Today, the countdown dwindles to two. That's how many shopping days remain before Christmas, and in case you are one of those last-minute shoppers who usually waits until Christmas Eve to gather up your gifts, you had better get the job done a day early this year. Otherwise, you may find yourself alone facing closed doors at the stores. Christmas Eve falls on Sunday this time, and for many it means a longer holiday than usual.

Although most people do their Christmas shopping considerably earlier than Christmas Eve these days, the stores usually still have some selections on hand to the very last because they make better preparations than they did in the early days. But the very last will be Saturday, Dec. 23, this year. If you don't get it done by then, it probably will have to wait until at least Dec. 26.

Over at Lamesa, more than a thousand residents responded in a survey to determine interest in junior college courses, provided they are offered there by Howard County Junior College and Midland College. Only 64 of those responding expressed a negative attitude toward the proposal.

The Texas Highway Commission is going to give sign owners six more months to comply with the Texas Highway Beautification Act.

This act requires a permit for each existing or planned sign within 660 feet of an Interstate or Federal-aid highway. Also, anyone engaging in the outdoor advertising business must have a permit to operate.

The deadline was set originally for Dec. 31 of this year, but an extension was sought becuase the advertising industry and individual sign owners said that did not give them sufficient time to comply with the rules.

Anyone in the Snyder area who has questions about the highway sign regulations should write the District Highway Engineer, P. O. Box 150 Abilene.

Speaking of permits and the highway department. renewal applications for car tags are due to be in the mail shortly after Christmas. These applications help speed up the registration process at the county tax office and even make it possible to get your car tags by mail if you don't feel up to making a trip to the tax office in person. Gins Processing Big Cotton Crop

One of Scurry County's better cotton crops is clogging gin yards.

County Agent Billy Roach reported that a survey of gins in the county late Tuesday revealed that 25,010 bales had been processed, with 3,043 bales waiting on the gin yards.

Ginners estimated that the total so far represented about 40 per cent of the crop. This would indicate a yield of around 60,000 bales, one of the biggest cotton harvests in the county's history.

Roach said the quality of the cotton was surprisingly good as well as the quantity. The yield is considerably higher than most estimates near the end of the growing season.

By gins, the figures were as follows:

Snyder Paymaster, 3,332 bales ginned, 600 bales on the yard, 30 per cent complete; Dunn, 657 bales ginned, 80 bales on the gin yard, about 25 per cent complete; Ira, 597 bales ginned, 100 bales on the yard, 30 per cent complete; Snyder Co-ops 5,693 bales ginned, 599 bales on the yard, 45 per cent complete; Hermleigh, 2,953 bales ginned, 140 bales on yard; 50 per cent complete; China Grove, 5,020 bales ginned, 570 bales on yard, 50 per cent complete; Fluvanna, 1,483 bales ginned, 400 bales on yard, 25 per cent complete; Inadale, 5,275 bales ginned, 550 on yard, 50 per cent complete.

Grand Jury Indicts 11

A Scurry County grand jury yesterday returned 11 criminal indictments including one against Mike Brumley, 19, for assualt with intent to murder.

He is suspected of assualting his father, A.V. Brumley, on the parking lot at Western Texas College on Dec. 5. His father received emergency treatment at Cogdell Memorial Hospital for four bullet wounds in the head and later was transferred to a hospital in Lubbock.

An indictment for illegal possession of marijuana was returned against Christopher Lane Strong.

Indictments for forgery were brought against Jimmie L. Johnson and Samuel Horn.

Arthur Lee Harding and Dorsey A. Smith of Seminole were indicted for giving a worthless check.

An indictment for theft over $50 was brought against Carroll William Stansell. Edward Leroy Miller was indicted on a charge of theft by bailee.

Indictments for driving while intoxicated, first offense, were returned against Rosalio Gutierrz, John Earl Brock and Jasper Newton Gaines.

Nixon Issues Both Sides Ultimatum

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon has warned President Nguyen Van Thieu he will cut off military and economic aid to South Vietnam if Thieu refuses to sign a peace agreement Washington expects Hanoi to agree to soon, high South Vietnamese officials said today.

North Vietnam tended to confirm reports it also had received a Nixon ultimatum, saying "the White House and the Pentagon have insolently threatened to continue the bombardment of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam...in order to force our people to accept the United States' absurd terms."

"The Vietnamese people...are determined not to yield before any brutal force and are determined not to be intimidated by any insolent threats," said a government statement broadcast by Hanoi radio.

While the White House and State Department declined comment, other U.S. sources said the Saigon ultimatum report was overdrawn although they did not deny Nixon put pressure on both Vietnamese antagonists.

Nixon also told Thieu not to try to circumvent U.S. peace efforts by making proposals of his own, as he did on Dec. 12, the officials reported. They said Nixon considered Thieu's proposal — made while Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho were negotiating in Paris — untimely.

Nixon's reported ultimatum was contained in a personal letter delivered Tuesday by Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., who flew from Washington as Nixon's emissary. Thieu discussed it with his National Security Council and then sent a reply by Haig, but what he said was not revealed.

The South Vietnamese sources also reported that after the breakdown of the Kissinger-Tho negotiations on Dec. 13, Nixon sent North Vietnam an ultimatum giving it 72 hours to agree to his demand that Hanoi recognize South Vietnam as a separate state.

When he received no reply, Nixon ordered heavy military pressure brought to bear. Mining of North Vietnamese ports above the 20th parallel was resumed Dec. 17, and the next night hundreds of U.S. bombers launched the heaviest attack of the war on the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial complex.

Nixon told Thieu that he has plans to force Hanoi to sign a fair and just agreement and predicted it would be concluded in the near future, the South Vietnamese officials reported. They said Nixon urged Thieu to join in signing an agreement because the United States has all the means to achieve a reasonable peace.

Nixon was reported to have told Thieu in the strongest terms that South Vietnam would be cut off from military and economic aid if he refused to accept Nixon's peace terms.

Kissinger told a news conference in Washington last Saturday that a settlement was 99 per cent complete. He refused to disclose the issue blocking the settlement.

Reds Leave Session

PARIS (AP) — The Communist delegations walked out of the weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks today in protest against the American bombing of North Vietnam.

Hanoi's deputy negotiator Nguyen Minh Vy and the Viet Cong's Dinh Ba Thi read prepared statements at the start of the meeting and then walked out without giving the American and Saigon representatives a chance to reply.

The two Communist speakers vehemently denounced the "terror bombing" of densely populated areas of Hanoi and Haiphong and said they would not be intimidated by the war escalation ordered by President Nixon.

It was the second time in more than four years of fruitless negotiations that the Hanoi and Viet Cong delegations have walked out of a meeting to protest American bombing. Several other meetings were canceled by the Communist side for the same reason.

Crew Reunited With Families

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 17 astronauts, back from a moon voyage they said took "mankind into a new era," returned home today for a reunion with their families.

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Harrison H. Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans arrived today at Ellington Air Force Base, near the Manned Spacecraft Center, from Samoa and thanked a crowd of about 400 space workers for making their moon voyage possible.

"There are no small people in this program," said Cernan, the commander of Apollo 17. "We stood on the shoulders of giants, and I thank you for those shoulders.

"We're proud that Apollo 17 did something that is going to make Apollo live and stand longer than ever before. I think we've taken mankind into a new era."

Schmitt greeted the crowd, shivering in a cutting wind, with the words, "Fellow explorers, cold explorers."

"I never felt Houston was home until today," he said, and then expressed gratitude for the work of engineers at the space center here.

"We've all been in space," he said. "Let's keep going there."

Evans said, "I think we can be proud that we culminated the beginning of man's exploration with Apollo 17."

The wives and children of Cernan and Evans greeted the spacemen with embraces.

"It was beautiful," said Mrs. Evans.

"Welcome home, honey," were the words of Mrs. Cernan.

Schmitt, a bachelor, was hugged by Mrs. C. C. Williams, the widow of an astronaut who was killed in an airplane crash.

Also on hand were Mrs. George Franks of Tucson, Ariz., sister of Schmitt; and Mrs. Rose Cernan of Chicago, mother of the mission commander.

After their brief remarks, the astronauts boarded limousines for the short drive to their homes.

Returning with the astronauts aboard the Air Force was a record collection of moon rocks gathered by Cernan and Schmitt during 75 hours exploring a moon valley called Taurus-Littrow. The lunar samples include some orange soil which may change dramatically the scientific thought about the moon.

Truman Unchanged

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Doctors said today it is too soon to determine how effective a new feeding process will be in former President Harry S. Truman's stubborn fight for life.

