of Sibley Pond. We live in an area with little water, so the pond attracts birds, frogs, fish, butterflies and dragonflies, as well as other mammals. Many people don't even know the pond is here. It is a great spot to enjoy a picnic and observe all of the wildlife."

May continued, "Dragonflies are very beautiful and unique; they are also more consistently there at the pond than butterflies, for example. The Llano Estacado Texas Master Naturalists have always been involved to help educate the public about these insects. This year, the Sibley Camera Club will also be involved to help the community learn how to photograph these lovely creatures."

There are three events scheduled throughout the day:

- 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.-Pond Tours. Llano Estacado Texas Master Naturalists, Sibley Cameral Club, and Dr. Nancy McIntyre, Texas Tech Biology Professor, will be on hand to help people observe and photograph dragonflies and damselflies. There will be a shuttle available from the parking lot to the pond.
- 12:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.-Citizen Science Workshop. Dr. McIntyre will lead a session on how to collect data on odonates and record it for use in the scientific community. The Sibley Camera Club will be there to help people take and process good photos. Participants will learn to net, handle, photograph, identify, and record data on odonates. This workshop is for ages 12 and up. Registration is required. Go to www.sibleynaturecenter.org/events for more information and to register for this workshop.

- 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.-Dr. McIntyre will give a presentation entitled "Diversity of Dragonflies and Damselflies in the Playas of Texas" in the Sibley auditorium. This event is free and open to the public.

Texas Comptroller’s Office partners with Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi to perform Ecosystem assessment

(AUSTIN) — The Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts’ Natural Resources Program has contracted with Texas A&M University - Corpus Christi (TAMUCC) to conduct an ecosystem assessment in Matagorda Bay to inform the conservation of threatened and endangered species. The partnership will develop comprehensive economic and ecological information and tools local governments and communities can use to sustain economic development while protecting natural resources.

Matagorda Bay supports numerous industries important to the Texas economy, including commercial and recreational fishing, agriculture and tourism, while serving as a rich resource for fish and wildlife. Despite its economic value, little research has been conducted on the distribution and health of the bay’s many habitats and their importance to the ecosystem.

“Matagorda Bay directly supports a number of significant industries along the Texas coast, and continued economic development in the surrounding regions will be crucial to the future of our state,” said Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar. “Now’s the time to safeguard our state’s economic future by gathering valuable scientific research to inform active voluntary conservation efforts and support ongoing economic growth.”

“We’re thrilled to partner with the Comptroller’s Natural Resources Program on a project that will provide key science to better manage and conserve Texas bays and estuaries,” said Greg Stunz, project principal investigator and chair for Fisheries and Ocean Health at the Harte Research Institute for Gulf of Mexico Studies at TAMUCC.

The Natural Resources Program will provide economic data and analysis to complement the ecological research. TAMUCC will study habitats used by a suite of imperiled, threatened and endangered sea turtle and bird species as well as the potential impacts of evolving environmental factors.

“Data generated from this study will be crucial in developing effective restoration and conservation strategies and prioritizing areas for the long-term protection of sea turtles and many other species,” Stunz said.

The Comptroller’s office works to encourage stakeholder involvement in species conservation and the development of science-based solutions that balance economic activity and the use of environmental resources. Since 2009, the Comptroller’s office has administered state legislative appropriations to Texas public universities to conduct scientific research on imperiled, threatened and endangered species.

For project announcements, including research updates and public meetings, visit the Comptroller’s Natural Resources Program website.

Leader of American Airlines pilots wants candor from Boeing

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The new president of the American Airlines pilots’ union says his group will help assure the public that the Boeing 737 Max is safe when it is cleared to fly again.

But Eric Ferguson also says Boeing needs to fully explain how the Max differs from previous versions of the 737 — something Boeing failed to do when it rolled out the new model.

"We can't know what we do not know, so we are expecting full disclosure of every modification to the air frame," Ferguson told reporters Monday.

Ferguson took over the Allied Pilots Association in June, a few months after a heated meeting between Boeing officials and some American Airlines pilots. The pilots were angry that the manufacturer had not told them about new flight-control software that could push the plane's nose down.

