SIX JURORS SELECTED IN MURDER CASE AT SINTON TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

SINTON, Oct. 6.—More than a score of veniremen were examined yesterday by state and defense counsel in selecting six jurymen for the trial of Newton Yarberry, 23, charged with murder in the slaying of Dorothy Symons, comely 18-year-old Aransas Pass choir singer.

The girl's body, clad in a bathing suit, was found half buried in a grave of seaweeds and mud near the Aransas Pass breakwater Aug. 1. The girl was last seen alive the night of July 30 after attending choir practice and after she allegedly told friends she planned to go swimming with Yarberry.

The slim and sallow Aransas Pass iceman declared he did not meet the Symons girl that night.

A San Patricio county grand jury indictment charged in two counts he beat her in the face with an unknown instrument and then submerged her body beneath water, seaweed, shell and mud.

Thomas A. Edison Is Near Death

DOCTOR HOLDS NO HOPE FOR INVENTOR

DEATH HELD MATTER OF DAYS; VICTIM SEMI-CONSCIOUS

(By The Associated Press)

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 6.—Thomas A. Edison was in a semi-conscious condition today and his death is but a matter of days, his personal physician announced this morning. The physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, said the aged inventor's mental condition was "lethargic."

Dr Howe's daily morning bulletin read

"Mr. Edison had a fair night and there has been but little change in his condition in the past 24 hours."

The aged inventor has reduced his food consumption about 50 per cent in the past four days and this has brought about a condition which Dr Howe said was "very bad."

Dr Howe made this statement after issuing his daily morning bulletin in which he said Mr. Edison had spent a fair night and that there was little change in his condition.

Mr Edison now is carried from his bed to his chair, Dr. Howe said. Until yesterday, he could walk the several feet between them, assisted by his attendants.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 6. (AP)—A complication of diseases continued today to drain the strength of Thomas Alva Edison, whose 1,300 inventions have won him the title of "Wizard of Menlo Park."

His personal physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, held little or no hope that the 84-year-old inventor would fight off the effects of diabetes, Bright's disease, uremic poisoning and a stomach ailment believed to be gastric ulcers, none of which, the doctor said, had caused Mr. Edison pain.

The physician said he did not believe Mr. Edison's condition was immediately "critical" but disclosed that his strength was ebbing slowly before the advance of uremic poisoning.

Mr. Edison showed some improvement yesterday. His heart beat was stronger, his circulation was better and his spirits brighter than they had been during the week-end.

NEGRO WORKER RUNS AMUCK

ASSAILANT SUICIDES AFTER SHOOTING LONGVIEW MAN

(By The Associated Press)

LONGVIEW, Oct. 6.—R. H. Whynot, 60-year-old superintendent of a Longview box and basket factory, was wounded seriously yesterday by Zeno Blackman, 35, negro, who then took his own life by firing a bullet into his heart. Whynot instructed Blackman, an employe at the plant for 15 years, to repair a broken machine. The negro refused, leaving the plant.

He returned armed with a shotgun and a pistol. Encountering Whynot at the entrance to the factory Blackman opened fire with the shotgun. The first charge struck the superintendent in the thigh. He dodged behind a stack of baskets, and as he emerged he was struck by a second charge.

C. H. Jones and Howard Tutt, workmen at the plant, were fired on but escaped uninjured.

As Jimmie Hudnall, office manager, advanced with a pistol Blackman fled, leaving the premises. He threw aside the shotgun before crossing a railroad track, then pressed the pistol to his chest and fired.

BANKERS OPEN ASSAULT ON PROBLEMS

CRITICS OF BANKING STRUCTURE FLAYED BY ASSOCIATION

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 6—America's bankers today launched an assault on the nation's economic problems.

Criticising critics of the banking structure and pleading for a perspective picture of a serious situation, the economic policy commission of the American Bankers' association presented its report to the first general session of the association's convention.

The report is not voted on by the convention but bankers take it to represent the views of financial men and regard it as particularly important at this time.

"Credit Strong"

"In common with the rest of the world our country is being forced to face many serious problems, but American credit is still the strongest in the world," the report said.

"We hold in this country a large part of the world's monetary gold. It is still fundamentally true that where the gold is, the strength lies.

"We have no doubt that America's indomitable will to conquer will see us through the present difficulties as it has seen us through similar difficulties in the past.

"The facts are that while four per cent of the banks as to numbers, were permanently or temporarily closed in the first eight months of the year, some 96 per cent were not involved and furthermore that only 1.2 per cent of the deposits were tied, which means that almost 99 per cent were not affected.

"It is obvious in view of the foregoing that an exaggerated and distorted view of the banking situation has been created in the public mind by focussing attention solely on the bank failure figures unrelated to the broader situation of which they are but a part."

Nation Mourns Sudden Passing Of Sen. Morrow

EXPRESSIONS OF GRIEF FROM EVERYWHERE ARE RECEIVED BY FAMILY OF FAMOUS DIPLOMAT

(By The Associated Press)

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 6.—There was speculation today as to what effect his passing would have upon politics, and there was world wide appraisal of his accomplishments in finance and statecraft; but dominating all else here was the stunning realization that Dwight W. Morrow, who but a day before had appeared in excellent health, was suddenly dead.

From everywhere, leaders of nations, of industries, arts, finance and religion sent expressions of their grief at news of his death, which occurred yesterday.

In Mexico City, where his most notable diplomatic services were performed as United States ambassador; in Englewood, where his home has been for 30 years; in New York, where he built his fortune with the Morgan interests; and in China and Japan where his daughter, Anne, and her husband, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh are vacationing, there were equal manifestations of grief.

A United State senator from New Jersey, a man believed by many to have been on the threshold of even greater political distinction than already had come to him, Dwight Morrow died in his sleep at 1:52 p. m. yesterday. A cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of death. He was 58 years old.

He had retired in good spirits, although over the week-end he had complained somewhat of being tired. Three physicians and members of his immediate family were at his bedside when death came. His secretary had become alarmed two hours earlier when efforts to arouse Mr. Morrow failed. He never regained consciousness.

His rule in life, from the time he attended Amherst college as a classmate of Calvin Coolidge, to the time of his death, when he already

STOCK MARKET PRICES JUMP

SHARES LEAP DURING HEAVY MOVEMENT OF BUYING TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Prices rallied swiftly on the New York stock exchange today on the expectation that an important announcement bearing on economic affairs would follow President Hoover's conference with congressional leaders at the White House this evening.

Leading shares soared $1 to $5 in a heavy buying movement that got under way immediately after the opening. The session was hardly five minutes old when the ticker got five minutes behind the trading in reporting quotations on the floor of the exchange.

American Can was a strong feature, jumping $5 on the first sale involving 5,000 shares. American Telephone, long a hard-pressed issue, was up $3 and United States steel common climbed about $4. Case, Coca Cola, Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Allied Chemical and Woolworth rallied about $2 to $4. There were some reactions from the top on quick profit-taking but trading continued in heavy volume.

CAPONE TRIAL IS STARTED

GANG LEADER CHANGES HIS PLEA TODAY TO "NOT GUILTY"

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—"Scarface Al" Capone, the swarthy, smiling ruler of Chicago's gangs, went on trial in U. S. district court today charged with evading taxes on an alleged six year income of $1,038,654.

The burly gang chieftain was brought before Judge James H. Wilkerson and permitted to substitute "not guilty" for the "guilty" plea he recently withdrew. The first duty was the selection of a jury.

The government, throwing all of its resources into the battle, did not attempt to hide the fact that this was its most important gangster case.

Capone arose quickly from his seat at the counsel table, and walked before the bar when Judge Wilkerson asked "is the defendant in court?" he replied "not guilty" twice in a low voice when the judge asked for his plea on the income tax charges.

About 60 veniremen were then brought into the court.

Judge Wilkerson began the examination, asking veniremen routine questions and attempting to find out whether any had fixed opinions.

"BLOODLESS REBELLION AGAINST THE DUMPING OF COTTON" WILL BE MADE

"A bloodless rebellion against dumping cotton at present ruinous prices" will gain momentum at 8 o'clock tonight when cotton farmers meet at Brownfield, Charles M. Davis, manager of the Lubbock district of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, said.

A series of meetings through the week on the South Plains will be climaxed by a mass assembly of South Plains cotton growers at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon here, he said. At the Lubbock meeting, "a strong effort will be made to organize the farmers, merchants and business men to present a solid front against ruinous prices and save the cotton farmers from financial ruin," Davis said.

Other assemblies scheduled are: At Lamesa, 3 p. m., and Tahoka, 8 p. m., Wednesday; Levelland, 3 p. m., and Littlefield, 8 p. m., Thursday; Ralls, 3 p. m., and Liberty school, 8 p. m., Friday. The mass meetings are for all cotton raisers, whether or not they are affiliated with the cooperative association, Davis said. G. S. Burgess, field service director for the association, will speak at the meeting.

By cooperation of bankers, the farmers would be permitted to hold their cotton without fear of foreclosure until conditions are improved, in the plan Davis said would be advocated here.

LOCAL MARKET WEEK DRAWS BIG CROWD

MORE THAN $100,000 IN MERCHANDISE ON DISPLAY HERE

With scores of merchants from surrounding towns visiting sample rooms all through the morning, preparations were under way this afternoon for the annual fall style revue of Lubbock's semi-annual Market Week which will be held tonight at the Uptown dance palace.

More than $100,000 worth of ready-to-wear, merchandise and shoes and accessories are on display in sample rooms of approximately fifty different lines.

