Huge Sum For U. S. Aerial Force Asked

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The administration today recommended almost $46,000,000,000 for defense in the next three years with emphasis on air power.

The new program, outlined by Secretary of Defense Forrestal, includes an Air Force of 66 groups.

This is 11 groups higher than previously recommended by Forrestal, spokesman for President Truman in defense matters, but four groups short of the 70 widely demanded in Congress.

Defense Spending Boosted

The House has already voted in favor of a 70-group Air Force.

Senator Gurney (R-SD), chairman of the Senate Armed Forces committee, said the program outlined to that group by Forrestal today would cost $14,481,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

For the next year, Gurney said, it would cost $15,000,000,000, climbing to $16,500,000,000 the following year.

This greatly exceeds earlier administration recommendations for military spending.

The original budget for the next fiscal year called for $11,000,000,000. Later Mr. Truman asked for an additional $3,000,000,000, or a total of $14,000,000,000.

To Include B-29s

Gurney told reporters that 66 air groups, instead of the 55 previously recommended by Forrestal, would add $491,000,000 to the $14,000,000,000 the administration had asked before.

Ten of the additional group will be B-29 bombers, the other a fighter outfit.

"We will activate ten additional groups of B-29s and modernize them," Gurney said.

The B-29 is a four-engine bomber. It was used extensively in the air assault on Japan.

Air Force officials recently told congressional committees that a modernized B-29, by being refueled in the air to extend its range, could bomb any point in Russia and return to an American base.

Gurney said the new administration program would make no difference in "air striking power" compared with the 70-group air force voted by the House.

"It would mean only 200 less airplanes in the next 18 months,"

UAW PRESIDENT WILL RECOVER

Search For Reuther Assailant Spurred By $111,600 Reward

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, April 21—A great manhunt, spurred by $111,600 in rewards, was on in Detroit today for the gunman who tried to kill Walter P. Reuther.

Even the Communist party chipped in a $500 reward.

The red-haired president of the CIO United Auto Workers survived a shotgun blast Tuesday night that nearly tore off his right arm. His doctors said he was out of danger, would recover and would not lose the arm.

Reuther's own UAW-CIO put a $100,000 price on the would-be killer's head. The City of Detroit added $10,000. Reuther's old local, the West Side Amalgamated, where he started up the union ladder, put up $1,000. The Communists contributed $500, although Reuther was their bitter foe. The Wayne county CIO council boosted it by $100.

Heavily guarded in a north side hospital, Reuther turned down a light breakfast. Later he sipped some tea.

He had no idea who shot him. Maybe, he said, it was "management, Communists or a screwball."

His private secretary, Mrs. Gwen Martinson, said two recent unsigned letters threatened him with harm. But he

Miners Face Strike Ban, Pension Suit

By MAX HALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21—John L. Lewis was slammed twice more today—with a new court order to end the coal strike and with a lawsuit to hold up the payment of miners' pensions.

On top of yesterday's $20,000 fine for Lewis and the $1,400,000 fine for his United Mine Workers, Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough issued an "80-day" preliminary injunction under the Taft-Hartley act.

Then the pension plan dramatically announced by Lewis and Senator Styles Bridges (R-NH) on April 12 came under fire.

Pension Plan Hit

Ezra Van Horn, coal mine executive and a trustee of the miners' welfare fund, sued Lewis and Bridges, the other two trustees, to block their arrangement for $100-a-month pensions to 62-year-old retired miners.

Goldsborough's injunction orders the union to end the strike and keep it ended. It directs both the union and the soft-coal operators to bargain about the pension dispute.

Goldsborough ruled that the strike hasn't ended, the dispute is unresolved, and "the national peace and safety are still in peril."

Argument Ridiculed

He ridiculed the argument of Welly K. Hopkins, the union lawyer, that the Lewis-Bridges pension plan could be called a "settlement" as long as miners were still idle.

The judge said he didn't want to be facetious and was not going to call Hopkins a "humorist," but he was "not going to sit here and listen to that kind of argument."

Van Horn, a coal executive from Ohio, asked the federal district court here to issue an injunction blocking any $100-a-month pensions under the Lewis-Bridges pension plan announced April 12.

Many Miners Idle

Van Horn said this plan is an unsound and illegal "scheme," that it was only announced for "expediency," and that Senator Bridges had asknowledged "that he had not studied the problem in detail or given it the required study."

In addition, Van Horn asked the court to hold Lewis and

"Rain Drops" On The Front Page Mean Big News!

Since rain in West Texas is always big news, The Avalanche-Journal today embarks upon a new method of "smacking readers right in the eye" in editions immediately following precipitation of an appreciable amount.

Whenever readers see "rain drops," in color, against their front pages from now on, it shall mean—as it does today—that "there's been a good rain," of a quarter inch or more, somewhere in the Lubbock area."

Watch Avalanche-Journal front pages for "rain drops" in color. They'll mean "liquid gold!"

Golden Drops Give Jingle To Crop Hopes

HEAVY showers covered most of the South Plains Wednesday afternoon and night, ranging from a slight "dust settler" at Lamesa to two inches at O'Donnell.

The heavy showers, amounting to brief downpours in several scattered sections over the area, brought broad smiles to the faces of farmers and businessmen alike. Planting time on the South Plains is rapidly approaching and the moisture is badly needed to put fields in condition. Also, the rain is expected to help cut down dust storms which have been plaguing the area. It was the first moisture over the area since March 10 when a light snow fell.

TOTALS ARE GIVEN

Rainfall which was recorded was reported as follows: Lubbock .28, Plainview 1., O'Donnell 2., Antone .50, Shallowater .75, Littlefield .58, Texaco .25, Kress .25, and Canyon, not enough to measure.

Estimated rainfall in inches was reported as follows: Morton .75, Levelland .75, Crosbyton .50, Floydada .25, Matador .25, Meadow .25, Brownfield .75, and Ralls .50.

Wide Area Hit

The welcome fall apparently covered almost the entire section. Reports indicated that the afternoon and night thunderstorms brought the heaviest falls to the Brownfield, Littlefield and Morton section to the west, Plainview to the north and tapering off toward the east.

Meadow was the only community reporting hail, but it was described as very small and of only a few minutes duration. Post was the only area which reported no rainfall of consequence early last night.

At midnight, the fall measured .28 of an inch in Lubbock, according to officials at the Weather bureau north of the city. The first shower, riding into Lubbock about 4 p.m., totaled less than .10 but a heavy downpour about 10:30 p.m. brought the total to the .28 mark. The rainfall rained out the Lubbock Hubber-Clovis Pioneer West Texas-New Mexico league opener here in the sixth inning with the Pioneers winning by a score of 4 to 3.

Heavy At Plainview

The Santa Fe dispatcher at Slaton stated that O'Donnell had reported two inches of rain about 2 p.m. but none since that time. The rainfall at Lamesa at 11 p.m. was reported at .03, he said. Sla-

Communist Claims U. S. Used Threats

Italian Red Assails Foreign Intervention

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Thursday, April 22—Communist leader Palmiro Togliatti accused the United States today of using threats of starvation and the atom bomb to influence Italian elections.

Although the elections were not free, Togliatti said, the Communists "have no intention of using force or violence" to expell the victorious anti-Communists from the government.

He made his charges in a newspaper interview soon after Premier Alcide De Gasperi promised thousands of cheering Romans last night his victorious Christian Democrats would carry out its pledges for Italian social reforms.

The Christian Democrats, supported by the United States and the Vatican, were within reach of an absolute majority in both houses of parliament. That party and its anti-Communist allies gained a wide popular vote margin over the Communist-led Popular Front in Sunday and Monday's elections.

In an interview in the Communist newspaper L'Unita, Togliatti said, without mentioning the United States by name, that "brutal foreign intervention" was used "to limit and kill political freedom of the voters."

"This intervention," he said, "was a threat to starve the country if it voted for the (Popular) Democratic front and was a threat of war." Additionally, he said, there was "the menace to use the atom bomb against certain towns or regions if in them the Popular Front voters had been in the majority."

Blasts Church Intervention

Togliatti also accused the Roman Catholic church of "violating openly our constitution and electoral law" by intervening in the elections. He cited what he termed "the illegal intervention of masses in order to force the voters' will by the priests and all the church's organizations."

Some reports said Togliatti might offer his resignation as secretary-general of the party. Informed sources said, however, that if he does, it promptly will be rejected.

The anti-Communist victory produced, however, an abrupt turnabout on the Marshall plan from one Communist quarter and foreshadowed a possible breakup of the Popular Front.

Some Violence Reported

Some violence occurred in Milan and near Foggia in southern Italy. Police said 28 Front members were under arrest in Milan for starting a brawl last night. Three persons were injured. A small explosion occurred in the courtyard of the Milan Communist federation headquarters, but police said it was caused by a member refueling his car.

Communists were in trouble at two places near Foggia. Police used tear gas to break up a Communist local victory celebration at San Severo, dispatches to the Rome press said. At Ischitella a local Communist secretary was arrested for violence and resistance to public forces, the advices added.

Housing Clears Major Hurdle

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—The Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill cleared a major hurdle today as the Senate scuttled, 49 to 35, a move to slice a 500,000-unit public housing program from the measure.

The Senate rejected a no-public-housing amendment sponsored by Senator Cain (R-Wash). It did so after Senator Tobey (R-NH) accused the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the United States Savings and Loan league of trying to "hamstring and cut the heart" out of the bill.

Lobbies Denounced

Tobey referred to these organizations as "two of the most powerful lobbies ever to descend upon Congress." He said they had been "doing their dirty work for two years" to get public housing out of the T-E-W measure.

A final vote on the bill might come tomorrow. Backers predicted easy passage.

The House has not acted on the bill yet. Another hot fight over public housing is expected on that side of the capitol.

The overall goal of the proposed long range housing program is to encourage construction of 15,000,000 new homes by 1958. One section provides for 500,000 government-owned and operated public housing units.

TEXAS LUMBERMEN'S GROUP OPPOSES BILL

GALVESTON, April 21 (AP)—Opposition to the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill now pending in the Senate was voiced Wednesday by the Lumbermen's Association of Texas.

A resolution stating that the "federal government's function in housing matters should be limited to the encouragement of private enterprise rather than to construction or subsidizing of housing with federal funds" was adopted at the closing session of the association's convention here.

The bomber was on a routine practice mission and failed to return to its base.

Names of the missing men were withheld.

ON PLANE FLIGHTS

Soviets Hint New Curbs In Berlin

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Thursday, April 22—A Soviet air inquiry commission urged restrictions today upon the western Allies' air transport between Berlin and Western Germany.

The commission told Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Russian commander, such measures are necessary for safety's sake. It urged:

(1). That all American, British and French planes flying through corridors over the Soviet occupation zone be required to give 24 hours' advance notice about every single flight as well as details about the planes and their passengers."

(2). That a ban be placed on night flying by Allied planes as well as on flights in clouds, in the stratosphere "and any flight in which plane cannot be seen from the ground."

Evidence Starts Today In Trial

State evidence will be commenced at 9 o'clock this morning in the murder with malice trial of Brewster E. Dillard.

A jury was completed at 4:45 p. m. Wednesday in 99th district court, after three days in which 86 members of a special venire and 61 talesmen were examined.

Taken as jurors Wednesday afternoon were John Zournas of 1628 Eighteenth, Lester Jones of 2513 Twenty-seventh, W. R. Dean of 1301 Thirty-third, and Ed Moore of Lubbock route 1.

They and Jim Gentry of Slaton route 1, accepted just before the noon recess was declared, were members of a 100-man list of talesmen.

Death Penalty Asked

The other jurors, six of them sworn Tuesday and one Monday from the special venire, are: L. B. Copenhaver of Lubbock, Earl L. Morris of Slaton, J. S. Warlick of Lubbock general delivery, Lon Lincecum of near Idalou, W. T. Dickson of Lubbock route 2, N. W. Ray of Lubbock route 6, and M. L. Morris of 2307 Seventh.

The state exercised 11 of the 15 peremptory challenges allowed in a capital case, the defense 13.

The state announced it would ask death.

Motion Overruled

The defendant, 36, is accused of murder with malice in connection with the Nov. 1 slaying of Garlon Douglas Weaver, at a Texas Ave. service station.

Through his counsel, he made a motion to quash the list of talesmen, and renewed a Monday motion to quash the special venire.

Judge G. V. Pardue, presiding, overruled both motions. The de-

House Committee Okays Farm Price Support Two More Years

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Two years continuation of farm price supports "as is" was approved today by the House Banking committee.

The legislation would keep the support of cotton at 2.5 per cent of parity and the other basic commodities — wheat, corn, tobacco, rice and peanuts—at 90 per cent of parity. Non-basic crop supports would be continued on the present basis. The measure also would set up the Commodity Credit corporation on a permanent basis.

HST'S ANTI-RED FIGHT PRAISED

Southern Bolt Rejected By Texas Demo Party Leaders

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

FORT WORTH, April 21 — The state Democratic executive committee voted 35 to 14 today to go all the way in supporting every nominee of the party. It broke the Texas party organization squarely away from a southern revolt.

By a voice vote, it beat down an effort to delete a phrase commending President Truman for his "valiant fight to stem the tide of Communism through projection of the European recovery program."

The committee also deplored "the efforts of the Truman administration to destroy home rule and civil liberties in the South through the imposition of so-called 'civil rights' legislation," and recommended that the Texas delegation to the national convention be uninstructed on candidates.

Jester Move Followed

The party's executive committee thus stuck to the pattern indicated by Gov. Beauford H. Jester in his speech here last night making recommendations for party action.

The test vote came on a paragraph from a resolution urged by a sub-committee which read:

"We recommend that the presidential electors and delegates selected (at the May convention) be outstanding and loyal Democrats who will faithfully carry out the mandates of the party as voiced in convention assembled, and who will accord full support of every nominee of the party."

Chairman Morris Robert of the sub-committee wanted to strike out the phrase: "And who will accord full support to every nominee of the party."

Roberts said he was a Democrat, had always been one and always would be one so far as he knew, but that inclusion of the phrase would destroy the Texas delegation's bargaining power at Philadelphia.

"I might get to the point some where that I can't take it any longer," he said. This point might come if the national convention nominated a negro for vice-president, Roberts suggested.

Byron Skelton of Temple, holding the proxy of Frank W. Mayborn of Temple, jumped to his feet and said:

Rocket Ships May Probe Space In 10 Years, General Says

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 21—The possibility of man-carrying rocket ships flying into space within 10 years was reported today.

Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle (Ret) cited a report to that effect at the dedication of an exhibition of the work of the father of modern rocketry, the late Robert H. Goddard of Clark university.

Doolittle said he personally thought 10 years too soon, but spoke of an engineering survey backing an early plunge into space.

"Someday," said General Doolittle, "we may be able to leave the earth entirely and fly to the moon or even to a nearby planet. Or set up an artificial orbit around the earth, from which we can patrol the earth or carry on scientific research in space.

Goddard Was Pioneer

General Doolittle said there is a tragic lesson for the United States in the historical fact that Dr. Goddard was flying rockets in New Mexico while the Germans were just beginning their rocket research. He pointed to one Goddard rocket, set up in the American Museum of Natural History as part of the exhibit, that showed basic features of the German V-2, that was not perfected until years later than Goddard's.

The Guggenheim foundation financed Goddard's work, on a ranch 15 miles out of Roswell, New Mexico, until World War II, when he went to work for the Army's liquid fuel rocket research. The foundation set up the Goddard exhibit. After several months at the American museum here the exhibit is expected to begin a tour of the United States.

San Francisco Blaze Causes Loss Of More Than $200,000

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21 (INS)—A spectacular fire visible for many miles througout the San Francisco bay region roared through the Bayshore boulevard yards of two building supply concerns tonight, causing damage estimated at more than $200,000.

Five alarms and eight special calls brought forty-one pieces of fire fighting equipment to the scene, and firemen directed by Chief Edward Walsh battled a full hour to bring the flames under control.

Witnesses told police the blaze originated in the rear of the Goddman-Dillar building supply company and spread quickly into the yard of the Coast Pipe and Supply company.

Action Urged On Palestine Truce

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAKE SUCCESS, April 21—The United States called tonight for urgent action to carry out a Security Council truce demand on Jews and Arabs in Palestine.

Warren R. Austin, U. S. delegate to the United Nations, told the United Nations council that recent events in Palestine required the council to decide what to do now about the unheeded cease-fire order.

Meeting Set Friday

The council delegates, listening gravely, made no objection, and Dr. Alfonso Lopez of Colombia, the council's April president, called a meeting on the truce for Friday.

Arabs and Jews so far have ignored the cease-fire order and are reported engaged now in a battle for the port city of Haifa.

Austin spoke briefly to the council after a majority approved a formula designed to settle the India-Pakistan dispute over the princely state of Kashmir in northernmost India.

Earlier the United States had taken the lead on two other fronts to speed action for a peaceful solution of the boiling Palestine problem.

Harriman Gets Aid Position

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21—President Truman tonight asked Charles Sawyer, former ambassador to Belgium, to accept appointment as secretary of commerce.

The position was offered to Sawyer, now a Cincinnati lawyer, shortly after W. Averell Harriman agreed to take over the job of "roving ambassador" under the European recovery program. Sawyer is expected to make his decision shortly.

Close Friend Named

He could not be reached for comment.

An administration source of highest authority disclosed Mr. Truman's offer of the appointment to Sawyer a few hours after the announcement of Harriman's decision. Harriman's nomination goes to the Senate tomorrow.

The President and Sawyer are close friends. Sawyer was ambassador to Belgium at the time Mr. Truman arrived at Antwerp in 1945 aboard the cruiser Augusta en route to Potsdam to the "Big Three" meeting there.

He has been a White House caller on several occasions.

Is Ex-Demo Leader

Aged 61, he is a former member of the Democratic national committee from Ohio. He served as lieutenant governor in 1938. Previously he was a member of the Cincinnati city council.

The President said he hated to lose Harriman from the cabinet post he has held since 1946, but said the job of ambassador for ERP was of "transcendent importance."

The new $25,000 a year post will take Harriman out of the President's cabinet. As roving ambassador he will keep in close touch with countries benefitting through the $5,300,000,000 ERP program.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters the President regrets greatly the loss of Harriman from the cabinet.

Ross said: "Of course Mr. Harriman cannot hold both jobs. Mr.

Strong Quake Shakes Dominican Republic

CIUDAD Trujillo, Dominican Republic, April 21 (AP)—Several strong earth tremors shook almost the entire island of Hispaniola today.

First reports indicated there were no casualties or serious property damage in the Dominican republic. There were no immediate reports from Haiti.

The earthquake frightened the people of Ciudad Trujillo, where large crowds prayed in the public squares. In Santiago, the Dominican republic's second largest city, all business establishments closed and the center of the city was evacuated.

Six seismographs at the University of Santo Domingo (Ciudad Trujillo) were rendered inoperative by the quake. The front of one of the main university buildings was cracked.

MacArthur Man Denies Saying Eisenhower Could Beat General

SAN ANTONIO, April 20 (AP)—Warren Wright, national coordinator of MacArthur for President clubs, said today he made no statement that General Douglas MacArthur would lose to General Dwight Eisenhower in a presidential campaign.

Wright said he was misquoted yesterday as saying in an interview at Houston that MacArthur, if nominated by the Rupublicans, would be defeated if the Democrats nominated Eisenhower.

"What I said was that if the Republicans were smart enough to pick MacArthur, then we would win. But if the Republicans pick anybody else, then 10 days or two weeks later the Democrats pick Eisenhower, then the Republicans probably are beaten," Wright said.

Arabs Claimed Losing Heavily

JERUSALEM, April 21 (INS)—Jewish sources claimed tonight that 141 Syrian Arabs were killed, wounded or captured today in a flareup of fighting in the Lake Huleh area of northern Palestine.

(A Reuters dispatch from Damacus quoted an Arab army communique as claiming "Russian forces are fighting alongside Haganah," the Jewish militia, in Palestine.)

Fortress Is Occupied

Jewish informants said the northern fighting developed when Syrian Arabs attacked a Jewish war veterans' settlement at Nebi Yusha, killing 11 and wounding scores of the defenders.

They said Haganah reinforcements counter-attacked and inflicted heavy casualties on the Arabs, including 120 dead and wounded and 11 captured.

Other Jewish forces meanwhile occupied a police fortress near the village of Enab on a highway ten miles from Jerusalem.

The fortress is needed by Haganah to protect convoys bound for the Holy City. The fortress was evacuated by the British earlier in the week.

STASSEN, TAFT CONTINUE BATTLE FOR OHIO VOTES

Dixie Senator Claims Gen. Eisenhower Would Not Turn Down Democratic Nomination For Presidency

(By The Associated Press)

A SOUTHERN senator said Wednesday night that Dwight D. Eisenhower would not decline the Democratic nomination for president and predicted Alabama might start a "We-Want-Eisenhower" boom at the convention.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) said he had talked with persons in recent contact with Eisenhower, and despite the general's repeated "no's" they believed he would be available.

Sparkman said Alabama had a strategic position at the convention, being first on the roll call.

Gov. Earl Warren, California's favorite son for the Republican presidential nomination, called a change in the national administration "essential."

In the first nationwide radio speech of his campaign, Warren said the present administration is split within itself and can offer the American people no real leadership.

Elsewhere on the political front, Gov. Dewey was handed seven more delegates by New York, bringing his total to 122; Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and Harold E. Stassen were busy campaigning in Ohio for state's 53 delegates; and Henry A. Wallace again criticized the Truman foreign policy.

Taft carried his primary campaign to Youngstown, O., where he admitted he was weak. Both he and Stassen are pointing for the May 4 voting for delegates at the national Republican convention.

