Little girl abducted in Florida

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Russell Thompson spent his 34th birthday sitting in a motel room, staring at the Atlantic Ocean. His wife, even under sedation, couldn't keep from sobbing.

Their only child, 5-year-old

Caroline, was abducted in a bizarre kidnapping as the couple began a vacation-birthday celebration.

Authorities today said they still had no useful leads to the whereabouts of the blonde, blue-eyed child, the Thompsons' 1979 Oldsmobile and two pet dogs in the back of the car when it was taken Saturday.

"I wish I had something to tell you," police Sgt. Charles Sloan said this morning, "but I don't."

Sloan said police received a handful of tips from people who believed they saw the car or recognized a police drawing of the suspect. But he said the leads all "petered out."

Also in the car was a homemade birthday cake the family planned to decorate for Thompson's birthday Sunday.

"I don't know what to think. I just can't believe it," said Thompson, a sales agent for Consolidated Pipe and Supply Co. of Atlanta.

He was registering at the oceanside motel Saturday when the man, believed to be about 19, drove off with a screaming Caroline after Mrs. Thompson escaped from the car, unsuccessful in an attempt to pull the child out with her.

The FBI, city and Volusia County authorities were working around the clock in the search, many as volunteers. There was no ransom note or call, even after emotional televised appeals by the Thompsons.

FBI Special Agent Bob Roth said the abduction apparently was done on the spur of the moment.

"He's not the routine profile of a kidnapper. We feel that the guy did not intend to abduct the child. They had only been there 10 minutes, and he made his decision in that time," Roth said.

Roth said kidnappings are "not unusual" in this resort city, filled with transient youth. But "in my 11 years here, we've never had anything like this. And we've never had a child kidnapped," he said.

Mrs. Thompson, a schoolteacher, lay on her bed and recalled the abduction. Tears frequently streamed from her red-rimmed eyes.

"I was just reading a magazine in the front seat. I had the car running to keep the air conditioning going. This man got in on the driver's side. He just sat there for a few seconds. I think I said, 'Who are you?' He said nothing. I said, 'What do you think you're doing?'"

"He said nothing. Caroline tried to jump up to the front seat. She said, 'Mama, who is he?' I tried to pull her across the front seat. I realized I couldn't so I jumped out of my side. He did not try to pull me back."

"When I ran back to try to get her out, that's when he took off. The front door was still open. When he got to the highway, I saw him shut the door. He drove off ... he was going fast but he wasn't speeding," Mrs. Thompson said.

"She's all we have. We'll do anything he wants just as long as we get her back."

Thompson said this was the family's 11th straight summer of vacationing here. He said it would be their last.

"I can't say legally that we won't prosecute, but right now, we just want the little girl back, no questions asked," Roth said.

Inmates free five hostages

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — An 11-hour siege at Walpole State Prison ended early today when a group of knife-wielding inmates released five hostages, including Warden Fred Butterworth.

The standoff, which began about 1 p.m. Sunday, ended with an agreement by authorities to treat the whole affair as a matter of internal discipline and not bring criminal charges against any of the inmates, according to a lawyer for the inmates.

One hostage, guard Wallace Billings, was treated for facial cuts suffered in a fight that sparked the incident.

The end came at 12:16 a.m., when it was announced via the prison radio, "the siege is over."

Max Stern, a lawyer who took part in negotiations at the request of inmates, said authorities signed an agreement that "no criminal charges will be brought against any persons."

However, corrections spokesman Larry Parnell would say only that the agreement "deals with conditions of confinement and the number of visits a week." He said 8 to 10 prisoners took part.

The incident was touched off "when an inmate's mother came to visit him and was turned away after being turned away earlier in the week," Stern said.

Parnell said the fight occurred when the prisoners were being brought out to exercise. The guards were overpowered and Butterworth was seized when he went to talk to the prisoners, Parnell said.

Stern said that while visiting rights were the catalyst for the incident, "there has been a feeling within the cellblock for some time of complete desperation and frustration over conditions in the prison."

Walpole, 20 miles south of Boston, was built in the 1950s. There are some 600 inmates at the prison and more than 200 guards.

Dawson bids fair to lead state

LAMESA — Dawson County ASCS Executive Director Eddie Brown says that prospects for a bumper cotton crop are so good in Dawson County that it might lead the entire state in production this fall.

Originally, 307,829 acres in the country were planted in cotton. Of that total, about 3,700 acres were plowed up due to rain and hail.

Upwards to 12,000 acres are considered marginal because of weather conditions, according to Brown.

Of the 290,000 acres still standing, 75 per cent is now in bloom.

Another rain anywhere from Aug. 15 to Aug. 20 would be ideal for maximum production, according to County Extension Agent Joe Ed Wise.

Muralist confined to nursing home

Peter Hurd, famous artist who painted the mural of the pioneer family in the Howard County Public Library, is now confined in a nursing home with a complete memory loss, a letter from his office manager, Louise Babers, revealed.

Hurd painted the mural in the old post office while Nat Shick was postmaster in 1938. Many people remember him as friendly, outgoing and meticulous in his work.

According to Louise Babers, Hurd's physical health is excellent.

Local lounges hardest hit

Burglary ring is smashed

By JAMES WERRELL

Police hit a rich vein of solved burglaries with the arrest of five Big Springers, Saturday.

"We cleared at least eight local burglaries, and that was just from questioning one guy," said Mike Eggleston, member of the Big Spring Major Crime Task Force, Saturday night.

Eggleston and Officer Bruce Johnson had worked for a week gathering information about the four men and one male juvenile arrested. On Saturday afternoon, armed with warrants, Officers Bill Price and Roy Osborne gathered in the five within an hour.

Arrested and charged with burglary were Ronald Dale Mathis, 17, 1511 Oriole; Gilbert Martinez, 17, 1510 Oriole; Luis Martinez, 18, 1510 Oriole; Evaristo Trevino Jr., 18, 1410 Mesa; and a 16-year-old male juvenile.

Gilbert Martinez was also charged with arson in connection with the burning of the Jax Lounge, 2711 Wasson, (currently the Elbow Room) following a burglary there on Sept. 7, 1978. His bond was set at $30,000, while bond for each of his fellow suspects was set at $15,000.

Most of the burglaries thought to have been committed by the five suspects took place at local lounges. Dates of the crimes ranged from May of 1978 to March of this year, with an estimated loss to victims of over $2,000 in merchandise and damage to buildings.

Hardest hit was the Jax Lounge, which the suspects are thought to have invaded on three separate occasions. On the last, during September of last year, 113 packs of cigarettes were stolen and chairs, tablecloths and other furniture were torched by the intruders.

The lounge changed hands soon after the incident, and became known as the Elbow Room. The new name did not deter burglars, who hit it again on Jan. 17, 1979.

The latest work by the suspects is thought to have occurred at the State Park Storage Shed in which a variety of hand tools were stolen on March 29.

"That is probably the one that tipped us off. All the tools, even the little socket wrenches, were marked. We recovered some of the tools just worked back from there," said Eggleston.

Although the five are suspected of stealing tools, eight track tapes and edibles, it was mostly beer that attracted the culprits. Hundreds of dollars worth of brew was lifted from Fina's Cafe, 200 N. Gregg, Jax Lounge — Elbow Room, 2711 Wasson, Charlie Brown's, 1214 W. 3rd, and the Broadway Tavern, 1231 W. 3rd during the last year.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A sweeping purge is reported under way in Iraq, with five leading members of the government arrested for plotting to overthrow President Saddam Hussein. Unconfirmed press reports said 250 persons had been jailed and 34 of them were executed.

The official Iraqi News Agency said the plotters were inspired by a "foreign quarter," and their goal was to end Iraq's opposition to the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty. A Kuwait newspaper said Egypt was the foreign power. But some diplomats in Beirut speculated the plotters' aim was to reverse Hussein's movement

Drive gets off to fast start

The Howard County Ministerial Alliance is once again launching a drive for funds which would support Bible chairs at two and possibly three high schools within the county.

Old friends of the campaign have already gotten the campaign off to a rousing start. Early gifts total $410, including two for $100 each.

Checks can be made out to The Bible Fund and forwarded either to Dr. Kenneth Patrick, care of the First Baptist Church, Big Spring, or to the Herald.

Dr. Patrick, who coordinates the drive on behalf of the association, said he is hopeful the $12,000 objective can be reached before school begins the last week in August. Early donors included:

Joe, Thelma Dunn	$25
Mr. & Mrs. Harvey Harris	25
Ellice L. McDonald	5
Mrs. R. Richardson	25
Mr. & Mrs. Earl Ezell	30
Clayton Swinney	50

toward the West and renew close ties with the Soviet Union.

Hussein, long the strong man of the ruling Baath Socialist Party, replaced ailing Hassan el-Bakr two weeks ago as president of the country and head of the ruling Revolutionary Command Council.

Under his leadership, the government was already cracking down on the Communist Party and drawing away from the Russians. It recently concluded trade pacts with Britain, West Germany and Japan and an arms deal with France, pledged to merge with Syria after years of bitter feuding and has grown closer to the conservative rulers of Saudi Arabia.

