Yellow Bird Bucks Rough Weather As It Passes Steamer 850 Miles Out

Camera Shy Publishers Pose For Photo ------- But They Didn't Like It

—Photo for Record News by Harold Story, S. & S. Commercial Studio

Editors think nothing of turning cameras on other folks at almost any time or any place, but when they are asked to pose—well, that's a slug out of another type case. This was amply demonstrated Wednesday morning when it took the entire Record News staff, aided by the dignity and pull of W. C. Grant and A. E. Kelly (Adv. for the Power Trust) to herd a majority of the delegates then in attendance out in front of the Kemp hotel for a picture. The result, if any, is shown above. Now make the most of it.

GIANT PLANE TAKES LINDY'S PARIS ROUTE

Ship Making 100 Miles Per Hour in Early Part Of Long Flight

S. S. WYTHEVILLE, at sea, to the Associated Press, June 13.—The monoplane Yellow Bird passed over the American steamship Wytheville at 5:45 p. m. E. S. T., latitude 41.09 north, 49.40 west. Alt C. K. Culver, master.

The position reported by Captain Culver is about 850 miles east and slightly south of Old Orchard, Me. is about 900 miles south and somewhat east of Cape Sable.

The aviators had then been in the air about eight and a half hours nd thus appeared to have averaged about 100 miles an hour.

NEW YORK, June 13. (UP)—The giant French monoplane Yellow Bird faced unfavorable weather conditions tonight as it raced eastward over the North Atlantic ocean on a projected 30-hour flight from Old Orchard, Maine, to Paris.

Heavy fog lay off the New Foundland banks in the path of the three Frenchmen, one of whom kissed his American bride of three days goodbye as he climbed into the ochre-winged plane on the sandy beach at Old Orchard this morning. Further on along the route, especially over the eastern half of the Atlantic air line, low clouds and frequent rainstorms were reported.

Pilot Leaves Bride

"High speed eastward" from the coast of Maine was the report on the Yellow Bird when it outdistanced its escort plane after the take-off 9:10 a. m. E. S. T.

Jean Assolant, veteran war flier, who married Miss Pauline Parker last Tuesday; Rene Lefevre, navigator and reserve pilot, and Armeno Lotti Jr., backer of the flight, who ran away from home in a projected ocean flight last year, were the crew of the Yellow Bird.

The scheduled transatlantic race with the Green Flash, in which Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, hoped to fly to Rome, was halted abruptly when the American plane turned over and crashed on the Old Orchard beach in an attempt to take-off a few minutes after the French flyers.

There were rumors—and only ru-

HOUSE HEARS EVIDENCE IN ROBISON CASE

Long List of Checks Drawn By Land Officer Read At Hearing

AUSTIN, June 13. (AP)—Many checks issued by J. T. Robison, commissioner of the general land office, against the one cent an acre fund collected to pay expenses of reappraising the public lands under the act of 1926, were read today to the house of representatives, sitting as a committee of the whole to consider proposed impeachment charges against the official.

The checks ranged from $1,000 down to 75 cents. Many of them were made payable to "cash," some to members of Mr. Robison's family and others to various Austin firms. One payable to "cash" for $1,000 was endorsed by J. M. Robison, M. D., who J. D. Hedrick, receiving clerk of the general land office testified was Mr. Robison's son, who lived in Houston. Another payable to "cash" was endorsed by J. T. Robison. One for $300 was payable to Dr. J. S. Wooten, an Austin physician.

Hedick, introduced to testify that he, as receiving clerk, had never handled any of the fund put up by land owners to pay expenses of reappraising the lands, spent several hours on the witness stand as Col. Robert B. Allen Sr., of Dallas, counsel for the house in developing evidence bearing on the charges, read one after another cancelled check, of a large stack he held in his hands, all drawn against the "J. T. Robison, special" account in an Austin bank.

Attorneys for Mr. Robison admitted that the land commissioner had signed the checks when Col. Allen started out to have Hedick identify the signature on each voucher.

Foreign Legion Battalions Cross Africa's 'Hell Hole' to Rescue Mates

RABAT, Morocco, June 13. (UP)—Eight battalions of France's famous foreign legion struggled across the sandy upper plateaus of the Atlas mountains tonight on one of the most difficult punitive expeditions ever undertaken in that sun-broiled country known as "The Hell Hole of Africa."

The strongest and most daring men in the French military service were establishing a wide front in the mountain country to combat savage rebel tribes who twice attacked outposts this week and who now hold 79 French soldiers as prisoners.

Latest reports from the outposts said rebels were besieging the little fort near Yacoub. French aviators flew over the forts attempting to drop food and medicine to the wounded and hungry soldiers who were almost out of provisions.

All planes flying the rebel area were met with repeated volleys of rifle-fire from the ground.

"Great Age of Newspapers Now on Hand," McCarty Tells Publishers as Golden Jubilee Convention Opens

With the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce as host, 250 members and guests of the Texas Press association attending the Golden Jubilee convention here, were entertained at a banquet and dance Thursday night at the Kemp hotel. Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls presided as toastmaster, introducing a number of Texas newspaper men who spoke briefly of the work of the association which is now celebrating its fiftieth anniversary.

Tom-toms, Indian yells, a group of brightly clad Kiowa Indians, headed by Baldwin Parker, son of Chief Quanah Parker, and a singsong led by R. E. Shepherd, turned the program of the Texas Press association banquet Thursday night at the Kemp hotel into a free-for-all fun fest. Paul Seeds' orchestra played selections during the banquet and also furnished music for dancing.

Marjorie Faye Hoenschidt sang a group of popular songs, accompanied by Eleanor Pitman, and J. H. Allison opened the program with a burlesque invocation.

Indians Win Praise

Two visiting artists, known as the sweethearts of the Panhandle Press association and the South Texas association respectively, were presented by Mr. Cline, and their vocal selections were especially enjoyed. Miss Mary Helen Hardin of Childress, accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Tahaffey of Wichita Falls, sang "Ho, Mr. Piper" and "May Song." Miss Berenice Warren of Aransas Pass sang "One Alone" dedicated to Corpus Christi, contender for the 1930 convention of the association.

Baldwin Parker's Indian boys from the Fort Sill Indian school were colorful and picturesque in their dancing and singing. Their Indian jazz song, "O Yes I Love You," was a weird combination of English and Indian words, with tom-toms as musical accompaniment.

The banquet program was closed with the introduction of several visiting newspaper men who made brief remarks.

The evening's social entertainment followed the afternoon's program depicting the old-time newspaper office and country weekly, with the typical newspaper man as the central figure. A group of well-known Texas newspaper men contributed a reminiscent air to the program, which was devoted to stories of 50 years ago in Texas journalism.

Recalls Old Days

"The Passing of the Old" was the subject of a masterful talk delivered by R. H. McCarty of Albany, orator of the association. Decrying the passing of the country weekly age of the newspaper, yet recognizing the advantages of the modern daily era, Mr. McCarty drew his hearers back into the old print shop, with its "hell box," its crude machinery and methods and other

FARM BILL AT LAST ON WAY TO PRESIDENT

House Gives Hoover Support in Knocking Out Debenture

WASHINGTON, June 13. (UP)—The strong Republican machine in the house, aided by 34 Democrats, effectively checked the debenture movement today and started the administration's $500,000,000 farm relief measure towards the White House. It may be on the president's desk for his signature by the end of the week. He will sign it.

Voting finally as the senate has demanded for weeks, the house went on record overwhelmingly against the debenture, 250 to 113. That ended the controversy which at times threatened to delay farm legislation indefinitely.

Debenture Voted Down

The house adopted, specifically, a resolution of Republican Floor Leader Tilson instructing house conferees to stand against the debenture. After the vote, conferees again received the bill. They will report back an agreement eliminating the debenture. The house will accept it and the senate will recede from its previous insistence upon the debenture. Final action should be taken by the end of the week and the measure sent to the White House.

The house took this action, assuring final victory for the administration, on the anniversary of the second day of the Kansas City Republican convention last year, when farm representatives and a few actual farmers were appearing before the platform committee demanding a strong farm relief plank.

Longworth in Control

Thirteen Republicans from farm-states voted with 100 Democrats in favor of the debenture which a coalition of Democrats and Eastern Republicans had twice put over in the senate.

Speaker Longworth had the situation under his thumb and the machine moved swiftly soon after the house met and had opened in the routine manner, Chairman Haugen of the agriculture committee moved to take up "house bill number one," which is the farm bill, and submitted a motion instructing the conferees to disagree to all senate amendments, the usual motion.

"I don't want to take up any time with discussion of the debenture and I move the previous question on my motion," Haugen said.

The Republican majority immediately adopted the motion.

Jones Meets Defeat

In vain, Representative Jones, Democrat, Texas, who has sponsored the debenture movement in the house, shouted for recognition. He had a motion favorable to the debenture in his hand. He had a speech in his pocket. But he did not get to make it.

Ignoring Jones, the speaker recognized Republican Floor Leader Tilson, who moved that the conferees be instructed, specifically, to insist on striking out "section 10 of the bill, the so-called debenture plan."

Longworth put the motion and banged his gavel down as it was adopted Democratic Floor Leader Garner then demanded a roll-call. There were shouts of "no, no," from the Republican side, but all Democrats rose, whereupon Tilson waved his hand, indicating his approval, and the clerk began to call the roll.

16 WITNESSES SUPPORT CLAIM OF PREJUDICE

High Feeling Against Man Who Killed Youth Is Described

AMARILLO, Texas, June 13. (AP)—Hearing on a motion for a change of venue of the case of R. H. Hamilton, Amarillo lawyer charged with murdering his son-in-law, Tom Walton Jr., here May 4, was continued to tomorrow after court worked overtime today.

Sixteen witnesses testified today they heard threats of violence against Hamilton after the shooting.

Prejudices Told

Expressions that "Hamilton ought to be strung up;" "his neck ought to be broken;" "he should receive the extreme penalty;" "he is guilty of a cold blooded murder;" Tom Walton got a raw deal, and was shot without cause or consideration" and that Hamilton ought to be "hung," "sent to the penitentiary for life," or "electrocuted," were among the chief opinions expressed against Hamilton, the witnesses testified.

Four lawyers, four insurance men, three oil men, a minister, a grocery, a laundry owner and a railroad man testified, and said Hamilton probably could not have a fair trial in Potter county. One witness refused to give an opinion, saying he was not in position to know all the prospective jurors.

New Pleas Filed

One of the attorneys for the defense said the motion might be offered to the judge for ruling tomorrow morning, but if necessary the defense would continue to call witnesses until the court was satisfied or until 100 or more witnesses had testified.

The motion for a transfer was filed when the case was called for trial today. It was supplemented late today by the additional plea that such prejudice existed in counties adjoining Potter that the case should be moved entirely out of the territory.

State's attorneys contended the second motion was unfair in that it assumed prejudice existed in Potter county. They announced they reserved the right to contest conditions in neighboring counties.

Family in Court

Hamilton's entire family was in court part of the day. This included his daughter, Mrs. Theresa Walton, whose husband Hamilton shot.

W. A. Keeling, former attorney general of Texas, assisting the defense, also was in court.

The courtroom was packed early in the day, but the monotony of the hearing caused the crowd to dwindle in the hot afternoon.

The defense will ask that the case be sent to Breckenridge, Anson, Albany or some city in that vicinity, a defense attorney told newspaper men.

Mrs. Grace Walton, mother of the slain youth, was not in court. It was reported that her condition still was serious. She suffered collapse after the shooting, and again an hour before her son was to be buried. She was unable to attend

DEATH VOTED DRUG ADDICT

Third Wife Weeps as Sentence Is Pronounced

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 13. (INS)—Henry Colin Campbell is bound for the electric chair.

A jury returned a verdict of first degree murder this afternoon for his slaying of Mrs. Mildred Mowry, his bigamous wife, on Feb. 23.

The jury was out more than two hours.

There was no recommendation for clemency which would have saved the 61-year-old drug addict from electrocution.

Mrs. Mowry's half-burned body was found near Cranford, N. J. Campbell had met her in Washington, D. C., through a matrimonial agency. He borrowed her life's savings of $1,000. On an automobile drive from Philadelphia to Westfield, N. J., where he lived with his third wife and children, he shot her and poured gasoline over her body.

His only defense at the trial was that his mind had gone blank.

The verdict was returned following two requests for further information. The first dealt with a re-hearing of the testimony of a defense alienist. The second was a question as to why the New Jersey legislature created the law permitting juries to recommend mercy with a first degree verdict, thereby making it mandatory for the court to give a life sentence instead of the chair.

Justice Clarence Case admitted he did not know the latter reason and the jury returned to its deliberations.

Shortly after the verdict, Justice Case called Campbell before the bench. The convicted murderer shook like a leaf and he breathed heavily.

"I sentence you to die in the electric chair in the state prison at Trenton during the week of July 28, said Justice Case.

Campbell's eyes stared and his jaws moved as he was led away.

Mrs. Rosalea Campbell, his third wife, sobbed.

It is furnished to consumers as follows: $1.25 minimum for the first 5,000 gallons; 25 cents per 1,000 gallons up to 200,0000 gallons; 20 cents per 1,000 gallons if total is above 200,000 gallons.

Big Salary Jobs Given Graduates Of Texas Tech Textile Department

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, June 13.—The five graduates of the Technological college textile department who received their diplomas May 27, have all secured good paying positions with large companies, according to Prof. E. W. Camp, head of the department. Professor Camp said he had never known textile graduate students to secure jobs with such uniformly large salaries. He ascribes this to the increased growth in textile manufacturing and to the movement of the textile industry southward.

College officials are also very much pleased that the first graduates of the textile department have been able to secure places with nationally known concerns, thus giving evidence of the high standing which this department of the institution has already achieved in the textile world. And it is further seen as proof that the school is fulfilling its mission to stimulate the textile industry as was intended by the founders of Texas Technological college.

Jack Maddox of Mission has accepted a place with the Goodrich Rubber company of Akron, Ohio, and has already commenced his duties. He is in the company's textile laboratories.

Rudd Hardesty of Abernathy will be in the knitting department of the Davenport Silk Hosiery mills of Chattanooga, Tenn. He will begin work July 1.

DeWitt McGehee of Wayside has been offered a position with the American Chatillon corporation of Rome, Ga., a $5,000,000 concern engaged in the manufacture of rayon.

Jule Love of Marshall and Ray Thomas of Tehuacana have both accepted positions with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company of Akron, Ohio. They will begin work July 1.

Curb Placed On Foreign Broadcasts

WASHINGTON, June 13. (WS)—The federal radio commission today curbed the plan of several large broadcasting chains to rebroadcast European radio programs in this country. It issued an order forbidding such rebroadcasting without express permission.

It was understood from authoritative sources that the commission will refuse to issue any blanket permits for relaying, at least until the foreign programs have proved themselves in keeping with the standards required by the commission. Until such blanket permits are issued it will be necessary for the broadcasting companies to obtain individual permission each time they wish to relay a foreign program.

The National Broadcasting company and several large English stations had reached an agreement by which the European stations were to send their programs to New York by short waves, where the American concern was to rebroadcast them to its chain.

All of these are in the western part of the county excepting the two first named.

TARIFF RATES HURT ABROAD

Increasing Number of Nations Protest Schedules

WASHINGTON, June 13. (US)—Trade restrictions in the proposed tariff schedules are arousing deep concern in foreign countries, according to informal notes now being received at the state department.

Austria, Switzerland, Uruguay and the Netherlands are the four latest countries to raise the question of the stringent regulations of the new tariff. On June 12 the Austrian government, through its minister in Washington, M. Prochinik, called the attention of the American authorities to the treatment accorded Austrian manufactured articles by the American tariff. Switzerland objected to the rates proposed on watches, embroideries; Uruguay finds her frozen meat industry severely threatened if the new rates are embodied in the present tariff scales.

