MISTROT BROS. & COMPANY'S

Big Bankrupt Sale of DRY GOODS, CLOTHING and SHOES, Bought at 67½ Cents on the Dollar Continues Without a Precedent! Now is Your Opportunity To Make Your Purchases!

Mistrot Bros. & Co's. big wholesale house at Galveston, Texas, occupies one solid block three stories high, headquarters for our 25 retail stores in Texas. Stock on hand over one million dollars worth of Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes and Notions. Annual sale at wholesale to merchants outside of our own stores, for the year 1900, $1,250,00 for strictly spot cash. Annual sale of our 25 retail stores, $1.850,675.62. Over $4,000,000 worth of Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoes handled by this concern in Texas for the year 1900—more goods than any other concern in the south. $40,000 stock handled at the Dublin store alone. 10 sales-people now employed at the Dublin store to handle the big business we are doing this season, in the face of existing conditions. "Prices will tell." It is human nature for the people to make their money go as far as possible and they will trade where they are offered the biggest inducements. That is a simple fact in a nut shell. That is why Mistrot Bros. & Co. are selling more Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoes than any two other concerns in Dublin combined. The trade is quick to discern between the long winded profits of the credit merchants and merchandise figured on actual cash basis. Mistrot's Big Bankrupt Sale is the talk of Dublin and surrounding country. The little would-be competitors are paralized at the prices Mistrot is selling goods. They say that Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoes are being sold at Mistrot's at prices they have to pay for the same goods on the St. Louis market, and that Mistrot Bros. & Co. are simply demorilizing the Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoe business in Dublin and selling goods without a profit. We are glad they think so, but we must beg to contradict this last assertion. We have this to say to our little "calamity howlers:" We have come to Dublin to stay, and to do the Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoe business as we are now doing in 25 other towns in Texas, where we have been established twenty-five years, in some places. We are now a solid fixture in our new quarters in Dublin, to do business on fair and square business principles irrespective of persons or sets. "The most goods for the least money" is our standard—we make a small profit on every thing we sell, we are satisfind with the average, we don't want the "earth with a barbed wire fence around it," we believe in the live and let live plan. On a short crop year, we are satisfied to cut our profits in two and whack up with our customers. The trade will appreciate our efforts to save them money on their purchases when they most need it and to build up in Dublin the greatest Dry Goods business in west Texas, with One Price, Spot Cash to all alike, on a big sale and small profit plan. We invite comparison of quality and price at all times. Goods sold strictly on their own merits. We are back of every tranaction made in our store. Any goods bought from us not satisfactory may be returned and we refund your money cheerfully. We call that fair, square dealing. Don't you?

HIS LIFE THREATENED

Judge Cantrill Being Guarded During the Powers Trial.

HEALTH IS NOT GOOD

Cot Taken to the Court Room for the Judge's Use—Three Witnesses Give Testimony in Behalf of the Commonwealth.

Georgetown, Oct. 17.—The friends of Judge James E. Cantrill are guarding him closely, as it is reported threats have been made against his life. Mrs. Cantrill ordered a cot to be taken to the courthouse to be used by the judge, who is not in good health. As the man entered the courthouse yesterday morning with the cot he was compelled to elbow his way through a crowd of mountaineers at the door.

"What's that cot for?" asked one of the men.

"For Judge Cantrill," replied the man.

"Take it on. He will need that cot before this trial is over," said one of the men.

The man left the cot in the office of the commissioners and hastened back to tell Mrs. Cantrill what he had heard.

Mrs. Cantrill notified Commonwealth Attorney Franklin, and all possible arrangements were then made looking to the safety of the judge.

Frank Heeny, who saw Goebel fall, was the first witness yesterday in the trial of ex-Secretary of State Powers.

Graham Vreeland, the next witness, described "the crowd from the mountains," and told of meeting of mountaineers in the agricultural building in which it was proposed that "they go to the Capital hotel and get Goebel."

H. K. Watkins, captain of the military company at Williamsburg, Whatley county, said John L. Powers told him of men in Frankfort who could give the governor an excuse to call out the militia. He said Powers wanted him to take his company to the capitol. Powers said for the men to take their guns, but not wear their uniforms. Watkins said he refused.

Numerous witnesses testified during the day, but their testimony was a repetition of that given at the first trial.

Cut Off Her Hair.

Navasota, Tex., Oct. 17.—There is a young lady here named Miss Mary Kennedy, noted for her long, beautiful hair. Some one, the authorities think a Mexican, found out where Miss Kennedy lived and slept and Tuesday night he waited at her home until she retired. Miss Kennedy and Miss Alice Cone slept together in a bed near a window. The Mexican, or whoever it was, gained entrance through this window and cut off Miss Cone's hair instead of Miss Kennedy's. While cutting off her hair he cut an ugly gash in her head. Finding that he had made a mistake he threw away the hair he had cut before he left.

Duluth Bids Towne Farewell.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 17.—Eight hundred men of all shades of political opinion sat down at the farewell banquet tendered by Duluth citizens to Charles A. Towne at the armory Wednesday night, while fully 500 ladies were present in the galleries to hear the speeches of William J. Bryan, Mr. Towne and others after the discussion of the menu. The affair was non-partisan and carried out with the intention of the promoters to make it a testimonial to Mr. Towne's personal popularity among his friends and neighbors.

TO CHANGE THE NAME.

Episcopal Conference Refer to a Committee to Report in 1904.

San Francisco, Oct. 17.—Considerable routine business was transacted at Wednesday's session of the triennial Episcopal convention. In the house of deputies was an animated debate on the proposition to change the name of the church. This question did not come up as a direct issue, but on a motion to concur with the house of bishops in creating a joint commission to which the subject should be referred. There was much division of sentiment in regard to the matter. A proposal to refuse to consider the question in any form was strongly supported, but this, it was argued, would fail to show proper respect to the house of bishops. Finally, the reference of the subject to a joint committee was agreed upon.

No further action will be taken until the meeting of the general convention in 1904.

The house of depties unanimously elected Dr. Cameron Mann of Kansas City to be missionary bishop of North Dakota.

The Huntington amendment to article 10 of the constitution which was adopted Thursday by the house of deputies was nonconcurred in by the bishops.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION.

Venezuelan Troops on Guajaira Will Not Invade Colombia.

Willeistadt, Island of Curacoa, Oct. 16.—Advices received here from Maracaibo, Venezuela, under date of Tuesday say that the Venezuelan troops on the Guajaira peninsula are in a condition of utter confusion. Robberies and outrages by Indians continue. The entire Indian population is against the Venezuelans and the latter dare not leave their camps. The Indians are ambushing and killing small parties.

Demoralization is spreading among the Venezuelan troops and there is increasing sickness among them. Four deserters from the Venezuelan ranks were recently caught and shot.

The Venezuelans at Guajaira are in no condition to assume the aggressive against Colombia, hence there is little likelihood of fighting.

The Tachira frontier is still quiet; rains in the mountains preventing active operations, if any were contemplated. Few troops are being moved towards Guajaira and Tachira.

Venezuela for the present is maintaining the status on the frontier.

ASTOR AS ENGINEER.

Runs an Engine on the Lake Shore Road En Route to Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—John Jacob Astor of New York dropped the role of millionaire and took up that of a locomotive engineer for a time Wednesday. With blue jeans overalls and buckskin gloves he sat on the right of a locomotive cab and piloted the fast mail on the Lake Shore road. It was not a record-breaking performance, but it came very near the mark and proved that at least one of the New York "Four Hundred" can do things out of the usual.

Colonel Astor was scheduled to come to Chicago in company with President Fish of the Illinois Central to attend the annual meeting. He missed the train to which was attached the president's private car at Elkhart and decided to complete the trip on the engine. The engineer invited his guest to "take the reins" and the invitation was accepted.

Now Up to Pat Crow.

Omaha, Oct. 17.—Chief of Police Donahue says the next move on the board is up to Pat Crowe, in the case in which the alleged kidnaper had attracted so much attention. Practically all of the conditions laid down for his surrender have been complied with and the chief says he expects Crowe to put in an appearance before the last day of the month. The county attorney has agreed to recommend to the court a bond of $500 if Crowe voluntarily gives himself up, as this is as near as that condition can be met. Chief Donahue says he has done all he can and is now waiting for the result.

Big Springs to Have a Library.

Big Springs, Tex., Oct. 17.—Big Springs is to have a public library, which is to be conducted under the auspices of the state association of the Young Men's Christian Association. Miss Helen Gould has contributed $1000 and the Texas and Pacific Railway company has contributed a site for the building and $4000 in cash. In addition to this the citizens of Big Springs are required to give as much as $1500. The building is to be a 2-story structure, with all the late conveniences. There are to be bathrooms, readingrooms, games, tenpin alley, etc.

Nothing Known at Shreveport.

Shreveport, La., Oct. 17.—Nothing is known here of the reported capture of Prince or Ford Edwards at East St. Louis, Ills. Not a single word, either confirmatory or contradictory in character, has been received from there. John Henrys, the negro detective mentioned in the dispatches, is known here as Frank Walker, the "black detective," and had a sort of roving commission to capture Edwards.

Tramp Lost His Life.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 17.—John Bowden, a tramp, was killed in a wreck on the Southern Pacific a few miles west of the city. Bowden was stealing a ride when the car jumped the track and he was mangled almost beyond recognition. He lived long enough after the accident to tell his name.