The announcement by the Iraqi News Agency said the conspiracy was headed by five members of the Revolutionary Command Council. It said they were arrested and would be tried by a six-man tribunal.

An Nahar said Hussein "got wind of the plot in good time to crush it, but he chose to give the plotters time to incriminate themselves fully."

Bed is sold within hour

If The Herald want ads don't always get results, the people who subscribe to them invariably say they are well read.

One person who expressed satisfaction with the response and the success of her ad worded it thusly: "Single bed with Thomasville pecan wood headboard. Complete. $30..." The woman received eight calls within a short time after it started in the Herald and sold the item within an hour after the paper was printed.

She also got the price she was asking for.

The ads running in the Herald reach more than 30,000 readers. Where else can one get such an audience for so small a price?

Air fares increased

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The world's major airlines today agreed on a new round of increases in passenger rates and cargo fares by between nine and 15 percent effective Sept. 1 to make up for soaring fuel costs.

Conference sources said the complex package won unanimous approval from the 63 airlines attending the talks. Details on the many area and sub-area accords, including on the most competitive North Atlantic routes, will be announced later this week.

Swissair vice director Hans Rudolf Hagedorn told The Associated Press that rates in Switzerland will benefit from a hard-currency rebate of between 1.5 and 2 percent because of the strength of the Swiss franc against the dollar. He said other hard currency airlines would possibly introduce similar rebates.

Statue liberation

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "Jockey boy" statues have been disappearing from lawns of Hartford-area homes, and the "Black Jockey Liberation Army" says it will keep taking the lawn ornaments until it has removed "all forms of bigotry."

Although the culprits have not been caught, it appears a small network of people has decided the black-faced statues represent lingering racism and should be wiped out.

At least a dozen thefts have been reported to police since June. Usually, the statues depicting black youths, often in a red vest and cap and holding a lantern or a ring for tethering a horse, have wound up in the nearby Simsbury dump.

In nearly every case, the culprits have left behind a note signed by the "Black Jockey Liberation Army."

Three slain in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Police were searching today for a man they believe shot and killed three adults and wounded a child while searching for his estranged wife.

The dead were identified as Lupe Araiza, 42; a daughter, Lindy Fonsera, 22, and Ernest Barrera, 41. Shot once in the face was Sandy Garcia, 8.

Police quoted witnesses as saying the man being sought had been searching for a woman who had been hiding from him several weeks in various units of an apartment complex but was in San Antonio at the time of the Sunday night shooting.

Testifies on nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles W. Duncan, nominated to become secretary of energy, said today he has been assured of free access to President Carter without interference from the White House staff.

"I have a clear understanding that I will report directly to the president," Duncan told a confirmation hearing by the Senate Energy Committee.

Duncan, currently deputy secretary of defense, must win approval of the committee and the full Senate before succeeding James R. Schlesinger in the controversial energy post.

The 52-year-old nominee, a former president of the Coca-Cola Co. and early Carter campaign supporter received a generally friendly reception from members of the committee.

While he expects no problems in reaching Carter, Duncan said, if White House chief of staff Hamilton Jordan telephoned and said he was calling "in the name of the president," he would have no problem in dealing with Jordan on any issue.

Ideas mean big bucks

Malone-Hogan Hospital is trying a new method to save the soaring costs of Hospital care.

Under a program called "Cost Awareness Reaches Everyone" (C.A.R.E.) employees and volunteers are being encouraged to suggest money saving ideas. The hospital is setting a goal to save $50,000 over the next six months.

Participants who give ideas to save $100 will receive $10. Ideas saving $1,000 will receive $25 and ideas saving $2,500 or more will receive $50 for each idea.

The review committee meets monthly but as of yet, no cash prizes have been given out.

According to Emily Ward, the hospital has cut back on supplies drastically. Everyone is much more conscious.

There has been a volunteer effort in response to a challenge by U.S. Representative Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois to cut health care cost. Ward says the challenge came in November 1977.

The C.A.R.E. program comes under the Voluntary Effort, which is a national program to help hospitals reduce costs.

"The government has put a cap on costs," says Ward. "If we don't hold to the cap, the government will do it for us. We realize that we are going to have to hold them down."

Ward says the American Hospital Association has done "a lot already." They have saved in excess of $1.38 billion in 1978.

"Costs have jumped up by a big percentage, a terrific amount," she said. "Health care is so close to everybody."

Woman charged after shooting

Maria Villanueva, 26, Acckerly, was arrested on suspicion of the shooting of Christina Rodriguez Saturday at 10:54 p.m. Bond was set on Ms. Villanueva was transferred to county jail Sunday and released on bond.

Miss Rodriguez was shot in the lower left stomach area after an argument that occurred outside her house, according to police reports. She was taken to Hall Bennett Hospital by Schaffer Ambulance and treated.

Today she is in stable condition and is said by hospital staff to be "free of pain." Miss Rodriguez told her doctor she was feeling better.

School damaged by vehicle

An unknown person caused $400 damages at the Big Spring High School early Sunday with the use of a motor vehicle.

A patrolman noticed broken doors at the school about 3:25 a.m. Further investigation indicated that someone had attempted to push open two front doors with a motor vehicle as well as the garage door to the shop.

Western Auto, 502 Johnson, reported Saturday that an unknown person had removed a B.B. gun, valued at $41, from the store on an unknown day.

Two unknown subjects wearing tennis shoes, sizes six or seven, are believed to have been the culprits who attempted to gain entry to the old 7-11 Store, 11th and Settles, sometime between Friday night and Saturday morning. According to police reports, the doors were kicked several times. Footprints of tennis shoe-clad feet were found at the scene.

A 1979 Buick Limited of unknown value was stolen from Jack Lewis Buick, 403 Scurry, sometime Saturday, according to a report police received at 10:10 p.m.

A 26-year-old Acckerly woman was arrested Saturday, 10:54 p.m., in connection with a shooting incident. The victim was Christina Rodriguez who was allegedly shot during an argument with the suspect. Randy Roy Tonn told police Sunday that a male suspect had threatened to kill him and then attempted to stab him with a knife at Bogart's, 2-20 a.m. Sunday.

Someone wearing tennis shoes with stars on the soles left footprints as well as dents on the roof of Howard L. Shivers' 1978 Olds Cutlass after taking a walk on the car roof sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 12:15 p.m. Sunday. Amount of damages is unknown.

Juveniles are suspected to have removed a tire and wheel, valued at $30, from a car owned by Ida Mae White sometime Sunday. The car was parked in Ms. White's carport.

Flat tires did not deter thieves from stealing 13-year-old Tena Pitts' bicycle Sunday, between 1 and 4:30 p.m. The bike was valued at $89.20.

A bicycle was also stolen from 9-year-old Pete Gonzales sometime before 4:30 p.m. Sunday. It was valued at $30.

A white Chevrolet pickup truck was seen near Frank Conklin's home about the time he discovered that someone had broken a window, valued at $20, 3:50 p.m. Sunday.

Energy crunch warning voiced for three decades by Texans

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — President Carter's emergency energy program may surprise some, but a group of Texas officials and industry leaders have warned of a coming energy crunch for almost three decades.

"I wrote President Johnson a letter in 1967 saying that unless we faced up to excessive imports of oil it could drive the nation into bankruptcy," says Jim Langdon, former Texas Railroad Commission member and now an Austin attorney. Even earlier, in the 1950s, the late former commission member Ernest O. Thompson urged that domestic oil supplies be developed instead of relying on cheap Middle East oil.

Dr. John McKetta of the University of Texas was an early crusader for more domestic production.

The Texas pleadings for a workable national energy policy was taken up by Govs. John Connally and Dolph Briscoe and is carried on today by Gov. Bill Clements.

Members of the Texas Railroad Commission have become a traveling lobby for increased oil production, making numerous trips to Washington to talk with congressmen and appear before committees.

"The general public has been fed such a fantastic amount of misinformation, wishful thinking, misplaced hopes and plain demagoguery, that Americans have yet to really look their energy future in the eye," said D.K. Davis, staff vice president of Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association, in a recent speech.

Langdon told President Johnson in 1967, "Quite frankly our nation may be heading for serious trouble if there is not a change in oil policy ... It seems clear to me that unless the downward trend is reversed, this nation can soon find itself in a position in which it can fill neither the gap left by the next Mideast crisis nor even its own growing requirements in an emergency."

Langdon, Davis and the others stress that maybe 98 percent of the nation's potential oil and gas supplies never have been tested.

Transport truck is overturned

A Quality Transport tank truck turnover on highway 821 near Beal's Creek about 15 miles east of Big Spring was reported by Coahoma Justice of the Peace Lulu Adams. No one was at the scene when the accident was reported at 6:25 p.m. Sunday.

Howard County Sheriff's Deputy Gary Porter and Texas Highway Patrolman Dean Richards requested a large wrecker and a Sand Springs fire truck to stand by. Richards told Mrs. Adams that the driver might have fallen asleep and ran off into a ditch.

