WEATHER MAN'S GUESS IS NOT ENCOURAGING

Winter's cold breath, in blizzard variety, swept over the South Plains today, sending the mercury down to a minimum of 34 early today, while the thermometer registered 37 at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

With a north wind chilling the air, colder weather and a frost is the weather prophet's prediction for tonight.

Turbulant clouds are hanging low over the Plains this afternoon.

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 —R. L. Robertson, adjutant general; S. H. Terrell, comptroller, and Rice M. Tilley, assistant attorney general, planned to leave today for Washington where they will attempt to get $200,000 for the state.

The money was spent in the organization of the 36th division, Texas National guard, in 1917. That division later was made a part of the regular army and Texas officials are asking reimbursement of $200,000 from the government.

While in Washington Tilley will join with federal representatives in an attempt to sustain a ruling of the War department reducing tolls on the Red River bridge at Colbert from $1 to 50 cents. The Red River bridge company is seeking an injunction to prevent the reduction of rates, Tilley said.

Montgomery stated that the prerequisite of city planning is that a city, before building properly, must be able to plan ably and wisely for the future.

DIAMOND PLOT IS SUSPECTED BACK OF CASE

$50,000 NECKLACE IS MISSING WITH JOE LA MONT, GALLUP

(By Associated Press)

GALLUP, N. M., Nov. 12. —Discovery that Joseph (Diamond Joe) La Mont, of Holbrook, Ariz., who disappeared here November 6 while wearing a $50,000 diamond necklace, had been lured to Gallup by an apparently forged telegram from a California jewelry firm spurred police today in a search for the missing man.

Although La Mont has been missing for six days, police kept the disappearance secret until last night and then refused to disclose the result of their investigation. They said, however, they had been informed of La Mont's disappearance by Carl Comstock, a friend, who accompanied La Mont here from Holbrook.

Short Of Funds

La Mont, short of funds, police learned, possessed a $50,000 diamond necklace which had been bequeathed him by a sister, Hazel, who was slain in California with another girl several years ago. He had been negotiating with the jewelry firm for the sale of the necklace and left for Gallup on receipt of a telegram supposedly from George Allen, salesman for the firm, which asked him to be here November 6.

BAIL TO WEST IS NOT ASKED

MAN CHARGED IN RAPE CASE HERE MAKES NO BOND REQUEST YET

Charged with criminal assault on his 11-year-old stepdaughter, Annie Dell Steele, R. E. West, 60, of this city, who was arrested and lodged in jail here Monday, had not requested a preliminary hearing early this afternoon.

Complaint was filed against West yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Maude West, in the court of Justice of Peace G. R. Scott.

Wife Charged In Midland

Mrs. West was arrested in this city several weeks ago and taken to Midland where she was lodged in jail, charged with theft in connection with the robbery of a jewelry store in that city. She was taken by officers two days after she married West. While in the Midland jail Mrs. West wrote her life story for newspapers in which she told of her several previous marriages and the tragedies of each.

Mrs. West returned to Lubbock only recently, following her release.

LONG TERM IN PEN GIVEN TO PROHI SLAYER

JEFF HARRIS IS SENT TO JAIL FOR FIFTY YEAR SENTENCE

(By Associated Press)

CHANLED, Okla., Nov. 12.—Jeff Harris, deputized federal dry raider, was sentenced to 50 years in the state penitentiary today by Judge Hal Johnson in district court, for the murder of Oscar Lowery, Pottawatomie county world war veteran.

Harris was convicted here two weeks ago.

Makes Bitter Speech

After Judge Johnson imposed sentence, Harris, in a bitter statement before the court, said he never could forgive the witnesses who testified he shot Lowery without provocation. He said he hoped the witnesses some day would find themselves in his predicament.

Before pronouncing sentence Judge Johnson overruled a motion for a new trial.

Harris also is charged with the murder of James Harris, Lowery's brother-in-law and another world war veteran. Both were killed in a liquor raid last July 4 on the James Harris farm 2 1-2 miles southeast of Tecumseh.

Another To Be Tried

W. W. "Snake" Thomason, federal prohibition enforcement officer who led the raid in which the men were killed, faces trial in federal court on a charge of killing James Harris. The federal court refused to take jurisdiction of the Jeff Harris case but assumed jurisdiction of Thomason's.

Three Miners Saved After Dirt Cave-In

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 12 (AP)—Three miners who were trapped by a cave-in in a mine of the McNeil Coal company, near here, last night, were rescued at 3:30 a. m., today unharmed.

The three, Jack Condon, Earl LeBranch and Jack Garber, were imprisoned by the landslide at 7 o'clock last night in a tunnel halfway down a 700-foot shaft. Fifty men worked all night to reach them, rapping out a message of encouragement on a pipe which penetrated the drift into the isolated section of tunnel and provided air for the men inside.

Eleven Are Burned At Armistice Dance

ELMWOOD, Wis., Nov. 12 (AP) — Eleven men were burned, two seriously, by an explosion of a gas filled furnace at the American legion auditorium here last night, which threw 500 dancers in an upper floor into a temporary panic.

An Armistice day dance was in progress when an unusual noise was heard in the furnace room. Several men ran down stairs and as they opened the door there was a terrific explosion.

The explosion was attributed to coal gas.

Post-Mortem To Be Held Over Beauty

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12. (AP)—A post-mortem examination was ordered performed today on the body of Shelby Worrall Somerset, wife of Pat Somerset, actor, who was found dead in her bed yesterday.

Although physicians said the woman apparently died of a heart attack, inquiry to determine the cause of death was decided upon when it was learned a physician was not in attendance when she died.

The marriage of Somerdset and Shelby Worrall, winner of a beauty contest in Texas in Hollywood about a year and a half ago, was marked by their arrest on the night after the wedding as a result of an alleged wild party staged for them by friends.

STOCKS DROP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Prices of leading stocks broke sharply to new low levels for the year on the New York Stock exchange today when the brief rally which followed an opening decline petered out. Scores of issues were carried down $2 to $20 a share while American Express, making its first appearance since Jan. 1, dropped $106 a share below the previous quotation to $205.

Total sales in the first two hours were 4,234,000 shares as contrasted with 1,644,100 in the same period yesterday, with the ticker running nearly an hour behind the market.

Several blocks of 10,000 to 20,000 shares appeared in closing dealings as Wall Street continued to dump overboard weakened speculative accounts. Hundreds of alarmist rumors were again circulated through out the financial district, and leading commission houses were kept busy issuing denials to inquirers all over the country.

Lubbock Is Quiet On Armistice Day

GUN FOUND BY DEAD BODY OF PRISON GUARD

WOUNDING OF NEGRESS FOLLOWED BY DEATH OF OFFICIAL

(By Associated Press)

ANGLETON, Tex., Nov. 12.—The bullet that killed Ed Wallace Bruce a short time after he assertedly had wounded Carrie Warren, 23, negress, last night was fired by some one other than the 29-year-old state prison guard, a coroner decided today.

Refusing the thesis that Bruce, nervous, perhaps, after the shooting of the negress, had taken his own life, Justice of the Peace Thomas Morrison today returned a verdict the guard had been murdered.

Although Bruce's gun, its chamber partly empty, was found beside the body there were no powder burns about his face, the justice said, explaining the slug entered his head from the region of the right temple.

Morrison said there were no clues as to motive or supposed assailant and that as far as he knew no arrest was in prospect.

Prison Guard Shot To Death In Texas

HOUSTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—Ed Wallace Bruce, 29, guard at the Darrington State Prison farm, was found shot to death near Sandy Point late last night a few minutes after he was alleged to have killed Carrie Warren, 23, negress.

Justice of the Peace Thomas Morrison of Angleton conducted an inquest but withheld temporarily his findings. He said, however, the manner in which Bruce met death was a mystery. Ambulance drivers and persons living in the vicinity of the shooting declined to comment.

POLICE PROBE ROBBERY HERE

HEMPHILL FIRM LOSES WOMEN'S WEAR ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Hemphill-Wells company is checking over merchandise today to determine the value of several items of women's wearing apparel looted from the store Saturday night, while Spencer A. Wells, manager of the department store, announced shortly before noon that between $500 and $1,000 worth of clothing was stolen.

A preliminary check of stock reveals that 10 dresses, two coats, 10 or 12 dozen pairs of hosiery and other small items were included in the burglary.

"We are of the opinion," said Mr. Wells, "that the burglar was locked up in the store when we closed Saturday night. The rear door was found open Sunday morning."

Although the matter was reported to local officers, no announcement made at the police and sheriff's departments Monday. Both departments are investigating.

Dallas Cops Smash Texas Bandit Ring

DALLAS, Nov. 12. (AP)—Officers here believed more than 100 burglaries reported during the past 30 days have been solved with the arrest of three men, one of them a negro.

The officers estimated the loot secured by the trio would amount to $10,000, a comparatively small amount of which has been recovered despite the fact the officers have been riding about with the men gathering the loot where it had been disposed of.

Senate Hears GOP Plans In South

Plot To Elect Negro Congressmen And Injure Democratic Cause Further Uncovered

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Senate Lobby committee today began inquiry into reported plans to organize a Southern republican council "to hold in line" the Southern states and among other exhibits placed in the record was a letter under the name of J. A. Arnold, manager of the Southern Tariff association, discussing the place of the negro in Southern politics.

In addition a document introduced into the record, which purported to give plans of the Southern republican council said "the negroes in Southern republican politics can best be eliminated through the election of negro democrats to Congress from St. Louis, Chicago, Harlem and other colored districts." It added "this matter is in capable hands."

The letter under Arnold's name was addressed to Vance Muse, a field man of the tariff association.

Before presentation of this letter, Chairman Caraway had asked Arnold if he had assisted in organization o fthe republican council which was projected, the chairman added, "to hold in line" Southern states. Arnold testified he had nothing to do with formation of the council.

The letter as placed in the record read:

"I went with the darkey today to see Vice-President Curtis and he thought well of our negro congressman idea, but said it was a matter that should be taken up with Mr. Hoover and he would talk with Hoover about it. Curtis said he thought of getting a better grade of negroes to lead in the South, but I told him that would be the complete remedy.

"Our line of approach is much more acceptable to politicians and to negroes of equalization by blackening the democratic party than by whitening the republican party; the negroes will go in revolt over the plan of kicking them out of the party or of leadership; they will have to take themselves out of the way for the present.

"Our talk is down the race problem line, they all see that the race problem must be solved

WOMAN ADMITS SLAYING GIRL

OFFICERS PROBE FOUR OTHER DEATHS IN NEW JERSEY

(By Associated Press)

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 11.—Suspicion of police that four other children may have met the same fate as 4-year-old Dorothy Rogers, and her brother, Timothy, 2, for whose deaths Gladys May Parks, 35, is held in the Camden county jail on a charge of murder, today intensified investigation of the case.

Detective Sergeant Louis Shaw said the woman had confessed she had used the Rogers children in a blackmailing scheme. He said the authorities had found seven men who accused her of having demanded money of them after showing them the children and asserting they were theirs. These men gave descriptions of four small children used which Shaw declared were entirely different from descriptions of the Rogers children.

Surrenders To Officers

Miss Parks ended a widespread search for her by walking into police headquarters at Newark, N. J., yesterday and surrendering. With her was Anthony Baka, who is held as a witness. Police said the woman admitted having killed Dorothy Rogers by a blow struck in punishment for a childish indiscretion, but maintained Timothy was killed in a fall down the stairs at her home. She also confessed she had buried Dorothy's body in a shallow grave near National Park, N. J., after covering it with lye, and her disclosures led to the discovery of Timothy's body, at a lonely spot near Absecon, N. J.

The Rogers children were placed in Miss Parks' care last June by their father, Allen Rogers, insurance broker of Woodbury, N. J., whose wife died about a year ago, leaving six children.

BETTER SEED FOR COTTON IS URGED

LAMESA, Nov. 12—As an inducement to farmers of Dawson county to plant good staple cotton in the place of the usual mixed fifty-fifty type the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce has in its office an exhibit of cotton, showing the raw materials, its products and its by-products. The exhibit is made through the efforts of the agricultural committee of the chamber, of which O. B. Norman is chairman.

The exhibit is as much an educational feature as it is an argument for planting staple cotton. It includes a stalk of cotton showing the bolls beginning to open, some of the soil in which the cotton was grown, lint, featuring an inch staple, linters taken from cotto nseed, and cotton seed with linters removed. The other exhibits include products made in Dawson county with Dawson county cotton such as cold pressed cake, cotton seed meal, cotton seed oil and cotton cloth. The exhibit is arranged to show that this county can produce good inch staple cotton cheaper than any other section in the cotton producing world.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies, still upon the ground, just sat and didn't look around. They were too busy eating to be bothered by a thing. They didn't think the great big man would e'er come back, the way he ran. That's why they didn't have a hunch what bad luck fate might bring.

