Nice going, spellers

Most surprising to us about Post's TABS results was the 93 percent of our ninth grade class rated as mastering spelling in the written test.

The class scored higher in only two other categories, following written instructions 95 percent, and add subtract whole numbers 94 percent of the 28 categories into which the mathematics, reading and writing tests were broken down.

The Texas Monthly recently challenged the writing portion of the TABS, but as we recall did not voice any real complaints about spelling.

The Dispatch does not propose to question the accuracy of TABS spelling evaluations although we have seen a whole lot of words literally destroyed by PHS students in their written efforts that have reached the editor's desk of this newspaper in recent years.

Rather than challenge TABS, we want to compliment our ninth graders on their spelling achievement.

Spelling is not an easy discipline to master.

First, spelling is not taught as spelling in our schools. In other words a student does not have a spelling class. He or she is graded up or down in English courses for spelling abilities.

About the only way, spelling is spotlighted in our educational system today is in the old fashioned spelling bee conducted by newspapers on a national scale.

As we remember, Southland spellers regularly defeated Post spellers through the years for the Garza County spelling bee crown.

To our recollections, no Garza speller has ever won the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's South Plains spelling title and a free trip to Washington to compete in the national spell down.

Spelling is more of a discipline than an ability.

First off, to be a good speller one must realize his or her limitations. In other words, he or she must know or sense when he or she does not know how to correctly spell a word.

If the speller doesn't know when he is wrong, or if he doesn't get an insecure feeling over a seldom used word then he is in deep trouble.

A second difficulty with spelling is that oftentimes it is anything but easy to determine the correct spelling of a word by using the dictionary. If you don't know how to even start to spell a word, what do you look up even if you have a dictionary and are inclined to use it?

We contend after 30 years in the newspaper business where spelling is essential that phonetics is the best way to approach spelling. Phonetics is the science of speech sounds considered as elements of language. Most words we commonly use can be spelled through a phonetic approach. Of course there are hundreds, probably thousands that can't, but it remains a good starting place unless one is trying to spell a word which has come to use from the French language for example.

There is no better way of course to perfect spelling than by repeated use of a dictionary. Parents who refuse to spell words for their youngsters and require the kids to consult the home dictionary instead are doing their offspring a real favor.

The late Charles Didway, The Dispatch's editor for many years, was one of the best spellers we have ever known. We can say with complete confidence that many issues of The Dispatch were error free and that seldom, if ever, did a misspelled word appear in this newspaper while he sat at the editor's desk.

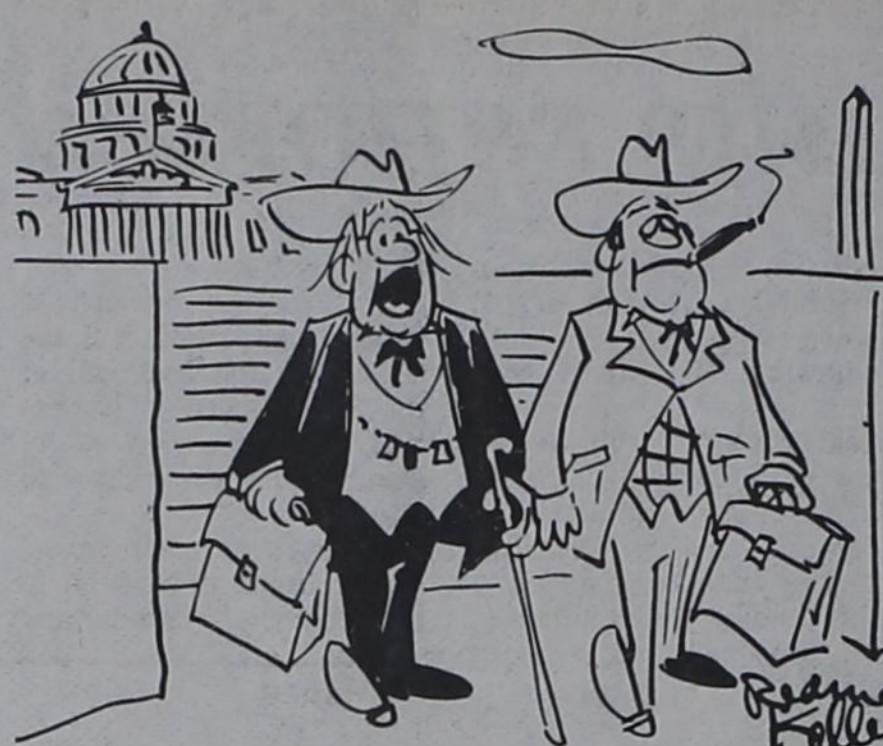

Charlie read every word that went into this newspaper. He was the proof reader and he managed to find most of the typographic (or printing) errors in The Dispatch and correct them before the reader got his paper.

We admit The Dispatch isn't that accurate these days although the entire staff tries its level best to keep out errors and there are very few misspelled words in any edition that are not simply uncaught typographical errors.

But getting back to the subject of this editorial — our ninth graders' spelling ability. Good spelling is a real asset to everyone who has trained himself or herself in the discipline. A few misspelled words can destroy a person's educational reputation quicker than any other way we know.

The ability to express one's self in writing can carry a person far in this world providing he or she has thoughts worth expressing. Spelling is one of the tools of the writing trade and not an easy one to master.

We have always believed schools do not pay enough attention to spelling, but we are pleased to see that our ninth graders are acceptable spellers in the eyes of the state of Texas.

Sanderson is photo winner

Arnold Sanderson was one of six winners selected this past weekend in the 42nd Annual Kodak International Newspaper Snapshot contest sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

His wildlife color photo of a coyote was selected as first place winner. The photo will now be eligible for further awards when competition ends July 12.

Arnold has been photographing wildlife as a hobby for about three years. He also photos western scenes.

Field Day set June 25 on Post-Montgomery ranch

A field day will be held on the Post-Montgomery Estate Ranch near Post on Wednesday, June 25 to view research on weeping lovegrass seeding and management, grazing systems, and effect of brush control on water infiltration and runoff.

The research is conducted by Drs. Ron Sosebee and Bill Dahl of Texas Tech University. The field day is sponsored by the Texas Section SRM, Texas Tech University, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Garza Soil and Water Conservation District.

Registration will be conducted from 8:30 to 9:00 a.m. at an entrance to the ranch located approximately by nine miles northeast of Post on Farm Road 651 or approximately 29 miles south of Crosbyton on Farm Road 651 (if traveling from north) - look for signs.

The program is:

8:30 to 9:00 a.m. - Registration - ranch entrance on FM 651, 9 miles northeast of Post or 29 miles south of Crosbyton.

9:00 to 9:30 a.m. - Assemble and travel to research site.

9:30 to 11:30 a.m. - Tour and discuss weeping lovegrass seeding and management, short duration grazing systems (Savory or cell type) on weeping lovegrass and rangeland. Dr. Bill Dahl will lead the discussion.

11:30 a.m. - Dutch treat lunch.

