JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, moving closer to Viet Nam policy decisions, summoned top national security advisers to a conference today that officials said bore no relation to an announced increase in the Soviet military budget.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were called to the President's ranch before the Soviet announcement was made. Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said "I don't know of any relationship" between the meeting and the Moscow announcement.

The President was up early today, doing paperwork and studying documents in advance of the arrival of the two Cabinet officers.

Johnson announced his conference with McNamara, Rusk and national security aide McGeorge Bundy at an impromptu ranch news conference Monday.

"We will discuss defense needs rather fully," Johnson said.

The President emphasized that no big decisions have yet been made in the wake of McNamara's inspection trip to Saigon last week.

He did not say when the decisions would be made. However, in a statement Sunday taking issue with a Federal Reserve Board move to boost interest rates, Johnson said he wished the board had waited until January "when the nature and impact of the administration's budgetary and Viet Nam decisions are known."

Johnson did tell reporters that "until we do have peace, we are going to continue to help the people of South Viet Nam resist aggression and we are going to supply whatever men will be needed in that effort."

The subject came up after a reporter reminded the President of a published report from Saigon that Viet Nam troop increases possibly matching those of the Korean war were being discussed. Some 500,000 U.S. troops were in Korea at one point, compared with 165,700 now in South Viet Nam.

"I wouldn't want to make any predictions or prognostications," Johnson said. "We no doubt between now and the first of the year will have to make plans for what changes will take place. But so far as I am aware, these plans have not been made yet, and these decisions have not been made."

All this, coupled with his Sunday statement, seemed to suggest that Johnson will wait a while before making the decisions or, at least, will keep them under his hat until Congress reconvenes next month.

The chief executive, who looked tanned, fit and relaxed as he held forth on the front lawn of his ranch home, also discussed the state of his health following Oct. 8 surgery.

"I feel as well as I expect to feel. I don't feel as good as I did before the operation, but I have no reason to feel that I won't be up to my normal operating strength the first of the year.

"I think each day I get a little stronger and I have about reached my objective so far as weight and exercise and everything is concerned. I think things are going well."

Johnson terms the Rusk-McNamara conference "a preliminary meeting that will lead to our first budget discussion." He said the topic would be defense needs for the coming year.

Downtown Area Survey Is Proposed

The Snyder City Council last night expresed interest in a request for a study of the downtown business area with a view toward launching a major improvement program.

After considerable discussion of a proposal submitted by the Chamber of Commerce Merchants Committee, the council asked that more expressions be obtained from property owners and operators of business firms in the area which would be affected.

"We would need the support of a good majority of the people involved before we could commit the city to a project of this size," said Mayor M. L. Broman.

However, the mayor noted that the city definitely is faced with the necessity of going into some type of program to improve sidewalks and curbs in much of the central business district. It may be, he suggested, that owners of business property and operators of business firms will want to escalate the project into something more impressive.

Jay Rogers, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Merchants Committee, and Jim Heath, Chamber Manager, told the council that the Merchants Committee had approved a resolution requesting the city to initiate a survey to determine whether such a project would be feasible. They referred specifically to a project at Littlefield, which members of the city council inspected several weeks ago.

City Manager George Patterson said the survey itself probably would cost around $1,800 to $2,000, based on reports from other cities and Snyder's own experience in similar work.

The Littlefield project involved an assessment program, similar to assessment paving programs. Property owners were assessed 90 per cent of the cost of the project, while the city's share was 10 per cent. Councilmen said they were told by Littlefield businessmen that the project there was instituted to protect their investment and to pave the way for increasing retail trade in the town. They felt that it had been successful.

In other business, the council purchased 3,200 feet of asbestos cement water pipe and instructed the city manager to prepare a new proposal to provide for an exclusive taxi-cab franchise in the city.

T. A. Roberts, operator of Courtesy Cab Co., one of two franchises now operating here, appeared before the council and strongly urged that some action be taken to provide for an exclusive franchise. He said that two companies could not operate at a profit here and that he was willing to bid on an exclusive franchise under whatever terms the city might set up.

"If I don't get it, I won't feel too bad," Roberts said.

The council told the city manager that consideration should be given to the type and quantity of equipment operated, along with requirements for service in "specifications" for an exclusive franchise.

Johns Manville was awarded a contract to furnish 1,200 feet of six-inch and 2,000 feet of four-inch asbestos cement water pipe. The firm's bid which aggregated $2,792 was the lowest of four proposals received.

The city manager was authorized to advertise for bids for the purchase of a half-ton pickup truck for the water department. The city will offer a Jeep and Cadillac ambulance now owned by the Fire Department as trade-ins, while a 1959 pickup truck owned by the city will be transferred to the Fire Department.

Support Of Goodfellows Still Mounts

Support of the Goodfellows Drive in Snyder continued to mount Monday with contributions totaling $170.50. Added to previous donations, the Goodfellow Fund now totals $403.96.

Anyone who would like to help make Christmas brighter for the city's poor may do so by turning in their contributions at either the Snyder National Bank or the West Texas State Bank. Clothing and toys also are needed at the Goodfellows Headquarters on Twenty-fifth Street, just west of the Brownfield Building.

Anyone wishing to mail clothing or toys to the Goodfellows may do so in care of Post Office Box 661, according to Don Adams, chairman, who said there still is a need for volunteer workers to help sort the clothing and dress the dolls.

Meanwhile, registration of families to be included on the Goodfellows list continues at the headquarters between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Registration will close on Dec. 15.

FB Reports On Payments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation predicts that 480,000 commercial farms, or nearly 15 per cent of all farms in the country, will receive an average of $4,420 in government payments in 1966.

It said in a report today that studies indicate that about 460,000 farms received an average of $3,170 in payments this year. It said that total farm income this year would have been the same as last year if there had not been an increase in direct government payments to producers.

The Agriculture Department has reported that total farm income this year totals $41 billion compared with $42.9 billion last year. After adjusting for [illegible] costs,

Spacemen Enjoy Celestial Concert

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—Calm, confident and enjoying celestial concerts, Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. hurtled onward in their marathon weightless whirl today as space officials considered whether to launch Gemini 6 in pursuit a day early.

The Gemini 6 astronauts, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, are scheduled to blast off Monday to track down and rendezvous with Gemini 7. The space agency said preparations were going so well at Cape Kennedy that a Sunday firing might be possible.

A decision is expected by Wednesday. A key will be whether a simulated flight scheduled to start Wednesday midnight can be advanced to midnight tonight.

Gemini 7 entered its 41st orbit at 6:23 a.m. (EST).

Gemini flight director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. said the odds of going on Sunday are about 50-50 and added: "We'll have to continue scrambling if we're going to do it.

"If we can be ready on the eighth day, I'd prefer to go then," Kraft said. "Every extra day you wait there is more of a chance of something going wrong."

Gemini mission director William Schneider was less optimistic.

"I think ... by and ... the only ... are more ... [illegible] ... day launching and less than that for Sunday."

The launch crew has until Thursday, Dec. 16, to fire Gemini 6 to accomplish the rendezvous during the planned 14-day Gemini 7 mission. Kraft said a Dec. 17 launching would be possible if Borman and Lovell can stay up a 15th day.

GAS PRICING

FPC Power Is Affirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today the Federal Power Commission's authority to fix the starting price at which natural gas may be sold in interstate commerce.

The FPC can properly conclude under the National Gas Act, Justice William Douglas said for the court, "that adequate protection to the public interest requires at an interim measure that gas not enter the interstate market at prices higher than existing levels."

And, Douglas continued, "the commission could properly conclude that the public interest required the producers to make refunds for the period in which they sold their gas at prices exceeding those properly determined to be in the public interest."

Justice John Harlan wrote a separate opinion that partly concurred and partly dissented from the court's action. Justice Abe Fortas took no part in the decision. The rest of the court joined with Douglas.

The power commission has said substantial quantities of gas and large sums of money are at stake in the case.

A commission certificate is required before gas producers may contract to sell to pipeline company. Generally, a commission proceeding determines if the sale is in the public interest and later changes in rates are considered in a different, more comprehensive hearing.

Soviet Union Ups Budget For Defense

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced a 5 per cent increase in its defense budget today because of what the finance minister called "conditions of international danger."

Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov told the Supreme Soviet (parliament) that 13.4 billion rubles will be spent on defense in 1966.

That is more than $14.8 billion at the official exchange rate and 600 million rubles ($666 million) more than the announced figure for 1965.

Many Western experts consider that the Soviet defense budget does not give an accurate picture of Soviet military spending since it does not cover all of the items normally included in the defense budgets of Western countries.

