South Plains' Crop Outlook Given Boost

SOUTH PLAINS four-day rain and sleet storm was almost in the class of "greenbacks from Heaven" so far as area farmers and ranchers were concerned today.

The precipitation amounted to a total of 2.57 inches, a new moisture record for January, and indications were that the Plains might receive even more moisture as occasional rain was predicted for today. Lubbock's precipitation was tops for the state, the Associated Press said.

Farmers and ranchers generally agreed that the rain, sleet and snow probably was of more benefit than a like amount of rain because little of the fall was lost through rapid evaporation or "run off."

Moisture Soaks In

Penetration of the moisture was generally deep. The rainfall Sunday had no chance to evaporate before sleet, snow and freezing rain was piled upon the ground. In turn the thaw was sufficiently slow to permit most of the water to soak into the soil.

Farmers, plagued with blowing dust, and in some areas severe wind erosion, are expected to wheel listers, chisel plows and other cultivating tools into fields as soon as soil and weather conditions permit and begin work to conserve moisture already received and to prepare the land for further precipitation, and also to get the land into shape to resist further blowing if rainfall remains scanty later in the winter and early spring.

Ranchers could look forward to improved pasture conditions this spring as the fall received during the storm was expected to be of untold benefit to moisture starved grass roots.

More Rain Seen

There was no way to classify the value of the storm to agriculture interests in dollars and cents, but observers were in agreement that it was a "Godsend" to the Plains area where rainfall during 1948 ranged from five to seven inches below normal, and where drouth conditions had slashed an expected 1,250,000 bale cotton crop almost in half.

The Weather station north of Lubbock forecast occasional rain for the South Plains this morning and part of the afternoon, but said that a front moving out of New Mexico probably would end the light precipitation about 2 p. m.

The front is not expected to halt the upward trend of temperatures over the area. Mercury readings today are expected to range from 33 to 45 degrees as compared to a 32 degree minimum and a 40

SETS NEW NON-STOP MARK—Capt. Bill Odom, round-the-world flier, landed at Oakland airport Thursday night at 8:38 p. m. (CST) to end a record-breaking non-stop distance flight for small planes and add another mark to his unusual aerial career. The famed pilot, shown above dressed in natty scotch plaid suit as he climbed into the cockpit of his single-engined plane at Honolulu for the start of the trip, was forced to turn back from an attempted hop to the U. S. east coast because of a low fuel supply. (AP Wirephoto via Navy Radio).

Dwindling Gas Halts Plane At Oakland

Odom Sets Record In Flight Over Pacific

(By International News Service)

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 13.—Capt. Bill Odom, famed 'round-the-world flyer, landed at Oakland airport on San Francisco bay tonight to end a record-breaking non-stop distance flight.

Odom set his tiny single-engined plane down on the Oakland runway at 6:38 p. m. after more than 22 hours in the air on his estimated 2,400-mile flight from Honolulu.

The tall pilot was unexcited by his record feat as he stepped from the plane.

Wings Ice Up

He then headed west to cross the lofty Sierra Nevada mountains hoping that his gas supply would carry him at least to Cheyenne, Wyo., but his wings iced up after he had passed Donner Summit and he decided to turn back to Oakland.

After he landed he said:

"All I want is a big steak and a chance to go to bed."

Later he was whisked away by officials of the Beechcraft company, sponsors of the flight, to a "hideout" where he could get some sleep.

Odom originally planned to try to reach the East coast and land at Teterboro, N. J., a flight of 5,100 miles.

He said he would be ready to try it again if Beechcraft officials agree.

Mileage To Be Figured

Odom was in the air for a period of 22 hours and six minutes. His exact mileage will be figured by CAA officials who are then expected to give him a preliminary certificate for a new record. The record must be finally approved by the International Aeronautical Federation in Paris.

Odom, happy at breaking the Services Set For Seminole Woman And Soldier Son

(Special To The Avalanche)

SEMINOLE, Jan. 13 — A Seminole woman and her soldier son will meet again Sunday afternoon, but it won't be as either had planned.

Mrs. Gracie Everett, 52, a resident of Seminole since 1929, had been making plans the past few days to bring the body of her son, Pfc. Johnny B. Everett, who was killed in action in Europe on April 19, 1945, back home for reburial services.

Double Service Set

But Wednesday morning, Mrs. Everett died in a Cisco hospital from injuries received in an automobile accident near Cisco Tuesday. Family members have arranged double funeral services for the two Sunday afternoon, probably in the First Baptist church of Seminole, with Rev. T. L. Denton, pastor, officiating. A definite time for services has not been set, Alpha Singleton Funeral Home of Seminole reported tonight.

Burial for both will be in Seminole cemetery, with Alpha Singleton Funeral home in charge.

Others Are Injured

Mrs. Everett, another son, Herbert Everett, and her sister, Mrs. W. L. Rivers, also of Seminole, were en route to Seminole from Lufkin, where they attended the funeral of a relative. Mrs. Everett and Mrs. Rivers were carried to Graham hospital in Cisco by ambulance. Mrs. Everett's death was not known in Seminole until this morning, since telephone circuits were out of order there.

Mrs. Rivers, who received lacerations and bruises, was reported to be recovering satisfactorily in the hospital and probably will be brought here from Cisco Saturday. The son was not seriously injured.

Pfc. Everett's body is to

Weather Damage Is Heavy Over Nation

(By The Associated Press)

Winter eased its destructive grip in much of the nation Thursday but weather losses will run into many millions of dollars.

Freezing temperatures caused damage estimated up to $25,000,000 to the California-Arizona fruit and vegetable crops. Blizzards and extreme cold killed thousands of cattle in the great plains ranges. Ice storms that snapped communications lines and toppled poles caused nearly $2,000,000 damage in the southwest.

Southern California got more moisture Thursday, but it was rain instead of snow. Although clearing skies lessened the likelihood of more snow, overnight temperatures were expected to dip under freezing again in the Los Angeles area.

Truman Offers Own Tax Plan

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—President Truman disclosed today that persons earning more than $6,000 a year would have to pay higher income taxes under his plan to increase government revenues by four billion dollars a year.

The President made this disclosure at his news conference in response to a question as to what he considered "middle and upper" income brackets.

Mr. Truman has asked that the four billion dollars a year be raised chiefly by levies on corporations, but he said that higher income taxes on persons in the upper and middle income brackets should be considered.

Starts At $6,000

Asked to specify where these brackets began, he replied that the Treasury considered the middle brackets as starting at $6,000 a year, and the higher brackets at $25,000 or $30,000.

The president smiled and said of course it depends on a person's point of view, and that a man earning $6,000 a year probably would regard $10,000 as the start of the middle brackets.

The President's statement on taxes came in the course of comments at his news conference on a variety of subjects. He said in response to other questions:

Opposes Income Ceiling

1. He did not agree with the idea, attributed to the late President Roosevelt, that a man's income should stop at $25,000 a year, and that taxes should be shaped to accomplish this. The President said if a man has brains enough to earn more than this sum he is entitled to it.

2. He is not aware of any new Soviet peace offensive, or of any meeting dealing with peace between the United States and Russia. However, he would be glad to see Premier Joseph Stalin any time he came to Washington.

3. He has many women under consideration for high government positions, but none necessarily for a cabinet post.

Air Force Defended

4. No changes are contemplated in his cabinet before his inauguration for the new four-year term next Thursday. The President added that Dean Acheson would not be sworn in as the new Secre-

HST Voted Pay Hike By Senate

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 — The Senate today voted President Truman a $25,000 pay increase and an additional, tax-free $50,000 expense allowance.

Vice President-elect Barkley (D-Ky.), and House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), were voted $10,000 salary boosts and $10,000 expense allowances. This would bring their salaries to $30,000 each per year.

The vote of 68 to 9 came after lengthy debate sparked by a blast at "high living" in Washington and good-natured "ribbing" of Democrats by their Republican colleagues.

Debate To Be Limited

The legislation, first to be passed by either House in the new Congress, was rushed to the House for action, expected Monday.

It must reach the White House and be signed by Mr. Truman before his inauguration next Thursday if the raise is to apply during his new, four-year term.

House debate, however, will be limited to 40 minutes.

The nine voting against the bill, all Republicans, were:

Donnell, Mo., Jenner, Ind., Kem, Mo., Langer, N. D., Millikin, Colo., Morse, Ore., Watkins, Utah, Williams, Del., and Young, N. D.

The bill would up Mr. Truman's

Texas Solon Seeks Federal Support Prices On Grain Sorghums In Move To Ease Cotton Surplus Threat

By SARAH McCLENDON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Rep. Poage of Waco today pleaded with Ralph Trigg, head of the Commodity Credit corporation, to announce support prices for grain sorghum as a means of encouraging farmers to plant this crop and desist from planting so much cotton.

Poage fears that an 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 bale crop may be planted in 1949 and thus flood the market. If this occurs, he pointed out that it will not only affect the cotton farmer but other farmers as well.

Poage told the House Agriculture committee of which he is a member that if cotton prices have to be supported it will take so much money to carry on the program that the nation may decide to quit the price support program on all commodities.

Quotas Seen In 1950

"I fear the whole farm program is endangered," he said.

He recalled 1937 when so much cotton was planted that it not only broke the price that year but produced such a large carry-over which lasted until 1942. "Not only were the farmers made poorer in 1937, but for five or six years because this giant surplus depressed farmers," he declared.

"We have every reason to believe that in 1950 we will have quotas on cotton. We just missed this by a hair's breadth on the 1949 crop.

"This is another reason why farmers will plant all they can in 1949, in order to establish a base for their quotas in 1950. The farmer will undoubtedly plant all possible acreage to cotton if he is a cotton farmer unless we assure him that we will not include 1949 acreage as the basis for quotas.

"We might tell him that 1949

Jews Begin Demobilizing

By BENN FELLER
INS Staff Correspondent

TEL AVIV, Jan. 13.—An Israeli spokesman reflected confidence in the Jewish-Egyptian armistice talks tonight by declaring that the demobilization of the Israeli army has begun on a small scale.

The Jewish army of approximately 85,000 men and women has been fighting sporadically against the neighboring Arab troops since May 14, when Egyptian forces invaded Palestine on the eve of Israeli's assumption of statehood.

The spokesman revealed the Jewish action as talks began on the island of Rhodes where representatives of the Jewish and Arab government met for the first time in open conference to negotiate an armistice in southern Palestine.

Haste Is Urged

Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting UN mediator, appealed to negotiators for Israel and Egypt to act quickly. "When war and lives are at stake the time becomes a factor of tremendous magnitude. The peace of the Near East hangs in the balance while you meet . . . " he said.

Earlier, Bunche urged "all governments" not directly involved to keep hands off in order not to jeopardize the delicate negotiations.

The Jewish spokesman said the beginning of demobilization is on a small scale but its "increase in numbers will begin alomst immediately."

He said the demobilization plans were put into operation some time ago and recent events have not caused the Israelis to change their plans.

"In fact," he said, "the reverse

Train Derailment Near Kempner Causes Extensive Cargo Damage

TEMPLE, Jan. 13. —(AP)— A freight train derailment near Kempner, Lampasas county, destroyed 19 tank cars of oil, three cars of cotton and a 124-foot bridge, a tabulation showed today.

The 29-car train was derailed and burned late last night. Santa Fe railroad officials in Temple said that the cause of the derailment was not known definitely but it apparently was caused by a broken rail.

Damage to the cargo will run more than $35,000, railroad officials said. Damage to the equipment was not immediately estimated. A spokesman for the Santa Fe said that the main line should be open by 6 p. m. tomorrow.

Hope Bolstered For Deep Water Supply

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE HOPE that usable water may underlie the South Plains at an approximate depth of 1,000 feet was strengthened by a report to the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

But the report was made and received with emphasis upon these prospects:

First, that the presence of water, while indicated, has not been proved; second, that if deep water does exist, the probabilities are against it being in sufficient quantity to be of great value; and, third, any water found is likely to be too "brackish" to be suitable for domestic or animal use, or even for irrigation.

Irrigation Ordinance Read

The report was submitted to a commission meeting which also ordered the engineering be done as the first preliminary to 70 additional blocks of street paving, heard preliminary plans for doubling the capacity of the Arthur Lay & Co., frozen egg plant at a reported cost of "several hundred thousand dollars," passed an ordinance on first reading which will make irrigation water rates available in the city more conveniently and at less average cost than at present.

The report on the deep water explorations was submitted by J. Roy McCoy, consulting geologist, here, who was retained several weeks ago to make logs on three oil tests in the area—the Tobe Foster well recently completed as an oil producer northeast of Lubbock; a test by Anton Oil corp., near Anton and a third test still to be designated in the Smyer area about 20 miles west of Lubbock.

Mayor W. H. Rodgers, speaking for members of the commission, explained the wells were made available for the water tests by the oil operators without cost to the city. McCoy's fee was set at

Atom Bomb Charge Claimed To Be Size Of Indoor Baseball

MEADVILLE, Pa., Jan. 13 —The atom bomb was described as "about the size of an indoor baseball" tonight by a scientist speaking before an American Chemical society meeting.

Prof. J. A. Campbell of Oberlin (O.) college said that, despite "supposed" secrecy about the bomb, "it is easy to show that the explosive charge weighs in the neighborhood of 20 to 30 pounds and occupies a sphere of three or four inches in diameter."

Dimes Drive To Open Here Today

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

Lubbock county's 1949 March of Dimes, sponsored by the Lubbock Exchange club, will get underway today, with a minimum goal of $12,000 to be reached before the campaign closes Jan. 31.

Numbers of coin collection boxes have been placed in stores, banks, hotels, and other public places in Lubbock and elsewhere in the county, and others are to be put out this week and next. A "Wishing Well" will be placed on a downtown street corner Jan. 24.

Approximately 17,000 letters seeking contributions from city and county residents were being prepared last night at Draughon's Business college by members of Exchange club, Business and Professional Women's club, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, and the Junior Welfare League. The letters are to be mailed early next week.

Five Persons Die In Crash Of Navy Plane

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 13 (AP)—A Navy plane crashed shortly after taking off here late today and all five members of the crew were killed the Air Force reported.

Lt. Wesley Kille, stationed at Stout field, nearby Air Field base, said the plane had taken off from Weir Cook municipal airport and crashed in a field a few minutes later.

Lt. Kille said the plane was demolished and partly burned. He said the bodies were scattered a distance of about 75 feet.

Airport control operators said they believed the plane developed engine trouble after taking off and was attempting to return to the field when it crashed.

Promises To Root Out Reds

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan 13. — Dean Acheson scornfully rejected descriptions of himself as an "appeaser" toward Russia today and promised to root any Reds out of the State department.

Acheson is President Truman's choice as the new secretary of state.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations committee, Acheson volunteered the comment that he is still "friends" with Alger Hiss, indicted former State department official and key figure in the 1948 spy investigations.

He suggested, by implication, that judgment on Hiss' guilt or innocence should await the outcome of his perjury trial.

Berle States Views

As the jam-packed hearing went on, a heralded possible source of opposition to Acheson's confirmation failed to develop. Former Assistant Secretary of State Adolf A. Berle, jr., telegraphed the Senate committee "I do not oppose his (Acheson's) confirmation and no implications to that effect are warranted."

Berle said it was true that in the fall of 1944 he and Acheson differed on Russian policy. He said he had no confidence that Russian expansionism could be halted by a policy of wide concessions, while "Mr. Acheson like other men in the government at that time felt otherwise . . . "

Offers Best Wishes

"As I have repeatedly stated, the matter was one on which honest men could differ, and I have never felt that divergence on this question reflected on the competence or loyalty of men who went along with the policy then adopted."

Berle did not say precisely that he supports Acheson's nomination, but said he feels strongly that the secretary of state should take office under conditions giving him the best possible chance of complete success "for which he has my best wishes."

Charges "Incredible"

Acheson told the Senate group that accusations labelling him an "appeaser" are "so incredible it is difficult for me to believe that

Women Arrested On Check Charge

Two young women, 17 and 18, both of Lubbock, were arrested at mid-afternoon Thursday by city detectives after they had allegedly attempted to pass a "hot" check at a downtown bank.

Luna Mae Lester, 18, was charged in a complaint with forgery and turned over to county authorities. The 17-year-old, a juvenile, will be questioned by juvenile authorities.

A 24-year-old man was arrested at the bus station here and jailed on a charge of vagrancy. Police were investigating a complaint from the Amarillo police department that the man had stolen a watch there, although he had no such article in his possession at the time of arrest.

Truck Reported Stolen

A Lubbock negro woman, 32, was held on an informal charge of theft under $5, after she allegedly took $1 from a purse which she found. Two witnesses said they saw the woman pick up the purse after its owner dropped it. Confronted with the evidence, the woman readily returned the purse. Its owner, however, said that the dollar bill was missing.

The Levelland police department reported that a red, 1940 Ford pickup truck, Texas license NL 2848, had been stolen there about 8:30 o'clock last night. The information was broadcast to all local police units.

Eight men, arrested at the scene of a dice game, paid fines of $15 each after two entered pleas of guilty to gambling with dice and the remaining six entered similar pleas to charges of "sweating" the

Reds To Punish Chinese General

SHANGHAI, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Chinese Communists announced tonight they would punish the captured Gen. Tu Li-Ming as a war criminal.

Maintaining their artillery-supported sieges of Peiping and Tientsin, the Communists called on the government commanders to surrender those great northern cities or face fates similar to Tu's.

Assorted peace plans continued to preoccupy most of Nationalist China, but there was no indication the Reds were interested in any of them.

Terms Are Reported

In Nanking, Associated Press Correspondent Harold K. Milks reported the government was known to have requested the United States, Britain, France and Russia to act either jointly or individually to try to bring the two sides together for a peace effort. The requests were stated not to go so far as to ask arbitration, but only "good offices" of the big four.

No one with any understanding of the situation, however, believed there was a chance of the Reds considering any peace plea until Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and many of his closest lieutenants have stepped out.

In Peiping, a source claiming to be "in the know" gave Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa what he described as actual conditions offered by the Communists.

(These unconfirmed conditions would amount to outright surrender by the government.)

The terms were said to include:

BILL HITS AT RECKLESS DRIVERS

Texas Senate Is Asked To Okay New Driver Responsibility Law

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 13.—Could you pay $5,000 damages for injuring someone with your car?

If not, and if you had such an accident, a bill pending in the 51st Senate would take away your driving privilege.

Popularly known as a driver responsibility law, the bill was introduced by Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville, co-authored by Senator W. A. Shofner of Temple.

Senator Morris and the bill itself say it is "an act to promote safe driving apd to remove from the highways the reckless and financially irresponsible drivers."

There are several ways provided by the proposed law to satisfy its "responsibility" requirement. You could take out a liability insurance policy covering you for $5,000 for injury or death of one person, $10,000 for two persons and $1,000 for property damage. You could be financially able to pay such damages personally. You could be a bonded driver or be a "self-insurer" a person who owns 25 or more cars.

GROUP PLANS 1949 ACTIVITIES

Engineer Society Puts Primary Emphasis On Membership Drive

By COTTON FANNING
Avalanche Staff Writer

The primary purpose of the South Plains section of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers in 1949 will be to expand the organization's membership and activities, with membership carrying the heaviest emphasis, according to W. L. Ducker, newly elected president of the society, who presided at its first meeting of the year Thursday evening in the Hilton hotel.

"Expanding the society's membership is the first consideration, after which activities and other things will come almost automatically, or at least more easily," Ducker said.

Membership Suggestions Offered

He also suggested several methods of increasing membership, among which were the promotion of registration of engineers who are eligible, and opening of the meetings to non-member engineers, both registered and non-registered.

Chairmen for four standing committees were appointed by the board of directors, which includes W. H. Garrett, Joe A. Stanley jr., R. W. Tucker and Max Tidmore. Dean O. V. Adams was appointed to head the Profesional Practices and Ethics committee; Harry Roberts the Public Relations committee; Elmer W. Hester the Chapter Activities committee, and Gordon Parkhill the Membership committee.

In addition to these, a new committee on entertainment was formed with Bud Aderton at its head. The duties of the new committee were defined as taking over some of the lesser tasks of the Activities committee, and seeing that everyone was well received at each meeting.

Absentee Appointments Made

Some of the committee chairmen were appointed in their absence, and are subject to acceptance before the appointments become official.

The joint group of this year's and last year's executives appointed President Ducker to attend the annual state meeting in Waco Jan. 19, 20 and 21, and voted that he go uninstructed to act in the best interest of the section.

The resignation of the vice president elect having been received, R. W. Tucker was elevated to that position from that of a director, and L. E. Parsons was appointed to replace him on the board of directors.

Woman Dies Of Shock After Train Hits Husband's Truck

Mrs. E. Moore of Hugo died at the Boswell hospital where she had accompanied her husband, 65, who was critically injured in the accident.

Mrs. Moore watched the accident from the porch of the Keylon home.

Legionnaires Turn Out 100 Per Cent Vote In Wisconsin Town

DOUSMAN, Wis., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—This village in southeastern Wisconsin has 198 eligible voters.

On Nov. 2 last, 198 ballots were cast in the village.

The 100 per cent voting record was due to a get-out-the-vote campaign conducted by the local American Legion post.

Legionnaires kept watch at the polls on election day and checked off names of voters who showed up. By mid-afternoon they started rounding up voters who hadn't appeared.

One Legionnaire had to run a restaurant so its owner could vote. Another had to turn baby-sitter.

Rancher Testifies In Valley Election Suit

RIO GRANDE CITY, Jan. 13. (AP)—A retired rancher has testified here that whenever he showed up at the polls—prior to 1945—election officials "just asked me my name and the names of my family in the cemetery."

Martin Solis, 67-year-old retired farmer and rancher from La Grulla, said "I didn't have to make out a ballot."

Solis testified in an election contest suit brought by Armando Longoria against his cousin, Jose Maria Longoria, to whom Armando lost the 1948 race for precinct 3 Starr county commissioner.

Solis, testifying yesterday in sixth day of the suit, said he had been making out his own ballot since 1945 although he had been voting at La Grulla for "many years prior to that."

"Before 1945, when Mr. H. P. Guerra was in, when I went to the polls they just asked me my name and the names of my family in the cemetery," Solis testified. "I didn't have to make out a ballot."

An "H. P. Guerra" is commissioner of Precinct 2 centered at Roma and is the nominal head of the old party which dominated Starr county politics for more than 50 years. But in the 1946 and 1948 elections Guerra's party lost all important county offices except those in Precinct 2.

University Plans Help For Czech Professor

GRANVILLE, O., Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Students, faculty and friends of Denison University here have all pitched in to help bring to this country a political refugee from Czechoslovakia.

They are raising $1,000 to pay for a one-year fellowship for Dr. Jaroslav Majda, 30, former member of the political science department of Charles University in Prague.

Dr. Majda escaped in February after losing his position in the Communist purge in his country. He now is living in a camp for displaced persons in the American zone of Germany.

Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, Denison's president, said the university not only wants to help one of Europe's thousands of unfortunates, but also wants to add to its teaching staff an instructor thoroughly conversant through bitter, personal experience with life in Europe.

AGED EEL NEAR DEATH

STOCKHOLM. (AP)—An 88-year-old eel in the museum of Halsingborg, Sweden—claimed to be the oldest aquarium fish in the world—is failing rapidly. Caught by two boys in a creek outside the south Swedish city in 1863, the eel named Putte ("Ducky" in English, "Pueppchen" in German) has outlived his captors. About a year ago Putte developed a tumor and is now getting weaker and weaker. Experts on fishes' diseases have not been able to help him.

Emperor Spared Trial On Top U. S. Orders

TOKYO, Jan. 13. (AP)—Emperor Hirohito escaped prosecution as a war criminal on orders of the United States joint chiefs of staff.

Copies of the order are available here. The order, a part of the directive to Gen. Douglas MacArthur to set up the international tribunal, which convicted Hideki Tojo and 24 other Japanese war leaders, was issued in January, 1946.

At first it was classed as top secret. Later it was graded down to allow defense attorneys for the 25 Class AAA Japanese war criminals to use it in their appeal to the Supreme court of the United States.

Specifically it prohibited prosecution of the Emperor "pending receipt of a further directive." Reliable sources said no further directive ever was received by MacArthur.

These sources said the decision not to prosecute Hirohito, who was commander in chief of Japan's armed forces, came from a U. S. "governmental level," which was not further identified. The chiefs of staffs then issued the order. At that time the Far Eastern commission had not been formed as an advisory body on policy for the occupation.

At Washington records showed that in January, 1946 the members of the joint chiefs of staff were Fleet Admirals William D. Leahy and Chester Nimitz and Generals of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower and H. H. Arnold.

CASHES IN TWO WAYS

EAST ST. LOUIS (U.P.)—An enterprising burglar took $40 from the home of Tilman Van Buren, then collected $6.50 by renting a room in the house to a prospective tenant who called while he was ransacking the bureau drawers.

Officer Back From Tokyo Says Hirohito Would Like To Resign

DALLAS, Jan. 13. (INS)—Capt. James A. Hacker, who has just returned to Dallas after spending 30 months in Tokyo, says the average Japanese is far better off now than before the war.

They realize it too, says the Captain, "and with the exception of the very wealthy and powerful, they look on the occupation as a god send."

The Captain described the Emperor as a "very gracious sincere man, who "probably would like to resign as Emperor." Capt. Hacker says the Emperor is working for the best interest of his people now.

"MacArthur stands even above the Emperor in their (the Japanese) estimation," Capt. Hacker says and, "they stand in line for hours just to see the General pass."

Capt. Hacker, a newspaper advertising executive manager before the war, was chief of the Public Information Bureau in General MacArthur's headquarters.

The Danish Co-operative Bacon Factories association plans to start manufacturing penicillin in Denmark before the end of this year.

JAPANESE CONCERNED OVER MOVES

Jap Scientists Fear Next Atom Bomb Attack To Be By Soviets

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Japanese scientists fear that the next atom bomb attack on their homeland may come from the Russians, Prof. I. I. Rabi, of Columbia university, said today.

Rabi, a member of a group of scientists who recently visited Hiroshima—first atom bomb taget—said that the Japanese are "much concerned" over whether the Russians will be able to make an atomic bomb.

Rabi, whose physics department at Columbia university was able to split an atom of uranium long before the atom bomb was perfected, also said that he was "now convinced" that the atom bombing of Japan brought the unconditional surrender of the Japanese to the United States.

He was one of the American scientists who originally believed that it may not have been a good idea to atom bomb the Japanese or any enemy country.

"I am convinced now," he said, "that it brought unconditional surrender and the saving of many thousands of American lives."

He said the bomb also had strengthened America's post-war position in Japan.

Prof. Rabi said the the Japanese scientists—who never dreamed that an atomic bomb would be developed during the last war—are "happy" that American forces are occupying Japan.

"They are so helpless," he said. "They show no resentment whatsoever that we atom bombed them."

