THE DREAM COMES TRUE

Band Starts Trip Today To Seattle World's Fair

The Big Spring High School band starts today on the first leg of realizing a dream—a trip to the Seattle World's Fair.

Two bus loads of band members, accompanied by some 10 parents, will leave from the high school at 5 p.m. Except for brief stops, the buses will keep rolling until the youngsters ride into Seattle Thursday.

New honors go with them, for last Saturday at Odessa, the band won first division honors for the third consecutive time in concert playing. Interestingly, it was a tape recording of the band's concert playing which earned it an invitation to go to Seattle.

The band also got a second division in sight reading. Patricia Bishop and Bobby Dawes each got a first division rating as student conductors.

En route the band will be recognized at various points. Cortez, Colo., for example, is having a reception at breakfast Wednesday morning.

The band members are carrying a load of brochures from the Chamber of Commerce to advertise Big Spring, and these are due a liberal distribution Saturday when the band plays a concert at the fair.

Mrs. Joe Peay, a nurse, is accompanying the group to watch over the general health of the youngsters.

Local Oil Operator Named In Suit Claiming Salt Damage

A $90,000 damage suit for alleged damages to range lands, caused by salt from oil and gas wells, has been filed in 118th District Court by a San Angelo man naming a Big Spring oil operator.

The petition alleges that the defendant, C. W. Guthrie and the Basin Oil Co., violated Rule 20 of the Texas Railroad Commission in the handling of salt water produced by oil and gas wells on the property.

The plaintiff, Robert C. Scott, San Angelo, claims $75,000 damages to his land's market value. He also asks an additional $15,000 for damages he alleges the defendant caused by excessive use of lands for roads and slush pits.

Scott, whose attorneys are Hardeman, Smith and Foy, San Angelo, asserts that he is owner in fee simple of Sections 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93 and 94 in Block 29, W&NW RR survey and also of Sections 1, 9, 10, and 18, Block 19, Lavaca Navigation Company survey.

These lands, he says, are located in Howard and Mitchell Counties and the defendants have drilled oil and gas wells on them. Reference to Section 89, Block 29, W&NW survey, is made specifically.

Scott's petition recites that the defendants, in their operation of oil and gas wells on the lands, have produced vast quantities of salt water. This, he says, has been disposed of by emptying it into pits dug on the land. One large pit, he relates, was constructed on Section 89, Block 29, W&NW survey.

The plaintiff says that he has right to the natural water courses and storages of fresh water on the lands. He says he has built numerous tanks to catch and store fresh water needed for ranching purposes. These he alleges have greatly enhanced the value of his lands.

Now, he charges, the salt water from the pits dug by the defendants have seeped through the ground and impregnated his fresh water reservoirs to the point where the water is no longer fit for consumption.

He asks that he be paid $90,000 damages.

Newspaper Fire-Bombed

MIDLOTHIAN, Tex. (AP) —A blazing jelly substance in a glass container was hurled into the plant of the weekly Midlothian Mirror yesterday and the resultant fire caused $5,000 in damages.

The editor and publisher of the newspaper, Penn Jones Jr., said the loss was to a counter, office supplies and paper stock.

Jones has been the key figure in a controversy arising from editorial criticism of speakers appearing before students of Midlothian High School. Jones said that his suggestion that more liberal speakers be named has resulted in two fist fights. Jones, who was fined $11.35 each for the two fights, says he was "whipped" in both frays "but my newspaper is not. We'll get out a paper this week and we'll editorialize just like we've always done."

Paternity Contest Heads For Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A defrocked priests's contest of the paternity of his wife's fourth child was scheduled to be considered in Superior Court here today.

Ex-priest Walter A. Ryan, 56, agreed in court last month to pay $100 a month for support of three daughters, but disputed paternity of the fourth. The youngest daughter is now 3 years old.

Vote Sought On Literacy Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders moved today to force a vote next week on the administration's literacy test bill.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told the Senate he and Republican Leader Everett Dirksen will file a petition Monday to limit debate.

The measure would prohibit the state from barring the ballot on literacy grounds to any otherwise qualified citizen who had completed a sixth-grade education.

U.S. To Give Notice Of Blasts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will give the world's scientists about four days' notice before firing three missile-borne nuclear test devices over the Pacific in June or July.

The Pentagon said Monday advance word of the three blasts will be given so that geophysicists and other scientists can make measurements of interest to the scientific community.

Titov, In Crowded N.Y., Predicts Roomier Capsules

NEW YORK (AP) — Russian spaceman Gherman S. Titov complained today of a lack of space in New York City.

He said on a television program he was having difficulty in seeing the sights because of crowds that gathered around him.

But he predicted the day would come when there would be more space in space capsules.

"The time is not far away when we will be walking around in the capsule," Maj. Titov said on the CBS "Calendar" program.

He made this comment when questioned about differences between his ship and that of Col. John H. Glenn Jr., American orbiter.

Titov said his ship was more powerful and therefore techniques had to be different. He said he could stand up in his ship but could not walk in it.

The Russian and his wife spoke through interpreters on the program.

In discussing crowds in the city, Titov said the people have treated his wife and him very cordially and that "many have greeted us in Russian."

The 27-year-old Russian spaceman, who on Aug. 6 completed 17 orbits of the earth, arrived Sunday from Moscow with his pretty wife, Tamara, 24.

Wednesday morning they go to Washington, where Titov will address a meeting of the Committee on Space Research, and meet American astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., who orbited the earth three times.

The spacemen will participate in an hour-long panel discussion about space exploration, to be telecast at 5:30 p.m., EST, Sunday by the National Broadcasting Co.

Titovs See New York

Russian cosmonaut Gherman Titov and his wife, Tamara, look over New York from the observation tower of the Empire State building. They toured the city, stopping at Rockefeller Center, Times Square and the downtown financial district.

Rough Oklahoma Campaign Ends

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Rough and tumble political campaigns—laced by a libel suit and the call for a grand jury investigation—reach a climax in Oklahoma's primary election today.

Oklahomans selected nominees for state and federal offices from 514 candidates. Stimulated by a volatile campaign for governor, and forecasts of good weather, about 600,000 were expected to vote.

Contenders for governor closed their campaigns with a final appeal for votes.

W. P. Atkinson, Mjdwest City builder, filed a $10 million libel suit against the Daily Oklahoman. Atkin was angry about a page one editorial.

George Miskovsky, Oklahoma City lawyer, circulated a petition calling for a grand jury investigation of campaign expenditures by his Democratic opponents.

2 Captured GIs Rescued In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Two U.S. Army enlisted men captured April 8 by Communist guerrillas were recovered today by South Vietnamese government forces, "tired but otherwise in good health," U.S. officials reported.

The two men, Sgt. 1. C. Francis Quinn, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Sgt. George E. Groom, of St. Joseph, Mo., were rescued near the coastal town of Da Nang, about 360 miles north of Saigon.

The spot where they were rescued was not far from the site of the engagement in which the Viet Cong captured them and killed two other American soldiers.

Vietnamese authorities did not disclose whether the two were freed in a military operation or turned loose by their Viet Cong captors.

A U.S. helicopter took them to a U.S. Army special forces camp near Da Nang.

Quinn and Groom were captured in a Viet Cong attack in which Staff Sgt. Wayne E. Marchand, of Plattsmouth, Neb. and Spec. 5 James Gabriel of Honolulu were killed.

The four men were assigned to train a group of 31 Vietnamese civil guardsmen in village self-defense techniques.

Survivors reported the group had been bivouacked for the night near a small town. An estimated 120 Viet Cong guerrillas attacked the encampment.

Bodies of the two dead Americans were found some distance from the site of the attack. Marchand and Gabriel reportedly had been badly wounded before they were captured and apparently the Viet Cong murdered them because they were unable to keep up with the marching column.

Military authorities said Quinn and Groom would be flown to Saigon late today but newsmen would not be permitted to interview them.

Texans Carry Torch To Honor Mexican Hero

PUEBLA, Mex. (AP) — Texas runners carrying a torch and a tube of soil from Goliad, Tex., neared the end of their journey here today.

Their race is in tribute to Gen. Ignacio Zaragoza, who commanded Mexican troops defeating the army of Napoleon III near Puebla May 5, 1862. Zaragoza was born at the spot where Goliad now stands.

President Adolfo Lopez Mateos received the Texans as they paused in Mexico City en route here Monday.

"I am sure that the people of Puebla will be grateful for your great effort," he said in thanking the runners for helping Mexico mark the anniversary.

Oil Production Reported Down

TULSA (AP) — Oil production declined 24,160 barrels per day last week, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

The trade magazine said average daily production last week was 7,358,715 barrels.

Oklahoma production declined by 10,850 barrels a day to 752,850.

Texas production averaged about 2,566,770 barrels, Louisiana about 1,326,500, New Mexico 311,000, Arkansas 77,000 and Colorado 118,700.

Nacogdoches Hit By Flash Flood

Incident Is Climax To Wild Weather

By The Associated Press

Torrential rain smashed a small dam and sent tons of water gushing through homes on the edge of Nacogdoches in East Texas late Monday night.

Laden with silt and debris, the water rose briefly into about 30 homes occupied by more than 100 sleeping residents. Firemen and volunteers helped see that all reached safety.

A thunderstorm loosed an estimated 5 inches of rain in an hour and a half. The downpour caused a quick rise in Thrash Lake 1½ miles southwest of Nacogdoches, and its 50-year-old earthen dam collapsed about 10:45 p.m. (CST).

BLUNTED FORCE

Night Police Chief M. C. Roebuck said the torrent's sweep across intervening countryside blunted the flash flood's force and the water drained into several small creeks in 30 to 45 minutes. He estimated damage at $40,000.

Neighbors found James Brock, 21, who couldn't swim, stranded atop his car and calling for help. The vehicle was swept about 300 yards into a field as Brock was driving home from his gas station.

Most of Lake Thrash, covering six acres and 20 to 30 feet deep in places, emptied into several creeks and draws running through and around Nacogdoches.

The sudden rise also put water 3 to 4 inches deep in about a dozen houses of Negro families across town. Police with lights and sirens went from house to house and sounded a warning shortly before midnight.

LAST BLOW

Nacogdoches apparently caught the last heavy blow in Texas from thunderstorms sweeping destructively across the state with tornado-force winds and pounding hail Monday.

Moving just ahead of a cool front and forming a squall line 200 miles long at times, the gusty storms dumped 4½ inches of rain and hail as big as golf balls on parts of Dallas.

Vicious winds hit hard at Detroit and Pattonville, both villages in Northeast Texas. Hail accompanied scattered hard rains in several areas, and Lufkin in Southeast Texas caught a 3½-inch downpour.

By early morning the turbulent thunderstorms and cool front shoving southeastward through the state stretched from the upper Texas coast toward Corpus Christi and Laredo.

MERCURY FALLS

Temperatures dropped over most of West and North Texas, edging down to near freezing in the Panhandle before dawn Tuesday. Readings elsewhere ranged up to the middle 70s in extreme South Texas.

Property losses from the wild spring weather in Northeast Texas ran into thousands of dollars.

Winds leaping from a big white cloud crushed a garage, caved in the front of a feed store and ripped away parts of many roofs at Detroit, a town of 600 in Red River County. State police estimated the damage at $50,000 to $60,000.

Roger Hart, working inside the smashed garage, said the wind blew in a vicious straight line and it was not a tornado, as first reported.

A similar storm at Pattonville, a town of 300 in Lamar County, unroofed a barn and shoved a house four feet off its foundation. A door ripped from the county barn hit an unoccupied house 150 feet distant.

HAIL FALLS

Hail up to three-fourths inch in diameter accompanied the rain at Paris, west of Detroit and Pattonville.

Dense clouds forced use of street lights and auto headlights as the day's second squall line swept through Dallas late Monday. Rainfall measurements in the city ranged from 4¼ inches at a North Dallas gauge down to 2 inches in other sections.

Water rose to the door handles of cars stalled in several underpasses on the busy North Central Expressway in Dallas as the route was closed for a time. Firemen took several motorists from perches atop their autos. Water trapped a city bus at an underpass in the same district.

Hail stones up to the size of golf balls likewise pelted Garland, just northeast of Dallas, and Mansfield, south of Fort Worth.

As the cool front pushed on toward the southeast, heavy rain and hail as big as pecans fell at Austin.

Forecasts called for a few more showers to move on out of Texas toward the east and south during the day. It was due to be fair and cooler elsewhere in the state.

Honor Roll Of Service

Two names have been put on a plaque to honor persons who have given more than 3,000 hours of volunteer service at the local Veterans' Administration Hospital. The plaque will be hung in the lobby of the hospital. Recognition for the service was made at an adult volunteer recognition program Monday night. Shown with V. J. Belda, hospital director, are the first two persons whose names went on the plaque. At left is Mrs. C. O. Hitt, and on the right is Mrs. H. D. Bruton.

VA Hospital Volunteers Get Awards At Monday Program

Almost 40 awards were presented to adult volunteers at a recognition ceremony conducted at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital Monday night.

Receiving the top award, a plaque which will be an honor roll of service, were Mrs. H. D. Bruton and Mrs. C. O. Hitt. Both have given more than 3,000 hours of service. The plaque with their names inscribed on it was presented to the two volunteers Monday night, but it will be retained at the hospital for display in the main lobby.

Another high award, a certificate of devotion, went to Mrs. A. W. Moody for 1,000 hours of volunteer work. These awards were presented to V. J. Belda, hospital director.

Some 70 persons were on hand for the recognition night. Included was guest speaker Dr. Thomas R. Armstrong, a physician at the hospital, who spoke on "Communists in Cuba." Dr. Armstrong is a refugee from that country.

Don Ford presented two vocal selections as a part of the evening's entertainment. He was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Charles Beil. Also providing entertainment was a barvershop quartet composed of Tolford Durham, Bill Birrell, Stanley Peurifoy and Ford. The group presented four numbers.

Refreshments were served by representatives from the Disabled American Veterans, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliaries. The program was held in the recreation hall on the second floor of the hospital building.

Decorations for the occasion consisted of flowers in front of the podium, table arrangements and a piano arrangement.

Dr. H. C. Ernsting, chief of staff, presented certificates of outstanding service to Mrs. J. D. Collier, Mrs. J. P. Grantham, Mrs. R. L. Mundt and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hendrick. These were for persons who had surpassed the 500 hour mark.

Certificates of merit for 300 hours, went to Mrs. M. J. Dehlinger, Mrs. Collier, Mrs. Mundt and Willard Hendrick. Others receiving this award were Mrs. C. B. Barnett and Mrs. J. Ray Martin, both of Snyder. Bessie Love, chief of nursing service, made the awards.

There were 21 persons from Snyder, Midland, Forsan, Odessa, Roscoe and Big Spring who received certificates of appreciation for giving more than 100 hours of their time for volunteer service. The awards were made by James S. Kilgore, administrative assistant to the chief of staff.

Others recognized for having many hours, but who had not yet passed a point for which there is an award, were Mrs. Harry Lees, with 2,000 hours, and Mrs. Ethel Crenshaw, Mrs. Louise Horton, Mrs. Mary Simian and Mrs. Ralph Baker, with 1,500 hours.

Belda welcomed the visitors to the recognition program and the invocation was given by Chaplain C. O. Hitt. Tolford Durham presided over the program. Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director of voluntary service, took over during the recognition portion of the program.

Big Absentee Vote Expected

There is a possibility one of the heaviest county absenteee votes in many years will be scored by the time the deadline for such voting arrives at 5 p.m. today.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, said that her office has handled 354 absentee ballots through 10 a.m. today. A steady trickle of applicants was coming into the office at that hour and one deputy was kept busy serving the voters.

The deadline for such voting may see the total hit 400 or more. So far, there have been 12 Republican absentee voters.