U.S. defense spending for 1966 was originally budgeted at $49 billion. Some sources in Washington estimate that it will be $52 billion or $53 billion.

In announcing a defense expenditure reduction last year of 500 million rubles, Garbuzov had appealed for other countries to follow the Soviet lead. Today he said that an increase was required by "conditions of aggravation of international danger." He accused "imperialists" of trying to create new tensions in the world.

The finance minister did not mention Viet Nam or other specific trouble spots.

Garbuzov said defense will take up 12.8 per cent of the 1966 budget.

Labor Asks Bigger Share

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The nation's labor leaders, gathering in San Francisco today, made it clear they want a bigger share of America's prosperity for their members.

The tone of the AFL-CIO's 10th anniversary convention was set by the organization's president, George Meany, who criticized what he called "the naked and ruthless greed of American financial interests."

He demanded "a better division of America's riches" in the form of bigger wage increases out of soaring profits; he blamed "greedy Wall Street bankers" for forcing up interest rates.

Meany spoke Monday to the federation's Maritime Trades Department convention in advance of the opening of the AFL-CIO convention, which starts Thursday.

Pearl Harbor Day Brought Revamp In Communications

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department believes it has eliminated a factor that contributed to the military debacle at Pearl Harbor — the inability to contact swiftly the top officials of the American high command.

Changes in organizational setup and in the machinery of communications which were started almost immediately after a Japanese carrier strike force blasted much of the Pacific Fleet in Pearl Harbor 24 years ago today make remote any chance of similar confusion on contacting officials, a Pentagon spokesman told a reporter.

In 1941, almost everything went wrong in the weeks preceding Dec. 7 and on the day itself.

The possibility of a Japanese attack somewhere had been [illegible] Dec. 6 [illegible] Pearl Harbor, had accomplished a [illegible] matic breakthrough in intelligence, cracking the cipher code used by Japan. Still matters went awry.

Using information from the cracked code, intelligence experts were able to decipher on Dec. 6 most of 13 parts of the 14-part radio messages sent by Tokyo to the Japanese Embassy in Washington.

The 13 parts contained information indicating that negotiations were be be ended and that war was to follow — but still lacked a clue as to where and when the attack would be launched. It still is not clear at what hour part 14 became available. Still another message told the embassy to destroy its code machine and all secret documents. The Tokyo government ordered the embassy to deliver the 14-part message to the American State Department at 1 [illegible] EST on Dec. 7 [illegible] warning that it contained a vitally important message. Smith with a [illegible] Marshall's top aide.

The late Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Adm. Harold P. Stark, the chief of naval operations, were not reached for delivery of the latest vital information, which showed that only hours were left before an attack.

Investigations and subsequent statements by Marshall and others seem to show that Stark was away from his home for the evening but that Marshall was at his quarters in Ft. Myer, Va., just across the Potomac River from Washington.

A report by a special Army board which investigated in 1944 says that the important information reached the Army's G-2 (the intelligence division) not later than 9 p.m. on the evening of Dec. 6 was placed in a locked pouch for delivery to then Col. Bedell Smith with a

Land Purchases For Lake Begin

Initial contacts for land purchases for the lake project at Robert Lee will be made this week.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District's land committee, headed by H. W. Wright, Big Spring, gave the green light after reviewing first land appraisals in an on-site meeting at the end of last week. O. H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, and R. A. Schooling, lake superintendent who will handle much of the land negotiations, will make the contacts as rapidly as appraisers furnish information on the tracts.

Efforts will be made to secure land at the dam site first. This will run into several thousand acres. More than 18,000 acres of land may be required before the basin is complete.

P. C. Harbour, Odessa, and R. D. Fields, Snyder, went with Wright, Ivie and Schooling on a complete tour of the basin in order to make themselves familiar with the various problems.

Meanwhile, other phases of the lake project are proceeding steadily. The additional core drilling needed on the northwest flank of the dam has been completed and reports are expected momentarily. Colorado State University, which is building a scale model of the designed spillway for detailed testing, advised that the morning glory spillway conduit and spilling basin had been constructed and the vertical bin will be in place by Dec. 9. Actual tests may begin by the end of the month.

In terms of time, surveying of the lake area is about 50 per cent complete, Ivie estimated.

Copters To Play Intensified Role

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. forces probably will use intensified "roving strikes" by helicopter-borne fighting men against a heavier inflow of Communist North Vietnamese troops.

Barring a major change in national policy, it is considered highly unlikely that the United States will send troops into Laos to form a fence to cut off the movement of North Vietnamese regulars into beleaguered South Viet Nam. Also, Cambodia's professed neutrality will be respected, even though U.S. officials believe Communist troops have used that country as a sanctuary.

This picture emerged from interviews with top sources familiar with the planning in the growing war in Viet Nam.

There is a body of opinion in the military which favors the idea of sending U.S. troops into Laos and thus to try to sever the infiltration lines over which a growing number of North Vietnamese regulars are believed moving south.

As one source put it, "It's better to put a bucket under the faucet than to try to mop up the floor."

Within the present policy, sources said, the United States is basically fighting a strategic defensive in its efforts to save South Viet Nam from being overrun by the Communists.

The best way to do this, experts said, is to take the tactical offensive — "to find the Communists and cut them to pieces."

This is a course of action which U.S. ground combat forces have been following for months and which apparently will be amplified.

Officials cite the recent bloody battle in the Ia Drang Valley as an example of what could be expected in the future. In that running fight, troopers of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division and their South Vietnamese allies killed nearly 2,300 of the enemy. U.S. losses totaled less than 10 per cent of the Communist dead.

There is every indication that the section of the infiltration network extending from North Viet Nam through Laos is in for some heavy aerial pounding.

Information available here suggests that the Communists have made progressive improvements over the past year in their ability to move both northward and southward through Laos.

One informant said there is a significant amount of evidence that the roads have been improved and that the network of roads and trails has been extended.

Youth Aided In Escape

ABILENE (AP)—A youth on parole was quoted by officers today as saying he helped an accused Dallas rapist and two others escape jail at Anson Sunday night.

The hunt was intensified for Gerald David Knight, 32, accused of ravaging and beating a Dallas girl, 12. Pete Guerrero and Kenneth Chase.

Sheriff George Maxwell said the youth, 17, told him Knight paid him $200 to help him escape and offered another $800 when Knight reached Dallas. Maxwell said the information came after long questioning. He said the youth had spent 10 days in jail at Anson and that the jail break was planned then.

Rape Charge Filed Here

Keith Ainsworth, 23-year-old former Snyder resident, was charged Monday in Justice of the Peace Court here with the rape of a 22-year-old Snyder woman.

He was arrested about mid-night Sunday in his car enroute to Midland about five miles west of Big Spring by Howard County authorities, who held him for officers here.

Spokesmen for the sheriff's Department said the alleged attack occurred earlier Sunday night on a farm road in the east part of Snyder north of the Santa Fe Railway tracks. Ainsworth had borrowed the car of a friend and drove the woman to the county road, according to Sheriff's Authorities. They said an examining physician reported that sex relations had occurred.

Ainsworth was being held in County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond. He denied making the attack, said officers.

Two-Car Mishap Logged In City

City Police investigated a two-car mishap in the 2100 block of Twenty-fifth street about 9:45 a.m. today.

Involved were the parked car of the Kabob Corporation and the car of Edward Allan Skains, 803 Galveston. Officers estimated damage to Skains 1963 Model Ford at $80 and damage to the other vehicle—a 1963 Model Chevrolet—at about $60.

Floors Can Be Papered

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Many people have wallpapered their floors, not always successfully. Papers chosen and methods used to apply the paper to the floor should be considered in the light of stress to be exerted on the floors.

But wallpaper can be used successfully on floors, say those who do use it, providing it is applied properly. It even stands up in the kitchen which gets the hardest wear and tear of all rooms in most homes, providing it is treated for extra protection.

The method suggested is one that involves putting a protective coating over the wallpaper after it is put down. Two coats of clear liquid vinyl may be poured on, the second after the first has dried. It should give the wallpaper a good surface that will resist scuffing and tearing.

A floor of an entranceway in a home can look good after five months' wear on one coat of clear varnish. But lots of factors are involved. Some homes take more abuse than others, and the surface should be finished to cope with it. Some people put a coat of wax over the varnish, but if an area rug is to be used over the paper, waxed floors can be a potential danger as little rugs may slide.

Wallpapering a floor involves the same principle as wall application — start at a corner, and work across, matching the pattern. If the design is large, it should be centered, working out from the middle of the floor so that everything comes out even on both sides of it.