The software activated based on faulty sensor data on flights that crashed off Indonesia and in Ethiopia, killing 346 people.

Boeing is reworking the software and hopes to get the plane flying again in the fourth quarter, although some analysts think 2020 is more likely.

Boeing and some of the airlines that use the Max are in the early stages of designing a public relations campaign to make passengers feel safe boarding a plane that has crashed twice.

"When we see Allied Pilots Association pilots operating the airplane, the flying public can be assured that it is safe to operate, we will not compromise in that area," Ferguson said. He added that the pilots "will participate as necessary to assure the public that it is safe."

The pilots' union at Southwest Airlines has said it will ask Boeing for compensation to cover legal costs and income that pilots lost due to flights that were canceled after the plane was grounded in March.

Ferguson said he believes some of his union's pilots have lost money too. As for suing Boeing or asking for compensation, he said, "We are not there yet, but it's certainly something to consider."

Texan, 83, charged with neighbor’s death in property dispute

SPURGER, Texas (AP) — An 83-year-old East Texas man has been charged in the fatal shooting of his 47-year-old neighbor over what investigators call a property dispute.

The Tyler County Sheriff’s Office says Wilmer Taylor of Spurger was held Monday on a murder charge a day after Jeremy Smith was shot.

Sheriff Bryan Weatherford says the shooting happened Sunday afternoon off a county road near Spurger, a town of about 600 located 120 miles (193 kilometers) northeast of Houston.

Several witnesses remained on the scene as deputies identified Taylor as the suspect. Autopsy results were pending Monday.

A jailer referred questions about Taylor’s bond and legal representation to the sheriff, who didn’t immediately return messages for comment Monday.

Further details weren’t immediately available.

Lawsuit: Man linked to 19 deaths killed another woman

DALLAS (AP) — A lawsuit alleges a 90-year-old woman is another victim of a Dallas man who has been linked to 19 deaths.

The suit was filed Monday in Dallas County against The Tradition-Prestonwood, an independent living facility in Dallas, by the woman’s children. It alleges the facility failed to keep residents safe.

According to the lawsuit, police told the woman’s family that tracking data confirmed Billy Chemirmir was at the facility on the day of her 2017 death.

Chemirmir has been in custody since March 2018. He’s charged in the deaths of 12 women, including two other residents of The Tradition. Police have said Chemirmir posed as a maintenance worker or health care provider.

Separate lawsuits filed last month claim there were six additional victims at the facility.

The Tradition says it has cooperated with authorities and will continue to do so.

Cleanup continues after Texas petrochemical fire in March

DEER PARK, Texas (AP) — The cleanup of millions of gallons of waste and polluted water is far from over four months after a large fire burned for days at a Houston-area petrochemical storage site.

Intercontinental Terminals Company, the facility’s owner, must abide by a 31-page management plan that dictates how waste must be sampled and identified, stored and discarded, the Houston Chronicle reported.

The detailed plan orders how the waste is transported and where it can go. But specific information regarding the status of the work at the Deer Park facility and where the waste will end up are difficult to find.

“Hazardous waste laws are so demanding. If you are trying to dispose of hazardous waste, you have to send it to a facility that has all sorts of protections to avoid contamination,” said Rena Steinzor, a professor at the University of Maryland Law school. “That is why companies should be more careful of disposing their waste, and the real question is why they are not?”

The March 17 fire in Deer Park, about 20 miles (32 kilometers) southeast of Houston, caused no injuries but triggered air quality warnings. More than 21 million gallons of potentially hazardous waste and contaminated water have since been collected from the tank farm and Houston Ship Channel.

It is all considered to be dangerous until tested and determined otherwise.

“One of the problems is that xylenes continue to vaporize from the water unless removed,” said Jack Matson, professor emeritus of environmental engineering at Penn State University. “A boom across the impacted area will not prevent continued volatilization, and some of the chemicals are dissolved and enter the ship channel.”

The Harris County District Attorney’s Office filed water pollution charges in April against Intercontinental Terminals Company, alleging the fire caused chemicals to flow into a nearby waterway.

The Deer Park chemical fire was the first of two in the Houston-area in as many weeks.

The second chemical fire happened in April at a plant in Crosby, about 25 miles (40 kilometers) northeast of Houston. One worker died and two others were critically injured.