Election buffs regard a heavy absentee vote as an indication of a big turnout on election day. This is not always a sound theory but records indicate it does hold up sometimes.

Election day is Saturday. Absentee voting must close four days before the election, under terms of Texas election laws.

Kennedy Signs Bill To Push Educational TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed into law today a bill providing federal aid toward expansion of educational television stations all over the country.

The measure authorizes appropriations of $32 million over a five-year period beginning July 1 for construction of educational television facilities. The federal aid is to be matched by educational institutions and nonprofit groups.

The bill represented a compromise between a Senate measure authorizing a $51-million program and a House authorization of $25 million.

The secretary of health, education and welfare would allocate the grants under the bill. To assure a wide distribution of the federal aid, the bill sets a million-dollar ceiling on the amount that could be provided in any one state.

A congressional report explaining the compromise bill said that although the Federal Communications Commission 10 years ago reserved 273 channels for educational television only 62 are in use. Yet, it said, a minimum need of 1,197 such channels has been indicated by national surveys.

Report Favorable On Medical Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy got a report today that public sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of his proposal to tie medical care for the aged to Social Security.

The report was given by Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts at the weekly breakfast meeting of Democratic leaders with the President.

The session took place only a few hours in advance of a White House meeting between Kennedy and the top echelon of the American Medical Association which strongly opposes the administration health plan.

McCormack said he personally found sentiment for the program very strong in Boston and Massachusetts generally.

He said he received similar reports from other members of the House on their return from Easter vacations at home.

McCormack said he is very optimistic that the medical care bill will be approved by the House.

Big Spring's Halfway House Will Open Soon

The Halfway House for patients of the Big Spring State Hospital will open soon for patients, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent.

Renovation of the building at 411 Lancaster is complete and caretakers have been selected. Living with the patients will be Mr. and Mrs. Delton Holton.

"About all that is needed now for the patients to move in are a few single beds and additional household goods," Desmond Powell, psychologist, said. Powell has been instrumental in getting the project off the ground.

This is the third such establishment in Texas.

The 12-room house will be the residence of 10 patients. All will work and make their own way. The initial help they need to get started has been provided by volunteer groups from Midland, Odessa and Big Spring.

A Halfway House is basically what the name implies. It is an intermediate stage between hospitalization and stepping out into an unsheltered society. The semi-sheltered environment allows the patient to make the change gradually. This is important to many of them who have been out of contact with society for a long period.

The After-Care Association, a non-profit organization, is in charge of the operation. Although private contributions were welcomed to launch the program, after the first few months it should be self-sustaining.

Present needs include the beds, linen, groceries and household hold equipment such as pots, pans, bowls and silverware.

Parley Canceled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has canceled a presidential news conference scheduled for Thursday morning.

Byrd, Stans Oppose JFK Budget Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's budget director told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce today that the Kennedy administration's policies, "unless abruptly changed, are likely to produce four consecutive deficits."

Maurice H. Stans, now president of Western Bancorporation, San Francisco, said businessmen must take an active personal interest in politics if they are concerned over "near-confiscatory taxes" and budget policies which "are an open invitation to a crisis for the dollar."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., predicted the fiscal 1963 budget, for which President Kennedy forecast a scant surplus, will show "another deficit of $4 to $5 billion."

Both speeches were prepared for the Chamber's 50th annual meeting here.

Byrd told the 4,000 businessmen-delegates: "If such a deficit should develop next year, the three-year deficit would total $15 billion or more. This would be reminiscent of the huge deficits of 1958-59."

Both Stans and Byrd called for action to stem the loss of gold and correct the U.S. deficit in international payments. Of the $16.6 billion in remaining gold stocks, Byrd said, nearly $12 billion are required as a backing for the currency but the drain is continuing.

"How much longer can we continue to be Santa Claus for the free world, baker for the free world, and policeman for the free world?" Byrd asked. "When will Judgment Day come? Perhaps it is approaching faster than we realize?"

Stans suggested that businessmen should work harder for the election of candidates "whose views are closest to yours."

"Would you dig down to contribute more—as much as five per cent or more of your pay—to the political campaigns of those who stand with your convictions?" the former official asked.

"Businessmen must seek to educate their employes and shareholders to the significance of political and economic issues," Stans said.

Stans also declared: "Despite new fancy theories of balancing the budget over the (business) cycles, we have gone in the red 26 times in the last 32 years and have paid our bills without borrowing only six times.

"The policies of the present administration, unless abruptly changed, are likely to produce four consecutive deficits.

"A large part of the increase in federal spending and debt is the result of a massive assumption of responsibility by the government for cradle-to-grave welfare."

In an address Monday, Kennedy told the Chamber delegates: "We have many burdens in Washington—we do not want the added burden of determining individual prices for individual products."

It was the President's first speech to a business group since he forced eight steel companies to back down in mid-April on an announced price increase of $6 a ton.

Since then several business leaders have expressed fear and suspicion of possible future government actions in the wage-price field. Kennedy tried to allay these fears.

Campaigns In Free-For-All Stage As Deadline Nears

By The Associated Press

There were further echoes Tuesday from the stand against filing federal income tax returns taken by El Paso County Judge for congressman-at-large.

They shared interest with free-swinging speeches by rival candidates for governor in the fast ending Texas political campaign.

Bean said Monday he had no intention of withdrawing as a candidate for Congress, as recommended by Texas AFL-CIO President H. S. Brown.

Brown advanced the suggestion after Bean told newsmen he had not filed a personal income tax return since 1952 because he feels the tax law is unconstitutional. He said payments withheld from his official salary more than covered what he owed the government.

Bean's home town newspaper, the El Paso Times, in turn published a front page editorial stating its endorsement of his candidacy was being withdrawn.

"We cannot support any man for public office who admits that he has flaunted the law of the land," the newspaper stated.

Edwin A. Walker, the former Army major general who is one of six Democrats in the governor's race, came up with a bristling speech at a San Antonio rally.

Lashing at three opponents, Walker asserted some people were being high pressured into voting for former Navy Sec. John Connally. He said Atty. Gen. Will Wilson "has done absolutely nothing". He asserted the financial record of Gov. Price Daniel's administration is open to criticism.

Walker said former President Eisenhower "is talking out of the left side of his mouth." He called former President Truman "a little twerp." He accused former secretary of State Dean Acheson of being party to "a sellout" in China. He labeled the United Nations "the tower of Babel."

Daniel and Don Yarborough both directed appeals to statewide television audiences Monday evening.

Without calling names, the governor scored his rivals for accenting "what's wrong with Texas and with this administration." He presented numerous pictures which Daniel said were proof of "the true story of the greatest state in the Union, with an all-time high standard of living, clean government that is making the greatest gains in the history of our people."

Daniel said the state has progressed in road building, public welfare, education and other fields in the past five years "and it is to see these programs carried forward that I seek your support for re-election."

Yarborough asserted that Connally was "backed by the big Eastern monopolies who have been holding back our state" and "they are waging the most far-flung publicity campaign in Texas history in an effort to buy the governor's chair."

Connally, stumping West Texas, said at Midland the question of whether Daniel should be elected to a fourth term was a fundamental issue of the campaign.

Marshall Formby, speaking at Beaumont as he swung through Southeast Texas, said he proposed balanced spending as governor and cited his record as a former county judge with:

"I pulled Dickens County out of the red with no increase in taxes. I have never put anyone in the position to have to pay my bills, or operated on a deficit."

Formby said also he was the only gubernatorial candidate who has operated his campaign on a cash basis.

Wilson said in his opinion he had used proper campaign tactics and it was legitimate to use the attorney general's staff to check the land holdings of Gov. Daniel.

DEAR ABBY

Wrong Kind Of Advertising

DEAR ABBY: My telephone just rang for the third time in two hours and that was the straw that broke the camel's back. After dropping my work and nearly breaking my neck over the children's toys, I was asked to buy a certain product. What about starting a campaign to stop this sort of thing? When I wnat to buy something I'll go to the store, and I'm sure not going to buy the product that is advertised by someone who called me on the phone and disturbed my work. IRENE

DEAR IRENE: Telephone solicitation gives employment to those who cannot leave their homes. But although the callers are guiltless themselves, I think the sponsors of such intrusive advertising make more enemies than friends.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Would it look funny for a bride to wear flat-heeled shoes at her wedding because, if she wore high heels, she would be taller than the groom? TALL ONE

DEAR TALL: Unless your future husband is loaded with confidence, better wear the flats and let him be taller. (Anyway, who looks at a bride's feet when her face is glowing with happiness?)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of six children. They are all under 12, so I give quite a few birthday parties during the year. I also give little Easter parties, Valentine parties and Hallowe'en parties. My problem is this:

When we send the invitations we always state clearly: "The party is from 1:00 P.M. until 5:00 P.M. —Saturday afternoon." Now every time I have a party about half the children just stay around until I take them home. Do you think this is right? Maybe I am being small about it, but I get annoyed when this happens. How can this be prevented without hurt feelings?

PARTY-GIVING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You could phone the "guilty" mothers (about 5:30 P.M.) and ask them if they intend to come for their children. Otherwise, prepare to deliver them to their respective homes and forget it.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOO MUCH TOO SOON": It's never too late to reform. Start giving nothing—and right now.

ONE CHURCH

By A Christian Writer

All Bible students agree (as far as I know) that the Bible only reveals one church; yet they are unhappy with us for saying there is only one church. They seem to think we are saying "our church is the only one." That is not so!

What we are saying is, the Bible reveals only one, and thus the Lord has given His approval to only one. This is not "my church" nor "your church"; it is the church of Christ (Christ's church). It is the one we read about in the Bible; the one which has the Bible organization, the Bible name, the Bible teaching and the Bible worship.

Paul said the church is "the body;" then said, "There is one body." In fact, he said there is "but one body." (Eph. 1:22, 23; Eph. 4:4; I Cor. 12:20.)

My brethren and I have no patent or copyright on the church of Christ. Anyone can become a member of it. He does not need our consent. Its doors are open to anyone who will meet the Lord's conditions of salvation. We cannot vote you in, nor vote you out.

Now in progress: Wednesday night lecture series. Speaker this Wednesday, 7:30 p.m., Roy Phemister, from Fluvanna. Subject: "The Heart and Christianity."

You are always welcome at the church of Christ, 3500 West Highway 80. T. H. Tarbet, preacher (on Australian preaching mission 'til May 15). Box 1385.—adv.

LOW BACK PAINS

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Backache is perhaps the oldest and is still today one of the most common complaints for which the patient consults his doctor.

We find the average patient is quite convinced their "nagging backache" is due to some disorder of the pelvic organs — or at least kidney trouble. It is usually neither. Yet, it is difficult to convince them. They usually come to the chiropractor after laboratory tests and exploratory X-ray examinations fail to reveal a pelvic or kidney lesion.

Constipation is frequently suspected. However, regularity usually returns when correction is made in the spine.

Neuralgic pains are common in bad weather. They shift around from one place to another and are often mistaken for arthritis. These too, will generally vanish when presure is removed from hot, irritated nerves in the spine.

Hip joint dis-ease concentrates in one or both hip joints. This causes stiffness of the leg and a limp. Many times this condition can be relieved by removing nerve interference in the spine with NO painful manipulations of the inflamed joint.

Low back pains at waist level or lower usually are the result of injury to the popular "sacroiliac joints" — so are those miserable sciatic pains. These joints must be restored to proper alignment for permanent relief. Operations are generally unnecessary. We have corrected hundreds of these conditions.

"It took years of suffering to convince this Big Spring businessman to try our method of the healing arts. He came at the insistence of his daughter, whom we had helped earlier. Yet, when he was discharged, he stated, "Dr. Hansen, I'll be forever grateful for what you and chiropractic have done for me. I thought nothing could help me and this pain and suffering would go with me to the grave, yet now it is gone. I am able to do twice as much work as before and have doubled my income." This man suffered from constipation, indigestion and nervousness as well as the constant pain of the back and BOTH legs, for many, many years. We found the cause of his trouble deep in his nervous system and X-rays enabled us to make the necessary correction and his backache, leg pains and other symptoms faded away. Periodic check-ups keep him feeling tip-top. No. B-485.

SPACE NEWS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Robert Voas, training officer at the Langley, Va., space flight center, was asked how soon he thought a female astronaut might be sent into space.

"Not in this decade," he replied.

Voas then was asked the prospects of sending a man and a woman together into space.

"I think all these things are pretty far in the future," he answered.

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—To grinning, rumple-haired test pilot Joe Walker, his record 48-mile-high flight in the X15 rocket plane Monday is "only the beginning" for winged aircraft.

Judging from the stresses he withstood in his 3,443 m.p.h. dash to the edge of space, Walker said he could "take orbit with no strain at all."

He doesn't think either he or the X15 will ever go into orbit. The 15 isn't built for it, and Walker, 41, is going to be tied up for the next two years seeing just how high the rocket plane can go and get back safely.

But Walker said he would like to.

"There is no question," Walker said at a news conference after his flight, "that we can put a winged vehicle in orbit and land it as I did today."

The concept of using a winged controllable craft instead of a parachuting capsule to return from space, Walker said, has been proved practical. "All we have to do is build the plane."

Just such a plane, the missile-boosted Dynasoar space glider, is under construction. The lessons Walker and other X15 pilots learn will be cranked into Dynasoar's design.

Before the year is out the 15 will fly higher and higher, perhaps to 400,000 feet—75 miles.

Altitude is no problem to the X15. Engineers said it probably has enough power to reach an orbital altitude of 100 miles. The tough part is coming down in one piece.

Walker withstood forces four times normal gravity—four G's the pilots call it—in his steep climb and five G's when he pulled out of the dive back into the atmosphere.

Determining the proper angles and speeds for safe re-entry into the atmosphere will be X15's main job for the next two years.

Walker has been preparing for this job for 17 years. An Air Force fighter pilot in World War II, he joined the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (then called the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics) in 1945 as a physicist and later became a test pilot.

Transferring to NASA's center here in 1951, he test flew several experimental aircraft, including the X1E, the X3 and the 5. When the X15 was proposed it became one of his major interests.

Walker and Air Force Maj. Bob White, have broken record after record in the 15.

The X15 has exceeded contract specifications in both speed and altitude. It was guaranteed to fly at least 250,000 feet and Monday's flight topped that by 5,000 feet. Maj. White streaked 4,093 m.p.h. last Nov. 8—93 m.p.h. faster than it was designed to fly.

The mayor and city attorney are members of the legislative committee of the Texas Municipal League and attended a planning meeting. Dunn was on other business.

City Manager A. K. Steinheimer is in Beaumont to meet with the city commission there Tuesday and will return to his office here Wednesday morning.

Only One Local Man To Be Called

Things are pretty slow around the office of the Selective Service board.

One inductee is to be called up from Howard, Mitchell and Martin counties for May. No draftees are to be called for preinduction medical examinations.

Mrs. Louise Nuckolls, chief clerk for the board, said that one fellow who is to be put in uniform has already been notified of his selection and informed as to the date he is to report.

Search For Missing Hobbs Man Continues In Lake J. B. Thomas

The search for the body of T. H. Dicus, 52, of Hobbs, N. M., continued in the rough waters of Lake J. B. Thomas at noon today.

Dragging operations, and diving, were kept up around the clock, in spite of high winds, after the man and his companion were dumped into the water from their swamped boat at 3 p.m. Sunday. The second man, Jay Harwell, 26, also of Hobbs, managed to swim the 150 to 200 yards to shore. Both were employes of Halliburton Co. at Hobbs.

The two men were fishing in the lake Sunday and had started to shore when the water became too rough for the small boat. Observers said the waves in the area, about a quarter mile from Boyd's Lodge, were from three to five feet high and the water from 15 to 20 feet deep.

