Detectives Question Jean Harlow Without Solving Bern Suicide

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6. (US)—Jean Harlow, platinum-blonde beauty of films, told her story to police detectives tonight and the motive for the suicide of her husband, Paul Bern, motion picture producer, still remained a mystery.

"I simply can't understand it," she said to the group of officers and friends who were admitted to see her at her mother's home in Los Angeles late today.

Nor can she understand, she said, what Bern meant in his suicide note when he wrote that his self-inflicted death was "the only way to make good the frightful wrong I have done you and to wipe out my abject humiliation."

Melancholia Blamed

Emerging from their conference with Miss Harlow, Chief of Detectives Joe Taylor and his aides and officials of the studio where she was working in pictures had but one theory to offer—that Bern killed himself in one of his spells of depressive melancholia.

Miss Harlow's story to the detectives was that last Saturday when she saw him at M. G. M. studios Bern appeared "very tired." Sunday, at their Benedict canyon home in Beverly Hills, they had a "pick up" dinner together and Bern complained of a bad headache, saying that he had been reading too much.

He told her to go to her mother's to spend Sunday night, she said, because her stepfather was going fishing and her mother would be alone. He told her he would join her there.

Was Not Drinking

Later, however, he telephoned that his headache was worse, that he would remain at their Benedict canyon home and see her the next day, Monday. Bern had not been drinking, she said, but was fatigued by heavy reading and overwork.

"I'm at a loss to explain what he meant in his note," she said. "I simply can't understand it."

Miss Harlow told the officers that her parents were building a new home in which she and Bern were to occupy a wing, using the Benedict canyon home Bern gave her for a wedding present as a weekend resort. She said he was "happy over this arrangement."

She also said she had been informed Bern carried a $75,000 insurance policy, but declared she did not know who was the beneficiary.

Denies Conflict

Rumors of differences with her husband, of conflicting ideas concerning finances, were denied by the screen star.

Taylor announced that after hearing Miss Harlow's story and checking every angle of the case he had found there was no possibility that Bern's death was anything but suicide, with no established motive except Bern's inclination toward melancholia.

Hidalgo Bottoms Under Waters Of Swollen Stream

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 6. (AP)—The turbulent Rio Grande inundated thousands of acres in the lower valley today as its flood waters overflowed into the bottoms of western Hidalgo county, some 60 miles upstream from Brownsville.

Much of the overflow was being carried away by a huge floodway branching off from the river in the vicinity of Mission. The river had spread out to where it was about 10 miles wide in places.

Lowlands on the Mexican bank were receiving more of the overflow than those on the American side. Small settlements were partially submerged.

The crest of the flood was nearing the town of Hidalgo. Since last night it had moved down from Rio Grande City, where an extensive area was covered. The river was receding today at Rio Grande City. A survey revealed that damage in that area had been comparatively light.

Publisher Protests Rule Of Court Against Paper

GIARD, Kan., Sept. 6. (UP)—The action of a New York federal judge in upholding Postmaster John Kiel's barring of the American Freeman from the mails, was "outrageous disregard of the constitutional guarantee of a free press," Publisher E. Haldeman-Julius said tonight.

Judge Robert P. Patterson ruled barring of the publication's June 25 and July 15 issues was legal. He denied freedom of the press was involved since the magazine had not been suppressed.

The American Freeman was confiscated and barred from the mails because of an article entitled, "Why Don't the Workers Raise Hell?"

The other $8,000,000 of the $134,000,000 capitalization, and perhaps a little more, will have to be raised by the sale of stock, he said.

NELSON TAKES CHAMPIONSHIP WITH 5-3 WIN

Wichitan Puts Up Sturdy But Futile Battle On Rain-Soaked Course

THRILLING MATCH

Local Man Holds Record As Consistent Runner-Up In Golf Circles

By FRED THOMPSON
Record News Sports Editor

The name of Byron Nelson of Fort Worth will be inscribed alongside those of his fellow-townsman, Ed Stewart, Gus Moreland of Dallas, Morris Norton of Wichita Falls, and James Phillips of Ranger, on the handsome permanent trophy of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club lest future generations of golfers forget that the slim, par-slapping lad from Cowtown strode off with the club's fifth annual invitation tournament championship in this year of grace, 1932.

And picturesque L. T. (Bobby) Burns of the old home town retains, as the result of yesterday's championship final, his sturdy reputation as the one most consistent runner-up in Texas golfing circles.

For Nelson put the skids under Bobby Tuesday afternoon, 5 and 3, in the titular match. It meant added glory to the Fort Worth youngster, and marked the 10th time in the last few years that Bobby Burns has been a runner-up in major Texas golf tournaments.

Meet for Second Time

It was the second time this year that Burns and Nelson have tangled for golfing laurels, the Wichitan losing to Nelson in the final of the River Crest Country club at Fort Worth this spring by the top-heavy score of 11 and 10.

Nelson's margin of victory yesterday was much closer. He was obviously slowed up by the downpour in the morning and the saturated fairways in the afternoon, but Burns faced the same handicap and fought gamely until the 33rd green before casting in the sponge. The rain-soaked gallery that followed the pair was treated to some great golf, weather conditions considered, and the title bout was an appropriate conclusion to one of the most successful tournaments ever staged by the local club. Beginning with Nelson's record-breaking qualifying round score of 71 the

Egan and Associate Found Guilty by Jury

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (UP)—Frank J. Egan, San Francisco defender of the poor, and Albert Tinnin, an ex-convict, today were convicted of the first degree murder of Mrs. Jessie Scott Hughes. The jury's recommendation of life imprisonment for both saved them from the gallows.

Mrs. Hughes, a gentle white-haired widow of 67, had been Egan's lifelong friend and benefactress. She was glowingly proud of his rise from police patrolman to national repute as a defense lawyer. She called him "my son."

Officers Escape Injury When Plane Hits Car

UVALDE, Texas, Sept. 6. (UP)—Two San Antonio detectives narrowly escaped death near here today when an unidentified airplane swooped down over the highway, striking their automobile.

The men were P. C. Hardcastle, detective, and Wayne Carver, police investigator. Neither was hurt but the car was forced into a ditch. They began an attempt to identify the plane, which flew away to the east.

Prosecution of Trusts Threatens in Oklahoma

Father Indicted After Kidnaping Child In Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 6. (AP)—A kidnaping indictment was returned today against Huber J. Jenkins of Louisville Ky., in connection with the disappearance from Dallas of his son, Hugh Bradford Jenkins, 10, grandson and heir of the late Mayor T. L. Bradford of Dallas.

The boy, known as the "million-dollar baby," had been in custody of the mayor until the latter's death Aug. 22. Mayor Bradford left an estate valued at considerably more than $1,000,000. The boy was one of the principal heirs.

Mrs. T. L. Bradford received a telegram this afternoon from Jenkins in Louisville saying the boy was in the Kentucky city with him. Judge Charles F. O'Donnell, attorney for Mrs. Bradford, said he had asked Louisville authorities to check the boy's reported presence there.

Jenkins took his son from the Bradford county home here yesterday with the expressed purpose of entertaining him at a show. He said he would return about 2 o'clock in the afternoon but did not do so.

Judge O'Donnell expressed some doub as to whether Jenkins could have reached Louisville with his son so soon. He said Jenkins left Dallas by automobile.

Jenkins was the first husband of Elizabeth Bradford, daughter of the late Mayor and Mrs. Bradford. They were divorced and she later remarried. She was killed five years ago in an automobile accident.

After his daughter's death Bradford obtained legal custody of his grandson through a habeas corpus proceeding in district court in June, 1927. He also obtained an order restraining Jenkins from interfering with his custody or removing the child from Dallas county.

6,500 HEAD OF FEEDERS SOLD

$250,000 Paid for Cattle By Chickasha Company

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 6. (AP)—Announcement was made at the Kansas city stock yards today of the sale of 6,500 head of feeders, nearly 200 cars, at a price of more than $250,000.

The cattle are being delivered this week to the Chickasha Cotton Oil company at its feed lots in Chickasha, Altus, Anadarko and elsewhere in Oklahoma. One string of 5,000 head was purchased from the King estate of Texas and was from the Osage, Okla., pastures, although bred in Texas.

Another string of 1,500 feeders was from the W. H. Driggers ranch at Santa Rosa, N. M.

Peddler's Kidnapers Ordered Arrested

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Sept. 6. (US)—Nine men alleged to have taken part in the secret Lindbergh kidnaping investigation which resulted in Garret Schenck, New Jersey fish peddler, being held captive in the Pennsylvania hills for nearly three months, were ordered arrested today.

Warrants were issued for them, charging conspiracy and other offenses, and Schenck himself remained a voluntary prisoner of Sheriff Ira McCloskey to testify against them.

Two principal figures in the bizarre offshoot of the Lindbergh kidnaping case, J. J. "Jack" Devine, private investigator, and his son-in-law, Roy Cummings, were charged with kidnaping and assault and battery in addition to the conspiracy count.

'Flying Family' Fined For Stop in Greenland

GODTHAAB, Greenland, Sept. 6. (US)—Col. George Hutchinson, of Baltimore, pilot of the "flying family's" transatlantic venture, was today fined 1,000 kroner (about $250) for landing unlawfully in Greenland, and then given permission to continue his flight to England.

The take-off on the next stage of the flight—to Angmagsalik on the east coast of Greenland—was not fixed. At the request of the Danish government, Hutchinson will follow the coastline instead of taking the shorter but more perilous route across the Greenland ice cap.

Long Dresses Herald New Age of Dance

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. (US)—Fashion's decree of longer dresses has condemned the speedy dance floor gyrations of the jazz age and something more leisurely and graceful in terpsichorean tempo is coming into vogue.

That was the prediction today of Albert Ludwig, president of the Western Society of Dancing Masters now in convention here. He said short skirts permitted such dances as the Charleston which long dresses make extremely difficult.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO PAY HIGHWAY DEBTS

Senate Passage Now Needed For State to Assume Interest Payments

VOTE OF 120 TO 9

Ratification of Upper Body To Make Bill Effective Immediately

AUSTIN, Sept. 6. (AP)—One of the main purposes for which the Texas legislature was convened in special session by Gov. R. S. Sterling was accomplished today by the house of representatives.

Surviving all opposition, including two proposed substitute bills, a coalition proposal requiring that the state assume payment of interest and sinking fund on county and district obligations, proceeds of which were used to aid state highway construction, was finally passed by the lower branch.

Need Senate Passage

The vote was 120 to 9. It was sufficient to make the bill effective immediately if accorded a two-thirds vote in the senate.

One cent of the four-cent state gasoline tax would be set aside under the bill to create a special fund from which maturities of county and district bonds and sinking fund charges would be paid. The fund would be administered by the state comptroller, treasurer and chairman of the state highway commission.

The bill would require county officials to make a report of the amount of outstanding obligations incurred in the actual construction of state highways. Only money spent in construction would be considered by the board and preliminary engineering and right of way costs would not be eligible to participate in the fund.