Said Scouty, "Well, I guess that I have had enough. I will not try to eat another bite. I'm sure 'twould make my tummy ache. The rest of you had better quit and rest while you are feeling fit. If I can find a stream near here, a good long drink I'll take."

"A good idea," Coppy cried. And then he jumped to Scouty's side. They led the others to a stream where each one got his fill. "I'd like to swim, but, my, I doubt if I could do it. I'm tired out," said Clowny. "Let's go back and snooze. We've naught tbut time to kill."

So, back they went and gathered 'round the dinner bucket, on the ground. "We all can nap," said Coppy. "There is nothing to go wrong. When we wake, in an hour or so upon our merry way we'll go. And, if we can, we'll take this little dinner pail along."

Now, all this time the big strong man up closer to the Tinies ran. He heard them say they'd take a nap. "Ah, ha, what luck," said he. "When everyone is sound asleep, right up to them I'll softly creep. I'll make them sorry that they ever took my pail from me."

He didn't wait so very long. Then on his knees he crawled along, and pounced upon the Tinies as he gave an awful shout. Before they had a chance to stand, he grabbed up two in each big hand. Wee Scouty looked real scared and said, "What is this all about?"

(We'll find out what the big man does to the Tinies, in the next story.)

The raid had been planned for weeks.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 12. (AP)—Ten persons were injured, none seriously, when the engine drawing Frisco railroad passenger train number 103, the Sunnyland, bound from Kansas City, to Memphis, crashed into a box car on a siding at Pickinger, eight miles from Haldy, Ark., it was learned on arrival of the train here last night.

EIGHT DIE IN HEAVY STORMS

ENGLAND AND PART OF CONTINENT RIPPED BY HIGH WINDS

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Eight persons were killed through accidents and drowning, many were injured and enormous property damage was inflicted in a gale which lashed the British isles and surrounding seas last night and today.

The wind blew at speeds varying occasional gusts reaching 90 miles, from 50 to 70 miles an hour with Cross-channel steamers reported terrific buffeting by the waves, which often smothered them and sometimes overtopped their funnels. Passengers suffered severely from anxiety and sickness.

The Belgian steamer Jan Breydel, which left Ostend yesterday afternoon with 72 passengers for Dover, battled vainly against the fury of the storm and finally was obliged to put in near Dunkirk where its passengers spent many terrifying hours in the darkness.

Planes Forced Down

While some airplanes were forced to make safety landings others made perilous trips between England and the continent defying the gale.

The giant dirigible R-101, endured its greatest test at Cardington, where it rode safely throughout the storm at its mast. The crew aboard successfully corrected its movements as it yawed and dipped under the enormous wind pressure. One gust of 83 miles an hour was experienced.

The Severn, Dee any Wye rivers were flooded in the deluge of rain which accompanied the wind, the water rushing over banks and submerging thousands of acres of agricultural land. South Wales suffered badly, the Rhondda valley, in the heart of the Welsh coal district having one of the worst floods in its history.

PERPETUAL CARE

REASONS WHY!

The purchase of a cemetery lot is an obligation that sooner or later will have to be met. Being indispensable, it is better attended to when we may, than when we must. The time to make such choice is when there is abundant opportunity for deliberation and wise selection; not to wait until distracted with grief or worn out with weary watching and care in a sick room.

It is a comforting thought to the survivors to have a place of interment already secured at beautiful Memorial Park. Prudence suggests that we look forward to future requirements, as the purchase of a lot should be but once in the history of the family.

Interested persons are solicited to visit and inspect beautiful Memorial Park.

Women Have Something to Say!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has ridiculed into oblivion that ancient prejudice which excluded women from a voice in council. Today, in millions of homes, the delicious flavor of LUCKY STRIKE fills the room as the family group respects the opinion of its women folk.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

HOOVER CALLS ON NATIONS OF WORLD TO LOOK TOWARD PEACE

PRESIDENT IS OUTSPOKEN IN HOLIDAY TALK

PROTECTION FOR FOOD SHIPS IN WAR TIME IS HIS URGE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—A peace which combines a full realization of American principles of justice with such adequate preparation for defense that no foreign soldier shall ever set foot upon American soil is the hope and objective of President Hoover.

To this ideal and to the removal of dormant and apparent circumstances which might arise to threaten the serenity of the nation his administration had dedicated itself. It is endeavoring so to organize its foreign relations as to strengthen the spirit of international good-will, "create respect and confidence" and "stimulate esteem between peoples."

Sums Up His Goal

The Chief Executive summed up the goal of his foreign policies in an address delivered last night under auspices of the American legion as the climax of its Armistice day celebration.

For the consideration of the nations of the world, Mr. Hoover held out a suggestion which he believes would prove effective as a starting point for the solution of the age-old, troublesome and trouble-producing problem of freedom of the seas.

"For many years, and born of a poignant personal experience," he said, "I have held that food ships should be made free of any interference in times of war. I would place all vessels laden solely with food supplies on the same footing as hospital ships. The time has come when we should remove starvation of women and children from the weapons of warfare."

Believes Idea Vital

Declaring promotion of international goodwill more vital even than covenants to abolish war and mightier than armies and navies in defense, Mr. Hoover said it was in this interest he visited the presidents of the South American republics and this was why he welcomed the visit of the British prime minister to the United States.

As another and immediate step in the direction of world peace, Mr. Hoover said the United States would reduce its naval strength in proportion to any other nation and added amid a burst of applause the others could not go "too low for us."

Appeals for Peace

In making his appeal for peace, Mr. Hoover made it clear he was not unmindful of difficulties along that road. He said this road requires preparedness for defense as well as preparedness for peace.

On the side of defense he said amid enthusiastic applause he was "for adequate preparedness as a guaranty that no foreign soldier shall ever step upon the soil of our country." Of peace he warned it was not "a static thing;" that "to maintain peace is as dynamic in its requirements as the conduct of war."

His own address completed, the Chief Executive heard O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of the American legion, make an impassioned plea for enactment of a universal service law and declare the American legion "desires to serve in peace as it did in war."

LONDON PRESS TAKES SPEECH CAUTIOUSLY

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The London press today was cautiously noncommittal with regard to that suggestion in President Hoover's Armistice day speech that the safety of food ships in wartime be guaranteed to all nations.

The best part of the speech, the London Times said, was that expressing his conviction the world is becoming more genuinely inclined toward peace.

"Certainly," the paper commented, "The omens for the naval conference in January are becoming more favorable and an atmosphere has been created wherein the conference will have every chance for success."

ITALIAN DAILY SEES THE FUNNY SIDE

ROME, Nov. 12 (AP)—Tevere, Rome daily, commenting today upon President Hoover's Armistice day speech, said in a satiric vein Mr. Hoover has not yet gone to the bottom in his examination of the causes disturbing peace.

If the desire for parity is recognized as the determining motive of wars, said the paper, the Americans, British, and French have only to adopt the Mussolinian formula of the minimum of armaments common to all great powers.

Cotton Crop Nears Finale, Eaton Says

Estimating that about 80 per cent of Lubbock county's cotton crop has been harvested, County Agent D. F. Eaton said today that but a few weeks will be required for picking the crop when weather conditions become favorable.

"Most of the remaining unpicked cotton is in the eastern portion of the county," said Mr. Eaton. "Picking thus far has been congested in certain sections of the county."

Although it would be hard to estimate the exact damage, hundreds of bales of cotton have ben ruined by the inclement weather of the last three weeks, Mr. Eaton expressed.

Three From County Will Attend Meet

Three Lubbock county citizens will represent this county at the district convention of the Texas Farm Bureau federation at Harlingen, November 29 and 30, N. H. Payne, field representative of the federation, announced today.

The three will atend as delegates of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau Cotton association.

EDUCATOR IS HONORED

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 12 (AP)—David Starr Jordan, noted educator, was presented yesterday with an elaborate parchment copy of a resolution adopted by the Palo Alto chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, supporting his stand on world peace. "We have come to tell you that the truths you have spoken have taken deep root in our minds and hearts," said Mrs. C. W. Neff, regent of the chapter, making the presentation.

THE BEST OF 'EM WILL DO IT

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—John Sikyta is the assistant postmaster of Chicago.

He concocts slogans, like "mail early."

His job is to see the public pays attention to its mail, gets it into the boxes on time, and all that.

Sikyta was riding in the elevator at the federal building yesterday. He reached into his coat pocket. He was somewhat preoccupied with devising a new way of getting people to mail early.

His face turned white. His fingers had touched an envelope in his pocket. He drew it forth.

"Alas," he groaned, guiltily. "My wife gave me this letter to mail three days ago."

The Sikyta zest for devising snappy slogans hasn't been the same since.

BOYS WILL GO TO HUGE FAIR

THREE OF LUBBOCK CO., LADS TO ATTEND AT EXPOSITION

Further recognition of achievements of Lubbock County 4-H club boys has been given with the announcement today that three boys in this county will be awarded trips to the Livestock Exposition and 4-H club encampment at Chicago, November 29.

Two of the scholarship wards, given to Milton Davis, Lubbock, and Hugh Pettit, Abernathy, route 2, were made by the Texas Cottonseed Growers association. "Since only 6 awards were made by the association in Texas, the Lubbock county boys have been distinctly honored," said County Agent D. F. Eaton.

One Gets Rail Award

John L. Vaughn, of Abernathy, was awarded a scholarship by the Santa Fe railway company, which gave 19 scholarships to boys residing in 19 counties served by the rail line in Texas.

Young Davis raised 6 bales of cotton this year on 5 acres and realized a profit of about $300.

Starting with 14 hens and 2 males Vaughn has raised 172 turkeys this year, realizing a profit of $619.

Pettit was given recognition because of his showing in growing lambs.

John J. Raskob, elected chairman of the boar dof directors Saturday, arrived at the bank a few moments before its opening and reiterated the bank was sound and Mr. Riordan, whatever the cause of his suicide, was not personally indebted to the bank.

They called this bear market a readjustment. That's a good word to remember if you ever happen to go broke in a poker game.

prisoners. "I was ordered to unlock the door to a cell in which was Mrs. Bessie Phillips," said Mr. Ernest. He then directed the woman to get a towel and gag my mouth, and in a short while they had tied my hands thoroughly. After this was done Kizer took two one dollar bills from my pocket and escaped."

Kizer and Mrs. Phillips were recaptured a few minutes after the jail break by Policeman H. B. Brown and Stacy Ashley. ROAD MEN IN ANNUAL MEET

SAN ANTONIO IS HOST TO ASSOCIATION IN 1929 SESSION

(By Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 12—Highway officials from all of the annual meeting of the American Association of State Highway officials.

Governor Dan Moody, scheduled to make a welcoming address at the opening session, was detained in Austin on account of official business but sent word he would be here tomorrow.

R. S. Sterling, chairman of the Texas commission, his colleagues, Cone Johnson of Tyler and Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene, and Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer, were hosts to the visitors.

Business Is Begun

The executive committee began last night and continued today consideration of applications for federal highway designations. The committee can only recommend to the federal government, but such recommendation has a strong influence.

The Western Association of Highway officials from the states of California, Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado endorsed proposed plans for an International Pacific highway from Alaska, through Nogales, Ariz., to Buenos Aires, Argentina, and adopted resolutions urging the state and federal governments to complete immediately all sections of the highway in the United States.

Amendment Urged

Henry H. Blood of Salt Lake City, Utah, president, held out of order a resolution advocating an amendment to the Colton-Oddie federal road aid bill to omit a section giving preference in federal aid to roads in the forest areas which are on the so-called "seven per cent system" of federal highways.

The Western association will hold its next meeting in Salt Lake City, on dates to be announced later.

G. P. Portney of Charlestown, W. Va., is president, and W. C. Markham of Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the American association.

In addressing the Western association meeting, Sterling condemned the practice of Texas and other states in refunding taxes paid for gasoline used in farm implements and in other non-highway machinery.

SOUR STOMACHS MADE SWEET

Antiseptic Remedy Corrects Fermented Condition

If you can not eat what you like, if you have to avoid certain foods because they disagree with you, your trouble is no doubt due to fermentation (souring of food)—a condition that can be quickly corrected if proper methods are used.

The use of soda, magnesia, dyspepsia tablets, laxatives and common patent medicines, require continual dosing and, at best, can furnish only temporary relief.