Former Texas cop who shot unarmed man acquitted of assault

DALLAS (AP) — A former suburban Dallas police officer was found not guilty of aggravated assault for shooting an unarmed man twice in the back.

Jurors reached their decision Monday in the retrial of Derick Wiley, who was fired by the Mesquite Police Department after the 2017 shooting that wounded Lyndo Jones.

Wiley, 37, fought back tears after the verdict was read in court and was embraced by his family and supporters. He told the Dallas Morning News that he plans to return to law enforcement as soon as possible because police work is “just in my blood.”

The jury’s decision followed emotional testimony from both men and arguments from opposing lawyers, who both framed the case as one that would set a standard for police in North Texas.

Wiley shot Jones while responding to a report of someone breaking into a vehicle. Authorities have said the officer mistook Jones for a burglar while Jones was trying to unlock his own truck. Body camera video showed Jones, then 31, pleading with Wiley not to shoot just before the gunfire.

At trial, prosecutors portrayed Wiley as reckless and “hellbent on violence” on the night of the shooting. But Wiley’s attorney, Rafael Sierra, argued that the officer did not know Jones was unarmed and that he had to make a split-second decision. Wiley testified last week that he feared for his life in the moments before he opened fire.

Jones’ civil attorney, Justin Moore, said his client is devastated by the verdict but does not expect it to affect a separate lawsuit he’s brought against Mesquite, according to the Morning News.

In September, a judge declared a mistrial after the jury deadlocked in Wiley’s first trial after 10 hours of deliberations.

12-story Texas building that once housed bank imploded

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — A 12-story former bank building near Houston has been imploded as part of expected new development.

Demolition experts on Sunday brought down what was the First Pasadena State Bank Building.

Authorities say the structure opened in 1963 but went into foreclosure in the early 1990s and had been empty since 2002.

The property is owned by the Pasadena Economic Development Corporation.

The YMCA partnered with Joe Bright Basketball to put on this event as a way to positively impact today's youth. In addition to basketball skills, Joe Bright Basketball teaches kids about service for others and offers a positive outreach in their lives. Coach Bright's students said, "Coach is a huge inspiration, and has made a positive impact in our lives."

Gerrit Cole leads Astros to 11-1 win over Athletics

By KRISTIE RIEKEN

AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON— On the night the Houston Astros celebrated the 50th anniversary of the first moon landing by NASA's Apollo 11, the number 11 factored prominently into a lopsided win over the Oakland Athletics.

Gerrit Cole pitched seven strong innings and Aledmys Diaz, Yordan Alvarez and Yuli Gurriel homered as the Astros jumped on Homer Bailey for nine runs early and sailed to an 11-1 win over the Athletics on Monday night.

"I think it's very appropriate we scored 11 runs," manager AJ Hinch said sporting the special cap with the Apollo 11 mission logo the team donned for the celebration.

But the 11 runs weren't the only 11 for the Astros on this night when the three homers they blasted helped them to their sixth straight victory.

Cole yielded two hits and one run while striking out 11 to collect his 11th win and help Houston improve to 8-1 against the Athletics this season. Cole has recorded double-digit strikeouts in three straight games, giving him an MLB-leading 205 this season.

Cole (11-5) has won seven straight decisions, with his last loss coming on May 22.

Rick Armstrong, the son of Apollo 11 astronaut Neil Armstrong, threw out the ceremonial first pitch on Apollo 11 night at the ballpark, which came two days after the 50th anniversary of the first landing.

Alvarez got things going for Houston when he sent Bailey's second pitch of the second inning beyond the bullpen in right-center to put the Astros up 1-0.

George Springer hit an RBI single with one out in the inning and Bailey's bases-loaded walk of Jose Altuve made it 3-0. The Astros added a run on a groundout by Alex Bregman.

Alvarez drew a four-pitch walk to open the third inning before Gurriel's homer to left field pushed the lead to 6-0. Gurriel has an 11-game hitting streak and has hit 14 home runs in his last 23 games to give him a career-best 19 homers this season.