SCHLEY COURT INQUIRY.

Captain Cook Is Recalled to the Stand to Testify Further.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The Schley court of inquiry began proceedings Wednesday as usual with correction of testimony given on the previous day. The witnesses summoned for this purpose being Captain Cook and Lieutenant Commander Sears. When they left the stand Commander Newton E. Mason, who was an executive officer on the Brooklyn during the war with Spain, was called to state his observations and conduct in Santiago campaign.

It is the purpose of Mr. Rayner to first examine the officers of the Brooklyn, and to follow these with a number of those who were on the Oregon during the battle off Santiago. It is understood his entire list of witnesses are practically confined to persons who were on board these two vessels.

Mr. Rayner will soon present some questions to the court which he says he desired to ask one of Admiral Schley's witnesses concerning certain signal's which were sent from Admiral Sampson's flagship, the New York, on the morning of July 3, before that vessel left Siboney, for the purpose of allowing the commander-in-chief of the naval forces to consult with General Shafter. These signals, Mr. Rayner contends, had the effect of placing the entire fleet under the command of Commodore Schley, and on this account he urges their relevancy.

While Captain Cook occupied the witness stand for the purpose of correcting his testimony, Mr. Hanna asked him:

"Referring to your statement in regard to steam required to be kept up in connection with the uncoupling of the Brooklyn's engines that it was the order of the commander-in-chief while lying off Santiago on blockade, was that a written order?"

"My recollection is that it was a bulletin. The exact words I do not remember."

Captain Cook was questioned again concerning the voyage of the flying squadron from Cienfuegos to Santiago.

"Did the flying squadron, when proceeding from Cienfuegos to Santiago proceed with all dispatch, asked Mr. Hanna.

"Throwing out of consideration surrounding circumstances and conditions that have already been testified to, I should say so."

"But putting in surrounding circumstances you would say 'yes' would you not?" asked Mr. Rayner.

"Yes," the witness replied, and explained that by surrounding circumstances he meant bad weather and the condition of the Texas' coal supply.

Commander Mason, the first new witness of the day, was asked by Mr. Rayner how many times he had seen Commodore Schley under fire, to which he replied:

"During all the engagements."

"What was his general conduct, manner and bearing on these occasions?"

"Excellent in every particular. He was calm, collected and brave," replied the witness.

Lieutenant Edward McCauley, Jr., who was signal officer and Lieutenant Charles Webster, who had charge of the forward gun deck battery of the Brooklyn during the battle off Santiago and was a watch officer on board that ship, also testified Wednesday. Commander Mason and Lieutenant's McCauley and Webster all gave accounts of the engagements of July 3.

Mr. McCauley recited in detail the signals made in connection with that historical event at the instance of Commodore Schley. When asked if Commodore Schley had said anything during the battle for the encouragement of the men, the witness replied that he several times had said: "Give 'em hell, boys." All these witnesses testified that the conduct of the commodore when under fire was cool and courageous.

Texas Cotton Shortage.

Houston, Oct. 17.—Reports from all sections of the state show that the disaster to the Texas cotton crop is every bit as great as represented. In many sections of the state picking has been completed, and the crop is shown to be from 25 to 35 per cent less than that of last year. This, together with the loss of cotton seed products, means a total shrinkage of $50,000,000.

A New Canal Treaty.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Senator Morgan of Alabama has had a talk with the president about the prospects of the Nicaragua canal bill at the coming session of congress. The president told Senator Morgan he would submit to the senate a new treaty on the subject, which more nearly met his views than the first Hay-Pauncefote treaty, but he did not go into particulars.

ESTIMATES OF NAVY.

Will Require $20,000,000 More Than for Last Year.

SHIPS NOT INCLUDED

It Is More Than Likely the Secretary Will Recommend the Construction of Three Battleships and Two More Cruisers.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The estimates for the navy of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, have been made public at the navy department. The total amount is $98,910,984 against $77,924,535, appropriated for the current year.

These efforts do not cover any recommendation for increases in the navy over that already authorized, but it is more than likely the secretary will recommend three new battleships and two armored cruisers and a number of small gun boats.

Among the new items of importance in the estimates are the following:

Norfolk yard, $1,208,500, including $350,000 for the purchase of land; for the naval station at San Juan, Porto Rico, $2,613,000; $650,000 for a plant for housing and storing torpedo vessels at Pensacola; $108,000 for the naval station at Tutuila, Samoa; $381,000 for the Cavite naval station, which includes $260,000 for a refrigerating plant; for a a complete naval station at Olongapo, Philippine islands, $1,443,000.

Of this number the enrollment in public institutions supported by general and local taxes was 15,443,462.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

House of Deputies as a Whole Adopted Resolutions as Presented.

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—The house of deputies of the Episcopal church of America, sitting as a committee of the whole, adopted the proposed canon prohibiting the remarriage of divorced persons for causes not arising previous to their former marriage. The canon was adopted just as it came from the house of bishops. The vote stood 182 for to 158 against.

The amendment of Dr. Huntington of New York making an exception in the case of an innocent party of a divorce granted on the ground of adultery, was rejected by a vote of 158 to 173.

The result of the vote in the committee of the whole was reported to the house of deputies who will vote on the matter. The result, however, may not be the same, for in the house the vote of 30 delegations is required to carry a measure.

The house of deputies also adopted the resolutions presented by Dr. McKim of Washington, providing for a standing joint commission of both houses to consider the relations of labor and capital. In other words to assist in the settlement of strikes.

The house of deputies also held an executive session to consider the five nominations for missionary bishops handed down in the house of bishops. The election resulted in the choice of the following:

Rev. James A. Ingle, district of Hankow.

Rev. Charles H. Brent, district of the Philippines.

Rev. Frederick W. Keator, district of Olympia.

Rev. William Cabell Brown, district of Porto Rico.

The only nomination rejected was that of Rev. Charles Pierce, to be missionary bishop of North Dakota.

"NERVE WASTE."

Is the title of a little book (now in its fourth edition) by H. C. Sawyer, the eminent San Francisco physician. It is indorsed by both religious and secular papers of the country, strong papers like the Oakland Pacific Baptist, Boston Congregationalist, San Francisco Occident, Christian Advocate, Peck's Sun, Cleveland Plain Dealer, Baltimore Sun, Providence Journal, Chicago Inter-Ocean, etc. Public Opinion of Washington, D. C., says: "Nerve Waste as a title is so suggestive of quacks that even if the book has other merit than its honesty it would scarcely deserve mention for that," and adds: "There has probably never appeared a work on the subject as high-toned, unselfishly honest, and the book so nearly commensurate with the apparent needs." The Occident says: "There are so many quacks and charlatans that many need just such sensible and reliable information as Dr. Sawyer gives. We heartily commend his book." The Boston Herald says: "It should be in the hands of every person who has trouble of the kind, for it is calculated to point the way to relief as unerringly as a physician who would charge many dollars could do."

Hundreds of thousands of men, young and old, are being bled by charlatans and quacks who prey upon their unfortunate condition. It is worse they even sell each other the names and addresses of the unfortunates they have, so they new more of themselves, would be bled by the vampires that are growing fat off of them. This book will tell you all about themselves and what to do. It will save them from the clutches of the would-be and heartless pretenders this country has ever produced. A sample chapter will be sent free in plain, sealed envelope, for two 2-cent stamps, that fully explains and illustrates the average case from beginning to end, and gives the formulae for the remedies used, only the standard drugs to be found in any drug store being used. The book is 25 cents (stamps) by mail postpaid, and it is guaranteed that there will be sufficient sale in a continuous advertising that will reach and put this book in the hands of every person needing it in the United States.

ECUMENICAL CONFERENCE.

Methodists From All Over the World to Meet In London.

Representative Methodists from all over the world are making their way to London, where, on Wednesday, Sept. 4, the third Methodist ecumenical conference will meet, says the Philadelphia Ledger. Once every ten years Methodists hold such a world's conference to discuss questions of moment to the denomination and to compare notes as to the status of all its branches. Ten years ago the conference met in the Metropolitan Methodist church at Washington. The first conference, 20 years ago, was held in City Road chapel, London, which is also to be the meeting place this year. City Road chapel is the birthplace of Methodism. It was here that John Wesley preached, and he is buried within its walls. The old pulpit from which the founder of Methodism spoke is still in use, and from it the conference sermon will be preached by Bishop Galloway of the Methodist Church South. Five hundred delegates will sit in the conference, 300 being assigned to the western section and 200 to the eastern. The western section comprises all branches of the Methodist church in the United States and Canada, including their foreign work, and the eastern is composed of British Methodists and affiliated conferences and mission fields.

Delegates to the ecumenical conference of this year will represent nearly 1,000,000 more members than did those to the Washington conference. In 1891, when the latter body met, the total number of members of Methodist churches in the world was 6,503,959. Of these 5,382,375 belonged to the American churches. In the ten years Methodist membership in the world has grown to 7,402,913, the American figures being 6,201,250. There has been a proportionate growth in the number of churches. Ten years ago there were 57,196 in the whole world, 57,465 being in America. There is now a total of 83,870 churches, of which 58,685 are on this side of the Atlantic ocean or are affiliated with the church organizations here. Methodists in the United States are divided into 17 organizations, of which the largest is the body known popularly as the Methodist Church North. This had at last reports 2,746,191 members, while the next largest body is the Methodist Church South, with a membership of 1,470,520. There are several organizations of colored Methodists, the largest having 675,462 members.