TICKET SALES SLOW

A large number of out of town retail merchants and their customers were already in town at noon with intentions of shopping during the day and remaining over for the style revue. A check up on local ticket sales, however, indicates the local attendance will be light unless the expected "last minute rush" in ticket buying starts this afternoon, officials of the chamber of commerce state. A few hundred seats are still available. Tickets on sale at the Bowen's, Bowen's Hilton, and Hotel Lubbock Drug store.

Twenty-one young women are to parade down the runway of the dance palace tonight to show just what's the latest for milady in all fall ready-to-wear and millinery. A large crowd of out-of-town merchants and townspeople is expected for the show which begins promptly at 8 o'clock.

Business was on the pick-up around the sample rooms today, a number of merchants reporting "surprising number of sales under conditions." Monday being Dollar Day and First Monday in most of the towns over the territory was blamed for inactivity in sales yesterday, it was said.

Models appearing in the style show tonight are:

Misses Louise Sneed, Pauline Warren, Donna Vaughn, Edna Kane, Sue Brown, Johnnie Jo Whitley, Francis Gunn, Azora Adams, Marjorie Ann Ainsworth, Helen Womack, Mildred Price, Oline Bates, Gail Quinlan, Chloedell Whitley, Denver Davis, Mary Florence Knox, Grace Morris, Eileen Graves, Carolyn Powell, Mrs. Leland Mast, and Mrs. Joyce Howell.

TWO MEN SHOT AT DALLAS

ASSAILANT CLAIMS HE WAS FLEECED BY TWO VICTIMS

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 6. —Two Dallas business men were shot and critically wounded in their office here today by a man who claimed he had been fleeced in a real estate transaction.

Arthur Wolfe, real estate dealer, was shot in the neck. Charles Stephan, 40, a produce dealer, was shot twice in the body.

Suspect Arrested

Policeman O. R. Salmon arrested William Davis, 58, for investigation in connection with the shooting. The officer said Davis emerged from the office with a pistol in his hand.

"I was skinned in a real estate deal," Davis told the officer.

Horace L. Sanderlan was standing in the office when Davis entered. He said Davis drew a pistol and without saying a word, fired at Stephan. He then turned the gun on Wolfe and wounded him, Sunderlan said.

Sunderlan said he grabbed a chair and threw it at Davis, but missed. He said the shooting ceased and Davis walked out of the office and down the street.

Another witness, Frank Nigro, jr., told police a story that conformed with Sunderlan's description of the shooting. Both said five shots were fired.

DEADLOCK UNBROKEN

GALVESTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Conferences between representatives of striking union longshoremen and shipping interests yesterday failed to break a six-day deadlock over proposed wage scales.

PUBLIC SCHOOL ENGLISH CLASSES TO SPEAK AND READ OF FIRE PREVENTION

English classes in Lubbock public schools will speak, read, and write about fire prevention through this week, designated as National Fire Prevention week and proclaimed locally by Mayor J. J. Clements.

H. D. Woods, former chairman of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce fire prevention committee, will speak to senior high school students in their new building at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Rev. R. C. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church, will address junior high school students at the same time. Both speakers will talk about prevention of fires.

Remarks by representatives of the fire prevention corps here gained additional impressiveness as a result of recent incendiary blazes here and elsewhere in the Lubbock vicinity.

Convictions and arrests for malicious burning of property have almost doubled in the nation in recent years, they reported. Arson is no more prevalent but laws are more adequate and investigations more searching, they asserted.

In addition to hurting insurance companies and reflecting the loss in fire insurance rates paid by property owners, fires of incendiary origin have caused considerable loss of life and of innocent persons' property, the fire prevention leaders reminded.

A "model arson law" is in effect in 28 states, not including Texas. At one time, arson was punishable by death, the code of "an eye for an eye" dictating that this death should be by burning.

TWO AVIATORS ARE HONORED

PANGBORN, HERNDON GIVEN PRAISE AND REST AFTER HOP

(By The Associated Press)

WENATCHEE, Wash., Oct. 6—Out of the terrors of their historic non-stop flight across the Pacific came affluence, praise and rest today for Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, jr.

Wenatchee and the state of Washington in general went to heretofore unheard of pains to shower two aviators with comfort. Townspeople forgot about the depression and raised a purse of $500 to provide the fliers spending money.

Prize Awarded

Pangborn and Herndon were without a cent when they landed here yesterday morning to complete their 4,877 mile flight from Samushiro Beach, Japan. Before the first cheers had died away, a representative of the Tokyo newspaper Ashai handed them an order entitling them to $25,000—prize money which long had been posted by that periodical for the first non-stop airplane flight between Japan and the United States.

But the $25,000 order didn't provide any immediate spending money and the collection was taken up to take care of that situation.

Wenatchee staged a spontaneous celebration. From its 15,000 persons, about 10,000 collected to make the fliers welcome.

This morning the fliers were allowed to sleep late, but were called on to go to a neighboring town for a luncheon and a community banquet.

I now deem it in every way imperative that the question of my retirement be cleared up. I therefore beg you to recommend to the reich president my discharge."

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

THE WAY the child feels on leaving home for school in the morning determines rather largely how well he will get along at school that day. Let us parents ask ourselves what we might do to create a good morning atmosphere at home.

Since we are human, things easily annoy us, of course. The oatmeal burns, the coffee pot boils dry, the faucet drips, the collar button hides, the runner stares its owner in the face, the shoe string breaks, the children quarrel, or some one utters a remark which vexes us.

Not a few of us are more easily ruffled in the early morning than at any other hour of the day, particularly if we had not slept well or long enough. The worst of it is, we tend to stay ruffled for several minutes or for several hours. I suppose we must admit that most of us assume that we have a universal license to be irritable when we have a heavy or aching head, or think we are not physically well. Besides, being crabbed gives us a sense of self-importance and superiority. It seems that we allow ourselves to express irritation at and in the presence of those to whom we feel for the moment superior.

* * *

In most homes one large source of vexation would be removed if the family were to rise 15 or 20 minutes earlier each morning. When we are rushing to get off at a special time and allow ourselves a very limited period for preparation, the slightest obstacle is sure to prove anoying.

"Where's my arithmetic?" Gaius growls, as he half-insanely rushes aoout, knowing that his mother will help him find the book. Next his cap is missing, and by the time he finds it, Gaius is a maniac and his mother is ready for a nerve specialist. The father is no better, having used up and repeated all the standard exclamations, condemnations and why-didn't-you's at his command. Gaius out of sight, his mother sees his written home work on the mantel piece, and hurries out pell mell to overtake him. "From scenes like these" all sorts of ills arise.

Mother's motives are the best. Out of the goodness of her heart she tries to help the child. But the more she continues so to help that lad get off to school each day the more surely these morning tragedies will persist. But the father is still worse. He only irritates everybody else, without doing a thing to help in the immediate instance or the future. If he really wishes to be helpful he will see to it that beginning this evening, Gaius always will, before going to bed, assemble all his things in one place, and that he even will lay out the clothes he is to wear the next day.

We hope the mother will resolve to make Gaius entirely responsible for sending himself to school each morning and that she will have the courage to abide by this resolve. Of course, Gaius may have dwadled at dressing and at eating. If he did on that morning, he had done so before. Doubtless he had been practicing from early childhood. Parents of pre-school children, now is the time to train them and yourselves in morning habits which will help them and you escape the all too prevalent morning tragedies like those with Gaius.

I am always pleased to hear from my readers. Those who wish to have me write them personally will please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

TARIFFS UP IN DISCUSSIONS

DELEGATES FROM 21 REPUBLICS ATTEND CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Tariffs, a subject packed with high explosives, have engrossed delegates from 21 American republics, meeting here to discuss the economic situation.

Even before the conference formally convened, the Cubans served notice they would propose a two-year truce in import duties. They contended high and increasing tariffs were a principal obstacle to business recovery.

Statements Conflict

Conflicting statements surrounded Mexico's entry into the discussion. In Mexico City it was announced that nation's delegation would attempt to form an anti-American tariff bloc. The delegation here denied it.

The gathering was the third of the Pan-American commercial conferences. Secretary Stimson welcomed the visitors. Then, without indicating whether they had any knowledge of the tariff developments, Secretary Lamont of the commerce department and Silas H. Strawn, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, addressed the 500 delegates. Both said the question of tariff duties was one for each nation to decide.

"Each nation," Lamont said "must reserve its right to apply such tariff and regulations as it deems necessary for revenue and protective purposes. The greatest good to the greatest number of people will come from the freest possible contacts, cooperation and exchange of goods and services between the nations."

Decline Cited

Saying that United States exports to South America had declined 49 per cent during the first six months of this year, Strawn said:

"In Latin-America, certain raw materials are piled up in warehouses and on wharves awaiting purchasers, and in the United States manufacturing plants capable of supplying the wants of our friends to the south are standing idle."

Regret was expressed by J. Silva Herzog of the Mexican delegation that Canada had not been invited to the conference.

The Law was on her husband's side—that Latin "Judas" who claimed her child. She came to plead for mercy—armed—prepared to kill, but then—FATE stepped in to play an amazing role in this great true-life story of war, infidelity, and mother love!

"I LOVED that man, Paul-Louis," this confessing woman writes. "I loved him with all the yielding devotion of a country girl from Illinois. We met and married in France during the war, and gladly did I sacrifice all—my citizenship and property—to let him possess me.

"But Paul-Louis was French—a gentleman of a foreign land with a foreign code of morals—and soon his faithless kisses fouled my lips, his honeyed phrases sickened my soul.

"How could I—how could any woman endure such torture and still go on? I had to smuggle our child out of France, because The Law gave it to him. We sailed to New York. He followed and had The Law take my baby from me!