Harwell told officers that he was in the front of the boat and that Dicus yelled to him that the boat was going under.

COULD NOT SWIM

"It went down immediately," Harwell told officers. "I started swimming for the shore but Dicus could not swim and the water was too rough to help him."

Bob Chambers, a Cosden employe who teaches skin diving at the YMCA and who took part in the diving operations at the lake, said the water was shallow enough for a man to stand up within 50 yards of where the boat went under.

Rescue teams and individuals from many cities of West Texas have taken part in the search since help was requested Sunday afternoon. Chambers, who was at the lake for more than 24 hours, said Sweetwater sent a complete diving crew of eight or 10 men and a 3,000 - pound compresser for divers.

"Colorado City had three men, Snyder sent their rescue team with the city's large rescue boat, portable light plants, and food which Snyder women served," he said. "They had hot coffee, doughnuts, bacon, eggs, and other food.

"Men and equipment came from Tahoka, Lubbock, Alpine, Pecos, Midland, Odessa, and several other places," he continued. Chambers said police and sheriff's officers from Howard, Scurry, and Borden counties, and highway patrolmen, took part in the search, and that firemen were helping around the clock. The Big Spring fire department have three-hour shifts.

MANY DIVERS

"There have been from 30 to 40 divers working off and on since the search started," Chambers said. "At one time the dragging hooks were taken off the lines and three men placed on each line, and pulled by three boats. We covered about 500 yards both ways, and didn't find anything."

Several items carried in the boat were reported found Sunday afternoon, and included fishing tackle and boxes, shoes, blouse, and a half case of drinks. No life jackets or belts were found.

Harwell, suffering from shock, returned to Hobbs for a short time after the accident but was brought back to the scene Monday.

"Halliburton Co. and the Snyder folks have furnished and prepared food," Chambers said Tuesday morning, "but they could use some help."

Big Spring firemen said the temperature of the water would determine the length of time a body would stay submerged.

"That water is cold," Capt. R. T. Hale said Tuesday. "The body might rise at any time now, and it could stay under for 72 hours if not found on the bottom."

Garcia Given Outstanding Award Sunday

Robert Garcia, 31, an employe of the Big Spring State Hospital, has been selected as the "Outstanding Attendant of the Year."

The award was made Sunday at an open house which started Mental Health Week activities. Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent, made the citation.

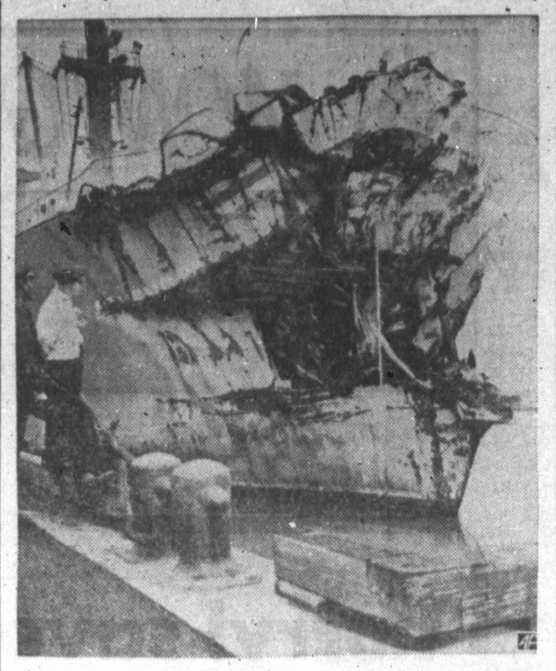

Garcia was recommended for the award on the basis of his ability to work with mental patients, his insight into their problems, ability to gain their confidence, taking pride in his work and working with the rest of the team which is doing the job of curing the mentally ill.

Any attendant at the hospital is eligible for the honor. Selection is made by a committee of staff members who chose the winner from among the persons receiving most votes by fellow workers. This recommendation is then approved by the National Mental Hospital Association.

Garcia is charge attendant on Ward 4. He joined the hospital staff in 1954 shortly after receiving his discharge from the Army. He served in Korea, Japan, Panama and Puerto Rico.

He was born in Mexico and moved to Big Spring when he was one year old. His father, now retired, spent 25 years with the Texas and Pacific Railroad.

Garcia graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College one year. He is married and has one daughter. The family lives at 207 NE 6th.

Gomez Hearing Set Wednesday

Gil Jones, district attorney, is in Houston today to appear Wednesday in the first round of V. A. Gomez' latest effort to get out of the state penitentiary.

This session will be in U.S. District Court before Federal Judge Joe Ingraham. Gomez has filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the U.S. Court and Judge Ingraham has set the case for May 2.

Jones will resist the petition by Gomez, who is now in Huntsville serving a 7-year prison sentence for receiving and concealing stolen property. Gomez seeks a new trial based on the contention that he was deprived of his rights to his own attorney in the case. He was defended by Bill Eyssen, Big Spring attorney, appointed by the court) and that other errors were made in his trial.

Jerry Spence, court reporter and Judge Ralph Caton of the 118th District Court, are also to be witnesses in the hearing in Houston.

However, Judge Ingraham has agreed that at the close of tomorrow's hearing, he will recess the case and then reopen it later to hear Judge Caton.

Judge Caton is now winding up a political campaign for re-election and the federal jurist felt it would be unfair to have him come to the hearing in Houston at this time.

Gomez, who allegedly committed the offense for which he stands convicted in 1957 fled the country.

He has been in the penitentiary since June 21, 1961.

Myers Due Back Today

John Edwin Myers, convicted of murder, will be back in his old cell in the Howard County jail tonight.

Sheriff Miller Harris and Deputy A. G. Mitchell are en route from Rusk with Myers. He is being returned from Cherokee County, where he was tried for murder and assessed the death penalty for a homicide committed in this county.

District Attorney Gil Jones said that Myers is being returned here to await outcome of an appeal filed in his case. He had been taken to Rusk some weeks ago to face trial for the slaying last Sept. 1 of Arthur DeKraal. Now that the trial is over and Myers has appealed his conviction there is no need for Cherokee County to retain him.

Harris and his prisoner were expected back in Big Spring by 5 p.m. Myers had been held in jail here from the date of his arrest until his transfer to Rusk when his case was sent there on a change of venue.

He had 650 head of cattle on the land at the time, he recites, and these animals became excited by the noise and turmoil of the company's mechanical equipment.

As a result, the cattle did not graze. Instead, they chased the motorized equipment and otherwise comported themselves to the end they lost instead of gaining weight.

That is why, Rankin relates, he is entitled to damages from Texas Electric Service Co., in the amount of $4,200.

Candidates List Campaign Costs

LAMESA (SC)—Eleven Dawson County candidates have listed total campaign expenditures of $6,504.85, according to sworn statements filed in the office of the county clerk.

Marines To Form Reserve Division

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marines are about to form their first Reserve division, geared for rapid mobilization if needed to quell a cold war threat.

The Corps told Congress Monday it plans to group about 14,000 Reservists in the 4th Marine Division—the "Fighting 4th" which won two presidential unit citations for extraordinary heroism against the Japanese in World War II.

The major Reserve organization due to begin July 1 also will create a 4th Marine Aircraft Wing to support the division in the event it is ordered to active duty. The wing will number about 5,500 men and will include fighter, transport, helicopter, and service squadrons.

To accomplish this, Marines will shuffle the 45,000 Reservists who train monthly with specific units.

In addition to the nearly 20,000 men assigned to the division and its air wing, some 15,000 will be grouped in support units such as artillery batteries, tank battalions, and transport and engineer companies.

The remaining 6,000 or so men will drill with independent, small units which will be attached to regular Marine divisions or to the 4th Division in a mobilization.

Ten rifle companies are being disbanded, with the men to be assigned to other Marine Reserve units in nearby communities.

Another 155,000 Marine ready Reservists who do not drill with any particular units will remain in the pool to be used as reinforcements or to form new outfits in event of a national emergency.

Police Find Two Bullets In Pillow

Two bullets were recovered from a pillow and mattress in a house at the rear of 806 Johnson shortly after 5 a.m. Tuesday. Both bullets had gone through a window on the south side of the house.

The house is occupied by Rufus Wright, 65, who gave Big Spring police the name of an assailant. The two shots were heard and reported by Jess Smith, post office employe, who lives at 107 E. 9th.

Patrolmen D. W. Day and John B. Scott investigated and found the two holes in the window. They went inside the house and found two holes in a pillow. One bullet had gone into the mattress. Both bullets were found and taken to the police station for evidence.

No arrest had been made Tuesday morning.

Four Accidents Are Reported

No injuries were reported in four accidents investigated by Big Spring police since noon Monday.

Locations of accidents, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: East Third and Benton, Robert Earl Wilson, 2304 Roberts, and Henderson Crockett Jr., 408 N. Aylford; East Fourth and Benton, Robert Warren Allen, 1604 Wren, and William D. Larkey, Aspermont; Wasson Road in front of Toby's Drive In, Sadie N. Wallace, 3804 Connally, and Ewing B. Longest Electric Power Line Completed By TESCO

The longest steel tower electric power transmission line ever built in the Southwest has been put in operation by Texas Electric Service Company between Fort Worth and Odessa.

The line, which is 336 miles long, more firmly links Texas Electric's eight power plants and various major load centers served by the company. One leg of the line passes south of Big Spring.

Announcement of completion was made by Beeman Fisher, president and general manager of the company.

"Construction of this new line is further evidence of Texas Electric's confidence in the continued growth and progress of the North Central and West Texas area we serve," Fisher said.

Construction of the big, new line required nearly 500 carloads of steel and conductor, Fisher said, pointing out that the line was built in the shortest time of any line of its type and size any place in the U.S.

The western terminus of the new power line, which now operates at 138,000 volts but is designed for conversion to 345,000 volts as the use of electric power increases, is near Odessa.

Later the line will interconnect with a 345-000 - volt line to be completed by other Texas power companies in 1964 between the Fort Worth - Dallas area and Houston.

When this connection is completed, the power systems of Texas Power and Light Company, Dallas Power and Light Company, Houston Lighting and Power Company and Texas Electric will be more firmly interconnected to exchange much greater quantities of power during emergency conditions and to achieve maximum economy in providing the electric power generating reserves of each company system, Fisher said.

Car Taken From Lot

Two thefts and two burglaries were investigated by police during the past 24 hours. One included a used car from the McEwen Motor Co. lot. The car was recovered Tuesday morning on US 80 west where it had been abandoned.

A soft drink machine, at the D&J Texaco Station, 901 Gregg, was broken open Monday night and an unknown amount of change taken.

The glass in the front door of Lewis Drive Inn, 800 W. 4th, was broken, the night latch opened, and an undetermined amount of money taken from the music box, pinball machine and cash register. Police said the burglary could have been by a woman as the person entering apparently had small hands.

A bicycle tire was reported stolen at 711 E. 18th, and two hub caps stolen from a car owned by Carl W. Ford, 222 Harding.

Police Make Traffic Survey

LAMESA (SC)—A traffic survey recently conducted by the Lamesa police department turned up 538 signs within the city limits.

Of that number, 272 are stop signs and 87 are other regulatory signs. Approximately 123 fall into a miscellaneous category including no parking, highway markers, city limit markers, signal lights.

The survey also indicated that 56 yield right-of-way signs were counted. All of these, however, will be replaced by stop signs in the near future in an effort to curb accidents.

Suit Alleges Weight Lost

Because his 650 head of beef cattle became excited by motorized equipment being used by the Texas Electric Service Co. in erecting transmission line towers, they lost weight, Walter Rankin, Midland County man, alleges in a suit filed in 118th District Court.

He says that the lost weight resulted in a loss to him of $4,200 and he asks that the TESCO compensate him for that sum. He also alleges that the utility company damaged pasture land on which he had a lease and that he is entitled to $1,950 for this damage.

Rankin recites that he has a lease on Sections 1, 37, 39 and 42, Block 49, Township 1—south, primarily for grazing rights.

He says that on Dec. 12, 1961, he entered into an agreement with others in providing an easement agreement to the defendant utility company permitting it to go on the land and build 11 towers.

Few Precinct Changes Made

A few electors, who have changed their addresses since they were issued their poll tax receipts, showed up at the office of the county tax collector on Monday to have their voting precinct transfer noted. However, there was no grand rush.

Meantime Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax collector, said that her office would continue to make transfer changes on the poll tax rolls until such time as Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, takes the rolls in charge for use in the May 5 primary voting.

When this will be was not certain but it was thought that transfers can be made for electors who have new addresses until Wednesday.

Students To Visit State Hospital

A group of between 90 and 100 students from Abilene schools and colleges were scheduled to arrive at the Big Spring State Hospital this afternoon for a tour and orientation.

The students are taking advantage of afternoon tours offered every day during this week, Mental Health Week.

Included in the group are students from Abilene High School, Cooper High School, Hardin-Simmons University and McMurry College.

Another special event today connected with Mental Health Week was a luncheon meeting for the Big Spring Rotary Club at the hospital. The group met for a noon luncheon and special program in the Ward 8 dining room.

Agent For Seed

Jack Buchanan has been named local agent for the Asgrow Seed Company of Texas for distribution of its hybrid sorghum seeds.

The company has its private fields 100 miles south of San Antonio in a relatively isolated area to reduce the possibility of undesirable pollen sources. The fields also are irrigated to guarantee uniform production, color and size. All the seed is milled and cleaned by modern machinery, and the seed are accurately sized for precision planting. They are also treated with a fungicide and insecticide.

Judge Grants Stay Of Integration Order

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — U. S. District Judge Frank B. Ellis today granted a stay in the order to desegregate the first six grades in New Orleans public schools, pending a hearing next Tuesday.

The New Orleans School Board asked for next week's hearing, filing a motion for a new trial on the decision of former District Judge J. Skelly Wright, the man Ellis replaced on the bench.

Judge Ellis ruled today that:

1. His decision does not affect the original desegration decision of Judge Wright, issued May 16, 1960, a decision which resulted in desegregation on a modified, grade-a-year plan.

2. In granting the stay during the period while he decides on whether to open a new trial on the ruling to desegregate the entire elementary grade system, he is not indicating what his disposition on the motion for a new trial will be.

Ellis replaced Wright in the U.S. District Court when Wright moved up to the Appeals court bench in Washington.

"Pending the hearing and study of a motion for a new trial on matters which this court as constituted is considering for the first time," Ellis' decision said in part, "a stay of the temporary injunction is deemed appropriate. This stay in no way reflects the ultimate disposition of the motion for a new trial."

Judge Wright ordered the desegregation of the first six grades when 100 Negroes complained the desegregation process was too long and did not comply with the original court order to desegregate "with deliberate speed."

Mature Beyond Years

Christine Kaufmann, European actress, headed for stardom, is much more serious than her age would suggest. She doesn't think of age in terms of years; she says age is determined by how much one knows.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

European Teenager Is Promising New Star

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Even in the rough cut of "Taras Bulba," everyone who saw Christine Kaufmann feels she is headed for stardom. This teen-ager, who is part French and part German, is serious beyond her years.

"You can find beauty everywhere, if you look for it," she said when we met for lunch recently. "I feel this includes yourself. There are so many ways to build beauty with your voice, your manners and the way you walk."

Christine's first career was with a ballet company and an opera company in Paris.

"You have to have a lean line to be a ballet dancer," she said in perfect English. "Once you have control of your body, you don't want to lose it. I still take ballet lessons when I can, and I work out alone to keep in shape.

"I think it's very foolish to think about age — the birthday kind," she explained. "It's not important how long you have lived but how much you know. A young person can be more adult than someone who is twice her age but has never matured."

Christine's hair is long and beautiful and when I complimented her, her mother, who was lunching with us, said, "I think hair is a woman's crowning glory. Would you like to know an old French beauty recipe for the hair?