1:30 p.m. - Reassemble at research site approximately 3 miles north of Post on Texas Highway 207.

1:30 to 3:00 p.m. - Tour and discuss research on effects of brush control on water infiltration and runoff.

3:00 p.m. - Adjourn. Interested individuals can take an optional tour of research and demonstration plots on use of Graslan (tebuthiuron) for sand shiner oak and mesquite control.

Pair listed on WTSU honor rolls

Two Garza county students are among the 800 listed on the President's List and dean's list honor rolls for the spring semester at West Texas State University.

The pair, both on the dean's list, are Katrina M. Chaffin, freshman business education major, and Andrea H. Thomas, a senior in generic special education.

ARIZONA VISITORS

Mrs. Harry Askins, Sr. and Mrs. Harry Askins, Jr. of Coolidge, Ariz. are visiting with relatives in Post this week. Relatives are Mr. and Mrs. Homer McCrary and Mrs. Leonard Askins.

Our Thanks

The family of Oliver McMahon would like to express their deep appreciation to all our friends and loved ones for the love, concern, prayers, gifts, floral tributes, food, cards, visits and calls. Thanks too, to those who honored us by service in any capacity at this time. Thanks to the staff of Huntley Nursing Home for their care and concern.

Thanks to those who have contributed to the Oliver McMahon Memorial Fund which has been established at the Church of the Nazarene. This fund will be used only for a worthwhile project which would be fitting for one who loved Christ his Lord, and His Church. Final plans are not yet made, but perhaps an amplifier system, new piano or organ.

Thanks to our Church family for their care, not only in the above ways, but also in the serving of meals, singing in the choir, assisting with the service and any needs we had. The very moving tribute to his father which was given by Reverend Louis Oliver McMahon during the service - the quiet care of the attendants - the wonderful tributes by Reverend Buford Batten and Pastor Evans - the support of Dr. Fuller and the West Texas District of the Church of the Nazarene - all of these mean much to us.

A very special thanks to Mrs. Patty Kirkpatrick for her lovely performance at the organ and especially the beautiful rendition of the Hallelujah Chorus concluding the service. All of these will never be forgotten.

You have helped us so much during this time of deep loss - our loved one will be sorely missed, not only by his family but also his church, local and general, and his many friends here and everywhere.

The Family of
Oliver McMahon

Diane Klein is honored

A miscellaneous wedding shower honored Miss Diane Klein, bride-elect of David McBride, Friday, June 13 in the rural home of Mrs. Lucile Bush.

Miss Susan Cadenhead, friend of the honoree, registered the 48 guests attending between the hours of 7:30 and 9 p.m.

Guests were received by Mrs. Bush who introduced them to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Henry Klein of Lubbock and Mrs. Joe Williams, mother of the future bridegroom.

Decorations throughout the home were carried out in the bride's chosen colors of burgandy and orchid.

The serving table was laid with a white cloth featuring a silk flower arrangement in burgandy and orchid with tapers in the same colors. Orchid china plates, belonging to Anna Laura Francis were used with a silver coffee service to serve the miniature sandwiches, filled orchid cookies, nuts and mints. Grape shubert punch and coffee were also served.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Mary Martin, Rene Fluit, Natalie Shepherd, Juanella Hays, Sue Maxey, Jane Terry, Thelma Mason, Mary Peel, Mary Stone, Myrtle Peel, Beatrice Morris, Nona Lusk, Eddie Aten, Kathy Fluit, Anna Laura Francis, Sybil Cockrum, Helen Mason, Glenda McClellan, Nita McClellan, Willie Mason, Lucile Morris, Tommy Williams, Johnnie Norman, Rena Ferguson and Lucile Bush.

Hostess gift was a Hoover vacuum cleaner.

The couple will wed July 5 in Lubbock's St. Matthews Methodist Church.

Shower honors Belinda Fluit

Miss Belinda Fluit, bride elect of Mike Bean, was honored with a lingerie shower in the home of Mrs. Mack Terry, Saturday from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

The bride's chosen colors of blue and white were carried out in the home decorations.

Attending the affair were Kathy Fluit, Rene Fluit, Lucile Bush, Meagan Bush, Larisa Shiver, Carla Morris, Leanna Davis, Debbie Tyler, Kerri Pool, Nita Jo Heckaman, Cindy and Jane Terry.

Program trains Tarleton nurses for rural medicine

STEPHENVILLE — Ninety percent of the graduates from a new nursing program at Tarleton State University end up in small-town hospitals — just where project coordinators want them.

The two-year associate degree program operates under the philosophy that if students from small towns are taught nursing at a small-town university, perhaps they'll decide to live and work in a small town, where they're needed most.

Two graduating classes later, Tarleton's program seems to be making some dents in the face of severe professional nurse shortages. Of the 36 nurses who have completed the program, 31 are now working in small hospitals.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Halbert III of Monahans announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kidie, to Joe Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Moore of route 2, Post. Miss Halbert is a 1977 graduate of Monahans High School and is a senior park administration and recreation major at Texas Tech University. Joe is a 1975 graduate of Post High School and attended Angelo State University for three years. He is employed by El Gato Drilling Company. The couple plans an August 16 wedding in Saint Johns Episcopal Church of Sonora.

TEEN SCENE By Norm

For all of you that want to know how pretty you looked at the Junior-Senior Banquet you can now do so, cause the pictures are in! They may be picked up at the high school office between 8 and 12 and 1 and 4 week days.

Happy Birthday this week goes out to Roxanne McClellan and Craig Peel. One of them is in the paper elsewhere in a cute birthday ad.

All of you youth center members take notice of the ad on page nine. Lots of exciting things are about to happen there. Aerobics and line dances are going to be taught, such as Cotton-Eyed Joe and others. Now don't say you aren't interested

Artist gives demonstration

Dwayne Cornelius of Crosbyton was guest speaker for the Post Art Guild when it met recently for its June meeting.

Cornelius gave a demonstration of sculpture techniques and members of the local guild molded objects in wax. Cornelius has been an artist for several years sketching and painting, but just started sculpting two years ago. He won an award in the Post Art Show this spring.

Hostess, Betty Boren served cake, cookies and Coke to members, Geraldine Butler, Ann Bratcher, Sheri Riedel, Lil Conner; guests, Bea Blair and Priscilla Williams and new members, Quenie Cook, Nancy Childers, Doyleene Fry and Betty Curry.

In 1643 on Manhattan Island, there were over 20 different nationalities and sects, speaking 18 different languages.

Women to help on barbecue

The Women's Division of the Post Chamber of Commerce met for a regular meeting June 11 at noon in the Reddy Room, with president, Voda Beth Gradine presiding.

It was decided that the ladies chamber will assist the food ready for the July 4th barbecue and tentative plans were also made to put a sign on the community center and also road signs designating where it's located.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Gradine, Carol Brazier, Ruby Kirkpatrick, Geraldine Butler, Joy Greer and Helen Richards.