TO BUILD A VENICE.

Lawson Said to Be Projecting One on Maine Coast.

Thomas W. Lawson is going to build a miniature Venice on the coast of Maine, says a Boston dispatch to the New York Times. He has bought and paid for two islands off Stonington and has an option on 12 others which he will pay for when the titles are proved to his satisfaction.

These islands are situated in Isle au Haut bay and are about 15 miles from the mainland. The islands are not bits of rock and earth, for one of them, Saddleback, the largest of the group, contains over 40 acres. The islands are close together, and many of them can be connected by bridge. They are all covered with a heavy growth of spruce and fir balsam.

It is said that Mr. Lawson will build a magnificent castle on Saddleback and clear the island for golf links and tennis courts. Those who know him best say he intends to put the matter into the hands of a famous landscape artist, who will furnish plans which will transform the Lawson group of islands into a "Venice in America."

The smaller islands will be cleared of everything unsightly, and everything which shows the rugged beauty of the group will be left untouched. The Lawson islands are grouped around Saddleback, and every one is in easy range. Their formation is such that it makes a perfect harbor for an even larger vessel than Mr. Lawson's steam yacht, the Decamer. The estimated cost of the islands is $60,000. The total cost of the "Venice in America," it is said, will be $1,000,000.

NEW USE FOR AUTOS.

Connecticut Church Brilliantly Lighted In a Novel Manner.

Something went wrong with the electric lighting facilities of the Congregational church in Stratford, leaving the building in total darkness, says a Bridgeport (Conn.) despatch to the New York World. Minister and members of the congregation were in a quandary until one of the deacons suggested that each member go home and bring back a kerosene lamp and light the church in the old fashioned way.

Just then Frederick C. Beach, editor of The Scientific American, who is summering in Stratford, appeared in his electric automobile. He was informed that there was no electricity for lighting the church.

"I think we can fix that," replied Mr. Beach. He then ran his auto around to the rear of the church, backed it up to a window, connected the storage batteries to the feed wire, and in two minutes the darkened interior of the church was brilliantly illuminated.

At the conclusion of the services Mr. Beach unhitched his auto from the feed wire, ran around in front of the church, took his family in and sped up the street to his home.

The church people have extended to Mr. Beach a vote of thanks.

A British Scheme.

The English have originated a new scheme for sending prisoners aboard at Port Natal. The Boers are swung on to the ship in a suspended basket operated by a crane. The captives have expressed disgust at being swung aboard like live stock, but their protests are of no avail.

SOUTH AMERICAN CLASH.

The Cause of Revolutions as Described by a Colombian.

"Now that the present revolution in Colombia and the difficulties with the surrounding republics have reached an acute stage, involving perhaps international questions, the views of a Colombian gentleman with whom I made the trip across the isthmus will prove of interest," said Adelbert Foster of New York to a Washington Star reporter the other morning. "I asked him why it was that the Central and South American countries seemed to be perpetually in a state of revolt. I will give you his words as nearly as I can recollect them:

"'A revolution here,' he said, 'does not mean the same to us as a revolt against the organized government would mean in the United States, as in the case of the civil war in your country. You may change your government as to its rulers as you desire by your ballots. We have not the same general intelligence here as with you, though we are republics with the right of franchise. You may overthrow the administration in power with ease and without bloodshed. We may accomplish this result usually only by what you call a "revolution." If the revolutionists triumph, they become the party in power. The result is accepted, the new government continues in power until by its exactions it in turn becomes the object of overthrow on the part of the opposition, and thus the wheel revolves with its attending wars. Were the elections conducted as are yours, if the people possessed the same degree of intelligence as to their rights and their peaceable enforcement, revolutions would not occur. We are a different race, fixed in the belief that by the force of arms alone may we gain our rights as we see them, and this is the great main reason why the so called revolutionsts have such a strong following among the people and are able to muster so many men in the field against the government. If they succeed, they become the government.'

"I found the people very friendly to Americans, and many told me that if we had been behind the building of the canal water would have flowed in the ditch from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and I have no doubt it would."

SAVED BY AGUINALDO'S WIFE.

American Woman Says She Prevented a Massacre at Manila.

Miss L. M. Owen, a member of the American Association For the Advancement of Science, who was in Denver recently attending its convention, was in Manila in May, 1900, and says, according to the New York Sun, that Manila would have been captured and burned and the inhabitants massacred if it had not been for the bravery of one woman, the wife of Aguinaldo.

"There was a well planned scheme a year ago last May for a general uprising of the natives in Manila," she says. "The plan was to set fires in various parts of the suburbs, which would divert the attention of the guards, and while they were busy extinguishing these fires in outlying sections the insurgents were to storm the city. Orders had been given for a wholesale massacre of men, women and children. All this was prevented by the loyalty and devotion of Aguinaldo's wife, who at the risk of her life betrayed the plans to the officers in the city. She had some time previously been taken prisoner and, much to her surprise, was very kindly treated. The time came when she could repay it a thousandfold, and she did it, though discovery meant death to her. The plot naturally was discussed in her presence, and she gave full information to the army officers, thus preventing the most horrible massacre of modern times.

"The facts have been well known in army circles, but have been kept sacredly secret on account of the danger to Mrs. Aguinaldo in case the insurgents discovered them."

Bowling by English Women.

Bowling is being revived in England as a game for women, and it is predicted that in another year it will have taken the place of tennis. It was a favorite game with fashionable women about a hundred years ago.

The Dying Porter.

A porter of the Pullmans lay dying on the train;
His eyes were rolling feebly, like the eyes that look in vain.
His whiskbroom lay beside him; his weary, trembling lips
Should never more be smiling to lure reluctant tips.
He raised upon his elbow and murmured soft and low:
"Oh, put 'em—put 'em—put 'em—put 'em off at Buffalo!

"De gemman f'm Chicago he stahted hit las' night;
He say ter put him off dah er he sholy gwine ter fight.
De man f'm Oklahoma he tip dis chile er half
En say, 'Now, put me off, Gawge,' en co'se I'ze bleeged ter laugh.
De man in lower sebben he say hit three times moah,
'Oh, put 'em—put 'em—put 'em—put 'em off at Buffalo!'

"Dey ain't no man ner woman ner chile dat go half fare
Dat ain't repeat dat statement wif er cu'ious kin' er air.
I'ze hea'd hit day en night time f'm hyah ter Kokomo;
De fust t'ing dat dey all say, 'Put me off at Buffalo,'
En den dey look fer laughteh 'twell I cain laugh no mo'—
Oh, put 'em—put 'em—put 'em—put 'em off at Buffalo!

"Dey shout it in de mawnin', dey say hit all day through,
En I mus' keep on laughin' so to make dem t'ink it's new.
Goodby"— His voice grew fainter; his smile was one of peace;
His weary spirit fluttered and shortly found release;
He sighed again, "I'ze goin' ter de shinin' golden sho',
But put 'em—put 'em—put 'em—put 'em off at Buffalo!"

FEATURES OF THE FAIR.

St. Louis Exposition to Have Exhibits of Strange Peoples.

Fred W. Lehmann of St. Louis, representing the committee on ethnological exhibits in the forthcoming show to celebrate the Louisiana purchase, came here with President Thomas H. Carter of the United States commission for the fair to lay before the authorities and the ethnologists of the Smithsonian institution plans now being developed for quite the most ambitious exhibits of savage and semicivilized peoples ever undertaken, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Times.

"The St. Louis exposition is not to be a dead, motionless exposition if we can help it," said Mr. Lehmann. "It is our purpose, and I am helping carry it out, to have a moving exposition. Instead of making the ethnological exhibits mere side shows in a midway it is hoped that we shall bring together some 75 groups of peoples in numbers sufficient to make little villages of them, presenting them just as they live when at home. Whatever they are accustomed to do in the way of labor, their ways in the hunt or in fishing, their ideas of farming or manufacture, are to be shown to visitors.

"With proper use of time it is expected that we shall not be content with Chinese and Japanese exhibits in this way, but that we shall bring to St. Louis types from Asia and Africa and the Pacific islands that are stranger than some of the races introduced in another way to visitors to former expositions.

"You see, the ethnological exhibits are to correspond to the general idea of the whole exposition of 1893, which is to be one of industrial processes rather than of finished products alone. It may seem ambitious, ut we intend, for instance, to let everybody have a chance to see iron as it comes out of the mine, as it is converted into pigs, to let them follow it to the steel mill, thence to the rolling mill and go on with the metal until it is drawn into railroad iron, steel wire, wire nails and perhaps other forms finished for use.

BOY PREACHER'S SUCCESS.

Jack Cook Drawing Crowds at Ocean Grove.

Jack Cook, the 15-year-old boy preacher who is preaching at Ocean Grove, N. J., is drawing big crowds. The young evangelist appears in the pulpit wearing knickerbockers. J. Hayden Cook, an elder brother, who is styled "The Reciting Evangelist," assists in the meetings.

