Eruption Deaths Denied

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Nyragingo volcano in eastern Zaire erupted Monday, according to reports reaching Brussels today. The government of that African nation, denying earlier reports of about 2,000 deaths, said no one was killed.

Diplomatic sources quoting Zaire's Kinshasa radio had given the large casualty figure.

Belgain radio quoted sources at the Goma, Zaire, bishop's residence as saying the 11,000 foot volcano erupted through five craters, spewing lava that cut five roads and reached the Goma airport runway.

Ford On TV Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's third and final State of the Union address, which is being delivered tonight, is described by a senior aide as an "upbeat, statesmanlike swansong." Ford's farewell address will be broadcast by most major radio and television networks beginning at 9 p.m. EST.

Israelis Blast Giscard

TELAVIV (AP) — Israeli outrage over France's release of suspected Palestinian terrorist Abu Daoud boiled up today into an angry demonstration against the president of France.

"Giscard, terrorist," roared a crowd of several hundred Israelis gathered outside the French embassy, referring to President Valery Giscard d'Estaing.

Stay Motion Denied

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today denied a motion for a stay of execution submitted by Jerry Lane Jurek, a Texas death row inmate scheduled to be executed next Wednesday.

The SDN Column

Some of the so-called unorthodox, or un-scientific weather forecasters are sitting around the fireside these days saying "I told you so."

They are directing their comments to some of the professional weather analysts and meteorologists who advised last summer and fall that we could expect a mild winter.

Unless you have been off to South Sea Islands, or some other place where they have no seasons, you know that if summer should set in tomorrow we could still say with veracity that we have had a hard winter. And we expect any day now to hear some expert come out with an observation that our winters are getting colder and that we should keep a close watch in the event that another ice cap forms over the North American Continent.

The reverse is true, of course, when we have a mild winter or two. Someone invariably suggests that our climate is getting warmer and that we should be ready to cope with all of the water that will gush down upon us when the Arctic ice cap melts down.

Actually, seasoned observers tell us, our climate does change almost constantly, but over a period of several years it just about "averages out." This is fortunate, because they say that a change of one or two degrees either way over a long term could result in radical changes in our environment. And they say if there should be such a change, it probably would be better if it came on the cold side. A general, consistent change of a couple of degrees could play havoc with the frost lines as we have come to accept them. It might move the date of the last killing frost up close to Christmas in this area, if the change was in the warmer direction, and at the same time it would move back the date of the last freeze of winter, providing a longer summer.

There are those who would like to control this situation, and some are reportedly working on it. We have always felt that the controls are in good hands and that we would be reluctant to trust them to any mortal being we have known. We are certain that on the day we wanted to go on a picnic, he would want to go snow skiing.

BRISCOE RENEWS PLEDGE

'No New Taxes' Endures

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe told the 65th Legislature today he will continue his policy of no new taxes as long as he is governor which could be as long as six more years.

"The last tax bill passed by the Texas Legislature was passed in 1971, the year before I was elected governor. There will be no new or additional state taxes so long as I am governor," Briscoe said in his "state of the state message" to a joint session of the House and Senate.

Briscoe's present term expires two years from now but he has given increasingly strong hints that he will run for another four-year term in 1978.

Most of the items in Briscoe's legislative program already had been made public-a broad crime control program, a shift of $825 million in general revenue to highways in the next two years, and a public school finance program that would reduce local funding requirements.

Briscoe said the new state budget should reduce state employment by 4.5 per cent from 92,591 employes to 88,376 in 1978 and 88,448 the following year.

As indicated earlier, he recommended no pay raises for school teachers, leaving that to each local board.

He recommended 3.4 per cent annual raises for state workers, compared with a current inflation rate of about 6 per cent. The Legislative Budget Board has proposed raises of 6.8 per cent in 1978 and 5.1 per cent in 1979.

Even though it would cut into the revenue available for financing the new budget, Briscoe recommended repeal of the 4 per cent state sales tax on residential utility bills. This, he said, would "return a savings in actual dollars each month to Texas consumers."

Apparently emulating part of Jimmy Carter's reorganization of Georgia government, Briscoe proposed creation of a Texas Department of Human Resources that would combine the present Texas Youth Council, welfare department and Governor's Committee on Aging.

He also proposed establishment by law of a State Commission on the Status of Women.

The governor endorsed the recommendations of the Texas Medical Professional Liability Study Commission for solution of the medical malpractice insurance crisis, which includes advance screening of malpractice claims by panels of doctors.

Closer serutiny and supervision of banks and savings and loan associations should be established, he said.

"To help prevent the influx of organized crime into the state and protect the stockholders and investors in Texas corporations from hostile takeover by persons and corporations of questionable motives and abilities, I encourage this legislature to adopt a strong Investor Protection Act giving the State Securities Board additional authority to deal with the problem," he said.

Employment Here Rules Out Projects

Unemployment figures in Snyder still are far too low to qualify for any federal anti-recession public work projects, the City of Snyder has been advised.