The Japanese scientists' chief worry, he said, is whether the Russians will be able to make an atom bomb.

"I tried to assure them," he said, "that in the event the Russians do get the bomb, that Japan will be an 'unimportant target' and will not be bombed."

Prof. Rabi said that Japanese scientists are not permitted to do any work on atomic energy that might lead to the secret of an atomic bomb. He said that the three Japanese cyclotrons—atom-smashing machines — had been destroyed on orders of the Far Eastern command.

He added, however, that a cyclotron is "certainly no accessory to an atomic bomb," and that to destroy them was an "act of vandalism."

Rabi said he believed that the Japanese never realized the consequences of "total war."

Yugoslavs Sentence Catholic Priest For 'Terroristic' Acts

BELGRADE, Jan. 13—(U.P.)—An official announcement today said a Roman Catholic priest was sentenced yesterday to 12 years at hard labor for leading a "terroristic" group in Croatia.

The Rev. Alojz Kovactitch was among 15 Croats brought to trial at Sisak in Croatia after a gun battle with Yugoslav militia, according to a brief statement which was the first public word of the case.

The 15 were alleged to be members of "the crusaders," described as a Catholic underground organization in Croatia. The statement said two of its leaders were killed in the clash with militiamen.

Tarrant County Chalks Up Third Polio Victim Of Year

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Tarrant county's third polio victim of 1949 was listed today at city-county hospital as Donald Hudson, 5, of Brownwood.

A younger brother of the victim, Gary, one, was pronounced a positive polio case last week. Donald's twin brother, Ronnie, has shown no sign yet of being affected, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hudson, said.

HE'S FIVE

Boy Minister Has Birthday Party

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13. (A.P.)—The Rev. Marjoe Gortner had his fifth birthday anniversary party last night.

His parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Vernon G. Gortner of Long Beach, Calif., and a dozen friends made it a dinner party in a restaurant. There was a cake with five candles, and gifts.

Mrs. Gortner said tomorrow is actually the anniversary because Marjoe was born in Long Beach Jan. 14, 1944, but the friends could more conveniently gather last night.

Among the guests were sailor Raymond Miller, 23, attached to the U.S.S. St. Paul, and his bride, the former Alma Brown, 21, of Long Beach, who were married Jan. 2 by the boy evangelist. Marjoe's officiating at the wedding touched off criticism from adult clergymen but the marriage was recognized as legal by county authorities.

Marjoe's father said the lad was ordained last October as a minister of the Church of the Old Time Faith. The boy plans to hold a "birthday service" in Long Beach Sunday.

Modern Solomon In Divorce Court 'Splits' Custody Of Family Car

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 13.—(U.P.)—District Judge Horace D. Ballaine found it impracticable to split a 1947 automobile in half, but he reached a Solomon-like solution to his problem.

He ordered a couple awaiting a divorce hearing to share custody of their automobile, with the husband getting it weekdays to drive to work and the wife on weekends for grocery buying and church-going.

Taylor To Quit Post With TMA

AUSTIN, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—State Sen. James E. Taylor of Kerens submitted his resignation today as public relations director of the Texas Manufacturers association, effective Jan. 15.

The resignation was made to Ed C. Burris of Corpus Christi, executive vice president of the TMA.

Taylor said that his duties as chairman of the powerful Senate Finance committee will "require my full time."

He had been public relations director of the TMA since shortly after adjournment of the 50th legislature in 1947.

When his appointment was announced at that time, it came under fire from a group of representatives.

Taylor, who has been chairman of the Gilmer-Aikin committee on education since its formation two years ago, expressed "sincere regret" on his resignation.

He requested that the board of directors of the TMA act on his resignation at their meeting at Corpus Christi tomorrow.

Taylor praised the TMA's objectives of "improving and maintaining a favorable atmosphere for business in Texas," which he said "has long been one of the principles to which I have subscribed."

He said he did not desire to ask for a leave of absence "and see the program I have initiated stand still for the next six months, but had rather see you employ someone else to carry on in my place."

Pope In New Plea For U. S. Aid To Refugees

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Pope Pius XII urged today that the United States open its doors wider to refugees, including exiled priests.

He exhorted the Catholic clergy of the United States to redouble their efforts to obtain admittance to America not only "for refugees torn from their kin, but also for their families and exiled priests."

His appeal was contained in a letter in Latin published in the Osservatore Romano and addressed to Msgr. John T. Nicholas, Archbishop of Cincinnati and President of the National Catholic Welfare conference central office.

The Pope said that both charity and the law of nature bid nations to open the way for immigration of refugees and displaced persons.

The pope, in another letter, urged fresh efforts to wean the masses from "fallacious ideologies, tumults and violence."

He urged the Capuchin minor order to "penetrate among the masses as mediators of peace, teachers of truth and nurturers of Christian piety."

Rent Control Director Has Tough Time Finding House

CORSICANA, Jan. 13. (A.P.)—Housing tight in your town? Listen to this:

C. J. Lockhart of Waco became rent control director for Ellis, Kaufman and Navarro counties, with headquarters here, on May 7, 1947. Immediately he started looking for a landlord who would like to rent a house to a rent director.

Today, eight months and six days later, he announced he had found one.

Man With Plan To Cross Cattle And Buffalo Ready To Give Up

BUCYRUS, O., Jan. 13. (U.P.)—William Sharrock wishes the hefty two-year-old cow buffalo he bought recently for breeding purposes would vanish just as fast as the animals did from the western plains.

Sharrock has changed his mind about using the cow in artificially breeding cattlelo, a cross between buffalo and American cattle. His family objects to wild animals and he has taken a constant ribbing about his "buffalo farm" since it arrived from the game preserve division of the Pennsylvania department of agriculture. He is offering it for sale.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

IF you are overcrweight, be assured in dieting to reduce the waistline was evinced when 125 sent postal cards asking for a schedule. So, it is with no apology that we offer these tips this morning. If you are slender and your clothes fit to a T (lucky you) turn to the comic strip; if not, perhaps you'll be interested.

As the Plainsman wrote in a column this week, "it takes at least a ton of will power to diet off an ounce of surplus fat." He should know because he diets at will from time to time.

It's apparent that after the holiday gorging, there are hundreds who feel the need of a little reduction. We heard of a group of men in an Eastern city who got up a jackpot with a ten dollar entry fee. The chubby who loses the greatest number of pounds by the end of the month will be the winner. That might be an idea for some overweight chums in Lubbock.

IF you are overweight, be assured that you have too much stored up nourishment in your frame, mementoes of vanished chocolate sundaes, mashed potatoes and gravy, hot rolls and the like that really never vanished. This diet we present today was tested by a physician and contains sufficient nourishment for the average obese person. Always check with your doctor before you begin a diet.

If you want to reduce the meat dishes to utter simplicity, you can use lean, ground steak day after day. When you are in doubt, eat that. A little overeating on your meat portions isn't half as fattening as a slip-up on a pat of butter or rich dessert.

The vegetables in the diet should be cooked without milk or cream and the coffee or tea taken without cream and sugar. Meats should be broiled or roasted or roasted whenever possible.

THE DIET: The breakfast is the same every day for the two-week period. Half a grapefruit, with no sugar added; one or two eggs, boiled or poached; one slice of dry toast, preferably rye or whole wheat, and black coffee.

MONDAY: Lunch, two eggs, any style but fried; tomatoes, sliced or stewed, and black coffee. Dinner, two eggs, scrambled; combination salad; one piece of dry toast and half a grapefruit.

TUESDAY: Lunch, eggs, grapefruit and coffee. Dinner, steak, broiled; tomatoes, raw or stewed; lettuce, celery, olives; coffee or tea.

WEDNESDAY: Lunch, eggs, tomatoes and spinach; black coffee or tea. Dinner, lamb chops, broiled; celery, tomatoes; coffee or tea.

THURSDAY: Lunch, combination salad; grapefruit; coffee or tea. Dinner, scrambled eggs, cottage cheese; spinach, one piece of dry toast; grapefruit; coffee or tea.

FRIDAY: Lunch, two eggs, any style except fried; spinach and coffe. Dinner, fish, combination salad, one piece of dry toast; grapefruit, coffee or tea.

SATURDAY: Lunch, fruit salad, nothing else. Dinner, plenty of steak, celery, tomatoes, coffee or tea.

SUNDAY: Lunch, cold chicken, tomatoes and grapefruit; coffee. Dinner, chicken, roasted; tomatoes; cooked vegetables; lettuce and grapefruit salad; coffee or tea.

TEN days of strict adherence should rid you of about 10 pounds. Happy days! (We are just joking, of course).

BROKEN TREES

ONE just goes along day after day accepting such things as trees growing and telephones ringing and then an ice storm comes along and creates damage to both and one is distraught.

When our telephone line was snapped in the middle of Wednesday, we thought of persons all the way from Shallowater to Shanghai we'd like to call; although we can recall at times we have been so tired of hearing the jangle of the telephone we've been tempted to jerk it from the wall.

And the Chinese elms that line our yard have been a source of worry because their roots wind around the sewer pipes, causing plumbing bills, and also take all the nourishment from the ground, making it impossible to grow flowers or a stand of grass. And yet, when we sat through the evening, listening to the ice-loaded branches snap we were sick at heart. After all, those elms do help to create shade in summer.

The storms help you to appreciate blessings you had not considered. Perhaps it is well that we are "ice-solated" once in a while, in order to take time out for thinking.

Today's Town Talk

Misses Lou and Sammy Dunn will be bridesmaids in the wedding of their cousin, Miss Kara Hunsucker, and Cecil E. Burney which will be performed Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church in Corpus Christi. Miss Hunsucker, a graduate of Texas Technological college, is the daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Hunsucker of Corpus Christi. For the past five years, she has been Woman's Editor of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times. Mr. Burney is associated with a law firm there.

Following a Caribbean cruise, the couple will be at home in Corpus Christi.

Included in wedding guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Sam G. Dunn and son, Bobby, Levelland road, who left Lubbock Thursday afternoon accompanied by Miss Sammy Dunn. Miss Lou Dunn is a student at the University of Texas.

Mrs. William G. McMillan, Ko Shari patroness, entertained members of the club with luncheon at her home on the Levelland highway Thursday at noon.

Her guests were Lucy West, Shelley Furr, Pat Cox and Peggy McClatchy. They were entertained by the antics of the McMillan's honey-colored cocker spaniel, "Amber."

Sally Arker, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Arker, 2604 Thirty-second, has been entertaining her neighborhood by executing figure eights and other ice skate gymnastics on the ice sheeted surface of her front lawn.

Her beloved skates were a Christmas gift from an uncle while Sally and her family were spending the holidays in New York. She took one hard flop the first time she put them on, and then went down to Radio City ice arena and skated very well. On the way back to Texas, the Arkers stopped and let young Sally have another skating session on Lake Michigan.

She is at least one Lubbockite who is sorry to see the thawing process set in and have her front yard ice arena return to its normal status as a sodden lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Tiernan and small son, Gary, of Elmira, N. Y., arrived in Lubbock by car Wednesday afternoon to spend a week in the home of her mother, Mrs. John Turner, 920 Ave. M.

Mrs. Tiernan is the former Marion Turner.

Mrs. Weldon Christian and son, Steve, who have been guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cox, since the holidays, will return to their home in Tulsa, Okla., Saturday by plane.

Representing the unusual in common interests and equal educational attainment for a bridal couple are Winifred Woods and David M. Vigness of LaFeria, who will be married here in Lubbock on Jan. 28.

Both the bride-elect and the prospective bridegroom will receive their doctor's degrees in Latin American history at the University of Texas in June, 1950.

Friends of Mrs. Wylie Briscoe of Houston will be glad to know that she did finally arrive in Lubbock by car Thursday afternoon. The traveler left Houston Monday, was stranded in Abilene that night because of inclement weather, and had to remain there until early Thursday.

She will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Mildred Hill.

Holice C. Pruett, who was graduated from Texas Tech college in 1945 and has been associated with the General Electric company in Schenectady, N. Y., for three and one-half years as a steel mill design engineer, is returning to Lubbock. He has spent the last six weeks in Dallas working in preparation for a job he is to assume with the General Electric Supply corporation here.

Mrs. Pruett, the former Carolyn Reynolds, a daughter of J. C. Reynolds of this city, has been visiting in Dallas, Plainview and Lubbock since the couple left Schenectady in November.

The Pruetts will be at home at 2124 Twenty-fifth.

Mrs. McLaughlin Is Hostess At Luncheon

Mrs. A. W. McLaughlin honored Mrs. John Cullen Scott and Mrs. Ansil Stone at a luncheon given in her home at 1912 Twenty-fourth Tuesday.

Other guests were Mesdames Charles Kuykendall, Blair Adams, Marvin Pruitt and Orville Smith.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—American women may need more than the fires of enthusiasm to keep them warm in the new spring dresses!

U. S. and Canadian fashion editors, seeing previews of New York spring styles today, found the "bare look" has brought plunging V necks, sleevelessness and naked shoulders.

Designer Clare Potter sponsored "the bare arm look" in a series of sleeveless dresses made of silk, linen and wool jersey. A specialist in blouse-and skirt ensembles, she showed sleeveless toppers above perfectly straight skirts.

Sleeves Get New Look

In Potter-designed dresses that had sleeves, the sleeves were little more than shoulder cap drapery. Puff-sleeved bodices were cut low in back.

Claire McCardell believed in brevity of bodice, but fullness of skirt. One exaggerated example was a bathing suit called the "spectacle." It had barrel-shaped bloomer pants, and bra consisted of round ovals of fabric wired together to resemble eyeglasses.

Miss McCardell, who concentrated on a new high-waisted line in her dresses, frequently cut her necklines down to meet the waistband. And she introduced a group of cabana suits, which are designed to look like silk dresses —except that the hemline ends at the mid-thigh.

Stoles Are Used

Miss Walker concentrated on the soft lines: Natural, rounded shoulders, high bosoms, moderately flared skirts and pastel colors.

She used stoles to cover bared shoulders and to double for sashes. Little jackets made every sun-dress a street-dress when occasion demanded. Even her most tailored suits were cut in soft shades of pliable linen.

The rounded outline was the outstanding feature also at the Deitsch, Warsba and Copolla press showing. The collection, all sport clothes, featured coats with flared skirts and tucks at the waist to give fullness in the bodice.

Capes returned, with built-in capelets on jackets; short capes, taffeta-lined, in place of jackets; and full length tweed capes to replace coats.

Bill Would Boost State Outlay For Educating Crippled Children

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 13.—Crippled children would get a better chance to go to school like the other kids under a bill in the State Senate.

School districts would receive up to $300 a year per child to provide for special instruction and special equipment to be paid for by the state.

The bill was introduced Wednesday by G. C. Morris of Greenville. Morris was author of the bill which went into effect in 1945 providing state aid for special instruction to crippled children.

The state has been paying $200 a year per child under its provisions. The new bill would boost that by $100 and also embrace students six to 20 years old. The age limits are now six to 17. Music, recreational and physical therapy were added to the instruction in the new bill.

To Cost $750,000

All this is expected to cost the state $750,000. The annual appropriation has been $350,000.

School districts in which five or more crippled children live could ask the state for aid in special classes.

"We started out in 1945 with 26 units where special classes were held for cripple children," said Dr. H. E. Robinson, director of the special education division of the state department of education. "In 1946 we had 56 units; in 1947, 76 units and for this school year 82 units.

"San Antonio has an entire building for instruction to crippled children. Fort Worth has one wing of a school and Dallas and Houston have set aside sections of school buildings."

Smaller cities have various provisions, Dr. Robinson added. In Austin the teachers go to the homes of crippled children. Waco has set aside several rooms for them.

Dr. Robinson said that most of the changes in the bill introduced this week were recommended by the Texas Society for Crippled Children.

"The plan has worked exceedingly well," Robinson said. "With increased appropriations to take care of rising costs and expansions, it should continue to succeed."

'Impossible' X-Ray Microscope Invented By Stanford Scientist

PALO ALTO, Calif., Jan. 13. (U.P.)—An X-ray microscope which scientists believe will enable them to study the secrets of living cells has been invented by a Stanford physicist.

Dr. Paul H. Kirkpatrick says he hopes his new microscope, when fully developed, will permit scientists to take X-rays of objects less than a millionth of an inch in size.

An X-ray microscope previously had been considered an impossibility because X-rays show almost no refraction and do not reflect at a very low angle. Kirkpatrick solved the problem by an ingenious arrangement of metal-coated, concave mirrors which focus the X-rays both vertically and horizontally.

The resolving power, or range, of the new microscope is expected to be somewhere between the best type of optical microscope and the electron microscope, which cannot be used to examine living tissues.

TWO TOUGH WOOLIES—Paul Bolzer, left, and Jim Wenban brush the snow from two sheep which have just been dug out of a drift where the animals survived many hours of burial. A herd of about 500 stampeded out of a pen on Bill Smith's ranch near Douglas, Wyoming, during last week's blizzard. They were caught against a fence and literally buried alive by the wind-driven snow. To the surprise of the stockmen, about half of them were dug up alive. (AP Wirephoto).

Enlisted Men To Get Clothing Credit Plan

Interested in ways of saving the taxpayers money?

A new clothing credit system for enlisted personnel of the Army and Air Force will go into effect July 1 and is expected to save taxpayers approximately eight billion dollars a year in administration and maintenance costs, according to information received by Major Harold Fulghum, in charge of the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force Recruiting service in room 203 postoffice building. It "will result in more economical use of clothing by enlisted men and women," Major Fulghum said.

"The plan is expected to call for a sum of money to be placed to the credit of each enlisted person at the beginning of each three month period," he added. "Enlisted personnel, who take care of their clothing, may gain $25 a year, since any unused amount of clothing credit will be given to them in cash. Under the present system, where clothing is issued directly, this incentive is lacking."

The savings were estimated on the basis of pre-World War II experience when the credit system was in effect. The new practice will be used only in peacetime.

CAR STOLEN LEGALLY

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (U.P.)—Alvin Leonard had to pay a garage $2 after police "stole" his car. Leonard reported the car had been stolen when it was gone from its parking place. Policemen confessed they took the car, believing it stolen, and had it towed to a local garage. Leonard got it back after paying the garage a $2 tow bill.

Light Hen Houses During Winter To Aid Production, Expert Says

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Artificial lighting in chicken houses during the winter months will boost egg production, says a University of Illinois poultry expert.

With lights, farmers can get 13 to 14 hours work from their flocks, according to S. F. Ridlen, extension poultryman with the university's college of agriculture.

The lights should be turned on at the same time daily, so the chickens get accustomed to the practice. One 40-watt light bulb in a cone-shaped reflector for every 200 square feet of floor space will do the trick, Ridlen said.

Shivers Keeps Tight Rein Upon Senators

Quiet Order Of Texas Senate Contrasts With Noisy House

By BARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 13.—Shifting from the Texas House of Representatives to the state Senate is like walking out of grand central station into the rare Tibetan manuscript room of a public library.

Each senator sits at his own private desk in a big dark red leather swivel chair with the seal of Texas stamped in the leather. Each has his private wastebasket and cuspidor.

When he wants a page boy he gives a discrete little clap-clap with his hands, and the boy gumshoes over the emerald green carpet.

Rules Are Tight

Lt. Governor Allan Shivers slambangs his gavel sharply to keep that recorum.

The rules help, too. The senators can't very well get rambunctious when they have to be so polite.

"You've got to have on a blue serge suit and face a certain way before you can talk," Senator Wardlow Lane of Center was complaining yesterday.

Senator Fred Harris of Dallas was standing up at his desk talking. Lane stood up.

"Will the senator yield?" Lane asked respectfully.

"Not at the present because I have a great school of thought here," Harris responded.

"Well, I wouldn't want to yield under those unusual circumstances," Lane retorted, and sat down.

House Is Noisy

Laughter began. But Shivers almost cracked the wooden block on his stand calling for order. You gotta be nice in the Senate.

T'aint so in the House. A friendly little rivalry over who can make the bright remarks goes on amid the general confusion on the floor.

Rep. George Parkhouse of Dallas got up to the microphone to say someone had left an overcoat in his room.

"What time did they leave it there, George?" a member yelled from the floor. Parkhouse grinned and waved his hand.

Speaker Durwood Manford grinned and said he was ready for a motion to adjourn. Someone suggested, "It's time." Amid ayes and noes to which no one paid attention the House adjourned.

Man Beats Bird At Own Game; Ranchers Hunt Eagle In Planes

BRACKETVILLE, Jan. 13. (INS)—Man is taking to wings in the south Texas ranch country to rid himself of a winged menace.

Ranchers in this area are waging aerial warfare against the Mexican Brown eagle. The eagle, dwelling in cliffs, kills about 20 young lambs a year.

Each weekend a small plane is chartered and a crack shot flies along the cliffs with the pilot. The roar of the motor flushes the eagles and the hunter picks them off with buckshot.

Shattered Bullet Left In Man's Jaw Finally Works Its Way Out

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Piece by piece, Samuel Udelson, 17 finally got rid of a .22 caliber bullet that had been lodged in his jaw for two years.

The last particle worked its way to the bottom of his mouth as he strode along a downtown street. He walked to a hospital where physicians completed the removal.

On Jan. 22, 1947, Udelson was shot accidentally. The bullet shattered into fragments and several could not be removed. In time, however, particles gradually worked their way to his mouth.

Injured Couple's Marriage To Climax Wheel Chair Romance

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Two wheel chair sweethearts, Millie Rierson and John S. Storie, will be married here shortly, climaxing a romance that grew out of separate accidents just one month apart nine years ago.

Millie, 28, sufered a back injury in an auto accident near Astoria, Ore., which paralyzed her from the waist down. John, 27, suffered a similar injury in a farm mishap at Centralia, Wash. For a long time both were bedridden. Now they get about in wheel chairs.

Millie and John met last year when they were attending the Milton H. Berry Foundation school here and fell in love.

Hitler's 'Court Jester' Is Given Release In De-Nazification Trial

By GEORGE MANCE
INS Staff Correspondent

MUNICH, Jan. 13 —Dr. Ernest "Putzi" Hanfstaengl, the Harvard graduate who once was Hitler's "court jester" and piano player, was freed today by a German de-Nazification court.

The upper Bavarian court at Weilheim dropped the "major offender" charge in a one-day hearing. The court decided that Hanfstaengl's "psychological warfare" on the side of the Allies against the Navis outweighed his early party membership.

"Putzi," a German nickname of affection for the 62-year-old former Nazi, boasted that he frequently played the piano for the late President Roosevelt and former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

He introduced an affidavit said to have been signed Dec. 17, 1947, by Sumner Welles, former U. S. under-secretary of state, saying Hanfstaengl was of "real value" to the United States in developing its psychological warfare plans.

Hanfstaengl, an early convert of Hitler, later became chief of the foreign press section of the Nazi foreign ministry and then broke with the regime in 1937, testified he first met Roosevelt in 1913.

"We became very good friends," he said, "and had dinner and breakfast together almost every day that year."

Churchill ordered the exiled Hanfstaengl's arrest during the war and shipped him to Canada. Hanfstaengl said he then smuggled out a letter to Roosevelt offering him anti-Nazi services and that the President gained Churchill's approval for his transfer to Washington.

"Putzi" said he lived in a "beautiful home" in Washington and that his son who was a sergeant in the American Army in the Pacific was ordered back to become one of his "three bodyguards."

"All I had to do," he said, "was to submit one written report on psychological warfare weekly to President Roosevelt."

(Editor's note: Hanfstaengl actually was a prisoner borrowed by President Roosevelt from the British to furnish personal information about Hitler and the men around him. He was kept in seclusion at a ramshackle house near Alexandria, Va.

(When his usefullness ended he was returned to Canada for imprisonment. After the war he was returned to Germany.)

Hanfstaengl told the court that after the first world war "I was broke—that's how I found my way into the Nazi party."

Description Gets Laugh

Loud laughter greeted his description of Hitler as a "typical American type of self-made man."

Hanfstaengl said he was converted by Hitler's speeches for more "living space for Germany." He admitted participation in the abortive Munich putsch by the Nazis in 1923.

In 1937 he said Hermann Goering became jealous of his close friendship with Hitler and "tried to get rid of me."

"Goering," he added, "ordered me to Spain as a special envoy to Franco but told the pilot to drop me by parachute behind the Republican lines to get me captured.

"Bad weather forced a landing at Leipzig, and I escaped to Switzerland and then England."

Explorers Have Exceptional Year In 1948 As Expeditions Turn Up Sensational Finds

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.— Moses did not lead the exodus across the Red sea. . .

The nest of the Curlew, only North American bird whose breeding grounds had escaped discovery, was found. . .

Petrified remains of a ship were reported seen atop the 17,000-foot mountain which tradition says is the resting place of Noah's ark.

The world's explorers made those and many other sensational finds in 1948, the National Geographic society recalled today. The society added, crisply:

"A look at the record conveys the impression that everybody with the urge got into the exploration business."

Searched Scattered Areas

From the tropics to both poles, from continents, oceans and the atmosphere the intrepid scientists wrenched new knowledge. They were men of many nations, seeking knowledge in widely-scattered fields.

Dr. Robert Broom, of Transvaal, leading a unit of the University of California's African expedition, discovered that it was the Brackish Reed—not Red—sea that Moses traversed. The Reed sea is 10 miles south of today's city of Port Said.

Ornithologists were electrified by the radiogram dispatched from Alaska by Dr. Arthur A. Allen, of Cornell: "We have found the Curlew's nest."

It was on Turkey's Mt. Ararat that thawing snows uncovered what may be the remains of the ark.

Dr. Broom's expedition also found the fourth distinct ancestral type uncovered in South Africa since 1936—the Swartkrans man, a nine-foot tall fossil.

Find Ancient Alphabet

Broom also discovered 3,500-year-old inscriptions in the Sinai Peninsula, the earliest known that use an alphabet similar to today's.

Three Congo peafowl known as Afropavos and two Elephant Shrews were the rare finds of the New York Zoological society's Belgian Congo safari. Other African safaris tested radio waves on the "Mountains of the Moon."

In New Zealand, the first complete skeletons of the largest bird on record were extracted from a jelly-ooze swamp by Dr. Forest Cushman Murphy for the American Museum of Natural History. The MOA, extinct for 500 years, is 10 feet high and weighs 500 pounds.

Need for more accurate maps spurred Geographic's own mammoth venture—a coordinated study of the May 8-9 sun eclipse at seven stations along the 5,320-mile eclipse path from Burma to the Aleutians.

Seek Redwood Link

In China, California Academy of Sciences entomologists scraped beetles from Asia's only Redwoods for comparison with species found so far only in California's coastal Redwoods. The scientists want to see if the trees had common ancestors somewhere in the world.

Danes on an Afghanistan desert discovered the fabled, buried city of Lashgari Sarai. Rome's perennial delvers, competing with work gangs building a subway, came up with frescoes, busts and villas, as usual.