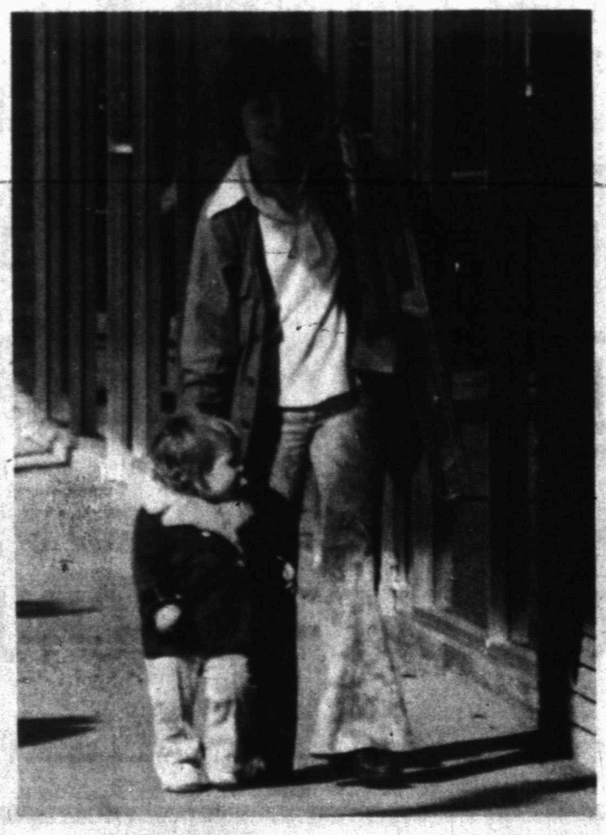

The feeding treatment is designed to reduce the dangerous level of poison in Truman's bloodstream.

Truman's condition remained unchanged today at Research Hospital and Medical Center.

Truman's kidney output was 530cc for the past 24 hours, 115cc less than the preceding 24 hours.

He has been hospitalized since Dec. 5 in his struggle against lung congestion, bronchitis, a weakened heart and, most importantly, failing kidneys.

Nixon, Kissinger Rift Is Denied

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — The White House firmly denies a rift exists between President Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger, but reports persist that Nixon has tightened the reigns on his chief Vietnam peace negotiator.

"Any speculation that the President and Dr. Kissinger are not unified (on Vietnam policy) is absolutely without foundation and untrue," presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday before Nixon flew to his bayfront home here to spend the Christmas holidays.

En route to Florida, Kissinger conferred with Nixon aboard the President's jetliner. They will be joined here late today or Friday by Kissinger's top aide, Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., who was due in from Saigon.

The White House had no immediate comment on Saigon reports saying Haig gave President Nyugen Van Thieu a personal letter from Nixon warning that U.S. aid would be cut off if Thieu refused to sign a fair peace agreement.

Ziegler meanwhile, was emphatic in denying any disagreement between Nixon and Kissinger. "At no time ... has there been a division between the President and Dr. Kissinger regarding the negotiations."

Kissinger himself has rejected what he called a "mischievious" theory that his relations with the President are frayed. "That is totally, 100 per cent wrong," he told one journalist.

Will File Motion For Rehearing

AUSTIN (AP) — A motion for rehearing will be filed in the case of 500 reform school inmates ordered released Wednesday, but a lawyer representing the juveniles says thestate cannot appeal the case.

The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals ruled Wednesday that the Texas Youth Council must release the youths because they were not represented by lawyers at their commitment proceedings.

Bob Flowers, head of the enforcement division of the attorney general's office, said today a motion for rehearing will be filed in the case, probably next week.

Steven Bercu of the Austin Legal Aid and Defenders Society said the state cannot appeal an adverse decision on a writ of habeas corpus.

"That could be true," Flowers said when informed of Bercu's argument, "but nothing is going to prevent us from filing the motion."

Flowers said he has 15 days in which to file the motion.

The juveniles are from 95 counties.

Many of those named in the suit already have been released, authorities at the youth council's institution at Gatesville said Wednesday. They said there were 1,179 boys in custody there.

Coxes In Pope's Audience

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pamphlets accusing President Nixon of "betraying the peace in Vietnam" were strewn in St. Peter's Square today while Pope Paul VI was receiving the President's daughter Tricia and her husband in audience.

The pamphlets, signed by a leftist-slanted group called the Italy-Vietnam Committee, called for a mammoth demonstration in Rome Friday for peace in Vietnam.

A four-car motorcade brought Tricia and Edward Cox through the square, and it was unlikely that anyone in the cars was aware of the pamphlets. Only the usual midweek scattering of Romans and tourists were in the huge square at the time, and there was no disorder.

The Vatican disclosed no details of the audience, which was private and lasted about 20 minutes. Afterward the Coxes visited the Sistine Chapel and the Vatican Museum.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox came to Rome last Sunday from London on a private trip. They go on to Athens at the end of the week.

Shopping Spree 'Bonus' Is Fun

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Instead of the usual Christmas bonus, John Kell Martin III decided to treat his seven women employes to a shopping spree, lunch and an afternoon at the beauty parlor.

"After I heard about the fun everyone had, I felt like going down to the company and putting in my application," Martin's wife Randy, 24, said Wednesday.

Martin, 34, president of a mortgage loan company in Palm Beach, said he wanted to do something special this year to show his women employes how much he appreciated them.

When Martin and the women started shopping Tuesday on exclusive Worth Avenue he set a limit of $75 each and asked that they purchase a "working outfit." But Martin, who went along to sign the checks, soon found himself paying a little more than he expected. A spokesman for the firm said the average outfit cost $90 and that the total bill for the outing including clothes, lunch and the beauty parlor was $1,200.

"Look at me, Hollywood, I just got off the airplane," said Donna Naglreiter, 28, as she dramatically draped herself in a green ostrich-feathered boa.

"I can't find anything to fit me," complained Donna McDonald, 27, as she popped into outfit after outfit. "If it fits on top, it's too tight on the bottom."

"I've found it!" shouted Joanna Tait, 30, as she emerged from a dressing room modeling a tailored blue-and-white checked pants outfit with a white blazer.

Glancing toward Martin, she noted his nod of approval and firmly told the clerk: "Wrap it up, I'll take it."

At lunchtime Martin, laden with gaily-wrapped packages and leading his charges down the street single file, took them to a French restaurant. Later he dropped them off at a beauty spa for an afternoon of pampering by hairdressers, pedicurists, manicurists and mud pack specialists.

Promptly at 5 o'clock he returned to load them in his auto and whisk them off for cocktails.

"Several of our friends were in the cocktail lounge when Kell and the girls, all gussied up in their new outfits and hairdos, made their entrance," said Mrs. Martin. "I am told their appearance created sort of a mini sensation."

Asked why he did such a thing, Martin replied:

"I was tired of the usual Christmas bonuses and I thought this would be a lot of fun," he said. "Besides that, I really happen to believe it's nicer to give than to receive, and I don't think I've ever felt more like that than I have today."

Quotable Women

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"You don't have to change yourself outside to change what's inside your head. I've learned a new awareness and am dedicated to changing the image of women in movies. We're going to be more human." Actress Kathleen Nolan.

"Household help should receive maximum pay and be elevated to sainthood." St. Paul Pioneer Press reporter Mary Jane Saunders after one week as a domestic worker.

"I am a new person. I know if Glen had stayed home my only interest would have been cleaning house and taking care of the children. That would have been my whole life." Mrs. Glendon Perkins, an active POW member.

"I just had that feeling I would win. I have a son and daughter and grandchildren, and now there's no need to worry about anything any more." Catherine Epstine, Massachusetts' ninth lottery millionaire.

PRESENT CHRISTMAS PROGRAM--Kindergarten classes at West Elementary presented a program Wednesday in the Speech Arts Room at the school. The program, which included "Mr. Willoby's Christmas Tree" and the singing of seven carols, involved fifty students. Mrs. Jackie Pylant accompanied the group on the piano. One special number featured eight girls dress as angles. They were Kandi Wallace, Wendy Lunsford, Tonya Bennett, Sue Ann Smylie; Debra Armendariz, Shelley Roach, Phyllis Whitfield and Lorelie Jones. Earlier in the week, the group attended special puppet shows at Lamar Junior High which were presented by Mrs. Ellie Dryden.

Stocking Stuffers Are Suggested

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

— And then there are the last minute stocking stuffers from beauty counters, ho-ho.

For teen-agers there are delightful perfumed frappe scented candles in replicas of old-time soda fountain glasses encased in the traditional metal holders that have been colored to match the strawberry, orange or lemon sodas, with foamy wax top and a shiny straw.

