COOLIDGE ELECTED; "MA" WINS SMITH DEFEATS T. R. IN N. YORK JACK WALTON LOSES IN OKLA.

COMMANDING LEAD FOR G. O. P. GIVES TOTAL OF AT LEAST 273 ELECTORAL VOTES EARLY TODAY

President's Lead May Even Rival That of Harding In The Landslide of 1920 When Republicans Secured 404.

PINE DEFEATED WALTON IN OKLAHOMA RACE

Smith Overcame Big Roosevelt Lead to Win Governorship In New York; Dohaney In Ohio Leading In Governorship.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Unless unusual upsets are revealed in belated returns President Coolidge will receive a substantial majority over the combined strength of John W. Davis and Robert M. LaFollette in the electoral college.

The president's lead may even rival that of Harding in the landslide of 1920 when the republicans gathered in 404 of the 581 electoral votes.

Smith Wins In New York.

In New York state Governor Alfred E. Smith apparently had won a re-election over Theodore Roosevelt, whose defeat had been conceded by the republican state chairman. Governor Dohaney of Ohio also a democrat was in the lead in his fight for re-election despite an indicated heavy Coolidge majority in that state. In Illinois, Governor Small, republican, kept a comfortable margin over his democratic adversary.

In two states, Texas and Wyoming, women candidates for governor were ahead on the face of returns up to 2 o'clock. Both of them are democrats and are the wives of former governors of their states.

Early today Mr. Coolidge apparently had a commanding lead in the following states:

State	Electoral Vote
Connecticut	7
Delaware	3
Illinois	29
Iowa	13
Kansas	10
Kentucky	13
Maine	6
Maryland	8
Massachusetts	18
Michigan	15
Nebraska	8
New Hampshire	4
New Jersey	14
New York	45
Ohio	24
Oregon	5
Pennsylvania	38
Rhode Island	5
Utah	4
Vermont	4
Total	273

This includes some states in which the returns still are far from complete, but in which the condition of the count or concessions of political leaders of the opposition point to a Coolidge victory.

In addition the republican presidential nominee was leading in totals compiled early today in Arizona with three electoral votes; California with 13; Colorado wtih 6; Idaho with 4; Indiana with 15; Minnesota with 12; Montana with 4; Nevada with 3; North Dakota with 5; South Dakota with 5; Washington with 7; West Virginia with 8 and Wyoming with 3.

But in none of these states had a sufficient number of precincts reported to make the outcome certain.

The number necessary to elect is 266.

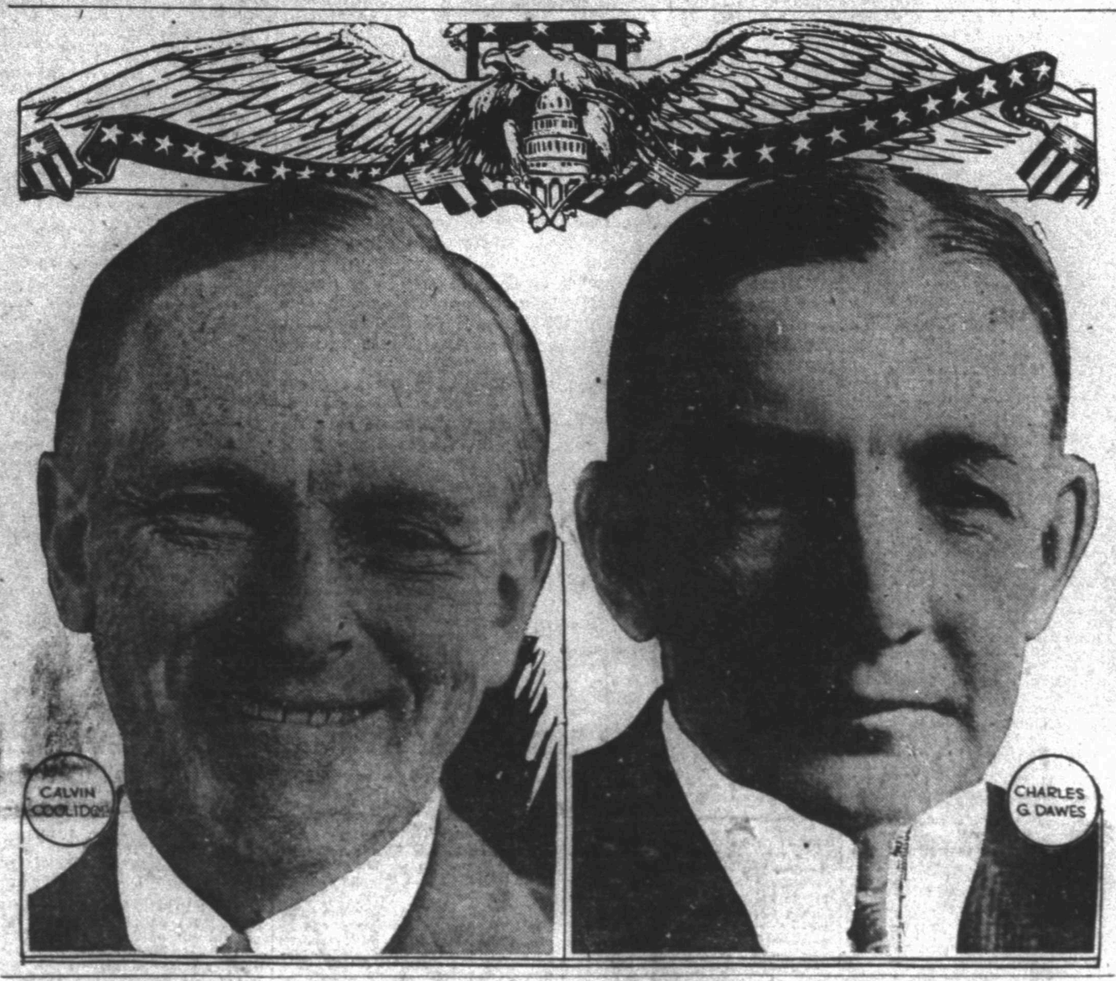

John W. Davis, at the same hour and on the same basis, appeared to have gained a safe lead in the following states:

State	Electoral Vote
Alabama	12
Florida	6
Arkansas	9
Georgie	14
Louisiana	10
Mississippi	10
North Carolina	12
Oklahoma	10
South Carolina	9
Tennessee	12
Texas	20
Virginia	12
Total	136

In addition, Mr. Davis was leading, on the face of incomplete returns in New Mexico with 3 votes. He led in Missouri with 18, until early today when the president took a slight lead.

Senator LaFollette was ahead only in Wisconsin.

EXPECT MRS. FERGUSON'S TOTAL MAJORITY TO REACH 100,000 IF TEXAS VOTE REACHES 600,000

Returns Gathered by Texas Election Bureau at Closing Time Show Temple Woman's Lead to be 33,414 Over Her Republican Opponent.

VOTE SO FAR COUNTED IS 194,828

Butte Refuses to Concede His Defeat, Declaring, "I'll Nose Out Yet"; Saying Many Ballots Illegally Thrown Out by Election Judges.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 4.—(Texas Election Bureau.)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson had a lead of 33,414 over George C. Butte for governor of Texas in returns from 333 towns and cities tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau tonight.

May Reach 100,000 Majority.

The run of returns indicate that her final majority will reach around 100,000 should the total vote reach 600,000. The total vote accounted for in these returns is 194,828. Mrs. Ferguson received 114,121 and Mr. Butte 80,070. The bureau will not tabulate further returns as the race is considered definitely settled.

In addition to the returns from towns and cities the bureau tabulated separately returns from forty-nine counties as a check against the returns from the smaller units. The returns show Butte 68,564; Ferguson 83,174, a majority for Mrs. Ferguson of 14,610. Reports from towns and cities as well as from counties are incomplete and additional returns are expected to run in the same proportions.

Confederate Amendment Wins.

The amendment to the constitution increasing the tax for confederate pension from 5 cents to 7 cents on the $100 has a safe lead. Davis lead Coolidge 4 to 1 from the start. LaFollette made a poor showing, receiving fewer than 8,000 votes in the total tabulated.

Texas Still Loyal To True Ideals Democracy, Ma

Governor Elect Declares Hate Slogan Of Opposition

SHE ASSAILED KU KLUX

Gratitude to "Splendid And Patriotic Democrats" Expressed

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson of Temple, who has been named governor of Texas, issued a statement to the Associated Press tonight in which she said "Texas is still loyal to the ideals of true democracy, despite the mouthing of political preachers and some school teachers seeking to lure democrats into betrayal of their honor."

"People Saw Slimy Trail."

She assailed the ku klux klan for its alleged activity against her in the campaign and added that "the people have seen the slimy trail of the serpent along which these river bottom censors of morals and violators of ballot pledges have led their complacent and pliable tool and they have spoken in a voice not to be misunderstood.

"Hate has been the slogan of the opposition," Mrs. Ferguson said. "Venom is its pass word and slander, falsehood and misrepresentation its platform."

Try to Carry Out Pledges.

She expressed her gratitude to the "splendid and patriotic democrats" who supported her throughout the campaign and added that "as a daughter of Texas, to the manner born," she would work to the uttermost for the best interests of my people and devote my talents and energies to the promotion of the cause of education from the rural school communities to the university and other institutions of higher learning."

Mrs. Ferguson said she would try to carry but every pledge in her platform.

Mrs. Ferguson, who had watched the returns in a local newspaper office, was "kidnaped" at 11 o'clock by her admiring friends and was invited to be the honored guest of the party. She and her husband were escorted to their home where spokesmen offered the congratulations of the town. She responded briefly and introduced her husband, "Jim," who thanked the callers for their confidence.

Mrs. Ferguson apparently carried her home county by nearly 2,000 votes, but it is regarded as likely that the results in the city of Temple will give a majority for Dr. George C. Butte, her republican opponent.

Support Your Governor

Election is over. Let us come back as quickly as possible to the real values of life. These values are that we do our daily work in an honest way; that we pay our debts and keep our obligations; that we help our friends; and that we each, in his own way, add his might to the broad marching of humanity toward a higher life.

Mrs. Ferguson, the next governor of Texas, is a woman of whom there has been no personal criticism. Texas should accept her as governor in the broadest sense. These United States and particularly the southwestern section of them, won a high place in civilization through optimism and hard work. The elevation of Mrs. Ferguson should be accepted as a fact. There should be no vain regret. Looking backward is certainly not looking forward. In this southwest the rare combination exists of southern chivalry and western energy. Let us go forward in the business of living and let us be chivalrous as we watch this new experiment of womanhood in the highest office of the state.

It is not meant that we consider the governorship a sex question. If the governor of Texas, whether man or woman, does not measure up to the job, the fact will be known and probably should be commented upon. The only thing definitely that should be decided today is that Mrs. Ferguson is to be the next governor of Texas and is entitled to the support of a united state's citizenry until such a time as she fails to deserve it.

Butte Refuses to Concede His Defeat Declaring Late Returns Will Show He Is Leading in Texas Governor's Race

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 4.—"I will nose out yet," declared George C. Butte, republican opponent of Mrs. Ferguson at 11 p. m. Tuesday night.

"Except for illegal throwing out of ballots in which my name was written in, despite the opinion of the attorney general they must be counted," he declared, "I doubt if Ferguson would be leading me now. Votes in Galveston, El Paso and other counties were thrown out by election judges on that account."

Says Returns Inadequate.

"Only thirty per cent of the vote is in," Butte declared, "and that is mostly the vote cast before 12 o'clock today. De haven't heard from Beaumont or Waco, very little from Dallas or Tarrant county, little from Austin, nothing from Waxahachie and almost nothing from Houston. I am going to get a heavy labor vote after 5 o'clock, largely.

"The last nine towns which have reported have decreased the Ferguson lead by seven thousand votes. I will forge ahead through the balance of the returns, and I expect to nose out."

Claims Irregularities

While Dr. Butte was talking, R. H. Baker, chairman of his local committee phoned with new reports that in some counties the votes in which his name was written into democratic column were thrown out by the election tellers.

"We're going to fight them to a finish on that," Butte was assured.

"I am conceding nothing." Dr. Butte declared as he turned away from the phone, "except that I am going to win this election. I am going to nose out."

"You know," he added "Earl B. Mayfield won his race against Ferguson in 28 counties in Texas."

Butte and Mrs. Butte were alone in their home seated near a telephone at which the candidate had taken a mass of election figures.

STECK LEADS BROOKHART

Close Rase for Senate Registers In Iowa Election.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 4.—The close race for the senate between Senator Smith W. Brookhart, republican, and Daniel F. Steck, democrat, claimed chief interest in election returns early this morning. Steck was leading Brookhart by more than 6,000 votes at 1 a. m., in returns from 1,097 precincts, nearly one-half of the total.

A large part of the Steck strength was shown in the city returns. Brookhart followers claimed the farm vote would reverse the showing of their candidate.

Coolidge, early this morning, still was running ahead of LaFollette, his nearest opponent.

WHAT'S THE MAJORITY?

That's Only Question In California As Coolidge Takes Lead

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—The only question that remained to be settled in California tonight was the extent of the majority for Calvin Coolidge.

A tabulation by the Associated Press at 11:30 p. m. based on returns from 51 of the 58 counties and 2,800 precincts out of a total of 7,465 gave these results:

Coolidge 300,397; LaFollette 240,638; Davis 39,882.

Senator LaFollette appeared to have carried only eleven counties.

Butte Holds To Lead of 129 In Wichita County

Returns at 2 a. m., Give Him 2,982 Against 2853 for Ma

8 BOXES COMPLETE

Nine Incomplete and Six Still to be Heard From Here

With eight boxes complete, nine incomplete and six as yet unheard from, George C. Butte, republican nominee for governor, was leading Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, the democratic standard-bearer, by a margin of 129 votes on the face of returns compiled in Wichita county at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning. The totals at that time were Butte 2,982, Ferguson 2,853. No more votes were being counted at that hour but in all of the boxes in which tabulations had not been finished, it was announced that the counting would start at 8:30 or 9 o'clock this morning.

Strong for Davis.

In the presidential race, the county rolled up a majority of 2,523 for John W. Davis, his total being 3,572 against that of 1,049 for President Coolidge. The vote here for an amendment to the law providing for an increase in the pensions of confederate veterans carried overwhelmingly here. Only a scattered opposition was met and in the 17 boxes heard from last night less than 100 votes were recorded against the amendment.

Won't Reach 10,000

With all but eight boxes reporting on their total vote, it seemed probable early this morning that a total of 10,000 would not be reached by at least 1,000 and perhaps more. Thus far, 7,812 votes have been accounted for, and the boxes yet to be tabulated are for the most part small ones in the remote sections of the county. Two of the Burkburnett boxes have reported, two Electra boxes have reported the Butte-Ferguson results but not the total vote for presidential returns. Two of the Iowa Park boxes are included, and in Wichita Falls, all the boxes with the exception of No. 3 Barwise school have announced the poll. At this box, the judges locked up at 7 o'clock and made no effort to count the returns last night. They will start on the task early this morning.

Claims Vindicated.

Claims of local republicans that George C. Butte would more than outrun Mrs. Ferguson in this county were vindicated early in the evening yesterday when returns first began to pour in. Butte leaped to the front at the outset and held his scant lead

MISSOURI FOR COOLIDGE

President Goes Into Lead After Trailing Behind Davis

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—For the first time in the night's returns, President Coolidge went ahead in Missouri's balloting on reports from 1,707 precincts of the state's 4,009 precincts. The vote was: Coolidge 205,644; Davis 205,104; LaFollette 13,459. In 1,698 precincts reporting on governor, Nelson, democrat had 217,410, and Baker, republican 201,058.

In returns from 158 precincts, Mrs. Kate Morrow of Warrenburg, democrat, the first woman to be nominated for state office in Missouri on a major party ticket, was leading her republican opponent, Charles U. Becker for secretary of state by a plurality of 5,221. The vote: Morrow 17,207; Becker 11,986.

WURZBACH HOLDS LEAD

Davenport 4000 Behind in 14th Congressional District

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 4.—Partial returns from all eleven counties of the 14th congressional (Texas) district gives Harry Wurzbach, republican incumbent 9,367 to 5,240 for D. S. Davenport, democrat.