That area is richer in remains than Pompeii.

Horse Precede Columbus

The Director of the Danish Museum examined relics of U. S. and Canadian sites, and concluded the horse settled in America two centuries before Columbus came over.

"North Pole Ho" and "South Pole Ho" was eagerly answered by a stream of expeditions. On one, the Finn Ronne year-long research group which mapped 450,000 square miles, were the first two women to spend a winter in Antarctica. They were Mrs. Finn Ronne and Mrs. Harry Darlington.

Sweden sent the schooner Albatross on the first worldwide study of the deep sea since 1876. Sediments 8,000 feet thick, representing vast ages of time, were found in the Atlantic.

Bank To Become Sole Trustee Of Late Publisher's Estate

BEAUMONT, Jan. 13. (AP)—An agreement reached late yesterday provides that the First National bank of Beaumont will be sole executor and trustee for the estate of the late Mrs. Katherine Mapes, publisher of the Beaumont Enterprise and Journal. The agreement ends a court battle over her wills.

Mrs. Eva Dujay, secretary of the Enterprise company and long-time friend of Mrs. Mapes, renounced her right to serve as co-trustee for a large portion of the estate, which is estimated to be worth more than $1,000,000. In turn, B. D. Orgain, a Beaumont attorney, withdrew his contest of the will dated December 17, 1945, and also his claims under a November 17, 1945, will, as a co-executor and co-trustee.

All provisions of the December 17 will now stand, except that under which Mrs. Dujay would serve as a co-trustee with the bank. The agreement, signed by Judge W. S. Nichols, calls for the estate to pay the court costs.

Major portion of the estate is inherited, under trust arrangements, by three nieces and a grandnephew; Mrs. Laura Lee Huguley McDonald of Phenix City, Ala.; Mrs. Corrie C. Huguley Miller of Columbus, Ga.; Mrs. Fannie Kate Huguley Randall of Beaumont, and Robert E. Lee Myers of Phenix City.

Mrs. Dujay inherits 100 shares of common stock in the Enterprise company and the income for life from 214 additional shares.

Judge Who's Heard Everything Rules Out 'Diaper' Evidence

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—Circuit Judge Chaster D. Adams says there are some points that are not covered by the law.

He was hearing a custody case in which the father of a 19-month-old baby asked that he be allowed to take the child for two days at a time at intervals.

The judge observed, "A child that young should be with its mother."

"Judge," replied the father, "just ask her who changed the first diaper on this baby."

Judge Adams bridled. "Hold on. I have been asked to decide almost everything, but I am not going to hear testimony on who changed a baby's first diaper."

Contractor Group Names Houston Man President At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—George W. Buvinghausen, Houston, today was new president of the Texas Council of Painting and Decorating Contractors of America.

He was named as the group ended its 22nd annual convention here yesterday. F. W. Mitchell, San Angelo, was elected vice president.

Other officers named included R. E. Haynie, Houston; Andrew Fuger, San Antonio; and Lonnie Williamson, Fort Worth, all vice presidents.

Amarillo was selected as 1950 convention city.

Huge Refrigeration Unit Is Completed

DALLAS, Jan. 13. —(INS)— The first of two one-acre refrigeration rooms for the $5,250,000 Alford refrigerated warehouse project has been completed in Dallas.

Fred F. Alford, president of the firm, says he has no worries that the cavernous area with its 10-below-zero temperature will remain empty. He says producers are having to store perishables in three states because no warehouse can store large volumes.

Almost every day, Alford says, calls come in asking for "big chunks" of space.

"One of the country's largest breweries has been talking with me about storing 500,000 cases of beer during the winter," Alford said.

So many cases of beer, he added, would hardly dent the space.

Alford says the large storage place will cut distribution costs. He thinks that production will be aided by allowing more uniformity to some seasonal industries—like the beer companies which, according to Alford, have to cut bottling during the winter and strain all summer to meet demands. With a large storage unit, they could manufacture all year round at the same rate.

CHOPPERS DIDN'T WORK

TACOMA, Wash. (U.P.)—A woman entered a local cafe and ordered her food "all chopped up." The puzzled chef, Antone Barcott, followed instructions. After the woman left, a waitress brought him a folded napkin from her table. It contained a new set of false teeth.

CAB Gets Slick Airway Plea For Prompt Decision On Cargo Lines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—Slick airways has urged the Civil Aeronautics board to make a prompt decision on the question of certifying all-cargo airlines.

The San Antonio concern said in a brief yesterday that delay is on the side of their opponents—the certificated airlines which carry passengers, mail and express as well as freight.

At the same time United airlines told the board that granting of rights sought by Slick and others "would simply duplicate certificated cargo services and inflict substantial injury upon the certificated carriers."

Fort Worth Church Files Suit For Damages Against Gas Firm

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—A damage suit for $1,867 against Lone Star Gas Co., was on file in district court here today.

Suit was brought by Rev. C. Avery Mason, bishop of the Dallas diocese, for alleged damage to St. Andrews Episcopal church.

Damage reportedly occurred Oct. 1 when the firm installed a new meter, turned on the gas and a "terrific explosion" resulted, causing damage to the church.

AUSTRALIA FINDS URANIUM

ADELAIDE. (AP)—A South Australian government prospector has reported finding uranium in the Peake and Denison ranges of South Australia. Government ministers will not comment on the find, but published reports said samples are believed to have been encouraging. An area of 2,600 square miles surrounding the locality of the find has been reserved for exclusive prospecting by government men. It is the fourth such reserve established in South Australia.

Three Negro Soldiers On Guam Plead 'Not Guilty' To Charges

GUAM, Jan. 13. —(INS)— "Not guilty" pleas were made today by three negro soldiers of the U. S. Air Force when they were arraigned in Guam criminal court on charges of kidnaping, raping and murdering pretty 27-year-old Ruth Farnsworth of San Francisco.

Formally accused of the crime that shocked all residents on Guam were two brothers, Privates Calvin Dennis, 26, and Herman T. Dennis, jr., 20, and Staff Sgt. Robert W. Burns, 32.

Burns, whose home town is listed as Spokane, Wash., grinned as cameramen snapped pictures of him and his co-defendants as they left the courtroom. Burns quipped:

"Save me one."

When reporters asked him if he had studied three years at New York's Columbia university, Burns jauntily replied:

"That's right."

Calvin Dennis and his brother Herman took the proceeding more seriously. Calvin, attached to the 606th Engineers' aviation squadron, is from Frederick, Md. Herman Dennis, who lists his home town as Indianapolis, is in the 12th Air Ammunition squadron of which Sgt. Burns also is a member.

The three soldiers were turned over to Guam civil authorities after Commander James P. Hackett, former Chicago police lieutenant and the Navy's security officer, announced that the Dennis brothers had confessed their part in the savage assault-murder of Miss Farnsworth.

The attractive San Francisco girl, who was a civilian employe of the Navy on Guam, was abducted and criminally assaulted on the night of December 11. Two days after her disappearance she was found dying in a jungle patch where her assailants left her.

Reconstructing the crime, Cmdr. Hackett said Miss Farnsworth was struck down in the jade curio shop where she worked evenings to obtain extra money for her trousseau. She was engaged to a Marine sergeant on Guam.

Cmdr. Hackett said that as one of her assailants knocked her unconscious, another ripped out the wire of a generator to extinguish the lights.

Then, the security officer continued, she was carried unconscious into the jungle patch 200 yards in the rear of the curio shop and assaulted.

Cmdr. Hackett said the Dennis brothers' confessions were supported by discovery in Calvin Dennis' car of a smock worn by Miss Farnsworth when she was abducted.

Two Men Claiming They Are Husbands Of Dead Woman

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 13. (INS)—Two men claimed today to be the legal husband of Mrs. Helen May Crawford, who was slashed to death by a whirling airplane propeller.

They are Frank Klodzinski, 34-year-old South Bend machinist, and Kenneth Crawford, a Battle Creek, Mich., vocational teacher and former Seattle, Wash., resident.

Both disputed for the body and possessions of the 39-year-old woman who was killed in Los Angeles Tuesday as she sought to board an American Airlines DC-4 ready to take off.

Klodzinski said he married Helen May in South Bend last June 12, after her divorce from Crawford.

A check of court records in South Bend showed that the woman obtained a divorce from Crawford after advising of the legal action.

Crawford contends he was the legal husband at the time of her death because he was not advised of the divorce.

Klodzinski directed that the funeral and burial services be held in Los Angeles, while Crawford directed that the body be sent to the Colorado Springs, Colo., home of the dead woman's brother, Charles Lockwood, for burial.

Two safety deposit keys from South Bend's First Bank & Trust Co. and $2,044 in small bills were found in the dead woman's belongings.

Oldest Marine, 73, Ships Over For Another Hitch With Leathernecks

QUANTICO, Va., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—Oldest Marine in point of age and service, M/Sgt. H. D. Bartley has completed 41 years of service and reenlisted for another four.

The sergeant, starting his 11th cruise, said he has never been on the sick list, never missed a day's duty and that his good conduct medal with six bars indicates the quality of the marks in his service record.

Seventy-three years old, he shipped in the Marine Corps in 1907 and has served in such out-of-the-way places as the Philippines, Hawaii, Haiti, Santo Domingo and Nicaragua and aboard the vessels New Hampshire, Buffalo, Crook, Palmer, Panther, Prairie and Lebanon.

Indian Potentate's Wealth Is Figured At $235,000,000

HYDERABAD CITY, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—The private wealth of the Nizam of Hyderabad, often called "the richest man in the world," has been estimated at "around $235,000,000."

The figure was published by an Indian press agency which claimed it had received "accurate information from sources close to the palace."

More than half of the ruler's treasurer, according to the agency, consists of cash, silver, gold and gems stored in rock vaults beneath his palace.

The remainder is made up "largely of landed and other immovable properties," the agency said.

The Nizam's yearly income from royal lands was estimated at $8,000,000. In addition, the agency said, he receives an annual "privy purse" of more than $1,500,000.

College Students Oppose Idea Of Woman For U.S. Presidency

STILLWATER, Okla., Jan. 13. (U.P.)—It's all right for women to take over men's rights in courtship, but they shouldn't be allowed to become President of the United States.

That's what students at Oklahoma A. & M. college said in a poll taken by the school's sociology department.

The poll also showed females would welcome social change more than would males; younger students more than older ones; unmarried more than married, and academically advanced students more than those with less training.

Iowa Housewives Prefer To Buy Husked Corn, Test Shows

AMES, Ia., Jan. 13.(U.P.)— Iowa housewives soon may be buying their sweet corn already husked and packaged in transparent bags.

Iowa State College authorities said a test made in a Des Moines super-market this summer proves housewives prefer to buy corn that way.

The corn used in the test was picked in the morning, husked, packaged in butts and tips cut off and placed in a cooler by mid-afternoon. It was kept overnight and delivered to the store the following morning.

College officials said the corn held its quality for five days and there was no internal spoilage.

Walkout By Railroad Workers Postponed

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—(AP) Postponement of a strike against the Southern Pacific company from January 18 to February 18 was announced today by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

The strike, called to force settlement of various grievances the Brotherhood alleged had been pending for seven to 10 years, originally was set for Dec. 15. Assignment of a mediator, however, resulted in its being postponed until Jan. 18. Prospects for settlement led to the further postponement.

G. A. Meade, vice-president, and C. W. Moffitt, general chairman, of the Brotherhood, issued this statement:

"The strike set for Jan. 18, 1949, against the Southern Pacific company has been postponed for the purpose of continuing negotiations. Progress is being made and all indications point to a peaceful settlement."

'MONSTER' IS ONLY FOX

LAUSANNE, Switzerland. (AP)—For one horrible day, the Swiss in this region thought they were face to face with an invasion of strange furry "monsters" which ran in leaps of 12 to 16 feet. Two hunters reported they had killed one of the beasts and another escaped. The scare didn't last long. A taxidermist from Geneva arrived the next day and announced that the hunters had killed a mountain fox and not a big one at that.

Amarillo Fighters Pound Out Eight Triumphs Over Lubbock

Bickel, Williams Notch Only Wins For Local Team

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Amarillo took home everything but the ring last night at Sled Allen's arena, winning eight of the ten inter-city bouts from a game but outclassed Lubbock team, while about 1,000 persons cheered on the fighters on the Junior Chamber of Commerce card.

The Amarillo fighters hung up one knockout and three technical knockouts during the inter-city bouts and opened the three-bout exhibition portion of the card with a TKO. The visiting boxers, almost all members of last year's Golden Gloves team in Amarillo, clearly showed more class and experience.

Despite the one-sided victory, the fans saw a good card and enjoyed the entire show. There were ten inter-city bouts and three exhibitions and not one of the bouts was a poor one.

Perez Downs Martin

The only knockout of the night was scored by the dangerous Alex Perez of Amarillo, who put Jimmy Martin of Texas Tech to sleep at 1:22 of the second round. Martin had come out windmilling in the first round, throwing leather all over the ring. Perez calmly doubled up, took everything Martin had to give and weathered the storm easily.

Martin opened the second round the same way, but he tired and couldn't keep it up. Perez, sensing that his opponent was tiring, threw a few testing punches, then straightened up Martin with a left jab. He followed with rights and lefts that stung, driving Martin across the ring. Perez followed up and let him have a left and right, both of which landed flush.

Amarilloans Get TKOs

All three of the TKOs were scored by Amarillo fighters of top quality. Quickest came from the hands of Sammy Sims, one of the more deadlier lightweights. Lester York carried the fight to Sims for the first minute of the first round, but Sims recovered easily. He finally caught York with a vicious left, knocking him into the ropes and two more lefts to the head finished the job, with the referee stopping the fight.

Buster Holman, one of Amarillo's top hopes for a state crown, chilled Pat McCarty in 1:39 of the third round, after he had had the best of the fight all the way. McCarty landed a few good blows, but was beaten to the punch all the way.

In the third TKO, Jimmy Williams of Lubbock tried to best Willie McCreary, but wasn't in condition. He was told only Sunday that he was to fight last night and couldn't get ready in time. McCreary handed him a thoroughly punishing job during the first two rounds and the fight finally was stopped at 1:18 of the third.

Other good fights last night included Melvin McClung's decision over Jerry Martin of Lubbock in the flyweight class, James Bickel decision over Claude King of Amarillo in a middleweight class Dan Williams' decision over Robert Blessen of Amarillo in a good light heavyweight scrap, and James Wortham's decision over Jack Wilborn of Lubbock in another middleweight go.

The complete results follow:

Border Loop Rivals Play At Canyon

Texas Tech's Red Raiders To Battle WTSTC Buffs Tonight

Coach Polk Robison and a squad of 12 Texas Tech basketball players, are scheduled to leave Tech gym early this afternoon for Canyon, where they play West Texas State Teachers college tonight in a crucial Border Conference game.

Both the Red Raiders of Tech and the Buffaloes are strong favorites to win the Border loop crown and tonight's battle will be watched carefully by circuit followers. The odds will be against Tech beating the Buffs on their home court, but the Raiders have displayed a lot of class this year.

Moreover, the Raiders have been playing slightly stiffer competition than the Buffs. The Oklahoma City tournament sent Tech cagers against some of the better quintets in the Southwest and they made a good showing, despite winning only one of the three games.

Raiders Win Five

The Raiders also are sporting a better Border Conference record than the Buffs, winning five of the six games they have played to date. The Buffs have won three games and lost two, so that a victory wouldn't move them ahead of Tech. But it would be a blow to Raider hopes of taking the championship away from Arizona, currently in first place with two victories and no defeats.

Both the Buffs and the Raiders tuned up for tonight's game with previous tilts this week. The Buffs turned back Texas Mines Monday night in Canyon 60-41, while the Raiders came through with a 57-39 victory here the following night.

Tech Holds Edge

The two squads are in top shape for the clash, rated as a tossup by close followers. Every team that Tech has beaten, the Buffs also have beaten, sometimes by a bigger margin, sometimes by a smaller one. The only comparative game that gives Tech an edge is the New Mexico tilt. The Loboes won from the Buffs 52-50, the Raiders won from the Loboes 58-50.

Coach Robison probably will start his most potent cage five, which would mean Gene Gibson and Whistle Banks, forwards; Don Grove, center; and Ardis Barton and Wimpy Hill, guards. In reserve and certain to see action will be Jiggs Jackson, guard, and Charley Pinnell, forward.

Others who might see action and who will make the trip include Wayne Bowles and C. W. Dukes, forwards, Derwood Patterson, center, and George Belchef and Bill Edins, guards.

Dallas Rebel Owner Still Seeks Winner

DALLAS, Jan. 13. (AP) — Oil man Dick Burnett, who says it isn't the money but the principal of the thing—that of having a winning ball club—has spent another quarter million this year and the purse strings still are open.

Burnett bought the Dallas club for $650,000 last year then blew $100,000 more on players only to see his team finish seventh in the Texas league.

That didn't dim his ardor. No sooner had the campaign ended than he was in the big middle of another spending spree. He now has purchased 28 new players, meaning about $100,000 more, and has spent about $150,000 enlarging and improving the park for the benefit of all the folks who will come out to see him win the pennant—he hopes.

Burnett sold some players last year but ended up with about $80,000 on the debit side, anyway. Thus, his total spending to date for the two years is in the neighborhood of $875,000.

He has what he calls a ready-made ball club. Most of the players are from triple A or double A and average from 28 to 31 years. He wants a flock of guys the big leagues won't be making passes at. They're good enough to play winning baseball in the Texas league and do it for three to five years. "With that kind of club we can buy only a few players a year and keep on winning," says General Manager Bobby Goff wistfully.

Burnett already has told field Manager Jimmie Adair he has to win this year or else. Goff wants to keep his job, too.

A new national organization will start growing rice in 2,470 acres in Panama.

Oilers Buy Contract From Dallas

Virgil Richardson Is Bought By Pampa

PAMPA, Jan. 13. (Special)—Virgil Richardson, former Lubbock Hubber first baseman, will be affixed to first base for the Pampa Oilers during the 1949 season it was announced today.

R. L. Edmondson, president of the Oilers, announced today that he had purchased Richardson outright from the Dallas Rebels of the Texas League. Purchase price was not announced, but it was inferred that Edmondson did not let a price tag stand in his way.

Richardson last season hit .397 for the Hubbers and helped them into fourth place in the West Texas-New Mexico League race. He was a member of the 1948 South team in the league's all-star game and later was a nearly unanimous selection as first baseman on the all-league nine.

The tall, lanky initial sacker formerly played for Pampa, anchoring first base during the 1946 campaign. He later was purchased by Dallas and assigned to Lubbock, where he was a member of the 1947 league champion team. He tried out with Dallas in the spring of 1948, but was optioned by the Rebels to Lubbock.

Richardson appeared in 136 of the Hubber's 140 games, hitting .397 and fielding .987. It was the second best fielding mark among regular first baseman and he stood sixth in league hitting.

Richardson garnered 201 hits good for 375 total bases while scoring 152 runs last year. He had 48 doubles, six triples and 38 home runs in this total. He drew 121 walks and fanned only 29 times. He drove in 196 runs.

Opposing pitchers hit him three times and he had six stolen bases and six sacrifice hits.

In fielding, he topped all first baseman in double plays, taking part in 138. He had 1203 putouts, 48 assists and 17 errors.

There was no indication that Richardson was being bought with the possible intention of serving as manager, even though Grover Seitz has not signed a contract for 1949 yet.

Levelland Edges Thomas, 42-38, In City Independent Cage Tilt

Two games were played in the City Independent basketball league Thursday night at the Chapman field gymnasium, with Levelland defeating the Thomas Tinkers, 42-38, in the feature tilt. Myrl Brashear tallied 14 points for the Refiners, while Bob Galey notched 16 for Thomas.

In the second City loop encounter, Littrell service nosed out Hoyt Furniture, 51-47. Virgil Johnson topped Littrell with 13 points, and Ed Clepper scored 17 for Hoyt.

Two clashes were unreeled in the Industrial circuit, with Brown-Layco drubbing Rigney-Auto, 38-26. Earl Jackson tallied 12 points for Brown-Layco, with Jimmy Smyth chalking up eight for Rigney.

Sanders Motor took a 48-28 win over the Lubbock Cowhands, as Bobby Layne scored 16 points. Walter Norton paced the Cowhands with 11 points.

BROWNS GET AGGIE

CLEVELAND, Jan. 13. (AP) — The Cleveland Browns added two ends and a guard to their roster today, making 10 new players signed by the All-American football conference champions within a month.

The new ends are Bill McPeak of New Castle, Pa., captain of the University of Pittsburgh team last fall, and Mel Sheehan, 24, of St. Louis, who played the 1948 season with Missouri.

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 13. (Special)—A 12-man boxing team will make its second official appearance of the current season Saturday night in Abilene, when the Plainview boxers tangle with the St. Joseph Academy boxing team in an inter-city match.

Coach Bud Dean, whose charges will enter the Lubbock regional Golden Gloves tournament, is optimistic about the chances for a victory. Plainview licked the Amarillo Junior college last Friday night, six to five, for its first victory of the season.

Pyle Heads Card

All but three of the fighters on the Plainview team Saturday night are boys who appeared on the Plainview card. They will be led by the hard-hitting middleweight from Lockney, Calvin Pyle, who hung up his 19th consecutive win on the Amarillo-Plainview card.

The fights will be held Saturday night at 8 in the Fair Park Supper Club auditorium, with the public invited.

Members of the Plainview team, in addition to Pyle, will be Ted Livesay, Lester Ramsey, Jerry Johnson, C. L. Lubbock To Tangle With Golden Sandies

Westerners Open District 1-AA Cage Race Tonight At Amarillo

Lubbock High's youthful Westerners will open their campaign for the 1949 District 1-AA basketball championship at 8 o'clock tonight at the Sports Arena in Amarillo, where the Hub city schoolboys will tangle with the vaunted Golden Sandstorm quintet.

Any athletic event pairing Lubbock and Amarillo teams is a major attraction in West Texas, but the tussle tonight is slated to have a marked effect on the final result of the loop title chase. The Sandies are co-favorites in the district, as well as the defending champions, and a victory for Amarillo would give the Sandies an inside track in the flag race.

The Lubbock schoolboys have a "make or break" schedule this weekend, with a clash with the powerful Pampa Harvesters Saturday night at Pampa. Lubbock must win at least one of the two games with the top foes this week to remain a contender, but an even split will be a difficult task on enemy courts.

Sandies Are Favored

The Golden Sandies of Mentor T. G. Hull will enter the tilt tonight as a slight favorite, on the basis of the season's records of the two teams. The Sandies have won six games and lost only one setto, and two defending state champions have been the Sandies' victims. The Crozier Tech Wolves of Dallas, defending champs in Class AA, lost two games to the Amarilloans and Classen of Oklahoma, another title-holder, dropped two tilts at Amarillo. The Sandies have also defeated Roswell, N. M., and split a two-game series with El Paso High at El Paso.

Lubbock's Westerners, with three juniors in the starting lineup, have a very creditable non-conference record. The Lubbock five has won 12 games this season, while losing three settos. The Lubbock boys have defeated such quints as Abilene, Midland, Burkett, Sudan and Andreds, but have lost games to Stratford, Pampa and a return game with Lamesa. The Westerners have lost two of their most important games, however, in the finals of the Borger and Brownwood tournaments.

Westerners Have Edge

Coach Roy Morris' Westerners will have a slight height advantage over the Sandies, but the edge is chiefly the result of one extremely short Amarillo regular-Jack Little. Little is only five feet, five inches in height, but he receives plenty of support from Bill Franklin and Gibb Ford, both of whom tower three inches above the six foot mark. Other Sandie starters will be Harold Henry, five feet, 11 inches, and Bobby Garner, five feet, 10 inches. Both Franklin and Little won letters last year.

Coach Roy Morris is expected to start big Jim Wilson at center, with versatile Charles Galey and Jimmy Sexton at the forward posts. Guards will be Blair Hankins and Morris Moe) Turner. Guard Bob Rooker will divide time with Turner and Forward Jesse Fullerton will probably share Sexton's spot. Both Galey and Wilson were regulars last season.

The Westerners have won only one district game from the Sandies during the last two seasons—that in February, 1947. Amarillo has won the district championship for three consecutive years.

Henderson Scheduled To Fight Gavilan Tonight At El Paso

Bill Henderson, former state Golden Gloves champion will fight Sammy Gavilan of California tonight in El Paso in the semi-final bout on Promotor Dick Griffin's card.

Gavilan is a lightweight, but closer in weight to a featherweight, such as Henderson is. Griffin thinks that it will be a great match and he is pleased with the card.

According to Ring magazine, Gavilan is considered one of the most promising lightweights to enter the professional ring. He has had 28 pro fights and has won them all, scoring few knockouts, but compiling an impressive record on his boxing ability. Griffin said that he wasn't much of a slugger, but that he displayed great boxing form.

Gavilan will be one of the toughest hurdles faced so far by Henderson, one of the more promising featherweight fighters. If he makes a good showing tonight, Griffin has promised him a main event two weeks from now.

The Levelland Larruper, who twice won the Lubbock regional Golden Gloves crown and went on to take the state title at Ft. Worth, is in great shape. He trains daily at Foster's gym, 2417 Main street, and is confident that he can end Gavilan's record. Henderson also is helping prospective Golden Gloves entries.

Henderson also has yet to meet defeat, winning all of his pro fights. He started his career in the camp of Gus Lesnevich, then world's light heavyweight champion, but returned home last summer, following a successful appearance on the Jaycee card here.

Henderson, accompanied by Babe Ritchie, former Golden Gloves heavyweight champion and professional, left Lubbock yesterday. They will return following the fights.

Shallowater, Lockney Win Tourney Clashes

LEVELLAND, Jan. 13. (Special)—Shallowater and Lockney High schools easily won their opening round games in the Levelland High school basketball tournament which opened here tonight.

In the girls division, Whitharral and Abernathy also took opening round games with ease.

Shallowater boys opened the tourney by defeating Floydada 43-34 and Lockney followed with a simple 30-9 victory over an outclassed Whitharral quintet.

Whitharral girls got some vengeance for the boys by licking Shallowater girls 28-19, while Abernathy, host school, beat the Lockney girls 30-16.

The tournament continues tomorrow with Farwell and New Deal boys colliding in the opening afternoon game. They will be followed by a New Deal-Spade girls game and a Farwell-Slaton tilt.

Feature game tomorrow night will be both a tournament and a District 3-A clash.

Henry Irving's "The Bells" was recently played, in Irish, in Dublin.

Meeting Slated In District 18

District 18-A officials will attempt to decide whether there should be one or two teams represent each county in the district's girls basketball tournament to be played later in the year.

Toby Waggoner, district chairman and coach of the New Deal girls team, has called the important meeting, which will bring together representatives of all member schools. The meeting will be held Monday night at 7 in Roy Boyd's office in the Lubbock court house.