One evening when Jack preached to a congregation numbering 15,000 the audience selected the text, says a dispatch to the Philadelphia Press. Several were submitted, but a majority vote decided the passage to be used. Before the sermon the boy interpreted verses of Scripture submitted by clergymen present.

Jack has been preaching for four years. He began in Manchester, England, his birthplace, where his father, now dead, was pastor of a Methodist church. Two years ago he and his brother came to America and have held successful revivals in many western cities. Bishop Fitzgerald heard Jack preach in St. Louis last winter and was so much impressed with his ability that he invited him to come to Ocean Grove this summer.

The boy lays no claim to inspiration, but says his ability to preach comes from constant prayer and a study of the Scriptures. He spends seven hours each day reading the Bible and works of theology.

ADVANCE IN TELEGRAPHY.

New Hungarian System a Marvelous Success.

The new Hungarian system of telegraphy, the introduction of which was announced 18 months ago, has been a marvelous success. The system has been installed between Budapest and Fiume, a distance of 375 miles, and is in practical working order at a speed of 40,000 words an hour, says a London cable to the New York Sun. The messages are written in Roman characters and require no transcription.

Negotiations are in progress for establishing the system in France and Germany. The latter government will give it a trial between Berlin and Cologne, and the installation will be completed in a short time.

The system is an ingenious combination of the telegraph, the telephone and photography, the messages being written on sensitized paper by ray light and developed and fixed by an automatic process.

Library Exhibit at St. Louis.

Herman Putnam, librarian of congress, says the library of congress will have an exhibit at St. Louis such as has never been seen before in the world. The library has never had an exhibit at any fair in the past, says the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. In the possession of the library are some rare books and rare manuscripts, some unique and valuable drawings and paintings and a wealth of other interesting matter. He has not determined whether he will ask for a share of the appropriation which is to be made for the general government exhibits or whether he will seek a special appropriation direct from congress.

Light From Smoke.

A Belgian engineer, Tobiansky of Altorff, has discovered a means of turning smoke into light. His apparatus collects the smoke of any fire, forces it into a filtered receiver, where it is saturated with hydrocarbure and turned into a brilliant light. An ordinary kitchen fire can thus be made to produce a light equal to that of 50 Beck Auer, or it will warm four or five ordinary rooms or drive a gas engine of four or five horsepower.

A WAITER'S LUCK.

Great Future Predicted For Man Who Got De Reszke's Prize.

According to the prediction of Giacomo Minkowsky, composer and friend of De Reszke, Nordica and many other famous musicians and singers, says the New York World, a man who has been a waiter in Delmonico's is to become the greatest tenor in the world.

Guillaume Duchesne is the man. He will receive the scholarship in vocal music offered by Edouard de Reszke in the Metropolitan School of Voice and Singing. His good fortune came to him as the result of the toss of a coin.

Mr. Minkowsky was selected by De Reszke to find a boy or young man poor in the world's goods, but gifted with a voice of unusual quality, to whom the scholarship was to be awarded. Many applicants were heard, but none possessed a voice far enough above the average to meet the requirements. Mr. Minkowsky had almost given up his quest when he stumbled across the fortunate man in an accidental way two weeks ago.

He was returning with his wife from Midland Beach, and they were uncertain whether to have dinner on Staten Island or return to Manhattan. To settle the question a coin was tossed, and they dined at the beach. When they entered a restaurant they heard a voice singing in an adjoining room. They were spellbound. They found that the singer was a waiter in Delmonico's.

Mr. Minkowsky learned that Duchesne was a man of excellent character, and, after trying his voice, cabled to De Reszke that "the lost Italian voice had been found." The great singer was delighted and at once cabled back that the scholarship should go to Duchesne.

The former waiter will study English literature, musical history and other subjects necessary to his mental development. He is by birth a Frenchman, by descent an Italian and by adoption an American. Mr. Minkowsky is enthusiastic over his discovery and confidently predicts that Duchesne will be the great singer of the future.

THE SULTAN'S PALACE.

It Is Proof Against Bombs, Earthquakes, Fires and Microbes.

The Yildiz palace at Constantinople is a monument to fear. It is assassin proof, bombproof, earthquake proof, fireproof, microbe proof. Architects and engineers are building and rebuilding incessantly, says Everybody's Magazine. Some new secret retreat is always under way. The entire domain is surrounded by an immense wall 30 feet high, and the choicest troops of the empire stand guard around it. An inner wall 12 feet thick, with gates of iron, incloses the private residence itself. The walls of the sultan's dwelling are filled with armor plate in case of projectiles.

It is said that a mysterious passage connects with 10 secret bed chambers, forming an intricate labyrinth. No one but his body attendant knows where the sultan may sleep during any particular night. He has electric lights and telephones in his own apartments, but forbids them in Constantinople. Telephone might prove handy for conspirators, and he believes that a dynamite cartridge could be sent over a wire into the palace. He fears electric explosions, so Constantinople still gets along with gaslight. He hates the word dynamo because it sounds like dynamite. Balloons are tabooed lest one should pause over him long enough to drop a chunk of explosive.

As to the regal luxury of the Yildiz, that is a matter of course. The domain is a small world in itself. Five thousand people live within the outer wall, not counting a small army of workmen and the 7,000 imperial guardsmen. There are shops, factories, arsenals, stables, a library, museum, picture gallery, theater and even a menagerie. The monarch loves trees, but he keeps their branches well looped off, so that he can see to the farthermost corner of his park.

TO WARM FISH IN WINTER.

Plans For Success of a Hatchery In Montana.

The new fish hatchery on Mill creek, near Anaconda, promoted by C. W. Atwater and C. A. Parker, comprising 80 acres of land, is the first homestead ever taken up for the purpose of raising fish, says a Helena (Mon.) dispatch to the St. Louis Republic. It is a hatchery for trout and grayling.

It is the intention to hatch 800,000 eggs a year, and it is estimated that from that number at least 500,000 young fish may be successfully developed. The water used is too cool for the newly spawned fish, even in the summer, and artificial heat will be applied to keep it at the proper temperature.

One serious problem that has not been solved is what will happen to the stream in the winter. If it freezes, the fish will be destroyed. It is believed that a system of heated pipes will serve to moderate the cold of extreme winters.

On the same ranch have been raised Belgian hares, and they are regarded as curiosities by eastern visitors.

A Daring Feat.

Alexander H. G. Maidmont of Hackensack, N. J., an enthusiastic member of the Kinderkamack Canoe club, performed the daring feat of sailing his 15 foot canoe over the dams at Oradell and New Milford, something never before attempted, says the New York World. The leap over the Oradell dam landed him in the rapids, at the end of which was a fallen tree. Mr. Maidmont skillfully guided his canoe past this obstruction and then plunged over the New Milford dam, opposite the Hackensack waterworks, into 20 feet of water. This leap almost swamped the canoe The canoe was slightly damaged.

Kidney disease is the enemy we have most to fear as a result of the feverish haste of modern civilization. Its action is healing and strengthening, quickly relieves aching or soreness in the back, checks wasting or decay of the kidneys, corrects the flow of urine and through its excellent cleansing and regulating effect in the stomach, liver and bowels it speedily restores the strength and ruddy glow of vigorous health.

AS A MEMBER SEES IT.

Honorable Gayle Talbot of Wise county, who formerly resided in Erath and who is one of the Twenty-Seventh Legislature, writes to his paper, the Slidell Courier, a very plain, outspoken letter, which is in part, as follows:

"For the first time in the history of the state the House bill exceeded in amount the bill made by the Senate. The House bill was far in excess of what the Governor thought our treasury could stand, and about twenty days were put in in a vain attempt to shave the grand total. Like a boarding-house steak, however, the longer it was chewed upon the bigger it got. When the sum total of $6,059,000 was reached the retrenchers became desperate and voted the bill into the hands of a conference committee with the hope that a hatchet would be judiciously applied. After being out two days, this committee reported on Monday morning, and its report almost precipitated a riot in the House. A perusal of the bill disclosed some remarkable amendments. Salaries of pets in certain departments had been raised, a few thousands more were appropriated to keeping up the Governor's mansion; some more for the maintenance of the iniquitous Livestock Sanitary Commission; a $300 picture of Charley Culberson was included, as was also $6,000 for a statue of Houston; a $100,000 sugar refinery for the state farm, and other luxuries too numerous to mention.

"And how do you suppose these things were to be paid? By taking $100,000 out of the Confederate Home and correspondingly large amounts from the support of the blind, deaf and dumb and epileptic asylums. This was retrenchment with a vengeance, but not the kind a set of democrats could accept. Senator Savage of Montague was a member of the committe who acted upon the document. The question became, should the old soldiers and the blind and afflicted wards suffer while the people's money went for swell entertainments at the governor's mansion and some freaks of statuary that would reflect credit upon neither the dear departed or the doners. The members of the lower house very promptly refused to be guilty of anything so disreputable. By a majority vote the report of the committee was rejected and the senate was asked to concur in the appointment of another committee. The request went to the senate, but upon the motion of Mr. Savage the request of the house was refused and we were compelled to swallow the dose at last. I do not desire to criticise the action of our senator nor impugn his motives. There is a difference of opinion between us, that's all. I say here and now that he was not representing the honest patriotic democrats of Wise county when he stabbed the ex-confederates and the blind and the afflicted by his work on the committee and his motion in the senate. The member from Montague says the senator did not represent his people in this instance. So who did he represent?

