SEVENTY THOUSAND ATTEND PIONEER REUNION AND RODEO

CROWDS THROG CYCLONE M FOR MEMPHIS RODEO

Johnson Wins Local Sponsors
Hattie Dem Ward, Crystal
Runners-up in Big Show

The hooves of two hundred horses, seventy girls in blue, and a hundred 'punchers in working garb, and the Lone Star banner flying proudly side by side with the Cyclone, thronged the arena at Cyclone Stadium to experience the incomparable thrill of the Grand Entry at a real Cowboy rodeo.

RODEO QUEENS—Here are the winning local sponsors in the Pioneer Reunion Rodeo. In the center is Miss Betty Johnson, riding for the City Drug, who captured first place and first prize, a pair of shop-made cowboy boots. Right is Miss Hattie Dem Ward, entered by Weatherby Feed Store, holding the fine bridle which she won as second prize in the contest. At the left is Miss Crystal Calhoun, sponsor for J. C. Penney Company, who won third place in the rodeo contest.

That was the Grand Entry! Four times at four separate shows, twice a day on Thursday and Friday, huge crowds thronged the arena at Cyclone Stadium to experience the incomparable thrill of the Grand Entry at a real Cowboy rodeo.

The pace was fast and furious, the show moved on at each performance with speed and precision, and there were thrills and spills from the broncs and steers, fast times and crack roping exhibitions with the calves and wild cows, trick ropers, fancy riders, and beautiful girls on fine horses, all taking an enthusiastic part in making the Memphis Rodeo an outstanding success. There were 104 contestants.

Highlighting the entire show was the sponsors' contest to select the Rodeo Queens, both from the ranks of local girls and out-of-town winners.

Betty Johnson, mounted on a fast pacing smoky blue horse, took first prize, a $35 pair of shop-made boots, in the local sponsors' division at the final performance Friday night. Hattie Dem Ward was second place winner, receiving a hand-made leather bridle, and Crystal Calhoun was ranked third and awarded a compact and bottle of perfume.

Second Annual Hall County Dairy Show Opens August 19

Carl Periman Is Elected
New President of Dairy
Breeders Association

Date for the Second Annual Hall County Dairy Show was set for August 19 at a meeting of the Dairy Breeders Association here this week, County Agent W. B. Hooser announced Tuesday.

Carl Periman, county attorney, was elected president of the association to succeed Dr. L. M. Hicks. C. L. Sloan was named vice president, and Andrew Womack was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The dairy show will be open to registered stock only. Members of the association, after hearing a lengthy discussion led by the retiring president, Dr. Hicks, voted unanimously to limit entries in the show to registered animals.

E. R. Eudaly, dairyman for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, will be in Memphis on the 19th to conduct the show, and will judge all entries. Judging will be for classification and championship, with a Grand Champion and Reserve Champion being selected.

There will be no cash premiums offered, Hooser stated.

The Dairy Show will be held in Memphis at the stock pens immediately north of Harrison Hardware on 6th street, the same location which was used for the Hall County 4-H and FFA Boys Show here this spring.

Entries will not be limited to Hall County, the sponsors announced. All farmers and dairy breeders living in the Memphis trade territory are invited to enter their stock.

Hooser said Tuesday that there would be judging classes for all interested before the official judge's decisions at the show are announced. Committees were appointed at the association meeting Monday night to make all necessary arrangements for the show.

Mile-Long "Parade of Progress" Highlights Two-Day Celebration

1913 Study Club Wins First Prize For Best Window

Window Exhibits Are Big
Attraction for Reunion
Visitors Last Week-End

One of the outstanding features of Hall County's Pioneer Reunion, rivaling the huge "Parade of Progress" in attracting interested spectators, were the window decorations prepared by members of Memphis clubs through the cooperation of local merchants.

First prize of $10 for the best window display was awarded by the Old Settlers Association to the 1913 Study Club for the window entitled "Wash Day—1888" and its companion piece at Greene Dry Goods Co.

The window featured a very realistic pioneer woman in wash-day attire hanging old fashioned undergarments on a rope clothesline. The clothes flapped gently in a breeze which came, oddly enough from a very modern electric fan which was well-concealed in the background.

Second prize of $5 was awarded to the Culture Club for the window display depicting an Early Memphis street scene at the United Gas Company. Third prize of $3 went to the Mystic Weaver Club for the display of relics in the Harrison Hardware Company window.

First prize was awarded to the 1913 Study Club, according to the judges, because of originality, the large space decorated, and the variety of the collections.

Special award was given to Bud Milligan for his rare Indian collection displayed in the windows at Rosenwassers. He was assisted in preparing the display by a (Continued on Page 6)

Rural Schools to Open August 14th

Five Hall County rural schools have announced plans to open on August 14, County Superintendent Vera Tops Gilreath announced Wednesday. Pleasant Valley, Brice, Lesley, Deep Lake, and Lakeview Independent schools will open for the 1939-40 term on that date.

Memphis schools will open on September 4, the first Monday next month, Harry Delaney, secretary of the board of trustees, stated. Rural schools at Salisbury, Eli, Flaska, and Friendship will begin their terms at that time, Miss Gilreath said, in order that busses, which serve both Memphis and the rural schools, can maintain regular service.

The Newlin school will open at the same time that Estelline schools begin for the same reason.

A huge crowd, estimated at more than 10,000, jammed Memphis streets Thursday afternoon to witness the mile-long "Parade of Progress" featuring the opening day of the annual Hall County Old Settlers and Cowboy Reunion.

"No parade ever had a more compact audience," was the opinion of John L. McCarty, editor of the Amarillo News-Globe, who was covering the event for his paper, and Mr. McCarty is an old hand at parades, having witnessed both the Mother-in-Law Day parade featuring Mrs. Roosevelt and another huge affair honoring her husband, the President, at Amarillo last year.