Students speak to support system of free enterprise

COLLEGE STATION — Led by the only Rhodes Scholar from a Texas college or university this year, 18 Texas A&M University students are involved in an unusual experiment — speaking out in defense of the free enterprise system.

Under the sponsorship of the Texas A&M Center for Education and Research in Free Enterprise, an economic think-tank, the students have made presentations to civic and business groups throughout Texas.

In addition to their speaking engagements, members of the group are also writing a series of essays which they plan to compile into a book discussing the morality of free enterprise, inflation, the minimum wage and other economic topics.

Shower given Amy Philpott

A miscellaneous wedding shower honored Miss Amy Philpott, bride-elect of Rodney Teaff, Saturday morning, June 16 in the bank community room.

The 30 guests attending between the hours of 10 a.m. and 11:30 were registered by Miss Vicki Teaff, sister of the future bridegroom.

Special guests for the occasion were Mrs. Joyce Teaff, mother of the future bridegroom and Mrs. V. C. Lauderdale, his grandmother.

Refreshments of sausage balls, cheese grits, cookies, fruit bowl and coffee were served from a table laid with a white handmade cloth and featured a fresh flower arrangement of carnations in shades of pink with white candles on either side, carrying out the bride's chosen colors. A silver coffee service was used.

Hostesses for the shower were Mmes. Linda Dye, Ruby Williams, Judy McAllister, Ginger Carlisle, Jo Thomas, Nancy Kemp, Carolyn Sawyers, Linda Waldrup, Norma Baumann and Jennie White.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a barbecue grill and an electric ice cream freezer.

Musical program for Priscilla club

Libby Marley presented a musical program, playing the piano, and the dulcimer and singing for the Priscilla club during its meeting Friday, June 13. The club met in the home of Lillian Nance.

Guests present were Willie Mae Key, Winnie Tuffing and Pearl Nance. Members present were Vi Terry, Emma Mueller, Maxine Smith, Odee Kemp, Maudie Smith and Annie Laura Francis.

The next meeting of the club will be with Maudie Smith, Friday, June 27.

Terrys honored on 25th anniversary

Bobby and Nita Terry were surprised June 5 with a supper at the Smoke House in Slaton. The occasion was their 25th anniversary. The couple was presented with a cake and gifts following the meal.

Those present wishing them well were Mark and Joy Terry, Hooter and Wade Terry, Mack, Jane and Jana Terry.

Thank You

Words cannot adequately express our deep appreciation for the many kind and sympathetic acts that come to us at the time of our recent bereavement.

A special thank you to the First Baptist Church for their thoughtfulness and for the meal served for the family and for the use of the church.

The Family of David Hodges

The family of Inez Luna wish to thank the Holy Cross Church, our friends for the food, flowers, prayers and other things that were given.

The Luna Family
The Flores Family

The families of Joe Boren would like to thank each and everyone of you for your kindness and loving care during the illness and loss of our loved one.

A special thanks to the VFW and Ladies Auxiliary, to Joella Sparlin who gave so much of her time and helped us in so many ways, and to all the wonderful people who brought food and flowers to my home and prepared dinner at the Church of Christ.

Our heartfelt appreciation to Lynn McWhorter for officiating the service and to Jack Sneed for his kind assistance and to the singers for the beautiful songs.

Thanks also goes to Dr. Wilson and the staff of the Garza Memorial Hospital for their care and concern.

Jessie Boren and family

I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and everyone who took part in making Saturday's picnic for the elderly such a big success.

A special thanks to KPOS Radio and The Post Dispatch for their advertising. Also to all the volunteers who brought food and helped transport the people to and from the nursing homes. We would also like to thank Garza County for the use of the vans.

The picnic was held Saturday, June 14th at the City-County Park. We had about 100 people present.

Music was provided by Perry Chisum and his band. Selections of western and gospel songs were sung. Also Mildred Stewart sang and did a comedy routine. Accompanying her were Danny Shaw (guitar) and Esker Stone (accordion).

Also, Sunday being Father's Day all the dads present at Saturday's picnic were presented a gift of cologne.

Jim Jackson

The Algerita Senior Citizens of Garza County would like to say a great big THANK YOU to Max Chaffin and all the VFW members for the green turf that was installed on the ramp at the Algerita Center. It is greatly appreciated by all. Thanks again.

Algerita Senior Citizens of Garza County

Thanks to our neighbors and friends for their visits, the food brought to our home and the ones who sent cards and called during our time of sorrow. Also a special thanks to the children of Joe Boren for their love and tender care bestowed to him while he was ill. God bless each of you.

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Earlier this week the House passed the Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1980, a bill which some have called the most important civil rights legislation of the decade. Despite this claim, I voted against this measure for two reasons: 1) it attacks basic principles of private ownership of property, and 2) it leaves the federal bureaucracy — and not our judicial system — in charge of handling complaints regarding alleged discrimination in housing.

This means that seven Housing and Urban Development (HUD) bureaucrats, administrative law judges, will have to handle approximately 3,000 housing discrimination disputes that arise each year across the United States. Ideally, these cases should be under the jurisdiction of federal courts. During debate on the floor I supported an amendment, the Sensenbrenner-Volkmer Amendment, which would use federal magistrates to expedite handling of housing discrimination disputes. Unfortunately my colleagues rejected this amendment by one vote, making HUD the investigator, prosecutor, judge, and jury in these suits.

By voting down the Sensenbrenner-Volkmer Amendment and subsequently passing the Fair Housing Amendments Act bill, the Congress has created a system where the victims of housing discrimination cannot be compensated for their misfortunes even if their complaint is upheld. This occurs because HUD's administrative law judges do not have the authority to award civil damages to the complainant. These civil servants can only levy civil penalties — up to $10,000 — against the party guilty of discrimination. Any civil damages awarded by the administrative law judges would be unconstitutional. As a result, the discrimination victim receives neither monetary compensation nor the property which he had originally been denied.

According to the provisions of this bill, as passed by the full House, if the property has been sold to another purchaser in the meantime, that purchaser keeps it regardless of the results of the HUD investigation. This bill, then, only gives discrimination victims the satisfaction of having their complaint upheld. Otherwise, the complainant has not gotten a thing.

In spite of these major problems, there was one amendment to this Fair Housing bill that I especially supported, and which was agreed to by the full House. This amendment, proposed by Congressman Sam Hall (D-Tex.), provides two exemptions to the Act. The first is for single-family homes sold or rented by the owner, and states that an owner of not more than three single-family homes may sell or rent to anyone he chooses, so long as he does not use a real estate agency or salesman. The Hall Amendment also exempts the rental of rooms in a four-family dwelling in which the owner lives. Without these exemptions, persons renting out a portion of their home for subsistence income and servicemen leasing their homes while on extended tours of duty, for example, would be subject to possible HUD administrative action and Federal Government harassment.

COUNTRY SUNDAY DINNER

DUMPLIN'S

Sunday dinner means family time... a relaxing meal and lots of table talk. Here's a quick-fixin' entree idea in traditional down-home country style: Chicken 'N' Dumplin's.