Solon Says Mexican Workers May Bring In Cattle Disease

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21—Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) said today he fears imported Mexican farm workers may bring foot and mouth disease into this country unless their clothing is sterilized before they enter.

Back from a 10-day tour of the zone of foot and mouth cattle infection in Mexico, Miller said in an interview:

"I think the danger of infected animals straying across our southern border has receded in recent months.

In Danger Zone

"A greater danger comes from the 50,000 or more Mexican workers we are importing. Most come from around Mexico City, where the disease is prevalent. They could easily bring in the foot and mouth virus on their clothing, especially their shoes.

"I am urging the Agriculture department to make sure these men have their clothing thoroughly sterilized before they cross the border. And the goats they often bring with them should be barred."

Miller was a member of a House Agriculture subcommittee which visited the disease belt and held meetings at Amarillo and El Paso in Texas and Juarez and Chihuahua in Mexico.

Campaign Too Weak

Miller made these other observations on his trip:

While the disease appears to have lost virulency and to be on the wane, the present eradication campaign is so weak the menace actually may last for generations.

The 40-mile buffer zone established at distances from 300 to 800 miles south of the American border is an effective barrier to entry of infected cattle into the United States.

The idea of a fence along the border is disliked by both American and Mexican cattlemen, who are said to consider it a hindrance to the need for watering cattle in the borderline Rio Grande river.

Coordination is lacking among the three patrols kept on the border by U. S. Immigration authorities, customs officials and agriculture department animal industry men.

Because Mexico is suffering a drouth and can no longer export some 500,000 cattle annually to the United States, as formerly, the northern ranges of Mexico are badly overstocked. Cattle are very thin, and half a million may be lost through starvation.

Dr. Wallace Of Tech Speaks At Rotary Meeting Wednesday

Speaking at the Rotary club luncheon Wednesday at the Hilton hotel, Dr. Ernest Wallace termed San Jacinto day "one of the most significant dates in history" because of the influence Texas has exerted on the world. Dr. Wallace, assistant dean of the Arts and Science division and professor of history at Texas Tech, gave a complete review of events leading to the day.

Dr. Wallace recounted Spain's conquests, the beginning of her loss of power in 1810 due to the Napoleonic wars, the independence of Mexico in 1821, the rising conflict between Mexico and Anglo-Americans who had come into what was then a Mexican state, later to become Texas, and the battle at San Jacinto in which Sam Houston's army surprised and slaughtered or took prisoner most of Santa Anna's Mexican army.

The speaker was introduced by Homer Grant, program chairman. Club President Rex Webster was in the chair, with invocation by Rev. C. Y. Dossey, who is here in a revival meeting at First Baptist church.

Visiting Rotarians included W. B. Ditmore of Las Vegas, N. M., Bill Killian of Ralls, Rufus Alexander of Clovis, C. B. Fisher of Spur, Fred McGinty and Ross Smith of Tahoka, and R. T. Ward of Smithville.

GI Supervision Change Planned

Training officers in the Veterans administration regional office here have been relieved of all responsibility for the direct supervision of 14,354 non-disabled World War II veterans in training under the GI bill in the West Texas region, Robert W. Sisson, regional manager, announced.

The change will enable VA's training officers to devote more time to and accept full responsibility for 2,242 disabled veterans in the region who are training under the Vocational Rehabilitation act.

The VA called on all schools and business firms conducting on-the-job training to meet fully their obligations under the GI bill, and the State Approving agency is obligated to approve only schools and establishments that are fully qualified and equipped to give good courses of instruction and that are otherwise satisfactory on the basis of current inspections.

Schools and job-training establishments must notify the regional office when a veteran stops his training, and reports on the veterans attendance and progress must be furnished the VA.

The new supervision policy varies among the different types of training institutions. No change will be made among colleges and universities which already have the responsibility of supervising veterans enrolled. The Veterans administration will use periodic conduct and progress reports and spot checks to supervise ex-servicemen and women in other schools and job-training establishments. Spot checks will be used in the supervision of veterans taking institutional on-the-farm training.

ROCKETS EVENTUALLY TO CARRY ATOMIC WARHEADS

Guided Missiles, Push Button War Weapons, Are Now Being Designed And Tested By Army Experts

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Writer

ABERDEEN, Md., April 21 — True guided missiles, weapons of push button warfare, are being designed and tested now.

And, Army ordnance experts said today, it is reasonable to suppose that eventually they will carry atomic warheads and be powered by atomic energy.

Even without atomic power, they said, no insurmountable difficulties stand in the way of making radar-controlled missiles capable of circling the earth at speeds faster than sound.

Pile Up Knowledge

They agree with the Pentagon generals who say that push button warfare is not just around the corner. But they add that it is the job of research to spot trends and be ready with new data when it is needed.

That is just what ballistics experts, working in multi-million dollar laboratories at the Army's vast weapon proving ground here, have been doing in the past two years. They have been piling up knowledge—not only for the Army but also for the Atomic Energy commission, the Navy, and the Air Force.

Their most "highly urgent" project, the one now being emphasized above all others, is the accumulation of basic data about guided missiles. Already they have mountains of it.

Use Mechanical Brain

Right now, missiles superior to the German V-2 rockets are being perfected by means of testing equipment here which has no counterpart anywhere else in the world. This equipment includes the only supersonic wind tunnels—one of them never publicized before—capable of sustaining operation 24 hours a day.

Another gadget, filling an entire room, is Aberdeen's famous electronic problem-solver, known as ENIAC. It is solving problems daily in rocket trajectory, nuclear physics, and much else which would take a mathematician a lifetime to figure out with paper and pencil.

So heavy is the demand for what ENIAC can supply that it is two years behind in its work. But before the end of this year, an even more marvelous computer, EDVAC by name, will be in operation.

New Rocket Under Test

One new development made possible by Aberdeen's wind tunnels, its "true flight" ranges, and its rockets fuel lab is the "mother-daughter" rocket.

This combination, under field test at White Sands, N. M., is a German V-2 rocket with a U. S. Wac Corporal rocket projecting from its warhead. The Wac Corporal takes off from the top of the V-2's flight. It is expected to attain altitudes of "several hundred miles" and a horizontal range of 500 miles, twice the V-2's.

The V-2 as used by the Germans in the war was not a true guided missile. It could not be directed in flight by means of radio orders from the ground. But the radar-controlled rockets of American design are responsive to such orders.

Many Models Studied

In their efforts to find out everything about supersonic guided missiles, scientists have been testing models of every conceivable design in a wind tunnel that produces air speeds of 1,300 miles an hour. This is about 1.7 times the speed of sound.

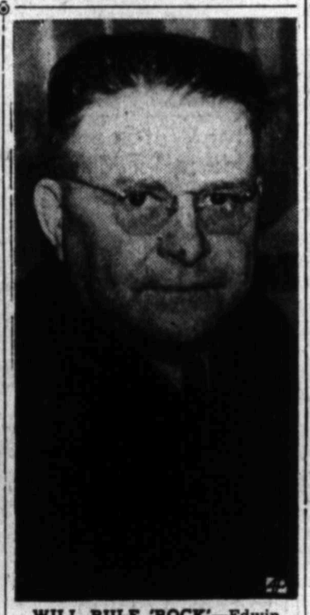

A new tunnel, not yet dedicated, has produced 3,040-mile-an-hour winds. To build up velocities of that order requires five mammoth compressors totaling 13,000 horse power.

C. L. Poor, III, who operates the tunnels, said models of American guided missiles already have been tested at speeds far beyond the transonic region where invisible shock waves spell destruction for conventional winged craft.

Bugs developed in some of the designs, "but others worked out just as we had predicted," Poor said.

Although ordnance officers foresee atomic missiles, they do not expect to produce anything "fantastic." As Col. L. E. Simon, director of the ballastics laboratories, put it:

"We don't know how to make an effective death ray."

SOVIETS MAKE AWARDS

MOSCOW, April 21 (U.P.)—Russia today awarded the Stalin prizes for music, sculpture, architecture and theater, giving the top prize for music to Lithuanian Joseph Antonovich Tallat-Kelpsha for his "Cantata for Stalin." One of three painting prizes went to Iraqli Moiseevich Toidize for his "Portrait of Stalin."

Tree leaves are composed of about 95 per cent water.

Poison Dropped In Three Texas Creeks

HOUSTON, April 21 (AP)—South Texas sportsmen and farmers were warned today three south Texas creeks are poisoned. They are Big and Little Linvell creeks near Sweeny and Caney creek into which Big Linvell creek flows.

V. V. Anderson, Santa Fe railroad official in Galveston, said that a tank car, containing 6,000 gallons of arsenical weed killing chemical was dumped by mistake into a sewage disposal system at Sweeny April 15.

Yesterday a farmer near Sweeny reported 16 of his cows and two horses had died after drinking from the creek.

Since Caney creek is a well-known fishing spot for many south Texans, as widespread a warning as possible has been issued about the contaminated waters, Anderson said. Fish in these waters may have absorbed the arsenic, he said.

Highest temperature recorded for the western Sahara desert is 132.8 degrees Fahrenheit, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

New Planes Not Ready For War

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 21 (U.P.)—H. M. Horner, president of United Aircraft corporation, said today that he believed it would be another year before the great B-50 bomber and half a dozen other potentially great military aircraft "will be ready to take any really active part in our air force."

Horner, in a speech before the local chamber of commerce, said that there still are three phases to the development of any new aircraft or power plant:

"1. The design and experimental testing;

"2. The inevitable redesign indicated by this experimental testing and the tooling for and production of the first lot of products, and

"3. The tactical use of the new product in sufficient quantity and for sufficient time to knock the bugs out of the product and evolve new and effective tactics."

Horner said that "we have no national asset for the defense of our country until this last phase is completed. Even then the retooling for the proved design must be accomplished and the production rolling before we really have anything to crow about."

Horner said that such planes as the B-50, the B-36, P-86 and half a dozen other potentially great military aircraft have not been through that vital third phase yet.

"I am absolutely confident that if we should get mixed up in a shooting war tomorrow," he said, "we'd be using primarily the World War II aircraft type."

The average dream lasts approximately five seconds.

Another Runoff Election To Be Necessary In High School Race

A runoff election Wednesday afternoon at Lubbock Senior High school to choose the 1948-1949 head cheerleader precipitated another runoff when none of the three candidates gained a plurality of the votes cast.

Voters will choose between Miss Joyce Worrell and Miss Jo Cole at a date which has not been set. The runoff, however, will probably be held during the afternoon guidance period, it was announced, as was today's balloting.

ON DEADLINES

With the arrival of spring and with reports of hundreds of events to be pouring over the society desks before vacation days set in, the women's writers think it is time to reiterate a few important items concerning deadlines and the policy of this department.

Since the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal is a daily newspaper in which timeliness is of prime importance, we have found it necessary to set up a few rules which we try to observe, but which can only be enforced if we have the cooperation of our readers.

For some time we have observed the deadlines for society copy for the Lubbock Evening Journal 12 o'clock noon; for the Lubbock Morning Avalanche 6:30 p. m. Deadline for Sunday society copy is 12 o'clock noon Saturday, but we prefer to have our stories turned in earlier than that if possible. Deadline for pictures for the Sunday women's pages is 6 p. m. Thursday.

The front page is planned late Friday night or early Saturday morning and we cannot promise where a story will be placed since we ourselves do not know. We like the privilege of arranging our own stories and pictures.

SINCE newsprint still is not as plentiful as we hope for it to be in the future, we cannot publish lengthy recitals, since if we did there are days when our entire pages would be devoted to them. We attempt to publish news stories and few readers are interested in music recitals other than the children and their parents. We have yet to meet a casual reader who reads stories of recitals.

We are glad to have the name of the student, of the teacher, where the program is being given and when and in the case of students being graduated from college and majoring in music we will print the program. These recitals must be brought to the desk, however.

Five years ago we made a rule to discontinue printing wedding pictures of couples. Pictures of brides are welcomed and these should be in black and white and preferably glossy prints. Only local weddings which take place on Thursday, Friday, Saturday or the current Sunday should appear in the Sunday paper and when you see older stories you may know it's because they were not brought to the desk and we cannot divine those things.

DEADLINE for the social and church calendars is 12 o'clock noon Friday, but these items may be telephoned any time during the week.

Daily society news should be turned in not later than the day of its occurrence.

We are glad to get sectional news, but here again timeliness is of importance and the sooner the story gets to us the better place we can give it on our pages.

Without the cooperation of reporters the women's writers would have a sorry time in presenting society news and we are grateful to those who faithfully telephone, write and come by to see us from time to time with their reports. Our policy is not so strict that we cannot stretch it from time to time to allow for special cases and we are always glad to talk to anyone about the problem of reporting.

SEEKS ADDRESS

MRS. Bill Diggs, 309 Uvalde, telephone 2-6800, is seeking the address of John Burkhalter who used to visit a Mr. Floyd here. Since the latter is unable to get about and cannot see very well, Mrs. Diggs is trying to help him find his former friend.

Mr. Burkhalter must be about 90 by now and he used to sell ice cream and cold drinks from a push cart.

If anyone knows of his whereabouts, Mrs. Diggs would appreciate a telephone call or a note, so perhaps she may make it possible for the two old friends to meet again.

MISCELLANY

A teacher of a Sunday school class lost a brown church envelope containing pennies and a bill saved by the children to apply to the institution's building fund. She thinks she dropped it in the 2300-block on Ave. B. If the finder is interested, he may telephone her at 6403.

Clubs, Units, Chapters Meet Wednesday Afternoon For Book Reviews, Programs

Book reviews and talks were presented by members and guests for a book club, a DAR chapter, a business women's club and a P-TA unit Wednesday afternoon.

"Hobbies are probably as old as man himself, and have existed among all peoples in every part of the world," said Mrs. Bruce Bryan when she spoke for Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club Wednesday at a luncheon meeting held at Hilton hotel. Numerous pieces of art made by the guest were displayed.

"Men and women have hobbies", Mrs. Bryan stated, "because they have sought additional knowledge, have wanted to collect important or pleasurable articles, have wanted to participate in games or sports and have wanted to use their brains and hands to make things." In recent years doctors have used hobbies to aid their patients to recover from physical and mental illness, the speaker explained. She suggested that in selecting a hobby, one should find something that will take him from the beaten path, something fresh and new to which he can turn for rest and relaxation, when his work day tasks are over.

Mrs. Lucille Hamilton presided at the meeting. Forty-one persons were present.

Thornton Wilder's book, "The Ides of March," was reviewed by Mrs. Charles Read for Book-of-the-Month club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. I. Wall at 2904 Twentieth.

Co-hostess was Mrs. George Langford. Fourteen persons were present.

PROGRAM, BUSINESS MEETING IS HELD

An informative talk on heart diseases of children given by Dr. William H. Gordon for the Roscoe Wilson Parent-Teacher association Wednesday at the school was followed by a question and answer period.

CIO Leaders, Angered By Death Of Picket, Blast Chicago Police

CHICAGO, April 21. (INS)—Removal of Capt. George Barnes as head of the Chicago police labor detail was demanded today by CIO leaders angered by the death of a United Packinghouse Workers picket.

Four more UPW pickets were arrested, meantime, when they allegedly attempted to interfere with the movement of a truckload of cattle at Darling & Co., in the Chicago stockyards area.

Ouster of Barnes was demanded by a delegation of CIO officials calling on Police Commissioner John C. Prendergast. The group was headed by CIO regional Director Michael Mann. Other delegation members included UPA Vice President Philip Weightman, and District UPW Director Herbert March.

Police Said On Trial

March charged that Barnes was in "collusion with Armour management." He said Barnes had conferred with company officials just before the incident in which Santo Cicardo, 38, was fatally injured by a truck.

Weightman declared that the "police are not impartial." "In the eyes of packinghouse workers and citizens in general the police department is on trial."

Earlier March and Prendergast swapped verbal blows over the death of Cicardo under the wheels of a truck attempting to enter the Armour & Co. plant.

Brutality Is Charged

March charged the death was "a plain case of murder and the result of police brutality." Prendergast replied:

"There has been no police brutality and I have every confidence in Capt. Barnes. If the man who was the victim of that accident had been a peaceful picket he would be alive today.

"March's statement is clearly an incitement to disorder and riot."

An inquest into the death of the picket was continued until tomorrow after the union protested it hadn't had enough time to round up witnesses.

Armour & Co. indicated as union and police officials argued that it might seek an injunction to prevent further violence at its Chicago plant.

Cicardo was run over yesterday after he and pickets had attempted to halt a truck entering the Armour plant. He died a few hours later.

Armour issued a back-to-work call over the weekend in an effort to resume operations tied up by the five-week-old strike.

The packinghouse workers struck March 16 to back up demands for a 29-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Late in the day, officials of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation service disclosed that Wilson & Co. had renewed its nine-cent-an-hour wage increase offer

It was rejected by UPW President Ralph Helstein who commented:

"Evidently Wilson & Co. is unwilling to negotiate on the basis of the report of the board of inquiry as requested by President Truman."

Woman Who Gave Three Children Sleeping Tablets Found Dead

MINNEAPOLIS, April 21. (INS)—The body of a woman found in a Minneapolis park was identified today as Mrs. R. M. Sundberg, who disappeared after giving her three children large doses of sleeping tablets.

The children, Rose Marie, 17, Arlene, 15, and Robert, 13, have recovered from the poison attempt. They told police that their mother had told them the sleeping pills were "vitamins."

Police found a nearly empty bottle of sleeping pills in a pocket of Mrs. Sundberg's coat.

Churchill, Urging Western European Unity, Says Italy Temporarily Saved From Stalin

By THOMAS C. WATSON
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 21 (INS)—Winston Churchill said today that Italy "has saved herself for the time being from Bolshevik dictatorship of Stalin."

But he warned at the same time that "there can be no hope for the world" unless all western Europe unites—backed by "the might and authority of the United States."

"There never will be a settled peace in Europe," said Churchill, "while Asiatic imperialism and Communist domination rule over central and eastern Europe."

Must Preserve Freedom

Britain's wartime prime minister made his observations in an address to the Conservative Women's conference at Albert hall. He referred to the start made for common defense of western Europe through the Brussels pact and Marshall plan, then said:

"There can be no hope for the world unless the people of Europe unite together to preserve their freedom, culture and civilization.

"There can be no return to prosperity unless they help each other to the utmost and turn to best advantage the life-giving stream of succor which is flowing toward us across the Atlantic.

"I hear people say of the Soviet aggressions and intrigues, "thus far and no farther.'

"This is undoubtedly a widely held resolve but we must not delude ourselves."

American Loans Praised

The Conservative leader who sat in on high war councils with Generalissimo Stalin as prime minister, said "we may all be thankful that . . . the Italian people have chosen to range themselves with Christian and western civilization.

"Italy now regains her place in the ranks of the principal powers of Europe instead of being like so many unhappy countries made to live in a cage with a bear."

Churchill, in praising American loans to Europe and the Marshall aid plan, condemned Socialist "fallacies which deprived us for the time being of the power to earn an independent living." He added:

"The generous help we have been given and promised may make us thankful but it surely should not make us proud.

"Least of all do I see how any Socialist can be proud of living on charity of the greatest capitalist free enterprise state in the world, whose system of wealth and production they deride and denounce at every occasion and urge us to quit forever."

Ore Land Lease Dispute Settled

DALLAS, April 21 (AP)—W. O. Irwin of Daingerfield today offered to turn over to the Lone Star Steel Corp. leases he held on 5,000 acres of ore land and money he had received on the leases but had not yet distributed to the land owners.

Attorneys representing the company and Irwin today began drawing up papers of settlement.

Irwin is trustee for the leases. The ore lands covered by the leases checkerboard the ore properties owned by the company adjacent to the blast furnace facilities at Daingerfield, Texas.

Irwin Had Been Director

Until the company's annual meeting in Dallas yesterday Irwin had been a director of the company, but his name was not on the slate of directors elected at the meeting.

The dispute between Irwin and the company was over the status of a contract covering mining rights on the leaseholds, and executed while the ore lands and pig-iron making facilities were controlled by the Defense Plant corporation.

Claimed Contract Expired

The Daingerfield man contended that the contract had expired when the company purchased the facilities from the government, while the Lone Star management held that any agreement the company had while operating the plant for the Defense Plant corporation would continue in effect.

At issue was some $77,000 expended in test pitting the lease-lands while they were under government control.

The dispute was one of the issues referred to at the annual meeting by E. B. Germany, Lone Star president.

The development today followed a full airing of the Irwin dispute and other controversial matters at the meeting, after which the management and present officers of the company were given a full vote of confidence by the stockholders.

Goldwyn Announces Film Writers To Be Paid From Profits

HOLLYWOOD, April 21 (INS)—Veteran firm producer Samuel Goldwyn today announced that he will encourage screen writers to "aim at greatness instead of being content with reasonably well-paid mediocrity" by giving them a share in picture profits.

The producer, whose ideas have frequently caused other film moguls to gasp, said that his writers will be taken off a week-to-week salary and will be given a percentage of profits, which will amount to much more than the regular stipend.

Goldwyn aired his new plan in a by-lined story in the Screen Writer, official publication of the Screen Writers' guild.

Industry Precedent Set

He urged Hollywood scripters to "shake off their comfortable, golden bonds" and create for themselves "an atmosphere of artistic freedom and an opportunity for even greater financial rewards for the future" by adopting his program.

He charged that the writers have "sacrificed their aspirations to artistry in exchange for the security of a weekly pay check."

Spokesmen for the Screen Writers guild have frequently urged in the past that writers share in picture profits, but this is the first time that a producer has gone on record against the established practice of hiring writers for a specific assignment.

Goldwyn concluded that his plan would "unquestionably lead to further fundamental changes in the industry itself."

Lone Star State Navy Receives Flagship

Battleship Texas Is Dedicated As Shrine

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, April 21 — Texas' Navy today received a flagship, its first in 103 years.