Thousands of people thronged the sidewalks and overflowed into the streets all along the route of march, jamming the sidewalks along Noel and Main streets and forming a dense mass all around the square.

The parade featured hundreds of fine horses and a number of old-time methods of transportation, including buggies, wagons, and surries. It was a colorful show depicting methods of transportation during a pioneer era.

Chief Baldwin Parker, son of the famous Comanche chief, Quannah Parker, shared the honor of leading the parade with City Secretary Bill Coursey. Parker carried the United States flag, and Coursey bore the Lone Star banner of Texas. Both were on horseback.

Immediately following them rode Carroll Smyers, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and general manager of the reunion, and three real old-timers, Bob Crabb, Hall County's oldest cowboy, R. T. McElreath, and Sam Cook. Sam, at 72, has spent the past year breaking broncs on a ranch near Memphis, and has spent most of his life in the same occupation on the Mill Iron, Shoe Bar and JA ranches.

The Memphis Cowpuncher Band, led by Mary Bess Cole and her crew of pretty baton twirlers and directed by R. E. Martin Jr., marched next in line in their colorful cowboy regalia.

Throughout the parade bands of cowboys and cowgirls representing ranches and cities in this area rode on horseback. One of the most colorful features of the parade was the band of cowgirl sponsors, forty of them from Memphis, twenty others from towns and ranches scattered all over West Texas, dressed in levis, white silk shirts with bright handkerchiefs and white ten-gallon hats. Their horses were the finest (Continued on Page 6)

Grandsons of Two Historic Figures Meet in Parade

The grandson of Cynthia Ann Parker and the grandson of the man who aided in rescuing the white girl from the Comanches rode side by side in the "Parade of Progress" last Thursday afternoon, 79 years after the historic battle at Medicine Mound.

Chief Baldwin Parker, grandson of Cynthia Ann and present chief of the Comanches, carried the American flag at the head of the parade, and at his side, bearing the "Lone Star" banner, rode W. V. (Bill) Coursey, city tax collector, whose grandfather was a soldier with Captain Sull Ross' command in 1860 and actually captured the fleeing white girl after the battle in which her Comanche husband, Chief Pete Nocona, was defeated.

Coursey's grandfather was W. J. Owens, a young soldier in Ross' command. According to his (Owens') story, he was stationed on the captain's own horse at the pass during the battle with the orders to capture all squaws and kill all braves who escaped that way. Cynthia Ann was the only one to escape, and Owens, having the faster horse, himself made the capture.

Mrs. Bell Berry Dies Saturday At Fort Worth

Funeral Services Are Held
Here Sunday Afternoon at
First Baptist Church

Funeral services for Mrs. Bell Berry, 41, were conducted Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Memphis, with Rev. J. Wm. Mason, pastor, in charge.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, under the direction of King's Mortuary of this city.

Mrs. Berry died last Saturday, July 29, at the home of a daughter in Fort Worth. Her body was returned to Memphis, where she had lived for a number of years, for burial.

Born Miss Bell White in Blairsville, Ga., on May 1, 1898, she was married to Dan Roberts on February 11, 1913. Her husband preceded her in death.

Mrs. Berry was a member of the Baptist Church, having been converted in childhood.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Sadie Johnson and Mrs. Agnes Sellers, both of Fort Worth; her mother, Mrs. D. M. Ford, and sister, Mrs. Ethel Banister, both of Memphis; and one brother, Homer White of Hood (Continued on page 7)

HON. CLINT SMALL MAKES MAIN ADDRESS OF REUNION PROGRAM

Impromptu Talks by Old Settlers
Feature Sessions at Pavilion;
Deskins Wells Prominent Speaker

Twenty thousand people thronged the city of Memphis last Thursday and Friday as Hall County celebrated its greatest Old Settlers and Cowboy Reunion on the occasion of its 49th birthday. The headquarters pavilion was packed for each program, thousands jammed into Cyclone Stadium for the rodeo, nearly 2,000 registered old settlers were served at the annual Reunion Barbecue Friday, and milling crowds filled Memphis streets throughout the two-day celebration.

Hot weather failed to slow down the spirit of the old-timers and pioneers as hundreds gathered under the tent at Eighth and Main streets for the program of the Sixth Annual Old Settlers Reunion Thursday and Friday, July 27 and 28.

Outstanding among the speakers on the program were the honorable Clint C. Small, State Senator from Amarillo, who gave the principal address Friday morning and Deskins Wells, editor of The Wellington Leader, who gave the response Thursday morning to the official welcome to out-of-town visitors made by Hall County Judge M. O. Goodpasture.

Some of the old-timers who made impromptu speeches came close to stealing the show with their oratorical abilities and "from one old-timer to another" talks. D. C. Brooks of Wellington, an early resident there, celebrated his 93rd birthday, his 70th wedding anniversary, and the first day of the reunion on Thursday by making one of the outstanding speeches of the event. John Gist of Odessa, pioneer cattleman of Hall County, was called upon Thursday for an impromptu speech and kept the audiences attentive to his remarks of witticism.

Wildcat Oil Test Is Planned Soon In Memphis Area

Deep Lake Block Leased
By Bugbee-Carter Interests;
To Drill First Test Well

Another attempt to confirm the belief that there is oil in the sandy lands of Hall County will be made soon when a new wildcat test well is put down in the Deep Lake area.

G. M. Bugbee of Redlands, Calif., former pioneer cattleman in this section, and Mrs. Charlotte Bugbee Carter and son, Sheldon Carter, of Boston, Mass., are the active lessees for the proposed test.