"Frantic—I had almost given up the battle—WHEN—a murderous thought blazed through my mind. At any cost, I'd save my precious baby boy from being brought up to the degrading morals of his faithless father. And so I rushed madly to Paul-Louis' apartment—and it was on that terrifying afternoon—that—I—"

You purchase shoes, fruit and candy. You call for cigarettes.

It's like this:

WHEN YOU GO TO BUY A PAIR OF SHOES, you examine the leather, the way the shoes are made, their shape. You try them to see if they fit—if they satisfy you.

Why not follow the same method in purchasing your cigarettes? You want cigarettes that are made from the very best tobacco—mild, ripe, sweet. You want them made right. You want them free from harshness and bite and "pinches." In other words, you want cigarettes that satisfy you.

WHEN YOU GO TO BUY FRUIT—oranges, grapefruit, apples—you want ripe fruit, fruit that has matured before being taken from the tree; fruit that has been handled right and packed right; fruit that's the same throughout—not green on one side and ripe on the other.

Why not apply the same test in purchasing your cigarettes? You want cigarettes made from tobaccos handled right by the farmer—ripened, sweetened in the sun and cured right. You want cigarettes that taste the same, day in and day out. You want them pleasing in taste—mild and satisfying.

WHEN YOU BUY CANDY, you want to know, above all things, that it is pure. Is it real candy or are there a lot of other things mixed in with it? And you want it fresh. You want it freshly made and you want it so packed as to reach you just as it was when it was made.

Why not apply the same test when you buy your cigarettes? You want a cigarette that's pure; for purity counts in cigarettes just as it does in candy. Then again, you want a cigarette that's just as fresh as when it was made.

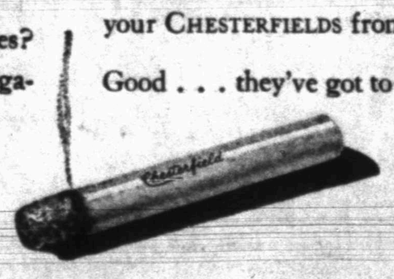

Now, if you apply to cigarettes all the tests that you apply in buying shoes and fruit and candy you will purchase CHESTERFIELD like millions of other smokers.

First, because tobacco men will tell you that in Turkey, Kentucky, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia, and Maryland, only the mildest, ripest tobacco is bought for CHESTERFIELD—tobacco cured by the sun's pure rays, by the farmers' slow-burning ovens, and finally by great high-pressure steam drying machines. In the tobacco regions where they grow tobacco and know tobacco, CHESTERFIELD is usually the leading seller.

Second, because the carefully selected CHESTERFIELD tobacco leaves are blended and cross-blended. This exclusive CHESTERFIELD blending method is not just mixing together different tobaccos—it is mixing them in such a way as to bring out the finer qualities of each. It's like producing a new and better type of tobacco—tobacco with greater mildness, more smoothness, much better taste.

Third, because the cigarette paper is selected with the same care. CHESTERFIELD paper is the purest, the best that money can buy. Then the cigarettes are made and packed by machinery in clean, sanitary factories. And the moisture-proof, attractive package—free from heavy inks or inky odor—comes to you just as if you passed the factory in the morning and took your CHESTERFIELDS from the machine.

Good . . . they've got to be good.

CARDINALS HOLD WORLD SERIES ADVANTAGE OVER ATHLETICS

WORLD CHAMPS ARE ON THE RUN TODAY

NATIONAL LEAGUERS LEADING FOR FIRST TIME IN 5 YEARS

BY EDWARD J. NEIL,
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5. (AP)—For the first time in five years, the National league, represented by the St. Louis Cardinals, held a world series advantage today over the champions of the American league.

In as many ways as the situation could be diagnosed, those surprising Red Birds of Missouri had the Philadelphia Athletics, world champions for two straight years, on the run. They lead in the series, two games to one, the first time a National league club has done that since the Cards of 1926 took two of the first three games from the New York Yankees and finally won the series four games to three. They have beaten Connie Mack's great pitching duo, Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw in successive games, they have all the better of pitching strength, strategic position, psychology and greatest of all, winning impetus.

Situation Desperate

Today the veteran pilot, Connie Mack, seeking his third straight world championship and the fifth series title in a row for the American league, faced a situation which was truly desperate.

Against the charge of the Cardinals, rising with power and savageness, he had but one bulwark to throw up against them—"Big Jarge" Earnshaw. If the Red Birds can beat the great righthander as they did in the second game, then there is not a baseball man in this hive of series excitement and conjecture who will concede the A's the slightest chance of catching St. Louis in the final three games.

The ancient Mack, silent as ever, and showing more and more of his 68 years as he watches the breakdown of the machine the baseball world hailed as invincible only a week ago, was faced today with the problem of making quick and drastic repairs before it was all together too late. Silent as ever, Mack had nothing to say of his pitching prospects for the fourth game today. It might be that he had decided to gamble on Earnshaw. The critics thought he had. But there was also a basis to the prediction that Rube Walberg, the southpaw who won 20 games for Connie through the past American league season, would try his luck against the clouting Cards today with Earnshaw held in reserve for a final do-or-die effort if it is necessary tomorrow.

Same Old Story

Once again it was the same old story yesterday.

Bewhiskered and vengeful, seeking to balance the scale for the two five hit defeats plastered on him last year by the A's in the 1930 series, snarling his hatred, added another pitching masterpiece to the three hit 2 to 0 shutout Wild Bill Hallahan dished out to the champions in the second game of the opening pair of contests in St. Louis last Friday.

Gabby Street, a recent convert to Connie Mack's theory of silence, would not name his staring pitcher today, but he can afford to gamble. Either Sylvester Johnson or Jim Lindsey, both right handers who have done fine relief work over the past two series, are favored for the call.

The probable lineups:

St. Louis (N)	Philadelphia (A)
Adams 3b	Bishop 2b
Watkins rf	Haas cf
Frisch 2b	Cochrane c
Bottomley 1b	Simmons lf
Hafey lf	Foxx 1b
Martin cf	Miller rf
Wilson c	Dykes 3b
Gelbert ss	Williams ss
Johnson p	Earnshaw or Walberg

SIDELIGHTS ON WORLD SERIES

ONLY WILD PITCH

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6 (AP)—President Hoover made the only wild pitch of Monday's game. He tossed well beyond Mickie Cochrane's reach in officially opening the play.

PEPPER STILL HOT

Pepper Martin, Cardinal flash, continued his hitting streak with two hits, one a double, out of four times at bat.

Connie Mack said Martin is making the Cardinals tough.

Martin said "I'm just lucky, I guess."

TOSSED 130 BALLS

Burleigh Grimes tossed 130 balls to win the game. Grove and Mahaffey threw 134. The assortment sent plateward by the Burleigh gent included 52 called balls, 30 called or missed strikes, six outfield flies, three infield flies, twelve grounders, 25 fouls and two hits.

MATADORS, WESTERNERS TRAIN HARD

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

Some wag has suggested that if your boy shows tendencies to become a journalist, bring him up to be a football coach and you're sure to be well cared for in your reclining years.

• • •

Now, more than ever before, there is a nation-wide movement on the part of leading newspapers and news services to carry the journalistic efforts of outstanding coaches in their daily columns. If not a coach, then a regular on the first team, or a manager or somebody is substituted.

• • •

Pick up almost any daily paper and you see a column or two with Coach Aesop's or Captain Perkins' or First-Baseman Zilch's by-line over it, the while struggling sports writers, trained for that work and with university degrees, professional pins, etc., are trying to keep the records straight, that is, when they're not hunting jobs.

• • •

But what we started out to remark is that Dutchey Smith, assistant coach at Texas Tech, has a great future. He witnessed the Haskell-Kansas game from the press box Friday night and came home with more concrete knowledge of what happened in that hour's time than some sports writer could detect in three games. And he spilled it to us with such clearness that we could even hear his groans as he looked upon the team that Tech must face next Tuesday afternoon at Dallas.

• • •

Judging from Dutchey's recital, the Matadors have little chance to come out ahead of the Early Americans next Choozdy. "And, furthermore, what I mean is that they're TOUGH," concluded the Tech scout. That was his first conclusion. He had others. And about that time Chief Cawthon stalked into the office and we saw nothing then except six days of tough work on the Tech gridiron while the Matadors seek to throw off a bit of staleness and get down to real hard work.

• • •

And take it from Coaches Cawthon and Morgan who happened to be along when the Matadors played the New Mexico Aggies last Saturday at Las Cruces, said Matadors must do a whale of a lot better in the next game if they hope to live and prosper. "It's a good thing you were not there," they suggested, "because you would have been riding them from now till then."

• • •

It is not our policy to "ride" an athlete—unless he chooses to be ridden and unless he doesn't put out. The Matadors may have laid themselves open to severe criticism by their lackadaisical, hipty-tipty heigh-ho performance across the state line, but when you consider the day and a half trip in a bus over roads that only an aviator could appreciate, dresing facilities not the best in the world and the thought of Injuns on the trail, your tears almost force back the razzberries.

• • •

But back to Dutchey and his blow-by-blow report of the Haskell-Kansas game (won by Haskell, 6 to 0). He says Tech's team is as big and as heavy as the Indians; that the Jayhawkers, champions of the Big Six district last year and favorites to repeat, outweighed Haskel several pounds to the gentleman, and that in Captain Louis Weller, whose Indian name is "Little Rabbit," and Fullback Walter Johnson (Great Manitou), Haskell has a team of two capable of carrying the hoghide into the most impossible places on a gridiron. In fact, there apparently are no impossible places in a rectangle of that size for the Indian backs. From time to time we shall have more of these Optimistic Outlooks For Tech.

