Fifty-Three Women Attend Meeting Of First Christian Aid Society

The Woman's Angle

DON'T forget that Return What You Borrowed day is to be October 2. While you are gathering up your discarded clothing for the needy this week, lay aside those borrowed articles you run across to be returned. If you are not one who procrastinates, you will return what you have borrowed before the date that has been set.

SEE THAT BOOTH

SOME time this week when you are down town, stop by the Lubbock National bank and see the pantry demonstration booth that has been arranged by Mrs. S. P. Bell of the Acuff community. It will give you a better idea of what home demonstration work means to rural women.

The rural women who are in clubs and 400 others haven't been aimlessly canning this summer Their preserving was purely a business proposition.

Some time the first of this year the women sat down with their pencils and papers and calculated the amount of food their families would need during the non-productive months of the year. After that, they planted gardens on a scale to produce enough fresh vegetables for summer use and enough extra to be canned or dried for winter use. For weeks now these women have been preparing this winter store of food.

There is another angle to this preserving. The rural pantries are so arranged that they produce a balanced ration for the families Rural women have kept leafy vegetables, fruits, meats and other products so that their families will not suffer for lack of any food elements this winter.

Entire families in the country benefit from the home demonstration program and in order that people outside the club membership may benefit, these rural club women have done some missionary work among their neighbors The result has been these 400 women outside clubs who have carried out a canning program. And it is the aim of the home demonstration agent to reach 85 per cent of the rural women with this same plan.

When 85 per cent of the farm women have balanced rations for their families the entire year and are able to feed their families during non-productive months from products that they have preserved and stored in their pantries, it will be a great thing for Lubbock county as a whole.

Some cash is essential to carry on in the country just as it is in town. But when 85 per cent of the farm people are producing their own food, conditions are going to be better in rural sections.

NOT A VINE

THE VINE I admired so much at the Garden club flower show was not a vine at all but a graceful flowering bush. I have been told by Mrs. W. H. Bledsoe, who says that the common name is desmodium. There are a number of these bushes over Lubbock now and they are in full bloom. The plant is pretty as a specimen or in a hedge.

A CHANGED DATE

DATES for making entries in the Panhandle-South Plains fair have been changed this year. Everything except perishables must be in at the women's building by 1 o'clock on Friday afternoon. Heretofore, this department closed on Saturday. Don't forget about the change. Enter your exhibits early enough to compete in the division.

ATTEND THIS MEETING

PLAN now to attend the City Federation meeting on Friday afternoon. This meeting is for all women in the city who are affiliated with a federal organization.

The plan followed last year will be followed again this winter. Topics of general interest will be discussed. An additional feature for this year is that federated clubs will be in charge of the programs. The Twentieth Century and Junior Twentieth Century clubs are fostering Friday's program and Dr. W. C. Holden is to discuss "Archaeology of Texas and of the Southwest," a topic in which almost everyone has an interest now. Recent excavations and discoveries in the Panhandle and in the part of New Mexico that is near us have brought this subject to our attention in recent months.

Dr. Holden has made some discoveries and has visited the sites of other excavations. His talk promises to be interesting and enlightening. Plan to attend.

Federal Farm Board Rapped

Chicago Board Of Trade Head Severely Criticizes James C. Stone For Activities In Promoting Idea

FRENCH LICK, Ind., Sept. 19. (AP)—Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago board of trade, assailed the farm board and its chairman, James C. Stone, in a prepared address today before the annual convention of the Grain and Feed Dealers National association.

He declared that continuation of the farm board, or its prototype, will bring "a farm peasantry, politically controlled and subjected to all the wrongs suffered by the toilers in the fields of eastern Europe."

Charging that Chairman Stone is "a trouble maker," Carey said "any fair minded taxpayer would feel that Mr. Stone should be removed from the government payroll and publicly reprimanded for his misconduct as an agitator and as an exploiter of agriculture at a time when the exchanges and all other lines of business are cooperating with the government and doing their utmost to lift the country out of the most disastrous depression in history."

Carey said a brighter outlook for the agricultural trades now is apparent, "but there are still obstacles ahead in the way of clearing up three years of farm board wreckage."

"Markets must be unchanged, the farmers' grain placed into consumptive channels, the farmers' foreign markets won back, and agricultural prosperity restored," he continued.

Blanton Says GOP's Would Sell The Capitol If Possible; Urges Harmony

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene, in an address before the Texas house of representatives today, said the Republican administration now in power would "sell the nation's captol in Washington if it could get away with it."

He said it was the duty of Democrats to support the party ticket everywhere.

"If Democrats do not support their nominees, they will be forced to support a party that sells postoffice buildings from El Paso to Maine," he said. "The administration now in power would sell the capitol at Washington if it could get away with it."

PLANES SAFE NOW

NEW YORK—In comparison with automobiles, airplanes are much more safe than motor travel on land, it is revealed that a passenger may travel the equivalent of 1000 times around the world on the average before becoming involved in a fatal plane accident, according to accident figures.

The 16 southern states have a land area of 945,000 square miles or 604,857,000 acres.

How Old?

He doesn't look a day over fifty.
And feels like forty.
At the age of 62.

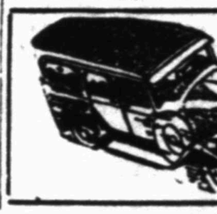

That's the happy state of health and pep a man enjoys when he gives his vital organs a little stimulant!

When your system is stagnant and you feel sluggish, headachy, half-alive—don't waste money on "tonics" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the liver and bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug store keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.

This appetizing syrup is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. One dose will clear up almost any case of headache, biliousness, constipation. But if you want to keep in fine shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better in every way. You will never need to take another laxative.

Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. A gentle, natural stimulant that makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds.

Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every way. Syrup pepsin isn't expensive.

Beaumont Opens Dixie Series With Chattanooga Today

Phils Threaten Third Place By Beating Dodgers, 5 To 3

Shippers Home For First Of Classic Tilts

Bakermen Optimistic As Two New Championship Teams Go Together For Title Of The South; Play 4 Out Of 7

(By The Associated Press)

BEAUMONT, Sept. 19. — Bringing together two champions who have never won a title before the annual Dixie series will open tomorrow in Stuart Stadium with Beaumont's red shirted Exporters, youthful victors of the Texas League race, meeting the Chattanooga Lookouts, Southern League crown bearers, in the best four games out of seven.

Because neither city ever before has won a pennant and also because both teams are quite similar in youth and dash the 1932 classic, outstanding baseball threat below the Mason and Dixon line, promises diamond competition as tense and brilliant as any in the twelve years Dixie Series have been played.

At noon today all reserved seats for the first game and two thirds of those for the second were sold less than three hours after they were placed on sale. Seating accomodations have been provided for 9,000 and if the attendance exceeds that figure it will have to be placed on the field.

Manager Bert Neihoff, who as pilot of the Atlanta club lost to the Fort Worth Cats in 1925, brought his Lookouts into town ealy tonight along with 25 fans and six newspapermen. With borrowed replacements for two injured players the Noogas present a club fit in every particular for a battle which the Lookouts feel confident will give the Southern League its fourth victory out of 13 series played.