"Marrow," she said. "The kind you find tucked inside a soup bone. Take it out and mash it into your hair. Rub it on your scalp and sleep with it on. If you do not have the time to keep it on all night, at least leave it on a few hours. And then when you wash your hair, it will have a gloss and sheen like never before."

Like Christine Kaufmann, many Hollywood actresses have their own special glamour secrets. In Leaflet M - 96, "Glamour Secrets of the Stars," eleven top stars give their favorite beauty formulas. 'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Here it is May Day and no May basket on the door this morning . . . I wonder if anyone ever takes May baskets around to special friends any more.

My aunt used to tell of making May baskets for her mother. She would fix a small bouquet of flowers to hide a small gift in the bottom of a basket and then hang it on the front door for her mother to find on the morning of May 1.

With the race most mothers find themselves in to get the family off to school and office each morning, they might go into full hysteria if they should find some of the family missing to deliver baskets when they should be readying themselves for the bus or the car pool.

Emeritus Rank To Be Held By Home Ec Head

LUBBOCK—A woman who has given 34 years to training home economics teachers at Texas Tech will retire May 31 with the rank of professor emeritus.

She is Mrs. Vivian Johnson Adams, head of the home economics education department since 1937. She has served on the School of Home Economics' faculty longer than any other person.

"As a faculty member since 1928, Mrs. Adams is one of the persons who have been influential in shaping Texas Tech's rapid growth," said Dr. R. C. Goodwin, president. "We are grateful to her for her leadership in this and for the training she has provided for hundreds of home economics teachers."

Mrs. Adams came to Tech in 1923—three years after the college's founding in 1925. She was the seventh member of the home economics staff at that time and has seen the school's faculty expand to 31 present members.

During her tenure at Tech she pioneered the establishment of home economics student training centers in Texas, with the first one at Slaton.

"Without these teaching centers I feel the growth of home economics education would have been stifled," Mrs. Adams said. "Due to the cooperation, interest and willingness of our area schools, these centers became a reality."

As department head she helped establish the graduate program in home economics education in 1937. Forty-five graduate degrees have been awarded from that department since that time.

Upon her retirement, Mrs. Adams said she plans to keep up with her professional organizations, spend some time with her family and friends and "do a little fishing and gardening."

She also plans some traveling with her semi-retired husband, Otto V. Adams, part-time professor emeritus in civil engineering who was Tech's engineering dean for 17 years.

One of her trips will include attending the tenth congress of the International Federation of Home Economics, which meets in Paris, France, next year. She attended the ninth congress in 1958 at the University of Maryland.

What If? Women Will Not Panic

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

"I 'm not smart enough to know whether we are going to have a nuclear war," says Mrs. Karl F. King, dean of women at the University of Tampa.

"If we should, whoever gets to the pushbotton first is going to win. But if we trust in our country, and in our God, we are not going to panic.

"I don't believe any woman will panic."

The views of Mrs. King, fiftyish, childless, wife of a building contractor, were given in answer to an Associated Press survey of the 1962 mood of women across the country.

INDIVIDUALISTIC WOMEN

Her opinion is not necessarily representative. Women seem to have the troublesome knack of not thinking like each other.

About the only real unanimity is in the hope for peace—in their own time, but especially in their children's.

A mood of optimism and of faith in the future seems to underlie most of the thinking, although no one underestimates the desperate challenges ahead.

Salad Suggestion

Soften cream cheese with a little cream, add a dash of cinnamon and nutmeg; then spread between apple sections. Re-form into half an apple, serve on crisp lettuce. Accompany with toasted muffins.

For Pasta Cookery

Three quarts of water and a tablespoon of salt is right for cooking a half pound of a pasta product.

Sage Seasoning

When you are preparing a meat loaf out of half ground beef and half ground pork, you may use sage as one of the flavorings.

Potato Timing

Add potatoes to a pot roast of beef about 45 minutes before the meat is tender. This timing is for pared medium potatoes.

Refurbish Furniture For Patio And Lawn

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The time for using outdoor furniture is upon us, and we may have been caught napping.

Many a complacent homemaker finds broken and beat-up furniture and cushions in the store room, having forgotten that the plan at the time of storage was to do repairs during the winter.

That's par for the course in most busy homes, judging by letters from readers who seek advice on the many aspects of refurbishing garden furnishings. Little booklets and tags that carried instructions for upkeep of the articles usually were disposed of long ago.

TORN PLASTIC CUSHIONS

There's the hardly used chaise lounge cushion that one reader laments "got tangled up with our family pet in the cellar," and is badly torn. One side is sailcloth, the torn side plastic. Is there anything she can do to patch it, she wants to know.

Plastic materials are available by the yard, and the job is quickly and economically done by covering the entire side, sewing it with an upholstery needle to side seams. Smaller cushions that need covers completely replaced lend themselves to the sewing machine where plastic may be stitched easily. The new cover can be slipped on over the old one if you like. The advantage in covering a side completely instead of patching is that the material does not have to match. Plain white will go with anything.

BATTERED CHAIRS

If furniture has been stacked carelessly, it may be nicked, and these things usually are taken care of easily with a coat of paint. A woman who has "inexpensive pine chairs" wants to "make them look attractive and to withstand the elements for another season.

Most owners of the type of unpainted chair she describes sand arms and seats if needed and then shellac the entire chair. These are durable chairs and do not require too much attention, giving adequate service for small investment.

Painted chairs of western pine need more work, if you'd refinish them, says the experts. Remove the paint by steam cleaning —"inexpensive and more effective than paint remover," they say. Furniture should then be put in a dry, warm place for several days, after which the entire surface of the furniture should be sanded. It can then be painted with outdoor paint as recommended by the paint manufacturer.

Old pine sawbuck tables may be rejuvenated with a coat of shellac and then waxed. If used in the yard, these may be protected against the elements when not in use with an old shower sheet or plastic cover anchored against the wind.

STREAKED REDWOOD

Dark streaks that occur on redwood furniture are caused probably by the combination of iron, wood and moisture, say California redwood experts. When wood is used where moisture is prevalent, aluminum, hot dipped galvanized or stainless steel nails and fastenings should be used, they advise.

If nails were not countersunk when the furniture was put together, they should be. Apply a liberal application of a water repellant, allowing it to flow into the nail holes. After a week or so fill the holes with a non-oily-type filler.

The stains can be removed with oxalic acid solution (four ounces of acid dissolved in one gallon of water). Use a non-metallic container and with a cloth or soft brush, apply solution to an entire board or an area at a time. When the wood dries, rinse with clear water. Be sure to wear rubber gloves and avoid contact with skin or eyes as oxalic acid is poisonous. Leftover solution should be poured down a drain and all containers, cloths and brushes should be washed thoroughly or thrown away for safety's sake.

OTHER FURNITURE

Wicker chairs are scrubbed, dried and painted or sprayed with paint. White and pastel colors are most popular. Metal furniture that has rusted should be cleaned of rust with a stiff-bristled brush. Then apply metal primer to rust spot areas and paint. Enamels do wonders on some metal furniture.

Wrought iron used in more formal settings should be carefully painted. Consult your paint dealer for the proper paint.

Mays, Cepeda Lead S. Francisco Drive

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Slump-ridden Willie Mays has kicked the habit and reformed the National League's No. 1 power combine with Orlando Cepeda for the streaking San Francisco Giants, back on top of the league standings after their sixth consecutive victory.

Both Mays and Cepeda continued their slugging Monday, each tagging a homer to support the four-hit pitching of rookie Gaylord Perry as the Giants knocked off Pittsburgh 4-1 and toppled the Pirates from first place.

Over that span Mays and Cepeda have reactivated the potent 1-2 punch that gave the Giants 86 homers and 265 runs batted in during the 1961 campaign. Mays now has seven homers, tops in the majors, plus 16 RBI, while Cepeda has hit six homers and knocked in 21 runs.

Mays was hitting a woeful .203 until he began to unlimber the big bat that accounted for 40 homers and 123 RBI last year. A 6-for-19 performance, including three homers in the last four games, has pulled him up to .250.

Cepeda, NL slugging king last season with 46 homers and 142 RBI, stepped up the pace when Mays started to connect and has hit at a .444 clip over the last six games, boosting his mark up to .338. He's third in the league in runs batted in.

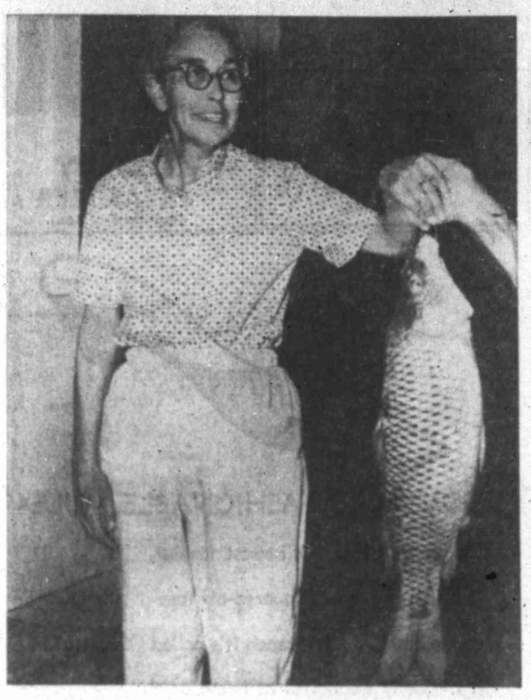

While the Giants were extending their streak, Philadelphia snapped one, beating Milwaukee's Warren Spahn 6-4 for their first victory over the veteran 'eft-hander since May 23, 1959. In the only other other games scheduled. Stan Williams' five-hitter gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 3-1 triumph over Chicago's Cubs.

Mays got the Giants started with a bases-empty homer in the first inning off Vinegar Bend Mizell (1-1). But the Pirates came back to tie it in the second when Don Hoak singled, stole second and came across on Bill Mazeroski's single. San Francisco went back out front in the third when Tom Haller walked, took second on Perry's sacrifice and scored on Mickey Mota's single. Cepeda's two-run homer, after Mays had walked in the fourth, put it out of reach.

Perry (2-0), whose brother Jim pitches for Cleveland, was knocked out in his first major league start, then beat the Pirates to start the Giants' current streak.

Spahn (2-3), trying for the 312th victory of his career, was knocked out in the third when the Phils scored five times on Ruben Amaro's double, singles by Tony Taylor and Tony Gonzalez, plus three walks, including a bases-filled one to Don Demeter. Rookie Jack Hamilton (2-2) won it, with relief help from Jack Baldschun in the ninth.

The Dodgers scored two runs in the fifth to win it, snapping a 21-inning scoreless string when an error by Andre Rodgers let Norm Sherry score and Jim Williams' single drove in Maury Wills. Andy Carey's homer in the sixth gave Williams (1-1) some additional working room.

Oversized Carp

Mrs. Denver Dunn of Big Spring is shown with a huge carp she caught at Lake Colorado City Monday. The fish weighed 15 pounds and she caught it on a rod and reel. The Big Spring woman made the catch below the mouth of Terry's Creek on the west side of the lake. Alma McLaurin and Mrs. Olan Haddock were fishing with Mrs. Dunn at the time.

Yanks On Road For Two Weeks

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If anybody is going to stop the New York Yankees, the time is now. In the next two weeks the world champions will be playing 10 of 15 games on the road, including series with the top contending Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians. Detroit and Baltimore will be mingling strictly with second-division clubs. So will the White Sox and Indians, except for the Yankee series.

In sharp contrast with 1961 when Roy Hamey, the Yanks' general manager, spent hours on the telephone trying to shore up his pitching staff, Hamey is standing pat letting the others do the worrying.

"We're not interested in any trades," said Hamey in New York before leaving for the Chicago series. "I'm not bothering to phone and nobody is calling me."

The collapse of Art Ditmar and the ineffective work of Bob Turley threw such a heavy load on Whitey Ford last May that Manager Ralph Houk reorganized his staff and moved Bill Stafford and Roland Sheldon into the starting routine. This year the rotation of Ford, Terry and Stafford has been enough to handle most of the clubs.

Houk was pleased by Roger Maris' hitting in Washington where he boosted his average 110 points to .262 with 10 hits in 19 at-bats, including three home runs. With Clete Boyer batting .429 and Mickey Mantle averaging .359, Houk is sitting spretty.

The Yanks send Stafford against Juan Pizarro tonight in the opener of a three-game series at Comiskey Park with the White Sox only a half game behind New York. Pizarro worked the series finale at Yankee Stadium last week when the Yanks shocked the White Sox with a winning four-run rally in the ninth inning.

Cleveland, one game back of New York after being knocked out of first place by the Minnesota Twins over the weekend, has a chance to fatten up on Los Angeles and Kansas City and get revenge on the Twins before the Yanks come into town for the first time for four games, May 11-13.

The Indians get another look at Bo Belinsky, the Los Angeles Angels' colorful rookie tonight when Sam McDowell, highly touted Cleveland rookie, gets another start.

Detroit's home run hitters will try to give Jim Bunning a third straight victory in their night game with Kansas City, which has been an April surprise. Jerry Walker, winner of three in a row, will work for Hank Bauer's A's.

It will be Baltimore's turn to try to cool off the Minnesota Twins. Chuck Estrada gets the call against Camilo Pascual, a three-time winner.

Washington, streaking along in reverse with a 2-13 season record, hopes to snap its 13-game losing streak at home against the Boston Red Sox's Gene Conley. Pete Burnside, who has won half of Washington's games (one), will pitch for the Senators. Washington still is seven short of the American League record of 20 consecutive defeats set by Boston in 1906 and tied twice by the old Philadelphia A's.

There were no games in the league Monday.

Amerson Injured In Auto Mishap

LUBBOCK (AP)—An auto accident has put Glen Amerson, defensive halfback of the Philadelphia Eagles, in a hospital. He was reported in fair condition today.

At Methodist Hospital here, it took about 500 stitches to close the wounds Amerson suffered as he was thrown against the windshield.

"It figures to be the best place," said Patterson. "It's a good fight town and can draw, but I'll wait to hear what the other cities have to offer before I make up my mind."

Distance Swimmer Says Her Only Romance Is The Water

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mary Margaret Revell is 24, has a figure like a Las Vegas showgirl, the kind of face they put on magazine covers—and all she wants to do is swim oceans.

"My only romance is the water," the golden-haired girl from Miami said today. "I know some people will be shocked to hear that, but it's true. I won't be happy until I break every long-distance women's swimming record in the book."

Miss Revell is in New York completing arrangements for a summer's bid at what she calls a water marathon "grand slam."

She leaves May 15 for Seville, Spain. First, she'll tackle the Straits of Gibraltar. Then she'll go to Turkey for shots at the Bosporus Straits and the Dardanelles—tests of some 20 miles each.

"I think Florence Chadwick holds the record for these swims," Mary Margaret said. "My first aim is to beat the marks for all of these."

She will return home for a 75-mile swim from Port Huron, Mich., to Detroit in July and then, after a two-week rest, will take off for England where she will try to become the first woman to accomplish a round-trip, non-stop swim of the English Channel.

Mary Margaret, a blue-eyed Irish colleen, is the daughter of a Bakersfield, Calif., dentist, the oldest of five children, all of whom are outstanding swimmers and athletes.

She began swimming when she was 3, got the long-distance "bug" when she was still in high school but didn't do anything about it until she got out of a small California college. Her conquests include the 25-mile Catalina Channel in 11 hours, 50 minutes and the 16-mile Michigan Mackinac Straits in 7½ hours.

She proceeded to incorporate herself as "Mary Margaret Revell Enterprises, Inc."