The bill was finally passed with thirty-five votes against it. I was one of the number and I am glad that I did so. Being acquainted with the democrats of Wise county, I believe my course is endorsed. The bill has gone to the governor and will become a law, and a gaping constituency may gaze upon the plaster of paris profile of Culberson and Houston and know that they were purchased by the suffering of the halt, the lame and the blind, and the bread the ex-confederates asked for has turned to stone."

The rumor is gaining currency throughout this congressional district that Parker and Tarrant county democrats have combined to control the district in the interest of a Ft. Worth man for congress and Parker county's candidate for governor. The Tarrant and Parker people deny the alligation, but the other counties in the district seem to not take their avowal in good faith and it is said, propose to attend to the case in their own interest when the election comes round. It is altogether a democratic fight but the populists and republicans of course can sit on the fence and see the fun. The following two clippings are indecative of the situation:

"A choice piece of political gossip that will prove of interest to the aspiring politicians of Johnson county, since both the counties implicated are in our congressional district, is that a combination has been made by Tarrant and Parker counties whereby the vote of Parker in convention will be given to Tarrant's candidate for Congress, and the vote of Tarrant in convention will be given to Parker's candidate for Governor.—Johnson County Review.

Johnson and Erath or Johnson and Comanche or Erath and Comanche can easily "high life" Parker by suggesting that in return for Parker's vote for Congressman they can give more votes to Parker's candidate for Governor than Tarrant can. In short, the district don't object to Parker's candidate for Governor, but it does object to Tarrant county providing the congressman.—Glen Rose Herald.

The executive committee of the Texas Real Estate Men's Association in session at Dallas, last week reorganized the association to conform te the new congressional districts of the state. J. B. Price of Weatherford was named as executive committee man from this district, Geo. B. Loving of Ft. Worth, vice-president and John Groesbeck Jr., of Stephenville correspondent.

BOXES OF GOLD.

Sent for Letters About Grape-Nuts.

330 boxes of gold and greenbacks will be sent to persons writing interesting and truthful letters about the good that has been done by the use of Grape-Nuts food.

10 little boxes, each containing a $10 gold piece, will be sent the 10 writers of the most interesting letters.

20 boxes each containing a $5 gold piece to the 20 next most interesting writers, and a $1 greenback will go to each of the 300 next best. A committee of three. not members of the Postum Co., will make decision between Dec. 1st and 10th, 1901.

Write plain, sensible letters, giving detailed facts of ill-health caused from improper food and explain the improvement, the gain in strength, in weight, or in brain power after using Grape-Nuts food.

It is a profound fact that most ails of humanity come from improper and non-nourishing food, such as white bread, hot biscuit, starchy uncooked cereals, etc.

A change to perfectly cooked, predigested food like Grape-Nuts, scientifically made and containing exactly the elements nature requires for building the delicate and wonderful cells of brain and body, will quickly change a half sick person to a well person. Food, good food, is Nature's strongest weapon of defense.

Include in letter the true names and addresses, carefully written, of 20 persons, not very well to whom we can write regarding the food cure by Grape-Nuts.

Almost every one interested in pure food is willing to have his or her name appear in the papers for such help as they may offer the human race. A request to omit name will be respected. Try for one of the 330 prizes. Everyone has an equal show. Don't write poetry, but just honest and interesting facts about the good you have obtained from the pure food Grape-Nuts. If a man or woman has found a true way to get well and keep well, it should be a pleasure to stretch a helping hand to humanity, by telling the facts.

Write your name and address plainly on letter and mail promptly to the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

CARLTON.

Regular Correspondence.

Oct. 12th.—Just one month ago today, the house of Mrs. Bertha Chick, who lives near Sunshine school house, about four miles southeast of Carlton, was blown down and completely demolished. A subscription list was circulated and in a day or two sufficient funds were guaranteed to replace the house which the neighbors did. Yesterday evening about night a small cyclone struck the house again, blew it from its foundation, rolled it over three times and left it some eighty-five yards from the starting point, a mass of debris, in the midst of which, bruised and mangled, were Mrs. J. L. Lary and children. Mrs. Lary, who is a sister to Mrs. Chick and lives just across the public road from the Chick house, had noticed the windows in her sisters house were open and had stepped across to close them as the latter was away from home. Mrs. Lary carried her infant in her arms and two or three small children followed their mother through a fear of the approaching cloud. They were all caught and carried away with the house. Mrs. Lary sustained serious, and it is feared fatal injuries, both legs were broken, one instep being crushed to a pulp and one rib torn from the spinal column besides a serious lick in the abdomen by falling timber, and other bruises and cuts. The children were badly used up but it is thought that none are dangerously hurt. It seems miraculous that any of them should have escaped instant death from a stove, trunks or other furniture that were falling about while the house was rolling over and over. Though mangled and bleeding, Mrs. Lary freed herself from the wreck and crawled back about one hundred yards to her own residence through the black mud with her baby in her arms. Mr. Lary and and his son had gone to the river bottom for a load of wood and had not returned when the cloud came up. Mr. A. L. Duff, who is a close neighbor, went out as soon as the hardest of the rain was over, and discovering that the Chick house had been blown away, went to the scene at once. He found Mrs. Lary in an unconscious condition, having fainted on reaching her house. A messenger was at once dispatched for Drs. Bowie and Tull of this place, who attended her during the night. They express very little hope of her recovery.

The Sunshine school house was blown from the foundation and the the west end moved about twelve feet south. It is pretty badly wrecked and may have to be torn down and rebuilt before the coming session can be taught.

The cyclone cloud was seen by several people here who happened to be down that way. They described it as looking like a black funnel shaped mass of mud that would rise high in the air and dip, then rise high and dip again. It was seen several miles higher up Restley's creek, but remained too high to do much damage. The wind and rain here did considerable damage to cotton in the fields. The rain is thought sufficient at present.

Blood.

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

County Clerk John Frey made a trip to Ft. Worth this week on business.

Mrs. Pearl Wilson has gone to Tolar to visit relatives.

W. S. Telford received news this week that his business house at Merkel had been destroyed by fire. The insurance carried did not cover the value of the building by about $1,200. The house was just completed last May.

Miss Sallie Roberts, who has been visiting her brother, George Roberts, at Ft. Worth, returned this evening to her home about three miles from this city.

Mrs. D. W. Switzer, of Blanket, was in the city a day or two this week. She had been called to Cleburne by the death of her brother, and on her return stopped here to visit her father, W. W. Justice.

J. E. Bishop and his daughter, Miss Emma, of Clariette were in the city this afternoon, returning from Fort Worth, where they had gone to attend the bedside of Mr. Bishop's neice, who had been quite sick.

Judge Lee Young and wife returned Monday from their visit to the Pan-American Exposition. So far as we can learn there have been no developments as to the identity of the ones who tried to kidnap their child last week.

W. D. Sauls returned the first of the week from Comanche county, where he had been assisting in a holiness meeting.

The Knights of Pythias entertained their friends very royally at their hall in this city last night. Addresses, music, recitations and a fine supper were the chief features of of the program of the evening. The entire program seemed to be highly enjoyed by everyone present.

Teacher's Examination will be held here next Friday and Saturday. We understand there will be quite a number of teachers to take the examination.

Alonzo Justice, who has been teaching at DeLeon is at his home in this city, and is sick with slow fever. His place in the school is being filled in his absence by Prof. Chambers.

Quite a distressing accident happened to-day to the little three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Perritt, who live about two miles north of town. The child in trying to drive a colt away from a trough was kicked in the face, receiving an ugly gash just over the eye. Fortunately the skull was not injured. The little fellow was brought to town at once and the wounds given prompt treatment.

Considerable excitement was occasional last night and this morning by the report that the bird-dog belonging to Banker John G. Harris had gone mad, had bitten Mr. Harris and was then at large. An investigation proved the report correct with the only question at issue whether the dog was really mad or not. His actions indicated such and Mr. Harris believes that he really was mad though he does not believe the symptoms had advanced far enough last Wednesday, when in play the dog bit him, to justify any uneasiness on his own account, however to guard against all chances Mr. Harris has taken all precautions to ward off the results and is contemplating leaving on the night train to-night for New York to take a special course of treatment advised in doubtful cases. In a play last Wednesday evening the dog bit Mr. Harris on the left hand, nothing but a slight scratch, yet sufficient to cause alarm because of the animals conduct since then. The dog was killed early this morning and since then Mayor Spencer has issued a notice requiring all dogs to be kept up or killed at once.

Later—A madstone, procured in the city this morning, stuck to Mr. Harris' wounded hand for thirty minutes. He will leave to-night for New York.

An effort is worth while on the part of the citizens of Dublin to secure the Girl's Industrial school. This institution is to be a creature of the state and will finally develop into propotions sufficient to justify a strong pull to secure the location. Dublin is an admirable location for an institution of this kind and has many advantages that cannot with certainty be offered by many other points in Texas. The water supply is a large item to work a decision of location and in this matter Dublin is particularly fortunate in having an excellent quality and an unlimited supply within easy reach. The healthfulness of the country cannot be excelled at any point in the state and the geographical location as well as the railroad facilities cannot fail to be bes atisfactory. Besides, west Texas has not received her share of state improvements, and this should be one of the many strong arguments in favor of the Girl's Industrial school at Dublin. Our citizens will let a golden opportunity for improvement pass if they fail to take steps toward securing the location at Dublin.