One idea in choosing patterns for wall and floor is to match them. Checks, plaids, tweeds, brick and pebble patterns all look good on floors. Companion papers can be found for walls, but don't make the contrast too overwhelming. Some of the best wallpapered floors are done with the idea that the design will wear down, and the ultimate worn look is the one that will blend in well with furnishings, such as early American.

In Colonial times one way to stray from conservatism in decorating was to put design on the floors. These were often painted to look like designs in hooked rugs, inserting the designs in little octagonals or squares. They also liked spattered floors.

Wallpaper may be applied on the wall from the floor to make a room look larger, with a stripe going around the wall above it. But it depends on the pattern of the paper. In narrow rooms stripes may be used to make the room look wider by running the wallpaper horizontally across the room.

Pope Vows Vital Questions Will Not Be Laid Aside

By GERALD MILER

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI proclaimed the last four decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council today and promised the questions it did not answer — such as birth control — would not be put aside after the three-year-old council ends Wednesday.

The bishops of the Roman Catholic Church took final formal votes on each of the decrees in a public council session in St Peter's Basilica. All were approved, and the controversial documents on religious liberty and modern world problems received even bigger majorities than in earlier work sessions.

Pope Paul then promulgated the documents. The religious liberty declaration and the 36,000-word statement on modern world problems — denouncing nuclear warfare and keeping open the question of birth control — were milestones for the Roman Catholic Church. They committed it to a more open, more accommodating relationship with the world around it.

The modern world statement did not alter Roman Catholic teaching on birth control but left the way open for future changes.

Apparently alluding to this and other questions, Pope Paul said in a discourse:

"If quite a few questions raised during the course of the council itself still await appropriate answers, this shows that its labors are now coming to a close not out of weariness but in a state of vitality.

"In the post-conciliar period this vitality will apply, God willing, its generous and well-regulated energies to the study of such questions."

The council session was also historic in another respect. Pope Paul here and Patriarch Athenagoras in Istanbul made simultaneous declarations canceling excommunications that led to the break between the Roman and Orthodox churches nine centuries ago.

The religious liberty declaration was approved by a vote of 2,308-70.

A vote of 2,309-75 accepted the decree on modern world problems.

In working sessions of the council 251 prelates had opposed the modern world schema and 249 objected to the religious liberty declaration.

The other two decrees promulgated today were on missionary activity, (approved 2,394-5), and on the priestly life, (approved 2,390-4).

The four council decree rounded out the vast modernization plan produced by the council since Pope John XXIII opened it in St. Peter's on Oct. 11, 1962.

They brought to 16 the number of documents issued by the council. The 16 decrees provide a blueprint for the renovation of the Church.

Shrimp Boat Owner Killed By Blast

SEADRIFT, Tex. (AP) — A shrimp boat owner was killed Monday and a companion blown overboard when the boat exploded and burned.

The victim, Robert Allen Woolridge, 21, of Seadrift, planned to be married in 10 days. He had put his homemade, 35-foot boat into operation three months ago.

The crewman blown overboard was Ramiro Ybarra 18, also of Seadrift. He was pulled from the water by a seafood establishment operator.

Andrews Crash Fatal To Youth

ANDREWS (AP)—One person died and another suffered critical injury Monday night when their car overturned on a curve 20 miles north of Andrews.

State Police identified the victim as Alton Brown, 18, of Valentine in Jeff Davis County. Jerry Neil Martin, 21, of Seminole, the apparent driver, was reported in critical condition at an Adrews hospital.

A motorist traveling along Farm Road 181 discovered the wreckage. Both men had been thrown from the auto.

Not Alarmed By Blackouts

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Federal Power Commission Chairman Joseph C. Swidler told newsmen Monday at the LBJ Ranch he was not alarmed by the close timing of two Texas power failures and the New England blackout.

Swidler said blackouts of short duration are not unprecedented, but added that "what we ought to be able to prevent is the cascading of a power failure into areas not directly affected by power loss" such as the northeast blackout Nov. 9.

Power in nine East Texas counties was off for 25 minutes Monday, and El Paso and parts of southern New Mexico were blacked out Dec. 2 by a power failure.

President Johnson told newsmen that Swidler and Chief Commission Engineer F. Stewa Brown had "just conducted inquiries" into today's East Texas power failure.

Swidler said the commission already has compiled a preliminary report on the East Texas failure and a full report on the West Texas blackout.

Teague Sees New GI Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Olin Teague, D-Tex., predicts passage of a GI benefits bill in early 1966 to cover all men now in the armed forces.

Teague, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, made the prediction Monday after a trip to Viet Nam.

He said the GI legislation was among principal concerns of servicemen in Viet Nam. He said they also expressed concern about draft card burners and anti-Viet Nam protesters.

"These objectors back here are encouraging the enemy to fight harder, thinking the U.S. will pull out. It's time to quit talking about free speech and start talking treason," he said.

Teague said he doubted that the bill would apply only to soldiers in Viet Nam. "You can't separate a group fighting in just one area. You had and have men also in the Dominican Republic," he continued.

He expressed hope that a permanent GI program can be set up.

Sees Need For New Oil Reserves

By BOB M. GASSAWAY

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — The United States will use more oil and gas in the next 15 years than it has in all the 106-year history of the petroleum industry, the Interstate Oil Compact Commission has told today.

Onnie L. Lattu, director of the oil and gas office of the Department of the Interior, made the prediction in prepared remarks at the general session of the commission at its annual meeting in Corpus Christi.

"If the domestic industry is to supply the same proportion of this consumption that it now does," Lattu said, "and keep our reserve-to-production ratios where they now stand, we are talking about a need to add 85 billion barrels of petroleum liquids and 500 trillion cubic feet of gas to our proved reserves over the next 15 years."

An economic consultant, Richard J. Gonzalez, was the other main speaker today. He was to discuss the progress in state petroleum regulations and the advantages the industry has derived from the regulations.

H. Byron Mock, vice chairman of a new public land law review commission, Monday called for industry cooperation.

Mock said his group, appointed two months ago by President Johnson, will draw on an advisory committee of 25 persons from all over the nation and the representatives of state governors "to arrive at universally acceptable solutions to problems of public lands." He said the commission's work could have ever lasting effects on the public land states.

Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim C. Langdon, chairman of the IOCC legal committee, said that a Texas chartered company is seeking permission to build four pipelines to bring crude oil into Texas from Mexico.

Langdon said the lines could pump 140,000 barrels of oil a day into the state, and added he opposes the project. A study committee was named to look into the proposal.

"It could seriously upset the interior department's oil imports program," Langdon added.

A. W. Walker, Jr., a Dallas attorney, told Langdon's committee the new Texas pooling law, just passed in the last legislature is a compromise measure and is not perfect by any means, but added it will "unquestionably encourage more uniformity in spacing of oil wells and the acreage to be accredited to each well for allowable purposes."

Governor Seeks To Remedy Explosive Watts Conditions

By GENE HANDSAKER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's governor says he'll try to implement his riot commission's report, which suggests possible violence worse than last August's in Los Angeles if Negroes' "explosive" conditions aren't improved.

What's more, Gov. Edmund G. Brown said as he accepted the massive, 101-page study, he'll call the commission back in six months so it can check progress.

But considerable unfavorable reaction also greeted the eight civic leaders' report Monday on the deadly, destructive six days in a 46½-square-mile area including shattered Watts.

"Totally inadequate," said a labor union official. "Deeply disappointed," said a civil rights leader.

Tucked into the graphic, 30,000-word report, 100 days in the making at a cost of $250,000, was this paragraph:

"So serious and so explosive is the situation that, unless it is checked, the August riots may seem by comparison to be only a curtain-raiser for what could blow up one day in the future."

The commission proposed "expensive and burdensome" programs in job development, education and law enforcement to prevent a recurrence of the fire-bombing, gunfire and looting that left:

Thirty-four persons dead, 1,032 injured, 3,952 arrested, property loss over $40 million, more than 600 buildings damaged, more than 200 of them destroyed.

At the height of the Aug. 11-17 violence, the commission said, perhaps 10,000 Negroes took to the streets in marauding bands.

"They looted stores, set fires, beat up white passersby whom they hauled from stopped cars, many of which were turned upside down and burned, exchanged shots with law enforcement officers and stoned and shot at firemen," the report said.

Gov. Brown asked his commissioners — educators and community leaders, including a housewife, a Negro judge and a Negro pastor — to study basic causes of the violence and suggest how best to keep it from happening again.