Sooner State Swings Back To Solid South

Oklahoma Sends Delegates To Electoral College For Davis

REPUBLICAN SENATOR

Six Democratic Supreme Court Candidates Chosen

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Oklahoma will send delegates to the electoral college pledged to John W. Davis as the result of yesterday's election, in which party lines were forgotten to the extent that a republican for the second time gained a seat in the United States senate.

The state swung back to the solid south on the basis of returns compiled early today, deflecting only in the senatorial race which was regarded only as involving the most conflicting issues of the campaign. The fight waged by J. C. Walton, former governor, upon the ku klux klan failed to overcome his opposition. His reputed attack upon the protestant ministry of the state was regarded as having a direct bearing upon his defeat.

Incomplete returns this morning indicated that the Davis majority over President Coolidge and Senator LaFollette will exceed 25,000. W. B. Pine, republican of Okmulgee, had a majority over Walton of approximately 90,000 votes.

Five of the democratic and one republican congressmen apparently were safely reelected while in two districts the contests continued close during the early hours of today. Six democratic supreme court candidates were elected, while Oklahoma voters selected a democrat for a place on the corporation commission and named another democrat to the criminal court of appeals.

OREGON HEAVY FOR CAL

Coolidge Doubles Combined Votes For Other Two Candidates.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 4.—President Coolidge's lead in Oregon was increasing with each new tabulation tonight. When 365 complete and incomplete precincts out of 1,760 had been compiled, the votes stood:

Coolidge 25,238; Davis 8,170; LaFollette 8,715. The figures for U. S. senator stood: McNary, republican, incumbent, 18,751 Miller, democrat, 6,079; Coulter, progressive, 1,902.

DEMOS STILL HOPEFUL.

Remebrer 1916 is Shaver's Answer to New York Concessions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—"Remember 1916," D. C. Hodgkin, assistant to Chairman Shaver of the democratic national committee said tonight that several prominent eastern newspaper supporting John W. Davis had conceded the election of President Coolidge. Committee officials in Washington, he added "await confidently" the returns from western and border states.

$20,000 GEMS STOLEN

Representative of Gotham Jewelry Concern Robbed in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 5.—Henry Agate, vice-president and traveling representative of a New York jewelry concern, reported to the police shortly after midnight that gems valued at approximately $200,000 had been stolen from his room in a local hotel. Police said it probably was the largest theft of the kind ever reported in the south.

JACK WALTON DEFEATED

Pine, Republican Candidate Piles up Big Lead Tuesday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 4.—In a race in which party lines were almost obliterated, W. B. Pine, republican senatorial candidate, had at 10 p. m. piled up a big lead over Jack Walton, democrat, former governor, although the democratic presidential nominee was leading President Coolidge.

Eight hundred and forty-nine precincts out of 3,184 gave Pine 77,395; Walton 46,082. Six hundred and seventy-nine precincts gave Davis 48,604; Coolidge 38,314; La Follette 5,867.

Six democratic congressmen and one republican seeking re-election at 10 p. m. had commanding leads over their opponents. In the eighth district the democratic candidate was setting the pace for the republican entrant.

Coolidge Makes No Comment On Election Returns

Retires Early This Morning After Receiving Election Reports

THANKS BUTLER

Tells Campaign Manager Greatest Campaign He Has Known

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—President Coolidge will have no statement to make on the election tonight it was said at the White House soon after 11 o'clock.

After reading the returns during the entire evening with Mrs. Coolidge in the White House, President Coolidge retired shortly before one o'clock this morning. He issued no statement on the election.

Just before retiring President Coolidge addressed the following message to William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee at Chicago:

"I want to thank you for your conduct of the greatest campaign that I have ever known. Your management has been supurb."

WISCONSIN LAFOLLETTE

Unofficial Returns Give Independent 25,000 Lead

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Unofficial returns received from every county in the state representing about one-third of the 2,670 precincts in the state gave Senator LaFollette a lead over President Calvin Coolidge for the presidency of 25,000 votes. The returns were from 918 precincts and gave LaFollette 130,422; Coolidge 105,796 and Davis 19,377.

Governor J. J. Blaine apparently was victor over Martin L. Lueck, democrat, who had some republican support. Governor Blaine ran on the republican ticket with LaFollette's endorsement. The entire republican state ticket apparently is elected by heavy pluralities.

Wisconsin may send two socialists to congress, Victor L. Berger, being reelected in the fifth district and Leo Kryzke apparently defeating Representative John C. Shafer, republican. In all other districts in the state the republican incumbents in congress apparently are elected.

DEMOS LEAD IN N. M.

National and State Tickets Victorious In New Mexico

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 4.—All democratic candidates, both national and state had leads on the face of returns compiled by the Associated Press at midnight. John W. Davis had a greater vote than the combined total of President Coolidge and Senator LaFollette. The figures were: Davis 5,193; Coolidge 4,494; LaFollette 247.

WASHINGTON FOR COOLIDGE

23 of 39 Counties Give President Commanding Advantage

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 4.—With 23 of the state's 39 counties reporting and new precincts increasing his lead, President Coolidge appeared certain of Washington's seven electoral votes at midnight tonight. He had nearly a 2 to 1 lead over Senator Robert M. LaFollette, his nearest opponent, and a six to one lead over John W. Davis. Three hundred and twenty-seven precincts out of the state's 2,437 gave Coolidge 37,093; LaFollette 20,828 and Davis 6,034.

COOLIDGE CARRIES UTAH.

Reports at Midnight Indicate He Leads John W. Davis.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 4.—Reports from throughout Utah up to 12 o'clock tonight intimated that President Coolidge had carried the state and would pile up a total perhaps greater than the combined figures for John W. Davis, democrat, and Robert M. LaFollette, independent.

DAVIS LEADS COOLIDGE

Democratic Candidates Hold Shade In New Mexico.

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 4.—John W. Davis had a slight lead over President Coolidge and democrats on the congressional and gubernatorial tickets were running ahead of their opponents when returns from the election in New Mexico were tabulated at 11:30 o'clock. The presidential returns for 40 precincts out of 715 were:

Coolidge 3,259; Davis 3,740; LaFollette 153.

WALKER IN GEORGIA

He is Re-Elected Governor by an Overwhelming Majority.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 4.—Clifford Walker was re-elected governor of Georgia by an overwhelming majority over his independent opponent H. B. Baylor, today. The rest of the democratic state ticket was unopposed and polled the usual majority.

FLIERS OVER TUCSON

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 4.—The world fliers passed over Tucson at 2:55 p. m., mountain time, on their way to El Paso, Texas, from San Deigo, Calif.

Coolidge-Dawes Sweep New York State; T. R. Loses

Incomplete Returns Show 700,000 Plurality for The Republican Nominees

AL SMITH WINS

Teddy Loses Early Up-State Lead Before Smith Band Wagon Scramble

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Coolidge and Dawes swept New York state with a plurality that had reached over 700,000 when all but 1,307 districts in the state had been tabulate at midnight. Of the districts missing, 465 were in New York city and 932 up state.

Governor Smith had a good lead in New York city. Theodore Roosevelt, republican candidate for governor had a margin of 40,000 in the whole state. Smith plurality in New York city was 262,809. Roosevelt polled a heavy vote upstate, but the democrats confidently claimed the governor's re-election by over 100,000. Republican leaders in some instances conceded the re-election of Smith.

At midnight Governor Smith had overcome the margin which upstate districts had given Theodore Roosevelt, republican, nominee for governor, and had a lead throughout the state of 16,741 from 5,376 districts out of to total of 7,563 in the state, including 1,771 out of 2,970 in New York city. The New York press generally conceded the re-election of the governor.

VERMONT FOR COOLIDGE

President Topheavy Favorite In Native State

MONT PIELER, Vt., Nov. 4.—With only small towns missing Vermont, the native state of President Coolidge gave for president: Coolidge 80,345; Davis 16,108; LaFollette 5,910.

CAL GAINS IN KENTUCKY.

He Sags Behind Then Makes Spurt To Take Lead.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 4.—After running second, at times more than 10,000 votes behind, President Coolidge took the lead in the presidential race in Kentucky late tonight when returns from 2,866 precincts out of 3,971 were reported. The vote:

Coolidge, 291,051; Davis, 290,920; LaFollette, 24,426.

DAVIS WINS ARKANSAS

Democratic Nominee Nearly Doubles Coolidge Votes.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 4.—With 259 out of 1,967 precincts in Arkansas reported at midnight, John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, had received more votes than President Coolidge and Robert M. LaFollette combined. The vote: Davis 24,113; Coolidge 14,471; LaFollette 5,107.

The same number of precincts gave Senator Joe Robinson, democrat, 37,911 and Chas. P. Cole, republican, 11,028.

OHIO CANDIDATES CLOSE

Gubernatorial Contests Running Neck And Neck.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 4.—Governor A. V. Donahey, democrat, and former Governor Harry L. Davis, republican, were running one of the closest races in Ohio history tonight as early returns from today's election were tabulated. With 883 of the state's approximately 8,400 precincts heard from, the totals were: Davis 68,668; Donahey 73,254.

DAVIS PUSHES COOLIDGE

Democrat Hot on Republican's Trail In Arizona Balloting.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 4.—Calvin Coolidge and John W. Davis were running fairly close in Arizona tonight when returns from nearly half of the state's precincts gave the president 7,498 votes and Davis 6,628.

COOLIDGE IS ELECTED

where he appeared to have established a lead that could not be overcome.

In the congressional election, with a few more than half of the returns in, the republicans had made a net gain of seven in the house, and were in a fair way to take three senatorial seats away from the democrats and one from the farmer-labor party.

Republicans Make House Gains.

The republican gains in the house were in the first New Hampshire district, Delaware at large and the twelfth, fourteenth, nineteenth, twenty-second and thirtith Pennsylvania. The new congress will have at least one woman member. Mrs. Mary Norton, a democrat, was elected from the twelfth New Jersey district.

The three democratic senatorial candidates who were trailing their republican opponents in a fight for seats now held by democrats were Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, opposed by Speaker Gillett of the house of representatives; Senator Stanley of Kentucky, opposed by Fred M. Sackett, and J. C. Walton of Oklahoma, whose opponent is W. B. Pine.

In Iowa, Senator Smith Brookhart, a republican member of the LaFollette bloc in the senate, and chairman of the Daugherty investigating committee, was running behind the democrat senatorial nominee, Daniel F. Steck. As a sequence to a mid-campaign attack by Brookhart on President Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes, the regular republican leaders in Iowa withdrew their support from him.

Democratic senators were elected by customary democratic majorities in several states of the south and incomplete returns also insured that several of the outstanding figures on the republican side of the senate will be present at the next session.

Senator Borah of Idaho was re-elected by an overwhelming majority.

Mrs. Nellie G. Ross, also a democrat, was running ahead for governor of Wyoming on fragmentary first returns.

She is the widow of the late governor, who was a candidate for re-election and died several months ago.

No Upsets In Congressional District Returns

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Up to 11 o'clock tonight, eastern standard time, complete returns had been received from only 104 congressional districts, and no upsets had been recorded.

At the same hour returns sufficient to indicate an election had been received on only eight of the 34 senatorial contests. Seven were democrats from southern states, and the eighth was a republican—Capper, of Kansas. The reelection of Borah of Idaho was conceded by his opponent. The democrats were Heflin, Alabama; Robinson, Arkansas, the minority leader of the senate; Harris, Georgia; Blease, South Carolina, who succeeds Senator Dial, a democrat; Ransdell, Louisiana; Harrison, Mississippi and Simmons, North Carolina.

Of the 104 congressional contestants whose election was assured 68 were democrats—the great majority from southern states, and 26 were republicans. The 104 total does not include the four republicans from Maine elected in September.

Among the republicans returned to the house were the chairmen of several of the most powerful committees, including representatives, Graham, Pennsylvania, head of the judiciary committee; Butler, Pennsylvania, chairman of the naval committee; McFadden, also of the same state, chairman of the banking committee and Porter, likewise from Pennsylvania, head of the foreign affairs committee; Snell, New York, chairman of the rules committee.

Prominent democrats reelected included Garner, Texas, ranking on the ways and means committee; Oldfield, Arkansas, the minority whip; Quin, Mississippi; Vinson, Georgia; Pou, North Carolina, and Wingo, Arkansas, ranking democrats on the military, naval and rules and banking committees, respectively.

Wurzbach, the lone republican member of the house from Texas, was reelected as was James, Michigan, republican, who usually identified himself with the LaFollette insurgents, and Jacob Stein, a democrat from upstate New York who had LaFollette's endorsement.

Harvey Chosen Chairman Of Church Board

First Presbyterians Select Elders and Trustees Officers

R. O. Harvey was chosen chairman of the board of trustees of the First Presbyterian church at a meeting of the official board at the church Monday night. C. E. McCutchen, treasurer, was chosen vice-chairman; Raymond Myers was elected secretary, and W. U. McCutchen, financial secretary.

With the pastor, Rev. Nat F. Grafton, moderator of the board of elders, C. W. Beavers was chosen vice-moderator, and Fred Goss, clerk.

The board of trustees is to see after the material interests of the church, while the board of elders is to look after the spiritual interests, it was announced. The two boards will meet the first Monday nights in each month, it was announced.

It was voted at the meeting that a church business manager be employed at an early date to manage the financial affairs of the church.

ARE FREED FOR HEROISM.

Convicts Gain Liberty For Conduct in an Emergency.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 4.—Heroism displayed by them when D. D. Brooke, county prison warden, was killed by a premature explosion of dynamite last Friday has resulted in the release of three convicts from prison here. They are John Kelley, Charles Vernon and Harry Wolfson, who, although injured themselves, placed the dying official in an automobile and drove to a hospital.

Kelly attempted to reach Brooke and Isadore Pommerance, a convict, who was fatally injured, while the fuse to a second charge was still burning and was nearly killed by the explosion.

RETIRED RANCHER DEAD.

Col. John Nasworthy, 76, Passes Away at San Angelo.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 4.—Colonel John R. Nasworthy, 76, prominent retired ranchman and resident of Tom Green county, since 1872, died at his home here early today. Burial will be made here Wednesday afternoon. Surviving are the widow, who is critically ill; three sons and one daughter.

An outstanding figure in the development of this section of west Texas from a frontier entirely devoted to cattle raising to a diversified area, Colonel Nasworthy was famous in early days as a breeder and owner of race horses.

HERRIOT IS WINNER.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The chamber of deputies today gave Premier Herriot a vote of confidence, 410 to 170, when upon the reconvening of parliament he demanded the indefinite postponement of interpellations, the chief of which was criticism of the government for renewing the Morgan loan to aid France in stabilizing exchange.

Extra Ballot Boxes Used In N. York Record Breaking Election In All Precincts

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—When the polls closed in New York state at six o'clock tonight, party leaders predicted that a record breaking vote of over 3,000,000 had been cast. The weather was cool and clear throughout the state.

So heavy was the vote in some New York districts that extra ballot boxes and ballots were necessary.

The voting in New York city was the most orderly in recent years. There were comparatively few arrests for illegal registration and no complaints of any serious trouble or interference with voters at the polls.

John W. Davis, democratic candidate for the presidency, after voting at his home in Glen Cove, Long Island, played golf this afternoon and came to the home of Frank L. Polk in Manhattan to receive the returns with a few intimate friends this evening.

Theodore Roosevelt, republican candidate for governor, after voting in the Cove Neck district of Oyster Bay, returned to his home to celebrate the fifth birthday of his son, Kermit, and spent the evening there with a party of friends, receiving returns by telephone from the republican state headquarters in New York city.

Governor Alfred E. Smith, the democratic gubernatorial candidate, attended mass in memory of his mother in a Brooklyn church this afternoon, voted at his home on the east side and then went to the Baltimore hotel to receive the returns.

SINGER PROVES A CROOK.

Man Living With Pastor Accused of Many Robberies.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Francis Windfield Hart, 24, singer in a church choir and living in the apartment of his pastor, was arrested by police here today and accused of a long series of "Jimmy" robberies which have been keeping the northwest section of the city on edge.

Police declare Hart admitted perpetration of a dozen robberies and they also said loot estimated to be worth $15,000 was found in his room. The Rev. Meade B. MacBryde, in whose home Hart lived, said the latter after a disagreement a month ago with his parents had sought his assistance and that he had taken him under his own roof and had, meanwhile, interested himself in obtaining work for him.