There is a great assortment of perfume containers — floral cameo ring and pendant, fragrant lockets, flacons, compacts in metal and enamel containers. One has a Wedgewood-like blue plaque in the center, others are rhinestone imbedded. A reproduction collection of Battersea boxes of the 1700s is complete with romantic inscriptions and solid perfume.

Perfume is in crystal bottles such as one small dove-topped Lalique bottle that has been designed for the evening bag. One little hat box contains three fragrances.

Even the cache pot has been pressed into glamor service brimming with bath powder. Also for the bath are fun fruits — strawberries, oranges and lemons — containing bath powder and reusable as ornaments. A secret of the sea bath chest has a usable glass decanter.

And for the organic toiletries minded there is the famed transparent soap manufactured since 1799 of natural ingredients. This year its shows up in a Christmas red or blue gift box.

In the unique category is a tranquility herbal pillow (9 by 14").

Stuffed with 15 soothing herbs, it will last several years and has a washable cover.

And there are a great variety of marvelous hair products and brushes.

For sub-sub debs there are soaps in the fun category — a jaunty frog prince of soap sits on a green lily pad sponge. And a budding beauty line of toiletries includes pressed powder in a compact, lip-tint and soap on a rope.

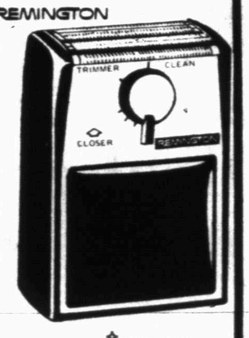

There are electric beauty aids to turn on glamor girls of all ages — hair dryers, heated styling combs with brush, lighted mirrors, Swedish style massagers, whirlpool foot baths and manicure sets.

Another good stocking stuffer is a hosiery guard that is a cleansing bath for hosiery touted as preventing snagging and bagging.

SNOWMAN SHADE — A blue shade of textured cotton takes on a holiday air with a cheery-looking snowman. Cut the snowman from cotton batting, and add a hatband and scarf made from narrow cotton trim in red and white. Cut holes in the batting so the shade color shows through for eyes, and glue on cotton fabric scraps for other facial features. A row of oversized cotton ball fringe is attached to the shade slat.

THURSDAY

Snyder Chapter 450 OES meets at 7:30 p.m. Hostesses are Mildred Sparks and Mary Belle Cary.

Union HD Club Has Luncheon

The Union Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Guy Stoker for A Christmas luncheon. A delicious meal was served to ten members and three guests.

Following the lunch, a business session was called by Mrs. Howard Hogue, president.

The program was presented by Mrs. I.J. Huckabee, who read the second chapter of Luke, and Mrs. R.J. Rosson, who told a beautiful Christmas story. The group then enjoyed a visit from Santa Claus who had a gift for everyone.

Those present were Mmes. Howard Hogue, R.J. Rosson, G.E. Gibson, E.L. Vandiver, Jim Casey, Melvin Pennington, I.T. Huckabee, Walter Littlefield, and Wonda Boykin. Visitors were Miss Ruby Butts and Mmes. Boyd and Billy Huddleston.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. E.L. Vandiver.

Delta Kappa Gamma Has New Members

Members of Zeta Lambda Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society attended the Christmas meeting held recently at the Steak House.

Dorothy Kayser, president, presided at the festive occasion. The invocation was led by Mrs. Dorothy Rosson.

The tables were beautifully decorated with bird's nests containing the Swedish Christmas Tree Ledgen. In Swedin, it is considered good luck to cut an evergreen tree containing a bird's nest to be used as a Christmas tree.

A delightful program on Christmas folk songs was presented by the New Horizons, a singing group from Western Texas College. The New Horizons are directed by Marvin Genuchi.

Annice Johnson and Marjorie Mathis were initiated into the society in an impressive ceremony planned by Barbara Bigham and Mary Beth Vestal. The initiation closed with the singing of the Delta Kappa Gamma song directed by Mrs. Vestal.

WHAT, ME WORRY?

Brokers Must Consider Past, Present, Future

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)'— Almost every investor understands that corporations, like every product of creation or manufacture, have a past, present and future, and that each must be considered in making a decision.

The past tells the investor about the company's record, the present discloses if it is being maintained. Both are important items, but it is the unknown, the future, that fascinates, for that is where the money is made.

There has never been a successful broker who kept his eye on only the past and present. The world of investments is meaningful only in the context of the future. Otherwise it is unreal.

Nevertheless, the official policy of the Securities and Exchange Commission for nearly 40 years has required corporations to list massive amounts of data on the past and present while refusing to record projections.

That policy may soon change, however. Hearings recently were concluded in Washington to consider abandonment of the old SEC policy and permit companies to record estimates of future earnings.

Policy recommendations often take weeks to formulate, but there is speculation that this will be a speedy decision.

The matter is close to Chairman William Casey's heart, and he must soon leave for the State Department.

Revealed in the hearings were lawyers' fears of the legal consequences of projections, the concern of officers about standards to be used, the doubts of accountants as to their role and responsibility.

One of the most consistent products was misunderstanding. As Casey said in an interview last week:

"All we are doing is re-evaluating now our policy of prohibiting them. We are not demanding that forecasts be made. We are not going to mandate them. In my opinion, that is not a possibility nor is it desirable."

A far more likely solution will be to give companies the option to project or not to project, assuming that standards can be set so as to prevent flagrant abuses in the form of unrealistic goals.

Why then the furor? A good question and one that relates directly to the small investor and public confidence in the market place, which is now gradually being restored following one debacle after another.

As the chairman testified, "These projections are being put out now and they are being made available on a preferential basis." That is, they are being made unofficially or by informed brokers and offered to a favored few.

"No matter how one may theorize on this," Casey said at the hearings, "We have the reality that earnings estimates are made."

Moreover, he continued, "Investors and stock values do react to them, and fairness to investors may call for making them evenly available to all investors."

Rather than, it is suggested, to only a select list of insiders, analysts, big customers, creditors, subscribers to services and the like, who are then afforded an advantage in decision making.

If projections are so relevant to stock prices and investment decisions, why continue to ban them in official filings at the SEC? Especially while unofficial and often misleading estimates circulate widely?

The forthcoming decision not only will be relevant to every small investor, but it will determine whether the future, the reality, is to be recognized or ignored.

African Doesn't Like Ice Storm

DALLAS (AP) — A recent ice storm which coated Dallas like a layer of cold wax was an unwelcome, and unusual, occurrence for an African living here.

Kayemba Illunga, 37, said "so far, this ice is the only thing I don't like in Dallas."

The former high school principal, a native of the Republic of Zaire, is now a recruiter for the U.S. government's Action program.

Illunga illustrated the vast climate difference between his country and North Texas by pointing out that instead of ice storms he is accustomed to seeing bananas, pineapples, rice and corn crops year round.

Illunga will be in Dallas through next summer which should give him an opportunity to taste some of Texas' burning summer temperatures.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE COYPU

QUESTION: What is the coypu and where does it live?

* * *

ANSWER: The coypu or nutria is a rodent native to South America. It is a small beaver-like animal, prized for its beautiful soft fur, which is one of the choicest furs sold today. It lives in and near streams, lakes and swamps. It is 1 1/2 to 2 feet long and has a round, almost hairless tail, nearly as long as its body. It is an aquatic rodent which lives in burrows close to the water. It has a luxuriant coat, with coarse guard hairs, protecting a fine soft underfur. It is an excellent swimmer aided by its webbed hind feet. It breeds rapidly, may have nine young in a litter and feeds on the leaves and roots of aquatic plants.

The coypu originated in Central and South America but now is found in southern United States and many other parts of the world. The breed is now well established in parts of Louisiana and some other states. They seem to thrive in the same areas as muskrats. They are considered pests by farmers because they eat many kinds of green vegetables and damage crops.

Matthau Is Natural Comedian

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The average comedian is about as much fun to be with offstage as a 95-year-old Anglican bishop with an acute case of gout.

Not our man Walter Matthau, the current top banana among film laugh makers. He is as natural as sunshine and cheerful as a mountain spring.

Walter weathered dire poverty in his childhood and six years ago survived a life-threatening heart attack. With a background such as that, Matthau doesn't need anyone to tell him how to enjoy his present success.

"Life to me is funny, real humorous," he said at lunch the other day. He was celebrating the completion of his most recent film, "Pete 'N' Tillie," in which he and Carol Burnett star.

"I don't know why, but life seems to make me laugh most of the time now. I try to have a philosophy for every specific moment, but it changes so rapidly I guess I don't have a general philosophy."

Now 52, although he could easily pass for an athletic 40, Walter reached the peak after a long apprenticeship in both living and acting.

After his father deserted the family when Matthau was only 3, he his mother and a brother moved through a series of cold-water East Side tenements because they were unable to pay the rent.