Bugbee and the Carters have been in Memphis for the past three weeks, and stated this week that leases on the block have been practically completed. Mrs. Carter plans to return to Boston shortly to complete arrangements for the test well. Private capital is being supplied by eastern interests for the test.

The well will be spudded in soon on the Deep Lake block, 15 miles southwest of Memphis, Bugbee said. Exact location of the leases was not revealed.

A standard rotary rig will be used for the independent test, which will be drilled to a depth of 6,000 feet or more. A well was drilled in this area in the early 20's, but was abandoned at 1,800 feet.

Oil scouts have long favored this particular area along the Red River for a test, and several thousand acres of land is already under lease in this section to major companies. The independent operations started by Bugbee and the Carters, however, is the first indication that a test well will be drilled.

Memphis FFA Boys To Meet Barnett Here Saturday

Members and Prospective
Ag Students Requested
To Meet New Instructor

The Memphis Chapter of Future Farmers of America and all prospective students of Vocational Agriculture will gather for the first meeting of the summer with their new instructor, Gene Barnett, at the high school building Saturday, August 5.

Mr. Barnett has requested all boys who will be taking vocational agriculture for the first time this fall to report at the high school vocational agriculture department at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Boys who will be taking the courses for their second or third year are requested to meet at 3 o'clock, and those who have graduated from the local department during the past two years are asked to meet at 4 o'clock.

Barnett outlined objectives of the meeting as better acquaintance among the boys and instructor, discussion of requirements for the year by the group, and discussion of individual requirements and accomplishments for the coming year.

Barnett was recently employed by the board of trustees of the Memphis schools to succeed J. T. Warren as instructor in the local department. He is a graduate of Texas Technological College,

Ernestine Walker Injured Sunday In Automobile Crash

Five Are Hurt As Two Cars in Head-On Smash
On Hiway Near Childress

Miss Ernestine Walker of Memphis, a teacher in the Childress schools, was one of five persons injured in a head-on automobile collision on Highway 370 a mile west of Childress Sunday morning.

Miss Walker and Ned Pilcher of Childress were slightly injured when Pilcher's Oldsmobile sedan in which they were driving was involved in a collision with a Ford coach driven by T. C. Chewning of Carey. Pilcher was at the wheel of the sedan.

Pilcher and Miss Walker were released from a Childress hospital after receiving emergency treatment for cuts and bruises. Their injuries were not serious.

Chewning and two companions, Lesley Fitzgerald of Carey and Lute Miller of Garden Valley were more seriously hurt. All three received severe laceration and bruises, but were released from the hospital Sunday afternoon.

Cause of the crash was not determined. The cars met head-on near the Denver Northern overpass on the highway. Both cars were badly damaged.

Rain Hits Memphis Thursday Noon

Once again rain came to Memphis and Hall County at an opportune time. As The Democrat went to press early Thursday afternoon, a steady downpour of rain had begun.

Heavy clouds over Memphis late Wednesday afternoon brought only light showers. Showers were also reported Thursday morning from Lesley and Brice. Other towns in the Panhandle reporting rain Wednesday were Clarendon, Claude, Amarillo, Dalhart, Dumas, and Texline. Radio reports Thursday noon indicated from light showers to heavy rains over the entire Panhandle.

NEWLIN

By MRS. FRED HEMPHILL

Congratulations to the City of Memphis, and to all who helped in any way to make the Old Settlers Reunion such an outstanding success in every way, that it was without a doubt the most enjoyable occasion that Hall Co. has witnessed in some time. The gathering of old-timers, some who had not met in 50 years, was well worth the efforts of all those in charge. The parade was very interesting from the Indians to the last cowboy, but the outstanding feature of that seemed to be the crowd nearest me, to be the float with the old time gospel singers whose early day costumes were so real it seemed like a picture from an old album. Those who attended the rodeo say that the performances were as good as any they had witnessed at the Southwestern Exposition and Stock Show at Fort Worth. The entertaining programs presented under the tent each afternoon were very educational and especially to the children, for the "Indians" side of the Cynthia Ann Parker Story" with which most every school child is familiar. All in all it was a "Jim-Dandy" good reunion.

School Opens Here

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cheeves and daughter Betty returned last week from Alamosa, Colo., where they have been attending school. A two-week session of school will be held at this time for students who were passed conditionally. This extra help is to enable them to start with their respective classes in September.

W. M. S. Has Meeting

The Federated Missionary Societies of the Hulver Methodist Church, Methodist and Baptist churches of Estelline and Methodist and Baptist churches of Newlin met on the Fifth Monday, July 31, at Newlin, and had as their program subject "Spiritual Growth in the Church." The devotional given by Mrs. Rhoda Nelson. A talk by Mrs. Frank Ellis on "My People shall be a Peculiar People," and Mrs. Emmett Solomon of Memphis gave a talk on "Faith Increases by Prayer." Twenty-five women were present.

Little Nelda Collins, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Collins, is very sick in a Memphis hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thornton of Lela attended the reunion and visited with Mrs. Thornton's sister Mrs. Frank Solomon over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kercheville and daughter Ella Mae of Vernon spent Sunday here visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hillis of Roy, N. M., attended the reunion and visited relatives here and at Friendship.

J. C. Huckaby returned last week from Dawn where he has been for the past two months at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Wimberley. Mr. and Mrs. Wimberley are former school teachers here. They are the proud parents of a 7-pound son named Bruce who was born July 13.

Mrs. George Tucker received an announcement of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Callahan of Lelia Lake. The baby has been named John Franklin. Mrs. Callahan was formerly Nellie Tobin.

Lon Williams of Lawton, Okla., and son Herbert spent a few days here last week with relatives, going from here to Crosbyton and Lubbock for a visit. Norma Jean Glasco returned home with him from Lubbock to visit friends and relatives here.