GORDON'S, a stomach and bowel antiseptic, gives lasting benefit. It stops fermentation promptly, sweetens the stomach, drives out the acids and poisons, soothes and heals the membrane lining. The very first dose will relieve sour stomach, indigestion, gas, bloating heartburn, dissolve the excess acid.

If you have stomach trouble now or when food disagrees, don't take chances with temporary measures. Get GORDON'S from druggist at once. It costs no more than ordinary remedies—a large 8-ounce bottle for $1.50—less than three cents a dose. Adv.

PRESIDENT TO ISSUE REPORT

HOOVER PONDERS OVER REPORT TO BE MADE ON DECEMBER 2ND

By JAMES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP).—President Hoover is giving thought to his first annual report on the state of the union which will be made to congress three weeks from today, or the day after the opening of the regular session on December 2.

Aside from that which usually attaches to the first regular message to congress of a new chief executive, interest in this one is heightened by the bitter political situation in the senate which has arisen out of tariff legislation.

May Remain Silent

What the president will have to say on the tariff must of necessity depend largely upon the circumstances at the end of this special session. Should the measure have failed by that time some of his friends would expect him to make no further recommendation on the subject as this might result in prolonging an unsettled economic situation accompanying general tariff revision.

On the other hand, should the bill then be in conference Mr. Hoover might refrain from any other than a general statement on the tariff. He has stated it as a policy of his administration to refrain from interference by the executive branch into the affairs of the legislative department of the government.

Still Has Hope

Despite the wide spread between the ideas of the senate and the house on the form of tariff legislation, Mr. Hoover has by no means abandoned hope of a bill emerging which will square with the republican party's promise of relief to agriculture and those industries which are lagging because of changed conditions since the last impost measure was written.

Fulfillment of his hope would mean extensive compromises in the conference between the committees of the two houses, but in the past decade wide gulfs between the bodies have been abridged both on tariff and tax legislation.

Next to the tariff, the subject carrying an appeal to country is that of taxation, and Mr. Hoover's views on the possibilities of tax reductions in the near future will be closely scanned. Such reductions are dependent upon a number of factors not all of which have yet been completely assessed.

BROWNFIELD CROP HARVESTING LAGS

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 12—Greater difficulty has been experienced in getting crops harvested in this section this season than at any other time since farming has become the principal activity and this is not caused by a labor shortage but from unprecedented rains which have prevailed almost since crops matured or since cotton became ready for pickers.

There were very few days during October that fields were dry enough for satisfactory work and so far the month of November bids fair to duplicate its predecessor. Notwithstanding this, nearly as much coton has been gathered this year as was produced last year and it is estimated that about one half of the crop remains in the fields with several weeks of good weather needed to complete the work.

Weather Prophets Busy

It has been said, that any man who ventured a prediction on the weather in West Texas was either a new comer or a fool, but this did not deter anyone from continuing the practice and some of them felt that they could qualify for both positions.

SENATE IS AFTER LOBBYISTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—The Senate lobby committee plans to spend another day delving into the activities of the Southern Tariff association and the National Council of State legislators, and then will turn to a study of the organizations that were interested in the sugar tariff. Today it plans to question J. C. Holton, Mississippi commissioner of agriculture; Thomas A. Hill, of Pine Bluff, Ark., treasurer of the National Council of State legislators, and J. A. Arnold, vice president and general manager of the Southern Tariff association.

BOTTOM PRICES REACHED

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. (AP)—Belief that the bottom prices for farm lands had been reached was expressed yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, as he stopped off enroute to St. Paul, where he will address a meeting of Milk producers. "There is certainly no room in sight," he said, "but indications are that bottom prices for farm lands have been reached Some authorities believe the turn of recent security markets will have the effect of making more money available for farm investments.

GAMEL WILL HEAD DRIVE FOR CHEST

J. W. Gamel was elected secretary of the board of directors of the Lubbock Community chest and Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, was named chairman of the educational committee of the campaign at a meeting of the directors last night at 7:30 o'clock in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce.

Henry Clark, of the American City Bureau, will arrive in the city next Monday and will be here for a period of two weeks, during which time he will acquaint Lubbock more thoroughly with the community chest plan by making numerous addresses.

Dean A. H. Leidigh, chairman of the budget committee, reported for that body stating that all records of every agency represented in the drive had been carefully investigated with a view to setting the goal for the coming campaign.

E. L. Klett, president of the community chest, presided at the meeting.

Camels are for knowing smokers!

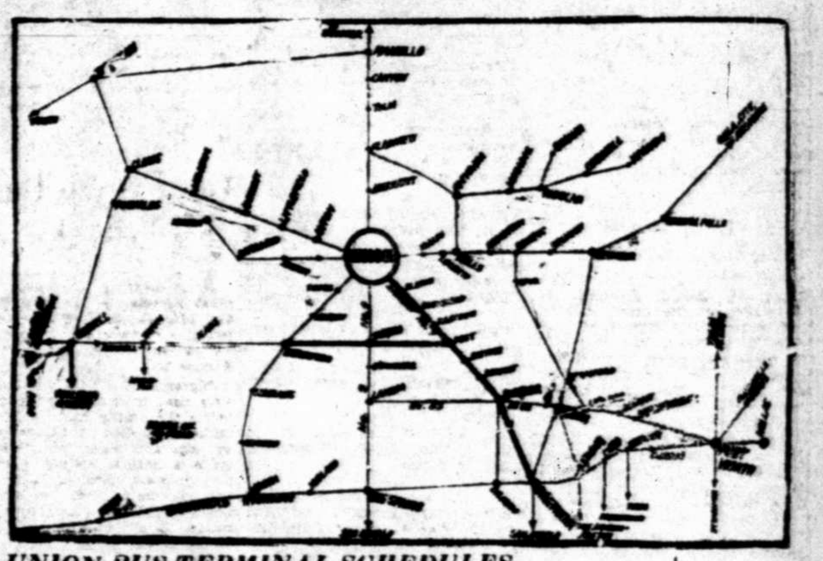

It's just too bad if any smoker because of misinformation denies himself or herself the pleasure of CAMELS.

New smokers are not always in a position to have a real preference in cigarettes. But when they acquaint themselves with Camels they develop that sense of discrimination that leads to real smoking pleasure. Camels are made so carefully and of so good a blend of choicest cigarette tobaccos that even those with inexperienced smoking taste quickly recognize their superiority. They are for those who appreciate the taste of choice tobaccos, the fragrance of a perfect blend and the soothing mellowness of a really satisfying cigarette.

ANCIENT RIVALRIES BECKON TO FANS OF GRIDIRON

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Journal Sports Editor.

...day like Monday and the football fan of this section would go completely bughouse. Upsets that would tear the nerve of even the most hardened grid enthusiast occurred in the hectic Class B chase in District Two. It was bad enough when the report of Spur's 24-19 triumph over the Post Antelopes came over the wire, but when we learned that the Slaton Tigers were swamped, 32 to 13, by the Lamesa Golden Tornado, our reasoning powers were gone. Predictions of an entire season were ruined and also a perfect season for both Slaton and Post, the leading favorites.

The Lamesa eleven lived up to its name yesterday, and how! The Tornado struck with such fury that the vaunted attack of the Purple Tigers was not given an opportunity to get under way until the final period, and then the invading machine had piled up too great a score to overcome. Down at Post, the Taylor brothers staged a spectacular drama entitled, "Rival Brothers of the Coaching Game." Little Gene of Spur emerged the hero in the fray while Pa and Ma Taylor looked on. Harry was the loser.

These two upsets leave Lamesa as the strong favorite to cop the Class B championship of this region, but nothing would surprise us now. The Tornadoes must conquer Post before they can claim the title and this may be a shade tough for the McCollum crew. Slaton and Post meet on the 22nd, and here's another battle that will be worth watching.

Did you "ain't heard nothin' yet" Not only did the A. C. C. Wildcats turn the tables on Tech and snatch a 7 to 3 victory in the last period here Monday, but several teams down state did the altogether unexpected. Doped to lose to the Simmons Cowboys by at least two touchdowns, the Trinity University Tigers battled the cohorts of Frank Bridges to a scoreless tie. McMurry's Indians went haywire before an Armistice Day crowd at Abilene and administered a sound trouncing to the Daniel Baker Billies, 34 to 0. It was the same Hill Billy team that defeated Tech, 6 to 2 and the same crew of Redskins that held the Matadors to a scoreless tie.

Of particular significance to local football fans was the 21 to 7 defeat of St. Edwards by the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets at Brownwood. The setback ruined all hopes of the Saints for a Texas Conference championship, and incidently served notice on the Matadors that they are facing a dangerous foe in their next game here next Tuesday, Nov. 19.

A satisfying throng of out-oftown football fans were on hand for the Tech-A. C. C. game here Monday afternoon. Large delegations from Brownfield, Tahoka and Plainview were especially noticeable. At the same time, hundreds of old-timers who have always been present at home games were missed in the stands on Armistice Day. This may be attributed to the fact that the hunting season is in full blast.

The Amarillo Sandies came through as was expected in their holiday clash with the Vernon Lions at the Wilbarger capital. In fact the Lions made a much better showing than the majority of experts had predicted they would. It was much better than the 55 to 6 trouncing Vernon suffered at the hands of the 1928 Sandstorm eleven in Amarillo. Now there is only Electra and Wichita Falls left for the Sandies to hurdle before they can claim another district title. Lubbock gridsters are still living in hopes that one of these will do the unexpected and give the Westerners a tie with the Amarillo club. This would give the locals another crack at the Sandies and the game would likely be played in Lubbock.

Proof of Wichita's respect for the strength of the Lubbock team is found in the following excerpt in the Wichita Daily Times, by Al Parker:

Incidentally, Coach Barry Holton thinks the Lubbock game is the more dangerous of the two. For some reason he fears Lubbock more than he does Amarillo. The key to the situation in his opinion is this Friday skirmish at Lubbock. He believes his team will defeat the Sandies, if it can handle the Westerners in proper fashion Friday. While Amarillo was the outstanding favorite from the start among the fans and the scribblers, quite a few coaches over the district have proclaimed Lubbock the stronger, tougher team. That belief, in a measure, was upheld in the Lubbock-Amarillo game. Though the latter won by two touchdowns to one, the Westerners made the most first downs, gained greater yardage and looked like the better team.

California Eleven Leaves For Chicago

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 12 (AP)—Thirty-eight players of the University of Southern California football team, accompanied by Coach Howard Jones, will leave late today for Chicago, where the Trojans play the Notre Dame eleven Saturday. Last season the Trojans defeated Knute Rockne's team 27 to 14.

The national debt of the United States at the close of the civil war in 1865 was nearly three billion dollars.

OPPONENTS OF TECH IN NEXT BATTLE TOUGH

YELLOW JACKETS BEAT ST. EDS: WILL PLAY HERE TUESDAY

Fully aware of the strength of the two remaining opponents on their 1929 schedule, the Texas Tech Matadors are out today to begin training for the scheduled battle here next Tuesday with the powerful Howard Payne Yellow Jackets from Brownwood.

Defeated by the A. C. C. Wildcats in the Armistice day skirmish, 7 to 3, after it seemed that they were headed for victory, the Crimson crew of Higginbotham and Payne will make a final effort to make a showing before the home folks.

Jackets Beat Saints

The Jackets showed surprising strength in downing the St. Edwards Saints, 21 to 7, Monday, and the Bull Fighters are certain to have a tough scrap on their hands when the Brownwood aggregation comes here for the last home game of the season.

On Thanksgiving day, the Matadors journey to Silene to wind up the season in the annual Turkey day clash with the Simmons Cowboys. Last year the Cowhands defeated Tech, 19 to 0, on the local field.

ICC Rules On Gulf And Atlantic Ports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce commission held today that rail-water termanal facilities at Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico ports were adequate and denied that charges on import, export, costal and intercostal traffic imposed a burden on other freight hauled by the roads.

Ending a lengthy, self-instituted investigation the commission also held prescription of a tariff rule requiring separate statements of accessorial or terminal charges from the rates to the ports to be unnecessary.

LUBBOCK HIGH BEARING DOWN

GAME WITH PACK WILL BE HARD ONE, IS COACHES' BELIEF

With but three days left in which to perfect their attack for the invasion of the Wichita Falls Coyotes here Friday, the Westerners of Lubbock High begin bearing down seriously this afternoon as training is resumed.

Anticipating one of the hardest games of the season from the Wichita aggregation, Coaches Frnka and Morgan will whip their charges through three days of intensive work before the Westerners tackle their Class A rivals on the Tech gridiron here Friday.