The Exporters were put through a practice session this morning by Manager Del Baker and here, also, could be found much optimism over the oncoming clash. The Texas Leaguers were inclined to believe that the playoff with Dallas, which was won with three straight victories, was perhaps a harder task than they will be called on to face in the Dixie. At least they feel certain the tension will not be there.

Manager Baker tonight was undecided who of his squad of twenty would be benched to get under the 17 player limit. Since final decision is not required until tomorrow morning an announcement will not be forthcoming until then although it is believed certain that Pete Fox, leading hitter of the league, will not be among those listed even though his injured ankle is almost healed.

Pirates And Cubs In Series Opener Today

CHICAGO, Sept. 19. (AP)—What the original baseball writer meant by a "crucial series" opens at Wrigley Field tomorrow before a howling crowd of championship hungry Cub fans.

Pittsburgh's pursuing Pirates tangle with the Cubs in the first two battles of a four-game series that may end the National League pennant fight in just one inning or send it staggering to the very end of the season.

One victory in tomorrow's doubleheader will clinch the pennant for the Cubs even if they should lose their other five games while Pittsburgh won all the others left on their schedule. A clean sweep of the four-game series by the Pirates would make the situation alarming for the Cubs, who owned a six-game lead tonight with as many games to play over the Pirates, who have four left with the Cubs and four with St. Louis. After the Pirates, the Cubs have a pair with the bothersome Cincinnati Reds at Wrigley Field. Given a great homecoming ovation today as he led his Cubs home after a succesful eastern invasion, Manager Charlie Grimm was confident it would be over by tomorrow night.

"I plan to us Guy Bush in the first game and follow with Pat Malone," he said. "One of them should be able to do the clinching act and I think Bush will do it so even Malone can get a rest. We plan to give Cuyler, Stephenson, English, some pitchers and myself a little vacation from baseball as soon as the deed is done."

Matadors' Noses Pushed To Grindstone As Club Prepares For A&M Go

"Regular" Team May Have Played In Second Period

If Coach Pete Cawthon was trying to keep himself and the fans in doubt as to the personnel of what promises to be the "regular" or "starting" Texas Tech Matador football team until later in the season, he spilled the beans Saturday when he substituted a complete team in the second quarter of the first game.

The team that started the second period is the team, with one or two possible variations, which more than likely will start against the Texas Aggies next Saturday at Amarillo.

The team which started against the Panhandle Aggies of Oklahoma was, to the two-year observer, a second or maybe a third string outfit, and the veteran fans recognized the veteran first stringers as they stormed on the field in the second quarter and forthwith scored four touchdowns in rapid succession. Some of them remained for the third period and put over two more touchdowns. Only a smattering of the big team was present in the fourth quarter and only one touchdown was tallied.

In that highly offensive backfield was Speed Moffett of Stanton, regular quarterback last season; big Harold Crites of Lubbock, more or less regular fullback last year, and a couple of up and coming halfbacks being trained to replace Shorty France and Slick Close who have long since left Tech ranks. Ed McKeever and Gwynn Dowell were the leather toters.

May Make Line Changes

The line which ran before that backfield may see a few changes before it is an established fixture. Yancy Price and Matt Hitchcock, both regulars last year, are likely to stay that way at the wing positions, although Malcolm Martin, a sophomore, and Bill Teal, a three-year man, stand ready. Bennie McWilliams and Truett Owens went in at tackle posts in the second quarter. Owens appears a safe bet to stay. Big Elva Baker of Abilene threatens to replace McWilliams, however. Captain Ross Ayers and Toby Greer were the guards, and hacker Barton was the center. Barton may have trouble staying ahead of Lester Tribble, regular center last year.

Two other halfbacks showed up well Saturday. Marion Harris, a newcomer from Muskogee, Okla., and Aubrey Butts, a veteran alternate, ran with the starting team. Harris was sent back toward the latter part of the game and continued his fast work.

The Matadors were introduced to a different style of practice yesterday as the "works" were given them in the first of a series of workouts designed to prepare them for the Texas Aggies next Saturday.

Warned that this week's contest will be a sharp contrast to last Saturday's "warm-up" setto with the Oklahoma team, and that it would require all they had to make a good showing against the strong Southwest Conference outfit, the Matadors had little time for meditation as they scurried through the paces especially arranged for them.

It was hard work, to all appearances, and the gridsters couldn't work up much speed in their sprint to the shower rooms at the close of day. It will be thus throughout the week, Coach Cawthon asserts.

Watch For Line Attack

Special defensive play for linemen will feature this week's drill, for Texas A. & M. is known for its line-plunging tactics, off-tackle thrusts and center busts.

Hearing that Charlie Malone, 200-pound end for the Aggies who has been touted as all-American timber, was injured in a scrimmage Saturday and probably would not be able to play against Tech this week, Cawthon failed to be outwardly impressed.

"Don't worry," he said, "they'll have another one or two just about at good at Malone to send in, and it doesn't help our chances much to have him out. Personally, I'm sorry he's hurt; I wish he could play. He's a great lineman."

Game And Train Tickets Are On Sale Here Today

A limited number of tickets, something like 200, have been shipped to Lubbock to insure at least that many local and sectional fans reserved seats at the Texas Tech-Texas A. & M. football game at Amarillo next Saturday.

Adult tickets, priced at $1.65, including federal tax, are on sale at the Hotel Lubbock drug store only. They were reported going fast last night. Student tickets, for Texas Tech students, are on sale at the business office in the Administration Building for 85 cents each.

In order to run a special train to Amarillo Saturday, 200 tickets must be sold by noon Friday, officials of the American Business Club, which is sponsoring the train, said yesterday. About 25 had been sold last night. Round trip tickets are on sale at Pinson Drug No. 2 and Hotel Lubbock drug.

Braves Defeat Giants Who Go Into Deadlock

Phillies Jump On Van Mungo To Win Game In Second Inning; Giants Sent Back Into Tie With St. Louis Cards

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19. — The Phillies knocked young Van Mungo from the hill in the first two innings today to defeat Brooklyn 5-3, and pull within a half game of third place in the National League, now held by the Dodgers.

Chuck Klein, who made three of the Phils' eight hits, cracked his 38th home run of the year in the first inning, and in the second Les Mallon bounced one over the wall with Todd on base to climax a three-run rally and send Mungo to the club house.

Joe Shaute relieved Mungo and pitched great ball the rest of the way, yielding only three hits, but the damage already had been done. Roy Hansen, who started for the Phils, was knocked from the box in the third, but Ad Liska took his place and held Brooklyn in check.

BRAVES 6; GIANTS 3

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP) — The Boston Braves knocked the Giants back into a tie with St. Louis for seventh place in the National league by winning today's series opener, 6-3.

The Braves sewed it up in the fifth when they jumped on Waite Hoyt for four runs. Ed Brandt pitched steadily for the winners, Shanty Hogan hit a homer for the Giants.