Mrs. Charlie Glover and Mrs. Jack Garrett of Spade visited relatives here last week.

Honorable mention goes to the Atalanta Club for the correct spacing of relics at Alexander and Ross, to the UDC for their fine collection of rare and valuable objects at Stanford Drug, to the Delphian Club for its collection from communities outside of Memphis at Wherry Jewelry Store, and to the Pathfinder Council for the best individual collection displayed at Perry's Variety Store.

Other outstanding window displays were found at Thompson Hardware, Norman's Taylor Appliance, Baldwin Variety, West Texas Utilities Co., Cudd and Combs, Tarver's Pharmacy, and Orr's Annex Drug.

Judges were Mrs. Harold Bugbee, Miss Jean Bourland, and Mrs. W. H. Patrick, all of Clarendon.

Mrs. John Deaver, in charge of the club committees who arranged the displays, expressed deep appreciation on the part of the entire committee to the merchants and others who cooperated with the work and loaned valuable heirlooms and keepsakes.

Highlights of both reunion parades were the sponsors riding fine horses. One old-timer was overheard to say that the display of such horseflesh did his heart good since it had been many a day since such horses had been seen in the West all at one time.

Southern Women Reply to Query

Wherever they go, the "Touring Reporters" find eager answers to their question, "Were you helped by CARDUI?"

Of 1297 users queried among those of 12 states, 1206 stated CARDUI benefited them. That is 93 out of every 100!

Users everywhere are glad to tell how CARDUI has made them want and enjoy food; how, with its help, they gained strength, energy, were thus relieved of the symptoms of "functional dysmenorrhea" due to malnutrition. Many also say that, when symptoms indicate the need, CARDUI in larger doses helps "at the time" to soothe pain.

in the parade, carefully picked for the rodeo sponsors' contest because horse as well as rider was judged in the arena.

An ancient car carried Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Brooks of Wellington with a sign, "Just Married 70 Years Ago" on the side and a string of old shoes tied on behind.

Behind them was one of the many ranch outfits represented in the parade, with chuck wagon, cowpunchers and lady riders some of them in sidesaddles.

Following the sponsors was the Clarendon High School Band, and next in line was an Andis Truck Line pioneer truck carrying the Truck Drivers String Orchestra.

A genuine covered wagon sponsored by some of the Memphis clubs, appeared in the parade, together with buggies, wagons, and surries. T. B. Rogers, local gasoline wholesaler, drove an authentic buggy rig in the parade.

The Tri-State Fair had its old stage coach in the line-up, followed by American Legion youngsters and their drum corps from Amarillo.

One of the parade's outstanding floats carried the "Old-Fashioned Gospel Singers"—featuring a church group of the 1890's singing "Old Time Religion."

The Pathfinder Club featured a lone coyote on a float covered with tumbleweeds, and Weatherby Feed Store attracted attention with a tiny Shetland colt not as large as the average collie dog.

Members of the Charles R. Simmons Post of the American Legion, under the direction of Commander Ollie F. Jones, were in charge of all arrangements for the huge "Parade of Progress."

SCHOOLMATES—John T. Doty, left, of Missouri, found an old school friend in Mrs. L. T. Offield of Memphis when he came here for the Old Settlers Reunion last Thursday. Mr. Doty, who makes a practice of keeping up with old acquaintances, learned that Mrs. Offield was in Memphis and came to call . . . for the first time in 63 years!

Reunion of Schoolmates After 63 Years Marks Celebration

Pioneer reunions often mean more than just seeing someone you have not seen for one year, or two, or even three years. That is, to some people they mean much more than this.

Two of those people are Mrs. L. T. Offield of Memphis, and John T. Doty of Missouri. Sixty-three years ago, Mrs. Offield lived in Davis, County, Mo. One of her friends, although eight years older than she, was John T. Doty. She did not consider him such an outstanding boy, and had almost forgotten him until recently.

About two weeks ago, Mrs. Offield received a letter from San Antonio. Her entire family were curious about whom she knew at San Antonio. Mrs. Offield herself was not sure.

But when she read the letter, she recalled her old classmate, Mr. Doty. Mr. Doty, at the time he wrote the letter, was visiting relatives in San Antonio, and wrote that he had read of the reunion and wondered if he might visit with his former schoolmate and her husband.

On Thursday, Mr. Doty came to Memphis to see his old schoolmate. Neighbors of Mrs. Offield noticed a sprightly old man with a neat-looking goatee walking down South Seventh street. He was carrying a cane, and that was unusual, too.

Finally the old man stopped at the home of Mrs. Offield, and those neighbors who had heard of his coming knew then who the old gentleman was. It was not long until Mr. Offield and Mr. Doty were good friends, although they had never met. And it was not long until Mr. Doty was calling Mrs. Offield "Fanny," and Mrs. Offield was calling Mr. Doty, "John."

It was from one of Mrs. Offield's sisters, who still lives in Missouri, that Mr. Doty found out her address. He has kept records of the locations of many of his former schoolmates, and now has the names, addresses, occupation, and family history of 26 of them. But "John" did not have long to stay in Memphis. The man he came with had to get back to Amarillo, and Mr. Doty was tired. He had attended the Canyon celebration on Wednesday. But he will be remembered by many of the Hall County pioneers by his unique description of age: "A woman is as old as she looks," said Mr. Doty, "and a man is old when he quits looking."

The visit of Baldwin Parker and his tribe of Comanche Indians to the reunion and rodeo brought back memories to A. M. Wyatt, Memphis pioneer, who was overheard telling Sid Baker and Frank Royal (Wellington) of the time that Quannah Parker, Baldwin's father, camped near the Wyatt home in early times. Quannah wanted permission to kill antelope and Mr. Wyatt granted it. The Comanche chief and one of his braves had their squaws saddle two horses, wrapped themselves in blankets and rode out to a herd of antelope grazing not far away. They killed two, staking the place with willow poles where the animals fell, then rode back and sent the squaws out to bring their kill in, skin, dress and cook them.