At 11, Walter was acting in a Yiddish theater at 50 cents a performance. During the intermissions he sold soft drinks in the lobby.

After earning six battle stars as an aerial radioman and bomber gunner overseas during World War II, he worked his way through acting school working as a floor scrubber and cement hauler.

Slowly he became known as a competent and conscientious craftsman in Broadway plays and as a Hollywood film villain. Then his 1965 appearance in the stage play, "The Odd Couple," made him a comedy sensation. His next film, "The Fortune Cookie," in which he teamed with Jack Lemmon, confirmed his success. Since then it has been roses, roses, all the way for Matthau.

He still tends to think of himself as a character actor rather than a star, and likes to play in serious as well as funny films or shows.

"I became an actor because I like to act. I'm good at it, and I make a lot of money out of it. What would I be if I weren't an actor? Dead probably. There's an occupation for you, isn't it?

"I'd like to live to the year 2000 — that would make me 80 — just to see all the numerals change.

Here are Walter's likes:

"Horses that come in first — casseroles, because steaks or roasted birds remind me too much of the whole animal — anything covered and smothered with gravy and with no bones in it — spelling tests with people I meet while traveling — girls' bottoms, because watching them gives me a tremendous feeling of security — the sound of Mozart and the voices of my wife and my son Charlie — reading Charles Dickens and Arthur Miller's plays — bakery smells and the smell of freshly cut grass — all kinds of people — and having dinner with Truman Capote when he's in a good mood: he's a great, great gossip with a great mind."

And here are his dislikes:

"Raw clams — whiskies and wines — girls who drink beer — the feel of crepe — people with bad breath who keep trying to whisper to me."

Kiwanis Is Given Progress Report

L.A. (George) Patterson, city manager of Snyder, was the guest speaker at the regular noon luncheon meeting of the Snyder Kiwanis Club, held yesterday at the Steak House.

Patterson spoke on the subject of "What the Future of the City of Snyder Holds For Us."

Reviewing the past, Patterson said Snyder was declining in population and businesses were moving out of town in the mid 1960's.

The city did several things to improve the situation, he said, such as passing a junk car ordinance and a sub-standard building ordinance to improve the looks of the town. In addition, the city began cleaning up vacant lots and instituted a new system of garbage collections. There now are 1,000 mechanized garbage containers scattered throughout the City.

The city and county went in together on a project to clean up Deep Creek.

"We have Little League diamonds, a olympic size swimming pool, a fishing pond and a prairie dog town," Patterson said, talking about the assets of the City and County.

"The economic lifeblood of a community is wrapped up in jobs and payrolls" Patterson observed. In this connection, he noted that three new industries have settled in Snyder since the mid 60's--American Magnesium, Wickes Mobile Homes and the Aileen, Inc.

Patterson noted that the Colorado River Municipal Water District had built a dam at Robert Lee and impounded a new lake.

In other improvements, Patterson recalled that the Scurry County Coliseum was built and a downtown redevelopment project was carried out since the mid 60's. The city has eliminated parking meters and six major parking lots have been constructed within a block of the downtown square.

The courthouse improvement project also was mentioned along with the creation, in November of 1969, of the Scurry County Junior College District.

Patterson said the city has a Master Plan for future improvements. He said a community attitude survey indicated that people like Snyder because of its educational facilities, general appearance of the town, health care facilities, good police and fire protection, excellent library and family income and employment opportunities.

Patterson pointed out a new movie theater has been constructed, and Lake Thomas has began catching water again. The college is building a P.E. building with an indoor swimming pool that can be made available to the public.

"There are many cultural programs at Western Texas College that will benefit the community as a whole," the city manager pointed out.

Patterson also discussed some proposed projects, including the extension of major thoroughfares and the installation of traffic signal lights at Fortieth Street and Forty-Second Street on College Avenue.

Also under study is a left turn indicator at the signal light at College Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street.

The city manager also pointed out plans are underway now to replace the bridge on Thirtieth Street that was washed out by the Dec. 13 flood.

Jim Tully, program chairman, intorduced the speaker. Bill Baldwin was a guest at the meeting.

Test Space Shuttle System

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station expects to make the food catering situation more efficient and easier for NASA's space shuttle system expected to be in operation in a little over four years.

It is working on ways to keep vegetables and cereals tasty and nutritious yet light and compact.

Shuttlespace is a relay system to and among space stations. It is the next step after Skylab.

The agency has been consulted about foods and preservation methods since the beginning of Apollo series. Some of the snacks nibbled by Apollo astronauts stemmed from experiment station studies.

The man heading up Shuttlespace food research for the experiment station is Dr. E.E. Burns of the Texas A&M University Soil and Crop Sciences Department.

"We are constantly seeking vegetable varieties that lend themselves to freeze drying and compression," he said. "This means that plant breeding and genetics also come into play."

The main problem is bulk. So far, freeze drying is the best method because it affects food quality less than any other preservation technique.

After freeze drying, the vegetables are compressed into candy bar sizes, then sealed in plastic.

To eat, remove the bar from the plastic and add water. The vegetable fluffs back to its normal state and its texture is damaged very little.

Vegetables which have worked best so far are green beens, carrots, corn, peas and spinach.

Tomatoes, melons and such salad greens as lettuce so far have eluded every effort toward preservation for space travel.

Dear Abby

'No rice—no dice' is Abby's best advice

By Abigail Van Buren

[c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old woman whose divorce will be final in three months. I recently met a 44-year-old man. He is intelligent and charming. He says he loves me and will marry me the very moment I am free.

There is only one problem. He will wait for me only if I consent to live with him until my divorce is final, and agree to start a family immediately!

To support his argument he says he isn't getting any younger and can't afford to lose any time. Also, if I become pregnant he's sure I won't change my mind.

Abby, this is contrary to everything I believe in and I can't agree to such a deal. But I dearly love this man and don't want to lose him. Can you help me?

DESPERATE IN BROOKLYN

DEAR DESPERATE: You would have to be "desperate" to go for a deal like this. Tell him, "no rice—no dice." And if he really loves you, you won't lose him.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I disagree on something and want you to settle it.

He appreciates fine wine and most of our friends are aware of it, so occasionally when we invite guests for dinner they bring a bottle of wine.

My husband thanks them for it, puts it away, and then he serves a wine of his own choice with our dinner.

We were recently criticized for not serving the wine a guest had brought that evening.

My husband insists that when someone brings wine, it is a gift for US, and we are under no obligation to serve it. I say if a guest brings a bottle of wine, no matter what wine we had intended to serve, we should serve the wine the guest brought. Maybe I'm wrong, but I am not having another dinner party until I find out. ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: Get off the fence—on your husband's side. He's right. [P. S. If it is understood in advance that a dinner guest is bringing the wine, then that wine should be served.]

DEAR ABBY: I am worrying about a problem that is more than a year and a half off, but I can't help it.

We have a son who will graduate from high school a year from next June. He says when he graduates he wants to leave home with just a few dollars in his pocket and hitchhike across the country for an indefinite period of time. We wouldn't mind if he wanted to leave home and get his own apartment, or go to college, or join the armed forces, but he doesn't want to do any of these things. He just wants to "bum" around for a while.

I worry about him for several reasons. First, he is a rather immature boy for his years. He's on the thin and small side and if he missed several meals it wouldn't be good for his health. Also, I fear for his safety. He's never been away from home alone and he is such a trusting soul.

How can I change his mind, Abby? Or should I try?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: So much can happen between now and the time your son graduates, why worry about it now? He may meet a girl and fall in love, or decide he wants to go to college, join the armed forces, or get a job. Or he may even mature by then, so in the meantime, don't communicate your fears to him or try to change his mind.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper to eat the skin of a baked potato in public?

ARGUING FOR YEARS

DEAR ARGUING: Certainly. And in private, too.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby s new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Council Approves Public Cash Box

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind. (AP) — An anonymous resident plans to fund a public petty cash box in the city's Newtown Park.

The city council has approved placing the box, called the "Faith in Mankind Money Box," in the park.

The resident, who said he wanted to do "something extra" for the community, will give $2,000 to newspaper publisher Gene McCann for deposit in a bank account. McCann will withdraw $10 from the account each day and place it in the box.