"We never really let him breathe," Hinch said of Bailey. "We have a really long lineup ... and when we put that kind of lineup together and that kind of approach we can really, really make it difficult on the pitcher. He had really nowhere to go when we were putting up quality at-bat after quality at-bat. And it was a good sight to see."

Josh Reddick doubled on a line drive to right field after Gurriel's home run before a single by Robinson Chirinos.

Diaz, who was playing in his first game since May 26 because of a hamstring injury, then belted a fastball to left field to make it 9-0 and chase Bailey (8-7).

Bailey, who was acquired from Kansas City on July 14, allowed a season-high nine runs and tied a season high with eight hits in just two-plus innings. It was the first loss since June 1 for the veteran right-hander, who had won four straight decisions capped by Wednesday's win against Seattle in his debut for the Athletics.

"It just didn't look like he had as good a life on his fastball," manager Bob Melvin said. "They had him on the run early, and they put some really good at-bats together."

Alvarez doubled in a run off Brian Schitter with two outs in the inning to give him 35 RBIs, which is the most in major league history by a player in his first 30 games, surpassing the 34 Albert Pujols had in 2001.

Matt Chapman doubled for Oakland's first hit with one out in the fourth and the Athletics made it 11-1 when he scored on a two-out double by Mark Canha.

Those were the only two hits as the Athletics ended a streak of 21 straight games with a home run.

MINOR ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Oakland's minor league pitchers threw two no-hitters Monday, one by Class A Stockton and another by the club's the rookie-level Arizona League affiliate. Stockton combined no-hitter was caught by big league catcher Nick Hundley, who is there on an injury rehab assignment following knee surgery last month.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Astros: SS Carlos Correa (broken rib) will continue a rehabilitation assignment with Triple-A Round Rock this week where he is scheduled to play on Tuesday and Wednesday before being activated from the 60-day injured list on Friday.

THEY SAID IT

Alvarez on taking a second to pose for the television cameras in the dugout with fellow Cubans Gurriel and Diaz after Diaz's home run: "I just took a glance at Yuli and when (Diaz) hit it out we just all decided to come together at the end of the dugout there. It's something that's really great, especially for three Cuban players to do it. So we just took advantage of it," he said in Spanish through a translator.

UP NEXT

Athletics: RHP Mike Fiers (9-3, 3.64 ERA) is scheduled to start for Oakland on Tuesday night. Fiers, who pitched for Houston from 2015-17, is 7-0 with a 2.25 ERA in his last 13 starts beginning with his no-hitter against Cincinnati on May 7.

Astros: LHP Wade Miley (8-4, 3.25) will start for Houston on Tuesday. Miley yielded three hits and two runs — one earned — in 5 1/3 innings of a 6-2 win over the Angels in his last start.

Skidding Rangers can't solve Gonzales as Mariners roll, 7-3

By TIM BOOTH

AP Sports Writer

SEATTLE — Marco Gonzales gave up a run in the first inning in part due to a fan. He gave up four singles in five batters to open the second and was immediately in a bases-loaded jam.

"For me, I'd rather have that early in the game than late when you're fatigued," Gonzales said. "Guys on base, those are big situations that you'd like to have early on, and then hopefully that gets you in a groove."

Gonzales recovered from the shaky start to throw seven strong innings, Austin Nola hit a three-run homer to put Seattle ahead for good, and the Mariners handed the Texas Rangers their eighth straight loss with a 7-3 victory Monday night.

The Rangers' swoon since the All-Star break continued as Texas was shut down by Gonzales (11-8) after the second inning. The left-hander finished seven for the second time in three starts, retiring 13 straight during one stretch and 17 of the final 18 batters he faced.

Gonzales allowed seven hits and struck out four, but was fortunate to even get through the second.

"Texas has been struggling a little bit and didn't want to give them a bunch of early momentum. He was able to shut it off right there and give us a chance," Seattle manager Scott Servais said.

Texas took a 2-0 lead after Shin-Soo Choo's RBI single, the last of four singles in five batters to start the second inning. But Gonzales struck out Danny Santana looking on a borderline pitch and won a lengthy battle against Elvis Andrus to end the threat with a lineout to right field. Gonzales needed 12 pitches to finally get Andrus, and the at-bat included eight foul balls.