Deck Wells, publisher of the Wellington Leader, and his sister, Miss Robbie Wells, were interested spectators at the opening day parade. Mr. Wells delivered the address of response at the Thursday morning program.

To Our Friends and Customers:
On August 6, 1926, we opened for business as the City Grocery at the present location.
There have been good, bad and indifferent times during these 13 years.
At this time, we want to thank each and every one for the part they have played in what success we have had. We say, again, we think we have the best customers on earth. We point with pride to the numerous customers that have paid us a grocery bill every month for the last 12 years. We also wish to mention our bank and wholesalers. There have been times when we needed them. They never failed us.
We are at present enjoying the greatest volume of business in our history. We leave that to you as to the reason we have always tried to be of service and to accommodate the ones who deserve it.
Making money is not our sole aim. We try to live and let live and give the very best service that we can. We hope to serve you many more years.
Thanks again to every one who in any way have made it possible for us to continue in business.

City Grocery Will Have Birthday

"Our business is better and our volume is greater right now than any time since I have been in business," is the statement of J. E. Roper, owner of the City Grocery. The City Grocery will observe its 13th anniversary next Sunday, August 6.

Mr. Roper came to Memphis from his home in Saltillo, Miss., in February of 1921. He was first employed in Memphis by the Memphis Bakery and held that position for 18 months. He then established his present business at its present location. Mr. Roper states that his first stock was small and that he has been building gradually during the past 13 years. At present the City Grocery is one of the leading grocery stores of the city.

In recounting his experiences in business in Memphis, Mr. Roper states that his business has suffered no disasters, fires, or robberies, with the exception of a small depression after 1929.

For the past nine years the City Grocery has been a consistent advertiser in The Democrat. He recalls the circumstances under which he took out his first advertising contract. He had been doing some advertising but was not getting results. Business was bad, so he decided to advertise prices. He took out his contract in 1930 and as a result business picked up remarkably. Since that time Mr. Roper has not missed running an ad weekly in The Democrat.

Reunion Highlights

Contrasts were noted throughout Memphis during both days of the celebration. A streamlined 1939 model automobile drove up in front of a local drug store and a couple of cowboys, booted and spurred in the proper attire of 50 years ago got out and drank a coke. One old-timer (names can't be mentioned here) was heard telling another about seeing two young ladies walking down the street, one wearing a long dress and a sun-bonnet, the other wearing shorts. "Did the one wearing shorts have on a hat?" asked his friend. "Durned if I know" was his reply.

who has been ill for several months, was able to be at the reunion tent for a few minutes Thursday morning. He was feeling better than usual and didn't want to miss the celebration.

Judge M. O. Goodpasture, Hall County's genial county judge, delivered the welcome address at the Thursday morning session. Judge Goodpasture stated that the frontiers of the pioneers of today and tomorrow are greater than those confronted by the pioneers of the past. Soil conservation and rehabilitation of land was the topic of his forceful address.

T. B. Rogers turned "city-slicker" for a couple of days during the reunion. His horse and buggy and his attire were high-lights of the parade. Many a youngster asked his mother what that thing was on the horse. It was a fly-net.

Dr. D. C. Hyder, J. R. Harrell and John Forkner produced full beards over night to sing on the "Gospel Singer's" float in the parade. The float was one of the outstanding entries in the parade and was the source of much comment.

E. M. Ewen, president of the Old Settlers Reunion Association who was reelected president for 1940, presided at the meetings of the old settlers under the tent at both Thursday and Friday sessions. Mr. Ewen has been a resident of the county for many years and has distinguished himself in many ways in the progress of this section of the Panhandle.

Carroll Smyers, general manager of the reunion and rodeo celebration, was like a "worm in hot ashes" for two days during the celebration. His efforts, however, bore fruit and the reunion and rodeo celebration went off without a hitch and was proclaimed one of the smoothest performances ever staged in West Texas.

"From the rock-bound coast of Maine to the sunny shores of California" took on a new meaning during the reunion and rodeo celebration here last week. As a matter of fact the old-time political spell-binder's favorite phrase became a reality. Mrs. Cordia Finger Wilson, was among the former Hall County residents present from California, and Mrs. Charlotte Bugbee Carter of Boston, Mass., represented the East coast.

A more than passing interest was manifest in the displays of relics and curios in the various show windows about town during the reunion and rodeo celebration. Thousands of people for hours before the tent and commented on the part of the various exhibits in the city made these entertaining displays. Much of the credit goes to John Deaver, chairman of the committee in charge.

Business conditions in Memphis during the reunion are the consensus of opinion. The Memphis merchants, stores, cafes, and grocers, "land-office" business lines of activity that thronged Memphis stores for two days, are only estimated at 40,000 and 30,000, respectively, assembled in this city.

Out-of-town banking in the opening of the Clarendon Band and the State Band. Both these musical performances well and color and effectiveness.

As though transiting the past, Mrs. T. E. Mrs. Chancy Taylor sent a lovely float of the '90's in their buggy and their costumes. One commented: "Ain't that look just like Mrs. Taylor when they were young?"

The Philco sound system to Memphis by Ray local Philco dealer, and useful feature of the reunion. During the just before each performance of the rodeo, the truck through the street had performance. At morning session of the sound truck was used to cast the proceedings.

roduced and each made short talks. Next to be introduced was Frank Reeves Sr., photographer and column writer of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Evening Session
The morning session was adjourned. From 2 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon of both days, a rest period for the old-timers was scheduled. Following the rodeo both nights, an old-time square dance was held at the tent pavilion.