Charged to Counties

All eligible bonds maturing after Jan. 1, 1933, would be paid, so far as possible, from the special fund. The bill contained a provision that the obligations still were to remain charges against the counties or district that issued them. All bonds and warrants, regardless of the date of issuance would be eligible if still outstanding.

Sterling And 'Ma' Show Campaign Cost

AUSTIN, Sept. 6. (AP)—Final statements of campaign expenses of the gubernatorial candidates in the Democratic primary were filed with the secretary of state today.

Gov. R. S. Sterling and his manager, Ernest Alexander, revealed $9,476.29 had been spent in the governor's behalf, and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson asserted she had expended $6,402.94. The Sterling statement listed contributions totaling $8,958 and Mrs. Ferguson said she had received $1,869.59.

The law limits primary election expenditures to $10,000 for candidates for governor.

South Dakota Farmers To Meet With Governor

PIERRE, S. D., Sept. 6. (AP)—Preliminary arrangements for the mid-west governors conference at Sioux City Friday will be made Thursday when South Dakota farmers and Gov. Warren Green meet in the Iowa city to discuss ways to increase the prices of farm products.

Governor Green said today he hoped a suitable program could be arranged for presentation to the state executives the following day.

Executives of Oklahoma, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and Ohio have informed Governor Green they will attend or be represented at the conference to which 15 governors were invited.

Socialist Candidate Criticizes Herb and F. D.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 6. (AP)—Republican and Democratic nominees for president in the November election were criticised by Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, in a prepared address here tonight.

Thomas said President Hoover, the Republican candidate, has "given doles like water to private business in the name of rugged individualism while he has denied federal responsibility for nation-wide unemployment."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate, was described by Thomas as "a gentleman of amiable intentions who leans whichever way the wind blows."

Accident Fatal for Wife Of Former U. S. Official

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (UP)—Mrs. Edward N. Hurley died tragically in an automobile crash today while her celebrated husband, former chairman of the United States shipping board, wealthy tool manufacturer and the man responsible for bringing the national political conventions to Chicago, was attending a directors' meeting.

Petite Fay Webb Hints It's 'All Over' For Her And Rudy Vallee But Refuses To Give Even An Inkling Of Cause

RENO, Nev., Sept. 6. (UP)—Like the faded romances of which he croons, the marriage of Rudy Vallee, romantic tenor of the radio, and Fay Webb, his petite dancer-wife, is definitely at an end.

The love that quietly developed into a spot-light wedding while Rudy was making himself a national figure by his vocal efforts before a microphone is over, Miss Webb indicated when she arrived here today.

She was met at the train by Hyman Bushel, New York, Vallee's attorney, and by newspaper reporters.

Stockingless, wearing a striking green ensemble, she stepped from the train.

"Is there any possibility of a reconciliation?" she was asked.

"Absolutely not," she said. She tossed her head. "If there is, I know nothing about it."

Except for that, the winsome Fay was uncommunicative. Attorney Bushel would not even discuss the reason for his presence in this divorce center.

Reasons for the martial rift between the singer whose plaintive songs won millions of feminine admirers at distant radios, and the charming little dancer is very much Fay's secret, and will remain so, she indicated.

The estrangement became public only a few weeks ago. Mrs. Vallee's father, police chief at Santa Monica, Calif., went East to get his daughter.

None of the principals have discussed the cause of the split. They admitted a private agreement as to distribution of property, but nothing more.

Mrs. Vallee—second wife of the crooner—established residence at the exclusive Riverside hotel.

In excellent spirits, she was willing to discuss everything except her husband.

Mrs. Rudy Vallee, just before she left New York for Reno.

VOTE 'BURIES' INVESTIGATION IN COMMITTEE

Eight Day Battle Over Governor's Race Is Believed Ended

NEW CHARGES MADE

Senators Say Controversy Gives Party Black Eye In Other States

AUSTIN, Sept. 6. (AP)—The Texas senate late today shelved the highly controversial resolution proposing an investigation of the recent Democratic primary by sending it back to committee. Sponsors of the proposal expressed fear the action, taken by a vote of 15 to 10, meant death of the proposal to investigate.

The senate had argued the question for the greater part of the eight days it has been in special session. Charges of illegal voting in several of the East Texas counties carried by Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, candidate for governor against R. S. Sterling, incumbent, and of efforts to steal the election from Mrs. Ferguson were made as the senators argued the merits of the proposed investigation.

Sterling Men's Move

The resolution was offered by Senators Walter Woodward of Coleman, George Purl of Dallas, T. J. Holbrook of Galveston and Walter Woodul of Houston, all supporters of Governor Sterling in the bitter gubernatorial campaign. They asserted however that their purpose was to find out whether there was any fraudulent voting in the primary, regardless of which of the gubernatorial candidates it affected.

The close governor's race, in which Governor Sterling trailed Mrs. Ferguson on a semi-official count, was reflected in the charges and counter-charges. Allegations that Senator Woodul had obtained voters' affidavits which should not have been removed from the ballot boxes, and that tramps had helped swell the Ferguson majority in Gladewater were among the charges swapped by the opposing factions.

How They Voted

Voting aye on the motion to refer were Cousins, DeBerry, Ganer, Greer, Hardin, Hopkins, Hornsby, Martin, Eal, Patton, Poage, Pollard, Rawlings, Russek, Stevenson—15.

Voting no on the motion: Beck, Berkeley, Loy, Moore, Oneil, Purl, Small, Thomason, Williamson, Woodruff—10.

Paired were Holbrook, no, with Cunningham, aye; Woodward, no, with Parr, aye; Woodul, no, with Parrish, aye.

Press for Action

Determined that they would not give up the fight to force the election investigation, proponents of the resolution at once began pressing the state affairs committee for action. The committee met immediately after the senate adjourned, and Senator Woodul moved that the resolution be reported back to the senate with recommendation that it be adopted.

A substitute motion by Senator Tom Pollard of Tyler that the resolution be set for public hearing before the committee Thursday night was adopted. Senator Pollard decided early tonight, however, that he would ask that the hearing be called off and it was understood that an effort would be made to write a compromise resolution of which both factions could agree.

Benefits Republicans

Several senators, both proponents and opponents of the investigation, spoke against the public hearing, asserting that the longer the discussion was "dragged out" the more benefit it would be to the Repub-

Germany's Plan To Arm Gradually Until Parity Is Reached Revealed

BERLIN, Sept. 6. (US)—Germany plans to arm gradually if other powers agree to disarm gradually, establishing the equality of armaments demanded from France at the midway point between Europe's postwar military machines and pacifist ideals.

This was the nature of the so-called "arms ultimatum" handed France last week, publication of the aide memoire revealed tonight.

The text of the aide memoire also revealed that Germany's demands would aid in furthering Europe's disarmament by insisting on radical curtailment of army enlistment periods.

The aide memoire demands that Germany must have the right to possess all branches of military service best suited to the reich's needs.

This clause is presumed to mean Germany demands the heavy artillery, air force and other arms of warfare denied her by the treaty of Versailles, instead of the cavalry forces she now possesses.

The memorandum also asked for a special militia to maintain internal order and for the establishment of coastal and frontier defenses.

The treaty of Versailles forbids Germany to fortify her frontiers, notably the French and Polish borders over which she looks at traditional enemies.

Simultaneously with publication of the aide memoire, Foreign Minister Von Neurath confirmed previous reports that Germany is through with the disarmament conference if her demands are not granted.

Coolidge Solves Big Problem By Coining Slogan For Republicans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6. (US)—Calvin Coolidge has furnished a slogan for the Hoover campaign.

Republican managers who have been trying for weeks to evolve some appealing catch-phrase seized jubilantly today upon the ex-president's characterization of President Hoover, in the Saturday Evening Post article:

"We know he is safe and sound."

From a thousand platforms that slogan will go ringing throughout the land. A variation of the Lincolnian phrase, "Don't swap horses in the middle of the stream," it conveys the party picture of the president as an economic savior on which Republicans rely for victory in November.

The White House naturally was happy over Coolidge's indorsement although there were some fears that its effect might be lost by coming too far in advance of the elections. Efforts will be made to induce the former president to deliver a radio address along similar lines during the final week of the campaign.

Coolidge's views occasioned no surprise. His defense of the president from attacks on his economic policies during the depression adhered to the line taken by Mr. Hoover himself and Republican orators.

Democrats professed to see no serious harm to Governor Roosevelt's candidacy in Coolidge's remarks. They were more interested in what Alfred E. Smith will say about the Democratic case in a forthcoming article in the same magazine.

It was their hope that Smith will

POLICE QUIZ JEAN HARLOW

his intimate friend, John Gilbert, film star, admitted tonight that he had once interfered when Bern sought suicide.

JOHN GILBERT

This happened, Gilbert said, about the time of the death of Barbara La Marr, one of the many film folk who had been befriended by Bern.

"The circumstances surrounding that incident are too delicate and too close to my heart for me to discuss them now," said Gilbert.

"But it was at a time when Bern was deeply hurt. He was extremely sensitive, and so constituted that little things hurt him greatly. He would brood for days over some imagined slight.

"Would Not Hesitate"

"The ordinary pleasures of life meant little to him. He had become philosophical in his thoughts on death and eternity. He said to me: 'My only reason for living is the opportunity to give others happiness. Should the time ever come when I believe I am no longer able to do that, I will not hesitate to snuff out the candle.'

"Paul Bern was my best friend. And if he thought that this was the time for him to go, it is not for me to criticize him."

Secluded in the home of her mother and stepfather, Miss Harlow was under the care of Dr. R. H. Kennicott and Dr. Harold Barnard. Nurses were on duty, carefully guarding her from those who sought to talk with her.

She is in a state of collapse—as if she had been hit on the head. She can't talk coherently," said Bello during the afternoon.

Denied Reports

Later in the day, however, the film star had apparently somewhat recovered her composure, for the detectives, who earlier were turned away from the house, were admitted. No one else was permitted to enter.

While members of Bern's family steadfastly refused to comment on reports that he had "an inheritance of suicide," Ralph Blum, attorney for the family, said that there had been two cases of suicide of which he knew—an aunt of Paul Bern and her child.

Several friends of the dead producer today corroborated the story that Bern had frequently discussed self-destruction and that he had declared that only his wish to "make other people happy" and his love for his wife gave him a reason for living.

Before the detectives were escorted to the house where Miss Harlow is secluded, they conferred with Bello, the stepfather, at the office of Attorney Mendel Silberberg, representing Miss Harlow.

To the officers, Bello repeated his declaration that he knew of no reason for Bern's suicide; that so far as he knew there had been no trouble between Bern and Miss Harlow.

Report of Quarrel

Bello said he had been working at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio on Sunday and, sometime between 6 and 7 p. m. drove his daughter to her home, going on to his own house. Later in the evening, she arrived at the Bello home, explaining that Bern was very tired and had decided not to accompany her. On Monday, Bello said, he went fishing and did not learn of Bern's suicide until late in the day.

It was again reported today that Bern and Miss Harlow had engaged in arguments, as late as Sunday night, about financial matters.