Porter said the tractor was demolished and that the axles had been torn from the tank trailer. The driver, said Porter, had caught a ride and left the scene. The tank was hauling water.

Tower gigs SALT treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Tower is using the Senate Armed Services Committee as a convenient forum for his objections to the new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty.

The committee began its hearings on SALT II last week and the Texas senator is the committee's ranking Republican member.

"We should send this treaty back to the drawing boards and try and negotiate a more favorable agreement," Tower told the panel Wednesday.

He said the treaty would place the U.S. in an vulnerable position for future negotiations. The nation would "have to make decisions from weakness, resulting in concessions even more detrimental than those made in the final stages of SALT II," Tower said.

The armed services committee continues SALT II hearings this week, the last before the month-long congressional recess begins.

Bob Krueger, the former congressman from New Braunfels who lost to Tower in the Senate race last fall, apparently will have to wait for his confirmation hearing as ambassador-at-large to Mexico until after the recess.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has no business meetings planned this week when Krueger's confirmation hearing could be scheduled.

President Carter made the nomination in June, but unofficial word circulated last spring. Krueger is now in temporary State Department quarters.

The House committee report on President John F. Kennedy's assassination drew a bad review from Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, who blasted the report's inconclusiveness.

"The problem which precipitated the need for the so-called assassinations committee was the need to dispel anxiety and doubt about our country after the series of political assassinations rocked the foundations of our democratic form of government," the San Antonio Democrat said in a House speech.

Abelardo L. Valdez, a Texan at the Agency for International Development, traveled to Miami for a speech Tuesday at the Trade Fair of the Americas.

"In the 1960s the prevailing theme was 'aid not trade' for Latin American development. Recently the theme has changed. Many now call for 'trade not aid' as the route to prosperity for the region," Valdez said.

"The fact is that both are needed if we are to achieve our goal of widespread and sustained hemispheric development in the 1980s," he said.

Valdez pointed out that 24 percent of the United States' oil imports now come from Latin America.

The Texas is assistant administrator for Latin America at AID.

The upcoming Houston referendum on a new city council plan should be defeated, says Rep. Mickey Leland.

The freshman Democrat, long involved in the fight over single-member districts, said the ballot does not give a wide enough choice.

If the new plan is approved, the council would have nine representatives from single-member districts and five members elected at large. All members currently are elected at large.

"I am left with no alternative but to support my constituents and join in their fight to defeat the 9-5-1 plan."

Homemaking instructors open conference today

Several Big Spring homemaking teachers will join an expected 2,600 vocational homemaking teachers from across Texas in Dallas today through Thursday for the State Inservice Education Conference for Homemaking Teachers.

Sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, the four-day meeting will be held at the Dallas Convention Center and the Dallas Hilton Hotel.

Improving consumer and homemaking education programs — programs which currently serve more than 270,000 Texas students — is the focus of the annual meeting, according to Elizabeth F. Smith, Texas Education Agency director of homemaking education.

Dr. William Boast of the Community College of Denver will keynote the 8 p.m. opening general session today. He will share strategies for surviving as persons and as educators.

A series of 25 interest group sessions designed to update teachers in many fields will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Tuesday and 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday. Teachers will learn about using less energy in the home, education for parenthood, making it in the fashion business, consumer affairs, and other topics. All sessions will take place in the Dallas Convention Center.

Featured speakers for concurrent sessions at 9 a.m. Thursday will be Doris Like, director of special education instruction and related services, Texas Education Agency; Dr. Lyman K. Steil, chairman of Speech-Communications Division, University of Minnesota; Earlene Vining, vice president of Executive Development System in Dallas; and Sandra Wiley, manager of executive recruiting for Foley's of Houston.

Speaking at the 1:30 p.m. closing general session will be James B. Batchelor, resource teacher for staff development for the Dallas Independent School District and a player personnel scout for the Dallas Cowboys.

Felicia Ford show winner

The Starlight Specials Variety Talent Show was held Saturday night in the Comanche Trail Park Amphitheater.

Fifteen contestants, ranging from the third grade to the senior year in high school, competed for points in appearance, showmanship and originality.

Felicia Ford, ninth grade, won first place in the competition for singing "You're Beautiful." She won a $25 savings account at the Big Spring Savings and Loan Association.

Second place went to Ginger Brooks, fourth grader, for her performance of an acrobatic dance. She won a $15 savings account.

"Cousins," a song and dance group with members ranging in age from 11 to 15, was awarded third place and a $10 savings account, for their performance of "Shake your Body." Members of the Cousins Group are Kevin Watson, Sammy Watson, Ben Watson, Peggie Anding and Kim Anding.

The Starlight Specials Variety Talent Show was another in the series of summer programs sponsored by The Starlight Specials of the Cultural Affairs Committee, and Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

The next Starlight Specials program will be the Fiesta Night under the direction of Lydia Molina at the Comanche Trail Park Amphitheater Tuesday, August 7, 8 p.m.

Lamesa Rodeo is nearing

LAMESA — The annual Lamesa Rodeo will get under way here Thursday and continues through Saturday night.

A 5 p.m., parade through downtown Lamesa Thursday will feature riding groups, sheriffs' posses, candidates for the title of Rodeo Queen, auto displays and a succession of floats.

A barbecue in Forrest Park will follow the parade. The Dawson County Sheriff's Posse will sponsor the barbecue.

The six girls competing for the title of Dawson County Rodeo Queen are Dina Todd, Clintonna Smith, Brenda Rowden, Shelly Vaughn, Shelia Stokes and Delana Barron.

Debra Kountz won the crown last year.

The rodeo starts nightly at 8 p.m., with the grand entry parade. The new queen will not be crowned until Saturday night.

Former 'Charlie's Angels' star, Lee Majors split

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Farrah Fawcett-Majors, best known as the former star of ABC's television series "Charlie's Angels," and actor Lee Majors have announced they are separating after six years of marriage.

Jay Bernstein, their manager, said the couple hoped to reconcile and blamed the trial separation on stress from conflicts in their acting careers.

It is the first marriage for the 32-year-old actress and the second for Majors, 39, who starred as television's "Six Million Dollar Man."

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — A photograph apparently records the last moments of a Topeka man and boy who drowned in a restricted area of Lake Shawnee, police say.

Policirley Maples Jr., 33, and Marcus Perry, 10, posed for a photograph taken by Maples' unidentified woman friend while standing in knee-deep water Saturday. Seconds later, they disappeared after stepping into deep water, Shawnee County sheriff Jim Chaffee said the pair drowned in an area that is restricted because of a 20-foot dropoff a few feet from shore. Their bodies were recovered Saturday night.

Weather

Storms threaten parts of West Texas

By The Associated Press

Sparks of lightning and the rumbling of thunder disturbed Panhandle skies before dawn today, and gusty winds blew across the Plains as thundershowers threatened parts of West Texas.

However, there was scant rainfall. Dalhart, El Paso and Lubbock reported very light amounts of rain from the unstable weather, while other West Texas reporting stations were generally dry.

Widely scattered thunderstorms also threatened parts of North and South Texas during the day, and East Texas again had morning fog.

The spotty clouds foretold another uncomfortably warm, humid day for most of the state. As the sun rose, several cities still were reporting readings above 80 degrees.

Temperatures were expected to remain warm during the day, with readings largely in the 90s, and some late afternoon temperatures expected to reach above 100 along the Rio Grande.

Four die in terror bomb blasts

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Basque separatists escalated their war to sabotage the Spanish government's autonomy plan for the Basque provinces with weekend attacks that killed seven persons and wounded more than 100 others.

Four persons were killed and at least 113 were wounded by three bombs that exploded within 15 minutes early Sunday afternoon at two Madrid railroad stations and the city's international airport. Police said they were warned about 30 minutes before the explosions but were unable to evacuate all of the travelers in the crowded terminals.

Meanwhile, gunmen in the Basque provinces in northwest Spain killed two policemen Saturday in Bilbao, and Sunday killed a third near San Sebastian and wounded three highway patrolmen near Pamplona.

Officials said two Americans, Eugene and Theresa de Nattel, were among those injured at the airport. They were waiting for a flight to San Francisco, but their home address could not be learned.

The telephoned warnings said the bombs were planted by ETA, or Euzkadi Ta Askatasuna, which means Basque Land and Liberty in the Basque language.

ETA has been waging a campaign of assassination, bombing, kidnapping and robbery for the independence of the four Basque provinces since 1968. An opinion poll late last year indicated only 2 percent of the 2 million on Spanish Basques support ETA, but that support is threatened by a government proposal, approved by a parliamentary commission last week, to reinstate the autonomy granted the Basques by the republican government and taken away by dictator Francisco Franco. Rejecting autonomy, the "military" wing of ETA is fighting on for independence and trying to sabotage the government plan by increased violence before it turns more of the Basques against the terrorists.

A total of 86 persons have been killed in political violence in Spain this year. Most of them have been victims of ETA.

The three bombs in Madrid all went off between 1 and 1:15 p.m. One explosion occurred in the luggage-registration office of the Atocha railroad station, in the heart of the city three blocks from the Prado Museum. It killed two persons and wounded about 50.