Other important matters that will come before the members will be selection of a site for the district tournament, officials for the games and other matters. Waggoner urged that every member have a representative present.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

To say that the Lubbock Westerner cagers face a tough assignment tonight, when they battle Amarillo's Golden Sandies at Amarillo, is a major understatement. Beating the Sandies in any sport except track is a big job, but beating them on their home court is nearly impossible. The Sandies have lost a few games on their home court, but the defeats are few and far between. Without a lengthy check into the files, we can think of only one district game the Sandies have lost on their home floor in recent years. That was, of course, Pampa's narrow triumph last last season. Back during the 1944 season we believe the Sandies dropped a loop contest or two on their home court and even failed to knock the Westerners out of the district championship.

During the last two seasons, the Westerners have won only one District 1-AA cage setto with the Sandies. That was on Feb. 1, 1947, when the Lubbock quint chalked up a 32-30 triumph on the Senior High school court here. But, despite the split in the two games with the Sandies, the Westerners didn't win the district crown. The Lubbock schoolboys lost a tilt with Plainview that season and that defeat gave the Sandies the title.

On their home court the Sandies have been nearly unbeatable during the last couple of seasons. In 1947 the Sandies chalked up an easy 58-45 victory over the Westerners, then in 1948 the Amarilloans fought off a late Lubbock attack to win, 44-40. The Sandies also won the game at Lubbock, 34-31, for a clean sweep of the series with the Westerners.

* * *

The Westerners have had more success with the other district teams. The Lubbock quint divided the two district tilts with strong Pampa last season and, in fact, knocked the Harvesters out of a tie for the loop championship. Plainview has won only a single important district tussle with the Westerners in recent years, and we can't remember just when Borger or Brownfield last defeated Lubbock High in basketball. The Westerners have had several narrow escapes with the Borger schoolboys in the last couple of years, however, and it will be no great surprise if the Bulldogs upset one or more of the favorites this season.

Incidentally, it is interesting to note that the Westerners have a better defensive record this season than even the vaunted Oklahoma Aggies — who just about wrote the book on cage defense. The Aggies have allowed but 35 points per game in 10 games, while the Westerners have allowed an average of 28 points in 15 games. But, on the other side of the fence, the Aggies have chalked up steady 35-55 point totals in each game. The Westerners have been much more erratic, tallying highs of 55 and 59 points one week, and dropping to 29 and 20 points the next.

For the game with the Sandies tonight, however, we have a little gadget that we think would make the brilliant Westerner defense even more effective. The "gadget" is some fine steel wire, (practically invisible), which could be tied across the top of the Sandies' goal. Then they'd have a hard time scoring!

Seriously, though, we know Lubbock fans are 100 per cent behind the Westerners and will be keeping their fingers crossed at game time tonight.

Changes Made In Football Rules

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 13.—(AP)—The National Intercollegiate football rules committee today revised the highly controversial "free substitution" regulation.

Winding up their annual session, members decided:

To eliminate the rule that permitted one substitute to enter the game while the clock was running.

When the ball changes hands from one team to another and the clock is running, there will be no restriction on the number of substitutes sent in by either or both teams, but all of this must be accomplished and the players ready to go within the regulation 25 seconds after the referee has placed the ball down.

Several Rules Unchanged

Unchanged is the rule that both teams can substitute all the players desired when the clock is stopped.

Also unchanged is the rule that an injured player may be replaced without loss of a time-out, and the opposing team on such an occasion can substitute as many men as is desired.

Chairman William J. Bingham of Harvard said the committee felt the changes neither liberalized nor modified the unlimited substitution rule.

There were other changes in the rule book, designed to encourage offensive tactics.

Regulations Are Given

In the future, a man can return a punt which he receives from behind his own end zone. In the past a punt kicked into the end zone became an automatic touchback and taken to the 20-yard line for play. Now the receiver will be allowed, if he so elects, to try to run it out. If he is tackled in the end zone, it becomes a touchback and goes into play on the 20-yard line. If he runs the ball beyond the goal line the ball goes into play wherever he is tackled.

A move to encourage forward passing in the end zone also was inserted.

From now on a legal forward pass incompleted in the offensive team's end zone is to be ruled simply an incompleted pass instead of a safety, if the loose ball is recovered from the opposing team. If the pass is completed inside the end zone, however, and the receiver is tackled, it is a safety.

The committee, clarifying one rule, stipulated if the man under center—usually the quarterback in the T formation — is close enough to receive the snapback from the center in a hand-to-hand transaction, he is ineligible to receive a pass.

Texas Aggie Officials Seek Navy R.O.T.C. Organization

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Texas A. & M. college —old Army all the way— may soon have to deal with infiltration tactics of the Navy.

The college board of directors has authorized President F. G. Bolton to proceed with negotiations for a Navy ROTC unit on the campus, it was revealed today.

The proposed naval unit would be the third Navy ROTC college organization in the state. Others are at the University of Texas and Rice Institute.

SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED

BROWNSVILLE, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—The new Class D Rio Grande professional baseball league will play a 140-game April-to-September 1949 schedule, representatives of the circuit's six teams decided here yesterday.

Lubbock Boxers To Enter Meet

TAHOKA, Jan. 13. (Special)—Lubbock boxers will enter the Tahoka boxing tournament, to be staged here Jan. 21 and Jan. 22 under the sponsorship of the Tahoka Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Local officials reported today that they had talked with O. C. Foster, manager and owner of Foster's Gym, where many of the Golden Glove fighters are training. Foster told Jaycee officials that he would enter a team in the tournament.

Good Team Seen

Boys coming over from Lubbock will be those not appearing with the Lubbock team that faces Plainview at Plainview Jan. 21. In the main, they will consist of boys who have not had much experience and who need more before entering the Lubbock regional Golden Gloves in Tech gym, Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and Feb. 2.

Jim Foust, Tahoka High school coach, has assured the local committee that he will have several fine fighters in the tournament. Foust had a well balanced team last year and expects to have several boys ready for the regional tournament.

Jaycees Sponsor Meet

The Jaycees are sponsoring the tournament here primarily as a tuneup for the Lubbock regional meet. They expect many of the entrants will be boys who will be seen in action ten days later in Lubbock.

Anyone interested in entering the Tahoka tournament should address a letter to the Tahoka Jaycees, giving name, age, weight, home address, experience and bouts won, as well as having parents or guardian sign a statement to the effect that they release the Tahoka Jaycees from any responsibility in case of injury.

Olivar Appointed As Loyola Grid Mentor

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—(INS) Jordan Olivar, head football coach at Villanova college, near Philadelphia, for the last six years, today accepted an appointment as head coach and athletic director at Loyola university, Los Angeles.

Olivar was offered the post at a conference with the Loyola athletic board last Monday and the deal was closed today in a long-distance telephone talk between him and Father John F. Connolly, chairman of the board.

Loyola had been after the 34-year-old eastern mentor since his Villanova Wildcats trounced favored Nevada, 27 to 7, in the Harbor bowl at San Diego, Cal., on New Year's day.

Father Connolly said Olivar would get a three-year contract. The size of the pay check was not disclosed, but talk was that it would be in excess of $6,000 a year.

Olivar is bringing his backfield coach, Jerry Neri, with him. Neri also will get a three-year contract.

The new mentor succeeds Bill Sargent, who resigned midway through the 1948 season because of "ill health."

Four members of Sargent's staff will remain at Loyola. They are Bob Shaw and Al Duval, who finished the 1948 campaign as co-coaches, and freshman coaches Harry Acquarelli and Bob Kearin.

Living costs in Chile have increased over 17 per cent in the last year.

Three Plainview Fighters Enter Meet

Lubbock Golden Gloves Entry List Boosted By Five Boxers

Two open division and three novice division entries in the Lubbock regional Golden Gloves tournament were received yesterday to swell the total number of fighters expecting to perform in Tech gym Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and Feb. 2.

The open division entries came from C. L. Hosapple of Plainview and James Pigg of Levelland. Novice entries received yesterday were Bobby Crawford of Lubbock and Jerry Johnson and Lee Jones, both of Plainview.

Hosapple is a classy fighter in the featherweight division, tipping the scales at an even 126 pounds. He is a southpaw and is expected to be hard to handle. He hasn't had too much experience, but he is coming along fast and has shown a good deal of ability.

Former Service Champion

Hosapple expects to be extra tough by the time the tournament rolls around. He decisioned the veteran fighter, Dan Palmer of Amarillo Junior college, last Friday night in Plainview and the victory came as a surprise. But Hosapple is coming along fast and that fight demonstrated his increasing ability.

Pigg doesn't need any introduction to Levelland fight fans, but Lubbock boxing fans will be pleasantly surprised at this boy's ability and class. Pigg is an 18-year old middleweight who tips the beam at 156 pounds. His home address is Box 391, 203 East street, Levelland. He has been fighting for two years, has had eight bouts and has won six of them.

Two years ago, in September of 1946, Pigg went overseas, joining the Fifth Air Force at Nagoya, Japan. He was there 15 months before returning home. And before returning, he took time out to win the Fifth Air Force middleweight boxing crown. His addition to the middleweight ranks makes that division much tougher.

Fighters Hold Workouts

Crawford is a 16-year old heavyweight living on Route 7, Lubbock. He has had no fights so far in an organized tournament, but is working out daily and getting ready for his debut here.

Johnson, from Plainview, is a novice weighing in at 133 pounds. He has had few fights so far, but last Friday night scored a TKO over Jimmy Harris of Amarillo in the inter-city bouts. Johnson is a clever boxer and relies more on boxing skill than any kayo punch.

Jones, also from Plainview, is another featherweight with a good deal of promise. He, likewise, has had next to no experience, but is showing more ability each day. On last week's inter-city card, Jones lost by a TKO to his opponent, a boy who had had a good deal of experience.

Foster's Gym, 2417 Main street, official training headquarters for Lubbock and area Golden Gloves boxers, remains a busy place. Fighters are in the gym most of the afternoon and it is open particularly for Golden Glovers every night from 6:30 until 9 p. m.

Wilkinson Visits Badgers' Campus

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 13. (INS)—Frequently-denied reports that Oklahoma football Coach Bud Wilkinson is headed for the coaching post at Wisconsin blossomed again tonight after Wilkinson made a hurried trip to Madison.

The capable young Minnesota graduate, who last season led Oklahoma to ten straight victories climaxed by a 14-6 Sugar bowl triumph over North Carolina, arrived in Milwaukee by plane and was driven to Madison by William Hoard, alumni representative on the Badger athletic board.

Salary Said $12,000

Prof. William B. Sarles, chairman of the athletic board who talked to Wilkinson two weeks ago in regard to the vacancy created by Harry Stuhldreher, also helped escort the Oklahoma mentor from Milwaukee to Madison.

The salary angle involved in the Wisconsin job is said to be ironed out. The reported but unconfirmed figure is $12,000 plus a full professors rating. Wilkinson would have the last word in selecting his staff at Wisconsin.

He has been offered $15,000 per year to remain at Oklahoma.

What happened during Wilkinson's stay in Madison was not known, but it was considered significant that F. J. Sensenbrenner, president of the Wisconsin board of regents—final authority in the hiring of a Badger coach—was in Madison at the time.

Houston Mayor Plans 110,000-Seat Stadium

HOUSTON, Jan. 13. (U.P.) — Mayor Oscar Holcombe refused to let talk of a 110,000-seat stadium subside today, and said the plant would be financed by contributions and by a bond issue.

He believed the bond issue and individual contributions should about evenly divide the cost, estimated at a $5,000,000 minimum.

"It's going to be the biggest in the country," Mayor Holcombe affirmed. He added that the plant might cost $6,000,000.

The mayor was evasive on other details, saying only that he had "further information" that led him to believe a large number of gifts would be forthcoming."

Mayor Holcombe's newest dream was to transplant the annual Army-Navy football game down into the south.

"There is no commitment that it has to be in Philadelphia," he said. "If we have the stadium we can get all kinds of games."

Support Price Plan

acreage is not to be included in figuring quotas or at least that he will not be permitted to claim more than his county average."

LOCAL OFFICIALS IN FAVOR OF PRICE SUPPORT PLAN

Local agriculture officials in Lubbock last night expressed approval of Rep. Poage's actions. Seeking support prices for grain sorghums.

Dave W. Sherrill, Lubbock county agent, expressed confidence that if announcement were made regarding a price support for grain sorghums before planting time, more would be planted in 1949.

"It looks as though such a price support program would be a good thing," he said. Listing advantages of growth of more grain sorghums, Sherrill said that present deficiences in egg, milk, broiler, beef and pork production in this region would be lessened, and that more grain sorghum crops would be helpful in holding the land.

Would Aid Farmer

Then, too, Sherrill expressed the opinion that by planting less cotton and more grain sorghums (the latter to be best induced by some form of price support) in this area, the "boom or bust" situation regarding cotton raising in previous years would be eliminated, with a more stabilized cotton raising program replacing it through future years.

He declared that this country would be permanently better off if it had a better balanced crop program.

"What we need in this country is a steady combination of cotton and grain sorghums," he said.

Shift In Crop Seen

Walter Y. Wells, head of the Agricultural Adjustment agency and of the Lubbock County Agricultural Conservation association, said he felt certain that if price supports were to include grain sorghums, there would be a swing to that crop on the part of many farmers.

As the agricultural price support program now stands, price supports are given six basic crops, including wheat, corn, peanuts, rice, cotton and tobacco.

These six basic crops (so designated by the Department of Agriculture) were included in the long-range farm bill which guarantees 90 per cent of parity on these six crops.

Wells explained that in this country grain sorghums are a basic crop, but that the amount of such crops grown is very small as compared with total grain production.

He expressed confidence that if money were made available for grain sorghums to be included with the above other crops in the price support program, cotton production probably would be reduced well below the present danger point.

The spread of infantile paralysis in New Zealand is causing concern there.

City Commission Gets Test Report

$200 for each log by unanimous approval of the commission, composed of the mayor and Commissioners W. B. Price, John Spikes, E. K. Hufstedler, jr., and Clarence Whiteside. All were present at Thursday's meeting except Commissioner Spikes, who is ill.

McCoy said logs have been completed in the Foster and Anton tests. In each, he said, several formations were encountered which might contain fluids.

But the only formation of any real promise, he continued, was found at 910 to 980 feet in the Foster well and at 1,000 to 1,040 feet in the Anton test. The structure of this formation is such, he reported, as to indicate that it underlies the entire High Plains, including all the South Plains and Panhandle.

Sample Analyzed

He emphasized that the nature of the oil operations did not permit a determination of whether the particular formation contains water. But, he said, the supposition would be that water does exist in quantities impossible to guess now.

His explanation continued that he took samples of the rock and mineral from the interested depths and sent them to the nationally recognized Dowell laboratories in Tulsa.

The analysis there, he related, showed the samples "did not contain enough salt for the formation to contain briny salt water; however, the water could be slightly salty or brackish."

Report Favorable

The report was far more favorable and offered much more ground for hope than most observers had expected. The consensus of expert expectation had been that the analysis would establish the presence of salt in such quantities as virtually to remove all hope that the solution of the Lubbock and South Plains water supply might die at depths never previously tested for that purpose. Present supplies come from above 150 feet.

The next step in the exploration, Mayor Rodgers explained, will be to test the formations reported by McCoy for quantity and quality of water.

This will be done, he continued, in a test northwest of Lubbock to be drilled for the city by the Layne-Texas Drilling co. Some of the equipment for this test is on the ground. Operations were to have been started this week, but the weather forced postponment.

Paving Project Set

The test, which lies between the Foster and Anton wells, probably will be started next week. Drilling will proceed with sufficient caution to permit tests of liquids in formations as they are encountered. It may be several weeks before the sand reported by McCoy are reached.

The street paving for which engineering was ordered done follows: Sixth street from N to O; Twentieth from Polk to Taylor; Twenty-fourth from K to L; Twenty-fifth from S to Lake; Twenty-sixth from A to H; Twenty-seventh from H to Morning Side addition; Twenty-ninth from N to Q; Thirty-first from Van Buren to Tyler and from U.S. 87 to Railroad row; Thirty-second from Monroe to Tyler.

Ave. E from Seventeenth to Nineteenth; M from Twenty-third to Arnett; O from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth; P from Twenty-first to Twenty-seventh; S from Fourth to U.S. 84; T from Fourth to Sixth; U from Thirtieth to Thirty--second; V from Seventh to Ninth; W from First to Second; from Third to Fourth and from Twenty-eighth to Thirty-fourth; X from Third to Fourth; Temple from First to Fourth; Ruby from Madison to Van Buren; Jefferson fourth; Waco from First to Second; Wolffarth from U.S. 84 to X, and Van Buren from Twenty-fifth to Thirtieth.

Plans for the enlargement of the Lay & co., frozen egg plant at the vicinity of Avenue A and Broadway were detailed by Joe Arrington, local manager, when he asked the commission to approve the extension of a Santa Fe switch railroad track along East Main street across Ave. A. The commission deferred action on the request until the attitude of others who might be affected by such an extension can be ascertained.

Arrington said the plans contemplate the doubling of the present capacity of the plant which, he reported, can handle about 3,000,000 pounds of frozen eggs annually.

He argued the expansion would be worth "millions of dollars a year" to egg producers of the area. But he declined to make any estimate of the investment contemplated, except to say it is a "sizeable" amount. Members of the commission were informed from other sources that several hundred thousand dollars would be involved, if plans are carried out.

The ordinance affecting irrigation water rates, which was passed on first reading, will have several effects on existing costs if the proposal is given final approval.

In the past, those desiring the special irrigation rates so as to obtain water at less cost for lawns and gardens have been required to sign a special contract form.

Under the ordinance, the irrigation rate will be applied automatically to anyone who uses more than 10,000 gallons a month.

In the past, the minimum charge for irrigation rate users has been $2.80. Under the new ordinance it will be $1.80.

Filter Contract Let

In the past, the cost of 10,000 gallons of water has been $2.80. Under the new schedule, it will be $3.15.

The schedule of domestic water rates is set out follows: $1.80 minimum per month, which pays for the first 3,000 gallons used; 30 cents per thousand for the next 3,000 gallons; 25 cents per 1,000 for the next 2,000 gallons; and 15 cents per 1,000 above that.

The commission also let a contract for a filtering system at the Mackenzie park swimming pool to McKinley Plumbing co., on a bid of $22,860. It will employ an earthern filtering system through which the entire contents of the pool will be circulated every six to eight hours. City Engineer R. L. Oldham reported.

AN ACTIVE GIRL, NOW—Barbara Ann Kee, 4, who was stricken with infantile paralysis when 15 months of age, formerly was unable to walk for six months, but she's an active girl now. She is pictured above with her teddy bear on her tricycle, which she has learned to ride in the last year. She wears a brace on her left leg. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kee of 702 Ave E. She makes trips to Dallas every few months to see a specialist, at expense of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The girl's mother said doctors have recommended she undergo surgery when seven years old and have said she likely will recover completely. (Staff Photo by Opal Dixon.)

Dimes Drive Opens

planned for the opening day of the drive, according to Warlick Carr and Lester Grimes, co-chairmen of the Exchange club's March of Dimes campaign committee.

Last year, approximately $6,500 was raised in the campaign, of which half was sent to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., and the other half remained with the Lubbock county chapter of the organization.

However, even with the sum retained by the local chapter and the additional $1,148 with which it began 1948, medical and hospital expenses for the 34 polio patients which were assisted by the chapter made necessary additional aid from the National Foundation. In response to requests, the National Foundation sent in $8,161 last year. And in spite of the outside aid, the chapter still owes over $3,000 in unpaid bills.

28 New Patients Treated

Of the total number of polio patients which received assistance in 1948 from the local chapter, 26 were new patients. Six of the patients have been hospitalized for a number of months.

Campaign officials stressed that the local goal of $12,000 is a rock-bottom minimum. The amount actually set for Lubbock county by the state organization is higher by several thousand dollars. Dollars as well as dimes will be needed to raise even the minimum goal, the officials said.

Grimes and Carr said last night that campaign workers will speak on behalf of the March of Dimes at civic club luncheon meetings next week. When the "Wishing Well" is put into operation Jan. 24 in front of Bowen's Drug at Broadway and Ave. J, each local civic club will operate it one day.

Each of the campaign solicitation letters to be sent out next week contains an appeal from Grimes and Carr and the Exchange club for contributions to the March of Dimes, a bank draft, and a stamped, addressed envelope to be used in returning the contribution to the campaign headheadquarters.

J. O. Jones, 80, of 1710 Twenty-ninth, last night was reported to have "had a better day" by a Lubbock Memorial hospital attendant. The pioneer Lubbock cattleman entered the hospital Saturday, suffering a relapse after an attack of pneumonia. Early Thursday his condition was reported critical.

Funeral services for William G. Adkisson, 81, retired grocery salesman who died Wednesday night, are to be held in First Presbyterian church with Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor, named to officiate. Time of services still was pending arrival of relatives, Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home reported last night.

A 28-year-old Lubbock route 7 man was arrested in 1000-block Ave. H last night after three persons complained that the man had been prowling in their cars. Two of the complaining witnesses said that they had chased the subject away before anything was taken, but the third said some wrenches had been removed from his vehicle. The tools were allegedly thrown down before the suspect took refuge in a cafe where arresting officers found him.

TRUMAN ENDORSES POLICY STATEMENT ON PALESTINE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—President Truman endorsed emphatically today a detailed American policy statement for bringing peace and stability to Palestine and the Middle East.

And he denied that relations between the United States and Britain are strained because of the situation.

The policy declaration to which Mr. Truman gave his unqualified support at a news conference was made to a United Nations meeting in Paris last Nov. 20. It sets forth three objectives and a seven-point program for United Nations action—all aimed at permanently ending the Jewish-Arab war and creating political and economic stability throughout the Middle East.

Talks To Envoy

Presumably Mr. Truman told Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador, substantially the same thing. He received Franks earlier in the day at a conference which the ambassador urgently requested on instructions from British Foreign Minister Bevin.

Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank, accompanied by Texas Ranger Razz Renfrow, left Lubbock Thursday for Oklahoma City, where an extradition hearing has been set in connection with efforts of the Lubbock sheriff's office to return Chester L. Witcher here for trial of a grand jury indictment.

The indictment, returned in 99th district court, charges that Witcher passed a forged $50 check May 2 to Martha Sells, of the Dickinson Motor company, E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, said. The check was signed "Wayne Putman."

In county court, Joe Moree, 41, of Lubbock, pleaded guilty of violation of a state check charge filed several weeks ago. County Judge Walter Davies fined him $25 and court costs.

Police were investigating a report of Melba Nold of 1902 Tenth that someone had burglarized her room Wednesday and stolen the following property: A pair of shoes, a coat, a skirt and three pairs of hose. Total value was placed at $40.

Acheson Denies Red Leanings

even disinterested malevolence could think them up."

And he said "of course" he is interested in rooting out any disloyal employes in the state department.

"No step will be left untaken in order to secure the state department in its conduct of foreign affairs," the tall, well-groomed diplomat said.

Spectators Crowd Room

Spectators crowded a big Senate caucus room to overflowing for the dramatic hearing as Acheson, smartly dressed in a gay double-breasted suit with a maroon-and-blue striped tie, testified for one hour and 54 minutes in defense of his nomination by President Truman.

He described himself as a firm believer in "steadiness and continuity" in foreign policy.

If confirmed, as most senators expected he will be, Acheson will succeed the ailing Gen. George C. Marshall in the No. 1 diplomatic post on Jan. 20.

Rallying to Acheson's support, former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinus, jr., told the Senate group that President Truman made "a wise selection" in choosing Acheson.

Stettinius testified that the late President Roosevelt had "very great confidence" in Acheson and had made up his mind to appoint him to "one of the highest posts of this government."

Friendly With Hiss

Highlights in Acheson's testimony included these points:

1. He has been and "remains friends" with Alger Hiss, one of the central figures in the famed Chambers-Hiss spy investigation. Hiss is under indictment by a New York Federal grand jury on perjury charges in connection with his denial that he ever gave secret State department data to Whittaker Chambers, confessed ex-Communist and Soviet espionage courier.

2. Acheson's law firm represented the Communist- controlled Polish government in 1946 when the State department approved a $90,000,000 loan to Poland.

But Acheson denied that his firm—in which he is still a member—exerted any influence in getting the loan. He was acting Secretary of State at the time the loan was obtained.

Senator Tyding (D-Md.) asked Acheson if it was not true that his later action in suspending the Polish loan was "adverse to the interests" of his firm.

"Yes," Acheson replied.

Firm Retains Name

The witness testified that the firm retained his name even though he had severed all connection with it while he was in government service.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) suggested there might be a "misunderstanding" if his name continues in the firm's title while he is Secretary of State. To this, Acheson replied that he wants no misunderstanding—he will ask that his name be dropped from the firm's roster of officers. The firm is Covinton, Burling, Rublee, Acheson and Shorb.

Acheson told the committee that one thing should be "utterly clear:" that nobody can take the place of retiring Secretary Marshall. But he said that "someone who has served under him can do his best to follow General Marshall's example."

Because of the vital importance of Acheson's future role, committee members gingerly skirted any questions about present and future U. S. relations with Russia.

Senator Asks Question

However, Vandenberg poised a general question which gave Acheson full opportunity to explain his personal attitude toward Communism, and he took advantage of it.

He reminded the senators that he had been the target of angry protest from Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov himself. That was in February, 1947 when he told a Congressional committee that Russia was carrying out an "aggressive and expansive" policy.

Molotov countered with a formal protest, blasting Acheson's "inadmissable behavior" and "rude, slanderous statements."

Acheson told the committee that Marshall sent a reply defending the propriety of his remarks.

The witness further recalled that he has been sharply criticized for a speech he made before the National Council of American Soviet friendship in Madison Square Garden, N. Y., on Nov. 14, 1945.

"That," he said, "is like criticizing an officer who is in Moscow because he was ordered there by the War department."

He said that he made the speech under orders from Secretary Byrnes, and that the speech was prepared in the State department and approved by Byrnes before Acheson made it.

Speech Stresses Friendship

A salient point in the speech was a declaration that there was no reason why friendship should be lacking between the United States and Russia.

Acheson said he went on to point out that while the United States agrees with Russia that friendly neighbors along the border are essential to security, he said such a policy must also "respect the other basic interests of men."

At the close of Acheson's testimony, at 12:39 p. m., Chairman Connally (D-Tex) told newsmen there would be no further public hearings. Connally said Acheson has agreed to be present tomorrow at a closed-door session when private testimony may be taken.

Lubbock Lineman Is In Serious Condition

Ross W. Tillinghast, Lubbock telephone lineman who was injured in a fall Wednesday, last night was reported to be still in very serious condition by attendants at Mercy hospital in Slaton.

Tillinghast suffered a severe brain contusion, laceration of the scalp, and a possible skull fracture when a telephone line pole on which he was repairing lines fell near Slaton.

His accident was the most severe of a number attributed to Wednesday's icy conditions.