As the protests pour in, the department refers them to the ways and means committee and to Senator Smoot, chairman of the senate finance committee. Identical copies are sent to the tariff commission for their files.

Argentine has been nursing resentment against the United States over many months and for this reason has declined to send an ambassador here.

Spain, Persia, Norway and Great Britain, have all in turn expressed their concern over the proposed restrictions.

As far back as 3800 B. C., there were in Babylonia maps which were based upon land surveys, and which were used for purpose of taxation.

In 1300 B. C., Egypt had maps of its trade routes in use.

BUILDINGS FOR SCHOOLS ASKED

Bill Introduced in Senate Of Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 13. (UP)—A bill to appropriate $500,000 for new buildings at the University of Oklahoma and A. & M. college was introduced in the senate today by Sen. E. M. George of Norman.

The bill appropriates $250,000 for a class room building at the university and a like amount for a library building at A. & M. college.

These two buildings were included in the original budgets submitted by the schools but were stricken from the budgets and left out of the institutional appropriations bill in efforts of administration leaders to keep appropriations within the state's income.

The senate today approved a non-partisan judiciary but hurriedly backed up from its action and killed the amendment to the judiciary bill under consideration which had been adopted by a vote of 19 to 15.

Sen. Jo Ferguson, Republican floor leader, offered an amendment to the bill to provide for non-partisan ballots in the election of the members of the proposed consolidated supreme court.

When the senate adopted this amendment Sen. Wade H. Loofbourrow moved to kill the entire bill by striking it from the calendar. Then he changed his mind and moved to table his own motion. This was done and the senate then reconsidered the adoption of the Ferguson amendment.

NEGRESS' RECEPTION AT WHITE HOUSE TEA SHOCKS CAPITAL

BLACK SOLON'S WIFE HONORED

Mrs. Hoover Entertains Mrs. De Priest

WASHINGTON, June 13. (US)—Capital society was a-buzz today over the news that Mrs. Herbert Hoover was hostess to a number of the wives of congressmen at a White House tea yesterday afternoon, among whom was Mrs. Oscar de Priest, wife of the colored representative from Illinois.

It was recalled that when President Theodore Roosevelt entertained Booker T. Washington the noted colored educator, at a White House dinner, a storm of discussion was provoked. In this case, however, nothing except some lively tea-cup gossip was expected to follow.

The tea, it was observed, was one of many similar functions which Mrs. Hoover has been giving at the White House. The guests are selected from the official congressional list in alphabetical order.

The little affairs are given on the lawn of the south grounds of the executive mansion where gay tea tents and awnings are erected. One of the service bands renders music. At yesterday's function there were approximately 50 guests.

Others, aside from the wives of representatives, included Mrs. James Good, wife of the secretary of war, Mrs. William D. Mitchell, wife of the attorney general, and Miss Grace Burton, niece of Senator Burton of Ohio.

Full Report On Prohi Shooting Is Requested

SANTA FE, N. M., June 13. (UP)—Prohibition Director Doran today sent a telegram from Washington to federal officials here asking a complete report on the shooting of J. J. Thompson, father of four children, who was wounded seriously near Silver City yesterday while allegedly delivering a five-gallon keg of whisky to Simon Oropeza, an under cover agent.

Thompson's wife was in the Thompson automobile when the shooting occurred.

Sheriff John M. S. John said his investigation disclosed that Thomas McSherry, deputy sheriff, shot Thompson after the latter pulled a revolver and fired twice at McSherry and Federal Agent W. L. Hill, who had set a trap to catch Thompson in the sale of liquor.

Thompson was shot through the top of a lung.

The sheriff said McSherry and Hill lay in wait for Thompson at Fort Bayard, near Silver City. Oropeza, the under-cover agent, was waiting when the Thompson automobile arrived. As Oropeza, standing beside the automobile, reached for the whisky, Mrs. Thompson said she heard one of the officers shout "hands up." She ducked down in the back seat of the car and did not see the shooting, she said.

Escaped Train Robber Held on $10,000 Bond

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 13. (UP)—Clyde T. Woodson was held for $10,000 bond late today after being arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Eacock on a charge of being a fugitive train robber from Louisiana.

Woodson, arrested in El Reno, Okla., was said by postal inspectors to have robbed a Meridan & Shreveport railway train, Dec. 1, 1928. They said he recently escaped from a Louisiana federal prison where he was serving a sentence of from 5 to 99 years.

SUSPECT SHOT BY OFFICERS

Fort Worth Police Fire On Man in Chase

FORT WORTH, June 13. (INS)—Perry M. Robison, 28, was near death today in a local hospital following an encounter with officers here last night. Robison was shot by Policeman John Alsup after the officer, accompanied by two others, had gone to Robison's room to arrest him. Robison fled the room and was shot by Alsup when they met in an alley a few minutes later, it was stated. Robison was sought by the officers for questioning in connection with a number of burglaries here recently. A pistol was found beside the wounded man and another in his room.

In a statement made at the city-county hospital, Robison said that he had been paroled from the state penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., in 1920 on a larceny conviction.

The wounded man, who is in a critical condition, asked that a letter be written to his mother in Macomb, Ill. Efforts were being made to get in touch with her.

CHURCH TRIAL AT IOWA PARK

Revival Meeting Turns To Courtroom Scene

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, June 13.—A church trial, to which the public is invited, something different and out of the ordinary, is the program announced for the Iowa Park Christian revival Friday night. Evangelist A. B. McReynolds, who is conducting this revival, said that there would be a judge, jury, witnesses, and attorneys for both the prosecution and defense. The church will be charged with robbing God, and Rev. McReynolds, who will act as prosecutor, says that it is not to be a farce or kangaroo court but a genuine trial. The greatest crowd for the entire meeting is expected to witness this unique service.

Evangelist McReynolds preached on "Five Common Sense Reasons Why Christians Should Tithe" Thursday night. His sermons, during this the last week of the meeting, are all on the subject of tithing, stewardship and local church finance. Being the author of several books on this question and a recognized authority in the Christian brotherhood on the subject of church finance he has through his meetings increased the local church offerings from 100 per cent to 1,000 percent in the greater majority of the churches where he has held meetings during the past three years as the T. C. U. state evangelist.

Members of all the Iowa Park churches are attending this meeting in great numbers and considerable interest is being aroused in this subject of tithing, which is being discussed in the homes and on the streets. This revival will close Sunday night.

Big Naval Powers To Use Deadly Weapon

LONDON, June 13. (INS)—Europe's three big naval powers—England, France and Italy—are strengthening their navies with the newest and most deadly war weapon yet devised—a combination submarine and seaplane carrier.

Submarines are being equipped with small bombing seaplanes. These seaplanes can be carried to their destination beneath the surface of the water. Two minutes after the submarine rises to the surface the seaplane can take off for a bombing attack.

Boys Going to Wheat Harvest Rest in Jail

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 13. (UP)—After giving four youthful football players of a Montgomery, Ala., high school a night's lodging in the police holdover here, officers today heard their story that they were en route for the wheat harvest and promptly released them. Police thought enough of their intention to work in the fields that they made up a pool of $1.50 to buy the boys gasoline to continue.

They had been arrested while siphoning gasoline out of another motor car into their own. They are: Morris Segall, 18; Harry Katz, 18; Maurice Katz, 17; and Max Lowry, 18.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug store. Renfro Drug Co.—Adv.

Mother of Eight Boys

"I read an ad in the newspaper and I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I will recommend this medicine to any woman who is in bad shape like I was. I used to get so tired after a few hours' work that I was even afraid in my own house in the daytime. I didn't care if I lived or died. I have given birth to eight boys and I feel strong right after, since I have taken the Compound." —Mrs. Maud Meyers, 469 E. 12th Street, Dubuque, Iowa.

mers—that an 18-year-old boy had stowed away on the Yellow Bird as it rested on the Old Orchard beach. A youth who refused to tell his name attempted to sell newspapermen at Old Orchard the purported story, but there were no buyers.

He claimed that he had flipped coins with his companion to decide which would go and the other boy won. Observers believed such a thing impossible in the crowded cabin.

There was, however, a fourth passenger on the French monoplane as it sped eastward and homeward. "Rufus," a baby alligator, was presented to the fliers as a mascot on their trip.

Take-Off Perfect

The take-off of the plane which will attempt to make the fastest America to Paris trip on record was perfect.

Assolant, whose air courage in the past sent him on perilous raids in Moroccan war regions, waved a last farewell to his blond-haired bride and shot the big craft down the smooth beach at increased speed. It took the air smoothly—as Mrs. Assolant watched with a composure which later was to be shaken as she waited for reports from the craft.

Using a mixture of 60 per cent benzol with the load of 1,100 gallons of gasoline, the Yellow Bird's single motor was beating in smooth and steady fashion when the craft was last sighted. The fliers, steadily to increase their speed as they neared the coast of Ireland, following about the same route which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took, unless they are forced to circle to avoid storms.

The plane is capable of 150 miles an hour and has a cruising range of about 5,000 miles. The scheduled distance is under 4,000 miles allowing for deviation in case of storms.

Scenic Railway Draws Crowds to Lakeside

With all concessions and pleasure devices at Lakeside park in operation Thursday except the "airplane," a crowd of about 6,000 attended the second night of Wichita Falls' new $250,000 Coney Island.

The scenic railway, most popular of pleasure devices, was running full blast, with crowds almost too large to be accommodated. The miniature railway was making its round trips on schedule, filled on each journey with car-loads of excited children. All concessions on the midway were open to the public.

The program Thursday night at the coliseum included special numbers by Pat O'Byrne, Irish baritone, Thompson's Hawaiians, and Maxine Crowson. Complete arrangements for the program Friday night have not yet been made, but several novelty numbers will be presented, it was said. The "airplane" will be opened for operation Friday night, completing all devices in the park.

Witnesses Tell of Threats Of Violence

the funeral and has been in poor health since.

Substantially, all the witnesses testified the same thing. Widespread discussion, they claimed, makes them believe that it might be practically impossible to procure an unbiased jury.

Prominent business and professional men told of numerous contacts in Potter and surrounding counties, during which each said he had heard many expressions unfavorable to Hamilton.

Witnesses Pinned Down

States attorneys had their innings at every cross-examination, pinning the witnesses down to naming the persons who had made some of the statements against Hamilton. One man named more than a dozen whose discussions, he said, had led him to believe a prejudice existed. When asked if the people he mentioned had expressed an opinion themselves, however, he admitted they had not and that he had really heard about as much sentiment in favor of a fair trial as against.

District Attorney Edward W. Thomerson and Hugh Cooper, special prosecutor hired by public subscription, battled the four members of the defense counsel all afternoon in an effort to keep the trial in Amarillo.

Soldiers Seek Desert Brigands

oners from probable torture or death, as described in reports received here, tonight became one of the outstanding feats of a foreign legion known throughout the world for the courage of its men in face of great hazards and almost unbearable climates.

It started early this week with an attack on a detachment of native white troops by a fierce band of mountain horsemen. The French soldiers were ambushed and cut down. Thirteen were killed and many wounded and 79 of the remainder taken prisoner.

The rebels, flushed with success, followed up with a vicious night attack on the outer fort at Ait Yacoub Wednesday afternoon determined to capture the post. The wounded and shattered troops stationed there defended it bravely until French airplanes came to their aid and dropped 600 bombs in a four-hour battle before the rebels were scattered. Friendly Moors aided in the defense, attacking the rebels on the flank and killing 35.

Jury Reports On $15,000 Suit Here

Both drivers were negligent in the automobile collision in November, 1927, which cost the life of 14-year-old Shirley Shanafelt, according to a verdict returned late Thursday afternoon by the jury trying a $15,000 damage suit brought by the parents of the boy against J. K. Kolb.

The answers of the jury to special issues submitted in the charge of Judge P. A. Martin declared that the driver who parked a truck, bearing a protruding tank, along the side of the Vernon highway had been negligent, but added that the driver of the machine which struck the tank had been guilty of "contributory negligence." Young Shanafelt, who was riding with other members of his Boy Scout troop, was jerked from the moving machine and was instantly killed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Shanafelt, parents of the boy and plaintiffs in the suit, were damaged in the sum of $1,042.50, the jury declared. Of that amount $942.50 went for funeral expenses.

James V. Allred, one of the attorneys for the plaintiffs, announced Thursday evening that he would file a motion for a new trial.

HEARING MAY SHED LIGHT ON LAWTON GIRL'S STRANGE DEATH

INDIAN TRIO TO SEEK LIBERTY

Inquiry May Clear Up Part Of Mystery

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., June 12.—Preliminary hearing for the three Indian boys who are charged with murder in connection with the death of Mildred Speck, 21, on Saturday night, June 1, will be held Friday before a local justice of the peace. The three boys are William Rosepeah, Louis Tippeconnie and William Cox.

The law firm of Murchison & Davis, Haskell, Texas, has been engaged by relatives of the Indian boys to represent them at the preliminary hearing.

Relatives of the Speck girl are convinced the girl did not sustain injuries by a fall from the car, which caused her death. The boys have stuck to the story that she fell from the rumble seat of the car and fractured her skull.

Officers have ascertained that the young people had been drinking beer throughout the day, they state, and there is mystery in connection with the finding of the girl's shoes in the weeds several hundred feet from the spot where the boys first stated the accident occurred.

Much interest is being taken in the outcome of the preliminary hearing. The Indian boys were reared in this county.

Delayed Trade Trippers Due in Quanah Monday

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, June 13.—The Oklahoma trade-trippers, estimated 200 strong, will arrive in Quanah Monday, June 17, one week late from their previous schedule. The heavy rains of 10 days ago washing out several bents of the bridge over Pease river on the Quanah, Acme & Pacific railway is the reason for the deferred trip. These trippers are going over the proposed Carlsbad Cavern route, and the Q. A. & P. Ry. extension, visiting the towns. They will be in Quanah from 7 until 11, be entertained at the Quanah Country club with Dutch lunch on the lawn, and informal musical and dance program.

Morgan Jails Man Here as Leader Of Ring in 100 Robberies Over Nation

Investigations begun here several days ago culminated late Thursday afternoon in the re-arrest by the constable's department of a man wanted by both federal and city authorities in Denver, Colo., on narcotic and robbery charges.

The prisoner, traced through the efforts of Frank Morgan, constable, and E. S. Richardson, chief deputy, is believed to be a member of a robbery ring credited with more than 100 hi-jackings within the past few years. A search of his room revealed a newspaper clipping, telling of the activities of the ring, and containing a picture of a feminine member of the gang, said to be the wife of the man held here.

While Mr. Richardson Thursday afternoon received telegraphic confirmation of a narcotic indictment pending against the prisoner, Mr. Morgan was completing a long distance conference with the chief of detective in Denver, confirming the man's connection with the widespread robberies. T. E. Middlebrook, narcotic agent in charge in Denver, is wiring a certified copy of pending indictments and preparing the necessary warrants for returning the prisoner to Denver, he said.

The suspect was first placed under arrest on a vagrancy charge of Wednesday morning, while Mr. Morgan completed his investigations and got into communication with Denver. The prisoner made a small bond late Wednesday, but when definite word came from Denver Thursday afternoon, the officers traced him to his lodgings and made the second arrest.

The crowded court room started to cheer and Miss Coffer, 21-year-old country girl, was kissed and hugged by friends.

Mrs. Atchley, widow of the storekeeper, sat in a corner and sobbed as the verdict was announced.

U. S. AIR EXPERT PRAISES FIELD

Bedinger Pleased With Facilities Here

R. D. Bedinger, inspector for the U. S. department of commerce aeronautical branch, spent Wednesday at Kell field for the purpose of airport inspection and to give examinations to prospective pilots. Fred Ridenour, local pilot and junior college student, passed the examination for license as transport pilot, the highest commercial pilot's license issued by the government department. Mark A. Walker and Les Myres are included in the present class of student fliers, and were reported to be making rapid progress. Myers made his first solo flight this week, it was reported.