Chairman John McCone, former chief of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Central Intelligenece Agency, handed the report, "Violence in the City — An End of a Beginning?" to Brown Monday.

The commissioners reported they found no one cause of the August terror, but "sowing the winds" were:

—Too few jobs, especially for untrained Negroes.

—Insufficient schooling designed for disadvantaged Negro children.

—"A resentment, even hatred, of the police, as the symbol of authority."

The report said these problems were intensified by:

—"What may well be the least adequate network of public transportation in any major city in America." In Watts, where only 14 per cent of the families own cars, a resident "may have to ride on several separate bus systems to reach certain destinations in the immediate area."

—An exploding Negro population up nearly tenfold from 75,000 in 1940 to 650,000 now. Frustration and disillusionment have met the high hopes of many Negroes from Southern states.

—Local controversy over handling of federal poverty projects, which didn't live up to advance publicity.

—Frequent "exhortations, here and elsewhere, to take the most extreme and even illegal remedies."

—"Many Negroes here felt and were encouraged to feel that they had been affronted" when in November 1964 voters repealed 2-1 a so-called state fair-housing act.

Recommendations to remedy "the sickness in the center of our city" included:

—"Cooperative programs for employment and training, participated in by the Negro community, governmental agencies, employers and organized labor."

—"A new and costly approach to educating the Negro child, an emergency program" including language classes for 3-year-olds. The average fifth-grader in Watts apparently can't "make use of reading and writing for ordinary purposes in his daily life."

From Negro witnesses, the commission said, "We have heard evidences of a deep and long-standing schism between a substantial portion of the Negro community and the police department. 'Police brutality' has been the recurring charge.

"On the other hand, the police have explained to us the extent to which the conduct of some Negroes when apprehended has required the use of force in making arrests."

The commission said Chief of Police William H. Parker is "a man distrusted by most Negroes" but that even his critics consider him a capable chief.

Parker didn't immediately comment on that.

The commission said Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson "hesitated when he should have acted" on the police chief's request for National Guard help in the riots.

Anderson replied that he "acted as fast as possible." He called it "the fastest mobilization of the National Guard in history."

Mecom Buys Property Of Jesse Jones

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas' largest newspaper and several other properties formerly owned by the late Jesse H. Jones Sr., one of the state's greatest tycoons, have been purchased for $85 million by John W. Mecom, a relatively young oil multimillionaire who started as an oilfield roughneck.

Included in the sale are the famous Rice Hotel, the Rice Hotel Garage, the Rice Hotel Laundry and Houston Endowment Inc. stock in the Texas National Bank of Commerce.

The bank is Houston's second largest, listing deposits of more than $660 million. The endowment stock reportedly amounts to 30 per cent of the 2.4 million shares the bank has outstanding and is said to have a market value in excess of $40 million.

Mecom, 54, is a Democrat but has not publicly been active in politics. Last September, however, he met with 25 other leaders of big business at the White House to assure President Johnson of the business community's support in the 1964 election.

The group called itself the National Independent Committee for President Johnson and Sen. Humphrey.

Mecom has been a guest at the White House several times during the Johnson administration.

The Chronicle, which last reported to the audit bureau of circulation daily figure of 269,704 and a Sunday figure of 313,592, lists itself as independent.

In presidential elections since World War II it supported: Dewey in 1948, no one in 1952, Eisenhower in 1956, Nixon in 1960, and Johnson in 1964.

Announcement of the sale was made Monday by J. H. Creekmore, president of the endowment, a philanthropic foundation created by Jones before his death in 1956.

The 17-story Rice Hotel was built by Jones in 1912 on the site of the first capitol of Texas and several successive hotels.

Jones bought into the Chronicle in 1910, nine years after it was started by Marcellus E. Foster, and bought out Foster in 1926. He held ownership until he gave it to his foundation.

Jones was head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under both President Hoover and President Roosevelt.

Jones' grandson, John T. Jones Jr., president of the Chronicle, declined comment on Monday's sale. He pointed out that he recently stepped down as chairman of the Houston Endowment Board.

Mecom is to assume ownership "as soon as practicable." No date was mentioned.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—For some reason (known only to merchants), the Yule season starts earlier every year.

I can remember when it began in December. This year the merchandise and new price tags went up in October.

And around my pad, the hopes are going up with the merchandise. It is a Fall Syndrome.

Christmas cards have been on the rack for some time. Undoubtedly for the benefit of people like me who forget until the last minute and then it is too late.

We have a nice system with automobile license plates in Mexico. The tags are good for two years and I work it the same way with Chirstmas cards. The last I sent out were SEASON GREETINGS, GOOD FOR 1963-64.

This year I get hit again but at least they will be good until 1967. And Merry Christmas to anyone I might forget.

At any rate, the problems have begun. The little Abneys are busily composing letters to Santa Claus, begging for enough things to start our own department store.

Their mother has adopted a wait-and-see attitude but it is based on cynical feelings.

One of the gifts Santa foolishly brought her last year was a jade ring which I thought was gorgeous. She didn't wear it. And when I asked a month or two ago what happened, she said it was an "odd piece." She didn't have any matching earrings to go with the ring.

We know what that means, don't we jolly old Sant Nick? But get the earrings this year and there won't be a dress in her wardrobe to go with jade. You can get into complicated situations trying to be decent.

Then the kids. I might as well take this opportunity to ask Santa NOT to bring anything in the guns, knife-type figures. Even if he does lock himself up in another room to play the ones he has, windows and the glass on picture frames shatter and the parrots set up a terrible screeching.

And Santa, remember the popgun I gave 3-year-old Jimmy for his brithday? He points it at ME and roars "Bang!" Please ignore his request for a real cannon for Christmas.

I understand that children are children only once (thank Heaven) but I see no reason to grant Miss Mary's urgent plea for a carpenter's set. The saw and hammer may be plastic but she is wrecking the furniture effectively with her bare hands. Even if she is only a 5-year-old.

You should see what she can do to my desk with only a stick.

The older girls possibly will be satisfied with an assortment of gem stones although I'm afraid it is asking for a situation like we have with the lady from Puebla and her jade ring.

I suppose, Santa, you might as well bring her the matching earrings. It will mean a dress and shoes, etc. to go with jade but somebody is bound to get stuck with that sooner or later.

Somebody has to get murdered at Christmas no matter what. And they always twist the knife once they stab you.

But that connon, Santa, please. There's no use in getting gory.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION—The Free Speech Movement commemorative rally at the University of California at Berkeley saw a variety of entertainment and activities. The group was addressed briefly by student Daniel Teodoru, right, native of Romania, who said the demonstrators were acting like puppets who were part of the program. Clergymen Testify In Slaying Case

By DON MCKEE

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Two clergymen who were with the Rev. James J. Reeb when he was clubbed fatally on a Selma street nine months ago have been called to testify in the trial of three white men charged with the slaying.

The two ministers, subpoenaed as prosecution witnesses, were accompanying Reeb the night of March 9 when they were attacked by several white men. Reeb, 38-year-old Unitarian minister, was hit with a club and died two days later.

The three clergymen had taken part in a Negro voting rights march.

Circuit Solicitor Blanchard McLeod, the prosecutor, said he had summoned the Rev. Orloff F. Miller of Boston, where Reeb lived, and the Rev. Clark Olson of Berkeley, Calif., the slain minister's companions. They were struck in the attack.

Called to trial today on first-degree murder charges were William Stanley Hoggle, 37, a salesman, his brother, Namon O'Neal Hoggle, 37, an auto mechanic, and Elmer L. Cook, 42, manager of a novelty company.

A fourth man, R. B. Kelley, 38, who was arrested but not indicted, has been subpoenaed as a prosecution witness.

Kelley and the three defendants all have been charged under a federal law with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Reeb and his companions. No trial date has been set for the federal charges.

Good Meal Heals Man's Infirmities

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A man on crutches was aided by an employe as he made his way through a cafeteria line at a Houston bus depot Monday.

The employe carried his tray, and he wasn't detained at the cash register. He ate his meal and slipped out while no one was looking, leaving the crutches behind.

Reds Fail Again At Soft Landing

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's fourth attempt this year to make history's first soft landing on the moon failed early today. The unmanned spaceship Luna 8 crashed into the moon's surface.

But unlike after other unsuccessful attempts, the official Soviet news agency Tass announced the failure only 2½ hours after the space ship's radio went dead at 12:51 a.m. — 4:51 p.m. Monday EST.

The failure of the last attempt for a soft landing, on Oct. 8, was not announced for 13 hours.