"I was just trying to make stuff up. I didn't know what he was doing, I don't know if he knew what I was doing, but it was a good battle," Gonzales said.

From there the only baserunner Gonzales allowed was Rougned Odor, who reached on a two-out single in the sixth. Roenis Elias got the final out for his 12th save.

Texas is 2-8 since the break and has fallen back to .500 at 50-50.

"You try not to let those things affect you, but everybody feels it, everybody wants to be the guy to stop our losing streak," manager Chris Woodward said. "We've still got to go the same way we've prepared all year. Let's win each pitch of every game, just be as prepared as we possibly can, and have a game plan every at-bat, every pitch we throw, just not lose sight of that. It's important."

Nola hit his third homer in the bottom of the second off Texas starter Adrian Sampson. Mallex Smith added a two-run single in the fourth and Kyle Seager homered leading off the eighth.

Sampson (6-7) made his first start since July 5 after three straight appearances out of the bullpen and gave up six runs and eight hits in 5 1/3 innings.

"I wanted to be the guy to kind of stop the bleeding, pick up the team and get everyone right on track," Sampson said. "That hanging curveball put up three runs. Other than that I thought I made some good pitches."

STEALING A RUN

Texas took a 1-0 lead in the first with the help of an ambitious Rangers fan with good seats. With two outs, Hunter Pence hit a foul ball near the stands down the left field line. Seager raced over and leaned into the stands to make the catch, only to have it stolen by a young Rangers fan sitting in the first row. Later in the at-bat Pence singled to score Andrus.

CLOSING TIME

The Rangers placed closer Shawn Kelley on the 10-day injured list with biceps soreness in his right arm, but Woodward said the injury appears far less severe than first believed. Kelley left Sunday's game at Houston in the eighth after throwing several warmup pitches. An MRI showed no acute injury. Texas selected the contract of reliever Rafael Montero from Triple-A Nashville to take Kelley's roster spot and designated for assignment outfielder Carlos Tocci to clear a 40-man roster spot.

GORDON'S EXIT

Seattle 2B Dee Gordon left after the second inning due to a strained quad muscle and was replaced by Dylan Moore. Gordon was hit in the back of the shoulder on a pickoff attempt by Sampson, but Servais said it was the quad that caused him to pull Gordon. He finished the inning on the bases before being replaced.

UP NEXT

Rangers: Texas is expected to call up RHP Pedro Payano to make a spot start Tuesday night, but might also use an opener. Payano has appeared in one game this season for the Rangers. He's made 15 starts in the minors between Double-A Frisco and Triple-A Nashville.

Mariners: Will start LHP Tommy Milone. Seattle was going to use an opener but decided to go with Milone from the start. He is 1-4 with a 3.95 ERA this season.

Annie's Mailbox ®

Nipping Bullying in the Bud

Dear Annie: My son is 7 years old and is attending a soccer camp this summer. He is an average player and loves the game, and he has made friends at the camp. The problem is that one of the boys is a bully, and he targets my son all the time, calling him "a bad player" and kicking the soccer ball right in his face. This has gone on for more than three days. Each day, my son comes home and says the kid was meaner than he was the day before.

I left a voicemail for the coach asking if he would do something about this, but he did not reply. That infuriated me. I thought bullying was a thing of the past and that administrators of schools and camps did everything possible to prevent it.

My husband took off early from work one day so he could observe the practice and talk to the coach. The coach assured him that he was "handling it," but I don't have a great feeling about this. The fact that he ignored my phone call says that he does not take this seriously. The fact that he allowed it to happen in the first place is a really bad sign.

Bullying is terrible. I realize that some people will say that it is human nature, that it's always been this way and that it can sometimes teach kids lessons about how to interact with each other. But I say no way. In 2019, there is no excuse for bullying at a summer camp. I'm not sure what we should do at this point and am turning to you for advice. -- Anti-Bullying Mom

Dear Anti-Bullying Mom: It sounds like you took the necessary steps to help be an advocate for your son. There is a difference between a kid being mean or making an insensitive comment and consistent bullying. The reality is that kids can say mean things, sometimes not even on purpose, and they usually can sort it out themselves. In this case, it sounds like it was bullying and not just a rude comment.