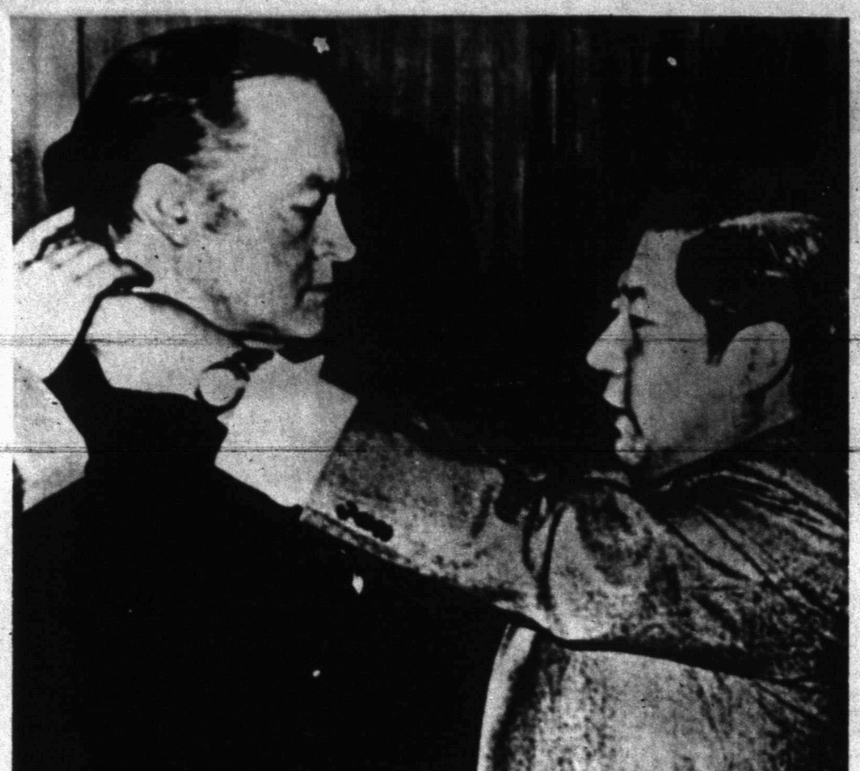

Anyone who needs money can take it with no strings attached, and, hopefully, repay it later.

The anonymous donor will reevaluate the project in six months, McCann told the council.

Santa And The Ice King

SYNOPSIS: Santa and Oonik have discovered that the reason the Ice King is making life miserable for everyone is that he believes nobody loves him. Santa has a plan to find him a wife but first needs the reindeer he set loose back in Santa Land.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN
THE SUN DAUGHTER

Santa's eight reindeer did not want freedom. Neither did they want to find food for themselves if it meant leaving Santa Claus.

So, when Santa turned them loose they had merely hidden behind a snow ridge. When he had started out on his journey with Oonik the reindeer had followed, always from a distance, always out of sight. They were jealous of Keotuk because he pulled Santa's sled. When the polar bear started pulling the sled the reindeer's hearts were broken. They thought Santa had turned them free to get rid of them. But still they trailed him loyally.

It was true that Oonik had a fine hunter's eye and his father had trained him well. From the very beginning he had seen the reindeer's antlers far behind and sometimes heard the clatter of their hooves.

So now he said to the Ice King, "Do you have some salt?"

The Ice King replied, "Certainly. I have taken salt from sea ice and I use it to keep my ice from melting in the summertime. But this year there has been no melting and I have salt to spare."

Oonik took the salt the Ice King gave him and spread it on the steps of the castle. Then he clapped his hands and waived his coat and shouted.

By and by the reindeer, who were hiding behind a hill, came up, one by one, and gratefully licked the salt from the steps. Then Santa came out and greeted and embraced them with tears in his eyes.

"Get out! Get out!" screamed the shocked Sun Daughter.

"Now," said Santa to the Ice King, "you must come and woo the Sun Daughter."

The Ice King trembled with eagerness. He took a comb of icicles from his pocket and carefuly combed his silken hair.

"Do I look all right?" he asked nervously.

"Irresistible," said Santa.

He harnessed the reindeer to the sled and he and Oonik and the Ice King and Keotuk and even the polar bear, who did not want to be left behind, got on the sled. The eight reindeer, overjoyed to be working for Santa again, did not mind the heavy load. They lifted the sled into the sky and away they sped.

In no time at all they arrived in a land far to the East where the Sun Daughter dwelled.

Now this maiden was the favorite daughter of the Sun. She dwelled in the East so that her father could see her face the very first thing in he morning when he came over the horizon at dawn.

Though she was very beautiful she had never married because she was very finicky and hard to please. Still she realized she was getting older every year and she often longed for a husband to spoil her when her father was not around to do it.

So she was overjoyed when Santa Claus suddenly appeared at her bright little cottage and announced he had brought her a suitor.

"Show him in!" she cried eagerly and she rushed to her little bedroom to change into a yellow frock and arrange her lovely yellow hair.

When she came back there was the Ice King standing there, overcome with admiration, the icicles and the hoar-frost gleaming in his hair.

"Oh Beautiful One" he murmured tenderly and moved to take her hand.

But the Sun Daughter stepped back in horror. She snatched up a blanket and threw it around his shoulders.

"Get out! Get out!" she screamed. "I can't bear the cold!" And she went in her bedroom and slammed the door.

Furious, the Ice King stalked from the house. See!" he shouted angrily at Santa Claus. "Everyone hates me. Take me home! I shall go back to my castle and make a winter that will last a thousand years!"

Next: One More Try

Gross Product Increased

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Southwest Metroplex, an eight county area, including some 6,214 square miles, has been projected to have a gross product of $12.9 billion by the end of 1973.

This will constitute an increase of $200 million over the previous record in business activity set in 1970, said C. A. Tatum Jr., president of the North Texas Commission.

The region's gross product increased two and one-half times during the 1960 decade, and during the 1962-72 period business activity more than doubled.

"In 1960 the eight-county region's gross product accounted for less than one per cent of the GNP (gross national product), but today the regional gross product makes up more than one per cent of the GNP," Tatum said.

During the same 12 year period the national population has increased 15.3 per cent, and the region's population grew 36.9 per cent.

The regional gross product in 1960 was just over $5 billion. By 1965 it had increased to over $7.3 billion and reached $12.76 billion in 1970.

The upward trend was temporarily slowed in 1971 due to phasing out of defense contracts and by general business slowdown. However, during 1972 the region's economy resumed its upward trend.

Bolivia is named for Simon Bolivar, the great Latin American Liberator who helped found five other nations, Colombia, Ecuador, Panama, Peru and Venezuela.

LEAVES WIFE, TEN KIDS
Depressed Dad Commits Suicide

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "The whole story is 10 kids without a father and it's Christmas," said a funeral home employe Wednesday footsteps away from where a last word was being said in Spanish about Raymond Garza.

Garza's death came by his own hand Monday, police said.

Lt. David Keene, head of the San Antonio police homicide bureau, said he took the following account from Garza's wife:

The healthy, 35-year-old construction worker became depressed as bills mounted and bad weather meant a slack in construction work. The family was three months behind in rent on a three-room frame house in which they all lived.

Then, a week before his death, a finance company repossessed "his old 1963 stationwagon", meaning he no longer had transportation to job sites, often in remote parts of the city.

Monday, Garza said he was going to clean his shotgun and weapon in hand, he left the house for a six-by-six wooden shed out back. After awhile, Mrs. Garza sent an 8-year-old son to see about him and the son found his bloodied body.

"He had pictures of his family more or less in a semi-circle—those sort of school pictures, you know. He apparently was looking at them when he committed suicide," said Keene.

"Apparently, he wouldn't go on welfare," said Keene.

Once the death was publicized, Christmas gifts for the children, food and money were donated to the survivors.

So was a Christmas tree.

A funeral home spokesman said there was no other support available for the family. The spokesman said the family was offered a free burial plot by an individual, but it was turned down, since they wanted to buy one near the graves' of other family members.

The benevolence toward the family "renews my faith said Keene, who added quickly he sees such a disregard for the individual" many times in his work.

Asked if he thought Garza would take the donations if he were alive, Keene answered, "No."

James Arness Donates Ranch

SANTA SUSANA, Calif.(AP) — Actor James Arness, star of the "Gunsmoke" television series, has donated a 950-acre ranch north of Los Angeles to the Brandeis Camp Institute.

The ranch, with houses, corrals, barns and outbuildings, is next to 2,250 acres of institute land in the Simi Valley. Arness' property was said to be worth $2 million.

"It was a very ecumenical act of philanthropy by Mr. Arness, who is not himself Jewish," Dr. Max W. Bay, president of the Jewish youth organization institute, said Wednesday.

A spokesman for Arness said the actor raised crops, cattle and horses on the ranch since 1960.

"He spent a lot of time there and became aware of the impressive work done by the camp," said the actor's attorney, Richard Volpert.

Two Charged In Holdup

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Two Athens, Tex., men were ordered to appear before a U.S. magistrate today on charges of violating the federal bank robbery statute.