For a meal that will be the "talk of the table," gravy's the secret over fluffy dumplings. But what really makes this dish special is Kentucky Fried Chicken Original Recipe with its secret blend of 11 herbs and spices.

CHICKEN 'N' DUMPLIN'S
1/4 cup butter (or margarine)
1/4 cup flour
2 cans (13-3/4 oz.) chicken broth
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/8 tsp. poultry seasoning
Pinch nutmeg
9 pieces Kentucky Fried Chicken Original Recipe

1 cup packaged biscuit mix
1/3 cup milk
1/4 tsp. black pepper

In a large saucepan melt butter. Stir in flour. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, for 3 minutes. Add broth and seasonings. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until thickened. Place chicken in shallow baking pan. Heat in preheated 350° oven for 20 minutes. While chicken is heating, mix dumplin' ingredients until thoroughly moistened. Drop tablespoons of dough over surface of bubbling gravy. Simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes. Cover. Simmer 10 minutes longer. Serve hot chicken with dumplin' and gravy. Serves 6.

We would like to express our deepest heartfelt thanks to the many friends and loved ones who stood by us during the time of sickness and death of our loved one. We would like to give special thanks to Dr. Wilson and the staff of the Garza Memorial Hospital. May God richly bless each and everyone for all that you have done.

The W. G. McCleskey Family

At an early age I was taught to ask God for one day at a time.

In 1980 I guess I am to prove it.

I'm home from the hospital again and want to express my thanks to all of the relatives and friends that show they really care.

God bless us all.
Sincerely,
Helen Livingston

LUBBOCK — Arguments filed by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, against the excessive discounts assigned to lower quality cottons in the 1980 Commodity Credit Corporation cotton loan schedule are logical, well documented and clearly in the best interests of an orderly progression of year-to-year loan program quality differentials.

"But that is not to say," cautions Donald Johnson, PGC Executive Vice President, "that those arguments will achieve desirable results.

"There is convincing evidence that pressure politics were behind the original loan program announcements," Johnson says, "and obviously the sources of that pressure aren't going to disappear."

PCG is calling for more gradual adjustments of grade, staple and micronaire discounts in the loan schedule, accomplished by an annual blending of applicable loan discounts and spot market discounts for the various qualities each year.

But many in the industry, both inside and outside producer ranks, feel otherwise and have made their feelings forcefully known in Washington. They want each year's discounts in the loan schedule to penalize High Plains cotton, most of which normally falls in the discount category, as severely as possible — a rational extension of the never-ending campaign to curtail, by whatever means, the volume of production from this area as a means to bolster the size and profitability of their own markets.

And, subjected to heavy pressure for larger discounts from the American Cotton Shippers Association, various producer organizations in areas of the Cotton Belt not blessed with the relatively low production costs and copious productive capacity of the Plains, USDA in 1980 took the path of least resistance.

Cotton Subcommittee members Charles Stenholm and Kent Hance have registered their dissatisfaction with USDA's loan decisions, as have Texas Congressmen Jack Hightower and Texas Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen.

"There is still hope that reason may yet prevail," Johnson notes, "but we'd be less than realistic if we ignored the formidable forces on the other side of the question, including other House Cotton Subcommittee members, not to mention adversaries in less conspicuous positions of power.

"So if, as we hope, our Texas Congressmen and Senators succeed in turning USDA around on this issue, they will be due a standing ovation from the Texas cotton producers who have so much at stake."

Sealing off two or three chimneys in a large house with a damper or permanent seal may result in as much as 10 percent savings in fuel costs.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The other shoe in the Brilab investigation dropped with commotion Thursday when a Houston federal grand jury indicted Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton on six charges including fraud, racketeering and conspiracy to commit extortion.

Also indicted were Deer Park labor official L. G. Moore, and Austin law partners Donald Ray and Randall Wood.

The defendants were accused of plotting to use cash payments to Clayton and fraud to obtain a lucrative state insurance contract for a Los Angeles insurance firm, which actually was an FBI dummy firm and did not exist.

Clayton allegedly received $5,000 from Moore in his Capitol office. Present during that transaction was Joseph Hauser, a twice-convicted California insurance man who was actually co-operating with the FBI.

Clayton has said the money was offered as a campaign contribution which he accepted to avoid embarrassing Moore. The money was kept several months in a credenza in Clayton's offices until the Brilab scam broke into headlines. Clayton told reporters then he kept the money to return to Moore when he returned to the Capitol.

Hot Speaker's Race

The indictment came as no surprise to Clayton and other legislators: the campaign to replace Clayton heated up considerably the day before the grand jury's decision.

In a flurry of morning press conferences, the two leading Speaker candidates, Rep. Gib Lewis of Fort Worth and Rep. John Bryant of Dallas, claimed the advantage.

Lewis released a list of 92 names which he claims are pledged to vote for him in the event Clayton is not a candidate in January, 1981.

(A majority of 76 votes is needed to win the speaker's platform.) Lewis claimed victory.

Bryant disputed Lewis' claim, saying several on Lewis' list were persons yet to be re-elected. Bryant kept the names of his supporters a secret, saying that to expose them would leave them vulnerable to election defeat at the hands of his political foes.

Threats of Interference

Bryant's reference to danger for any legislator who publicly commits to a speaker's candidate is well-founded, but both sides are guilty of applying that same political pressure. Bryant as well as Lewis. A rule of thumb passing around the Capitol halls is that any legislator who pledges for Lewis can expect Bryant to meddle in his district elections, and vice versa.

While Capitol veterans are accepting this pressure as a political fact of life, many legislators are growing fed up with the threats of blood-letting . . . and so are voters back home as they become aware of it.

Texas Nuclear Waste

The House Committee on Environmental Affairs last week heard testimony that disposal sites for low-level nuclear waste materials from research labs and hospitals in Texas must be provided.

Much nuclear waste in Texas comes from research in medicine, and lack of disposal facilities will seriously compromise patient care in this state, according to one witness.

Currently, there are only three waste dumps in the U.S. and the Legislature was under pressure last session to create a Texas dump. That issue will undoubtedly undergo hot debate when the Legislature convenes in the spring.

Bullock Rebuffed

State Comptroller Bob Bullock does not have the authority to initiate audits and probes of how state agencies spend their funds, Attorney General Mark White ruled last week.

Hill's ruling on the matter two years ago.

Speeders and Funds

The State of Texas received a reprimand from the U.S. Department of Transportation for inadequate compliance with the 55-mile-per-hour speed law.

Coupled with the rebuke was a warning that Texas could lose up to $8 million in federal highway assistance.

Missionaries will speak

Missionaries Al and Judy Gary of Guadeloupe, French Indies, will be guest speakers at the Trinity Baptist Church Sunday, June 22 for the evening services.

The Garys have been in Guadeloupe, an island in the Caribbean, with their sons, Jonathon, 9 and Timothy 6, since 1973. They spent a year prior to this in France studying the French language.