Miss Harlow, it was said, wished to sell the Benedict Canyon house, given her as a wedding present by Bern when they were married on July 2, and use the money to build another house. This house was to be for Mr. and Mrs. Bello, but there was to be a wing for the occupancy of Miss Harlow and Bern. These reports were denied by Bello.

Police centered much attention today upon an effort to determine exactly what the principals in the case were doing at various hours from late Saturday afternoon to Sunday evening.

Stories Inconsistent

Stories told by the butler, the chauffeur and others failed to check in several points, especially in accounting for the dinner hour Saturday night and the time from 5 to 9 p. m. on Sunday when, according to neighbors, several guests visited the Bern home.

John Carmichael, the butler, said Bern and Miss Harlow dined together on Saturday evening during the period she was free from work—6 to 8 o'clock—but Harold Garrison, chauffeur, said he drove Bern away from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer shortly after 6 o'clock.

According to Carmichael, Miss Harlow returned home late Sunday afternoon—her car left the studio between 6 and 7 o'clock—and he learned then that Bern had changed his mind about accompanying his wife to dinner at her mother's home.

Carmichael said Miss Harlow left the house at 8:15 p. m. and he went with her. The chauffeur returned for Mrs. Carmichael about 9:15 p. m. and Bern was left alone in the house.

Note Unexplained

However, neighbors in Benedict canyon said that from 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon on, several cars arrived at the Bern home and apparently a number of guests were there.

These cars left, they said, about 9 o'clock. None of the Sunday afternoon guests had been identified tonight and the only statement covering those hours was the butler's declaration that Bern and Miss Harlow "seemed as happy as ever."

Cliff Davis, gardener at the Bern home, repeated his story that the butler, after discovering Bern's death, had made statements concerning trouble between Bern and Miss Harlow over money matters.

Bello, and other persons questioned, declared they were still unable to explain the cryptic death note in which Bern wrote of his "abject humiliation" and "you understand that last night was only a comedy."

Diplomats Recognize Mexico's New President

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 6. (US)—Led by the United States, all governments officially represented in Mexico today formally signified recognition of the new government headed by President Abelardo Rodriguez.

RUBIO DENIES CALLES CLASH

Resigned President on Way To El Paso

EL PASO, Texas, Sept. 7. (AP)—Pascual Ortiz Rubio, until last week president of Mexico, today emphatically denied he resigned because of differences with Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, "strong man," of Mexico.

"I resigned solely because of a long standing illness, which dates back to my military campaigns, and because of the absolute necessity for a long rest," he said.

The 56-year-old engineer, rancher and former chief executive smiled happily as he crossed the Rio Grande from Juarez to El Paso.

He left El Paso at 12:30 p. m. today over the Southern Pacific railway for San Diego, Calif., to make his home with his family.

"I wanted to go to Hot Springs, Ark., because I had been there before," Ortiz Rubio explained, "but because of the bridge washout at Laredo I was forced to come through Juarez and El Paso, and decided San Diego would save a longer trip."

come out as strongly for the Democratic nominee as Coolidge did for the Republican candidate.

Senator Fletcher, Democrat of Florida, challenged Coolidge's attempt to lay the blame for the depression of conditions outside the United States, saying:

"Power for the last 11 years has been in the hands of the Republicans. If it be true that power and responsibility cannot be separated, as Mr. Coolidge has previously stated, responsibility for existing conditions must rest upon the party in power."

Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, said he was surprised "to see 'Silent Cal' advocate such a bolshevistic measure as that creating the Reconsfruction Finance corporation," and added that all the relief proposals extolled by the ex-president "bear the names of Democrats and they should be given the credit."

ROOSEVELT APPEARS AT STATE FAIR

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 6. (US)—Governor Roosevelt took occasion to strengthen his upstate political lines today besides appearing as honor guest at the state fair, an annual custom for New York's chief executive.

It was Roosevelt's last public appearance in the state before he starts westward next Monday on his first big national campaign swing.

The governor did not speak but was given a fine ovation by the crowd in the grand stand when he appeared to watch the racing.

The nominee's primary object was to sound out sentiment on his presidential candidacy and likewise to say a word for Lieutenant Governor Lehman, who he hopes will succeed him in the governor's chair.

Three Men Arrested In Chicago Tax Warrant Case

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (US)—Arrest of three men as central figures in Chicago's $5,000,000 tax warrant mystery was announced today by State's Attorney John A. Swanson and County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough.

Deputy Ordered Arrested In Third Degree Death

PEKIN, Ill., Sept. 6. (US)—The arrest of Deputy Sheriff C. O. Skinner for the asserted murder of Martin Virant, 38-year-old world war veteran, was ordered late today.

Virant was found last Thursday crudely hanged in his cell at the county jail where he was held as a murder witness, but he previously had told a coroner's jury that Skinner and other deputy sheriffs cruelly had beaten him in a third degree inquisition.

Chicago Teachers Unpaid As School Term Opens

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Thousands of youngsters trudged back to classrooms in Chicago suburbs today and hundreds of teachers greeted them with a cordiality tempered by thoughts of unpaid bills, empty pocketbooks and long overdue salaries.

Teachers in Chicago proper, likewise unpaid, will not return to classroom until next week, seven days after the usual opening date. In addition to an average of three months' salary due them from last term, there was no immediate prospect for many of the teachers being paid for their services this year. In some instances, there was no cash available to purchase coal for the schools or pay overdue bills to building contractors.

Only in Cicero, scored by the mere effete suburbs for years as the headquarters of Al Capone, did the schools open with all salaries and bills paid in full.

WICHITA FALLS SOCIETY AND CHURCH NEWS

MRS. L. N. CASON

First Christian Council Inaugurates Autumn Work

A pleasant course of study on the American Indian was announced at the first autumn meeting of the Woman's council of the First Christian church when members met at the church Tuesday at 2 o'clock. Work to be done, interesting reports and news from the mission field were other features.

Mrs. W. H. Weaver, president, was in the chair when the business meeting was opened with song led by Mrs. Ruby Trout, with Mrs. Wayne G. Holmes accompanying. Mrs. J. M. Isbell offered prayer.

In the stated business, Mrs. C. V. Derden, secretary, reported and Mrs. C. E. Bailey, treasurer, announced that $302.24 had been collected during the three vacation months.

Special Service

Mrs. J. Lem Keevil's report for social service noted, among other features, 113 calls, 25 charity cases visited and a baby layette of 25 pieces provided. Mrs. Keevil thanked the members of the division for their aid during the holidays.

In the absence of Mrs. W. H. Penix, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Derden read a letter from Miss Etta Nunn, telling of her wonderful trip to Brazil for the World Sunday School convention. She stated that delegates registered from 33 countries.

Mrs. R. E. Hilburn, program chairman, announced the course of study for the council for the next three months will be "American Indians." Mrs. H. M. Campbell, newly appointed literature chairman to fill an unexpired term, gave an interesting report and the resolutions committee appointed by Mrs. Weaver read resolutions of respect, copies of which had been sent to the families of Mrs. Gordon West and Mrs. B. P. Boyer.

Mrs. Weaver announced the district convention to be held in Wichita Falls at the Highland Heights church Sept. 14, and urged the members of the First Christian council to attend. Miss Florence Carmichael of Indianapolis, chairman of the children's division, is to be one of the principal speakers.

In discussing special work, plans were made for council members to meet at the church Thursday to make grape juice. Mrs. G. D. Rigsby offered two bushels of peaches to be used for the day nursery and as calling chairman, reported calling lists ready for chairmen of divisions. Division leaders reported 530 calls, $28.35 cash and 65 present.

Indian Program

The hostess divisions for the day stressed the theme of the program in the artistic decorations in the parlors where especially fine numbers were given after the business session. Indians and squaws round a camp fire; tepees, Indian blankets, cacti, water jugs and many other typical American Indian curios made a colorful setting.

Divisions one and two, Mesdames G. M. Howard and E. E. Clair leaders, were in charge of the program which was given as follows: Solo, "There's a Beautiful Land on High," Mrs. B. L. Bryan, with Mrs. C. V. Derden accompanying; devotional, "Sincerity," Mrs. Wayne Somerville; vocal number, "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," Mrs. J. M. Wilhite, with Mrs. Wayne Holmes playing the beautiful accompaniment; they gave as an encore, "Pale Moon." Mrs. O. Abernathy talked on "Fall, the Time of Work," in a charming manner.

The hostess groups who served dainty refreshments at the close of the program included: Division one, Mrs. G. M. Howard, chairman; Mesdames N. B. Adams, M. D. Bolton, J. F. Boyd, M. A. Bundy, E. W. Corder, L. B. Cummings, J. T. Cumley, H. B. Dudley, W. C. Duncan, R. E. Hilburn, W. E. Hickman, J. R. Kenney, J. M. Martin, G. W. Pond, A. R. Prothro, J. W. Snow, E. W. Smotherman, R. L. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We have the deepest sympathy with young people; we can condole and forgive little venial sins; the one thing that undermines our faith and sympathy is for one who confides in us to become a liar. There are times in life, of course when a lie is the better part of diplomacy—else be a murderer of faith and hope and ideals for another whom the liar loves.

But "come clean" has always been the slogan in our family and with other young people with whom we come in contact.

Once upon a time when we had reached the advanced age of 13, our father was having his house painted. Late one afternoon, we stumbled on buckets of paints and broad brushes; right there we succumbed to temptation, slipped over, and selecting the paint that looked most like that on the house, chose a brush and painted one long line.

That was the first time in our memory we did something that we felt was wrong. Our hunger for artistry forced it upon us for we'd longed for years to have lessons in art.

Next morning we heard an angry argument between our father and a painter and knowing and fearing our father's hot temper, we shook in our little black toe slippers. (They were toe slippers and they were small then.) But when we heard our name called, we went slowly out.

That board we had used to demonstrate our artistic ability, was far from being the same color as the side of the house. "Did you do this, daughter?" our father asked. We held tight to the two long plaits hanging over our shoulders, clutching them so to speak as a way to safety, and hesitated before we looked up and answered with tears in our eyes, "Yes, Sir."

What came next was the surprise of our life. His clear gray eyes looked at us almost tenderly, and he spoke softly (when we had expected a roar), "That's all right, honey; just don't do it again; go on and play now."

We must have inherited from our father the belief that truth is greater than many other attributes, even though at times we have felt it necessary to withhold a truth.

The trouble with so many small lies is they become a habit. That habit is like a cancer of the soul. It keeps eating a long way until the liar finds it an incurable thing.

Little simple lies may at times stir up tragedy. There should be no lies betwen children and parents. One of the most beautiful things in life is the real spirit of fellowship between children and their mothers. The proper sort of mother will smile over the tales that are told and if anything of real importance comes up, she will at least be diplomatic over it and her child will feel her love.

The element of friendship between parents and their children goes a long way toward bringing children into the right paths. It is a long conceded fact that absolute denial leads either boy or girl to balk and go their own ways. Friendship is a much more potent cure for youthful ills and for forbidden affairs than a doubting parent who puts up bars over which youth will almost invariably jump.