City Manager George Patterson said he received word today that the unemployment rate here for the third quarter of 1976 (the last quarter for which figures are being used now) amounted to 2.9 per cent of the available labor force. For the last month of that quarter (September) the unemployment percentage had dropped to 2.7.

The city was advised that an unemployment rate of 4.5 per cent or higher is required before anti-recession public works projects may be approved.

The city does qualify for $104,246 in federal revenue sharing, however, which is within about $2,000 of the amount estimated in the city budget for the current fiscal year.

WHOLESALE PRICES JUMP

Jobless Rate Declines

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment declined from 8.1 to 7.9 per cent last month, the government said today, but the good news was offset by another sharp jump in wholesale prices, particularly for food.

Coffee, pork and poultry costs were the chief ingredients in the biggest rise in farm and food prices in eight months and pushed over-all wholesale prices up nine-tenths of a per cent in December. Industrial price increases slowed, with natural gas costs turning down after rapidly increasing for several months.

The improvement in the nation's job picture was an indication the economy is beginning to revive after a summer-fall period of stagnation and rising joblessness. The pause in the business recovery had aroused concern among economists and prompted President-elect Carter to propose a two-year package of tax cuts and rebates and job-creating measures.

The 7.9 per cent unemployment rate in December was still slightly higher than the rate at the beginning of the year, when 7.8 per cent of the labor force was jobless in January.

Unemployment had dropped from a recession peak of 8.9 per cent in May 1975 to a low of 7.3 per cent last May. The rate then started rising and stuck on a plateau of 7.8 to 7.9 per cent from July through October, before jumping to 8.1 per cent in November.

The unemployment rate in 1976 averaged 7.7 per cent for the year, down from 8.5 per cent in 1975.

The Labor Department said the number of Americans unemployed in December dropped by 210,000 to a total of 7.6 million.

GYMNASTICS PLAN OKAYED

School Superintendent's Contract Is Extended

Snyder Independent School District Trustees last night voted unanimously to extend the contract of Supt. Bill J. Hood and approved a gymnastics program for elementary school pupils in the third through the sixth grades.

Hood, who is currently working on a contract extending through June of 1979, was granted a one-year extension, which moves the date to June 30, 1980.

The board instructed Hood to submit a request to the Texas Education Agency that local schools not be required to make up a day of class work which was lost Monday due to a curtailment of natural gas service. The state requires a minimum of 180 days of classroom work each school year. Hood said he believed that in view of the widespread school closings Jan. 10 that TEA might consider forgiving that day. Otherwise, the school will be required to put in an extra day of instruction, before the term is out in May.

If TEA refuses the request, the Snyder district will schedule classes on Friday, Feb. 25, which had been set up as a teacher in-service day, and the in-service day will be changed to Saturday, Feb. 26.

The elementary school gymnastics program, which was proposed by Douglas Fitzjarrell, gymnastics instructor, will provide after-school classes from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Tuesdays for students in the third and fourth grades, and on Thursdays for students in the fifth and sixth grades. Registration for third and fourth graders will be Jan. 18, and for fifth and sixth graders on Jan. 20. The classes will be held in the Snyder High School girls gymnasium and auxiliary gymnastics area. There will be a registration fee of $1 per student, which is to be paid on the day of registration.

The school is recommending that each student participating be covered

Cost Reports On New Laws Downed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A proposed Senate rule requiring legislators or the Legislative Budget Board to predict how much every new state law would cost in local taxes failed in committee, 4-3, Tuesday.

The budget board prepares five-year fiscal notes on legislation requiring the expenditure of state money. Sen. Kent Hance wanted to require similar estimates on laws involving local funds.

Either the board or the bill sponsor would have to provide the cost analaysis.

The resolution by Hance, D-Lubbock, also proposed that the board include the number of additional employes it projects in "arriving at the probable costs" of a law.

Asked if Hance's proposal might not overload the board, director Thomas Keel said the board probably would prepare 2,500 fiscal notes this session and "a few hundred more aren't going to break our back."

Giles Dalby, county judge of Garza County, said the proposal "would be of great benefit to local governments."

As an example, he said, the local cost of establishing a new state district court varies from $30,000 to $125,000.

"This will tie you in knots," protested Sen. A. R. Schwartz, D-Galveston. "I don't want the Legislative Budget Board to depend on the city council of Galveston to tell it how much one of my bills is going to cost the city of Galveston.

Freezing Mist Ices Highways

Freezing mist caused treacherous driving conditions in the Snyder area early today, and ice-coated roads were blamed for at least three traffic mishaps.

Highway patrolmen warned motorists that all roads north of Snyder were especially slippery, and two of the mishaps were reported on the Clairemont Road north of town. There were reports that some traffic northbound on U.S. Highway 84 turned back north of Snyder because of the build-up of ice from a fine mist in sub-freezing temperatures.

A city Dumpmaster truck over-turned near the Texaco plant north of Snyder after skidding on icy pavement. Joe Barboza, the driver, apparently was uninjured except for bruises, but he was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital for observation. The truck was lifted back on its wheels and city officials said there apparently was little damage and that it could be driven back into town.