SHE GOES TO INDIA.

Mary MacLaren, Film Star, Abandons Screen for Home.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—A lonely outpost in the Punyet, northern India, will be the home of Mary MacLaren, one of the earliest motion picture stars, who is sailing Saturday to follow the military life of her husband, Lieutenant Colonel George H. Young, an English army officer. Miss MacLaren has abandoned the screen. She and Lieutenant Colonel Young were married last month in California.

We have settled again the question of style and quality. The new mid-season styles (in a recent shipment) have a swing to the lines that catch the eye, and a hardy quality to preserve the swerve of every curve.

The "Chappy"

Ra-ather British, don't 'cha know. The snap brim with welt edge is wide and straight and the turn down front gives it the "loungy" air. Colors of Bludell, Pearl, and Opal.

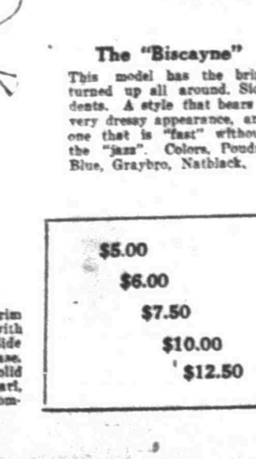

The "Dauphin"

Here's one with the brim turned up all around with a full sweeping curve. Side dents, with center crease. The band is wide on solid dark colors. Colors, Pearl, Stone Gray. Velours predominate in this style.

The "Pola"

A model for the older, more dignified man. Center crease no side dents. The band is wide of solid dark colors. Colors, Poudre Blue, Bludell, Pearl, Gray, Tan. A most popular model this season from the many who choose it.

The "Biscayne"

This model has the brim turned up all around. Side dents. A style that bears a very dressy appearance, and one that is "fast" without the "jazz". Colors, Poudre Blue, Graybro, Natblack.

COTTON.

There are two million American cotton growers. That is two million southern families are engaged in cotton production. According to the government the American crop for 1924 will be 12,675,000 bales. Texas has produced a crop or rather will produce a crop this year of 4,300,000 bales or more than a third of the cotton crop of America.

Regardless of politics and the politicians or their followers who are raving and ranting Texas should be on easy street when the Christmas holidays come. Cotton is the gold crop of the south. It represents new money and this money comes from the manufacturing states of the union and the manufacturing nations of the earth.

Texas cotton growers are reminded that there has been a turn for the better in the British cotton trade. British mills are working longer time and British export business is beginning to expand. A London dispatch says that the Master Spinners Federation has recommended all mills using American cotton to work 32 hours weekly instead of 26 1-2 hours.

Another sign of the improving times in England is to be found in the fact that dividends of spinning companies are tending to increase. Here at home domestic mills are steadily increasing their activities and mill men say there will be a heavy demand for supplies of raw cotton. Present prices for cotton are lower than a year ago and the buyers for American spinners are in the market.

According to the London cotton economists more settled conditions in Europe are expected soon to supplement the increased orders now being received and they say freedom from wild cotton price movements will give increased confidence to foreign buyers. A year ago high priced cotton made the southern farmer glad. There is no reason why he should not be glad this year.

There is going to be a heavy demand for American cotton, and $750,000,000 of new money will find its way to pockets of Texans before the coming of the spring of 1925. Cotton is the king of Texas crops and the growers of Texas in the west and northwest sections of the state will not finish gathering the fleecy staple until late in December.

There are unpicked fields, white with cotton in many of the black land counties and the demand for pickers appears to be as great as ever notwithstanding that pickers are being paid fancy prices for their work and the fine weather has been in their favor.

SCORPIO.

Today's planetary aspects are adverse, and counsel the pursuit and carrying out of ordinary duties only. Risk, speculation and hazard must be avoided, unless disastrous consequences are invited. Today there will be a strong tendency to bad temper and general disagreeableness; trifles that, on other occasions, would pass unnoticed by you, will annoy and exasperate. Self-control must be exercised so as to avoid disagreement, and care should be exercised in correspondence: if you are prompted to write a stinging leter, by all means write it, but do not mail it, until after you have re-read it tomorrow.

A child born today will enjoy a fairly healthy infancy, but, just prior to the period of adolescense, will, in all probability, suffer from a serious ailment, which will demand much loving care and unremitting vigilance. Its character will be rather tempestuous, its disposition, variable, its mentality, keen. This child will be subject, at all times, to violent ebullitions of temper, and strong disciplinary measures must be employed to correct this failing. Its character will reveal an unreliable disposition, at times bubbling over with warm affection, at other times, savoring of coldness and aloofness. If a boy, its success will be found along professionel, rather than commercial lines.

If today is your birthday, you, without any apparent justification, are timid and lacking in any degree of assertiveness. Physically, you are prepared, speaking figuratively, to tackle a mountain Mentally, you possess no self-assurance and are always ready to underestimate your own ability, and to under-rate your own charms.

This is frequently shown both in your commercial or professional as well as your social life. You reem afraid to take a chance, and will, of a certainty, never be numbered amongst those who rush in where angels fear to tread. Without affection, and in all sincerity, you suffer from an excess of humility and exaggerated self-disparagement.

Assertiveness, where there is no foundation on which to build, is possibly as much to be condemned and as little productive of lasting results, as the great defect from which you suffer. In your case, however, the foundation of solid merit and worth exists, but the structure you have erected thereon, owing to your lack of building material, is small and disproportionate. It is, possibly a two or three story structure, whereas it could well be a skyscraper.

The success we achieve in this world is invariably proof of our ability, or inability, as salesmen. Better far it is to have attempted something worth while and to have failed than to have never attempted anything at all.

Successful people born on this date are: Edward W. Setrell, civil engineer; William Corliss, safe inventor; Ella Wheeler Wilcox, poet; Arthur Fotte, composer; Ida Tarbell, editor and author.

The real housing problem is to make a neighborhood seem desirable even though people can afford it.

More Truth Than Poetry

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE

I do not chide the man who mows
My lawn, and clears away the snows
Which in this chill ungentle clime,
Clog up my paths in Winter time,
Because he says, in terms concise,
"Da tool he cost da bigga price,
So I no ecme another day
Unless I get da bigga pay."

I know that mowers and shovels too
Cost far more than they used to do,
And that this poor Ital-i-an
From day to day must scheme and plan
To keep his kids in clothes and food—
Thirteen, I'm told, are in his brood.
And though I need the money sore,
I pay the raise he asks me for.

But when my dentist says to me,
While probing with a hideous glee
In jumping nerves: "My instruments
Now put me to a big expense.
Each tooth I grind or pull or fill
Will cost a fifty dollar bill,
Which isn't such an awful lot,
Considering—". I answer: "WHAT?"

The men who bring me meat or ice
Or groceries may raise their price.
I say, the while I sip or sup:
"These tradesmen's costs are going up,
And though they charge me like the deuce,
At least they have a good excuse."
But when the denists want a rise
I can't forgive the greedy guys!

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE TRAGEDY OF MOTHERHOOD

Recently a play, written by Martha Stanley, was produced in New York under the title of "My Son."

It was an illustration of the tragedy of motherhood. The mother instinct is doubtless the strongest in the human race. It goes back to animal life and is one of the deepest and most secure of our emotions.

A man will live a long while, but never find a friend who is invariably well disposed to him like a mother.

The mother has an unshakeable belief in the goodness of her offspring. It is not a belief founded upon intelligence, nor reason, but one which has its roots deep in the fundamental emotions.

Nothing can ever change it. No acts on the part of the son can alter it. Even when he is proved culpable or unworthy, the affection still remains and a mother is quick to find excuses for all that he does.

Wherever there be other ties, they can be broken. Friends leave us, wives can get disgusted and quit, brothers and sisters can be alienated, but mother love continues down to her dying day.

This love even prompts the mother to do things that are injurious to her child. She is apt to want to give him advantages, and sacrifice herself for him, when, as a matter of fact, he needs no sacrifice, but hard knocks that shall enable him to stand upon his own feet.

It is an interesting and tragic thing to reflect that there is no rapscallion in the country, not a thug nor a criminal nor a ne'er-do-well, but there is, back somewhere in the offing, the shrouded figure of a mother who believes in him.

Doubtless this unchanging affection is necessary in order to hold the world together, but it is not always happy for its possessor. When a man wrecks his own life by his indiscretion he knows that he is injuring and paining her who gave him birth more than himself or any other person.

The great tragedy of wrong-doing is not found in the wrong-doers so much as in the mothers of them.

EXCUSE ME, PLEASE!

I have been spending the week-end with some friends who have a very beautiful yacht. A great many interesting things happened while I was aboard, but I will have to tell them to you at a later date. Just now, all I can think of is a crazy little poem I read years ago, called "A Sea Dirge."

"There are certain things—as a spider, a ghost,
The income tax, gout, an umbrella for three—
That I hate, but the thing that I hate the most
Is a thing they call the Sea.

Pour some salt water over the floor—
Ugly, I'm sure you will allow it to be;
Suppose it extended a mile or more,
That's very like the sea.

Beat at dog till it howls outright—
Cruel, but all very well for a spree;
Suppose he did so day and night,
That would be like the sea.

It is pleasant and dreamy, no doubt to float
With thoughts as boundless, and soul as free;
But suppose you are very unwell in the boat,
How do you like the sea?

For I have friends who dwell by the coast—
Pleasant friends they are to me;
It is when I am with them I wonder the most
That anyone likes the sea.

The Man With The Broken Nose Or The Strange Adventure of a Rolls-Royce

By MICHAEL ARLEN.

Ever been to the National Gallery?" asked George Tarlyon.

It was an offensive question to ask a grown man, but I answered it.

"I can't help thinking," said Tarlyon, "that you did Madam Tussaud's the same afternoon * * *."

"If you want to know, it was the Tower, St. Paul's, and the National Gallery that I did on the same afternoon. My mother took me."

"Of course, I can't compete with your mother," said Tarlyon; "but I will take you—now. Waiter—the bill, please."

It was a day in July, and we were sitting over luncheon at the Cafe Royal. It was very warm for the time of the year. I don't know if I have mentioned it, but I am something in the city. There was, if you remember, a slump in the city in the summer of 1922. I was in that slump. And so, with one thing and another, I sighed.

"Come on," said Tarlyon firmly. "One must not neglect art. And two certainly mustn't." Poor, silly man!

We walked from the Cafe Royal to Trafalgar Square, which is an untidy walk on a glaring afternoon in July. And then we walked about the gallery; we looked at paintings with that rapt look which scan see All Round and Into a thing; and we stood before "Musidora Bathing Her Feet."

It was as we turned away, talking loftily about legs, that we were confronted by a tall and dark young man.

"Sir," he addressed Tarlyon, "I would be obliged if you would tell me in which gallery hang the pictures by Manet?"

One wondered why he didn't ask one of the many uniformed men who are strewn about the gallery for the purpose of being asked that kind of thing.

"You are quite sure," Tarlyon put frankly to him, "that you do not mean Monet?"

"Manet," said the dark stranger, and looked as though he meant it.

"Well, then, you are in luck," said Tarlyon; "for we, too, were just about to view the Manets. We are partial to Manet. This way."

Pantomime —By J. H. Striebel

HOW IT STARTED

"I WISH I WAS IN DIXIE."

Like so many of the old songs that have won a permanent place in our hearts "Dixie" has a story in its origin, a story related, we are told, by its author.

In 1859 Dan Emmett, the celebrated black-face entertainer, was once asked to write a song that would be so "catchy" that it would be whistled by the boys on the street. Not wishing to refuse, but momentarily without inspiration, Dan racked his brain.

Up against it, he paced the floor—but no idea. Throwing up his hands he said despairingly: "Oh, I wish I was in Dixie." And in his spoken words was the inspiration for the song that has survived the coming and going of much popular music and bids fair to live forever.

Dan Emmitt died in 1904 at the venerable age of 89.

It Is Up to the Wife to Make Marriage a Success Because Matrimony Is Her Business and When She Fails, and Her Home Is Broken Up, She Is Bankrupt In Purse as Well as In Heart.

A woman correspondent writes to me: "Why do you write so much about wives trying to hold their husbands' love, and it being women's duty to make a happy home?

"Doesn't it ever occur to you that women get just as weary of domesticity as men do, and that wives become just as much bored with their husbands as men are with their wives?

"Sometimes they get even more so, because most women are home all day, treading the monotonous round of housewifely work, whereas their husbands at least have the diversion of seeing new faces and talking to new people at the office, so a few hours in the evening are really a change to them and restful to them, while the woman is fed up on home, sweet home until she often comes to loathe it. So why isn't it just as much up to a man to make a happy home as it is to a woman?

"And why shouldn't a man meet his wife when he comes home of evening with a glad, sweet smile of welcome, instead of her having to grin like a cheesy cat at him? And why shouldn't he exert himself to be bright and amusing and gossipy, and tell her all the bundle of funny stories he has heard during the day to keep her diverted so she won't want to put on her hat and go out to find amusement, instead of her working like a coal heaver to keep him so entertained that he will be willing to spend his evenings at his own fireside?

"It seems to be the general opinion that when a woman is once in love she has a fatal case that she never gets over, and that she never loses her affection for her husband, no matter what sort of habits he has or what kind of a disposition he exhibits. She will keep on loving him and seeing in him the hero of her girlish dreams, even if he eats soup audibly and forgets to shave and wears dirty collars and talks about himself all the time and is stupid and dull and wearisome and grouchy and stingy.

"No woman expects her husband to keep on loving her unless she keeps herself attractive, but it positively never occurs to a man that his wife could fall out of love with him if she tried.

"Now, so far as I am concerned, if my husband doesn't stay in love with me when I am my natural self and act the way I feel, he can just look out for somebody else. I am often bored with him and disgusted with him. Other wives are with their husbands at times, so why not tell husbands to make their wives contented and give them a little of the romance they crave?"

Truly, my correspondent is a daughter of Solomon, come to judgment, and none may dispute her pronouncement. Wives do get just as tired of their husbands and as much bored by them as husbands do with their wives, and many a man with a meek-looking, little patient Griselda of a wife would get the jolt of his life if he knew her real opinion of him.

A slouchy man with a two days' stubble of beard on his face and spots on his clothes is as disillusioning and as unkissable an object to a woman as any lady with cold cream on her face and in curl papers and a soiled kimona is to a man. It is just as much a man's business to keep his wife fascinated as it is a wife's to keep her husband vamped, and it is no more a wife's duty to be a little ray of sunshine in the home than it is a man's.

Why, then, put the loud pedal on the wife's part in making a happy home and keeping a marriage a going concern? Simply because, in the words of President Cleveland, "it is a condition, and not a theory, that confronts us," in trying to settle the domestic problem; because there are certain amenities in matrimony that must be practiced to make it a success, and men will not take the trouble or make the effort or even realize the necessity of practicing them, while there is always a hope that women will.

Also, it is more important to a woman to protect her home than it is to a man, for the home means not only the love nest to a woman, it means her meal ticket as well. It means not only her spiritual well being, but her physical comfort and safety.

When a man's home is broken up his heart may be sorely wounded, but that is all. He still has his business. He still has his money. He still has all the luxuries to which he has been accustomed.

But when a woman's home is broken up she not only has the heartache, but she is often reduced from affluence to poverty. Many a woman finds that her divorce gives her with her freedom the necessity of earning her own living for the first time in her life. And there is nothing on earth more pitiful than a middle-aged woman accustomed to wealth and ease and being taken care of, and with no knowledge of how to make a dollar, trying to support herself.

Making a happy home is just as much a profession as any other gainful occupation, and when a woman fails in that she goes bankrupt just as truly as she would if the sheriff had closed her out in any other line of business.

For a woman to say that she will not make an effort to make herself attractive to her husband, or do anything she doesn't feel like doing to please him, is to take an unfair advantage of her situation. She isn't playing cricket. She is presuming on the fact that she doesn't have to give satisfaction, because she can't lose her job.

She knows that if she were an employe instead of a wife she would have to make a mighty strenuous effort to be agreeable if she got along with her boss, and if she got any preferment it would be because she jollied him and handled him with gloves. And so it seems to me that it is an obligation of honor for a wife to try to please the one man who is legally bound to stand her.

Because it is good policy and good principle is why I continually urge women to try to do everything possible to make their marriages a success.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

"I Never Thought of That"

People who think at all, in time will come to think intelligently.