• • •

And here's a nice letter to top off anotherwise column. It comes from Bob Clark, former Amarillo Junior college athlete, who has appeared in various public performances here. It is dated from Birmingham, Ala.

• • •

Dear Friend:

Just caught an article you wrote about the Canyon-Tech game and thought I would knock off a line or two.

I am at Howard college, at Birmingham, and am doing real good. They have me playing fullback and about all I get to do is block, block all the time. In the game the other day against Marion Military academy I carried the ball four times and made three touchdowns, once returning a kick-off 75 yards for a counter. The U. of Alabama team ought to have beaten us. We play a double header here Friday night.

Tell "Pete" and "Dutch" I said helo and that I made their old football team here. We have a good team, too. This is a keen college.

Sincerely your friend,
Bob Clark.

TECH TO MEET HASKELL ON TUESDAY

CAWTHON COHORTS ARE CENTERING ACTIVITY ON COMING GAME

With one week from today to go before they meet the powerful Haskell Institute Indians in the State Fair Park bowl at Dallas, the Texas Tech Matadors are centering all activity on the coming game, an event in their lives and the first of a string of big games of the season.

Fast practice in blocking, tackling and charging is the order on the Texas Tech gridiron. The club will devote perhaps a big part of the time to defensive work, with offensive plays coming in for their share of brushing up toward the latter part of the week. With no game scheduled for this week, the collegians have an unbroken week in which to prepare for the game that has been claiming mental attention since the opening of the season.

Coaches Disappointed

Coach Pete Cawthon and Assistant Del Morgan returned from Las Cruces, N. M., with the club Sunday after the Matadors had won a 7 to 0 victory over the New Mexico Aggies. To hear the coaches tell it, it was a ragged game, with Tech playing pitifully for the most part. While they ran into unexpected opposition, the Aggies being much stronger than thought to be, the Matadors turned in a card that drew little applause from their coaches and supporters.

To add to the discomfiture out Tech way, Assistant Coach Dutchey Smith returned from scouting the Haskell-Kansas game and reported on the great strength of the Indians. Straightway there was cause for a coaches consultation, and yesterday afternoon saw the Matadors start what apparently is their hardest week of practice. With the freshmen and reserves being taught to run Haskell plays against them, the regulars will come in for a lot of defensive work. Vigorous training days lie between them and the game, yet there appear to be none more willing to practice than the Matadors. They will mix in enough of their offensive work to keep from growing stale, and the scrimmage sessions are expected to keep the wheels moving.

Fine Spirit Shown

No serious casualties resulted in the Aggie game and Cawthon drew his men out in fairly good shape. The long trip by bus was almost as trying as the game itself, but the Matadors are manifesting a spirit this week that suggests a return of the fire and ability displayed in the first two games of the season.

Coach Smith reports, after scouting the Indians and after comparing figures, that the Matador line of Bill Teal and Matt Hitchcock at ends, Bennie McWilliams and George Langford or Truett Owens at tackles, Greer and Ayers or Turner or Baker at guards and Trible at center will compare favorably with the Haskell line in weight and size. The Tech backfield will measure up in weight and size with the Haskell set of backs. Jim O'Leary, Lawrence France, Harrold Crites and Yancy Price will stack up along with Shepard, Louis Weller, Duffina and Johnson so far as weight is concerned.

VETERAN IS MIGHTY PROUD OF VICTORY OVER ATHLETICS

BY GAYLE TALBOT,
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6. (AP)—He's just an old syndicate writer, this Burleigh Grimes, but if you stick around long enough and talk baseball he'll unburden himself, sure as the world.

Last night this latest world series hero, clean shaven and immensely pleased with the world in general, moved from chair to chair in the lobby of the Cardinals' hotel and accepted congratulations from hundreds of milling fans and baseball men. They thought right well of that two-hit game the veteran had pitched against the Athletics, and so, for that matter, did Grimes.

Wires Pour In

Telegrams were pouring in from every part of the country. They started coming in a few minutes after the last out had been made and they still were coming at intervals at a late hour. Grimes read each one with meticulous care and chuckled.

"I'll tell you, boys," he said, when cornered by a bevy of correspondents, "I can't talk for publication. I'm giving my reactions to a syndicate, and it wouldn't be right. I've gotta play fair with my syndicate."

One may appreciate Mr. Grime's dilemma. It was a very delicate situation, a situation calling for tact.

"But, Mr. Grimes, it surely would be all right for you to tell us how you felt about losing a no-hit game when it was right in your grasp. After all, a no-hit game would have been mighty fine, especially in a world series. What was it Bing Miller hit there in the eighth inning?"

The veteran, still clean shaven, pondered a moment.

"Well, it was a fast ball, right smack down the middle. All he had to do was to stick out his bat and hit it. I could have hit it, myself."

Didn't Take Chance

Grimes had he been a little more selfish of his own interests, might have gone down in the records as the first man in his ory to pitch a no-hit, no-run game in the world series. But he didn't take a chance. He made Miller hit.

Although he announced he would be ready to take his regular turn again if the series goes back to St. Louis, Grimes had a bad looking little finger on his pitching hand. It received quite a lick when he knocked down a drive from Mule Haas' bat in the ninth inning. It was swollen last night and was to be x-rayed today for the possibility of a break.

CHISOX, CUBS ARE EVEN

CHICAGO CLUBS FIGHT FOR WINNERS' END OF CITY SERIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—The sum of $7,421.62—the difference between the winners' and losers' pools in the Chicago baseball championship series—was the objective of the Cubs and White Sox in the final game today.

Captain Charlie Grimm of the Cubs shoved the National leaguers back into the race for the title yesterday and just in time. In the ninth, with the Sox leading by 2 to 1, and two men on, Grimm rammed out a double to give the Cubs a 3 to 2 triumph and square the series at three victories each.

The other thrill of the game in the second inning, when after Vic Frasier, young Sox righthander, had walked Guy Bush, Cub hurler, Catcher Frank Grube attempted to slug Umpire George Hildebrand, to emphasize his disapproval over the decision. Grube was restrained by Manager Donie Bush and Coach Mike Kelley, and was ordered from the field.

Tommy Thomas for the Sox, and Pat Malone for the Cubs were the pitching prospects.

LUBBOCK WILL PLAY SLATON ON FRIDAY

FIRST CONFERENCE GO TO BE UNDER TECH PARK LIGHTS

Anticipating a desperate struggle on the part of the Slaton Tigers, Coach Weldon Chapman and the Lubbock High school Westerners are doing heavy practice duty this week in preparation for the game Friday night here. The Slaton Tigers, already introduced to Class A competition this season, will launch the 1931 district 1 race for the Westerners. The game here Friday night will be the first of the four championship games played by the locals in their district.

If the Slaton High school team runs true to tradition it will put up its hardest fight of the season against the Westerners. When the club was playing Class B football it would always give Lubbock one of its toughest games of the season. The teams last met in 1929, the locals winning by a margin of one touchdown. Yancy Price, now regular fullback on the Texas Tech varsity lineup, was playing end for the Westerners in those days. He caught a pass that netted a gain of 35 yards and a touchdown against Slaton in the last game.

Chapman Pleased

Chapman saw his club take a 32 to 0 victory over Lamesa last week and was particularly well pleased with the advancement shown in the forward passing department. Little Dalton Blagg, playing at end, was on the receiving end of three passes that meant touchdowns. They were the long passes which the Westerners have been trying to perfect this season. With Gene Barnett, one of the neatest passers in high school football, on the throwing end, Will Ed Watson and Dalton Blagg or Bill Davidson on the receiving end, the Westerner passing machine looms as one of the best in the district. It is likely that the Lubbock team will play through the air for their long gains.

The team is getting in lots of blocking and tackling this week. In Melvin Griggs, regular guard, Chapman has one of the best blocking linemen in this section if not in the state. Griggs playing has been one of the outstanding individual performances this season.

Already the flags are out at Slaton, and the team and the town are making extensive plans to make it a true Slaton Day in Lubbock. Far from being satisfied with the outcome of last week's game at Plainview, which was awarded to Plainview in spite of the tied score, Coach Paul Wright sees as his own probable chance for a victory in the Class A race a win over Lubbock's Westerners.

Rochester Expected To Defeat St. Paul

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP)—The shortest "little world series" since 1928 was in prospect today as the Rochester Redwings, champions of the International league, and St. Paul, American association pennant winners, prepared for the fifth game of the series.

The Redwings needed only two more victories to clinch the series and their chances looked particularly bright in view of the tremendous batting punch they showed in winning three of the first four games in St. Paul.

Billy Southworth planned to send Carmen Hill, bespectacled veteran, to the mound for Rochester for the fifth game while Lefty Leifield of St. Paul wavered between young Johnny Murray and Russell Van Atta.

TEXAS LONGHORNS HAVE UNCROSSED GOAL LINE PRIOR TO CONTEST WITH RICE INSTITUTE OWLS ON SATURDAY

(By The Associated Press)

Having accumulated sixty-seven points in two games while holding their opponents scoreless, the University of Texas will have an uncrossed goal line at the start of the game Saturday against Rice. It will be the first conference game this fall for both teams.

Determined to be at the top for the invasion of Rice, Texas started this week's practice with heavy work. The only light drill will be Friday when the Longhorns taper off. Jack Sparks, end, and Captain Baumgarten suffered strained leg ligaments in the Missouri game but are expected to be ready for the Rice fray.