We cannot live for our children; we cannot take our own experience as a reason for fencing them from life. They will learn for themselves. All that parents can do is to be friendly and let time show children the right and wrong sides of life. But always, be friends as well as parents.

First Baptist W. M. S. Opens Fall Season

Interesting plans were made by the executive board of the First Baptist Woman's Missionary society when they met at 10:15 Tuesday morning in the first of the autumn meetings. The mission study program was given by members of circles 11 and 12 and circle 10 was the hostess group.

Mrs. J. C. Mytinger gave the beautiful devotional, using as her theme the topic, "What Manner of Love?"

The subject of the morning program was "Intrusted With the Gospel," and topics were discussed with vivid interest as follows: "A Sacred Trust," Mrs. G. P. Raborn; "True to the Trust," Mrs. H. P. Ledford; "Sharing the Gospel in the Homeland and to the Uttermost Parts," Mrs. Chas. R. Daniel; "Standing the Test With the Waiting Millions," Mrs. Floyd L. Randel.

Special Music

Beautiful musical numbers were sung by Mesdames George Smoot and J. M. Ward with Mrs. O. G. Stephens at the piano.

At the noon hour, a delicious luncheon was served at prettily decorated tables to about 62 members.

Unusual Program Featured For Lovers of Fine Arts

The fact that the culinary art is one of the fine arts was demonstrated by the delightful dinner served when Mrs. Edwin Bebb was hostess Monday evening to lovers of the fine arts. The artistic beauty of her living room and music room were enhanced by the masses of gladioli and greenery that centered the large table, and the pastel covers on the card tables where groups of four were seated; all were centered by tiny holders filled with small blossoms in brilliant colors. The dinner was served by Mrs. Bebb and members of the gathering, the three courses proving a triumph in cuisine.

Emil Hermann arranged special lighting after dinner and chose Miss Maurine Parnell to serve as model while he did in oil, the foundation of a portrait, startling in its likeness. Mr. Hermann will finish the portrait and present it to the model. His work was a culmination of an evening a few weeks ago when he made a talk on the art of choosing special features to quickly catch the model's personality.

Musical Numbers

A short but exquisite musical program followed the portrait demonstration. Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, with Mrs. W. L. Underwood playing a perfect accompaniment, sang "In a Luxembourg Garden," and "Major and Minor," (Spross). Mrs. Tom L. Coleman demonstrated her mastery of the piano in "Romance," (Sibelius) and was a delightful accompanist when Mrs. Flora Greenwood played an exquisite violin number, "Le Plus Que Lente," (Sibelius).

The next meeting will be held on Monday evening, Sept. 12, at the Municipal club, and it has been requested that those who will attend, shall make reservations by 10 a. m. of that day.

Covers were laid at the delightful dinner Monday evening for Messrs. and Mesdames Tom Coleman, H. H. Ferrell, W. L. Underwood, A. H. Mahaffey, H. B. Van Emden, Stanley M. Raub, James P. Bowen, Kenneth Bebb, Mesdames J. R. Powers, Flora Greenwood, Bertha Anderson, Maurice Adams, W. M. Cason; Misses Maurine Adams and Mary Gerhardt; Messrs. Emil Hermann and J. W. Bride Has Right to Choose Her Own Attendants

By EMILY POST
Author of "Etiquette, the Blue Book of Social Usage"

Dear Mrs. Post—My brother is to be married in the near future. He has chosen me to act as the best man. I myself am engaged and here is my problem: The bride has asked her sister to be maid of honor, and four of her friends to be bridesmaids and has left my girl out. The bride claims that on account of my being the best man, my fiancee should not be a bridesmaid. I hold that is the exact reason why she should be chosen maid of honor as my partner, and that if my girl is not even a bridesmaid, in respect to her I will have to decline to be best man.

Answer—At her own wedding is the one time in her life when a girl has the right to be surrounded only by those she loves best. If your girl is not one of her own intimate friends you have really no cause to feel slighted on her account. If there is to be a bridal table and an extra number of ushers, or men friends of the groom to make the number at table even, the bride might invite your fiancee to sit next to you at the table. But this would be a friendly gesture on her part, and not an exaction of etiquette.

Do not refuse to be best man or show—or even feel—resentment. Whatever you do, don't risk spoiling the happy family relations between your brother and you and your wives—forever—because of the quite unreasonably hurt vanity of a young girl. That is what it really is.

And by the way, in answer not only to you but to many other readers who assume that the maid of honor and best man are in some way "partners," let me say that this is in no way the case. In fact, they are on the contrary never within speaking distance of each other—except when there are no other attendants and when the bridal table is set for only four. In this case, the maid of honor, who sits on the groom's left and the best man on the bride's right, complete the circle.

Grace Aid Will Serve Dinners During Jubilee

Mrs. N. Manoushagian, the president, was hostess to members of the General Aid society of Grace Methodist church at her home Tuesday afternoon when she gave the inspiring devotional opening the meeting and Rev. Bruce Corbin gave the prayer.

Roll call was answered by 14 members and stated reports were followed by the report of the committee naming officers for the coming year; they are Mrs. G. F. Swarts, president; Mrs. A. L. Thornberry, vice president; Mrs. D. A. Allen, secretary; Mrs. J. J. Simon, treasurer.

Reports were made of 43 calls and four bouquets.

An interesting autumn work planned at the meeting was to serve chicken dinner each day of the golden jubilee, Sept. 26, 27, and 28. A delightful menu is planned at a very reasonable price. At the same time, booths for various refreshments will be open outside the church.

Rev. Bruce Corbin dismissed the group with prayer and in a short social session following, Mrs. Manoushagian served a delicious ice course.

CONVICT DIES AFTER KNIFING

Fight in McAlester Prison Results Fatally

M'ALESTER, Okla., Sept. 6. (AP)—A state's prison quarrel resulted in the death today, from knife wounds, of Fred Rogers, 27, Rogers county convict.

Authorities said Rogers was stabbed as he left the dining room Sunday morning by Frank Hopkins, 26, another convict.

A tower guard, officers declared, fired toward the prisoners when Rogers attacked Hopkins with a steel bar and was in turn stabbed with an improvised knife, but no one was shot.

Previously, Rogers was declared by authorities to have slapped a friend of Hopkins in their cellblock.

Pittsburg county authorities, after an investigation, said they were satisfied Hopkins acted in self defense.

Price Jump Adds $500,000 To Wheeler Cotton Value

Special to The Record News.

SHAMROCK, Texas, Sept. 6.—A gain of around $500,000 is expected on the sale of the Wheeler county cotton crop this year, following the hike in cotton prices recently to almost double that expected early in the summer. It is expected that, with a crop of only a thousand or so bales less than the last year's total of 31,500, the county will receive about $1,338,750 if prices remain the same.

Fields for cotton picking will not open for two weeks or more in the county, local ginners say, although the crop is some earlier than last year. The first bale, brought to town Aug. 23, was two weeks earlier than last year.

BALD?
Don't Give Up Hope

If you are bald, don't give up hope, even if all remedies and specialists have failed to help you. Try JAPANESE OIL, the antiseptic liniment. It has done wonders for many who were bald for a number of years. Get a bottle today. Massage the Oil into your scalp every night for 60 to 90 days. If your hair roots are not dead you may be gratified to see new hair growing in. But you must have patience. Hair does not grow over night. Some cases respond to JAPANESE OIL in 30 days, others require 2 to 3 months. Mr. R. E. Proctor, Cinco, W. Va., writes:

"I tried many remedies for baldness during the past 10 years, but none of them did me any good. After using two bottles of JAPANESE OIL, however, I have succeeded in growing hair two inches long on the bald areas."

JAPANESE OIL, the antiseptic medicine for the hair and scalp, costs $1 at any Renfro Drug Store or other good druggists.—Adv.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Immediate control of the senate, effective when it reconvenes in December, may rest upon the outcome of a special senatorial election in Colorado made necessary by the death of Senator Waterman of that state, a Republican.

KIRKE SIMPSON

As the roll of the senate now stands, there are 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats, one farmer labor, Shipstead of Minnesota, and one vacancy.

Republican organization, which includes selection of committee chairmen and framing of a legislative program, rested on that narrow a margin during the last session.

If the Democrats should pick up the Colorado vacancy caused by Waterman's death, they will have 48 senate votes, barring deaths meanwhile, when the December session begins against 47 Republican votes and Shipstead.

Power for Shipstead

In that event the tall, serious-minded Minnesota would exercise an absolute balance of power. The negative element of control by the Republican side due to the fact that the vice president may vote to break a tie would lose much of its force.

For this reason alone both parties may be expected to make unusual efforts to win that Colorado special election. It might mean for the Democrats a way to launch a program in congress in December that would otherwise have been deferred a year or to a special session, even assuming that they capture the senate in the November regular elections.

Republican leaders in the senate like McNary of Oregon already have been laying plans to take advantage of the short session, no matter how the general election comes out. Even if they faced loss of control after March 4, the remainder of the present session of congress might be used to advantage in the senate for party record purposes. Senator Waterman's death jeopardizes those plans.

A Threat at Moses

The Colorado special contest also may have an important bearing on the deadlock over Democratic efforts to oust Senator George Moses of New Hampshire as president pro tem of the senate. The senate balloted 25 times at the last session without breaking the impasse.

A majority of senators present and voting is required to elect, and with that majority goes also the naming of all committee chairmen and senate staff attaches, along with the other perquisites of party control.

The Democrats gave their undivided support to Pittman of Nevada for senator pro tem. A dozen Republican irregulars and Shipstead bolted Moses, but would not go to the length of supporting Pittman. One of them, Norris of Nebraska, now is openly supporting the Democratic presidential ticket.

What Shipstead, a sharp administration critic, will do in the campaign about causing an immediate senate reorganization has not been indicated.

Missionaries Lecture To Crowds at Electra

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 6.—Rev. and Mrs. Harley Smith, missionaries to Brazil for a number of years, have completed a school of missions at the First Baptist church. Mrs. Smith, known as Alice Bagby Smith, gave most of the lectures and she is said to be an unusually interesting speaker. She told of conditions which exist in Brazil, customs of the people, and their religion. Her parents were the first missionaries to Brazil, and have been active in that field for 52 years. Large crowds attended the lectures.

Hambone's Mediations

The really remarkable thing about the most beautiful girl in the world is that she can be in so many places at the same time.

Legislative Meddling

IN JUSTIFICATION of the proposed senate inquiry into the recent Democratic primary it has been urged that such charges of fraud have been made upon the floor of the senate, that to vote down the resolution would be in effect a confession that Democrats are to have an investigation. The same logic would open so much for investigation that there would be no end to the inquiry, as can be seen from the charges and counter charges that have already been made. Such charges can naturally be expected following an election of such closeness as the one just held and when passions are still inflamed.

And this newspaper believe with the Houston Chronicle when it says:

"In support of the resolution new pending in the senate, it has been stated that the purpose is to uncover misconduct or defective proceedings at the last primary in order that the regular session of the legislature next year, with these facts before it, will know in what respects, if any, our election laws have become outworn. If such is the purpose of the resolution, a more unwise and injudicious time for it could not well have been chosen.