But people who think at all are in the minority.

The commonest excuse of the blunderer whose mistakes have cost himself or others a great deal of money or endless inconvenience is: "I never thought of that."

However trivial our own doings may be compared to those of the entire race, they are of the most tremendous importance to us, for by them we must stand or fall, survive or perish.

Not to think of them or to think of them only in a careless and haphazard way is the most utter folly.

Out of every 100 young men who start business, not more than 10 become really successful.

Those 10 are the ones who think.

The others go through the motions of their work regularly enough, but there are few of them who cannot some day be replaced by the marvellous machines which are being constantly devised to reduce to the minimum labor of human hands.

But no machine will ever replace the thinker.

The man in the front office who is responsible for the business that the concern has got, and who has spent long days and long nights working out ways and means to hold it to get more business can not be substituted with any machine.

He got where he is now by giving every job entrusted to him the amount of thought it required.

He never had to say, "I never thought of that," when a rival concern introduced a new system of getting business.

He thought of it as soon or sooner than the rival concern did, and adopted it and got results out of it.

During the war commanders on both sides were often compelled to say that they had never thought of methods of warfare which the enemy was putting into use with deadly results.

They were not the commanders who won the war.

The great leaders whose names will go down into history for all time did think of exactly what ought to be done, and put it into execution as soon as they had thought of it.

No man, by taking thought, can make all the new inventions or develop all the new systems that are a part of modern progress.

But by taking thought he can at least avoid costly blunders, and gain the reputation for care and trustworthiness which means promotion and enlarged opportunity.

There is no task, however, seemingly unimportant, which can be done without some cerebration, and every sizable task requires real thought and a lot of it.

The man who fails in every job he is given, fails usually because it is too much trouble to think about it.

He can of course explain his failure by saying, "I never thought," but that sort of explanation is a confession of incapacity, and usually costs him his job.

That this must have brought a ripple of laughter from Albert B. Fall, Charles Denby, Harry M. Daugherty and all who were concerned in the looting of the naval oil reserves which were protected from raiders by Woodrow Wilson and Josephus Daniels.

That William Wrigley gave $25,000 to the republican campaign fund and the net for the nine months of this year on his gum is $13,194,000.

That Steel Trust E. H. Gary knows there is money in steel, as he bought from the estate of Henry Clay Frick an opera box in the metropolitan diamond circle and paid for the same $200,000.

That former Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis said that non-voters should be subjected to jail sentences before he had called to mind that a survey of the mayoralty election in Chicago of 1923 indicated that Landis had not cast his ballot, although he was in the city and in his usual good health.

That there has been a ninety million dollar merger of Cuban sugar concerns, mostly owned by American capital and the sugar trust is happy because the president has refused to adjust the tariff tax until after the election.

That Harry F. Sinclair and the Russian government are to build a forty million dollar pipe line from Baku to Batoum, where the American is to build a huge refinery

Local D. A. R. Officers Owe Their Membership To Famed War Heroes

Eight Wichita Falls women who hold membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution, the state convention of which meets here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, owe their affiliation with that famous organization, to ancestry famed and sung in the annals of America's first great war. Other members of the order here too, have that same rare heritage, but the officers of Major Grice chapter of this city, who were largely instrumental in bringing the convention here, have an unusually interesting lineage.

Mrs. D. G. Whitney, regent, is a descendant of Nathaniel Delevan, who was one of nine brothers to serve in the war of the revolution. He held the commission of captain, and had command of his company. He escorted General Washington into the city of New York on November 25, 1783, after the evacuation of the English troops in taking possession of the city.

Descendant of Crockett.

Mrs. Fred T. Couper, first vice-regent of the local chapter, is a descendant of Hugh Crockett, one of the founders of Christianburg, Virginia. He was a colonel of the militia of Bartetourt county, Virginia, and assisted in the war of American Independence at that time. He was born in 1753.

Mrs. W. M. McGregor, second vice-regent, owes her membership in D. A. R. to Thomas Carter, who enlisted for service March 10, 1777 for three years as a private in Captain John Dandridge's company, first artillery regiment of Continental troops. The regiment was then assigned to the state of Virginia, and was commanded by Colonel Charles Harrison. Mr. Carter was promoted prior to May, 1778, and in December of that year became a gunner. In 1780 he was transferred to Captain Edden's company in the same regiment.

Mrs. E. C. DeMontel, recording secretary, traces her ancestry back to her great-great-grandfather John Tyler, father of the former president of the United States, who took an active part in establishing American independence. He was captain of a military company from 1775-78; judge of the Admiralty of Delegates, 1781-86; author of the Virginia Resolution to create the Assembly at Annapolis, Maryland, which brought about the federal convention in 1787. Later he became judge of state admiralty, general court, supreme court of the United States, and governor of Virginia. He died January 6, 1813, while serving as judge of the United States district court of Virginia. Thomas Jefferson who went to college with him spoke of him as "that veteran patriot who from the first dawn of the revolution to this day passed unchangeable the same honest courage."

One of Finest.

Henry Clay said of John Tyler in congress, 1841, "that a purer patriot never breathed the breath of life." The general assembly of Virginia pronounced him a "venerable patriot of the revolution," and went into mourning for 30 years following his death.

Miss Earle B. Carter is a direct descendant of Mark Hardin, captain in the Pennsylvania militia. He was placed on the pension roll in Washington city at the age of 83. Miss Carter is corresponding secretary of the Major Grice chapter.

Mrs. W. L. Herblin, Jr., treasurer, is a descendant of private James Gatewood who served under Colonel Rone of Virginia. He enlisted at Richmond and served four months in the army in 1780 when only a boy 16 years old.

The Spaulding Family.

Mrs. James Waggener, registrar, comes from the Spaulding family. She is a descendant of Samuel Spaulding who acted in the capacity of lieutenant of William Reed's company in 1776. He was enrolled in Daniel Emerson's company in Colonel Moody's regiment in 1779. He was also on roll in the enlistment from Colonel Kelly's regiment, 1779; for men named from this regiment for the defense of Rhode Island; on pay roll for recruits in continental service, 1780; on roll of Captain William Banon's company in Colonel Nichol's regiment 1780; county roll of men who enlisted 1782; and for those who enlisted in 1782 and were called "Kenniker men."

Mrs. J. E. H. Railey, chaplain, traces her membership to D. A. R. to John Stark who served in the Rogers company of rangers during the French and Indian war. He was made captain in 1756. Repairing to Campbridge on hearing of the battle of Lexington, he received a colonel's commission and enlisted 800 men in the same day.

At Bunker Hill

He fought bravely at Bunker Hill with his regiment, their only defense being a rail enclosure covered with hay. In the spring of 1776, he went to Canada where he commanded the van of the right wing in an attack on Trenton. He commanded the New Hampshire militia at the battle of Bennington in 1777. In September he enlisted a large force under General Gates with rank of major-general. He served in Rhode Island in 1778-79 and in New Jersey in 1780. In 1781 he had command of the northern department at Saratoga. Congress voted him a pension of $60 per month in 1818.

Election of state officers for the Daughters of the Revolution will be held during the sessions which are to be held here. More than a hundred delegates are expected from different points in Texas.

Mrs. W. R. Ward of Petrolia has returned home following a visit here with her sister, Mrs. R. A. Friedley, and attending the bedside of her nephew, Dary C. Daniel.

QUANAH ARMISTICE SUNDAY.

Elaborate Program Planned for Sunday and Tuesday.

QUANAH, Nov. 4.—Elaborate programs are being arranged for the ex-service men on Sunday, November 9, and Armistice day proper.

On Sunday the women's clubs of Quanah will give a banquet at the Quahah hotel, followed by a program at the Texan theatre. This program, while of a patriotic nature, will consist chiefly of musical numbers and short peace-time talks. Open house will be kept at the Elks club rooms all day Sunday.

On Armistice day the Elks will stage a Miller rodeo at the fair grounds, where all the features of roping, bulldogging, broncho riding, trick riding, will be staged by experts.

EIGHT DEAD IN CRASH

Only Four of 15 Survive After Accident at Northampton.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 4.—Only four of the 15 persons in a bus struck by a Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train late yesterday at a blind crossing in Northampton remained alive today. Only one of these, an infant, was thought to have a fair chance to recover. Eight were dead before rescuers arrived and three others died shortly afterwards.

Irrigation

BY A. M. M'PHERSON.

WATER

A Danger Which Threatens.

The purpose of these articles have been to educate the people here on matters concerning irrigation. We believe that this is the best irrigation project in the United States. We believe that it is the greatest single asset that Wichita Falls has. We also believe that few people here realize the advantages of irrigation and its wonderful possibilities.

At all times we have tried to point out the things that could be done to increase the value of irrigation to the people and tell of what has been done on other irrigation projects to make them successful.

However we feel that it is now time to take up and discuss certain matters that are of the greatest concern to the present land owners and to the people of Wichita Falls. They are of vital importance and are questions that must be answered sooner or later if the irrigation project is to be the success that it should be.

We have never heard of an irrigation project that escaped entirely the evils of waterlogging. There is no reason to believe that this project will escape. If you think so ask any man of any experience in irrigation about waterlogging. Ask him if he thinks this project will escape. He will tell you that waterlogging is the greatest menace to irrigation and that undoubtedly portions of this project will waterlog sooner or later.

It is probably not possible by any known means to prevent entirely waterlogging on certain parts of this project, but certainly the danger can be avoided to a great extent and the damage minimized by observing certain precautions that are now in use on all well managed projects.

It is of the waterlogging of our lands and the steps that should be taken now to prevent it that we will speak in future articles.

BIG COTTON CROP, QUANAH.

Hardeman County Shows 16,000 Bales Ginned.

QUANAH, Nov. 4.—To date 16,000 bales of cotton have been ginned in Hardeman county. It is estimated that the crop is probably half gathered, although there are many fields literally white with opened bolls that a picker has not been in.

The Quanah market has for the entire season been many points above surrounding towns, and as a consequence Oklahoma farmers and others from surrounding counties are bringing their cotton to Quanah. On last Friday 25 bales came in from one gin in Oklahoma because the price was 65 points above the market elsewhere. A. B. Carloss, one buyer, has already bought 30,000 bales this season, with average price of $115.00 per bale, or a total of nearly three and one-half million dollars.

The four gins at Quanah are running night and day, and farmers are often required to wait ten and twelve hours for their turn. The weather is ideal.

NEW STOCK FOR THE M-P

It Seeks to Issue $3,900,000 Trust Certificates To Make Purchases.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The Missouri Pacific railroad today applied to the interstate commerce commission for authority to issue $3,900,000 of Missouri Pacific equipment trust 5 per cent certificates, the proceeds to be used to acquire 50 locomotives, 1,000 automobile cars, two dining cars, two observation parlor cars, 75 cabooses and two wrecking derricks, the total cost of which will be $5,212,000.

SHE VOTES FOR GEORGE

Butte's Wife Casts First Ballot For Republican Candidate.

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—For the first time in her life Mrs. George C. Butte, wife of the republican candidate for governor, today voted for a republican. She accompanied her husband to the polls shortly after 9 a. m. and both cast their votes for Dr. Butte. Mrs. Butte is a life-long democrat. She said she voted the democratic ticket today except for governor, explaining that it was her belief that the democrats this year had no candidate for governor.

T-P WANTS EQUIPMENT

Asks Permission to Issue Trust Certificates of $3,285,000.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The Texas and Pacific Railway company applied to the interstate commerce commission today for authority to issue $3,285,000 of Texas and Pacific railway equipment trust certificates, the proceeds to be used in acquiring 2,000 box cars, 10 baggage and express cars, and three baggage and mail cars, the total cost of which will be $4,393,000.

MINISTER IS ABSOLVED

But His Acquittal Will be Carried to Higher Court.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 4.—An appeal to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church will be taken from the acquittal by the Madison Presbytery yesterday of Dr. George E. Hunt, pastor of Christ Presbyterian church here on charges of vilating ordination vows, the Rev. H. J. Aitcherson, Poinette, Wis., one of his three accusers, announced.

A vote of 4 to 21 cleared Dr. Hunt of charges of "unbelief in the confession of faith, the virgin birth of Christ, the creation as related in Genises, the scriptures as the word of God and opposition to a ruling of the generaly assembly."

Henry E. Andrews, Portage, Wis., moderator, resigned from the Presbytery with the declaration that he would not preside at a meeting involving such a controversy and three ministers of the church declined to act as moderators.

The charges against Dr. Hunt grew out of his defense of Dr. Henry E. Fosdick, New York Baptist, who was asked to retired from a Presbyterian pulpit.

BABY IS PARALIZED

Left Side Paralized When Ten-Months-Old Girl Falls From Porch

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4.—Eugene Davis, 10-months-old, fell from a porch at her home at Abita Springs two weeks ago, striking the ground head first, with the result that the whole of left side of her body was paralyzed. Officials at Charity hospital here announced that surgeons had removed three blood clots from the infant's brain and that they expected her to recover and regain full control of her muscles.

Lose Your Fat,
Keep Your Health

Superfluous flesh is not healthy. Neither is it healthy to diet or exercise too much. The simplest method known for reducing the overfat body easily and steadily is the Marmola Method, tried and endorsed by thousands. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain an exact dose of the famous Marmola Prescription. These tablets are sold by druggists the world over at one dollar for a box. They are pleasant to take and leave no wrinkles or flabbiness. They are popular because effective and convenient. Ask your druggist for them or send price direct to the Marmola Co., General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., and procure a box.—Adv.

"She Is Skinny"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good, healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face and run-down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the ill-smelling, nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamines that make flesh, creates appetite, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctors are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, which Smith Drug Co. and Tipton's Drug Co and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It's a wonderful upbuilding medicine for children, especially after sickness, and 60 tablets only cost 60c.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days, your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

NUNS STOP FIGHT

Wrest Large Knife From Hands of Malefactors

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Three nuns prevented a stabbing affray between two male employes in the Madonna home in Cherry street today when they wrested a 12-inch knife from one of the men and held him until police arrived.

Charles Hanson, 63-year-old chef in the home, was arrested on a charge of felonious assault in attacking Otto Pence, superintendent of the institution. The three nuns, hearing the quarrel, separated the two men and then disarmed Hanson. He was arraigned and held in $2,000 bail.

Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

HOMES TO BE BUILT WITH LEAN PURSES

By the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc.

There is just one way to reduce home building costs and that is to reduce them, but perhaps there are two methods of doing this. They both entail some sacrifice. One of these is to take less of the things you want. That means reducing quantities. The other way is not to have things quite so fine as they may be. That means reducing qualities. We will try and show you reductions along these two lines which are not such desperate matters after all. Perhaps you will be interested when you see that you can save at least 25 per cent of the cost of building by making reductions that will not spoil your house or cut down its comfort in any essential or permanent way.

Where to Start Saving

We are going to tell you how to do these things—not because we think it desirable for anybody to do without what we know is fine, but because we think you really want a home, and are ready to make sacrifices if somebody will tell you how to make them.

One of the things you can leave off is the porch. This is not as easy a thing to do in certain climates as in others. In certain localities porches are not used very much because evenings are cool and there is not much purpose in sitting on a porch at any other time than in the evening. For similar reasons they do not use porches to any great extent in California. Down south the omission of a porch is a kind of a major operation—far more important than having the appendix cut off—but still it can be done.

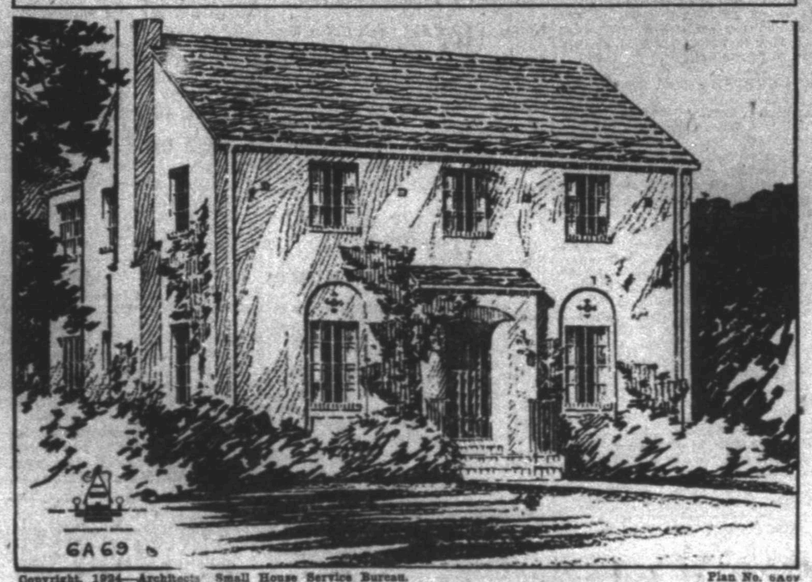

This is an example of what we mean by reducing quantities. We know there are many readers who are saying right now "I just would not have a house without a porch," and they are the kind of people who are doing without homes they might have. The porch might be added later on when there is money enough to pay for it.