Unlike other recent tries, the Russians announced Luna 8's mission immediately after it was launched Dec. 3. Missions of its last two moon ships were made known only after they failed.

Tass said Luna 8 worked without a flaw in all stages until the touch-down.

"As a result of the flight of the station Luna 8, a further step was made toward the realization of a soft landing," Tass said in its brief dispatch.

Before the Tass announcement, the Jodrell Bank Observatory in England reported "some evidence of a near-success of a soft landing."

"The general impression here is that the Russians must have really come close to success," said Sir Bernard Lovell, Jodrell Bank's director.

Luna 8 weighed 3,421.5 pounds, 101.5 pounds more than its predecessor, Luna 7. This indicated that perhaps additional equipment had been installed.

Tass described the last moments of the flight this way:

"When the station was approaching the moon, the functioning of the soft-landing systems was checked and the checking showed that the systems of the station were functioning normally at all stages of the landing except the final touch-down."

A soft landing is a prerequisite to landing a man on the moon. It is extremely difficult because the moon has no atmosphere. The Soviet space shots have used retrorockets to deal with the problem, and apparently it was a slipup in the braking mechanism that caused Luna 8 to land too hard and destroy its radio mechanism.

The United States is committed to landing a man on the moon by 1970 but has not yet begun attempts for a soft landing.

PLENTY OF HUSTLE—There was action aplenty in Tiger Gym Monday night as the Lamar and Travis Junior High School 8th and 9th grade basketball teams collided. Travis won the 8th grade tilt, and Lamar captured the 9th grade encounter. Above, Mitch Rambin (No. 53) of Lamar and Kenny Sehested (No. 54) of Travis go after the ball during the 9th grade contest. The same frantic activity marked the 8th grade battle (below). (Staff Photo).

Tiger Basketball Team Invades Colorado City

The Snyder High School varsity Tigers, sporting a 1-2 record, continue nondistrict play tonight with a court test at Colorado City. The "B" teams of both schools will begin the action at 6:15 p.m., followed by the clash between the varsity squads.

Coach Ned Underwood listed probable starters, as follows: Bill Blum and Tommy Bullard at guard, Ronie Laster at center, and Langston Powell and Bobby Clardy at forward.

He said Colorado City won the Consolation Trophy at the recent Lake View tournament and has "about a 3-2 record for the season. They're plenty tough."

The Tigers host seven team this weekend in the 11th annual Canyon Reef: Seminole, Big Spring, Brownfield, Phillips, Kermit and Breckenridge. Coach Underwood is looking for an 8th team to replace Brownwood. The Lions still are competing in football and decided not to compete in the tourney.

Coach Bill Hartsfield's "B" boys will be in a tournament at Kermit Friday and Saturday. The first game is at 1:30 p.m. Friday with the host quintet providing the opposition. Other first round games: Pecos vs. Monahans, 10 a.m. Friday; Brownfield vs. Seminole, 12 o'clock, noon, Friday; and Crane vs. Ft. Stockton, 3 p.m. Friday.

Monday, the Tigers went through a lengthy workout. The boys have been doing a lot of running lately and appear to be in good shape physically.

White Deer, Keller QB's Get The Most Out Of Passes

When the White Deer Bucks and the Keller Indians tangle here in Tiger Stadium at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Semi-final playoff game of the Texas Interscholastic League playoffs, area football fans will have an oportunity to see two of the most effective quarterbacks in schoolboy circles.

Randy Dowell, 148 - pound quarterback for the Indians, completed only two of six passes in the quarterfinals tilt against Forney last week, but both tosses were good for touchdowns. He hit 150-pound end Steve Moran on a screen pass that covered 77 yards with 3:32 remaining. The play broke a 7-7 deadlock and paved the way for a Keller victory. With only 2:44 remaining in the first half, Dowell hit 135-pound end Mike Buchanan with the "bomb." The play covered 42 yards. Both completions added up to a total of 119 yards gained passing.

White Deer completed only one pass in three attempts against Coahoma in the quarterfinals, but it, too, was good for a touchdown. Quarterback Philip Hart teamed up with end Ronnie Anderson for a 43-yarder that struck pay dirt.

Both teams combine seldom used but effective passing attacks with quick, hard-hitting rushing offensives. Fullback Vernon Marlar socred three touchdowns against Coahoma. Two were on one-yard plunges, and the third resulted from a 25 yard burst.

Harvey Hanson 181 - pound Indian back, rushed for 90 yards on 17 carries to win offensive honors in the Forney tilt.

Each playoff team also is good at hawking the ball. The Bucks recovered three Coahoma fumbles, and the Indians stole three Forney aerials.

Alert aggressive defensives and hard-hitting offenses resulted in a 13-0 record for White Deer and a 12-1 record for Keller. White Deer apparently has the more potent offense, scoring 443 points, compared with only 43 for the opposition. Keller has tallied 318 points while limiting its foes to 95.

It should be a whale of a game. Tickets go on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office here Wednesday morning at the rate of $2 for adult and $1 for student admissions. Officials at each school have ordered 800 adult and 300 students tickets.

Lamar 9th Wins In Overtime

Lamar's 9th grade basketball team struck for four points in an overtime period at Tiger gym Monday night to win a 46-42 come-from-behind victory over Travis.

Trailing 14-19 after the first period, the Texans fell behind, 19-28, at halftime, and few in the crowd thought Lamar would pull it out. But, after the second half began, the Texans began steadily to cut into the lead and trailed by only 30-35 going into the final period, then tied it up at 42-42 at the end of the regulation game.

Gary Tucker made a field goal and Jodi Williamson tossed in two free throws in overtime while Travis was held scoreless.

Tucker, with 12 points, and Mitch Rambin, with 13 points, led the Travis offense. Lee and Ward had 12 and 10 points respectively for Travis. Lamar won the game at the free throw line, sinking 18 gratis tosses, compared with only 8 for Travis. The losers led, 17-14, in field goals.

Lamar—Rambin 5-3-13; January 1-0-2; Holder 2-5-9; Thompson 0-2-2; Tucker 5-2-12; Williamson 1-6-8; Totals: 14-18-46.

Travis—Sehested 4-1-9; Lee 6-0-12; Ward 5-0-10; Brinner 1-2-4; Rushing 0-5-5; Johnson 1-0-2; Totals: 17-8-42.

Scoring by quarters:

Travis	19-9- 7- 7-0—42
Lamar	14-5-11-12-4—46

By The Associated Press

Texas fell but Texas A&M won to become the only undefeated team in Southwest Conference basketball Monday night.

The league also broke even in interseetional warfare for the second straight time.

While Texas was losing to Louisiana State 76-66 and Rice was taking a 96-87 licking from Georgia Tech, Texas Tech was winning its first game of the season, 77-72 over Arizona, and Texas Christian was doing the same, with a 77-66 trouncing of Loyola.

The conference intersectional record now is 5-11.

The Aggies came from behind to whip Southwest Texas State 76-62 and keep its slate clean in two games.

Three conference teams are in action tonight with Baylor hosting North Texas State, Southern Methodist playing Oklahoma at Dallas and Arkansas clashing with Oklahoma State at Fayetteville.

GRID MOTHERS MEET TONIGHT

The Football Mothers of Snyder will meet at 7 p.m. tonight (Tuesday) in Room 118 at the high school. A spokesman for the group urged all mothers to attend.

Royal Has No Comment

AUSTIN (AP) — Coach Darrell Royal of Texas was finally contacted — at 2 a.m. today—and asked whether he was interested in going to Oklahoma to succeed Gomer Jones as coach.

"No comment," said Royal.

"Have you been contacted?" he was asked.

"No comment to that either."

"How long is your contract with Texas?"

"You know, I really don't know. I was asked that the other day and planned to look it up but I've been so busy I didn't get around to it. But I'm going to do it tomorrow."

He explained that since he was voted a full professorship with tenure he hadn't thought much about the contract as coach.

To the best of his recollection he was given a new 10-year contract about four or five years ago.

Anyway, he still has some years left on his contract.

He was asked if he was happy at Texas and he said yes. It was a real good place to be. But he didn't have any comment when asked if he would like the prospect of going to Oklahoma, where he was a star football player in his college days.

He has been at Texas for nine years and beaten Oklahoma the last eight. That could be one of the reasons Oklahoma might want him as coach.

Royal apologized for being so [illegible] but he said he thought it would be better that way. "I just can't say anything at this time," he said.

"Are you going to visit Oklahoma?" he was asked. "I am planning to go to Houston to-[illegible]."