Al is the son of Rev. and Mrs. John Gary of Lubbock and Judy is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Bergstrom of Clovis, N.M. Mrs. Pauline Terry of Post is an aunt of Al.

There will be a fellowship following the services with home made ice cream and cake. The public is invited to attend.

Ralph White is pastor of Trinity Baptist Church.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Those admitted to Garza Memorial Hospital since Thursday of last week were:

Frances Gomez, O.B.; Matilde Valdez, medical; Martha Moore, medical; Idolisa Acosta, medical; Travis Gilmore, medical; Janet Blacklock, medical;

Johnnie Norman, medical.

Those dismissed were Vickie Abshire, Sofie Martinez, Abb Ussery, Frances Gomez, Martha Moore, Dovie Melton, Travis Gilmore, Idolisa Acosta, Janet Blacklock, Arlin Sartain.

Dodgers trip Tigers to retain LL lead

Cards in climb into 4th place

The Dodgers clung to first place in the Post Little League this week by defeating their only contenders, the Tigers, Tuesday night 16 to 4, after being upset by the A's 10 to 6 Monday night.

The only difference between the two clubs at the moment is that the Dodgers have played two more games than the Tigers and won them both for a one-game lead.

But in the upcoming stretch drive, the Tigers will have their opportunity to catch up. Each of the two clubs won two out of their three games played this week.

The Cardinals also recorded two wins in three starts to climb out of the cellar into fourth place above both the Red Sox and the A's.

The Red Sox dropped three in a row this week, while the A's and the Yankees split their games.

The Dodgers pounded out eight hits in their vital win over the Tigers, including a homerun and a single by cleanup hitter Tommy Basquez, a double and two singles by Clifford Redman and a triple and a single by Mark Valdez.

The Dodgers didn't find the range until the third when they were leading 2-1. They punched over four in the third, six in the fourth, and another four in the fifth.

Meanwhile Pitcher Rodney Guthrie was scattering four Tiger hits for the victory.

The A's jumped on the Dodgers for six first inning runs in their Monday night upset of the Dodgers and were never headed, as Tracy Price scattered six Dodger hits and never let the league leaders get a big rally going. Price also collected a triple and a single at the plate. Willie Osby got a single and double and scored twice for the winners leading off.

The Tigers had no difficulties whatsoever in their other two starts, walloping the Yankees 15 to 8 and the Red Sox 21 to 3.

The Tigers rapped out a dozen hits against the Red Sox, half of them doubles.

Danny Foster and Keith Hart led the Tigers' slugging brigade. Hitting cleanup, Foster belted three doubles and a single to score four runs himself and drive as many more home. Hart had a single and two doubles, and scored three times.

The Cards clobbered the A's 17 to 4 last Thursday night, and the Red Sox 18 to 9, before bowing to the Yankees 18 to 8.

In the big win over the A's, Keith Craig got five straight hits, four singles and a double and scored three. Leadoff Brent Jones just above him in the lineup, also collected five straight hits, a triple and four singles. Tony Angerer added three, including another triple.

Catcher Bruce Crenshaw of the Cards was the top hitter in their win over the Red Sox, getting two singles and a double and scoring four times. Craig and Jeff Huntley each had a pair and Robert Gill stroked a triple.

Catcher Teodore Piaz of the Yankees got three straight singles and got aboard a fourth time on a fielder's choice in the Yankees' 18 to 8 win over the Cards. The Yankees scored in every inning but the fourth. Pitchers Michael Ayala and Randy Lewis allowed a bushel of walks for the winners but gave up only two late inning hits.

Greg Storie got a triple and a double to lead the Yanks to their 15 to 14 edging of the Red Sox Tuesday night. The Yankees came from behind with three runs in the bottom of the last inning for the win with Storie's double driving in the first two. He scored himself a moment later for the winner.

Sammy Bocanegra got the Yanks going in run production in the second with a leadoff triple. Centerfielder Marvin Lee of the Red Sox did exactly what a cleanup hitter is supposed to do. He hit a triple, double, and a single in five trips.

Knight wins two rodeos

Jess Knight, Justiceburg saddle bronc rider, helped himself over the last two weeks in pro rodeo standings by winning his event at a pair of rodeos in Texas and Oklahoma.

On June 7 he won the Kilean, Tx., saddle bronc riding, and last Saturday he was first in saddle bronc in the Paris rodeo.

He also was second recently in a matched saddle bronc riding contest in Wolf Point, Mont., which drew 24 of the nation's top riders. Knight won $3,800 in the matched bronc riding, just behind Monte Henson who was first with $3,937 in prize money.

3 1980 grads are honored

Brent Mason, Jay Young and Kelly Mason, all 1980 graduates of Post High School, were honored with a hamburger cookout and homemade ice cream Saturday evening.

The Gamma Mu Sorority hosted the event for the three, all sons of Gamma Mu members.

The cookout was held in the backyard of Mr. and Mrs. Noel White with approximately 45 attending.

The graduates table featured a toy John Deere tractor and plow and miniature JD tractors held the place cards. Jay and Kelly are employed by Taylor Tractor and Brent farms.

Each of the three were presented with a gift from the sorority.

The group played volleyball following the meal.

Snyder enters team

The Post Summer Track Meet for boys and girls ages 4 through 11 will be drawing area competition as well as local talent here Saturday.

Coach Lane Tannehill said Snyder advised Tuesday they are sending a squad of 30 youngsters here for the meet. Invitations have been sent to other West Texas towns, but Snyder was the first to call in entries.

The meet will get under way with registration from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. The field events begin at 10 a.m. and run through to completion. Track events will follow in the afternoon.

Every youngster competing will receive a ribbon. Competition is divided into four divisions: small fry (ages 4 and 5), pee wee (6 and 7), bantam (8 and 9) and midget (10 and 11).

Events include two dashes, a relay, softball throw and long jump in each division with boys and girls in separate divisions.

The meet is sponsored by the city-county summer recreation program headed by David Thompson.

A Little Leaguer's Prayer

A LITTLE LEAGUER'S PRAYER

Dear God: It's me, God, reckon you wonder, now what's wrong with me. I know you're busy, God, and I don't wanna be too much bother, you see. You know me, God, you're with me every day. Fact is, You came with me and brought me here to play. I got me a little problem and it's kinda hard for me to understand, But You, God, You in all

Your wisdom can lend a helping hand.

You see, God, I'm confused about what's expected of me, I'm only a little boy, not some old tall oak tree. My branches are but young things, not yet sturdy with age. The Wisdom of my young years are not ready for life's great battles to wage. I don't wanna be no hero and be lauded as the best. I just wanna play as best I can, just as good as all the rest. Shucks! You and me, God, we know the honest to goodness truth. We know what I'm cut out to be and that sure ain't no Babe Ruth! But I try so hard, Oh! so hard to make Mama and Daddy proud. And by the way, God, if it ain't asking too much, please don't let them be so loud.