With their own offense nearing perfection, the Westerners will devote most of their remaining practice hours to a close study of the intricate styles of attack used by the Pack. Coach Barry Holton is a student of Knute Rockne, the famous Notre Dame mentor, and the Coyotes are employing the shift which has made the fighting Irish feared the nation over.

Reports from the Coyote camp indicate Coach Holton is driving his forces at a gruelling pace in preparation for the battle here this week. The Wichita mentor is still gunning for the district title. This fact, taken together with the 21-0 defeat handed the Coyotes last season by the Westerners, means that the locals will face a snarling Pack when the two teams line up for the kick-off Friday.

Unconfirmed reports say that a special train will bring a large delegation of Wichita Falls boosters here for the contest. The team will arrive Thursday afternoon.

"THE TIGEE" IS HOST

PARIS, Nov. 12, (AP)—The Tiger of France was host yesterday eleventh anniversary of the Armistice, to a small group of war veterans from his native province of Vendee. They formed the only delegation representative of French present-day life that came to congratulate the great French statesman on the anniversary of the Armistice that he did so much to bring about.

NET DEPOSITS INCREASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—The County Trust company reported an increase in net deposits of $700,000 yesterday afternoon, at the close of the first business day since the suicide of its president, James J. Riordan, was made public. Riordan shot himself Friday afternoon, but news of his death was withheld until after the bank had closed Saturday.

GAS KILLS 2 WOMEN

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12. (AP)—Mrs. D. M. McReynolds, 65, and her sister, Miss Lulu Alice Craig, 60, were found dead yesterday afternoon in their home here from asphyxiation. A County coroner said death was caused by asphyxiation. Two gas heaters were in the room in which the women were found.

SCHMELING, CAMPOLO, SCOTT TO FIGHT FOR BIG FIRM

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Madison Garden again has taken a strangle hold on promotion of heavyweight fights with a $75,000 deal for the services of Max Schmeling of Germany, Phil Scott of England and Victorio Campolo of the Argentine.

After weeks of dickering with Humbert Fugazy, rival promoter, the Garden announced Schmeling, Scott and Campolo would fight for the house that Tex Rickard built.

Means a Monopoly

The deal gives the Garden a virtual monopoly on the services of the four leading heavyweight contenders for Gene Tunney's vacant throne.

Jack Sharkey, Boston sailor, already is under contract to the Garden for a fight at Miami in February. Negotiations with Fugazy transfer to the Garden contracts on Campolo's services for four fights, and on Scott's and Schmeling's for one each.

The way now seems to be paved for Schmeling's return to American rings. Schmeling and his American manager, Joe Jacobs, were suspended by the New York State Athletic commission for Schmeling's failure to fight Scott for Fugazy last summer. The Garden later was threatened with suspension if it continued to dicker with Schmeling.

Fugazy Withdraws

But with Fugazy's withdrawal the commission's objections apparently have been met. Since Fugazy has abandoned his contracts on Scott and Schmeling there does not appear to be any good reason why Schmeling should not be reinstated.

Indications now are the Garden will attempt to match Schmeling and Sharkey for the mid-winter show at Miami.

CLASS B RACE TAKES SURPRISING TURN AT SLATON, POST

The struggle for the class B football title in District 2 took a surprising turn Monday when Post and Slaton, the reigning favorites in the current chase, were downed decisively in their Armistice day skirmishes.

A furious Tornado from Lamesa swept down on Slaton to humble the heretofore undefeated Tigers, 32 to 13, and a husky Bulldog eleven from Spur, coached by Gene Taylor, rose to great heights to down the 1928 champions of Post, 24 to 19.

Ralls Still Unbeaten

Spur had previously been defeated by Slaton and the Lamesa Golden Tornado remains the only undefeated team in the district, with the exception of Ralls Jackrabbits, who yesterday trimmed the Crosbyton Chiefs, 26 to 7. The Tornadoes now rule as the outstanding favorite, but must meet Post eleven on Thanksgiving day before the title can be claimed.

2,000 at Slaton

More than 3,000 holiday fans were on hand to witness the Slaton-Lamesa battle. A delegation of 1,000 grid enthusiasts from Lamesa, led by the high school band and pep squad, invaded Slaton Monday.

The purple Tigers of Slaton will make a supreme bid to stay in the running on November 22 when they invade Post for their annual battle with the Antelopes. Coach Wright's Bengals are due to stage a comeback, but the odds are stacked against them.

COL. OWSLEY AT PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Twenty thousand persons from Lamar and adjoining counties were the guests of the Winfield P. Alvin Owsley of Dallas, past national commander of the American Legion delivered the principle address of the day, a plea for peace.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 12 (AP)—Services commemorating the memory of the 52 Texas A. and M. men who died with the colors during the World war were held here yesterday. As the name of each of the men was read before the cadet corps in Guion hall, a member of the corp rose and answered with "dead on the field of honor." Taps followed the roll call.

FALSE ALARM FOUND

Odor of smoke brought out members of the Lubbock fire department this morning at 5:45 o'clock, but after a search of the Southwestern Bell telephone building a report of "false alarm" was recorded. A telephone operator was alarmed when she saw smoke, supposedly from furnace of an adjoining building.

EASTERN BUGS TURN EYES TO HOME TALENTS

FUR WILL FLY DURING FAMILY FUSSES ON WEEK-END

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—With only one intersectional game of any consequence on the program, eastern football fans on Saturday will turn to the renewal of a half dozen ancient rivalries.

New York university's clash with Missouri of the Big Six heads the intersectional slate on the Atlantic seaboard, but there will be more interest in such games as those involving Yale and Princeton, Cornell and Dartmouth, Penn and Columbia, Colgate and Syracuse, Williams and Amherst, and Tufts and Bowdoin.

Yale Is Favorite

Yale will be a decided favorite over a Princeton Tiger able to win only two games this year, both over Ivy opposition. In this rivalry go-back to 1872, Yale has won 27 games; Princeton 16, with nine ties.

Penn's 20th meeting with Columbia looks like another triumph for the warriors from Philadelphia, who have beaten Columbia 15 times since 1878. Columbia has won three games, and one was a tie.

Williams and Amherst have met 45 times since 1884 with Williams the victor on 24 occasions and Amherst on 17. Four games ended in ties. Comparative records this year indicate a closely fought game.

Syracuse Doomed

Colgate appears to pack too much power for Syracuse this year and expects its 17th victory of the series.

Unbeaten Cornell may not be that way after the 18th meeting with Dartmouth, which has won 7 of the 17 previous meetings. In the last eight meetings the two teams have scored an aggregate of 378 points, an average of more than 47 to a game.

Pittsburgh's unconquered Panthers take on a hardy city rival in Carnegie Tech; Harvard may find the Holy Cross defense hard to pierce. Davis and Elkins, unbeaten thus far, tackles Harry Stuhldreher's crack Villonava outfit. One of the toughest games of the day will bring together Bucknell and Penn State.

Georgetown should win from West Virginia, although the score may be close and Lehigh will be favored over Rutgers. Boston college invades the mid-west again for a Friday game with Marquette.

BARRY HOLTON, WICHITA MENTOR, TO BRING NOTRE DAME PLAYS TO LUBBOCK

BY LESTER JORDAN
Sports Editor Waxahachie Light

Barry Holton, coach of the Wichita Falls Coyotes who will play Lubbock this week, is recognized as one of the smartest football coaches in Texas. Whenever football meetings are held, other coaches and officials listen while Holton talks, for the Wichita Falls coach is a former pupil of Knute Rockne and each summer he spends part of the time with Rockne.

Use Rockne Shift

His Wichita Falls Coyotes will use the same plays against Lubbock that Notre Dame is using in all her big games this year, for Rockne and Holton talk over each summer the plays they are to use the following fall.

Holton went to Wichita Falls from Trinity university where he was coach for four years. And they still talk about some of the elevens he put out at Trinity.

Holton, a native Texan, returned to this state after playing at Notre Dame and after coaching the Irish freshmen one year when the famous Four Horsemen were on his team.

To Trinity in 1925

In the spring of 1925 he was signed as coach and director of athletics at Trinity university and immediately took chage of athletic affairs there.

With a team composed largely of new men and reserves from the previous year, Holton developed one of the five best teams in Texas in 1925.

Trinity's first game was with the Texas Aggies, who later won the Southwestern Conference championship. The Aggies were doped to win from Trinity by forty or fifty points, but the most the Farmers could make in the first half was six points and Al Lowe, now coach at Sweetwater high, dropkicked a field goal to give Trinity three points so the half ended 6 to 3 in favor of A. and M.

Before five minutes had elapsed on the second half, Trinity had scored a touchdown and the Aggies were trailing 10 to 6 at the end of the third quarter. The farmers scored two touchdowns in the last period and won 20 to 10 but fans over the state knew that the Notre Dame system would put Trinity and Holton on the football map.

Defeats Rice Owls

After winning a couple of junior college games, Holton's Tigers were scheduled to play the Rice Owls. This game, much to the surprise of most fans, resulted in a 13 to 0 victory for the Tigers of Coach Holton.

The following week came the game between Holton's proteges and Baylor, the defending champions of the Southwest conference, the team that had traveled to South Bend to play Notre Dame.

At South Bend the Bears were unable to sto pthe Notre Dame attack and at Waco they could not stop the same attack as it was used by Holton's men. Trinity won 10 to 3.

The team continued to pile up victories and won nine games that year.

Almost Won Title

Coach Holton's eleven almost won the Texas Conference championship in 1926. The team lost to Howard Payne 7 to 6. The try for point hit the upright and bounced back. If this attempt had been successful and if the game had ended in a tie Trinity would have been the champions. A break also kept the Tigers from winning from Simmons as a try for a field goal in the last minute of play struck the crossbar and dropped back. This contest ended in a scoreless tie but if the field goal had been successful the Tigers would have been crowned champions.

The 1927 team at Trinity also was coached by Holton and it also came near to winning the title, missing it by only one game. This was the contest with Southwestern in which Trinity gained twice as much ground as the Pirates but failed to make enough touchdown to win.

In 1928 the team coached by Holton never got started and finished in the conference cellar.

GRID NOTES FROM OVER THE STATE

POST-MORTEM ON THE GAMES OF LAST WEEK

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Reports from College Station indicate Southern Methodist university has a fine collection of "murder." In splashing their way to victory over the Aggies Saturday the Mustangs produced a dashing offense, despite sheets of water that at times almost obscured the vision of the spectators. They flipped the oval thither and yon and generally disported themselves like trained seals. Mason, in particular, refused to be handicapped. His 35-yard run for the deciding touchdown saw him elude three or four tacklers by deft dodging. The game, incidentally, has convinced S. M. U. followers Morrison's eleven is ready to make a determined bid for the conference title. They confidently expect to trim Baylor Saturday.

WILSON HELPS BAYLOR

The Bears were better equipped for the wet going than the Longhorns, chiefly because of Jake Wilson's ability to propel 40 and 50 yard spirals from five yards behind the line of scrimmage. He averaged 44 yards on 12 kicks, several times sailing the slippery oval over the Texas safety man's head. Shelley, on the other hand, got off several that were only luke warm, one almost giving Baylor a touchdown when Lucas ran it to the four-yard line. The manner in which both teams handled the slick ball was a tribute to careful coaching. Neither side recovered an opponent's fumble.

BAYLOR BACKS STRONG

There is plenty of drive in Baylor's backfield. Where the Longhorns were forced to take to the air for most of their gains, Wilson and McElreath lunged and bounced through the Steer line repeatedly for sizeable yardage. It was noticeable they deliberately "chose" Gordy Brown, the well known Texas tackle, for many of their thrusts. For the second week, Brown failed to show the form that gained him an all-conference berth in 1926. He appears too anxious. He has been in poor health, they say. Baylor's Charlie Morris looked like the best tackle in that game.

RAIN HURT GAME

It was disappointing that two crack offensive units like Texas and Baylor were forced to battle on a muddy field. A dry gridiron almost certainly would have produced a score and provided a game vastly more entertaining. Nothing leaves quite as flat a taste as a scoreless bout. Anyone who doubts a touchdown, however negotiated, is the big entertainment should witness two no-decision affairs on successive week-ends. It appears the Ride coaches in the Southwest conference have a decided edge this season on their better known contemporaries who fashion the attack. Koch, Baylor guard, was the outstanding man on the field at Austin Saturday, and "Big Un" Rose, Texas end, ran him a close second. One observer estimated that Koch—who pronounces it cook—incidentally, either made or helped make 60 percent of the Baylor tackles. The last and blackest figure to emerge from the pile was the stocky Bruin guard. Rose snared a half-dozen passes, reaching over the heads of the midget Baylor backs, and played a smashing defensive game.