Two traffic accidents on ice-slickened roads outside Snyder were investi-

'Goals' Survey Forms Published

Community-wide participation is being urged in the "Goals for Snyder" survey now being conducted by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber officials said that survey blanks had been sent to all Chamber members and that others have been picked up at the Chamber office. To make it more convenient for all local citizens to participate in the survey, the survey form is reproduced on page 9 of this issue of The Snyder Daily News. It may be clipped, filled out and turned in to the Chamber office and it will be included in the survey tabulation and analysis.

The survey covers a broad range of community services, activities and facilities. Chamber of Commerce directors approved it to assist the Chamber and other local agencies in planning their programs of community work in the near future.

Bill Henry, Chamber Manager, said that response had been good among those who had received survey forms, but the organization is anxious for all citizens to have an opportunity to participate.

Originally, plans had been made to reproduce the survey forms in last Sunday's issue of the Daily News, but it was delayed because of space problems.

Bell Rate Appeal Is Delayed For One Week

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. will have to wait at least one more week in its fight to overturn an order granting it less than 20 per cent of the rate increase it wants.

State District Judge Jim Meyers ruled Tuesday that Atty. Gen. John Hill will have a week in which to write a brief against Bell's position.

Bell asked the Public Utility Commission for $296.8 million a year in additional revenue. After a lengthy hearing, PUC granted only $57.8 million.

Three hours after the PUC amended its order in minor ways, Bell asked Meyer to grant a temporary injunction against enforcement of the order. It also asked to be allowed to charge the rates it proposed last September that would bring in the $296.8 million.

Bell said it would post a bond to cover refunds if it lost on a trial of the merits of the case.

Hill characterized Bell's move as "ludicrous."

"All the telephone company is entitled to is an appeal...They're not entitled to any other ancillary relief," Hill said.

He turned to Bell's lawyer, Tom Phillips, and asked why the company couldn't behave as any other claimant would have to and follow normal procedures without asking for an injunction.

Phillips said Bell is losing more than $500,000 a day by not getting the increase it asked for. This is an irreparable loss, he said.

Phillips contends the law establishing PUC provides for a challenge to its orders to be tried under the preponderance-of-the-evidence rule on the question of confiscation. This means the greater weight of the evidence.

Hill said the appeal must be governed by the substantial-evidence rule, meaning the PUC's order must be sustained unless Bell can show PUC acted without substantial evidence-in other words, it acted arbitrarily and capriciously.

Seadock Terms Concern Exxon

HOUSTON (AP) — Exxon Corp. says it is concerned about some of the terms of the license for the proposed $650 million Seadock crude oil loading facility off the Texas coast.

However, Exxon said Tuesday it had offered to discuss the areas of concern with the Department of Transportation.

Exxon and two of its subsidiaries, Exxon Co. USA and Exxon Pipeline Co., said they could not accept some of terms of the proposed license and stated they could not participate in the project if the license is issued in its present form.

Secretary of Transportation William T. Coleman Jr. outlined Dec. 17 the details of the proposed licenses for both Seadock and LOOP, a similar project off the Louisiana coast.

Several regulations are based on recommendations made by the Federal Trade Commission and the Department of Justice.

by the school insurance program, and those planning to register should contact Fitzjarrell or the school business office. Fitzjarrell, who has completed a two-week gymnastic session at each of the elementary schools, said he anticipated considerable interest in the after-school program. A similar program last year attract scores of students.

The board approved job descriptions for speech and hearing therapists, classroom teachers, educational diagnosticians, elementary counselors, reading and early childhood teachers and school nurses.

E.D. Flynn, assistant superintendent-business, was authorized to take bids for purchase of three school buses. Flynn suggested that the bids be taken now rather than next summer as originally planned because new equipment requirements are expected to increase prices considerably before summer.

Mrs. Wade Davis, an invited guest at the meeting, proposed that the board consider changing the name of Central Elementary School to the Herman Trigg Elementary School to honor the late Herman Trigg who served as a principal in the local school system for some 27 years, the last 20 years at Central. Vera McSpadden, president of the board, said the board would discuss this proposal at a future meeting.

gated this morning by Highway Patrolmen.

The first mishap occurred about 7:30 a.m. today, approximately 12.5 miles north of Snyder on Highway 208.

Patrolmen reported that a 1972 Ford pick-up truck driven by a Snyder man, Johnny Suarez, overturned. A passenger in the vehicle was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released. Moderate damages were reported to the truck.

The second mishap, patrolmen said, occurred about 8:30 a.m. on U.S. 84, approximately six miles south of Snyder.

A 1976 Buick pulling a horse trailer jackknifed and the horse trailer overturned. The driver of the car was identified as Vicky Lee Johnson of Snyder. She was not injured.

The horse trailer received heavy damages. The horse inside the trailer, however, was not killed.

Weather forecasters indicated that the icing conditions would ease later in the day as temperatures moved upward.