Mrs. Amanda J. Cox, 72, of Portales, N. M., was "resting well" last night at Lubbock Memorial hospital, where she is receiving treatment for a fractured hip suffered in a fall at her home.

Ralph Doughtie, of 602 Ave. O, was in "good condition" last night at West Texas hospital. He is being treated for a broken left arm there. The fracture, which was mended by insertion of a metal plate above the elbow, was sustained in a fall.

R. F. Ratliff, 90, of 2323 Twentieth, was in Lubbock Memorial hospital with a broken hip suffered in a fall at his residence. A hospital attendant last night said he was in good condition.

George Billberry, of Wolfforth, was "resting very well" at West Texas hospital after suffering a cut lip and loss of a tooth in a fall at 1616 Ave. H at about 11 a. m. Thursday. Billberry, who fell after suffering a slight stroke, was carried to the hospital by Sanders Funeral home ambulance.

salary from $75,000 to $100,000. It would give him $50,000 more for expenses which would be tax-exempt and for which he would not have to account. He now gets $40,000 for expenses but only as reimbursement for money actually paid out.

Other Pay Hikes Killed

Thus, the bill makes a total of $180,000 available to the president each year.

Sen Capehart (R-Ind) and other GOP members suggested that Congress give Mr. Truman a $450,000 "taxable" salary so that he would have "take-home pay" of $95,000. They said the $95,000 would be all that would be left after taxes.

Republicans suggested that this would be "a gentle reminder" to the President of what taxes mean.

Assurance Given

Sen. Lucas (D-Ill.) announced that he was informed by Mr. Truman only last night that the President was more interested in getting pay raises for this group than he was for a raise for himself. Lucas said he assured the President raises for this group will be considered later.

The blast at "high living" in Washington came from Sen. Morse (R-Ore.). He referred to persons of the rank of undersecretary and declared:

"Cocktail parties costing $500 to $1000 should not be considered a necessary part of the job. There is a growing resentment against extravagant living in Washington. What Washington needs is a return to the simple, democratic life."

Demos Count On Majority

The bill would give Barkley and Rayburn a $10,000 tax-free, non-accountable expense allowance each. It would raise their salaries from $20,000 to $30,000 each.

Opposition in the House is expected but Democrats said they count on their 91 majority there to get the bill approved.

The House will have to suspend the rules to get the bill to the floor, which requires a two-thirds vote.

Driver Bill Offered

any proof of responsibility unless you have an accident killing someone, or causing property damage of $50 or more. But when any one of those things happen your driving privilege is in jeopardy under the bill.

Once your driving license is suspended under the law, you could be fined $500 or jailed for six months or both for driving without the license. You could get your license back by showing payment of damages, arrangement for payment of damages, deposit of security, release from liability, or if no damage suit is filed within one year.

The law would apply alike to owner and operator of an automobile, except that an owner would be exempt if his car was parked or if it was driven without his permission, either expressed or implied.

Government-owned vehicles would be exempt.

Odom Sets Record

2,061 mile record for light planes established in 1937 by two Russian flyers, was jubilant when he sighted the California coast.

Talking over a radio voice channel to the Civil Aeronautics authority's shortwave station in San Francisco, the noted flyer said:

'Sure glad to see the coast. It looks pretty nice. The motor (his plane's 185 horsepower engine) performed beautifully.

"I feel better now than yesterday morning when I got up."

Odom then indicated that his dwindling gas supply might force him to land at Cheyenne, Wyo., but he reported that he would go as far as he could.

"Lost two much time and gas fighting those headwinds," he said, adding that "one gasoline gauge is doubtful."

Odom reported as he passed inland over San Francisco that he had only 80 gallons of gasoline left—not enough to power the little plane as far as the Atlantic coast.

On the 2,110-mile dangerous jump between Honolulu and the Golden Gate, Odom covered more distance than the actual air mileage travelled by the Trans-Pacific clippers because he swung more than a couple of hundred miles off his original great circle course to avoid a stiff north cross wind.

But in swinging south to avoid the dangerous cross wind off the Washington coast, he was forced into a 25 or 30 mile an hour headwind off the northern California coast. This headwind fought him all the way to the mainland and he consumed more than the seven gallons of gas an hour he figured on using.

Area Gets Boost From Moisture

degree maximum Thursday.

Saturday's readings are expected to range from 25 to 45 degreed. The mild front probably will bring partly cloudy skies, the weather station predicted.

While the rural areas were generally rejoicing from their good fortune, telephone and telegraph companies were struggling to get their service back into operation after suffering thousands of dollars loss in smashed poles, snapped lines and lost revenues.

C. H. Cale, Lubbock manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone company, said last night that "service was gradually being restored to isolated towns in the South Plains area," but that it would be some time before more than temporary circuits had been restored to all points hit by the storm.

Hundreds Of Poles Snapped

Cale said that the company was gradually getting enough crews in and enough men on the job to do "some patching work" and that by noon today service should be restored to Post and Snyder. More than 800 poles between Lubbock and Roscoe were reported snapped during the storm.

More than 300 men were working around the clock to restore toll circuits out of Lubbock, but Cale emphasized that at present only temporary repairs are being made, the permanent restoration will come later. He said more crews would move into the stricken area today and that crews probably would begin to replace damaged poles late this afternoon. More than 100 toll circuits out of Lubbock were shattered by the storm.

The worst damage to phone lines was believed between Snyder and Roscoe where 700 poles were broken off by ice and strain from ice covered wires.

Damage Is Heavy

Roy Autry, general manager of Southwestern Associated Telephone company, estimated that damage to company circuits in the storm area would run from $100,000 to $125,000. He estimated damage in the Hobbs area at $35,000 and in the Haskell and Seymour area at $35,000, with the rest in eastern Oklahoma. He said toll lines probably would be restored by tonight and that other lines would be up within a week.

Southwestern Public Service company also suffered considerable damage to power lines during the ice storm, but most of the power interruptions were of local nature caused by falling limbs. Several breaks in major power circuits were quickly repaired during the latter stages of the storm.

Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Motor Coaches today restored schedules to and from Lubbock that had been held up more than 24 hours by ice glazed highways. Traffic was moving near normal over most of West Texas as highway crews pressed graders into service as snowplows and cleared sleet from the main arteries of travel.

Thursday's relatively mild temperatures almost completed rout of the ice storm. Most of Lubbock's streets were cleared of sleet except in protected areas and along the curbs. Only unpaved streets were causing motorists any serious trouble, and this was mainly from mud rather than ice.

Highway Travel Eased

Meanwhile, this was the situation over the rest of the state as reported by The Associated Press:

With continued relaxing of the ice's grip, telephone and telegraph repairmen hoped to speed up repairs Friday.

By early Thursday morning highway travel in the storm area of West Texas already was possible without extreme danger, operators at the Texas Highway patrol state radio station at Dallas said.

North Plains Damage Light

A report from Amarillo said a few new born calves in the North Plains section perished during the storm. No other livestock losses were reported. Highways were back in good condition in most of the North Plains area. An exception was Hemphill county, where snow and ice about three inches deep covered sections of the road.

From Fort Worth came the story of a Sweetwater, ham radio operator—W. W. Traveland—who Tuesday afternoon and night moved trains, kept electricity flowing into power lines, and shoved oil through pump stations.

Crosbyton "Ham" Aided

He did it by handling messages when normal communications facilities failed.

Other Amateur radio operators elsewhere made his work possible. A Crosbyton "ham" picked up messages from Traveland as fast as the Sweetwater yard office brought them to his shack and he put them on the air. Result: A Santa Fe train which had been unreported for 12 hours began to move. Other orders which originated in Temple and Dallas dispatchers' offices went into the network.

Rail movements all the way from Temple to Slaton—20 trains in, all—were controlled in that one net.

Lana Turner Has Miscarriage In New York; Condition Good

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (INS)—Spokesman for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer announced that movie star Lana Turner suffered a miscarriage tonight at Doctors' hospital in New York.

Russ Stewart, said Lana, in private life the wife of millionaire Henry J. "Bob" Topping, is in "satisfactory" condition.

A hospital official said the miscarriage occurred shortly before 7 p. m. and he added that the blonde film star is in "no danger—no complications have developed."

Topping, the official said, was at his 28-year-old wife's bedside.

Famed 'Lloyds Of London' Still Strong After Devastating War

By JAMES L. BROWN
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Lloyds of London, which started as a 17th century coffee house and became the most famous insurance institution in the world, has emerged from a period of international political upheaval and the most devastating war in history stronger than ever.

One of the most important executives of the ancient billion-dollar enterprise—noted for insuring everything from dancers' legs to huge ships, but excepting life itself—talked frankly in an exclusive interview with International News service today.

In his office in the Lloyds' building in Leadenhall street in "the city," London's Wall street, the executive said:

"Socialization measures at home and the drastic shrinkage of the British empire have not harmed Lloyds.

"Lloyds has not suffered an appreciable loss of business as a result of nationalization of foreign industry in countries behind the iron curtain.

U. S. Business Increases

"Lloyds has been doing much more business with the United States since the end of World war II than ever before."

The executive stated categorically that the British labor government has no intention of nationalizing Lloyds. But he said that some of the government's recent measures might have indirectly caused a loss in business.

He referred specifically to the nationalization of the coal industry.

But he added that the proposed nationalization of the iron and steel industry is on a different basis and would not harm insurance groups.

The spokesman admitted that Lloyds is hampered to some extent by post-war currency restrictions, but he emphasized this had nothing to do with recent changes in the empire. The granting of independence to India and Burma and the severance of Eire from the empire, he said, have not touched the insurance business. He added:

Reputation Unchanged

"The reputation of Lloyds is not affected by political changes."

The real mark of Lloyds' ability to survive disaster, war and political change, however, is the fact it still is operating—stronger than before—after the huge shipping losses during World War II.

For although Lloyds has become synonymous to many people with "break" policies, it got its start and became famous world-wide in the maritime risk field.

The enterprise's history dates back to 1689, to the fact businessmen liked to congregate in the coffee house oeprated by one Edward Lloyd on Tower street. Among them were some with loose cash to be used in insuring against sea risks. The big maritime insurance agencies hadn't yet come into being.

Lloyd died in 1713, but the coffee house continued, first on Tower street and later on Lombard, as a place where shippers and men willing to underwrite the danger of shipping could get together.

The coffee house's prestige also built up through the publication of Lloyds' list, a paper devoted manly to shipping news, which has survived through the centuries.

Offices Moved

By 1774 Lloyds had outgrown its coffee house quarters and status and moved into the Royal exchange, under the guidance of John Julius Angerstein, perhaps the outstanding personality in Lloyd's history. By then the pattern of operations already had been evolved.

Lloyds itself did not—and does not—subscribe policies itself. The risks are underwritten by individual members. The members sign for a specific sum and are responsible for it alone. Lloyds is still a meeting place for underwriters.

Lloyds really big expansion came at the outbreak of the French war in 1793, when it first showed it can survive anything. It survived huge losses by members. One of them, Robert Sheddon, paid out 190,000 pounds during the war.

It also survived the London fire of 1838 when its Royal exchange quarters were destroyed.

Coverage Extended

Lloyds was incorporated in 1870, limited to maritime insurance, but the Lloyds act of 1911 extended the coverage to everything but life policies.

Underwriters at Lloyds have insured "anything," including such widely-publicized items as the legs of Mistinguette, famous French music-hall star, and the limbs, voices and busts of Hollywood stars. The executive explained:

"These policies were mostly publicity stunts. We were aware of that fact, but we wanted to live up to our reputation for our ability to write insurance on anything where there is an insurable risk."

He added that the freak policies today are "as dead as mutton."

The arrival of the atomic age hasn't disturbed the transquility of Lloyds' operations. The executive said no policies changes are being made because of it. He explained:

No Change Planned

"We do not undertake land war risks and our maritime policies will stay the same in spite of the devastating effects of atomic bombs when dropped on ships."

He also explained how Lloyds has escaped the confiscatory effects of nationalization behind the iron curtain.

"We did not do any business with Soviet Russia before the war, and, aside from Romanian shipping, we had few transactions with the other countries in eastern Europe. We have not felt any great change."

Of the pickup in American business, the executive said:

"Firstly, the Americans know they will be paid; secondly, we offer cheaper rates, and thirdly, the insurance market in the United States is up to its neck in all the work it can handle."

The executive added that Lloyds future is bright. The Leadenhall quarters—where attendants still are known as "waiters" — soon will be expanded.

Lucky Foursome Gets Job As Candy Tasters

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13. (AP)—Four Columbus youngsters have just about the sweetest job any child could ask for. They're tasters for a local candy maker.

It started when the candy maker, Leroy Morris, saw Billy Lewis, seven, looking at the window display in his candy shop.

"I have a little job I'd like you to do, son," Morris said to Billy. "I have some new candy and I want you to tell me how you like it."

After tasting the new candy and giving it his approval, Billy dashed into a grocery store next door, shouting:

"Ma, I got a job. I'm a candy taster."

And a candy taster he is. Three other tasters have been added, too, to pass judgment on Morris' candy.

Morris said the children have proved very helpful. For example, when the store is preparing its Christmas mix, the tasters said it was good but that it didn't have enough licorice. So more licorice was added.

In addition, Morris gives candy to every neighborhood child who presents a report card with good grades.

Status Of 3,000,000 Aliens May Change Under Argentine Plan

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 13. (AP)—Almost 3,000,000 aliens would be affected by President Juan D. Peron's announced plans to amend Argentina's constitution to compel foreign residents to become naturalized citizens or leave the country after two years.

This figure includes about 1,000,000 Italians and 700,000 Spaniards. These are the people most easily absorbed into Argentina because of ties of language, religion and custom.

Other fairly large minorities include about 60,000 Germans, about the same number of Russians—mostly White Russians, about 40,000 Britons, and about 10,000 Belgians. Other foreign communities, including the Americans, are smaller.

It was suggested in some quarters that Peron's proposal was directed primarily at forcing large minority groups which have settled here on a permanent basis into the responsibilities of Argentine citizenship.

CZECH MEDALS RIBBONS

PRAGUE —(AP)— The scarcity of metals in Czechoslovakia is reflected in soldiers' decorations. Instead of metal badges, they now wear ribbons on their blouses. Red, blue and green ribbons are given for marksmanship and skill in field fighting. A gold, silver or steel colored linden leaf on the ribbon means extra distinction. Soldiers will also be authorized to wear the decorations after they leave the service and go into plain clothes.

John Ford To Produce 'What Price Glory' To Aid Motion Picture Relief Program

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 13.—John Ford doesn't often bestir himself in activities outside of movie making. But once he makes up his mind to do something—he's a boy who gets results.

When the Board of the Motion Picture Relief fund told the pipe-smoking director how badly they needed money to carry on the fine work—he came up with a whale of an idea.

Ford will stage and produce "What Price Glory" with John Wayne in the star role and it will play on the stage in every city of the West coast. Because of the charity angle, theater tickets will sell at about twice the usual cost. But don't worry that the fans won't shell out to see the cast of movie stars Jack is lining up.

Crawford May Get Role

For months a discussion has been going on at the Warner studio about a musical Jerry Wald had in mind for Joan Crawford. Miss Crawford had expressed a wish to do some dancing once again and be starred in a musical comedy as a change from the heavy drama she had made the past year.

At a meeting with Jack L. Warner, Jerry was given the go sign to produce a musical, and to have it written pronto.

More than that, Jack will ask 20th to lend him June Haver and he will put Jack Carson, Gordon Mac Rae, Virginia Mayo in the same movie, making it an all-star cast.

Wilde Is Signed

You would be surprised at the number of telephone calls I received before Lazar Wexler left town. Actors with contracts, and without contracts, wanted to talk to the man who brought Montgomery Clift to fame in "The Search."

Although Wexler was in Hollywood only briefly, he signed Cornel Wilde to appear in the picture he is to make in Switzerland. Before he left town he paid Betty Smith, author of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," $70,000 for a 170-page original screenplay called "School Bus." This is another story of a school teacher, which Wexler hopes to produce in this country after he finishes the romance of the GI and the Swiss girl in Zurich. He hopes to get a top name star.

TEA-TIME BROADCAST STARTED

Danish Royal Family May Set New 'Style' In Radio Programs

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—As a drowsy clod who has difficulty staying up late enough to hear those husband-wife breakfast programs, which begin at the unhealthy crack of 8 a. m., I am happy to learn that the Danish royal family has made a chatty tea-time broadcast.

King Frederick IX, Queen Ingrid and their three princesses, Margarethe, 8, Benedikte, 4, and Anne Marie, 2, wowed Scandinavia in their debut. Owners of shortwave receivers tell me that they were a nice copy of such New York dispensers of predawn bliss as Dorothy and Dick, Jinx and Tex and the Fitzgeralds.

King Sounds Jovial

Margarethe, in the iron pattern of unfettered childhood, put a blast on a school chum. Big, jovial Frederick, apparently an ardent fan of big, jovial Ed Fitzgerald, made big, jovial sounds like MGM's lion and then called his queen a "dream-wife."

Sounds very gay, and I hope the idea spreads like the good king's native anchovy. Too many of us, unable to face the sound of connubial chit-chat before mid-afternoon, have been missing U. S. broadcasts of this type. The tea-time schedule opens new vistas.

I must instruct my hard working radio representative, Douglas Storer, to line up me and the old lady for a twilight broadcast called "cocktails with the Considines," which because of the time it would go on the air, could be sponsored jointly by the oatmeal and the gin trusts.

Children Couldn't Be Trusted

But that's purely a selfish note. And besides, we've got some kids who could not be trusted to speak into an unprotected mike. Matter of fact, they'd probably go off the track more often than a Florida-bound express.

The better idea, I think, would be to have the family idea spread to the rulers of the earth. After all, things aren't going too well with any of them lately. If the Danish royal family comes up with a sponsor we might very well see a stampede in that direction.

We take you now to Washington, where that delightful average family, the Trumans, are dining at a table filled with garnished microphones:

Dad — Had a tough day at the office today, Bessie girl. Had to pay one bill for $893,724,611.04. And England sent back those 50 destroyers. How were things over here?

Chit-Chat Sampled

Mom—Awful! All you had to do was have your little old decisions. I'm still trying to fit 43 rooms of furniture into this teensy Blair place. Drat those White House termites!

Dad—Now, now. We can't have everything. And how was school today, daughter?

Daughter — Wonderful! I hit high D above C four consecutive times. Would you like to hear me, Dad?

Dad—Not now, dear, not now. Pass them 'taters, Bessie girl. Nothing like a nice mess of Idaho spuds, eh?

Mom—You said a mouthful, Dad. Now here, wash them down with a delicious cup of "Happy Bean" coffee, the coffee pressed only from contented beans raised on the west, or richer, slope of Matte Grosso.

Royal Conversation Possible

Dad—What time did Margaret Rose get in this morning, Bessie girl?

Mom — Land sakes, Paw, let her have her fun. Matter of fact, I wish we could go to the "400" and Bill Little's Albany club, too.

Dad—Hmmm. What's our latest Hooper?

Mom — Nothing, again. Dear, dear me, how do they expect us to compete against that new give-away program, "Ask for it and you'll jolly well get it?"

Dad—Do you suppose Lloyds would insure our program so that if anyone listening to us was called by the giveaway, we could pay them off up to say, 5,000 quid?

Mom—Please, Paw, even Fred Allen wasn't very funny when he pulled that one.

Dad—Well, cheer up. Bonnie Prince Charles will soon be old enough for us to have him on the air.

Mom—We need a new network.

And now to Moscow, where we give you that sentimental gentleman from Georgia (independent Soviet republic on the sunny shores of the Black sea), Iosif Vissarionovich Dzugashvili, better known as good old "Uncle Joe" Stalin. Will you say a word, Unk?

Uncle Joe—Niet!

Fingerprint Believed To Be Abe Lincoln's Goes To Library

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—The Illinois state historical library has what it believes is a fingerprint of Abraham Lincoln.

The print, made in ink, was found on a brief note written by Lincoln shortly before the end of the Civil War. The note was bought by the library from a New York autograph dealer.

Jay Monaghan, state historian, said he is sure the print is that of Lincoln. But there is no way to check it since no one has a Lincoln fingerprint known to be authentic.

The note was written in ink on a small piece of paper, about 2½ by 4 inches. It said:

"Let this man be discharged. A. Lincoln, Feb. 17, 1865."

What the note referred to is not known, but Monaghan theorized that it had to do with a granting a pardon to someone.

Emergency Airlift Set Up In Nebraska

Air Force Drops 'Hay Bombs' To Save Lubbock Men's Sheep

Two ingenious Lubbock men were responsible for an airlift "operation mutton" of their own—with 20,000 hungry sheep and lambs as the target, reports from Denver indicate.

James Bledsoe, sr., and James Bledsoe, jr., of 1801 Thirteenth would probably tell you that Lubbock doesn't know what a snow and ice storm is.

The have under lease in western Nebraska over 100 sections of wheat stubble land on which they were winter-feeding more than 20,000 head of sheep and lambs.

Down came the recent record blizzard and the stubble was covered, threatening to starve what livestock wasn't frozen.

The Bledsoes, who stay in that area from mid-October until market time in the spring, have their own four-passenger plane, but it was inadequate to drop bundles of hay to the animals.

So young Bledsoe, 24, enlisted the Air Force's aid to help.

From Lowry field, Denver, five C-47 planes dropped 300 bales of hay daily on clusters of half-frozen, half-starved sheep. Bledsoe himself was in the lead plane, pointing out the targets.

They swept in low over flock after flock of stricken sheep. Farm families climbed atop the huge, hard-packed drifts to wave and watch as the heavily loaded planes swooped down out of the southwestern sky to drop the life-sustaining hay.

Bledsoe said he could not accurately estimate the loss from the storm except that "it will be heavy—perhaps 10,000 lambs."

He called his mother, who works at Hemphill-Wells company, Wednesday night and said the thaw was starting, so things were looking up. Mrs. Bledsoe and her daughter, Betty Helen, visited the men during Christmas and flew over the huge grazing domain.

The land is in the vicinity of Sidney, Lodgepole, Chappell and Lorenzo, Nebraska.

Outlook Is Dark For Small Farms

(By The International News Service)

With farms growing larger and larger, many people have started wondering just how much longer family farms can still provide a living.

A recent U. S. Department of Agriculture economics survey indicates large and medium size family farms may continue to be economically sound. But the outlook isn't so encouraging for the small-scale units.

The survey shows that the medium and large commercial family farms are providing a good living, and in some parts of the country these farms are getting even bigger. As they do increase, they begin competing successfully with the large-scale units.

Want Elbow Room

As for the nearly 1,000,000 small-scale farms, the outlook is not so certain. These farms raise from $500 to $1,200 worth of products a year, but they don't make enough to provide these same farm families with telephones, automobiles, electricity and running water.

With industries springing up all over the state, there are more opportunities for part-time jobs off the farm. Quite a few folks that have jobs in town build homes on small acreages outside the city limits. Such locations permit them to have chickens, a few pigs or sheep, a cow and a vegetable patch. Ever since REA lines and butane gas have taken to the country, this trend has become more general.

Texas families want more elbow room; they want more ground area than they'd have in the city. So, as the economists see it, there's a big need for training farm people in other trades whose best income lie outside farming. And others need help in further developing more profitable farms where they are.

Tipsy Motorist Has Run Of Bad Luck After Car Goes In Ditch

CLEBURNE, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—The Cleburne motorist's bad luck started when he backed his car into a ditch on a country road. The few drinks under his belt helped.

In his efforts to drive the car from the ditch under its own power, the friction set the dry grass afire. A fence, several posts, two telephone poles, and the car were destroyed in the blaze.

The motorist ran from the burning car and sought refuge in a nearby shed, which caught fire and burned down. County officers arrived about that time and hauled him to jail.

Former Gov. Dan Moody Is Recovering From Illness

AUSTIN, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Former Gov. Dan Moody was reported recovering rapidly today from a pneumonia attack which hospitalized him Monday.

Germans Like Newly Developed Ersatz Sausage, Milk Products

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—A "hundred per cent ersatz" sausage and a milk substitute has been produced successfully in Germany and the Germans like it, the Bipartite Control office announced.

The announcement said a firm in Hannover has turned out such a sausage and that the firm's ten-ton daily output is being sold out. The U. S. government shipped 100 tons of soya to help the project.

At the same time a milk substitute was developed by a British medical group working in the Ruhr and is now manufactured at the rate of 100 tons a month.

Bipartite officials said development of the projects would ease considerably the meat and dairy situation in the western occupation zone.

Stage Struck Hens Snap Out Of Long Egg Production Slump

SUDBURY, Mass., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—A little night life sometimes can be a good thing for hens, says John H. Whitworth, poultryman.

Asked to supply a hen for a scene in a local production of the play "Dress Rehearsal," Whitworth donated a hen that hadn't laid an egg in many months.

The hen was returned to him after the performance, and he found it had laid an egg in the hen house next morning. When he was approached again, Whitworth, out of curiosity, donated a different non-layer.

Next morning he discovered the second hen, too, had become productive.

Now Whitworth would like to give the treatment to several other non-layers but the play has concluded its run.

Five Men Charged In Cattle Theft Case

AUSTIN, Jan. 13. —(AP)— Five men have been charged with cattle theft and investigation of a cattle theft ring is continuing in three central Texas counties, The Austin American informed The Associated Press tonight.

The newspaper said sheriffs of Hays, Victoria and Gonzales counties, Texas Rangers and inspectors for the Southwestern Texas Cattle Raisers association are working together on the case. One officer said the cattle rustling may be connected with butchering activities in Bexar county.

Sheriff T. D. Kridler of Gonzales told The American that five men had been arrested and charged with cattle theft. Their names were not learned.

Kridler reported that members of the rustling ring load cattle into fast trucks and carry them to a market where they are quickly butchered to prevent identification by their brands, The American said. More than 100 head of cattle have been reported stolen in the three-county area recently.

Taxpayers May Be Asked To Kick In With $12,500 To Support Big Colony Of Monkeys

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — Us taxpayers may be called upon soon to kick up $12,500 for support of a colony of monkeys down Puerto Rico way.

Before you blast your roof at the very thought, let it be said that these are no ordinary monks. Theye were imported from India and turned loose on a 35-acre wooded plot on Humacao off the east coast of Puerto Rico. There they found what man never will find—Utopia.

Plenty of trees to swing through and tail-hang from (except their tails are not long enough to hang from, excuse it.) Specially prepared breakfasts and suppers. Only a couple of nosey humans to get in the way. And no cages.

Science Has Stake

If you have in mind to write your congressman about that 12 and a half thousand bucks for food and doctor bills for a bunch of monkey-shines, hold still a minute.

Science is watching these primates to learn what makes a monkey shine when it's young and grow wrinkled and gray when it's old.

Maybe some day the test-tube folks will find out and apply the knowledge to people. Perhaps even learn how to iron a wrinkle or keep black hair black.