Some of the folks who saw Texas Christians batter through the Rice Owls for four touchdowns were not exactly impressed with Francis Schmidt's pupils. They predict Texas will subdue the Progs Saturday at Austin, especially if the weather man hands out another moist week-end. The Progs' offense essentially is built about its speedy backs, Leland and Grubbs, not to mention "Football" Moore. A muddy field would hurt their chances, a majority of critics believed. There is more straightway power in the Longhorns' ground gaining department. Another thing, the Christians scarcely can hope to turn to the air for their gains. Texas has one of the greatest pass defenses ever boasted by a conference team. Nona Rees is a marvel at knocking down enemy aerials. He is, in fact, a splendid all-round defensive man and about as dangerous a broken field runner as the conference lists. "Doc" Stewart, former Texas coach declared Saturday Rees was the most under-rated player in the section.

MID-WIFE CHARGED

VIENNA, Nov. 12 (AP)—The arrest of a mid-wife, named Rosie Novy, yesterday discloses the fact that thirty-six children admitted to her baby farm had disappeared. The police think the woman either murdered them or sold them to childless couples. Investigation is difficult because in many cases registration certificates were missing.

GALVESTON HORSE WINS

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 12. (AP)—Peter Pindar, beautiful mount of Mrs. W. L. Moody, III, of Galveston, won both the ladies class walk-gaited and the five-gaited saddle horse stake, the total purses for the latter being $1,000, in the final Horse Show of the Fall Fair and Race meet here Monday night.

BURGESS IS CONDEMNED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Submitting its second report to the Senate, the Senate Lobby committee yesterday condemned William Burgess, former member of the tariff commission, for his activities during consideration of the pending tariff legislation.

Texas Lady Says Pains Stopped Coming After She Had Taken Cardui.

Terrell, Texas.—"I was run-down and nervous, and for several months my health had not been good," says Mrs. Louis Wieland, of this place. "I was up one day and down the next. I never felt like doing anything.

"I worried all the time, and could not sleep well at night.

"Periodically I would suffer from pains in my back and sides. I would have awful headaches, and would feel dull and dizzy.

"My sister had taken Cardui, and she persuaded me to try it. She said to me one day: 'If you will only try it, you will see for yourself how much good it will do you.' So I got a bottle of Cardui and began to take it. It was not long until I felt fine. I got stronger, and my nerves did not bother me any more.

"The pains stopped coming in my back, and I could do my work without any trouble. I think Cardui is a fine medicine."

Cardui is a reconstructive tonic extracted from herbs of long-known medicinal value.

A New Clue to America's Prehistoric Human Beings

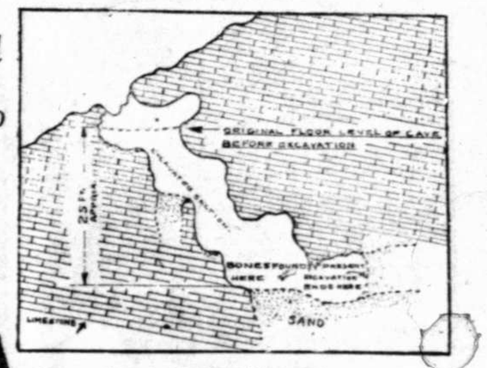

Three scientific guesses at what Europe's prehistoric men probably looked like. . . . Did they have American cousins?

Director Bryan of the Los Angeles Museum here holds in his hands the best clue yet found to prove that men lived in America 20,000 years ago.

Scientists Have Always Believed That Mankind Did Not Inhabit This Continent Before 10,000 B.C., But Discoveries of Human Skulls With the Bones of Ice Age Animals In a New Mexico Treasure Cave Now Strengthens the Theory That Some Primitive Man May Have Lived Here 50,000 or 100,000 Years Ago

Cross-section of the New Mexico bone cave. . . . Loose sand filled the cavern in solid limestone. . . . And in the sand were skeletal fragments of men, ground sloth, an extinct species of horse, the American camel, a cave-bear.

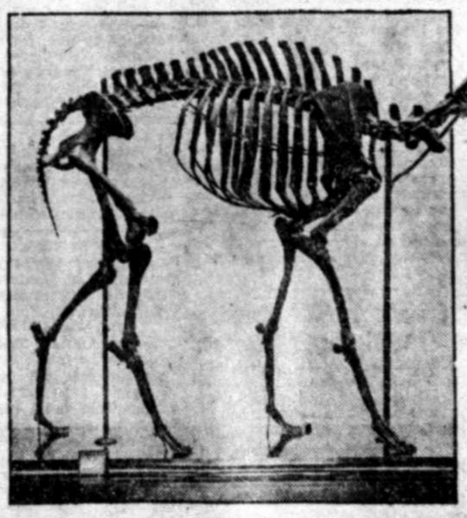

Where prehistoric man dug in and modern man dug out. . . . The man in white is Mr. Conkling. . . . Arrow points to cave entrance and windlass.

Alas poor ground sloth. . . . Dr. Stock examining bones found in the Cavern.

Glyptodon. . . . Fossil bones of this monster armadillo-like animal have been found in the same strata with human remains.

Camelops Lesternus. . . . The last fossils taken from Conkling's Cavern were bones of an extinct American camel like this.

By FRANK THONE

DID the earliest Americans hunt the ground sloth and the cave bear?

Did they have a part in the extermination of the wild camels that once roamed the southwest?

Were there human beings on this continent 20,000, 40,000, 100,000 years ago, instead of the mere eight or ten thousand now allowed by many anthropologists?

These and a score of like questions will be agitating American students of ancient man during the coming months, as the result of excavations now going on in the bottom of a cave in southwestern New Mexico.

Fragments of the bones of two skulls and other human bones have come out of the sandy earth, together with a great quantity of fossil remains of animal species like the cave bear, the extinct American camel, the huge ground sloth, and the wild horse that flourished on the plains and plateaus of the West and was gone over the road of the mastodon and the saber-tooth tiger long before the Spanish conquistadores restocked the ranges with the ancestors of the modern broncho.

Human bones were so intimately interburied with those of the animals that the possibility of their having been buried here at a later date seems to be ruled out of court; yet these animals have always been checked off by geologists as extinct since the end of the Great Ice Age—and that was 100,000 years ago.

Did the owners of these skulls wander into this cave to die 1000 centuries in the past, or were there still survivors of the strange Pleistocene fauna left on earth until late-coming man put in his leisurely appearance, perhaps only 10,000 years ago? That is the dilemma now confronting the scientists, and that is the reason why the busy spades of workers from the Los Angeles Museum are digging into the bottom of Conkling's Cavern like so many living question marks.

The answers to these questioning thrusts come up day by day—more pieces of bone, a few of them human, most of them of mammals and birds, some living and some extinct. The cases and study tables of the museum in Los Angeles are filling with fossils, faster than paleontologists—the specialists who delight in ancient bones—can read their riddles. When these long runes are read at last, which may be months hence, or even years, the full significance of the two broken skulls will be made known. In the meantime, the story can be told so far as it is known to date, while it is still news.

CONKLING'S CAVERN, this newest of the mines of science, where bones are more to be valued than gold, and odd teeth are priced above rubies, has achieved the dignity of a name of its own only recently. Before that it was merely one of the innumerable nameless holes in the ground in the limestone base of Bishop's Cap Peak, in southwestern New Mexico. Now, in recognition of the inspired amateur scientist, Roscoe P. Conkling of El Paso, whose initiative and enterprise resulted in opening up this new fossil Golconda, the place has been given his name.

The romantic story of the opening up of Conkling's Cavern is well told by William Alanson Bryan, director of the Los Angeles Museum, in a report to Science, the official publication of the American Association for the Advancement of Science:

"Mr. Conkling, who for many years has been connected with the American Smelting and Refining Company, has had as a form of relaxation and recreation a very lively interest in natural history," says Mr. Bryan. "In the course of Mr. Conkling's travels connected with mining operations in remote fields, he has been led to examine and to study scores of burial and bone caves in America and in various foreign lands.

"In following this interesting avocation, he some time ago arranged with Nicanor Mestes, Richard Chapman, Jose M. Benavidas and Lorenzo Benavidas to locate promising caves within reach of El Paso for him to explore leisurely and study. Their acquaintance from youth with the mountains in the country surrounding El Paso and the first-hand knowledge of a local tradition to the effect that Spanish gold had long ago been buried in the small dark cave on Bishop's Cap Peak prompted them, under Mr. Conkling's encouragement, to go there and dig—not for bones or Indian relics, but for buried treasure—with the happy result that in this indirect manner what appears to be an exceedingly important and convincing discovery in the prehistory of America has been made.

"THE cave, which is located in coal age limestone, opened on the easterly flank of the mountain through a jagged orifice about three by four feet. This opening led into a dark stone cavern formed by water erosion. The floor was about eight feet below the mouth and was of wind-blown sand some 20 feet or more in irregular diameter. Aside from a few unsuccessful attempts to use the cave as a storm shelter by an occasional herder, the place had never been a human habitation. A previous unsuccessful attempt to locate treasure in this cavern was made about 40 years ago by men still living.

"The work of treasure hunting proceeded without much show of success until at a depth of approximately 10 feet below the floor, bones were unexpectedly discovered. These were thought by excavators to be perhaps the bones of a mule that might have belonged to the owners of the supposed buried treasure. As a result the work of excavation went feverishly on, until, a short time later, the first fragment of a human skull was exhumed! These bones were brought to the attention of Mr. Conkling, who at once recognized the possible importance of such a find under such circumstances. He then supervised the further exploration of the cavern.

"Early in the work he sent photographs and drawings of his finds to the Los Angeles Museum for verification, with the result that Dr. Chester Stock, curator of the department of ancient animals, 'vertebrate paleontology,' identified certain of the bones uncovered under 10 feet of sandy loess deposits as the well-preserved phalanges—or toe bones—of a ground sloth; and, as these were found adjacent to and at the same depth as the human skull cap referred to, all excavations since have been made with a view to preserving all available data growing out of the association of the material uncovered, as well as the material itself.

"THE cavern during the past four months has been carefully excavated to a depth of more than 30 feet without encountering rock bottom, the inference being that it extends much deeper. Except for a slight amount of surface material, and material doubtless falling down from the roof, the entire space is uniformly filled with very fine reddish wind-blown sand which exhibits an ill-defined horizontal laminated bedding, indicating the nature of its slow accumulation.

"Eight feet below the occurrence of the skull—that is, 20 feet below the surface—a hard, compact lens from two to four inches in thickness was encountered. This, while composed of the same material as that which filled the cavern, differed in that it was evidently water laid. Apparently it had settled out of water accumulated in the cavern, as a result perhaps of a cloudburst. The value of this circumstance, however, lies in the fact that it formed a definite undisturbed horizontal diaphragm completely flooring up the cave. The significance of this will be appreciated when it is understood that at about 18 inches below this floor and more than 21 feet below the surface floor of the cavern, additional human skull fragments were found.

"From the 12-foot level where the first skull was found, to the bottom of the excavation—a depth of 18 feet—bones of extinct horse, cave bear, camel and sloth have been excavated in such numbers as to fill five large table-type museum exhibition cases, while a bushel or more of small animal and bird bones have been recovered.

"Practically the complete skeleton of a ground sloth was found in place midway down between the occurrence of the two skull finds, which were almost 10 feet apart. The last bones recovered from the bottom of the excavations were the limb bones of a very large camel.

"FROM the foregoing it would seem obvious that here is the undisturbed occurrence of human remains in direct association with a number of animals regarded as extinct since the Pleistocene period, and all deposited in such a manner as to preclude even the suggestion of their later intrusive burial.

"It is, therefore, believed that Conkling's Cavern has been a den and trap for wild animals through countless centuries and is a find which fortunately settles conclusively the moot question as to whether man and the sloth, the camel and the cave bear, for example, lived in America at the same time.

"At the invitation of Mr. Conkling, I visited the cavern during the latter part of April," continues Mr. Bryan. "After very careful study of the occurrence and having had the exhilarating satisfaction of assisting in the removal of the pelvic and lumbar portion of the sloth specimen referred to, and seeing its relation to the human remains, I do not hesitate to pronounce the find as probably the most important prehistory discovery ever made in America."