On Thursday afternoon, beginning at 5 o'clock, varied entertainment for the old-timers was given. The program opened with several numbers by the truck drivers orchestra, and was followed by group singing.

Main attraction of the afternoon session was the entertainment given by Chief Baldwin Parker, son of the famous Quanah Parker, and his tribe of Comanche Indians. Chief Baldwin's daughter, Jo Ann Parker, and his son, Buster Parker, both sang solos. Several dances were given by the Indians, including the Indian war dance.

The Indian chief told the story of Cynthia Ann Parker, the white girl who was captured by the Indians in 1836, reared by the Comanches, married to Peter Nonca, an Indian, and later recaptured by her native white people.

Friday's Program
Opening the program for the second day of the reunion, several old-timers were introduced. Among these were Mrs. Oma Nation of Wheeler County, Mrs. Gertrude Arnold of Silverton, and T. L. Loveless of Shamrock, who registered as being 101 years of age.

Memorial services for old-timers who have died since the reunion of last year were conducted by Mrs. D. H. Davenport of Lakeview, secretary of the Old Settlers Association. The services opened with a group song, "Blest Be the Tie," which was followed by a prayer by Rev. W. L. Porterfield, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Memphis.

Mrs. Sid Baker told a story of "Mary and John," telling of the hardships and pleasures of a typical pioneer family. She was followed by the reading of two poems by their author, Mrs. Gertrude Arnold.

Next on the memorial services was a song, "Home on the Range," by a quartet. Mrs. Davenport then read the names of those who have died since last year's reunion, and called upon anyone who wished to do so to speak for the deceased persons. Several spoke in behalf of their deceased relatives and friends. This was followed by another song by the quartet.

Following the sounding of taps, Rev. E. C. Cargill, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, gave the sermon of the morning.

Morning Address
Mayor Wells next introduced the principal speaker of the morning, State Senator Small.

The keynote of Senator Small's address was that the early pioneers did not ask the government for help as many of the people do today. He said, however, that different problems have arisen in the course of time, and the government has found it necessary in many instances to step in and help the people in their difficulties.

Pointing out the things the government is now doing, Senator Small named the government work in old age assistance, state public school support, health programs, and road systems.

"This district is getting far more money back than it is paying in taxes," Small said.

Senator Small closed his address by saying that if our government was to be changed, it would not be from outside sources, but from the people of the United States themselves. The solution, he believes, is for the people to practice the spirit handed down by the old-timers, and to get more of the determination and self-reliance which the old-timers possessed.

Following the address, two state representatives, Jack Little of Amarillo, and Allen Harp of Kirkland were introduced.

At the conclusion of the program, the old settlers held the direction of R. E. Martin Jr. preceded each of the morning programs.

The program opened Thursday morning when Mayor J. Claude Wells introduced Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Brooks.

"This is the biggest day I ever saw," said Mr. Brooks, "because I am 93 years old today, and because I have been married 70 years today." Mr. Brooks then spoke for about twenty minutes, comparing the life in Hall County to what it was fifty years ago.

E. M. Ewen, president of the Old Settlers Reunion Association, was introduced and gave the welcome to visitors in the name of the association.

The official welcome address to visitors was then made by Judge Goodpasture. He pointed out that the spirit which made the pioneer men and women what they were could still be seen in the spirit of Mr. Brooks.

"There is something in the early pioneer spirit which we cannot afford to lose," said Judge Goodpasture. "Every man in the early days was his own dictator and managed his own affairs." He then concluded his speech by saying that the young people of today can do more pioneering by again building up the resources of the soil which have been broken down by the continual production of the same crops.

Response Address
District Attorney John Deaver, who assisted Mayor Wells during the program as master of ceremonies, introduced the next speaker, Deskins Wells of Wellington.

"I did not do any of my pioneering on a plow," said the young editor. "I did my pioneering in diapers." Mr. Wells then painted a word picture of the hospitality which was common in the early days, pointing out that strangers were always welcome in any home.

"We should seek to link the past with the present," Mr. Wells said. "But because of the many changes which have been made, the new way of life takes the place of the old." Mr. Wells added that the reason the early settlers were pioneers was because they attempted something new, and did something new.

He concluded his speech by saying that the young people of today should try to do something new, and thus would in a sense achieve immortality.

"If we can do this, and give to a good cause, we may die saying, I have fought the good fight. I have kept the faith," Mr. Wells concluded.

Closing the session of the first morning, Mayor Wells called on several old-timers for short speeches. The first one called upon was Mrs. Cordia Finney Wilson, former resident of Hall County, who came from Huntington Park, Calif., for the reunion.

John Gist of Odessa was then called upon. Mr. Gist came to Hall County in 1890, "because I couldn't go anywhere else." He told of his early life in the Elkhorn community, and then something of his life in Memphis from 1901 until 1913, when he moved to Odessa.

Men from the delegation from Amarillo, including John McCarty, Tom Sellers, Judge Henry S. Bishop, and Milton Cox, were in-

THE PIONEER SPIRIT

CITIZENS OF MEMPHIS and Hall County have just witnessed the greatest celebration which has ever been held in this section. Hall County's 1939 Old Settlers and Cowboy Reunion surpassed all records for attendance, for entertainment, and for enthusiasm. It was such a pronounced success that only superlatives can be used to describe it.

Twenty thousand visitors thronged the city during the two-day reunion and rodeo, and they were unanimous in their praise. Twenty thousand people can be wrong, but their endorsement is an excellent criterion for an occasion of this kind.

But the 1939 reunion was more than a gathering of old settlers, though that was its outstanding feature. It has marked, rather, the uniting of the people of an entire city and county into a driving force which must stand for progress. It is as though the spirit of the pioneers has been infused, through association, into their descendants to push them to greater heights.