As west Texas settles up it appears that the enormous cattle ranches, once so plentiful in the west, are rather growing in size if not in number instead of lessening in acreage as is the general belief. Among many other items of a similar nature contained in the San Angelo Standard of last week, we note the following in regard to an especially large ranch in west Texas which contains a total of nearly fifty thousand acres. The item reads: "J. R. Bryson, of Comanche, who with Mr. Montgomery owns a seventy section ranch in the wet belt of Crockett county, was in the city Saturday en route home. Mr. B. is well pleased with his western investment and will add more improvements to the ranch immediately by sinking two more wells."

Last Sunday morning, Oct. 13, 1901, the spirit of the little Lillian Pearl Camp, daughter of C. J. & Mrs. S. E. Camp, took flight to its eternal home. Lillian was born Nov. 26, 1898, being one year, ten months and eight days of age. While the parents and the children of the home are heart broken, they may be comforted by the thought of all pains, afflictions and troubles of the little sister being ended, and that she is waiting for them, safely kept in the arms of the great Savior. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. A. Boaz at the home of the parents and the body interred in the Old Cemetery.—A Friend.

Capt. Ira Millican, recently of Lowell but now residing at Lubback, Texas, was here the first of the week, closing up the business of Nat H. Black, who has also moved west and whose place Mr. Millican has recently disposed of for him. Mr. Millican has engaged in the land business at Lubbock, and we are glad to say is making a success at the business, as he does with every thing. He is a perfectly reliable gentleman and that's the kind it takes to make big land transactions.

J. A. Armendt, who recently removed to Dublin from Lyons in Burleson county, has bought a lot from John G. Harris, adjoining the Drake place in west Dublin. He will at once erect a dwelling on the property and commenced sinking a well on the place last Wednesday.

The Progress is in receipt of a letter this week from Guy Norton, a Dublin boy who some months ago joined the regular army. He is now stationed with a cavalry troop at Ft. Robinson, Nebraska, where he says he expects to remain until spring and then probably be ordered to Cuba.

Col. G. C. McAndrews, representing the Fort Worth Register, was here this week in the interest of that paper. He reports the Register gaining ground everywhere and says it will shortly be able to get all the telegraphic news, which has for sometime been monopolized at Ft. Worth by a Dallas paper.

Farmer Newt Jones of near Carlton, reports what is thus far this year the champion cotton picking record. He has a little girl six years of age, weighing only forty-two pounds, who picked one hundred and sixty-two pounds of cotton from early in the morning of last Friday to about the middle of the afternoon. A slight shower came up at that time and hence she had to stop, but Mr. Jones says she could have easily gotten two hundred pounds if the rain had not interferred.

Prof. W. O. Hines, principel of the new Christian college at Lingleville, was here Saturday on business. He reported the new school as having opened Monday of last week with an attendance of twenty scholars, which he says is a very satisfactory begining, considering the school is an independent one and the season early for a begining. The attendance is expected shortly to double that of the opening day.

John Massey of Walnut Springs, and Miss Streeter of Dublin, were at the Campbell house Sunday. .....Sheriff Sandlin of Hood county, assistant penitentiary agent, was here last Friday and took away Ben Roper and Frank Murphy; Sheriff Osborne has but one boarder now. .....In justice court last Friday the case against A. C. H. Bassel, editor of the Corsicana Evening Sun, was here Tuesday and Wednesday shaking hands with old friends and left Wednesday for a brief trip to De Leon, expecting to return to Dublin today. Charley was formerly a Dublin boy and also resided at Stephenville for quite a while, at which place he published the Journal. He is taking a vacation from his confining labors.

MUST PAY RANSOM.

The Only Hope of Rescuing Miss Stone from Brigands.

$50,000 YET NEEDED.

Another Appeal Sent Out in Order to Raise That Amount—Miss Stone Is Believed to Be Alive and Well Cared For.

Washington, Oct. 15.—All that can be gained from state department officials respecting the case of Miss Stone, the missionary, who is held by brigands in Bulgaria, is that she is alive and that efforts are continuing for her release. The officials while declining to indicate the nature of the measures they are pursuing to this end, still have hope of ultimate success.

There is nothing that can be done except pay the ransom demanded by the brigands, thereby releasing Miss Stone.

The brigands demand $110,000 and only $60,0000 of the amount has reached the American Board of Foreign Missions at New York. Another appeal has been sent out by the board for the remainder.

Why Pursuit Was Withdrawn.

Constantinople, Oct. 15.—It now transpires that the Turkish commander had completed dispositions to surround Miss Helen M. Stone's captors last Saturday, but Spencer Eddy, secretary of the United States legation, demanded the immediate retirement of the Turkish troops. This was carried out and the Bulgarian forces also withdrew. Mr. Eddy's action has the unanimous approval of the entire diplomatic corps who are convinced that efforts to liberate Miss Stone by force will surely result in her murder.

Negotiations Fallen Through.

New York, Oct. 15.—A Constantinople correspondent of The World cables the following points of interest concerning the attempt to rescue Miss Stone: The first negotiations with the brigands who kidnaped Miss Stone, the American missionary, and are now holding her for $110,000 ransom, have fallen through, owing to the attempt by the Bulgarian police to trap the outlaws. It is believed, however, that Miss Stone and her companion, Mrs. Tailka, are being well treated.

Says Her Captors Are Turks.

London, Oct. 15.—The Daily Express has received a dispatch from Sofia saying Todaroff, the driver, who accompanied Miss Stone when she was kidnaped, has arrived there. Todaroff says her captors are Turks.

The Bulgarian police, who are not satisfied with his statements, are keeping him under surveillance.

Another Kidnaping.

London, Oct. 15.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Bucharest says Herr Rosenthal, the represetative of a German firm, has been kidnaped by Bulgarian brigands at Sitistriam. The Roumanian government has sent a protest to Sofia and the Bulgarian government has ordered troops to pursue the brigands.

It is rumored that the Macedonian committee has decided to capture every foreigner in reach in order to attract European attention to the bad state of public security in Macedonia.

Safe Blown Open.

Bluffton, O., Oct. 15.—Burglars blew open the safe in the office of the Bluffton Milling company here with dynamite Sunday night. The building soon caught fire and the entire plant was destroyed. It is said the safe was empty. Burglars made their escape.

CANCER

Sufferers from this horrible malady nearly alway inherit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor, for Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years, or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—o a swollen gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be eliminated from the blood—every vestage of it driven out. This S. S. S. does, and is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out of the system the Cancer heals, and the disease never returns.

Cancer begins often in a small way, as the following letter from Mrs. Shirer shows:

A small pimple came on my jaw about an inch below the ear on the left side of my face. It gave me no pain or inconvenience, and I should have forgotten about it had it not begun to inflame and itch; it would bleed a little, then scab over, but would not heal. This continued for some time, when my jaw began to swell, becoming very painful. The Cancer began to eat and spread, until it was as large as a half dollar, when I heard of S. S. S. and determined to give it a fair trial, and it was remarkable what a wonderful effect it had from the very beginning; the sore began to heal and after taking a few bottles disappeared entirely. This was two years ago; there are still no signs of the Cancer, and my general health continues good.—Mrs. R. Shirer, La Plata, Mo.

SSS is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable. Send for our free book on Cancer, containing valuable and interesting information about this disease, and write our physicians about your case. We make no charge for medical advice.

COOK ON THE STAND.

He Gives Testimony in the Schley Court of Inquiry.

IS FOR BOTH SIDES.

He Appeared Against Schley, but His Testimony Was in His Favor.

Only Few More Government Witnesses to Testify.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Captain Francis A. Cook, was the first new witness called before the Schley court of inquiry yesterday morning, he being called by the navy department, but as he was also on Admiral Schley's list of witnesses, he was considered like Lieutenant Commander Hodgson and Lieut. Doyle, as a witness for both sides of the controversy. During the war with Spain Captain Cook was commander of the flagship Brooklyn and also Admiral Schley's chief of staff, thus occupying the same relative position to Admiral Schley that Captain Chadwick occupied to Admiral Sampson. His appearance on the stand created considerable interest and his testimony was listened to attentively.

Other witnesses summoned by the department for the day were Lieutenant Commander W. F. Fullam, who was on the New Orleans during the Santiago campaign, and Lieutenant Joseph Beale, who was on the scout ship Harvard and who volunteered to go ashore and ascertain whether the Spanish fleet under Cervera was in the harbor of Santiago.

These are the last witnesses that Judge Advocate Lemly expects to call and when they shall have completed their testimony he will "rest."

A number of Admiral Schley's witnesses were in attendance about the court room. It is expected his first witness will be the Cuban pilot, Edward Nunez, and he will be followed by Commander Mason, who was executive officer on the Brooklyn during the Santiago campaign. Then Lieutenant Commander Griffin and Lieutenants McCauley and Webster will follow. All of these were present in the room before the beginning of the day's proceedings.

After previous witnesses had corrected their testimony Captain Cook took the stand. He was questioned by Mr. Hanna and responded in a distinct and clear tone. He said he had been at Key West May 19.