The USS Texas, once queen of the U. S. Navy, was presented to the State of Texas and immediately named the Texas ship Texas, flagship of the only state-navy authorized by Congress.

Several thousand Texans gathered at the historic San Jacinto battleground state park on the Houston ship channel to witness the big ship's decommissioning and its dedication as a state shrine to Texans who have fought for freedom.

Ship Decommissioned

It was 112 years ago today that General Sam Houston's army defeated General Santa Anna of Mexico at San Jacinto to gain independence for the young Republic of Texas.

Towering above the permanent slip holding the Battleship Texas, veteran of two world wars, is the San Jacinto monument dedicated to the fighting men of the Texas revolution.

Capt. Charles A. Baker, the Texas' commanding officer during her participation in World War II invasions of North Africa, Normandy, southern France, Iwo Jima and Okinawa, formally decommissioned the battleship at 11:40 a. m.

Reports For New Duty

"We of the Navy feel none of the sorrow and sense of loss which usually accompanies such an occasion for we know the mighty Texas is not destined for the scrap heap," he said.

"She is reporting today for new duty as the flagship of her namesake state," he added. "Her wars are over and she has won the right to rest peacefully in Texas waters."

A Naval reserve band played the national anthem as Baker ordered the United States flag to be lowered from the ship's mast for the last time.

Two minutes later "taps" accompanied the lowering of the ship's colors.

Ship Is Accepted

At 11:50 a. m. Governor Beauford Jester accepted the battleship from Assistant Secretary of Navy Mark Edwin Andrews.

"The Navy is turning this ship over to the State of Texas in honor of all the men of Texas who did so much to win the war," Andrews told Jester. "She is more than a ship. She is a living symbol of Texas courage, devotion to duty and fighting spirit."

The band sounded off with "The Eyes of Texas" as Jester, as commander in chief of the Texas navy, directed that the Texas flag and the Texas jack be hoisted.

Nimitz Takes Command

"The people of Texas wish to express to the Congress of the United States their appreciation for granting us the right to establish the gallant fighting ship Texas as a permanent shrine and everlasting memorial to men who fought for freedom and won," the governor stated.

Jester then presented Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, USN, retired, a native Texan named by the governor as fleet admiral of the Texas navy.

Nimitz, his Navy blouse sporting gold buttons of the Republic of Texas navy, immediately assumed command of his flagship and dedicated the vessel as a "reminder to future Texans of their proud naval heritage which commenced 112 years ago."

Mothers Honored

Participants in the decommissioning and acceptance ceremonies spoke from a specially constructed platform above the big ship's number three 14-inch gun turret.

Also on the platform were numerous state, national and local officials, civilian and military, as well as a group of Gold Star mothers who lost sons in the two world wars.

Lloyd Gregory, Houston, chairman of the Battleship Texas commission, paid particular tribute to the Gold Star mothers and to the school children of Texas for their participation in the campaign to raise funds to bring the Texas to a permanent resting place on Texas soil.

On the main deck the platform was flanked to the left by formations of naval reservists, and to the right by a Marine corps honor guard and the 60-odd members of the batleship's last U. S. Navy crew.

Utah Paper, Owned By Mormon Church, To Start Sunday Edition

SALT LAKE CITY, April 21. (INS)—The Deseret News, afternoon daily owned by the Mormon church, today announced it will begin Sunday publication on May 16.

The News, oldest newspaper in Utah, was founded by the church in 1850. It has never before published on Sunday.

Its entry marks return of local Sunday competition for the Salt Lake Tribune for the first time since 1931, when the Tribune purchased the Salt Lake Telegram and discontinued that paper's Sunday edition.

The Sunday News will include a rotogravure section and feature sections now printed Saturday.

Four days ago, the News announced its participation with the Los Angeles Times and two Oregon paper companies in purchase of the Hawley paper mill at Oregon City, Ore., for conversion to newsprint production.

Duke Of Windsor Spends Day With Democrats In Capital

WASHINGTON, April 21. (INS)—The Duke of Windsor spent a "democratic" day in Washington today.

The former British king visited President Truman during the morning.

Then he went to capitol hill and lunched with a group of Democratic senators in the office of Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle.

The senators were Minority Leader Barkley, Ky., Minority Whip Lucas, Ill., and McMahon, R. I., Tydings, Md., Meyers, Pa., and Maybank, S. C.

The Duke said he called on the President to pay his respects. He had not seen Mr. Truman in about a year.

TO CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING—They were married on April 26, 1923, and so will celebrate their silver wedding. He was Prince Albert, Duke of York. She was Lady Elizabeth Bowles-Lyon. But not until Dec. 10, 1936, when his elder brother abdicated the throne of Great Britain, were they much in the news. They are, by nature, quiet people. When he became King George VI, they were forced into the limelight. The succeeding years have bee troublous, capped by the war, the subsequent hard times in England and the present international situation. Their reign has seen the coming of Socialist government to England and the loss to the empire of important possessions, notably Burma and India. These pictures, taken especially to commemorate the silver anniversary, show King George and Queen Elizabeth in an informal domestic role and as rulers of the British Empire.(Copyright Dorothy Wilding Photo)

DALLAS, April 21 (U.P.)—Buyers of the $1,200,000 Cotton bowl improvement bonds, which will guarantee a seating capacity for the oval of 66,000, will get their bonds within ten days.

W. H. Hitzelberger, general manager and vice-president of the State Fair of Texas, said the bonds would be mailed out to their respective holders at that time.

With workers considerably ahead of schedule, Hitzelberger estimated the enlargement job would be completed by Sept. 1, instead of in October, when the State fair opens.

China Slaps At Soviet Influence

NANKING, April 21. (INS) — China's national assembly adopted today three resolutions aimed at counteracting Russian influence in the Far East.

The constitutional group, meeting in Nanking, proposed:

1. That the Chinese central government ask the United Nations to take action against Russia if the Soviet Union continues to ignore provisions of the 1945 Sino-Soviet treaty.

2. That the Chinese government break the Sino-Soviet air transport pact.

Demands Equipment Return

3. That the Chinese government call a conference of southeast Asiatic nations to discuss means of stopping the spread of Communism in the Orient.

The first resolution deals with Russia's activities in Manchuria and demands the return of all equipment removed from that province by Soviet troops. It calls upon the Chinese government to give Russia only one more warning before asking the United Nations to intervene.

One assembly delegate, Mo Teh-Hui, interpreted the resolution to mean that "we must fight Russia" if the Soviet Union refuses to live up to treaty obligations and if the United Nations is unable to make a peaceable settlement.

The joker was that thieves had broken into the P. J. Byrne Lumber Co. offices in front of Craig's garage apartment. A total of $523.14 was missing from the office safe.

LOST 47 POUNDS WITHOUT DIETING

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no huffger.

Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is Proof

"When I started taking Barcentrate, I weighed 212 pounds and wore size 46 dresses. Now I wear size 18 and weigh 165 pounds. I started taking Barcentrate in March and by June I had lost 47 pounds. I would have lost more weight had I left off fattening foods, but I was anemic at that time and afraid to diet. People who knew me before I started taking Barcentrate are amazed at the weight I have lost. My flesh is firm; I have never become flabby or wrinkled and I am 40 years old.

"Before taking Barcentrate I couldn't do my house work without becoming exhausted; had dizzy spells and my head and back hurt me constantly. I was so short winded, I was miserable. But now all those things have gone and it is really a pleasure to do the chores I once dreaded.

"Three years ago I nearly died with Typhus fever and it left me anemic and I could never get my blood count up again or get back my energy. After taking Barcentrate my blood count started up and is now normal. So you see why I praise Barcentrate so highly and recommend it. Any praise I can give Barcentrate is small compared to the relief and happiness it has brought me."—Mrs. Eula Whitehead, 500 Harmon, Corpus Christi, Texas.

At All Druggists

The above is one of hundreds of amazing endorsements we have received.

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe, easy way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

RUSSIA SWITCHES TO STALINISM

Loose Usage Of Words Makes Analysis Of Marxism Difficult

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

As American statesmen seek to think realisticaly about the challenge of Marxism as a way of life, economic dilettantes berate them for failure to contrast Socialism with Communism.

Both ideological systems stem to the writings of Karl Marx, and have much in common in the way of ultimate objectives.

Communism theoretically is further advanced than Socialism as a negation of a competitive society.

It aims at equalitaranism, with each to contribute according to his ability and each to receive according to his need.

Differences Are Outlined

Socialism envisages some inequality in rewards according to difering contributions, but perhaps even this is regarded only as an intermediate step in the attainment of Utopia. Socialism puts the emphasis on government ownership and management of the basic means of production.

Confusion of thought grows out of obvious differences in economic and political climate in the Soviet Union and its satellites, on the one hand, and the quasi Socialist governments in Great Britain and many parts of Western Europe, on the other.

The mental chaos grows out of loose word usage. In the first place, it is fallacious to assume that Stalinism is identical with theoretical Communism. As a matter of fact, under Lenin, the Bolsheviks tried for a time to operate under Communist principles, but found them disastrous to productivity. Accordingly, they switched from equalitarianism to varying rewards depending on what each contributed to production.

Economics Bonus Given

Thus, the late Wendell L. Willkie reported that the Soviet trusts were paying managers ten times as much as skilled workers. In many Russian factories, incentive pay, including piece work, is used.

Thus, on the economic side, the Soviet Union has switched from Communism to a form of state capitalism.

In economic organization, Russia is more Socialist than Communist, but is distinguished from the countries of Western Europe by police state tactics. Having weakened the incentives that operate in a free capitalist society, Russia has substituted state force. The concomitants of this approach include slave labor, detention camps, and an elaborate secret police.

In Great Britain, the Labor party is pussyfooting tentatively in the direction of Socialism, with a resultant mixed economy partly capitalist and partly Socialist. As contrasted with Russia, these Western European diluted brands of Socialism differ in two basic respects: First, in Great Britain and some of the other countries, the process goes only part way toward nationalization of means of production. Thus a substantial vestige of private capitalism coexists with experiments in Socialism.

Setup Is Complicated

Secondly, there is an attempt to introduce Socialism gradually by evolution, instead of revolution, with the hope of preserving civil and religious liberties. It has become fashionable to describe the Western European experiment as "Democratic Socialism." Whether such a program is attainable remains to be demonstrated. Since substitution of state monopolies for private initiative restricts freedom, it may be a contradiction in terms to lump "Democratic" with Socialism. In any circumstances, there is nothing yet in the record to show that the hybrid of "Democratic Socialism" can produce the level of material wellbeing attained in a progressive competitive society such as the United States. It is not even known that the diluted concept will be as productive as the brutal Russian system, which has substituted state force for free choice by individuals.

Analysis is further complicated by the fact that concurrent with socialism in Russia another basic economic revolution has taken place. This second revolution has been identified with the belated introduction in the Russian economy of modern technology and vast labor aiding machinery. Under the czar, Russia was backward in the utilization of modern techniques of production.

If the multiplication of horsepower and improvement of tools had been accomplished while developing, instead of destroying, the incentives of a free society, Russia might have achieved vastly more in these 31 years in the way of lifting the living standards of her people. Certainly if Russian assets in natural resources, manmade tools, and manpower were managed by a Democratic society, the global outlook for peace and prosperity certainly would be enormously enhanced.

But domestic ideologists sometimes interfere with analytical thinking by making it appear that contemporary man must choose between one brand of Marxism (Communism) or another (Socialism). This is a logical booby trap. The authentic alternative to Marxism is a free competitive society.

Prime Minister Breaks Empire Record For Years In Office

OTTAWA, April 21 (U.P.)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King started his 6721st day in office today, breaking the empire record for years in office as the head of any British commonwealth administration.

The previous record was held by Sir Robert Walpole, first minister of the crown to be designated "prime minister." He served 6,720 days from April 3, 1721 to February 11, 1742.

Mackenzie King's record is made up of his service in three different periods. He was first named Dec. 29, 1921 and held office to June 29, 1926. Three months later he returned to power and served until Aug. 7, 1930. His present tenure started Oct. 23, 1935.

Freedom Of News In World Is Claimed Aided By Meeting

ROME, April 21 (U.P.) — Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press and consultant to the American delegation to the Geneva conference on news freedom, said today that the conference had made "some substantial gains."

"The Geneva conference offered an opportunity to improve and facilitate the flow of news around the world," he said. "It also presented hazards in the shape of restrictions and curbs on the press which certain governments desired to impose. Some substantial gains were made and some very bad restrictions and curbs either were defeated in committee, rendered harmless through amendments or rejected by the American delegation. Only time will tell whether any of these Geneva resolutions will ever come to mean anything in the shape of treaties or international agreements.

"As far as the United Press is concerned, we have done very well in our forty-year fight for freedom of information—a fight we waged alone until the last few years—without the benefit of treaties.

"Nevertheless, you couldn't escape the fact that when this Geneva conference was called you had a stake in it and a very definite and important stake too. You could either play in the game or let it go by default. I was very happy to have the oportunity to serve as a consultant to the American delegation."

Baille came to Rome from Geneva to supervise UP coverage of the Italian election.

Hubbers Lose Season's Opener To Clovis Pioneers, 4-3; Rain Halts Game In Sixth

Base Thefts By Visitors Prove Costly; Teams To Play Tonight

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

The Clovis Pioneers needed ten men to defeat the Lubbock Hubbers at Rosenthal Field last night, 4-3, as the defending West Texas-New Mexico League champions bowed to a greatly improved Clovis nine in a game cut to six innings by a downpour of rain.

Old J. Plavius, making his first appearance in a long while, aided the visitors no little bit last night, cutting off the last chance the Hubbers had to win the game. But for his healthy cut at the tilt in the sixth inning, the Hubbers might have gone home with their first victory of the season. Instead, 1,200 fans went home drenched.

Locals Get Five Hits

Even so, Harold "Hal" Smith hurled a pretty neat victory for the Pioneers, limiting the Hubbers to five hits and staying pretty tight in the pinches.

And his mates backed him up with a nine-hit barrage off Marvin Alexander, making their knocks good for 15 bases and literally stealing the bases off the field. It was, in fact, a double theft in the third inning that cost the Hub City crew the game, Chuck Novotney crossing the plate on Ted Dallas' swipe of second.

That third frame was just a little too much for the home team to overcome. Jess Jacinto, who later became an extreme nuisance with his fielding, walked and stole second. Dave Rivera and Wilcy Moore struckout, but Ray Bauer lashed a long double off the centerfield fence to drive in Jacinto. Manager John Bottarini waited for one called ball, then lofted a drive over the left center field barrier for a homer, scoring Bauer ahead of him.

Hubs Open Strong

Novotney kept the rally going with a single to left, stole second and went to third on Dallas' single on which Al Smith had no chance to make a play. Then came the two-base thievery and the ball game.

The Hubbers had opened the contest like champions, throttling the Pioneers without a run after Jacinto and Rivera had opened the inning with hits.

Then it was the Hub City team's turn and they pushed over three runs. Al Smith singled through the shortstop and came all the way home on Chick Fowler's sharp double to left centerfield. Manager Jackie Sullivan was safe on Hutchinson's miscue and Fowler went to third, scoring a moment later on Charley Scarborough's fielders choice. Sullivan tallied the final Hubber run on Virgil Richardson's smash to the first baseman.

Alexander tightened after the third, shutting the Pioneers out, although Wilcy Moore reached third base in the fifth and Dallas went to third in the sixth.

But it was Jacinto who was the Pioneer hero last night. In the Lubbock fifth, Sullivan flied out, but Scarborough got a Texas League single, only to be erased on Richardson's grounder to short. Frank Boothe got his second consecutive walk, sending Richardson to second and the stage was set for Jacinto's dramatic play.

Frank McAlexander, always a dangerous batter in a pinch, picked out a hard pitch and sent a sharp grounder to the right of second base. Out of nowhere, just when it seemed like Richardson would score with the tying run, came Jacinto. The stocky little keystone sacker jabbed with his gloved hand, came up with the ball and tossed to Hutchinson, forcing Boothe for the final out.

That ended Lubbock's last chance, for the side went down in order in the sixth, after which the rain left no doubt in anyone's mind that the game was over.

Gold Sox Defeat Abilene, 9 To 6

ABILENE, April 21 (Special)—The Amarillo Gold Six, looking surprisingly like the 1947 nine that finished runners-up to Lubbock in the West Texas-New Mexico League, lost little time in presenting this year's threat by beating out a 9-6 opening-night victory over the improved Abilene Blue Sox.

A five-run outburst in the eighth inning, not quite matched by Abilene, produced the winning runs and sent the Gold Sox off to an auspicious start of the league season.

Clements, Masked Marvel In Tie Match

Ray (Big Train) Clements and the Masked Marvel staged one of the roughest battles of the year in the main event of the weekly wrestling card Wednesday night at Sled Allen's arena, but the tussle was declared "no contest" by Deputy Commissioner Oscar F. Sensabaugh after Referee Billy Sandow was dazed by a blow.

The Marvel took the first fall of the match in 12 minutes with a toe hold, then Clements evened the score with a surfboard in just five minutes. A few minutes later Clements' eye was injured and the enraged grappler started a brawl that ended with the two wrestlers out of the ring and the referee on the canvas.

Sensabaugh decided that Referee Sandow was incapable of officiating after he was struck in the wild encounter and declared the bout was "no contest" and would have to be re-slated.

In the semi-final Pat O'Dowdy and Bill Hickson of Knoxville fought to a draw, with each contestant gaining one fall, and Ace Abbott of Abilene won a preliminary bout decision over Gorilla Poggi with a leg hold.

Dodgers Use 24 Players In Game

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—The New York Giants outscrambled Brooklyn today, 9-5, in a three-hour travesty of major league baseball in which the Dodgers set a new record by using 24 men.

Manager Leo Durocher threw everybody but the bat boy into the fray and there were unfounded reports that he was thinking of bringing in the Montreal Farmhands seated in the stands.

Five homers, three by Dodgers, were unloaded to the amusement of 21,388 spectators. Big Jawn Mize obliged with No. 1 of the season and Sid Gordon also hit one into the seats for the Giants. Arky Vaughan hammered two, one inside the park, and Carl Furillo banged the third for Brooklyn.

Sheldon Jones, Manager Mel Ott's hope to bolster his weak pitching corps, was awarded the decision although he needed help from reliable Ken Trinkle in the eighth. Ralph Branca, knocked out in the second, was the Brooks' loser.

Dust from the South Plains Relays has hardly settled on the Texas Tech oval, but yet another major schoolboy track and field carnival—the Region 1 meet—is scheduled at the same site Saturday. The Region 1 meet, which will be conducted in separate divisions for Class AA, A and B schools of the Panhandle and West Texas, will actually feature more teams than the highly successful Relays, but will not have as many top individual stars competing for honors.

The meet will inaugurate the new Interscholastic league setup that provides separate competition for all three classes of schools, and the contestants that qualify will compete in separate divisions of the state meet at Austin May 7-8. Therefore, all the marks chalked up in the Class A and B divisions of the Region 1 meet Saturday will stand as the records for those classes, although the Class AA performers will continue to shoot at the marks set in the previous regional events.

* * *

The Region 1 records are:

High hurdles—Compton of Mobile, 15.1 seconds. (1935).

100-yard dash—Jones of Hedley, 10 seconds. (1935).

440-yard dash — Kirkland of Dumas, 51.2 seconds. (1935).

200-yard low hurdles—Hensley of Lubbock and Franklin of Panhandle, 23.8 seconds. (1946).

440-yard relay—Lubbock, 44.8 seconds. (1946).

880-yard dash—Winningham of Amarillo, 2:03.8. (1946).

220-yard dash—Jones of Hedley, 21.5 seconds. (1936).

Mile run—Manning of Brownfield, 4:45. (1935).

Mile relay—Amarillo, 3:33.7. (1940).

Pole vault—Dean of Lubbock, 12 feet. (1945).

High jump—Hammond of Vega, 6 feet. (1945).

Broad jump—Minor of Tahoka, 22 feet, ½ inch. (1940).

Shot put—Wilkerson of Tell, 48 feet, 9 inches. (1936).

Discus—Clay of Pampa, 152 feet, 8½ inches. (1946).

At least five of the records will be in danger Saturday, on the basis of performances in meets this season. Pampa's Carl (Red) Mayes should lower the 100 and 220-yard dash standards, Bill Howton of Plainview is certain to shatter the high hurdles mark and the Lubbock sprint relay team has turned in a 45.5 recently. Any new records will depend on favorable weather conditions, however, since the regional meets are notorious for sandstorms and "blue northers."

It is interesting to find that several former Lubbock High gridders are now stalwarts on some of the major college elevens of the Southwest. Everyone knows of the record little Jim Lowrey has made at Texas university, but probably few know that George Brewer, the Westerners' all-district fullback in 1945, is one of the top Oklahoma university candidates for the '48 team. George, as a green freshman, played against Glenn Davis and the great West Point eleven in his first college clash in 1946, then was one of the Sooners' highest scoring backs last year. Reports from the Oklahoma spring training camp indicate that the Sooners' offense this fall will be built around the running of Junior Thomas and Brewer and the passing of Darrell Royal.

DALLAS, April 21 (AP)—Irene Schramm of Erie, Pa., rolled 289 today, the highest single game in the Woman's International Bowling Congress.

Coan's Homer Is Deciding Factor

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Sparked by Gil Coan, who belted a three-run homer, the Washington Senators came from behind and tripped the New York Yankees, 6-3, today.

Coan's blow highlighted a five-run third inning uprising that drove Yankee starting pitcher Vic Raschi to the showers.

DiMaggio Homers

Joe DiMaggio gave Raschi a two-run lead by homering with a mate aboard in the first inning off southpaw Mickey Haefner.

The Senators came back with one in their half of the first on Al Kozar's double, a walk and a single by Earl Wooten.