Another bomb went off in the main lobby of the Chamartin Station, killing a Danish woman and wounding more than 50 persons.

The bomb at the airport went off at a check-in counter and killed one person and injured nine.

A comic strip that is part of family

One of the comic strips which scores consistently among the highest in readership surveys taken by the Herald is "Gasoline Alley."

It's not hard to understand why. It will have been around for 60 years come Aug. 23. A legion of comic strip aficionados regard it as "family" because it concerns itself with things that happen in almost every home in America, if such cases are consistently understated.

"GASOLINE ALLEY" was the first comic strip in which the characters grew older. If there is a central character in the series, it is Skeezix. Found on the doorstep of Uncle Walt, Skeezix is now 58 years of age. His foster father, Walt, surrendered his bachelorhood to Phyllis Blossom in 1926 and from that union was born a son, Corky, in 1928.

In 1935, Walt unwrapped a bundled blanket that he had found in his car one morning and discovered that an anonymous donor had presented him with another baby. The Walleys named her Judy.

Along with a lot of the rest of us, Skeezix went to war in 1942. Probably the most spectacular thing he did during the war was marry Nina. The two took their marriage vows in 1944.

A daughter, Clovia, was born to Skeezix and Nina, in time, and she joined the resident cast of Gasoline Alley.

Frank King originated the strip. Dick Moores began as King's assistant in 1956 after working first for Dick Tracy's creator, Chester Gould, and then for Disney's Studios for a spell. When he took over the strip full-time, there was scarcely a transitional ripple.

MOORES ADDED some characters of his own. One was a born loser named Rufus. He's seen most often with a cat some reason is an extension of his arm. His sidekick is the ancient Joel, who somehow manages to eke out a living hauling things in a two-wheel cart pulled by a stubborn mule named Refus. Then there is Miss Melba, Rufus' sometimes girl friend, not too proud to take the lowliest kind of job.

If the strip has a villain, it would be Pert, who has a conscience but whose love for substance transcends every thing else.

The strip has at least two dozen characters who weave in and out of the story. The faithful readers of "Gasoline Alley" probably could name them all.

In a sequence coming up next month, Moores will look back on the strip's beginnings. Moores says he tries to base his stories on love — love of people for people, love of people for animals. What ever he's doing, he obviously is doing right. May he long endure.

Bring back linkage

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The linkage theory is in intellectual disrepute, from which it should be rescued. Under linkage, you punish the Soviet Union for sending Cuban troops to Africa by curtailing the export of U.S. grain — pick your own combination. So long as it's asymmetrical, it's linkage.

The only existing pressure we are exerting now on the Soviet Union is a negative pressure. We have denied it, under the terms of the Jackson Amendment, the status of most favored nation, which is to say that the Soviet Union does not qualify to export to the United States at the lowest prevailing tariff rates. Inasmuch as Soviet exports to the U.S. are relatively small, $540 million, this is a pressure hardly unendurable. Otherwise it would be difficult to come up with evidence of hostility to the Soviet Union. I suppose that an inspection of the targeting mechanisms inside the Minutemen missiles in North Dakota would show that they are set to land at Minsk or Pinsk, and in this sense our posture is latently anti-Soviet. But how else?

ANY AMERICAN citizen who can get a Soviet visa can travel there. Any American firm that wants to export to the Soviet Union can do so, barring a few proscribed items. Soviet citizens can almost without exception travel here. Our great credit institutions can and do lend money to the Soviet Union. Our Voice of America has become practically oleaginous in its handling of Soviet news.

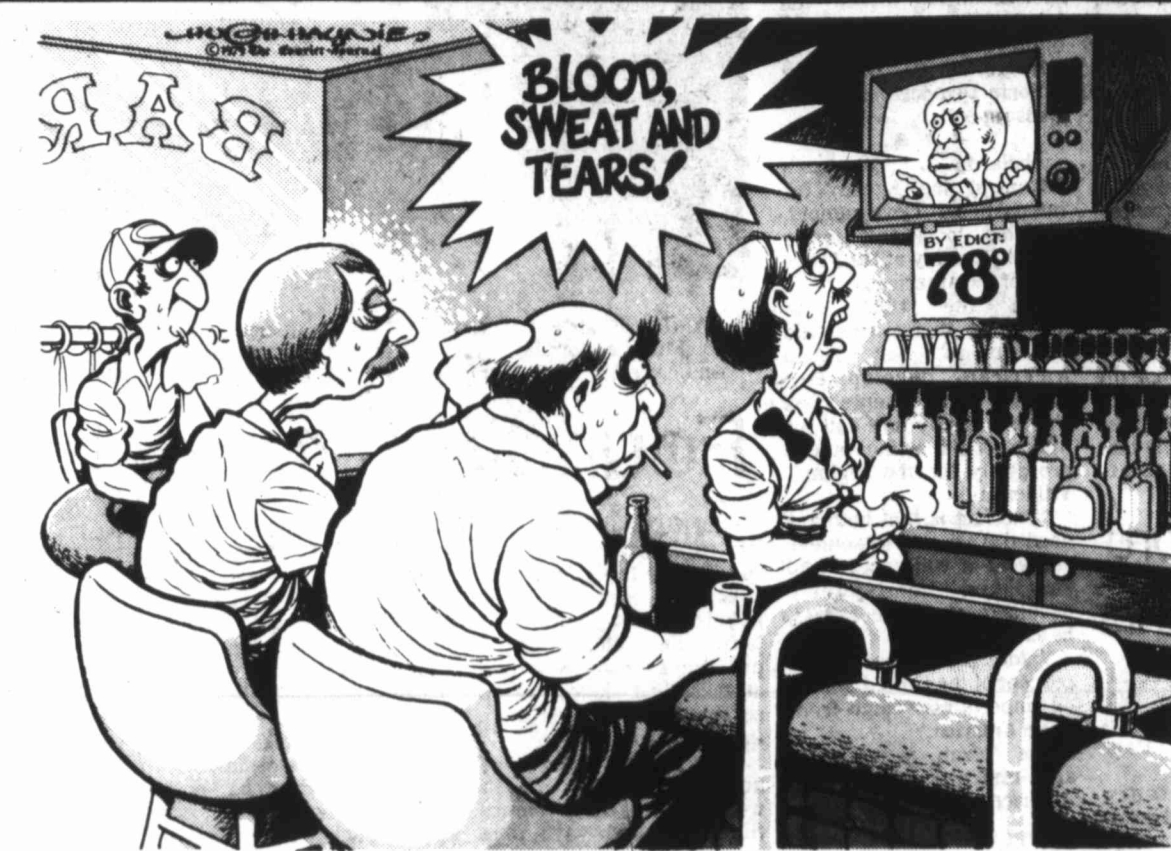

We are preparing, one year from now, to participate in the great Olympic Games in Moscow, as routinely as if the Games were being held in Switzerland. The president of the United States departs from his meeting with the leader of the Soviet state by embracing him, a gesture of affection he would deny to members of his own Cabinet. Meanwhile, the Soviet Union continues in its struggle for the world.

Mr. Brian Crozier, director of London's Institute for the Study of Conflict, writes about a major Soviet industry, which is the production and subsidy of world terrorism. He reminds us that two wars in Indochina were for the most part fought by acts of terrorism: i.e., the use of violence for political ends.

NO VENTURE IN terrorism is too small to escape patronage by the Soviet Union, which scatters about funds for terrorists like HEW in search of welfare clients. It was the Soviets who secretly subsidized the Baader-Meinhof gang; a quarter-million dollars, channeled by East Germany to the magazine Konkret, run by Ulrike Meinhof's sometime husband, Klaus Rainer Rohl. It was the Soviet Union that sent arms to the IRA provisional in 1971, using Czechoslovakia as middleman. In 1973, IRA officials received arms through the Soviets' North African protegee, Libya.

It is generally believed that Libya's Qaddafi gave refuge to the world's worst-wanted terrorist, Carlos ("The Jackal"). Crozier reports that Carlos was given $2 million as reward money for kidnapping the OPEC oil ministers in Vienna. Carlos was recruited by the KGB in Venezuela, trained in Cuba and brought to his fine pitch of murderous efficiency in Moscow before being turned loose in the world.

Yasir Arafat, for whom terrorism is a way of life, was invited to Moscow to open an office there in August 1974. Ten years earlier, the Viet Cong's political wing (the NLFV) was issued a similar invitation, and that argued the Soviet commitment to the final drive against the non-communist Vietnamese.

"The sweat part, he's already got."

Cysts behind knee require surgery

Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I found a growth under my left knee about six months ago. I don't know how long it had been there or how it started, but I'm concerned. It is about the size of half an egg cut lengthwise. Should it be removed or should I watch for further growth? — A.H.

I suspect a Baker's cyst, which does occur under the skin at the hollow of the knee (in back). The knee is a much-used and complicated structure. There are six bursa sacs there and any one of them can develop a cyst. A bursa sac is a small fluid-filled "cushion" that allows tendons and muscles to move easily without undue friction.