Bullying is usually consistent and persistent, so you took the right steps by having your husband make the coach aware of the situation. Hopefully, that is the end of it. If the bully persists, and the coach does nothing, I would complain to the director of the camp and keep an open dialogue with your son about steps he can take to defend himself.

Dear Annie: An African proverb version of Ben Franklin's wisdom: "Treat your guest as a guest for two days; on the third day, give him a hoe." In other words, company is no longer company; they grab a hoe and work in the fields like everyone else. When our children visit for three weeks with their noisy families, my husband and I take our vacation in week No. 2. They feed the cats, collect papers and mail and enjoy using our home for their base of operations as they visit in the area. We return from our vacation rested and ready to cope with their frantic pace once again. If they stay longer, we take another vacation. Maybe "Grinding My Teeth" can modify this idea to fit their circumstances.

I've been reading Annie and Ann (Landers) for 60 years! Much wisdom is to be gained from these ladies. -- Faithful Reader

Dear Faithful Reader: Thank you for sharing a wonderful proverb along with a great suggestion!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Leo Sun Story Updates

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You admire, you love, and you give your good-will freely and fully. Your kindly view of people and the action you take to follow it through will begin a circle of reciprocity.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Exaggeration is a branch of lying, though often born of a benevolent attempt at making the praise more exciting, the story more interesting, the accomplishment more remarkable. Embellishments are to be expected.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). When you make a recommendation, you put yourself and your judgment on the line. You wouldn't do this for just any old reason. You'll have to be firmly convinced that your recommendations will help and won't backfire on you.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You have friends who naturally gravitate to an opposing view to yours. You need them now. They'll give you strange opinions to consider. They'll help you make a stronger case or create better work.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). It's prudent to avoid contradicting anyone and, if you can help it, avoid being contradicted yourself. How? By sticking to the accepted social "script" until you have time to consider all views and options and formulate a thoughtful opinion.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Boredom is mildly uncomfortable, but it's also the predecessor to your next excellent and purposeful work. You'll be surprised at what you can come up with once you've had enough time and space to become profoundly bored.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). If you're going to assume anything, assume that there are and will always be things you don't know about others and that these mysteries will keep things interesting.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). A good match of intensity levels will be the secret sauce of social ease. Some groups are more passionate than others. You can match most any level, but it's better to find the group at the intensity level you enjoy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Your day will be influenced strongly and surprisingly by the good words, better deeds and unflinching courtesy you propagate wherever you go.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Act decisively. You know what you're doing. Oddly enough, even if you've never done anything like this before in your life, you'll still make excellent choices. So go forward with confidence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). There's a magic interchange that occurs when you align yourself with those of great mind, heart and character. You'll gain from each other, each becoming and evoking a personal best.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You will persuade without words and obtain without a financial exchange. It's who you are (much more than what you say, own or pay for) that will make things happen.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 23). Your cosmic birthday gift is an excellent guidance system for your lion-heart. You'll be drawn to love those who can love you back with life-enhancing levels of emotional availability. Relationships brimming with support, understanding, affection and enthusiasm give you a launching pad for personal success beyond hopes. Libra and Pisces adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 5, 33, 1, 39 and 14.

DEVELOP YOUR INTUITION, CAPRICORN: The final earth sign of the zodiac is a powerful realist and will choose the actions known to work over anything that sounds like hocus pocus. However, this sign has been known to try a bit of practical magic from time and time, and with much success. Capricorns who wish to increase their extrasensory powers may find that working with things that grow opens up the intuition and leads to unexplainable insights, fortuitous luck and an increased feeling of connection to all that lives. This earth sign has natural skill in using herbs and flowers especially.

Capricorns need only follow their interests to navigate around the world of herbal remedies, flower essences and the like. They gravitate toward the plants that appeal to their aesthetics, or speak to their inner knowing. Capricorns can let this knowing guide them by asking questions inside their minds while they shop. "Which plants are healthiest for me? What does my body need?" or "What would make my friend feel better? What does she need right now?" Capricorns will find that a certain plants will seem to speak to them, becoming particularly beautiful or seeming suddenly more fresh, appealing or relevant.