I am unhappy to relate at this point that a snag has been struck. The experiment on monkey isle was started 12 years ago. The caretaker was a psychology researcher. All of a sudden he departed with all of the age records of the monkeys. Now it's like trying to tell the players at a football game without a program.

Out Of Groceries

How old is a monkey when he stands three hands high. Nobody knows but a monkey's brother. Meanwhile, the monkeys have eaten themselves out of groceries and are getting hungry.

In Washington, Dr. David Price of the National Institute of Health, said he could get up some money to keep the project going on an "if" basis. If those age records are found, the doctor thinks he might be able to get the federal government to foot at least part of the bill.

"Gosh," he said, "you just can't sit back and let 600 monkeys starve to death!"

These monkeys, in case you are keeping score, are smart in one way and not so smart in another.

Kings Really Smart

I have a dispatch from an old gray-haired friend of mine, Bill O'Reilly, who has been in Puerto Rico since 1909. He went over to visit monkey island not long ago.

"The primates, particularly the 'kings' of the tribe are really smart. They have a harem," old Bill said. "And they protect it. Some cute monkey dame comes along and devil take the hindmost if some other 'king' tries to muscle in."

But in another way, O'Reilly said, the monks are a little on the dumb side. Not as smart as people.

For instance, a coconut tree turns up at the right time of the year with blossoms. Potential coconuts.

What do those dumb monkeys do. They pick the blooms and pitch 'em on the ground and scamper down and eat 'em.

CAUSE OF COLD ELUSIVE

CLEVELAND (U.P.) — Twelve prisoners being held on charges from armed robbery to auto theft were used as "guinea pigs" by medical scientists from Western Reserve University seeking to discover the cause of the common cold. But none of the men became very ill despite injections with a virus thought to be a cold-causing agent.

Research Engineer Speaker At Weekly Kiwanis Meeting

Speaking on "Greeting a Stranger," Burritt S. Mills, widely traveled industrial and research engineer, who has moved to this city from Tulsa, told the Kiwanis club at luncheon Thursday at Hotel Lubbock that the way a stranger is greeted often establishes or kills a potential valuable friendship, or makes or breaks a lucrative business connection.

Mills spoke from his own experiences in a business that has carried him into 44 states of the Union and 29 nations of Europe.

He said that a rut and a grave are exactly the same except in dimensions, and that the quickest way to get into either, figuratively, is to fail to have a cheery and courteous greeting for a stranger or associates.

The speaker was introduced by Bill Ducker, program chairman.

Mrs. C. N. Hallmark sang two numbers, "Bells of St. Marys," and "Because." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. James Acheson.

George Bunton was introduced as a new member. Club President Fred Sparks was in the chair, with invocation by Howard E. Golden.

U. S. Medical Defense Against Atom Attack Is Claimed Weak

CHICAGO, Jan. 13. (INS)—Three atomic physicians said today the United States would be as bad off medically under an atomic bomb attack as the Japanese were at Nagasaki.

Writing in the Jan. 15 issue of the Journal of the American Medical association, the physicians said:

"One-third of the population of a bombed city will be killed outright or will die in days to weeks no matter how soon they are brought to medical attention.

Third Might Survive

"But another third of the population would survive providing medical care is quickly and adequately provided for."

The physicians said the remaining third would have a "fair" chance of survival without medical aid—provided there were no epidemics.

Drs. Leon O. Jacobson and J. Garrot Allen of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Robert S. Stone, of the University of California, said all large cities must be organized and mobilized if they are to survive an atomic attack.

The three, formerly connected with the Manhattan project at the University of Chicago, made the following suggestions for a mobilization setup:

1. Construction of hospital facilities on the outskirts of all large cities; facilities for examination of ambulatory casualties; emergency rations for a large number of persons.

2. Strategically placed, well-trained workers to police and evacuate casualties.

3. Technicians to be on the scene to determine the radius from the center of the attack. These technicians would determine for whom evacuation would be most worthwhile for immediate medical attention.

B-36's To Form Air 'Umbrella' Over Truman's Inaugural Parade

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Half a dozen B-36 superbombers will play the leading role Jan. 20 in the Air Force "umbrella" over the inaugural parade of President Truman in Washington.

Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, commander of the Eighth Air Force at Carswell here, said six of the big ships would fly to Washington to take part in the program. Maj. John D. Bartlett is expected to pilot the land plane carrying General Ramey. Bartlett flew the B-36 that made the non-stop flight from Fort Worth to Hawaii and back Dec. 7.

SERVICE STATION ROBBED

GAINESVILLE, Jan. 13.—(AP)—A filling station at Saint Jo, in Montague county, was robbed of between $700 and $800 early today, the highway patrol here said. The robber was described as tall and lanky, wearing a black hood and cowboy boots.

SHERIFF HAPPY

Elephant Back In Owner's Hands

SELMA, Ala., Jan. 13. (AP)—Sheriff W. C. McCain is happy to report that Babe is back in her owner's hands today. Babe is a 9,000-pound elephant with a large appetite.

McCain had to impound Babe recently when Trainer Frank Leggett sued owner Martin Arthur of Venice, Calif., for $675 in back pay. The sheriff said it took from one to three bales of hay a day to feed Babe and bed her down.

It would have taken more, he added, except that the elephant was allowed to graze in the field and friends donated hay.

The sheriff said Arthur settled with Leggett and also paid $25 for Babe's keep.

Plans had been made for Babe to parade here tomorrow in a March of Dimes campaign. But Arthur wanted his elephant and she was started to California in a truck.

South Texas Plans For 'Biggest Show' At Houston Feb. 2

HOUSTON, Jan. 13. (INS) —The 1949 Houston Fat Stock Show at a cost of $395,000 is planned to be one of the largest in the nation and the "biggest show" for South Texas.

More than $75,000 in prize money is earmarked for winners in many fields of the show's 12-day run from Feb. 2 through Feb. 13.

Some of the most exciting events will be the world championship rodeo, the calf scramble, milking contest, junior dairy judging contest, the quarter horse, gaited horse and cutting horse contests.

One hundred fine beef calves will be given to boys who catch them during the scramble. Two-hundred boys between the ages of 14 to 16 will compete. The boys are members of 4-H clubs and Future Farmers of America chapters in Texas.

A & M Scholarship Offered

The winners of the calf scramble will manage and feed their calves and enter them in the fat steer contest next year.

A Houston insurance man, Jim Tucker, will give a $2,000 agricultural scholarship to Texas A&M college to the outstanding boy who caught a calf last year.

J. W. Sartwelle of Houston will give $100 to the boy whose calf makes the greatest gain from feed raised on the boy's farm during the past year. S. P. McCall, also of Houston, will give the three boys showing the best scramble calves a registered hereford heifer.

Surprise Awards Planned

Two surprise awards of $100 will be awarded by W. Kendell Baker and R. T. "Bob" Herrin. C. B. Johnson of Houston will give $100 to the boy who shows the best scramble calf at the 1949 show to use in purchasing a heifer calf. The two boys showing best scramble calves also will receive a free trip to the Purina mills experimental farm in Missouri. This award will be made by Gideon Briscoe and Claude Lindsey of Houston.

The dairy milking race will be open to 160 boys between the ages of 12 and 15. The 80 winners of the contest who obtain the most milk by weight in a two minute period each receive a calf.

THREE OTHERS DIE IN CRASH

Injured Woman Is Saved After Five Days In Shattered Plane

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Jan. 13. (INS) — A rescue party pushed through huge snowdrifts today to save a 24-year-old woman who had survived bitter cold for five days in the wrecked cabin of a plane that crashed in the Tehachapi mountains southeast of Bakersfield.

The critically injured woman, barely conscious, lay beside the bodies of her husband and two other persons killed when the plane crashed in the snow-covered mountains last Saturday.

Doctor Heads Party

She is Mrs. James De Freitas of Southgate, Cal.

Killed besides her husband were Robert Gloe of Santa Monica, Cal., and Mrs. Eve William of Taft, Cal.

The rescue party was headed by Dr. Robert Dykes of Taft, who, with his wife, was rescued last year from a mountain peak in Utah after his plane was forced down.

Gloe, one of the victims of the Tehachapi crash, had aided in the rescue of Dr. Dykes.

The rescue party relayed word to Bakersfield that Mrs. De Freitas still had strength to whisper her name when she was found.

She was taken to the Fickert Ranch in the isolated Bear Mountain country and from there by ambulance to a hospital. The ambulance pushed through from Bakersfield behind a snow plow.

Arms, Legs Fractured

Mrs. Nell Fickert, who operates the ranch with her husband, said Mrs. De Freitas suffered fractures of both arms and both legs and had been unable to move since the plane crashed. Mrs. Fickert added:

"We just don't know how she managed to survive. It must have been horrible. She said she was conscious most of the time."

The injured woman had survived exposure to the bitter cold of California's worst freeze during which temperatures ranged down to 11 degrees above zero.

The plane, owned by Dr. Dykes and piloted by Gloe, was last heard from late last Saturday when Gloe talked by radio with the Bakersfield airport. The ground search had been under way since yesterday after the wreckage was sighted by John Montijo of the La Cresta airport.

Safecracker Takes Infant Along For $5,000 Denver Haul

DENVER, Jan. 13. (INS)—A real-life parallel to Damon Runyon's hilarious story of the safecracker who took his infant along on a "job" came to light in a Denver suburb today.

Sheriff Carl Enlow of Jefferson county investigated a safecracking at the Becker Super Market west of Denver today and reported finding:

Several empty cans of baby food near the opened safe.

Took Big Haul

Enlow said the cracksmen broke into the grocery store by entering the barber shop and punching a hole through the 13-inch thick wall between the two buildings.

The sheriff expressed confidence that no baby, however talented, punched the knob off the super market safe and made off unassisted with the $5,000 in cash and checks reported missing.

He said the burglars must have brought the infant along and fed it baby food to keep it quiet during the work of smashing open the safe.

In the late Runyon's story, a reformed cracksman was persuaded to do "one last job" and was forced to take his son, Butch, with him. Police closed in and his accomplices were nabbed, but the safe expert escaped because the "cops" were too smart to suspect a man carrying a baby in his arms.

Harris County Man Cleared On Charges Of Rustling Cattle

HOUSTON, Jan. 13.—(U.P.)— A criminal district court jury deliberated less than an hour today to find Truman Bartlett, 50, not guilty of cattle rustling.

The three-day proceedings provided Harris county with a sagebrush-flavored trial, and the courtroom was packed with cattlemen wearing boots and wide-brimmed hats.

Bartlett was accused of taking 21 head of cattle from pastures of A. L. Mott the night of Sept. 25, 1947. Most of the animals were recovered a few days later on land owned by Frank Stephens of La Porte.

Stephens, also indicted, was granted a separate trial on a motion by his attorney.

HEN DOES TRIPLE JOB

City's 'Answer Man' Balks At Idea Of Measuring Zoo Tiger

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Kenneth R. Card of the Colorado Springs chamber of commerce doesn't mind sending road directions to a potential tourist, but he does mind stepping into a cage and measuring a tiger.

Both the requests were received by the conventions and publicity department of the chamber—along with thousands of others the past year.

The inquiries ran all the way from "when does it snow in Coloradio?" to "how long is the tiger in your zoo?"

At Least One Millionaire Goes North For Winter Vacations

BURLINGTON, Vt., Jan. 13. (U.P.) —Most Massachusetts residents who can afford it go south for the winter but not Fred Pousland.

Each year the 90-year-old retired baker and his 82-year-old wife move from their Carlisle, Mass., home to their winter home in this northern metropolis.

"There seems to be less snow and the cold isn't so penetrating up here," Pousland commented.

DWIGHT, Ill. —(U.P.)— Members of the first temperance society, formed in Massachusetts 125 years ago, weren't as conscientious as they might have been.

James H. Oughton, jr., director of the Keeley Institute, says the members signed the following pledge:

"We, the undersigned, recognizing the evils of drunkenness and resolved to check its alarming increase, with consequent poverty, misery, and crime among our people, hereby solemnly pledge ourselves that we will not get drunk more than four times a year, viz., Fourth of July, Muster Day, Christmas Day and Sheep Shearing."

MANILA, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Alfredo Pretacio is always being mistaken for something he is not.

Protacio is a Filipino midshipman in the United States merchant marine cadet corps. He was among the first cadets sent to the United States under a provision of the Philippine rehabilitation act of 1946.

He wrote to his mother that in his uniform of blue and white he was mistaken for a policeman in New York.

When his ship stopped at Kobe, Japan, a platoon of Australian soldiers saluted him. He was wearing his khaki uniform with shoulder bars and a star signifying a scholastic decoration. He was taken for a general.

In Naples, Italy, people glared at him menacingly. He learned later that his uniform was similar to that once worn by Mussolini's henchmen.

SHIP LOSES COBRAS

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Eight months ago a Royal Navy fumigating party at the Naval Base here killed a six-foot cobra discovered aboard the minesweeper Test. Since then the Test has been alongside the dock. This week the vessel got another fumigation. Three yard-long king cobras were killed. Fumigation experts believe the latest bag of snakes were hatched from eggs left by the one killed eight months ago.

BOSTON WANTS ITS PROFIT

BOSTON (U.P.)—The East Boston vehicular tunnel, which runs under Boston harbor to link North Shore communities to downtown Boston, operated at a profit of about $500,000 in 1948. However, the city plans no cut in the 20-cents toll charge because a five-cent reduction would slice the yield to the break-even point.

HST's 48-Group Air Arm Plan Expected To Draw Strong Fire

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Proponents of air power are contending that President Truman's proposal for a 48-group Air Force woud actually mean a reduction in present combat strength.

Announcement that Congress will hold hearings on the subject has sent them scurrying after figures with which to prove it.

The Air Force already has announced cancellation of contracts for new jet fighters, flying wings and other lighter aircraft in favor of continuation of the heavy bomber program. It was said at the time that the cancellations would not affect the number of groups, but that it would mean present groups would continue without planned replacements of obsolescent equipment.

Other experts say however, that a study of organization tables will show there are already more than 48 groups. Further, they say, a study of training and base maintenance necessities in connection with the new budget limitations will show that actual deactivation of some combat groups will be necessary.

They are expected to argue before Congress that such a result would be a definite encouragement both to the efforts of American Communists to hamper the defense program and to Russian expansionism; that it would tend to encourage a feeling in the Politburo—which Undersecretary of State Lovett has said might lead to war—that they are able to beat us.

Arguments Outlined

Large Air Force proponents point out that Russia has little or nothing to fear from our Army or Navy, the former being overwhelmingly outnumbered and the latter unable to approach Soviet territory. The Army and Navy argue about that, but high Army officials do agree at many points with the contention that fear of atomic bombing is a great deterrent on Russia. They also agree that our ability to deliver a strong retaliatory blow against Russia in the first hours of any conflict is vital to all of our defense plans.

Even the minimum 70-group force advocated by Air Secretary Symington would have trouble meeting its obligations in such an event, Congress will be told.

It will also be told that Russia has a large and constantly expanding force of B-29 bombers, and that there is reason to believe they either have an atom bomb or will have shortly.

Limited Foreign Investments To Be Permitted In Japan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—The U. S. Army said today foreigners will be allowed to invest limited sums of money and acquire business properties in Japan.

A new SCAP (supreme commander, allied powers) circular and directive to the Japanese government issued this morning "broaden the scope of business activities permitted foreigners."

The Army said, "as an essential part of the expanded business program, postwar entrants now may acquire or lease residential properties for their own bona fide individual full or part time use without SCAP approval, on the same basis as Japanese."

The Army emphasized, however, that this new regulation does not apply to occupation personnel. The Army said, "occupation personnel still are prohibited from engaging in business in Japan."

Chicago Man, 77, Seeks To Divorce 23-Year-Old Wife

CHICAGO, Jan. 13. (INS)—A 77-year-old wealthy Chicago plastics manufacturer filed suit today for divorce from his 23-year-old sixth wife.

Charles F. Degner charged in circuit court that Mrs. Degner, a former waitress, threatened his life unless he gave her $13,500 to buy a home for her mother.

The court granted an injunction preventing Mrs. Degner from disposing of an expensive automobile which was her wedding gift.

Plant Expert Sees 'Electric Harvest'

Sun 'Crop' May Replace Food As Product Of Future Farms

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Writer

YONKERS, ... An expert on plant research said today that the farmer of the future may make more money converting sunlight into electricity than from growing food crops.

If such a new business comes to pass—and Dr. John M. Arthur believes it might—then the arid, rocky lands of some western and southern states would increase in value.

Arthur, of the Boyce Thompson institute for plant research, said that if all the radiant energy falling on a single acre of land could be collected and changed to electricity, the current would be worth $106,000 a year, sold at the rate of two cents a kilowatt hour.

He said that in some areas, such as the dry, sunny states of the Southwest, the output of electricity would be even more.

Arthur said that research already is under way to find means to capture the radiant energy and put it to work on farm lands. He recalled the successful use of solar heating in such states as Florida where water can be brought to almost a boiling point from exposure to the sun through glass panels.

"The big obstacle," he said "is finding a way to store the electricity, but in time that obstacle may be overcome."

Dr. Arthur said that growing plants use only about $1000 worth of radiant energy, and that the remainder is going to waste.

"Farmers of the future, especially those who are located on rough, stony lands, may consider it more profitable to collect and sell sunlight energy directly instead of risking the growing and harvesting of a crop of plants," he said.

Most of Dr. Arthur's research here is on the use of high powered artificial light to speed up the growing of plants in greenhouses.

Natural sunlight, he said, is the best but can be supplemented for a period of four to six hours each night with artificial light.

"This often produces springtime growth and flowering on many kinds of long day plants when a favorable temperature is maintained," he said.

Arthur said that the color of electric lights may have a "profound influence" on the character of a plant.

For instance, he said that a predominantly red and infra-red light source produces a tall, poorly colored plant, while blue light in general produces a well colored plant of more normal height.

Partial Repeal Of Luxury Taxes Urged

AUSTIN, Jan. 13. (AP)—Radios, cosmetics and playing cards are viewed by a bill in the 51st Senate as "necessary to the modern way of life."

The bill, introduced by Senator Keith Kelly of Fort Worth, wants the state luxury excise tax on the items repealed. The tax is two per cent on retail sales of radios and cosmetics and five cents per deck on playing cards.

"The so-called luxury excise tax has been extended and applied to constitute in fact a tax on many necessities and adds to the high cost of living and the generally undesirable inflationary trend," the bill reads.

"Radios and many items taxed are in daily use and are necessary to the modern way of life."

Manufacturer Calls Belt Sizes Good Index Of Prosperity Trend

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—Average belt sizes provide a barometer of business booms and busts, according to Ray Hickok, president of the belt manufacturing company here.

Average size belts sold during apple-selling depression days was 31. Today the average size stretches to 34.

Average sizes vary according to different sections of the country. Washington runs to large sizes. So does Chicago. In the deep south, down to New Orleans, you get a majority of thin-waisted men. The same is true of hard-riding Texans and lean motion picture men of southern California.

New York is a normal average of a mature 34 and 36-inch and a man's 32 and 34.

The dispersion of industry is necessary for and vital to national defense. This is a basic conclusion of the National Security Resources Board. A new urban redevelopment for industrial and population dispersion also is essential.

New Markets are Born in a Test Tube

New products are developed, new uses are found for meat and by-products in Swift's Food Research Laboratories. Thus our "scientist-salesmen" help you find wider outlets for your livestock.

Many million head of livestock are marketed annually. Demand for meat from these animals has been increased by Swift research.

From livestock country to city counter, science blazes the trail for a thriving livestock-meat industry. Among these trail-blazers are 400 trained personnel in the Swift research laboratories and test kitchens. Pioneer-scientists, they develop new meat products—find new uses for more and more livestock by-products. Scientist-salesmen, they create new markets—better values for your livestock.

Yes, their work means money to you . . . millions! The average annual commercial slaughter for the last ten years was over 28½ million cattle and calves, nearly 65 million hogs, and over 22 million sheep and lambs. That's a lot of meat—and it's a lot of by-products, too! Cowhides, pigskins, and sheepskins, by the millions, for everyday leather goods. Well over 50 million pounds of pulled wool annually for cloth and clothing. Thousands of tons of lards and soaps for home and industry. Carloads of animal feeds. Tons of hair for upholstery. The list is almost endless.

Research found how to derive life-saving pharmaceuticals from animal by-products. Here numbers are important. For example, tiny glands from many thousands of animals must be saved to produce one pound of adrenalin, powerful heart stimulant. To yield one pound of crystalline insulin, vital in the treatment of diabetes, the pancreatic glands of 20,000 cattle are needed. Important, too, is albumin, tuberculosis "detector" recovered from cattle blood—and many more beneficial, all-important medicinal products derived from animal slaughter.

Now recent research has developed an entirely new line of important chemicals from fatty acids. One chemical from fat makes clothing water-repellent. Another is a flotation agent, useful in the separation of phosphates for fertilizers. Another prolongs the life of synthetic tires by causing them to run cooler. And detergents, "soap substitutes," have been recovered for use with hard water in the home and industry. So the list grows, from day to day.

Yes, science performs a direct, very valuable business service for you, the livestock producer. Through new products and new markets, it 1) maintains or improves the position of meat on the American menu; 2) often reduces the price we get for the meat to less than we pay for the live animal; 3) enables the meat packer to pay you more for all your livestock.

OUR CITY COUSIN

City Cousin, little chump—
Stuck his tongue on a frosty pump!

Business Must Serve

As you look about your own neighborhood you'll find some men who are assets to the community, others who add nothing to community life. These good citizens may be large operators or "little fellows." You do not rate them by the size of their operations but by their characters, abilities and what they contribute to the good of the community.

This same principle holds true in business. The business that performs worthwhile services to the community is an asset, whether it be a local concern or a big national organization.

In our livestock-meat industry both large and small meat packing plants are essential. Two-thirds of our country's livestock is raised and fed west of the Mississippi, where the great grainlands and grasslands are . . . Two-thirds of the meat is eaten east of the Mississippi, where most of the people live. Large packers are needed to handle the processing and distribution of meat for a nation of 145,000,000 people.

Swift & Company has grown with the expansion of the United States in the past 65 years. That's because we perform services of value to the people of America—to farmers, ranchers, meat dealers, and consumers of meats. We have to be efficient to provide these services. Meat packers have applied to meat products the economies of mass-production and mass-marketing. We have developed one of the lowest cost food distributing systems in the nation. By saving by-products and by reducing waste, we increase the value of producers' livestock.

But so keen is the competition—in both the buying and selling ends of our business—that these services have averaged us, over the years, earnings of only a fraction of a cent per pound of meat.

To all of our friends on the farms and ranches of America, we of Swift send our sincere best wishes for a happy, peaceful and prosperous New Year.

President, Swift & Company

Homemakers use more and more meat and livestock products, thanks to findings of Swift nutritionists.

It's not the hours you put in, but what you put into your hours.

QUOTES OF THE MONTH

Animals have done more to make America great than any other one thing. Directly and indirectly, animals account for about 80 per cent of the jobs in the food industry, and the food industry accounts for about 55 per cent of the total employment in this country. Chicago Daily Drovers Journal

Crossbred or Fine-Wool?

by A. C. Esplin
Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, Utah

A. C. Esplin

Crossbreeding in Western Range herds has long been a discussion point among operators. The advantages of the crossbred over fine-wool are:

1) Crossbred ewes are better mothers; 2) they are more prolific breeders; 3) they produce lighter shrinkage wool; 4) they produce high percentage combing wool; 5) they produce better mutton lambs; 6) they are better rustlers on the range; and 7) they are larger sheep.

The disadvantages reported for crossbred ewes are: 1) they are shorter lived than fine-wool ewes; 2) they lose wool on brush and do not hold fleece when past 3 years of age; 3) crossbred ewe lambs must be sold as feeders and ewes bought for replacement; 4) they are more difficult to herd than fine-wool ewes; 5) they are not as hardy as fine-wool ewes; 6) it is impossible to maintain standards of breeding and uniform wool grades with crossbred ewes; 7) annual death losses are more than with fine-wool ewes.

This, as a whole, expresses the range operator's thinking on problems of breeds of sheep and breeding operations. Length of life, density and quality of fleece, uniformity of herd, and herding instincts are considered by the largest number of operators.

Petroleum Council Calls For Government To Stay Out Of Tidelands, Synthetic Liquid Fuels Field

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—The National Petroleum council, stepping hard on the Interior department's toes, today recommended state rather than federal controls of tidelands.

The council also said the federal government should stay out of the synthetic liquid fuels field except for fundamental research and surveys of raw material reserves.

Interior, along with the Justice department, is battling California, Texas and Louisiana for the right to rich off-shore oil bearing lands. It also is carrying out an ambitious synthetic fuels program.

Policy Plan Drafted

The Supreme court, in a California case, has held that the federal government's interest in the tidelands is "paramount."

The council, composed of industry leaders, was established by the Interior department to advise it on petroleum matters.

Secretary of the Interior Krug asked the council last July to recommend a sound national oil policy for consideration by Congress.

The council, at its quarterly meeting today, presented a proposed policy drafted by a 24-man committee headed by A. Jacobsen, New York city, president of the Amerada Petroleum Corp.

Some of the other recommendations:

1. The government should stockpile enough oil for the early stages of a war. Peacetime stockpiling on a large scale is unnecessary and impractical.

Adequate Materials Needed

2. Maintenance of a healthy domestic oil industry should be paramount. The industry should be assured an adequate supply of essential materials.

3. Participation of Americans in development of world oil resources "is in the interest of all nations."

4. Oil from abroad should be available to the United States as needed, but too great use of imports should retard domestic exploration and development.

5. The oil industry should be competitive under incentives of private enterprise. The government should confine itself to safeguarding the public interest, and should encourage private capital by "appropriate tax provisions and public land policies."

Urge Prior Consultation

6. No government actions specifically affecting the oil industry should be taken without consultation with the industry. The difficulty of meeting postwar demands was due mainly to wartime restrictions, and gave some people the false impression that the nation was faced with a permanent oil shortage requiring special measures.

The council said of tidelands:

"State authorities have proved effective in their protection of the public welfare and state regulation (of petroleum) has evolved as the most effective answer to the problem of the widely dispersed natural resources . . .

"Federal laws and regulations, with final authority far removed from the scene of operations, have tended to discourage exploration for oil underlying federal lands and to retard its discovery."

Other proposals from the council:

The federal government should restrict its natural gas jurisdiction to interstate commerce. Federal agencies should have no authority to control production, gathering and processing of gas or its price before delivery to an interstate carrier or to control local distribution of gas.

The government should continue federal tax deductions for depletion and for intangible drilling, geophysical and geological expenditures.

Regulations for leasing the public domain for oil and gas exploration should be reviewed to speed leasing, relax acreage restrictions and provide management control to the lessee.