Following a scoreless second inning, the Senators sewed up the game in their second straight win over the Yanks.

Eddie Yost walked to start the big third frame for Washington. Kozar followed with a single and Coan promptly put the ball out of sight and the Senators into the lead.

Tech Seeks Cinder Path Win

Raiders To Compete In Track Go Friday

Texas Tech will be host to its second quadrangular track meet of the season Friday when teams from the University of New Mexico, West Texas State Teachers college and Texas Mines visit Tech field.

Coach Maxey McKnight is hoping for another victory for his Tech Red Raiders. He was greatly pleased by showings of the Raiders last Saturday in El Paso, when they spotted Texas Mines 25 points in field events in the afternoon and rolled back at night to win all nine races, finish second in six of them and one-two-three in the two mile run to take the meet. Tech scored 82 1-4, Mines 61 1-4, New Mexico A&M 17 1-2 and West Texas 3.

Tech Mentor Optimistic

Charley Reynolds, Odessa, won the 100 and 220 yard dashes; Ed Clepper, Mobeetie, copped the high and low hurdles and high jump, placed second in the broad jump and fourth in the javelin throw; and James Cruser, Rockport, captured the mile and two-mile.

Charles Pinnell, Andrews freshman, was second in both hurdle races and tied for third in the pole vault and high jump. Ernest Hawkins, Lamesa, took the half mile and his freshman brother, Edgar, was second in the mile and two-mile. Costin Bufkin, Hobbs, N. M., won the 440. The Tech mile relay team composed of Reynolds, Joe Wilson of Claude, Ernest Hawkins and Bufkin, won that event by over 100 yards.

Coach McKnight is counting on these same runners and field men to pile up enough points this week end to take the meet. Clepper's performance in the field events was unexpectedly strong and gives the Raiders more balance than they showed initially.

However, the main strength of the Raiders remains on the cinder path and it is here that they must pile up the majority of their points. A strong showing on the cinders, as demonstrated at El Paso, may be enough to win Tech a Border conference title.

Loboes Down Dukes, 11-4

Turner Paces Lamesa Attack With Four Hits; Teams Clash Tonight

LAMESA, April 21 (Special)—The Lamesa Loboes pounded out an 11 to 4 triumph over the Albuquerque Dukes at Lobo field this afternoon in a West Texas-New Mexico league season opener played before an estimated crowd of 1,500 fans under cloudy, windy skies.

Little J. B. Garland, Lobo right hander, gained his second straight opening day triumph over the Dukes, letting them down with four hits.

Loboes Get 13 Hits

Meanwhile, his mates pounded out 13 hits off the curve-ball offerings of Virgil Butler, rookie Duke lefthander.

The Loboes went in front with a 3 run outburst in the fourth and widened their winning margin steadily thereafter. Garland pitched hitless ball the last five frames.

Centerfielder Gil Turner paced the Lobo barrage with 4 hits in 5 trips including a double and a triple, and drove in 3 runs.

Frank Shone, Duke leftfielder, hit homers for the visitors in the second and fourth, both with the bas... empty.

Manager-First Baseman George Sturdivant, third-sacker I. B. Palmer and Catcher Jim Skidgel got 2 hits apiece for the Loboes.

Dukes Make 7 Errors

Albuquerque made 7 errors, while Lamesa had a lone miscue by Shortstop Jack Wilcox in the ninth. He helped turn a double play to end the ball game.

The two clubs meet here tomorrow night at 8 o'clock with Righthanders Lee Zamorra of the Dukes and Chris Haskins of the Loboes slated for mound duty.

N.M.U. To Battle Techsans Today

Texas Tech's powerful tennis team and rapidly-improving links squad will tangle with New Mexico university representatives in a dual meet this afternoon, officials reported Wednesday night.

The netters will open play on four singles and two doubles matches at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Tech courts, with the golfers teeing off at 1 o'clock at Lubbock Country club.

Broyles, Ivy Absent

The Raider net team, which will be without the services of aces Jake Broyles and Glenn Ivy, will include Carl Schmidt in the No. 1 singles, spot, Eddie Scudday in the second position, Joe Wheatley in third and Cecil Roberts in fourth. Schmidt and Scudday will join forces in the feature doubles setto, with Wheatley and Roberts meeting the second New Mexico pair.

Broyles and Ivy are now competing in the River Oaks Invitational net meet at Houston and their absence will make the New Mexico crew top-heavy favorites to cop the meet championship.

The Raider golfers, who upset the Texas School of Mines linksmen last weekend, will depend on a quartet of team veterans in the match with the Lobo strokers. Representing Tech will be Elmer H. McKinney of Brownfield, the Border conference champion, Jerry Stoltz, Ted Forsythe and E. C. Feagan.

McKinney shot a two under par 70 last weekend at El Paso, then teamed with Stoltz to shoot a 66 for low ball honors.

Mayor's Cup Golf Tournament Starts Sunday At Meadowbrook

Lubbock golfers will tee off Sunday in an 18-hole qualifying round for the Mayor's Cup tournament, the next official tourney on the program at the Meadowbrook Publinx club.

Sled Allen, vice president, said that an even larger number of linksmen were expected for the Mayor's Cup qualifying rounds than entered the recently-concluded Annual Spring Classic. Greens, tees and fairways are in good condition and Paul Jones, club pro, said that the course is improving with each day.

Amarillo High Nine Will Play Brownfield Friday Afternoon

AMARILLO, April 21. (Special)—Brownfield High school's baseball team will invade this city Friday afternoon for a District 1-AA tilt with the Amarillo Golden Sandies. The game originally was scheduled to be played in Brownfield. The Sandies turned back Borger, 23-9, at Borger Tuesday afternoon for a victory in their only District 1-AA game so far.

Coaltown Faces Route Test In Keeneland Race

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 21 (INS)—Coaltown, the unbeaten speed merchant, and Betwitch, roly-poly juvenile money queen of 1947, will carry the Triple-A stock of Calumet Farm against five other Kentucky Derby eligibles in tomorrow's renewal of the $15,000 Added Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland.

The mile and one eighth Blue Grass affair, only a furlong shorter than the Derby distance, will be the first route test for Coaltown, which is second only to Citation in betting on the May 1 Run for The Roses.

Shy Guy Top-Weighted

It's likely, however, that much of the wagering on tomorrow's Keeneland event will fall to Dixiana Farm's Shy Guy, carrying top impost of 126 pounds and a "feel" for the Keeneland track. Coaltown, whose workouts at Keeneland include a :59 3/5 five furlongs, will tote 123 pounds and 121 pounds will be lugged by Bewitch, Walmac Farm's Billings, Robert W. Atha's Syndicate, Howard Wells' Eagle Look and Hal Price Headley's Dole.

May 17 Deadline For Golf Open Entries

At least fifty top-flight professional and amateur golfers are expected to tour the 18-hole Lubbock Country club layout on June 1 in one of the sectional qualifying rounds of the 48th National Open Golf Championship to be played June 10-12 in Los Angeles.

Lubbock Country Club Pro Herb Schroeder announced Tuesday that he had obtained a small number of application blanks for those wishing to compete here. He has requested more applications from Fred Hogan of Midland, USGA representative for this district, who will govern qualifying rounds here.

Applicants must have their entries in the office of the United States Golf association by 5 o'clock Monday evening, May 17. Entrants should mail their applications to the USGA offices at 73 East 57th street, New York 22, N. Y.

Schroeder said he had received no formal applications, but that probably fifty or more pros and amateurs will make a bid for a berth in the field that tees off in the Open Championship on the Riviera Country Club course in Los Angeles.

Those who might enter qualifying rounds here include Schroeder; Warren Cantrell of Midland; Morgan Hampton of Abilene; Shorty Hornbuckle of Odessa; Shanty Hogan of Lamesa; Gene Mitchell of Plainview; Ray Garrett of Wichita Falls; Ray Houck of Borger; Jack Austin of Pampa; George Aulbach and Chuck Kline of Amarillo; and Jimmy Gamewell of Hobbs, N. M.

Others who may enter are Ray Marshall, Chick Trout, Kay Bradshaw, Jimmy Goldman and Oran Wilson.

Stranahan And Chapman Leading North, South Golf Tournament

PINEHURST, N. C., April 21 (AP)—Walker Cup Internationalists Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, and Dick Chapman, Pinehurst, won easily to lead the way into the quarterfinals of the 48th North and South Amateur Golf championship today.

Stranahan defeated W. B. "Duff" McCullough, Philadelphia, Pa., runner-up in the 1940 national amateur event, 5 and 3, in third round play.

Sunbeamers' Mound Ace

Mound Duel Looms For Sunbeam, Jeweler Softball Tilt Tonight

A battle for leadership in the South Plains Softball league is expected tonight when Bluebonnet-Sunbeam Laundries, now leading the loop, tangles with undefeated Thomas Jewelers, now in second place.

The game will be unreeled in the nightcap of a twin bill at Jumbo-Webster field. In the first game, Cloverlake and Golden Light Coffee clash, starting at 8 o'clock.

Two of the league's finest pitchers will be seen in action in the feature attraction.

Jackie Neel, the Sunbeamers' strike-out artist, will appear in a hurling duel against G. W. Warden, Thomas Jeweler tosser who has allowed only three hits in eighteen innings of mound duty.

Sunbeam currently has three victories against no defeats in league play. A victory would give that team a firm hold on first place. A defeat for the Sunbeamers would relegate them to second-place, with Thomas Jewelers taking over the lead.

Not much is at stake in the opening game, since Cloverlake and Golden Light share cellar position with two losses each and no wins. The winner, however, would move into a tie for next-to-last place with Baldridge Bakery, which has two wins in three starts.

Neel's current mound record includes four games won, three of them in the South Plains loop, another in the Texas Softball league. In 36 innings on the mound, Neel has allowed seven runs, nine hits, and has struck out 60 batters. He has issued four walks in four games.

Warden blanked Baldridge last week, allowing only two hits. In his second mound assignment, against Golden Light Coffee, Warden allowed one run, an unearned tally, and only one hit. In the first tilt he struck out nine batters. He struck out two in the second game. He has not issued a walk this season.

Mitchell Takes Schoolboy Golf Tourney Honors

DALLAS, April 21 (Special)—Ross Mitchell, ace shotmaker of the Lubbock High school links squad, shot a two over par 73 over the tough Cedar Crest layout here today to cop medalist honors in the qualifying round of the state high school golf tourney.

Mitchell toured the first nine in a four over par 40, as he three-putted the No. 9 hole, but he blazed over the back nine in a two under par 33 to clinch low score for the qualifying round.

Match Games Today

Other members of the Lubbock team turned in creditable scores, although none except Mitchell qualified for the championship flight. Bill Tatum tallied an 86 for the 18 holes, Edward Bean scored an 89 and George Canon turned in a 91.

Shreveport and Abilene tied for team honors in the round today, but Sunset of Dallas is still considered one of the top contenders.

Match play in the tournament will get underway Thursday, with the finals slated Sunday.

Negro American Loop Teams To Play Here

AMARILLO, April 21 (Special)—Baseball fans of Lubbock will be treated to a sample of Negro American League baseball Tuesday and Wednesday nights at Rosenthal Field, when the Detroit Senators and the Houston Wolverines play in the Hub City.

Upton Williams, booking agent for the clubs, stated that the clubs would supply fans with plenty of fancy baseball. Both clubs are in the Negro Major Leagues, travelling across the nation to play their contests.

Williams said that the Detroit club trained in Mexico this spring and is in topnotch playing condition, while the Wolverines also will present a well-balanced, strong nine. Both teams take their baseball seriously and ball fans of this area are certain to see two good games.

White baseball fans will be admitted to the box seats without charge, while half of the grand stand will be reserved for colored fans.

West Texas And Plains Cinder Path, Net Stars Compete Here Friday And Saturday

Plans for the Region 1 track, field and tennis meets here Friday and Saturday at Texas Technological college have been completed by meet officials, with Class A and B net competition slated to get underway at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning and track and field preliminaries in all divisions set for 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

Due to the size of the meet, which will include 169 Panhandle, South Plains and West Texas teams, preliminary eliminations will probably be necessary in all track and field events, officials have announced.

The cinder path races will be held at the Tech oval and the tennis matches will be played on the Raider courts.

The meet will feature some of the top track and field specialists in the state, including Carl (Red) Mayes of Pampa, Bill Howton of Plainview, Bob Hoefer of Amarillo and Tom Rogers of Childress in the AA division; with Val Joe Walker of Seminole, Jack Young of Andrews and Bill Fairley of Pecos rated as the standout Class A performers.

Since the meet will be conducted in three separate divisions, or classes, the marks established Saturday by the A and B competitors will go in the record books as the standards for those events. The AA schoolboys will still have to shoot at the marks chalked up in previous regional meets by combined AA, A and B fields.

The regional meet will be one of the most important programs of the season for the track squads, since individuals must win one of the top two places in an event to be eligible to compete in the state Interscholastic league meet at Austin May 7-8.

The only exception to the "two-place eligibility" ruling is in the Class A and B mile and sprint relay races, where only the winner will be qualified.

Only the winners of the tennis divisions will be qualified, officials said.

Buddy Kerr Given Indefinite Suspension By Giants' Pilot

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Manager Mel Ott got tough with Buddy Kerr today, suspending the New York Giant's shortstop indefinitely because Ott said he refused to play.

Kerr, sidelined since he was hit in the head by a thrown ball in an exhibition game at Topeka, Kas., April 14, had been in and out of doctor's offices for the past week. There is some confusion about his fitness for play.

Fight On Cancer Aided As New Radium Substitute Discovered

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 21 — Chairman David I. Lilienthal of the U. S. Atomic Energy commission reported today that peacetime atomic energy research has produced a cheap and plentiful substitute for radium in the treatment of cancer.

Lilienthal disclosed that the new material, radioactivated cobalt, can be utilized in the place of radium, only element employed until now with success against the dread disease.

The AEC chairman emphasized that cobalt is no more a cure for cancer than radium but stressed consequences of having large, cheap supplies available for treatment purposes.

Radium Scarce

Radium, discovered in 1898 by Pierre and Eva Curie, is almost priceless due to its scarceness. The 26 ounces in this country constitutes the majority of the world supply.

Discovery of the new treatment is the latest humanitarian dividend tid out of the tremendous scientific effort which went into invention of the atom bomb.

Cobalt itself is a lustrous metal found with iron and nickel deposits. It gains its cancer treatment value when placed in an atomic furnace and "charged" with radioactivity.

Names Not Disclosed

Radioactive materials emanate rays which destroy tissue. Rays from radium—and now cobalt—are strong enough to destroy cancer tissue.

Lilienthal did not disclose the names of the atomic scientists who made the cobalt discovery.

Whoever they are, they owe a debt to another Curie—Irene, the daughter of Eva who, with Joliot, in 1934 learned how to induce artificial radioactivity in chemical elements.

Low Cost Possible

Lilienthal announced the discovery—now perfected and ready for clinical use—to newsmen at the White House after reporting to President Truman on research progress growing out of application of nuclear fission to the atom bomb.

He said that not only does the discovery make the treatment of cancer possible on a vast scale at low cost but that cobalt can be fashioned into needles, probes and other instruments and used in a manner impossible with radium.

Lilienthal also reported on two new industrial uses for atomic energy, also stemming from radioactivity.

These involve use of radioactive sulphur in manufacture of steel and rayon.

Bridges "personally liable" for any pensions they pay out pending a court decision. Van Horn has said he's not opposed to pensions—but can't agree to paying them in a way he thinks is illegal.

While lawyers argued in Goldsborough's courtroom and Van Horn announced his lawsuit at a swanky hotel, miners in the soft-coal fields were mainly staying home again today. Nearly 300,000 of them were idle, more than three-fourths of the total.

Sentence Set Friday

They didn't like the fines imposed yesterday for criminal contempt of court. But Lewis last night asked them to go back to work, and there were signs they might obey before the end of the week.

On Friday, Goldsborough is due to pronounce sentence for civil contempt of court. The government has hinted that it will ask for further penalties if the miners are still idle then.

The injunction issued today replaced a "temporary restraining order" signed April 3 by another federal judge.

Lewis and the union ignored this order for a week, and that was why they were convicted of contempt.

The Supreme court has ruled you have to obey a court order even if you think it's illegal, or even if it is later proved illegal.

Today's injunction is the second granted under the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley law. The first was issued March 29 to block a threatened strike at an Atomic Energy laboratory in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Harriman Named

Truman asked him to accept the ECA ambassadorship, and Mr. Harriman said yes."

Later, Harriman said he is resigning from the cabinet, effective tomorrow, by letter.

Ross said the President regards Harriman as particularly well qualified for the job by virtue of his war-time services, "his long experience and his diplomatic experience in London and Moscow."

The appointment of Harriman was the second important ERP post filled during the day.

Paul G. Hoffman, head of the Economic Cooperation administration which handles the program, announced the appointment of Alexander Henderson, New York attorney, as acting general counsel of ECA. He will serve as a consultant as required, not on a regular salaried basis.

TO HEAD SCHOOL

DENVER, April 21. (INS)—The University of Denver board of trustees tonight announced the appointment of James F. Price, former dean of the D. U. law school, as the chancellorship of the university. Price, who has been acting chancellor for the past eight months, was chosen from more than 200 men prominent in the field of education, and considered as possible appointees by the selection committee

Defense Program

he said. He explained that two troop carriers and two light bomber groups are eliminated from the 70-group plan.

Forrestal made his new recommendations before a closed-door meeting of the Senate Armed Services committee, but his statement was made public later.

The sister committee in the House, the House Armed Services committee, earlier had been told by the head of the Armed Forces Research board that it should pass a law to put every man in the country in government service during a war.

Dr. Vannevar Bush, chairman of the Army-Navy-Air Force Research and Development board, said temporary selective service, universal military training and bigger Air Force were not enough.

Forrestal's newest recommendations were cleared with President Truman before the defense secretary hurried to the Senate to testify before the committee studying a draft-UMT measure asked by the administration.

More Money Needed

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the committee said the revised defense program calls for a temporary draft, approval of a long range UMT, and expansion of manpower in air, land and sea branches.

It also calls for more money—$14,481,000,000 instead of the previously estimated $14,000,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The latest manpower estimates by Forrestal today were:

Army—790,000 men and officers.

Navy, Marines—552,000.

Air Force—453,000.

Staff Okays Increase

Compared with previous administration requests, today's figures increase the size of the Army and Air Force, and leave the Navy-Marine corps unchanged. All the figures are far above current strength, however.

In a prepared statement read to the Senate group Forrestal said the joint chiefs of staff had approved the full 70-group Air Force only on the basis of military considerations.

He said such an Air Force, with an Army and Navy in proportion, would cost nine billions dollars over and above the $11,000,000,000 President Truman originally asked for defense for the fiscal year. (The administration later raised this recommendation to $14,000,000,000, and Forrestal's recommendations today increased it to $14,481,000,000.

Air Power Decisive

Forrestal warned that to spend $9,000,000,000 extra might be such a shock to the economy as to necessitate rationing, price controls, allocations "and a host of other restrictions."

With a 70-group Air Force, he said, the Army would need another 47,000 men, the Navy 116,000 and the Air Force 49,000.

He said all three services agree that air power is likely to be the decisive element in our national strength, but that to be effective and decisive, it needs "strong ground and surface forces."

Forrestal's figures today compared with current strength, the previous administration estimates, and a House committee figures as follows:

	Present Size	Early Admin.	House Plan
Army	542,000	782,000	782,000
Navy, Marines	478,000	552,000	660,000
Air Force	364,500	400,000	502,000

The House later revised the 502,000 for the Air Force to about Forestal's figure when it voted for a 70-group Air Force.

Forrestal's compromise on the Air Force today cut only four groups from the House approved 70. They include two light bomber groups and two troop carrier groups. He said the planned 66-group force will have the same manpower as the proposed 70-group until the end of 1950.

Palestine Truce

clared the council should determine whether any specific steps have been taken by the Jews, Arabs and the British administration to carry out the truce ordered by the council early last Saturday.

Then, Austin said, the council can consider what next should be done.

The Jewish agency for Palestine meanwhile attacked the U. S. scheme for a trusteeship over Palestine.

Fighting continued in Palestine. British security forces left most of Haifa early today, keeping only the port and its oil installations.

British Leaving Haifa

As the British gave up most of Haifa, Undersecretary of State Lovett indicated in Washington that the U. S. has been beseeching Britain to defer troop withdrawals from Palestine.

The British have announced their soldiers will be out of the Holy Land by Aug. 1. They are yielding the Palestine mandate rule May 15.

London reports said the British cabinet is giving very serious consideration to the U. S. proposal for a UN trusteeship over Palestine.

Foreign Secretary Bevin delayed an answer in the House of Commons to a question as to Britain's position on the U. S. proposal that several nations should share the job of policing Palestine under the trusteeship.

However, a British delegation spokesman here has said his government will not accept any plan which would keep British soldiers in Palestine after Aug. 1.

More than 900,000 square miles, or 28 per cent, of the area of Canada, exclusive of the Arctic islands, is unexplored.

Party Bolt Rejected

not support the nominee of the party. Governor Jester said last night he would and unless we tell the people of Texas we are going to support the party nominees, we will be the laughing stock of the state, and have no party.

"The people who held the barbecue at McGregor yesterday have said we are not going to support the party nominees and we must make our position clear."

Committeeman French M. Robertson of Abilene added this:

"If we don't vote against this proposal we will walk into the trap set for us by the McGregor Democrats."

Amendment Beaten

Mrs. Sam H. Davis of Houston said she favored the Roberts amendment because the committee would be presumptious to include the questioned phrase. "The question should be left to the convention," Mrs. Davis said. She held five proxies, which she voted for the amendment.