Contract Bridge

By Steve
A hard look into the future

South dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

♥ Q 5		♥ A K J 6
♦ J 10		♦ K 7 4 2
♣ A K 10 9 6 4		♣ 2

The bidding:
South 1♥ West 2♣ North 4♥ East 4♥

Opening lead — king of clubs.
This deal occurred in a national pair event, and it may be of only academic interest to some readers. The principal question was whether declarer could score an additional overtrick, not whether he could make the contract.

In duplicate bridge, the primary goal is to score more points (or lose less) than the others playing the same hand. So the problem for South in this hand was how to make 12 tricks, since he could have thrown his cards into the air and 11 tricks would have come tumbling down.

At first glance, it seemed certain that he'd eventually lose a diamond and a club. But appearances can be deceiving, as South proceeded to demonstrate. The way he played the hand, 12 tricks blossomed just as naturally as the flowers that bloom in the spring.

West led the club king and shifted to the jack of diamonds. After studying the situation thoroughly, declarer won in dummy, ruffed the jack of clubs and cashed the A-K of trump.

He then played the spade ace, ruffed a spade and ruffed the queen of clubs with his last trump. Next came another spade ruff, producing this position:

North		West		East
♥ 9 8		♦ 10		♠ 10 9
♦ 6 5		♣ A 10 9		♦ Q 9
South
♦ K 7 4

Dummy's heart nine was now led, East discarding a spade, South a diamond and West a club. The heart eight was next played, squeezing East. If he discarded a spade, South's eight of spades would become a trick, and if East discarded a diamond, declarer would discard his spade and score the last two tricks with the K-7 of diamonds. Either way, South would wind up with 12 tricks.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Monday Sports in Brief

Associated Press

SOCCER

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Cristiano Ronaldo won't face criminal charges after a woman accused the soccer star of raping her in his suite at a Las Vegas resort more than 10 years ago, a top prosecutor said Monday.

A new investigation by Las Vegas police failed to show that Kathryn Mayorga's claim could be proven at trial beyond a reasonable doubt, Clark County District Attorney Steve Wolfson said.

The decision represented a victory on one of two legal tracks tied to the 2009 allegation against one of the most recognizable and highly paid players in sports.

In a lawsuit still pending in federal court, Mayorga alleges that she was pressured to sign an agreement to keep quiet in exchange for $375,000. Her lawyers want to void the deal and collect at least $200,000 more from Ronaldo.

Ronaldo's attorneys have acknowledged that the soccer star and Mayorga had consensual sex in June 2009, but they denied it was rape.

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil women's national team coach Oswaldo Alvarez, known as Vadão, has been fired after the team was eliminated in the Round of 16 in the Women's World Cup.

The Brazilian soccer confederation announced the move on Monday and said Vadão's replacement would be named soon.

The 62-year-old coach lasted nearly two years in his second stint with the national team. He also coached Brazil at the 2015 World Cup in Canada and at the Rio de Janeiro Olympics in 2016. Vadão was replaced by Emily Lima, and then took over for Lima when she was fired in September 2017.

BASEBALL

SEATTLE (AP) — The Texas Rangers have placed closer Shawn Kelley on the 10-day injured list with biceps soreness in his right arm, but manager Chris Woodward said the injury appears far less severe than first believed.

The Rangers made the move with Kelley on Monday before opening a three-game series in Seattle. Texas selected the contract of reliever Rafael Montero from Triple-A Nashville to take Kelley's roster spot and designated for assignment outfielder Carlos Tocci to clear a 40-man roster spot.

Kelley left Sunday's game in Houston in the bottom of the eighth after throwing several warmup pitches.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — All-Star pitcher Brandon Woodruff could miss up to six weeks with a left oblique strain, Brewers manager Craig Counsell said Monday.

The right-hander allowed four runs in three innings against Arizona on Sunday before exiting after throwing two pitches in the fourth.

He underwent an MRI and was placed on the 10-day injured list Monday. Right-handed reliever Burch Smith was recalled from Triple-A San Antonio.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ryan Zimmerman was put on the 10-day injured list by the Washington Nationals because of plantar fasciitis in his right foot, the second time this season the injury has sidelined the 34-year-old first baseman.