Army Pilot Forced Down In Red Zone Takes Off Without Incident

VIENNA, Jan. 13. (AP)—An American Army liaison plane was forced down in the Soviet zone of Austria by bad weather today but later continued to Vienna without incident, Army authorities said tonight.

The plane was piloted by First Lieut. Deanel B. Wilson of Center Texas.

Wilson was enroute from the American air base near Linz when he ran into a snow storm near St. Poelten. He reversed his course but ran into another snowstorm. He landed the plane on an abandoned airfield.

The weather cleared later and Wilson was able to go on. He was not approached by any Russian soldiers during his wait on the ground, he said.

Sweeping Reorganization Power For President Urged By Hoover

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—Herbert Hoover urged Congress today to give the President sweeping authority to order reorganizations in the executive branch of the government.

It's time for a thorough reshuffling of "the most gigantic business on earth" so the government can serve the people better, Hoover said in letters to the House and Senate.

Heads Committee

Former President Hoover heads a bi-partisan commission, established by Congress, to study governmental reorganization.

Hoover recommended restoration and broadening of the law under which the chief executive formerly had authority to order the consolidation and elimination of government functions.

Under the old law, which expired last March, Congress specified that the President could not touch a number of agencies. As for this, Hoover said:

"Once the limiting or exempting process is begun, it will end the possibility of achieving really substantial results."

He did not object to Congress retaining the power to disapprove reorganization plans submitted by the President.

He declared, however, that the United States is "paying heavily for a lack of order, a lack of clear lines of authority and responsibility, and a lack of effective organization in the executive branch."

School Board Builds House; Lures Coach Into Contract

CARLISLE, Pa., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—One way to get a football coach is to build a six-room house for him.

When Ken Millen was asked to take over the Carlisle High school football team as coach, he said he had one objection. There was no place for him and his family to live.

Duff George, a member of the school board, took William Strong, wood shop teacher, for a cup of coffee.

"Can you build a house?" George asked the teacher.

"Don't see why not," Strong answered.

"Okay," George said, "I'll pay for it, you build it and we'll rent it to Millen. We must have a football coach."

Strong and a crew of volunteers went into action and in five weeks Carlisle's coach and his family moved in.

Britons Nervous After Six Years Of Mysterious Noise

LONDON, Jan. 13 (U.P.)—If Britain has a secret weapon the Noise Abatement Society would like to know about it.

The society has been getting reports for the last six years from persons of all ages "in normal health" of a high-pitched humming noise heard in various parts of Britain.

Sir Christopher Lynch Robinson, the society's secretary, said factories, airfields and power stations have been checked without success.

"If it is some technical development, why doesn't somebody say so and clear the matter up—why is everybody so secretive?" he said.

One Sunday newspaper headlined "Is the mystery noise a secret weapon being tested?"

'Background' Study Made Of Texas Vote Dispute By Solons

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—Senator Myers (D-Pa), chairman of the new Senate subcommittee on elections, said today his group reviewed the background of the election dispute from Texas revolving around Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

The group met merely to acquaint members with pending business, and no action was taken, Myers told reporters.

Commenting on the Texas situation, Myers said:

"There has been no contest filed in the senate against Senator Johnson."

Seat Not Contested

He said a petition submitted to the Senate signed by a large number of Texans was in the nature of a complaint asking that the Democratic nominee from Texas not be seated pending a requested investigation, and was not a contest against the seating of Johnson.

Late last year a Senate Elections subcommittee, Republican controlled, ordered ballot boxes impounded in a number of Texas counties after former Governor Coke Stevenson, who opposed Johnson in the Democratic primary, had charged fraud in the election.

Myers said these ballots still are impounded, and that his subcommittee will have to take up the Texas situation again if for no other reason than to order the boxes released.

He said he did not know when the group would hold its next meeting.

Johnson won over Stevenson in a run-off election by an 87-vote maggin out of 1,000,000 ballots cast.

He then defeated Jack Porter, Houston Republican in the November general election.

The petitions, Myers said, were circulated prior to the November election and were calculated to aid Porter.

Myers said a letter dated Oct. 25 was circulated with the petition and that it stated, among other things, that the petitions should be signed by all who feel Texas should be "represented by an oil man rather than a new dealer."

SNOW DRESS—A two-piece bathing suit is hardly enough to combat the snow now darkening the skies in the Los Angeles area, but blonde movie actress Cleo Moore seems to be doing it most effectively. Cleo, from New Orleans, was acquiring a suntan via an artificial lamp in her home when she decided to cut capers in the first real snow she has seen. (NEA Telephoto.)

LET'S GET BUSY

Our Cotton Problem

NEARLY everyone interested in cotton concedes a strong possibility of restored acreage controls in 1950. South Plains opinion, as indicated in numerous ways, apparently is that the step may be advisable, if not necessary, as a safeguard against price-wrecking surpluses.

If restored, the basis of acreage allotments will be the average of areas of land planted in cotton during a number of prior years fixed by Congress. Congressional sentiment might favor the proposed exclusion of 1949 plantings from consideration in computing averages. Otherwise, it is argued, much additional planting might be done this year to raise averages and obtain more generous acreage allotments in 1950.

Such a plan probably would be costly to areas like our own where cotton is an expanding crop and which would want more acreage than they are likely to get under any system of control. But it probably would be acceptable to most areas of the cotton belt where 1950 allotments could not be affected much by 1949 plantings. They could not raise their averages because they already are planting about as much land as they can in the staple.

But if we can show that any control plan discriminates unduly against this region and can suggest reasonable remedies, we can feel sure of sympathetic Congressional consideration of our plight and problems. Members of Congress have no prejudice against this and similar areas. They will help us if we can persuade them of the justifications for help, and if we can propose remedies which would not defeat or impair seriously the purposes of controls.

But if we want to get our problems before Congress, we had better get busy. Otherwise we might as well become reconciled to controls more discriminatory than they would be if we drew attention to the peculiar conditions which demand special treatment as a matter of simple and obvious justice.

Our Spy Hazards

THERE'S no question as to the truth of the frequent complaint that the Russian spy in the U. S. has an incomparably easier job than the American spy, if any, in the Soviet Union.

About the only way the United States could have spy protection as efficient as that of Russia would be to create an all-powerful government which would keep everyone within its jurisdiction under constant surveillance. It is far better to allow the spies freedom of movement than to submit to restraints upon basic American liberties.

We can't have a democracy without having special hazards, including an aggravated danger from activities of undercover agents of potential enemies. We cannot abate the hazards without surrender of some of the rights of democracy. Americans are few who would agree willingly to any such exchange as that.

The Little Savage

Beware Of Romance

By ROBERTA COURTLAND
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Life seems bright and beautiful to sixteen-year-old Merry Carson, whose big moment is Tip Kennedy, captain of the high school football team. When Tip suggests they become formally engaged after they finish school, Merry is dazed with happiness. But that very evening she walks into a strange scene at home. Her mother, Susan, hysterically tells Merry that Kin, Merry's dashing father, wants a divorce—that there is another woman. Susan carries on, has to be put to bed. Afterwards, Kin tries to explain to Merry where the marriage failed; he tells her about Lissa, "the other woman"—says he hopes someday Merry will meet her. "Oh, no!" Merry cries. "I'm sorry, Dad, but I couldn't.")

IV

KIN studied his daughter for a long moment, and then he said quietly, "That is for you to decide, chick, of course. You're pretty young. I love you very dearly and I want to see you, but only if you can forgive me."

"I'm sorry, Dad, but I won't ever be able to forget your striking Mother."

Kin put up his hand, shielding his face for a moment, and when he took it down, he was smiling a mirthless, thin-lipped smile. But when he spoke his voice was gentle, tired, affectionate.

"I suppose not, chick. I'd give everything I possess if that had never happened. If only you knew Lissa, you would understand how I felt at hearing your mother call her such unspeakable things."

"A woman who would break up a home—" Merry began, and stopped because she could not go on in the face of the look her father gave her.

"Pet, if you could just understand that Lissa had nothing to do with the break-up of my marriage," he said wearily. "I met her two years ago. Your mother and I had ceased to mean anything to each other long before that. Lissa had nothing to do with that. It's only that in these last two years since I have come to realize what marriage should mean, what it can mean to Lissa and me, I have known Susan and I could not go on—" Her young taut face stopped him and he made a gesture of resignation. "Oh, well, why try to talk it out now? Later, perhaps, when you have got over the shock."

"I won't ever get over it, Dad."

"I had hoped that you would divide your time, at least until you marry."

"I'll never marry!"

"Nonsense, Merry. You're being silly and childish. You're behaving as though there had never been a divorce before."

"There hasn't," Merry flashed at him cruelly. "Not in our family, not in Tip's."

SHE had not meant to mention Tip; but suddenly memory of him swirled over her and the desolation she had thought could not deepen did.

"Tip?" Kin frowned, puzzled.

She tilted her pretty shining head and her young chin quivered. But her voice was steady, if husky, when she explained, "Tip Kennedy. He's my dream-date. He gave me his ring." She held out the little paw that was still slightly grubby, the fingers clenched tightly to hold in place the large class ring on which the light twinkled.

Kin said, startled, "Engaged? But, Merry, you're too young."

She nodded soberly. "Oh, we weren't going to be married until after I'd finished high—not for two more years. Only now I'll have to give him back his ring and break up."

Penny Staples would latch onto Tip, of course. Penny, with her pretty little face that was so like a kitten's; Penny, with her predatory ways that could not leave other girls' dream-dates alone; Penny, who had been pursuing Tip so shamelessly.

"Oh Lord," muttered Kin, and then pulled himself together and said wearily, "I'm sorry, darling—I couldn't possibly be sorrier. But I'm sure, if Tip really loves you—"

"Tip said this afternoon he wanted us to be married and be likes you and mother and his dad and mother, because you were such ideal couples." Merry's small accusing voice broke, and she set her teeth to fight tears.

KIN was silent for a while, and then he got up and came over to her and put his hand gently on her bowed, shining head. There was, for Merry, even in that moment, a shred of comfort in her father's touch. She had always loved him so deeply; and now she was learning a bitter truth she should have been spared until she was older, which is that only those we love can deal us irrevocable hurts.

"I have to make the midnight plane for Washington, pet," said Kin at last. "I'll have to be leaving. It's a three-hour drive to the Atlanta airport. I've made all arrangements with Jeff Layne. He'll get in touch with Susan and attend to everything. I've taken care of all financial arrangements. You won't have to change your way of living. I mean there'll be plenty for pretties and such."

Merry hardened her voice and her heart against his plea and said stiffly, "Thank you, Father."

He hesitated a moment. She had seldom called him that, only in the very infrequent moments in their close and loving relationship when she had been angry with him. But he knew that she, like Susan, was in no shape for argument. So he only bent, kissed the top of her head and went out.

A little later, still sitting there, huddled in her chair like a small, desperately frightened animal, she heard the sound of his car, and when she thought that she might never again hear the sound or his touch, or his voice—it was like small sharp knives digging deep into her heart. . .

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

"THE night is young and you're so beautiful - - - - "

A plaintive crooner is singing this on Arthur Godfrey's cigaret show while I am writing my column—

(—excuse me, I have to stop a minute for a glass of water. I was getting a little nauseated just as the fellow ended with "— what shall I do?")

BRANDIES

I could have told him what he could do so far as I am concerned, and I could now write a lot of sarcastic things about crooners and the like who, to me, have always been about the silliest and most infantile breed of "artists" in existence.

But I will not do it.

Because I am the one who is wrong, and not the hundred or more people who sat in Godfrey's studio just now, clapping, yelling, eneering at this crooner-boy.

I am the one who is wrong, and not the millions who went crazy over Frank Sinatra, and who are still going crazy over Perry Como and all the others who make it possible for those millions to shut their eyes and imagine that they, too, are beautiful and glamorous.

The fellow who runs our lending library tells me of a chap who has been a clerk all his life.

That clerk never had any real adventure. A couple of times he went on a fishing trip, and once he caught a smelt or something like that.

But all day long he sits at a desk adding up figures or whatever clerks do. In the evening he goes home to his family and has his dinner.

One night he is a sheriff at the head of his posse, going after and catching the train robbers who have hidden away in Dead Man's Gulch.

The next night he rescues the fair maiden who has been given to the villain as security for the money which he lent her father to pay off the mortgage which is due tomorrow—or else.

The night after that our little clerk flies over a Japanese outpost, drops a bomb, and thus saves a whole regiment of American soldiers who, without him, would surely have been killed by the enemy.

And how does he do it?

By renting from a lending library every adventure story he can get. By reading every line of glamorous exploits, and by imagining that he is the hero of every one.

The night is young and you're so beautiful—"

What matters is that the dishes have to be washed and the kids' clothes have to be ironed.

What matters is that next month may be the fortieth birthday and that each month there are a few more wrinkles.

"The moon is high, and you're so glamorous—"

I hate crooners. God bless 'em.

SOLONS TO BENEFIT

HST To Be Own Boss

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The sob sisters and their fellow-writers whose post-election columns have depicted President Truman as a beaming, forgiving and charitable victor, willing to bind up the wounds and bless the brows of the frightened Democratic bosses and New Dealers who tried to block his nomination at last July's Philadelphia convention, just don't know Harry S. Truman.

He will kick nobody around—publicly—and he will not bar them from the inside of the White House. But he has not and he will not forget that fearful local politicians wanted to sidetrack him for General Eisenhower, and that the Rooseveltians preferred Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

TUCKER

He knows the name of every "fat cat" who would not contribute during the campaign, but rushed predated checks totalling about $300,000 to headquarters after his election.

EXPLOSIVE: Only a few days ago, a big political shot from a great midwestern metropolis visited Mr. Truman, and reported back to his worried pals at the hotel that "everything's okay between me and the head man. He's holding no grudges."

Fortunately for him, he did not hear the head man's remarks to one of his personal aides after the door had slammed on the pre-conventional backslider. Mr. Truman does not often indulge in rough language, but on this occasion his explosive outburst gave proof that he had not forgotten the blistering, barracks language of his days as an army trooper in the Missouri artillery.

PATRONAGE: Old-time hangers-on like Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Frank Hague of New Jersey and Jake Arvey of Chicago need not come knocking at the White House door in expectation that they will be the Administration's distributors of federal patronage. He figures that he does not owe them a farthing.

He lost New York and New Jersey, which Franklin D. Roosevelt used to carry by whopping majorities. He squeezed through in Illinois, but his statisticians attribute that surprise to his colored support in Chicago and to the failure of downstate Republicans, especially the farmers, to vote for his opponent.

Where vote-getters like this trio lost interest after F.D.R.'s death, the handling of federal jobs, public buildings sites and similar prequisites will be entrusted to Democratic members of Senate and House, if their states are represented by Democratic members of the party in power.

Where a State does not have either a Democratic Senator or Representative, which is rare, the state chairman and organization will pass on the gravy. Mr. Truman likes this system anyway, because it keeps the boys back home on their toes.

REWARD: Lowly members of the House, who rarely have much influence in the field of patronage, will profit from the presidential attitude. He feels that he owes a great deal to newcomers and veterans in the lower chamber, whose collective vote far exceeds his own. Therefore, he figures that their local strength helped to give him his narrow margin over Governor Dewey. Theirs shall be the reward.

Ordinarily, an Administration does not have many jobs or favors after sixteen years in office; the positions have been filled long ago. But if only a part of the Truman program for expanded Social Security, federal aid to health, housing, education etc., becomes law, he will have thousands of new tidbits to dangle before the boys and girls in his good graces.

TRIMMED: Ironically, the so-called "Roosevelt liberals" do not rate any higher than the "dese, does and dem" linguists from the backyards of the Bronx the waterfront of Jersey City or Jake Arvey's Loop District. In fact, H.S.T. considers that the Roosevelt wing and American Democrats for Action crowd were more disloyal than the politicians-for-profit-only.

Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, for instance, is no shining, young Lochinvar from the West in White House eyes. He won great acclaim at Philadelphia for forcing through a stronger Civil Rights plank than the White House wanted. But he is blamed for the loss of the four Dixiecrat states, and he will be trimmed to size in the Senate.

The operatic Helen Gahagan Douglas, who trailed along with such pro-Eisenhower ADA-ers as Leon Henderson, James Roosevelt and other faint-hearted, falls in the same category. Her stage charms are lost on Mr. Truman, who prefers music to drama.

PEOPLE: The lady, for instance, pleaded for a place on the important House Appropriations Committee, in recognition of her seniority and California's vote for Truman. But, according to present plans, it will go to Daniel J. Flood of Pennsylania, although he lost his seniority through his 1946 defeat. But his excellent run in his district enabled Mr. Truman to get a larger vote in that area than otherwise.

President Truman has said that he owed his election to the "American people," which is an obvious comment inasmuch as they were the only ones eligible to vote. Nevertheless, the statement was a slap at the organized politicians and the unorganized New Dealers.

What he meant was that he attributed his victory to labor, the farmers, the housewives and the colored people, and in that order of importance.

TRAINING: R.M.C. of Charlotte, N. C., wants to know whether there is any chance that Congress will enact a Universal Military Training law at the current session. He wonders whether present strained relations with Russia will not make the legislators more willing to set up such a system now that the elections are past.

Answer: I do not think there is any possibility that Congress will establish compulsory military service, although one faction of Pentagon "brass" is insistent that no other method will prepare us for possible war. And, of course, the only enemy they have in mind is Russia.

MASSES: In the Pentagon and on Capitol Hill, however, there is a growing belief, as Churchill contends, that vast masses of ground forces will not be necessary for victory in any future conflict, even with Moscow.

This viewpoint is held by such naval and military authorities as Representative Carl Vinson of Georgia and Representative Albert J. Engel of Michigan. Mr. Vinson is chairman of the House Armed Services committee, while Mr. Engel is ranking Republican on the House appropriation Subcommittee handling Army funds.

Although once as keen a navy man as Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mr. Vinson is now a believer in air superiority as our chief reliance for victory. He has advocated seventy air groups as against the fifty or fifty-five wanted by President Truman. Heavy bombers loaded with atomic missiles, in his opinion, should be our main dependence.

WITH ACHESON'S APPOINTMENT

Reorganization Of Policy Seen

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — The return of a civilian as Secretary of State, which will be accomplished January 20 when Dean Acheson replaces General George Marshall, is indeed the beginning of a transfer of authority all along the line in management of foreign policy from military men and military agencies to civilians and trained diplomats.

Information since announcement of the State Department shift confirms this broad meaning to the step which was described here previously as a healthy tendency in that direction. It is expected to be gradual rather than hurried. It will have its effect of execution of policy and on important personalities.

As President Truman emphasized, there is to be no change in policy. There will be a change of technique to adjust to developments.

Our policy of firmness toward Soviet Russia will continue. That is proving successful and now has developed to the point where it has rallied support not only from Western Europe, but from nations all over the world. That was demonstrated, for example, at the recent meeting of the United Nations General Assembly in Paris where it was very noticable that the timidity and hesitancy of some months ago among other nations was replaced by the almost automatic regularity of their support on roll-calls to back up our position.

As a result, Soviet expansion has been checked in Europe. There is still one spot where it is now virulent. That is in China. But the situation there is not regarded in important places here as nearly so favorable to Russia, nor as dangerous for us, as it seems to be depicated in some other quarters, and in some for obvious political reasons. It is not a brand-new situation. It has had parallels in the past.

What has been done by way of checking Soviet expansion in Europe is a tribute to our policy of firmness supplemented simultaneously by concrete economic help in rebuilding the economy of Western Europe through the European recovery program, or Marshall Plan. It will be implemented further by the proposed North Atlantic pact and military lend-lease of arms to Western European nations, both recommended by President Truman in his messages to the new Congress. Back of this will be the guarantee in our military budget of continued strong national defense preparations of our own, which is what is most needed to allay fears of Western Europe of further Russian expansion. Our strength counts heavily.

Now that Soviet expansion seems to be checked, there is need for a change of technique in the process of negotiation of the many matters still to be settled between us and Russia, and they must be settled eventually. For this the talents of the diplomat rather than of the military are required.

Military Emphasis Seen

It is clearly recognized here that the military mind sees foreign policy in terms of military strength, and quite naturally. You hear much talk of that approach around here now in connection with development of policy henceforth. Along with that are such diagnoses as that of the Hoover commission study of the national defense establishment that the military influence has become so strong that strategy "is tending to make national policy." This view also has been stressed here recently by high-ranking diplomatic officials as a result of experience and observation in Europe and elsewhere.

As far as personalities are concerned, the shift of emphasis likely will mean, as intimated here recently, the eventual retirement from the cabinet of Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, which, however, apparently is not imminent. It will mean the replacement of General Walter Bedell Smith, now back in this country, as ambassador to Russia.

There are two highly important posts in critical occupied areas held by generals—General Lucius D. Clay in Germany and General Douglas MacArthur in Japan. Both still are military commands and because of critical situations in both countries it is likely that, for policy reasons, military men will remain until serious current problems are settled. However, the likely course here is that the State department hereafter will assume more authority in policy, which is ostensibly in joint responsibility, though obviously with the defense establishment hitherto having the larger influence. Civilian control of Germany by the State department long has been urged, first by General Dwight D. Eisenhower soon after the war. He saw the problem better than have some others.

California Pastor, Members Of Church Set For Fight On Charge

GLENDALE, Cal., Jan. 13.—(INS) Reverend J. Whitcomb Brougher, jr., and the warring faction of his 3,000-member Baptist church congregation squared off today over the handsome pastor's alleged misconduct with some of his flock.

The 46-year-old minister and father of four children denied charges filed in a superior court suit by two members of his congregation accusing him of "debauching" 40 women congregation members, "wolfing" young girls, disrupting marital relation of some of his members and boasting of his prowess with the ladies.

The minister blamed the court action on a "small, disgruntled group of members and former members of the church."

He said if he were to file a defamation of character action it would "harm rather than benefit the church and the cause of Christ."

Wife Stands By Pastor

The pastor's wife described the charges as "perfectly ridiculous" and said that she "will stand by my husband no matter what."

Mr. Brougher said that the publicity and furore caused by the suit had upset his wife to the point where "she has been in tears since this thing happened."

In the meantime, the two who filed the suit asking for Dr. Brougher's removal, Mrs. Sadie Williams and Fletcher Maxwell, former church members, said that they had the names and affidavits of the 40 women whom the suit charges the pastor "debauched."

Their attorney, A. Brigham Rose, asserted that he was in possession of "sensational new evidence" of Brougher's misconduct.

At a prayer meeting at the Glendale church last night, which was preceded by a steak dinner, those in attendance adopted the following resolution:

"We, members of the First Baptist church of Glendale, wholeheartedly condemn the continuing attack upon Dr. Brougher, and reiterate and emphasize our continuing confidence in him."

Dr. Brougher said that only two members of his congregation had resigned since "this unfortunate scandal." He said:

"One woman called me this morning and withdrew for herself and another woman. I told them they were free to do so."

Brougher himself presided at the packed prayer meeting. He assured his flock that God was on his side.

W. T. (Bill) Dungan, plant owner, estimated his loss at $20,000 in feed stock, $40,000 in the building and $10,000 in trucks and equipment. Cause of the fire was not learned immediately.

Historian Traces Cannibalism In Early Vermont Indian Tribes

NORTHFIELD, Vt., Jan. 13.—(U.P.) — Cannibalism flourished in what is now Vermont three and a half centuries ago as Iroquois Indians ate Algonquins and viceversa, a Norwich university professor reports.

Prof. William C. MacLeod, the author of two Indian history books, blames the savage Iroquois for the cannibalism. He said their torture to death of prisoners and cannibalism caused nearby Algonquins to do likewise in reprisal.

MacLeod's research produced his conclusion that the foothills and plains between the Green mountains and Lake Champlain "for centuries saw cannibal feasts just as elaborate and beastly as anything one ever found in the jungles of darkest Africa."

MAY AID REFUGEES

SIMLA, India (AP)—The government of East Punjab has decided to hold a state lottery with "worldwide scope" for raising a sum of $150,000,000 for the rehabilitation of 4,000,000 non-Moslem refugees. A letter has been addressed to the government of India asking it to organize the lottery or permit the East Punjab government to organize it. The question was also discussed during recent finance ministers' conferences in Delhi.

Matador Man Given New School Contract

MATADOR, Jan. 13. (Special)—The school board of the Matador Independent School District recently extended Superintendent Bert Ezzell a new three year contract, running from July 1, 1949 to June 30, 1952.

Ezzell was elected superintendent in 1945 immediately after his return from Germany where he served as an officer with General Patton's Third army.

Since he began his term as superintendent, the school district has been enlarged from 165 square miles to 434 square miles and taxes have been equalized for all patrons of the school; approximately $10,000 was saved through the refunding of $55,000 worth of school bonds and the lowering of the interest rate from 5 per cent to 3 per cent; and vocational agriculture, art, and music have been added to the curriculum and several types of visual aid equipment has been acquired for classroom instruction.

Also vocational agriculture shops have been consructed and are now being used by both school personnel and veteran's vocational classes.

City Enlists Aid Of Hoot Owls To Chase Away Starling Pests

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 13. (U.P.) —Exasperated city officials are hoping that 13 recently-acquired white hoot owls will solve their pest problem of hundreds of roosting starlings by chasing the starlings away.

J. Harvey Sturgeon, pest exterminator from Louisville, Ky., predicted a quick victory over the unwanted starlings.

"But even the owls can't do the whole job," Sturgeon warns. "You have to keep flashing lights at the starlings every so often and keep them worried."

Officials have assured Sturgeon he'll get plenty of helpers to "worry" the birds right out of Cincinnati.

Governor Discusses 'Citizen's Tax' Plan

Jester Claims Idea Not New

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 13.—Nobody should be excited about his proposed "citizen's tax" because it's not a new idea at all, Gov. Beauford H. Jester said today.

It would just be a measure to replace revenue lost if the poll tax is abolished as a pre-requisite to voting, the governor told his press conference today. The citizen's tax would not be a pre-requisite to voting, he said.

Jester recalled that in his report to the people May 21 this year he had said no one should be denied the right to vote because he can not pay a fee.

Reaction Favorable

The governor suggested this sequence of steps leading up to enactment of the tax which yesterday brought a storm of questions from legislators:

1. Enactment of a voter registration law; 2. Abolition of the poll tax as a voting pre-requisite, by constitutional amendment; 3. Enactment of the citizens tax to take its place as a revenue measure.

Asked what legislative reaction he had gotten from the suggestion in his first message that the state should spend wisely and within its means in extending public service, Jester said:

"All the senators I have talked with agreed we should spend carefully."

Reserve Fund Needed

The governor said he was still not ready to make his final budget suggestions to the legislature. He hasn't been informed yet what the costs would be under the Gilmer-Aikin education report. Nor has he received a report of the Juvenile Training Code commission.