"Many, including some men of wide experience, have suggested an investigation of a much wider scope, in which returns and ballot boxes will be ordered brought before the bar of the legislature in order that it be there determined if an attempt has been made to bring about a Democratic nomination for governor by fraud. It would be unspeakable legislative meddling to do so. Such a proceeding would belong primarily to the judicial branch of the government, and, in some of its aspects, to the executive branch, and upon these branches of the government the very foundation of our laws demands that the legislature shall not encroach.

"It was unworthy of a member of the senate to suggest that the resolution offered there was intended to lay the predicate for the action of the executive committee to award the nomination to the present governor in the face of returns to the contrary. Each member of the state Democratic executive committee was selected by the people of his own senatorial district for that responsible, and in the main judicial, position. In point of membership, from the senatorial districts, the state of Texas has never had a better executive committee than it has today, and there is no hesitancy in saying that the senator who made this rash assertion has not, himself, the wisdom to appoint a better one.

"If the democracy of Texas has the good fortune to have a complete or nearly complete attendance of the regular membership of the state executive committee at its meeting at Lubbock on Sept. 12, the people of Texas are absolutely assured that this committee will, fairly and judiciously, decide who in fact, as shown by the returns, has been nominated by the democracy of Texas for governor. And in doing so you may be sure they will remain uninfluenced and unswayed by the opinion of any man as to who ought to have been nominated.

"The legislature should let it alone."

If there is to be a contest, let it be in the courts; and if there is necessity for a legislative inquiry let it come when passions have had time to cool and when it can be undertaken fairly and judiciously.

A Minister Invades Tin Pan Alley

THE Rev. Henry Scott Rubel, who preaches in a suburb of Chicago and also writes songs, has received a year's leave of absence which he will spend in New York developing his musical talents.

With him will go his wife who until 1927 was a vaudeville dancer. Their romance seems to have been a sort of "Polly of the Circus" affair. The two met at the Episcopal Actors' guild in New York. When the dancer broke an ankle on tour the minister rushed East, married her and took her back to the rectory.

Mrs. Rubel taught dancing to children of the parishioners and later raised $3,000 for the church by staging a musical comedy, the music and lyrics of which were written by her husband. Said the Rev. Rubel, "Christians have been too pious. Christ looked on dancing in his day and his followers participated. Why shouldn't we?"

The idea of a minister invading Tin Pan Alley is unusual. It may be questioned what a year there will do for any one with musical talent. However, there must be hundreds of laymen, weary of the pirated melodies and driveling ballads that pass as songs there and are "plugged" by radio, on the screen and stage, who will feel that Tin Pan Alley is indeed a fertile field for a minister—if he can stand it.

The French Market Passes

ANOTHER of America's historic landmarks—the old French market at New Orleans—is to be sacrificed in the name of progress. The city council there recently announced that the rambling old building is to be replaced by a $700,000 white tile structure, which will doubtless be far more sanitary and modern.

At the same time, New Orleans will hardly be the same without the old market, where one could buy anything from a rose to a veal cutlet. It was built in 1791 and was probably the largest market place in what is now the United States when it was completed.

Andrew Jackson fed his men there after they had beaten the British regulars at Chalmette, and members of Lafitte's pirate band sipped their coffee under its rambling roof.

The loss of the old French market will mean the end of a very definite part of New Orleans' charm.

Kingfish Long Has a New Platform

KINGFISH LONG of Louisiana has a new slogan, or plank, for the Kingfish platform. "Down with bathtubs" is the cry of the Kingfish. This is a quotation from a recent speech: "There ought to be a law prohibiting the sale of bathtubs. We have got to take some of this money away from the rich. They spend a lot of it foolishly in washing themselves in silver-lined bathtubs. A poor man has no business with a bathtub."

Kingfish is the ninth wonder of the world.

"Irony"

You say that I am not the lass you
you knew,
The gallant madcap who was oh!
so gay—
The maid who swore she never could be true,
Who kissed and blithely went her
sinful way.
You mourn that wicked rebel of the past,
The savage child who loved but had no heart—
You sigh and say I was too good to last,
So saying you make ready to depart.

It's obvious for you I've lost all charm,
Now for the first time I have seen
you yawn;
You tolerantly smile and pat my arm—
A cool fraternal nod—and you are gone!
Ironical, for you to say you're through Since I've reformed to prove my love for you.

—DOROTHY GULMAN.

Improperly Seated!

An hamateur team of comedians who were playing at the Palace finally prevailed upon Billy Rose, the producer, to come to the theater and catch their act. "Be sure to get a good seat," they advised him, "we both have colds today and you'll be able to catch our material better if you're down in front."

Rose came to the matinee and asked the manager for a front-row pew. Five minutes later, he walked out. The manager caught him in the lobby asked why he was leaving.

"I said I wanted a good seat," declared Rose.

"Well, you were down in the first row," replied the manager, "Wasn't that a good seat?"

"No," chirped Rose, "I could hear every word those comics were saying."

Add Berle:

Milton Berle, who is somewhat in a daze brought on by the onslaught of Broadway comedians against the material he uses in his act, ran into Al Boasberg, the comedy writer, on 42nd St. yesterday.

"Hello, Funny Fellow," Berle hailed him.

"Hello, Composite Comedian," Roasberg retorted.

"Thanks," replied Milton, "I appreciate that, coming from you."

Good Investment, Anyway!

Ray Perkins knows a girl so dumb she put all her money in 2-cent stamps because she had inside information postage was going to 3 cents.

No Sense of Direction

A drummer in one of the Broadway bands, playing an engagement in Jersey City, had been left behind by his fellow musicians. Suddenly realizing he had but five minutes in which to catch a ferryboat, he started on the run with all his paraphernalia on his back.

Reaching the dock, he noticed the ferryboat was about 6 feet out. Taking a running start, he leaped for the boat and, luck being with him, made it.

"Haw, haw," he haw'd to a stranger, "I just made it."

"The hellyadid!" the stranger taunted, "We're just pulling in."

Spanish Folly?

England, Germany and France
Worry over high finance
Wasting all their energies
Foolishly on things like these . . .

The Spaniards hadn't much to do,
And so their nation grew and grew;
They quite enjoyed their leisure,
too . . .
(And so would I . . . and wouldn't you?)

Wilfred J. Funk.

Afterthought!

A very important chain theater operator was being shown through one of the Hollywood studios, according to Frank Britton, and being one of the company's best customers, his escorts showed him the courtesy usually accorded to royalty.

Finally he came to the president's office and the latter was informed by one of his secretaries of the important visitor's presence. Being an extremely high-blood pressure executive and not being in any too good humor, he bellowed: "I can't see him. I won't see him! If he insists on seeing me, tell him to go to blazes and to take all his theaters with him. And tell him I said so."

The secretary walked to the door and was about to take the message out with him, when the president yelled, "But be sure not to antagonize him."

Oops!

In these turbulent Wall St. days, I. Hoffman points out, it's a wise stock that knows its own par.

On Exhibit!

An uninvited and unwelcomed flicker queen crashed the Lilyan Tashman-Edmund Lowe party to the newspaper lads at the Waldorf yesterday afternoon in the hope of cashing in on a little publicity.

Approaching Miss Tashman, the waning star blustered: "Oh, it's been a long time since we've seen each other."

"Oh, it was just the other day," replied the lovely Lilyan, "I saw one of your pictures—"

The guest beamed with gratitude.

"—on a speakeasy wall in Philly," she concluded.

Miracles?

Dave Grant swears it happened in the offices of a morning rag whose managing editor is noted for his absent-mindedness.

The telegraph editor walked into his office with a cable from Leningrad. Throwing it on the m. e.'s desk, he said: "I can't make heads or tales out of this, boss."

The m. e. regarded the cable for a few minutes and then buzzed the office boy.

"Here, boy," he shouted, "Ask our Russian correspondent to step in for a moment."

Subs Preferred

The Theater Guild announced some time ago that it would use nothing but American actors in its production of "The Good Earth," now in rehearsal. Accordingly, Henry Paul Senber, a Joosh mime who specializes in Oriental characterizations, spent the entire summer in front of a mirror discipling his face to simulate a Yangtze boatman.

Confident that he would be handed a part, he walked on the guild stage Monday morning. In a few minutes an assistant director approached him.

"I say, old man," he offered apologetically, "I'm sorry but there's nothing in this for you. You see we're not using real Chinese!"

Hymn of Hate

The man who doesn't care for poetry,
And sees no beauty in the rolling
sea;
The man, I say, whose fiber doesn't thrill
When robins carol on his window sill.
The man who in the whisper of a breeze
Perceives no song, no godly harmonies,
Has, of the joys of life, a scant amount,
(Though, as a rule, a handsome bank account.)

SYNOPSIS

Jim O'Malley and his pleasure-mad, hard-drinking family had lived in a house on his wealthy mother's Long Island estate until she dispossessed them in the hope that Jim and his son Jiggs would go to work. Gypsy O'Malley went to live with her grandmother. Jiggs was her half-brother. Her half-sister Angel was in the Follies. She took an apartment on Park avenue. Peg, Gypsy's step-mother, who had gone to Reno for a divorce, was found dead in bed the day after Pete De Whittley married a girl of his own age. Suicide was hinted. Returning home one stormy evening, she heard an airplane circling in the darkness. She lighted a pail of gasoline as a flare and Brent Jamison, famous transatlantic flyer, landed safely. He taught her to fly, assisted by Ted Colman. She fell in love with Brent but he was captivated by Angel's baby-faced beauty and they became engaged. "Pinky" Delmar, owner of the Jamison airport, entered Gypsy in the women's air races. Two days before that event Mrs. Delmar surprised "Pinky" in Angel's apartment and shot him in the arm. Because of the publicity Gypsy wanted to withdraw from the races but Ted told her she couldn't. Brent was in the men's race. When Gypsy was far in the lead, she saw the wreck of his plane, landed and brought him back, unconscious. When he came to, he asked her to marry him. Ted caused uneasiness at the airport by his continued absence on a flight he had said would last only two hours.

INSTALMENT XXX

It was late afternoon when word came from Ted. A strange voice telephoned the airport that he would be in about 7 o'clock, and all was well.

Gypsy would not go home for dinner. She ate a sandwich at the field lunchroom and sat huddled in her plane in the hangar to keep warm. Ted found here there when he taxied his own ship in.

"Gypsy!" he said incrediously. "What are you doing here?"

"I was waiting for you."

He helped her from the plane and stood gazing down at her wonderingly.

"You—were waiting—all this time—for me?"

She nodded and her head dropped. He could see her lips tremble.

"I—I wanted to see for myself that you were all right. Oh—Ted, it—it's been terrible—the waiting! Not knowing where you were or what had happened."

In a daze, he stepped close and lifted her soft little quivering chin in his brown hand. For several seconds he looked into the brown eyes, until Gypsy could stand it no longer. With a soft little cry she threw herself into his arms.

"Ted—Ted! I—I've been such a blind little fool."