A Baker's cyst has nothing to do with bakers or with baking. It is named for the physician who first recognized and described the condition. The cyst begins with an abnormal contact between the bursa and the knee joint itself. Fluid accumulates and the lining inside the knee surrounds it. There can be pain if the cyst grows and extends into the calf area. The pain may be similar to that from a blood clot.

If it is Baker's cyst, the best answer is surgical removal, for if the cyst ruptures the pain would be great.

Drainage of cysts has been tried, and cortisone has been injected to relieve pain and inflammation. If arthritis is part of the picture there may be need to remove the knee joint lining itself. For most the answer is some kind of surgery.

In answer to J.F., yes, children can have Baker's cyst. With children it often occurs in both knees at once and may stem from abnormal knee structure (in about half the cases). Injury is rarely a cause.

Dear Dr. Ruble: How many calories a day do I need just to exist? — M.R.

Depends on a lot of things — your height, frame, age, your sex (which I can't tell from your letter, incidentally), how active you are, and probably a few other factors that may not come immediately to mind.

A good starting point for a moderately active adult is to figure on a half a calorie an hour for each pound of body weight. For example, if a 150 pound person is not going to run into nutritional problems he should get about 1,800 calories a day. Some weight-height-calorie charts fail to consider that a person's needs decline with age. The older we get the less our energy needs become. If we don't take this into consideration and continue eating for energy needs of the past, weight will accumulate (too much calorie intake, too little energy output). This simple fact accounts for much of the so-called "middle-aged spread."

Dear Dr. Ruble: What does "sinus bradycardia" mean and is it a cause for concern? — Mrs. J.D.

It means an abnormally slow heart rate (below 60 a minute). The "sinus" refers to the heart's pacemaker. The two words together mean that the heart rhythm abnormality is caused by a defect in the pacemaker system of nerves. In athletes this situation is not of concern, and in fact may even indicate excellent health. In others, the cause for the pacemaking disturbance must be investigated.

Dear Dr. Ruble: If you get a rash from taking Indocin, how can you get rid of it? — H.S.

Reaction to any drug, including Indocin (indomethacin), can be related to the size of the dose. Sensitivity varies with individuals. In any case, the rash disappears once the cause is taken away.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am a healthy, middle-aged woman with one minor problem of late. The ends of my fingers crack. They get sore at first, then crack. What could this be — some nutrition deficiency? — Mrs. L.K.

The first thing to look for is some source of contact dermatitis, something your fingers contact regularly and which might be irritating the skin. The problem might be traced to detergent soaps. If you look hard enough you can often arrive at an explanation for such symptoms. Nutritional skin problems are not localized, as in the finger tips.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Is there a cream to get rid of a scar on the face, some lotion to rub into it? — S.J.

No such substance. Plastic surgeons can remove unsightly scars.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank you and the Herald staff for the past year's news coverage. Our organization, as well as other non-profit organizations, depend heavily upon the Herald.

I would like to especially thank you for the reports on the YMCA "I'm a Pepper" Open Women's Softball Tournament on the weekend of July 14 and 15.

Because of your staff's work, the public is informed of activities at the Y and other community events. I am looking forward to working with you and your staff in the future.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I feel a great need to receive Jesus Christ into my life, but I still hesitate to take that step. I have made many mistakes in my life and I'm afraid I might not keep my commitment. — Mrs. H.W.

DEAR MRS. H.W.: I am thankful you see that you need Christ in your life, and I am also thankful you are giving that step very careful thought. There is no more serious decision in life than the decision you make about Christ. The great question of the ages is the question Pontius Pilate asked: "What shall I do, then, with Jesus who is called Christ?" (Matthew 27:22, New International Version).

Salvation is a gift which God, in His mercy and grace, gives to us. It is not something we earn, because we can never be good enough to earn it. It is a gift of God, which comes to us by faith and trust in Christ. It is God alone "who has saved us and called us to a holy life — not because we have done but because of His own purpose and grace" (2 Timothy 1:9, NIV).

Now if God gives it to you as a gift, know also that it is by His grace that

He keeps you once you have been saved. In other words, God does not give something to us by His grace and then take it back the minute we sin. Even if you sin once you accept Christ into your life — and you will sin, because you are still a sinner — you have not lost your standing as a child of God. Your fellowship with God will be broken, but your relationship is still there.

There is another thing which may be bothering you, and you need to know it as well. When you come to Christ, God wants you to live a life that is pleasing to Him. But He does not leave you on your own to live this life. He gives you His Holy Spirit, and the Spirit is able to give you the strength you need each day to live for Christ.

Always remember — it is not your hold on God that saves you, but His hold on you. Take that step of faith, and come to Christ by faith. God is a loving heavenly Father and wants you as His child. It is precisely because you have done wrong and are a sinner that God sent Christ into the world to make your salvation possible.

It takes time

Around the rim

Andrea Cohen

I've been living in Texas eight weeks now. I have gotten used to many changes I had to make from my Pennsylvania-formed habits. Now there is only one problem.

I cannot understand a word you all (whoops — y'all) say.

The people I work with put the blame of my Philadelphia accent. However, up north, no matter where anyone is from, we can all understand each other.

Something is not clicking.

I do not write with a "pin". A bad is not something I am supposed to sleep in.

IT TOOK ME two weeks to realize that a "ba" is a watering hole and not the language of sheep.

When I refer to myself, I was always taught to say "eye", not "ah" but pretty soon it will be "uy" (veh).

I had a funny feeling I might have this problem when I first called my editor from Pennsylvania. I could not understand what the receptionist was saying.

My suspicions were confirmed once I did talk to Mr. Hart. I do not think he understood a word I said and vice versa. The only thing the two of us understood each other on was my salary. Money sounds the same in any language.

I can just see a West Texas elementary school teacher teaching poetry to her pupils. In Philly, a teacher would say, "Now class, bar rhymes with far which rhymes with tar." In West Texas it is "Ba rhymes with far which rhymes with tur."

OR HOW ABOUT the writing utensil you call the pin. It rhymes with din which rhymes with tin which comes after nine.

Then there is the matter of the word y'all. The northern version of y'all where I come from is "you guys."

It does not matter to me which I use, though I am beginning to like y'all because it is non-sexist.

I am now taking Texas speech lessons. Here is a quiz my instructor gave me. I passed. Let's see if you can do it also. Name which one of these is the proper version, which one is the Philadelphia version and which one is the West Texas version.

A. I am from Lettittown, Pennsylvania, near Philadelphia.

B. I am from Levittown, Pennsylvania, near Philly.

C. Ah am from (really fast) Levittown, Pennsylvania, near Phil-dal-pha.

Answer A is the proper version. Answer B is the Philadelphia version. We can always tell who is the tourist and who is the resident. The word is always Philly. Answer C is the Texas way of saying things. The first time my editor said Levittown, it came out Levitin. He learned the proper pronunciation when the independent trucker's riot broke out there, last month.

A. Now, I live in West Texas.

B. Nah, ah leev in waste Taxes.

C. Now, I live in West Tex-ez.

There is no way to get this one wrong. A is proper again. B is the Texas version, C is the Philly version.

Now here is how my instructor taught me to say "The Philadelphia Phillies are not doing badly and will probably win the World Series this year." She taught me to say, "The Phil-dal-pha Phal-ees are doing beddy this year and the winner of the World Series will be Houston Astros."

Meanwhile, I still cannot understand y'all and y'all cannot understand me. But why is it that everyone understands Mr. Valdes?

U. S. winks

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — A startling, top-secret Senate report charges that foreign intelligence agents have been badgering, threatening and spying on U.S. residents with virtual impunity, their criminal activities deliberately winked at by the federal government.

The report, a preliminary study of "the operations — conducted in the United States by six foreign countries — intelligence services directed at the harassment, intimidation and monitoring of United States residents."

AT LEAST THREE federal statutes were violated, constitutional rights were trampled on and treaties and "customary international law" were blithely ignored by the foreign agents and their hirelings, the report concluded.

The explosive, 150-page report was completed last January for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by its legal counsel, Michael Glennon. Despite elaborate security measures, our associate Dale Van Atta was able to obtain an unauthorized copy from a State Department source.

Four federal agencies should have been cracking down on this wholesale flouting of our laws but did little to stop it. The reasons ranged from self-protection to bureaucratic laziness and jurisdictional pettifoggery, the report concludes.

The Central Intelligence Agency was reluctant to take any action for fear of retaliation against its own agents overseas. The Glennon Report notes, for example, that "the government of Iran has, several times, threatened to retaliate against the CIA if actions were taken against its intelligence operatives in the United States."

The FBI has gathered very little information on the foreign agents' criminal activities and "makes no affirmative effort" to do so, the report states.

The National Security Council simply "does not collect significant amounts of intelligence" on the subject, the report says.

The State Department has adopted a "let-George-do-it" attitude, relying on the CIA, and FBI and the NSC to give it what little intelligence is obtained.

"Because the pieces are not put together," the report concludes, "assessment of the problem and the development of a solution have fallen through the cracks."