Rape Case Trial Begins

Antonio H. Martinez, accused of raping a 15-year-old girl, went on trial this morning in 132nd District Court.

The charge stems from an Oct. 7 incident in which Martinez is alleged to have offered the girl a ride in his car as she was walking home from school, taking her to a deserted rural area south of Snyder, and raping her.

Martinez, 33, was arrested by deputy sheriffs Oct. 8. He was indicted on the rape charge Oct. 11.

Presiding in the trial is 132nd District Court Judge Wayland G. Holt. Prosecuting the case is Dist. Atty. Pete Greene. The defendant is represented by Lubbock attorney Quinn Brackett.

Ira School Head's Contract Renewed

IRA—The Ira School Board renewed the contract of Supt. Ron Plumlee for two years and set its annual trustee election for April 2 at its January meeting.

Plumlee is in his first year as the superintendent of the Ira Schools.

Grady Moore will be the election judge for the trustee election while Carolyn Carter was appointed absentee voting clerk and Mickey Rundell was named deputy clerk.

In other business, the board continued its study of delinquent taxes, and a list of delinquents on the tax roll is now being prepared. Also, the school district is working on forms for rendering personal property. These will be distributed in the near future.

A report on two building projects now underway were made. The kindergarten building is expected to be completed soon. It had been hoped that it would be ready late this month, but weather conditions have slowed progress on the construction work. The new gymnasium is not scheduled for completion until June.

Plumlee said the Ira schools hope that the day missed Monday due to cold weather will be marked off by the Texas Education Agency. Otherwise, he said the Ira Schools likely will schedule a teacher work day on Feb. 19 and a student make-up day for May 20, which is on the calendar now as a teacher work day.

Make Down Jackets, Save Money

By Joanne Schreiber

Everywhere you look, youngsters are wearing down jackets. The skinniest ones look like stacks of puffy inner tubes - the chubby ones defy description. But down jackets are in with the beautiful young people, for sports, for school, for everything.

But down jackets are expensive. And that's where home sewing really comes into its own.

I made a down jacket for my youngest - 11-year-old Laurie - for half what the store-bought versions had cost for her older sister and brother.

There are some really terrific kits on the market. The one I used was by Frostline. It's the largest and oldest of the several companies and offers kits for jackets, vests, sleeping bags, comforters, bootees, mittens, pants, all elegantly filled with down. A child's jacket (bright red, size 10-12) was $23.50 - and everything you need is there in the kit.

This kind of sewing is fun. A down jacket is, essentially, a series of down-filled bags stitched together. If you are an experienced home sewer, you will realise instantly that this is a new set of rules. You must follow the instructions explicitly. If you are inexperienced, there is all the more reason to follow instructions. They are precise, complete and mean business. Do every single step indicated and you will come out with a beautiful jacket. Take short cuts and you will be sorry.

DOWN JACKETS for children or adults are easy to make when the sewer follows instructions. The couple here wear down jackets made from a kit that comes complete with the down.

The kit for a child's jacket contains 20 pre-cut pieces for the jacket and its lining, a number of sealed packets of down, three spools of heavy duty thread, a separating zipper, Velcro, nylon lacing and cotton cording, a Frostline label, size label and care label to sew in and even a scrap of fabric for testing the stitch length and tension. Plus a super-clear instruction book.

The raw-edge finishing is interesting. You are instructed to sear the edges of each piece (all 20!) by passing each edge through a candle flame or by using a soldering iron. This is an essential step - don't try to zigzag-stitch the raw edges. It takes about an hour, so sit down, turn on some nice music, and sear away. I used a candle.

The two sides of the front, the back, the collar, the front zipper sections and the sleeves are separate bags which are stuffed with down and stitched together. Each section of the garment has its own little down bag, clearly marked. The down is mashed into plastic baggies and you fill each section by inserting the baggie, turning it inside out, and pushing the down into the empty section. Most of it does get into the garment. However, keep the vaccuum handy and don't wear black wool slacks while making a down jacket.

After the jacket is assembled and stuffed, you stitch lines around the body to keep the down from shifting. It turns out to be an amazingly professional jacket, with more down than most store-bought models - assuming you follow every single step...and don't lose too much down.

Curious about care instructions? You may wash or dryclean the jacket, but don't use enzyme-type cleaning agents on it. Tumble the finished jacket in the dryer to fluff up the down; spin it in the dryer before storing it for the summer, to remove mildew-causing moisture.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South's six spade contract is not a good one. Its success depended on either a 3-3 heart break or a mistake by the defense.

As you can see the hearts didn't break, but South brought the slam home. Now see if you can figure where the defense went wrong.

West opened the queen of clubs. East played the seven and South ducked. He didn't fear that a second club would be ruffed; he had no play at all for the 13 tricks and wanted to establish a squeeze or pseudo-squeeze pressure in case hearts didn't break.

Now came the defensive blunder. West continued by leading the jack of clubs. There was no reason not to lead the eight spot or to shift to a diamond or a trump, but West just wasn't thinking ahead.

