drinking, driving, staying out late and other social privileges.

Nearly 2,500 parents answered and most of them, according to Mrs. Dore, were in favor of some sort of guideline.

"Their answers proved to us," Mrs. Dore says, "that most parents are conservative, interested in their children, but a little confused as to how much freedom they should give their children."

Notes on some of the questionaires read like this:

A mother: "I've got a 16-year-old son who wants to drive our car. I don't think he should because he's too young and does not have a sense of responsibility. My husband disagrees. He says it's about time the boy grew up. After all, he says, the boy next door is 16 and has his wn car."

A father: "I've got a 16-year-old daughter and she's been staying out later and later every night. When I complain about it my wife calls me a stick-in - the-mud. I think the code is reasonable and I hope I can convince my wife and daughter to stick to it."

A mother: "I thought we'd brought our children up properly until we moved to this community. Some of the boys and girls here have their own cars and drive them to school. My son has always been a good boy, but lately he has been hinting, almost nagging, that he should have his own car, too.

Most of the high school students questioned about the code do not consider it too rigid. The schools are not attempting to enforce it, although most schools in Rhode Island have established rules relating to dress, smoking on school property and dismissal times for social functions on school property.

"I don't mind the code, but I don't think I'd like to have strangers force it on me," a high school junior said. "My parents might be considered strict because I can't stay out as late as a lot of other kids, but I think they're doing what's right for me. As far as driving is concerned, I don't have a license yet and I won't try to get one until I can afford to help pay for the car and to keep it running.

"We know that no code in the world can take the part of parental guidance, Mrs. Dore says. "We just hope that some confused parents will know that they are not alone in their worries about their children.

"It's about time some of us learned to say 'no' when our children put pressure on us to alter our own way of living to accommodate to theirs.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

SALES TALK

"This suit will wear like iron" the friendly salesman assures you. If it doesn't really wear like iron, are you entitled to a refund?

Obviously not. Even though the salesman exaggerated, any sensible person would have taken the statement with a grain of salt. The law doesn't require absolute honesty by a seller for the simple reason that people just don't expect it.

"It always has been understood the world over," observed Oliver Wendell Holmes, "that [illegible] are to be distrusted."

Of course, salesmanship can spill over into fraud. Although the dividing line is not always clear, there are several factors that weigh heavily in the law's balance.

For instance:

Was the seller stating a fact or only an opinion? "This car will last you for the next five years" is usually just the seller's opinion, not a specific guarantee. But "This car is only five years old" is factual. By and large, the law expects statements of fact to be accurate.

Also, a seller has a greater duty to be truthful when there is a relationship of trust between him and the buyer. Thus, tall talk by a seller was held to be fraud, not salesmanship, because he happened to be the buyer's trusted adviser.

And a seller with technical knowledge of the product, not available to the buyer, must stick closer to the truth — because the buyer is more likely to rely on what he says.

Moralists may argue that a seller should be held to total truth, plain and unvarnished, under all circumstances.

But, after all, it isn't necessarily a question of saint and sinner. Buyers, too, often stretch a point in the process of bargaining. If sellers exaggerate, buyers belittle. What the seller calls a peach, the buyer calls a lemon. The Bible (Proverbs 20:14) puts it this way:

"It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer; but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth."

MAY SEND TROOPS

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — South Korea may send a company of security soldiers to South Viet Nam, reliable military sources said Wednesday.

A contingent of 2,000 noncombat Korean troops is already in South Viet Nam. Defense ministry sources said the security force is needed to guard the Korean encampment near Siaeng.

School and You

By SUSAN LIGHT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

From time to time I receive a sad letter from a parent whose son couldn't care less about school or making passing grades. I say "son," because about twice as many boys as girls have this problem, especially in the early grades.

In a typical case the boy is 14. He flunked first grade and has been passed only on a "social promotion" basis since. He is now in the slow learners' group in junior high and can't get to first base in math or science.

Homework is a ceaseless struggle for he parents. All attempts to interest their son in music, art, or dramatics have failed.

On the plus side, the boy does fairly well with his hands in shop, when he decides to put forth the effort. He is good at sports and has been commended as a junior camp leader. Though habitually negative, he is a likeable teen-ager, and his teachers give him poor grades with regret, not relish.

Mom and dad wonder whether sending their boy to a military school might straighten him up. Or whether time alone may effect a miracle.

I wish I could give parents everywhere a positive solution for this problem. But there is none. They must face up to the fact that their child is a potential school drop-out unless he pulls himself up by his boot straps. Parents, teachers and counselors can encourage, guide, prod, and motivate, but the real effort must come from the boy himself.

Military school has put some boys on the right track, but has probably ruined others. It should be considered only when recommended by a disinterested professional counselor.

If parents have exhausted school resources — and by the time a boy is 14, they have probably made the rounds of classroom teachers, remedial reading experts, guidance counselors, school physicians and school psychologists — I suggest they contact a specialist outside the school. A consulting psychiatrist who works personally and directly with the child in a therapeutic role would be a good choice.

It is important, of course, for parents, while facing realities, not to become too negative about the situation themselves. Though parents who are Pollyannas seldom help realistic teen-agers, the power of positive thinking cannot be denied. Be thankful for your child's good qualities. Then hope and pray!

Please send your school problems to Susan Light in care of Pampa Daily News. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

What People Should Know About Dust

DUST BANISHERS -- Homemakers these days are banishing dust with a variety of ingenious tools--including dustmops that bend under furniture, aerosol sprays to prevent dust form sticking to woodwork, even air filtering machines designed to pull dust from the air.

NEW YORK — How do you define dust? You kick it up and you cause a disturbance; you bite it and you're ready for the undertaker.

In England, a dustman is a garbage man. If an Englishman offers to dust your jacket — look out! He's looking for a fight. Of course, if he says you have plenty of dust, he's talking about money. In yet another sense, almost any child knows that when the dustman comes it's bedtime.

The Bible, more than once, refers to shaking dust from your feet as a sign of dislike for your surroundings — and a firm intention never to return. Mohammedans had a practice of casting dust into the eyes of their enemies, confusing them in battle. In more recent times General Rommel's Africa Corps created clouds of dust to mislead British troops into believing great masses of tanks were attacking.

In the 1930's, dust problems made the region between the Texas Panhandle and the Dakotas — an area still called the dust bowl — almost uninhabitable. More recently, dust is blamed as a major cause of choking smog and the dingy grey coat that blankets most industrial areas. Anywhere, it's a prime irritant to allergies, it makes us wheeze, sneeze and sniffle.

A thorn in the side of man since caveman days, dust today is even more of a problem than it used to be. Modern construction, miles and miles of roadway, and a myriad of cars, trucks and buses have helped to compound the problem. However, with modern inconvenience comes modern convenience —industry has found a way to stop dust literally in its tracks.