George L. Charlton of Tomball, holding a proxy for William N. Michels of Houston, offered another amendment which would have made support of the nominees contingent on their support of the resolution adopted by the southern governors at Washington, criticizing Truman for his civil rights program.

He said Jester had signed the southern governors committee report "and what's good enough for Gov. Jester is good enough for me." This was defeated by a voice vote.

Votes Allocated

Jimmie Brinkley of Houston, president of the state Young Democrats and holder of several proxies, objected to the praise of President Truman.

His amendment was also beaten by a voice vote.

The committee voted to allocate voting strength for the Brownwood convention on this basis:

Each county will receive one vote for each 500 votes or major fraction thereof cast by that county for governor in the last preceding primary election.

The resolution on party loyalty and instructions to delegates included these other major points:

Major Issues Okayed

A call on all Texans "to protect the liberties which are jeopardized at home."

Full endorsement of Jester's speech last night, which included much bitter criticism of the President.

A recommendation that the precinct, county and state conventions "take forthright and decisive action to protect our sovereignty and social institutions."

Instructions that the Texas delegation to the national convention work for restoration of the two-thirds rule and for a platform which will "reaffirm the Democratic party's traditional belief in state's rights and home rule."

A delegation instructed to battle for the preservation of the tidelands and domestic water resources.

"The Texas delegation should be instructed to oppose the efforts to destroy our social institutions by the fiat of Congress."

A recommendation that the Texas delegation be uninstructed as to candidates for the presidential and vice-presidential nomination.

Man Who Helped Officers Set Outlaw Trap Killed By Train

COUSHATTA, La., April 21 (AP)—Sheriff Ray G. Adcock, of Red River parish, today identified a man killed by a train at Sulphur, La., yesterday as Henry Methvin who helped officers set a trap in which Methvin's former pals Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker were shot to death in May 1934.

Methvin was crushed to death at Sulphur when he apparently tried to crawl across the tracks beneath a moving train. Funeral services were held here today.

Adcock said he had known Methvin all of Methvin's life and told a newsman:

"You can tell the people in Texas and Oklahoma that the man killed near Lake Charles is the Henry Methvin who was with Barrow and Parker."

Barrow and his blonde, gun-toting, cigar smoking girl companion were credited with 12 killings before they were mowed down near Gibsland, La., May 24, 1934, by old time Texas rangers and county sheriffs. At that time Frank Hamer, for 30 years a ranger, said that Methvin had arranged for Barrow and his girl companion to travel down the gravel by-road on which they were shot to death from ambush.

Blast At Communism Is Asked At Bogota

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 21 (AP)—The United States, Chile, Brazil and Peru proposed today that the Inter-American conference condemn International Communism as "an instrument of aggression used for imperialistic purposes."

The resolution would leave to the 21 American republics the task of dealing with Communism each in its own way. The plan would thus avoid proposals advanced by some of the delegations for a hemisphere-wide outlawing of Communism.

The conference steering committee agreed tentatively to end the 21-nation meeting April 30. The delegates also agreed to move the meetings of the conference committees to the national capitol beginning tomorrow. The capitol was damaged extensively during the recent revolutionary riotin, but has been repaired.

At the same time the conference ordered an investigation into whether Nicaraguan troops have invaded Costa Rican territory to intervene in the revolution in that country where Communist-led militia are reported threatening to upset peace efforts.

Lubbock Girl To Appear As San Antonio Fiesta Duchess

SAN ANTONIO, April 21. (AP)—Coronation of the Empress of all the Ages Thursday night and the Battle of Flowers parade Friday afternoon will bring to a close the San Antonio fiesta.

The annual band festival and a trades display parade were held today. High school bands from Cisco, Mission, Laredo, New Braunfels, and Weslaco were among 18 out-of-town entries. The Paris Junior college band of Paris, was one of three college bands entered.

Thursday's fiesta program will lead off at 10 a. m. with a review of troops at Fort Sam Houston.

Out-of-town duchesses will be first to appear at the coronation including Misses Suzanne Penn of Waxahachie, Marion Alexine Yturria of Brownsville, Marion Benson of Lubbock, Emily Ruth Rosser of Fort Worth, Lica East of Hebbronville, Jeane Turner of Eastland, Lady Judity Darst of Richmond, Virginia Morgan Meyers of Austin, Kay Harrington of Dallas, Nancy Ann Smith of Wichita Falls, Nancy Marmaduke Scurry of Houston, Mary Susan Hamilton of Cuero, Helen Reid of Orange, Claudia Glover Coleman of Corpus Christi, Sue McCan of Victoria and Jean Marie Holdes, the Army.

B-29 Groups To Make Practice Attack On Suez Canal Mouth

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 21 (AP)—Three groups of U. S. Air force B-29 bombers will make a practice attack tomorrow on Port Said in North Africa.

The bombers are based temporarily at Fuestenfeldbruck, southern Germany.

U. S. Air force headquarters said the bombers will fly to Port Said at the mouth of the strategic Suez canal and back without stopping. The 3,600-mile roundtrip is expected to take about 17 hours. Part of the flight will be over northern Italy.

Eisenhower Talked

climaxed a day of political stumping for Taft.

Stassen said in Dayton that he was not making his Ohio campaign an intra-party fight, adding that he wanted the people to vote on issues.

Stassen's speech at Dayton ended a whirlwind tour of the industrial third congressional district. It included speeches at Hamilton and Middletown.

Wallace, speaking at Atlantic City, N. J., before the National Conference of Social Workers, said "America's foreign policy is not stopping Communism; it is promoting Fascism, both here and abroad."

He declared that America "managed to buy votes with our pressures" in the Italian election, "but we are fools if we believe that we bought friendship."

The third party presidential candidate added that unless the Italian government institutes reforms to benefit the people, America will find she has "purchased hatred."

20-30 Club Receives Charter Certificate

Lubbock 20-30 club has received a certificate making it an affiliated charter member of the World Council of Young Men's Service Clubs, it was announced at last night's meeting at Hotel Lubbock.

Other charter members of the World Council are located in Canada, Great Britain, Australia, Ireland and Mexico. The 20-30 international organization is one of the two clubs in the United States eligible for membership in the council, it was announced.

Plans were formulated at last night's meeting to hold the meeting next Wednesday in Brownfield, where the Lubbock club is sponsoring the formation of a Brownfield 20-30 club.

Two guests were present at the meeting, Raymond Fowler and Mickey Tarkinton, both of Lubbock. Raymond Mack, club president, presided at the meeting.

Senate Group Returns Tidelands Measure For Further Hearings

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee today sent back to a subcommittee for further hearings the so-called tidelands bill.

The measure, already the subject of a month-long hearings, would give the states clearcut ownership of the oil-rich lands under their coastal waters.

Following a two-hour session behind closed doors, Chairman Wiley (R-Wisc) told newsmen the committee voted unanimously to take additional testimony from three witnesses on May 4.

Those who will be heard are Attorney General Fred N. Howser of California; Robert W. Kenny, former attorney general of that state; and William W. Clary, a former California deputy attorney general.

Taft In Ohio For Showdown Fight

ASHTABULA, O., April 21 (INS)—Sen. Robert A. Taft took the field in his native Ohio today in his campaign to shutout Harold E. Stassen in the Buckeye state primary May 4.

Taft is Ohio's favorite son candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. Stassen is trying to capture 23 of Ohio's 53 delegates to the GOP national convention in Philadelphia.

Without mentioning the ex-Minnesota governor by name, the Ohio senator repeated an earlier charge that Stassen turned down a Senate term to campaign for the presidency during the last two years.

Taft asserted in a talk at Ashtabula:

"My opponent has had the advantage of campaigning on general principles. It is easier to campaign on broad principles than to work them out specifically in Washington. To get right down to it, that is easy."

Taft moved on to Jefferson, the Ashtabula county seat, where he addressed another group of Republicans.

Rains Fall In Area

ton, like Lamesa, received a light shower, measuring one-eighth inch with a heavy downpour reported from Slaton to Posey.

Plainview had received one inch of rain in the afternoon and last night, according to the dispatcher. North of there, Kress reported one-quarter of an inch, and Canyon an amount which was not measurable.

Littlefield had reported only a small shower about 3 p. m. but another shower last night brought the total precipitation to three-eighths of an inch.

One-fourth inch of rain fell at Texaco, the dispatcher reported.

Anton Has One-Half

A Littlefield source said that rain had fallen along the entire route from Clovis, N. M., to Littlefield. Bar ditches in the vicinity of Sudan were reported "running almost full" with water.

Brownfield had received about three-fourths of an inch from afternoon and night showers, and the rain at Levelland was estimated at .50 inch.

Anton reported one-half inch of rain to the dispatcher and Shallowater three-fourths of an inch.

Meadow and Crosbyton showed .25 of an inch of rainfall each during the afternoon, and Floydada about .25 of an inch. Matador reported an estimated .25 inch.

Ralls reported good showers both in the afternoon and about 10 o'clock last night.

General In Morton Area

The county agent at Morton in Cochran county reported that rainfall varied from one-eighth of an inch in the north part to an inch and a half in the central part of the county during the afternoon. At 9 p. m. rain was falling hard, and the agent estimated that would bring total to near two inches in parts of the county.

Morton itself had received an estimated three-quarters of an inch.

The Weather bureau station north of Lubbock said at midnight that the thundershowers appeared to be ended. The .28 of an inch which had fallen there up to that time brought this year's total to 1.97. This figure is one inch short of the normal rainfall of 2.96 inches for the same period.

Partly cloudy and slightly warmer today and Friday was the forecast for Lubbock and the South Plains.

Lubbock County Agent D. W. Sherrill said last night that prospects were poor for dry land wheat prior to the rain and that some of it had already been plowed. He said that some cotton planting would probably follow yesterday's showers.

OTHER PARTS OF STATE ALSO HIT BY SHOWERS

(By The Associated Press)

Scattered showers fell in Texas Wednesday, and partly cloudy weather was general. Temperatures ranged from the 70's to 93's at Crystal City and Presidio.

The forecast for Thursday was for much the same sort of weather.

Rain at Pampa Wednesday washed out a baseball game. Amarillo had .66 of an inch. El Paso, Salt Flats, and Victoria reported light rain.

Maximum temperatures included: Amarillo 78; El Paso 82; Abilene 86, San Angelo 83; Wichita Falls 86; Del Rio 86, Laredo 90; Austin 86; Waco 84, Brownsville 87, Houston 81, Lufkin 83, Dallas 85.

Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy ordered a roundup of the many friends and enemies of the labor leader.

"We are leaving no one out of this investigation," Toy told reporters "and that includes management."

Toy's only clues appeared to come from three neighbors of Reuther. They agreed that a "short" man sprinted through the darkness outside the modest Reuther home after the gunfire. A red sedan was idling at the curb. The man jumped into it. It jerked ahead and roared away.

SLICES IT UP

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)— Martin Wenzler, who works at the Methodist Hospital Pharmacy, reports a new style of downing an ice cream cone. Wenzler said a customer ordered an ice cream cone, but instead of lapping the ice cream the usual way, "he ate it with a pocket knife as though he was eating an apple."

Texas Aggies Hold Muster Ceremonies

COLLEGE STATION, April 21 (AP)—A crowd of some 9,000 students, former students, wives and guests were present today for the home campus ceremony of the annual world wide Texas A. and M. college muster.

About 300 similar ceremonies were conducted throughout Texas, and others were held in various parts of the world.

Texas Aggies, wherever they were, gathered today for the traditional April 21 ceremony honoring San Jacinto day and pledging anew allegiance to their school.

New Flags Presented

The audience for the muster ceremony, seated on the lawn in front of the college administration building, watched as representatives of the college's student senate staged the ceremony at 6 p. m.

Earlier, on the main drill field, old flags of the cadet corps of the school were replaced by 10 new flags. The new flags were presented the corps by A. and M. mothers clubs and former students.

John Stiles, senior student from Cisco, served as chairman of the muster here.

The principal speaker was Rev. Sam Hill, new chaplain of the college. Another speaker was A. E. Hinman of Corpus Christi, president of the Association of Former Students.

Present for the flag changing were old grads of the class of 1906 and 1907.

Austin Hearing To Draw Lubbock Group

A group of Lubbock citizens will leave for Austin today to attend the first court hearing on the injunction suit filed against the so-called College Building Amendment scheduled in the court of Judge Roy C. Archer of the 126th district.

The hearing, set for April 23, follows eight months after the amendment was voted on last Aug. 23 by the close margin of 102,531 to 97,318.

The injunction, which was filed by R. Guy Carter, Dallas attorney and Tech graduate, declares that the amendment "would virtually stagnate growth of Texas Tech."

'Creeping Paralysis' Called Top Problem In National Health

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Science Writer

NEW YORK, April 21—The disease commonly known as "creeping paralysis" is one of the nation's top problems, and medical science hopes to do something about it.

The disease technically called multiple sclerosis, is much more common than previously believed, recent research revealed. It also is on the increase, according to officials of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. The organization, now raising funds to combat the ailment, has about 7,500 members.

As an example of how the society spends the contributions, Columbia University was given a grant of $64,500 for a three-year research program. The first research clinic was opened in Boston at the Beth Israel and Boston State hospitals.

The society announced that other clinics will be opened, with the next scheduled for Albany, N. Y., where neurologists of the Albany Medical College will cooperate with the division of research and laboratories of the New York State department of health.

Solution Foreseen

Officials of the society believe that the disease can be solved through systematic organized research. At present, there is no cure and very little means to treat it.

Still another research project, to be undertaken in co-operation with the U. S. Public Health Service, is a nation-wide statistical survey of the prevalence of multiple sclerosis throughout the country, and the influence of climate and other factors upon its distribution.

In addition, a manual of information for doctors, setting up criteria for a uniform standard of diagnosing multiple sclerosis, and giving latest information on treatment and care, has been prepared by the society. It is expected to be sent to 85,000 physicians.

The national headquarters of the society is the building of the New York Academy of Medicine. From that medical center, the society hopes to co-ordinate the program for research in multiple sclerosis and give man the upper hand on another crippling disease.

All Grades In Lamesa Schools To Open As Epidemic Fades

LAMESA, April 21 (Special) — All grades in the Lamesa public schools will be open Thursday morning, county health officer Dr. Urban H. Zee announced tonight.

The schools here had been partially closed for nearly a week due to an epidemic of measles. But Zee said tonight that the epidemic was definitely on the downgrade.

Only about ten new cases were reported today in the county against an average of around 50 cases per day at the peak of the epidemic, Zee said.

Rural schools re-opened all their classes last Tuesday.

Basketball Referees Receive 70 Cents Per Toot, Man Says

RED WING, Minn., April 21 (U.P.)—Jimmy Lyons, who has been covering state high school basketball for 45 years, has figured up how much money a referee makes each time he blows his whistle.

Lyons kept track of the number of fouls, substitutions and times out called, then compared it with what the officials were paid.

"I figured they get 70 cents a toot," he said.

Unable to concentrate on hurling chores without the presence of his Lady Love who had been detained at the border by immigration authorities, the troubled pitcher returned to Mexico, accompanied by Avila and Team manager, Amadeo Lozano, who "stood up" as Rios and the girl were married.

With his bride in the stands, Rios will be on the mound when Donna meets Pharr Sunday.

The motion to quash the talesmen list was filed by Burton S. Burks and J. E. Vickers, defense counsel. It declared that the court, in ordering such talesmen to be summoned, called Sheriff Grady Harrist Tuesday afternoon and, after administering an oath to him verbally and in open court, instructed him "not to go out and get just anybody; you go out and get some of these merchants around here; you know what I mean."

Motion Is Quoted

The motion, asking that the cause be postponed until a "legally selected jury can be obtained" and that a mistrial be declared, continued that, "although the court afterward administered the oath to the sheriff and four of his deputies and attempted at suggestion of one of the special prosecutors to 'withdraw' the instructions (to the sheriff), . . . the sheriff, as an officer of the court, was bound to have known therefrom the desires of the court . . . and to withdraw the instructions would not properly protect the defendant's rights."

The state is represented by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin, assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr and by two special prosecutors, L. A. Howard and Victor H. Lindsey.

The state has subpoenaed eight witnesses, the defense approximately six, it was announced by counsel late Wednesday.

69-Year-Old Smithy Credits 'Clean Life' For Stork Visit

SULTAN, Wash., April 21 (INS)—The village blacksmith of Sultan said today that when winter married summer last July there was no thought that spring might soon be there.

Husted said today that he believed the stork visited him so late in life because he had never used liquor or tobacco.

He said:

"I've lived a clean life. I'm no boozer."

Labor Trouble Among Newspapers Opens Way For New Processes And Techniques

NEW YORK, April 21 (U.P.)—Newspapers forced by labor trouble to publish by means of the vari-typer and other unconventional methods have opened the way to development of a "long awaited new process" in newspaper production, C. M. Flint, research director of the American Newspaper Publishers association, said today.

Flint told the ANPA's 62nd annual convention that research on the new processes and techniques by which Chicago daily newspapers have been publishing since last November will be continued after peace is restored with the typographical union.

New Machine Developed

"Certainly a return to normal operating conditions this time will not be a signal to drop all development work and sit back to await the next situation," he said.

"The newspaper business today is too keenly aware of the tremendous strides made in other fields, as the result of carefully planned research, to sit back and let other printing industries surpass them. Slowly but surely progress will be made to develop the long awaited new process.

Flint described operation of the vari-typer and other devices currently being used by newspapers where composing room employes are on strike or threatening strike. He also told of development of other machines not yet commercially available and predicted that before the end of the year at least three additional typesetting devices will be announced for general use.

Costs May Be Cut

One, the lithotype, he said, will be suitable for setting heads and subheads, a process not accomplished by any of the new mechanical typesetting devices so far made available.

Flint said it has been proved that the new tools can be utilized effectively.

"Furthermore," he said, "they can be utilized in such a manner that with a little experience the new process can be made to operate as smoothly as the traditional method and in many cases at similar or lower costs."

The second session of the three-day ANPA convention also heard reports from various committees.

School Report Due

The newspaper boy committee reported it had prepared for publishers a code of ethics and program of work for newsboys which it hoped would be "an effective obstacle to the efforts of legislators, social workers, and other individuals and agencies, who would deny teen-age youth the right to engage in the business of newspaper route management outside of school hours."

A report by the committee on schools of journalism said an accreditding committee now is completing visits to 40 journalism schools and departments and by June 1 expects to announce the names of accredited schools.

The postal committee warned that "postage rate revision of some sort may be anticipated" and urged newspaper publishers to make known to Congress their views on postal legislation as it affects newspapers.

Student Strike Closes Four Mexico University Colleges

MEXICO CITY, April 21 (U.P.)—A strike of National university students which has closed four of the institution's colleges entered its fifth day today as student sources denied Communist influence inspired the dispute.

Certain student groups demanded Zubiran's resignation in support of demands for more academic facilities, lower tuition and student representation in university conduct of academic affairs.

Although only a comparatively small number of the university's 23,000 students were involved, university authorities requested students to remain away from classes to avoid violence.

'Mother Of Year' To Receive Award At New York Ceremony

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 21. (INS)—America's "mother of the year," 60-year-old Mrs. Helen G. Hines of Springfield, Ill., looked forward tonight to a flight to New York next month when she will be formally honored.

Mrs. Hines will fly to New York May 6 and will be given the award at a ceremony in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel

The selection was made by the American Mothers committee of the Golden Rule foundation.

The grey-haired lady admitted she had known about the honor since last Friday. "They (the committee) sent me a special delivery letter but they asked me to keep it a secret until the official announcement yesterday."

"Of course," she added, "I telephoned my husband long distance and told him about it."

Mrs. Hines' husband, the Rev. Herbert W. Hines, sr., is in Chicago on business. He is director of the Institute of International Understanding for Rotary International.

One of the high points of the foundation announcement, Mrs. Hines said, was the fact that her children didn't know anything about the award until they read it in the newspapers. She added:

"They all called right away and told me that reporters had been phoning them and asking their reaction."

Nine of Mrs. Hines' 10 children are World War II veterans. One of them still is in high school, one in college, and the eight others are college graduates.

The family has not been together since 1940.

The mother of the year explained:

"It's hard for them all to get their vacations at the same time for a reunion."

Negro Group Opposes Civil Disobedience

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 21 (AP)—A negro church leader here announced today his group is undertaking a south-wide campaign in opposition to announced plans of civil disobedience against "any Jim Crow draft or universal military training law."

E. J. Cain, bishop of the negro Church of God district embracing Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, said the purpose of his group's movement is to "educate the negro against this type of propaganda."

He said he was referring to plans disclosed before a House committee in Washington by president A. Philip Randolph of the Pullman porters' union and Grant Reynolds, New York.

Bishop Cain said the first of the series of meetings is planned for Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange, Texas. It is to open shortly under the supervision of Cain's secretary, the Rev. W. B. Luster.

Luster said it was the opinion of leaders of the campaign that southern negroes understood the white man better and that the southern white man understood the negro better than "somebody in New York." He expressed belief that the South could work out its racial problems.

Calling Of City Election Is Forced In Brownwood Case

BROWNSBORO, Tex., April 21 (U.P.)—County Judge R. H. Lee today ordered a special city election to allow Brownsboro citizens to get themselves a new city commission.

The city government — mayor and two commissioners — resigned en masse when a citizen's group threatened to begin mandamus action to force calling of an election. They charged the city government was attempting to perpetuate itself in office.

Judge Lee ordered the election for May 25. Deadline for candidates' filing was set at May 4.

Suspect In Shoe Shop Theft Held

City police were holding a man in connection with the ransacking of a shoe shop cash register during the noon hour yesterday while the employe on duty took a nap.

Officers were informed that the suspect came to the shop at 1512 Ave. H, and offered the employe "a couple of drinks." The employe went to sleep shortly afterwards. When he awoke, cash toaling $21.50 was missing from the cash register.