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 Robert Moses Grove was not at his very best today, but he was good enough to account for his 25th victory of the American League season as Philadelphia defeated the Chicago White Sox, 9-6, in the final game of the season at Comiskey Park.

The sox clipped Grove for 12 hits, including three doubles, but only in the fifth inning were they able to do any real damage.

Texas Aggie Mentors Troubled With Picking Best Of Two Teams To Send Against Tech Eleven On Saturday

(Special To The Avalanche)

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 19. Texas Aggie gridiron candidates started on the home stretch of their pre-season training program this morning in preparation for their season's opening games next Saturday, Sept. 24, one with Texas Tech Matadors and the other with Southwestern University's Pirates on Kyle Field. First real scrimmage of their training program was held Saturday when Coach Madison Bell divided his forty-two candidates into two squads and sent them through a stiff workout.

The principal worry haunting the Cadet coaches and athletic staff these days is not a question of which man will play what position, but a problem of dividing the squad for the opening tilts so that enough men will be available to participate in each game. Coach Bell is expected to list about twenty-five players for the trip to Amarillo, which will leave only sixteen men available for the Pirate encounter. It is highly probable, then, that the Aggie mentors will have to take full

Worrisome Era For Many

THOSE Texans who seriously endeavor to vote for the best interests of their state and as their conscience dictates; and those who at the same time try to be good Democrats and are unwilling to be made the tools of scheming politicians, have a hard row to hoe this year.

As a matter of fact, there are thousands who, at the present time and under present conditions, know not which way to turn.

There are thousands who do not wish to support the Democratic party's nominee-apparent, Mrs. Miriam Amanda Ferguson, because they know Mrs. Ferguson, if elected, will be Governor in name only. They further know that in voting for Mrs. Ferguson they will be skipping about a statute which was meant to bar her husband forever, from holding office in this state.

There are other thousands who do not wish to vote for Orville Bullington, because the party for which he stands and by which he seeks the Governorship is not their party. Yet neither do they wish to be disenfranchised — particularly if they think Mr. Bullington would give the state a better, fairer administration than would James E. Ferguson, governing for his wife.

Then there is another group made up of persons who would 'bolt' the Democratic party in a minute if they did not feel that to do so would be to throw in with those political enemies of Texas. As the latter we refer to Thomas B. Love and his crowd, who have been itching, ever since politics began this year, to find a logical reason to scuttle the Democratic ship and leave it to the GOP, lock, stock and barrel.

As we said before, there are a lot of Texans who are cudgeling their brains and worrying about wielding the black pencil on November 8.

However, they have one consolation left.

It'll all come out in the wash!

MODEST MEYER

The man whose efforts have been largely responsible for the course charted by the Reconstruction Finance corporation and who heads the Federal Reserve Board remains today almost as hazy a figure to the American people as the governor of the "old lady of Threadneedle Street"—the mystic head of the Bank of England, Montagu Norman.

Certainly, no one is playing a larger part in the government's fight against depression than Eugene Meyer, jr. And if that fight is waged to a successful finish much of the credit must go to him. His banking genius is the heavy artillery in this war.

Comparatively little is known about him, although since President Wilson appointed him a member of the advisory committee of the Council of National Defense 15 years ago he has been an important figure in National affairs. Few men in public life have so succeeded in effacing themselves; few have been so content to do their jobs and rest satisfied with that.

He began work as a banker and has devoted his life to the study of finance and industrial organization. He was director of the War Finance corporation under President Wilson. Coolidge drafted him to direct the Farm Loan board, whose affairs were then in rank disorder. After a short vacation in 1929 he was made governor of the Federal Reserve board by President Hoover, an appointment the senate confirmed, although it failed to exact from the appointee a statement of his policies. And when the Reconstruction Finance corporation was created he was the logical choice for chairman.

Professor Arthur Compton, University of Chicago scientist, reports his experiments in the Arctic prove that cosmic rays show no irregularity and indicate that they are electrons rather than extremely short-length magnetic vibrations, somewhat of the nature of X-rays. Now that that's clear, let's bring back prosperity.

It is revealed that New York's new mayor, Joseph Vincent McKee, has only taken one long trip in his life—to Havana. How the railroads will miss Jimmie Walker!

Mayor Cermak of Chicago has extended a cordial invitation to European nations, including even England, to take part in the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition. Can you imagine what Big Bill Thompson is saying?

Germany isn't satisfied with the Versailles treaty. Apparently that peaceful document is turning out to be just another "scrap of paper."

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Wages Must Remain Same

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—"Shortening the industrial day or week or both, at correspondingly lowered wages, to furnish jobs for more hands without increasing payrolls", says Director Mary Anderson of the women's bureau of the labor department, "simply is a method of making the workers solve the unemployment problem at their own expense.

Mary Anderson

"The day, the week or both", continued Miss Anderson, "must be curtailed to meet existing conditions, but unless it is done without wage cuts, it will accomplish little toward lifting the depression.

"Oh", she admitted, "if the worker, besides supporting his family, has been able to save a trifle also, perhaps mass expenditures can be stimulated slightly by depriving him of his small margin for a savings account, and giving the money to someone else, who will have to spend it—but it will be a gross injustice. It will not restore prosperity for very long, either.

"Probably there are some industries that honestly cannot afford to add to their payrolls in the face of present hard times, even for the sake of their own ultimate advantage.

"But the Reconstruction Finance corporation was created especially to help industries in just this class."

WHAT IS KNOWN as the "New Hampshire plan" of "spreading employment", by increasing the number of jobs without increasing payrolls, has made many converts of late.

Governor Winant of the old Granite state visited Washington a few weeks ago to discuss it with President Hoover. Administration officials generally speak well of it. At American Federation of Labor headquarters itself it meets with a measure of acceptance, if not very strong approval. A. F. of L. authorities, it is true, object to pay cuts as an accompaniment to reduction in working hours. Nevertheless, some take the view that, if the hourly rate remains intact, the plan may serve to break the deadlock—with a prospect (they hope) of a wage advance soon afterward, if the experiment proves successful.

Miss Anderson is the first economist of premier rank whom I have heard effectively attack this reasoning.

Complaining recently of the tendency to drop married women from employment, on the ground that others are in greater need of it than they, she said, "The sooner we stop trying to award jobs on the basis of need, sex or conjugal condition, rather than on qualifications, the better it will be."

It seemed to me that, in principle, this should apply also to the proposition of taking part of his job from an already-employed workingman, in order to give it to someone else, on the basis of the latter's dire need for it.

I put the question to Miss Anderson.

Her answer was promptly in the affirmative.

WHO STARTED IT I don't know, but, in one way or another, a campaign was launched during the last session of congress against senators and representatives with relatives on the government payroll—mainly in clerical posts in their own offices, but, to a certain extent, in other positions.

It developed into a veritable crusade.

Reports from out in the country indicate that lawmakers against whom the charge of nepotism was brought have been seriously prejudiced by it—to a degree that the political mortality rate among them promises to be high next November.