Mr. Bedinger was quoted as declaring the local Municipal airport one of the best in the Southwest because of its size, smoothness, freedom from hazards and surroundings of level land making emergency landings comparatively safe.

Development of the field service afforded in the shops at Kell field is evidenced by the fact that ships of the Braniff Airline and of the Southwest Air Fast Express, which uses Ford Tri-motors, are to be serviced here daily in the future. Numerous commercial planes, and a number of U. S. army ships, have been serviced at the Municipal airport during the present week.

Announcement was made Thursday by the Braniff Airlines that the Fokker tri-motor dining ship will be brought to the local field within the next few days. Local air enthusiasts will be given the opportunity to inspect its accommodations. Besides the two pilots, the plane carries a cook and waiters and is equipped with sleeping quarters.

Latest design Ford tri-motored ships of 14-passenger capacity will be used in the service, it was announced. One of these plans will land at Kell field Friday morning at 9:45 o'clock, with Robert W. Cantwell, chief pilot for the concern, at the controls, the information stated.

Fares announced for the S. W. A. F. E. service are as follows: From Wichita Falls to Oklahoma City, $12; Wichita Falls to Sweetwater, $15.

The connections offered by the new route to the coast by way of El Paso gives Wichita Falls direct contact with two transcontinental air-rail systems. Braniff Airline ships from this point connect with the Universal Airlines New York to Los Angeles daily service at Kansas City.

Manuscript of a Persian poem written in the time of Columbus has been presented the library of congress.

The ships are the Despatch, Durban, Colombo, Capetown, Heliotrope, and Wisteria.

Woman's Forum Tea and Musicale Honors Ladies of Press Meeting

Visiting women of the press were met Thursday afternoon at the Kemp hotel an driven to the Woman's Forum clubhouse where an outstading program had been arranged to entertain them, followed by a lovely tea.

A line of hostesses waited them and after cordial greetings and introductions, they were seated for the program.

Mrs. G. B. Smedley was general chairman of arrangements and made a gracious speech of welcome to the visitors, introducing the Indians from Lawton, who gave the first numbers. Some of them wore full Indian dress and some were simply school boys. There were Indians from four tribes and they gave religious, war and jazz songs in really melodious voices, with the drummers accompanying. The war dances were encored several times.

Mesdames Luella B. Thompson, Wayne Holmes, Messrs. R. E. Shepherd and Wm. Young gave the "Quartette from Rigoletto," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. F. R. Collard.

Miss Mildred Whiteman, who has just come to Wichita to take charge of the dancing department in the Wichita Falls Conservatory of Music, did a most graceful solo dance, accompanied by Miss Kathleen Criswell, who has the department of piano and violin in the same conservatory. Miss Whiteman was trained in Chicago under Madame Ludwig and Gladys Benedict. Miss Kathleen Criswell gave a lovely piano number, "Lento," by Cyril Scott. "Welcome Sweet Wind," was sung beautifully by Mrs. Wayne Holmes, accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Collard. Mrs. Wm. E. Young and Mrs. Hugh W. Olds of Massachusetts, known to the audience as Jewell and Adelle Ray, sang two exquisite numbers, "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Lieurance, and "Carmena," by Wilson. Mrs. Collard accompanied them.

The dining room was lovely in day lilies, Shasta daisies and coreopsis. The table from which punch was served was a bed of daisies and the punch bowl was set in an enormous block of ice. Crystal candle holders held pastel shaded candles and a bevy of lovely girls served punch to the assembly.

Those serving were Misses Mary Tancred, Dorothy Allison, Martha Ellen Hines, Mary Virginia Barron, Joline Woods, Elizabeth Smith, Laura Lee Hampshire, Genevieve Fritz, Mary Elizabeth Donnell, Mathilde Donnell and Mrs. Woodard Bass.

Prominent Insurance Man Dies of Apoplexy

NACOGDOCHES, Texas, June 13. (INS)—John B. Dorsey, 70, well known insurance man of this city, dropped dead of apoplexy at his home here at noon today. He is survived by three sons, one daughter, and his wife. Funeral services will be held here Friday.

Police Chief Urges Observance Of Stop Signs as Cops Nab Violators

Nineteen automobile drivers, intercepted at various intersections in the residential part of the city, posted bonds Wednesday and Thursday at the police station on charges of failing to stop at surface stop signs.

At one corner, Fourteenth street and Hotliday, 11 drivers were stopped Wednesday by two officers who have been detailed by Chief Frank Burns to post themselves at different stop buttons in the city in an effort to check numerous violations of the ordinance requiring vehicles to come to a full stop at each of the signs, it was said.

"This measure is imposed upon the police department by the demands of safety and economy," said Chief Burns Wednesday night.

"We do not want to compel our citizens to come down here and pay fines when no intent to commit an offense existed. But the failure to stop where the signs are placed gives rise to frequent and serious danger of costly, if not dangerous, collisions. Stop signs are placed only at intersections marked by heavy traffic; they regulate the passing of many cars; most drivers comply with the requirements, and depend upon all others to do the same thing. The high degree of safety provided by the stop-sign is converted into a grave danger if the sign be ignored. What we want is complaint cooperation, not fines, from citizens of the city.

"Considerable disregard of the amber-colored caution lights in the downtown district also has been noticed," said Chief Burns. "The few seconds during which the amber light shows is provided for the intersection to be cleared. Neither cars nor pedestrians are permitted to enter the intersection until the amber light is replaced by the green. Close observance of this requirement will minimize danger of damages or injury."

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, June 13. (US)—A young woman in Chicago jumped out of a high window and took with her the happiness of a half dozen innocent people. She did it by leaving a note saying she loved a married man who has a nice family. She was afraid the blow might glance off, so she gave his home address.

That was her idea of love!

It's always better to love the right kind of woman—if there were only enough of them to go around! But it's disastrous to love a spoiled child who will have her own way or destroy everything in her path.

A window-jumper is almost invariably a spoiled child. You bow to her will or she wrecks the place.

If the poor thing could only know that all the pity goes to the family she hurt, who didn't even know her! The man's wife, his children, the girl's own mother—she didn't think of them. She wanted the man she couldn't have to feel bad—he does all right. She had her own way—but it's his wife he feels sorry for, so it's not much of a victory.

Phoney love is easily identified. Men run away from it, hide, lie, have letters mailed from far away towns, leave the city unexpectedly! Refuse to answer phone calls!

Real love is so delicate that it gets messages easily without the assistance of telephones or letter carriers. It never inflicts cruel punishment upon others for the sake of having its own way.

A Denver girl in love with a bachelor jumped out of a window, and left letters—and all they said of her was, "they should have had her in an insane asylum."

Which, everything considered, is hardly worth killing one's self for.

The principal farm crops produced by United States farmers have been estimated to be worth $13,000,000,000 annually.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

O. C.: An Appreciation

Before telling you about O. C. I want to tell you a Pat and Mike story.

The two had been boys together. Mike went out into the world and Pat remained in the old home town. Many years later Mike returned to his home town and inquired for Pat, who was now the stage door man at the local opera house. They were delighted to see each other.

Said Pat: "Mike, I've been hearin' so many nice things about you I shure thought you were dead."

"Pat," laughed Mike, "I'd like to live 20 minutes after I die so that I could hear the nice things people might say about me."

There is some good philosophy in that little story for us women. There are times when we are disposed to criticize men too freely and severely—men who are dear to us, friends, and members of our own families.

It certainly ought to be a great pleasure to healthy-minded women to say nice things about nice men while they are alive, instead of waiting until they are dead.

So today, having Pat and Mike in mind, I want to speak about a darling man, a dear friend of mine. His hair is white but his heart is ever green and as fine and as fragrant as a young pine. He used to be a newspaper man once himself. He is wealthy now. His genius consists in doing things for people in distress. His kindness springs not from a well but from a great, uncharted ocean of unplumbed depths of sympathy, tenderness, understanding and unselfishness.

Recently I showed him two letters I had received from readers. They were unusual and truly stirring. I don't mind saying, that I cried when I read them. Two tortured souls were about to go down in the tides of destiny over which they had no control.

O. C. read them. I never saw a man, or a woman either, for that matter, react so magnificently. Without a word to me he immediately issued instructions so that these lost souls probably believe that there is a Santa Claus—and a God.

I have two purposes in writing this article. One is to urge women to adopt the philosophy in the Pat and Mike story and the other is to express that philosophy myself so far as my O. C. is concerned.

We women sometimes paint men in false colors. In our most soberminded moments, however, we occasionally see a man in his fine true light. Why not pay him the tribute he deserves? So here's to Pat and Mike and O. C. and to all sweet-souled men! May they always hear the nice things they deserve to hear!

Betty Brainerd will be glad to help her readers with their problems. Send a self addressed stamped envelope to her in care of this paper.

AUSTIN, June 13. (INS)—Governor Moody today signed the Hornaday house measure making a $15,000 emergency appropriation for the department of agriculture in fighting the Mediterranean fruit fly invasion in Texas. The measure was in line with the policy advocated by the governor in strengthening the quarantine laws and allowing sufficient appropriations for the work.

Beautiful Bridge and Luncheon Given by Mrs. J. B. Ferguson

Gladioli in every shade were the particular flowers that featured a beautiful morning bridge and luncheon given Thursday by Mrs. J. B. Ferguson at the Wichita club. One entered the lounge through palm lined doors; ferns banked the front of the mantel and Shasta daisies were massed with ferns on the mantel piece. Tall candelabra bore pastel globes. On the tables, lovely in their pastel covers, were bud vases filled with sweet peas, but save for these flowers and one golden jonquil in a jar of gladioli, all flowers used were sheafs of the favored flower.

Score pads and tally cards were hand made, covered with gauze in pastel shades and wearing little bunches of flowers. The prizes were unusually handsome.

In the games, Mrs. Jim Barnard won high, a beautiful bowl of sterling, in Louis XIV design. Second was won by Miss Joline Woods, eight exquisite Dresden china plates. Mrs. Joe Art, won third, a lovely iridescent bowl and fourth went to Mrs. Jim Williams, a sterling silver bowl of the same pattern but smaller than first prize. Mrs. J. C. Strauss won low, a lovely group of silhouettes.

There was a cut prize at each table. They were exquisite little copies of the masterpieces on wood.

The guest list numbered 120.

Hats off to Dad! IT'S FATHERS' DAY

AFFECTIONATELY, he's known as the Old Man. But he's still young in spirit and gets just as much delight in a smart, well-selected gift as the most fellow—probably more.

BELOW are listed a number of logical suggestions to celebrate his own Day—gifts that will please him with their utility and by the thoughtful sentiments which they convey.

THEY tell me at Bailey-Moline's Hardware Co., 810 Ohio, that Dad is just hankering for some more fishing tackle, or a pocket knife, or some new golf balls.

Bailey-Moline can supply his needs for anything in the sporting goods line with good standard equipment for sports.

That fishing tackle suggestion sounds great to me and I know it would hit Dad the same way, only more so. A tricky new bait, or a shining new reel would tickle him to death. Get him one and see if I'm not right. (Not that I'd brag but I just know Dad likes Bailey-Moline sporting goods.)

"I'LL give you three guesses Dad."

But this wide-awake, hustling Dad needs only one. He has made it clear to his family that he admires the beautiful array of neckwear The Hub Clothiers, Indiana and Seventh, are showing.

He is pretty sure that Junior has bought him one of these ties. But to keep from spoiling the fun he makes two far fetched guesses but hits the third one—smack—right on the bull's eye. Yes, a tie from The Hub.

Get your Dad one and make him happy too, Sunday.

Fine neckwear in snappy patterns. Priced $1 to $5.

COMFORT! That's the thing Dad likes above everything else. A good old easy chair to rear back and rest in when the long hard day is over. Here he browses over the stock reports and finally drops the paper and nods in his easy chair.

North Texas Furniture Co., Eighth and Scott, have just the chair Dad wants. The back lets back, a foot rest appears, and there is a box for magazines. Dad would love it.

North Texas also has attractive smoking stands and reading lamps.

I MADE a most eventful ramble in search of choice Dad's Day gifts for you to buy at the last minute.

It was in the Buchanan Stationery Co., 816 Scott, across the street from the Strand.

There you may choose from bill folds for new currency, desk lamps, chair cushions, fountain pens, Nevasmok, Work Organizer.

Mary Ann

AS YOU will discover when you read their ad in Saturday's Record News on the back page, W. B. McClurkan and Co., Ninth and Scott, have many nice gifts for Dad's Day.

PBM'S specially wrap and also mail Dad's Day gifts. Their gift items are choice.

FOR FATHERS DAY

YOU know Dad is a man who is somewhat set in his habits, that is most Dads are that way.

More than likely your Dad has the habit of trading with Gene Montgomery, 806 Scott. So if you want to be sure and please him go in Montgomery Co.'s, and buy him a pretty linen handkerchief to peep out of his coat pocket, or a pair of silk socks, or a summer tie. He likes all those things because they're the quality he's used to wearing.

'STAY AT HOME,' PARENTS TOLD

Don't Live With Children, Writer Advises

The Widowed Man or Woman Who Goes to Live With the Children Upsets the Domestic Happiness of the Family and Loses the Peaceful Independence Which Is the Rightful Heritage of the Old.

Every day I get letters from old men and women telling me that they have lost their wives or their husbands and that their children want them to break up their homes and come live with them, and asking me whether they shall do it or not.

To which I unhesitatingly reply no. No. A thousand times no. Don't do it. Stay in your own place. Hang on to your own home as to your last rock of refuge, the last bit of peace and happiness that is left you in this world. Don't break up your home and go to live with your children unless it is an absolute financial necessity, unless you are dependent upon them and there is no other way in which they can possibly provide for your support.

When mother or father is widowed, it seems the natural and appropriate thing to their dutiful and affectionate children to urge them to break up their homes and come and live with them. They can't bear to think of mother alone in that big house, so lonely and forlorn, with father gone. Besides, she has worked so hard all these years, raising a family and cooking and scrubbing and cleaning and dusting, that it is time she rested some, and they want her to come and live with them and just fold her hands and do nothing the balance of her life.

As for father, how on earth could he manage to get along alone without mother, and no one to look after him and see that he got the proper food and wrapped up his throat when he went out and took the medicine for his rheumatism? It makes his children's hearts bleed to think how desolate and neglected he would be with nobody but a hired housekeeper to take care of him. So they insist upon his selling the old place and coming to live with them.

But this gesture of welcome, made by the children in all good will and tenderness and sympathy, almost invariably ends in disaster to all concerned, and particularly does it end in disaster to the old. And this is not because there is anything wrong with either the children or the parents, but simply because human nature is what it is.

To begin with, the induction of father or mother into their children's home menaces the peace of the home because it inevitably starts friction. The man and woman who have ruled their own home for 40 years can never play second fiddle in anybody else's home, especially their children's.

They feel they have a perfect right to boss Mary's home, or John's home, too, and Mary's husband and John's wife resent this, and Mary and Tom and John and Susan have words about it that lead to the divorce courts oftener than to any other road as statistics amply show.

Then there is the never-ending strife between father or mother and the children, the bitter conflict between the old generation and the new. The traditional picture of grandfather or grandmother showed a placid and serene old man or woman with their grandchildren sitting reverently at their feet listening to words of wisdom.

In reality the grandparents and the grandchildren are in a perpetual fight. Grandma is always criticizing everything about the girls from their lipstick and rouge to the length of their skirts and saying that no respectable girl used rouge and showed her legs in her day and what on earth their mother is thinking about to let them run around at nights the way they do, she doesn't know, and they needn't say that she didn't warn them when they come to some bad end.