For instance, there's a unique chemical that does the job! Called Solvay calcium chloride, the chemical holds in place the dust-creating surfaces of unpaved roads, construction sites, parking lots and other areas. Applied right from the bag or by spreader from the back of a truck, the chemical draws moisture from the atmosphere keeping once - dusty surfaces damp and compact.

Recently, for example, housewives and businessmen in a New England town were up in arms over dust created by a mammoth new sewerage installation. Cars traveling roads torn up for construction caused so much dust that business was curtailed, houses had to be repainted and driving was hazardous. Solvay calcium chloride was spread over the miles of torn-up roadway and almost immediately the dust — and the complaints — ceased.

On the home front, specially treated cloths and mops have been made available to the housewife for her once discouraging war on dust. The new cloths are treated to gather greater amounts of dust. Moreover, special aerosol sprays have been developed to prevent dust from sticking to woodwork and household objects while air filtering machines are available to pull dust from the air.

Today's vacuum cleaners pick up dust more effectively than their ancestral counterparts. In fact, the first vacuum cleaner, patented right after the turn of the century, needed a smoky gasoline engine, exhaust hose pipes and a whole squad of men to clean up the left-over mess.

Dust isn't all bad, however. Its saving grace is the beautiful country haze — characteristic of autumn's Indian summer. And the everyday azure blue sky is formed by minute dust particles scattered in the atmosphere. These particles reflect sunlight — producing the color for skies of all seasons.

But nature lovers can relax — no one yet has applied for a patent on a celestial vacuum cleaner. Modern dust control, with its emphasis on road chemicals and treated dust cloths, is literally down-to-earth, not a blue-sky proposition.

OLD WAR CRY -- "Watch my dust" used to be the war cry of "Tin Lizzie" owners--but modern drivers can enjoy dustless driving even on unpaved roads. Solvay calcium choride, spread on these roads, holds their dust-creating surfaces in place. The chemical draws moisture from the air to keep road surface damp and compact.

Nearly Every Purchase the Modern Woman Makes Involves Color Choice

Half a century back, Henry Ford made a classi comment Ford made a classic comment on color choice. He said, "You can buy any color Ford you want, as long as it's black."

Nearly every purchase the modern woman makes involves a color choice, ranging from an automobile down to a small utensil or the paint for the exterior of her home.

In fact, to many women, this cornucopia of color is to overwhelming to manage. So many color decisions are required to harmonize and fraternize with hues and shades already in the home, is it any wonder that many women are inclined to hit clinkers again and again. For proof, ope the average female proof, open the average female closet.

Even the most fastidious homemaker has dresses she never wears, unfinished lipstick she won't use or a pillow, a painting, table linens, vases, shoes, or a bathing suit all tucked out of sight . . . and the majority of these are not being used because of mistakes in color.

Errors increase as number of color choices increase and unfortunately, many poor choices aren't easily hidden. For exthe wrong catmplenehrooo ample, the wrong color on the walls can be depressing or the wrong color upholstery repelling. Why psychol gosisstay the wrong color can even ruin appetites.

Fortunately, however, this problem need no longer vex the busy homemaker. The mescapable rainbow has been harnessed by a classically simple plan called the Color Key. This system enables a woman to choose harmonizing colors that complement both her own coloring and existing decor. And Valspar Corporation has incorporated this system into a handy purse size guide book.

Based on the fact that every person is classified into one of two color spectrums, the Color Key Dictionary presents 300 swatches for use as an on-the-spot shopping guide.

Once a woman has chosen one of the two Color Keys her color worries are over. Every one of the 300 colors harmonize with every other one giving the homemaker practically an unlimited range.

Key Number One tends toward a blue cast as opposed to the yellow cast of Key Number Two.

Supposing a woman with Key Number One decided to paint her living room walls green, but wanted to use blues in her room furnishings. Color Key would solve her problem, for no matter what green she chose if she stuck to the blues in her category, they would be sure to harmonize with the green in every instance.

In the same way, she could select lampshades, picture frames, upholstery, tables, even flowers and objects d'art.

Color Key Number One contains 20 different shades of blue plus as many bluegreens and violet shades.

Color Key was developed by Robert C. Dorr, a California designer and veteran color authority, by applying well established color truths to everyday use. "You start", Dorr said, "by selecting the Color Key best uited to your own coloring and personality, an easy decision to anyone who sees the two keys together. Then you make all selections from the 300 alternatives in your Key."

Color Key decisions last a lifetime, according to Dorr Not even graying hair or tanned skin change the basic harmony. lifetime, according to Dorr. Not

Dear Abby....

People Who Can't Say 'No' Suffer Consequences

DEAR ABBY: We live on a farm, and every summer we are bombarded with the kids of our city relatives. Summers are important to a farmer because if he doesn't get his crops harvested then, it can cost him hundreds of dollars. Yet every summer, as soon as school is out, we have an endless stream of kids getting in the way, taking up our time and slowing up our work.

Don't say, "Put them to work," because some of those city kids are so lazy they won't even pick up their own clothes. They would rather walk around them.

If the situation were reversed, and we sent our kids to our city relatives, would their husbands take the kids to the office and watch them all day so they wouldn't get into trouble, hurt themselves, or break something? And I wonder how many city wives would like to give up their bridge parties and make extra meals and do extra laundry for the kids. What do you suggest?

FARMER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I suggest you tell your city relatives exactly what you have told me. People who permit others to impose on them because they lack the nerve to say "No" have to put up with the consequences.

DEAR ABBY: My best friend from sorority (we are both graduated from college now) asked me to be her maid of honor. She's being married soon. I accepted. Then she called me long distance and said the best man was 6'4", and since I am only 5'1" we would look silly together. So how would I like to be one of the six bridesmaids? I said all right. Then she called me again and said she hoped I wouldn't feel bad but all the other bridesmaids were tall girls, and I was too short to be a bridesmaid. She made me promise I'd come to her wedding anyway. My mother says if I go I am a sap. Abby, I have never heard of cutting a girl out of a wedding party because she was too short, have you?

TOO SHORT

DEAR SHORT: No! Your friend, the bride, is also short on common sense and courtesy. I agree with your mother.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me what you think of a mother who lets her four-year-old child kick her, hit her and slam her over the head with his toys or anything he happens to have in his hand at the moment? This little monster is so spoiled it is pathetic, and he has a very ugly temper. My friend just laughs and says it doesn't hurt, and she makes no effort to correct or punish him. I feel so sorry for her.

AIRPORT ROAD

DEAR ROAD: Don't waste your sympathy on the mother. The "little monster" will need it when he goes to school and tries to use those tactics on his teacher and playmates. When a mother neglects to teach her child how to control his emotions, he learns the hard way. And pays dearly for the lesson.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FASHION - MINDED: Yes, the skirts are getting shorter, and the necklines are plunging deeper. And I don't like it, either, but as long as the two don't eventually meet, we are lucky.