It was not a fair accusation in all cases. A majority of the secretaries to congressional relatives as fully earn their salaries as any secretaries could earn them, and perhaps are especially trustworthy. Neither does it necessarily follow that a civil servant, who happens to have kin on Capitol hill, won his place by anything but the customary examination, like his fellow workers.

There are legislators who have abused their privileges and influence, but a considerable proportion of those smeared by the nepotism story do not deserve it.

SKYSCRAPERS UNDER ATTACK

Of late the tall building—now not uncommon in the smaller cities—has come in for no little discussion, both favorable and unfavorable. Some condemn it and others give it a clean bill of health. There is pretty general agreement, however that even the skyscraper is here to stay.

In a measure high buildings assist the processes of city-making. Economists may insist that man is not a gregarious animal by nature, but they must admit that he has become one by necessity. Human beings like to draw together, and find profit in doing some kinds of work in close proximity. Skyscrapers help them by bringing together under one roof, or in one block, all sorts of conveniences and interrelated business that never could have been brought together so well or administered so cheaply on the basis of vast lateral expansion.

Evils have followed in the wake of the many-storied building. At first the public was concerned simply with preventing it from shutting light out of streets and windows. It is only within recent years that outspoken critics have centered their attack on the skyscraper as a cause of traffic and transportation congestion.

Real estate men—who of all men should know better—often assert that high buildings are necessary because the land they are built upon costs so much. With building heights restricted the price of land would not rise above the figure upon which low buildings could pay ground rents. It is the skyscraper's tremendous earning capacity that fixes the value of the land upon which it stands.

Communities in which the skyscraper evil has not been felt are prudent and justified in taking preventive measures in the form of building restrictions.

Mercy Hospital Management Points Out An Error

Editor, The Avalanche: The Lubbock Morning Avalanche, under date of September 15, carried a news item which was not correct. The news item referred to was on Page 10, in Column 5, and read as follows: "Doctor Overton . . . since graduation, has been at Slaton in charge of Mercy hospital, a Catholic institution there."

Dr. M. C. Overton, jr., was never in charge of Mercy hospital, Slaton. He was merely a member of the staff. Any doctor of good repute in Texas may practice at Mercy hospital.

Mercy hospital is now, as it has been from its opening in 1929, in charge of the Sisters of Mercy of the Union of the U. S. We request this correction in your paper.

The Management,
Per Sister Mary Agnes.

(Dear Sister Mary Agnes: The error above was the fault of our Pampa correspondent, not, I'm sure, of Doctor M. C. Overton, jr., who has recently moved there to practice. Thank you for calling it to my attention. The Editor.

Oil Hearing Will Settle Problems

HOUSTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—A hearing designed to settle for good, so far as courts in Texas are concerned, the general issue of the constitutionality of proration in the East Texas oil field got under way here today before a three-judge federal court.

The judges spent the morning in grouping the cases, all attacking validity of the Texas state railroad commission's proration orders in the field and all transferred from the Tyler district, in such a manner as to permit all but three to be disposed of in the present proceeding. The three, involving different sets of facts, will be heard later.

The hearing will be in the nature of a continuation, since the same cases were heard in May on the request of the complainants for a temporary order restraining the complaints for a temporary order recommission's program in East Texas. That relief was denied and the plaintiffs now seek injunctions.

How much of the previous record may be introduced into the current hearing was not finally determined.

Disastrous Forest Fire Is Under Control Of Fighters

VENTURA, Calif., Sept. 19. (AP) For the first time in nearly two weeks, the disastrous Santa Barbara national forest fire was reported under control today. A shift in the wind last night aided the approximately 1,500 men to drive back the flames.

Fine bits of ash continued to fall in Los Angeles, nearly 80 miles from the fire, and clouds of smoke blotted out the sun over wide areas of southern and central California.

A shift in the wind and the consequent successful efforts of the fire fighters to bring the flames under control ended a threat of destruction to the towns of Ojai and Santa Paula.

Hidden Marksmen Kill Two Men And Injure Another; Troops Guard Courthouse As Judge Starts Session

MANCHESTER, Ky., Sept. 19. (AP) In the same courthouse from which hidden marksmen yesterday killed two men and wounded another, Circuit Judge William Lewis, backed up by national guardsmen, convened the fall term of court today to inquire into the latest outbreak of Clay county's ancient and bloody feud.

The troops were stationed on the courthouse square where but 24 hours ago death waited for any one bold enough to walk and across which flew the bullets that killed Commonwealth's Attorney Frank H. Baker and John Brockman who rushed to his side as he fell. Frank Young, 40, was shot in the hip and another bullet forced Wiley Baker's aged mother back into the house after she had tried to go to her son's nephew.

The two victims of a feud that was traced back to the bitterness of Civil war days by some old residents, lay for nearly four hours until Governor Ruby Laffoon sent troops and the marksmen in the courthouse and nearby hills fled.

Other men known to be enemies of the Baker family were said to have slipped quietly out of town before the troops arrived but many of them were armed against the posibility of attacks in the hills.

While the town appeared to be clear today of any persons believed to be closely involved in the tragic feud, Brigadier General H. H. Denhardt came here to make a personal investigation and to inspect the guardsmen, two officers and 23 men, on duty since yesterday.

Cotton Cotton Market Is Very Nervous Livestock General Cattle Trade Is Lower Grain Price Of Grain Tumbles Monday

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19. (AP)—The cotton market today was a decidedly erratic and nervous affair with fairly active trading. Fluctuations were influenced by fears of damage from the tropical storm, the erratic course of the stock market and considerable hedging. After opening 34 to 40 points compared with Saturday's close, the market reacted and closed at net advances for the day of 12 to 16 points.

Manchester cabled cloth business was distributed by cotton fluctuations.

Prices advanced rather sharply on shorts covering due to an official forecast for unsettled weather in the belt and fears of injury by the tropical storm to the crop.

The market ruled nervous during nearly the entire afternoon with prices fluctuating within a fair range but mostly within the previous range except that October at one time made a new low at 6.81 or 2 points under its earlier low. Stocks were easier which induced selling and there was also hedging. The final figures for the two most active months were 21 to 25 points under the highs of the morning. October closed at 6.75 up 13 points net for the day and December closed at 6.88, up 15 points net.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 5 to 6 penny points down.

Port receipts 35,048, for week 32,703, for season 937,883, last season 750,707. Exports 25,124, for week 43,221, for season 903,421, last season 903,085. Port stock 2,494,963, last year 2,968,530. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 118,588, last year 44,-. Spot sales at southern markets 55,-, last year 66,895.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—Advances of about $1.50 a bale in cotton on tropical storm apprehensions and relatively firm Liverpool cables were checked by covered hedge selling and liquidation today but after losing nearly all its gain, the market stiffened up again in the late trading.

December contracts closed at 6.89, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 10 to 16 points.