Jester said it would be a "happy thing" if the state—like a family or any business—could have an ample reserve fund or bank account. He made this observation in connection with the request for comment on a bill by Senator Keith Kelly of Fort Worth to take $50,000,000 of the present general fund surplus as such a reserve. As to the bill itself, he said:

"I'll tell you about it when it comes to me."

Jester Is Surprised

Appropriation or allocation bills already introduced in the senate call for expenditures of about 100 million dollars from the general fund—more than the anticipated surplus and about one-third of all the general revenue money that the comptroller has estimated will be available for spending.

The governor was surprised his ad libbed suggestion that the legislature consider enactment of the

The rally here involves Methodist churches in the Lubbock district. Others in districts north of here, scheduled earlier in the week, were postponed due to the weather, but probably will be rescheduled for next week, Dr. J. O. Haymes, district superintendent, has announced.

Similar Rally Set

A similar rally for the Sweetwater district, to be held at Snyder, also on Friday, will be held on schedule, Dr. Haymes said he had been advised.

Hubert Bratcher, conference missonary secretary, and pastor of St. John's Methodist church here, is in general supervision of the rally programs.

The meeting here, starting at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, features addresses by Bratcher, Dr. Edwin T. Iglehart, who has spent many years as an educational missionary in Japan; and Dr. Harold M. Hilliard of Lubbock, who has spent the greater part of his life in missionary work among Spanish-speaking people in the southwestern United States and Puerto Rico.

Speakers Are Listed

Bratcher and Hilliard are to speak at the afternoon session. Other afternoon speakers, who will discuss briefly various phases of the church program, primarily a missionary effort, are Rev. H. D. Seago, pastor at Seminole; Rev. C. A. Holcomb, jr., pastor at Tahoka; Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of Lubbock First church; Rev. H. L. Thurston, pastor at Brownfield; Rev. The night service starts at 7:30 o'clock, featuring addresses by Dr. Iglehart, and Bratcher. Dr. Iglehart is to speak on "The Future of Christianity in Japan."

An invitation was extended to the public to attend and or all of the services. Pastors and laymen from the several counties of the Lubbock district are to attend.

Lea County Well Is Set For Production

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-C Santa Fe-Pacific, one-half mile east of the opener of the Crossroads-Devonian field, in extreme Northeast Lea County, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 26-9s-36e, was preparing to complete and put on production, as an extender to the field.

On a recent eight hour test, it flowed through an 11/64th-inch tubing choke and made 130 barrels of oil, plus 26 per cent drilling mud, from open hole between 12,240 feet and the total depth at 12,263 feet. The production was natural.

Top of the Devonian is at 12,221 feet. Elevation is 4,030 feet. No formation water has developed. The drilling mud which is being recovered with the oil was lost into the formation before casing was cemented at 12,240 feet.

Chicago Truck Strike Averted By 25-Cent Hourly Wage Hike

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (INS)—A crippling Chicago truck strike was averted today when negotiations agreed on a 25-cent hourly wage boost for 14,000 drivers and helpers.

The settlement was announced by Federal Mediator Howard Plank and union negotiators after a 17-hour session.

Final agreement was reached only 3½ hours before the men were scheduled to walk out.

The pay increase is retroactive to Jan. 1 and will cost the trucking associations an estimated $15 to $17 million during the two-year life of the contract.

Unions involved in the settlement were local 705, AFL-International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the Independent Chicago Truck drivers union.

Rural Aid Fund Will Be Asked

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 13.—Gov. Beauford H. Jester will ask the 51st Legislature Monday to grant an emergency appropriation of approximately $9,000,000 to cover rural aid school shortages.

Jester said today his first emergency message of the legislative session is ready for presentation. Others will follow as the Legislature appears ready to handle them, he said.

The 50th Legislature liberalized terms under which equalization aid schools could qualify for state assistance, and the amount appropriated proved too little. Schools had to borrow money before the 1947-48 school year ended.

Quick Passage Seen

The required $9,000,000 will cover the first-year debt and fill out anticipated needs for the current school year.

Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville already has introduced a bill calling for emergency appropriation of $3,000,000 for the 1947-48 year and $6,000,000 for 1948-49. Quick passage by both houses is anticipated.

Other appropriations which the governor will recommend to the Legislature in a short time include: Prison system rehabilitation, approximately $4,200,000; current prison operating expenses for the remainder of the fiscal year, about $500,000; and microfilming of state records, $70,000.

Prison Bills Introduced

Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton has introduced a $4,196,075 bill for the rehabilitation program.

Jester released copies of a bill to be introduced by Senator Neveille Colson of Navasota, providing for emergency appropriation of $529,398 for current prison expenses and $10,000 for purchase of prison system automobiles.

Mrs. Colson's bill notes that the 50th Legislature made no appropriation for automobiles which are "now badly needed by the system."

Breakdown of the $529,398 appropriation is as follows:

Additional guards, meals and lodging—$43,092; groceries, medical supplies, veterinary supplies, feed and seed—$344,306; maintenance and repairs of equipment and repairs to buildings—$45,000; general support and maintenance—$82,000; and new equipment, not including passenger automobiles, $15,000.

Escaped Convict Is Caught Near Bonham

BONHAM, Jan. 13. (AP)—Billy Isom, who escaped from Darrington prison farm and kidnapped and robbed a Houston man early today was arrested near here this afternoon.

He was captured by Highway Patrolmen W. W. Wade and A. D. Lummos. Isom was driving a 1939 model blue Ford automobile. Officers said he made no resistance when caught.

Kidnapped and robbed was William Francis Winsett, 31, of Houston, a night watchman for a road gang.

The man who robbed Winsett tried to exchange clothing, but found Winsett's too small. So he tied Winsett to a tree with strips torn from his convict uniform. Then he drove off in Winsett's car, taking $16.

Deputy Sheriff J. R. Godwin of Fannin county said Isom had a letter on him which the convict had written last night. It was addressed to the sheriff at Conroe, giving the location of the tree to which Winsett was tied! Deputy Godwin said the letter indicated that Isom feared Winsett would freeze.

Isom, 25, escaped yesterday. He was serving a 22-year sentence for burglary, theft and as an habitual criminal. He was serving his terms from Hunt, Wood, Comanche and Lamar counties.

PESTS MENACE AUSTRIA

VIENNA, (AP)—Large forest areas in Russian-occupied Lower Austria are doomed to the ravages of the nun-moth, ministry of agriculture officials have announced. The Russians have no equipment such as that used by Anglo-American teams earlier this year to combat the nun-moth in the three Western zones. And Austrian forestry officials are not allowed to enter the forest—they are claimed by the Russians as former German external assets.

Work To Get Underway Without Delay On Grain Elevator Here

Work will get underway without delay on the new $1,400,000 grain elevator which Producers Grain corporation will construct southeast of Lubbock, Frank Triplitt, general manager of the concern, said in Lubbock Thursday afternoon.

Triplitt was in Lubbock making final arrangements for the start of work on the immense project. He lives in Amarillo.

Other Officials Here

Others in Lubbock Thursday were Glenn Sullivan of Amarillo, director of field services and manager of the coarse grain department of the company; Ted Brooker, representative of the Kansas City, Mo., engineering firm of Horner and Wyatt, who designed the project; and J. W. Macdonald, associated with the firm of Macdonald Engineering company of Chicago, general contractors on the job.

Located on the east side of the Slaton highway north of the new $400,000 Farmers Co-operative compress, the structure will have both Santa Fe and Fort Worth and Denver railway trackage.

Dumping machines will be able to unload trucks and railroad cars in the shortest possible time. Approximate storage capacity of the bins and tanks will be 2,000,000 bushels.

Triplitt expressed pleasure at the co-operation the firm has received from the city government, from public utility companies, the chamber of commerce and private business in locating the project here in Lubbock.

Among the first jobs to be done will be extension of spur tracks to the site. Staking off and excavation may get underway next week.

Army Drops Short Enlistment Term

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—The Army today eliminated two-year enlistments to slow down the number of recruits.

Effective Jan. 15 only three-year enlistees will be taken, an official said.

The army will continue to take draftees for the balance of this month for 21 months service, and accept 18-year-old volunteers for one year's service.

The official explained that with the army close to or at its manpower ceiling of 677,000 for next July, it will be necessary to cut down the 35,000 recruits that have been volnnteering or reenlisting monthly.

Draft calls for February and March have been cancelled and no one is willing to guess when the Army will have openings for draftees.

Earlier in the day selective service told draft boards to stop sending draftees to the Army for physical examinations prior to classification.

The modern public health movement was started in England in 1848 with passage of the first Public Health Act and setting up of the first General Board of Health in London.

Legislation To Regulate Auto Auction Rings In Texas Planned

AUSTIN, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—A bill clamping tight regulations on automobile auction rings was ready today for introduction by Rep. Wayne Wagonseller of Fruitland.

Operators of auction rings would be placed under strict supervision of the Department of Public safety, which would be authorized to issue licenses.

No car auction could be operated without a license.

Heavy Fines Included

Violations of the act would bring suspension of the license, and fines of from $1,000 to $5,000 a day.

Wagonseller's bill would strike particularly at automobile auction rings in which stolen cars might be sold.

"Anybody in business," Wagonseller said, "should welcome this type of bill, because so many people who have purchased automobiles in good faith find themselves with unclear titles. This is merely a means of protecting the people from unfair business practice."

The bill points to "the fact that numerous car auction rings have sprung into existence in the past three years and exist with little or no regulation . . ."

Auction operators would be required to be Texas residents for at least two years, make a financial statement of application and list all persons authorized to act as agents.

The Department of Public Safety would be empowered to make a preliminary investigation.

Car auction operators would be required to be bonded, to guarantee titles of all cars sold, and furnish a complete record of its activities to the Department of Public Safety.

'Citizen's Tax'

citizen's tax should have created such an uproar.

Many legislators loudly wondered if he meant sales tax or state income tax, or what.

Tax Idea Is Old

Jester told reporters he had not called it a citizen's tax before, but that the idea behind it was old.

Citizens of Corcicana, his home town, pay a "street tax" of $1 a year. A tax like the citizen's tax has been in effect in Massachusetts since colonial days, Jester said.

Asked for details, he said that was up to the legislature.

"Do you favor a registration law like Oklahoma's where voters sign up as Republicans or Democrats?" a reporter asked.

"I refer you to the legislature," he replied.

Three Danish Seamen Plan 'Viking' Voyage

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Three Danish wireless operators, back from two years' service at the weather station in Thule in north Greenland, will start a hazardous voyage to North America next spring. They will follow the routes of the ancient Vikings via Norway and Greenland.

During the long arctic nights at the Thule stations, the three young Danes planned the cruise and bought a modern "Viking ship," a double-ender, for $5,000.

Headed by 25-year-old Carl Johann Petersen, the three Danes will set out for the expedition in March or April along the same route which the Viking chief, Erik (the Red) Thorvaldson, sailed when he discovered Greenland in 982.

From Greenland they will follow Erik's son, Leif Ericson, who in the year 1000 crossed the Davis Strait and found "Vineland" in North America.

Cincinnati University Girls Adopt Czechoslovak War Waif

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—University of Cincinnati sorority girls are foster mothers to a little 12-year-old Czechoslovakian waif they have "adopted" for 1949.

The funds which the 16 sororities on the campus have donated for the care of Arna Buckelova will give her food, clothing, medical care and schooling.

The Greek letter society members also have contributed funds to finance a bed for one year for another war child abroad until the child can be "adopted" by a foster parent in this country.

Czechoslovakian Arna and her mother spent most of the war years in a concentration camp. The father had been tortured to death at Oswietim concentration camp. The mother's health was broken by her enforced hard labors. Upon liberation they found their home, possessions destroyed.

WHICH IS THE REAL BABY?—Candice Korbel is now three months old, but she's still no bigger than a doll. Her big sister, Jacqueline, 3, compares the infant with her doll in Chicago. George Acknowledges Faults In Campaign, Gets Nod From Voters

KEYSER, W. Va., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—One delegate to the West Virginia legislature which meets at Charleston in January will have "all the faults a good man should have."

George E. Barger, Keyser newspaperman - realtor - restauranter, campaigned on that slogan and told voters that "George comes first and Mineral County second."

His facetious campaign drew enough votes to make him the first Democrat to be elected in the normally-Republican county since 1936. He campaigned from his airplane, which he wired with a public address system and flew about booming "Let George Do It."

Majority Of Britons Could Not Buy Clothes If Rationing Ended

LONDON, Jan. 13 (U.P.)—The Daily Express reports that a recent survey showed that most Britons could not afford new wardrobes, even if clothes rationing were ended.

The newspaper asked this question:

"If clothes rationing were abolished altogether, would you buy more clothing than you do at present, or not?"

Thirty per cent replied that they would buy more. Sixty-five per cent said they would not because they did not have the money to spare. Five per cent were undecided.

Chicago Man, 29, Now Heads Firm He Joined At $12 A Week

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (INS)—Charles Harting Percy, 29, today became one of the youngest chief executives of a major industrial organization when he assumed the presidency of Bell & Howell Co., makers of precision photographic equipment.

Percy, who started with the firm more than 12 years ago at $12 a week, steps into a position which paid more than $60,000 a year to Joseph H. McNabb, who died last week at the age of 61.

Percy held four jobs at one time while attending Chicago's new Trier High school. He carried a newspaper route before classes, operated a duplicating machine in the school offices, and parked cars and served as janitor in the evenings.

He won a two-year scholarship at the University of Chicago, where he worked 50 hours a week in a dormitory to pay expenses.

HEALTH CONGRESS TO OPEN

U. S. Court Reverses Decision Against Housing Expediter

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 13. (U.P.) — The Fifth U. S. Circuit Court of appeals today reversed a lower court decision against Tighe Woods, national housing expediter.

The complaint had been filed against H. D. Knickerbocker and son of Dallas.

The complaint on which a northern district federal court ruled against the housing expediter, involved overcharges for rent on 28 housing units in Dallas operated by the Knickerbockers.

In his opinion, Circuit Judge S. H. Sibley reversed the ruling on Woods appeal and remanded the complaint to the district court for further proceedings not inconsistent with the high court ruling.

Legislature Ponders Over Plan To Install Push Button Voting

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—Washington State is considering providing push-button voting for members of the state legislature.

The electrically - operated roll call system would permit legislators to vote yea and nay by flipping switches on their desks, instead of by answering to an oral roll call.

The voting would show up at the front of the legislative chamber on a large lighted board similar to a pari-mutuel odds board.

Six similar systems are in use in other state capitals.

RUSSIANS TO SHUT OFF POWER TO BAVARIA IN WEST

Soviet Sector Police In Berlin Make New Raid Into U. S. Zone; Germans Injured In Clashes

By RICHARD S. WEIL
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—Soviet sector Berlin police invaded the American district tonight and several Germans were injured in other border clashes ending a lull in the East-West "cold war."

The Berlin skirmishes were accompanied by a Russian announcement that electric power supplied to Batavia in the U. S. occupation zone will be stopped Saturday.

The Russians also posted notices of resumed aerial firing and other practice maneuvers in the western airlift supply corridors. Pilots did not actually spot any such maneuvers, however.

Western Berlin police summoned from their barracks halted the brief invasion of the Russian sector police who penetrated only several hundred yards into the Kreuzberg district in another so-called "black market raid."

German bystanders disarmed and chased two Soviet sector policemen who attempted to kidnap a German in their own sector. The Germans then fled into the U. S. sector.

Club-wielding Soviet sector police also battled street car passengers who tried to prevent confiscation of their luggage inside the Russian sector.

Flee To U. S. Zone

A number of passengers saved their luggage and reached the nearby American district with the aid of bystanders along the border.

One Soviet sector policeman was beaten so severely that he lay helpless on the floor of the elevated train when it reached the American sector.

This "luggage inspection" of ordinary travelers on the elevated train system operating in Berlin is part of an intensified Soviet blockade of the western districts.

The Russians themselves are assuming direct control over the shipment of nearly all goods from their sector to the American-British-French parts of the city.

Move Is Resented

The announcement of electric power stoppage to Bavaria surprised leaders in that German state. It is bitterly resented as another Soviet move to spit Germany decisively.

Bavaria has been receiving a small but effective amount of electric power from the Soviet zone, essential for consumers, between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m. and also for night shift factory workers.

Bavaria's own three major power plants are crippled due to a low rainfall. Rail traffic has been cut 25 per cent and many factories operate only three days weekly.

The Bavarian government is striving to get supplies from other parts of the American occupation area. No military government comment immediately was available on the Soviet move.

CZECHS COLLECT WOOL

PRAGUE, (AP)—In a drive to collect sarce material, Czechoslovaks were promised enough cloth for one new suit if they turned in about 11 pounds of foolen scraps. The scraps were converted into "new" textiles for distribution. A claim that the government saved the equivalent of $3,000,000 in hard currencies by the scheme was made by Rude Pravo, the Communist newspaper.

Nigeria is seeking machinery for the manufacture of matches.

Reds Replace Center Of Czech Tradition

PRAGUE, Jan. 13. (U.P.) — Prague will have its own equivalent of the Red Square one of these days. It will be a monumental 20-acre tract designed especially for mass demonstrations and national ceremonies.

Wenceslas Square thus will lose its centuries-old tradition as the scene of all the Czech's national joys and sorrows, the magnet to which every Prague inhabitant is drawn when anything important is happening.

Prague city planners told Czech journalists about the new square, but admitted that "it will take several five-year plans" to bring their outline of the new Prague to fruition.

"Garden City" Planned

The plan, which will be brought into compulsory operation gradually, as the supply of money, labor and materials permits, will transform the dingy, cramped city of today into a "garden city," they said.

Planners said the present population of just under 1,000,000 was about right for this area and would not be allowed to increase.

The city itself, however, would spread out to double its present size, with the inhabitants grouped in small quarters surrounded by green belts.

To Revise Traffic

Historic buildings and monuments will be preserved intact, but in future nobody will be obliged to live in them, the planners reported.

The plan also included detailed directives for reorganizing the city's transportation, with all railroad traffic centralized at Wilson station. Three of the present passenger stations would be abolished in favor of a modern electric railway suburban system with numerous small stations.

Automobile transit traffic, currently condemned to move through the center of town along with local traffic, would by-pass the city on a new highway system.

Heavy Fog Keeps Grid Score Secret Until Game Is Ended

LEWISBURG, Pa., Jan. 13. (U.P.)—At the end of the Lewisburg-Trevorton high school football game played at Bucknell University stadium, 1,400 spectators swarmed down on the field to ask who won.

Lewisburg used the natural camouflage to advantage to roll up two second-half touchdowns for a 14-0 triumph.

County Uses Walkie-Talkies In Effort To Halt Illegal Hunting

DANSVILLE, N. Y., Jan. 13 (U.P.)—Walkie-talkie radios, used in war-time to aid in reporting enemy movements, are being used in a similar peace-time role in Livingston County.

The "enemy" nowodays are hunters and fishermen who use shady tactics in their quest for fish and game.

County sportsmen contributed $500 and the board of supervisors another $250 to buy three walkie-talkies for county game protectors.

The 10-pound radios operate on batteries and will be tuned to the 37 mc. sheriff's frequency, permitting contact with the sheriff's headquarters in Geneseo or with the three protectors.

Pardon Of Lubbock Convict Is Revoked

Conditional pardon granted Herbert Harman, sentenced to 45 years in 1933 from Lubbock county for assault to rape, was revoked by Governor Beauford H. Jester Thursday, the Associated Press reported from Austin.

The report showed that Harman was granted clemency in 1944 and that since then he failed to report and maintain contact with his local supervisor and his whereabouts are unknown.

Dry For Past Two Years, Large Pond Mysteriously Fills Again

TAYLOR, Jan. 13 (INS)—A large tank near Taylor which went dry two years ago has mysteriously filled up again.

Mrs. C. A. Ludell said that in the summer of 1949 "all the fish in the tank came to the surface and died." The tank was dry until early in December.

Mrs. Lundell believes that springs underneath, diverted from the pond during the two years, were suddenly turned back into it.

At any rate, there is now water where for two years there was unexplained dry land.

STOCKS LOSE SLIGHTLY
NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (AP)—The stock market teetered a bit lower today in the slowest trading of the week.
Losses were small for the most part with only a handful exceeding a point. The setback was due more to tepid buying interest rather than any hard-hitting sales pressure.
Turnover amounted to only 700,000 shares. This was 10,000 below yesterday and the lowest since only 640,000 shares changed hands on Jan. 4. The Jan. 4 total was a low since August.
Standard Gas and Electric $6 preferred jumped 7⅞ to 109¾ on a single sale while the $7 preferred, in more active trade, moved up 1½ to 119½.
National Steel, up 1½ at 80½, and Amerada Petroleum, up 1½ at 89½, were among the few other issues showing any price changes of consequence.
Closing lower were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, American Smelting, Westinghouse Electric, Dow Chemical, International Paper, Santa Fe, Texas Co., and Transcontinental and Western Air.
Ending ahead were Bethlehem Steel, Woolworth, Electric Power and Light, American Can, Air Reduction, American Woolen, Union Pacific, and Loew's.
In the curb losses were posted for Humble Oil, McCord Corp., Lunch Corp., Cities Service and American Light.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Cotton futures were easier today in slow dealings. Uncertainty over the farm program and some fear that the internal situation in China may stop the pending sale of 100,000 bales of cotton to that country influenced selling.
Indications that there were fairly large offerings overhanging the market at 32.50 cents a pound for nearby March also had an unsettling effect on the market. Offerings were absorbed through scale down mill buying and short covering.
Futures closed 50 to 95 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (AP)—Soybeans dropped as much as 4 cents and all lard deliveries fell to new seasonal lows on the board of trade today. Weakness in these commodities upset grains, which ended on losses running to nearly 2 cents.
The market's trend was downward throughout almost the entire session, although trading was not very heavy. Final prices were at the day's lows. July soybeans made a new seasonal low and other deliveries were not far above their bottoms.
Loose lard was offered in the spot market at $12.87 a hundred pounds. This was unchanged from other days this week. The price is the lowest since 1946.
Wheat closed 1 ½-1 ⅝ lower, May $2.25 1/4-⅜, corn was 1 ¼-1 ⅝ lower, May $1.46 ¼-1.46, oats were ¾-1 ⅝ lower, May 73 ⅛-⅞, rye was 2 ½-2 ¾ lower, May $1.87, soybeans were 3 ¼-4 cents lower, March $2.45 ¼-½, and lard was 30 to 47 cents a hundred pounds lower January $15.00.

THE MIRACLE OF GROGAN'S MILL.—Charles "Bubba" Long, 14, whose whole life has been spent suffering from rheumatic fever, was lonesome and asked for a "bushel of letters" on a national radio program. He got more than a bushel—Conroe, Tex., postmaster Gary Williams hands Bubba some of the estimated 100,000 pieces of mail he received, many of them enclosing money. An estimated $20,000 was received. Bubba's father works as a millhand at Grogan's Mill, and the people are calling the events the "Miracle of Grogan's Mill."

Latest 'Black Dahlia' Murder Suspect Held Under Heavy Guard

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13. (INS)—Arthur Herbert Lane, 40, the latest suspect in the "Black Dahlia" murder case, was brought to Los Angeles under heavy police guard from Gilroy, near San Francisco, today.

Homicide detectives immediately subjected him to intensive questioning, but even before they started talking to him it appeared certain that Lane would be eliminated as a suspect.

The self-styled film writer, who also is known as Jeff Connors, claimed that he was working at Columbia studios the evening of Jan. 14, the night of the slaying.

Defended By Ex-Wife

He was supported in his claim by his ex-wife, Mrs. Grace Allen, a platinum blonde model. She said:

"My former husband knows less about the crime than I do and I know absolutely nothing.

"He went to work at 2 p. m. and came home at 11 p. m. He worked at the studio the night of the 'Dahlia' murder.

"On the following morning he showed me newspapers with the warning that I shouldn't go out alone."

Mrs. Allen described Lane as "a day-dreamer who just loves the limelight." She added:

"He has a vivid imagination. One minute he imagines he's a brave lifeguard. The next minute he's an aviator, a writer, a pianist, a general or a radio star.

"His head is full of noble deeds and fanciful day dreams."

Lane was arrested after being implicated by Leslie Dillon, 27-year-old bellboy, who was released yesterday after several days of questioning.

Whooping Bird Wins New Round In Fight Against Extinction

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (U.P.)—America's tallest bird, the whooping crane, has come off even in another round of its battle against extinction.

Thirty-three of the whoopers have returned to their winter refuge on the Texas coast, according to a story from Austwell (Refugio county), Tex., to the New York Herald Tribune. That's the same number that flew bravely north last spring to an unknown nesting ground.

Bird lovers had hoped for an increase. Instead, three disappeared, to be replaced by three immature ones.

Such a remnant of flocks that once moved along the Mississippi valley flyways in vast armies provides too small a margin against oblivion. They must increase, the experts feel, or dwindle to nothing. Then the majestic black and white birds, standing five feet high, will be seen no longer, and their shouting cry heard no more.

Study Is Made

An agent of the National Audubon Society, Robert P. Allen, went to Texas to make the count. Last summer, and the summer before that, he and Robert H. Smith of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service, flew to the Arctic on the trail of the whoopers. They searched the Great Slave lake region and the Anderson river country for their nesting grounds. No luck. They had hoped to find out how to protect them better against natural enemies and natives.

In more civilized territory, the whooper is protected by game laws but there always is a chance that some hunter will pot shot one. In fact, the Audubon society reports, one did in Nebraska this year, and ate it.

Apparently the whooper is just too big to live in safety. Two other "biggest" birds also are on the danger list.

The California Condor, with an 11-foot wingspread, soars in meager numbers over southern California mountains, and the trumpeter swan, weighing 30 pounds, holds out in the Jackson hole country of Wyoming and elsewhere. The trumpeter in fact has made some modest increases.

Only this year the Audubon society reported that no ivory-billed woodpecker had been sighted for a couple of years. The even more famous passenger pigeon and the Heath hen and the Carolina parroquet have long been given up as lost.

Extension Specialists Report Most Barn Fires Are Avoidable

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 13. (U.P.)—Barn losses from fire, which damaged or destroyed 1,500 barns in the United States in November, 1947, can be reduced 80 to 90 per cent, West Virginia University extension specialists have decided.

The following four-point program could accomplish the reduction, they said:

1—Keep barns clean, making sure rubbish is not allowed to accumulate in or about the buildings.

2—Check electrical wiring to see that switches operate properly and that wiring insulation is intact.

3—Maintain adequate fire protection, keeping approved extinguishers handy.

Better Pay Scales Predicted For 1949 College Graduates

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 13—The college graduates of June, 1949, are due to step into better paying jobs than ever, according to a Cornell University placement expert.

John L. Munschauer, Cornell service director, says one large company has raised its starting pay from last year's $285 to $305 a month. Another went up from $275 to $300, and a third is up $30 to $295.

Those starting salaries are chiefly for engineering graduates and other specialists, Munschauer said, but he expects the trend to be echoed through the whole job range.