"It's my business to make physical fitness your pleasure," her card says. She maintains offices in Detroit and Miami. She is her own company president, general manager and public relations agent.

"I'm a fanatic on physical fitness," she said. "I am up every day at 5 a.m. I swim at least four hours daily. I am careful about what I eat. I concentrate on fish and salads — never any meat or naughty things like eclairs or strawberry tarts. I don't smoke or drink.

"I like men. But if they take me out, they have to have me home by 9 p.m. I'm in training —and, as I said, water is my only love."

Steers Host Abilene In 4 P.M. Tussle

Sixth place in District 2-AAAA will be at stake when the Big Spring Steers play host to the Abilene Eagles in a 4 p.m. baseball game today.

Abilene brings a 4-8 record to town. Big Spring is 3-9. The Longhorns, 10-12 on the season, will be playing their final home game today. They close out against San Angelo Saturday.

Dexter Pate probably will go to the mound for Big Spring again today. Pate toiled six innings against Midland last Saturday and lost a heartbreaker, 3-1. He yielded only one hit to the Bulldogs but his wildness in one inning cost him.

Mike Murphy, a sophomore southpaw, will pitch for the Eagles, who are 10-11 for the year.

When the two teams met previously, Abilene made off with a 7-3 victory.

Other Abilene starters, listed with batting averages, are due to be:

Robert Rhame (.300), center field; Don Leveridge (.303), right field; Jimmy Mallon (.403), left field; Gary Williams (.267), catcher; Milton McQuiston (.105), shortstop; Rickey Ellis (.115), second base; Nelson Donahoo (.000), first base; Don Osborne (.222), third base; and Mike Murphy, (.67), pitcher.

Donahoo is new to the lineup. He is a sophomore and replaces senior Phil Brown in the Eagle lineup.

Big Spring is apt to start a lineup consisting of Tommy Young at shortstop, Pate pitching, Jack Irons in left field, Jeff Brown at first base, Coy Mitchell at third, Rickey Wisener in center, Jerry Tucker behind the plate, David Maberry or James Gilbert at second base and Bobby Miears in right field.

In other district games today, San Angelo goes to Abilene to play Cooper, Midland High invades Odessa High and Midland Lee will be at home to Odessa Permian.

Lee trails Odessa by one one game in the standings and could conceivably finish first without a playoff.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Sports dialogue:

JOE LOUIS, the former boxing champion:

"I've got my money on Sonny Liston in his fight with Floyd Patterson. But I could have taken care of Liston back when I was fighting. I think my record will show that I did real well with those kind of fighters. I had my most trouble with the boxers, like Bill Conn. Billy Conn was the toughest man I ever faced. When he fights Patterson, Liston somewhere is gonna catch him, although Floyd has fast hands. Sonny's got the power and I like to go with the puncher."

BILL DeWITT, owner of the Cincinnati Reds:

"There's more to baseball today than bats and balls. Today whenever there's a league meeting every owner has his lawyer with him. Of course, this is good for the legal profession since the fees involved are considerable."

JACK MITCHELL, Kansas University football coach, when asked to compare the Southwest Conference and Big Eight brands of the game:

"The football is very similar. They have the same number of teams, and usually the same number of good teams and mediocre teams, year in and year out. Playing at Colorado is a lot like playing at Texas A & M. It's real hard to win at either place. At Colorado, the altitude is a psychological factor, if nothing else. The Big Eight has a little edge in population for each school's potential. Texas high school football is better than that in the Big Eight states, but not enough to overcome the difference in population potential. There is more chance of having one outstanding team in the Southwest than in the Big Eight because of Texas U. It can be great almost every year."

"If that little bum had quit 31 years ago, I'd be a billionaire today."

"We were just counting up and there have been only two nights since we got here that we (he and his assistant coaches) had gotten to bed before midnight. This doesn't mean we're working hard, but it does show that we've been staying up late."

BILL FURLONG, Chicago scribe:

"The return of Frank Lane — to become front office boss of the Chicago Packers (basketball), as reported several weeks ago—would be the greatest thing to hit Chicago since carbonated pop . . .He is to the grey-flannel meatheads of today's big-time sports scene what fire is to dynamite—which is to say, somewhat unsettling . . . To lure fans into Packer games, Lane would be glad to dribble Maurice Podoloff down the court for a one-handed jump shot, then attack the cloud-shrouded heights of Wilt Chamberlain's knee for a bare-handed stool fight. He's the kind of guy who'd send Howie Carl and a bent paper clip to Boston for Bill Russell and Bob Cousy—and have the Celtics say "thanks" for the privilege."

DARRELL ROYAL, University of Texas football coach:

"Year in, year out, the state school will be on top. I've checked Texas' records for 25 years back. It has an edge. Even when Bear Bryant was at A & M he was 1-3 against Texas. I've coached at the ag schools and it'll give you a complex playing against the state schools. Coming to Texas was the biggest break I ever had as a coach."

Two More Schools Enter Nationals

Two more schools have entered the 1962 National Junior College Track and Field meet, bringing to 31 the number which have indicated they will be here for the May 18-19 meet.

Lastest to come into the fold are Bacone, Okla., where the student body is confined largely to Indians, and Pueblo, Colo.

Other recent entries include Mesa College, Grand Junction, Colo.; Fairbury, Nebraska; Northeastern Oklahoma, Miami, Okla.; and Iola, Kansas.

The fans get a real break in the annual meet, because two of the three sessions will be run at night. The cinder carnival starts on a Friday night and will be wound up on Saturday night.

HCJC, the host school, is the defending champion in the meet and one of the favorites to repeat. The Jayhawks face strong competition from such schools at Phoenix, Arizona; Coffeyville, Kansas; and Hutchinson, Kansas, however.

The American Business Club of Big Spring sponsors the meet jointly with HCJC. The service club is now in the midst of a campaign to sell co-sponsorships in the meet to business men and firms. AFB officers hope to wind up the whirlwind campaign by next Friday.

HCJC is fresh from a sweep of the Western Conference championship at Amarillo. The Jayhawks go this weekend to Roswell, N. M., where they will compete for individual championships within the league.

The Hawks leave Friday morning for Roswell.

City Circuit Begins Play

Play in the Big Spring Softball league formally gets under way at the City Park this evening.

The 7 p.m. game pits Morton's Foods against Anderson Music Company, a team composed of Webb AFB personnel.

Neel's Transfer squares away with the McDaniel Construction Company contingent at 9 p.m.

Cotton Mize will pitch for the Morton troupe while Terry will toss for Anderson's.

Ed King goes to the mound for the Neel's Transfer club while McDaniel Construction's pitcher will be Spec Franklin.

The so-called "fast" league will have the City Park diamond Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week while the "slow" league will confine its play to Friday and the Church league to Monday.

Texas Wouldn't Nix Title Bout

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Texas' boxing director and an official of the Houston Sports Association said Monday night they would welcome a title fight between heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and Sonny Liston.

"We'd like very much to have the Patterson-Liston fight. It would be a big thing for Texas," said Alton Erickson of Austin, the director—and a representative of the National Boxing Association.

New york and California have refused to license Liston because of his background.

"I see no reason to deny Liston a license," Erickson said. He's paid his debt to society.

"Liston has fought here before and I believe he has a license to fight here right now," he said.

Derby Horses Face Crucial Tests Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)— This was the day of decision for eight 3-year-old colts.

Each needed a top performance in the mile of the $15,000-added Derby Trial at Churchill Downs to justify a place in the starting lineup for the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby which will be run for the 88th time Saturday.

It takes $250 to enter a horse in the derby Thursday morning and $1,250 more to start, and some of the owners and trainers of the Derby Trial field have said they are not about to plunk down $1,500 just to see their colors in America's premier horse race.

As it stands, the Kentucky Derby apparently has 13 sure entries headed by the highly regarded pair of C. T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord and Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan. The rest of Saturday's starting field will come from the Derby Trial.

The Derby Trial, from which four winners in the past have gone on to derby fame and riches, has one of the weakest lineups in years. Only two horses—Neil S. McCarthy's Royal Attack and T. A. Grissom's Roman Line—have figured in pre-Derby calculations.

Royal Attack won the Santa Anita Derby but was a disappointing sixth back of Doc Jocoy in the California Derby at Tanforan. Roman Line ran third in last Thursday's 1⅛-mile Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland after taking the seven-furlong Forerunner over the same track.

Others named for the trial include Sharp Count from the Reverie Knoll Farm, Golden Triangle Stable's Mister Pitt, Glenn W. Stevens' Boone Co., J. V. P. Stable's Lee Town, L. J. Knight's Bigger Bonus, and J. C. Pollard's Treasury Note.

"As far as I am concerned, Royal Attack must run a good race in the trial to go back in the Derby," said trainer Buddy Hirsch. "We believe he is a better horse than he showed in the California Derby, but he'll have to show us."

The last horse to win both the Derby Trial and Kentucky Derby was Tim Tam in 1958. The others were Dark Star (1953), Hill Gail (1952), and Citation (1948).

Actually, the second-place finishers have fared better in the big race. Six of them—Lawrin, Whirlaway, Gallahadion, Ponder, Middleground and Determine — used the runner-up honers as the springboard to victory in the first of three races comprising the Triple Crown.

Aggies Get Star

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Gerald Woodard, a 6-foot-3 Kilgore Junior College basketball star, has signed a pre-enrollment scholarship agreement with Texas A&M. He scored 1,248 points in two seasons at Kilgore.

Starlings May Have Caused Plane Crash

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A high-pitched twitter, comparable to the sound of crickets in late summer, may have caused the 1960 crash of an airliner in Boston.

The Federal Aviation Agency's Civil Aeromedical Research Institute here has reached that conclusion after a two-year study of the apparent affinity between starlings and Lockheed Electra aircraft.

The crash Oct. 4, 1960, killed 62 persons. Starlings — small birds that fly in flocks and feast on crickets — were found in the Electra's turbo-prop engines.

It wasn't the first time Electras had been bothered by starlings, the institute said. Several times before the Boston crash, Electras were forced to abort flights because of ingestion of the birds.

After the Boston crash institute researchers began to think there was something in the aircraft engines attracting the starlings, said Dr. Stanley Mohler, director, and researcher John Swearingen in their report.

The whine produced by the aircraft's engines contains a high-pitched twitter that sounds like a swam of crickets, the investigators said.

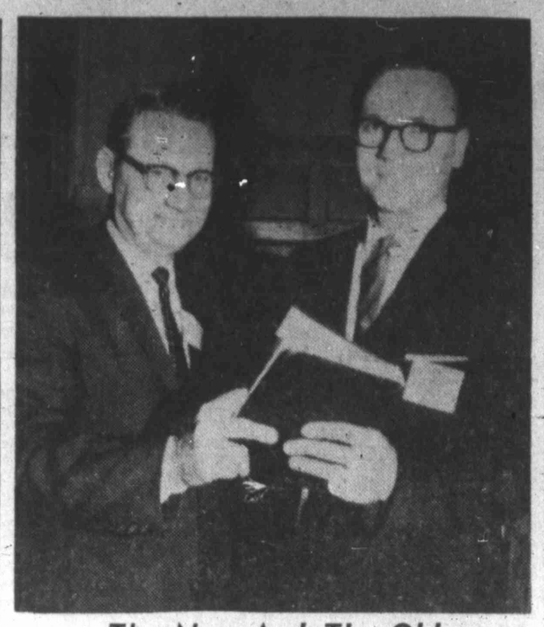

Investigators made tape recordings of cricket sounds and the sounds of various aircraft engines, including the Electra.

The sound frequencies were analyzed on oscilloscopes.

"The only similar sounds were those of the crickets and the Electra engines," report Mohler and Swearingen.

This is the reason, said the researchers, the Starlings flock behind Electras as they taxi prior to takeoff.

Mohler and Swearingen, suggested that changing the number of revolutions per minute in the Electra's engines during takeoff and taxing would eliminate the sound frequency that attracts the birds.

Seven To Join Pythian Lodge

Frontier Lodge No. 43 of the Knights of Pythias is having work in the rank of Page Tuesday evening at Castle Hall.

Dave Hopper, chancellor commander, urged all members to attend the initiation of seven candidates. The meeting is set for 8 o'clock.

To be initiated are Billy Tubb, Larry Tubb, John Thompson, J. C. Tonn, Paul Strickland, J. V. Garrett and Eldon Rouellette.

During the past two months, the Knights have added 15 new members to their ranks.

During the weekend they took two children — a girl, 5, and a boy, 6, from Colorado City to the Pythian Home at Weatherford. The mother of these youngsters was killed recently in a car wreck.

The current issue of Pythian International, the magazine for branches of the lodge here and around the world, contains an article about Hopper and the examples of service set in Pythian work.

Rests After Ordeal

Margaret Elizabeth Smith, 6, rests in a hospital bed at La Marque after she was rescued from Galveston Bay where she had floated for 7 hours following the capsizing of the boat in which she was riding. The bodies of her two younger brothers and a sister were recovered, but her parents and another little boy are missing. Liz and her family and friends were in a 14-foot boat which was capsized by waves from a passing ship. She was found floating in a life jacket by searchers.

Choppy Waves Halt Search For Victims

HOUSTON (AP) — There was doubt today whether boats would be able to get on Galveston Bay to continue a search for three people missing in a Sunday boating accident.

Thunderstorms and gusty winds kicked up whitecaps on the bay during the night.

Galveston County sheriff's officers said there was little hope of finding the two adults and a youngster alive.

Three children of the missing couple drowned. A girl and a 30-year-old man were saved.

The eight, all from Houston, were in a 14-foot boat that capsized about mile off Texas City in a wave raised by a passing ship.

Charles Smith, 35, and his wife, Betty Jo, 26, and Danny Henry, 12, are missing.

Margaret Smith, 10, and Raymond Henry, father of the missing boy, were pulled from the water about four hours after their boat tipped over.

Elizabeth's sister and two brothers—Betty, 4, Charles Jr., 5, and Guy, 18 months—drowned.

Sheriff J. B. Kline of Galveston told the girl Monday night that she is apparently the only surviving member of the family.

She was in a Galveston County hospital. Attendants said Margaret was in good condition after treatment for shock and exposure.

"She understood perfectly what I was telling her but she kept calm and composed," Kline said.

"She is one of the bravest children I've ever seen."

Henry said a wave about five feet high caught the boat while the group was on a pleasure jaunt.

"It just flipped us over, quick," he said.

Three fishermen found him clinging to a gasoline can about 10 miles from the scene. An airplane spotted the girl, who was wearing a lifejacket, and circled until a rescue boat arrived.

Inez Robb Kicked Out

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Syndicated columnist Inez Robb and her husband, Addison Robb, were evicted from a plush Phoenix resort Saturday.

Mrs. Robb called it the "battle of the broiled chicken."

Mrs. Jack Stewart, wife of the owner of the Camelback Inn, admitted being upset over critical comments made by Mrs. Robb about the hotel's chicken dish. She said the move out order was given because the columnist criticized the hotel for providing anti-Communist literature in the rooms but ignoring the Bible.

In her speech to about 80 members of the Arizona Association of Deans of Women, Mrs. Robb said it was the first time she had entered a hotel room and found "the Gospel according to Schwartz as a substitute for the King James version of the Bible."

The literature was supplied by Fred Schwartz' Christian Anti-Communist Crusade.

Mrs. Stewart praised her family as very patriotic, saying: "We have given thousands of dollars to fight the Communists. We have two 'Freedom shelves', of books for our guests. Why, we even have probably the biggest American flag in this area. It's 18 feet by 14 feet."

Russian May Day Is Soft

By The Associated Press

Labor's traditional May Day holiday was celebrated with rallies, speeches and parades on both sides of the Iron Curtain today as police stood guard in Berlin, Buenos Aires, Tokyo and other potential trouble spots.