NOTING THAT "available evidence indicates that certain residents of the United States have valid reason to fear abridgement of (their) rights and protections by members of foreign intelligence services," the report questions the wisdom of maintaining friendly relations with countries which ignore those rights.

Footnote: Sources told us that because the contents of the report are highly classified, any version eventually made public probably will be "heavily sanitized."

Testy Testers: Educational Testing Service, (ETS) the private, non-profit institution which administers the enormously influential entrance examinations for colleges and graduate schools, has mounted an expensive and questionable lobbying campaign on Capitol Hill to protect the secrecy of its operations. Hearings are scheduled tomorrow by the House Education Committee on a bill that would force ETS to make public the questions and answers in past exams, as well as internal studies assessing the validity of the tests. New York State just enacted a similar "sunshine" law, despite an ETS "well-financed" lobbying campaign against it by ETS and its sister organization, the College Board.

Our investigation of that lobbying effort showed that ETS was not above misleading the educators and state legislators who were the targets of its propaganda. One "memo" circulated to state legislators, for example, indicated that the New York disclosure bill would make confidential information about students available to public scrutiny. This is simply not true.

Another lobbying memo claimed that many respected colleges and law schools opposed the disclosure bill. But in at least some cases this institutional support for ETS' position was no more than a letter from a friendly faculty member. ETS has also argued that the law would increase its expenses; a Ralph Nader study showed that the extra costs would be minimal.

At one point, ETS made a special pitch for support from black legislators — a nervy attempt, considering the longstanding charge by critics that the standardized ETS exams discriminate against blacks, other minorities and working-class students. Moreover, we have obtained a confidential memo signed by 112 black employees and sent to ETS President William Turnbull, complaining that blacks on the 400-acre ETS "campus" are discriminated against in company hiring and promotion policies.

An ETS spokesman denied that its lobbying effort had been improper and said its cost had been greatly exaggerated by opponents. "Everything we did was very professional," he said.

We have something like it on earth

Astronomers say it is the most baffling astrophysical phenomenon since the discovery of the quasar, which remains baffling enough.

It is a starlike object, recently detected in our Milky Way galaxy, that appears to be going and coming at the same time. This is the mystifying reading of its light spectrum as analyzed on earth. This breaks down into group of wave lengths indicating that the object is retreating from our planet and another set that suggests it is rushing toward us.

In both cases the indicated speeds are tremendous, up to 31,000 miles per second (by comparison, the speed of light, which nothing in the universe as it is currently understood can exceed, is 181,281 miles per second). This is much faster than any star or other known physical body.

The scientists can't explain it and neither can we. But if it weren't for the fact that all that rushing about is occurring some 10,000 light years out in space, we might suspect it had some connection with down-to-earth inflation.

That moves at superspeed and gets you coming and going, too.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JULY 31, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are filled with energy and inclined to engage in vigorous activity now, so carry through with plans you have made. You can solve problems now that have been puzzling in the past.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make plans to advance in your line of endeavor. Know just what changes you should make. Take no chances in motion today.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do your part of any agreements you have made with others. Be on the alert for unexpected opportunities at this time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't procrastinate any longer on all that work ahead of you. Be sure to handle civic duties wisely and well today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get busy at your special talents and advance in career matters. The evening is fine for having much social pleasure.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to do what family members expect of you and have increased harmony in the home. Take time to engage in creative work.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are likely to make mistakes today, so be sure re-check statements and reports. Avoid a troublemaker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be sure to handle financial affairs wisely today. Don't accept an invitation to a group affair where there's likely to be disputes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It is best to wait until tomorrow to pursue some aim that means much to you. Take no risks with your reputation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Not the right day to project yourself as you feel or you could get into trouble. Make sure your activities are well-organized.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't let a forceful friend talk you into doing something you don't want to do. Be sure to handle your money wisely now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Keeping silent but courteous is best now. It is important that you make plans to build a better financial reserve.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have excellent ideas but this is not the time to put them in motion. Steer clear of one who has ulterior motives.

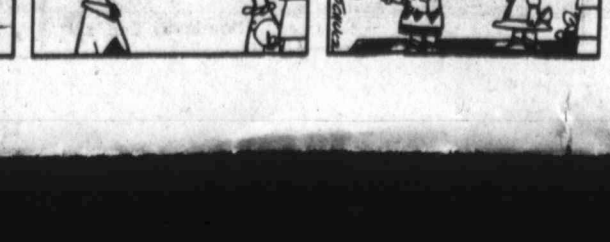

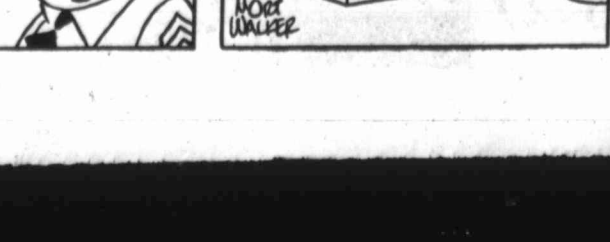

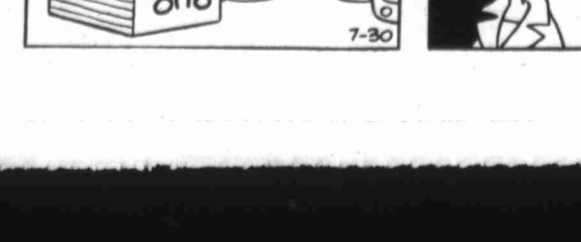

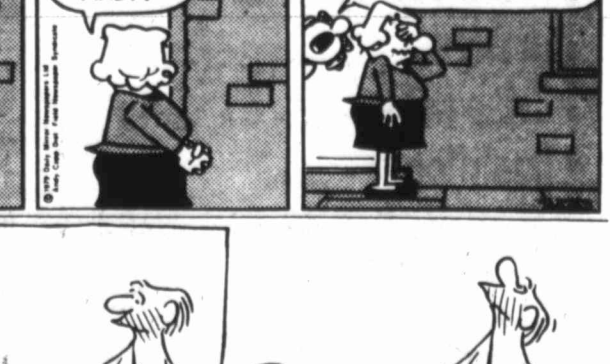

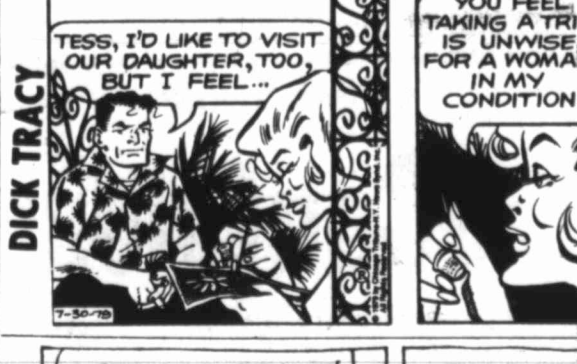

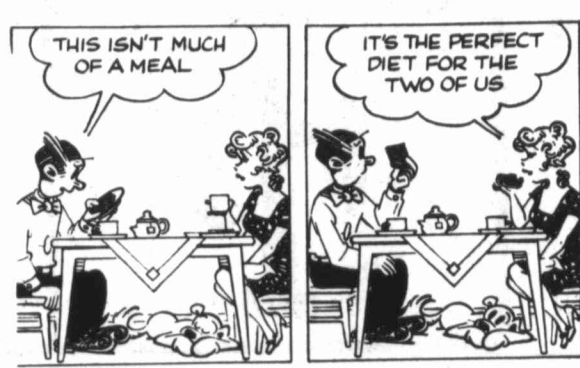

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can understand the underlying cause of trouble and will know how to solve problems. Direct education along lines of troubleshooting professions for a most successful life. Teach to be objective.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

On the Light side

One very rainy day

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Anyone who doubts that Waynesburg has a pipeline to the clouds every July 29 is all wet, say local punts.

Sprinkles fell at 12:26 a.m. Sunday and again after sunrise, making the 104th Annual Rain Day Festival a success, as usual.

"I think this will convince any skeptics that are left around," said rain prophet John Daily.

"There's no doubt about this one. It's been a great day."

Folks in this southwestern Pennsylvania town were waging it would rain as it has every July 29 for 90 of the previous 103 years.

"All that Waynesburg needs on July 29 is a couple showers and a bar of soap to keep its record clean," said Albert Sayers, great nephew of the Allison brothers, who started keeping records of the town's peculiar weather pattern more than a century ago.

An umbrella measuring 75 feet in diameter and weighing 75 pounds, billed as the world's largest, was hoisted on a flag pole in front of the courthouse, and anyone caught downtown without a bumbershoot was arrested — in jest.

Volunteers kept watch and sirens signaled the first drops.

Yellow sub decorated

BANGOR, Wash. (AP) — A yellow submarine the U.S. Navy uses as a torpedo target has gotten some extra — unauthorized — decoration. The U.S. Navy says it doesn't know how it got there, but the Canadian Navy does.

The vessel, which is based at the Trident submarine base in Bangor, now sports a big, red Canadian maple leaf on its side.