Zimmerman left Sunday's loss at Atlanta after an infield single in the second inning. Zimmerman missed 53 games between April 27 and June 28 because of the same injury. He is hitting .246 with three homers and 15 RBIs in 33 games.

FOOTBALL

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle defensive lineman Jaran Reed has been suspended for six games by the NFL for violating the personal conduct policy.

Reed may participate in preseason practices and games, but will not be available to the Seahawks until Oct. 14.

The suspension stems from an incident in April 2017. He was being investigated for assaulting a woman, who then filed an assault complaint. But Reed was not charged.

Reed comes off a solid 2018 season and was expected to be the leader of the defensive line after Seattle traded Frank Clark to Kansas City. Reed, 26, had 10 1-2 sacks and 50 tackles last season.

He was a second-round draft pick from Alabama in 2016.

Reed posted a statement on social media saying he strongly disagreed with the discipline imposed by the NFL.

"I apologize to those close to me including my family, the entire Seattle Seahawks organization and fans of the team for putting myself in a position where I could be disciplined by the NFL," Reed posted.

BASKETBALL

Tim Duncan is back with the San Antonio Spurs, this time as an assistant coach.

The Spurs announced the move Monday, along with the promotion of Will Hardy to assistant coach. Hardy has been with the Spurs for nearly a decade and now will take on an elevated role.

Duncan won five championships in a 19-year career with the Spurs. Popovich, in a release distributed by the team, says "it is only fitting, that after I served loyally for 19 years as Tim Duncan's assistant, that he returns the favor."

The Spurs lost longtime assistants Ettore Messina and Ime Udoka earlier this offseason.

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers have been awarded the rights to Kostas Antetokounmpo on a waiver claim.

The Lakers announced the move Monday to acquire the 21-year-old brother of Milwaukee Bucks superstar Giannis Antetokounmpo.

Kostas Antetokounmpo played in two games last season for Dallas. The Mavericks acquired him in a draft-night trade last summer after Philadelphia chose him with the 60th and final pick. The 6-foot-10 forward played 40 games for the Mavs' G League affiliate last year, when he averaged 10.6 points and 6.2 rebounds.

The Mavericks waived him Friday.

Tim Duncan returning to Spurs as an assistant coach

By TIM REYNOLDS

Tim Duncan is back with the San Antonio Spurs, this time as an assistant coach under Gregg Popovich.

Duncan, the Spurs' all-time leader in points, rebounds and blocked shots — and the only player to be on all five of San Antonio's NBA championship teams — officially returned to the franchise Monday. The Spurs, per their usual style, made the announcement in a very understated way, not even putting Duncan's name in the headline of the news release.

"It is only fitting, that after I served loyally for 19 years as Tim Duncan's assistant, that he returns the favor," Popovich said in the release.

Duncan didn't even get top billing in the announcement. That went to Will Hardy, who will be taking on an expanded role as one of the Spurs' assistant coaches. Hardy has been with the Spurs since 2010, working his way up from the video room at first.

"Will Hardy is a talented, young basketball mind who has earned a great deal of respect from everyone in the organization thanks to his knowledge, spirit and personality," Popovich said.

The entirety of the Spurs' description of Duncan in the release was this: "Duncan, a 1997 Wake Forest graduate, played 19 seasons with the Spurs before retiring in the summer of 2016." No mention of his rings, his 15 All-Star nods, his three NBA Finals MVP awards, his two NBA MVP awards or anything else.

Duncan retired from playing three years ago, but has worked at times with San Antonio's post players. He has long been one of Popovich's favorites, even going back to 1997 in the days leading up to San Antonio taking Duncan with the No. 1 overall pick in that year's draft.

Popovich went to the Virgin Islands before that draft to get to know Duncan, and was immediately sold.

"We lived on the beach for a few days and we swam and we talked," Popovich said at Duncan's retirement ceremony. "From that moment I knew he was a special individual because he basically talked about everything but basketball. And we've been the recipients of that intelligence and that outlook on life since he's walked in here."

Duncan's hiring and Hardy's expanded role will help the Spurs replace former assistants Ettore Messina and Ime Udoka, who left earlier this offseason for new jobs.