With Soviet Premier Khrushchev and other top leaders watching from atop Lenin's tomb as usual, the Soviet Union staged one of the least belligerent May Day celebrations ever seen in Moscow's Red Square.

The keynote speech by the Soviet defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, contained only routine attacks on the United States and the usual pledges that the Soviet forces would beat off any attacker.

NOTHING NEW

The military parade of troop carriers, tanks and rockets lasted only nine minutes and there was nothing new for Western military observers to see. While they rolled through Red Square before the 10,000 spectators, the television announcer recited poetry.

The facade of the historical museum, at the end of Red Square, was dominated by a banner calling for "a mighty upsurge in agriculture" instead of the usual "forward to the victory of communism." Badly lagging farm production is the Soviet Union's current No. 1 problem.

After the military parade there came the usual physical culture demonstration and march of the "spontaneous demonstrators."

Malinovsky stressed that the great task of the Soviet Union was to show "the irrefutable advantages of the Socialist system." He said that to achieve this the Soviet Union needed peace and that was the reason for the Leninist principle of peaceful coexistence.

U.S. BLAMED

He claimed that the Soviet Union was doing everything possible to achieve disarmament, a German peace treaty and various other things that might bring peace closer. But he charged that the ruling circles of the Western powers "and in the first place the United States" were putting obstacles in the way of achieving this."

The defense minister said the Soviet Union would do everything to prevent World War III but that under current world conditions "it is logical that the Soviet Union will be vigilantly on guard and do everything for our defense."

An unusual spectator at the Red Square show was Belgium's Queen Mother Elisabeth, in Moscow for the second international Tchaikovsky music competition. It was believed the first time that royalty had attended the big Soviet Communist spectacle.

FIRST ROCKETS

The East German army parade in East Berlin for the first time included rockets. The Communist announcer said they were the same type that shot down Francis Gary Powers' U2 plane and that they were now regular equipment of the East German army.

Tanks, heavy guns, armored cars and goose-stepping soldiers paraded across East Berlin's Marx-Engels Platz for half an hour. The Western allies were expected to protest as usual that the parade violated occupation agreements against German military activity in Berlin.

The parade was reviewed by Walter Ulbricht, the East German chief of state who has just returned from a long cure in Czechoslovakia. With him was long-ailing Premier Otto Grotewohl, making a rare public appearance.

Both Communist and Western authorities in Berlin took steps to head off trouble along the Red wall dividing the city as crowds massed for rival demonstrations.

BARBED WIRE

West Berlin police laid down about a mile of barbed wire to hold back Western crowds from the wall. Police headquarters sent 3,500 men to the scene of a Western demonstration near the Red barrier.

On the eastern side 90 truckloads of men and equipment were reported mobilized at the House of Ministries between the sites of the two demonstrations.

Georgians See Russ Farming

ATLANTA (AP) — A group of Georgia farmers, returning from a 3,000-mile tour through Poland and the Soviet Union, say their counterparts behind the Iron Curtain are 30 to 50 years behind the United States.

The Georgians, who returned home Monday night, said they feel generally that the Russians are making only slight progress in catching up with modern farming methods.

L. W. Eberhardt Jr. of Athens, Ga., assistant director of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, said that while the Russians have "made some progress, they've got a long, long way to go to get anywhere near U.S. production."

Soviet farmers are feeding their own people with enough potatoes, wheat and similar products, Eberhardt said, but they are "so far behind in meat production."

All the group were impressed with the red carpet treatment they were given. Jack Gilchrist of the State Department of Agriculture said, "We Southerners learned something about hospitality."

John Spooner of Donaldsonville said that of the 55 men on the trip there probably would be 55 different reactions. The two things that particularly impressed him were "the wonderful youth program and the high moral standards of the people."

Opposition Arises To 'Splash Days'

GALVESTON (AP)—Managers of two major hotels told Earl Burch, president of the Galveston Convention and Tourist Bureau, that they want "Splash Day" abolished.

Burch, vice president and general manager of Jack Tar Hotel, said a meeting of the executive committee of the bureau will be held later in the week for a discussion of the problem.

"I won't say do away with Splash Days, but have to find some solution to getting the family trade here instead of these roughnecks," he said.

He declined to identify the hotel men who protested.

Some hotels reported damage to facilities. There were no riots this year, as there were last.

Nkrumah, Picasso Get Lenin Prizes

LONDON (AP)—President Kwame Nkrumach of Ghana and Pablo Picasso, the artist, have been awarded Lenin Peace prizes for 1961, the Soviet news agency Tass announced.

Another winner of the Communist equivalent of the Nobel Peace Prize is Istvan Dobi, a former premier of Hungary now president of the parliamentary Presidium in that Communist country.

A prize also went to Faiz Ahmad Faiz of Pakistan, a Communist jailed in 1953 for plotting against the Pakistani government.

Another prize went to Olga Poblete de Espinosa of Chile, described by Tass as a public figure.

CABLE TELEVISION

What is it?

Television as we know it today is hardly more than a dozen years old. In this short time there has been many improvements in the reception of television signals. Among these improvements one method stands out. That is the Community Television Cable System, which provides better reception for an entire community. With this method, a number of TV signals are received by a master antenna and sent over cable to each home in the community. Not only does cable TV offer better reception, but a greater choice of stations. By the use of the finest materials and good engineering, reception on the cable is as trouble-free as possible.

Cable television is much safer than the average home antenna. The family on the cable need not fear the hazards of an antenna toppling over on their roof, lightning damage to home or TV set in a storm.

Big Spring has a growing community TV Cable system. The TV Cable is available in almost all of Big Spring east of Settles Street, and will be available to other areas in the near future. Watch for the cable in your neighborhood and call AM 3-6302 for a three-day free trial. Adv.

Better Off Without It

Ballots of both the Democratic and Republican primaries Saturday will contain a referendum on pari-mutuel betting. While the results will have no official or binding force, the outcome presumably will be regarded as a moral expression from the people to their representatives in the legislature.

Our own feeling is that Texas will be better off without the return of pari-mutuel betting.

We cannot quite equate pari-mutuel wagering with murder, as many opponents seem to do. Any other condition or state of affairs which contributes to a sense of desperation and utter futility could do that.

We will even grant that horse racing is exciting entertainment. Yet, the issue is not entertainment or recreation. It is legalized betting. Today there is nothing to prevent horse racing for sport, but as a pure sport, racing simply can't begin to sustain itself.

Few tourists, as such, are attracted by the prospect of race track betting, although a certain number of out-of-state people may be drawn in. The bulk of tourists in this instance, would be from within the state.

Claims of great tax revenues will not stand the test of analysis. The average nationally is about one per cent of the take. Estimates on yield to Texas is half of one per cent of the total state budget. Costs arising from racing and gambling would more than offset this.

After all is said and one, there can hardly be any argument but that legalized betting on races will encourage it. There is no sound economic logic to support gambling, and certainly no moral defense.

Many Texans honestly believe this would be a good thing and they have a right to their opinion. We do not, however, believe that the chief pressures in favor come from them, but rather from out-of-state interests—organized and powerful—concerned with the fast dollar without conscientious consideration of the ultimate cost. Therefore we hope that Texans will speak in unmistakable terms Saturday on this issue and thus negate it for a long time to come.

Good Investment

This month begins a special emphasis upon the purchase of United States Savings bonds.

The record of support in bond purchases has been commendable and satisfying. It has been a contributing factor in stability of our economy as well as in financing of our national debt and our national defense.

There are two compelling reasons for investment in savings bonds. One is that it represents an investment in the nation's figure because it is an individual expression of confidence in the future of the nation. The other is savings detracts from inflationary pressures because it tends to withhold from the market the purchasing power of unearned dollars.

Those who buy bonds (and the best way is to buy them regularly) have a private stake in the country and they are putting their dollars to work supporting that stake.

Those who buy and keep bonds create a nest egg that contribute to a sense of financial safety if not security. The money is always available for emergency use, or for paying cash to satisfy needs or wants. Meantime, it is earning a respectable return for the investor.

If you don't have a plan for bond purchases, why not make a start on one this month?

The New World's Fair

WASHINGTON — The World's Fair that opened in Seattle last week is the first of a series of fairs already in preparation or hopefully projected for the future. With the perverse tenacity that has marked his long upward climb from the swamp and the jungle, mankind is behaving as though the cold war and the new spiral in the nuclear arms race were no more than another little episode in the ageless conflict of fang and claw.

AMBITIOUS planners are already looking ahead to that great year of 1976 which will mark the beginning of the third century of American independence. Both Philadelphia and Boston are eyeing that 200th birthday and an exposition which might fittingly mark it.

As the hard-pressed developers of the Seattle fair have learned, you cannot begin too early. A week before the Seattle exposition opened this reporter spent several hours tramping around the site to get an idea of the desperate drive to put down the last piece of sod and spray paint on the farthest building in the fun fair. It was that way when the Brussels exposition opened four years ago and the first visitors saw something less than the distinguished display in full panoply by early summer.

IN THE TRADITION of all world's fairs Seattle is offering something for everybody. Music, art, theater, aquatic sports, the exhibits of 38 countries and just plain honky-tonk are all there for the curious visitor with an unquenchable thirst to see and know and feet that are strong enough to take it. And it can be viewed with comfortable detachment from the restaurant on top of the 600-foot space needle.

THE MUSE of history looms large as in St. Louis' Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904 and the Columbian World's Fair in Chicago. The first gleam in Seattle's eye was for a modest Pacific Northwest commemorative exhibit and out of this grew a fair officially designated by the International Bureau of Expositions with the "world" label. A display of the art of the Pacific Northwest Indians includes masks and totems that Captains James Cook and George Vancouver carried away when they made their voyages of exploration in the Pacific in the 18th Century. These objects ended up in European museums from which they are on loan.

THE MOST exciting building — and certain to be the most thronged—is the handsome United States science pavilion. An imaginative and on the whole successful effort — judged by a preopening tour — has been made to dramatize the extraordinary advances of science in recent decades. Young visitors will have a ball with dramatic do-it-yourself displays. It ends by foreshadowing the newest advance, which is the power of science to control human heredity. The final display poses the solemn question of how mankind will use this awesome capacity.

How much or how little and how often the Federal government should come through to support world's fairs is an issue of sharp controversy in the Senate. Seattle got $11,000,00. Sen. Frank Lausche (D., Ohio) vainly opposed an appropriation for New York's upcoming fair in 1964. The city sought $25,000,000, the House appropriated $17,000,000, the Senate $16,000,000.

NEW YORKERS say they intend to come back for a supplemental appropriation next year. Senator Lausche will seek to block it and, what is more, he intends to try to get through an amendment denying to the President the power to authorize Federal participation in fairs held in this county. Lausche suspects that other fairs will pop up and a new form of logrolling will come into being as Senators from various regions support one another's claims. Long Beach, California, is projecting a "Planet of Man" fair for 1966.

New York has been denied the "world" label of the Bureau of International Expositions because it comes too close to Seattle. For that reason there has been difficulty in getting official governmental participation. But the Soviet Union has made a firm commitment for 78,000 square feet of space, the largest of any international exhibitor, with the prospect of a display costing up to $20,000,000.

THE RUSSIANS announced the other day, however, that they were cancelling the fair they had projected for 1967 and for which they had been given official approval by the international bureau. The reason stated was that it would come too close to New York. An effort will be made, the Tass announcement said, to settle on a later year. Moscow may be concerned, too, about the added hotel and restaurant accommodations essential to a fair drawing big crowds.

"How different did our globe look ten thousand years ago when that sound started its long voyage?" President Kennedy asked as he opened the Seattle fair by relaying a radio signal from the star Cassiopeia A. "We hope that the life which starts from that star today—and ten thousand years later arrives here—will see a happy and peaceful world."

WORLD'S FAIRS are no guarantee of peace. Flushing Meadows was a dreary place as the New York fair of 1939 lingered into September with the echo of the guns of the second World War coming across the water. But the plans being generated are nevertheless touching evidence of confidence in the future.

Being Friendly Isn't Going Soft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever since President Kennedy got mad at the steel industry and made it call off a price increase, he's been telling business he's not mad at it.

And maybe he isn't. His shake-hands - and - let - bygones - be - bygones approach is even considered "conciliatory" by Richard Wagner, outgoing president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

But there's a difference between being friendly and turning soft or backing up.

Kennedy has given no assurance to labor or business—if they try to push up wages or prices—that he won't use a club again. He has left them guessing, which seems to be precisely what he wants to do.

THIS IS GOING to make the weeks ahead acutely interesting. Labor - management settlements are coming up in various industries, such as aluminum, rails, aircraft and missiles.

Kennedy's main theme in talking pleasantly to and about business—labor hasn't created a crisis for him yet—is that government, business and labor must get along and all have a responsibility for preventing inflation and keeping the economy even.

Beyond that he hasn't gone. He put it this way to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Monday: "I have been impressed that all the segments, including the national government, must operate responsibly in terms of each other, or the balance which sustains the general welfare will be lost."

HE ADDED A sentence which can be interpreted as a warning, just in case once again he has to throw the influence of his office against some action of labor or business.

"We have many burdens in Washington—we do not want the added burden of determining individual prices for individual products."

He left unsaid what power he might try to use—other than the denunciation, persuasion and threat of antitrust action he used in steel—if business again tries to puncture the inflation rim—or if labor tries.

There's no peacetime law giving him authority to hold down prices or wages. But, while many in business resent his intrusion in the steel case, no one is publicly talking of trying to test him or frustrate him.

THE FRIENDLY attitude of the post-steel Kennedy toward business in general is the same attitude he has continually employed as a politician in a broad field of dealing with people when, apparently, he feels he has nothing to gain by showing anger.

For example, he has suffered a number of frustrations in Congress, particularly from some of his own Southern Democrats. He could tear into his opposition on any given issue on which he has been blocked.

But there are many pieces of legislation he wants passed. And men who work against him today for some special reason of their own will be working for him tomorrow on something else if he doesn't antagonize them.

You'll notice that Kennedy has done very little antagonizing since he took office. It's not that he's not capable of anger. He showed he was in the steel case.

In short: he's a cool politician who doesn't seem to get angry unless it's useful.

Your Years Showing?

NEW YORK (AP) — Your golden years are showing if you can remember when:

A father didn't have to work his son's way through college. The boy did most of it himself.

The only sure way to find out the exact time was to go down to the depot when the evening train came in and ask the conductor.

The best biscuits ever made were cooked on a coal stove.

One of the chores every motor car owner hated was buttoning up the isinglass curtains on his auto during a frigid spell. There was always a crack that let the wind in wherever you sat.

In winter you didn't need a thermometer to know the temperature. You could always tell how cold it was by how far the frozen cream stuck up out of the bottle the milkman left at the door.

The biggest juvenile hero was the kid who could race downhill on his bike without holding on to the handlebars.

You could tell how poor a city neighborhood was by counting the number of pawnshops.

The prize possession of every girl in the land under 20 was a cedar-lined hope chest in which she collected linens for her future home.

The only salad in most homes, year in and year out, was cole slaw.

Most Roman Catholic families had only two dinner choices on Friday night—canned salmon loaf or macaroni and cheese.

The greatest ordeal a small boy faced was to be ordered by his mother to go out and cut a switch off the peach tree himself — when he knew it would be used to give him a whipping.

Vitamins came in foods — not bottles.

You could always tell a low-class saloon by the fact that it never kept its brass cuspidors brightly polished.

An old maid was any woman over 30 who lived by herself and kept a cat.

The biggest tomboy in grammar school teased her male playmates by snatching off their caps and hiding them in the knees of her bloomers.

The greatest anguish on earth was to stub your toe on a rock while running barefoot in summer.

A man who bought a suit with only one pair of pants was regarded either as a spendthrift or a showoff.