Later October sold up to 7.00 and March to 7.36, making net gains of 33 to 35 points on active positions, but the market met a renewal of southern or spot house selling at these prices, and reacted to about the low levels of the morning. Fear of an unfavorable weather map tomorrow brought in a renewal of covering in the late trading, however, and the close showed rallies of 10 to 11 points from the lowest.

There were reports that Lancashire mills were hopeful of reopening next week as a compromise on the wage disputes was expected and houses with both Liverpool and continental connections were buyers here during the day. Business generally was in fair volume.

Exports today 32,134 making 855,087 so far this season. U. S. port stock 3,429,-291.

Why Prolong The Depression For Yourself?

This New Plan Brings 25% to 100% More Profit on Your Cattle

If you own good quality Grass Fat or Feeder Cattle you have the best depression proof investment in America today. Don't prolong the depression for yourself, by sacrificing them now at 1932 prices.

Place them under the Bowles Plan of Contract Share-Feeding and sell them as Corn Fed Cattle at 25 percent to 100 percent higher prices, at a total cost of 40c per cwt.

We have an organization of Supervisors blanketing the best of the Corn Belt. They are the most successful Feeders in the country, such men as: J. W. (Bill) Frazier, Ene Tolan, E. P. Hall, John Hubley, all International Grand Championship Winners 20 Times out of a possible 30.

Henry Hortenstine, Wayland Hopley, McKenna Brothers and George Prescott, winners of many International Show awards.

Ralph McElrath (Iowa), O. M. (Bean) Lyons (Indiana) and Leslie L. Lemon, (Missouri), the largest and most successful cattle feeders in their respective states, and many others.

We will place your cattle under the personal supervision of such men as these, assuring you of the greatest possible gain in weight. You make no investment—you don't even have to pay the freight until they sell.

Don't cheat yourself out of the increased value of Corn Fed Fat Prices by selling now. Prices of $8, $9 and $10 for Corn Fat Cattle are a practical certainty for late 1932 and the year 1933, and we think they can even work higher. Investigate! Write, or mail the coupon below. Your bank will gladly co-operate under the Bowles Plan.

Bowles National Supervising Service,
212 Exchange Bldg.,

Drag Is Imposed On Stock Market On Monday And Lower Quotations Ruling

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—Sogginess of steel issues, notably U. S. Steel preferred which broke 7 points, imposed a drag on the stock market today and lower quotations were the rule in most directors. Losses averaged into a net decline of 1.3 points.

Trading was the dullest in about two months, only 1,262,585 shares changing hands. Bonds also were quiet. Wheat and cotton, whose early firmness, together with a flurry of buying in rail equities, had given the general stock list a mild boost, lost their enthusiasm before closing time, although cotton managed to show something to the good.

In the absence of fresh developments pertaining to industrial prospects, Wall street was forced to look back at trade indices covering trends of the past week. Against the favorable implications of the car loadings statement, however, was a report that steel production had eased a trifle. The loss in itself was inconsequential, but it may have suggested to some traders and other holders of steel shares that the anticipated September boom had been sidetracked.

Gains of a point or two by leading rail stocks, made during the forenoon's sluggish advance, melted into recessions of roughly similar extent.

To Play Tech

For signal running and other practice work, Coach Bell has divided his men into three teams, surplus players alternating with those on the second and third elevens. Roster of one team shows "Franchy" Domingue, Port Arthur, quarterback; Ted Spencer, Gilmer, fullback; Rue Barfield, Port Arthur, right halfback; Henry Graves, Corsicana, left halfback; Willis Nolan, Santa Rosa, center; George Lord, Bryan, and Stapp Maxwell, Leonard, left and right guard; "Stumble" Jordan, Fort Worth, and Charlie Cummings, Bryan, left and right tackle; Charlie Malone, Dallas, and Ray Murray, Mercedes, left and right ends. All except Maxwell and Jordan are lettermen.

This lineup probably will be the one to face the Matadors at Amarillo at the opening whistle. Although Captain Jimmy Aston, Farmersville, now is listed as a right halfback, it is probable that he will see some service during the season at either the quarterback or fullback posts, positions he played during his sophomore and junior years, respectively.

The local committee had not been named, so far as could be learned last night. Guy R. Johnston, resident engineer, was in Austin. Recently he said that as soon as the highway department had named the committee it would be announced in the papers.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19. (AP)— With the exception of a few loads of choice, weighty fed steers at fully steady prices as compared with the close of last week, general trade on beef steers and yearlings was considered around 25 lower.

Chicago reported a top of 10.30 on 1195 lb. and 1267 lb. steers, while several loads of better grade medium and heavy weight steers at various points made 9.25@10.15. The general bulk of fed steers were of quality to sell in a spread of 7.00@9.00. A few sales of western steers came in at 3.35@6.00.

Most replacement steers cleared at 2.75@6.00 with a few loads of fleshy feeders at 3.25@4.00. Choice stock steer calves turned at 6.25@6.50. Receipts of 131,200 at eleven markets showing an increase of around 20,000 over last week and is about 28,000 greater than the same day a year ago.

Chicago reported a hog top of 4.00 on best butchers.

Most desirable fat lambs sold at 4.50@5.50 and a few closely sorted loads at 5.75@6.00. In most cases feeding lambs found a good outlet at steady to strong prices with a range of 4.60@5.40 covering the large percentage of sales.

by the national platform, I am not a Democrat," Armstrong said. " I stand for more money and not sound money as that word is understood by the banking fraternity.

Against Federal Reserve

"I stand for the destruction of the federal reserve system, and for the immediate payment in new money of the debts due the soldiers. I am for tariff protection and against free trades. I am opposed to the repeal of the 18th amendment, to the submission of the question, and to the discussion of that subject, at least until after these important economic issues are settled."

Declaring he was quoting a statement made in 1920 by Jas E. Ferguson, whose wife is the Democratic nominee now, Armstrong said:

" 'Ask yourself with your conscience to answer—why should any Texan vote the Democratic ticket? There is no longer any reason, logical or sentimental, why any Texan should vote the Democratic ticket. In the first place the Democratic has abandoned the principles upon which it was founded, it has betrayed the people and belied its principles.' " elected and inaugurated as vice president of the United States, has been in ill health for some time. Her present critical condition was brought about about by a general toxic poisoning. She is 81 years old.

Family At Bedside

All members of her immediate family, three sons and two daughters were at her bedside. The last to arrive, John Nance hurried here yesterday from Washington where he had gone from his Uvalde, Tex., home to aid in the Democratic presidential campaign.

Mr. Garner said there was no hope for his mother. "My mother cannot recover," he said. "It's just a matter of time now."

Shortly after the speaker's arrival, he visited his mother's sick room during a period from which she had rallied from a stupor in which she had lain for practically two days.

Knows Her Son

"Do you know me, ma?" he asked, as he stooped low over her bed.

"Yes," was the faint acknowledgment of his presence.

After that brief greeting, the patient dozed off again.

Today it became known that Mrs. Garner's pet poodle, of which she was extremely fond, had refused to eat since its mistress had become sick abed, and spends most of its time lying beside or under her bed.