Travis Fights Off Lamar 8th

Travis Junior High School's 8th grade basketball team jumped off to an 8-1 lead in the first quarter and held on for a 28-25 victory over Lamar in Tiger gym Monday night.

The Travis boys employed a sharp-shooting attack and a ball-hawking defense to run up the early margin, then held on as Lamar thinned the margin to 12-9 at halftime and 18 - 17 after three. Travis spurted ahead for good in the final quarter with a 10 - point production, whereas Lamar could muster but eight points.

Wesley Bishop captured scoring laurels for the night, sinking eight field goals and four free throws for 20 points. Lee McNair was in double figures for Lamar with four field goals and three free throws for 11 points.

Lamar—Greene 1-0-2; Ater 3-0-6; McNair 4-3-11; Levens 1-2-4; Watkins 1-0-2. Totals: 10-5-25.

Travis—Bishop 8-4-20; Light 2-0-4; Patrick 1-0-2; Hermandez 1-0-2. Totals: 12-4-28.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Mr. D got tired of driving a bus up and down Main Street. He wondered what the world was like beyond the town. Finally he took down the bus sign saying "Main Street, put up one saying "Zabbazara" and started off.

CHAPTER TWO
THE CROCODILE
AND THE DONKEY

HOW THE PEOPLE stared when they saw Mr. D and the Zabbazara bus drive down the Main Street of the town!

"Hey!" they called. "Wait! Stop"

They were in the very midst of their Christmas shopping. Their feet hurt and their tempers were short. They couldn't believe the bus wasn't going to take them up and down Main Street the way it always had.

The bus came to a corner where the traffic was so heavy Mr. D had to stop. The shoppers pushed open the door and cried out, "Let us on. We want to go down Main Street, you dunce!

Mr. D pointed to the big sign he'd put on the side of the bus. He said, "This isn't the Main Street bus anymore. This is the Zabbazara bus. You want to go to Zabbazara?"

ZABBAZARA Where's that?

"I don't know," said Mr. D. "But that's where this bus is going. If you want to go, hop on."

Well, who wanted to go to a place with a name like that which no one had ever heard of? The people fell back grumbling and glaring at Mr. D as if he had taken leave of his senses.

Mr. D. didn't care. He put his foot down hard on the gas and scooted away. When he came to the end of Main Street he didn't turn the bus around the way he always had. He kept right on going straight out of town.

The bus lurched and shook. Mr. D bounced up and down so hard his glasses slipped off his nose. Without his glasses he saw two roads instead of one. He decided to take the left road. It was rough but he liked it because it was taking him further and further from Main Street.

Presently he came to a crossroads where an ugly old woman with a shawl over her head flagged him down.

"This isn't a real bus," Mr. D called out the door. "It's the Zabbazara bus."

"That's real enough for me," said the old woman and she climbed on board.

Mr. D slipped his glasses back up his nose and he saw that it wasn't an old woman at all, but a crocodile.

"Everyone is afraid of me. I am so ugly," said the crocodile as she settled herself in a seat. "I've been standing on that corner more years than I can say, and no bus has ever stopped for me before."

Mr. D had never had a crocodile on his bus before, but he thought, "Perhaps this is the way things are away from Main Street and this is the life I wanted to see."

So he let the crocodile stay on the bus. He shut the door and started away. He hadn't gone far when he was stopped by a foolish looking animal standing in the middle of the road.

"Who are you?" asked Mr. D.

"I don't know," said the animal unhappily. "I never went to school and I don't know anything."

"It's a donkey," said the crocodile from the back seat. "Donkeys don't have much sense."

"You better get out of the road," said Mr. D kindly. "You'll be hit standing there."

"It's just as well. What do I have to live for? Everyone despises me."

"Take him on the bus," said the crocodile. "He wants to go to Zabbazara."

"But, there is no Zabbazara" protested Mr. D. "I made it up"

"So what? It doesn't matter. Let the donkey on."

Mr. D did as he was told. The donkey climbed on and the Zabbazara bus continued on its way.

Tommorrow: Little Boy Lost.

"This isn't the Main Street bus any more," said Mr. D.

Texas Slaying Is Probed

FORT WORTH (AP)—A number of persons may be implicated in the slaying of attorney Robert Maclin, Texas Ranger G. W. Burks said Monday night.

Burks made the statement after conferring with two officers who gave a lie detector test during the weekend to a former Fort Worth police character who now lives out of state.

"The lie detector test and later interrogation leads us to believe that several persons know about the slaying and may have attempted to have Maclin killed," Burks said.

Burks said Haltom City police, as a result of the questioning and other investigation, have a good foundation for filing a conspiracy to commit murder charge in connection with the case.

"There is still some work to do but I think they have come up with some definite leads," the ranger said.

He said officers considered filing the conspiracy case Monday but decided to hold off pending further investigation.

Maclin was fatally wounded May 17 on a parking lot in suburban Haltom City.

Air Force Bases In Texas Will Take On New Look

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Texas Air Force bases will take on new looks over the next several years if Defense Department plans announced Monday are carried out.

Current B52 programs at Bergstrom, Biggs, Carswell and Sheppard Air Force Bases will be eliminated and replaced with new programs expected to maintain current levels of activity at all except El Paso's Biggs Air Force Base. It will be transferred to the Army's Ft. Bliss, saving an estimated $19.6 million annually

A total of 2,692 military and civilian personnel will be reassigned from Biggs.

Bergstrom, near Austin, will become the site of the 12th Air Force headquarters, which will leave Waco by June 30, 1968. The transfer, which will complete deactivation of Connally—Air Force Base, is expected to save $3 million annually. The transfer will involve 1,175 military and civilian personnel.

In place of the Strategic Air Wing at Bergstrom, the Defense Department plans to install by January 1967 a tactical air force command tactical reconnaissance wing of three squadrons.

The B52 programs at Fort Worth's Carswell base and Wichita Falls' Sheppard base will be replaced with unannounced "major missions" expected to maintain current levels of activity.

Other losses include the F104 fighter-interceptor squadron at Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring, which will force the relocation of 246 military personnel and four civilians; the two Nike Missile bases each at Austin and Abilene; and small naval reserve training facilities in Huntsville and Bellville.

Other changes:

The Lackland Air Force Base Language Training School will be transferred to Biggs.

Pensioner Irked By Missing Check

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police used tear gas Monday to subdue an 80-year-old pensioner who went on a shooting spree when he didn't receive his government check.

Police said James Lee, apparently angered because he didn't receive his pension check, fired two wild shots at the hotel manager and three more at investigating policemen.

Police returned the fire in a running gun battle inside the hotel. Lee was hit in the wrist as he barricaded himself in his room on the third floor. Some 30 policemen swarmed to the scene.

SHERMAN (AP)—A prominet Sherman woman died and an Alabama airman suffered critical injuries in a two-car collision Monday night two miles east of Whitesboro in North Texas.

Reported in critical condition at the nearby Perrin Air Force Base Hospital was Airman 3.C. James Pope, 19, who is stationed at Altus AFB, Okla. Officers gave his hometown as Lillian, Ia.

The accident occurred on U.S. 82 between Whitesboro and Denison.

Famed Dancer Reaches 70 But Won't Rest On Laurels

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For Martha Graham, a tiny woman of giant fame, the thing that matters is the mystery and its never-ending challenge.

Through a lifetime of revolutionary dance she has explored "those deep, curious currents — good, bad, beautiful, ugly — that surge through every individual.

The quest still goes on, despite the unparalleled honors, awards and recognition earned during her long search. Now a bit past the 70-year mark the high priestess of the modern dance conceivably might relax on those laurels. Instead, those deep-set, luminous eyes shine with unslaked enthusiasm.

Miss Graham and her company — her "acrobats of God" — have just completed a three-week Broadway engagement that both critics and public found to be the brightest theatrical event of the season so far.

Designed as a 30-year retrospective display of major examples of the modern dancing style which she pioneered, the program included two new Graham works, one of which she "tore apart" — her own phrase — between its premiere and second showing.

Looking back over the vista that began with a 5-year-old tot gazing awestruck at Punch-and-Judy in Atlantic City, N.J., Miss Graham voices greatest satisfaction at the improving status of those engaged in artistic creation.

"The artist is no longer a subnormal creature," she says. "This is happening all over the world, not just in our country."

The students — several hundred each season — who crowd to her School of Contemporary Dance come now with an attitude different from that which existed when she first began teaching just to get enough money for a single performance each year.

Miss Graham's achievement was summed up when last May she was presented with the $30,000 Aspen Award in humanities.

The citation said in part: "Martha Graham has reaffirmed the primacy of the human spirit in an age dominated by science and technology."