As a matter of fact, America has not yielded a tenth or even a twentieth as many prehistoric human remains as have been found in Europe. As yet there is nothing in America to compare with the wonderful pictured caves of southern France and northern Spain, where the Cro-Magnon race once dwelt, nor anything to match the many burials of the beetle-browed, heavy-jawed Neanderthalers. America may be said to stand now about where Europe stood in 1856, when the skull of the first Neanderthal man was found in the valley of the Dussel.

NOT quite, however. There have been earlier finds of prehistoric man in America within recent years, which have proved disturbing to the earlier concept of a western hemisphere with no human inhabitants until within the last few scores of centuries.

A little over two years ago, three such discoveries were made, near the towns of Frederick, Okla., Folsom, N. M., and Colorado, Tex.

These discoveries were investigated by J. D. Figgins and Harold Cook, of the Colorado Museum of Natural History in Denver. Along Wolf Creek, near the town of Colorado, Tex., flood waters exposed the bones of an extinct species of bison, and while large blocks of earth in which they were embedded were being removed for transportation to the museum, three arrowheads, quite unlike those in any known collections, were found beneath a nearly complete skeleton.

At Folsom, N. M., fossil bones were discovered at the extraordinary altitude of 7000 feet, and among the fossil bones were found two arrowheads similar to the Colorado specimens. The bones were identified as those of three hitherto unknown species of bison and an ancient deer-like animal.

In a gravel pit at Frederick, Okla., there were three distinct layers of deposits, which yielded, besides bones of animals, two arrowheads and seven stones believed to be metates, or primitive grain grinding implements. Eight feet above the point at which the uppermost of the stones occurred, there were found remains of the mammoth, including numerous teeth.

Dr. O. P. Hay, of the U. S. National Museum, visited the Frederick gravel pit and came back convinced that they offered real evidence for the contemporaneous existence on the American continent of some race of man and of animal species now extinct.

BUT the southwest is not alone as a possible dwelling place of prehistoric men in America. Florida of the Stone Age must have had its adherents as an ideal home, for since 1925 human relics have been coming to light from beneath its sandy soil.

The most notable discovery was made in that year at Melbourne, where a joint expedition of the U. S. National Museum and Amherst College unearthed a crushed human skull from the same earth stratum that contained bones of mammoth, mastodon, and a huge scaled animal like a giant armadillo. Stone arrowheads, like corroborating documents, were found at the same level.

Thought For Today

If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land —Isaiah 1:19.

We see how much a man has, and therefore we envy him; did we see how little he enjoys, we should rather pity him.—Seed.

A Socialist

One of the healthiest indications American politics has shown in many months is the fact that Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for mayor of New York City, has drawn more influential support and has polled a larger vote than any Socialist candidate in that city's history.

To make that statement does not in any way imply a fondness for Socialist doctrines or a dissatisfaction with the existing economic and political structure of the country. There are things in the New York mayoralty campaign, however, which make the strength of Thomas' candidacy an encouraging sign.

Mayor Walker, who won re-election by an overwhelming vote, is Tammany's man, and proud of it. One hears little of the "new Tammany" these days. The Tiger seems to have all of his old stripes. Ample reason, right there, for any Democrat refusing to support Walker.

The Republican candidate was Congressman Fiorello LaGuardia. In Congress, LaGuardia has made a consistent record as a liberal. In the campaign, however, he was noisy and empty. Furthermore, the New York Republican machine is in no way better than Tammany. To put it in and put Tammany out would simply be to continue misrule under a different set of masters.

The third candidate was ex-Police Commissioner Richard Enright. Neither his record nor his campaign utterances provide any reason why a voter desirous of restoring good government to Manhattan should vote for him.

There was left, therefore, Norman Thomas——a man of undeniable ability, courage and intelligence. The Morning World and the Evening Telegram have decided that he is so far superior to the other three candidates that his party affiliations can be disregarded; and thousands of ordinary Democrats and Republicans came to the same conclusions.

All of that, we repeat, is a very good sign.

We do too much of our voting by rule, by tradition. Even the most enlightened voter has a tendency to place too much emphasis on a label. When a political campaign comes along we hesitate to think for ourselves.

The support Thomas got indicates a breaking of this custom. The bulk of his votes came from people who are not Socialists and who have no especial sympathy with Socialist doctrines.

That means that people are learning to disregard labels, to ignore traditions, to do a little thinking for themselves. He got a big vote, not because he is a Socialist, but in spite of that fact.

And that, we repeat, is a healthy indication.

Our Railroads

The growing efficiency and skill with which American railroads are being conducted is strikingly shown in statistics recently published relative to the country's Class One railroads.

During the first eight months of 1929 these roads had gross earnings of $4,208,000,000—a bare 5 per cent over the corresponding period of 1928.

But their net earnings for the same period were $827,735,000—20 per cent over the net earnings of the first eight months of 1928.

Contrasted with the small gain in gross earnings, this sharp rise in net earnings bespeaks an efficiency in railroad operation that is little short of amazing.

President Hoover says the test of good neighbors is to borrow half a dozen eggs. If they ask for them back they are not good neighbors.

THE PLAINSMAN Says:

The Austin attorney who stabbed a stenographer to death as an added attraction to the Texas-Baylor football game, was 'shocked' when he woke up and met himself in jail. We can imagine that he felt rather put out about it.

* * *

President Hoover's speech, which attracted attention in all corners of the globe on Armistice Day, must have been a good one but press reports indicate that the Chief Executive was saying one thing and thinking another. He made an impassioned plea for peace and, in the next breath, advocated freedom of the seas for food ships during time of war.

* * *

The Plainsman has come to the conclusion that the world's search for perpetual peace is like hunting for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. There may be such a thing but it's more or less impossible to find.

* * *

Mayor Harley Woods is out with the statement that Lubbock's Municipal airport will correspond with the rules and regulations laid down by the United States Department of Commerce. In the language of the streets, "he's as right as a fox." There's no use to try to sidestep the issue—an airport can be a good one or a bad one and if any city is to have one it might just as well do the job up right.

* * *

The average person, who makes up his mind without thinking, all an airport needs is a big, flat piece of ground upon which to land and take off, a couple of sheet metal barns and, perhaps, a waiting room for passengers. As a matter of fact, that kind of an airport was all right a few years ago but it won't fill the bill today. Expert advice in planning an airport is as essential as expert advice in erecting a skyscraper.

* * *

It is not everybody who can plan an adequate airport. There are a number of technicalities involved and the city which plans to have a real one will do well to get its tips from someone who knows. The Plainsman is glad to see the city's chief executive taking the stand he has taken and the man who comes to Lubbock from Washington to aid in making the local airport a good one should be heard respectfully and his advice should be followed.

* * *

Going off half-cocked, as it were, won't get us to first base on our airport plans. We have plenty of space for a good field. We have the bonds voted to furnish the money to equip it. But we haven't the talent, locally, to assure a real port and the best thing we all can do is to admit it. When the job is done we'll profit thereby.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says the reason so many people fail to recognize opportunity is because it usually comes disguised as hard work.

* * *

The selection of J. W. Gamel as head of Lubbock's first Community Chest committee is a good one as The Plainsman sees it. Mr. Gamel, since coming to Lubbock five years ago, has been closely identified with a number of agencies with which the Community Chest will deal and his experience should stand him in good stead in his new position.

* * *

He has been a prime mover in the Campfire girl organization here. He has also been active in the affairs of the Salvation army. Those two organizations make up no small part of the Community Chest organization and the selection of a man experienced in both has been a wise one for the Community Chest as a whole.

* * *

Speaking of the Community Chest gives rise to the remembrance that the annual roll call of the Red Cross started yesterday and will continue through Thanksgiving. Everybody should respond to the roll call. It only costs a dollar and compared to the service of that great organization in every part of the globe a dollar is a mighty small membership fee.

Just to make the world a little better we'll tell a couple of stories before signing off. Here goes:

"Brush yo' off, sah?" asked the porter.

"Brush me off if you want to, but I'm opposed to tipping," said the matter-of-fact traveler.

"Well, sah," said the porter, "Yo' clothes ain't nearly as dusty as ah thought they was."

Nothing The Caraway Committee Can Learn Is Much More Significant Than Its Revelations, Dutcher Points Out

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—The Caraway committee can continue its lobbying investigation until the capitol dome crumbles and it will not discover anything more important and relevant than the fact business gets what it wants in Washington. There is nothing new or strange about that.

Lobbying is only one phase of the game. It's a game between politicians and business interests of "You scratch my back and I'll scratch suasion or glad to obtain the lobbyists here if there were not politicians susceptible to pressure or persuasion or glad to obtai nthe lobbyist's aid. Aside from straight lobbying there are at least two other important phases to consider;

Under Political Debts

1. A large number of senators and representatives come here already bound to aid special interests which are going to want favors in Washington. Through their own business connections, through their indebtedness for campaign funds and other support or through the political organization which controls them, which is itself often openly allied with special interests, their position is such that they don't have to be threatened or persuaded.

2. Many or most government officials and members of congress look forward to business careers after leaving the public service. A large number are promised lucrative jobs with corporations before they step out. Some of them openly court these jobs by granting favors to special interests while in the government service. The higher their position in the government the more important favors they can dispense and the bigger the jobs they can expect in private life.

All men in positions of public trust do not administer their jobs with a view to future remuneration, but there are innumerable examples.

The exposure of Senator Bingham of Connecticut, who had employed an official of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association as his secretary and took him into secret meetings of the finance committee to work tariff rates for manufacturers, furnished a shining example of how business ties up with politics and legislation. Bingham asked the Manufacturers' association for one of its men and he got him. He arranged to meet the president of the association at the office of J. Henry Roraback, republican boss of connecticut, one of the state's most prominent business men and a power magnate.

Down here Bingham represents the Connecticut manufacturers and power interests. But in that he is no horrible example. He has been belabored because he had the nerve to put Mr. Eyanson on the government payroll and take him into the committee room. Every important industry has men in congress who can be depended on to work for it here. Industries of national ramifications often have a large number of men under their control. Few members there are who don't take orders from someone. Even the republican progressives are responsive to the demands of the farming industry.

There isn't much that can be done about the system except perhaps in an aggravated case like Bingham's. The same thing goes as to the practice of rewarding members of congress and government officials with fat jobs for their previous services.

Goodness knows how many ex-senators and ex-representatives are in Washington working for profit making interests which they favored with their votes while in congress. And all through the government departments and bureaus one finds men doubling their incomes by leaving the service to enter the employ of the business interest with which they have been in contact as government officials.

Business Pays Well

One even observes that as many as six important officials of the foreign service have recently resigned to enter the banking or oil business. The government pays low wages. Business pays high wages.

You can't brand every government official who resigns to take a better paid job. Probably most of them are honest enough and doubtless so are the corporations which employ them.

But there are enough temptations and enough men to succumb so that you can realize why, in Washington, prosperous business interests get most of the breaks

Indiana Man Heads Appropriation Body

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Representative William R. Wood, of Indiana, today formally was elected by the House as chairman of its powerful committee on appropriations. Wood has been acting chairman throughout the special session, as the chairman, Daniel R. Authony Jr., of Kansas, did not seek re-election.

The House formally organized the committee so it could start within a few days the job of drafting the annual supply bills. All members of the committee in the last Congress were re-elected, but five vacancies were not filled.

Hijackers Get Cash, Girls' In Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—A. Hall and W. C. Bass, guests of a downtown hotel, lost their girl companions and $62 in money to bandits today.

The girls left the two men voluntarily and went with the robbers, causing the two to believe they had been led into a trap.

Bass, a boilermaker, started slugging when the bandits crept up to the machine and ordered him to "stick 'em up."

He struck one of the hijackers with his fist, and then was knocked in the head by another with a flashlight. He lost $60. Two dollars was taken from Hall.

A charge of transportation of liquor was filed against Hall, officers saying they found whiskey in his car.

Gilbert Swan

In New York

With Swan

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—In Park avenue, the world's most lavish lane, it isn't the original cost—it's the upkeep.

The original cost, to be sure, is plenty.

But the salary list of one of the duplex affairs which clutter the boulevard would cover the cost of a small sized office force. There's an old wheeze to the effect that there are more servants living in Park avenue than residents. Which is literally true, since a staff of from five to seven must be on hand to "keep up" one of the swankier establishments.

• • •

From one of the residents therein, who speaks to me on Thursdays and Saturdays, I have obtained the salary list of one household, which may be considered typical.

Butler (highest paid of the flunkies) $250 a month.