So he led the jack of clubs. South won, drew trumps with two leads, cashed dummy's ace of diamonds, came to his hand with a third trump, ruffed his jack of diamonds, led dummy's last trump, overtook, cashed his last trump to discard dummy's last club and noted with delight that East had discarded the 10 of clubs on the next to last trump and the king on the last one to establish South's nine spot as a winner.

Ask the Jacobys

A Tennessee reader wants to know if any one can call for a redeal while the cards are being dealt if no card has been exposed.

The rules provide that once the cards have been properly cut the deal must be completed if no card has been exposed provided the right person is dealing. You may not ask for a redeal as a whim.

Men Unwinding With Needlework

WASHINGTON (AP)—Needlepoint, the art of creating a picture by filling a canvas with tiny identical stitches, has become many a modern man's tool to help him unwind from a long day at the office.

Saying that it helps them quit smoking, relax tensions or just plain pass the time, men like Spiro Agnew and Roosevelt Grier have taken up what used to be considered an all-female art. Ex-football tackle Grier even wrote a book about it.

Misinformation about cholesterol

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your article stating that none of the vegetable oils contain cholesterol. While the department of agriculture does agree with this, the American Heart Assn. does not.

Their folder "The Way to a Man's Heart," contains these statements: "Saturated animals fats are found in beef, lamb, pork and ham; in butter, cream and whole mile; and in cheeses made from cream and whole milk." Saturated vegetable fats are found in many solid and hydrogenated shortenings; and in coconut oil, cocoa butter and palm oil (used in commercially prepared cookies, pie fillings and non-dairy milk and cream substitutes).

DEAR READER — I have included your letter in my column as an example of the confusion that the public has about cholesterol. The statement by the American Heart Assn. has nothing to do with cholesterol. Look at your folder again and notice you are quoting from the paragraph on saturated fats — not cholesterol.

The problem is that the public at large does not yet realize that saturated fat and cholesterol are not at all the same thing. While plants may contain saturated fat they do not contain cholesterol, and the American Heart Assn. has never said that they do. The statements you quote do not say that either.

Cholesterol is an animal product. Saturated fats are found in both animal and vegetable foods. Too much saturated fat in the diet is believed by many scientists to increase the body's formation of cholesterol. That is why the American Heart Assn.'s pamphlet you cite emphasized what foods contain saturated fat, not because these foods all contain cholesterol.

It is extremely important that the public learn what is meant by cholesterol, saturated fats and polyunsaturated fats. Without this understanding and its application to the food you eat, there is no way you can really profit from the recommendations by the American Heart Assn. or any other group interested in preventing heart attacks, strokes and other complications of fatty cholesterol deposits in the arteries.

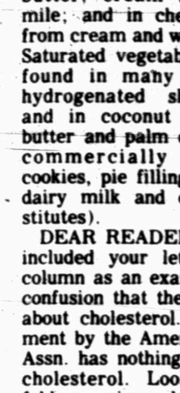

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-2, Cholesterol, Triglycerides, Blood Fats, Atherosclerosis, to help you understand these important facts. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What are histamines?

DEAR READER — Histamine is a complex chemical manufactured by animal and plant tissues. It contains an amine group of nitrogen and hydrogen the same as the amine group in an amino acid from protein.

Histamine is important in certain circulatory reactions, stimulates the stomach to produce acid digestive juice and is an irritant that causes the symptoms people have during an allergic response. The offending, "allergic agent" enters the body and the body releases histamine from sensitive cells. The histamine release causes symptoms, such as a runny nose, asthma attack or hives. Antihistamines counteract the action of histamines and relieve the symptoms of allergic reactions.

Professor Criticizes Congress

HOUSTON (AP) — A University of Texas professor says Congress "has not put an extra drop of energy in our tank" since the Arab oil embargo of late 1973.

Dr. John J. McKetta said Tuesday prices for foreign crude oil will rise to $25 to $30 a barrel by 1985 unless the United States develops every possible energy resource.

He criticized Congress for failing to enact a national energy policy and said the nation is in need of an energy czar who is not bound by senseless government regulations and by the "bickering" of a vote-conscious congress.

Speaking to a pipeline technology conference, "Interpipe 77", McKetta said some members of congress have put the country's and the world's future in jeopardy while trying to satisfy their political aims.

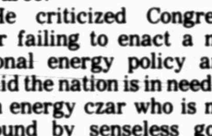

"The inept inactivity of our congress," he said, "is a tragic example of bad government."

Knievel Inks ABC Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Daredevil Evel Knievel has signed a long-term contract with ABC to perform motorcycle jumps and to serve as a commentator for stunts performed by others.

Roon Arledge, president of ABC Sports, said part of the agreement calls for Knievel, 38, to attempt at least one major jump a year to be telecast on the network's "Wide World of Sports."

The amount of the contract with Knievel was not disclosed.

Snyder Gymnasts Are In Training

Doug Fitzjarrell, the gymnastics instructor at Snyder High School,has done quite well in the sport himself.