The girl whose front porch was adjacent to a bright street light usually got married later than girls who spooned on darker porches farther down the block.

Children were warned that if they swallowed watermelon seeds they would get appendicitis, or vines would grow out of their ears.

Something About Cholesterol In Blood

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

(Second of a two-part series)

Cholesterol is one of a number of forms of fat appearing in the blood. Even if we ate no cholesterol in our food, our bodies would manufacture it. Rabbits manufacture it from lettuce, carrots or other cholesterol-free foods. So would we.

Eggs, cheese and milk contain cholesterol, but only a small amount of what we ingest from these foods is retained by the system. The rest is used up as energy.

Most of our blood cholesterol comes from the so-called saturated fats we eat, and this means, essentially, solid fats, as fat meat, lard, or other animal fats which are solid at room temperature.

There is evidence that blood fats have some relationship to hardening of the arteries and hence to coronary heart attacks. But they are not the sole cause. Besides, it takes years for the arteries to harden, and becoming suddenly concerned over cholesterol when a heart attack occurs is too much like locking the bar after the horse has been stolen. The damage has been done.

We have no proof that hardened arteries can be corrected by reducing blood fats. Therefore I see no prospect of benefit from suddenly trying to avoid cholesterol at this stage.

I think it logical to avoid overindulgence in these solid (or saturated) fats under such circumstances, and in any event it will help keep our weight down, which is important.

Second, reducing saturated fats, with a corresponding increase in the "poly-unsaturated fatty acids," meaning corn, olive, safflower or other vegetable or fish oils, tends to lower the blood fats, and particularly the cholesterol in the blood. But what this will do to a damaged coronary artery is not known. Whether it helps at all, or whether it prevents further hardening, is something we cannot say. I assume that it may retard further damage and can do no harm. In short, the poly-unsaturated fats are not in any sense "medicine."

I question whether fretting about cholesterol is of benefit to the average person. Rather, I suspect that many of us have fallen into the habit of eating more animal fats than we need—and we will do well to cut them down and substitute vegetable fats. We need some fat in the diet.

When we've had a heart attack at the age of 50 or so, I suspect that it is futile to try some drastic diet, or begin eating foods that are advertised to contain a special kind of oil.

But remember that it takes years for arteries to harden, so we all might well begin being moderate (but not fanatical) at the age of 25, taking it a bit easy on the solid animal fats and learning to substitute poly-unsaturates.

This should, in particular, be true for those with a strong family history of high blood pressure, coronary attacks or strokes. I wouldn't worry about reasonable amounts of eggs, cheese, etc.

We have to keep our heads and remember that some people who have eaten tremendous amounts of animal fats all through their lives are hale and strong. Diet is important; it's not everything, though.

Around The Rim

The Travail Of Bright Ideas

In the intervals between Tuesdays, a lot of ideas pop into my head which are ideal fodder to use for articles in this space.

"That'll be a swell subject for a Tuesday 'Rim,'" I tell myself. And I pledge my memory to keep the idea at hand where I can get at it when the time to write arrives.

And then, when Monday rolls around (I usually delay writing this thing until the last possible minute) I sit myself down and begin cudgeling my brain for subject matter.

"WHAT," I demand of my faltering memory, "was that topic I was going to write about?" Only a gray blankness answers me.

I frequently resolve, since this is certainly no new experience, that I will jot down a memorandum in my notebook of these magnificent ideas. Trouble seems to be, when one of the brilliant flashes strikes me I am some place where the notebook is far away. Or I do not have a pencil handy. Or I'm just too doggone sorry to get up from my comfy position and write down the idea.

Anyway, these fine ideas get away and I do not have them at hand when I need them.

I USED TO HAVE some of the finest of literary inspirations in the few minutes from the time I turn out the light until I drop off to sleep. These were tremendous ideas—material which I felt, at the time, could be developed into columns, or perhaps into short stories. I could sell these gems, I told myself, and get filthy rich.

Generally the same thing followed that has with my choicy ideas for a column like this. I just went off to sleep and forgot whatever it was I had cooked up just before I fell into the hands of the old Sandman.

I DO REMEMBER, though, two or three times that the big idea was still around the next morning. I picked the thing up, took a long look at it, turning it over and over. The upshot was that it didn't glisten nearly so brightly as I had thought. When I tried to put it into words and put the words together, the shebang wasn't nearly as brilliant as I had thought.

At any rate, none of the bright ideas turned into best-sellers or anything like that.

I did write a little piece in the paper about the difficulty I had keeping the fine ideas I had in hand. I went over the various things that I might do to insure the idea would be there the next morning—including the idea of putting a pad and pencil at the bedside. When the big idea struck I would pick up the pad and scribble down enough salient facts to remind me next day.

BUT THERE WERE faults in this plan. First of all I would have to turn on the light. Next, being about two-thirds blind without my spectacles, I'd have to put them on. Then I would probably find I had forgotten to bring the pad and pencil to the bedstand. That would mean I'd have to get up and find them.

By the time I had all of these preliminaries out of the way I am sure I would have forgotten what the big bright idea was in the first place.

Furthermore, by the time I had these chores out of the way, the idea probably wouldn't have been worth jotting down anyway. —SAM BLACKBURN

The Public Is Happy!

Now that the dust has settled, it is readily apparent that the Presidential use of executive thunder to roll back the steel price rise ain't makin' anybody happy but us chickens.

In this case, us chickens can be interpreted as John Q. Public or that long-suffering, faceless pigeon in the power struggle between capital and labor, the punch-drunk consumer.

VARIOUS POLLS report that President Kennedy's popularity has never been so high as since his victorious run-in with steel. Members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, meeting in New York last week, affirmed such reports.

The President's declaration, at the time of the steel crisis, that a third force, the public interest, took primacy over both business and labor apparently seemed a sound, sane and long-overdue statement of common sense to millions of Americans.

AFTER ALL, we are accustomed to hear "the public interest" mentioned favorably by public speakers and all classes of politicians. Scant wonder if we have come to think of it as important, even if more honored in the breach than in the observance when the titans, business and labor, do battle.

However, within the past 10 days, at least one segment of the country has discovered that there is, after all, something a little sinister, even threatening, about the public interest. I read this anguished pitch in a number of business publications to which Chez Robb subscribes as an aid to increasing the stake in capitalism it has been able to muster over the years by dint of honest toil and a foxy Wall Street broker.

ON JAN. 20, 1961, such publications started out with the thesis that a Democratic Administration is the ruin of the country, i.e., the ruin of business, and have gone on from there ever since. Honestly, I don't see how they have the bravery to face up to their mournful task day after day, week after week!

Not since Jan. 20, 1961, have the business publications been so anguished as since the steel hassle. They cannot come right out and attack the public interest (although you can be pretty certain that if Kennedy is fer it, they're agin it!). That would put them in almost as bad a public-relations light as U.S. Steel.

BUT WHAT THEY are doing is subtly demonstrating what a sinister first step "public interest" can be to national price control," if not the first fatal move toward fascism. These publications are trying to warn us not to be mislead by any highty - tighty phrase such as "public interest."

Oh, yes, and there is a lot of editorializing about Mr. Kennedy declaring war on business, although the publications that speak for business tossed down the glove in January, 1961. It makes an industrious reader of the business press wonder who declared war on whom, and who fired the first blockbuster.

It must drive the respective editors to the brink to realize that with no one but us chickens liking the steel price rollback, they may have to put up with this situation through 1968.

Bobby Looks At Washington Crime

First of a two-part series

WASHINGTON — "The Federal Government will have to take more responsibility for crime in the District of Columbia," Attorney General Robert Kennedy told this reporter in an exclusive interview. Kennedy continued:

"I have been shown figures to prove that street crimes in Washington are not as bad as in other cities. But whether or not that is true, the situation here in the national capital is a reflection on the whole country. The Federal Government must do something. I don't know what. I don't have the answers—but I'm looking for them."

THIS IS, I believe, the first time the Attorney General has aimed his powers at crime-busting in the capital city. He was responding to questions which I prefaced by reminding him that Federal troops had been brought in to clear the snow-bound streets of Washington last Inaugural Day. He nodded agreement when I suggested that the Government's power in the Federal City is virtually limitless, and that the American public would certainly approve of removing criminals as well as snow drifts.

THE SUBJECT was one of many on which Robert Kennedy spoke freely in a talk that began in his Justice Department office and was continued as we drove through Washington in his official limousine. He talked of his fight against Organized Crime, of the FBI's recent after-midnight telephone quiz of newspapermen, of possible "collusion" in steel pricing, of business "climate" in general.

This valuable interview was given to a columnist who, although a Kennedy well-wisher, has never spared the rod on any member of that high-riding family. All these matters were generously discussed by the Attorney General, probably as busy, as powerful, as knowledgeable a figure as the country holds outside the White House.

THE COUNTRY, therefore, ought to hear all manner of opinions about the man. My own opinion is that Bob Kennedy, regardless of his years, has become a man of ultimate maturity. I mean by this that he treats high office with high seriousness, yet is impervious to the infections of vanity and pomposity which lay low so many lesser men in lesser posts.

Kennedy is no longer a man to shoot from the hip at any problem. He talked of Washington crime without running down the beautiful city, criticizing its bedevilled Commissioners, or blaming its outnumbered metropolitan police force. He spoke of stiffening some officials' backbones by "putting a little iron there," but he dismissed a proposal to arm the city's bus drivers, whose vehicles have suffered a number of stick-ups. Since ninety per cent of the crime is committed by Negroes, Kennedy is asking questions of his subordinates about school drop-outs, juvenile offenses and involuntary unemployment among the Negro population.

THE SOLUTIONS which he finds in these sociological fields will not be immediate or dramatic. If they work at all, it will be over a term of years.

The Attorney General also takes the long view and the patient approach toward Organized Crime, which is almost a hidden government in this nation. New laws and tighter teamwork among the many law-enforcing agencies of the nation, States and municipalities have enabled the Justice Department to padlock numerous bookie shops and other gyp joints where criminal gangs obtained ill-got revenue with which to finance even worse enterprises. A number of indictments and convictions have resulted in Kennedy's war on crime, but he claims no conclusive victories.

"HAVE ANOTHER look at the situation in five or six years," he says. "Then you can say whether or not we are succeeding."

Somehow, slow - and - steady does not seem the way of a Kennedy. Too many master criminals are at large. Too many hoodlums terrorize our streets. The law's delays seem to benefit public enemies. The fast gun is drawn upon such minorities as Steel magnates and Southern whites.

But the country did not fall very recently into these wretched fixes — and it will not be rescued very soon. The tendency to underrate Kennedys has nearly always been a mistake. The Attorney General is still in his early innings.

Art At The Speling Bea

MEMPHIS (AP)—A high school art class prepared the banners to be worn by contestants in the Shelby County spelling bee and were justly proud of the 122 neatly lettered labels.

But students of Scenic Hills Elementary School may have trouble recognizing their representative. His banner reads "Senic Hills."

New Voting Booths Get Assignments

Thirty of the county's 54 new voting booths are to be placed in the three Big Spring voting precincts which have the largest potential vote for Saturday's primary.

Frank Hardesty said there would be 10 booths at Precinct No. 2, Washington Place School; No. 3, Main Street Fire Station; and No. 4, City Hall. Seven booths are to be provided for Precinct 16 at Park Hill School; five each at No. 1, Northside Fire Station; No. 8, West Ward School, and No. 15, Runnels Junior High.

The remaining two booths are to be put in service in Coahoma's one precinct—No. 9.

Hardesty said that in recently published lists of election judges to serve in the several precincts, the judges named were those who are to serve in the county general elections of next November. He said that these judges are appointed by the county commissioners.

The County Democratic Committee named the judges who serve at the primary elections and in some cases there is a variation from the officials named by the county commissioners for the November voting.

He listed several examples—the judge in Big Spring No. 1 box will be Wesley Yates for the primary election and Rufus Davidson for the general election. At Vincent, Precinct No. 5, James C. Barr will be judge. The county commissioners named Willis Winters to serve in that box for the general election but he has since died.

Hezzie Reed will be judge at Coahoma Precinct 9. In Box. No. 13, Knott, primary judge will be Donald Allred. W. D. Berry will be judge in Big Spring Precinct 16.

Sue Broughton will head up the primary election special canvassing board.

Other primary election judges are the same as those who will serve in the fall general election.

They are: Precinct No. 2, Mrs. Buel Fox; No. 3, George Melear; No. 4, S. P. Jones; No. 6, O. R. Crow; No. 7, H. C. Reid; No. 8, L. R. Mundt; No. 10, Mrs. John Kubecka; No. 11, E. L. Bynum; No. 12, Edgar Phillips; No. 14, Robert Merrick; No. 15, Avery Deel.

Hardesty said ample election supplies will be provided all voting boxes to cope with any turnout of voters which may develop.

"I expect a big vote," said Hardesty. "The absentee vote tends to bear out my prediction. We will have plenty of ballots for any contingency."

The Howard County Clerk's office will begin preparing the boxes at once and election judges will take charge of the boxes and supplies by Friday. Polls open at 8 a.m. Saturday and remain open until 7 p.m.

Co-Op Holds Annual Meet, Bishop Stays

Paul Bishop, manager of the Howard County Co-Op gins has been re-employed in the same capacity he has served for the past five years.

He was re-hired Saturday following the annual meeting of the Co-Op on Friday night at the Howard County fair grounds. About 200 members of the Co-Op were on hand for the annual election. A barbecue dinner preceded the business meeting.

Ross Hill, Elbow, was re-elected president; Jack Buchanan, Luther, re-elected vice president; and Lindell Newton, Big Spring, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Leonard Hansen, Fairview, was elected as a new member of the board of directors, replacing Richard Neill, who has resigned from the board. B. M. Newton, Moore, was re-elected as a director.

Holdover members on the board are H. E. Tubbs, who lives west of town, and Walker Bailey, Big Spring.

Two special guests at the meeting were Dan Davis, with the Plains Cotton Marketing Association, Lubbock, and R. L. McClung, manager of the Hamlin Co-Op Oil Mill.

Davis told the group that his organization handled a record breaking 822,000 bales of cotton in 1961.

Texas Publisher Named To Peace Corps Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millard Cope, publisher of the Marshall News Messenger in East Texas, was appointed to the national advisory council for the Peace Corps Monday by President Kennedy.

Cope also is a member of the board of directors of The Associated Press and an executive of Harte, Hanks & Co. which has affiliations with eight Texas newspapers. He is 57.

In 1959 Cope received a medal from the University of Missouri school of journalism for distinguished service to journalism. He is a former president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association.

Cope likewise is a member of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the Texas Historical Survey Commission and the Texas Commission on Higher Education.

Joseph Kennedy First Occupant

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's father, has become the first occupant of a specially designed house at New York University's Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Kennedy, 73, suffered a stroke last Dec. 19 and arrived here Sunday from Florida for rehabilitation treatment. He underwent a preliminary examination Monday.

The special house, a ranch-type model called "Horizon House," was designed to accommodate patients who are elderly or confined to wheelchairs. It allows visits by relatives without disturbing routine of the institute.

Man Who Beat Chair Files Damage Suit

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who was only hours away from death in the electric chair a quarter century ago has filed a $1-million damage claim against New York City.

Isadore Zimmerman, now 42, claims he was wrongfully convicted and imprisoned for 24 years, including a 9-month period when he was "enveloped by the icy chill of death" while awaiting execution.

Zimmerman was only 18 when he and five other men were convicted and imprisoned for 24 tive during a 1937 Manhattan holdup. They were sentenced to death.

Zimmerman spent nine months in Sing Sing Prison's death house.