"I'm not sure how the maple leaf got there," said Capt. John Fletcher, commanding officer of the Keyport Naval Undersea Warfare Engineering Station.

But he did note that U.S. torpedo-retriever boats fly both American and Canadian flags when they operate with the Canadian Navy.

Lt. Cmdr. Vern Schwager of the Canadian Forces Maritime Experimental and Test Ranges said Canadians painted the red leaf on the sub during its two-year stay at Nanose Harbor, British Columbia.

"The locals just loved it when it was here," Schwager said. "I'm not sure if it was Navy men or civilians who put it on."

Ding-a-ling dials wrong number for obscene talk

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Police say an open telephone line and a familiar voice were enough to make them believe a Billings man was responsible for several obscene phone calls to the police station.

Jeffrey Scott Creek pleaded innocent to charges with two misdemeanor counts on Friday and released without bond pending trial. Last week, a police dispatcher said he logged about 30 obscene calls in an hour. Authorities said the calls were traced to an apartment where they found Creek. They said they also discovered the telephone line to the police station was still open. Upon request, Creek spoke to the dispatcher, who recognized his voice, police said.

KISS OF LIFE BACKFIRES — Fireman Alf Walsh gives the kiss of life to revive a cat he found unconscious in a blazing, smoke-filled house in the Lower Hutt area of Wellington, New Zealand today. He also gave the cat cardiac massage and oxygen. When the cat recovered he lashed out with his paws and scratched Walsh on the forehead.

Connally advocates tax whack

HOUSTON (AP) — John Connally says there is an immediate need for a $25 to $35 billion tax cut to benefit those escalating into higher tax brackets only because of inflation.

"We should have learned a long time ago we can't spend ourselves out of a recession," Connally said Sunday.

"What we are going to have to do is have a tax cut, a substantial tax cut."

Appearing on the ABC "Issues and Answers" program, the former Texas governor, who is seeking the Republican presidential nomination, also said President Carter's "political theatrics" in making recent cabinet changes have placed him in real political trouble.

Connally said Carter's actions have enanced his earlier belief the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination will go to Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts.

He would not say, however, Carter has destroyed himself politically.

"I wouldn't characterize it that way but he certainly hasn't helped himself," Connally said. "If anything, I think in a few weeks he'll find he's lower in the polls than ever. I think the net effect of what he has done is he engaged in political theatrics."

He said Carter obviously is trying to do his best to overcome some very serious problems.

"He is so eager, he made a televised speech to the nation about energy and he is so eager to re-establish his credibility he comes right along within a week and has this huge political upheaval of musical chairs and directs the entire attention of the nation away from energy back onto political matters," Connally said.

SEPARATED — Houston Astros' Enos Cabell yells at Los Angeles' Ken Brett, being held by Astros' Joe Niecko and Dodgers' Davey Lopes (15) as they were separated.

in the 8th inning fight, Saturday. Cabell and Brett came to blows after Cabell was hit by a Brett pitch.

Ford vents spleen vs. Twins

For Rod Carew, it wasn't anything personal. For Dan Ford, it was.

Both California Angel players made life miserable Sunday for their former team, the Minnesota Twins. Carew had four hits, for the 40th time in his career and the second time this year against the Twins. Ford belted a two-run homer among three hits to help the Angels beat Minnesota 9-3.

"I don't get up over any ballclub," said Carew, the seventh American League batting champion who is playing for the Angels this season after a long career with the Twins. "I just do my job."

Carew left Minnesota with a sweet Angels contract and no hard feelings, but there was considerable bitterness in Ford's case. He was extremely unhappy in Minnesota and just wanted out of town.

Orioles 6, Royals 4

Gary Roenicke hit two homers as Baltimore beat Kansas City for its 10th victory in 12 games. Left-hander Scott McGregor won his sixth game in the last seven decisions although he needed relief help in the seventh from Dave Ford, who gained his first save.

Reds 9, Braves 4

Third baseman Ray Knight drove in five runs with two doubles and a homer, pacing Cincinnati's rout of Atlanta.

Knight even managed to find something positive in the loss of George Foster, who has been disabled by a pulled leg muscle.

"I'll be glad when he gets back," said Knight, who admitted that "in some respects, we've probably played better with him out. When he's not in the lineup, we know we've got to do some things we don't have to do when he's in it."

91-POUNDER TACKLES WRESTLING WORLD—Five-foot, 91-pound Roberta Morgan has tackled the world of professional wrestling in her book "Main Event, The World of Professional Wrestling" and loves every minute of it. Morgan, being held by wrestler "Andre the Giant," has been an avid fan of the sport ever since viewing it on TV for the first time a year ago and has since become the recognized den mother of some 1,000 of the muscle-bound behemoths.

Brewers 5, Yankees 3

Sixto Lezcano hit a two-run single and Paul Molitor scored twice, leading Milwaukee over New York for a sweep of their tight-marred three-game series.

Bill Travers and Bob McClure combined to scatter nine hits for the Brewers, who lost third baseman Jim Gantner by ejection because of a seventh-inning scrap with the Yankees' Lou Piniella. The trend of battling started in Milwaukee's 6-5 victory Friday night.

Indians 9, White Sox 6

Rick Manning's grand slam homer following a two-run shot by Gary Alexander capped a seven-run second inning, leading Cleveland over Chicago. Rick Wise was the winner with sixth-inning relief from Paul Reuschel. The triumph was the seventh straight for the Indians, all since Dave Garcia took over the managerial reins from Jeff Torborg.

Tigers 5, Blue Jays 4

Lance Parrish hit two solo homers and Steve Kemp added another bases-empty blast to power Detroit over Toronto. Rookie Pat Underwood scattered 11 hits, including a solo homer by Rico Carty. Underwood was relieved in the eighth by Aurelio Lopez, who won his eighth save.

"Parrish is going to be one of the great players in the game," said Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson.

A's 2, Mariners 1

Rookie Mike Morgan pitched a three-hitter for his first major league victory and Oakland scored a pair of unearned runs in the first inning to beat Seattle. Morgan, 1-6, didn't allow a hit after the fourth inning to post his victory after nine major league losses.

Pro wrestling grabs Morgan

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP)—If you think professional wrestling is an exercise in grunting and groaning and the greatest display of histrionics since Barrymore, don't say it within earshot of Roberta Morgan.

She might just rouse her five-foot, 91-pound figure to its full height and tweak your nose.

To Roberta, this is pure sport performed by superbly conditioned athletes before wild, frenzied mobs who thrill to every headlock and toehold and agonize with every tortured hero.

"It's the vehemence that intrigues me," says Roberta. "The controlled violence in the ring, the involvement of the fans."

When Bob Backlund, 6-4, 239 pounds, claimant to the world professional heavyweight championship, puts his crown on the line tonight at Madison Square Garden, Roberta will be in the fifth row, ringside. She rarely misses a match.

Her coffee table tome entitled "Main Event, The World of Professional Wrestling," will hit the book stalls in August.

"Ever since I saw my first match on TV a year ago, I have been traveling all over the country watching shows and interviewing the wrestlers," Roberta says earnestly.

Roberta, 26, is an implausible wrestling authority. She majored in English and journalism at New York University, and studied Augustan Literature in London, where she met her husband, Brian Morgan, a professor at Columbia University.

She has written poetry and fiction, been a magazine and book editor and even organized a rock group known as "Morgan."

"There are more than 20 million wrestling fans in the country," she said. "They are all very rabid and loyal. I am aware of all the things said and written about the sport—choreographed, fake matches, exhibitions, chicken blood and all that."

"Chicken blood? Listen, I've been with them. They bleed."

Marvin Kohn, aide to the New York Athletic Commission, said wrestling has outdrawn Don King's boxing shows in the Garden.

"Wrestling is getting away from gimmickry and drawing more college athletes," Roberta insists. But they retain their individuality.

Backlund, the World Wrestling Federation champion, is a flame-haired North Dakotan known as "The All-American Boy." Chief Jay Strongbow appears in full Indian dress.

Another called Super Star Billy Graham wears gold boots. Masked marvels abound.

Football stars have found the mat a means of ending their careers. The most famous were Bronko Nagurski and Joe Savoldi. Ernie Ladd, the old San Diego Charger, performs as "The Big Cat."

All would be hard-pressed to match the geniuses of the old days. Indian Chief Cheechewki, tossed out of the ring, would gobble up straw hats. Man Mountain Dean's wife, Woman Mountain Dean, would leap into the ring and belt the opponent.

Richard's bat baffles L.A. again

HOUSTON (AP) —

Houston pitcher J.R. Richard seems to have a whammy on Los Angeles, one the major league strikeout king has used on the Dodgers nine straight times since June 1976.

His mastery of the Dodgers included hitting and base-running with the pitching Sunday as he scored the winning run on a ninth-inning triple by Cesar Cedeno, giving the Astros a 4-3 victory over Los Angeles.

Richard struck out eight Dodgers to up his season total to 182 and move his record to 9-11 on the year, but says he doesn't treat the Dodgers differently than any other club.

"The fact that they're the defending champions doesn't mean anything to me," he said. "Whether it's Cincinnati, San Francisco or any of the others, I just try to relax and pitch.