And grandpa picks on the boys about their collegiate clothes and their jazzy speech and ways and the hours they keep and says that when he was a boy he got up and milked the cow and walked five miles in the snow to school and never spent a nickel unnecessarily and never tore around in a high-powered car and the boys answer impertinently and grandpa's feelings are hurt and he complains to their father.

The result is a merry little family war that the old unintentionally precipitate. They are not to blame, because they can't help doing as they do. For they have the vanity of age that makes all old people think that their own opinions are infallible and that wisdom will perish with them. And for another thing they can't stand by and see those they love going, as they think, to destruction without lifting a hand to try to save them.

But if the old complicate life for their children when they go to live with them, they ruin it for themselves. For when they give up their own homes, they give up their independence, they give up their identity, they give up their place in the sun. In their own homes they were rulers and could order things as they liked. In their children's homes they are guests who must conform their tastes and habits to other people's.

In their old home towns they were people of importance with their own friends, but when they go to live with their children they are only Mary or John's mother or father. And they are only there on sufferance. Nothing is more pitiful than the loneliness of old people who have been uprooted from all of their associations and transplanted to some distant place where there is not one person to whom they can say, "Do you remember," and who have no companionship except that of strange young people with whom they have nothing in common.

And what more terrible than the boredom of the old people who have been busy all of their lives and who suddenly find themselves with nothing to do! How long the days that are not filled with useful labor! How empty the hands with no tasks to perform any more!

And how they miss their old surroundings, the old home, the shabby old furniture that was not furniture to them, but memories! The bed in which their babies were born and in which their loved ones died. The chair where they rocked their babies to sleep. These are more to them than the period furniture in John or Mary's fine house.

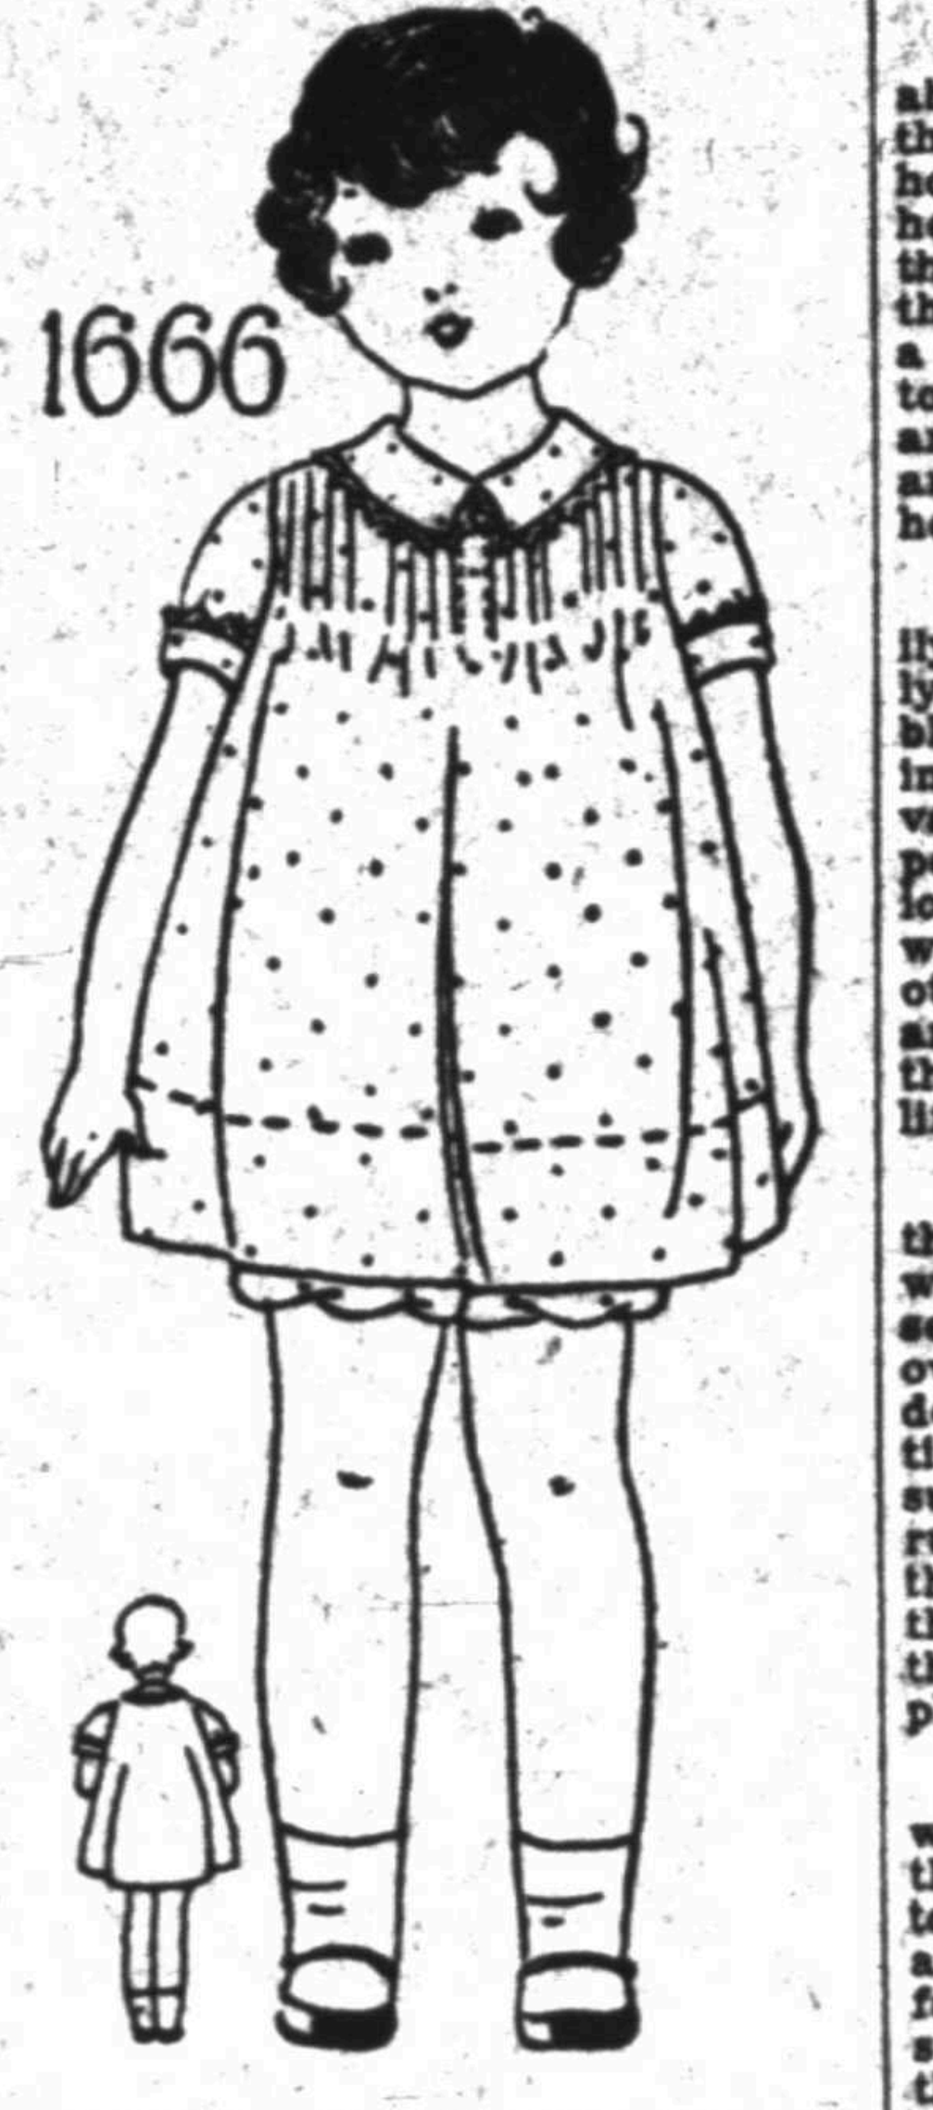

So I think old people are wise if they stay in their old homes, in their old environment, among their old friends, with their old furniture, instead of going to live with their children. They are not so lonely as they are among strangers. They are better off to work a little too hard than not to work at all. And they have their independence—that is the one great necessity to happiness to us all, old or young.

HILLS COUNTRY MEET JUNE 17

Heart of Texas C.-C. Program Being Planned

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, June 13.—The annual meeting of the Hills country, Heart of Texas, district of the West Texas chamber of commerce will be held at Mason, June 17, announced Homer D. Wade, manager of the regional body today.

After a conference with the member towns of that district, an invitation was extended to the state officials, state legislators and to the staff correspondents of the newspapers on duty in Austin, to attend that convention.

Sight Seeing Trip

As a preliminary to the meeting, a sight seeing trip will be made in a loop comprehending as many towns in that district as time would permit. This invitation was extended to the legislature on June 6 in a letter signed by the representatives of the various towns to be visited including Mason, the host city, Fredericksburg, Kerrville, Junction, Menard and Llano. The senate accepted the day it was presented. The house because of pending matters delayed its acceptance until Monday, June 10.

The sight seeing trip will begin Sunday, June 16. Transportation will be afforded the distinguished group by the Texas Bus Owner's association. Leaving Austin at 9 a. m. the caravan will make its first stop at Fredericksburg, where luncheon will be served, a short stop at Kerrville in the afternoon and the party will then journey to Junction where it will be entertained for the evining and night. Monday morning the party will proceed to Menard, where it will be entertained for a short time and then to Mason, arriving about 11 o'clock. Between 12 and 1 o'clock an old fashion barbecue, with all the trimmings will be given by the citizens of Mason and Mason county. An informal program will be carried out and the return trip to Austin, will begin about 3:30 and will comprehend a short stop at Llano, after which the return to Austin will be completed. The legislators by accepting this invitation will be given an opportunity to experience one of the most delightful scenic drives in Texas and will have an opportunity of contact with a citizenship that is equal to any in the southwest.

"President Bourland and myself will join the representatives of the various towns in accompanying the state officials, and legislators on this trip." Manager Wade said. "It is regrettable that this party could not visit all the towns in the territory of the Hills country district, but because of the limitation of time this is impossible."

The general arrangement committee and the executives of the West Texas chamber of commerce invite the presence and participation in the meeting by representatives of all the towns in the district, and sincerely trust that all will join in making this an eventful and historic occasion.

FOLKS I BELIEVE IN SERVICE!

This happened to a friend of mine. He got in a town about 1 a. m. Went to the best hotel. It was full up.

They asked him if he would go to their other hotel. He said "Yes." They shot him down in a cab. Wasn't much, he said. Probably topped the hotel social register in 1840. He figured on staying ONE night.

But there was a young chap on the desk who did about 140 things to anticipate his needs, to make him comfortable and happy. There isn't space here to tell you all the thoughtful things he did, but it was plenty.

My friend stayed there four days, as a testimonial to this chap's spirit of service. And wrote the president of the main hotel what a rare diamond he had in this man.

That's the spirit of service we have here. Every man in this organization is saturated with it.

We don't propose to give you just ordinary service—we want to give you extraordinary service.

And instead of the handicap the hotel clerk worked under, we have, for you motorists, the finest, safest, most trouble-free, big-mileage tires—Goodyears—at just as low prices as you'd pay for average standard quality tires.

Will you try our tires and service?

TEXAS PRESS OPENS MEET

Veterans Review 50 Years Of Newspaper Progress

relics of a bygone day of journalism.

The former country weekly editor, sitting in his jumbled press room, was sharply contrasted by the speaker with the newspaper man of today who commands the numerous inventions and improvements of the modern press in publishing the great dailies of the present age. With this progression, he said, the old country newspaper man has disappeared, and with him the marked personalism and individuality of early newspapers.

"In modern concentration and specialization of newspaper forces, the individual hase had to give way," the orator declared. "But while I deplore some of the tendencies of the modern age, I am glad of its coming, because out of the past age has come some of the world's greatest men. I am glad I have lived in the past days of the newspaper, but the great age of newspapers is now on hand."

Discussing the prevalent charge against newspapers that crime headlines increase and encourage crime, Mr. McCarty emphasized that news of crime does not make it, but that the reason for such news is the desire of the public to read it.

"Shoot straight, be square, be clean," was his closing admonition to the newspaper men.

Eli T. Merriman of Corpus Christi, oldest member of the association in point of service, E. G. Senter of Dallas, historian, Fred B. Robinson of the Waco Times-Herald, Frank Gaston of the Granbury News, John H. Cullom of Dallas, past president of the association, and Clarence N. Ousley of Dallas, also a past president, were among other speakers on the program, who told briefly of their recollections of early Texas newspaper days.

Mrs. O. C. Harrison of Seymour and Mrs. Margaret Webb of Albany gave musical numbers and readings.

In opening the Thursday morning session, James H. Allison of The Record News and Daily Times, and Orville Bullington, president of the chamber of commerce, welcomed the visitors to the city. Sam E. Miller of Mineral Wells, delivering the president's annual address, scored lawyers responsible for the defeat of the Gates law requiring publication of legal notices in newspapers, and recommended more drastic action by the legislative committee next year. His comments were applauded heartily by newspaper men.

W. A. (Billy) Smith of San Saba, also took a good-humored thrust at the lawyers. The Texas press is pledged to assist its lawmakers in destroying the present "damnable" court system instead of reforming it, and to replace it with a system that will do Texas credit and furnish justice for all, he declared.

During the morning session, Mrs. Lee J. Rountree of the Bryan Daily Eagle read the annual association poem, and Deskins Wells of Wellington, essayist, presented his essay, "The Independent Editor," to Secretary Sam P. Harben for publication in the association bulletin. James H. Lowry of the Honey Grove Signal made formal presentation of the Golden Jubilee history to the assembly.

Distribution of this volume among members of the press association is being made, and is creating much favorable comment. The volume, compiled by Mr. Lowry under the direction of Mr. Harben, is a complete history of the Texas Press association from its organization in 1880 to the present time. Sketches and photographs of members, officers, and past presidents, as well as interesting incidents of the early days of the Texas Press association are also included.

Delegates and visitors will be entertained Friday noon by The Record News and Daily Times at luncheon, which will be followed by a trip to Vernon on a special train. The Vernon Chamber of Commerce will entertain the visitors with a barbecue and program. Saturday will close the convention, selection of the 1930 convention site and election of officers offering the main features of the session.

YO YO TOURNEY

Publishers to Try Skill With New Toy In Tourney Today

Following the adoption of a motion at Thursday afternoon's session of the Texas Press association, announcement is made by officials of the association that a yo yo contest for visiting press members will be held Friday morning in the convention room at the Kemp hotel at 10 o'clock promptly. All newspaper men desiring to enter the contest are requested to be on hand with yo yos.

M'ALLEN SEEKS PRESS MEETING

Montgomery Opposes Corpus and San Angelo Bids

To Corpus Christi and San Angelo, who early in the opening session of the Texas Press association convention unfuried their banners calling the press delegation to their respective cities for the 1930 meeting, McAllen has been added as a third contender. The valley city is represented by Monty Montgomery, editor of Monty's Monthly, who will seek lonehanded to bring the state press convention to McAllen for the first time since 1921.

Montgomery is armed with a circular issued by the International Press club of his city, addressed to "Fellow Boneheads," inviting the press fraternity to attend a "painless party" in McAllen in 1930. Thirty-two newspaper of the valley, with the editor of the monthly magazine as their spokesman, urge the approval of McAllen for the coming year's convention site. Newspapers for the lower Rio Grande valley are members of the International Press club which is unique in the fact that it never meets on American soil. Once a month the press club members adjourn to Reynosa in Old Mexico for a program and banquet.

Tempting entertainment, drives over scenic highways, and trips to citrus orchards are among the features held out by the McAllen spokesman as part of the entertainment which would be enjoyed there. All the attractions of the valley and the coast are promised if the state press delegation selects McAllen as the next year's convention site.