You know, God, when I accidentally do something to help my teammate's cause, Much to my aggravation, the grown-ups are engaged in idle conversation. And there ain't hardly never no applause. But let me make one little mistake, and after, I have to stand with bat or glove in hand and hear them roar in laughter. And when I make that lonely walk amidst my teammate's sighs, With lowered head, I walk and wonder, do they suspect that ain't sweat that fills my eyes?

Now maybe I'm selfish, God, and if so, help me understand. What makes them seem so cruel when I'm doing the best I can?

Some were made to play this game and famous men someday will be. But I'll be just as famous as all the rest, cause I know there's a game in life for me.

I may not win no Nobel prize or grace the Hall of Fame. But whatever I do, I'll do my best, 'cause that's the way I play the game. God, is it so important to win at everything you do? What about your opponent? he has feelings, too. Isn't it just as important to learn to play the game, knowing that all are doing their best, and should be appreciated just the same?

If I could be granted one great wish to fill my heart with joy, I wish You would make them understand that I am just a little boy. And when I take my place at bat and start to make my swing, If it be your pleasure, God, grant me this one little thing. Let them know that I tried and gave it all I had. To please, or at least try and please, poor ole frustrated Mom and Dad. And when the game is finally over and You judge the winner this day, let not the score really matter, only fellowship and sportsmanship, for these things, I pray.

Amen

Colts and Mets remain unbeaten

The Colts and Mets each scored three wins in the Post Minor League during this past week's play and remained undefeated in league action.

The Colts, by virtue of having one more victory than the Mets, are a half game in front.

The Dodgers climbed out of the cellar by splitting four games to climb into a tie with the Astros for third. The two wins were the first of the season for the Dodgers.

The Mets picked up five homers in their 15 to 4 win over the Astros with Manuel Perez collecting two and Rance Sappington, Trey Jones, Billy Watson and Sonny Storie getting one each. Darin Sparlin and Vincent Slay got homers for the losers.

The Colts collected six homers in their 10 to 7 victory over the Texans with Gilbert Valdez getting two and Andy Pearson, Victor Chapa, Junior Armentariz, and Leslie Reyna hitting one each.

The Mets got another five homers in their 8 to 1 win over the Dodgers with Trey Jones and Matt Holly getting two each, and Ernie Saldivar the other. Manuel Perez stroked another homerun for the Mets in their 9 to 5 win over the Astros.

In the Dodgers 23 to 11 win over the Rangers, Robbie Gossett swatted two homers for the winners and Trevor Thuet, Edwin Gossett and Willie Rangel got one each, while Anthony Perez got one for the losers.

Braves hold onto Babe Ruth lead

The Braves continued to lead the Babe Ruth League this week, winning three of four starts, including splitting a pair with the challenging White Sox.

The Indians, other club in the three-team league, remained mired in the cellar with no wins and four losses.

The White Sox remained only one game back by coming up with a 7 to 5 win over the Braves Tuesday night, after the Braves had hammered them 14 to 3 last Thursday night.

The White Sox got three in the second Tuesday night on a hit batsman, error and fielder's choice and won it in the third with their other four runs.

Two walks, a single by Mike Johnson and a double by Michael Valdez did the damage. Milton Williams got a triple and single to lead Brave rallies in the last two innings which brought home four of the Braves' runs.

The winners got four hits, the losers only three.

In the other meeting of the week between these two clubs, the Braves came up with a six-run rally in the second and added eight more in the third to coast in.

The Braves got seven hits including a homerun, double, and single by Third baseman Gilbert Perez. Daniel Gonzales also stroked a triple.

Roy Gonzales went the route on the mound for the win, permitting the White Sox but two singles.

In the biggest run production of the season to date, the Braves scored 37 runs to whip the Indians, 37 to 16, Saturday night, and they did it only but seven hits.

First Sacker Irvin Price got three of those, one of them a homerun and scored five times. Roy Gonzales got two of the others. The Braves picked up 26 walks and committed an even dozen errors in the wild game.

Danny Martinez and L. D. Harper each got two hits for the losers to account for half of the Indians' eight hits. They got only nine walks and committed but six errors, however.

The incomplete game on the season's opener — halted by darkness and no lights — was completed Friday night with the Braves scoring a 7 to 5 win over the Indians.

Each team got only one hit in that game — a single by Bill Black for the Indians and a single by Gilbert Perez of the Braves. Each team collected nine walks to get some runners aboard, however.

Support increased for small royalty exemptions

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Charles W. Stenholm said today he is very encouraged by the increasing support of legislation to exempt small royalty owners of up to 10-barrels-per-day of royalty interest under the windfall profits tax.

Stenholm said that Congressman Keith Sebelius (R-Kans.) and he had recently sent out a joint letter to Members of Congress asking for their support of the legislation. "Thus far, response to the letter has been very encouraging, increasing the number of co-sponsors to about 70," Stenholm said. Congressman J.J. Pickel (D-Tex.), a ranking member of the House Ways and Means Committee, which is responsible for the legislation has also joined in the exemption effort. This is certainly a positive development in improving the chances for passing such legislation, Stenholm explained.

Stenholm contends that the windfall profits tax should not apply to small royalty owners for several reasons. First of all, Stenholm points to the fact that many small royalty owners are dependent upon their royalty checks to meet essential needs. "This is especially true of many retired persons," he said.

Secondly, he argues that applying the windfall tax to royalty owners challenges the basic principle of private ownership of property, that the American landowner should not be penalized "simply because his land contains natural resources, whether it be oil, natural gas, or coal."

In his letter to other Congressmen, Stenholm emphasized that including landowners under the windfall profits tax could prove detrimental to domestic oil production. Stenholm said many landowners have not leased their property for oil exploration and all of them will now be making decisions whether to lease land for production or hold it until such time as they may claim the full value of their mineral rights.

"These numerous individual decisions will collectively determine whether vast areas of land in this country will be made available for exploration and production," Stenholm said. He also stressed that it is the landowner who decides if and when his land will be leased and for how much.

"Should royalty owners begin to require higher prices for their leases, in an effort to offset the adverse effects of the tax, even land now in production could become undesirable to producers," Stenholm warned his colleagues.

Fortunately, said Stenholm, many of his colleagues are listening and he is hopeful that the 10-barrel-per-day exemption will soon become a reality.

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

Energy Outlook Looks Bright

There's every reason to be optimistic about America's long-term energy outlook, an oil company executive told The Cotton Foundation's recent outlook conference. D. L. Bower, Standard Oil Co. of California, said the U.S. has the technology to produce more coal, oil, gas, and nuclear energy.

For the short term, Bower said motor gasoline and diesel fuel for agriculture and other uses should be in ample supply, though at somewhat higher prices. Fuel price trends will continue upward, he predicted, due to increasing costs of imported oil and price control phase-out on domestic production.

An equally optimistic outlook for cotton was reported by Dr. Arlie Bowling, National Cotton Council's economic and market research director. He said cotton is entering the 80's with its strongest competitive position in many years.