Mueller To Play

Rice returned from Oklahoma late Sunday and returned to routine practice yesterday. Bert Mueller, ace halfback who failed to make the Oklahoma trip because of injuries, is expected to play against Texas.

Southern Methodist and University of Arkansas started preparations yesterday for their game Saturday in Fayetteville. Although both won warm-up games last week, they were sent through hard practice sessions yesterday and were in for more today. Arkansas held scrimmage against the freshman team. S. M. U. spent most of the day on blocking and tackling and concluded with a light scrimmage against the freshman team.

Light practice yesterday, but harder work the rest of the week was announced from the camps of Texas A. and M., Baylor, and Texas Christian. Texas A. and M. meets the University of Iowa Saturday in Dallas. Baylor plays Centenary in Shreveport, and T. C. U. battles Austin college in Fort Worth. All escaped from last week games minus serious injuries, and should be at their best this week-end.

BIRDMEN HELD INELIGIBLE

PANGBORN, HERNDON CANNOT COMPETE FOR $25,000

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Col. W. E. Easterwood, jr., wealthy Dallas aviation enthusiast, said the trans-Pacific flight completed yesterday by Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon had not met the proper conditions for him to award them a $25,000 prize should they continue to Dallas, but that he might post a prize for a Tokyo-Dallas one-stop flight next year.

"They did not make a contract with me, as was done by Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte last year before they made their Paris-New York-Dallas flight," he explained, "and the terms of such an attempt would have to be approved by the National Areonautical association."

Prize Not Posted

He said he had not posted a prize for a Tokyo-Dallas flight this fall because he believed weather conditions entirely too hazardous this late in the season.

Yesterday he was visited by G. Murata, representing the Japanese newspaper Asahi of Tokyo and Osaka, and promised the Japanese newspaperman he would visit Tokyo next January or February to discuss plans for a Tokyo-San Francisco-Dallas flight.

"I've been talking with F. C. Hall of Oklahoma City, sponsor of the round-the-world flight of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, about posting a prize for a north pole-south pole non-stop flight," he said, "and another for a round-the-world non-stop flight. That would encourage aviation development, for there is yet no plane with sufficient cruising radius to make either flight."

He said he also would consider posting again a prize for Hong Kong-San Francisco-Dallas flights such as he offered in 1927 and in quest of which Capt. William Irwin of Dallas and his navigator lost their lives when their plane fell in mid-Pacific.

Inventors Have Their Day At Chicago Patent Exposition

Left-handed monkey wrenches are not in it with the assortment of unusual inventions shown in the Second International Patent Exposition at Chicago. For instance, there's a perpetual motion machine, seen here with its inventor, W. L. Sanders, upper left. Each of the 12 discs bears a figure "6." The "6" inverted, becomes a "9", which, being much more than "6," causes the wheel to go down on that side, thus revolving. Upper right is a "water walker." The wearer puts his feet in the boots, which are fitted with paddles (see them?), and propels himself through the water. Lower left is an invention for driving airships at a speed of 300 miles an hour with compressed air, and compressing its own air as it goes along. And, lower right, a girl is displaying (of all things!) "non-skid" soap.

G. M. Pearson and Val H. Canon pleaded guilty to simple assault in connection with an altercation at Maxfield's music store with G. A. Maxfield, on September 14 and each were fined $1 and $22.40 costs.

W. H. Dodson was fined $1 and costs for driving an automobile without proper license plates.

KANSAS CITY FIRM STRONG FOR SHOW

The Smith-McCord-Townsend dry goods company of Kansas City is strong for the market week programs held in Lubbock, according to its youngest president, L. M. Smith who arrived last night to attend the final day of the annual fall event. He today Mr. Smith is here on his first visit to Lubbock.

Howard Brown, sales manager of A. Ballard formerly of Amarillo but now of Lubbock, Mitchell Osborne of Hobart, Okla., and Chris Sauer of Albuquerque, N. M., salesmen of the company, are also here for the market week.

Mr. Smith said he was agreeably surprised at the amount of business done here.

Mr. Brown was down here for the spring market event and plans to make the company's showing even larger for the next one.

"My visit down here last fall is the result of our taking part in your annual event," Mr. Brown told A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce this morning. "I think this is a wonderful country and has lots of possibilities."

The company has two sample rooms this year but officials are planning for an increase for the spring showing.

Twenty-two vessels, nearly all Diesel equipped, were launched in Japan in the first six months of this year.

A Pound of Butter Takes a Ride!

OFTEN a pound of butter takes a ride of a thousand miles to find its dinner table!

In more than a hundred produce plants, Swift & Company is taking the butterfat, eggs and poultry of its 200,000 farm patrons daily, paying cash for them and sending them into national channels of distribution.

Thousands of miles of leased telegraph wires keep Swift & Company executives informed where these products command the best prices. To the best markets are rushed the surpluses of over-supplied districts. Lacking a national market like this one, many a pound of butter—and many an egg, too—would grow useless right at home, or else be sold at much less than present prices.

To distribute produce as well as quality meats, Swift & Company uses all the facilities of its over 400 branch houses and its 600 refrigerator car routes. Its great organization has 55,000 employees living in hundreds of towns where their pay checks help support community interests and trade. They are local men doing a national job, relieving producers of all selling worries and minimizing local gluts and shortages.

A nation-wide marketing system for poultry, eggs and butterfat must render a complete service, covering purchasing, grading, refrigeration, transportation, selling and delivery. The system functions smoothly when one concern undertakes all these steps. Swift & Company performs all these services at the lowest possible cost. Swift & Company profits from all sources, over a long term of years, have averaged less than a half cent a pound.

Thought For Today

About Tax Relief

Hard times always put an added sting in the tax collector's visit.

No one ever really enjoys paying taxes, of course. But it is only when a depression comes that the average citizen puts his heart into his complaints.

In Ohio, numbers of taxpayers are organizing formal associations in the hope that something can be done about tax relief. As the organizer of one of these groups said:

"When there are 10,000 of you in our organization, and tongues are wagging about us, then we can talk to them when they threaten foreclosure on our farms and homes because we can't pay our taxes."

That, of course, is true enough. But to "talk to them" isn't quite enough, where taxes are concerned. That, in fact, has always been our chief trouble. We have talked and talked, but we have done very little.

How are you going to reduce taxes—by cutting down expenditures? Fair enough; and how are you going to do that?

Suppose it is municipal expenses you want to reduce. Where will you start? With the fire and police departments? With the school budget? With the street maintenance department? With the water supply organization? With the playground budget? With such services as sewage disposal, garbage collection, building inspection?

There is hardly a city in the land where cuts could be made in any of those services without doing genuine damage. They are essentials; in most cases they need to be extended, not reduced.

What is the answer, then? Must taxes go on increasing, year after year, in good times as well as bad? Isn't there any hope for a reduction at all?

It isn't quite that bad. The ordinary city can reduce its expenses without in any way cutting down any of these essential services. But every citizen will have to help, and the job won't be an easy one.

Government is an affair that is made expensive by politics. Politics as we have it today, inevitably means waste, inefficiency and graft. We put up with it because we are too lazy and too prejudiced to create anything better; and as long as we do we shall be cursed by high taxes. If the taxpayer wants relief, let him organize—not to "talk to them," but to put his governmental institutions on a sound and sensible basis.

Sports

There is not much use in trying to pretend that the business depression isn't rather severe. Just the same, it is worth pointing out that the sports fans of the nation seem to be about as numerous and as flush as they ever were.

Big league baseball has enjoyed a prosperous summer, and more than 300,000 people have tried to buy seats for the world series. A number of huge college stadia are said to be sold out already for football games that will not be played for several weeks. Golf tournaments have drawn big crowds. Race tracks have prospered in various parts of the country.

Boxing, of course, has not done so well. But that may be the fault of the performers; for Jack Dempsey, an an exhibition tour, has been packing 'em in in an amazing style. All in all, it appears that a good athletic event will get the crowds about as well in hard times as in an era of prosperity.

A plowing champion kept his title in a contest at Big Rock. Looks like none of his competitors could share Big Rock with him.

Now that Al Capone's income has been cut to $2,000,000 we can expect the gangs to take matters into their own hands and bring back prosperity.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says a wedding ring doesn't have to be very durable now-a-days to last a husband a wife-time.

* * *

A famous historian tells us that Atlas was a tremendously wealthy man. If that was the case, why didn't he hire a small and undernourished caddy to tote the world for him?

• • •

HOW long has it been since you've seen a silver dollar? Stop and think a minute—it has been some time, hasn't it?

The Plainsman saw the first silver dollar he's seen in several months yesterday and, although the dollar belonged to another fellow, it was a welcome sight indeed. It used to be in this country that you couldn't get paper money often—that is small bills, under the ten-spot denomination. Now everything is paper and the old cartwheel is seldom seen.

* * *

What has happened to the silver dollar?

Some people insist that the government is calling them in because people prefer paper money. Others say popularity of the wide-open gambling halls in Nevada, lower California and across the Mexican border has sapped them because gamblers prefer to handle 'iron money'.

But The Plainsman doesn't agree with either of these opinions in full, although admitting that both probably have taken their toll of the silver dollar.

* * *

THIS column's opinion is that people who have become frightened at the economic conditions have been "going to the old sock" with silver dollars, under the theory that they're safer to hide than paper money and because they will not burn.

There are many people who are hoarding a little here and a little there and it is not at all beyond the imagination that the silver dollar is playing a leading role in this sort of fiasco.

The Plainsman's judgment is that the 'iron man' will come out of hiding again as soon as things settle down.

* * *

It doesn't make any particular difference to this writer whether he uses silver or paper dollars, because his use of either is so limited that it's not enough to worry about.