FBI agents said the two were charged in a holdup of the Poindexter branch of the First National Bank of Jackson Wednesday. They were identified as David Rodney Hocutt, 24, and Wayne Lloyd Skinner, 20.

Officials said about $4,500 taken in the robbery was recovered. Hocutt, agents said, was also caught in possession of a .38 caliber pistol.

Agents said the pair, wearing ski masks, drove to a teller's window at the bank and demanded money. The teller handed over the money but notified the bank manager of the robbery, who summoned officers.

Officials said the men fired a shot at the teller's window after taking the money but the bullet did not penetrate the glass.

Rettigs Booked On Drug Charge

ARROYO GRANDE, Calif. (AP) — Tommy Rettig, the former child actor who appeared as Lassie's master on television in the 1950s, has been booked along with his wife for alleged marijuana violations.

Rettig, 31, and his wife, Darlene, 29, were arrested on their farm near the central California coast where detectives said the found 83 marijuana plants growing and a quantity of marijuana in various stages of processing.

The couple was booked Wednesday for investigation of possessing and growing marijuana, authorities reported.

The oldest living thing in the world are some bristlecone pines growing in the Inyo National Forest in the White Mountains of east central California. The trees are over 4,600 years old.

Hill Returns To Practice

DALLAS (AP) — Calvin Hill, Dallas' first 1,000-yard gainer, returned to the Cowboys practice field Wednesday after a bout with the flu, giving the club a big lift for its Saturday National Football League playoff with San Francisco.

"Calvin should be in top physical condition by Saturday," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry.

Hill rushed for 1,036 yards this year—the first season he has been healthy through a 14-game campaign.

"I'm looking forward to playing in the Super Bowl as a starter" said Hill who was on the bench for most of Super Bowl VI as Duane Thomas and Walt Garrison ran wild against Miami.

Hill, when he's in the game, also gives Dallas another passing threat.

He threw a 55-yard touchdown pass to Ron Sellers in a 17-13 victory over Pittsburgh.

Hill has some added incentive for his showdown with the 49ers. On Thanksgiving Day in Texas Stadium, Hill had his worst rushing day of the season. San Francisco whipped the Cowboys 31-10 and Hill was held to 29 yards rushing on 12 carries. It was the only time this year he didn't catch a pass in a game.

SIX COWBOYS NAMED TO PRO BOWL SQUAD

NEW YORK (AP) — Four members of the 1,000-yard rushers' club head the National Football Conference team named Wednesday to meet the American Conference in the National Football League's Pro Bowl game at Texas Stadium Jan. 21.

Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins and Green Bay's John Brockington will start in the backfield with Dallas' Calvin Hill and Ron Johnson of the New York Giants in reserve. All went over the 1,000-yard rushing plateau this season.

Calling the signals for the NFC will be two veteran quarterbacks, Washington's Billy Kilmer and Norm Snead of the Giants. Kilmer, 32, led the Redskins to the NFC's Eastern title and was named to the Pro Bowl squad for the first time in his career. Snead, 33, was the top passer in the conference and will be making his third Pro Bowl appearance and first since 1966.

The 40-man squad, chosen in a vote by conference head coaches, has San Francisco's Gene Washington and John Gilliam of Minnesota starting at the two wide receiver spots, with Philadelphia's Harold Jackson and Charley Taylor of Washington named as the backups.

There were 21 new players named to the squad but two old ones were included on the roster. They were tackle Merlin Olsen of Los Angeles, named for the 11th straight year, and Dallas cornerback Mel Renfro, who will be making his ninth Pro Bowl appearance.

The two kicking jobs went to rookies, with placekicker Chester Marcol of Green Bay and punter Dave Chapple of Los Angels the only first-year men named.

The American Conference team, named Tuesday, includes nine Miami players and eight from the Oakland Raiders. The AFC quarterbacks will be Daryle Lamonica of Oakland and Joe Namath of the New York Jets.

49ers Want To Forget Earlier Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A team that went through what San Francisco did to reach the National Football League playoffs should relish every victory, but there's one the 49ers are trying hard to forget—their 31-10 conquest of Dallas.

"We've just got to forget what we did to Dallas back there or what they didn't do last week," 49er linebacker Ed Beard said Wednesday.

The Cowboys dropped their final regular season game to the New York Giants 23-3.

A sellout crowd of 61,214 is expected at Candlestick Park for Saturday's game. It will be the seventh straight playoff for the Cowboys, who beat the 49ers the last two years 17-10 and 14-3 to earn the National Conference spot in the Super Bowl.

Coach Tom Landry has a workout scheduled at Candlestick Friday for his Cowboys.

The 49ers moved onto Candlestick's artificial turf Wednesday

The series between the 49ers and Cowboys, including the two playoff games, stands at 4-3-1 in favor of San Francisco, and the 31-10 victory of the 49ers in Dallas Thanksgiving Day was the most lopsided result of the lot.

San Francisco sacked Dallas quarterbacks nine times in that game—the most effective pass rush in a season that saw the 49ers top the NFL in sackings with 46.

One change is assured in the starting lineup Coach Dick Nolan said he would announce today. Strong safety Mel Phillips fractured his left shoulder in last Saturday's game, and rookie Windlan Hall, a fourth-round draft choice from Arizona State, is the likely replacement.

Nolan said Wednesday that Hall is "a tough kid with real good speed and a lot of poise.

Beard, who directs the defense, commented, "You lose something when you lose a guy with seven years, but nobody on this team has any doubts about Windlan. He's a hitter."

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN LEADS COLLEGE POLL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little Roanoke College lost its reputation as a giant-killer, ended its winning streak at 26 and was bumped as the nation's top-ranked college division basketball team — all because of a 68-63 upset by ninth-ranked Old Dominion last Saturday.

Roanoke, which won 20 straight last season, including an 84-72 romp over Akron for the National Collegiate Athletic Association division crown, slipped to the role of runner-up to Stephen F. Austin in The Associated Press poll released today.

The Lumberjacks from Nacogdoches, Tex., who have a 6-0 record, received eight No. 1 votes and 256 points from sportswriters and broadcasters to take over first place in the second poll of the season. Roanoke, 6-1 through games of Saturday, was a distant second with four top votes and 182 points.

Old Dominion remained No. 9 despite knocking off Roanoke as well as Madison, another Virginia team, to raise its record to 4-3, and Kentucky State remained No.5 even though their previously unbeaten record was marred by an 80-73 loss to Lincoln Memorial.

The real stunner, however, was the emergence of former powerhouse Evansville as the No. 10 team with an unenviable 1-4 record. UC-Riverside, tenth last week with a 3-0 mark, was booted out to make room for the Purple Aces who were winless until a 78-66 triumph over Kentucky Wesleyan Saturday night. The only rationale for their ranking is that they consistently outshot their foes on field goals but lost to them at the free-throw line. The average margin for each of the four losses was 5.25 points.

Eau Claire, 6-0, moved up one notch to third, replacing Tennessee State which dropped to seventh with a 2-3 record; Louisiana Tech, 7-0, moved up two places to fourth; Augustana, Ill., unbeaten in six starts, moved up from eighth to sixth and 4-0 Albany State, Ga., dropped from seventh to eighth through no fault of its own. The Rams are idle until Dec. 27.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-8-6-4-2:

1.	S.F. Austin (8)	6-0	256
2.	Roanoke (4)	6-1	182
3.	Eau Claire	6-0	154
4.	Louisiana Tech (1)	7-0	148
5.	Kentucky St.	4-1	120
6.	Augustana, Ill.	6-0	112
7.	Tennessee St. (1)	2-3	110
8.	Albany St. Ga. (1)	4-0	94
9.	Old Dominion	4-3	56
10.	Evansville	1-4	42

O. J. Simpson Leads NFL 1000 Yard Club

NEW YORK (AP) — O.J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills, with a bit of help from the Washington bench, led a nine-player parade into the National Football League's 1,000-yard club this season.

It would have been 10 but for a fumbled pitchout.

According to the final and official regular-season statistics released today by the league, Simpson led all ground-gainers with 1,251 yards, surpassing Washington's idle Larry Brown in last Sunday's game against the Redskins.

Simpson went into the game 66 yards behind Brown's 1,182 but ripped through the Redskins for 101 yards and the NFL rushing title.

Brown was kept out of the game, won 24-17 by Buffalo, because of a slight injury.

Also breaking the 1,000-yard mark—as the 1962 league record of six players tumbled—were Ron Johnson of the New York Giants with 1,182 yards; Larry Csonka of Miami, 1,117; Marv Hubbard of Oakland, 1,100; Franco Harris of Pittsburgh, 1,055; Calvin Hill of Dallas, 1,036; Mike Garrett of San Diego, 1,031, and John Brockington of Green Bay, 1,027.