Investigation continued in the removal of street flares from construction mounds in southwest Lubbock Tuesday night. The burning flares were placed on porches of residents in the area by unknown parties. However, police had a partial description of an automobile believed to have been occupied by those responsible.

The sheriff's department and police received a tip that may be as effective as it was novel, in connection with their investigation into burglary of premises of Eugene Thomas, a negro.

Thomas said he had found a negro woman living in 400-block East Twentieth wearing a pair of his trousers.

He said he "made the girl go home and pull them off. They had his name in them."

He said that while he was at the place he 'looked around" and found a sports coat and overcoat that had been removed from his quarters the night of March 31. A suit valued at $60, the sports coat, valued at $37.50 and the trousers, valued at $17.95, were taken, he charged.

The name of a negro man was "who hangs around her house" given to officers as a suspect.

Window Broken

Jack Trammel, operator of J&K grocery, at 218 Eighteenth, informed police that someone tossed a piece of iron through a plate glass window of the store, knocking a hole 6-by-18 inches, but that the store had not been entered

State rangers informed that marble machines were commencing with "free games," as well as "other gambling," allowed, filed a charge against the operator of a cafe here, and C. E. Lynn assessed a fine of $50 and court costs, it was announced. Total assessment was $63.15. It was paid. Other such charges may be filed, it was indicated, unless the alleged practice is stopped.

Pet Rat Blamed For High Grocery Bills; Wife Gets Divorce

OAKLAND, Calif., April 21. (INS) — Love me, love my white rat was the theme of a divorce case in Alameda county superior court at Oakland today.

Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Vartanian, 50, a bride of only 12 days, was awarded a divorce and her main complaint was:

Her husband ordered her to get rid of her pet rat, "Steve," because the rodent's ravenous appetite was running up the grocery bill.

Truman's Daughter Secretary Snyder 'Star' In Movie Skit

WASHINGTON, April 21. (INS)—Margaret Truman, who some say has a yen for movie-acting, went before the cameras today with Treasury Secretary Snyder as her leading man.

The President's daughter starred in a one-act skit stressing the wisdom of buying U. S. savings bonds.

Margaret had plenty of poise. Snyder did not. He had to be prompted. Miss Truman said to Mr. Snyder:

"My father suggested I come talk to you about buying bonds."

Snyder said it was wise counsel. Margaret then bought a handful of bonds. On credit, apparently, for no cash changed hands.

THIRTEEN DEAD IN BLAST

Wounded Union Leader Was Due To Address College Graduates

MORAGA, Calif., April 21. (INS)—St. Mary's college officials said today that Walter Reuther, automobile union president who was wounded by a shotgun blast Tuesday night, had been scheduled to address the graduating class at the Moraga college May 30.

Reuther was to receive an honorary law degree.

Brother Austin, St. Mary's president, said Reuther was chosen to receive the degree because "he has stood up boldly against Communistic influence in our labor ranks and has fought continually to make American ideals of honesty, tolerance and fundamental justice prevail."

Showdown On Case Is Seen

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 21—A habeas corpus hearing in the state Supreme Court today raised the question of validity of the 50th legislature's labor law prohibiting creation of a secondary boycott.

The hearing, growing out of a labor-management dispute at the Greenville Cotton Oil company, also developed the question of whether Texas courts have legal jurisdiction over disputes involving interstate commerce.

Test On Order Seen

The immediate problem of the Supreme court is to determine whether three union workers violated a district court order restricting them from picketing within 100 feet on each side of a railroad spur leading into the cotton oil plant while trains were entering the plant. Several other specific restrictions, including prohibition of violence or threats of violence, are also involved.

The order was issued by Judge Newman Phillips of 62nd Judicial District court at Greenville. He found Kenneth Greer, Leo Henry, and J. E. Martin, all of Greenville, guilty of violating his temporary injunction and ordered them committed to Hunt county jail March 12.

They were released the following day after attorneys for the state federation of labor secured a temporary writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme court. The three are members of Local 22453, American Federation of Grain Processors, AFL.

Attorneys for both sides today concentrated arguments on whether the pickets violated the law by crossing three railroad spurs leading into the plant.

Men Feared Violence

Railroad men were afraid of violence, and therefore trains failed to enter the plant, said O. B. Fischer of Paris, attorney for the cotton oil company.

"In every instance except one, when the railroads asked the pickets if they were picketing the railroad lines, the answer was 'yes'," Fischer declared.

The activity of the pickets prevented the trains from entering the plant to load and unload, and this created the effect of a secondary boycott, he continued.

"This court is faced with the fact that it would first have to find article 5154F (the anti-boycott law) void in order to uphold relators," Fischer said.

L. N. D. Wells, Jr., of Dallas, representing the union, told the court that picketing was not directed at the railroads.

"Signs carried by the men said 'we are picketing only this plant'," he said.

He challenged Fischer's interpretation of the trains' failure to enter the plant as being a secondary boycott created by the striking cotton oil workers.

Results Of Tech Election Given

Texas Tech run-off election results, necessitated by failure of some candidates to gain a plurality of votes in last week's election were announced Wednesday by Bill Nugent, president of the student council, which supervised the election.

In a close race, Margaret Clark was elected secretary of the student association by a vote of 1,068 over Anita Oliver who polled 996.

Orlin Brewer, who trailed Ray Cooke by a considerable margin in last week's election, came from behind to beat Cooke by a vote of 1,216 to 864 for the editorship of the Toreador, school newspaper.

Lila Hedrick received 1,216 votes for head girl cheerleader to nose out the leading contender, Mary Jane Hinchey, who polled 842 votes.

In a hotly contested contest for a third place on the student council from the business administration division, Edgar Self polled 185 votes to 167 for David Hester. Two candidates were elected in last week's polling.

Four of the six arts & sciences representatives to the council were selected in Tuesday's runoff. The winners with the number of votes received were: Glenn Lewis, 413; Winston Churchill, 394; Mary Hartgraves, 384; and Ted Forsythe, 343. Losing out in the balloting were Ralph Bucy, Barbara Scott, Jerry Sides and Oleta Stewart, with 331, 330, 316 and 291 votes respectively.

From the home economics division, Elizabeth Craig, with 125 votes, and Martha Lewis, with 112, were elected to the student council. The other two contenders from the division, Barbara Baumgardner and Marrion Woods received 92 and 80 votes respectively.

Slightly more than 2,000 votes were cast in the run-off balloting, indicating that about one-third of the student body voted in the election.

Plans Complete For Program At Texas Tech

Engineers' Show Opens Friday

By BILL SAYERS
Avalanche Staff Writer

Final preparations have been completed and "everything is ready to roll" for the Sixteenth annual Engineers' Show to be held Friday and Saturday at Texas Technological college, according to Wendell Mayes, general manager.

The doors will open promptly at 2 p.m. Friday and will remain open from 2 until 10 p.m. both days, with no admission being charged.

When the show officially closes Saturday night, more than 10,000 people are expected to have viewed the college engineering facilities and the many exhibits and demonstrations presented by the various departments. If so, it will exceed the former all-time high in attendance marked up in 1941 by more than 1,500.

New Displays Planned

The Engineers' show has been presented annually by the senior engineering students since 1929 except for the war years 1943-46, and has made outstanding progress since that time both in size and in variety. The show this year is expected to be especially interesting due to the great strides made in engineering during the war which will be reflected in new developments and equipment received by the Texas Tech engineering division.

Officers in charge of the preparation and presentation of the 1948 show include Wendell Mayes, jr., Brownwood, general manager; Fred Brokeshoulder, Lubbock, assistant manager; Joe Luckett, Lubbock, publicity manager; Andrew Hill, Kirkland, traffic manager; Clyde M. Jones, Bonham, lighting manger; A. D. Anderson, Cisco, advertising manager; and Albert W. Guthrie, Stratford, assistant publicity manager.

Includes Several Buildings

The show in its entirety will be housed in several buildings on the campus. Visitors to the chemistry building will have an opportunity to see chemical, physics and geological exhibits. In the auxiliary building, X17 immediately south of the chemistry building, will be found petroleum engineering exhibits with the field equipment displayed at the east side of the building.

The main engineering building will contain exhibits of the civil, mechanical, industrial, electrical and architectural engineers.

Just north of the main engineering building, the military science building and grounds will contain displays of weapons and equipment of that department with most of its demonstrations in actual operation.

At the textile engineering building, which is directly north of the military science area and facing the administration building, the making of cloth from raw cotton will be completely demonstrated and all equipment of the department will be in operation for the visitors to observe.

Each exhibit will be complete in itself and visitors will not have to travel from one building to another to see a complete department in action.

Traffic directions have been issued by show officials and are as follows: a 15 mile per hour speed limit will be enforced on the campus and all drivers are asked to observe this rule. Direction of traffic around the circle is one way, and to the left. Stop signs and street markings will guide autoists over the rest of the campus.

Parking area for visitors to the chemistry building is between that building and the library; for the main engineering building will be the space immediately south of it or behind the building; for the military science area, the same as for the main engineering building; and for the textile engineering building, visitors are asked to park in the area across the street, south of the gymnasium. There will be no parking allowed on the pavement.

STUDENTS WILL DISPLAY WORK

Annual Tech Home Economics Open House To Get Underway

Home economics students at Texas Technological college are ready to put their work on display for the general public.

The twelfth annual Open House of the department will be presented from 2 until 9 p. m. Friday and from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. Saturday.

The 1947 attendance of 5,000, the highest in the history of the event, is expected to be equaled or bettered this year, Miss Margaret Weeks, dean of the Home Economics department has predicted. Approximately 1,700 invitations have been sent to high school, junior high schools, women's clubs, home demonstration groups and many other organizations in the Lubbock area with great many indicating they plan to attend.

Home Equipment On Display

The open house will be on a conducted tour plan with printed programs to indicate the location of all exhibits and demonstrations. The tour will begin in the main home economics building, proceed from there to the applied arts laboratories in buildings X25 and X26, from there to the nursery school, south of the main building, and finally to the home management house located east of the main building. Guides will be stationed along the way to direct traffic from one exhibit to the other.

Home equipment of both the gas and electric types, heating and air conditioning equipment, playground equipment for the average home, books on marriage and family relations, demonstrations and exhibits of dressmaking, furniture restyling, construction of tiered draperies, decorative designs, and moving pictures on various subjects will be a few of the highlights of the open house.

"There are exhibits that will interest men and boys as well as women and girls," Miss Weeks said, "and we welcome any who

Senate Candidate To Appear In Lubbock

On a 2,000-mile swing in which appearances are scheduled in 27 counties, George Peddy of Houston, candidate for the United States Senate seat held by W. Lee O'Daniel, is to be in Lubbock and vicinity next Sunday and Monday, according to release from his Houston headquarters.

While in this territory he is to visit several area towns, including Lamesa, Tahoka, Plainview and Tulia, and is to spend Tuesday and Wednesday at Amarillo and vicinity, the release showed.

STATION TO BE SET UP

CAA Installing New Weather Service For Airmen In Area

Lubbock and the South Plains will have a new weather information service for aircraft when a radio transmitting station is completed at Municipal airport in a month or six weeks, it was announced Wednesday afternoon by W. B. Ditmore, chief aircraft communicator with the Civil Aeronautics authority.

Ditmore, who lives at 2820 Allen street, has moved to Lubbock from Las Vegas, N. M., where he was in charge of a similar station at the municipal airport there for six years. He is a native of San Angelo. Mrs. Ditmore and their 5-year-old son, Vincent Davis, are here with him.

Regular Reports Planned

Half-hourly weather reports will be broadcast 24 hours a day from the new station, Ditmore explained, and will cover reports from weather stations in an area of 200 miles radius from Lubbock.

The service will be of advantage to both commercial airliners and private pilots, who may request special information on any of six standard aircraft frequencies and receive it on the station's broadcast frequency of 224 kilocycles. The regular reports will be made 15 and 45 minutes after the hour.

An Army building, formerly the provost-marshal's building at South Plains Army Air field, has been moved to a location near the airport administration building and is being remodeled by the city for use by the CAA station and the U. S. Weather bureau, which will move from its present offices in the administration building.

Ditmore and five other persons are assigned to the Lubbock station, but the others have not arrived yet. He has been with CAA 11 years and has been in the radio communication field 21 years.

EARNS HIS MEDALS

GREENEVILLE, Tenn. (U.P.) — Jodie F. Shelton, 50, of Horse Creek, Tenn., estimates he has walked a total of 1,976 miles to and from Sunday school at Horse Creek Church during the past 19 years. Each year, he gets a medal for attendance.

Alien Smuggling Ring Uncovered

DALLAS, April 21 (AP)—W. C. Young, Dallas immigration agent, said today five Mexican aliens halted as they were headed toward Chicago told of being smuggled into this country along an organized route.

Young said the Texas Highway patrol halted a car between Sherman and Denison. In it were the five Mexicans.

"They told Jack Adkins and R. L. Lyle, agents from our office here, they came from Tanhuata, deep in the interior of Mexico," Young said. "They were told jobs were plentiful in Chicago and that by their way through on the underground railway their trip would be speedy and sure."

Sneaked Across River

The Dallas agent said the Mexicans told this story:

Their contact in Tanhuata brought them to Nuevo Laredo, for a fee. Here they paid another man $15 a head to wade the river at midnight a little less than a mile below the international bridge.

The man waded with them and showed them where to hide on the American side. They hid in the mesquite near a pump, and in about 20 minutes an auto picked them up. They were hidden in a house on the American side all day and taken out that night under cover of darkness to San Antonio.

Then they were brought to Dallas, for a change of cars for the last leg of their trip to Chicago.

Driver Of Car Held

Young said it cost the Mexicans as much to get from Laredo to Dallas as it did for tickets to Chicago from Dallas. He said each had spent more than $100 before reaching Dallas.

The immigration agent said the driver of the car was still held in Sherman. He said the Mexicans, along with 18 others, were started today to San Antonio for deportation. Charges will be filed against those operating "way stations" on the route out of Mexico, Young added.

Atomic Commission Offers Big Reward For Source Of Uranium

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 21—It has been more than a week now since the Atomic Energy commission offered a $10,000 reward to any person who discovered a uranium cache in the United States.

No box-tops or reasonable facsimiles are asked for. You don't even have to finish an essay which begins "I love Buford's Beeswax because . . . " Just find the junk, yell for a commission man and if it comes up to snuff (snuff itself, however, is barred) you get 10 G's.

Usual Letters Received

This is something which should appeal to every contest fan in the land, and, we are startled to say, seems to have. The distinguished gentlemen at the commission, sorely concerned because the U.S. seems to have everything else in the world except uranium, are being daily beset by the usual number of crackpot letters, calls and personal appearances.

A lady has written in to say that she's sure her house rests on a large chunk of uranium because "every time I go into my bathroom the whole room shakes."

She recently forwarded a big chunk of the foundation to the commission and it not only turned out to be ordinary rock but the commission is worried about whether the lady's home would sink with a wheeze into the excavation some fine night.

Others Make Claims

Then there's the gent who has staked out a claim to an abandoned mine where, he says, there's sure to be uranium because "my ears have been ringing ever since the last time I was down in the hole."

A crystal gazer has laid claim to a $10,000 prize by suggesting that all the gold in Fort Knox be melted down—and uranium extracted therefrom.

Atop this burden, the commission is forced daily to tell earnest letter writers that it can't very well give away A-bombs. Lots of people would like to have one around the house, presumably for door-knocks or paper weights.

One Arkansas farmer wrote in and asked for a crate of small ones, for use in rooting out some stumps that had resisted the best efforts of his mule. Another man, very serious, wanted some in liquid form for use on bed-bugs which had lapped up all the known bug juices and laughed at him.

The rules of the contest are simple, and even relatives of the commissioners are eligible. Each discovered U-patch must yield at least 20 tons of ore that assays at least 20 percent uranium oxide after refinement by the government. The government will pay $3.20 a pound for the stuff, plus, of course, the ten grand.

Czech Mine Rich

We thought our good American earth possessed everything we'd ever need, until the A-bomb came along. But it apparently lacks the makings of the weapon which we alone possess. We had to get what we've got from Canada and from Belgian Congo. The richest mine in the world, by far, is one in Czechoslovakia which is now controlled by the Russians. Hence the stepped - up search within this country.

A bit of stuff, in very low grade, has been dug up on the Colorado plateau, but there hasn't been enough found to blow off your hat.

Incidentally, uranium was used for many years before Hiroshima for coloring purposes in the field of ceramics and for whitening false teeth. The ceramic industry now has been denied the use of the stuff, but your new octave of choppers has rubbed elbows with the most destructive force in history—so don't let the steak throw you.

In the meantime, New York City's business circles have met the challenge of the atomic age with a commendable burst of enterprise. The new Manhattan phone directory alone presents—to what must be the consternation of feverishly active Russian scientists—the following cataclysmic firms:

Atom Die Cutting Co., Atom Frocks, Atom Fuel Co., Atom Safe Co., Atom Tool Corp., Atomic Bias Binding Corp., Atomic Body and Fender Wks., Atomic Books Inc., Atomic Bldg. Maintenance Co., Atomic Carriers, Atomic Chiropady Equip. & Supl. Co., Atomic Dress Co., Atomic Elec. Corp., Atomic Elec & Radio, Atomic Envelope & Printing Co., Atomic Food Prods. Co., Atomic Handbag Co., Atomic Heater & Radio Corp., Atomic Jwlry. Co., Atomic Letter Svce., Atomic Lighter Co., Atomic Mfg. Co., Atomic Neckwear Mfg. Co., Atomic Novelty Co., Atomic Photo-Offset Co. Inc., Atomic Podiatry Equip. & Supl. Co., Atomic Printing Co., Atomic Rainwear Inc., Atomic Sales Corp., Atomic Shoe Co., Atomic Sign Co., Atomic Sportwr., Atomic Sportwr., (one uses uranium and the other plutonium, presumably) Atomic Surgical Supl. & Equip. Co., Atomic Trimming Co., and, at the base of matters, the Atomic Undergarment Co.

P.S.—Keep looking.

UMW Official Charges Union Financing European Program

MUSKOGEE, Okla., April 21 (U.P.)—A union official who charged yesterday that Judge T. Alan Goldsborough and Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug conspired to destroy the United Mine Workers put more acid into the interpretation he made today.

"We have a substitute for the Marshall plan," commented district UMW chief Dave Fowler. "It's to let the United Mine Workers finance the European plan—with Judge Goldsborough's help."

Brazil Discovers Red Sabotage Plot

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 21 (INS) — Military officials announced today the discovery of a widespread Communist sabotage plot in the state of Rio Grande do Sul and Alagoas. Forty-two suspects have been arrested.

Army forces in the southern state of Rio Grande do Sul were alerted with discovery of the plot which was said to have been aimed at paralyzing activities in eight key cities in the state.

Military intelligence reported documents were seized instructing the plotters to determine the troop dispositions, locations of arms and ammunition depots and communications centers.

Russia Builds Up Reserves Of Gold, Officials Claim

WASHINGTON, April 21 (U.P.)—Russia built up her gold reserves last year by $175,000,000 for a total of an estimated $2,575,000,000, the Federal Reserve board said today.

But the Marshall plan nations on the European continent had to sell $1,200,000,000 of their gold in order to buy U. S. goods for reconstruction. France alone had to liquidate more than $1,000,000,000 in gold, the board reported.

Five Persons Injured When Train Derails In California

BARSTOW, Cal., April 21 (INS) —Five persons were injured today when nine cars of the Santa Fe railway's Grand Canyon limited were derailed near Barstow.

Only passenger injured was Mrs. Alva Graves, 72, of Modesto, Cal., who suffered a side injury. Railway employees Willis Wiley, Benjamin Harrison, George Victor, and L. D. Nathan, all of Chicago, also were injured. All five were taken by ambulance to the Barstow hospital.

A railway official said that the derailment was caused by a faulty brake beam.

Chaplains Will Pray For Soviet People At New York Conference

NEW YORK, April 21 (INS)—Two thousand Army, Navy and Air Force chaplains will pray "every hour on the hour" for the Soviet masses when they stage a four-day conference in New York City starting May 10.

President Chaplain Robert J. White said today that chaplains of every faith will have an opportunity to ask for "divine guidance for the unfortunate, misled people of Russia." He added:

"We believe in the power of prayer. We know there is one for whom the iron curtain does not exist."

U. S. Maps Plans For Talks On Backing For European Defense

By H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 21—State department officials disclosed today that consultations will take place shortly on the terms and methods of American support for the western European defense pact.

Acting Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett hailed as encouraging development the decision of the five powers which signed the Brussels treaty to set up a permanent military staff committee.

Lovett told a news conference that the establishment of this committee, which holds its first meeting in London Saturday, will give the United States a group to deal with to obtain information necessary for creation of concrete program of aid in this country

Defense Plans Pending

Lovett said the State department still does not know how the broad statements of intent in the Brussels pact — defense against aggression—are to be carried into effect, and must await further word from the London committee.

As soon as the military delegates of the five powers have worked out a strategic plan for defensive operations envisaged by the treaty, it is expected that they will determine their specific needs in terms of aircraft and other equipment. They will then submit definite proposals to the United States.

Subsequent negotiations, in which the United States is prepared to take part will involve both military and diplomatic considerations. It has been suggested the U. S. guarantee the political security of western European nations along with any measures agreed upon to increase their military effectiveness.

Whether Italy, as a result of the strong anti-Communist position taken in the national election, will join Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg in the defense pact, Lovett was unable to say.

The acting secretary's view was that Italian adherence is a matter to be determined by the original signatories.

IT'S A SYSTEM

MANOA, Pa. (U.P.)—Volunteer firemen won't have any excuse for missing the fire engine now, thanks to a special alarm system from the fire house to their homes. When the fire siren sounds, a bell in each fireman's house starts clanging. A reverse hookup enables a fireman to notify the firehouse when he's "out of service."