Breaking new ground is nothing new for her.

In 1935 she received the first Guggenheim Foundation grant ever given a dancer; in 1937 she performed at the White House for President Franklin D. Roosevelt; in 1950 she was cited by President Harry S. Truman. She holds honorary university degrees, has traveled the globe under the cultural exchange program.

Through students, the Graham "made in the U.S.A." method has spread abroad and right now pupils from 19 countries are in her school.

And to it all, Miss Graham says: "These are still struggle years, but the struggle lies more in the soul."

In the foyer of her midtown New York apartment is the basic tool of her art, the constant reminder of daily bodily discipline: a dancer's work-bar mounted before a full-length mirror.

She was born in Pittsburgh, one of three daughters of Dr. and Mrs. George Graham. Her father was a prominent physician of deep religious bent. Her mother was a descendent of Plymouth Colony's Capt. Miles Standish.

The family moved to Santa Barbara, Calif., when Miss Graham was still a tot.

It wasn't until after her father's death when she was 16 that Miss Graham witnessed a performance of dance. Later she attended the Denishawn School in Los Angeles conducted by Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn.

By 1930, she had achieved sufficient recognition so that choreographer Leonide Massine and conductor Leopold Stokowski engaged her to dance the lead in the American premiere of Igor Stravinsky's "Le Sacre du Printemps."

Soon after she was delving into original creativity and seeking ways of expressing through bodily movement those internal tumults of soul and mind that she feels are too elusive for words. Among the most notable works in her repertoire are "Appalachian Spring," "Seraphic Dialogue," "Letter to the World," "Judith" and "Herodiade."

Plans are now pending for a national tour — if the money can be found. If is 15 years since her company has traveled across the country.

DOUBLE STRING CEREMONY!

Historians Will Be Busy Analyzing DeGaulle's Ego

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Big Charley lost a few inches Sunday when he failed to win re-election to a seven-year term in the French presidency, it was not his greatest failure, as he admitted, unintentionally.

From the end of the war until 1958 France was a travesty on political stability. It had so many political parties, from far left to far right. There was only government by crisis. One government after another fell.

The process was endless and France was dwindling into chaos when in 1958 it recalled Charles de Gaulle from retirement to take over. It was so flattering to his ego that he couldn't conceal it.

He told a news conference Frenchmen cried "Long live De Gaulle" instinctively when they were in anguish. He set out to give the French a new sense of destiny, a new sense of pride. And France prospered.

But, while De Gaulle can be gracious, this is not the same as graceful. And there was nothing graceful about his appeal to the French people a month ago to re-elect him.

He warned them that if he was not re-elected, the country would collapse. This was his ego again, of course: the indispensable man. But it blinded him to the significance of what his indispensability meant.

It was this. In seven years he had failed to provide the French people with, or guide them toward, a more mature political system which could save the country from the kind of instability which had almost destroyed it before he arrived.

Last Sunday the French showed they didn't think he was totally indispensable. He got about 44.5 per cent of the vote and now must face his leading opponent, leftist Francois Mitterrand, supported by Socialists and Communists, in a run-off December 19.

Why did the French fail to give him the majority he needed for election Sunday? The reasons are not clear but perhaps they finally realized that, despite his dreams about the new grandeur of France, he stood for negation.

He sneered at the Anglo-Saxons — meaning Americans and British — and baned the British from the European Common Market; proposed neutralizing Southeast Asia; recognized the sovereignty of Red China; seemed well on his way to wrecking the NATO alliance; and talked of France leading a third world — between the West and communism — made up of the nations of Africa, Asia, and Latin America.

But while he was undermining the Western alliance, he was providing nothing in its place. Raymond Aron, one of France's most influential political commentators, said Europe could "not afford two De Gaulles."

Sir Winston Churchill in 1945 told President Franklin D. Roosevelt, "I am sure that in the long run no understanding will be reached with De Gaulle."

In the opening of his memoirs De Gaulle says all his life has been possessed by a vision of France as "dedicated to an eminent and exceptional destiny."

Historians will spend a lot of time trying to analyze his ego which has been so crude as to seem eccentric.

A year ago former President Harry S. Truman, after watching De Gaulle for years, said he sounds "like Napoleon brandy with a strong dash of Machiavellian cynicism. He is in any event over a century too late."

What's Best To Slow Price Rise?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — What's the best way to keep prices from rising too high too fast?

President Johnson thinks the way is to put government pressure on businessmen and bankers to hold the price and interest lines. William McChesney Martin thinks the better way is to take some of the speculative steam out of the money and credit markets.

Each is going his own way now. And the country should soon see which method works the better, or if neither works.

The President has used federal defense stockpiles, White House supervision of labor negotiations, controls dubbed voluntary against the sending by businessmen or bankers of U.S. dollars abroad where they can earn higher returns. The President thinks all this will hold the economy on the fairly steady upward course of the last five years.

The Federal Reserve Board is taking a different tack. It is raising the discount rate, usually regarded as the pace-setter for the cost of borrowing. It thinks that will cool down an incipient speculative boom that could send prices sky high if too much money and credit is floating around.

Will other interest rates rise fast? Some may follow the Fed's discount rate, which is what it charges banks for money they borrow to lend to businessmen.

But many observers note that interest rates have been going up steadily for some time. In that sense, the Fed is following the trend, not setting it.

Yields of U.S. Treasury securities have gone well above the 4.5 per cent which the Federal Reserve will now charge the banks. The commercial banks themselves have been lending to most businessmen well above the 4.5 per cent prime rate they list officially.

Interest rates that lending institutions pay for deposits also have gone up in recent months. Savers have had a choice: higher rates at the commercial and savings banks and the savings and loan associations, or corporate and government securities paying yields unmatched for many years.

And for Americans there was a temptation to send their savings abroad to get still higher returns there.

Interest rates in themselves don't determine consumer prices. But the bankers say they have a long-term effect. That is because a large supply of cheap money and credit gives the nation lots of dollars with which to bid up prices in the marketplace. An abundance of money also can feed speculation. And that usually leads to a big boom, with rising prices, followed by a bust.

The President obviously believes no such speculative boom is in the making and that no monetary check rein is called for. He thinks government persuasion can hold prices and wages in line. And he fears that Martin, by moving toward tighter money and credit, may discourage some of the plans for expansion counted upon to keep the economy climbing in 1966.

Junior Editors Quiz on EELS

QUESTION: Why do eels migrate from inland waters out to the sea?

* * *

ANSWER: We do not know the exact nature of the instinct which causes a big eel which has lived for some years in an inland pond (1) to slip into the outlet stream one autumn night (2) and begin the long journey toward the sea. Eels are lovers of warmth and darkness. They are born in the deep warm waters of the semitropical Sargosso Sea (check with map): Does some vague memory or yearning for this place of their birth stir them? All we know is that they follow the movement of the streams into the rivers and down to the sea. The eels which have lived in the ponds are females; at the sea's edge they are joined by the males, who have lived in brackish marshes. Now great numbers of eels head toward the area where sargosso weed floats in patches on the water (3 and 4). Meanwhile, eels from the streams of the old world have also been moving toward the Sargosso Sea. Here, female eels lay millions of eggs which hatch into tiny transparent larvae (4). By some amazing instinct, the old world larvae know to head eastward to reach the rivers from which their parents came, while the American larvae turn to the west and northwest. After a year, the little creatures, now 3 inches long and called elvers, reach the rivers. Now the female elvers move to some upland pond, and the cycle begins again.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Cut out this article and picture and paste them in your scrap book on animals or nature. As you think over this life story of the eel, you may come to regard it as one of the most mysterious and remarkable of nature's fishy wonders. 12-7

A&M Tells Policy To Admit Coeds

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Policy for admitting coeds to classes at Texas A&M University was made public by President Earl Rudder Monday.

Rudder said the policy, with few changes over present rules, was outlined in the form of a letter from H. C. Heldenfels, president of the university system's board of regents.

Heldenfels was instructed by the board of directors to write, stating a policy for admitting female students, Rudder said.

Text of the letter from Heldenfles to Rudder follows:

"At the April 27, 1963 meeting of the board of directors, minute order No. 65-63 approved the admission to Texas A&M University of qualified women on a day-student basis to all graduate programs and to veterinary medicine. Minute order No. 66-63, approved the admission on a day student basis of the wives and daughters of faculty and staff, and wives of students in residence, and women staff members to the undergraduate programs. A subsequent interpretation by the board of the president of Texas A&M University included wives and daughters of retired or deceased members of the faculty and staff to be accepted on the same basis as wives and daughters of active employees.