Originally from Colorado Springs, Colo., Fitzjarrell has been involved in gymnastics 18 of his 25 years. He was on the Odessa College team two years and made Junior College all-around champion in 1971 and 1972. He graduated from Iowa State University, and has done graduate work at the University of Colorado. In 1974, he was NCAA champion in floor exercise. In 1974, he participated in the World Game final trials and missed getting on the team by one. In 1974, he toured South Africa with the United States team, and in 1975 he toured Russia. He was the first American to take both a silver and a bronze medal in floor exercise in European competition. He also participated in the 1976 Olympic final trials.

Fitzjarrell said he has three boys and nine girls competing in gymnastics this season for Snyder High School.

Girls competition includes four events. One event, floor exercise, is tumbling and dance and acrobatic movements put to music. It is done on a 40 by 40 mat.

Balance beam, another area of competition, is done 47 inches off the ground on a 4-inch wide beam.

"Everything that you can do on the floor you can do on a balance beam," said Fitzjarrell. Some of the movements include back handsprings, flips, walkovers and dance movements of all sorts. This competition has a time limit of from one minute and 15 seconds to one minute and 35 seconds. If you fall off the beam, you have to get on again and complete your routine within the required amount of time. Balance beam routines require a lot of balance and coordination.

Another area of competition for girls is the uneven parallel bars. Movements go from the high bar to the low bar. Routines are made up of swinging movements, working above the bar and below it. It takes strength, but those who participate in the uneven parallel bars are not suppose to look labored.

"You have to have fluid motion and poise--which is true in all gymnastics," said Fitzjarrell.

The fourth area of competition for girls is the vaulting horse. Men compete on it lengthwise and girls sidewise. They can do hand springs over the top or double fronts (two flips before they hit the ground). Twisting hand springs also are done on the vaulting horse.

For boys, there are six events, including the pommel horse, horizontal bar, parallel bar, floor exercise, vaulting and still rings.

The object of the pommel horse is to maintain your balance while doing circles and other maneuvers over the top of the horse.

The horizontal bars are eight feet in height. When a person competing in horizontal bars dismounts, he is from 10 to 15 feet off the ground. You can do giant swings and different forms. Horizontal bar exercise is a great deal like uneven bars only you do full circles compared to half circles on the uneven bars.

Parallel bars requires a great deal of strength. You swing above and below bars and never release or touch the ground.

Floor exercise for men is done on a 40-foot by 40-foot mat. There is a lot of variety in the routines that can be performed.

Another area of competition for men is vaulting. It requires strength and dynamic power in the men's routines. It is not done to music.

The idea of the still rings is to maintain stillness of the rings while working both above and below them. It requires a combination of strength and swinging movements.

Judging in gymnastics is different from judging in other sports. A gymnast starts out with a perfect score of 10 points. Points are taken away for flaws in movement.

Fitzjarrell said the girls on the Snyder High School team, include:

Sarah Youngkin, a freshman, who performs on the uneven bars; Rita Black, a sophomore, who works on the balance beam and also in the all-around category; Pam Blankenship, a sophomore, in all-around; Lesa Blankenship, a senior, on the uneven bars; Laura Cameron, a senior, in all-around; Tammy Bell, a senior, on uneven bars; and, Inge Hefel, an exchange student from Austria. She is a senior and does both floor exercise and balance beam. Terri McCarty, a freshman works in all-around.

The three boys include Bobby Overhulser, a freshman; Mike Booker, a junior and, Freddy Quiros, a sophomore. All of the boys compete in all-around.

The team attended a workshop at Odessa High Dec. 10-11, and they participated in a practice meet at Odessa High Dec. 18. The first meet of the year is Jan. 22 at Midland.

The schedule:

Jan. 22—Midland YMCA Girls Gymnastic Meet, Midland YMCA.

BOXED IN—Snyder High School's Earl Clayton (24) is boxed in by two Lake View players during the basketball clash here last night. The Chiefs' Lynn Cauley (24) appears in the background. Snyder won 81-53.

Tigers Rip Lake View 81 To 53

The Snyder High School boys varsity basketball team defeated Lakeview, 81-53, here last night in a District 3-AAA basketball clash. The victory boosts Snyder's season record to 10-12, and they are 2-1 in district play. Lakeview now is 7-6 and 0-3.

Lakeview went ahead, 3-2, early in the first quarter, but that was the only lead they had during the game. The Tigers gradually increased their lead in the first quarter. Their biggest margin was 20-8 on a basket by Lucious Jeffery just before the quarter ended. Snyder was ahead 20-10 at the end of the period.

The Tigers went ahead by 16 points in the second quarter. They had a 28-12 margin on a bucket by Tony Cobb, who had a hot night, getting 25 points. At this point of the game, Cobb had half of the Snyder scores. Lakeview rallied and closed the margin to 34-24 at halftime.

Snyder continued to put on the pressure and led 63-36 at the end of the third quarter for a 27 point lead.

The Tigers led by 29 points, 65-36, early in the fourth quarter, and ended with a 28 point margin.