Then he understood. And his heart gave a great leap. Like a man in a dream, he lifted her in his arms and kissed her. Gently at first, then fiercely, with all the passion of the pent up emotion that the months of waiting had brought to him. She was all sweet fire, holding him close and covering his face with her happy tears.

He carried her out to his car, oblivious to the two mechanics that stood just outside the door and grinned at the unusual sight. When he put her down he took her two little hands, and the old gay impudence came back into his smile.

"Have you nothing to say, Miss O'Malley?"

She leaned back against the worn cushion of the old flivver and smiled tremblingly back at him.

"I love you, love you, love you!"

With a cry of joy Ted crushed her to him again.

"My little darling—can all this happiness be real?"

"When would you like me to marry you?" she asked him boldly.

"Tomorrow?"

"Tomorrow."

Several minutes later Ted sat back looking at her, his head swimming with the suddenness of perfect happiness, realized. Then he remembered Brent, and his face clouded.

"Gypsy—I thought it was Brent Jamison you loved." He looked at her closely.

Gypsy could not lie to him.

"I thought so, too—until I thought something had happened to you. Then I knew I could never live without you. I—I'm glad I didn't win the $25,000, Ted."

"So am I," he grinned happily. "You'd have said I married you for your money."

"I might never have known it was you I loved if things hadn't happened just as they did," she said, looking at him with great serious eyes. "Now I know it was only my pride that made me think I loved Brent. And he was only an ideal."

"Did he apologize and thank you for saving his life again?" Ted inquired mischievously.

"He was very sorry," Gypsy told him, "and you, too, must forget all about it. Brent is really a fine man. But you know how foolish men are sometimes when they fall in love."

"I'll be half-baked from now on." He kissed her again. "Certainly I'll forgive him. I'll forgive everybody anything in the world—tonight."

Gypsy could never tell him she had spent a desperate hour at Brent's bedside while he pleaded with her to marry him. And that that was when she had been sure she never loved him. She remembered an old saying and it made her smile to herself: "When you get what you want, you don't want it."

But it was, oh, so different when you knew what you wanted. And she knew she wanted Ted as she had never wanted anything in life before.

They drove to Gram's almost in silence. Gypsy was thinking of all the things that had happened in the four months since she had rescued Brent with the pail of blazing gasoline and it seemed like a vague dream.

Peg was gone—and they would never know for sure whether by her own hand or by accident. Her father's book of verse was selling amazingly; he had been able to pay Marsha Coyle back part of the money for its publication out of his advance from the publishers.

Jiggs was working all hours in the O'Day garage and spending every minute of his spare time with Mary O'Day. There was no doubt that he had found the right kind of love—and through it happiness.

Gypsy sighed when she thought of Angel. But Angel was only 18 and might some day find her redemption in the right sort of love. Only time would tell if she was capable of such love.

In front of Gram's house Ted bent to kiss Gypsy as he stopped the car.

"You must come in and ask my grandmother for my hand in marriage," she dimpled up at him. "And I believe we might be able to find some dinner for you—you must be starved."

"I'll never be hungry or thirsty again so long as I live—if you'll let me sit and look at you. But I would like to have a word with Gram."

"If I tried you out on a nice big plate of ham and eggs I'll bet you'd shatter all my romantic illusions."

Ted lifted her from the car and carried her up the steps. Then he put her down and reached for the door-bell. But she looked so little and dear standing there looking up at him in the soft light shining from the library that he forgot to ring.

It so happened that Gram looked up from her knitting by the library window just then. And she dropped a stitch.

THE END.

Sister Of Murdered Girl Threatened In Mysterious Letter

JOPLIN, Mo., Sept. 6. (AP)—Interest in what is believed to be a plot to kidnap Alice Woolery, sister of Avis Woolery, Webb City girl who was enticed to Kansas City and slain by Paul Kaufman, now under sentence to hang for the crime, was heightened today after the receipt last night of a second note at the home of her grandmother with whom she lives.

The note carried only one word, "Beware," with a skull and crossed bones beneath.

Last week a young man called at the home and attempted to seize a young girl about the size of Alice Woolery. Last Friday a note was found at the home which read as follows: "Tried to get girl. Failed. Your girls next." The note was believed to have been intended for an uncle of Alice.

Avis Woolery answered an advertisement for a nurse girl in a Kansas City paper, was met by Kaufman, slain and her body buried in Swope park. Kaufman's death sentence was reversed but he was tried a second time and sentenced to hang.

NELSON DEFEATS BURNS, 5 AND 3, IN GOLF TOURNEY FINAL

RAIN HAMPERS TITLE MATCH

Fort Worth Ace Shoots Brilliant Game

first day of the meet, tight matches in every flight provided thrills aplenty throughout the four days of the contest.

Three Up at Turn

Nelson swished through the drizzly morning 18 in six strokes over par, the first time he overshot regulation figures during the four days, but his game was good enough to give him a three-up lead at the turn. In the afternoon the rain subsided somewhat, returning but intermittently, and Nelson slapped a perfect par 37 on the first nine of the concluding 18. He was only two over par on the remaining six holes the match lasted.

Burns' main trouble during the morning was his inability to stretch his drives and approaches. Time and again a hefty drive, or added power behind an approach shot would have saved him much trouble.

Starting the afternoon round, Burns played consistently and halved the first two holes. Nelson's tee shot from No. 1 sought the rough while Burns' was true to the middle, but Nelson unleashed one of his characteristic pitches and laughed danger in the face. They both holed out in par fours.

Burns Wins No. 3

On the par five No. 2 the battle was evenly matched, both tee shots blasting down the middle and subsequent shots being well placed to enable both to sink regulation fives.

Burns won No. 3 and trimmed Nelson's lead to two up. Nelson drove into the rough and although his pitch was excellent he bungled a short putt for a five while Burns sank a par four. On the next hole, however, Nelson again went three up when Burns landed in a trap with his tee shot while Nelson was on in one. Burns pitched from the trap and took a four while Nelson holed out with a par three.

Burns was short with his approach putt on No. 5 but managed to sink a par four to halve the hole with his opponent. On No. 6, Burns rapped his tee shot into a trap while Nelson was on in one, and the latter sank a par three to Burns' four to go four up. The score remained at this figure at the end of the first nine, each sinking a par four on No. 7, a birdie four on No. 8, and a par five on No. 9. On No. 7 both were on the green in two and two putted. On No. 8 Burns got off two good wood shots, a perfect niblick pitch and a putt while Nelson duplicated the feat. On No. 9 Nelson was in the rough with his tee shot but a good recovery saved him. Burns' tee shot was good but his second was in the rough. His third was a fine recovery to the green and he two-putted.

Wichitan Rallies

In a last desperate rally on the incoming nine, Burns flashed back into form and won the first two holes to again reduce Nelson's margin. On No. 10 Nelson pulled his first shot, was short with his second, pitched on with his third and holed out with a four while Burns was on in one and holed out in two for a par three to win. This hole had been a "jinx" to Nelson during the entire tournament. In all the four days of play he never won it, and never parred it.

On No. 11 Burns was short with his drive and Nelson pulled his but both were dead to the hole with their seconds. Burns sank a three to win, but Nelson missed a short putt for a four.

They halved No. 12 with par fours. Both slammed good tee and approach shots and both two-putted.

And then Burns cracked wide open. With Nelson only two up, and a chance for victory extremely good, the veteran Wichitan couldn't get things going right beginning with the next hole—No. 13—and he lost the next three in succession, and with them the title.

Overshoots Green

Both drove down the middle on No. 13 but Burns overshot the green and landed in a trap with his second. He pitched out and two-putted for a five while Nelson, who was on in two, sank a par four.

On No. 14 Burns was short with his second shot and after pitching on two-putted for a five while Nelson holed out in four to go four up with four holes to play.

On No. 15, Nelson hooked into the rough, landed back in the fairway with his second, pitched on with his third and two-putted for a par five. Burns, meanwhile, pushed his tee shot into the rough and was forced to shoot straight to the fairway with his second. It took him two more licks to get on the green and two more to hole out with a six. And that ended the tournament.

Their cards for the afternoon round:

Out, par	454	343	455—37
Nelson	455	343	445—37
Burns	454	444	445—38
In, par	334	445
Nelson	444	445
Burns	334	556

Burns Starts in Lead

The start of the match, anything but auspicious in the drenching rain, nevertheless had its thrills, as Burns whipped a par four on No. 1 while Nelson hooked his drive, required three to reach the green and took a five. After halving the next three Nelson squared the match with a par four on No. 5, forged ahead by winning No. 6 with a par three, and never again during the morning round did he lag behind.

He was put through his paces, for Bobby battled in his old tournament style to square the match on the 10th green and that status remained as the warriors halved the 11th and 12th holes. It was on the No. 13 hole that Nelson started his big push. He won that hole and the two succeeding ones to amass a lead of three holes, Burns' drives and approaches continuing to fall short to give him his biggest bother. They squared 16 and Burns won 17 to trim Nelson's lead to two up, but Nelson captured the 18th hole with a pretty 250-yard drive to make the turn three up on his opponent.

Their cards for the morning round:

Out—Par	454	343	455—37
Nelson	554	443	358—39
Burns	454	454	455—40
In—Par	334	445	444—35
Nelson	434	445	564—39—78
Burns	334	556	556—43—83

George Lott Beats Milwaukee Phenom

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 6. (AP)—Just as he had vowed he would George Lott Jr., of Chicago, had his revenge today on Frankie Parker, 16-year-old Milwaukee phenom who has been winning the last several months.

Luring Frankie out on the center court at West Side Tennis club, the Davis cup veteran mowed his youthful tormentor, 6-4, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, in the third round of the national tennis championships.

All but two seeded stars joined the select group of 16 who will continue in the fourth round tomorrow. Dave Jones of New York, seeded ninth in this country lost a grueling match to Edward Avory of England, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4, 5-7, 10-8, and Marcel Bernard of France, seeded No. 6 on the foreign list was waylaid by Keith Gledhill, the California star, 8-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

Henri Cochet of France and Ellsworth Vines Jr., defending champion, went blithely on toward the finals, although Vines was carried to four sets in eliminating Gabriel Lavine of Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-0, 8-10, 7-5.

Cochet, playing Manuel Alonso for the first time in 10 years, gave a sparkling exhibition in beating the veteran Spaniard, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1. Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia, who will tackle Cochet tomorrow, defeated Edward Feibleman of New York, 6-1, 5-7, 6-0, 6-3.

TRIBE WHIPS BUFFS, 3 TO 2

Indians Stage Rally in Ninth Inning

HOUSTON, Sept. 6. (AP)—San Antonio's Indians supplied a hair raising finish here tonight, scoring twice in the ninth to nose out the Houston Buffs, 3 to 2, and take the opener of a four-game series. Until that time Heusser had everything well in hand, turning back the visitors with little difficulty.