Sidney Kring, manager of the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce, Eli T. Merriman of the Caller, and Grady Kinsolving of the Times are boosting Corpus Christi's claims for the convention. Claude C. Wild, manager of the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce, Houston Harte, editor of the Standard-Times, and Ed Blanton, editor of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' magazine, are supporting San Angelo's invitation to the press body.

Their match today is to be over the 18-hole route and will be played in the morning starting at 8 o'clock. It is match play.

J. W. Sharp shot a 98 for runner-up in medal play.

There were 24 participants in the tournament. Scores ranged from 94 to 128.

Editors Tell Of Early Days Here

Members of the Texas Press association whose memories of Wichita Falls in its earliest days were awakened by their return here for the annual convention of newspaper men entertained the Rotary club Thursday noon with various reminiscences.

Sam Miller, editor of the Mineral Wells Index, stated that the amount of city built here during the last 15 years bears eloquent testimony to the existence of abundant faith on the part of local citizens. Mr. Miller, incidentally, celebrated his 62nd birthday here Thursday.

Col. Dick McCarty, publisher of the Albany News, who came to Texas in 1874, said that on his first visit to this locality, Wichita Falls was a very small settlement beside the river, surrounded by stretches of untouched land which could be bought at $1 per acre.

Clarence Ousley, now connected with the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, recalled that in the early eighties East Texans considered the western portion of the state as a desert prohibiting human habitation.

Will C. Edwards of Denton and Sam Fore Jr. of Floresville, also spoke briefly. J. H. Allison was program chairman.

Ancient Festival Of Hebrews Observed Here

Celebration of the Festival of Weeks, an ancient Hebrew observance of the reception of the Ten Commandments at Sinai, was inaugurated at Temple Israel Thursday night when a large congregation participated in a service featured by Rabbi S. J. Schwab's sermon on "An Oasis in the Desert."

Paul Goldstucker, a student in the Hebrew Union College rabbinical courses at Cincinnati, read the service Thursday night.

The Flower service planned for Friday morning has been cancelled because of the absence from the city of many of the children, it was announced.

E. T. Merriam, 59 Years in Newspaper Service, Boosts Corpus for '30 Meet

One of the real veterans of the Texas Press association is E. T. Merriam of Corpus Christi. Mr. Merriam has a record of 59 years of newspaper work and although he is now employed by the federal government in the agricultural department, he still writes a weekly article for the Corpus Christi Sunday Caller.

Mr. Merriam's first newspaper work was with the Neuces Valley News in 1870. He has brought to the convention a copy of volume 1, number 1 of that paper, issued on May 3, 1870.

In 1874 he became associated with the Galveston News, and later, with William H. Malby he established the Corpus Christi Free Press. In 1883 he was one of the founders of the Caller Publishing company, publishers of the Corpus Christi Caller, now one of the leading newspapers of Southwest Texas.

Mr. Merriam was a member of the association in 1882 under the presidency of Hal Goslin, when a trip was made to San Francisco and other Pacific Coast points. He has brought to the convention a photograph of the members of the association in that year.

Mr. Merriam, with Sidney Kring of the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce and Grady Kingsolving of the Corpus Christi Times, is urging the advantages of Corpus Christi for the 1920 meeting of the association.

How World News Gathered Shown in Movies

Theater patrons in general, as well as delegates to the Texas Press association convention here, have opportunity for the remainder of this week to learn something of the methods of news gathering on a world-wide scale in a film being shown at the Olympic theater.

The picture, entitled "Reporting the World," is a film developed by the United Press, press association which serves The Record News and Daily Times and shown here through the cooperation of the United Press with the two Wichita Falls newspapers. The film depicts the gathering, transmission and printing of news from all corners of the globe, and will be shown daily at 2:40, 4:40, 6:40, 8:40 and 10:10 p. m.

As a courtesy to delegates to the press convention here, the Dent theaters of Wichita Falls are admitting members of the press association to all their shows upon presentation of the association badge. Included in the theaters are the Majestic, Strand and Olympic.

Herbert Kaufman's THE GRAND GESTURE Daily Editorial

SNATCHING a few minutes from his embroidered knee breeches Tryon "Get-It-Done" Dawes, en route to the court of St. James, raises the necessary $10,000,000 to insure another world's fair in the Chicago tradition. The city has decided to mark its hundredth anniversary by celebrating "a century of progress" focusing international attention on the gains of science since Fort Dearborn abandoned its log hut habits, entered the metropolitan handicap, and began to race for first civic honors. In 1933 all the wizardry on earth dressed in its best bib and tucker will convene at the two hundred million exposition in Grant park. The concentrated essence of chemical, engineering, and medical achievement, accompanied by the best mechanical practice and artistic expression, will meet on a mud bank where buffaloes wallowed in Washington's time—and from which Indians were still spearing when Manhattan was parading in the shade of local family trees.

Pittsburgh is an automatic product of coal, iron and water ways. New Orleans and St. Louis inevitabilities of Mississippi traffic. San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle predestined by their harbors, but Chicago was born without silver spoons in even the mouth of her river. She squatted in the midst of empty prairies, an undowered Cinderella, a waif among the ashes, before her hopes were fairly roofed.

She emerged from the great fire homeless and bankrupt to become commissary general to the universe, transportation headquarters for the continent, foremost manufacturer of the United States, financial rival of New York, premier merchant and leading shipper of America.

SHE EXPLOITED the opportunities that older communities had snubbed. She found the department store, then mail order selling, evolved efficiency on slaughter house floors, conceived the skyscraper, introduced cold storage to foodstuffs, the harvester to agriculture and mass production to higher education.

The automobile caught her napping but aviation finds her ready with the greatest airport between coasts and pushing plans to take ten million visitors on bird's-eye tours of the neighborhood. Which sounds as though imagination had bitten off more than present facilities can digest. But past performance warns us not to copper the bet. The grand gesture is Chicago's pet stock in trade. Her chimney line and crowding campaniles are monuments to success against economic odds and triumphs over melting pot confusion.

When she invites all the fresh ideas and laboratory secrets from Dan to Beersheba to show advance samples and compare notes at her centenary she again steals a march on the rest of civilization by getting a prior peep at every time saving, life lengthening and corner cutting stunt that knowledge and experiment have meanwhile gathered.

She dedicated her last fair to one Columbus. This is consecrated to the entire regiment of new world discoveries.

ABE MARTIN

It would be fun to know what per cent the farmer gits out of a $7 straw hat. I recall hearin' th' word "brat" when I wux a younster, but it didn' have nothin' like the wide general application it enjoys today.

(Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

Of course it was perfectly all right for Colonel Lindbergh to get married, but he certainly did disappoint about 10,000,000 loyal constituents.

They're fussing around about reparations, congress is trying to relieve the farmers, beauty contests here and there are gladdening the hearts and saddening the hearts of hundreds of girls, aviators are fighting for new endurance records, but the burning issue seems to be: what in the world can we do for the baby's rash?

Vesuvius has been erupting again. Mussolini will have to speak to that mountain yet.

We Admire Foolishness

A MASSACHUSETTS professor advises college men to be snobbish if they want to succeed, while an English business man urges late marriage and strict frugality. In Ohio an educator stresses unceasing toil as the highroad to success, and a westerner tells young graduates to retain the "cool balance of the educated man" under all circumstances.

These are all notable bits of advice, and probably will do a great deal of good. But it strikes us that one thing has been left out.

No one, so far, has told the 1929 crop of graduates that one of the best traits a man can have is the ability to be wildly, daringly foolish now and then.

However much we admire the more sober virtues, the man we admire most is always the man who is willing to do something that runs counter to common sense.

Up on the coast of Maine, at this moment, there is a little gasoline yacht which, for the time being, is more interesting to the American people than any other ship on earth. In it is a pair of honeymooners—one Colonel Lindbergh and his bride. This young man has won the hearts of his countrymen so much that he can't even get them to leave him alone on his wedding trip.

And Lindbergh, if you'll recall, did it by doing something that no man who considered common sense and steady plodding the greatest of virtues would ever have dreamed of doing.

There really wasn't much sober sense in flying alone across the Atlantic. It was extremely dangerous, and it served no obvious utilitarian end. A young man who minded the commencement speakers would never have tried it.

But Lindbergh shoved the maxims of frugality and sobriety aside—and did it. And, as a result, he made himself the nation's most popular hero in a generation.

His, of course, is an extreme case—but it illustrates the point.

Secretly, all of us are a bit sick of the sober virtues. We work hard and we save our money and we do all the other things that the copy books advise—and, somehow, we don't get any overwhelming measure of success. We are too used to doing this sort of thing to dare break away, take chances and risk everything on a throw of the dice; but we have a deep admiration for the chap who does.

It might be a good thing if someone could buttonhole each senior class just as it gets through listening to its commencement oration, and whisper softly to it:

"That's all very well, but don't believe too much of it. If you really want to get ahead—take long chances, be a spendthrift, learn how to risk all that you have. You may lose; but if you win, you'll win everything."

Why New York Is Unpopular

NEW YORKERS often are both irritated and puzzled at the antagonism toward their city which is felt in the rest of the country.

Perhaps if they will consider what happened to the Central Park casino recently they will understand.

Central Park, as you know, is the great park set down in the midst of the city to give fresh air, sunlight, green grass and trees to the myriad of poor slum dwellers who would never see them otherwise. In the middle of it is a casino, built on city land and operated under the city's guiding hand, where refreshments are served.

Recently this casino was overhauled, elaborately furnished and made into a very tony and exclusive restaurant for the "400." The ordinary man, for whom the park was laid out, cannot enter it—and couldn't pay the prices demanded if he did get in. It exists for the millionaires, and for them alone, although it stands on city land, in the middle of the poor man's recreation ground.

Would any other city in the country do a thing like this? Not one. New York's action in regard to the Central Park casino helps to explain the anti-New York feeling of the "hinterland."

The Many Who Lost

IT IS a bit unsettling to us ordinary folk to read about the half-dozen lucky ones who held winning tickets in the English Derby lotteries.

An Irish widow gets a quarter of a million; an Indianapolis janitor gets some $80,000; a Calcutta clerk draws down $100,000—and so on. Reading these stories, one's natural conclusion is that the best way to get along in life is to spend all one's money on lottery tickets.

But, of course, there's another side to it. All of the money that these people won came from scores of thousands of other people who bought tickets and did not win. There were half a dozen winners and a couple of hundred thousand losers.

That's the way it always is with speculation. We let the successes dazzle us, but we forget about the much larger number of failures.

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Nautical Tidings From Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh

MILFORD, Conn.—Early today a 34-foot power cruiser crept into the harbor here carrying a tall man who wore blue glasses. The waterfront is in an uproar. The mayor immediately proclaimed it Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh day and ordered all shops closed.

PHILLIPS

(Later) — Kill Milford item regarding Lindbergh. The tall man on the mysterious cruiser answered all questions and expressed a particular desire to talk to newspapermen. He can't be Lindbergh.

Port Jefferson, L. I.—Sixteen power boats, all carrying Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, are now in the harbor here. Fourteen more have been sighted and the authorities have decided to close the channel for fear of a Lindbergh surplus. "Something is wrong somewhere," said the mayor today, after visiting nine of the yachts. "I am willing to concede the country 10 Mr. and Mrs. Lindberghs, but 16 seems to me like rubbing it in."

The mayor was for caution but the Rotary club went ahead with plans for a dinner to the honeymooners to be held simultaneously at six different hotels. "The rule of fair play is that every couple have a right to be Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh until proven otherwise," said the chairman of the dinner board.

Thimble Islands, Conn.—Colonel Charlie Lindbergh and his bride, the former Anne Morrow, were comfortably settled on 13 of the 20 islands here this afternoon, on the word of "Cappie" Page, the local ferry boat czar and blackfish bait mogul.

"The little town of Stony Creek sold out its entire stock of blue glasses as early as noon," said Page. "Phil Troup and Pugsy Bartnett today opened a masquerade store on the water front and did a big business in false whiskers."

The big problem confronting the community is how to feed all the Lindberghs.

"Of course they a'int all really Lindberghs," admitted Page today, "but we can't say anything for fear of offending the real ones."

Block Island—It is believed that Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh have just arrived off here. In fact were it not for the fact that the cruiser is named Emil III, instead of Mouette and that the only person aboard is a scollop fisherman named Joe, people here would feel quite certain of it.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, June 13.—He's an adventureous young fellow, this grandson of a former president of the United States. He is Chester A. Arthur Jr., and the other day he came to shore for a brief leave from the freighter K. I. Luckenbach. He shipped to obtain material for a novel.

Well, and a lot of people, aspiring authors, come to New York to obtain material for a novel. Which is strange, considering fact that they overlook their own surroundings. New York, possibly, is drama and life intensified, but there isn't a place in the world where a writer can't get so-called "material for a novel."

His Greatest Stunt

Basil Woon, author of a number of books, hasn't written about the war although he certainly has had sufficient background. He was shot down in No Man's Land and saw his best friend shot down in flames. He was decorated by a minister of state and had a night gallavanting about with the Prince of Wales.

For that matter, he has seen much more: For instnce, the guillotining of Landru, rode with Lindbergh, crossed the Atlantic nearly two score times and—this is his greatest boast—took a native New Yorker to see the Woolworth tower.

Tragedy in the Last Act

Norah Bayes was once a famous actress. She died not long ago and Broadway forgot about her. Her body remained in an undertaking parlor and only recently did it become known generally that she did not leave enough funds to provide for her own burial.

As a result a small group of admirers are taking up a collection to purchase a mausoleum for the stage favorite.

This is but fair, when it is recalled that she was so generous to the needy when living.

Journalistic Enterprise

There must be a scarcity of news in town. Newspapers are engaging in all sorts of spectacular stunts. They send reporters up in airplanes to telephone their editors from the air; they have other rides in the cabs of railroad engines to write of their "experiences," if any, and one paper even sends a girl reporter climbing up a pole to interview a professional flag pole sitter.

The other day I saw by the papers that a reporter donned a diver's uniform and telephoned his city editor from the bottom of the East river.

Contrasts or Something

Met Edward McKenna, the author of "Hardware," who writes as though he were a former pugilist, insurance salesman, soda fountain clerk and lawyer combined—I don't mean he writes that badly but that effectively.

It turns out that he is a professor at the University of Pennsylvania. Stephen Leacock, one of the pioneers of the burlesque form of humor, is a professor of economics at McGrill university.

Odds and Ends

Evolution and expansion are marvelous things. In 1878 the New York telephone directory contained 241 names. Now it is so heavy that if dropped upon a human being's head it would—well it would just be too bad, that's all. . . . A fellow met Arthur McKeogh, associate editor of the Red Book, the other day and wanted to know if it was the same thing as the classified telephone directory. The Red Book is a magazine; the classified directory merely happens to be red . . . Sailor airplanes are the rage among children in New York these days, as they probably are throughout the country. Choo-choo cars are passe and on any residential street can be found boys throwing "airplanes" into the air.

WILD GOATS

Hardy Little Animals Thrive in Wichita Mountains

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., June 13.—Wild goats from the Canadian Rockies thrive well in the Wichitas. Late last summer five goats were shipped from Canada to the forest preserve near Cache for experimental purposes. Three recent additions to the family have this summer increased the herd to a total of eight—mothers and children progressing nicely.

The goats are being kept in a corral only a short distance from the road which leads to the forest home and are attracting many visitors. A baby elephant keeps the goats company and is as much of a curiosity as the Canadian specimens. The baby elephant is growing quite tame and accepts any reasonable amount of peanuts with thanks.

"I am so happy . . that the last pimple is gone"

You may be happy, too!

EVERY evening thousands enjoy themselves at dinner-parties, dances, theatres, games, clubs. Many thousands more are denied the joy of such merriment and happiness.

Maybe this denial is due to a skin trouble. First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize, but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin.