"What information did you have at that time concerning the whereabouts of Cervera's fleet.

"My impressions now are simply from a rumor that they had left the Canary islands and part of them had been sighted at Martinique, and from consular information, or perhaps information sent by the Harvard, that they had gone to Curacoa. That is all from impression."

In giving his reasons for the departure of the flying squadron from Cienfuegos, Captain Cook said the squadron had been sent to that port "to intercept and meet the Spanish squadron, it having been determined, as we believed at that time, by them to make Cienfuegos their objective point."

He said he understood the Spanish fleet carried munitions of war for Havana and it was believed they would go to Cienfuegos because of its accessibility to Havana.

Captain Cook detailed the conversation between Commodore Schley and Captain Chester while the squadron was en route to Cienfuegos. He said there had been talk between them about coaling on the southern coast of Cuba. Witness' recollection was that the prospect did not seem favorable.

Captain Cook said that upon arriving off Cienfuegos on the morning of May 22 a blockade was immediately established, as the firing of guns were heard and it was believed Cervera had arrived and a fete in honor of his appearance was on. Earthworks on shore were also seen, but they were not fired upon because it was considered desirable not to unnecessarily expend ammunition.

"I think that between that time and the arrival of the Adula, it was presumed the whole beach was occupied," he said. "We saw cavalry and others on the beach. The possibility of boats landing was talked of. The idea was that we would have to go in pretty well to the westward and at night. I may have had some conversation with the commodore about it, but I do not recollect. On the arrival of the Adula, we fully expected to get all the information."

Did you see any signal lights on shore while you were there?"

"Yes, the first thing after we arrived on May 22."

Captain Cook described the lights and said their appearance confirmed Schley in the belief that the Spanish fleet was in the harbor. It was only after the arrival of McCalla on the Marblehead they found out the signals were made by the Cuban insurgents. He said the first information that the Spanish fleet was not in Cienfuegos was given by the Eagle upon her arrival.

"What was the conduct and bearing of Commodore Schley under fire on such occasions as you had opportunity of observing?" asked Mr. Hanna.

"I always regarded him as an enthusiastically brave and patriotic officer. Never in any other way," replied the witness. Captain Cook also testified that he (Cook) gave the order for the Brooklyn's loop at the battle off Santiago and that he considered every movement eminently successful.

Captain Cook's testimony yesterday was a review of the entire campaign after Cervera's fleet, beginning with the departure of the flying squadron from Key West on May 19 and concluding with the battle off Santiago July 3. He explained the loop, saying it was absolutely necessary to get a better position to attack the Spanish vessels and that he gave the order to make the loop. When asked about how near the vessel passed to the Texas he said:

"I never thought of a collision. It never entered my head. I never for a moment had one idea in that respect. We passed I judge, about 400 yards. But a collision I never thought of. She turned perfectly clear of the Texas, came around and then we had the Viscaya on our starboard bow and about abeam was the Oquendo and then the Colon. That was about the hottest time in the action. It was a critical time. There was not any time for indiscretion and I do not think there was any. I have always felt in my mind, in studying the positions, that the chances would have been for a disaster had we shifted helm at such a time. However, we got around and we had those three vessels."

Captain Cook was followed by Lieutenant Commander Fulham and he followed by Captain Beal, who was the last government witness, but Captain Lemly said he reserved the right to call other witnesses if he deemed it necessary.

The first witness for Admiral Schley was Edward Nunez, the Cuban pilot. His testimony was unimportant.

WHERE IS BOTHA?

Some of the London Papers Believe Him Hemmed, Others He Escaped.

New York, Oct. 15.—In explanation of the statements of some of the London dailies concerning the war in South Africa the London correspondent of The Tribune cables as follows:

The Standard thinks that the British troops have a good chance of capturing General Botha. Very little is known here in regard to the movements of the Boer commandant-general since the failure of his attempt on the Natal frontier. His wagons with an escort under Grobelaar have been detached and sent east. Botha with main body marched in the same direction for some time only to find that his retreat was being cut off by one of the British columns which was apparently moving parallel with him. He then moved due north to within a few miles of Piet Retief, where he is believed to have halted in a difficult and perilous position. He cannot break back toward Zululand or the Natal frontier without throwing himself right into the arms of his pursuers. If he goes north he will touch Swaziland and will get into trouble with the warlike natives. He may possibly drift away toward the west and find a temporary refuge in the passes of the Fladsberg. On the whole, The Standard considers that the Transvaal army is in a tight corner. The Daily News on the other hand takes the view that General Botha has got clear away.

RHODES MAY DIVULGE.

If Made to Show His Hand He Will Will Make Others Ashamed.

New York, Oct. 15.—The business associates of Cecil Rhodes make no secret of their belief in his correspondence with Schnadhorst in regard to that famous check for £5000 forms by no means the best card which the Cape expremier has to play against his Liberal opponents, says The Tribune's London correspondent. They assert this sensation is as nothing compared with what will follow if Rhodes is forced to reply to the charges which are being made against him. It is hinted he is in position to disclose the financial relations between certain officials of Liberal organizations and Kruger. The Liberals, for their part believe that Rhodes endeavored to bribe Schnadhorst by offering to make him a present of a number of the shares in the Chartered Company of South Africa.

Melted into Small Groups.

New York, Oct. 15.—Heavy rains have temporarily interfered with communication between the columns in the field, says a Dundee, Natal, dispatch to The Times. As was feared the Boer forces in trying to make good their escape have melted into small groups. Commandant General Botha and the main body of burghers, accompanied by three commandants, have reached Pongola forest, near Luneburg, Transvaal.

LEPERS OF HAWAII.

There Are 909 Persons in Quarantine and Disease Decreasing.

Washington, Oct. 17.—There are 909 lepers and 164 clean persons at Molokai, the leper settlement in Hawaii, according to a report just received from Chief Quarantine Officer Cofer, in charge of the marine hospital work in Hawaii. All of these are housed, fed, clothed and governed for $80,000 a year. The report praises the way in which these poor people resign themselves to their fate and points out such contentment can come only on a comfortable mode of life and good treatment.

Surgeon Cofer reports that he made careful inquiries as to the chances of infection of clean people working among the lepers and that the general opinion was that in time they would become lepers. In the last 10 years, however, only 10 clean residents have become lepers.

The results of known exposure to leprosy, says the report, show uncertainty as to the chances of individual infection which make disuse one of the most difficult to operate against. Women are said to be less liable than men.

The three oldest patients at the settlement arrived in 1874, '75 and '79, respectively. The number of commitments to the settlements each year during the last decade ranged from 132 in 1891 to 85 in 1900, showing a gradual decrease, despite the fact the hunt for leprosy throughout the islands has never before been so vigorous.

Saloon Looted by Five Men and a Citizen Held up in Washington.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 17.—Five armed highwaymen held up a saloon in the suburb of Ballard Tuesday night, opened a fussilade of revolver shots on the inmates, escaped in the smoke and a few minutes later sandbagged and robbed M. J. Davies the Great Northern station agent. In all they secured $150, most of which was secured from Mr. Davies.

The robbery was characterized by great boldness, only one of the men wearing a mask. All were armed with a large caliber revolvers and seemed reckless of consequences. The highwaymen entered the saloon and held up the inmates. When they had completed their work they retreated to the door and commenced shooting. The whole party then retreated and encountered Davies in the street. All escaped.

HIS SIXTH AERIAL SHIP.

What Santos-Dumont Says of His New Machine.

FUTURE OF STEERABLE BALLOONS

Daring Brazilian Believes They Will Take the Place of Trains—Says His New Propeller Will Make About One Hundred and Sixty Revolutions a Minute.

M. Santos-Dumont, the daring balloonist, has been working day and night to complete his new flying machine, his sixth, in which he hopes to circle the Eiffel tower. Like Lipton, the question of expense never bothers him. He seeks the prize, no matter what it may cost.

"Everything is now ready for my next ascent," said M. Santos-Dumont to the Chicago American's Paris correspondent. "After weeks of prodigious labor since the wreck of my last balloon I have created another, and today (Aug. 31) for the first time I have taken things a bit leisurely. This balloon, which I call Santos-Dumont VI., seems to be satisfactory.

"It is only by experiment that we have been able to advance gradually until the conquest of the air is within our grasp. When the Santos-Dumont I. was built, we were groping. The Santos-Dumont VI. sees us within sight of the promised land. One becomes an aeronaut just as a man becomes a sailor, except that the former calling is much more exciting, and an aeronaut is never weighed down by a spirit of melancholy such as often marks the seaman.

"There are many fine points to be considered in making a balloon. Everything should be tight and well made. The motor should be strong. The rudder of a good balloon must be exactly poised. The question of hydrogen is of prime importance. We manufacture it in our laboratory by pouring water and sulphuric acid over steel filings. It is then dried by passing through chloride of calcium, sawdust and lime. We remove the heavy, dangerous carbonic acid by a device containing caustic soda. This leaves the hydrogen very light, with a lifting power of more than 1,000 grams per cubic meter. Then there are automatic valves which on the one hand must not be too sensitive, yet must be sufficiently so. If not sensitive enough, the pressure upon the balloon becomes dangerous.