With San Antonio trailing 1 to 2, Flaskamper opened the disastrous ninth by drawing a base on balls. Houston expected Baker to bunt, but he whizzed a double past Stebbins, scoring Flaskamper with the tying run. Fitzgerald grounded to second, Baker taking third. The squeeze play was then brought into action, Crossley laying down a perfect bunt, scoring Baker. Score:

COUNCIL VOTES TAXI FARES

Minimum Fare Rule Becomes City Law

Fifteen cents per passenger within the city limits became the legal minimum for taxicab fares in Wichita Falls Tuesday night when the city council passed on its third and final reading an ordinance amending ordinances passed earlier in the year to regulate that type of service.

Under the new regulation, taxicabs may charge no less than 15 cents for an individual passenger per trip within the corporate limits, and may charge no more than 50 cents per trip in the city regardless of the number of passengers. Under the maximum fare provision, however, the ordinance stipulates that such groups of two or more passengers must be taken into the licensed conveyance at one place. Under the stipulation, four or more individuals picked up at different places may not be given the lump sum rate of 50 cents even though their destinations might be the same.

The ordinance as passed also requires that schedules of rates be posted conspicuously in each such vehicle engaged in carrying passengers for hire. Buses and street cars of the Wichita Falls Traction company are exempt from the regulations imposed by the new ordinance.

The council also passed on final reading an ordinance changing the city's administrative code to legalize a recent consolidation of departments effected in the interests of economy. The ordinance providing that only two meetings of the council shall be held in August of each year, on the first and third Mondays of such months, also was passed on final reading.

Landis Calls Meeting To Plan World Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (UP)—Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, ruler of baseball's vast empire, came to town today to begin preparations for the approaching world series.

Landis settled himself in an easy chair at his hotel and as the wind from an open window stirred his Mark Twain mop of hair, announced that he would call a meeting Friday for representatives of clubs who have a "mathematical possibility" of winning the National or American league pennants.

"All details of the series will be worked out at this meeting," Commissioner Landis explained between puffs on a flat, brown cigar. "Until then I can say nothing about the series. You see the pennants haven't been clinched yet."

The commissioner said representatives of the Yankees, Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators of the American league, and of the Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates and Brooklyn Dodgers would be invited to the meeting. "Of course I'm not sure all will attend," he admitted with a dry smile. "Some of them may feel that their mathematical possibility is too slight."

Sheriff Herds Hoboes To Jail in New Drive

Sheriff Perry Browning declared war on vagrants, who stop regularly in Wichita Falls, Tuesday night with the arrest of 12 men picked up in freight cars in the railway yards and "jungles" along the Wichita river. The defendants will be fingerprinted and photographed by city officers Wednesday and investigated. Vagrancy charges may be filed against the entire group, Mr. Browning said. They were lodged in the city jail Tuesday night.

"We are either going to stop the practice of using Wichita Falls as a "hobo capital" or fill the county jail with the men who are constantly parading up and down the rail lines," the sheriff declared. "I've got room for 50 or 75 men in the county jail and will fill it up or stop prowling and other law violations here."

Senate Shelves Election Probe By Referring Bill To Committee

lican party in the general election. They argued that the committee either should kill the resolution or report it back to the senate and let the senate act on it finally.

Senator George Purl of Dallas, one of the authors of the resolution, suggested that instead of a hearing, the proposal be given to a subcommittee for rewriting.

"We'll start political feuds and open up old sores with a public discussion," Senator Purl said.

Senator Tom Deberry of Bogata, opponent of the investigation, asked that the resolution be killed.

"You're fooling with fire," Senator Deberry warned. "You better turn this thing loose and get started on the proposition of tax relief."

Oneal for Ceasing

Senator Ben Oneal of Wichita Falls asserted that the continual discussion of alleged election fraud was "murdering the Democratic party of Texas."

He declared that the senate was furnishing fuel to the Republicans in their national as well as state campaign because a Texan was on the Democratic national ticket.

Senator Pollard, an opponent of the resolution, speaking originally in favor of a public hearing, said he thought it was only fair to East Texas that the persons who had made allegations of fraudulent voting in that section appear in public and give the source of their information.

He said he would like to hear particularly District Attorney Sam McCorkle of Mexia, who had charged in a communication read in the senate that tramps were taken from the trains passing through Gladewater on election day and "herded to the polls." Senator Pollard said also that a "prominent attorney," who assertedly furnished the information to McCorkle should be brought before the committee.

The East Texas senator said persons who knew of any fraud should appear before the committee and make statements to which they were willing to swear, not make general charges of wholesale illegal voting in East Texas.

Wires Judge

Senator Pollard later decided that it would be an unwise policy for the highly charged controversy to be carried any further.

The question of how the East Texas voters' affidavits were obtained by Senator Woodul entered into the debate again today and Senator Pollard sent a wire to District Judge W. C. Hurst at Longview seeking further light on the matter. Senator Pollard quoted Judge Hurst as replying that an investigator was working on the matter but had not yet reported.

The affidavits in question were those of persons who swore they were entitled to vote without poll taxes. Senator Woodul admitted yesterday that he had them but did not say they were obtained. Senator Pollard contends that the affidavits belong in the sealed ballot boxes.

MRS. FERGUSON'S LEAD INCREASED

DALLAS, Sept. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's majority over Gov. R. S. Sterling for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination reached 3,870 votes today as final and complete returns were received by the Texas Election bureau.

The vote at the Aug. 27 primary was: Mrs. Ferguson 477,844; Sterling 473,974; total 951,818.

The bureau's figures were from county chairmen, sent after Saturday's official county canvasses. The bureau received reports from all but 13 county chairmen Saturday night. Returns from the last 13 increased Mrs. Ferguson's majority by 112 votes.

Albert Sidney Johnson, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, said today that he had received returns from all counties and would have them tabulated for submission to the committee when it meets in Lubbock Monday to canvass the vote before the state convention. The official returns were kept sealed, Johnson working with duplicates.

Penn college at Oskaloosa, Iowa, this fall will accept farm products as tuition, board and room.

MONTH'S RAIN TOTAL MOUNTS

Tuesday's Fall Adds .85 Of Inch to Record Figure

Rainfall for the first six days of September totaled 2.28 inches Tuesday afternoon following a steady downpour that started early Tuesday morning and which registered .85 of an inch. The rainfall for September this year is already far in excess of precipitation for September, 1931, when two showers during the 30-day period totaled .60 of an inch.

The added precipitation Tuesday assures the Wichita area ample season for late fall and winter crops. Activity in breaking the soil is scheduled to get under way as soon as fields dry sufficiently for teams to enter for plowing. The muddy condition of cotton fields in the area will prohibit picking for 24 hours or longer.

The precipitation Tuesday opened with a heavy thundershower that flooded city streets for a short period. Water levels at Lake Kemp and Diversion lake were unaffected by the downpour.

Wichitans continued to enjoy a cool atmosphere as a result of the rain.

Electra Worker Suffers Loss Of Leg In Accident

John Hastings, 42, of Electra suffered the loss of his right leg below the knee about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the truck in which he was riding crushed through a bridge on a Jefferson county, Oklahoma, highway a half mile north of the toll bridge, north of Nocona. Hastings and J. E. McKinney, driller, and the driver were dropped to a dry creek bed when the truck overturned as the structure crumpled under the machine. The identity of the driver was not known in Wichita Falls. The other two men escaped injury, but Hastings was caught in the wreckage.

Hastings is an employe of the Bridwell Oil company and was brought to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital where the member was amputated. He was reported resting as well as possible late Tuesday night. Hastings was given first aid at Nocona by Dr. Crane before he was brought to the local hospital at 7 o'clock Tuesday night.

The three men were riding a truck loaded with equipment en route to the Bridwell Oil company's Gist lease north of Nocona.

The popular song by that name is to be harmonized by the Men About Town trio at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday through the national network radio programs. Gladys Rice, soprano, will sing on the same program.

DO YOU NEED REVENUE?

That set of unrented office rooms is "eating its head off." It's a part of your business overhead which includes taxes, interest charges, etc.

An unrented house, either business or residence or a spare room, offers the same problem to the home owner. You have no justification in assuming they can't be rented until you have put your problem up to Want-Ad Headquarters. If they can be rented at all, Daily Times-Record News Classified Ads will do the work at the lowest cost—two papers for the cost of one.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (AP)—A sharp advance which carried December cotton up to 9.39, or 40 points net higher, was almost entirely lost today under prebureau realizing and southern selling. December reacted to 9.02, or 37 points from the best and closed at 9.03, with the general market closing barely steady, net unchanged to 5 points higher.

Over holiday reports of heavy rains in the Southwest, sharp advances in the foreign markets, and the reports from Washington that arrangements had been completed for financing the holding of cotton stocks by the stabilization and cooperative associations, were reflected by active general buying at the opening. First prices were very steady at net advances of 25 to 32 points and after some little irregularity active positions sold 37 to 40 points net higher, or approximately $2 per bale above the closing quotations of Saturday. Houses with Liverpool and continental connections were among the buyers, while there was an active trade commission house demand, but the market met considerable realizing on the advance. This supplied the more urgent demand, and prices eased during the later trading under realizing and southern selling, which sent active months back to within 2 or 3 points of Saturday's close. Final quotations were within a point or two of the lowest on most positions.

After the first rush of buying orders, demand was restricted to some extent by uncertainty as to the government crop report scheduled for publication Thursday. Three more private end-August reports were issued, their figures on the indicated yield ranging from 10,750,000 up to 11,282,000 bales. According to a canvass of New York cotton exchange members, a government report of about 10,731,000 bales is expected in the trade here on the average. Many unfavorable crop reports were received from the Southwest, indicating that heavy rains had damaged open cotton. There were also reports of a firm spot basis in the South. The international cotton figures placing world's mill consumption of American for last season at 12,142,000 bales attracted little comment. Liverpool cables reported general buying and covering on excessive rains in the Southwest. Exports today, 8,034, making 597,659 so far this season. Port receipts, 11,516. U. S. port stocks, 3,280,731.

Cotton eased off further late in the afternoon in sympathy with stocks and wheat and under prebureau liquidation, closing barely steady, unchanged to 5 points higher. Spot quiet; middling 8.95.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6. (AP)—Cotton was quite active following the two days holiday and advanced sharply during the morning with Liverpool and as a result of the agreement between the federal farm board and the Reconstruction corporation to hold the board's cotton and wheat off the market all this season. After advancing 48 to 51 points in early trading, prices gradually eased off until the greater part of the gain was lost. The close showed net gains of 2 to 5 points. October closed at 8.87 and December at 9.03.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 12 to 13 penny points down.

Port receipts 11,516, for week 49,933, for season 521,680, last season 332,102. Exports 8,034, for week 83,134, for season 611,754, last year 283,821. Port stock 3,262,808, last year 2,750,717. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 70,754, last year 35,850. Spot sales at southern markets 49,362, last year 57,413.