The 1939 celebration was not made the success which it proved to be through the efforts of one person alone, or one group of persons. It required, and received, the wholehearted cooperation of the entire county and community.

Too much credit cannot be given to the business men of Memphis who undertook the celebration and guaranteed its presentation. Credit too must be given to the hundreds who contributed to its success through their efforts and assistance. To give the names of all who had a part in making this Reunion the most successful in history would be a task comparable to taking the county census . . . and in that fact lies the secret of an outstanding accomplishment.

Most significant of all, however, is the fact that throughout the mass of enthusiastic celebrants who were already achieving the superlative there ran an undercurrent of feeling that next year, when Memphis observes a Fiftieth Anniversary, the celebration must surpass anything that has been done before.

Plans are already being made, before the shouting has died from the 1939 reunion, for a greater celebration to commemorate a Golden Anniversary in 1940. And with a great body of people solidly united behind a single idea, there can be no failure. Hall County is growing up, but it has not lost the pioneer spirit which stands for progress.

ROUND-ROBIN THANKS

FROM THE PRESIDENT of the Old Settlers Association: "Again the Old Settlers Reunion is history, and in the name of the members I want to thank all who in any way contributed to the comfort and entertainment of those of us who were present, and following my precedents, I will not single out any individual or group to compliment for fear I would leave out some one. I will say that it will remain in our memory as long as we may live as one of the pleasant thoughts that you so generously contributed of your time, talent, and effort to make pleasant the years that remain to us. It has been remarked in my presence times unnumbered that 'you have one of the most appreciative counties of the aged in which it has ever been my lot to live and surely the Lord will remember such a people.'"

Ever since we organized the Reunion I have had it brought to my mind the thoughtful consideration that has been shown to the old, and I can wish for this noble people no greater blessing than the consideration you have shown us. I can't refrain from saying a few words in regard to our first effort in providing entertainment in a grand way. I refer to the Rodeo. If I am a judge and if what I've heard from others who are qualified to judge is so, we have made a grand success. I have heard only commendation, and it is a matter of pride to us that everything was done on such a high plane of morality and justice.

(Signed) E. M. Ewen, for Old Settlers Association.

AND FROM THE RODEO COMMITTEE: Mack Wilson, on behalf of the entire committee, expresses appreciation and hearty thanks to all who gave their assistance in making the Memphis Rodeo the success which it was. The committee asked the privilege of using these columns to thank all who aided them in any way.

FROM OTTIE JONES AND THE AMERICAN LEGION: Through the columns of The Democrat, we want to thank the various communities and the people of this territory who responded to the call to help make the Pioneer Parade the success which it was. We do not wish to single out any one community or individual for the help they rendered for they all did themselves proud, as has been evidenced by the many compliments we have heard. Especially, however, do we want to thank the Mill Iron boys for their work in the parade since they represented the real "frontier" of today, as well as that of yesterday. Since this was the American Legion's first parade to stage in Memphis, we felt proud of the opportunity to serve, and are glad that we were called on to line it up. Thank you again for your cooperation.

SO NOW THE DEMOCRAT on behalf of all the people of Hall County wishes to express appreciation to the officers and directors, committeemen and helpers, of the Old Settlers Reunion and Rodeo, for their splendid job in providing entertainment and welcome. Since the Reunion was by and for the people of the entire county, we feel that the people should thank the group who accepted the responsibility of directing a huge show . . . rather than accepting the thanks of the directors.

Now that everyone appreciates everyone else, it's a wonderful world and we hope it lasts!

Courageous Elijah

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 6.
 Text: 1 Kings 18:30-39.

WE have seen that King Aza and his son, King Jehoshaphat, were both confronted with widespread corruption in Israel, because of the idolatrous worship in which the people were imitating pagan peoples who surrounded them. As we have indicated, this was not merely a matter of mistaken ideas in religion, but the worship of Baal was associated with licentious practices contrary to the fine ideals of home, family, and social relationships, which were so inculcated by the religion of Israel.

We forget perhaps at times the extent to which these ideals of home life and integrity of love relationships are a product of Jewish life and religion. It would be well, in an age when, without idolatrous worship, or with idolatrous worship in other forms, there seems so great danger of society's lapsing into loose and evil practices, if we could revive something of that nobility and purity of life upon which Elijah insisted.

Elijah seems to have stood with the minority in Israel, though he had a great many more followers than he was disposed to believe in his moments of discouragement.

OUR lesson centers around the famous test by fire, in which Elijah had a sign from heaven and put the prophets of Baal to rout. We can neither explain nor comment upon the miraculous aspect of the narrative, but the one thing that does stand out so strongly is the integrity and honor of Elijah in contrast with the trickery and deceit that have always been a part of false religion and of the activity of false prophets.

The ultimate test of the true, as distinguished from the false, is the sincerity and unselfishness of all true religious faith and action. Elijah was not in any sense a self-seeker, nor had he in mind the establishing of his own power or authority. He began in his test by fire by calling all the people to him. We must remember that, despite the high teachings and ideals that emerged, it was a crude and raw age when people were more apt to be influenced by outward demonstrations than by the inner integrity of truth and righteousness. The people were tremendously impressed with the miracle that they saw, and we are told that they fell on their faces and said, "Jehovah, he is God; Jehovah, he is God." How genuine was this demonstration and its repentance we cannot tell, but Elijah's triumph as the prophet of the living God was complete. That is, it was complete except for Elijah himself.

AS has so often happened in the world, we find the man of courage despondent and weakening after he has fulfilled his purpose. He cries out to God in a voice of despair even in his hour of victory, complaining that all Israel has become recreant and that he only is left among the faithful. The divine voice had to remind him that 7000 had not bowed the knee to Baal, which after all was a considerable company in support of the prophet.