But there is a certain pleasant feeling in having about three silver dollars in the right hand pocket to jingle and clank, one against the other. It makes a man feel more secure than if he has three paper dollars wadded together in a hip pocket.

Ain't that sumpin'?

LUBBOCK is full of men, and women, too, who have spent years of their lives on the hurricane deck of a bronc, but it remained for a 16-year old New Mexico ranch girl to introdute cow horses and stock saddles to local society.

Almost any time of the day now, Lubbock residents in the south and southwest part of the city can hear the clip-clop, clip-clop of the horses feet as men and women, boys and girls engage in riding. And while the clip-clopping is going on the cash is trickling in to send Virginia Wester, late of the Thunderbird ranch near Las Vegas, through Texas Tech.

* * *

Students have proven themselves to be highly versatile when it comes to figuring out ways and means of paying their way through Tech but Miss Wester's inspiration has been unusual enough to attract national attention. Introducing the horseback craze into a country filled with people to whom horses are no more exciting than automobiles is no little task, indeed.

* * *

INCIDENTALLY, the news services pounced upon Miss Wester's unique method of financing her education and the wires hummed the story all over the country—which was also a break for Texas Tech. Feature services cried for her picture, which has appeared in several hundred papers over the length and breadth of the land and which has brought her almost unbelievable fan mail, not only from various states of the union but also from Canada and Mexico.

Members of her family, who read the story in their Pennsylvania home paper, are now in Lubbock and have inquired about horses. A young man residing in Davenport, Iowa, read the article then came to Tech to school and is almost daily renting a steed. This fair-haired, clear-eyed youngster from New Mexico thus far is meeting considerable success in "riding her way to knowledge" on sure enough ponies, rather than on those in book form upon which foreign language students have been known to canter.

All in all, everybody is profiting from the old wrinkle of riding, transformed into a popular recreation as far as Lubbock is concerned.

Hoover Has Invited Premier Laval To Washington As He Recognizes France's Military And Financial Ascendency

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—Once upon a time our government appeared to cherish a theory that we and Great Britain acting in concert, could rule the international roost.

DUTCHER

Translated into a major item of our foreign relations policies the program of Angelo-American understanding enraged France to the point that for years she has been a thorny stumbling block in every American effort which involved European co-operation.

Finally the French position—military economic and financial—has become so strong and the position of Britain—crippled and virtually at the mercy of the French gold hoard—so proportionately weak that the need of a change in method is so obvious that it can no longer be ignored.

Hence President Hoover's invitation to Premier Laval. We are in for a series of personal conferences at which disarmament, debts and reparations and the gold situation are certain to lead the agenda and France expects to outline her ideas about "security" here frankly. The French insist this is the first time we have been willing to listen.

• • •

As late as last June they were complaining that they had again been presented with an accomplished fact without advance consultation, in the Hoover moratorium proposal. It seemed to be a repetition of the old story of an Angelo-American understanding which had ignored France. Anxious days of negotiation which followed at Paris appeared to demonstrate finally that whatever the merits of our position in various attempts we couldn't get away with that sort of thing. Our high officials are no fonder of France, but what with the sad plight of our British friends, the fact that France now almost completely dominates Europe and shares with us possession of three-fourths of all the gold and the vital necessity of French cooperation in any successful disarmament conference or any extension of the moratorium, it's no wonder that Hoover is glad to confer with Laval. The French appear to be even more delighted because they feel their European pre-eminence has at last been recognized.

The patriotic explanation from some sources here attributes the coming Hoover-Laval meeting to French fears arising from diminishing popularity of France in the United States. It can't be swallowed. Since the war France has consistently thumbed her nose at everyone who wouldn't play according to her rules and the theory that she could be coerced by world opinion or any other feasible form of pressure has been disproved again and again.

• • •

The Anglo-American understanding made possible by the fact that policies of the two nations coincided in the main, was in effect during the two periods in which England was ruled by Ramsay MacDonald's Labor government. The Tories, during their intervening term of power, appeared to prefer to play ball with France. It was in that period that we had our abortive 1927 Geneva naval conference with the British and that the short-lived Anglo-French naval agreement was hatched. Afterward MacDonald became premier again, crossed the ocean to talk with Hoover prior to the London naval conference and France, again aggrieved, went to the conference with a chip on her shoulder.

During the post-war era, France regardless of what she considered the British-American setup against her, has strengthened her great military machine, established a hegemony of smaller satellite nations, occupied the Ruhr and rubbed Germany's nose in the dirt as often as possible, squawked louder than any other country about paying war debts, restricted results of the Washington naval conference to a limitation of capital ships, refused to attend the Geneva conference, prevented a successful conclusion of the London conference, demanded more and more security concessions, held up the Hoover moratorium and built up a huge gold supremacy in Europe.

It remains to be seen whether France will be more amiable now that she seems to be getting the consideration she has always demanded. She has demanded a lot of other things, too, and it is impossible to guess what may be achieved after Laval explains some of them to Hoover.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 15 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1438 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Feminine Hygiene," "Indigestion and Constipation," "The Care of the Hair and Skin," "Infant Feeding," and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

GOOD POSTURE

CORRECT posture is not only one of the most reliable visible signs of good health, but it is also one of the most important formative habits for promoting health.

Dr. Clendening

If you are chronically tired and fatigued your muscles sag, your shoulders droop, your head hangs forward, your knees bend, your abdomen is compressed, you do not aerate your lungs so you get more tired. Your poor position makes your mind a natural roosting place for all the gloomy and foreboding thoughts that are around.

The teacher will insist on good posture and her influence should be supplemented at home.

First, sitting posture. The school chair should be arranged so that its height will allow the feet to rest wholly upon the floor, the knee bent at right angles and the upper leg, when the pupil is seated, will be perfectly level. The seat of the chair should not be flat but somewhat concave. This concavity not only provides a natural hollow for the prominences of the ischial tuberosities, but tends to prevent the body from sliding forward and slouching. A soft cushion seat is required to support only the small of the back, the rest of the back is probably better off free.

The desk should be at such a distance from the seat that it is not necessary to assume an unnatural position when reading or writing. This involves simply proper height and distance from the seat. Proper lighting is also a factor in good posture.

All the requirements for a school seat and desk can be reproduced at home.

Of course, we are speaking of ideal conditions and somewhat ideal children. A certain amount of lounging is inevitable. As well as curling up with a good book. Don't nag a child too much about such things; they are natural contortionists and will get over it after thirty. It is only when the posture is naturally bad while standing or sitting that attention should be concentrated on it.

Such bad posture may be due to many things. One is astigmatism. The vision may be so blurred in the up and down plane that the child cocks its head and slouches in order to get the print clear.

Poor muscles of the back or poor nutrition will also tend to cause faulty posture. Adenoids, by causing difficulty in breathing and keeping the mouth open, do the same.

Good posture, of course, can only be maintained for a short time at best and must be helped by the relief of periods of activity. Scientists say a child can stay still only twelve minutes at a time. That shows how little scientists know about it. They did in mind stone children sculptured on buildings.

Waco Conference To Consider Planting

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture today issued a call for a meeting Wednesday in Waco to consider plans to utilize land planted in cotton this year that will be barred as cotton acreage next year under the law limiting cotton acreage in 1932 and 1933 to 30 per cent of the land in cultivation in 1931.

McDonald said it was essential to the success of the agricultural replantation program that this land be used to the best advantage. He expressed the belief a large portion of it should be planted in crops to be fed to livestock.

"Baby Killer" Held On Murder Charges

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—The law clamped a first degree murder indictment on Vincent Coll today less than 24 hours after the 23-year-old hoodlum had been arrested for the Harlem "baby killing" of last July.

Indicted with Coll were four others, including an underworld subordinate, Frank Giordana, reputed "triggerman" in the ruthless shooting in which 5-year-old Michale Vengali was fatally shot and four other children were wounded by a shower of slugs from an automobile filled with gangsters.

IN NEW YORK with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—All right, boys and girls! Today's lesson will now begin:

What is a "cat walk"? And what is an "Oscar"? What is a "gaffer" and what is a "douser"?

Aha, I caught you napping—and don't look in the back of the book. You won't find the answers there.

It seems that the movies have been slowly getting together a dictionary or lingo or whatever it is that is quite as colorful and original as stage slang or gang slang. All of which, I have just encountered in the annual issue of "Motion Picture Almanac". And so that you'll be able to speak like a veteran of the cinema world, I'll pass on a few of the better words and definitions:

A Gobo is a portable wall used in absorbing sound when talkies are being made.

And an Elephant Ear is a small Gobo used on certain conversational close-ups.

A Dupe is a negative from a positive.

A Jenny is a portable electric generator.

Stews are sounds picked up by the machinery to the detriment of the general effect.

• • •

And once all sound-reproducing equipment is complete you shout loudly: "O. K. on the Blop." There's one by the way, you can use at home. When the soup and hash arrive just shout to Friend Wife: "O. K. on the Blop, baby." And see if she gets you.

When a bad photo has been made it's a buzzard, and a "baffle blanket" is a sound-absorbing felt curtain.

The "cat walk" is the planked overhead bridge used in observing a set below or for setting up extra lights. The "douser" is an arrangement for cutting out any light that might otherwise trickle on a set.

Now when you want to talk about the intensity of sound you refer to a change of speed on a sound track as a "Wow-Wow." A variation in speed is a "Flutter" and a "Gargle" is 30 to 200 cycles. And don't forget "Whiskers," which means 200 cycles or better.