Anthony Lewis also had a good night for the Tigers, scoring 18 points, and Lucious Jeffery put in 14. For Lakeview, Marshall Avants was high point man with 15 points. Arthur Williams contributed 13. They were the only two boys in double figures for the visitors.

The Tigers now have won three straight and will have momentum going for them when they take on the Tornadoes in Lamesa Friday night.

Snyder forced a lot of turnovers against Lake View.

The Tigers also won the junior varsity game, 77-67. Lake View led 14-13 after one quarter, and 41-35 at halftime. But the Tigers took command, 56-52 in the third quarter and outscored Lake View 21-15 in the fourth frame.

Comalander Top Coach

By The Associated Press

San Antonio Churchill's Jerry Comalander is the Texas Sports Writers Association's High School Coach of the Year-a dream dreamed by thousands of other coaches across the state.

Churchill stormed to the Class 4A schoolboy football title with an unbeaten season despite the fact Comalander only had three offensive starters and five defensive starters to work with.

It wasn't easy for Comalander at the ballot box either.

Comalander received 46 first place votes for 1,544 points followed by Temple's Bob McQueen with 22 first place votes and 1,431 points.

Other finishers included Doug Ethridge of Port Neches-Groves third and Jack Waggoner of DeLeon fourth.

Goodlett Retires From SCS Dec. 31

W.S. Goodlett, Jr., the son of Mrs. W.S. Goodlett of Dunn, retired from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service in Temple on Dec. 31.

Goodlett, who graduated from Dunn High School in 1934, has been assistant state conservationist for SCS in Texas since Aug. 6, 1972.

W. S. GOODLETT JR.

Starting his conservation career at Stephenville in 1944, Goodlett was promoted to work unit conservationist at Mineral Wells in 1945. From 1951 to 1971, he was area conservationist at Big Spring, supervising SCS work in a 14-county area. On July 27, 1971, he moved to Harlingen where he held a similar position in the Lower Rio Grande Valley until 1972.

Goodlett attended Tarleton State University from 1935 to 1937, then received a Bachelor of Science degree in agronomy from Texas A&M University in 1940. He received awards for outstanding work in 1958, 1962, 1968, 1972, and 1975. He also received a merit award from USDA in 1968 for his cost reduction work in the Big Spring area.

Goodlett is married to the former Miss Lenora Hill of Colorado City. The Goodletts have two children: Mrs. Sena Goodlett Leese of Stephenville and Robert H. Goodlett of Lubbock. They also have three grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodlett plan to continue living at 2101 Linwood Road in Temple after retirement.

GIs use CB in Germany

By Ink Dipper

(Editor's Note: Ink Dipper (KYZ-3916) is the handle of the editor of The CB Times-Journal.)

U.S. military personnel take pieces of America with them wherever they go, and the CB radio is no exception.

While the CB is not allowed in every country, the Federal Republic of Germany has accepted it, and a large concentration of U.S. military men and women there have popularized the CB radio.

More than 1,500 Americans now have CB radios in Germany. And, just as the Japanese picked up baseball, the Germans have started CBing.

CBers in Germany must operate under restrictions that would make most stateside CBers pull the plug. For instance, single sideband and directional antennas are illegal there. Instead of paying one license fee for several radios ($4 for five years in the United States), CBers in Germany must pay a monthly license fee ranging from $2 to $7. Maximum power allowed for a base transmitter in Germany is one watt compared with four watts in America, though German mobile units can have up to five watts. The Germans have only 12 channels, compared to 40 here.

But through all of this bureaucratic torment, Americans still take to the air. Mobile antennas swish from the tops of GI-owned automobiles, and despite the power limitation many Americans also have base radio sets at their homes.

But CBing in Germany also has some advantages. The airwaves in Germany are still relatively clear. There is no restriction on how far a CBer can talk, compared with the 150-mile limit in the U.S., so German CBers talk to other radio operators on skip signals bouncing in from other parts of Europe.

And another nice touch is that the German government does not assign call letters — CBers are licensed by their handles.

CBing was illegal in Germany until 1974, and even then the government didn't publicize the newly opened band. When word did get out, though, CBs started popping up all over the country. German businesses, especially those around U.S. military bases, now sell CBs adapted to German technical standards.

Americans and Germans use their CBs much the same way we use them here.

ALERT (Affiliated League of Emergency Radio Teams) and REACT (Radio Emergency Affiliated Citizens Teams) have branches in West Germany, and Germans have a counterpart emergency organization.

American emergency teams often work with Germans during emergencies, such as searching for lost children or helping motorists stranded by floods.

The international CBers also aid police, providing crowd control and first aid during sports events and public gatherings.

In some areas special patrols keep watch on German highways, and in one city near Munich a group of CBers donated a base unit to a local hospital where medical technicians monitor for emergency calls.

Many of the Americans speak only a little German, but they've found a way around the language barrier when they are on the highway with their CBs and find someone needing assistance.