"In order to implement furthur the above orders of the board and to clarify the intent thereof, the following interpretation is given:

"To be eligible to register as an undergraduate student in a fall or spring term at Texas A & M University, a person must . . .

"—be the wife or daughter of a student registered in a fall or spring term at Texas A&M University; or

"—be the wife or daughter of a member of the faculty, be an employee, or be associated with the faculty and staff of Texas A&M University; or

"—Be the wife or daughter of a retired or deceased member of the faculty and staff of Texas A&M University; or

"—be intending to enroll in class, pursue a course of study, or use facilities not offered at any other Texas state-supported college or university, or be seeking an academic goal which for any reason can best be achieved at Texas A&M University; or

"—Be pursuing a course of study leading to a graduate or professional degree offered at Texas A&M University, the undegraduate requirements of which can be fulfilled at Texas A&M University but not at any other Texas state-supported college or university.

"Any female student enrolled in a summer session, who meets the residency requirements for a degree will be given a degree on the same basis as any other student.

"The above to be the admission policy until amended by the board of directors."

The A&M president said, "the administration of Texas A&M will comply fully with the instructions set forth in this letter from the board of directors. Of course, admission for women and men will continue to be on an individual basis, as in the past."

Beaumont Blackout Explained

BEAUMONT (AP) — A utility company spokesman says a 138,000-volt transmission line apparently figured in the short blackout Monday in nine Southeast Texas counties.

The Gulf State Utilities employe said the trouble probably occurred when the transmission line was tripped between Orange and Lake Charles, causing circuits to break.

A turbo-generator at Bridge City, he said, then went out, making the power load too much for the other generators to handle.

Power was restored in 25 minutes in a power interchange with major Texas utility companies.

The disruption came while Joseph Swidler, Federal Power Commission chairman was explaining the massive New England power failure of Nov. 9 to President Johnson.

Although only nine counties were directly affected, public service agencies, hospitals, civil defense units in the Houston area

Captain Recalls Pearl Harbor Day

By MALCOLM BARR

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — Just before 8 o'clock on a sunny Sunday morning 24 years ago today, an aircraft skimmed low over Pearl Harbor.

A 23-year-old ensign aboard the USS Oklahoma, one of eight battleships moored in the harbor that day, saw it.

The young officer from Batavia, N.Y. — just 18 months out of the Naval Academy — had just gone on watch 'topside.' He gave the plane only a passing glance as it zoomed overhead. Low-flying planes were commonplace.

Then hell broke loose.

Today Capt. Sidney Sherwin was to visit the memorial straddling the sunken hulk of the battleship Arizona and pay tribute to those of his comrades who lost their lives on Dec. 7, 1941.

Sherwin, 47, now holds a top job at Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard and lives in Honolulu with his wife, the former Jane Blewitt of Newport News, Va., and their three children. He lost 10 classmates in the 1941 attack — three on the Oklahoma and seven on the Arizona.

More than 1,100 U.S. Navy men remain entombed in the sunken Arizona. Another 900 were killed on other ships, 1,700 were injured, and eight battleships were sunk or disabled.

One of those which capsized was Sherwin's ship, the Oklahoma. Some 400 members of the crew were killed.

Sherwin, recalling the morning's events, said the plane he spotted came in so low "I could see the oil stain on the engine, and the pilot looking out over the side."

But he said he didn't see the "meatball" — the Japanese Rising Sun emblem — on the side, "and I doubt whether it would have meant much at the time if I had."

Then the bombs began going off.

Sherwin said there was a lot of "milling around" but someone quickly got on the bullhorn to sound general quarters.

"We headed forward to our battle stations and got into officers' quarters," Sherwin recalled. "I felt the first explosion, then there were a number of others. We went up a ladder through an escape hatch."

Sherwin said that as he reached topside, the battleship began to roll slowly over on its side and settle in the mud. He said he neatly stacked his watch, wallet, shoes, and part of his uniform on the capsized vessel, then jumped into the oily water with two sailors.

He and one of the enlisted men, named Curtis, could swim. The other man couldn't so they towed him through the water to the battleship Maryland, moored alongside the Oklahoma at Ford Island.

Ford Island sits in the center of Pearl Harbor, and was the site of the now famed "Battleship Row."

At this point, Battleship Row was a shambles of burning, exploding ships. Oil which gushed from them left a mark on the banks of Ford Island which can still be seen today. It looks like the scum around a bathtub. Even now oil slicks occasionally appear on the calm, blue surface of Pearl Harbor above the Arizona.

Sherwin recalls arriving at the dispensary aboard the Maryland at precisely 8:15. A bomb struck the ship just afterwards. "I remember looking at the clock," he said. "It was 18 minutes since the attack began but it seemed a lot, lot longer."

Sidney Sherwin, left, then a 23-year-old ensign, from Batavia, N. Y., on duty on the Oklahoma, went overboard and swam with two other sailors to the battleship USS Maryland, just ahead of it. Today Sherwin holds a top job at the Pearl Harbor naval shipyard. (AP Wirephoto)

Some residents say military storage tanks were in the general area during World War II, but none has been located.

DENTON (AP) — Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., predicted Monday night that Congress will investigate the increase in discount rates by the Federal reserve board.

A telegram from President Johnson said:

"In over 30 years in Washington, I am sincere in saying that Graham Purcell is one of the most capable legislators that I have known . . . since his election in 1962, he has earned not only my admiration but that of his colleagues.

"I cherish his friendship, and I join the people of the Denton area in this tribute to his friendship."

Trains Collide On Collapsed Trestle

COALINGA, Calif. (AP) — Two Southern Pacific freight trains collided head on Monday night on a trestle which collapsed, injuring nine trainmen and killing a number of cattle.

The California Highway Patrol said both engines and two cars fell from the trestle into a creek near Highway 33, a half mile east of this central California town.

One train was moving eastward in a fog while the other was going westward on the single track. The westbound train was loaded with cattle.

Rains Slow Fall Plowing In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Fall plowing in Texas has been hampered by rains in most of the state, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

The rains threw fall land preparations further behind schedule as many fields were becoming dry enough to plow. The moisture was welcomed by farmers with small grains and pastures.

Last week's freeze and the lack of heavy rain increased cotton harvesting. Harvest is 33 per cent complete in the High Plains and Northern Low Plains, while the Southern Low Plains crop is 60 per cent harvested. The statewide harvest is 57 per cent complete, compared to 65 per cent last year.

Sorghum combining is almost complete, and peanut digging is 85 per cent complete.

Rains boosted prospects of north, central and south Texas oats, but some poorly drained fields had plants yellowing from excessive moisture.

Flax seeding is 83 per cent complete, slightly ahead of last year.

Rain slowed movement of Rio Grande Valley vegetables, with harvest continuing of green peppers, cucumbers and cabbage. Rain also halted harvest of vegetables in the Winter Garden-San Antonio area. Harvest of the early lettuce crop at Uvalde continues.

Session Set On Brush Eradication

FLUVANNA—Continuing its effort to keep the farmers and ranchers of Scurry County informed on educational meetings and schools, the Fluvanna Young Farmer Chapter has called attention to a "Brush Elimination Meeting" to be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the J. A. Koch farm 14 miles west of Quanah.

There will be demonstrations of every known and used practice in the control or eradication of undesirable brush, mesquite being the one of chief concern in this immediate area. All methods, both mechanical and chemical, will be shown and the inefficienct of all will be pointed out as an eradication measure.

The demonstartion will be conducted by the newly organized Southwestern Mesquite and Brush Eradication Association headed by W. C. Howard of Quanah.

An impressive group will be in attendance, meluding the presidents of several national farm groups. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Also scheduled to attend are Anson Horning of Larned, Kan., president of the National Wheat Growers Association, Leo Witowski of Hereford, president of the Texas Association of Wheat Growners, and Dick Brown of Harley, treasurer of the Texas Association. Also scheduled to attend is Rep. Graham Purcell, member of the House Agriculture Committee.

Manfacturers of various machines used in the control and eradication of brush will be represented.

In Texas, 88.5 million acres, or 82 per cent of the once-luxurant grasslands, are now infested with mesquite, with 54 million acres, or 50 per cent, so densely covered that little improvement can be expected without an accelerated program of control and finally complete eradication.

The meeting was set with a view toward obtaining state and national backing to obtain a research and eradication program on mesquite similar to the screwworm program.

"We believe that a nation that can put a man in space and kill the screwworm can eradicate the mesquite," said Howard, president of the Southwestern Mesquite Eradication Association. Over 5,000 persons are expected to attend.