But let's get along. A "Dolly" is one of those moving platforms and an "Eagle" is a speck or an insect or something that comes in front of the lens. Of course you know that a "Baby" is a small spotlight—just as it is in the theater, and an "Oscar" is an oscillating wave.

So go right along now, boys and girls, and talk as though you'd spent your life in Hollywood or Atlanta, Ga.

• • •

And while on the subject of movies, the high quality of a number of films now appearing on Broadway has sent another shiver up and down the theatrical spine. First string drama critics have been turning their attentions to talking films and again pointing a warning finger to the drama makers.

Mons. Sam Goldwyn's job on "Street Scene" with King Vidor directing and Sylvia Sidney performing, is one of the Broadway sensations. Then the Theater Guild stars, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne are to be exhibited to the entire nation in one of the finest screen performances ever recorded. They appear in their old success, "The Guardsman." There's George Arliss as Alexander Hamilton and there's Eddie Cantor in "Palmy Days," the first good music farce to come from Hollywood. It looks like a good winter for the talkies.

The expert who said pie is not made of dough alone would probably admit that neither is a bank roll.

And if more pay cuts are in the offing, it won't be long before we're all at sea.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Travel Man said, "I will tell you how that beast was trapped so well. You see, instead of shooting him, they wanted him alive. Now, jaguars are dangerous and capable of quite a fuss. They're ready for a battle whenever hunting men arrive.

"The cage that jaguar is in is strong, although the bars look thin. It has a trapdoor, open wide before the beast comes near. Then, when the animal walks in, the door slams shut with quite a din. The hunter's prey is then well trapped and there is naught to fear."

Then Clowny said, "What is the use of catching them if they're turned loose?" "They're not," replied the Travel Man. "No time do trappers lose in sending them around the land. To own a jaguar is grand and you have often seen them caged up safely in the zoos."

"Ah, gee let's get away from here," said Coppy. "I am scared I hear that animal might get away. That wouldn't be much fun. Let's climb back into our fine boat and up the river slowly float." "All right," replied the Travel Man. "No sooner said than done.

"But this time we will take a guide who'll furnish thrills for our next ride." And then they found a native who was glad to go along. "I'll take you to a spot," said he, "where you'll be thrilled as thrilled can be. You'll see me shoot a crocodile, unless my plans go wrong."

They paddled on for quite a while and then it made the Tinies smile to hear the native raise his voice and shout in a funny sound. "What do you do that for?" said one. "Why, that's so I can use my gun," replied the man. "The crocodiles hear that and swim around."

(The Tinymites run into a crocodile in the next story.)

What Price Modesty? $1000!

Residents in the vicinity of this new branch library in Boston have protested against the "indecency" of the nude statuary above the entrance. So Mayor James M. Curley has ordered that the figures be draped with a granite ribbon—at a cost of $1000 to the city—for the sake of modesty.

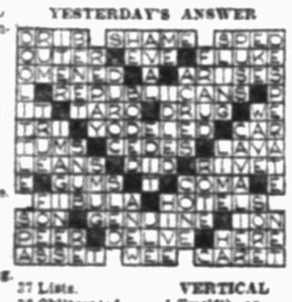

Insects to Fight Insects

Male Opius Humilis and Diachasmia Tyroni aren't really as bad as they sound. These insects, contained in the tube which Anne Zadielovich is holding, are parasites of the Mediterranean fruit fly, and science has imported them from Africa to battle the fruit fly in California, where it is doing damage to walnut groves.

CABINET ASKS AN ELECTION

UNANIMOUS DECISION MADE FOR GENERAL ELECTION SOON

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The British cabinet decided unanimously last night to call an immediate general election.

It was learned the election campaign would be fought by the national government on the basis of a manifesto to be issued by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

The unanimity of the decision was taken to indicate that Sir Herbert Samuel and the other liberals, whose attitude during the last few days had been doubtful, had thrown in their lot with the prime minister and would give him their wholehearted support.

Mr. MacDonald visited David Lloyd George, veteran liberal leader, at his country home at Churt early Monday and conferred with him at some length. How far the liberal swing of last night may have been due to this visit was not disclosed, but it was assumed to have a close connection.

It was understood the prime minister's manifesto would be for a free hand to deal with the British situation. It is expected to be "the doctor's mandate" which he already has declared to be necessary.

His death was due to paralysis and complications, he having been ill for several months.

He is survived by his widow and two daughter, Mrs. Herman Seeds of this city and Mrs. Horace Byerley of Ralls.

Sanders funeral directors are in charge of the funeral.

Suspect In Chicken Thefts Is Arrested

With the arrest of Albert Holcomb this morning at Clovis, N. M., the last of three men wanted here on indictments charging chicken theft was in the law's custody. L. O. Sechrist was arrested Monday at Clovis and Tom Garcia previously was jailed in Hale county.

Holcomb waived extradition and Sechrist said he would fight efforts to return him here from New Mexico, the Lubbock county sheriff's department reported. The three were released following their arrest on a highway about 7 miles north of here early September 3, because chickens recovered were not identified as stolen.

Later, the fowls were identified as loot and the suspects, by that time free, were indicted by a grand jury here. A hunt had been conducted for the trio since then.

Closing Hours Of Bridges Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Assistant Secretary Lowman said the treasury was not considering any change in the closing hours of the international bridges between Texas and Mexico.

Reports from Harlingen, Texas, attributed to "semi-official circles" have said it was reported the bridges would remain open until midnight effective October 9. Lowman said there was no foundation for such a report.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of one point to a decline of 2 points. There was little evidence of southern selling and after initial offerings, prices rose a few points on trade buying and covering. December advanced to 5.69, or 8 points higher.

The market stiffened right after the call on covering and trade buying and worked 23 to 25 points higher. The buying and covering was interpreted partially as a reflection of an improved technical position with the market responsible to buying orders because of the smaller volume of hedging. A better tone in the stock market and the possibility of constructive developments in Washington also were influences.

At the close of the first hour the market had eased slightly and quotations were 6 to 7 points off from the top.

Offerings were absorbed by continued trade buying or covering, however, and the market steadied up again toward midday with December advancing to 5.77 and March to 6.06 and with the general list showing net gains of 24 to 28 points.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Cotton opened steady but rather quiet today. Liverpool cables were about as due and first trades here showed gains of 2 to 3 points. This slight advance was soon lost owing to hedge selling but a little later on the market rallied sharply and became active owing to a firmer opening in the stock market and good trade and speculative buying based on the expectation that some favorable developments would follo wthe meeting of Senators and representatives called by President Hoover in Washington for tonight.

December advanced to 5.59 and January to 5.66, or 12 to 14 points up from the early lows.

At the end of the first hour the market was still active and near the highs.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today: Oct. 5.35; Dec. 5.48; Jan. 5.57; March 5.76; May 5.96; July 6.14.

NEW YORK OPEN

Policeman's Ball To Be October 22

Lubbock policemen will lay aside nightsticks and guns the night of October 22 for the annual policeman's ball at the Uptown Dance palace.

Proceeds from the dance, to which the public will be admitted as usual, will be used to pay for uniforms and accessories. Some of the receipts will be disposed of in discharging bills on uniforms already in use, unofficial sources revealed.

Highway transportation has just forced abandonment of the Cork and Bandon Railway, the fourth railway in Cork County, Irish Free State, to quit within a few weeks for the same reason.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—Stocks rushed up hurriedly in the early trading today but lost part of their 1 to 5 point gains in profit-taking.

The advance, stimulated by news of tonight's White House conference and by further restrictions on short selling, was so brisk that sales in the first half hour approximated 900,000 shares. U. S. Steel climbed 4, American Telephone 3 1-2 and American Can 5, but these gains were shaded. Several prominent rails were strong. Santa Fe jumped 4 points and Union Pacific and Norfolk Western about 5. New York Central reduced an extreme rise of more than 4. Eastman Kodak, Bethlehem, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical and Baltimore & Ohio, Case and American Tobacco "B" held one to two points of slightly larger advances. Du Pont was heavy, making a new low.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Upturns in grain prices early today accompanied brisk rallies shown by securities. There also were reports that the amount of wheat afloat for Europe was now only sufficient for two or three weeks' requirements. Opening at 1-4-1 cent advance, wheat afterward gained further. Corn started unchanged to 3-4 higher and continued to point upward.

DWIGHT MORROW

had achieved fame, riches, position, honor and the regard of his countrymen, was "don't take yourself too darned seriously." That was his answer to friends urging him for the presidency.

President Hoover, attending the World series game at Philadelphia, was not told of Senator Morrow's death until he was about to return to Washington. Later the president said:

"The country has suffered a great loss. His loyal and generous character as a neighbor and a friend, his public spirit as a citizen; his services during the war; his accomplishments as ambassador to Mexico; his unique contribution to the success of the London naval conference, are the record of that sort of an American who makes our country great."

Thousands of messages of condolence came to the Morrow home on the outskirts of this city. Many hundreds of friends journeyed to the home to express personally their grief.

Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, who was the second daughter of the Morrows, received word of the tragedy from Mrs. Morrow. It was relayed to the Lindberghs aboard a British battleship off the China coast by the British naval station radio at Shanghai. The message urged them not to hurry home or to change their vacation plans.

Funeral services will take place tomorrow at the First Presbyterian church of Englewood, of which the Rev. Dr. Carl H. Elmore, a personal friend of the Morrows, is pastor.

With his death, the political situation in New Jersey became tangled, for the time being. His loss stunned his colleagues, who recognized him as the leading Republican opponent of prohibition. His Democratic rivals, who throughout the senatorial campaign had never touched on or criticized his personal or political life in a single speech, sent their regrets to his family and to his party.