Burlesque, which for more than a year had not been shown at any theatre in the Broadway district, had in recent months enjoyed a marked revival. "Barkers" on the sidewalks and displays of photographs of semi-nude women in front of the theatres in addition to the actual performances were among the subjects of complaints.

The mayor, however, in ordering the two theatres closed asserted he was not setting himself up as a censor for the theatre.

"The standards of the theatre are set by the people themselves," he said.

State's Star Witness Takes Stand Monday To Tell Version Of Murder

there now."

Continuing with little interrogation from the state, he told of Covington's driving the car down the paved highway several miles, of their turning back and driving on the road east of the house and later to the west and how they returned and "within, I would say a hundred yards, Jess turned off the lights and let the car coast down."

"Jess Took 30-30"

"Jess got out of the car on the left hand, Hugh on the right and Barber John got out on Hugh's side," he said. "Jess took the 30-30. They walked around in front of the car and stopped away from the car, 15 or 20 feet. They held a short talk there. I stayed in the car. I asked them if they expected to have any trouble with that fellow and they said no. Then they walked away from the car to the house. I heard a dog bark, it sounded like a small pup and I could hear some talking but couldn't understand.

"Then I heard some shots, saw some. I'm not positive how many but I think two or three. I heard someone running east of me. Then Hugh, Jess and Barber John came running to the car. Hugh was the first one there, then Jess came next. He had my 30-30 and then Barber John. Jess started the car before Barber John got in and turned it around and headed west. Barber John got in but he fell against me and we left there fast."

He testified they traveled about eight miles west and from then on, detailed at times definitely and at other times somewhat hazily the route of the car north across the railroad tracks and to the vicinity of several lakes south of Shallowater where "Barber John threw out the pistol" and later where "Hugh told Jess to stop the car and he opened the door, got out and took the gun and threw it into the water."

Asked If Anybody Hurt

Ross said he had asked the men what had taken place at the house and that Barber John had replied "nothing much."

He said he asked Walker if anybody got shot and he said, "Hell, no, shut up and don't talk about it."

He related an incident in which Barber John turned on the dome light and "I saw him wiping blood off his hands." Hugh Walker told him to "turn out that d—— light," he said.

He said he raised an objection to Walker throwing his gun (the 30-30) into the water and that Hugh said, "Hell, you don't ever want to see this gun again."

Ross then attempted to testify as to the route of the car from there across to the Plainview highway. He told of crossing the Shallowater highway and of letting Barber John out four or five miles east of Shallowater.

Make Up An Alibi

"Now remember, we haven't seen each other since five o'clock this afternoon'," Walker told Richardson, Ross said, and Richardson replied, "O. K."

He said they traveled east to the Plainview highway and then started back toward Lubbock on the pavement.

"Walker kept telling me, 'Ross you'd better get out of the car, we don't want to be seen going into Lubbock together like this,' but I told him I was going back to town to get my car," he continued.

"The car stopped in the canyon south of the Crosbyton underpass, and Hugh says, 'Well, Ross get your a— out of here' and I got out and they went on toward Lubbock."

He said Walker talked about the time they had made, looked at his watch and said "48 miles in 46 minutes, not so d— bad."

Walked Up Highway

He said he walked up the highway until he got to a road leading up the canyon by the golf course. He walked around to the east underpass on Broadway and then back to the hotel where he had left his own car.

On query from Vickers, he said he had left his coat "by a lamppost" on east Broadway and later picked it up as he came by in his car. He said the coat had blood on it and that Barber John had got it on there when he fell against him as Jess started the car at the house. He said he burned the coat because "I didn't want to be seen with it."

Ross then told of aiding officers search for the two guns and how he found the rifle in water "over waist deep."

He said he had been promised immunity for his testimony in the case.

Expect Cross Examination

Cross examination of the witness is expected to get underway soon after the opening of this morning's session and court attaches were of the opinion last night that "plenty of fireworks" were in store for the hearing.

As court adjourned Monday afternoon, Covington chatted briefly with relatives and later with his attorneys. He gave his wife an affectionate embrace before leaving the courtroom. He seemd in fine spirits in spite of testimony given by Ross a few minutes earlier.

The afternoon testimony opened with cross-examination of Joe Hilton who had appeared in direct examination in the morning session. He was questioned at length on details of the shooting and on identification of two of the men, B. L. Richardson and Hugh Walker.

"Isn't it a fact and won't you tell that jury that you didn't know any of the men down there that night and that you couldn't identify them?" Mr. Schenck shouted at him.

Questioned As To Clothing

"Yes, I could," Hilton answered.

He was questioned as to the kind of clothing he and his brother wore that night. He had testified in the morning as to types of clothing worn by the man identified as Richardson.

"Isn't it a fact that the state's attorney's department was undertaking to fasten the shooting on you people who were there and isn't that the reason you identified the two men you named this morning?" Schenck asked Hilton.

"No, sir. I didn't know of it," was Hilton's reply.

Recognized Two Men

He said the first time he had identified either of the men was when he and the Hiltons came to the courthouse to testify before the grand jury. He said he recognized Richardson and Walker "sitting on some benches just before we went into the grand jury room."

"Did anyone point out these men to you?" the defense asked.

"No, sir," he replied.

"Well, didn't you know that the officers were going to have some men there for you to identify?" was another question from Schenck.

Two Are Identified

"No," Hilton answered. He said he did not know the men were going to be there and no one pointed them out to him. He said he saw only Walker and Richardson at the house that night and he identified both of them.

"You know G. A. Ross when you see him, don't you?" Mr. Schenck said.

Hilton said he knew Ross when he saw him.

"And he's one of the men you saw down there that night?"

"No. I didn't see him," Hilton replied.

"Then you only say these two men are the men you saw and that's because somebody told you to say that," Schenck declared.

Jury Is Withdrawn

Hilton replied that no one had told him to say anything.

The jury was then withdrawn from the room and the defense laid a predicate for the introduction of further testimony. Assistant District Attorney Burton S. Burks was called to the stand and testified as to a voluntary statement made to a grand jury by Richardson.

"I asked him if he wore a black hat," Burks sad in reply to an interrogation by Bradley. "He said he had not worn a black hat in a number of years and I asked him if he objected to us sending an officer to search his room for a black hat. We dispatched an officer and he came back in a few minutes with a black hat and Richardson admitted that the hat was his and that he had forgotten about owning it." Burks identified a hat exhibited in court as Richardson's hat.

Had Signed Statement

Burks testified Richardson had signed a statement to the grand jury regarding the hat before it was brought in. The defense called for the statement and scrutinized it closely for several minutes.

Defense objected to the statement by Burks and held that his warning to Richardson in the grand jury statement was not statutory and because the signing took place before a grand jury. They excepted to the court's overruling.

J. C. Roberts, constable of precinct one, was then called to the stand and testified concerning his search for the hat in Richardson's room. Defense also objected to his testimony.

The jury was then called back into the courtroom and then two witnesses repeated their testimony. District Attorney Bradley then offered the hat as evidence in the case.