Cards printed in English, German, French and Italian ask, "Are you having trouble? If so, may I be of assistance. Please check the list below (also in the four languages) and mark the trouble you are having."

Americans who CB in Germany say there is a fellowship among most CBers that cuts across nationality, language and culture. One GI talked about that and then noted recent stories from America about bloodshed and deaths caused by CBers' arguments over channel time.

"That wouldn't happen here," the GI said. "We get along with one another and we cooperate. It really should serve a lesson to the folks back home."

SUPREME COURT RULES

Towns Can Zone Out Low Income Housing

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor urban blacks or other minorities who dream of leaving the inner city for the more affluent suburbs cannot necessarily count on the Constitution for help in finding low-income housing, the Supreme Court says.

Lawyers involved in housing suits indicated the court ruling did not necessarily sidetrack similar cases and said the justices left them other avenues to pursue.

The high court said Tuesday that communities are banned from intentionally keeping anyone out for reasons of race.

But, the court said, nothing in the Constitution requires predominantly white towns to change zoning laws to allow construction of low-income housing that would attract poor minority residents.

The court did list standards that lawyers in similar cases could use to demonstrate that a zoning body had an illegal intent to discriminate. Lawyers, for instance, could show a zoning board departed from normal administrative procedures to draw up rules barring low income housing.

The court also left open the possibility that existing federal statutes might be used to attack such zoning laws.

In their decision, the justices reversed a lower court ruling and found the Chicago suburb of Arlington Heights did not unconstitutionally discriminate against blacks by refusing to alter its zoning code to permit construction of low income housing.

The court's 5-3 decision evoked sharp criticism from James Compton, executive director of the Chicago Urban League. He said the court's action means blacks and low income families will continue to be trapped in disproportionate numbers in deteriorating inner cities.

"It sets progress back considerably. The Nixon-Ford era has been a damaging one as far as progress in housing, jobs and social legislation is concerned," Compton said.

But Arlington Heights Mayor James Ryan said the decision protects the rights of local governments to preserve the character of their communities through reasonable zoning standards.

"It means that zoning is going to be a matter decided at the local level, rather than 1,000 or 2,000 miles away in Washington," he said.

The plaintiffs had attacked the zoning laws as unconstitutional under the 14th Amendment's safeguards of equal protection.

The court's decision expanded a major discrimination ruling handed down last year. The justices said, then that the Constitution bars only intentional racial discrimination.

In the Arlington Heights case, the court said those persons who think they have been discriminated against must prove discriminatory motives practiced by government officials.

It is not enough to point to the "ultimate effect" relied on as proof by the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, the justices said in an opinion written by Lewis F. Powell Jr.

Dear Abby

Does Way Girls Dress Drive Men to Rape?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: It's no wonder so many girls and women are raped these days. They go around without bras, wearing halters and skin-tight pants, and some of them even leave their whole midsections bare naked. They practically ask for it!

I'm not saying we should be easy on the rapists who commit these terrible crimes, but the way some girls dress I can understand how a man can be tempted beyond his ability to control himself.

GRANDMA: GARDEN CITY, N.Y.

DEAR GRANDMA: The theory that girls "ask for it" by the way they dress is not valid. What's so tempting about a 10-month-old baby wearing a diaper? Or an 85-year-old woman in a housedress?

Rapists are more interested in humiliating and degrading a female than in satisfying themselves sexually. Any female (of any age) will do.

One piece of advice to women on how to dress to protect themselves against rape: Wear shoes you can RUN in.

DEAR ABBY: The continuing discussion in your column regarding "recycled dentures" brought to mind an old limerick, which you may have heard:

"There was an old man of Tarentum
Who gnashed his false teeth 'till he bent 'em.
When they asked him the cost
Of what he had lost.
He replied, 'I can't say, for I rent 'em'."

My research reveals that 70 years ago, British weekly newspapers carried this advertisement: "Old artificial teeth bought. If forwarded by post, utmost value per return or offer made..."

So you see, Abby, what happens to old dentures has intrigued people for a long, long time.

M.E. RING, D.D.S.

DEAR M.E.: Thanks to the editor of the Bulletin of the History of Dentistry.

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter recently from a former G.I. who said he's yet to see an Army chaplain who would help a G.I. marry a girl who wasn't round-eyed, Anglo-Saxon and Christian. I agree with you; that was an unfair knock to chaplains. But we're hardly a "melting pot" in this country yet, either.

Years ago, I was in love with a wonderful girl I'll call "Rosita." We worked and saved—even picked prunes together. We had a few acres and a shack picked out. I put a tractor together from salvage parts, and we went shopping for used furniture. God knows how much I loved that little dark-haired girl!

But she was Catholic and I, Protestant. She, Italian and I, English. After a struggle with parents, preacher and priest, they finally said they could overlook the difference in nationality, but religion—NO! Each side insisted it had to be their church all the way. Nobody would give in, so we had to say goodbye. Now I see how foolish we were.

Religious freedom? What a joke. Were I to do it again, I'd tell the whole bunch to go fly a kite. A man has only one love like this in a lifetime.