Let us start by leaving off the porch. There are $400, $500 or $600 you can put in your pocket. If the porch you had in mind was to have been glazed there are several hundred dollars more saved. If you had a sleeping porch in mind to top off the sunporch, cut that off and credit your bank account with $200 or $300. These porches can easily account for $1,000.

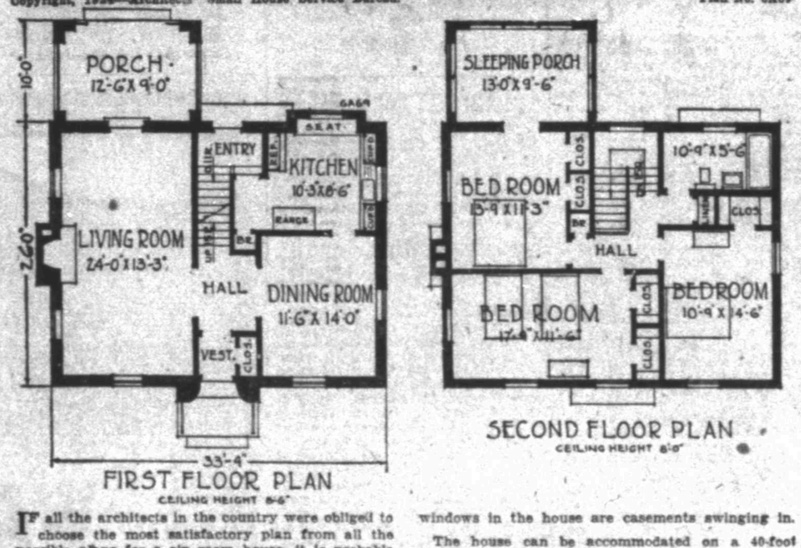

Other Things You Can Omit

Other things of a similar kind can be mentioned. For example, not so very many years ago the writer of this article lived in a house that had no basement. There was just space enough under the house, a small area, for the furnace. The man that built that house did not have deep foundation walls to build. He did not have to trouble with waterproofing. He avoided the expense of excavation, putting in footings and long piers to support the floor beams. He lived mighty comfortably in that house and the family was warm in cold weather. If it is a matter of cutting down costs to the absolute limit, you would not have to have any basement at all. The heating plant, one kind or another, could be put on the first floor. There are modern heating plants designed for this particular purpose.

SIX ROOM HOME—MASONRY WALLS

Copyright, 1924—Architects' Small House Service Bureau. — Plan No. 6A69

FIRST FLOOR PLAN — CEILING HEIGHT 8'-6"

SECOND FLOOR PLAN — CEILING HEIGHT 8'-0"

If all the architects in the country were obliged to choose the most satisfactory plan from all the possible plans for a six room house, it is probable that the majority of votes would be cast in favor of this particular type, which has been a favorite in the United States for centuries.

The design follows closely the Spanish type of architecture, which is characterized as far as domestic building is concerned, by flat stucco walls, cornices with very little or no overhanging roofs of tile, with ornamentations in the form of plaster arches and wrought iron railings.

The plan is out and out American. No Italian ever saw such a plan. Construction of this house is of poured concrete foundation wall with cement tile, concrete block, or clay tile for the superstructure. The interior partitions are of wood. The girder supporting the floor beams in the center of the house is steel. It is supported by steel columns, thus making possible a very permanent type of construction.

The exterior is Portland cement stucco finished as the home builder may desire to have it, but recommended to be sand floated. The windows in the house are casements swinging in.

The house can be accommodated on a 40-foot lot. The porch may be placed at the side, if desired, in which case a lot 50 feet in width would be required.

The house has been planned to give you the advantage of all reasonable economies in construction; the use of stock materials; simple, yet sound methods of building. If your requirements are not too high, the house should be inexpensive to build.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureaus of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., an organization made up of the representative practicing architects from leading architectural offices throughout the United States. This bureau is controlled by the American Institute of Architects, and has the indorsement of the Department of Commerce, United States government. It is practically a non-profit making public service, and has as its purpose the furnishing of a very complete and dependable small house plan service at modest cost. For information regarding the blue prints and specifications, address the Home Building Editor of this paper. The United States Bureau maintains an Information Department to answer home builders' questions at no charge. Enclose stamped addressed envelope.

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architect's Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. Inclose selfaddressed, stamped envelops for reply.

Q—We have a three room house and are thinking of adding two more rooms and excavating underneath the whole house. Will this be more expensive than tearing down the whole building and making a new one? How shall we go about doing this?

A—It will probably be less expensive to add an addition than to build completely new. The exact answer depends on the condition of the old house. If it is in good repair it would certainly be wise to save it. Do not start the work without an absolutely definite set of plans and specifications. Let the job to a good contractor.

Q—How do you find out how thick masonry walls for houses should be?

A—City ordinances generally fix the limiting widths. If you have no such ordinance, write to the department of commerce, Washington, D. C., for their pamphlet entitled "Recommended Minimum Requirements for Small Dwelling Construction." Send 15 cents in coin for this. In any case follow the directions of your architect.

Q—Please tell me why we have to rewax our floors so often. They are of oak. They were filled and a little yellow stain was used with the filler. The wax seems to wear out very quickly though we use the best we can buy.

A—This is unquestionably caused by the fact that you have not used a "sealing coat" to keep the stain from working up into the wax. There are special materials made for this. A coat of shellac does fairly well, but a coat of varnish is vastly better. Clean off the wax, put on a coat of varnish or shellac, then rewax, and you will have a permanent finish.

Q—We have a brick house. After every rain we have water stains underneath the window sills in our house. The paper comes off. I do not believe that there is any chance of this water coming in over the tops of the windows as these places have been examined and there does not seem to be any place for a leak. How can we correct this difficulty?

A—The water probably comes in underneath the sills. This is caused by their not being properly embedded in mortar, or not having other devices to form a water bar. A competent brick mason can probably remedy your trouble.

TROUBLE IN CHICAGO

Aged Judge and His Son Are Reported Killed In Tennessee

DAWES AND COOLIDGE SWEEP HOME PRECINCT.

EVANSTON, Ills., Nov. 4.—Charles G. Dawes and his republican running mate, Calvin Coolidge, carried his home precinct here by an overwhelming majority. The vote was:

Coolidge 593; Davis 54; LaFollette 28.

All but three persons registered in the precinct voted.

NO DISTURBANCES ARE REPORTED IN NILES, O.

NILES, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Troops here today dragged Mosquito creek in an unsuccessful effort to locate bodies reported thrown into the water during Saturday's ku klux klan-anti-klan riot. Reports had been current that men were killed in the rioting and their bodies spirited away. Colonel L. S. Connelly, in charge of Ohio national guardsmen still here, ordered the creek dragged. No disturbances were reported during today's balloting.

IOWA FAMILY CASTS ITS 12 VOTES FOR LA FOLLETTE.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 4.—Mustering 12 votes, the Peter Bauldauf family living near here, marched to the country voting place and cast a dozen ballots for LaFollette and Brookhart.

SAYS HE'S WELL, VOTES; GOES HOME, DIES.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Nov. 4.—John B. Kane, 65, left his grocery store here today and walked to a nearby voting booth. He dropped his ballot in the box and said smilingly:

"Well, I've not been feeling well of late, but I wanted to live long enough to vote for William Allen White."

Then he returned to his store. Seating himself in a chair, customers saw his head drop to his breast.

When they reached him he was dead.

MA AND HER HUSBAND CAST VOTE IN AFTERNOON.

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, democratic nominee for governor, and her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson, cast their ballots in the general election at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Ferguson's ballot was number 359 and that of her husband 360.

"I have had a good night's rest and am now ready to come down and see my vote flashed on the screen," said Mrs. Ferguson. She had no statement to make regarding the election.

VOTED FOR LINCOLN AND STICKS TO HIS RECORD.

FLINT.—Theorode Canright, 93 years old, who voted for Lincoln and who has cast his ballot at every presidential election since, kept up his record this year, though he fell at his home yesterday and was so seriously injured he will be unable to go to the polls.

COOLIDGES' VOTES ARE DROPPED IN THE BOX.

NORTHAMPTON.—The ballot of President and Mrs. Coolidge which were received here last Saturday by City Clerk James R. Mansfield will be counted late today in Ward 2, the president's home ward, along with those of other absentee voters.

DAVIS SAYS ASSUME HE VOTED "STRAIGHT."

LOCUST VALLEY.—John W. Davis voted in Glen Cove shortly before noon today. His ballot was number 232 and he said when he stepped out of the booth it might be safely assumed he had voted the "democratic ticket straight." Mrs. Davis accompanied the candidate. Her ballot was number 233.

BALLOT BOXES AND BOOTHS BURN IN FIRE.

CHICAGO.—The first appearance of election day disturbances here came early today when a fire of mysterious origin in a north side real estate office used as a polling place, destroyed the ballot boxes and booths. The precinct's supply of ballots were not there at the time, but were in the possession of the judges of election at their homes.

ONE MAN SHOT AND IS FATALLY WOUNDED.

CHICAGO.—Anton Rudzinski was shot and probably fatally injured today after he had gone to a polling place to vote. The police began a search for several men without any information as to the cause of the shooting. The attack was the first violence in connection with the election.

104 YEAR OLD WOMAN CASTS VOTE IN N. Y.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—Among the first voters at the polls in Jamestown today was Amy E. Prince, 104 years old. She took her place in the line of voters, waited her turn, asking no help in the manipulation of the voting machine.

TWO KILLED AND ONE WOUNDED IN TENNESSEE.

JACKSON, Tenn.—G. W. Bartholomew, 70, judge in a polling precinct at Middleburg, Tenn., and his son, J. L. Bartholomew, 40, are reported to have been killed and Professor Wm W. Rogers wounded today by Dan G. Powers, 50, who was defeated in the August primary as republican candidate for magistrate in Henderson county, according to advices received here from Lexington, county seat of Henderson county.

Rogers was acting in the role of peacemaker when he was wounded, according to reports received here. Powers is said to have escaped after the shooting in an automobile.

GOVERNOR BRYAN IS "SNAPPED" AS HE VOTES.

LINCOLN.—Governor and Mrs. Bryan appeared at the state capitol building at 11:30 this morning and cast their ballots in the state senate chamber, while movie cameras clicked and a crowd of state house employes looked on.

BALLOT BOXES AT CAPITAL BUT NO VOTE.

WASHINGTON. —, Ballot boxes heretofore known in Washington only by hearsay were visible everywhere in the downtown section of the capital today but they were padlocked and no votes were cast in them.

"All citizens of the United States are voting today except citizens of the District of Columbia," ballot boxes closed," read signs attached.

SUNSHADES AND SNOW SHOES IN CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The extremes of sunshades and snow shoes characterized the election in California today from a weather standpoint. Snow in the mountains called for the snow shoes, while the opposite extremes were experienced in southern California where it was sunny and warm.

LA FOLLETTE CHAIRMAN IN CHICAGO ATTACKED.

CHICAGO.—Nathan Feinstone, LaFollette chairman of the 46th ward, was found bleeding in the street near the 31st precinct polling place today, the result of having been slugged, Mrs. Englert, a LaFollette worker, reported to the Cook county headquarters of the LaFollette independent forces. Mrs. Englert took Feinstone to a hospital and then returned to the polling place to reinforce the only other LaFollette worker on duty there.

"Let them come back. I'm not afraid of the whole gang," Mrs. Englert said.

BOB VOTES WHERE HE STARTED 44 YEARS AGO.

MADISON.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, went to the Dane county court house early today and cast his vote at the same place where 44 years ago he entered political life as district attorney of Dane county.

DAWES USES HIS OWN PENCIL TO CAST VOTE.

EVANSTON, Ills.—Marking his ballot with a lead pencil from his own pocket instead of the customary blue pencil furnished by election officials, Charles G. Dawes, republican candidate for vice president, voted shortly before noon today at the polling place of the third precinct of the first ward of Evanston. Mrs. Dawes voted at the same time as her husband and almost as quickly.

EXTRA BALLOT BOXES IN NEW YORK NEEDED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The vote was rolling in so heavily this afternoon that election board found it necessary to send reserve ballot boxes to many of the 2,000 polling places in the city.

Election officials and political leaders predicted that the vote would break all records.

COOLIDGE CONGRATULATES THE G. O. P. CARAVAN.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Nov. 4.—John P. Cowan of Pittsburgh, Pa., manager of the Coolidge-Dawes Lincoln caravan of six automobiles bearing Plymouth, Vt., friends and neighbors of President Coolidge, received a telegram today from the president in which he expressed his appreciation of the manner in which the tour was conducted. The caravan ended its trip of 6,500 miles through 17 states with a demonstration here last night.

COOLIDGE CARRIED TAMMANY'S BOX.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—President Coolidge carried the home district of former Judge George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall, with a vote of 462. Davis had 191 and LaFollette 61.

COOLIDGE SCORES HIGH IN HARDING'S PRECINCT.

MARION Ohio, Nov. 4.—(AP)—President Coolidge carried the home precinct of the late President Warren G. Harding by a bigger vote than Mr. Harding did four years ago. That precinct—precinct G of the fourth ward, gave Coolidge 154; Davis 64 and LaFollette 13.

Four years ago it gave Harding 145 and Cox 119.

LIGHTS GO OUT IN LOUISVILLE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 4—(AP)—The electric lights throughout the city went out shortly after five o'clock this afternoon one hour after the polls closed. After being out 35 minutes, the lights came back on all over the city. Meanwhile, the courthouse, where election headquarters was located, was closely guarded by police. The cause has not yet been ascertained.

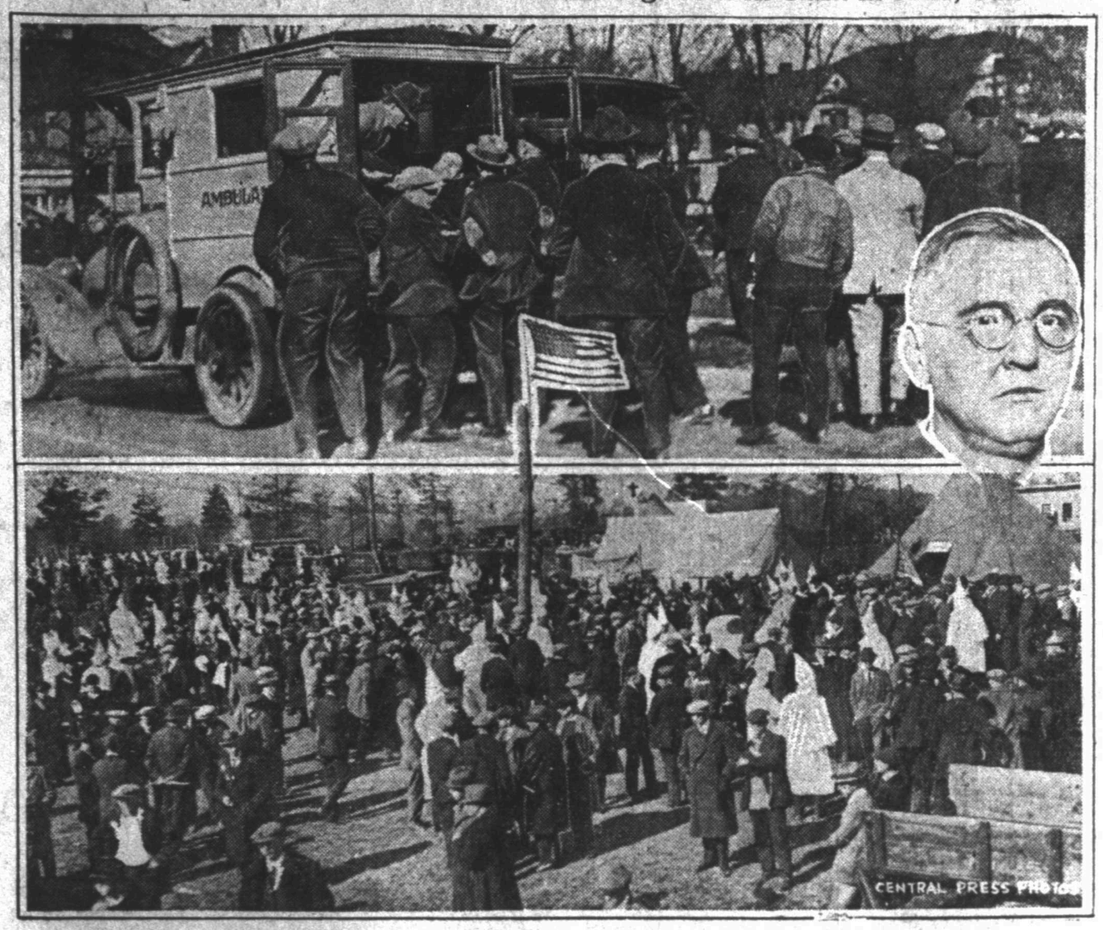

G. O. P. SENATE IN DOUBT

Must Win Seats in Tennessee And Kentucky, Avers Smoot

WASHINGTON, No. 4. — Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, after scanning early election returns tonight expressed the opinion that unless the republicans won seats in Tennessee and Kentucky they would be unable to organize the new senate. This view, he added, was on the presumption that "the insurgents will continue to follow a defeated leader."