And for a while last Sunday, Dave Hampton of Atlanta was a member of the club, too, reaching 1,000 yards on the second play of the final quarter against Kansas City.

But minutes later, he lost six yards on a pitchout, which he fumbled, then recovered. He carried just once more, for one yard, and wound up with 995 for the season.

Norm Snead, who quarterbacked the Giants to a respectable 8-6 mark, finished as the National Conference's No. 1 passer. Earl Morrall, who took over for injured Bob Griese and led the Miami Dolphins through more than half of their perfect season, topped American Conference passers.

Harold Jackson of the NFC's Philadelphia Eagles led the league in pass receptions with 62 for 1,048 yards. Oakland's Fred Biletnikoff was the only repeat winner, taking the AFC receiving title with 58 for 802 yards.

Philadelphia also had the NFL's top pass interceptor in Bill Bradley, who grabbed off nine opposition aerials. Mike Sensibaugh of Kansas City led the AFC with eight.

Jerrel Wilson of the AFC's Kansas City Chiefs topped the league's punters with a 44.8-yard average. The No. 1 NFC punter was Dave Chapple of the Los Angeles Rams at 44.2.

On punt returns, Ken Ellis of the Green Bay Packers led everyone with a 15.4-yard average while the AFC leader was Chris Farasopoulos of the New York Jets with a 10.5 average.

On kickoff returns, the NFC again had the top man in Ron Smith of the Chicago Bears, who averaged 30.8 yards.

Bob Lilly Has Muscle Spasms

DALLAS (AP) — Bob Lilly, the All-pro defensive tackle of the defending Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys, was in Baylor Hospital today trying to shake a case of muscle spasms in his back.

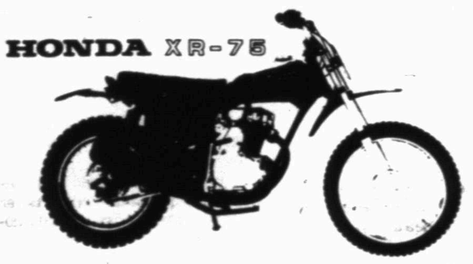

Lilly was put in traction Wednesday night to ease the pain after the back flared up on him during a workout for Saturday's National Football League playoff game with the San Francisco 49ers.

Lilly, one of Dallas' heroes in a Super Bowl VI victory over Miami, suffered a case of muscle spasms last Sunday in a game against the New York Giants and took himself out of the contest.

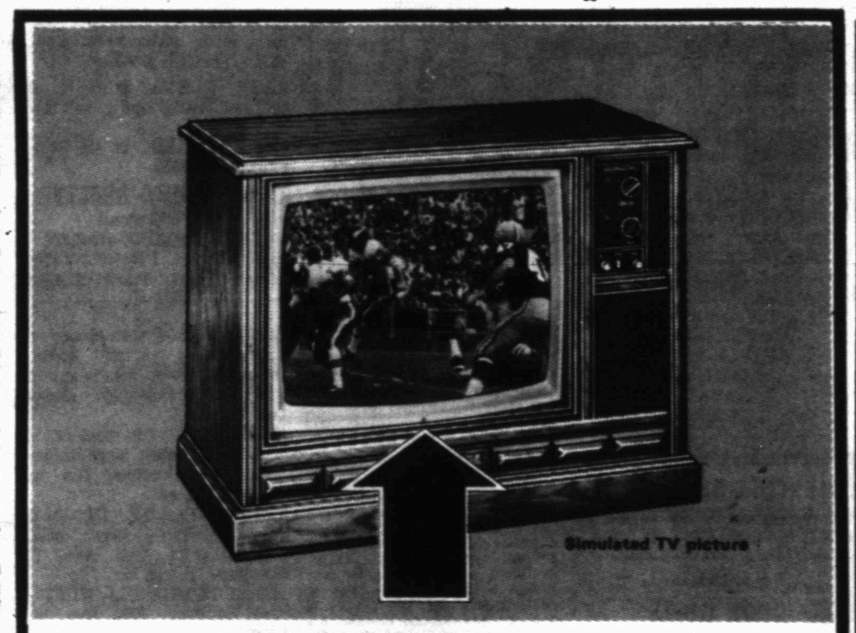

He has been hampered all season with a foot injury, a knee injury and now a back injury.

Lilly's status for Saturday's game was in doubt, said Tex Schramm, general manager of the Cowboys.

Natural Gas Rate Hikes Proposed For Basin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Natural gas rate increases ranging from 18 to 111 per cent for the Permian Basin of Texas and New Mexico was recommended Wednesday by a federal hearing examiner.

The raises will take effect automatically as a Federal Power Commission (FPC) order in the 40 days unless parties to the case or the FPC itself intervenes.

The decision was made by FPC Administrative Law Judge Nahum Lott. He provided also for further price increases linked to the exploration and development of new gas sources.

It allows the firms to pass along 75 per cent of any increases in their own federal or state production-based taxes.

The examiner estimated the base price increase he ordered will bring basin producers an additional $25 million a year more than a nine per cent upturn in revenue.

If all of his provisions are applied, he said, the revenue increase could reach 18 per cent.

Litt said the provisions were to encourage development of new natural gas sources and to send more natural gas into the interstate market.

His approach was opposite to proposals now under consideration by the Nixon administration to seek removal of federal regulation over natural gas.

Litt said removal of regulations would not solve the nation's growing gas shortage problem.

He suggested that gas transactions wholly within individual states—now out of reach of federal control—be brought under federal regulation just like interstate transactions.

The FPC first began setting area-wide gas rates in 1965 with ceiling prices for the Permian Basin. Further orders have established area rates covering most of the nation.

The FPC began a "second round" of area rate-making in 1970, but in recent months, petroleum industry spokesmen and some federal officials have talked of removing federal regulation entirely and allowing natural gas prices to seek their own level.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton recently said deregulation was under serious consideration. The move would require legislation.

Litt agreed in his decision that prices must rise to stimulate new exploration and production.

But he said de-regulation wouldn't be effective to stimulate new assignment of gas to the interstate market and that, in fact, the FPC could not deregulate gas under its legal authority.

Under existing FPC rate structures for the basin, gas sold under contracts dated before Jan. 1, 1961, is limited to 13.5 or 14.5 cents per thousand cubic feet.

Gas contracted on or after that date has a ceiling of 15.5 or 16.5 cents.

Under Litt's proposals, these rates would increase to 19.5 cents for gas contracted before Oct. 1, 1968, and on Oct. 1, 1974, these rates would increase again by one cent.

Gas contracted on or after Oct. 1, 1968, would be allowed a price jump to 35 cents, increasing by one cent on Oct. 1, 1975.

Litt also proposed these additional benefits and incentives:

—Gas sellers who incur costs in connection with "substantial gathering prior to delivery," would be allowed an additional one cent price increase, rising another half cent on Jan. 1, 1978.

—Gas produced on or after Nov. 1, 1969, from new gas fields get a base rate determined by the date of discovery rather than the contract date.

—The area rate would be adjusted up or down "to reflect 75 per cent of any change in state or federal production, severance, gathering or similar taxes effective on or after the effective date" of his proposed order.

—Dedications of additional gas to interstate sale would be rewarded by rate increases, starting with one-half cent per thousand cubic feet to a company which dedicates at least four trillion cubic feet to the interstate market.

Dedication of eight trillion cubic feet would merit a total price increase of one cent per thousand; and dedication of 12 trillion cubic feet would win a total increase of two cents per thousand.

Past, Present, Future Ghosts Haunt Ex-POWs

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent

The "ghost of Christmas past" hovers over Navy Lt. Mark Gartley's decorated tree, carrying a bowl of thin soup in a wooden barracks room as a carol scratches out of a loudspeaker. That is how Gartley remembers some of the last four Christmases he spent in a Hanoi prison camp.

This year he is home in Florida with his family.

As Air Force Maj. Edwar Elias sits down with his wife and child to a Christmas feast there will be a "ghost of Christmas present" at the table, wearing the faces of the disappointed relatives of Americans still in North Vietnamese prison camps, relatives he has met and written to since his own release in September.

"We pray every meal that God be with these sorrowing people," said Elias's wife, Georgia.

The "ghost of Christmas yet-to-be" will be welcomed at the festive family home of Navy Lt. Norris Charles in Tampa, Fla., and he hopes it will be carrying a "war finally over" sign. After his release from a Hanoi prison in September, Charles' wife Olga actively worked for Sen. George McGovern's presidential campaign. His mother Maria is still involved in the antiwar movement, and said in a telephone interview, "The renewed bombing is awful. The war must end. We must get the prisoners back by next Christmas at the latest."