Take S.S.S. at meal-time. You will be delighted with its blood building and tonic effect.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Health And Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright 1929 by The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, June 16:

Sunday—Breakfast: One coddled egg, three or four slices of melba toast, five stewed prunes. Lunch: Boiled potatoes with chopped parsley, string beans, avocado salad. Dinner: Roast chicken, melba toast dressing, head lettuce, cooked carrots and fresh green peas, ice cream.

Monday—Breakfast: Cantaloupe as desired. Lunch: French artichoke, cooked greens, sliced cucumbers. Dinner: Boiled fresh beef tongue, cooked spinach and parsley, molded vegetable salad (peas, cucumber, tomatoes), baked apple (no sugar or cream).

Tuesday — Breakfast: French omelet, made of the whites of two eggs and two ounces of milk, served on Melba toast, stewed raisins. Lunch: Apples or berries as desired. Dinner: Baked sea bass, cooked celery, string beans, sliced tomatoes on lettuce, plain jello or jell-well (no cream).

Wednesday — Breakfast: Whole wheat muffins, peanut butter, stewed pears. Lunch: Stuffed summer squash, raw celery. Dinner: Roast mutton, cooked mashed turnips, asparagus, salad of grated raw beets, pineapple whip.

Thursday — Breakfast: Coddled eggs, toasted cereal biscuit, stewed apricots. Lunch: Sweet corn, cooked asparagus, raw carrots. Dinner: Broiled teak, mushrooms en casserole, greens, salad of chopped raw cabbage and celery, junket.

Friday — Breakfast: Baked stuffed apple with milk or cream. Lunch: Baked egg plant, spinach, lettuce. Dinner: Broiled white fish, summer squash, salad of tomatoes and watercress, prunes in gelatin (no cream).

Saturday—Breakfast: Baked eggs, wholewheat muffins, stewed figs. Lunch: About a pound of fresh cherries, and an eight-ounce glass of sweet milk. Dinner: Veal roast, baked vegetables (ground carrots and turnips), salad of raw asparagus, raspberry whip.

Stuffed summer squash: Select medium sized summer squash, cut off the tops (a thin strip) and with a teaspoon scoop out the inside—about three spoonfuls each. Fill them with the following mixture which is sufficient for eight squash: One cupful of finely ground carrots, one cup of finely ground walnuts, mix thoroughly. Fill the squash with the mixture, replace the tops and place in a baking pan with a small quantity of water, not enough to cover the squash. Bake in oven about 45 minutes, or until the squash are tender. Serve hot with butter, or they may be served cold on lettuce leaves as a salad.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Rabies

Question — Wm. H. O. asks: "When one has been bitten by a rabid dog, and has had the Pasteur treatment, when is one sure that the danger of infection is over? Is it true that there is not a time limit, and that the incubation of that is similar to tuberculosis?

Answer—As near as I have been able to observe, if the symptoms of rabbies do not appear within a few weeks, or in three months after the Pasteur treatment, there is no possibility of trouble occurring after a longer limit of time. It is my belief that those cases supposed to be caused by rabies after one or two years from time of bite usually are caused by some other disease such as epilepsy and have no real connection.

Child Always Tired

Question—Mrs. E. F. writes: "We have a little 2-year-old girl, seemingly in perfect health, but is always complaining of being tired She cannot walk very far, and her appetite is very poor. She takes orange juice every morning, and a pint of milk during the day, but does not care for much else. What can we do for her?"

Answer—Growing children must be given plenty of foods containing calcium, silicon and iron. All of the cooked and raw greens contain these important minerals, and without these the child cannot build bone and nerve cells. If you will have your little girl take a short fruit fast of about four or five days, and follow this with a well balanced diet including plenty of non-starchy vegetables, I feel sure that you will soon notice an improvement in her general health. She should be given one pint enemas of plain warm water at least twice daily during the fast.

Chillicothe Man Killed By Automobile Buried

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, June 13.—D. Gatewood, 44, who was fatally injured when struck by a passing car and died later in the Quanah sanitarium, was buried in Chillicothe his home town. The accident occurred on apved highway No. 5 a few miles west of Chillicothe when Mr. Gatewood stopped his truck on the pavement, and walked around the front end of the truck just as V. E. Browning of Quanah drove by. The accident was reported as unavoidable, as Gatewood was only a few feet from the passing car when he first came into view of the driver.

Spearman Will Handle Huge Crop of Wheat

Special to The Record News

BORGER, Texas, June 13.—Spearman will handle more wheat this year than Perryton according to B. Frank Bennett, secretary of the Spearman Chamber of Commerce, who estimated his county would ship out 3,500,000 bushels of wheat for the 1929 crop.

"We have seven elevators in Spearman and I believe we will harvest not less than 3,500,000 bushels of wheat in Hansford county this year," he said. "Crop prospects are very good. Farmers tell me that it looks like the wheat crop will be the biggest and best we have ever had."

Two Quanah Bands To Give Summer Concerts

Special to The Record News.

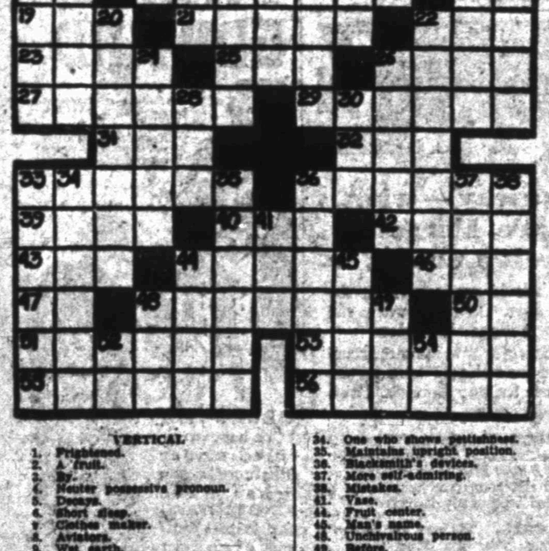

QUANAH, Texas, June 13.—The Quanah Municipal and the Quanah Ladies band will start the series of summer concerts Thursday, June 20. The cool, wet weather caused the late start this year. These bands are under the direction of Prof. E. S. Hamilton, and Quanah is one of the few towns in the state to suppor its bands by taxation. During the winter season the Municipal band and the Quanah Ladies' band have practiced together, but June 1 the two organizations separated, and alternate and joint concerts will be given.

WICHITA FALLS TIES FOR SECOND AND GAINS GAME ON STEERS

SPUDDERS WIN NINE STRAIGHT

Lapan's Homer Helps 11-8 Defeat of Exporters

Special to The Record News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 13.—The Spudders of Wichita Falls repose in second place today, and are only three games behind the pace-setting Dallas Steers as a result of a continuation of their winning streak, which this afternoon was extended to nine straight.

By defeating the Exporters today in the second of the series, 11 to 8, the Spudders went into a tie for the runnerup place with the Shreveport Sports, who were losing to San Antonio. The Spudders and Sports have won 32 and lost 28 games each. Wichita Falls gained a game on the leading Steers, who lost to Waco.

Spuds Field Brilliantly

As may be deduced by the score, the pastime here this p. m. was a free-hitting affair. Both clubs hammered 13 blows. But the Spudders' knocks were more timely, and again their brilliant and consistent defensive play pulled them through while the Exporters' fielded raggedly. The Spudders made only one error to four by the Exporters.

George Payne managed to go the route, despite the hard-hitting of the locals, while the Spudders hammered their old teammate, Tom Estell, and Grimm off the hill. Fred Stiely, another former Wichita Falls athlete, finished for Claude Robertson.

Red and Bud Lead Attack

Pete Lapan continued his mighty hitting by clouting his fourth home run in as many days. He also hammered a double. Fred Bennett had a perfect day at bat with three hits and Stapleton banged two doubles and a single in four times up. Benton and Fitzgerald clouted two blows apiece.

Three home runs were made by the Exporters, two by Bob Petrie and the other by Lyman Lamb. Lamb also hit a double and a single, Petrie added a one-base blow to his day's work.

Milt Steengrafe probably will hurl in the series final here tomorrow.

Exporters Score First

The Exporters got off to the lead by scoring two runs in the first inning. Akers beat out an infield hit and scored on Lamb's double and Lyman tallied on Kelly's triple. Wichita Falls counted three in the second. Bennett singled and scored on Stapleton's double. Lapan's home run over the left field wall tallied Stapleton ahead.

Petrie's circuit smash over the left-center barrier tied the count in the Exporters' half.

The Spudders went ahead in the third. Benton beat out a roller but was forced by Turgeon. Stapleton's hit to left scored Turgeon.

Beaumont took the lead in the fifth with two runs. Akers singled after one was out. Turgeon fumbled Swanson's grounder. Akers and Swanson advanced on a double steal and scored on Lamb's single.

Spudders Take Lead

The Spudders scored three in the sixth for a 7-5 lead. Fitzgerald singled and went to second on a passed ball. Bennett singled, scoring Fitzgerald and took second on the throw-in. Stapleton doubled, scoring Bennett, and Lapan's two-base smack tallied Stapleton.

Wichita Falls put the game on ice in the seventh with four runs. Benton was safe on Swanson's boot. Fitzgerald singled. Grimm replaced Estell. Bennett singled, scoring Benton and advancing Fitzgerald to third; Bennett went to second when Petrie fumbled the ball, and Fitzgerald scored and Bennett went to third when Akers let Petrie's throw-in get away from him. Stapleton's lift to Petrie scored Bennett. Swenson was safe on Akers' low throw. Sullivan doubled, scoring Swenson.

Security National Nips First National

Security National bank pulled an unexpected rally in the fourth inning to defeat the First National yesterday, 16 to 12. The First had the game on ice till then when the Securities got to connecting with the pill. Before three pitchers could stop them, they had spanked the ball for 10 runs and held the losers to one run and three hits from then on.

Reed, the regular shortstop for Security, tried his ability as a pitcher and held his opponents to one run and five hits. He was also the heavy clouter for the Security, getting a double and a single. The leader for the First was Massey, clouting the ball for a home run and a single.

Baer Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

NEW YORK, June 13.—We are with the Institute of Child Welfare Research in its efforts in training children to eat disliked foods.

Especially spinach, a food which you can eat three times a day for a century and still not get the spinach habit.

Like parsley and other pot herbs, spinach is a food that looks well on a dish for months.

Little Arthura Baer loves spinach. She started eating it at the age of six months and is a spinach veteran at the age of two years and four months.

Where the Institute of Child Welfare Research makes its juvenile mistake is in trying to feed the baby with a spoon.

When little Arthura gets her spinach she steps right into the trough. First, she dips in a fist and comes up with a bouquet of everblooming spinach and massages it into her bib.

No matter how much she wastes, she always saves enough of the spinach to make herself a green beard.

We do not want the Institute of Child Welfare Research to tell us how to compel a baby to eat spinach.

What we want to know is how to make her stop eating it.

She has more fun with her spinach than she has with all her other toys.

She gets some of it in her mouth. But that is because her aim is bad.

The way to get a baby to eat is to allow her to direct the traffic. Even the Institute of Child Welfare Research is only an institute dealing with vitamins and calories while a baby sticks strictly to fundamentals and squawks.

We are willing to forward our spinach recipe to the institute free of charge. The best way is to dip the child in a tub of spinach and we will guarantee that she swallows some.

The right of a baby to choose its own food cannot be abridged or curtailed by amendments.

A baby naturally likes to plunge its hand in vegetables and mashed potatoes. The question arises whether you want your child to be polite or healthy.

We choose health. After she gets so that she likes to eat, then you can always send her to Vassar to study table manners.

And although very rough in their table manners, babies are not especially dangerous to their attendants. We would rather struggle and have them fed through a keyhole.

YANKEES SIGN COLLEGE STAR

Frank Nakola of Holy Cross Is Unbeaten on Hill

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, June 13. (UP)—Unprecedented bidding for the services of a college baseball player has involved Frank Nekola, Holy Cross college's southpaw ace, in a unique situation.

An official bulletin issued in Chicago today by Commissioner K. M. Landis announced that Nekola had signed to play with the New York Yankees and would join the world champions at once.

Ed Barrow, secretary of the Yankees, denied here that Nekola had signed with the Yanks, saying that he had no knowledge of any such deal.

Up at Worcester, Mass., Nekola himself wondered whether he remained a college player with two more years in collegiate circles ahead of him or a member of the world champions on the brink of a professional career.

Sought by A's and Sox

Two other clubs—the Philadelphia Athletics and Chicago White Sox—have been bidding for Nekola's services and it is said that the White Sox offered the Holy Cross staff a bonus of $20,000 for signing a contract, but he refused.

In his first year in college baseball, Nekola has hung up an enviable record, winning every game he pitched. He has scored five shutouts over Georgetown, Brown, Providence, Yale and Boston college. He pitched one-hit games against Yale and Boston college.

Big Ed Walsh, White Sox coach and scout, who was one of the star pitchers of the American league in his prime, is said to have discovered Nekola when the latter was pitching for the Evander Childs High school in the Bronx.

After following Nekola's pitching record for several years Walsh is confident that Nekola has the makings of one of the greatest southpaws the major leagues have seen since the days of Eddie Plank and Rube Marquard.

Coached by Jack Barry

Since Jack Barry, who played shortstop for the Athletics in 1910, 1911 and 1913, is coaching the Holy Cross baseball team, it was thought that Connie Mack would have the inside track to acquiring Nekola's services.

From today's developments, however, it would seem that the Yankees have grabbed the Holy Cross ace right out from under the Athletics and White Sox.

When once the Yanks decide they want a player, it's dollars to doughnuts that they will get him, for they have the financial backing to outbid any other major league team and are willing to spend money to get what they want.

May Stay in College

The attitude of the Holy Cross athletics authorities may settle the whole situation. If they decide that Nekola has not signed a contract with the Yanks, the Holy Cross pitcher may decide to play his two remaining years in college baseball.

Even so it takes something more than nerve to turn down a tempting offer of say $25,000 just for signing your name on a scrap of paper, two years of college baseball notwithstanding.

FOXHALL DEFEATS LEBUS TO TAKE GREEN BELT GOLF CROWN

MEMPHIS STAR WINS, 3 AND 2

Electra Youth Loses After Match Is Square at 18

By AL PARKER
Staff Correspondent

VERNON, Texas, June 13.—Frank Foxhall climbed the peak of Green Belt golfdom that 36r three years has been just out of his reach when he defeated Roy Lebus of Electra in today's 36-hole final match, 3 up and 2 to play, to bring to a close the four-day tournament over the course here of the Hill Crest Country club.

In past tournaments Foxhall always has been a threat, but not until today has the Memphis lefthander delivered in the large quantities that his boosters have expected of him. Lebus, the vanquished of the final match, proved the real sensation of the tournament. After eliminating two former champions in previous rounds, he gave the new titleholder a real scrap in today's final. Just as in his previous matches, he never did crack, and it was Foxhall's good golf, rather than his own errors that meant his defeat.

The first four holes of the afternoon rounds decided the issue. They had finished the morning 18 all square in a thrilling match that had found first one and then the other in the lead. The four holes that Foxhall won at the outset this afternoon provided the margin of victory, and he shot nothing less than three birdies and a par to win them.

Foxhall's Approach Fine

At the first he more than made up for the short drive with a beautiful second, four feet from the pin, a putt that Lebus conceded after driving into a ditch. Another birdie was registered at the second. Again Foxhall's approach was dead to the pin and he went down with a 6-foot putt. On the third Foxhall ran down a 10-foot putt for the third successive birdie and on the next his par 3 was good for a win to put him 4 up.

Such golf provided an excellent chance for Lebus to break, but he didn't and reversed the order of things for a birdie 3 to win the next hole.

One of Lebus' few costly mistakes came on No. 6, where he failed to sink a 5-foot putt and lost a chance to win the hole. Again on No. 7 they halved with par 4s.