World Affairs, Personal Development Banquet Is Held by B&PW Members

The World Affairs and Personal Development Banquet of the Pampa Business and Professional Womens' Club was held recently at the First Methodist Church, with Mrs. Helen Knox and Mrs. Nell Tinnin as chairmen.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Mattie Crowson. The president, Mrs. Ruby Crocker, welcomed guests and members of the club. Mrs. Leroy Thornburg, accompanied by Mrs. Duke, entertained the group with vocal selections.

Mrs. Bonnie Merriman of Amarillo, guest speaker, received a message of the death of her father shortly after arriving at the banquet, and left immediately for her father's home in Booker, Okla. Mrs. Jewell Dean Lewis introduced Mrs. Virginia McDonald, who so graciously and capably presented the outline of Mrs. Merriman's talk on "World Affairs and Personal Development." Mrs. McDonald said "World Affairs are our affairs in this space age." The speaker cited the American Field Service which has brought thousands of foreign students to the United States to live and attend school. She gave three steps which B&PW members can take to understand and interpret international affairs: first, know America; second, develop an understanding of U.S. foreign policy; and, third, make membership in the International Federation meaningful. Mrs. McDonald explained the various B&PW programs whereby scholarships for study and research in the U.S. are offered women from abroad and she pointed to the Minnie L. Maffett Nurses Residence at Taiwan, Formosa, as an example of B&PW in action.

The speaker reminded members of the International Congress to be held in Washington, D. C., July 29 through Aug 3, with delegates attending from at least 28 foreign countries.

Pink roses and springtime flowers were used as table decorations and on trellises arranged attractively throughout the dining hall.

Mrs. Flossie Anderson gave the club collect. Background music was furnished by Mrs. Hazel Franklin at the piano.

Forty-two guests attended.

"Nothing great is achieved without enthusiasm."—Emerson

Welcome to new Brownies! A new troop of Brownies has just been formed at Baker School. The leaders are Mrs. Barbara Willis and Mrs. B. R. Hall.

Miss Kate Booher, who is the regional advisor of Dallas, was in the Girl Scout office May 4 and 5 to consult with various members of the board and professional staff. Local office personnel and the volunteer workers gained much information and inspiration from Miss Booher.

Miss Celia Fowler and Mrs. Jim Terrell, field advisors for Quivira Council, returned Tuesday from Excelsior Springs. There, they have been receiving specialized Scout training. All the Scouts of our council will benefit from these women's experiences and appreciate the time spent at this session.

Many Pampa troops have been invited to the Field Day at Shamrock, Saturday, May 8, where camping skills will be demonstrated on all Scout levels. All day sessions will be held in skills such as lashing, a nature hike, first aid, and outdoor cookery. A special attraction will be a trip through the O'Gorman Caves near the campsite. The camp day will be over for Brownies at 5 p.m. but Junior, Cadette and Senior troops are invited to spend the night. Pampa Girl Scouts will be looking forward to a day of fun and adventure.

Sunrise Neighborhood had their Juliette Lowe Ceremony on Tuesday, April 27. Gale Gallegher, a Junior Scout, and Kathy Deist, a Senior, took part in the program. Mrs. John McCausland gave a talk about her experiences in Girl Guiding in her native England. Juliette Lowe banks from each troop were then presented. Afterward refreshments were served.

Monday May 3, a District II meeting was held. Camp registration deadlines were pointed out and emphaisized. Saturday, May 15, was designated as a work day at Camp Mel Davis. Fathers are urged to come to camp at 9 a.m. and help repair screens and fences, stock the wood pile, and help with the general clean-up of the camp to get it ready for summer camping.

Troop 6 has been doing some backyard camping to get ready for a weekend at Camp Mel Davis. This week end will be the troops first scouting in tents. The troop is currently working on the Troop Dramatics Badge. They plan to end the year with a picnic to which the parents will be invited and where they will finish the badge by performing a play.

Picnic Is Slated By Altar Society

GROOM (Spl) — Christian Mothers and Altar Society met in St. Mary's School Hall recently with Mrs. John Quirk, president, in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. Tom Britten opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Jerry Kotara read the minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs. W. H. Ollinger gave the financial report.

A parish picnic is being planned for May 23 to be held on the Bill Bralley Ranch.

The meeting was closed with prayer led by the Rev. Arnold Carlson, pastor.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Quirk to twelve members and Father Carlson.

Red Viet Cong A Faceless Man

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — The Communist Viet Cong is a faceless man.

He hurls a bomb in a busy Saigon street or crowded restaurant. He fights from ambush in the swamps of the Mekong River Delta, in the jungled highlands or from the shoulder-high grasses of the coastal plain.

But he is no mere terrorist. At his highest level he is a master of both psychological and military warfare, working under a table of organization perhaps even more efficient than the governments own. Each province has its commissar whose duties are the same as the government - appointed provincial chief.

In provinces under Communist control, notably in the heavily populated delta, the Viet Cong collect the taxes, supervise the schools and function as an organized government.

And despite massive United States aid to the South Vietnamese government, now running at $1.5 billion a year, he has shown steady gains.

Seek Peoples' Loyalty

U.S. military advisors emphasize that this is a war more for the loyalty and control of people than it is for geography. But by any measurement, the Communists have been winning.

For example, some 8 million of South Viet Nam's 14 million population live in the delta. U.S. military advisors figure that as of Jan. 1, 1963, the Viet Cong controlled 21 per cent of the population. By Jan. 1, 1964, that figure had risen to 23 per cent. And by January, 1964, to 24 per cent.

In the coastal plain, with a population of some 3 million, the Viet Cong were estimated to control 19 per cent of the population at the beginning of 1963. Within the next year that figure increased to 20 per cent and was estimated at 21 per cent at the beginning of this year.

In the highlands, Communist control is estimated at 50 per cent, a figure which has remained stable.

Who are the Viet Cong?

Had Fought French

In the beginning, they were the people who fought the French colonialists. When the Geneva conference of 1954 divided the country at the 17th parallel between North and South, 90,000 who had been fighting in the South went to the North.

Others remained in the South but their loyalties remained with Ho Chi Minh, the wispy Communist leader whom they regarded as the father of Viet Nam.

These were the hard core who continued to fight the South Vietnamese government in guerrilla attacks from 1954 onward.

In the North, the 90,000 Southerners became the manpower pool from which to replace the Viet Cong losses. They also were hard core, trained in the arts of subversion and sabotage as well as in the use of weaponry and military tactics.

The men infiltrating from the North enabled the Viet Cong to maintain and even increase their strength despite heavy losses.