"The propeller of the new airship makes about 160 revolutions a minute. This enables me to make headway against the wind, although I will select the best weather conditions possible for my next trial. I expect little difficulty so far as ascensional capacity is concerned. The steering is a great question. I hope to make the trip from St. Cloud around the Eiffel tower in twenty minutes."

It is no more a new sensation for satiated appetite that this young South American millionaire is seeking. His daring flights are not for the purpose of creating temporary fame on the boulevard. He is studying this working seriously to solve the great problem of aerial navigation and has startling views of the future revolutions which may result from the present experiments.

"I look upon the Santos-Dumont VI. as the nucleus of a navy of airships," he said. "Within a few years the steerable balloons will take the place of trains. We shall sail over the Alps instead of tunneling through them. We shall cross the Atlantic without wetting our ship. We shall make a tour of the world in a time short enough to frighten even Fitzmorris, the Chicago boy who went around the world in sixty days. The steerable balloon will be a frightful instrument of war. Its hovering presence would demoralize an army. The soldiers go to war, the king stays at home, but a balloon might be sent to dismantle his castle.

"A steerable balloon would have brought the empress of China promptly to her senses. It can be used for carrying all sorts of messages and can throw bombs from midair into ships and forts. With wireless telegraphy we can send messages back and forth to earth. Its possibilities are illimitable."

King Alfred's Camp.

The approaching millenary of Alfred the Great lends special interest to the estate of Winklebury, in Hampshire, now in the market, says the London Chronicle. It contains the well known circular camp of that name, said to have formed a stronghold of Alfred. Excavations just made by Reginald Smith of the British museum have brought to light fragments of ancient British pottery. An examination was also made in the autumn of last year, and on both occasions bones of extinct animals have been discovered showing traces of fire, probably sacrificial. The camp is believed to have existed before the Roman invasion. It was occupied as late as the seventeenth century by the parliamentary forces when besieging Basing House.

London Wants a Sanitary College.

A movement is on foot for the establishment of a sanitary college, the idea being the erection of a large building in which to carry on the work of education in sanitary science now being conducted at the Parkes museum, says a London correspondent. This last named institution was founded in 1876 in memory of the late Edmund Alexander Parkes, the first professor of hygiene in England. It is really a public demonstration school and has been the means of preparing a large number of men for useful public health work.

TEXAS HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Officially Recognizes the Shirt Waist.

The one thing that is sure to stir up the American public is any radical departure from custom—anything that is not in style and lacks Dame Fashion's approval, no matter how sensible and full of service the new idea is—vide the shirtwaist man for instance. In time, however, the merits of any worthy innovation impress themselves, and the distrusted theory becomes fact—as in the case of the shirt waist, adopted at Austin, August 6th, by official vote, as the proper thing.

"THE DENVER ROAD" was the first to break away from the electro-slug method of display advertising, giving the people something to read, with frequent changes and it worked well. This year in the interest of our "constant readers" we have put in a little time courting the Muse, also the Amuse, and —has it worked? Well, the shirtwaist man realized that he had been flagged and backed into a blind siding when he heard the talk. The "TALK" was what we were after—we thot the people a trifle slow in coming to a full understanding of what we were offering them for their money.

Within the last three years "THE DENVER ROAD" has made several quite radical departures in the matter of regular, daily equipment and service, viz: Pullmans with comfortable large dressing rooms for ladies, Cafe Cars, meals a la carte, Day Coaches—of the most modern variety—a handsome, box-ve-tibuled train, run thru without change. These trains, as well as our individual advertising, both strictly "Poetry of Motion"—have attracted considerable attention, and we are doing a good business, which is a compliment to the intelligence of the people who are our guests.

Our correspondence department contains a most interesting letter from Mrs. Marsh of Bulgaria, concerning the capture of Miss Ellen M. Stone, a missionary of the American Board. A large ransom, variously stated, is demanded for Miss Stone's release. This the missionary board wisely refuses, as its payment would imperil the lives of all the other missionaries. Miss Stone is a white ribboner and one of best workers in foreigh lands. For a long time she has been superintendant of the Loyal Temperance Legion of Bulgaria, believing that the temperance institution of the children is a fundamental element of all true mission work, so all white ribboners join with the foreign missionaries in prayer for her release.—Union Signal.

TEMPERANCE IN THE SOUTH.

Northern people have become so accustomed to regard the south as backward in social reform that the progress of temperance in the southern states is somewhat surprising. The plan of local option by counties generally prevails in the south in control of the liquor traffic. In some of the states nearly every county prohibits the sale of liquor at retail, except on medical prescriptions.

Some interesting surprises are noted in glancing at the figures showing the number of prohibition counties in southern states. Kentucky is a standing target for jokes about liquor drinking because of its immense production of whiskey. But it is a fact, that of the ninety-four counties of Kentucky, only four permit the sale of liquor, except on physicians' prescriptions. The big state of Texas, which has a "wide open" reputation in the north, has one hundred and twenty prohibition counties. Georgia leads all its sister states of the south with one hundred and thirty-three; Missouri has eighty-four, Tennessee seventy, North Carolina sixty, Virginia fifty-five, Alabama fifty, Arkansas fifty, West Virginia forty, Florida thirty, and so on. The south may well hold up this bright record of temperance, and ask the North to "match it."—Los Angelos Herald.

There appeared recently in one of the organs of the liquor trade an eloquent editorial on "How to Control the Sale of Liquor." Were it not so grave and pitiful it would be laughable to note the self-delusion of those who are the champions of error. Their serious comments regarding honesty are, in fact, fine illustrations of the humorous, albeit not made so intentionally, and rendered so only by the difference of standpoint between the whiskey champion who speaks and the temporance advocate who reads. The paragraph in question begins with a statement to the effect that since the dawn of time the generations of the human family have been busy with the problem of how to control the sale of liquor; the writer cites the dispensary law, total prohibition and high license, saying that they are all failures. He then goes on to say: "The United States government is aiding and abetting frauds by receiving certain fees and then blindfolding itself to the degradation of goods and permitting them to be branded by any name that suits the wishes of those who thrive and prosper through the adoption of musical and high-sounding titles, thus christening whiskies that only exist in the 'mind's eye' of the inventor of the designation. The rhythmic sonorousness of the name adds much to the price and nothing to the value. Uncle Sam is practically the receiver of stolen moneys under this system. Why does he not demand that nothing that he has branded shall be sold except branded so as to express the truth? Is there any word in the English language made to mean so much and so little as that monosyllable "truth"? The friends of the "mocker" are at war among themselves because they deceive each other and the trade about the "purity" and "value" of the deceiver! They offer "to drive every fakir out of the business and assist the government, for it seems to require aid, in purifying the trade." There is nothing the temperance hosts would welcome more than a move on the part of the government, to "demand that nothing he has handled shall be sold except branded so as to express the truth." What an array of brands there would be! How the manufacturers would herd madly together to protect their threatened interests!—Union Signal.

Some interesting surprises are noted in glancing at the figures showing the number of prohibition counties in southern states. Kentucky is a standing target for jokes about liquor drinking because of its immense production of whiskey. But it is a fact, that of the ninety-four counties of Kentucky, only four permit the sale of liquor, except on physicians' prescriptions. The big state of Texas, which has a "wide open" reputation in the north, has one hundred and twenty prohibition counties. Georgia leads all its sister states of the south with one hundred and thirty-three; Missouri has eighty-four, Tennessee seventy, North Carolina sixty, Virginia fifty-five, Alabama fifty, Arkansas fifty, West Virginia forty, Florida thirty, and so on. The south may well hold up this bright record of temperance, and ask the North to "match it."—Los Angelos Herald.

There appeared recently in one of the organs of the liquor trade an eloquent editorial on "How to Control the Sale of Liquor." Were it not so grave and pitiful it would be laughable to note the self-delusion of those who are the champions of error. Their serious comments regarding honesty are, in fact, fine illustrations of the humorous, albeit not made so intentionally, and rendered so only by the difference of standpoint between the whiskey champion who speaks and the temporance advocate who reads. The paragraph in question begins with a statement to the effect that since the dawn of time the generations of the human family have been busy with the problem of how to control the sale of liquor; the writer cites the dispensary law, total prohibition and high license, saying that they are all failures. He then goes on to say: "The United States government is aiding and abetting frauds by receiving certain fees and then blindfolding itself to the degradation of goods and permitting them to be branded by any name that suits the wishes of those who thrive and prosper through the adoption of musical and high-sounding titles, thus christening whiskies that only exist in the 'mind's eye' of the inventor of the designation. The rhythmic sonorousness of the name adds much to the price and nothing to the value. Uncle Sam is practically the receiver of stolen moneys under this system. Why does he not demand that nothing that he has branded shall be sold except branded so as to express the truth? Is there any word in the English language made to mean so much and so little as that monosyllable "truth"? The friends of the "mocker" are at war among themselves because they deceive each other and the trade about the "purity" and "value" of the deceiver! They offer "to drive every fakir out of the business and assist the government, for it seems to require aid, in purifying the trade." There is nothing the temperance hosts would welcome more than a move on the part of the government, to "demand that nothing he has handled shall be sold except branded so as to express the truth." What an array of brands there would be! How the manufacturers would herd madly together to protect their threatened interests!—Union Signal.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreadful disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundations of the disease, and giving the patient strength by builing up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