Approximately 45 per cent of the United States' imports of goatskins originate in British India.

Frank Norfleet's Home Saved From Sheriff's Hammer

Ranchman Has Another Dramatic Fight to Keep His Fortune

PLACE IS SOLD

Hale County Rancher Adds New Chapter to His Romance

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 4 (AP)—As thrilling, almost, as his sensational pursuit and capture of the five confidence men who fleeced him of $40,000, is the story of the salvage of J. Frank Norfleet's home and ranch at Hale Center which was saved from the sheriff's hammer in a deal consumated in Dallas yesterday.

A security company which held notes aggregating more than $75,000 on Norfleet's property was to foreclose on the notes today. Norfleet had to raise the money no later than yesterday with no apparent means to do so.

Plenty of Action.

But the money was raised, the mortgage lifted and the nemises of one of the most extensive confidence rings in the criminal history of the United States disposed of his home and ranch at the price he had hoped to receive for it, in a climax that was redolent with dramatic action.

H. H. Berryman, Alto merchant, was the saviour of the property. Mr. Berryman had never met Norfleet until yesterday. He had only read in the newspapers of the determined little man's exploits in rounding up the men who had beat him out of his money. That was enough, that and a talk with Norfleet's wife.

While in Lubbock a few days ago Mr. Berryman met H. D. Chipley, real estate man of that town, and they drove to Norfleet's ranch home. Mrs. Norfleet welcomed them and explained her husband's financial predicament. Mr. Berryman was moved and after a few days consideration told Chipley that he would furnish Norfleet the desired cash. Chipley promised to deliver him to the Dallas offices of the security company holding the notes at 3 o'clock Monday.

Start for Dallas

Accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Ed Allen, wife of his partner, Chipley appeared at Mr. Berryman's home yesterday and the trip to Dallas was begun.

About 30 miles out of Lubbock and traveling at high speed Chipley lost control of the automobile and it turned over, pinning the occupants beneath.

None of them was injured, though the top and wind shield of the machine were demolished.

Because they had no time to lose the two men summoned aid and the automobile was righted and the trip renewed.

The party arrived in Dallas just 15 minutes later than their schedule and launched immediately into the transaction which had taken them to that city.

Sells for $153,000

Mr. Berryman, who joined Mr. Norfleet in Fort Worth yesterday evening, announced the consideration of sale was $153,000.

Norfleet with $45,000 in cash in a Fort Worth bank fell in with a gang of fake stock salesmen and market players in 1919. Tipped off by them, he saw small investments soar to large sums and was persuaded to risk his entire fortune in a market "flier." The fake market wires ticked, his stock "fell," the bogus salesmen and investment agents fled with the $45,000. Thereupon Norfleet took up the chase. One he caught in Florida, another in Utah, another in California, another in Washington. He traveled 18,000 miles in the pursuit, lasting three years. All of the salesmen have been convicted and either are in prison or are dead.

PORTABLE X-RAY MADE

Customs Inspectors Want Machines To Inspect Baggage

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The recent announcement here of the development in the General Electric laboratories of a portable x-ray machine has brought inquiries from a central American government concerning possibility of obtaining 1200 for use of customs inspectors at ports of entry.

The portable x-ray, according to its inventor, has the power of disclosing contents of bundles and of penetrating the walls of a room or a trunk and it was thought the device might be adapted to customs inspection work. The machine is not yet ready for commercial development, according to reports here.

KING'S NuTREATMENT

NO EXCUSE FOR PIMPLES AND BUMPS ON THE FACE

The boy or girl who is always conscious of their pimply, blotchy, inflamed or rough skin, and really drawing more attention to it when they keep making excuses for not looking good, don't get any sympathy because folks now know that it is not necessary to keep putting up with this sort of thing.

Since Black and White Ointment, and Black and White Soap, were introduced in this country, thousands of people who had been troubled with pimples, blotches, dark, rough skin, full of bumps, for years are now happy, because they find it gets rid of them so quickly.

Black and White Ointment is economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.—Adv.

CONVICTS IN PACKING BOX.

They Escaped From Federal Prison After Being Nailed In.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 4.—William Barnett and Morris Rubensky, two escaped convicts from the federal prison here who were found in a packing box aboard a Union Pacific train at St. Mary's, Kansas, today, were nailed in the box by Ralph Wolf, a prisoner-foreman, according to prison officials.

Barnett is serving 20 years for defacing and stealing government property. Rubensky is serving 25 years for participation in mail robberies.

STENOGRAPHER SUES BOSS

Alleges he Reflected on Her Character In Slanderous Statements

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—A jury in circuit court today awarded $7,500 to Miss Ethelyne Chrane in her suit against former Representative Manuel Herrick, of Oklahoma, because of statements he made which she charged had reflected upon her character. She was formerly his stenographer.

The statements were made in a declaration by Herrick filed in support of a suit he has brought against Miss Chrane for $50,000 damages for alleged breach of promise to marry him. Trial of the latter suit will proceed at once before a new jury panel.

Hotel and 13 Other Buildings Destroyed at Gratz, Pa.

GRATZ, Pa., Nov. 4. — Property valued at more than $200,000 was destroyed by fire which swept the center of this town early today, destroying the Union hotel and thirteen adjoining buildings. The blaze was put under control after help had been summoned from nearby towns.

Could Jim's Veto Stop Ratification U. S. Amendment

Attorney General Department Head Says "No"; Others Disagree

LEGISLATURE FINAL

Child Labor Amendment Back of Trouble; Platform Causing Dispute

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 4.—"Can a Texas governor veto the state's ratification of a federal constitution amendment?"

This question has been raised since the democratic state platform, written by James E. Ferguson, declares the party opposed to the child labor amendment which has been submitted by congress to the states for ratification. The opposition is said to be based, not upon the principle of a child labor amendment but to the particular form of the one which has been proposed, and the high age limit fixed in it, together with alleged control over the earning capacity of youths by the federal government.

"No," is the answer, according to the opinion of a member of the attorney general department, and former member of the legislature.

The governor has no authority to veto the legislature's action on ratifying or refusing to ratify an amendment to the U. S. constitution, it was declared.

The ratification takes the form of a concurrent resolution, requiring a majority of both houses for its adoption, the former representative pointed out.

All Over But Tabulating the Score

San Antonio's Best

JOHNNY SIMPSON

Johnny Simpson, San Antonio lightweight who meets Roughhouse Smith of Oklahoma in the 12-round main event of the legion card Thursday night, is a newcomer in Wichita Falls fistic circles, but Johnny comes with the reputation of being a whirlwind battler who has met a number of good boxers.

Simpson is San Antonio's most popular scrapper, and scribes in the Alamo City vouch for his ability to stage a bangup battle. The bout Thursday should be a whizzer because Simpson desires to box in Wichita Falls often, and will do everything in his pwoer to win the favor of local fandom.

TIMES SAYS "COOLIDGE"

New York Paper Supporting Davis Concedes His Defeat.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—New York Times, which supported the candidacies of John W. Davis and Governor Smith, conceded shortly before 10 o'clock tonight the election of President Coolidge and claimed the re-election of Governor Smith.

GLOBE DEMOCRAT'S CLAIM

As Early as 10 O'clock St. Louis Paper Declared Cal Elected.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—(AP)—At 10 o'clock tonight the Globe-Democrat which had supported President Coolidge claimed that the president and Sam A. Baker, former superintendent of schools and republican nominee for governor had carried Missouri by "a comfortable margin."

CHICAGO SAYS COOLIDGE

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Chicago Herald and Examiner at 8:25 tonight flashed the election of President Coolidge through its system of searchlights by which it had been giving election information to persons within a 50 mile radius of Chicago.

The Chicago Daily News through its system of searchlights, announced the election of President Coolidge at 8:55 p. m.

Believe Bandits Now In Hiding In Wichita Falls

Man Let Them Out of His Car Monday Afternoon Block from Courthouse

ONE MISSING

Force Texhoma Lease Man To Take Them in From Fowlkes Station

Wichita Falls officers are now fairly certain that the five men who held up the First State bank at Dundee last Saturday will be found in Wichita Falls, their movements having been traced with a certainty back to this city, and every avenue of escape having been so closely guarded that there is little doubt remaining that the chase has narrowed down to the confines of the city itself.

From the time four men in a Cadillac car passed through Seymour at about noon Saturday afternoon until noon Monday nothing had been heard or seen of them. Shortly after noon on Monday, however, they made themselves seen and heard from again in almost as forceful a manner as their first appearance at Dundee.

Come From Brush.

According to information gained yesterday the pumper on the Texhoma Oil and Refining company's John and Jeff Waggoner lease, south of Fowlkes Station, about 25 miles west of Wichita Falls was just quitting his shift at about noon Monday when he noticed a man come out of the bushes and approach the pumphouse. The man came all the way to the house, the story is told, and asked if anyone were around, and after being told there was not, looked around to satisfy himself.

This done he turned to the brush from which he had come and motioned. Three others appeared and made their way to the pump house. All of the men were armed, and the man that had made his appearance first displayed a gun at this time. One of the men suggested to the pumper that since he was going to Wichita Falls it "might be well" if he took them along with him. Under the circumstances this proposition met with favor from the Texhoma employee, and he willingly allowed them to ride with him into town.

A Block From Courthouse.

The five drove into Wichita Falls by the usual route, and according to the lease man the four were allowed to leave the car on the corner of Seventh street and Scott street, about a block from the courthouse. It never occurred to him to connect the four with the Dundee robbery until he went back to the lease and on looking around found a Cadillac touring car parked in the mesquite not far away.

He phoned into the sheriff at Wichita Falls regarding his find, but when officers here arrived at the lease the car had disappeared, and was not to be found. The seeming utter impossibility of the situation caused the officers to take the lease employee into custody for investigation, although it has since been established, that he was not a party in any manner to the crew that obtained the funds of the Dundee bank, the Texhoma having an abundance of evidence of his whereabouts on Saturday.

The mystery now confronting the officers is what has become of the fifth man in the party, it being fairly well established that the original gang contained at least five men. This fifth man was not in the car when seen at Seymour, and not in the group the lease man brought back to Wichita Falls.

Wurzbach Certain Of Re-election To Seat in Congress

He Is Leading His Democratic Opponent By 2,300 Majority

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 4.—Leading this (Bexar county) with a majority of 2,300, Congressman Harry Wurzbach, incumbent republican, is assured of re-election over D. S. Davenport, democrat. Julius Keel, republican is leading for state senator over T H. Ridgeway, democrat and W. L. Black independent by nearly 201. Out of 11,000 votes counted Mrs. Ferguson, democrat, for governor has 4,800 to 3,700 for Dr. George Butte, republican.

Davis Refuses To Make Statement On the Outcome

He Received Returns At Polk Home In New York City

SHAVER IS SILENT

Demo Campaign Manager Refuses Any Comment

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee who received the returns with a few intimate friends at the home of Frank L. Polk, in this city, declined late tonight to make any statement on the election. Clem L. Shaver, democratic national chairman, also refused to comment.

Mr. Davis went to bed about midnight at the home of Frank K. Polk, former acting secretary of state, still confident that the election would be thrown into the house of representatives, Mr. Polk declared.

"Mr. Davis is not at all alarmed by the early returns from the eastern states," said Mr. Polk. "He expected them. He believes that the cruix of the election is in the west and that it depends upon the vote LaFollette takes away from Coolidge. He thinks LaFollette will carry six or eight states and throw the election into the house. He doesn't expect full returns from the west until six or seven o'clock in the morning."

Tomorrow he expects to return to his home in Locust Valley for a game of golf.

PINKS CONCEDE ELECTION

Campaign Manager Makes Statement Late Last Night.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—John M. Nelson, national campaign manager for Senator LaFollette tonight issued the following statement:

"Eearly returns indicate a landslide for Coolidge. We still have hopes, however, of carrying some of the western states."

He will have no further comment tonight, he said.

NO COMMENT FROM BOB

La Follette Says He Will Issue No Statement Tonight

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Senator La Follette will make no comment on the election tonight, he told newspaper men shortly after 10 o'clock.

Senator LaFollette, after receiving election returns over a special wire in the state capitol for five hours, went to bed shortly after midnight without commenting on the election.

He had neither given or authorized any expression on the reports, he emphasized, as he prepared to motor to his farm.

BUTLER THANKS VOTERS

Republican Chairman Declares Party On Way to New Achievements

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee issued the following statement at midnight:

"The American people have spoken. They have elected Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes by a decisive vote. After the people have spoken so conclusively there is little for any one to say.

"I sincerely thank the men and women who have worked so diligently to bring about this manificent event.

"Under the leadership of Calvin Coolidge the republican party will go forward to new achievements for the people. I again thank my co-workers in every precinct for their loyalty and effective work."

BUTTE HOLDS

throughout the night. Mrs. Ferguson threatened to pass him here several times, but she never was able to draw up on a par with the former university professor.

An analysis of the vote shows that of the eight boxes complete in the county, No. 2 (Deatherage Marble Works) No. 6 (Carrigan school) No 7 (Sam Houston school) No. 9 (Alamo school) No. 12 (Fannin school) No 14 (Cashion school) No. 17 (Iowa Park) and No. 18 (Iowa Park), Butte carried only two, No.'s 2 and 9. The remaining six gave Mrs. Ferguson a majority. Of the 7 boxes incomplete, however, Butte is leading in 7. These are No. 4 (court house) No. 5 (Junior high) No. 8 (Buchanan street fire station) No. 10 (Floral Heights Pharmacy) Nos. 15 and 16 (Burkburnett) and No. 21 (Electra) No. 1 (city hall) and No. 1[illegible] house) give Mrs. Ferguson [illegible].

Burk for Butte.

A feature of this is that in both Burkburnett and Electra Butte is leading by a substantial majority. In fact it is the vote given him there that has enabled him to hold the front. Iowa Park, however, went for Mrs. Ferguson. The only rural box reporting last night, Cashion school, No. 14, gave Mrs. Ferguson 64 against 38 for Butte.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, progressive candidate for the presidency, failed to make much headway in his work here. He has thus far polled 173 votes, 12 less than the figures give his running mate, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana.

Had Big Vote.

Despite the fact that a hoped-for vote of 10,000 will not be attained here this time, Wichita county yesterday evinced tremendous interest in the election. As a result it will, it is believed, roll up a larger vote than ever before in its history. The polls were crowded yesterday from the time they were first opened at 7 o'clock in the morning practically until the closing hour at 7 in the evening. The largest vote recorded in this city was that at No. 4, one of the court house boxes, where 966 voters recorded their choice. Box No. 5, the Junior high school, ran it a close second with 940 and No. 8, the Buchanan street fire station, was third with 882.