Three Military Units

The Viet Cong are divided into three types of military units. At the top are the main forces, crack troops infiltrated from Communist North Viet Nam. Next to them are the mi-forces total up to 45,000, about equally divided between main and militia forces. Below them are the guerrillas estimated to number 80,000 to 100,000.

The fact that main and militia forces have increased by at least 10,000 in the last year is further evidence of Communist determination and success.

TRIP DISCUSSED

BONN (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle probably will visit West Germany on June 20, according to government sources here. French and West German officials have discussed the visit, but no fir mdate was set. West Germany disapproves of France's current approaches to the Communist countries of Eastern Europe and is dissatisfied with De Gaulle's reluctance to agree to a joint allied declaration on German unity to coincide with the 20th anniversary of the surrender of the Third Reich on May 8.

LOSE DOG SUIT — Paul Swan and his wife, Ruth, are shown in superior court in Los Angeles after their suit asking $100,000 in damages for the death of their dog, Max, was turned down. The Swans' testimony stated Max acted as errand boy, guard, companion canine and once saved the family house from being burned down. The court ruled that the couple failed to show proof that a vetrinary hospital should be held liable for the dog's death.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As anyone who has ever fallen in arrears on a charge account can attest, bill collectors are noted for their resourcefulness and dedication to duty.

If bill collectors ran the Red Cross, they likely would send bloodmobiles into turnip patches. What is more, they might turn up a few donors.

The perseverance and ingenuity of bill collectors probably cannot be matched anywhere—except by the perseverance and ingenuity of deadbeats.

When the bill collector and the deadbeat collide, you get a rough approximation of the irresistible force versus the immovable body.

This can lead to some rather interesting situations, one of which recently turned up before the Federal Trade Commission. Until the FTC put a stop to the practice, it worked something like this:

A Winner

A bill collector would send the name and address of a deadbeat to a man in Detroit. He, in turn, would send the deadbeat a postcard.

The card would inform the deadbeat that "Your name has been chosen as the recipient of a new model car. If you will answer all the questions, and fill out and mail the attached card, it will insure correct processing and proper delivery."

The questions that the deadbeat was invited to answer involved such things as the name of his employer, whether his wife was employed and what time he could usually be found at home.

The deadbeat, thinking he was about to receive a new auto, on which he would not have to default any payments, would complete the form and mail it back.

Then the man in Detroit would forward the information to the bill collector, who would use it to put the squeeze on the deadbeat.

In return for divulging data that wild horses couldn't drag from him otherwise, the deadbeat would receive a small plastic toy auto.

Although the FTC found this scheme deceptive, I think you will agree that it comes under the heading of creative thinking.

In fact, the eternal battle of wits between the bill collector and the deadbeat seems to have all the elements—cofnlict, suspense, intrigue, etc. — of high drama. It might make a fine series for television.

I have in mind a program called "Deadbeat." It features a handsome secret operator for a collection agency who is trying to track down a lovely young model who bought a fur-lined bikini on the installment plan and then defaulted o the plan and then defaulted on the pavments.

That toy auto could be the beginning of a beautiful romance.

GOODWILL MISSION

ROME (UPI) — Six officials of the Italian Communist party will undertake a goodwill mission to Cuba within the next few days as a demonstrative gesture against U.S. military action in the Dominican Republic.

A similar mission now is in North Viet Nam to discuss how Italy's Communists can render "concrete aid" to the Viet Cong. There was no indication the group going to Cuba would offer any such help to Dominican rebels.

FOR "SCHOOL MONEY"

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has approved an anti-poverty program to provide summer jobs for 70,000 young people who need money to return to school next fall.

Johnson said the $40 million program will provide rural conservation and city projects. A total of 27 states have indicated they want to take part.

Nearly 20 Million Elderly Receiving Old Age Funds

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There are at least nine federal agencies working to improve the lot of old people. The Social Security Administration sends checks to almost 20 million persons.

So what's the crisis? Why has President Johnson proclaimed May as "Senior Citizens Month" and why is he pushing so hard to get Congress to pass a bill providing medicare under Social Security?

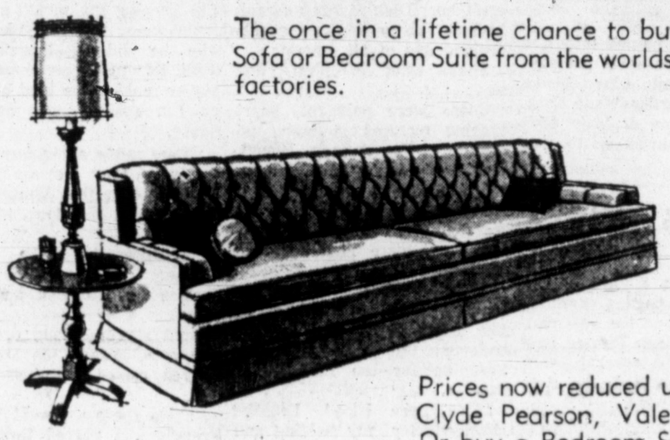

The answer is that, despite all the efforts of the federal government and the welfare programs of states and cities, millions of old persons still are living on the brink of poverty. The United States got a late start in taking care of its old folks compared to other nations living in a condition of advanced civilization. A problm so long neglected balloons up so large that it cannot be solved overnight.

The quickets way to get at the heart of the problem is to take the case of a family of two. The man is about to retire and he and his wife attended a class for elderly persons conducted by Prof. Woodrow Hunter of the University of Michigan in behalf of the United Auto Workers. The purpose of the class is to teach old people how to adjust to their new living conditions.

The couple submitted this budget under which they are now operating: Food (per month), $69. Housing, $59. Clothing, $27. Medical and health, $12. Auto and transportation, $45. Persona, $17. Recreation, $31. Taxes $34. Other, $20. There was no provision for savings. The man earned $314 a month and they budgeted all of it.

When the man retires, the couple's income will be $206 a month. Something is going to have to give because their standard of living is going to be cut more than 33 1-3 per cent. The first things to go probably will be their automobile and their $31 a month for recreation. This is what experts on the problem of aging dislike most. Loss of their automobile

More Legal Warfare Over Clay vs Liston

BOSTON (UPI)—A legal battle to determine whether the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston fight comes off as scheduled May 25 may generate more controversy than the heavyweight title bout itself.

Round two of a hearing on Suffolk County Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne's bid to block the Boston Garden match with a temporary injunction was scheduled to begin today in Superior Court.

Byrne, who claims the fight is being promoted in violation of Massachusetts law, won the first round Wednesday when Judge Felix Forte ruled the district attorney was acting properly and had a prima facie case in his petition to have the bout declared a "common nuisance."

Today the judge planned to listen to arguments by attorneys representing principals and promoters of the fight in answer to Byrne's petition.