The U. S. 8 hole, a tough one all way for Lebus, found the Memphian 4 up again, the result of his par 4 and Lebus' hook out of bounds from the tee. Again on No. 9 Lebus came back, dropping his tee shot three feet from the pin and sinking for a birdie to wind up the 27th, 3 down.

Foxhall Wins Tenth

Foxhall won the 10th by sinking a comparatively long putt, as his opponent was missing his of about the same length. Lebus won No. 11 with a par 4 when Foxhall failed to sink an eight-footer for a half.

Both misplayed their tee shots at No. 12, but Lebus' hook found its way into a trap and he failed to get out, with Foxhall eventually being conceded an obvious par 5. Lebus recovered nicely from a none too good drive on the 426-yard hole and halved with a par 5.

After slicing his drive into the road bordering the fairway on No. 14 and dubbing his second shot, Foxhall found the green with his third and ran down a 15-foot putt to halve the hole and make the match dormie.

Lebus, still unwilling to give up, played the fifteenth perfectly and won with a birdie three, rolling dead to the pin from 75 yards out.

The match ended at the sixteenth where both played perfect golf. Each got off the tee with long, straight drives and pitched nicely to the edge of the green. Foxhall missed his long putt, and Lebus' only hope of carrying the match was to sink his, but he was to the right a few inches, and the Green Belt association had a new champion. The afternoon cards:

Out—
Foxhall, 334, 344, 443—32.
Lebus 545, 434, 452—34.
In—
Foxhall 455, 344—5
Lebus 344, 343—4.

Foxhall's 32, which included only one conceded putt, on the first nine this afternoon probably was the best round of the entire tournament. He had three birdies and six pars for the nine.

Erratic in Morning

Both were a bit off their games during the morning rounds and the first 18 finished all square after the advantage had switched back and forth several times. The gallery that followed the morning play might have seen better golf, but little that could have been more exciting.

Lebus got off to an advantage by winning the first and the next three were halved, all in par figures. Lebus went two up by winning the fifth, when Foxhall's drive landed in a tree in the fairway. Lebus' game went astray on the next two and Foxhall squared it through the seventh. He went 1 up at the eighth by sinking a 10-foot putt for a birdie after a beautiful approach. His tee shot at the short ninth was only 24 inches away from the pin and when he blew the putt, Lebus pitched dead and holed out for a half.

Foxhall went 4 up on the first hole after the turn. Lebus' drive finding a trap. After No. 11 was halved in regulation fours, the youthful Electran took advantage of Foxhall's slip at the next two and won birdie 3 on No. 14. Both went awry on the fifteenth and Lebus' five was good enough to win the hole. Lebus played the par one perfectly and Foxhall was short all the way, the former going 1 up. Foxhall squared it once more at the seventeenth with a par four and the 18 ended all even when both made the short hole in three. The cards, morning:

Out—
Foxhall 545, 354, 453—36.
Lebus, 445, 345, 343—37.
In—
Foxhall 446, 436, 443—38; 74.
Lebus 444, 345, 353—37; 74.

W. R. Long of Vernon won the second flight championship by defeating James Parr of Electra, 1 up, in a hard fought match that found both playing better than speed flight golf.

R. C. Holt of Alice won in the fourth flight, with a 1 up victory over L. C. Harrison of Memphis.

Jack Parr of Electra won the first flight consolation over Jack Lebus of Electra, 3 and 4.

Third flight consolation honors went to A. D. Nicholson of Shamrock, with a 7 and 6 win over J. W. West of Memphis.

The Heavyweight Situation

A pair of invaders by the name of Senor Paulino Uzcudun and Harry Max Schmeling have the heavyweight situation in their large and clammy hands. They can make it or break it into still smaller pieces. If they battle with the ferocity that Sharkey and Stribling showed at Miami beach there will be nothing left of the heavyweight situation but memories that range from John L. Sullivan to Gene Tunney. To have either Schmeling or Paulino win by a narrow margin in a listless or unexciting contest would remove any remaining glint from the heavyweight outlook.

With an aggressive marcher, such as Paulino is, and a hard hitter of the Schmeling type, there should be plenty of action and a decisive result. There should be, unless both decide to take no extra. Chances with the main goal in sight. Such things have happened before—and often. They happen most of the time when our native-born heavyweights give a party.

No heavyweight crown should be awarded on any close decision. If it is it won't mean anything and will not be taken seriously.

Stars at Home

Westchester county, where the next U. S. open will be played at Winged Foot, has turned out more fine golfers than any other county in the country.

Among those who have come up from a caddie job in this section are Johnny Farrell, Gene Sarazen, Joe Turnesa, Al Watrous, Henry and Al Ciuci, Tommy Harrigan and six or eight others who should feel at home when the firing starts in less than two weeks. Not so many years ago many of these open entries, with a chance to win, were carrying the golf equipment of Westchester business men who were satisfied with anything between $5 and $10. As caddies they were lucky to average $7 a week. Today several of them, still this side of 30, have from $100,000 to $150,000 salted away and are earning from $50,000 to $75,000 a year.

Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen have been the stars of the old Westchester caddie group for each has bagged an open championship. Farrell is now the defending champion. But Joe Turnesa, finished only a stroke back of Bobby Jones in the U. S. open of 1926 at Scioto and Al Watrous chased Jones to the last hole in the British open of the same year. It will be interesting to see how these Westchester native sons make out over the Winged Foot lay-out.

The Babe's Hardest Fight

Ruth is now in the throes of the hardest battle he has ever known to lead the home run parade. In other years he has had only one or two rivals to cut club. This season he has eight or ten. In the list there are Gehrig, Ott, Klein, Hafey, Foxx, Hornsby, Jackson and three or four more, who insist on mauling the ball out of the lot at stated intervals. He may drive them all to cover when he hits his old stride, but it will be a tough grind down the stretch this time with no chance to slump and make up for lost time.

A few of these youngsters now hitting home runs will get the habit and keep it up. Most of them may slip, but not the entire crop. As one gets older and starts crowding 40, it isn't as easy to keep the right timing. In golf it isn't so easy to get a body pivot working. In baseball the old coordination isn't quite the same. Ruth has middle age to fight as well as a dozen younger rivals, and the first is the toughest war. Yet, the Babe has always been an exceptional individual, and he may be the exception to the general rule for another year or two. None of those now after his crown can be compared to him when he is at his best.

"I still believe," remarked an old-time golf professional, "that the best advice or tip you can give an average golfer is to make him get used to the idea of hitting with the head of the club. He must have a mental picture of the clubhead doing its part. Too many golfers think too much about the work of the hands and wrists, without tying them up with clubhead motion. The hands and wrists do a big part of the work, but they must be directly connected with the action of the clubhead. They are there to speed up the clubhead. Too often they are used without any relation to clubhead speed. One common mistake is to have the hands, especially the right hand, rushed through too quickly. This won't happen if one gives more thought to simply hitting with the head of the club. For in that case the hands and wrists are much more likely to work as they ought to work. Get the feel of the clubhead just as you would get the feel of a hammer in driving a nail. The greater speed must come from the outside of the circle, not from the inner part." There is more than a trifle to this suggestion. It is something for the average golfer to think about and to work out whenever he has the chance.

BASEBALL enthusiasts who put in eight or more hours toil a day in office or shop, view with some derision the assertion of Babe Ruth's friends that the present breakdown of the great man is due to overwork. Fans are inclined to regard a diamond performer's life as one to be envied, what with only a couple of hours work a day at high pay, and traveling around the country on crack trains and living at the best hotels. But the tosser's life isn't so easy as it looks.

The strain of competition, with never a letup, is wearing on the nerves and physical resistance. And the competition not only is against the opposing clubs, but against one's own teammates. For there always is one to take the place of a failure athlete.

This traveling around isn't such a life of Riley as it seems. Indeed, it grows monotonous and your vest-pocket ball player is heartily sorry of being away from home half of the season, of sleeping in Pullman berths and hotel beds, and of eating restaurant meals.

THE PRESENT indisposition of Ruth is veiled somewhat in mystery. At first it was said to have been due to a heavy cold or influenza. Then it was rumored that Babe's heart was affected. Now it seems that the great man was fagged out and had to have a vacation.

His friends have said that Ruth had been capitalized by his club owners, who forced him to play exhibition games in off-days of the pennant race, which entailed more traveling under not the best of conditions. While the Yankees have reaped rich financial harvests from Ruth's appearances in the hinterlands, in the spring and in the regular season they could not be blamed for that. They are paying Babe a tremendous salary and they must realize on his fame while he still is a headliner. Too, Jake Ruppert and Miller Huggins are not such Simon Legrees that they would drive Babe to appear in exhibition games if it taxed his strength.

And apart from any humanitarian reasons, it is not conceivable that the Yankee powers would jeopardize the health of their great drawing card. The longer Babe plays baseball the more money it means for the Yankees, and they of course would not knowingly cause him to engage in any activity that would curtail his usefulness on the diamond.

THE TRUTH of Babe's present illness probably is merely that outraged nature has exacted its inevitable toll. Babe Ruth is a veteran, an old man, as baseball players go. He has flaunted nature by his disregard of the rules of living. Until recent years Babe was not a disciple of the Volstead law and while he is said to have greatly reduced his drinking, he still is a prodigious eater and smokes innumerable black cigars.

While undergoing the tremendous mental and physical strain that is the lot of all athletes, particularly a champion, Ruth has always lived a carefree, careless existence, having his fun where he found it. And sometimes that fun lasted until the wee sma' hours, and was such pastimes as betting what card would be next or partaking of the forbidden cup.

The wonder of it is that Ruth has gone on this long at the top of the procession.

And the question that concerns baseball, and particularly the Yankees, is whether Ruth can come back. It is not beyond the realm of possibility that Babe is through as a great ball player—indeed, his day as a diamond performer may soon be ended. When he goes, he will go fast. That is inevitable to one who has worked and played at the speed that Babe Ruth has lived for 18 years.

NEW POOL IN SHACKELFORD

Shallow Sand Area Found By Oil Test

Special to The Record News

ABILENE, Texas, June 15.—A new shallow oil producing area has been opened in Western Shackleford county by Oyster & Rife and Taylor's No. 1 and R. A. Davis, which is estimated good for 50 barrels a day pumping eight feet of sandy lime topped at 1604 feet.

The hole has not yet made a full 24-hour pumping test, but local operators rate it as the best completion in Western Shackleford county in more than a year.

Independent Oil & Gas company, Southern Petroleum Exploration company and Empire own offsets to the new discovery and a considerable development program in the immediate area is indicated.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Cottonseed oil turned comparatively dull with prices moving irregularly lower. Liquidation of July caused easiness in the nearby positions, but the firmness of cotton, lard and hogs helped to sustain the new crop months. Closing prices were 3 points lower to 5 points higher. Print cloths were in largest demand. Some special sheetings were of interest. Spot raw silk prices here and abroad were slightly firmer and the markets very quiet. Calcutta burlaps were cabled one to two pence lower and futures values here eased five to 10 points. Spots were quiet.

STOCK-A-DAY

SCOVILL MANUFACTURING COMPANY

The Scovill Manufacturing company specializes in production of brass products. The business originally was started in Connecticut in 1802 and was incorporated as far back as 1850. Late in 1923 the company purchased the American Pin company and the Oakville Manufacturing company paying for the control of these concerns with $2,700,000 in stock and $300,000 in debenture bonds. In 1925 it purchased the Morency-Van Buren Manufacturing company and the next year bought the capital stock of the Gilchrist company of Newark. The latter concern manufactures soda fountain and druggist fixtures. The Scovill main plant is at Waterbury, Conn.

There is no founded debt. Capital stock outstanding consists of $22,125,000 in shares of $25 par value. The best year the company has ever experienced was in 1926 when net income was $2,979,701, or $3.37 a share. This compares with $2,253,218 in 1927 and $2,698,508 in 1928. Earnings throughout the latter years of the company have been relatively stable. Dividends have been paid at varying rates since 1925. In recent years the company has followed the policy of distributing entire earnings in dividends. This has been made possible by a large cash surplus. The present quarterly rate is 75 cents a share. Profit and loss surplus on the first of January 1929, was $9,299,636.

As of that date total current assets amounted to $21,328,006. Total current liabilities were $1,605,369, leaving net working capital of $19,722,637. Book value applicable to the capital stock amounted to $35.51 a share. The stock is closely held.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, June 13. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Cattle trade around the 11 market circuit was featured by a broad demand for fed steers and yearlings at firm to 25 cents higher prices. The in-between grades of fed steers and yearlings showed especially sharp gains for the week, and it was doubtful whether current prices on such offerings would be maintained, the advance largely a forced affair due to curtailed receipts.

Packers will also take the first opportunity offered by liberal receipts to obtain further price reductions on grass cattle. Chicago had a top of $15.40 on mixed yearlings while choice 1,550 pound beeves at Omaha cleared at $15.25. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 23,200 as compared with 23,936 a week ago and 25,527 the corresponding day last year.

Hog trade was marked by a fairly broad shipping demand at 10 to 25 cents higher prices. Packers, however, were very bearish and insisted on making their purchases at values steady to lower with Wednesday. At a few points packers left the yards without buying any of the butcher grades. The day's extreme top of $11.50 was realized both at Chicago and St. Louis. Total offerings were around 80,500, a decrease of 13,500 from last Thursday and 17,500 short of a year ago.

The sheep supply approximated 39,700, against 35,294 a week ago and 40,794 a year ago. Unevenly lower prices prevailed again on fat lambs and yearlings, with average losses of 25 cents. Aged stock was little changed. A few of the best native lambs in Chicago brought $15.75, while best Idaho's made $15.65. Fed yearlings on the same market cashed up to $12.00.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, June 13. (AP)—Slowness featured trading in the cattle yards. Except for cows most classes were about steady.

Very few stocker cattle offered; values steady.

Truck hogs 15 to 25 cents higher with the top $10.70; bulk of 175-250 pound truck butchers $10.30 to $10.60.

Lambs 25 to 50 cents lower with a deck at $13.00. Other classes of sheep steady with yearlings at $10.00@10.25; aged wethers $7.00, and 2-year-old wethers, $8.00.

COTTON NOTES

NEW YORK, June 13. (UP)—A merger of 12 fine goods mills in New Bedford and Fall River, Mass., is being planned as a means of eliminating cut-throat competition and stabilizing the fine goods trade, according to reports from those centers.

The local market appears to be marking time and showing little response to either bull or bear news and opinion is that some definite developments in either direction are being awaited.

Coincident with reports of mill mergers in New England, cables from Manchester tell of the formation of the Egyptian mills, a combination of mills spinning fine cotton. The newly formed organization has a capitalization of 3,500,000 pounds.

A large infestation of boll weevil is reported from the vicinity of Tyler, Texas. These can be expected to multiply rapidly as the rainy season continues, reports say. The pest is reported as increasingly active in Georgia, South Carolina and Southern Alabama.

Garside estimates total consumption of all cotton in the United States in May at 678,000 bales, as compared with 632,000 bales in April and 578,000 bales in May, 1928.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Rather a less favorable view of the weather news or outlook, together with expectations of bullish government reports on domestic consumption and boll weevil emergence tomorrow, seemed responsible for advances in the cotton market here today.

The demand was comparatively limited, however, and after selling up from 18.81 to 18.97 for October, the market met considerable realizing with the delivery closing at 18.87 or about 10 points off from the best. The general market closed barely steady at net advances of 7 to 12 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 5 to 10 points on a late rally in the Liverpool market and continued reports of a heavy boll weevil infestation in the South.

Reports of showers or rains in Oklahoma and prospects for showers in the eastern belt seemed to offset the favorable features in the weather news otherwise, such as the seasonable temperatures, and probably brought in a little commission house buying on the advance which carried prices up from 18.62 for July and from 18.99 to 19.10 for December contracts.