Minneapolis School Head Gives Up Fight

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 21. (INS)—The superintendent of the recently strike-bound Minneapolis public schools resigned today because of "neglect and mistreatment of education which exists in the city . . ."

The superintendent, Willard E. Golsin, made his resignation effective July 1. Golsin's contract ran through June, 1949.

For several years Golsin led an unsuccessful fight to improve local financial support of the city schools.

He said in his resignation he had given up, declaring:

"I cannot lend myself any longer to the neglect and mistreatment of education which exists in the city of Minneapolis."

Minneapolis is operating a full, 10-month term this year on a loan of two million dollars from the city council.

Council agreed to the loan after a month-long teachers strike earlier this year. The strikers protested a four week cut ordered in the school term as an "economy" move and sought an improved salary schedule.

Current efforts to put the school system on a better financial basis have been blocked by opposition of taxpayers' groups to a recent proposal to amend the city charter.

Four Texas Representatives To National 4-H Camp Are Named

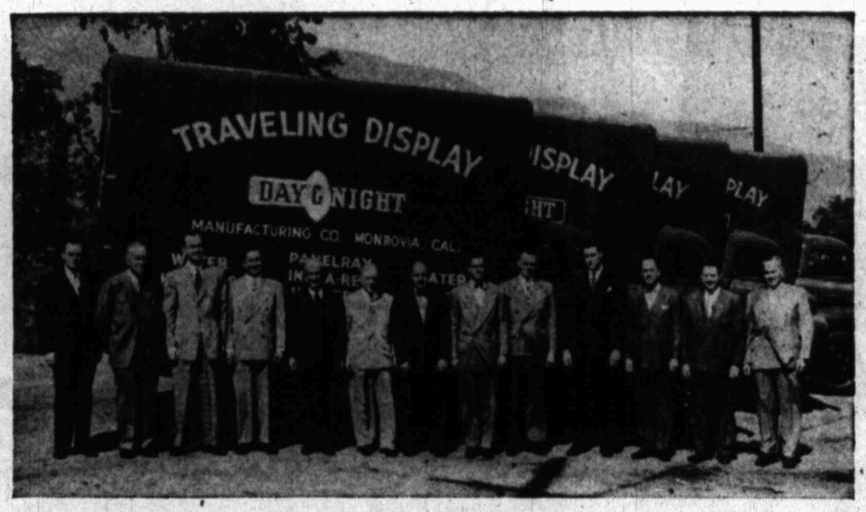

COLLEGE STATION, April 21 (AP)—The names of four talented Texas youngsters who will represent the state's 4-H clubs at the national camp in Washington, D. C., starting June 16, were announced today.

They are Howard Altenhof, 18, of Guadalupe county; Patsy Jo Delevan, 17, Devine, Medina county; Reta Nell Baldwin, 15, Gernon, Wilbarger county, and Edward Hill, 17, Garland, Dallas county. They will be accompanied by the state 4-H club leaders, J. W. Potts and Lorene Stevens of Texas A. & M. college.

The achievements of the four are almost parallel.

All are active in community, church and school activities. Both boys are owners of swine and beef cattle, equipment and land. Both girls have held positions of leadership in their clubs. All four have been gold star winners in their counties and state delegates to the national 4-H club Congress in Chicago.

Both boys are recognized livestock showmen, Howard with 37 ribbons to his credit and Edward with 100. Both girls have contributed to better family living through vegetable gardens and the preparations and preservation of food. Both girls make most of their own clothes.

EQUIPMENT TO BE SHOWN HERE—One of the four trucks shown above will bring equipment into Lubbock for a stage and film presentation of household appliances tonight at Hilton hotel, where Morrison Supply company, local distributors, will be host to 60 plumbing and heating contractors and dealers. Personnel pictured are representatives of the California company that produces the equipment. Representatives of the local distributing firm are Leonard G. W. Cole, manager; W. A. Hogan, vice president; Eugene Boyd, assistant manager; and Surman W. Clark and Guy Copeland, salesmen.

Vet Allowance Bill Sent To White House

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—House approval sent to the White House today a bill raising the income ceilings for veterans going to school and those taking on-the-job training.

Veterans without dependents would be allowed to get $210 a month in combined wages and government subsistence allowance under the bill. The limit for veterans with one dependent would be $270, and for veterans with two or more dependents $290.

Ceilings now in effect are $175 for veterans without dependents, and $200 for those with dependents.

Veterans taking on-the-job training under the "Gi bill of rights" are eligible for subsistence allowances from the government. These are $65 a month for men without dependents, and $90 for those with dependents.

Veterans taking on the farm training or going to school and working full or part time come under a separate schedule of allowances. These are $75 a month for men without dependents, $105 for those with one dependent, and $120 for those with two or more dependents.

Luftwaffe Sergeant Aids Yank Flier On U. S. Disability Pay

WASHINGTON, April 22—An American fighter pilot will get his veteran's disability pay because a German Luftwaffe sergeant went to bat for him.

The pilot, former Lt. Billy J. Lancaster, of Longview, Texas, was shot down during a raid on the Messerschmidt factory in Regensburg, Germany. When applying for government benefits two years later, he learned he would need certificates from the German doctor who treated his injuries to establish his claim.

With the single clue that Lancaster had been treated at a Catholic hospital at Kelheim, the Red Cross turned the problem over to a former German Luftwaffe sergeant.

The sergeant found the surgeon who had treated Lancaster. Dr. Reo Ritter remembered his patient was the only American at the hospital and needed immediate surgery. He had the necessary papers.

799 POLIO VICTIMS HELPED

NEW YORK (U.P.)—A total of 799 infantile paralysis patients were cared for by the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation during the fiscal year that ended last Sept. 30. It was a greater number than in any of the previous 20 years of the foundation's existence, according to Basil O'Connor, foundation president.

Dairy cows in England have an average age of less than five years.

Navy To Test Accumulation Of Sediment In Lake Mead

WASHINGTON, April 22 (U.P.)—The Navy has launched a miniature fleet on Lake Mead in Arizona and Nevada to find out how the sediment is piling up in the world's largest artificial lake.

A barge, sounding boat and other small craft equipped with underwater photography equipment, divers and technicials were hauled 360 miles overland to undertake the joint Navy-Interior Department project.

The operation is expected to take 10 months and enable the Interior Department to find out how much water in the Hoover Dam reservoir is available for power, irrigation and flood control.

As was foreseen when Hoover Dam was built, the Colorado River now drops virtually all of its silt and sand load into the lake-reservoir. The Interior Department knows that the accumulation of sediment in the past 12 years has caused some reduction in water storage space but not how much.

Masonic Temple At Waco To Be Sold To Guard Armory Board

WACO, April 21 (AP)—An agreement for sale of the Texas Masonic Grand lodge temple here to the Texas National Guard Armory board was announced today by Horace K. Jackson, grand master of the Texas Masons.

The temple will be used as an armory for Waco units of the 143rd Infantry regiment, 36th division.

Full occupancy of the building, which has housed the Texas Grand lodge since 1903, will not be claimed by the National guard until the new million dollar Masonic Grand Lodge Memorial temple, now under construction here, is completed.

Accused 'Raider' Takes Own Life

ATLANTA, April 21 (AP)—Sherman C. Keheley, 58, gray-haired utility lineman accused as a "black raider" flogger of a young war veteran, shot himself to death tonight at his home, Police Sgt. L. T. Bullard reported.

Bullard said Keheley, an admitted Ku Klux Klan member, was found sprawled bare-foot on the floor, a jagged wound in his side and a .12 gauge shotgun nearby.

He left a note, the officer added, saying he had "always tried to do the best I can by everybody, and this is the only way I know out."

Caught By Bloodhounds

Keheley was under $5,000 bond after indictment for assault with intent to murder as one of five "black raiders" who took ex-GI Joe Berry from his home and beat him. He also was accused of helping to beat two Troup county negroes.

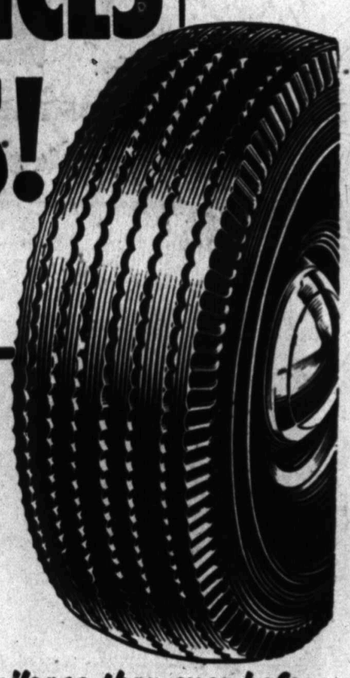

Keheley was caught by bloodhounds after the flogging of Berry last Thursday night in a patch of woods.

Fulton county police Captain Fred Bradford quoted him as saying he and the others beat Berry because they understood he had been drinking excessively and not supporting his wife properly.

Gov. M. E. Thompson charged that the "raiders" were a new adjunct of the Ku Klux Klan and the Berry beating was the first of a systematic series planned in Georgia. He ordered state police officers on the alert.

Rain does not clear the air of impurities, according to tests made in 14 American industrial cities.

More than 100 sponsors will be sought for the race. Already 15 sponsors have entered boys in the race. All a sponsor has to do is underwrite the boy's car with a $17.50 fee and encourage the youngster to follow through in building it. The car must be built by the boy himself without any aid from either his parents or the sponsor.

Some Sponsors Lined Up

Southwestern Public Service company, M. Hall Produce Co., J.&M. Exchange club teams headed by Frank Campbell, Jimmie Vickers, B. L. Smith, L. G. Rainey, Herschel Maxey, Glenn Lawson and Jack Giles will work in the drive to secure sponsors for cars in the derby. The drive started following their noon luncheon at Hotel Lubbock Wednesday noon.

Psychiatry Goina To Dogs, But For Their Benefit, Doctor Says

ATLANTA, April 21 (AP)—Sometimes, says Dr. L. C. Moss of Fort Collins, Colo., dogs become mentally ill from associating with people.

Hence, says Dr. Moss, psychiatry is going to the dogs.

Dr. Moss in an address prepared for the national convention of the American Animal Hospital association here today explained he had reached his conclusions after studying human beings.

Abuse or pampering by humans can produce psychotic dogs, Dr. Moss continued, though people are not altogether to blame.

The association of dogs with other dogs, he declared, can produce mental illnesses, too.

The member of the veterinary faculty of Colorado A. & M. college said dogs are influenced by fear, pain, jealousy, suspicion, frustration and dominance of stronger members.

In brief, what people call a dog's life has considerable foundation in fact. And even the dogs don't like it.

Boost In Telephone Rates Said Needed

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Rising costs have forced the American Telephone & Telegraph company to request increases in telephone rates, Leroy A. Wilson, president, told stockholders today.

Speaking before the annual meeting, he said that public regulatory authorities generally have recognized this situation and "there is every reason to believe . . . That they will approve whatever increases in telephone rates may be necessary to keep the telephone company financially sound and in a position to continue their progress in increasing the value of service."

Meanwhile, stockholders at the session—which was the first since 1925 at which Walter S. Gifford, now chairman, has not presided as president—reelected all directors and defeated two resolutions seeking an increase in minimum pensions of employes and the elimination from the company's pension plan of provisions for certain social security deduction from pension.

U. S. Apparently Working Toward 'Freeze' In Holy Land Dispute

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The United States seems to be working gradually toward a complete "freeze" of the Palestine situation.

The latest idea on trusteeship which was presented to the U. N. General Assembly Tuesday is generally similar to the recommendations of the Anglo-American committee of inquiry two years ago.

That committee suggested trusteeship for an indefinite period in the belief that, given time and convinced that the world community would support no other course, the Arabs and Jews would decide to live together.

Would Guarantee Rights

That plan, however, like the present one, stumbled over one of the greatest points of contention.

The Zionists are determined that Palestine shall be a haven for the persecuted and almost annihilated Jews of Europe. The Arabs are just as determined not to become a minority through Jewish immigration.

The 1946 report was accompanied by a recommendation for immediate admission of 100,000 Jews.

The trusteeship council, since it already has drawn up a plan for administration of the international Jerusalem enclave envisaged under the practically-dead partition plan, should be in a position to move quickly.

The Jerusalem plan is very close kin to the latest suggestions made by the United States for the country as a whole. It would guarantee complete civil liberties for all, under a legislative body elected from the entire population but with a U.N.-appointed governor who could initiate legislation, rule by decree if it was not accepted, and exercise the power of veto.

The immigration and police force matters lie at the crux of the whole situation, once you pass up the ethical questions on which, as someone at Lake Success once put it, "both Jews and Arabs are right."

Customs Agents Seize Cases Of Contraband U.S. Apples

MEXICO CITY, April 21 (U.P.)—Customs agents have seized 850 cases of contraband U. S. apples, chief agent Manual Arriola said today.

Arriola said the apples were smuggled over the border, apparently somewhere near El Paso, Tex., and taken to the city of Chihuahua. From there, he said, they were shipped by rail to Mexico City.

He said the 850 cases were part of a shipment of 2,500 crates, but that the remainder already had been sold when agents raided a warehouse in the nearby village of Santa Clara.

The apples sell in the United States for about $2.50 a crate but bring about $19.00 (U. S.) in Mexico City, he said.

Importation of many fruits, including apples, grapes and pears, without a special permit has been prohibited to prevent competition with Mexican-grown fruit.

Political Situation Is All Gummed Up

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

This campaign has been odd for the fact that it has been even. Even worse than we suspected.

Truman started loose as ashes by getting the Solid South tightened up like wet sand in an hour glass. If he thinks he can win without the South he is dizzier than they think I am.

I never did understand politics although I have attended many conventions. That may be the reason.

The answer to the South is it is not as solid as it is cracked up to be. And the White House cracked it.

The lay says you can tell a man how to run his business. But the Bill of Rights says you cannot tell him how to run his home. And I don't figure to bust into your neighborhood and start hanging my personal quarantine signs on your doorbells.

The Bronx seems to have taken the place of Maine as the straw which shows which way the haystack leans. But you cannot say as goes the Bronx, goes Vermont, anymore than you can say as goes sarsaparilla, so goes Abercrombie and Fitch. I give up.

All I do know is that Washington has suddenly gotten busier than yeast in a brewery on things it should have taken care of two years ago.

That's because the wise lads retard the tempo until a presidential year. It's all splendid statesmanship but it sure gums the details.

If the South tears loose with a fourth party it will sure complicate the voting. Sort of add a boomerang and a kangarco's pouch to the Australian ballot.

But it's all good, clean fun even though it doesn't get by this Board of Censors. I'm a flag-waver of the old Ros tradition. It brings out the Betsy in a man.

You can go your way and I'll go the way of all commuters. I'm figuring on covering the Twin Conventions even though Hankus Wallace claims it's triplets.

Hank is a fellow who touches and sniffs and you cannot keep him from putting in his two senses.

That's pure democracy. That's personal liberty. Which ceases when it encroaches upon that of another. Well, so does your shirttail.

Cattle Rustler Gets Off Light With Only Two-Year Sentence

DALLAS, April 21 (U.P.)—Homer D. McMillan felt lucky today. For a crime that could have brought him death half a century ago, he received only a two-year prison sentence.

McMillan, 26, was in court yesterday to answer charges of rustling cattle on three different occasions. He pleaded guilty and Asst. Dist. Atty. Frank Moore recommended to criminal district Judge Robert A. Hall that McMillan be assessed two-year sentences on each count, to run concurrently.

Lanky, sandy-haired and typically Texas, McMillan had just one comment:

"I'm lucky at that. Fifty years ago I'd have been hung."

Recent Mental Ward Patient Held After Cafe Man Is Slain

DALLAS, April 21 (U.P.)—A 23-year-old war veteran who was discharged one week ago from the psychopathic ward of the Veterans hospital in Waco was under investigation today in the slaying of Paul Waltrip.

Waltrip, 29, Dallas cafe manager, was killed last night in a row with several customers at his place of business

The homicide bureau of the Dallas Police department said the suspect was placed under guard in the psychopathic ward at Parkland hospital after the killing.

He told officers he had escaped from the Waco hospital "two or three days ago," but hospital officials told the United Press by telephone that he had been officially discharged.

Officers described the man as "not entirely rational."

Investigation gave rise to doubts in officers' minds as to whether Waltrip died as a result of wounds inflicted by a baseball bat in the hands of one of the customers or of an accidental bullet wound from a pistol wielded by his nephew

105 Guadalupe School Students Get Free Smallpox Vaccinations

One hundred and five children received smallpox vaccinations at Guadalupe school Tuesday through co-operation of two public health nurses in Lubbock, several volunteers and state purchase of serum.

Mrs. Tom Cannon, visiting nurse of the First Methodist church, and Mrs. Roy Sanford, visiting nurse of Lubbock County Tuberculosis association, gave the vaccinations with aid of Miss Doris Gates, registered nurse and nursing instructor at West Texas hospital, and Miss Colleen Gillmouthe and Mrs. Irene Ausburn, student nurses.

Students Registered

R. W. Swofford, principal of Guadalupe school, registered students receiving vaccinations.

Dr. W. L. Baugh, county health officer, made arrangements for the serum, which was provided by the state.

The 105 children vaccinated Tuesday increased to 312 the number of Mexican children immunized against smallpox since last fal. A total of 207 was vaccinated in September. Since that time, some Mexican families with children of school age have returned from work elsewhere and others have moved into the city.

Free To Students

The vaccinations are free to the students.

The visiting nurse of the First Methodist church undertook the project and was joined in the work by Mrs. Sanford. The two nurses cooperate in various projects. Mrs. Cannon aids in tuberculosis patch testing and other projects of the tuberculosis association.

Magazine Editor Presents Tech Dean Stangel With Unusual Gift

An unusual and useful gift has been presented to W. L. Stangel and the agriculture division at Texas Technological college of which he is dean.

Each year they will receive a bound volume of the 12 monthly issues of "The Cattleman", official publication of the Southwestern Cattlemen's association.

The gift will be presented each year with the compliments of Henry Bierderman, editor of the colorful magazine, who visited the Texas Tech campus this week for the purpose of talking to senior animal husbandry majors. When Dean Stangel informed him that he had saved almost a complete set of "The Cattleman" since the college opened in 1925, Bierderman decided to make a gift of the bound volume each year as a token of his appreciation. The first, Volume 33 for 1946-47, has been received by Dean Stangel with an autographed fly leaf expressing appreciation for his and the college's contribution to Southwestern agriculture.

The volumes will be kept with previous issues in the animal husbandry seminar room, Stangel said.

Nursery Suggested For Church Child

KANSAS CITY, April 21 (AP)—A director of children's church work suggests that if your child is less than six years old, don't take him to the worship services.

Miss Atha Bowman, Richmond, Va., director of children's work for the Presbyterian church, U. S., said the child is likely to develop a distaste for religion. Miss Bowman advocated a church-operated nursery which would prepare children for later attendance at worship services.

A child under six or seven, she said, finds it uncomfortable to sit still for an hour or more during services.

Also, she added, the infant's wiggling prevents his parents from deriving full benefit from the services.

Miss Bowman addressed a regional church children's work conference yesterday.

Sisters May Share Pension Money Of Missing War Vet

WASHINGTON, April 21 (INS)—Three sisters of a Spanish-American war veteran will get $30,000 and a $200 gold medal unless their long-lost brother reappears.

The medal and accumulated pension money belongs to Army Sergeant Wallace Forbes who disappeared from his post in San Francisco 22 years ago.

Treasury Secretary Snyder, in revealing that the pot of gold will go to the three sisters, said it built up as the result of a pension award to Forbes for his part as a human guinea pig during yellow fever tests in Cuba in 1898.

The tests, for which he was also awarded the medal, were conducted by the famed Dr Walter Reed to develop immunity against transmission of yellow fever by mosquitoes.

The three sisters are Mrs. Frank S. Cool and Mrs. Mabel Bright, of Hollywood, Calif., and Mrs. Hazel Rose of Decatur, Ill.

GERMANS DISAPPEAR

BERLIN, April 21. (AP) — The American military government published charges today that at least 45 Germans have disappeared from the western sectors of Berlin and that most of them were kidnapped or illegally arrested by the Russians.

Dancing Instructors Step Out To Pace Studio Picket Line

ATLANTA, April 21 (INS)—A handful of dancing instructors took their steps outside this afternoon and paced a picket line in front of the Arthur Murray dancing studio in Atlanta.

The six pickets carried placards, one of which read:

"We can't stand Arthur Murray's music."

It was reported the teachers are unhappy over their commissions.

Officials of the studio, however, said the strikers have not made any request and that "nothing has been talked over." One official said:

"We don't even know why they're striking."

Almost 20 other dancing teachers are still on the job.

Microbes Recommended To Kill Taste Of Chlorine In Water

CHICAGO, April 21 (U.P)—Cities which now put chlorine in the drinking water to kill germs were advised today to put germs in the drinking water to kill the taste of the chlorine.

M. B. Ettinger and C. C. Ruchhoft, United States Public Health service chemist, told the American Chemical society that the chlorine taste in some water supplies is due to small traces of carbolic acid.

They said recent investigations showed that certain microbes eat the acid and remove completely the offensive taste of the water.

PARKING METERS:

None At City Hall

NOW that the "armless bandits" are in operation around the courthouse square in Lubbock, our whole retail section—and much of midtown which is not actually business area—is covered by the automatic tax collectors called "parking meters." All of the central area, that is, except that part bordering on the City Hall.

If parking meters are essential everywhere else downtown—if they are such great aides to parking, etc., etc., etc.,—how come they aren't essential alongside the City Hall?