One lawyer, Frank Kozol, flatly rejected an attempt to mediate the dispute out of court.

"I'm not going to agree on anything," Kozol said Wednesday night. "Let's come in (to court) tomorrow and have a full blown hearing."

Byrne contended in his petition that Inter-Continental Promotions Inc. of Chester, Pa., was staging the fight in Massachusetts without a license, and that such unlicensed bouts are a "common nuisance."

The petition named Inter-Continental Boston fight promoter Sam Silverman, Clay, Liston, the Boston Garden-Arena Corp., and the Boston & Maie Railroad, which owns Bosto Garden.

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Outfielder Robert Clemente, National League batting champion and All Star, and the best player the Pittsburgh Pirates have had in the past several years, wants to be traded, the Post-Gazette said today.

MILWAUKEE (UPI) —Pitcher Dick Farrell was expected to rejoin his Houston Astros teammates in Chicago today, after spending the night in a Milwaukee hospital for being hit on the head by a batted ball.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Bradley, a problem to college foes the last three years, proved even more of a dilemma to the New York Knickerbockers today when the National Basketball Association conducted its annual draft of college players.

The Knicks had to decide whether to risk using a pick on the two-time all-America, who is entering Oxford University next fall on a two-year Rhodes scholarship, or risk passing him up and allowing another team to choose him.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — They can't hurt Dick Stuart anymore because he already has been drained dry of all emotion.

That's what he claims, anyway.

There were poignant heart-tugging pictures in many papers showing Johnny Blanchard sobbing uncontrolably the other night after the New York Yankees traded him to the Kansas City A's, but Stuart promises there never will be any such picture of him.

"I've had everything bad happen to me that could possibly happen to a ballplayer," reflected the 32-year-old first baseman for the Philadelphia Phillies.

"I've been booed, benched ridiculed for my fielding and been traded. I've been sat on every way you can think of. They can't think of anything else to do that I know of.

"My mother always told me, 'try to think everything happens for the best.' And that's the way I try to think. If you don't think positively in this world, you're licked, right?"

Benched Against Lefty

This sudden soul-searching on the part of Stuart came about because he had been benched by manager Gene Mauch. What made it even worse was that he remained on the bench even when the Mets used left-hander Al Jackson against the Phils Tuesday night.

"I sat him down," said Mauch, "because he wasn't playing like I expected."

Stuart was surprised but he wasn't angry.

"I've been benched before," he said. "Who am I to argue with the manager? I did it once before with (Johnny) Pesky and I got in trouble. So now I'm keeping my mouth shut.

"I can't really understand why he did it, though," he went on. "For an established player making the kind of money I'm making, it's hard to figure.

"They made a big fuss about mr when they got me from Boston, over the Winter and now they sit me down after 15 games.

"It doesn't make sense to me. I had a good series against Los Angeles and that club has a good pitching staff. I went six-for-13 and drove in five runs against the Dodgers. I even raised my average to .300.

"From there we went to San Francisco. I played there two days and looked bad. Then I looked bad the first two days in Milwaukee and he benched me for the rest of the series."

If you were to put the big guy on the rack you never could get him to admit that his fielding is, well, for the want of two better words, plain lousy.

He thinks it's adequate although he doesn't get upset when critics coin such unflattering nicknames for him as "Dr. Strangeglove" and "old iron fingers."

"I don't let names like that bug me," he said. "I'm easy-going. The only one I ever get mad at is myself. I know my fielding can be improved and I work at it. Nobody ever says anything when I make some real good plays and I've made some already this season."

Mauch likewise sees little humor in the gags about Stuart's defensive ability and any time someone mentions "Dr. strangeglove" in front of the Philadelphia manager he says coldly:

"It's not a joking matter."

That's easy enough to understand. Most people merely laugh at Stuart's fielding. But poor Mauch has to sit there and watch it every day.

Arnie Choice In Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Old man par, an elusive target down through the years in the Colonial National Invitation golf tournament, may be a bit easier to catch in this year's affair which gets under way today with Arnold Palmer in the favorite's role.

The 7,162-yard Colonial Country Club layout with its "world's toughest" par 35-35—70 seldom gives much ground to the select fields which have tested its tortuous river-boardered acres in 18 previous tournaments.

Bantam Ben Hogan, who has won the tourney five times, struggled to a five-over-par 285 here in 1959 and still picked up the first - place check; Roberto de Vincenzo won in 1957 with a 284; Cary Middlecoff (1951), Hogan (1953) and Tommy Bolt (1958) turned the trick with 282s and Doug Sanders got there first in 1961 with a 281.

On three other occasions par times one-under-par 279s were 280 was good enough, five more worthy of the crown. Sam Snead won it with a 277 in 1950 and has been back but once since, and Chandler Harper did it with a 275 in 1955.

Ralph Terry Shuts Out Yankees On Three Hits

Ralph Terry was thinking back to the seventh game of the 1962 World Series when Bobby Richardson snared Willie McCovey's line drive for the final out to preserve Terry's 1-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Terry, who won two games for the Yankees in that series, was the series hero and took home a fat check, a new car and the admiration of millions.

Wednesday night, the 29-year-old Terry shut out his former Yankee teammates on three singles, 4-0, for the Cleveland Indians. There was no extra pay, no new car nor a flood of autograph seekers as a result of the feat, but to Terry:

"It has to be one of the happiest games Ive ever pitched."

Makes Terry Happy

"I tried not to get myself too worked up for this particular game, but this makes me very happy," gleamed Terry, trying without much success to conceal his glee over beating the team that had considered him no longer useful. The Yanks traded Terry to Cleveland last October after he won seven and lost 11 in 1964.

"I didn't think I had too much stuff but I was able to control it. It helped, of course, to have those three big men out of the New York lineup," Terry said, referring to Elston Howard, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle, all sidelined with injuries.

"I know them and I respect them and they're still tough," Terry said, and then added, "I'm not mad at anybody."

The Indians did all the scoring in the first inning against Whitey Ford on a three-run homer by Fred Whitfield (his second in two days) and a solo blast by Leon Wagner. The victory for Terry was his fourth against only one loss and lowered his earned run average to 1.90.

Other AL Action

Chicago belted Detroit twice, 4-0 and 4-1, to increase its league lead to one game over Minnesota, which bombarded Baltimore 9-2. Los Angeles whipped Boston 6-4, in the only other American League game scheduled.

Joel Horlen and John Buzhardt each threw a four-hitter for the pitching-rich White Sox who stretched their victory streak to four at the Tigers' expense.

Horlen yielded an inside-the-park home run to Dick McAuliffe in the nightcap before the White Sox rallied for four runs in the seventh inning against Dave Wickersham. Pinch hitter Smokey Burgess's two-run single was the big blow.