Closing quotations showed reactions of about 6 to 10 points from the best on the more active positions.

Steel Common Comes Forward As Real Leader to Aid Stock Trading

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 13. (US)—The stock market had a real leader today, for the first time in months. Steel common moved steadily higher under increasing demand to close with net gain of over six points.

Other Standard Industrials lagged behind but the Steel group remained very strong with Bethlehem jumping five and Crucible gaining over two points. Utility and Power organizations benefited from further merger reports. General Electric gained 10, American and Foreign Power over five and Standard Gas 5¾. Lago featured a strong Oil group with advance of over four points. Railroads displayed a better tone but held to rather narrow price range throughout.

Rather unexpected easing in money brought drop in the call rate to seven from renewal of eight per cent and influenced added demand that increased turnover for the session of 3,000,000 shares.

The report is revived that negotiations are under way looking toward formation of a huge corporation that will dominate the building equipment industry. According to the rumor it is to be formed around Johns Manville, American Radiator-Standard Sanitary and Otis Elevator. The first step will be merger of Radiator and Johns Manville it is claimed. With these organizations joined the resulting coporation will produce everything used in construction of homes and buildings. Morgan and First National interests have been looked upon as controlling the affairs of Manville and Radiator for some time.

Increasing interest in Safeway stores was experienced coincident with report that sales of the company so far this year have shown over a 100 per cent gain. With net of $2.10 in the first quarter, it is estimated, earnings for the year should run to at least $11 a share and may reach as high as $14 a share. There is expectation in some quarters that special action may be taken for stockholders. Buying came into Lago on expectation that another offer for exchange of stock would be made by Pan American which now holds control. The offer is preparatory to merging Pan American with another important independent oil organization.

June will prove a record month for the Steel industry according to opinion of officials of the leading companies. At the current rate of return, it is estimated, Bethlehem should show at least $12 a share this year and business from the government is not considered in this estimate. Reviving attention to Amusement shares is enhanced by merger reports. Announcement is expected at any time that Famous Players has acquired working control of Columbia Broadcasting. Standard Gas, Buffalo Niagara and Eastern, Public Service of New Jersey and other Utilities will figure prominently in consolidations now being worked out by the most powerful banking interests. Announcement of plan for retirement of National Distillers preferred, it is claimed, will be made next week.

Brokers' loans were a standoff with liquidation of sufficient amount experienced during the week to offset whatever increase resulted from the rally of the last few days. Loans for account of out-of-town banks gained $38,000,000 but those for local banks' own account "of others" fell off a corresponding amount. Government Security and Hill holdings of both the system and the local bank showed gains for the week indicating that the reserve authorities take a more friendly attitude toward the stock market and are endeavoring to ease credit during the period of heavy mid-year turnover of funds. The drop in the call rate proved quite a surprise to many and led to hope that tightening resulting from the June 15 disbursements will not be felt until next week and that even then there will not be much advance in the call charge.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Shattering of debenture plans went hand in hand today with higher prices for grain. Wheat and corn each rose about 3c a bushel, and then reacted because of an outburst of selling to realize profits.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled ¾ to 1⅛c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed at ⅛ to 1⅛c net advance, with oats unchanged to ⅝c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 22c.

PRIZE WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED IN THRIFT CAMPAIGN

2,023 OPEN SAVINGS FUND

Age Winners Range From 10 Minutes to 102 Years

Prize winners in The Record News and Daily Times "World and 50 Cents Free" thrift campaign, conducted in cooperation with the North Texas Building and Loan association, were announced Thursday.

The winners of the age contest ranged from 10 minutes to 102 years. They are as follows.

Youngest Person—Baby Gomer, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gomer, 1132 Harian avenue, Wichita Falls; prize, $10.

Oldest Person—Mrs. Margaret Blair, 1404 Second street, Wichita Falls; prize, $10.

Largest Family—R. L. Mounts, Burkburnett, Texas; prize, $1 to each member.

Largest Account—Mrs. Lula Ozment, 1221 North Third street, Wichita Falls; prize, $15.

Thrift Essays—First prize, Mrs. Viola Dodson, 1108 Scott avenue, Wichita Falls, prize $10; second prize, John M. Fox, 1605 Thirteenth street, Wichita Falls, prize $5; third prize, Mrs. E. J. Trouppy, 1417 Twenty-first street, Wichita Falls, prize, $3.

Winners of prizes may receive their money in cash or have it added to their accounts. Call for your prize money at the North Texas Building and Loan association, 822 Scott avenue.

Following is the thrift essay winning first prize by Mrs. Viola Dodson:

"The average person thinks of thrift chiefly in terms of money saving. While that is important, it is only one phase of thrift. The really thrifty person is one who saves not only money, but time and strength. Thrift, moreover, means mental and moral discipline. It means exercising will power, sacrificing personal desires, overcoming temptation.

"There is no one who is not benefited by acquiring the saving habit. The family of small income, the working girl, the boy starting at the bottom of the latter of industry, the business man and the capitalist alike need a surplus, whether it be money laid aside for the rainy day, money for investment or working capital.

"Saving banks are the best field for beginning the accumulation of investment funds. Open a saving account today and let those dollars work for you, while you sit on top of the world."

The essays winning second and third prizes will appear in the Sunday issue of The Record News and Daily Times.

A total of 2,023 thrifty people took advantage of The Record News and Daily Times Thrift offer. The newspapers are very happy over the results. They feel that they have done a good service for the folks of Wichita Falls and vicinity. They earnestly hope that now, that you have made the right start towards contentment and happiness, you will continue.

Weak and Dizzy Spells Yielded To Orgatone

Wichita Falls Woman Recommends New Blie Treatment As a System Builder

Failure to regard the warning of debility sometimes means months of misery that might have been spared had the proper remedy been taken in time. Anemia, or thin blood, is a very common disease which manifests itself in many ways and if permitted to progress unchecked may result seriously. Stomach trouble, exhaustion, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart and pallor of the skin are among the evidences of the disease.

A remedy that builds up and enriches the blood will carry strength to every part of the body and improve the general health. This is demonstrated by the experience of Mrs. O. L. Taylor, residing on rural route 3, Wichita Falls, Texas, who says:

"I was in an anemic condition and suffered from sick headaches. My nerves were so upset I couldn't sleep well. My appetite was poor and what I ate didn't seem to strengthen me, I was so weak that I became dizzy at times and also had sudden cramps in my stomach that seemed to double me up.

"I read what Orgatone had done for others right here in Wichita Falls and went to Allison's and bought a bottle. The treatment brought almost immediate benefit and I continued taking the remedy until I had regained my strength. My appetite improved almost at once and gradually the headaches and dizzy spells disappeared. I sleep well now and feel better than I have for some time. I certainly can recommend Orgatone to anyone because I think it is a wonderful medicine."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific preparation and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by the Allison's Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

Oklahoma Couple First to Apply For Marriage License Under New Law

The names of Miss Gladys Myrtle Brumley and of Henry Michelsen of Kingfisher, Okla., were the first to be inscribed Thursday in the big new book in the office of the county clerk where applications for marriage licenses are to be placed now that the new marriage law is in effect.

The license applied for Thursday morning may not be issued until Sunday; Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk, explained. It will be given when three days have elapsed from the time of the application and when a doctor's certificate, assuring the health of the groom, has been signed and returned to the clerk. This is according to the terms of the new law.

The new order of things, carefully explained and heralded during the three months since its passage, went into effect without an apparent inconvenience and with only a slight flurry on the license market within the last few days. The candidates who appeared Thursday morning, although residents of Oklahoma, were aware of the provisions of the new Texas law and were prepared to meet them, Miss Hall declared.

Reparations Plan To Be 'Reported'

WASHINGTON, June 13. (US)—President Hoover will meet the American experts to the recent reparations conference here early next week to decide what additional burden the recent agreement will place upon this country.

J. P. Morgan, international banker and Owen D. Young, Americans who fixed the sum which Germany could afford to pay the allies as a war cost, are to report to President Hoover in person.

The meeting is expected to be one of the most important and far-reaching international financial conferences in may years. Not only will the United States be called upon to say what, if any, participation this country will take in an international bank for the marketing of German securties, but what proportion of securities may be absorbed in this country.

Lloyd George Says Liberals Will Act

LONDON, June 13. (UP)—The liberal party, holding the balance of power in the house of commons, will exercise it to determine important issues, David Lloyd George, party leader, proclaimed in an address at a national liberal club luncheon today.

In his first public pronouncement since the general election, Lloyd George indicated the liberals would adopt a policy of "benevolent neutrality" between the new Labor government and the conservative opposition, but will be the determining factor in controversal issues.

Previous to his speech, Lloyd George was unanimously elected chairman of the parliamentary liberal party.

$45,000 SUIT ON TRIAL HERE

Pedestrian Sues for Alleged Injuries in Accident

Testimony for the plaintiff in a $45,000 damage suit brought by L. D. Kinkead against the Texas Electric Service company in connection with an automobile accident here two years ago, was started in the 89th district court Thursday afternoon.

In the petition filed before the court Mr. Kinkead alleges that he received permanent injuries when he was struck by a truck owned by the electric company as it turned a corner at Grace and Fourteenth streets in March, 1927. The petition charges that the driver of the truck was engaged in a quarrel with another driver at the time the pedestrian was struck. Mr. Kinkead sustained a broken leg and other injuries, according to his claims.

The firm of Fitzgerald and Hatchitt, attorneys, are representing the plaintiff. The defense is being directed by the law firm of Bullington, Boone, Humphreys, and King.

The cup is on display in the show window of the Bailey-Moline company at present and will be placed in other windows in the business section of the city in the near future.

In addition to the cup, the winning team will be presented with a pennant to be hung in the bank represented by the team, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

Clothing and Shoes Needed for Girl of 13

In a letter received by James A. McDonald, county juvenile officer, Thursday, a 13-year-old Wichita county girl, sent to a home in Dallas as a dependent child, appealed for clothing and for shoes.

The child was sent to St. Michael's in Dallas last February, after court officials had adjudged her parents unfit to care for her, Mr. McDonald explained. The little girl herself was blameless, he added.

The juvenile officer suggested that a Sunday school class or some other organization in Wichita Falls might easily meet the needs of the child. Her clothes are threadbare, she writes, and the soles are worn from her shoes.

New Park Wading Pool Open to Children Monday

Finishing touches are being given to the new wading pool for Wichita Falls children at Myles O'Reilley park, First and Lee streets, and the pool will be open and ready for use next Monday, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, park superintendent. This is the second pool for the city, the first having been opened in Scotland park several months ago.

Cleo Creecy is in charge of the new pool in O'Reilley park. Glen Wharton has charge of the activities at the Scotland park pool.

Council Discusses Minority Nations

MADRID, June 13. (US)—The question of the rights of minority populations again was prominent in the discussions of the council of the League of Nations today, and the name of the United States received prominence by virtue of the settlement of the Tacna-Arica territorial dispute.

Senor Enrique V. Echiburu, Chilean delegate, said the South American controversy had been settled not only by the creation of "a peace-loving spirit" by the league, but also presented a resolution thanking the United States for its aid in solving the dispute.

Although foreign minister Stresemann of Germany said the report of the committee on minorities could not be accepted by Germany, he intimated that a final settlement would be reached that would gain world approval. Senator Raoul Dandurand of Canada, pleaded for more publicity on the issue.

MARRIAGE IN VATICAN LOOMS

American Couple May Wed In Papal Palace

ROME, June 13. (US)—Perhaps the first marriage to take place within the boundaries of the new vatican state will be that by which Miss Mary M. McLoughlin of Worcester, Mass., is to become the bride of Frank D. Comerford, of Brookline, Mass.

Should the plans being arranged by Monsignor Spellman, of the American college in Rome, be carried out, the wedding will be performed in the new vatican parish church, formerly the Chapel of St. Ana, near the Pauline tower.

Several formal difficulties will have to be overcome, and the rules of international extra-territorial marriage will be observed. No date is yet set for the ceremony, at which Monsignor Zampini, former vatican sacrista and newly created vatican parish priest, will officiate.

It is also reported that the same chapel-church will shortly be the scene of the wedding of Crown Prince Humberto and Princess Marie Clothilde Bonaparte-Napoleon, sister of Prince Louis Napoleon. This ceremony is expected to be performed by Pope Pius XI himself.

Tractors Made Abroad Given Free Entry

WASHINGTON, June 13. (US)—A decision of far-reaching significance and importance to American industry has just been rendered by the treasury department.

It has been decided that Fordson tractors, manufactured by the Fords in their Ireland plant, may be brought into the United States without payment of duty under the tariff.

Ford began production of tractors in his Cork plant soon after he began production of the new model passenger car in his Detroit works.

Publisher Challenges Statements From Norris

DAWES TO TALK WITH M'DONALD

Conference Will Seek World Peace

LONDON, June 13. (US)—What looms as the most logical discussion of the questions of Anglo-American cooperation and good-will and permanent world peace is scheduled to take place Sunday, when Premier Ramsay MacDonald will confer informally with U. S. Ambassador Charles G. Dawes at Forres, near Lossiemouth, Scotland.

Ambassador Dawes, armed with President Hoover's invitation to Premier MacDonald for a conference with the president of the United States sometime in July, will arrive Friday on the S. S. Olympic and will lose no time in meeting the head of the labor government. The Ambassador will have ample time to be received by King George at Windsor, there to present his credentials and become quickly established as the representative of his nation.

Premier MacDonald is looking forward with great hopes to his meeting with Ambassador Dawes, who, in the ordinary course of events, would not have to see the premier for many days. The head of the British government said today:

Eager for Meeting

"In the ordinary course of affairs, it would not have been necessary for General Dawes to call on me at once. The position of affairs, however, is such that neither of us in anxious that there should be any delay in talking over this vital question. I am looking forward with great interest to meeting the ambassador.

"I shall give him a hearty welcome. Determination exists on both sides of the Atlantic to come to a firm understanding. We will open the whole question, and nothing that human beings can remove will stand in the way of attainment of permanent peace.

"We will meet over the luncheon table, and in the short space of three or four hours, the great questions of Anglo-American cooperation and the cause of disarmament and permanent peace will be opened."

May Be Alone

The prime minister did not disclose whether the informal luncheon at the little village of Forres would be attended by any other members of his cabinet, but it is believed General Dawes and Premier MacDonald will first meet in private and then discuss the subjects of their talk with other friends.

Meanwhile, Lloyd George, the "whip" of the house of commons, an holder of the balance of power by virtue of the May 30 elections, is campaigning vigorously to have Premier MacDonald institute a liberal policy within the labor government. The famous Liberal leader, in addressing the Liberal members of parliament at the National Liberal club today, said:

"Only a Liberal policy can save the day. At the hour the ministry decides to become a Socialist administration, its career ends."

Texan Falsely Convicted Recovers $885 Held by State as Evidence

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13. (AP)—J. A. Kendall of Eastland, Texas, recently freed here of a charge of conspiracy to commit murder, today recovered $885 which had been held by the state fore more than a year as evidence in the conspiracy case.

District Judge Lucius Babcock ordered the money returned to the Texan.

The money was held by Leo B. White, justice of the peace who had bound Kendall over for trial. It was received from Paul Phillips of Jasper, Ark., the state's principal witness, who testified at the preliminary hearing that Kendall paid him the money when he presented a purported account of the deaths of Kendall's former wife, Mrs. W. M. Watts of Eakley, Okla., and her husband.

Kendall alleged in a suit to recover the money that it was extorted from him by Phillips.

Committee Will Probe Killings by Raiders

WASHINGTON, June 13. (INS)—Creation of a joint committee of three senators and four members of the house to investigate killings by federal dry officers was proposed in the house today by Representative Schafer of Wisconsin, a "wet." The resolution is a direct outgrowth of the fatal shooting of Henry Virkula near International Falls, Minn., by a customs agent.