With probably not much more than half the votes counted in the county, today brings the possibility of Mrs. Ferguson outstripping her republican opponent and leaping into the lead here as she has elsewhere in the state. Butte may hold the advantage he has gained in the incomplete boxes of this city, Burkburnett and Electra, but on the other hand his democratic opponent may take a spurt that will put her safely over locally.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Stubby ate the director's luncheon yesterday, and hid. The director had just told everybody to stop work and look for him.

"My good angel preserve me," thought Stubby, "for if I am caught while he is so mad, I am likely to be pounded. Where in the world can I hide so they cannot find me with a whole studio of men looking for me?"

"Mew, mew!" he heard Button say somewhere over his head, and looking up he spied Button cautiously walking along the high partition that separated the room where the furniture was kept from the one where the scenery was stored and where Stubby was now.

"Mew, mew!" which, interpreted, meant "Where are you, Stubby?"

Stubby did not dare answer or make a sound for he heard one of the men that was looking for him just the other side of the screen behind which he was hiding. But when Button mewed, the man's attention was directed to him and he said, "So it was you instead of the little dog ate up the director's luncheon, was it? Come down here, you black rascal, you!"

But Button only stopped walking along the top of the partition and sat down on it and eyed the man as much as to say, "I am not in any hurry to come down, and I propose to stay here until I get good and ready to come down."

All the men in the studio came and looked at Button and speculated on how they were to coax him off the partition. Some suggested food and it was brought, but to no avail. Button still sat and gazed down at them.

They tried throwing things at him to dislodge him but that did not good. He only stuck his nails in the tighter and hung on. At last a boy who was standing looking on cried, "I have it! I'll get my fish net with a long handle I use to catch minnies in, and we can scrape him off into it before he knows it."

While the boy ran off for the net, the men sat down to wait. That is, all but one, and he happened to look the other side of the screen and there spied Stubby all rolled up like a ball trying to make himself as small as possible.

"You good-for-nothing little dog!" cried the man as he pounced on Stubby and held him tightly in his arms. "See what I have found," as he came from behind the screen close to where the other men were. "Now we have found them both and I'll eat my hat if either of them get away from me again until this play is finished!"

Just then the boy came back with the fish net on a long pole and while Button sat watching to see what he was going to do with it, not having heard them say they were going to catch him in it, its soft folds slipped over his head and he was caught like a mouse in a trap and brought off the partition in double quick time.

(It begins to look as if Stubby and Button would have to act in the picture in spite of all their efforts to escape).

Color Cut-Outs

From Japan comes Madam Toyo,
Star of Betty Cut-out's show,
Dressed in dainty silk kimono—
Color it a golden glow.

In her trunk she brought an extra
Little gown to please you, too;
Japanese like brilliant colors—
Paint it up a cherry hue.

Make her face a creamy yellow—
Coloring with crayons will do—
Then cut out the little lady;
She'll be glad to play with you.

* * *

Betty Cut-out's room at school is giving a show of dolls of all nations. Each girl dresses a doll to represent a different country. Color the one today, mount her on lightweight cardboard, and cut her out. Tomorrow there'll be a little Dutch doll.

Owing to favorable monsoons for three consecutive years, India looms as one of the greatest potential trade areas among the new markets of the world.

Mothers

AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Slumber Quilt

One Mother Says:

My two girls are collecting patches from dresses of their friends and are making a slumber quilt that they intend to use at their slumber parties. Each square reminds them of a story or pleasant memory which they are sewing into the quilt.

SEEK TO BLOCK PLAGUE

Los Angeles Fighting Spread of Dreaded Plague.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—An organized campaign to block the further spread of pneumonic plague in Los Angeles county was well under way today, backed by federal, state, county and city funds and personnel.

With the total death list since the outbreak of the epidemic in the Mexican quarter here October 19, last, increased to 25 by yesterday's four fatal cases, health officers continued their efforts to bring under rigid quarantine every person known to have been in contact with sufferers from the disease.

PHYSICIANS BAFFLED

New Complications Worry Doctors at Mrs. Harding's Bedside.

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 4.—New complications, yet undefined, are causing considerable apprehension to physicians attending Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of the late president, who was taken ill yesterday at the Sawyer sanitarium here where she makes her home.

Dr. Carl Sawyer, who is in charge of Mrs. Harding's case, announced that the disease is a recurrence of the same malady, kidney trouble, which almost caused her death early in the spring of 1922 while she was mistress of the White House.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

To the creditors and claimants of the defendants, O. L. D. Operating Company, Judson Oil Company, Eureka Producing Company, Wichita Petroleum Company and Number Nine Oil Corporation.

You and each of you are hereby notified that heretofore to-wit, on September 12, 1924, and October 8, 1924, the district court of the United States for the northern district of Texas made and entered its order which provides in substance, that Julius M. Mayer, Joseph P. Tumulty, N. T. Gilbert and Claire Gannon, ancillary receivers, shall publish notice to claimants and creditors of the above named defendant companies, requiring said claimants and creditors to file with said ancillary receivers, or intervene in the above entitled cause, within forty (40) days from the first publication of such notice, claims duly verified, showing the nature and amounts of such claims and lien preference or priority, if any.

That said receivers shall cause such notice to be published in a daily newspaper of general circulation once a week on the same day of the week for four (4) consecutive weeks and due proof of such publication shall be made by said ancillary receivers.

Said ancillary receivers shall also, as soon as they can reasonably do so, after the first publication, mail copies of such notice to such persons as are shown by the books of the said defendant companies to be claimants and creditors, such notice to be mailed to the last known address of said claimants and creditors, as shown by the records of said defendant companies.

All claimants and creditors of said defendant companies failing to file with said ancillary receivers verified claims, as herein provided, or intervene herein, shall be barred and not permitted or allowed to participate or receive any payments upon their respective claims or demands, either from the income of the properties and business of said defendant companies or from the proceeds of the sale thereof, unless by order of the court.

After said claims are filed by said claimants and creditors, or after said claimants and creditors shall have intervened herein, as above provided, said receivers shall, within thirty (30) days file a report to the above named court, showing the amounts of all claims existing and outstanding against said defendant companies, within the jurisdiction of this court, the character and lien, if any, of such claims and indebtedness, together with any objections they have to the allowance of same. The complainant, defendants and any claimant, creditor, or intervenor, shall be permitted to file objections to the allowance of any such claims so filed. Said claims and objections will be heard and determined by the above named court or a special master appointed for such purpose.

Said order of September 12, 1924, provides that the said defendants, and each and every of their officers, directors, agents and employees and all other persons claiming to act by, through, under or for said defendants, and all other persons, firms and corporations, including creditors and stockholders of each and all of the defendant companies and including all sheriffs, marshals, constables and their agents and deputies, and all other officers be enjoined and restrained from removing, transferring, disposing of or attempting, in any way, remove, transfer or dispose of, or in any way interfere with any of the properties, assets or effects owned by or in the possession of any of the said defendant companies and in the jurisdiction of this court and all said persons, firms and corporations be enjoined from doing any act whatsoever to interfere with the possession and management by said ancillary receivers of any of the properties of the said defendants or from in any way interfering with said ancillary receivers in the discharge of their duties, and all creditors and stockholders of each and every of the said defendant companies, and all other persons, firms and corporations be enjoined from instituting or prosecuting or continuing the prosecution of any pending actions, suits or proceedings at law or in equity against any of the said defendant companies and from levying any attachments, executions or other process upon or against any of the properties of any of said defendant companies, or from taking or attempting to take into their possession any of the said properties of any of the said defendant companies, and from issuing or causing the execution or issuance out of any court of any writ, process, summons, replevin or any other proceedings for the purpose of impounding or taking possession of any of the property of any of the said defendant companies.

Of the above orders each and all said claimants and creditors shall take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Rank Wildcat Well Gives Big Promise Of Large Gasser

Much Gas Pressure Gives Showing Oil With Three Inches of Sand

SAND ABOUT 990 FEET

Well Located About Twenty Miles Southwest of Seymour, Fancher Land

What may mean the opening of an entirely new county as an oil producing area in the territory generally classified as the Wichita Falls district is promised as a result of a show obtained in the D. H. Moore test, H. H. Fancher land, twenty miles southwest of Seymour, southwest Baylor county. After a sand encountered at 961 feet which gave every promise of making a producer but proved too thin after casing was set and drilling in finished another twenty-seven feet of rat holing showed another sand. This sand was penetrated only about three inches, or barely scratched, when a large flow of gas was obtained.

The mud was blown from the hole by a gast pressure estimated at two or three million cubic feet, and it was four hours or about six o'clock before the gas flow could be mudded off and partially stopped.

The gas showed some oil, and the well may make an oil well if drilled further into the sand, according to information received here late last night. At any rate it looks like a big gasser when drilled further in.

A control head will be taken to the lease this morning by Mr. Moore, who had come into Wichita Falls after the first sand at 961 feet was found to be dry. The well blew in about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Litchfield, Campbell

OLNEY, Nov. 4.—Litchfield et al, located on the Campbell land, about the center of the west line of TE&LCO survey, block 236, have drilled between two and three feet of good looking sand encountered at 1,040 feet, and expected to have casing on the ground to run and seat at that depth last night.

This test is located about a mile and a half southeast of the Panhandle-Knight-Hines Ragle area, and in event of making a well will open another pool in a manner similar to that opened by Carey and Texhoma northwest of the field.

Wilbarger

McCarty Oil company has purchased the east 20 acres of the south 80 of the southwest quarter of section 83, southeast of Lucey-Sheerin-McCamey from E. T. Richardson, fee owner, for a reported consideration of $8,500 and $1,100 out of half of the oil.

Atlantic Oil Producing company has also acquired 65 acres in this vicinity, taking the northwest 25 acres out of the northwest 80 acres of section 81, and the northwest 40 of the southwest one-quarter of section 80, consideration not known.

Carter-Phillips, Wilbarger

Carter and Phillips expect to start today on moving a rotary rig to South Vernon, for a location made on their lease which is the east 50 acres of the north 80 of the northwest 1-4 of section 84, nearly a mile northeast of the production.

Bridwell-Heydrick,

Bridwell and Heydrick have spudded and are drilling in their No. 4, Stephens, 300 feet south of No. 1, northwest 40 acres of section 83, South Vernon, Wilbarger county.

Wichita Oil Operators Get Right-of-Way For Gray County Pipeline

Clark, Harbin, and Baldridge May Build 8-Mile Line, Lease to Pampa.

Clark, Harbin and Baldridge are securing right of way for a four-inch pipeline from their lease on the Coombs and Worley ranch, in section 37, H&GNRR block 3, south of Pampa, Gray county, to Pampa to take care of prospective production from a well they are drilling there and provide a carrier for production of other Gray county wells, notably the Wilcox Oil land Gas company producer on the Coombs and Worley ranch just south of Pampa. A loading rack will be built on the Santa Fe outside of Pampa for tank car loading.

The right of way is being secured after a tentative survey, and is not binding toward the laying of such a line at all unless the Clark-Harbin-Baldridge well is completed for a producer. In case a well is made of this test the building of the line enters into the terms of the lease, and is compulsory.

Since its completion some four months ago the Wilcox well, that attracted a great deal of attention to Gray county, another section of the Panhandle producing country, which had hitherto contained only Carson and Hutchinson counties, has been shut in, being opened at intervals only to make spectacular flows and show for a very large well. Lack of pipeline facilities and a market and mode of transportation for the oil have been sufficient to keep the potential log of the well a real secret.

The Wilcox people are now assembling material for an 80,000 barrel steel storage tank on their lease to store oil until the coming of a pipeline.

The Wilcox completion has started tests in this section of Gray county, notably the Holmes test on the Morse land, the Back test, south of Pampa, and the Shamrock well, now drilling below 1,000 feet. Another location has been made by Coble of Amarillo, for section 85, block 3, drilling to start by the first of the year.

Oil Investment Co., Fee

The Oil Investment company has made location for their No. 1 fee, 300 feet west of the Strong-Lincoln well, Oil Investment company fee, No. 1, or 712 feet north and 300 feet west of the southeast forner of lot 4, John Richards survey.

On the other side of the well Gulf Production company has made a location and will get started at once.

Carter-Gould, White

Carter and Gould have completed their No. 2-C, northwest corner of lot 15, block 34, and are placing it on the pump for a light well, reported at about 35 barrels a day, from sand encountered at 1,611 1-2 feet. This well is a south offset to the Dee Bros. producer.

Location has been made for the No. 3-C, between No's 1 and 2, and the slush pit has been dug.

Central Archer Deals

Two acreage deals in the vicinity of the new Strong well on the Oil Investment company fee, John Richards survey, northwest of Archer county were reported yesterday. Griswold Oil corporation obtained a whole interest in the west 40 acres of block 4 for a consideration that approximated $600 an acre. The entire of block 7, between 3-4 and one mile northeast of the well went to the Electra Gulf company for $75,000, with the exception of the southwest 40 acres retained.

Texhoma Gets Tank

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has obtained a 55,000-barrel steel storage tank located near Swastika from the Shamrock Oil company, and placed an order for the construction of another to be located on adjoining site to be erected as soon as material can be shipped here. Oil has already been started from the Carey group through the Texhoma's pipeline to the newly acquired tank.

Big Crude Sale

As indicative as anything reported in some time of the strength in the crude market today is a reported sale by a large Wichita Falls producer of 94,000 barrels of south Archer county crude in tanks and a pipeline for $1.40 a barrel. Posted price for this crude is $1.25 a barrel.

Shappel, Kemp-Kempner

T. O. Shappel and sons have abandoned their No. 8, Kemp and Kempner, lease "B-2" between the Freeman-Hampton and the K-M-A pool, southeast quarter of block 43, total depth given as 1,789 feet.

Burns-Maxson, Alexander

Burns and Maxson are drilling below a last reported depth of 700 feet on their No. 1, Alexander, near the southwest corner of the east half of block 81, TE&LCO survey, northwest of the Peter Kemp area, northwest Young county.

Texas Company, Jeske

The Texas company has spudded and is drilling below a last reported depth of 165 feet on their No. 2, Jeske, second location west from the northwest corner of block 5, Thomas McCoy survey, west side of the Carey group, south Archer county.

Waggoner Pipeline

Waggoner Refining company has completed its connections between the Wells-Guiberson and other leases in the South Vernon area and its pump station south of the producing territory and hopes to have the line laid and to turn oil into it by Friday at the latest.

Clark-Harbin, Echols

Clark and Harbin have drilled in their No. 3, Echols, lot 12, South Anderson ranch sub-division, Swastika, and have about a 90-barrel well on the pump from the usual sand around 1,300 feet.

Carter-Macon, White

Carter-Phillips-Macon have completed their No. 10-E, northeast corner of lot 14, block 34, ATNCL, Archer county, southwest offset to the Dee Brothers producer, and are placing on the pump for an estimated production of about 150 barrels, usual 1,600-foot sand.

The same group have completed their No. 9-E, on the west side of the lease, offsetting Robertson to the east, and placed it on the pump Saturday for an initial production of between 200 and 250 barrels.

The Carter et al output on this E-lease now from nine wells is reported to be better than 1,100 barrels a day.

Carter et al has recently acquired another hundred acres from Macon Oil and Gas company, being the west half of lot 16, block 34, all of lot 12, block 34, and all of block 5, block 40, for a consideration of two free wells, one if the first be dry.

Holmes-Crittenden, Baylor

Holmes and Crittenden are drilling below a last reported depth of 1,845 feet in lime on their No. 1, Hawkins, block 202, Coffee survey, east of Seymour, Baylor county.

RUSS LETTER A MYSTERY.

MacDonald Committee Unable to Tell Whether It Was Forged.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—An official communique issued tonight says the committee by the MacDonald cabinet to investigate the authenticity of the Zinovieff letter, the alleged propagandist document from the Moscow internationale, has been unable to come to any positive conclusion.

The communique states that "the original letter has not been produced to or seen by any government department and the action (the publication of the letter) was taken on what was not claimed to be more than a copy."

PRINTERS' PAPER IS BROKE.

Walla Walla Times Suspends Publication.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 4.—The Walla Walla Times, a daily newspaper published by union printers and supported financially by the International Typographical Union and by union printers of the northwest, discontinued publication yesterday. The paper started October 2, 1922.