Wins Third Game

Buzhardt struck out 11 and walked three in posting his third straight victory and lowering his ERA to 0.75. Bill Skowron and Ron Hansen homered in support of Buzhardt.

Minnesota pounded out 14 hits and scored five unearned runs in handing Steve Barber his third defeat. Zoilo Versalles, who increased his batting mark to .315, had four hits, including a double and triple and drove in four runs. Camilo Pascual (3-0) was the winner, allowing six hits.

The Los Angeles Angels vaulted into third place when Jim Fregosi tripled to break a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning then raced home when the ball was bobbled in the outfield. Paul Schaal slammed his fifth homer in the sixth for the decisive run.

Ramsey Pleased With Scrimmage

"We scrimmaged a good 30 minutes yesterday after the workout, using primarily the first two offensive units," reported PHS football coach Eural Ramsey this morning on the progress of the second week of spring training.

"The overall picture was quite a bit brighter than it was Saturday. We thought the blocking was much improved and definitely so the ability of the backs to hit the holes that they had been missing Saturday.

"The linemen chiefly responsible for opening holes were Dan Patterson, Larry Eckroat, Big Billy Quarles, Woody Leonard and Teddy Bird, who were with the first unit that scrimmaged. The second unit linemen doing exceptional blocking were Gunner Matney, Doc Cornutt, Tunafish Keyser, David Martindale, Beetle Lewis and Gary Jarrar.

"We can't single out any real standouts because there was consistent blocking all up and down the line, and holes opened by almost everyone. The blocking was not only confined to the linemen, but our halfbacks did a good job also. The running of five halfbacks, Mighty Meers, Gary McCarrell, Joey Roden, Rowdy Rowden and Deadeye Mitchell, was very pleasing because of the consistent breaks and long runs that they made.

"Standout quarterbacking was provided by Roy Harper and Smitty Goodlett. Bull Heiskell, despite being back out for the first day because of a sore leg, did some very good power running. Jimmy Moore, who is doubling at baseball and football, was recently changed to fullback, and probably showed the most improvement of anyone.

"Defensively, Jimmy Lefton, Terry Troxell, and Barry Craig, the linebackers, were in on a number of sharp tackles.

"Summing it up, I would say that so far, the outlook has been very good, with expectations of still more improvement with continued work.

"We will have an intrasquad scrimmage again Saturday, starting between 3:30 and 4 p.m. We'll try to split them into two evenly-matched teams for both offense and defense. Athletic director Weldon Trice is trying to get the Harvester baseball game with Borger Saturday moved up to 1 p.m. so that our fans can see both the ball game and the scrimmage."

Canyon Gets Greenwood

CANYON — Jim Greenwood and Don Ward have been hired as coaches for Canyon High School.

Greenwood replaces E. J. Webb as football coach, while Ward replaces Roy Kieval as basketball coach. Both Webb and Kieval resigned.

The 31-year-old Greenwood has been head coach at Stratford for two successful years. In his first year as head coach in 1963, the Elks won 10 games, lost two and reached the second round of the Class A state playoffs.

Greenwood coached the Elks to an 8-4-1 mark this past season and they reached the state quarterfinals.

Ward, 37, has coached Hobart, Okla., to records of 8-16, 21-7, 22-3, and 22-2 for the past four years. Prior to that he coached at Arnett, Okla., Samnorwood, Eakley, Okla., and Gruver.

For 12 summers Ward has been an American Legion baseball coach. He was also athletic director and assistant football coach at Hobart.

Both Ward and Greenwood received one-year contracts.

Webb has accepted an assistant coaching job at Pampa High School. Kieval expects to take another coaching position.

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE

THERE SEEM to be questions concerning the entire future of the summer baseball program in Pampa, although only the semi-pro Colts are in serious trouble.

THE COLTS' problem is whether there is going to be a league for them to play in, and if not, what? Seems three meetings of the Tri-State League have been called to date and Borger and Pampa are the only teams that have shown up. Amarillo Graham hasn't committed itself, several of the other teams have apparently disbanded, and others are joining the Irrigation League, reports Jess Middleton. Borger is planning to join the IL if the Tri-State doesn't shape up, and Middleton hopes that the powers-that-be see fit to put Pampa in also.

It would be a shame for a fine team to go out of existence, especially with all the talent around here.

THE AMERICAN Legion Pampa Rebels are all set for their season, with tryouts beginning May 21, and the opening game against Shattuck May 29, but their big problem is what will happen to the Harvesters.

Ordinarily the PHS season ends May 18, but with the Big Green tied for first, it is eminently possible that they will either be in a district playoff or post-season play for longer than that, and with a large number of the Rebs coming from the high school team, that poses a big problem, albeit an enjoyable one for baseball fans.

THE PROBLEM of the Babe Ruth and Little Leagues are their opening ceremonies. They were originally scheduled for this Saturday, with members of the Amarillo Sonics as guests and the Swing Kings providing the entertainment. However, neither group could be here on either the 8th, or the following weekend, according to reports, and the ceremonies are up in the air.

Regular play is supposed to start May 10. So far we have not received any schedules however, and cannot verify this. We would appreciate schedules as soon as possible so that we can report accordingly.

FIRST OF THE graduation invitations in is from Big Ray Guerrero, one of our favorite people from Miami. Every year this scribe has a pretty rugged time fitting in the graduation ceremonies of Pampa, White Deer, Lefors, etc., along with Rebel tryouts and league meetings, but I'll do my best. Some really fine athletes will be saying goodbye this year, as every year, and some going on to college fame. Among these are Big Ray, to Clarendon JC; Eddie Kleibrink of WD to Texas Tech; Dunk Porter of Wheeler to OSU; Jim Arthur of Pampa to U of Houston; Myron Scribner to New Mexico Western; Eddie Jay Windom of McLean to Tech; etc.

Many are still undecided, including all of Pampa's basketball team, although it is more than likely that most of them will end up at Howard County. Several schools are wooing Pampa tracksters, half-a-dozen desiring Mark Westbrook and OU and North Texas State eyeing hurdlers Bones Bullard and Randy Johnston.

Pampa's baseball seniors are also up for grabs except for those getting scholastic, football or cage scholarships. The pros and several colleges, including OU and UH, are watching Jerry Garrison, OU and Texas looking at Steve Molberg, and several more fixing their eyes on Ricky Maynard.

Junior Golf May 25-27

A Junior Golf Tournament for youngsters from nine to 15 years old, will be held May 25 through May 27 at the Pampa Country Club.

There will be three divisions in the tourney. Ages 14-15 will play 54 holes, 12-13 36 holes and under 12 nine holes.

Youngsters can register at the PCC with golf pro Hart Warren, or with athletic director Weldon Trice at Pampa High.

Koufax Pitches Dodgers to 1st

Jim Bunning just got "too smart," according to his manager, Gene Mauch.