Discounts To Be Narrowed
The U.S. Department of Agriculture has revised the discount schedule used in setting 1980 cotton loan levels. The changes will affect only the micronaire schedule, narrowing discount levels from previous years.

micronaire schedule, narrowing discount levels for low-micronaire cotton. The original 1980 schedule widened discount levels from previous years.

Dust Research Funding Moves

The House Agricultural Appropriations Committee has recommended $750,000 "to begin a major research program on byssinosis." The funding falls short of the cotton and textile industries' request. However Rep. Jack Hightower (D-Tex.), member of the Appropriations Committee, expressed pleasure that the committee saw fit to initiate the project with funds in a year when new spending proposals are very rare due to the tight budget situations.

Cotton Exports Reported
The current season export sales for the week ending June 1 amounted to 28,000 running bales, bringing total commitments to 9,432,400 bales. Exported during the week were 152,600 bales, making the season total 7,550,500, compared with 4,977,900 in the same period last year. Sales for next season during the week were 75,500 bales, bring the total to 1,986,700.

In the 1850's the rich soil of East Texas produced as much as three bales of cotton to the acre.

Ron Cole dies in Nebraska

Funeral services for Ron Cole, 48, of Albion, Neb. and formerly of Post were held Thursday morning at 10:30 a.m. in the Albion Church of Christ. Burial was in the Albion cemetery.

Cole died Monday, June 9, in the Albion hospital following a lengthy illness.

He was a minister of the Church of Christ in Albion from 1973 until September of 1979 when his illness caused him to retire. He had moved from Post in 1973 to enter the mission field in Nebraska.

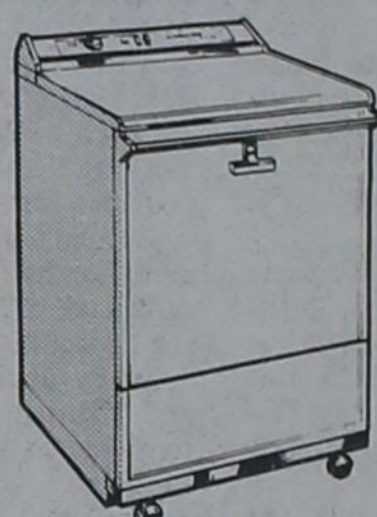

He is survived by his wife, Nell; two sons, Ronnie and Danny; two daughters, Diana and Rhonda Yeutter all of Albion; one grandchild and one sister, Mrs. Virgil Warren of Post.

Some Early American settlers lived on a diet of mostly lobster and fish. Many lobsters weighed 25 pounds and were so abundant the smallest child could catch them.

School board feels inflation—

(Continued From Page One) gasoline; $19,140 for bilingual education, up 8 percent; $78,150 for interest and sinking fund, down 4 percent; $128,867 for lunchroom, up 13 percent; $189,815.45 for athletics, up 15 percent; and $118,231.74 for special education, up 11 percent.

Although applications are not yet approved, the budget includes $78,059.31 for Title I federal funding and $2,842. for Title IV-B funding, both down slightly from last year.

Trustees accepted the resignations of seven teachers: Mrs. Dianne Davis, Mrs. Ann Burkhard, Tom Lewis, Scott Rombokas, Mrs. Lucile McBride, Rick Compton and Miss Terri Tye.

They also voted to employ these 11 teachers for the next school year: Miss Cathy Wallis, music; Mrs. Dedra Adams, junior high; Mrs. D'Anne Bishop, Miss Kaye McConnell, Mrs. Jay Kennedy, Miss Jull Marie Ellzey, Mrs. Ruby Boyes, Mrs. Patsy Byrd and Miss Connie Perry, all in the elementary classrooms; Jay Kennedy, mathematics and coaching; and Mrs. Janice M. Parker, Title I reading.

The board adopted the 1980-81 school calendar, which appears in detail elsewhere in The Dispatch.

It warded the printing of the football programs to the Ammons Printing Co. on a low bid of $686.02; the washing and greasing of school buses to Parson's Robo on a bid of $32.50 per bus; and the 1980-81 milk contract for the lunchroom to Borden's on a bid of 15.25 cents for half pints of white milk and 16.75 per half pint for chocolate milk.

Yancy Jones of Whitaker and Hall reported to trustees on progress being made on the lunchroom project and the paving of approved school areas, as well as on the heating in the Post Middle School.

Vibra Whirl, which constructed the school's all weather track, is asking for payment on all but 10 percent of the contract, but no bond as required by the school district has yet been made.

The board approved a motion to have the school attorney draw up a proposal for a certificate of deposit on the balance left to be paid on the track for the board's approval at its July meeting.

By a 6 to 1 vote, trustees voted to comply with state purchasing and general service commission requirements to take care of parking for the blind, lower mirrors in the restrooms and place letters on the side of doors for the blind.

After discussing delinquent property taxes, the board voted to have letters mailed to delinquent taxpayers of the last two years on both real and personal property seeking payment.

Trustees approved a recommendation that students who lose their locker locks should pay for them and any such funds collected be put in the general fund. They also approved the charging of fees for physical education uniforms for replacement purposes.

Also approved was the media commitment with the Education Service Center at $1 per average daily attendance.

No action was taken on a grounds upkeep proposal or on teachers work days.

Coach Lane Tannehill presented two proposals to provide seating at the school's all-weather track.

One was for a 15 row seating section, 50 feet long composed of metal frame and wood seats and foot rests for a seating capacity of 315 at a cost of $4,980 shipped unassembled.

The other was for 15 rows, 30 feet long elevated section of galvanized frame and aluminum seats at an unassembled cost of an estimated $8,000 to seat 300. No action was taken by the board on either proposal.

A number of reports were given trustees, including an incentive plan whereby funds would be available to school principals to encourage the improvement of teachers in various areas, a list of faculty suggestions for improvement, and the public response to a questionnaire on the goals for public education.

The Post schools distributed the questionnaire to all parents of students and received 530 responses, about 50 percent return, with 83 of them also adding their own comments on the five-year goals proposed by the state board of education.

Quilt show—

Quilting used to be a reason for just getting together and passing the time of day with the old fashioned "quilting bees" that were held in the early beginning of our country. Most everyone has memories of grandmother and her quilts that were so common then, but have become heirlooms and even collectors items today. Quilts today are in great demand and it is sad, but the art had become almost a thing of the past.

Patsy and Paula have spent quite a lot of time recently giving demonstrations in Levelland, Denver City and in Snyder. Their original thirty minute program has grown to a very informative 1½ hours of instruction. They in turn have learned from members of their classes and have enjoyed exchanging ideas with those they have visited with during their trips.

They have quite an assortment of articles that they have made, and use these in their instruction.

Be sure and watch Channel 28 at 11:30 a.m. June 26 for their program.

Postings—

—O—
We don't "buy" Jim's argument that a "local bureaucracy" would soon grow into the $100,000 class. We don't "buy" either his argument that anybody is going to dump Pete Maddox who presently holds the position.