The Association of Rural District Councils of Northern Ireland has asked the Ministry of Home Affairs to promote legislation which will empower rural councils to grant money for the repair of rural dwellings.

Open Safety Pin Taken From Throat

EL PASO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Nature aided physicians in removing a serious threat to the life of seven-months-old Josefina Carlos here Monday.

The baby swallowed an open safety pin last week, and, despite attempts of physicians to extract it, the pin slipped from the throat into the stomach. The point was up.

An X-ray picture yesterday showed the pin had again entered the throat, this time point down. Dr. W. E. Vandevere removed it with an esophascope.

"The baby must have had a coughing spell," he said. "This forced the pin back into the throat."

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6. (AP)—George Earnshaw of the Athletics, and Sylvester Johnson, veteran right hander of the Cardinals, were the pitching selections for the fourth game of the world series.

It was Earnshaw's second start. Johnson's only previous appearance was as a relief pitcher.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6. —(AP)—The warring baseball forces settled down today for a battle to the finish, with the St. Louis Cardinals firmly established as at least even-money favorites to regain the world championship for the first time in five years.

Supporters of the Athletics, after the successive defeat of Earnshaw and Grove, were asking odds in wagering on the fourth contest today at Shibe park, as well as on the series.

Sideline observers compared the Cardinals of 1931, now at top stride, with the famous Braves of 1914 who also overthrew the Athletics.

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 6. (AP)—Another toasting sun beamed down today on the color and drama of another World series day — fourth of conflict in the spectacular duel of the World Champion Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals.

It was so hot that the advance guard of another 32,000 crowd came puffing and perspiring into Shibe Park, hats in hand, coats tucked under arms, ties hanging into two streamers down the fronts of shirts wide open at the neck.

Champs On Ropes

Their beloved World Champion Athletics, with their galexy of hitting stars—Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx, Mickey Cochrane —and the great pitchers, Bob Grove and George Earnshaw, were on the ropes, staggering under the two successive smashes of the Cardinals.

They expected today to see no such feat of pitching legerdemain as Wild Will Hallahan, the frail little Cardinal southpaw, displayed in taming their Athletics 2 to 0 in the second game in St. Louis, or the superb exhibition grizzled old Burleigh Grimes turned in yesterday to win the first of three games here 5 to 2.

Labor Federation Against Salary Cut

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 6 (AP)—Delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor swung today into the business of planning for the return to industrial stability with capital accused of having "broken faith" in lowering wages.

Committees, on the second day of the convention, prepared resolutions and criticisms designed to head the national body toward its "seven milestones of prosperity."

William Green, the president, speaking at a banquet last night, charged that employers had violated pledges they made to President Hoover and organized labor of the nation at a Washington conference to maintain the wage standard of the United States.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6. (AP)—John J. Raskob has invited 50 prominent Democrats to a private dinner next Tuesday to find a way to pay off the party's indebtedness and to finance next year's campaign for the presidency.

WILL COLLECT TAX PENALTY

INTEREST TO BE PAID HERE ON DELINQUENT TAXES, CLARK SAYS

Despite a legislative act suspending penalties on taxes paid before January 31, penalties and interest on delinquent state and county taxes will be collected here as provided in previous acts, it was indicated at the tax collector's office.

A. J. Clark, state and county collector, received a communication from George H. Sheppard, state comptroller, advising him of the attorney general's opinion of the emergency act, labeled House Bill No. 80.

Validity In Doubt

"I am directing your attention to this act because it is my opinion that its validity is so doubtful that it ought to be tested before the Supreme court before it is followed by tax collectors," Attorney General James V. Allred wrote the comptroller.

The attorney general advised the comptroller to instruct tax collectors to collect all penalties as provided for under previous acts. Collectors failing to obtain penalties and interest probably will be held personally responsible for the additionals in case the act is held unconstitutional, the attorney general said.

Under the house bill, passed as an emergency measure, all taxes delinquent up to and including October 20, 1931, are exempt from interest and penalties, provided the taxes are paid by January 1, 1931. Sponsors of the bill stated it would aid persons who were having difficulties in paying their taxes.

Attorneys here expressed the opinion that the bill was class legislation and was unfair to taxpayers who paid their levies under previous acts.

About $175,000 in 1930 state, county and Lubbock Independent school taxes, is unpaid and will become delinquent after October 15 unless payment is made before then, it was said.

Amherst Man Taken To Amarillo Jail

R. W. Eagan of Amherst was committed to the Potter county jail at Amarillo by United States Commissioner Victor H. Lindsey on pleading guilty here Monday afternoon to a charge of transporting a stolen automobile from Lincoln, Neb., to Dallas, Fort Worth and Big Spring. Eagan went to jail in lieu of $2,000 bond.

The man's wife, Susie Eagan, jointly charged with the offense, pleaded not guilty and was released under $1,000 bond pending action of the federal grand jury. Mr. and Mrs. Eagan were arrested by J. P. Edgar, deputy United States marshal, Sunday afternoon at Littlefield. Their home is at Amherst.

Gambling Halls At Matamoras Closed

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 6 (AP)—Matamoras' gambling halls were under lock and key today.

Reports were that President Ortiz Rubio had issued a decree against border gambling. It could not be ascertained whether the Matamoras establishments closed because of lack of business or were complying with the reported presidential decree.

It was understood the decree closed gambling establishments at Juarez and Villa Acuna, leaving Tia Juan the only wide open town along the border.

Lack of patronage recently forced owner of concessions at Reynosa, opposite Hidalgo, to close their establishments.

UNIVERSE PERPETUAL

CHICAGO—The universe is perpetual. No other an authority than Dr. Edwin Bryant Frost, blind director of the University of Chicago's Yerkes Observatory, says so. Frost, just past his 65th birthday, and a student of the stars for 45 years, says that "the universe is perpetual—it had no beginning and will have no end."

MARRIAGE INSURANCE COMPANIES CHARGED IN INDICTMENTS

HOUSTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Twelve persons, one of them a woman, were indicted by the federal grand jury here Monday on charges of using the mails in furtherance of a lottery scheme in connection with the operations of eight marriage insurance companies. All of the companies were said to be defunct at the present time.

The indictments were included in a batch of 103 true bills returned by the grand jury. Twenty-five of the bills were for the Brownsville division.

Three to five counts were included in each of the indictments returned in the marriage insurance cases. The bills were returned against the following former officials of marriage insurance companies: Robert Vickers, Prosperity Marriage Mutual association; Clara Belle Barton and C. R. He had no job to give, the government contended.

Officer Vows He'll Catch Leaping Dog

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 6. (AP)—Policeman Ernest Erickson, Evanston's official dog catcher, took a vow yesterday he would not stop working until he caught the city's leaping dog.

"I will get him," he said, "if I have to learn lassoing to do it."

Motorists complained that the dog has been in the habit of running out of doorways and leaping into a passing automobile frequently taking a seat right next to the driver.

HELLO—???

HOUSTON, Tex.—Residents of East Seven-and-a-Half avenue and Michaux street were awakened only recently by a loud cry of "Hello!" Each thought it was at his own door. Heads popped out of windows and doors investigating the call. At first no one could determine who was calling until one resident spied a huge green parrot. It was flying close above the houses giving the greeting.

THE "HIDDEN QUART"

That Stays up in the Motor and Never Drains Away

CONOCO GERM PROCESSED MOTOR OIL

—is Worth its Weight in Gold to Any Motorist!

It's not the mileage your speedometer shows that makes your car wear out quickly, lose power and need costly repairs. It's motor wear, caused by friction, that does it! And almost half of all this motor wear occurs while you're starting. Cut down starting wear and you'll give your motor longer life.

That's just what the "hidden quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil does! It stays up in your motor and never drains away and thus cuts down starting wear! Ordinary oils drain away, leaving working parts unprotected until oil is pumped from the crankcase through the motor, which takes several minutes. Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil penetrates and combines with metal surfaces of working parts, stays there and never drains away. The "hidden quart" safely lubricates every cylinder, piston and bearing the instant you touch the starter.

The "hidden quart" is worth its weight in gold to you! From the first fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, you'll have this "hidden quart" up in your motor, giving safe lubrication at all times, lengthening your motor's life. NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED BY LUBBOCK CITIZENS

Practical as well as theoretical observance of National Fire Prevention week was asked of Lubbock citizens last night by Guy L. McAfee, chairman of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce fire prevention committee.

"During this period we should make an effort to see that fire hazards about our homes and places of business are reduced to a minimum," McAfee said. "Every possible effort should be made to reduce Lubbock's fire loss to a minimum in order that the city may regain its good fire insurance rating, which was lost on account of last year's fire loses.

"Some of the causes of costly fires, many of which could be remedied with a little work, are as follows: Lack of standard fire wall protection, unprotected stairways, elevators and other floor openings; failure to provide private fire protection, rubbish accumulations and delayed alarms.

Over 60 per cent of the numbers of fires take place in homes, which means a home burns in the United States every four minutes.

The first seaplane, "The Loon," was tried out by its inventor, Glen Curtis, in December, 1908, but it was not until 1911 that the machine functioned well enough for a flight.

PAINFUL WEAK CONDITION

"I was weak and could not do my work," writes Mrs. C. O. Sutton, of Elizabeth, Ind.

"I had pains in my back and side. It seemed like when I would get up, I would drag around to do my work, and had bad headache. My mother told me to try Cardui. She had taken it herself, and had found it a good medicine. I took several bottles of Cardui and it helped me very much."

Cardui is a purely vegetable, "building-up" medicine. Thousands of women have reported that it helped them to overcome certain womanly troubles due to weakness. Sold at drug stores. E22-6