Bunning, the perfect game pitcher of last June 21 and a 19-game winner, lost three of his first four games this season but Mauch claimed he had "great stuff in every game."

"Jim was just over pitching. He knew the hitters' weaknesses and was moving the ball around too much trying to pitch to those weaknesses instead of relying on his own strength," the Philadelphia Phillies manager said.

Wednesday night Bunning decided to forget a lot of the book on the hitters and just rar back and throw. The result was a four-hit shutout of the New York Mets, 1-0, and Bunning slugged the game-winning homer in the bargain.

"That was the difference," Mauch analyzed. "He was loose and was just fogging them in there."

Bunning, however, was talking only about the sixth inning home run he hit off 44-year-old Warren Spahn, the hard luck loser in the duel who also allowed only four safeties.

"That's the first homer I've ever hit to right field and it's the first I've had in the National League," Bunning said. "I hit three in the American League and I've yet to hit one at home."

Sandy Koufax pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers into first place in the NL, beating the Cincinnati Reds 4-2; Wade Blasingame hurled 14 innings for Milwaukee and Eddie Mathews doubled home the winning run in the 14th for a 2-1 victory over Houston; Bob Buhl of the Cubs three-hit Pittsburgh for a 3-1 Chicago triumph and San Francisco whipped St. Louis 10-5 in 10 innings.

Blasingame, a 21-year-old $100,000 bonus baby, allowed only five hits and struck out 12 in going the longest distance of any pitcher this season to even his record at 2-2. The only run he allowed was Rusty Staub's second home run in the seventh.

Joe Torre homered for the Braves' other run in the tifth off starter Dick Farrell, who locked up with Blasingame in a duel for nine innings.

Farrell allowed just five hits until the ninth when a line drive off Hank Aaron's bat hit the Houston pitcher in the head, bounced in the air and was caught on the fly by second baseman Joe Morgan for an out. Farrell finished the inning but was removed for a pinchhitter in the 10th and was taken to a Milwaukee hospital for observation. Claude Raymond was the loser.

Ron Fairly and Dick Tracewski hit home runs in supported a struggling Koufax, who alowed nine hits, struck out eight and hit a batter which forced in a run, en route to his third victory in four decisions. Jim O'Toole suffered his fourth consecutive loss for the Reds.

Willie Mays tied the game with his eighth home run in the eighth inning and doubled home another in a five-run 10th inning for the Giants against reliever Ray Washburn. Jim Davenport's third double of the game and a three-run triple by Willie McCovey featured the 10th inning fireworks, which folowed two errors by second baseman Phil Gagliano.

Buhl's shutout bid for the Cubs was ruined in the eighth when Jim Pagliaroni homered for the Pirates. Vernon Law was the victim of a couple of misplays which sent him down to his fourth straight loss. Glenn Beckert and Len Gabrielson each had two hits for the Cubs.

Sonics Shock Spurs, 11-1

By United Press International

The Amarillo Sonics unlimbered their bats Wednesday night and gave the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs an 11-1 baseball lesson.

The loss shortened the Spurs Eastern Division Texas League lead to two games over the Tulsa Oilers, a 5-1 winner over Albuquerque. The El Paso Sun Kings and Austin Braves had to call a halt to their scheduled action thanks to a heavy rainstorm.

The Sonics lashed three Spur pitchers for 14 hits, one of them a three-run homer by Jack McClure. Raymond Cordeiro went the distance, allowing only eight hits and pitching shutout ball until the Spurs got their only tally in the top of the ninth.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

It's Cleanup Time in Pampa

Pampa is launching another Fix-up, Paint-up, Clean-up campagin and it behooves all of us to get behind the program to make the city a bright and shiny place to live.

Pampans are being urged to get ready for the drive which starts next Monday. That means that this week we should all be busy cleaning up the yards and alleys and getting rid of all that junk hat has collected around the placed during the past year.

This year's pickpup plan is different than before. The drive will not be conducted by wards. Instead all trash in all sections of the city should be ready for the trucks when they start out Monday morning.

The campaign will run for 12 days and the trucks will make their runs through the city as fast as possible with a return trip planned for the final couple of days to pick up anything that has been missed.

The Chamber of Commerce and the city officials are ramrodding the drive this year. Members of the Pampa Lions Club are assisting by selling trash barrels to replace old ones and painting receptacles that need a new paint job.

Lot owners should cut weeds. Property owners can help by cleaning up yards, lots alleys and garbage facilities.

A cleanup campaign is a splendid idea, not spectacular but vital. But to be a success it requires the cooperation of every individual and of the city and school district both of which own considerable acreage around the city.

So, help keep your city clean and attractive. It's good business, good neighborliness and good health practice.

Why Not Get on the Inside?

The Chamber of Commerce, one of Pampa's vital life-lines, is in need of your financial support.

The annual chamber fund-raising campaign is off to a good start to sign up members for the next year of operation. Scores of volunteer workers are hoping to boost the membership list to its highest figure in history.

The Chamber of Commerce in Pampa operates solely as a privately financed organization, rather than a tax-supported subsidy.

To operate successfully, the chamber needs $35,000 a year. Of this amount, $27,500 already is in the kitty. It is the last $7,500 that workers now are trying to raise. The last dollars in any drive usually are the toughest to raise.

The minimum membership fee is $25. Business and industry kicks in the main part of the needed funds, but the Chamber of Commerce is an organization which benefits every individual indirectly.

Many more individual memberships are needed to make the drive a success. The Chamber helps you to build Pampa.

The slogan for the membership campaign is, "You Miss So Much When You're on the Outside."

Why not get on the inside?

Help, Please, Mother Nature

The social oddities into which we capricious mortals are drifting are emphasized by a couple of recent news items. To wit:

—The head of the world's largest manufacturer of men's and boys' clothing has found it necessary to publicly state his concern over creeping femininity in men's fashions.

—Sponsors of the "Early Bird" commercial communications satellite are wondering if the public will tolerate a delay of six-tenths of a second in receiving replies during their transatlantic telephone conversations.

These are sobering and significant commentaries on the trend and pace of spaceage living.

It is getting harder by the hour to tell boys from girls. Skin-tight pants, fancy boots, pinched-in waists, elaborate hairdos and even plunging necklines are no longer exclusive with girls. Mercy no!

And as for hustle and bustle, we eager beaver breadwinners are carrying our eager-beavering to fantastic extremes. If a busy, busy businessman misses one section of a revolving door on the way to his office these days, his schedule is fouled up for the next two weeks.

Maybe these social quirks are mere passing foibles and will go away in the cold, gray dawn of common sense. If they don't, heaven help us.

Mother Nature, can't you please do something?

Give Her Credit

A young lady in San Francisco is trying to prove it is possible to live for a full month on a credit card without spending a cent of cash.