—O—
We're truly sorry Jim saw fit to slam our hospital district to try to illustrate his point. As we recall the community voted overwhelmingly to triple the hospital district taxes and appears to be well satisfied with the way the hospital has been improved and two decades of financial troubles put behind us. No political voices have been raised against the hospital operation in recent spring elections.

—O—
Maybe this town isn't big enough to try to become a bit more efficient in its municipal operations. But a lot of folks think it is.

—O—
We haven't to date taken a position on either side of the argument though we can understand quite well the pros and cons involved.

—O—
A 31-man geophysical crew had scouts in town this week and expect to move in here soon for a stay of a number of weeks. The crew, just down from Michigan and now in Andrews, is operated by Geosource.

July 4th—

Ted Aten, James Dye and Leon Clary are in charge of the servers, Hudman added. Further details will be announced in next week's Dispatch.

TABS results—

Overall performance results are required by law to be given to the public but individual results cannot be given.

In the fifth grade tests, Post students minus special ed students averaged 55 percent in math, 51 percent in reading, 89 percent had acceptable handwriting, and 63 percent in organization of ideas at the highest level.

Fifth grade results by racial groups included, all minus special educational students:

Blacks: 25 percent math, 19 percent reading, 100 percent handwriting acceptable, 50 percent acceptable on organization of ideas at highest level, 25 percent organization of ideas at medium level, and 25 percent in organization of ideas at lower level.

Spanish students: 45 percent in math, 35 percent in reading, 82 percent handwriting acceptable, 41 percent organization of ideas at higher level with 53 percent at medium level and six percent at lower level.

Anglo students: 61 percent math, 57 percent reading, 90 percent handwriting acceptable, 69 percent organization of ideas at higher level with 29 and 1.8 percent respectively on organization of ideas at medium and lower levels.

Selected as grade 5 weaknesses to work on here were the following areas: Mathematics: geometric terms, figures where the class scored only 28 percent in mastering, interpret place value where the class scored only 40 percent acceptable, and identify equivalent fractions where the class scored only 38 percent in mastering.

Reading: Identifying main idea, where class had only 45 percent mastering, distinguish fact, non-fact, where the class scored only 26 percent; and predict outcomes, where the class scored 49 percent.

Writing: punctuation, where the class scored only 46 percent mastering.

Eighty-nine of Post's 90 fifth graders took the test, including an ethnic composition of six blacks, 23 hispanic, and 60 white.

Eighty-one of the 91 ninth graders took the TABS tests here, with an ethnic breakdown of 4 blacks (five percent), 26 hispanic (32 percent) and 51 white (63 percent).

Not including special education students, the results showed:

67.9 percent of the class successfully completed the math test, 80.2 percent successfully completed the reading test, and 61.7 percent successfully completed the writing test.

Class results as broken down by ethnic groups:

Blacks: 75 percent successfully completed the math test, 50 percent the reading test and 48 percent the writing test.

Hispanics: 56 percent successfully completed the math test, 64 percent the reading test, and 48 percent the writing test.

Whites: 73.1 successfully completed the math test, 90.4 percent the reading test, and 69.2 percent the writing test.

Selected as areas of weakness where concentrated efforts for improvements

Psychology

EXPERTS SAY THAT THE FEELING OF BEING A WINNER—WHETHER YOU'RE JUST BOWLED 10 STRIKES IN A ROW OR ARE GOLFING UNDER PAR—HELPS YOU TO KEEP UP YOUR WINNING STREAK. IT'S A MATTER OF CONFIDENCE IN WHAT YOU'RE DOING!

will be made were:

Mathematics: Use of fractions and mixed numbers where only 38 percent of the class were scored as mastering, solve personal finance problems with only 42 percent mastering, and use ratio-proportion-percent with only 44 percent mastering.

Reading: Distinguish fact, non-fact scored only 49 percent of class mastering, and use parts of book, only 57 percent as mastering.

Writing: Punctuation, where only 69 percent scored as mastering, and correct English usage where only 63 percent scored as mastering.

The class scored 94 percent in add subtract whole numbers and 89 percent mastering in interpreting charts and graphs in mathematics, 95 percent in mastering ability to follow written directions in reading, and 93 percent in spelling in writing test.

Hospital—

Total patient days this year are 1884 up from 1665 for the same period in 1979 with average patients per day in 1980 being 7.7 as compared to 6.8 for the same period in 1979.

A total of 61 babies have been born in the hospital this year to date as compared to 51 in 1979 and 1,600 outpatients have been treated this year, up from 1,452 in 1979.

May income for the hospital was $29,563.35 with total expenses being $70,218.32, leaving a net operating loss for the month of $43,076.81.

In comparison the April loss was only $12,700.56. The losses are paid from hospital district tax funds.

Accident—

Last week in district court Ronald Edwin Bratcher pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of criminal mischief and was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $250 by Judge George Hansard.

The charge was reduced to a Class A misdemeanor from a felony. Bratcher admitted damaging highway signs in the Post area April 27.

Unripe bananas will turn brown even in the refrigerator, but their insides will ripen only when kept at room temperature.

IT'S YOUR HEALTH

answers to your questions from the Texas Department of Health

Poisonings continue to affect far too many Texans each year, especially children. Here are some answers to frequently asked questions on poisoning from the Texas Department of Health.

QUESTION: Is there any way to safeguard my home completely against poisonous substances?

ANSWER: Unfortunately, no. Small children are naturally curious and like to sample things by putting them in their mouths. Most everyday substances that we never regard as harmful can be poisonous if swallowed.

QUESTION: In which room do most poisonings occur?

ANSWER: About 40 percent of all poisonings happen in the kitchen. The bathroom is the next most likely spot.

QUESTION: How do I know my child has swallowed a poisonous substance?

ANSWER: Reactions vary depending on the item that was swallowed and the amount. In some instances the child may cry out or vomit immediately. Other products produce drowsiness or sluggishness. Check to see if there is a residue around the mouth or teeth; smell the child's breath. It is important to find the container to determine what the child has swallowed.

QUESTION: What first aid measures should I take if my child has been poisoned?

ANSWER: Immediately call your physician, the local poison control center, or hospital emergency room. Their numbers should be kept by your phone at all times. In a poisoning emergency every minute counts.

QUESTION: What will the poison control center or doctor tell me?

ANSWER: They will want to know the type of product that was swallowed, the quantity and the child's age. They may recommend vomiting, which can be induced by a dose of ipecac syrup. Ipecac syrup has been recognized by the Food and Drug Administration as a life-saving drug in poisoning emergencies.

QUESTION: What are some things that are potentially poisonous?

ANSWER: Household plants, aspirin and other medicines, detergents, cleaners, perfumes and colognes, deodorants, cosmetics, glue, gasoline and other car products, insecticides.

QUESTION: Are there any safeguards against plant poisoning?

ANSWER: Keep all plants out of reach of children. Ask your plant store or florist if it is safe before bringing that new plant home.

Today's authority on poison safety is Horace Adrian, Administrator, Occupational Health Branch, Division of Occupational Health and Radiation Control, Texas Department of Health.