A break took place April 10, 1922, between the union printers of Walla Walla and the Walla Walla union and the Walla Walla Bulletin, over which the newspapers declared was an unreasonable contract demanded by the printers' organization.

DISAGREE IN MAIL THEFT.

Jury Unable to Reach Verdict in $260,000 Robbery Trial.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—The federal court jury in the trial of William P. "Dinty" Colbeck, alleged gang leader, and nine others, on charges of complicity in the $260,000 downtown mail truck robbery of April 2, 1923, reported this afternoon it had been unable to agree. Judge Faris ordered the jury to continue its deliberations.

The case went to the jury at 8:57 o'clock last night.

Robbers Get $31,000 Loot From Chicago Store, Bind Watchman

CHICAGO, Nov. 4. — Clothing valued at $31,000 was taken from Mayer Brothers, wholesale clothiers, last night by a band of five men who broke into the warehouse, overpowered the watchman and loaded 1569 overcoats and 620 suits into waiting trucks.

Thomas Jazicek, watchman, told the police the robbers spent several hours in systematically selecting their loot and forced him to act as their guide. They tied him and escaped.

FUNERAL SERVICES PLANNED

Cornelius Cole, 102, To Be Buried In Los Angeles Thursday

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—Funeral services for Cornelius Cole, United States senator during the civil war period and pioneer Californian, who died at his home here yesterday, will be held Thursday, attended only by members of the family. Later a public service will be held at the Hollywood cemetery chapel.

The death of the 102 year old legislator was caused by incipient pneumonia growing out of an attack of influenza which began some months ago.

Well, Anyway, We Still Have the Old Wagon

Coolidge Carries On As Usual While Wires Bring News of Election at Polls

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—President Coolidge was kept informed tonight of election returns as they were received at the White House by special telegraph wires and by radio. With Mrs. Coolidge and a few intimate friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, he remained in the executive mansion to hear the answer to his campaign for another four years as head of the government.

Messages of congratulation were received during the day before the polls were closed, from supporters throughout the country, but these did not disturb the customary routine, Mr. Coolidge attending to promiebs of administration as usual.

Optimism about the executive offices in the outcome of the election increased as the returns from various sections were received over the wires, and Mr. Coolidge himself expressed to callers confidence in the estimates made by William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, that he and Charles G. Dawes would receive at least 350 votes in the electoral college.

Mr. Coolidge spent an hour this morning going over budget estimates with Brigadier General Lord, director of the budget, and then presided over the usual semi-weekly cabinet meeting, although Secretaries Weeks and Wilbur were the only members present, as the others had left the city to vote. In the afternoon, he was again at his desk, looking over mail and giving attention to general business. As is his custom, he went out toward evening for a long walk about the city.

BLAME ACCIDENT ON DRUNK

Investigation Shows Towerman Responsible for 10 Deaths

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Testimony of two physicians and a policeman at the inquest today into the death of 10 persons resulting from a collission of a street car with a freight train early Sunday morning tended to show that Joseph Brabe, the towerman at the crossing where the accident occurred, was under the influence of liquor at the time of the wreck. Brabe is being held.

Captain William Peters told of having found a bottle of liquor in Brabe's shanty and the physicians said Brabe's response to certain tests revealed a dullness of the senses, although Brabe, they said, could not be described as intoxicated. Another witness who said he had visited Brabe about 10 minutes before the accident, reported today that the towerman's condition then "appeared to be all right."

Nine witnesses were examined today and most of their testimony centered around the condition of Brabe a description of the wreck and signalling methods used by train crews when switching their trains near crossings.

One Killed And Two Wounded In Election Violence

Chicagoan Shot to Death Before Polling Place

COMPANION INJURED

LaFollette Lieutenant Has Fractured Skull From Slugging

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—One man was killed, two others shot, several kidnaped and scores intimidated with threats of death today in election violence in various parts of the city.

John McKay was shot to death while sitting in an automobile in front of a polling place on the west side. His assailants fired at him from another car. Claud Maddox, who was with McKay, was seriously wounded. Both were said to have police records.

Shortly after the polls opened a party of men opened fire upon a polling place near the stock yards, wounding Anton Rudseinski, who is not expected to survive.

Nathan Firestone, a LaFollette lieutenant in the 46th ward, was slugged, suffering a fractured skull. Hies assailant escaped.

Other sections of the city, where trouble had been expected, were unusually quiet. Throughout the city voters lined up early before the polling place, a half million votes being cast before noon and more than 800,000, a record breaking number, when the polls closed. Civic leaders declared that when the vote is counted it will be found that a million citizens had voted, nearly 100 per cent of the total registration.

Organization Of Scouts Character Building Agency

Purpose to Build Respect For God, Country, Self And Others

CITIZENSHIP STUDIED

Speaker Tells Development To University Club

"Character is the foundation of everything, and a character building agency is the organization of the Boy Scouts of America," Ray O. Wyland of the department of education, National Council of Boy Scouts, said in his address to the University Club at the noon luncheon Tuesday at the Kemp.

"The scouts' purpose is to build a great respect around four points, God, country, others and self. That is given in the laws of scouting," the speaker declared.

Speaking of the development that was given to a scout, Mr. Wyland mentioned four outstanding points, physical training; vocational guidance, or teaching a boy to find himself; giving him the right philosophy of life or study in citizenship; and last, character development.

Physical Training.

In giving the boy physical training, the speaker told of the hikes and camps where the boy can breathe the fresh air, grow strong physically and learn about nature. In helping him to find his vocation one of the 21 sciences and arts studied by the scout will enable him to choose his life's work, or assist him in choosing. In teaching him citizenship, he is trained in the responsibility of service, ready to assist his community or country any time. In character development, the boy's life is shaped by the contact he has with men. The speaker urged the men to lead lives that would be models for scouts.

"The idea has grown that scouting is made up of hikes, stunts and songs, and only for rich boys. In a survey made of 13 representative cities of the country, it is found that 35 per cent of the boys served are the underprivileged," Mr. Wyland said.

Educational Foundation.

"Scouting prepares boys for higher education. It was found that 38 per cent of the students of Yale were former scouts in a survey two years ago; 72 from Harvard; 42 from Northwestern university; It was found that 28 out of 32 men who won Cecil Rhodes' scholarships, were former scouts."

Entertainment was furnished to the club by a number of vocal solos by Miss Katherine Sullivan accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Cole.

The club voted to ask Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy who will be in the city November 18, to address the university men at the luncheon hour at the Kemp. The public is invited to hear this meeting. Invitations will be extended to the other luncheon clubs of the city.

C. A. Rodgers introduced Dr. Walter J. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church, south. Rev. Not. F. Grafton, president, presided.

SWEDES TALK TO AMERICA

First Direct Radio Conversation Established Between Varbourg and U. S. A.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 4.—The Swedish government telegraph department has announced that the first tests of direct radio communication with America have just been carried out between Sweden's new high power radio station at Varborg, on the west coast, and wireless commercial stations in America. The tests have been entirely successful and it is expected that regular direct traffic will begin soon. The Swedish station, one of the biggest and most up-to-date of its kind in northern Europe, is practically completed. It is claimed here that this direct wireless connection between Sweden and America will prove of the greatest importance in widening and stimulating cooperation in all lines between the two countries.

END SOCIAL ECONOMY MEET

International Congress Ended at Buenos Aires After Week's Duration

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 4.—The first international congress on social economy which opened October 26 was concluded today after the adoption of numerous recommendations intended to stimulate public interest and promote international cooperation dealing with social problems.

The recommendations included the universal adoption of the eight-hour day law, uniform social insurance laws, measures for the hygienic protection of workmen, promotion internationally of associated cooperative marketing societies, decentralization of population, recognition of the study of applied sociology as a profession and the establishment of an international secretariat for social economy museums and similar institutions.

TWO STABBED IN DETROIT

Policeman Knifed During Attempt to Stop Election Fight.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 4.—Patrolman Frank Primovich and Emil Ritz were stabbed here this afternoon in two fights at the polling place. The patrolman was stabbed when he attempted to stop fight between groups supporting rival candidates for mayor. Police reserves quieted the belligerents but after the reserves left, trouble broke out again and Ritz was stabbed in the leg. Both men were removed to a hospital where it was said the wounds were not dangerous. The disorder was the first of any magnitude in the city today.

C. V. Leach, local man, died suddenly at the Alpine hotel Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. He had not been feeling well for several days, and death came unexpectedly. The body is being held at the Burris-Dalton undertakers, awaiting the arrival of a brother from Hedley.

Paul Bundy, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bundy, 1511 Eleventh street, who spent the week-end at home, has returned to Dallas.

Mrs. J. T. Osteen and children left for Gainesville Monday to join Mr. Osteen there where he is working with the Texas Paving company at Gainesville.

Twenty ministers and laymen of the churches of Wichita Falls were present at the ministers' breakfast at the Kemp hotel Tuesday morning, with Ray O. Wayland of New York City, director of the department of education of the national council of Boy Scouts, talked on the relationship existing between the churches and the Boy Scout organization. James P. Fitch, regional scout executive of Houston, was also present for the meeting.

The Woman's Choral club of Wichita Falls will appear in their first concert of the year Monday evening November 10, at the First Baptist church. The chorus will sing several groups of songs, among which will be "The Rosary," "Rain", "The Boat Song," and several others equally as beautiful. Besides the chorus, the club will present as soloists some of Wichita Falls most talented musicians, Mrs. F. R. Collard, organist, Mrs. Jouette Bonner, violinist, Miss Adelle Ray, soprano, and Mr. W. E. Young, baritone.

Y.W.C.A. Won't Participate In Education Move

Miss Cratty Says Program Does Not Agree With Association's Policies

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Coincident with publication of communications with Commissioner of Education John J. Tigert, in which it charged among other things that the promotion of national education week, November 17 to 23, had been "turned over to a military organization" (the American Legion), the American Civil Liberties union announced last night that the national board of Young Women's Christian association had "declined to participate in the movement."

The announcement was made by Roger N. Balwin, director of the union, who said the information was conveyed to him in a letter from Mabel Cratty, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. He said Miss Cratty wrote him the decision was made because certain elements in the announced program inconsistent with the position of the organization's national board in regard to peace and international cooperation."

Mr. Baldwin declared that the "certain elements" included various suggested topics for speakers on the education week's program denouncing the red flag pacifists and communists and the announcement that organizations desiring speakers should apply to the American Legion.

It was also revealed that the union had charged Mr. Tigert with "unwarranted violation of trust in the conduct of public office and its private prostitution to the private propaganda interests of a military organization."

In Whiskers There Seems To Be Power

Cake eaters, beware lest the bewhiskered gents nab you.

Like the well-known K. O. Sampson, heavyweight titleholder of old biblical days, ten Junior college youths evidently are of opinion that with extra hirsute adornment there comes added strength. For that number of male students with ability to cultivate mustaches and also an innate aversion to species of the drugstore cowboy tribe have banded together under leadership of History Prof. Edwards, and formed a mustache club.

This organization is strictly anti-jelly bean from start to finish, W. D. Nelson, one of the members, would have you believe. The club has set its enrollment mark at 15, and five new members are to be intitiated within the week.

OPPOSE ABOLISHMENT.

Opponents of Amendment Far In Lead In Michigan.

DETROIT, Nov. 3.—Opponents of a proposed amendment to the Michigan state constitution which would abolish parochial schools were far in the lead on the face of early returns. Forty-eight of the 2,775 recincts in the state gave the following returns on the amendment: Against 9,531, for 5,366.

"The Truth" To Show For Last Time Tonight

Little Theatre Players Give Three Successful Performances

KUNZ STARS IN LEAD

Miss Adele Marcus Does Fine Dramatic Work

The first offering of Wichita Falls' Little Theatre Players, Clyde Fitch's "The Truth," will appear for the last time Wednesday evening, after three successful performances Monday evening, Tuesday afternoon, and Tuesday evening.

Earl Kunz, a young local attorney, stars in the role of Tom Warder, and by his simple and genuine interpretation of a young husband who loves and believes in his foolish little wife, he displays a high quality of dramatic art. Mr. Kunz loses his personality completely in that of his character, and handles convincingly a highly emotional role.

Miss Adele Marcus, as Becky, his wife, does some fine dramatic work, especially in scenes with Mr. Kunz. Her emotional scenes are carefully handled and the deliverance of her lines rings true.

Guy Rogers and Mrs. J. T. Harrell portray character roles, both out of the beaten track. Mr. Rogers gives an interpretation of Becky's careless irresponsible father that is very good, and Mrs. Harrell's voice and mannerisms in the part of Mrs. Crispigny are indicative of her usual skill in catching and portraying cleverly the personality of her character.

Mrs. Porter Oakes appeared to advantage as Eva Linden in an emotional scene in the first act, and Miss Bezie Dee very capably played Laura Fraser, her voice work being notable.

Jarrell Gose played convincingly the role of Fred Lindon, who is at the root of Becky's fibs to her husband, and who cannot get along with Eve.

Allen Montgomery made a flawless butler, and added a valuable bit of "atmosphere" to the play. Master Paul Barrnett, Jr., appeared as the Messenger Boy.

Peter Ames Vincent, regisseur, who designed the beautiful sets for the two scenes has succeeded in bringing to light the best that lay in his cast in the way of artistic portrayal, and this first performance since the merge of the Players club and the Little Theatre, speaks well for his future work in Wichita Falls with the interesting active membership which the Little Theatre Players boast.

PLAGUE IS CONTROLLED.

Prompt Measures Successful in Stamping It Out.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—Prompt control of the epidemic of pneumonic plague, which has claimed 25 lives in the Mexican colony here since October 19, was predicted tonight by Dr. W. M. Dickie, secretary of the board of health and director of the anti-plague committee. No deaths were reported today but one new case was admitted to the general hospital.

CHICAGO PIONEER DIES

Ferdinand Peck For Years Known as Oldest Native.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Ferdinand W. Peck, pioneer Chicagoan, died at the Peurolin hospital today. He was born here July 15, 1848. He practiced law for several years and subsequently devoted himself to his investments and to administering his estate.

Ferdinand W. Peck was for years known as the oldest native of Chicago, he is credited with having initiated in 1877 the building of the structure that houses the auditorium theater and hotel, the former the home of the Chicago civic opera company.

Report Fatalities In Klan Disorders at Niles, O., Last Saturday

NILES, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Following persistent reports reaching Colonel L. S. Connelly of Cleveland, in charge of national guardsmen on duty here, that "men were killed in the ku klux klan and anti-klan riot of Saturday and their bodies spirited away," search with grappling irons probably will be made of mosquito creek, near where the fighting between the two factions was hottest.

Colonel Connelly said he would not be surprised if one or more bodies were found.

Military control in the Niles area is expected to be lifted tomorrow.

NILES, Ohio, Nov. 4.—A number of loaded pistols, shotguns and rifles and a quantity of ammunition which, authorities believe, were intended for use in the roting here Saturday, were seized by the militia in houses and shanties in McDonald, a steel town, two miles east of here today. The raiding party also procured information which expected to uncover more firearms and ammunition and result in further arrests.

Lazo Demir was arrested and charged with illegal possession of weapons and insubordination. He was seen to leave a train with a rifle and was followed home, the raids resulting.

More than fifty witnesses have been examined by the military board of inquiry into Saturday's rioting. Eight arrests were made today, a majority for carrying weapons.

Chicago has one telephone for every four people of its population.

Australia's exportable wheat surplus is this year estimated at 35 million bushels.

Scout Executive Cautions Students To Be Careful

Young People Urged Not Take Chances Doing Reckless Things

"The business of education is to prepare the people to live in peace and harmony in the world," declared James P. Fitch, regional scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America with headquarters in Houston. 'You are living in the best period of history,' he asserted, 'because of the unlimited opportunities for education, service and interest.'"

Speaking of things close to this students, he told them that he believed the young people of today are no worse than those of 20 or 40 years ago. He cautioned the young people who have a great deal of freedom and opportunities not to take chances in doing reckless things that would lead them into trouble.

In speaking of the upbuilding of character done by the organization of Boy Scouts, Mr. Fitch asked that the students help to bring about the 100,000 Eagle Scouts needed in America to lead and train the younger boys in channels of helpfulness and service.

Ray O. Wyland of New York City, director of the department of education of the national council of Boy Scouts addressed the students of Junior high Tuesday afternoon.