Her name is Ann Ayleen Foley. Her sponsor is a big bank which by sheer coincidence happens to issue the particular brand of credit card she is using.

Without taking anything away from Miss Foley, it is only stating a fact to say that even if she achieves her goal, she actually hasn't done such a much.

Many resourceful Americans are demonstrating that it is possible to go through life these days with practically no cash.

They live in mortgaged homes, drive friendly financed cars, buy gas, oil, tires, parts and food on tick, and dress in high fashion on convenient charge accounts.

But they do, alas, need just a little cash now and then.

So all America is waiting to learn if Miss Foley can find a way to use her credit card on vending machines, parking meters, public pay phones and other public facilities where up to now a coin in the slot is worth a million credit cards in the hand.

The luck of the Irish to you, Miss Ann Ayleen Foley. We hope it's in the credit cards for you to come in a winner.

Think what it will mean to the rest of us!

Wit and Whimsy

Columbus' four voyages were undertaken partly because of his fervent belief in unfilled prophecies. For example, he had calculated from a study of the Bible that the earth's course had only 155 years to run; this caused his sense of urgency.

You're an old-timer if you think of the town square as a place and not as a person.

Eat, Drink and be Merry, for tomorrow ye diet.

The scars of war may heal, but Congress will never forget the new methods of taxation which the war developed.

CAPITOL EYE:

News For Critics of Bombings

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The critics of U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam are off on another comedy of historical errors.

Having already misstated the meaning of unconditional surrender and misread the history of the Korean war, some now argue:

1. That bombing is no way to bring an adversary to the peace table, since it only makes him madder and stiffens his resistence.

2. That strategic bombing never accomplishes much anyway, so we are wasting our time.

To the first argument, history lends no support at all.

The European phase of World War II lasted six years. Of all the Allied bombing tonnage, 72 per cent of that dropped on Germany was dumped in the final 10 months of war. That hardly qualifies as a peace table peppermint stick.

In four days of March, 1945, a total of 9,000 Allied planes flew 42,000 missions — more than all Allied missions in the full year 1942 — in a concentrated assault on Germany's industrial Ruhr.

Steady bombing of Japan began only 11 months before Tokyo's surrender in August, 1945. But of this country's 33,000 sorties with B-29s, mostly from island bases, 90 per cent took place in the final five months when we were pounding the Japs into submission.

U. S. wartime leaders' memoirs, and accompanying documents, make plain that had we gone ahead with plans to invade Japan in November of 1945, we would have further intensified the bombings.

Our heavy fire raids against the enemy had by August burned the urban heart out of more than 60 major Japanese cities. Some were more than half destroyed. A single fire raid on Tokyo, just a few months before war's end, killed 97,000 Japanese — some 30,000 more than were killed in the atomic bombing of Hiroshima.

Obviously, in operations governing both World War II theaters, military men and civilian leaders alike believed that the way to bring the enemy to the table was to smack him hard—without letup right to the end. No one ever suggested easing off.

The second contention of the critics, that bombing is not of much value anyway, is more difficult to answer. But history gives it no clear support.

Nobody, of course, questions the worth of tactical bombing in immediate support of ground troops. Questions arise over the two kinds of strategic air offensive — target pinpointing and area saturation bombing of the sort directed against German and Japanese cities.

Exhaustive official postwar surveys of bombing results show that precision bombing of Axis war plants very often had little decisive, lasting effect.

But crucial damage was at length done to German aircraft production. Bombings of oil refineries and depots finally all but grounded the German air force for lack of fuel. Allied superiority in the crushing Ruhr air offensive was often 80 to 1.

Furthermore, endless bombing of rail yards, bridges, highway intersections and the like finally brought virtual collapse of the enemy's transportation system. The effect was widespread.

The studies indicate that civilian morale was hurt, but not broken, by mass raids on cities. People surveyed in bombed cities were a little more wiling to surrender than those in unbombed towns.

Already pummeled hard by mid-1944, three-fourths of all Germans thought then that the war was lost. No one can be sure what part the saturation bombings contributed to that notion. It would be unrealistic to say none at all, since 31 German cities had seen their cores leveled. The bombed-out area of Berlin was 10 times greater than London's. Firestorms ruined Hamburg and Dresden.

Large elements of Japan's cabinet wanted to sue for peace in the spring of 1945, months before Hiroshima. One peace feeler went out before July 1. The devastation of Japan's cities, with resulting lowered morale, can hardly have been an irrelevant factor. Only a few contolling fanatics kept the war going until Hiroshima.

A Voice From the Past

William Graham Sumner (1840-1910) was the author of the famous label "the forgotten man". According to Sumner, the pattern was always the same: Mr. A noted the terrible conditions in which Mr. B lived, so Mr. A proposed legislation to provide a subsidy to Mr. B—to be paid for by Mr. C. According to Sumner, Mr. C was the forgotten man — the fellow who wound up paying for all the social reforms proposed by the demagogues.

Sumner was the late-nineteenth century version of the modern-day "extremist". He was distrustful of political power, no matter who exercised it. Strange as it may seem, even in Sumner's time, there was plenty to fear from Washington and other seats of power.

This is brought out plainly in a new paperback volume of William Graham Sumner articles — "The Conquest of the United States by Spaink and other essays" (published by Regnery, 114 W. Illinois St., Chicago 10, Ill.; $1.45).

In these essays, Sumner describes the political attacks upon industrial power, the constant agitation for protective economic legislation, the recurrent attempts by politicians to drag this country into war, etc. — in other words, most of the evils of politics we are contending with today. Perhaps the degree of political intervention was less then, but the evil existed and was growing.

Sumner paid particular attention to the recurring agitation for war, and pointed out that one of America's great strengths was its relative isolationism. With no large neighbors to menace it, no requirement or large standing armies, and no reason to become embroiled in the intrigues of other governments, Americans had the opportunity to concentrate upon production of a high standard of living. As he plainly perceived, however, politicians do not thrive upon tranquility.

He recognized protective tariffs, built into the original Constitution as a seed of self-destruction for the country. "... the protective system has been the origin of all the ramifications of the special abuses of legislation which have come in since, for the evil methods were invented in connection with tariff legislation, and the great device for forcing legislation on behalf of other special interest has been to threaten to break the steal if not admitted into it. . .It has, therefore, become a question in regard to every 'reform' whether it is a real contest against an abuse for the purpose of destroying it or only a means of forcing admission for another party into the profits of the abuse. The reforms all die, one after another, when the clamor ceases, and that comes when those who made the outcry have been appeased by a slice of the plunder."

In another essay, Sumner set forth many prophetic glimpses of the twentieth century. He foretold the wars and burgeoning growth of political power—arising from the seeds of political power planted in the nineteenth century.