Ross Obtains Gun

R. C. "Bob" McCaffree of 2003 Avenue K, was the next witness. He testified that on the afternoon of May 30, G. A. Ross came to his house (he was then living at 1818 Avenue G) and got a gun he (McCaffree) was holding as security for a debt Ross owed him. He said the gun was a 30-30 Winchester and described its markings, size and other details. He then identified the gun exhibited in court as the gun Ross got from him that afternoon. The gun had been previously offered as testimony in the trial and the one "the man who shot 'Leatherhat' Brown used."

He said Ross came to his house about 6:30 or 7 to get the gun and that "there was someone with him." He said Val Tudor drove up to his house at about the same time Ross and the other man were there.

On cross-examination, McCaffree said Ross paid him 70 cents and he let him have the gun. He said Ross owed him $2.70.

Asked what Ross owed him the money for, McCaffree refused to answer and said he "wouldn't until he had to." State attorneys objected to defense questioning him on this detail and the court sustained the objection.

Wanted To Make Trade

McCaffree said Ross told him he wanted to trade the gun for a godevil "with some fellers from New Mexico."

Val Tudor then took the stand and testified that he was at the McCaffree home on the afternoon of May 30 and that he saw Hugh Walker sitting in a car in front of the house and later saw Ross come out of the house with a gun. He also testified he saw Jess Covington and B. L. "Barber John" Richardson drive by the house in another car, turn around down the street and drive back by. He said both cars drove back toward town after Ross had got back in the car with Walker.

Defense made little cross examination of the witness.

Forrest Glidewell, a son-in-law of McCaffree's, was the next man called to the stand. He testified he lived at 1910 Avenue G and had been here 8 years. He said he was at the McCaffree home when Ross came for the gun and saw him take it "and some cartridges in a sack."

He was only questioned briefly by the defense in cross examination.

Star Witness On Stand

The state's chief witness, Ross then took the stand and occupied it until court recessed at 5:45.

That naming of Ross in robbery complaint was a defense move was charged by District Attorney Bradley from the stand Monday morning. Asked by Mr. Schenck if he (Bradley) had not received information Saturday that the theater manager wanted to file a charge against Ross, the district attorney said that Lindsey had indicated he did not want to file a complaint himself.

"You asked him not to file a complaint until after this trial didn't you?" Mr. Schenck asked, and Bradley replied he would "rather he didn't make the complaint at this time."

"If I had not known the motive of those behind the move, I would have filed the complaint immediately," Bradley said.

Hijacking Investigated

Under the examination of Mr. Vickers, a member of the prosecution, Bradley explained the grand jury had investigated the alleged hijacking.

"Did you instruct the county attorney, justice of the peace, or any other officers to refuse the complaint?" Mr. Schenck then asked.

"I did not," Bradley said.

What happened the night Brown was shot to death was told by T. B. Hilton, who said he was standing by a car talking to Brown when a car stopped west of the house and three men came walking up to the house. Hilton named Richardson as one of the trio. After a small dog began barking at the approaching men, Richardson said "A feller's liable to get dog bit around here," Hilton testified.

Stuck Gun In Side

"I told him no and about that time he stuck a gun in my side," the witness said, explaining how the family had been ordered into the house. While in the building, Hilton said he saw the gunman's face in the mirror. Hilton's son ran through the house and outside, and the group was marched back out the rear door. Brown was standing in the door, he said.

"Brown said, 'Well fellers what do you want?'" Hilton said. "and then he, Richardson, took the gun off me and pointed it at him and said 'you, you s——' and Mr. Brown made a dash for him. I heard a shot—and then the second gun went off out there.

Richardson fled after the firing, Hilton said, "and Mr. Brown stepped over near me and I saw blood, his hands hanging down and I knew he was killed." The Hilton brothers then fled until after the car had gone, returning to look for the young Hilton girl who had been asleep in the house.

"I found Mr. Brown a layin' on his face . . . his face down and his toes turned out," Hilton said.

A hat said to have been worn on the night of the murder was exhibited and identified as one similar to one worn by Richardson.

A description of Richardson was given by Joe Hilton, brother of T. B. He said Richardson's handkerchief slipped off his face, "and I saw his face and he made several attempts to pull it up . . . I noticed in particular his eyes, the color, and the shape of his nose, kinda Roman, just a little . . . I noticed his hands, that his fingers were long and slender and white . . . that he was light complected . . . I noticed that his pants were creased very nice and well kept . . . he was wearing black shoes."

"I'll never buy Coffee in old-fashioned cans again!"

. . . says Mrs. Sam Powers

"I couldn't seem to make good coffee with the brand I was using," says Mrs. Powers.

"Then my sister told me about Maxwell House. She said that coffee in cardboard packages, paper bags and old-fashioned tins is often stale when you get it at the store.

"But Maxwell House Coffee is packed by the special VITA-FRESH process that insures wonderfully fresh coffee every time. How true it is! I was amazed at the difference!"

No—you can't get a can of stale Maxwell House Coffee. Because the VITA-FRESH process removes every bit of oxygen from inside the can. And it is oxygen, you know, that makes coffee grow stale . . . destroys flavor.

So you get Maxwell House Coffee just as deliciously fresh as the moment it left the roaster. Try it and see the difference in really fresh coffee! And for supremely fine drip coffee be sure to use Maxwell House Drip-grind, always roaster-fresh. A Product of General Foods.

Governor Sterling Sets September 24 As Argonne Day; Flowers To Be Sold

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP) — Texans are reminded of their duty to contribute to the aid of disabled World war veterans in a proclamation issued by Governor R. S. Sterling setting Sept. 24 as Argonne Day.

Governor Sterling pointed out that the disabled American veterans of the World war were organized for the purpose of augmenting the work of the government "in dispensing justice and relief to those men."

"To carry on their work," the proclamation said, "they make an annual drive for funds to be used in securing aid for the disabled war veterans. This year, the drive will be held on September 24, and forget-me-nots will be sold on the streets to help the American World war wounded."

After mentioning that this month marked the fourteenth anniversary of the Meuse-Argonne drive, "when the tide of the World war was turned," Governor Sterling said that our great state should honor the dead by remembering the living."

City Of Lubbock Named Defendant

A suit asking $50,000 damages as result of the death of Nat Jordan, from electric shock May 23 in yard of his home at 2023 Main was filed in 99th district court late Saturday.

The father, B. T. Jordan, 55, petitioned also in behalf of a 20-year-old daughter, Lucille Jordan. Both the father and daughter were described in the petition as having been totally disabled the last three years. The mother, Mrs. Myrtle Jordan, is 47 years old.

Storm Causes Tragedy

A wire carrying high voltage broke, fell across a wire fence back of the Jordan residence, and Nat Jordan died as a result of touching the fence in the dark. The petition for damages alleged failure by the city to properly construct and maintain its electric wires and wiring system, to exercise care in inspecting wires, and negligence either in failing to have or in failing to keep in proper repair instruments at the central power station which would have shown, according to the petition, the location of the break "in time to cut the current off before Jordan was killed." A claim for $50,000 previously had been filed with the city.