"And I'm getting him cheap," came the hurried admission. "The old time Fifth avenue butlers have a scale of their own. It runs to $100 a week and better. And since they get their board and keep in the home, you can see what a fat job it is. Only the other day, I was saying to my wife that there probably isn't a butler on the row who isn't better off at the end of a year than his master. With that much velvet, those fellows can probably soak away $4,000 a year or more. And getting market tips and so forth, they probably are rich."

No wonder that no man is a hero to his butler.

• • •

But to go on with the price list: A valet runs to $150 a month; a cook can command around $300; a chauffeur averages $200 and food—frequently rooms; a houseman can be had for a measly $100; the parlor maid is also worth $100; the French maid averages $150 and, if there are children, a nursemaid receives a similar amount.

Such items, of course, do not cover any of the incidentals. In the matter of entertainment Park avenue runs its bills into millions. It is the chief supporter of the night resorts and the leading contributor to the high priced bootleggers. Its bar bill is said to run into the tens of millions.

• • •

At least half a dozen private detective agencies thrive on the business handed them from the wealthier sections of Fifth and Park avenues.

These agencies are known as "divorce detectives." But only a fraction of their sleuthing involves the watching of the married folk. There is no secret to the information that sections of Park and Fifth avenues are inhabited largely by lovely ladies whose rents are paid by sugar daddies.

And since the "papas" foot the bill, they are inclined to be suspicious of their fair damsels—who are frequently considerably less than fair in matters outside of pulchritude. The average endowed girlie has little but time upon her hands. And there are as many gigolos as there are dancing daughters of the bored class.

Hence the super-spy system that functions along luxury lane. Does a single favorite of some sugar daddy step into her limousine, just a few steps behind comes a sleuth, watching at close range.

Divorces, too, figure prominently—for the bored wives of the gold coast playboys get themselves into mischief and the gigolo business is far from extinct. It merely operates on a quieter basis.

On the other hand, some of the most solid and happy families to be found in Manhattan are to be found within a door's reach of the hectic whirl of indiscriminate amour.

The original Wailing Wall is in Palestine, but there hasn't been a great deal of laughing done recently along the walls of Wall Street, either.

George Bernard Shaw says that the young people are not better than the old, he doesn't know what's going to happen to the world. That must have been a bitter admission for George to make—that he didn't know something.

Next to agriculture, fisheries are the most important sources of food.

Diet and Health

LOWERED RESISTANCE MAY BE REASON FOR TROUBLESOME SKIN DIFFICULTIES

Pimples

"DEAR DOCTOR: Although I possesses a very clear skin, I am bothered with a continuous run of pimples on my face. I have done everything I know to cure them—dieting and all. My bowel action is normal; I have an hour's fresh air and walk two or three miles daily; eat large quantities of fresh vegetables fruit and milk; little meat and few eggs; no eating between meals and no candy or rich foods of any kind; two glasses of cold water on arising. My height is 5 ft. 6 in., and my weight is 115.

"These pimples seem to run in the family. Might I inherit the tendency to them? It seems too unfair when I watch other girls eat all kinds of rich food — ice cream, sodas, etc., and I daren't touch them. MRS. O."

You evidently have acne, Mrs. O. It is very common in young people and stubborn to cure.

While you think your diet is right, I suspect that is not quite sufficient for if you are 5 ft. 6 in. tall and weight only 115 pounds, you are from 25 to 30 pounds underweight. This looks as though you are not eating enough, and any diet that is not correct in amount or otherwise, lowers the destroying powers of the blood and tissue fluids for any germs that may happen to be around. In other words, the resistance is lowered.

While your fresh fruits and vegetables would take care of your vitamins and mineral elements it is probable you are not getting enough energy foods, and it may be that you are not getting enough protein. In recent years the need of vitamins has been emphasized more than anything else, because they are the latest discovery in nutrition and are most apt to be deficient in the ordinary diet, but we mustn't forget that sufficient of the other elements are necessary also. If I were you, I would try to gain some weight and see what effect that would have.

You are right about omitting candy and rich foods, especially those rich in free fat (cream is not a free fat, but an emulsified fat.) but you might eat more of the whole grain breads and cereals and perhaps take more vegetables and milk. Perhaps you need to rest more than you do.

About diseases "running" in families: We do know that the tendency towards certain diseases may be inherited, perhaps because the "pattern" of organs is inherited, and some types of organs are more susceptible to certain diseases than others. For instance, the long, narrow chest seems to be more susceptible to tuberculosis. But it does not follow, by any means, that these certain diseases must be acquired for there are many other factors concerned in acquiring a disease and these factors can largely be controlled.

Reasoning from this, it may be that you have inherited the pattern for large oil glands on your face. These glands have an over-secretion of sebum or skin oil which sometimes hardens in the pores and forms blackheads or comedones. The beginning of the acne pimples are always in these blackheads so part of the treatment of acne is the prevention and removal after formation. This may be accomplished by a thorough washing twice a day with some mild toilet soap and hot water, then wiping the affected areas with some antiseptic solution such as peroxide of hydrogen, diluted half and half with water, or a solution of alcohol or bay rum or toilet water; then the extraction of the blackheads. This is best done with what is known as a comedone extractor. Follow this again with the antiseptic solution. This I would follow with a little glycerine solution—one part of glycerine to four of water.

For further directions for home treatment, will you send for our article on Acne? If the home treatment isn't effective, you should see a skin specialist, Mrs. O.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice if she considers your questions of general interest, they will be answered in the column, in turn. Who's Who and Timely Views

DEPORTED MEXICANS SAID TO LEAVE LARGE LABOR GAP

BY ARTHUR M. FREE, Congressman from California

(Arthur Monroe Free was born at San Jose, Calif., Jan. 15, 1879. He attended College of the Pacific and was graduated from Stanford university with an LL. B. degree. In 1903 he began practicing law at San Jose. He was district attorney of Santa Clara county from 1907 to 1911. Elected to congress in 1921 from the eighth California district, he has been returned each term since. He is a Republican.

Mexican laborers are being deported from the United States to such an extent that farmers along the border and in California are being forced to curtail operations for lack of workers, while railroads and other industries are suffering for the same reason.

ARTHUR FREE

The number of Mexicans now entering the United States is only 40 per cent of what it was in past years, and a tightening of the border patrol practically has stopped illegal entries.

Statistics of the department of labor indicate that approximately 10,000 Mexicans will be deported in the year ending June 30, 1930.

I stated during the last session of congress that if the present law is enforced there would be no necessity for any new legislation for restricting immigration of Mexicans into the United States. That statement is being borne out by data now in the possession of the department of labor giving the present range of admissions across the Mexican border.

We have deported so many to Mexico that farmers on the United States side of the line cannot get enough help. I am informed that one farmer in the Imperial valley of California, who has been in the habit of cultivating 1,000 acres planted to vegetables, melons and cotton has had to cut his acreage in half for lack of farm labor.

Some of the towns on the United States side along the Mexican border look like deserted villages for the same reason. Railroads along the border are having difficulty in getting track help to work through the desert stretches because of the absence of Mexican labor.

The Mexicans coming into the United States, under the existing law, have to demonstrate ability to read and to write. They have to be physically perfect. They cannot even be cross-eyed and get past. They must pay a head tax of $8 and a visa fee of $10 and if anybody else but themselves pays those taxes and fees they are subject to being sent back to Mexico.

The Mexican government is cooperating in this effort to keep down the inflow of their labor into the country, because Mexico wants to keep its real labor.

"I Want To Tell The World About It," Says Rickman

"I'm A Glad Man Today Because Of Orgatone, It Has Made Me A New Man," Says Amarillo Machinist

"I would like to speak personally with every body in the whole world and tell them about Orgatone," said Mr. J. C. Rickman, of 1506 E. 14th Ave., Amarillo, Texas, a machinist at the Santa Fe shops while talking with the Orgatone representative.

"My health gave way about ten years ago," he continued, "and I had long since despaired of ever getting any better. I was very weak and worn out, suffering from my general condition. I had a chronic case of stomach and liver trouble. I was extremely nervous. My appetite went back on me and my stomach got in such a bad fix that nothing I ate seemed to do me any good. My food would sour soon after meals and kept me belching up sour gas afterwards. I suffered terrible pains about my stomach all the time and at times I could hardly retain a thing I had eaten. There seemed as if there were a hard lump that formed in my stomach at times. I had to get up three or four times, during the night, and couldn't get any rest at all. I had a chronic case of constipation and was forced to take strong laxatives most all the time. I had dull, draggy, headaches.

"I read about Orgatone, and now I want the world to know the good I have received from it, my kidney trouble is a thing of the past now, my appetite is better, and my stomach doesn't bother me anymore. All of my dull headaches are gone, and I have more energy and am stronger than I have been for a long time. My constipation is entirely relieved, and gas does not sour on my stomach any more. I wish I could do more for this wonderful Orgatone, than only recommend it, for I tell you, I am glad man and I have been relieved of many years suffering. I am certainly grateful for what it did for me."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Lubbock at Bowens Drug Store. Adv.

WALL STREET STOCKS DROP

EARLY DECLINE NOTED AS TRADING OPENS ON TUESDAY

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—Selling pressure was renewed at the opening of today's stock market and prices continued to drift downward. U. S. Steel common opened with a block of 10,000 shares at 158 1-2 off 1 and a new low on the current decline. Atchison, National Cash register and Westinghouse electric recorded early declines of 2 points or more, while losses of a point or so were registered by Hudson motors, Mexican seaboard, Missouri-Kansas-Texas, Safeway stores and Montgomery-Ward. American can opened 2 1-8 points higher. Bethlehem steel opened with a block of 10,000 shares at 82, off 3 points.

Early trading was on a much heavier scale than yesterday, with blocks of 5,000 to 50,000 shares quite common. The sudden break in the last hour yesterday apparently had further undermined weakened speculative accounts, which were dumped overboard at the opening.

Support is Lacking

Meanwhile, lack of organized buying support apparently has discouraged investment buying on a large scale and stimulated short selling. A "bear" pool, headed by a well known Boston operator, was reported to be a heavy seller of stocks yesterday, but official verification was lacking.

Except for some falling off in the so-called luxury trades, Wall street has not yet received any reports of any serious recession in business as a result of the decline in securities prices.

Report is Good

The New York Central railroad quarterly report, made public last night, showed net income of $17,476,896, an increase of $2,821, 552 over the same period last year.

Jersey Central common broke 20 points on a couple of sales. Union Pacific fell back 101, and American Power and light, Auburn auto, Louisville gas and electric, Air reduction and International telephone sold down 4 1-2 to 6 points.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with sterling a shade lower at 4.87 11-16.

NEW YORK HAS ACTIVE SALES

CONTINUATION OF BIG SELLING BEE SEEN AT OPENING

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A continuation of yesterday's selling appeared in the cotton market at the opening today. The initial tone was steady, but prices were 3 to 14 points lower and active months soon showed net losses of 13 to 18 points with December breaking through the 17s level and into new low ground for the season. That delivery sold off to 16.91 while March declined to 17.33 under further liquidation. Prices were within a point or two of the lowest at the end of the first half hour.

The early decline to 17.03 for January brought in fresh buying as well as covering and rallies of several points were probably promoted by reports of a steadier turn in stocks. The more active months showed net losses of about 20 to 25 points at midday.

A man who weighs 200 pounds on the earth would weigh 5400 pounds on the sun.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN EASIER

FIRST TRADES OF DAY SHOW LOSSES; RALLY FOLLOWS OPENING

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12 (AP)—The cotton market opened decidedly easier partly due to lower cables but mainly to bearish textile statistics.

First trades showed losses of 24 to 28 points and the market continued to ease until December traded at 16.84, January 16.95 and March at 17.25, or 39 to 42 points below yesterday's close.

Toward the end of the first hour the market rallied slightly on a rather large private estimate for October consumption by domestic mills.

Though there were slight rallies the market generally worked lower in sympathy with weakness in the stock market and textile statistics. Offerings were free and trade demand was moderate. December traded down to 16.72, January to 16.88 and March to 17.15, or 49 to 53 points below yesterday's close. At noon the market was steadier and had rallied 10 to 11 points from the lowest. Trading was very active, but the undertone much unsettled.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—More than 6c break in wheat values here took place today, owing largely to stock weakness and to severe downturns in Liverpool wheat quotations.

With buying support lacking, Chicago wheat started wildly at 2 1-2c to 6 1-4c lower, and afterward steadied at about 2c above initial bottom figures. Corn, oats and provisions were also depressed, with corn opening 1 1-2c to 2 5-8c off, but later recovering somewhat.