"I didn't even realize I had a streak going against the Dodgers," he added.

There was at least one Dodger who didn't go along with Richard's explanation, however.

"He gets up for us just like everyone else does," said Dodger shortstop Bill Russell. "We're the champions. Everybody plays harder against us, and the Astros are just getting more breaks."

The big break came when Richard stepped to the plate in the ninth and bounced Dodger reliever Terry Forster's pitch in front of home plate and high into the air.

Second baseman Davey Lopes grabbed the ball with his bare hand and threw toward first, but the 6-foot-8 Richard beat the throw.

Then Cedeno sliced a triple into the rightfield corner to drive home the winning run. Until then, the game had been a seesaw affair. The Astros struck for two runs in the first inning on a double by Jose Cruz and Enos Cabell's single.

But Richard walked two Dodgers in the third, and Russell's single scored catcher Johnny Oates. Los Angeles tied the game in the sixth when Lopes singled, stole second and came home on an error by Cedeno.

The Astros went up by one in their half of the sixth with another double by Cruz, who scored on a fielder's choice in a close play at the plate.

The Dodgers' Darrel Thomas evened the score at three in the seventh with a homerun just over the wall in right field and almost gave Los Angeles its fourth win in the ninth.

Dusty Baker was on second with one out when Thomas hit a sharp grounder to the left of Astros second baseman Rafael Landestoy, who leaped full length for the ball, stabbed it and got Thomas at first.

Baker had to hold at third, and the next batter grounded out.

"I'll dream about that play," said the crestfallen Thomas. "That's the kind of play you need to be in first place."

The Astros win maintained a 3½ game lead over second-place Cincinnati in the National League West.

Wind and heat boost Drago

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) —

Dick Drago says he still hasn't recovered from his wrestling match with Willie Horton, but adds there is no better tonic for recovery than a strong Texas prairie wind at his back and the 90-degree heat at Texas Stadium.

"It's still a struggle every time I go out there," said Drago, who slammed the door on the Texas Rangers with 123 innings of spotless relief Sunday night in a 3-2 Boston Red Sox victory.

"The sprain in my pitching shoulder is still bothering me," said Drago, who was wrestled to the ground by Seattle's Horton July 6 and hasn't been the same since because of the injury.

"It (the shoulder) is coming around and this weather helps," said Drago. "The heat feels good and, of course, you like that wind at your back."

Drago earned his sixth save to enable Mike Torrez to notch his 11th victory against six losses although the Rangers tagged him for 11 hits, including catcher Jim Sundberg's fourth homer of the year.

Doyle Alexander, making his first start in six weeks, suffered his sixth loss in nine decisions.

"That's a big win for us," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer. "It's the first time we've won a series against the Rangers in Texas since

I've been the Boston manager.

"We're on a long 10-game road trip and we've got to get good relief pitching. It's the best Drago has thrown the ball since he got hurt. I could see after four pitches he had an excellent fastball."

Boston remained five games behind American League Eastern Division leader Baltimore while Texas tumbled 4½ games behind California in the AL West.

The Red Sox collected only six hits against Alexander and reliever Sparky Lyle.

but connected when it counted.

After Sundberg's second inning homer, the Sox rallied for two runs in the third. Butch Hobson singled on a sacrifice, and took third on a single by Larry Wolfe and scored on Rick Burleson's RBI single. Carlton Fisk scored Wolfe on a sacrifice fly.

In the sixth inning Carl Yastrzemski knocked in the game-winning run — his 64th RBI of the year — with a ground-out after a walk by Fred Lynn and a Jim Rice double.

Is cash involved?

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. officials held firm that many American track and field athletes failed to come to Russia for the Spartacade Games because of visa problems, injuries and other reasons and denied reports that the athletes did not show up because they were not paid money they had been promised.

learned from three sources that some top athletes were staying away from two meets now going on because they did not receive "under the table" payments from event organizers or corporate sponsors. The two events are the Spartacade Games and the National Sports Festival in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Convention
plans made

The Texas Delta Delta Chapter of Phi Sigma Alpha met the evening of July 24 with Betty Warden, hostess, for a covered dish supper and meeting. Guests attending were Pearl Coffee and Beulah Reynolds.

Plans were made to assist with the Phi Sigma Alpha Texas State Convention which will be held October 12-14, at the Inn of the Golden West in Odessa.

The next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in September.

New York's Plaza Hotel. Just as in other collections, Lauren likes big shoulders this year.)

Dear Abby

Sex 'Affliction' Proves a Fiction

DEAR ABBY: I was married for 35 years to a man who had an overly healthy appetite for sex. Then he died. At 55 I married a man who told me that he had recently had mumps. Since I never cared for sex, I was thrilled.

Now I find out that he is plenty healthy. In other words, mumps didn't affect him the way it was supposed to! I would like to leave this man, but since he didn't know that I married him thinking he was sexually disabled from mumps, do I have grounds for divorce?

Please advise me.

DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: The man didn't intentionally deceive you—you jumped to an erroneous conclusion concerning what mumps is "supposed to do" to an adult male. It leaves some (not all) men sterile—not impotent. An impotent man cannot perform sexually. A sterile man can, but he can't father a child. Level with your husband, then consult a lawyer about grounds if you want a sex-free life.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if I am wrong for feeling put out when I drop in on people for a little conversation and company and they turn the television on right in my face. If I wanted to look at television, I could have stayed home and watched my own. Wouldn't you think people would have better manners? What is the matter with some folks, anyhow?

PUT OUT

DEAR PUT: The "matter with some folks" is that they don't view situations the same as other folks. It is also possible that unexpected "conversation and company" may not be as fascinating to a surprised host as the television program he may have planned to watch.

In other words, be considerate—call first.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NEEDS SUGGESTIONS IN HILO, HAWAII": How about giving her a ukelele—with no strings attached?

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Sew and Chatter picnic scheduled

The Sew and Chatter Sewing Club met in the home of Mrs. Lewis Murdock, 606 E. 17th, July 25 at 3 p.m. Twelve members were present.

Handwork on decorative pillows and afghans was accomplished by members. Discussion was held on helping at the Big Spring State Hospital Arts and Crafts Sale to be held Dec. 1 at the Highland Mall. Cookies were taken to the state hospital this week. There will be no meeting Aug. 8, but the Annual Picnic for members and husbands will be held Aug. 22, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Porter, 1919 Parkwood Drive.

This meeting will also be the election of officers for the year.

Refreshments were served to the group by Mrs. Murdock.

Maybe you can 'run' away from problems

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The old adage, "you can't run away from your problems," may not be as true as we once thought. Lately, experts have found that running definitely has a positive effect on people's moods, reports the May issue of Seventeen Magazine.

Runners can expect a six-to-eighteen hour mood lift after running," says Dr. Gabe Mirkin, coauthor of The Sportsmedicine Book. "Any anxiety or depression present before running will almost certainly be lessened afterward."

Experts aren't sure why running should have such an uplifting effect on the spirits. But studies with athletes have shown that running stimulates the brain to produce increased levels of norepinephrine, a hormone that is believed to play a key role in regulating depression.

Dr. Thaddeus Kostubala, a psychiatrist and author of the bestseller, The Joy of Running, reports that patients who are taking prescribed antidepressant drugs often find that they need less medication once they start a running program. During running, blood is pumping through the body, and the brain is literally flushed out, possibly removing by-products found in the nerve endings that effect moods. So it's not surprising that many doctors are now prescribing running as therapy for patients complaining of boredom and depression.

But running, like any sport, won't yield benefits overnight. Begin slowly, then maintain a program of thirty minutes, three times a week. If you try to run too fast, too soon, you'll only end up hurting. And that will definitely put you in a bad mood.

Tween 12 and 20

Need a pen pal?

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: My sister said she got a pen pal from you last year and it gave her something to do during the summer school vacation. In fact, she is still writing to this boy in Columbus, Ohio.

I was wondering if it would be possible to get a pen pal for me. If you could, I'd like a boy, about 15, from Texas.—Janet McKee, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Janet: Last year we had hundreds of teens from the United States, Jamaica and Canada find pen pals through this column.

It was a lot of fun and a lot of work, but I would be willing to do it again. It sure fills a need.

Since this column appears in 48 continental states, Canada and Jamaica, we've got lots of teens to choose from.

So, teens, if you want a teen pen pal, you must follow these directions.

If you want one pal, write to me, in care of this newspaper. State if you want a boy or a girl and their age range. You must enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

No envelope, no pen pal.

Do these few things and you will receive a pen pal from the United States, Canada or Jamaica.

If you want a list of pen pals (about 50) and would like your name added to the list, follow the same format, but inclose $1 which will go to three teens who will do the typing, paper work and mailing.

Last year I had many adults write and ask if I could help them find a pen pal, but my interest is with teens. So, I'll ask that all who write be 'tween 12 and 20.

Since last year the column appears in many more newspapers in different parts of the United States and Canada, so we should have lots of fun.

Just a reminder, don't forget the self-addressed, stamped envelope.