If it is best for a store owner to have his front "protected" by parking meters, why isn't it best for John Taxpayer to have his general offices so "protected?"

The excuse that the City Hall block isn't business property is no excuse at all. There are parking meters on numerous blocks that aren't being used by business, per se—not including the blocks bordering the courthouse. The excuse that there's a "stortage of parking meters" is not good, either. Weren't there plenty available to go around the courthouse square?

If every available inch of midtown Lubbock is to be covered by "armless bandits," why should the curblines adjacent to City Hall be bereft of the infuriating gadgets? And if marking parking time on curbs alongside City Hall gets the job done there, why won't it work everywhere else in town?

Maybe the nabobs of City Hall have an answer to the question: "How come no meters around your castle, boys?"

And maybe that answer is because the City Hall folks like nice, close, all-day parking places for free.

No Shortage Here

ROBERT R. YOUNG, dynamic president of the Cincinnati & Ohio railroad, delivered himself of a speech the other day and, among other things, declared:

"There are 10,000 (American) business men who would be a better President than any of the men now considered."

At first blush, one might be prone to disagree with Mr. Young. But after a little contemplation, his idea doesn't seem to be wrong at all. In fact, it might not be too brash to increase the number of men capable of handling the Presidency from Mr. Young's 10,000 to 50,000—or even more than that.

The Presidency in this country doesn't seek the man. The man, through his political connections, seeks the Presidency. If he doesn't have political connections—or, better said, the most powerful political connections—he is not considered. Of all our recent candidates, only Wendell Willkie came from outside the ranks of active politicians with active political armies behind them.

As a matter of fact, the U. S. would be in pretty bad shape, as we see it, if only the six or eight men being talked now were of Presidential calibre. And, purely incidental to the subject, one of the men not mentioned, yet promising much were he President, is Robert R. Young, himself. He's quite a guy. So much of a guy that he's been able to relegate some of railroading's oldest shibboleths to the ash-heap and force competitors, as well as his own directors, to modernize to considerable extent the business of running railroads.

Of course, Mr. Young never will be considered as Presidential timber—which proves his point, and our own, i.e.:

"You can't be President unless you know the right people—and they can be persuaded to go to bat for you!"

Stalin Gets The Boot

As Long As I Live

by Ione Sandberg Shriber
Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Enos Barton admits Tommy came to see him to find out the terms of the will. He suggests that Laurie may only be marrying Tommy to get control of her money. She might intend to buy him off later. But now Ann sees Tommy as a potential murderer because all of her money will go to Laurie, who loves Tommy. If she (Ann) dies. Ann decides not to confide her fears to Enos. She even begins to suspect him.)

SLOWLY Ann went out of the building, into the sunshine and everyday bustle of Huron Road. She walked stiffly down the street toward the parking lot where she had left the car.

Why had that awful thought about Enos entered her head? Enos had proved his worth through the years, proved that he was trustworthy, reliable, all the good solid words. Yet because he did an ordinary courteous thing like seeing her on an elevator she suspected him of plotting her death. She actually wondered if he were in on a scheme to kill her!

She made herself go on to the car, forced herself to head toward Tophill, toward home. She wanted, desparately, with every ounce of her body to turn the car in the opposite direction, to drive in headlong crazy flight away from what was threatening her, this nameless terror that was engulfing her.

She brought the car to a stop under a big tree. Her head was aching again, intolerably, painfully, so that her thoughts were incoherent, confused, chaotic. The pain grew into an immense blur, blotting out everything else. She made a little moaning sound and put her head down on her arms on the steering wheel.

It seemed a long time before the pain subsided, before the actual physical hurting retreated.

I'll go home now, she thought tiredly. I'll go home now and I'll tell Rush about Tommy and then he'll take care of everything. Including me. All I have to do is get home and tell Rush and everything will be all right . . .

She drove up the driveway, past the house, and into the garage, noticing as she went past the orchard that the lab was still lighted brilliantly. She felt relief that Gay and Rush were still working.

She'd been gone all afternoon. Longer than sh'd expected to be. The last part of her drive had been through dusk.

They'd probably be worried about her, wondering where she'd gone, what she was doing.

RUSH was out in the lab, she was sure of it. Why didn't she just go to him and get it over with? Tell him the case she had built up against Tommy and let him decide what they should do.

He'd have to believe her. Not just because she was his wife but because she had the letter. From the man in Wyoming. The letter that asked for seven dollars and fifty cents for work done on the bridge that sent Luke to his death, and warned the Bancrofts about the ropes and the danger of exposure.

The letter! Go and get the letter first!

She entered the house through the back door. There was no one in the kitchen.

She didn't stop to wonder about that then. She felt only relief that she didn't have to see anyone. She hurried up the dark back staircase, moving softly, taking care that she should not be heard.

But the letter wasn't in her desk and even though her fingers searched feverishly, shoving things aside with foreign recklessness, she couldn't find it. It wasn't in her desk or the nightstand or the drawers of the heavy bureau.

She sat on the bed, pressed her hands to her hot cheeks.

The letter had to be here in this room! It had to be! It was one thing for the can of wax to disappear—someone had planted that in her closet and then, when the scheme hadn't worked out, had simply taken it away. As someone had removed the wax from the bottom of her shoes. BUT NO ONE KNEW ABOUT MR. STARK'S LETTER! The letter that was proof positive that the bridge had been tampered with, that Luke's death had not been the accident everyone assumed it had been.

If she could only remember what she had done with it!

She got up from the bed blinking a little against the pain in her eye and went back downstairs the was she had come. The kitchen was empty, and quiet and quite dark now.

THE whole house was dark.

There weren't any lights on. Anywhere in the house.

Where was everyone? Where had they all gone?

She stood in the darkness that was almost solid, felt apprehension become tangible.

Something was wrong here. Dreadfully, horribly wrong.

She stood there, quite still and scarcely breathing, waiting, and nothing happened. Then, slowly, she began to relax. She released her breath carefully, felt out with shaking fingers for the light switch.

She drew a deep breath. But where was everyone? Where could they have gone? All of them—even the servants?

She was in the library searching for a note, hoping desperately they had left her a message, when she heard someone coming up on the porch. She stood quite still. She wan't really sure she could move if her life depended on it—and then it came to her abruptly that perhaps it did just that. Depend on her moving. If it were Tommy coming across the porch, opening the door and coming into the hall. . . .

He was coming closer—closer—not saying a word or calling her name, just coming closer while she stood there helplessly, waiting . . .

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

I JUST read an article about food experiments that are being made by the Nutritional Biochemistry Laboratory of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a name which in itself is enough to spoil my own appetite.

BRANDEIS

According to the Laboratory it is theoretically possible to feed a person for only four cents a day. The food would be a special cereal mixture, resembling corn flakes. It would give a person all the minerals, vitamins and other nutrients he needs.

But, the Laboratory admits, no one would want to eat such dull food three times a day, so the "perfect food" will not be manufactured.

Not being a scientist, I can't tell you anything about vitamins and minerals and calories and nutrients.

But I can tell you this much: No matter how nutritious food may be, if it isn't appetizing, it's no good.

Ask any husband. He'll agree with me.

Why do you think they put that little sprig of parsley on your plate when they serve your entree in a restaurant?

Not one person in a thousand eats it. But it does make the food look more appetizing and gives it that little touch of prettiness that can brighten even a dreary and depressed looking slice of fried ham in a roadside restaurant.

As far as I am concerned, food is good for you if you like it and if it pleases not only the stomach but the eye as well.

I don't care anything about calories and vitamins. I violate every rule of balanced diet and yet I am in pretty darn good health. (Wait a moment while I knock on wood.)

For years my wife has tried to make me eat balanced food.

Only last night I had boiled poiatoes and steamed rice with my roast beef.

"Two starches and no green vegetabled" wy wife exclaimed.

But it was good, what with the nice roast beef juice all over it, and I am sure it won't do me any harm.

ON THIS trip of ours we have had every one of our meals in restaurants. Most of the meals were awful.

Soggy beans, shriveled up peas, watery and tasteless spinach and all that sort of stuff.

When there was gravy it looked and tasted like library paste and the mayonnaise or Russian dressing on the salad was horrible to look at and to taste.

And then we came to a good place here in Asheville, the Battery Park Hotel.

No more vitamins than any of the others. Probably no more minerals and "any other nutrients" than in that awful joint where we had lunch in Starke, Fla.

But what a treat. Nice china and silverware. Nice seasoning. A delicious salad dressing. Crisp French bread. And what a heavenly lemon meringue pie to finish the meal!

True, I felt a bit bloated after dinner and when we took a walk in the evening I could have used a little bicarbonate of soda.

But there was zest to the meal and regardless of its nutritive value it was a tonic and a stimulant to a jaded mind.

What has the mind to do with food?

Have you ever tried to think on an empty stomach?

HEAVY VOTE FEARED

Wallace Threat Seen

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Some old-fashioned political canvassing has disclosed that Henry A. Wallace may poll almost 10,00,000 votes as a third presidential candidate and, even more significantly, that 75 per cent of those votes will be cast by persons who might otherwise have supported Harry S. Truman or another Democratic candidate.

This canvass is not to be confused with the public opinion poll involved in the Roper-Winchell bickering. It's a survey by practical politicians who have rarely been wrong in their estimates of voting trends. It may well affect the G.O.P.'s decision at the Philadelphia convention, for it seems to assure the triumph of almost any man they might name.

TUCKER

It may lead some Democratic bosses still sitting on the fence, especially Boss Ed Flynn of The Bronx, to join the parade of leaders trying to persuade Mr. Truman to find it convenient to drop out of the race in favor of a more likely winner.

PROTEST: The new Wallace estimate amazes sideline observers as well as the professional politicians. But a study of the Iowan's appeal and tactics makes them believe that the 10,000,000 figure may not be far wrong, although more conservative calculators still place it at approximately 3,000,000.

Should the former Cabinet member roll up 10,000,000 ballots, he would amass a larger number than any presidential victor obtained before Warren G. Harding landslided the nation in 1920.

It would be the greatest protest demonstration ever staged against the two major organizations in American history, and it would cause the political and ideological chimes to ring out in the Kremlin.

Moreover, such a show of strength would have more important and permanent repercussions. It would mean that the leftist organizers of the 1948 campaign would be encouraged to try to transform it into a permanent movement. They would immediately set to work to capture the Democratic Party for 1952, or at least to force it to accept their principles as the basis of their future platforms.

FANTASTIC: This latest estimate of Wallace strength, however, does not seem so fantastic in view of the fact that the La Follette-Wheeler slate of insurgents corralled 4,822,000 votes as far back as the pipingly prosperous year of 1924. It is a comparison of 1924 with 1948 conditions, political, economic and foreign, which appears to lend credence to the reports seeping into Washington from the countryside.

Messrs. La Follette and Wheeler had no money, no organization, no publicity. They were able to get their names on the presidential ballot in only a few states. They had some labor union support, but they had no basic and stirring issues for arousing mass support. They were running on the eve of the richest boom up to that time, with Calvin Coolidge claiming credit for boosting wages, employment and general economic improvement after the 1920-1922 doldrums.

The world's first disarmament agreement had been signed only two years before. There were no foreign scares or alarms. The American people, having fought and won the first world war in history, did not want to be upset or disturbed by these Cassandras from Wisconsin and Montana. And yet they got 4,822,000 votes from various protest groups.

SPLIT: Mr. Wallace has a far more definite appeal and message than his rebellious predecessors.

Whereas they did not run especially strong in such states as New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan and California, the Iowan is expected to roll up a tremendous vote in the urban and industrial centers of those electorally important areas.

Aside from his attempt to win racial minorities dissatisfied with Mr. Truman's foreign program, Palestine policy and his failure to try to implement his Civil Rights proposals, Mr. Wallace has apparently split the so-called church-and-school vote that the La Follette-Wheeler ticket did not get. The White House has been especially disturbed by Mr. Wallace's strength among religious, educational and social welfare organizations.

Finally, Mr. Wallace will not lack for money, publicity, noise and shrewd rabble-rousers, as did the 1924 rebels. In view of all these factors, the 10,000,000 forecast does not strike the politicos as too improbable.

SHADOWS: Harold E. Stassen's primary victories in Wisconsin and Nebraska have handed the Republicans a problem almost as thorny as the difficulties which Mr. Wallace has dropped on President Truman's doorstep. G.O.P. strategists' principal concern these days is how they can get rid of or win over the seemingly popular young man from Minnesota.

The big bosses still do not want him on the ticket, despite his defeat of the two front-runners—Governor Dewey of New York and Senator Taft of Ohio. They still regard him as a rank and raucous "outsider." But he has campaigned in such a manner and raised such issues that refusal to place him on the ticket in first or second place may affront millions of so-called "liberals" and youngsters who seem to like his personality and platform.

The Stassen supporters will then be in a position to raise the cry that their man has been "railroaded" by the reactionary "Old Guard" in the party—the same rebel yell sung by Teddy Roosevelt when the Penroses rebuffed him in favor of William Howard Taft in 1912. This demonstration could throw many pro-Stassen voters to Mr. Wallace or persuade them to stay at home.

In short, the Minnesotan's guerilla gains in the Midwest have cast long shadows over the forthcoming convention and given many long thoughts to the safe-and-sane bosses of the G. O. P.

UNBALANCE: The improvement in Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg's presidential stock may operate against the Minnesota entry, however, for a ticket consisting of two men from virtually neighboring states would represent a geographical unbalance abhorred by practicing politicians. It is the consensus of important visitors to Washington in recent days that the Senate's president pro tem stands near the top of Republican possibilities.

In fact, in the event of an unbreakable Taft-Dewey deadlock, it is probable that the backroom boys would agree to "give Van a run for his money." That is, they would throw hidden reserves to him in an effort to ascertain whether he could command a majority.

If he failed, it is most likely that they would next let Speaker Martin have a "trial run." Only if these alternatives do not produce a decision, it is believed, would they turn to Mr. Stassen.

In the old days a man's word was his bond. Now the modern man hires a lawyer to look for a loophole in the contract.

Believe It Or Not - By Robert Ripley

WAR LEADERS GET NEW BREAK

German Industry Poses Threat

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Previously there was discussed here the order early last month by General Lucius D. Clay, administrator of our zone in Germany, which virtually brought to an end our program to break up the great industrial monoplies, or cartels, that played so important a part in the Nazi regime and the war it loosed upon Europe and the world.

STOKES

The protset against this order by 19 members of the decartelization branch of the American military government was cited and quoted from. Evidence of the reduced scope of the program comes in a sharp cut in the personnel to carry it out.

This abrupt change in basic policy, which has been lenient from the start and has left a number of former Nazi and industrial overlords in key places, becomes significant at this particular time because of developments.

Dangers Are Cited

One, pointed out here previously, is the beginning of operation of the European Recovery program in which Germany is included. Will our aid be used to build up the power of former cartelists and preserve the monopolistic control that proved so dangerous to Europe as well as to us?

The other, also touched upon previously, is the tension over Russia which has so excited our people that it can now be used as a screen behind which to build up a "strong Germany," as we hear it in subtle propaganda these days, and an excuse for letting the monopolies and monopolists alone and cooperating with them.

Because of Russia it is easy to confuse the basic issue. Russia, herself, is reported to be using the old industrialists in her zone, though in her case it seems to be a matter of closely controlling them and of really "using" them, rather than the attitude of cooperating with them, which appears to be more nearly the case with us. Out of all this, out of the conflict over policy with Russia, the cartelists would seem to be the gainers. They are in a position to play both sides against the middle, as we say, and that is an old game with them.

Restoration of German industry and the revival of German production have been put forth as essential to the recovery of Europe since Germany previously was the powerhouse of Europe industrially speaking. There has been a very easy transition from this, with the scare about Russia, to a "strong Germany" as a bulwark against Russia—the theory of the "Cliveden set" in England before the last war—which has a military connotation beyond the original economic connotation.

At the outset, soon after the war, there was the Morgenthau plan for a pastoral Germany. That was attacked and ridiculed. It was abandoned long ago, but it is still exploited as the horrible example by the propagandists for a "strong Germany" who would now go clear over to the other extreme to cooperation with German industrialists.

Plan Is Offered

There is, however, another alternative, a middle way. Production can be brought up to restore Germany and Europe economically through an efficient decartelized, decentralized industry and without turning back complete control to a few Nazi industrialists with power over a monopolistic pattern such as existed before in Germany and with ramifications into the rest of Europe that gave it such tremendous economic and political power. It is who controls that is important.

It is amazing, when you stop to consider, that we have reached the point, less than three years after the end of the war, where we are willing to take the Nazi industrial war-lords into partnership. Yet it is a natural development of our policy about which the American people have been kept too much in the dark.

Formulation of our policy was entrusted at the outset to men with big business and financial connections who had a natural bond with their counterparts in Germany, as was pointed out here at the time in an analysis of who they were. As was also pointed out, some of them were from enterprises, financial or industrial, which actually had tie-ups before the war with big German cartels. Our policy has been carried out largely through the army where you also find a friendly feeling toward the industrial and business type in Germany. The latter are men of the world who have traveled widely, speak English, and know the arts of social blandishment. It was a perfectly natural development.

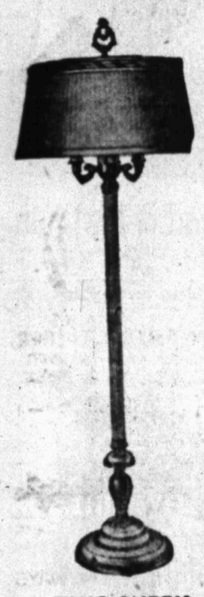

We are about to embark upon another great enterprise in Europe in the European recovery program from which much good could come. But if it is used to restore the power of the Nazi Monopolists, then we are headed again along the road that we took after the first World War when the cartelists were left in control and gradually built up the war machine from which the world suffered so much. For all they stood for we fought against. This is something to remember as we make our plans to carry out the European Recovery program.

RAILS BOOST STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—Rails and oils sparked a last-hour drive by the stock market today to new high grounds for the year.

Gains ranging from fractions to an extreme of 8 points were registered by favored issues.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .8 of a point at 67.3, its highest level since Oct. 23, 1947. The fall average hit a top since August, 1946. Of 1,048 issues traded, advances outnumbered declines 420 to 380. Total transfers were 1,670,000. This compared with 1,700,000 Tuesday.

Buenan forces seized on a batch of favorable first quarter earnings estimates, reports of large backlogs and expressions of optimism over prospects for the rest of the year.

Sharp spurts, all to new 1948 highs, were made by Superior Oil of California which closed up 8 at 213; Plymouth Oil 4½ at 65⅝, Atlantic Refining (on good earnings) 3½ at 42½, and Pacific Western Oil 3½ at 61½. New highs were also touched at times by Santa Fe, Standard Oil (N.J.) and Allsson Corp.

Staying on the downside were Goodrich, Boeing, Lockheed and American Tobacco.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular in active dealings today. Old crop deliveries advanced into new seasonal high ground on trade buying and short covering. New crop deliveries lagged, influenced by better weather conditions in the cotton belt and expectations of a large cotton acreage this season.

Covering was induced partly by Washington news that 748,000 bales of cotton will be shipped to Europe in the next 90 days under foreign aid. It was also hinted that an agreement on the private cotton credit program for Japan is imminent.

Marines Will Train College Students For Commissions

NEW YORK, April 22. (U.P.)—The U. S. Marine Corps on May 1 will complete its procurement program of enrolling more than 1,600 of the nation's top undergraduate college students as candidates for commissions in the 1948 session of the platoon leaders class.

Training at the Marine Corps schools at Quantico, Va., college students, freshmen, sophomores and juniors, from more than 200 accredited colleges and universities have been accepted for the program, which leads to a commission as a second lieutenant in the regular and reserve Marine Corps.

Attending either one or two six-week summer training sessions, students are given a well-balanced officer training schedule.

After completion of the required military training periods and upon graduation from College, the men are commissioned. This year over 300 graduates will be offered commissions in the regular service.

It was through the program started in 1935 that the Marine Corps got most of its junior officers before World War II. However, after Pearl Harbor officers had to be obtained by a more direct means and the program was discontinued temporarily.

Blinded Veteran Buys Farm With Government Assistance

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., April 22 (U.P.)—The first veteran in Attala County to get a government-insured mortgage to buy a farm is William H. Miller, who was blinded in Germany by an explosion.

He is the first disabled veteran in the United States to benefit by the new government-insured program for ex-GI farm buyers.

He will run a dairy farm and raise feed crops on the 98 acres he has bought. Miller intends to do a large part of his own work, guided by wires strung between his house and barn.

He is married and has two sons.

Thousands Of Roses To Greet Visitors To Bicentennial

READING, Pa., April 22 (U.P.)—One hundred thousand roses, blooming from June until frost, will tell the story of the Reading-Berks county bicentennial to 750,000 people expected to visit this Pennsylvania Dutch center this summer.

Last fall, to mark the 200th anniversary of this city and county, 200 new rose bushes and vines were planted in the Reading municipal rose garden. The acre and a half of blooms now total more than 3,600 plants, representing 150 different varieties.

Spokane Jail Trusty Says Rock Pile Is No Friendly Gesture

SPOKANE, Wash., April 22 (U.P.)—Spokane's slogan as "the friendly city" doesn't hold any more with regular inhabitants of the city jail.

Police Judge Raymond Kelly announced that habitual drunks could look forward to smashing rocks on a real rock-pile, just as in the comic strips.

Jail house reaction was immediate. Said Head Trusty Joe Witz, known as "the most arrested man in the county":

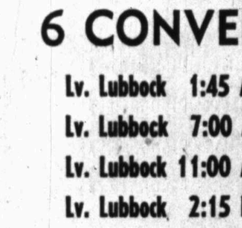

"That's no way to get a reputation for being friendly."