Futures closed steady at net advances of 2 to 5 points.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (AP)—An opening advance of more than $2.00 per bale in cotton was not fully held today and closing prices on the board of trade were 6 to 12 points net higher. Cables were about 32 points better than due, which brought a sharply higher opening on American future exchanges. Initial prices at Chicago were 38 to 46 points up, which proved to be the top for the day. Announcement by the farm board of the policy of keeping its cotton holdings from the market until next March at least was favorably received. Heavy rains fell in Texas over the weekend and alarming reports of damage were current. The tropical storm east of Florida was considered a threat to the Southeast. A private estimate by Procter & Gamble, large cotton oil mill owners, placed the crop at 10,750,000 bales.

Plentiful Offerings Cause Chagrin Amongst Wall Street's Bull Legion

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 6. (US)—Bull speculators in the stock market today passed through a disappointing session as enormous volume failed to improve price levels.

The hope that "after Labor day" business would show an appreciable pick-up still dominated speculation, but for the day at least there was a plentiful supply of stock offerings to fill bids.

Throughout the day it was evident to careful observers that the so-called leading stocks were not participating in the appearance of strength. Advances were being confined mainly to issues which quite plainly were responsible to pool or similar activity.

The bond list closed firm.

Commodities showed great strength, wheat and cotton responding to the announcement that surplus stocks were to be "held off the market for a year." At one time cotton was up nearly $2 a bale; wheat closed with modest net gains.

Other commodities joined in the advance, especially Rubbehnn Coffee and Cocoa, the last-named being at the highest price in two years.

Stock trading amounted to 4,400,000 shares.

Early strength in stocks was led by the prominent issues, with steel common, for example, advancing to within ⅛ of its highest price of the year.

Nearly everybody is now convinced that the steel corporation will report an increase in its unfilled orders in its next statement. It is understood the steel management has done everything possible to induce steel users to place orders so as to make this showing.

The whole market seemed to be swinging along, but this appearance came chiefly from the rapid churning about of such stocks as United Aircraft, Chrysler, International Telephone, Radio, Bendix, Case and the copper group. The coppers closed with fair-sized net gains, still being influenced by exceedingly aggressive sponsorship.

Of the day's 15 most active stocks, six closed at a higher price than a year ago. These were United Aircraft, Chrysler, Canadian Pacific, Kennecott, Curtiss-Wright and Case. Standard Oil of New Jersey sold at the same price as a year ago, and International Nickel was ⅜ lower.

The major news over the weekend, from the market standpoint, was the "holding off" policy announced by the government concerning its commodity supplies. That this represents merely a shifting of the burden, without any dent being made in the enormous surpluses, was entirely ignored in the general desire to view everything bullishly. The government still finances the holdings.

Inflation hopes still dominate sentiment, although the same prospects are frightening too many powerful speculative and investment interests. Almost solidly, however, these same cautious traders and investors oppose short-selling "because of the reckless disregard the market has consistently shown for adverse news and because of the restrictions on short-selling."

Any unbiased observation of the market noted an overwhelming number of jiggles, which perhaps served to conceal the backwardness of many worthy stocks.

The railroad stocks as a group showed the largest net decline for the day, which was significant to those who accept their action as the best guide to the entire list.

American Telephone, which also has been looked upon by many as the best individual index to the list, closed down 3¼ net. Steel common finished at 50, off 1⅛.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Urgency of wheat traders who wished to convert profits into cash did much to turn prices sharply backward today after a brisk advance.

Stirred by news that 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 bushels of government financed domestic wheat would be held off the market until next year, prices made a quick jump of 2⅛ cents, but later dropped nearly all the gain. Tending to incite selling was 3,638,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply, and enlarged hedging pressure at Winnipeg.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅛@¼c above Saturday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅛c higher, oats ⅛c off to ⅛c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Bears laid stress on predictions that the United States wheat visible supply would continue to show increases, and that seeding of domestic winter wheat would be much augmented by announcement that sales of farm board sponsored holdings would be halted. Washington estimates that growers intended to plant 3,354,000 acres less winter wheat than last year came after trading had ended.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat.

Provisions gathered firmness from cereals and the hog market.

Closing indemnities: Wheat: Sept. 53⅛c, 55⅛c; Dec. 57⅛@⅛c, 59⅛@⅛c; May 62⅛@⅛c, 64@64⅛c. Corn: Dec. 33⅛@⅛c, 34c; May 37⅛c, 38⅛c.

Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

S. H. D.—Please let me have some information on American Car & Foundry common and Consolidated Oil common.

Answer—American Car & Foundry is one of the world's two largest manufacturers of railroad freight and passenger cars. Through subsidiaries, it also produces motor buses, trucks and power boats, and engages in car leasing. For the year ended April 30, 1932, a deficit of $4,827,277, after preferred and common dividends, was reported. This was before provision of $2,150,400 for shrinkage in value of securities held, $280,171 for unrealized loss on foreign exchange and $300,000 for depreciation in inventory values, which were charged against surplus account. Deficit for previous fiscal year after dividends amounted to $3,093,653. Company has no funded debt and is in extra strong financial condition. In the ultimate recovery of business, a substantial share of increased orders unquestionably would accrue to the company. Dividends were suspended on the common stock Jan. 2, 1932, and the issue is speculative. Consolidated Oil corporation is a substantial, well integrated concern, but the common stock must be regarded as speculation. Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corp., (old name) and subsidiaries, in the 13 months ended Jan. 31, 1932 reported a net loss, after expenses, interest, depreciation, etc., of $22,010,173. For the five months ended June 30, 1932, earnings equaled five cents per share of common. Financial condition continues strong.

C. L.—I own 100 shares of Dayton Airplane Engine company stock. To date I have failed to get any definite information regarding it. I would appreciate it if you would tell me everything you can about this stock, its present condition and outlook.

Answer—Company was organized in 1927 to manufacture air-cooled engines. In August, 1930, the company purchased the Pheasant Aircraft corporation and in May, 1931, an interest was acquired in American Aeronautical corporation. There were 645,000 shares of no par capital stock outstanding of an authorized issue of 1,000,000 shares. The company has issued no recent report of earnings, and the latest balance sheet available is that dated March 18, 1930. This revealed current assets of $655,522 comprising inventories for the most part. Cash amounted to $25,217. Current liabilities aggregated $24,780. On April 14 last the committee on listings of the New York curb exchange announced the removal of the stock from listing. The situation is not one which could be viewed as hopeful.

NEW HOSPITAL UNIT STARTED

Stake Driven for Asylum Ward Building

Contractors for the new construction at the Wichita Falls State hospital have arrived in the city and will begin actual work as soon as the weather permits, Dr. C. W. Castner, hospital superintendent, said Tuesday. Stakes were placed Monday for the new ward building but rain prevented additional work.

Construction crews for both the new ward building and addition to the laundry have been organized. Max Vordenbaum of Wichita Falls has been retained as construction engineer for the ward building by the Jopling Construction company of Dallas, who received the contract on a bid of $64,790.

The laundry addition will double the capacity of the present building. The contract was awarded the Bailey, Burns & Fitzpatrick Co. of Dallas on a bid of $6,000. The company is loading equipment out of Dallas to begin work as soon as possible. The engineers on both projects plan to complete the brick work before the winter season. The contract calls for completion of the ward building by March 1, 1933. The building was designed by Voelcker & Dixon, Wichita Falls architects.

More than 300 Musicians have been assured for the massed band concert to be staged Thursday night at the Memorial auditorium in connection with the season's closing free vaudeville program, according to Paul Seeds, secretary of the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma Band Teachers association, who is in charge of arrangements for that event.

Included in the bands expected to assemble on the auditorium lawn at 8 o'clock Thursday night will be those from Frederick, Okla., Electra, Burkburnett, Iowa Park, Grandfield, Okla., and Olney, it was said.

The 45-minute massed band concert is to be followed by a short program of varied vaudeville acts, concluding the season of free weekly entertainment provided by the city park department under the direction of C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent.

ELLIS TALKS TO SHRINERS

Masonic Membership Holds Up in Depression

Talks by Recorder Al Ellis and Dr. C. W. Monroe of Electra featured the meeting of the Shrine Luncheon club Tuesday at the Wichita club. Mr. Ellis discussed membership figures of Masonry and declared that the rolls revealed a loss of only 5,000 out of 3,500,000 in the nation during the last three years. Dr. Monroe briefly depicted health conditions in the Electra area of Wichita county.

Plans for a stag party to follow the Shrine meeting on Sept. 12, were placed in charge of Eli Morgan, Kindel Paulk, and J. T. Yeargin by Potentate Sydney A. Gaines. Announcements of other events on the Shrine entertainment calendar include a cabaret party at Lakeside in November, picnic at fairway No. 7, in Weeks park, Sept. 22, and a dance sponsored by the Daughters of the Nile at Lakeside park on Sept. 8.

Tax of $1 Per Acre On Irrigation Land

Land in the Wichita County Drainage district No. 1 will be taxed hereafter at $1 per acre according to action taken Tuesday by the county commissioners court.

Eighty cents of the per-acre levy will be used for debt refunding, and 20 cents for maintenance and operation.

Substitution of an equal per-acre levy in the district for the ad valorem levy formerly applied was voted in an election held several weeks ago. The commissioners were informed that 3,327.29 acres of land are subject to the tax.

The report of County Treasurer Thomas W. McHam for August was received and referred to the county auditor for examination.

VALLEY GROUP TALKS POLICY

Hesitancy to Provide Land Hampers Work

A crisis in continuation of the Wichita Valley Development association was seen Tuesday at the regular meeting of the directors of the organization when a question of policies of the board was presented.

The action was taken in view of the attitude of some of the valley landholders who are not providing tracts of land and cooperation in the valley program of development as outlined in the colonization plans of the association. The group includes Wichita Falls citizens interested in promoting the valley for the general good.

Members of the board adjourned with the understanding that they would confer with other association members to decide on the policies of the organization at the next regular meeting on Tuesday.

President B. B. Greever announced Tuesday that S. P. Otto of Perry, Okla., prominent dairy farmer had located on the Kemp Dairy farm tract west of Wichita Falls and that Field Manager J. F. Muerer had moved to the Martin tract in the lower valley. Additional inquiries and visitors to the valley lands with a view to establishing permanent homes in the area are being received daily.

Plans for a fall spinach crop are assured, Mr. Greever reported, with approximately 150 acres of land pledged. P. L. Miller of Farmersville, Texas, requested 100 acres in putting over the deal for a crop to be harvested early in December.

FOR over a year Mobilgas has been doing exactly what we say it will do in your car! To prove that Climatic Control was a reality, Mobilgas was first introduced in cities with extremely cold winters and hot summers. It clicked! Regardless of changes in temperature, weather conditions or altitude, Mobilgas gave the highest usable level of performance!

Try Mobilgas in your own car. You'll become enthusiastic! You'll praise it! You'll marvel at the smooth ANTI-KNOCK performance you'll get from this regular-priced gasoline.

* CLIMATIC CONTROL is the preadjustment of the specifications of Mobilgas, before it is placed on sale in your locality. It automatically adapts itself to the variations in "engine heat", caused by changes in temperature, altitude, humidity and road "pull". In the Mobilgas Research Laboratories all these changing climatic conditions have been "manufactured" in hot and cold testing-chambers. The road performance of Mobilgas is thus scientifically verified at different "engine heats".