Seven hours before his date with the electric chair, Zimmerman won executive clemency from the then Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, and his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

Four of the men convicted with him were executed. The fifth also had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

During his years in prison Zimmerman steadfastly maintained his innocence. He contended that a key prosecution witness lied in pre-trial examinations and that the prosecution suppressed that fact.

Last January, an appellate court ruled that the alleged suppression had prejudiced Zimmerman's right to a fair trial and ordered a new one.

The following month, on petition of his attorneys, General Sessions Court dismissed the original indictment, and Zimmerman went free.

Red Secrecy Key To Ban, Rusk Notes

LONDON (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has warned the East-West arms race cannot be ended unless and until Soviet Union abandons its obsession on secrecy. He spoke at the opening ministerial session of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO).

"The Soviet Union has, thus far, been unwilling to agree to an effective treaty banning all nuclear testing," Rusk said. "In the circumstances, the United States has had no choice but to assume its responsibility to look to the common defense and conduct a limited series of atmospheric nuclear tests."

Rush then added: "Secrecy and disarmament are incompatible."

Rusk assured America's friends in CENTO that the United States would go on working with them to insure the defense and stability of the Middle East against continued threat of Communist aggression.

CENTO consists of Pakistan, Iran, Turkey and Britain. The United States takes part in its work as an associate member. The alliance grew out of the Baghdad Pact.

Pakistan, with the support of Iran and Turkey, has been urging the United States to play a bigger role in Middle East defense, possibly by changing its associate membership to full membership. Those nations also have been pressing for an American general to be commander of the CENTO planning staff, but neither the Americans nor the British like the idea.

Foreign Minister Abbas Aram of Iran urged the United States and Britain to pay greater attention to the economic needs of the regional members of the alliance—mainly by providing more help.

Neither Defense Minister K. M. Sheikh of Pakistan nor Foreign Minister Feridum Cemal Erkin of Turkey in their speeches mentioned a desire for the United States to take a larger role.

Rusk assured the ministers the United States is interested in cooperating with its friends around the globe in preserving common standards and interests.

The U.S. secretary's visit to London is the first of a series that will take him almost around the world.

He goes next to Athens for a meeting of the foreign ministers council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Then he will fly to Australia to confer with U.S. partners in the Australian-New Zealand treaty.

Scientists Have Much To Learn About Fallout

EDITOR'S NOTE — As the fallout from last fall's series of Soviet tests enters its heaviest period of descent around the globe, the United States begins its response in the Pacific. Is this contest in nuclear development polluting the world's atmosphere, or are the hazards of testing often exaggerated? This is the first of three articles.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—The controversy over radioactive fallout from nuclear tests is boiling again.

It finds many intelligent citizens confused and puzzled, especially over the disagreements among scientists.

A few say test fallout doesn't hurt humans at all.

Many experts say there possibly or probably are some effects but so small they can never be measured.

HOW MANY WILL DIE?

Another says the fallout from the new U.S. test series alone might cause 300,000 persons to die early. He quickly adds a vital qualification—that this would happen during the next 2,000 years. This would average to 150 a year among the billions of humans who would be born in 2,000 years.

Other scientists put the toll from cumulative fallout far higher.

Well, the citizen may ask, who's right? Why don't scientists agree? Don't they know?

Frankly, they don't know for sure.

They can only make highly educated guesses based on indirect evidence. The fallout controversy is highly colored with emotional, humanitarian, military and political considerations.

REAL PROBLEM

To some observers, it is a side issue to the real problem: How can the world avoid nuclear war? Does testing make war more or less likely?

The fallout issue cannot be neatly resolved like a mathematical equation to everyone's satisfaction.

For scientists aren't postive yet whether the radiation from fallout admittedly small, really harms human heredity and health, or how little radiation it takes to do so.

The scientific uncertainty does not stem from lack of trying to find these answers.

Here at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, for instance, Dr. William L. Russell and associates have analyzed one million mice since 1950 for clues or principles concerning the effects low-level, chronic radiation might have on human heredity.

GRAND HOTEL

At any one time, Dr. Russell usually has 100,000 mice living in a grand mouse hotel, exposing some to radiation, then comparing them with other mice. It costs half a cent per week to feed each mouse. The total budget in these genetic studies runs about $500,000 a year.

This is but one of scores of experiments and studies here and abroad to assess human effects from radiation.

Human volunteers can't be used. Just one impracticality is that such experiments would take several 20-year generations or longer to detect any effects. Even then there could be doubts whether the effects truly came from fallout amounts of radiation, or from other causes.

But scientists do have some guideposts to help the citizen get some perspective in the fallout argument.

QUICKLY DEADLY

First, they are not talking about the very heavy, immediate kind of fallout which would come if bombs blew up cities. That rain of radiation could be quickly deadly, without shelter.

The concern is with tests which throw radioactive atoms high into the air, to settle down slowly. They disperse widely. Some last or stay hot for many years. They do get into people.

Secondly, human bodies have always been unavoidably a bit radioactive, since life began.

This is caused by natural or background radiation. It comes from radioactive carbon in the air and in food, and radioactive potassium in food. Atoms of uranium, thorium and radium in the ground, in rocks, in bricks and concrete buildings, are always shooting some radiation at you.

COSMIC RAYS

About 1,000 cosmic rays per minute strike the average human at sea level—and 2,000 per minute if you live at mile-high altitude.

All this natural radiation gives us, on the average, a dose of about 3 to 4 roentgens (units of radiation) in 30 years. That's equal to about 12 to 16 highly efficient chest X-rays.

Thirdly, all the radiation from fallout from all tests thus far has increased this exposure by about 5 per cent, on the average, most experts agree.

So—if fallout is doing anything to human inheritance, it is doing only a little more this way than the radiation which has always existed.

CRUCIAL QUESTIONS

Crucial questions therefore involve the human effects produced by natural radiation, the added radiation from fallout, plus special effects, if any, from peculiar types of atmos in fallout.

Many scientists are working diligently to answer these points with better estimates than they now can make.

Wednesday: One million mice.

More On Race Tracks

To the Editor:

The gilt-edged promises of the endless pleasures and benefits that race track gambling will bring to all of us takes me back to childhood days and the little verse: "Won't you come into my parlor?" I hope our voters on May 5 will give an overwhelming "thank you, no" to the skin game professionals who would like to lure us to their race track.

Sincerely,
G. C. RAGSDALE

To the Editor:

It has been 25 years since Gov. Jimmy Allred called a special session of the Legislature to outlaw race track gambling in Texas.

Now the racetrack crowd is trying to bring it back by vote in the May 5 primary. They figure, I suppose, that a lot of folk who lost their shirts at the racetracks in the 30's have had time to earn and save enough to make it worthwhile coming back for — and enough time to forget.

But many haven't regained or forgot; businesses went bankrupt, bills unpaid, homes were lost, etc. But losses were not all dollars and cents. Divorces soared, homes were broken, and there were embezzlements and suicides. Twenty-five years—or a lifetime — aren't enough to recoup or forget such losses.

To the Editor:

People who want race track gambling claim it would make jobs at the track. The truth is that the ticket sellers and attendants travel around the racing circuit. Only a handful of people get jobs for a month or two, most of them then go on relief for the rest of the year. It all adds up to more taxes for us to pay. The professionals take most of the money out of our state.

Yours truly,
U. E. DICKENS

Wide Rains Improve Land But W. Texas Still Thirsty

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Rains improved the moisture situation but wide sections of West Texas got no needed moisture, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, last week.

Soil temperatures have been rising and cotton planting has started in the South Plains. Most counties in dry South and Southwest Texas got some rain, Hutchinson said.

Here were the reports from district agents:

A shortage of moisture hampered wheat in the Panhandle. Insects caused some damage.

Soil temperature has averaged 60 degrees at 8 inches for 10 days at Lubbock. Most dryland will need more rain before cotton can be planted. Irrigated wheat is good but dryland wheat needs rain.

All counties in the Rolling Plains (Vernon) need rain for grain. High winds dried surface moisture. Early wheat is heading and grain sorghum planting is on. Only limited acreages of cotton have been planted.

Good rains over North Central Texas delayed field work. Cotton planting will be resumed when fields dry.

Moisture is surplus in Northeast Texas. Oats are heading and legumes made rapid growth. Some corn and about half of the watermelon acreage have been planted.

A general rain is needed in far West Texas where livestock are still fed except in the more favored areas. Cotton planting is on and irrigated grain is in excellent condition.

Ranges have greened up and look good but more moisture is needed in Central West Texas. Feeding has stopped in most areas but many grain fields are being grazed out because the moisture came too late to produce a crop.

General light rains in Central Texas left needed moisture. Oats are heading but prospects were only fair. Sorghum and corn in eastern counties are large enough for cultivation. Early cotton is up and planting is continuing.

Moisture is short in most East Texas counties but corn, tomatoes and watermelons are making good growth.

Moisture is ample and corn and sorghum are growing on the coast. Rice planting is continuing with some good stands. Rains have delayed field work.

Good rains fell over south central counties and will greatly benefit sorghums and cotton. The moisture will also permit more cotton and peanut planting.

All counties in South Texas received some rain. Onions, potatoes, squash and carrots are being harvested.

Brunettes Push Blondes Aside

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Due in large part to Oscar-winner Sophia Loren and husband-loser Elizabeth Taylor, the brunette is displacing the blonde as the world's sex symbol.

So says a Hollywood hair-style expert, who also credits Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy with aiding the rise of the brunette as the epitome of beauty.

"This triumvirate — Loren, Liz and Mrs. Kennedy—has had such an impact on the worlds press that blondes cannot compete," commented Mr. Albert. "The spotlight used to be on Marilyn Monroe anl Brigitte Bardot. Now the brunettes have taken over."

What does this momentous trend portend for American women?

A turn away from bleach bottles and back to darker, more natural shades of hair.

I'm taking Mr. Albert's word for this, and that's a lot of trust to put in a man with only one name. He operates one of the poshier salons in Brentwood and his clients have included Connie Francis, Eva Marie Saint, Marisa Pavan, Cara Williams and Piper Laurie. His single name is symptomatic of the hair trade; out of the salon he also goes by Levin.

"Fashion trends go in cycles, and the blonde has had the best of it for many years," he expounded. "Notice that Marilyn Monroe's last two pictures didn't make money.

"Notice also that most of the Oscar contenders this year—Loren, Natalie Wood, Audrey Hepburn, Rita Moreno, etc. — were brunettes."

Because of the dark-haired lasses in the news, Mr. Albert argued, men are thinking in terms of brunettes. And if men are so doing, you can bet that women will do so as well.

"There has been a tendency for women to frost or tip their hair with blonde shades, rather than go all-out with a bleach," said the hair stylist. "That allows their hair to grow back to their normal shade, which in the case of most women is brunette. I think they will leave it that way—at least until blondes become the sex symbol again."

This movement will have definite effect on hair styles; he continued; hair will be longer.

Mr. Albert doubts if the Cleopatra look will catch on, despite all the forecasts in the ladies' magazines.

Titled Heads To Help Dutch Queen Note Date

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands (AP) — Five reigning monarchs and a host of lesser titles converged on Amsterdam today to help Queen Juliana of the Netherlands celebrate her silver wedding anniversary.

The crowned and coroneted heads assembled on this traditional holiday of the working class for two days of pomp and ceremony honoring Juliana and her husband, Prince Bernhard.

Heading the guest list were Queen Elizabeth II of Britain, the Shah of Iran and Empress Farah, King Olav V of Norway, Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg and her husband, Prince Felix, and Belgium's King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola.

Elizabeth's husband, Prince Philip, was arriving separately after performing a parental duty. Philip was taking Prince Charles to northern Scotland to his new school, Gordonstoun, Philip's alma mater.

Amsterdam's Amstel Hotel was turned into a guest house for the crowned guests and another 100 members of Europe's royal houses invited to the glittering two-day social whirl.

Juliana and Bernhard will be hosts for their guests tonight at royal party will take a boat ride a dinner at the hotel. Then the through Amsterdam's canals—illuminated for the occasion—and go to a ball at the royal palace.

Juliana and Bernhard actually were married Jan. 7, 1937, but January weather in the Netherlands can put a chill on even a royal event. The observance was put back until spring.

The festivities began for the home folks on Juliana's 53rd birthday, putting the city in a holiday mood. Hotels were jammed, flags were flying and the tulips were cooperating.

The queen and her consort rode in an open carriage behind six horses through cheering crowds on Amsterdam's festooned streets. Behind them in another open carriage were their four daughters—Crown Princess Beatrix, 24, Irene, 22, Margriet, 19, and Marijke, 15. Police said a million persons witnessed the procession.

The festivities are of special importance for Marijke, for she is now entering the full public life of the Dutch royal family.

The young princess has been nearly blind since birth, an affliction that led to a stormy period in her parents' marriage. Desperate to help her daughter improve her sight, Juliana six years ago came under the influence of a faith healer, Greet Hofmans. Bernhard disapproved, and the issue became a matter of public controversy. Finally the government stepped in and Miss Hofmans was sent away.

Vicious Winds Rake Broad Areas Of U.S.

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes and winds of tornadic force plunged viciously into parts of the Midwest, South and Southwest Monday, leaving at least eight persons dead, up to 100 injured and millions of dollars in damaged property.

Up to 4½ inches of rain accompanied some of the storm. Hail ranged from 1 to 2 inches in diameter. Wind velocity was recorded at 105 m.p.h.

In the path of the scattered storms and tornadoes were parts of Illinois, where 4 persons died; Indiana, 2 dead; Michigan, 1 dead; Mississippi, 1 dead, Missouri, Kentucky, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama and Ohio.

The Chicago Weather Bureau reported confirmed and unconfirmed tornadoes in the late evening in Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Missouri and Ohio.

The rainfall during a storm at Lufkin, Texas, totaled 4½ inches.

The chain of destruction started in eastern Missouri with a series of tornado alerts. Rain and powerful winds then whipped into St. Louis and adjoining communities, leaving downed utility lines, homes damaged, trees uprooted and scores of injured.

The storm moved into southern Illinois, hitting a dozen small communities. Damaged were homes, utility lines, farm property and public property.

Before noon, the storm hit Springfield, Ill., where one witness said it became as dark as midnight.

John Cavitt, principal of McClerland Grade School, saw the approaching storm and ordered the children outside the building. A section of the school crashed down two floors into the basement shortly afterward. Four hours later searchers found the body of a 12-year-old student.

The storm raced to Rantoul, Ill., where scores of trailers were damaged and roofs torn away from homes. It struck a supermarket, where a section of roof collapsed, killing two persons. Three others were injured.

Scores of other injured were reported at nearby Chanute Air Force Base. Damage at Rantoul was estimated at more than $1 million.

Whipping through a dozen other Illinois communities, the storm felled power lines, trees and homes. At Pontiac, Ill., a chimney collapsed and killed one man.

The destructive winds moved into the Chicago area within two hours, reaching a velocity of 105 m.p.h. at Joliet and nearly 70 m.p.h. in parts of Chicago. A similar pattern of property damage lay behind, as the storm moved eastward into Indiana.

Racing through Logansport, Kokomo, South Bend and Kentland, the storm bowled over cars, trucks, trees, and utility lines. A man was killed in Frankfort when a wall under construction collapsed on him. Nearly 50 persons were injured by debris routed by 70 m.p.h. winds at South Bend.

At Lima, Ohio, trees were uprooted, power lines were downed amid a swamping rain and hail. Six men were injured when a factory roof was torn away and a wall caved in.

Several radio stations were without service in Michigan when high winds knocked out power. A man was killed at Pontiac, other persons were injured at Niles and Pinckney, Mich.

A tornado at night leveled some houses in the rural community of Spottsville in southeast Arkansas. Several persons were injured.

In Tunica, Miss., an elderly Negro woman was killed when her house collapsed during a storm. Other houses and property also were damaged.