It is in accord with human experience that the hour of deep discouragement often follows the time of greatest triumph. Perhaps it is due to the fact that even a good man succumbs to the physical strain, and that the demoniac attacks him when he has the least strength to resist. But Elijah stands, none the less, as a great figure of faith and of courage. We think of him in his hour of faith and victory, rather than in his mood of unwarranted isolation. He was only one among the faithful.

Agricultural Department Attacked Farm Problem With 3-Part Program

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON—A glance at the figures is enough to show that the major problems of agriculture are still far from solved. That, of course, explains why this year's agricultural appropriation bill carried the largest sum in its history.

Heavy carry-overs of crops, dwindling export markets, expanding domestic production—these are the three forms which the problem takes in the big-scale production commodities such as wheat, cotton, corn, and pork.

To meet them, the Department of Agriculture has turned to a three-part program. It seeks, first, to adjust production so that the gap between what is grown and what can be marketed profitably will be narrowed. Second, it is trying at least to hold what remains of the export markets. And thirdly, it is trying to increase domestic distribution of the surpluses.

COTTON is a case in point. Since 1932, the carry-over from one year to the next—that is, the part of each annual crop which was neither sold abroad nor consumed at home—has never been less than 4,400,000 bales, and it has on occasion risen as high as 9,600,000 bales. Total stocks on hand at the end of 1938, thus, stood roughly at 13,000,000 bales; all of which is piled up in addition to the year's production—which, of itself, is more than enough to meet the year's requirements.

The nation's consumption of cotton since 1932 has ranged between 5,300,000 bales and 7,900,000 bales; its exports have been dropping until the figure for 1938 is estimated at less than 3,500,000 bales; and only once in the years since the New Deal came in has production been under 10,000,000 bales, while it has frequently been far above that.

Bobbie Clark Becomes Bride of James Greer In Recent Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Clark this week announced the recent marriage of their daughter, Bobbie, to James Greer of Bakersfield, Calif.

The young couple were married in a quiet ceremony at the Methodist parsonage in Buffalo, Okla., on July 9. Rev. George B. Baker, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Buffalo, read the impressive ring ceremony.

The bride wore a white crepe sport dress with Japonica accessories. The couple was unattended.

Mrs. Greer is a graduate of Memphis High school, receiving her diploma with the class of 1936. She was high school pep squad leader and, during her senior year, was elected Most Popular Girl by local students. Following her graduation, she attended Clarendon Junior College, and is now employed as society reporter for The Memphis Democrat.

Mr. Greer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Greer of Estelline. He is a graduate of Estelline High school and of West Texas State College at Canyon, receiving a degree of Bachelor of Science from the latter institution with the class of 1937. He was a popular student at Canyon, and was a member of Epsilon Beta fraternity.

Mr. Greer is now employed as a geologist by a major oil company, and is stationed at the present at Bakersfield where he is working in the field of geophysics.

The young couple plan to make their home at Long Beach, Calif. Mr. Greer has returned to resume his work in California, and Mrs. Greer will remain in Memphis for the present.

MORE "GOOD NEIGHBORLINESS?"
FOR THE PAST TWO MONTHS Memphis has been playing good neighbor to many surrounding communities . . . and apparently everyone has enjoyed it. Hundreds of Memphians have banded together to motor to neighboring cities and communities with entertaining programs and friendly hand-shakes. They have been met at every stop with enthusiasm to match their own.
 There is no doubt that the "good neighbor" trips accomplished a great deal toward uniting Hall County communities solidly behind the Pioneer Reunion this year, and it is to that support that the Reunion owes a large measure of its success.
 Now that the Reunion is past, however, there is still need for closer bonds of friendship between the people of this county and this entire area. Why should the good work of the neighborly visits be discontinued? Memphis, if it is to keep its title as "the friendly city," should take the lead in promoting good will and making "good neighbors." Why not plan to continue the series of "good neighbor" expeditions? Well, why not?

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
The pastor will bring a message Sunday morning on the subject, "Places for Finding Rest" with Psalms 116:7 as the text. In the hurry and unrest of the busy life that we live, we do well to say with the psalmist, "Return unto thy rest, O my soul; for the Lord hath dealt bountifully with thee."

The Sunday evening message will be on the subject, "Members of His Body," with Ephesians 5:30 as the text. Some analogies will be referred to in this message which ought to make us give greater consideration to our place in the church. Let us invite all our friends to these services.

The Sunday School and B. T. U. are doing good work. We are proud of the work which the superintendent, Hayden Goodnight, and the general director, George Cullin, are doing. We urge everyone to cooperate with them. Come to the mid-week services on Wednesday evening. There is always something interesting for you there.

Andy Womack, dressed as the prospecting desert rat of the century past, was good for many a laugh as he brought up the tail-end of both parades at the reunion and rodeo. Andy, riding bareback on a flea-bitten nag, had hung his kettles, pots and pans around the plug's neck and was dressed befitting his characterization. He stated he was camped down by the spring under a cottonwood tree and invited all comers to have sow-bosom and beans here. While others watched the entertainment, Mr. Womack the outskirts of the tent. Said Mr. Royal, "I know much for rodeos. I just to see some of the people to know."

Conversation overheard at the rodeo: "Have you seen Andy Womack?" "No, but he's here." "Well, even in Hall County is, why not?"

Frank Royal of Wellington, who came to Hall County first in 1894, came Friday to greet old friends here. While others watched the entertainment, Mr. Womack the outskirts of the tent. Said Mr. Royal, "I know much for rodeos. I just to see some of the people to know."

J. P. Drake and Bill were Wellington visitors here.