Federal Prisoners Rioting At Fort Worth Are Subdued

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19. (AP) — Federal prisoners rioting in the sixth floor of the county jail in protest over stringent rules recently put into effect were subdued by tear gas discharged by Sheriff Wright late last night.

The prisoners broke up a large table, broke windows and electric lights. Wright believed a jail break had been planned. Eight prisoners, believed to have been ring leaders, were placed in solitary confinement.

Slaton Rotarians Are To Be Hosts At Program Thursday

SLATON, Sept. 19. (Special) — Members of the Slaton Rotary club will be hots at Ladies' night program Thursday at 7:30 o'clock at the club house. Rotarians, their wives, teachers, school trustees, and others will attend. R. A. Baldwin, president, will be toastmaster.

A varied program is planned. The Rev. C. E. Fike, Methodist minister, will give the invocation. Special music will be given by Mrs. Lillian Butler, Miss Lessie Head, C. E. Fike, jr., Miss Jeanette Ramsey and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Clark. Readings will be given by Miss Hazel Manaker and Miss Mildred Swofford, and Supt. A. R. Ellis and Coach P. T. Wright will speak.

Second Victim Of Crash At Austin Claimed By Death

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—Portonato Perales, 45, died here today of injuries sustained yesterday when a truck filled with Mexican cotton pickers overturned eight miles south of here. Perales was the second to die of injuries received in the accident, Florencio Castellano, 25, dying shortly after it occurred.

Three other Mexicans were critically injured and 14 less seriously hurt.

The party was enroute from Robstown to Winters to pick cotton.

Oil Man And Former Circus Executive Dies On Sunday

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 19. (AP)—Walter T. McGinley, 62, oil man and former circus executive died here of a heart attack yesterday.

McGinley joined a traveling circus as a youth. He became an executive with Ringling Brothers, Sells-Floto and Wallace Brothers circuses and in 1906 attracted international attention by gathering an American circus for a European tour. At the time of his death he was president of the McGinley Oil company.

Campaign Book Now Available

Demo Propaganda Distributed In Campaign Book; Platform Of Two Parties And Other Material Is Given

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—First copies of the Democratic party's "campaign book" for 1932, a paper-bound pamphlet of 103 pages and about one-fifth the size of the 1928 campaign book, were distributed today at Democratic national campaign headquarters.

The book contains the Democratic and Republican platforms and the acceptance speeches of Governor Roosevelt and his running mate, Speaker John N. Garner. It contains also biographical sketches of the presidential and vice-presidential candidates and articles on "leading issues of the campaign."

The first chapter of the book, entitled "Prophecy and Performance," is made up of quotations from President Hoover's 1928 campaign speeches and advertisements, contrasted with his public statements during the present economic situation.

Then follows a chapter entitled "The Roosevelt Creed," written by Governor Roosevelt, expressing his belief in individualism and concluding with the sentence:

"We must get back to first principles; we must make American individualism what it was intended to be—equality of opportunity for all, the right of exploitation for none."

Mail Plane Is Believed To Have Set New Flight Record

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19. (AP)—Swept along by a strong tail wind, a T. and W. A. mail plane flew here from Los Angeles in 9 hours 28 minutes of flying time, believed to be a new record for commercial craft over the 1482-mile stretch.

Pilot Arthur Burns left Los Angeles at 7 p. m. yesterday and landed here at 6:59 a. m. today.

A new record also was established on the 1144-mile flight from Kansas City to New York, the plane which left here at 7 o'clock last night having made the trip in 8 hours, 7 minutes.

ACCIDENT IS FATAL

LONGVIEW, Sept. 19. (AP)—Earl Parker, 23, of Shreveport was dead and Albert Burton, 21, of Kilgore was in a serious condition at a hospital here today as the result of an automobile accident last night. Parker died today without regaining consciousness. His body was held here pending arrival of relatives from Shreveport.

New Dallas Solon Is "Agin" Tedious Resolutions And Plans To Wage Fight

BY CHARLES E. SIMMONS

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—If others of the contingent of new members of the legislature who will move in next January feel the same way about resolutions as does George Parkhouse, newly nominated representative from Dallas, the time spent in "resoluting" may be materially reduced by the 43rd legislature.

For Parkhouse is "agin" resolutions, and he doesn't mean maybe.

Parkhouse, perhaps, is justified in being against resolutions because while serving as assistant reading clerk of the 42nd legislature it fell to his lot to read and re-read numerous resolutions. Some of them, a goodly number, were several pages long and pretty dry reading.

The only resolutions that Parkhouse said he would be in favor of are those of bereavement at the death of some prominent Texan who has served his state well. To these, Parkhouse said he would not object. If necessary, he said, he would introduce a few of this kind himself since they are passed without controversial debate, are short and serve a good purpose.

But Parkhouse will offer serious objection, he said, to the usual run of resolutions that are placed before the house. A large portion of them cause acrimonious debate and tie the legislature up on matters of minor import while vital legislation is shunted into the background.

The resolutions memorializing congress to do or not to do certain things are particularly distasteful to the man who will be the new member from Dallas. They usually are very lengthy, cover plenty of territory and set forth various and sundry reasons why congress should do as suggested by the resolution.

One of the favorite methods of killing a resolution is by raising a point of order against it. A certain portion of the legislative day is allotted to consideration of resolutions. When this time has expired a point of order that the time for consideration of resolutions is past will always shove them into the background, although sometimes only temporarily.

Parkhouse indicated he would make frequent use of the point of order.

Police Search For A Negro After Slugging Of Woman

HOUSTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—A posse of police officers aided by bloodhounds was searching the woods in a suburban section early today for a negro who slugged Mrs. J. Kalman, 40, wife of a dairyman, and escaped with two suitcases of clothing.

Mrs. Kalman was in a critical condition, suffering a fractured skull. At a hospital here she told officers she was alone in her home about 4 a. m. while her husband and two dairy hands were milking cows.

"A negro man opened the door and came in," Mrs. Kalman said. "I screamed and he struck me [illegible] something and that's the last I r[illegible] member."

The Danish war department banished military bands.

Don't let "B.O." (body odor)
spoil YOUR chances

LET'S BE frank — brutally frank — about "B.O." (body odor). You can be guilty, just like anybody else. The pores of every normal person give off a quart of odor-causing waste daily. Why risk offending others? Play safe. Bathe regularly with Lifebuoy. Notice its clean, pleasantly "different", quickly-vanishing scent. It tells you Lifebuoy itself is different from ordinary toilet soaps. Its lather is richer, more abundant. It penetrates pores—leaves them purified, free of every trace of "B.O."

Great for complexion
Lifebuoy's pure, bland lather cleanses gently, yet thoroughly. Washes away even pore-embedded dirt—clears and freshens dull complexions. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

THE FALL OF CONSTANTINOPLE

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Thomas Webb... inspired by the savage slaughter of 5000 Christian defenders—at the hands of the vengeful, barbaric horde of 250,000 men under the ruthless Mohammed II—1453!

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