The men they left behind in Hanoi are uppermost in the minds of Gartley, Elias and Charles this Christmas season because they know they were the lucky ones. Their release was a positive signal from Hanoi that at last the ordeal of the prisoners might be ending, an ordeal for some that has lasted since 1965.

The released pilots brought back home messages of hope to the families of many of the 400 Americans then known definitely held in North Vietnamese prisons. Gartley, captured after he bailed out of a crippled jet on Aug. 10, 1968, personally visited the families of 25 of the men he had lived with.

But Gartley and the others stopped contacting relatives late in October when the peace talks seemed certain to bring peace. None of the three pilots are currently permitted to speak to the press because of Department of Defense blackout on interviews, but their relatives spoke freely.

Minnie Lee Gartley, Mark's mother, who flew to Hanoi in September to personally escort him home, said in a telephone interview at her home in Clearwater, Fla., "Mark was so sorry that the talks failed.

"He had made plans to be with some of the men when they came home this Christmas. But now it has fallen through and he is so sad," Mrs. Gartley said. Mark intends to resume his travels to meet with relatives.

Mrs. Gartley intends to resume her antiwar activities. "I am having a press conference at Tampa Thursday morning to help in bringing public opinion to bear on the President," she said. "The families of the captured men aren't speaking out. I will do it for them. I feel free to do so."

With Mrs. Gartley at the press conference will be Maria Charles, who was advised last New Year's Day that her son had been shot down over North Vietnam. "I am so happy that Norris is home," Mrs. Charles said. "But what of the many other families without their loved ones?"

Mrs. Edward Elias said that the men left behind in Hanoi were often on her husband's mind. He is now a test pilot at Moody Air Force Base in Valdosta, Ga.

Mrs. Elias said, "When we put up the tree the other day he got so melancholy. I knew he was thinking about them. We have a special Christmas prayer to say for the men still over there."

Asked if she would pose for a Christmas picture with her husband, Mrs. Elias said, "Ed doesn't want to be in the news again. He knows how hard it must be for those whose loved ones are still there, to see us happy."

Mrs. Elias plans prime rib, a broccoli casserrole, and oysters for Christmas dinner. Maria Charles will have a turkey with all the trimmings for her son. Mrs. Gartley has scheduled a rack of lamb for her son.

Gartley remembers a special prison Christmas in 1970 when the North Vietnamese served a slice of turkey, some soup, a salad and a half bottle of beer. Last year wasn't as good.

"With all the bombing and everything, I wonder what men will be getting in Hanoi this Christmas?" asked Mrs. Gartley.

Generally, you must file a return if: 1) you are single and have gross income of $2,050 or more ($2,800 if you are 65 or older) or 2) you are married and you and your husband or wife are eligible to file a joint return, are living together at the close of the tax year and had $2,800 combined gross income ($3,550 if either husband or wife is 65 or older, $4,300 if both are 65 or older).

Q) Is interest income of $200 or less tax-free?

A) No. All interest except for that earned on state or municipal bonds is taxable and must be reported on your Federal income tax return. Interest income over $200 must also be detailed on Schedule B of your return. However, dividends of $100 or less or not taxed.

Q) I have just opened my own business. How do I get an Employer Identification Number?

Meanwhile, a Radio Hanoi broadcast said six crewmen from a B52 that was shot down Monday were presented to a news conference in Hanoi. Phonetic spellings of the crew's names included Maj. ON FOG-SHROUDED CHICAGO RUNWAY

Plane Crash Kills Nine

CHICAGO (AP) — Two airliners carrying 138 persons collided on a fog-shrouded runway at O'Hare International Airport, killing nine persons in Chicago's second air tragedy in two weeks.

The collision late Wednesday involved a North Central Airlines jet with 45 persons aboard and a Delta Airlines Convair 880 with 86 passengers and a crew of seven.

The Cook County morgue said the nine who died were North Central passengers.

One Delta passenger said after the accident that "two seconds could have made the difference in all our lives."

The crash occurred as the North Central DC9 — flight 575 to Madison, Wis., and Duluth and International Falls, Minn. — was taking off. The plane clipped the tail of the Delta craft, which was taxiing to a holding area after a flight from West Palm Beach and Tampa, Fla.

"There was a jolt," said Roy Ritter, 60, of Rockford, Ill., who was aboard the Delta plane. "After we slid down the emergency chute we saw the tail section of our plane 200 feet from the rest of it."

Two passengers aboard the Delta plane were injured, neither seriously.

It was Ritter's first time in an airplane.

"If the guy in the other plane had been two seconds earlier we would have been done for," he said.

Thirteen persons aboard the North Central jet were admitted to a hospital and 19 other passengers and a crew of four were unhurt.

Vincent Maloney, chief air traffic controller at O'Hare, said that visibility was a quarter of a mile at the time of the accident. He said many airlines feel such visibility is adequate.

The airport was shut down for 55 minutes after the crash. Earlier in the day, the fog had forced the airport to restrict air traffic to outgoing flights.

Raymond Ojakangas, 40, who was aboard the plane with his son, Gregory, said he grabbed the 13-year-old's hand and crawled out of the plane.

"We came to a stop ... The plane filled with smoke ... We headed for the front, crawling on our hands and knees to try and get a breath of air and a voice said, 'Keep coming forward and keep low.'"

He said the plane burst into flames as he and his son ran from the jet.

Federal Aviation Administration and National Transportation Safety Board spokesmen said each agency was sending a team to investigate the accident.

Mobile Home Is Stolen

CHILDRESS, Tex. (AP) — Officials of Lancer Homes, Inc., are wondering how the theft was done—it wasn't like shoplifting a bauble from a store or even exactly the same as car theft.

The mobile home firm reported someone drove off with a new home 14 by 74 feet.

Adding to the loss was the fact that the thieves pulled the home away with a tractor used for transporting the residences. It was emblazoned with the name of the company.

The firm is offering $5,000 reward for information leading to arrests and recovery. The tractor and home were valued together at $35,000.

Claims Funds Not Used For People

HOUSTON (AP) — State Rep. Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi says there is a statewide problem of revenue sharing funds not being used to help people.

Truan made the statement Wednesday during the final public hearing by a House interim committee studying the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity's 300-page report on poverty in Texas.

Speaking as co-sponsor of the resolution creating the committee, he urged that citizen's groups approach the city government about shifting its revenue sharing priorities.

"If people like you don't get your word in now, others will," he said.

Rep. Joe Wyatt Jr. of Bloomington, the committee chairman, said a major area of recommendations likely will concern a statewide establishment of multi-purpose service centers in poor neighborhoods.

The centers would probably be located in storefronts or old school buildings rather than in new glass and steel structures, he said.

A final report of committee recommendations will be submitted for members' approval before going to the legislature when it convenes in January.

In other testimony Wednesday, Lewis H. Earl, director of Houston Mayor Louie Welch's manpower planning division, expressed doubt about Welch's proposal to use revenue sharing funds on "brick and mortar" instead of people-oriented projects.

Earl said future requests for government funds might be refused by referring to revenue sharing as a workable substitute.

"I'm afraid that when we say something, the answer from the policy-making is going to be that 'we've already given you the money,'" Earl said. "We need to make this known at the policy-making level or we may lose these (manpower) programs."

"The mayor is committed to putting the funds into non-recurring expenses, or bricks and mortar," Earl said.

Kate Smith Leaves Hospital

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Kate Smith, the 62-year-old former radio and early television star, has been released after a two-week stay in a hospital where she was treated for pleurisey.

Miss Smith arrived Dec. 4 to attend the 31st annual meeting of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association and wound up in the Touro Infirmary shortly afterward.

Duchess Wins Court Battle

PARIS (AP) -The Duchess of Windsor has won a court battle to have all of the unsold copies of the weekly "France Dimanche" seized.

A court ruled Wednesday that an article intimating that the duchess was thinking of remarrying was "an intolerable invasion of the private life of the Duchess of Windsor."

Life To Publish Results

NEW YORK (AP) — When a few staffers put the finishing touches on the last issue of Life magazine Wednesday night and locked it up, they squeezed in one story that had been planned for a future issue that will never be.

In a previous issue, Life had published a questionnaire for children, with such questions as "Should I Be Graded?"

Managing editor Ralph Graves said Life had planned to publish the results of the questionnaire some time later, but when the announcement came Dec. 8 that the magazine was folding, "we couldn't let that go down the drain."

He said 260,000 children had answered the questionnaire, "four to five times the response we've ever had to a questionnaire before."

So the extra story was squeezed in, and Graves said it wasn't too difficult because Life got extra advertising from companies wanting to be able to say they had advertised in the last issue of Life.

"Where were they when we needed them?" he asked.