DECREASE FOR OIL IS NOTED

LARGEST CUT IN OIL PRODUCTION IS SEEN DURING PAST WEEK

TULSA, Nov. 12.—Largest decrease in daily average crude of production in the United States ever recorded during one week was registered during the week ending Nov. 9 when all fields in the country showed a decline of 201,733 barrels in daily average production and light oil, or that grade especially desirable for refining because of its better gasoline content, showed a decline of 205,787 barrels.

This was revealed today through Andrew M. Rowley, managing editor of the Oil and Gas Journal here.

Estimated daily average production of all fields during the week ending November 9 was 2,608,345 barrels as compared to 2,810,081 barrels for the week ending Nov. 2.

Decrease Well Rounded

This decrease was further augmented by a decrease in the daily average production of 99,174 barrels more during the preceding two weeks beginning Oct. 19.

Despite recent heavy strikes, the Oklahoma City pool continued a downward trend, contributing 27,730 barrels to the loss of 43,805 barrels estimated for Oklahoma during the past week. St. Louis-Pearson and Seminole areas added the bulk of the remainder at an average of slightly less than 10,000 barrels each.

West Texas Stands Up

The mid-continent area dropped 48,484 barrels, the West Texas area contributing but approximately 2,000 barrels to the total.

Proration put into effect in California's flush pool, Santa Fe Springs last week, slashed 95,000 barrels from the state's total making up the bulk of the 155,000 loss in light oil reported by the Pacific coast. Heavy oil decreased 2,000 barrels in that state.

The Santa Fe Springs deep drilling area has been furnishing the bulk of California's record average production for some months.

Long Beach area dropped 41,000 barrels, Seal Beach 13,000 and Ventura avenue 6,000.

The Gulf coast area added 7,193 barrels to its heavy oil production. Virtually the only increase recorded during the week in this grade Kansas production was 109,915, compared to 110,315 for the previous week.

GIRL HIRES PLANE, THEN SUICIDES

NEW YORK WOMAN HITS UPON NOVEL PLAN FOR SUICIDE; JUMPS 2,000 FEET TO DEATH

(By Associated Press)

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Miss Ruth Rockwell, 18, of Philadelphia, committed suicide by leaping 2,000 feet from an airplane which she hired with a pilot at the Curtis airport yesterday.

She explained her act a note found in her purse. The note read:

"Most people end their lives because something sad has happened to them. I end mine because it seems not only futile, but wrong to go on existing. I blame no one and feel I have no enemies. I will probably be considered insane as any one taking his life is supposed to be slightly insane."

Miss Rockwell went to the airport from the home of her brother, Donald Rockwell, in Yonkers, N. Y., where she had been living recently.

Questions Pilot

In the operations office of the Curtis-Wright flying service she told William B. White, traffic manager she wanted to fly high.

Edward F. Booth, pilot assigned to fly the small cabin monoplane placed at the girl's disposal, told how she questioned him regarding operation of doors before they took off.

"At about 2,000 feet I felt the ship rise as if caused by rough air," he said. "That surprised me as the air was smooth. It then occurred to me that when a door is opened the ship will rise slightly and veer. I then looked back to see the open door caught a glimpse of the passenger falling through space about 20 or 30 feet away."

Booth led airport officials to the spot where the body was found about a mile north of the airport.

Miss Rockwell graduated from Drew seminary last June. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean W. Rockwell of Philadelphia.

CURTIS SPEAKS MONDAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP)—The nation's debt to its soldiers was emphasized yesterday by Vice-President Charles Curtis in a speech at Soldiers' field where Chicago officially commemorated the signing of the armistice eleven years ago. The Vice-President, whose address was the principal event on the Armistice day program, said the nation's debt to its warriors was one it never could pay, but that it should do as much as possible toward meeting its obligation.

TUNGSTEN DUTY RAISED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Senate voted yesterday to give higher tariff protection to another metal entering into the manufacture of steel, approving retention of the House duty of 50 cents a pound on tungsten as against 45 cents in the present law.

MYSTERY CONTINUES TO SHROUD FATAL KNIFING OF STENOGRAPHER IN AUSTIN

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 12—Muffled in the silence which all principals in the case have maintained, the story behind the stabbing of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28, by John W. Brady, prominent jurist, remained as much of a mystery today as it was when the tragedy occurred early Sunday.

Brady once a justice of the court of Civil Appeals here and one of the most widely acquainted and respected men in the state, apparently did not know exactly what had happened. Sitting in a cell, still suffering from a shock, Brady was unable to add anything to his statement to officers he had attended a drinking party after the Baylor-Texas game and he could recall he had had "a difficulty with several persons."

Witnesses Talk

F. R. McNaughton, who lived at the apartment house where Miss Highsmith made her home, said he heard screams, rushed to the street and found Miss Highsmith, who apparently had just left her car, cut and bleeding. He took a knife from Brady which officers described as a "twelve inch East Dallas special." Frank Graham, jr., University of Texas student, who was making his way through school by acting as a music salesman, was thought to have seen more of the tragedy than anyone else. He either accompanied Miss Highsmith, or arrived at the scene at almost the same moment she did. He refused to be interviewed, but indicated he had made a statement to the county attorney.

Brady's many friends rallied to his support yesterday. Prominent attorneys from various parts of the state offered their services, and his wife saved him from the common jail fare by preparing his meals herself.

Waits For Grand Jury

Indications were Brady would remain in jail until the latter part of the week, and possibly until January when the grand jury meets. His examining trial was postponed yesterday because of absence of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Williams, who also lived at the apartments where Miss Highsmith made her home. Williams is understood to have been one of the "several" persons with whom Brady "had a difficulty."

County Attorney Roy Archer held out no hope of bond, even after the examining trial. "It looks like a case in which the jury would probably inflict the death penalty," he said, "and not a bailable one."

Delay is Expected

H. H. Brooks, district attorney, who once occupied a desk beside Brady's in an office in which they both worked, said the case would not reach the grand jury until January.

Brady had engaged in many activities that gave him statewide prominence. He graduated at Texas in 1896 and always took a keen interest in the university's welfare and a leading part in activities of the Ex-Student's association. He served as county attorney here at one time and later as an assistant attorney general. At one time he was an attorney for the banking department of the state. At the conclusion of his service on the Court of Civil Apeals he continued to practice here, representing many people who had business with the state departments. He was the type who knew everyone in the capitol and everyone who visited it from other parts of the state frequently.

Girl is Buried

Miss Highsmith knew everyone in the capitol building, as she had worked there for some time and in several departments before she took her last position as a stenographer for the supreme court commission of Appeals. She was buried here yesterday. As the cortege started for the cemetery her automobile, the door still open as she left it a moment before she received the fatal slashes, stood beside the apartment.

LEGION PARTY HUGE SUCCESS

EX-SERVICE MEN AND LADIES ATTEND DINNER HERE

Climaxing a day of jubilant festivities, 140 ex-service men of this city and the South Plains assembled around the banquet table of Our Cafeteria last night in the gay comaraderie of soldiers as guests of the Allen Brothers post, American Legion.

Dr. G. H. Ater, of this city, was chairman of the program.

Principal address of the evening was delivered by District Attorney Durwood Bradley on the subject of "Upholding the Law for God and Country," relating to the preamble of the Constitution.

Welcome By Woods

Mayor Harley D. Woods welcomed the visitors.

Music was furnished by the Green Brothers string orchestra. Mollie Davis, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam T. Davis, entertained the gathering with a delightful reading. Other items on the program were vocal solo, Mrs. Carl Scoggin; talk by the Allen Brothers post commander, Charles A. Whitacre, and several piano numbers, together with a singsong.

Announcement was made last night that the Armistice Day breakfast, inaugurated by the Legionnaires yesterday morning would be an annual affair. The breakfast was held in the private dining room at the Hotel Lubbock from 6 to 7 o'clock, representing the hour 11 years ago when news spread over the European war front that the Armistice was to be signed that day.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

How old should you say the writer of this letter is? My guess is 17.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I never neglect reading your advice every night, and I enjoy it very much.

"I am not coming for advice this time, although I may need it. I'm just complimenting your column. I think it is the most helpful to the younger and older generation.

"I am not a flapper. In my estimation a flappor drinks, smokes and pets. I think a girl can have lots of boy friends, she can be popular with them and not be a flapper.

"Although I am not very old I have been with a good many boys. A girl can go with boys for years and then not know them. Most of them are alike, although I cannot say all of them. I have been going with a boy for a year and a half. I think, naturally, there's no other boy like him, but, after all, he is a boy!

"I want to say another thing for the little girls who write to your column. I notice they are from 13 up. Wait a little while longer, little girls, for you won't be little girls always. Be thankful for your mothers, and be under their guidance. Then when you're grown up and you can be prepared to face life better. You're much too young for sweethearts. I want you to guess my age by the letter I've written. Just an Old-Fashioned Modern Girl.

"PHYLLIS."

Anywhere from 16 to 18, dear, is my guess as to your age. Thank you for the compliments for the column. I do my best for it and a word of encouragement helps a lot. Also thank you for your good advice. I hope the "little girls" will take it.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I have written you before and I'm coming to you again with another problem. My mother died last Saturday.

"During the time she was laid out until she was buried I seemed to be ignored. My relatives didn't speak to me. Some did and some didn't. I suppose this may be due to the fact that I haven't seen some of them for years.

"My older sister seemed to be the only one they had sympathy for. She is now in charge of the house. She bosses and bawls me out whenever she feels like it. Do I have to stand for this?

"I have a father, but he has nothing to say. I have two brothers and two sisters. I feel sometimes that I'm not wanted around the house. Maybe nothing is worth living for. Mother always cheered me up when things went wrong. Now no one cheers me up. I have to go to school and I work around the house. What do you suggest?

"BROKEN HEARTED CARRIE."

My dear little girl, I know it is hard to get along without mother. You have my deep sympathy. But dear, your big sister has it harder than you, for she has the responsibility of running the home, and no wonder she gets tired and cross.

She must miss your mother dreadfully. Your common grief should draw you closer together. Why not try hard to forget your own feelings and help her all you can, instead of resenting it if she scolds?

Try to get good marks at school and be sweet and helpful at home and then you will know that if your mother can see her girls she will be happy knowing that you are working together to take her place in your home.

I think that the reason your relatives paid more attention to your sister and seemed more sympathetic with her was because she was the oldest and they knew she would have most of the responsibility and that she needed their sympathy.

TRUE BLUE LOW: I think the boy is too young to care a great deal for girls. Why don't you let him alone and have a good time with all the girls and boys? Try not to be so noisy in your manner.

It's all right to be jolly and full of fun, but don't be noisy on the street, and cultivate a low voice. So many women have such harsh voices. And until you are a bit older don't take your little love affairs so seriously.

• • •

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I quite agree with you about 'promiscuous petting,' as you call it, but I think my case would be a help to a lot of girls. I go with a boy steady and two or three others off and on. I dance, swim and play the piano a little and am always invited out.

"But I never 'neck' or 'pet' anyone except the steady. I kiss him good-night and don't feel self-conscience or ashamed when I do it. My mother knows I do, and she's no modern mother, either. What do you think of a girl in high school smoking once in a while, say once a month? FLIP."

I don't think once a month would be considered harmful, Flip, although it would be better to wait until you are really grown up if you must smoke. And I think you know that I consider the good night kiss for the "steady" harmless.

• • •

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: A very dear friend of mine has been going steady with a girl for four years and he says he really loves her. If some one from out of town comes to see this girl she will break a date with her steady. Is that right?

"Now this young man has only broken one date with her in four years, and that was because he was unable to keep it. If a girl comes from out of town he never dates her if he has a date with his steady?

"This girl spoiled a surprise party for this young man. She lied to get out of it. Won't you give me your honest opinion of this girl?

"A TRUE PAL."

If you have represented the facts of the case, Pal, I should say the girl is not playing the game fair and square.

• • •

DOTTY: I can't say your letter bears out your statement that you feel old. You sound mighty young to me, dear. Has the boy friend written you since going away this time? If he has, why, answer, of course.

If it is better for him to stay away and work don't coax him back. If you still love one another he can make a home for you out there and come back and get you. And don't get too sentimental in your letters. If anything happened to part you, you would feel very foolish to have written slushy letters.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12. (AP)—Nervousness displayed by 13-year-old Freddie Nette led to his arrest of a hunter on his father's land Sunday.

Statements by the boy led police to the back yard of the Nette farm yesterday where they dug up the boy's .22 calibre rifle.

The baying of a hound over the body led to discovery Sunday Herman Ahsen, 19, had been killed.

"Yes, I shot him," the Nette boy said. "He was about 400 feet away, and I didn't think I could hit him."
