Bedroom Scene Called A "Gag"

LOS ANGELES, July 18. (AP)—Mrs. Leah Clampitt Sewell described today as "just a gag," the hotel bedroom scene which precipitated Mae Elizabeth Keaton's divorce suit against Buster Keaton, movie comedian, and her $200,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Sewell.

"I understand Mrs. Keaton charges she walked into a room in a Santa Barbara hotel and found her husband on the bed with me," said Mrs. Sewell.

"I don't know anything about it. I was asleep. There were several other people in the room. They told me that Buster—just kidding — had made a running jump and landed on the bed by me just as his wife walked in the room.

"It was just a gag."

Collection Of $10,000 Life Insurance On Death Of Her Husband Is Being Asked By Mrs. Ada L. Boller

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 18. — Mrs. Ada L. Boller, widow of Samuel J. Boller, former professor of engineering at Texas Technological college, Lubbock, and also a former member of the faculty of Oklanoma A. and M. college, Stillwater, filed a suit in federal court today seeking to collect $10,000 life insurance on her husband's death January 1, 1934.

Attorneys for Mrs. Boller said her husband died of an accidental gunshot wound received while he was cleaning a gun. Mrs. Boller alleged the defendant, Aetna Life Insurance company, paid $10,000 but that $10,000 additional is due.

Ruled As Accidental

Boller's body was found in a pool of blood in his office in the Texas Technological college late Jan. 1, 1934.

A justice of the peace, acting as a coroner, ruled that the shooting was accidental.

Boller apparently was shot as he sat at his desk. His body fell to the right, on its side. The gun was on the floor almost under the chair. Boller, an assistant professor, was shot through the head.

Call To Approaching Battle Sounded In Vigorous Words; Says Those Who Die Will Be "Happy Mortals"

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 18. —Emperor Haile Selassie today called his people—men and women, Christians and Mohammedans, young and old—to fight to the death against Italy in the "sacred" cause of Ethiopian independence.

Many in the vast audience of parliamentarians, soldiers and public wept unrestrainedly as the emperor, asserting those who died for their country were "happy mortals," said:

Offers His Own Life

"Your sovereign, now speaking, will be among you unhesitatingly to spill all his blood for independence!"

Challenging Benito Mussolini and his land to respect Ethiopia's independence and territorial integrity, the emperor nevertheless looked the possibility of war squarely in the face and told the world Ethiopia was prepared to resist to the last man.

He paraphrased fascism's famous "better to live one day as a lion than 100 years as a lamb" when he told Ethiopians it was better to die free than to live without liberty.

"Woman In Red" Bares Story For First Time; Declares She Never Fled For Fear Of Gang Vengeance

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 18.—The "woman in red," popularly supposed to have put John Dillinger on the spot for the "G" men a year ago July 22, was found in Chicago, living a prosaic life.

She is Mrs. Anna Sage, comely red-heared Roumanian and she told her story for the first time.

She denied that she "put the finger on Dillinger" and she revealed that she had not fled from Chicago after that action-packed night when the most hunted desperado in the world was shot down as he strolled out of the Biograph theater here, with the "woman in red" on one arm and Polly Hamilton on the other.

Reported To Have Fled

Rumor had her fleeing to Roumania to escape gang vengeance of Dillinger's pals. As a matter of fait she lives within a few blocks of the spot where Dillinger made his last stand on Chicago's northwest side.

She disclosed that she had broken her friendship with Polly, whom she had known for many years. She blamed Polly for many of the "lies" which she said were responsible for popularizing her as the woman who led Dillinger into the death trap.

Man Charged In Slaying Of A Young Girl Almost Stops Trial With Plea Of Guilty As Confession Is Offered

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, July 18.—The murder case against Merton Ward Goodrich for the slaying of 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher neared a jury of seven men and five women today as the state completed its case with the reading of the one-time trap drummer's confession.

Harry C. Hanley, defense attorney, said Goodrich would testify in his own defense at the resumption of court Friday morning.

Judge Henry S. Sweeney said the case might go to the jury tomorrow.

"I am not going to deny I killed the little girl," Goodrich said after adjournment today, "but there are plenty of other things I will say. . . . If I did all the things they say I did, I must have been insane."

Goodrich, who was confined twice in an Ohio hospital for the insane for molesting little girls, averted his eyes and dug nervously at his cheek with his stained fingers during the reading of his confession.

For a moment he appeared on the point of halting the trial with a plea of guilty.

"If they're going to let all that go in, I might as well plead guilty," he said, but he asked his attorney to go ahead with his defense when Hanley demanded to know what he wanted to do.

Federal Rules Told As Many Gather In This City

QUESTIONS relating to AAA, Bankhead and other cotton act regulations, were answered by three AAA men in an all-day meeting at the Hilton hotel yesterday as county agents, assistants and cotton adjustment assistants fired hundreds of questions at them. (By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 18—The division of a $1,790,985 allocation for the tree shelter belt project in six states during 1936 was announced at a meeting of regional advisors of the program here today. The allocation is nearly twice that of 1935 and will provide one year's work for 1,659 men, officials said.

Oklahoma will receive $180,000 for the year, which is about four times the allocation for this year. A total of 211 men will be employed.

Others Are Announced

Allocations for other states were announced as follows: Kansas $351,332, jobs for 316 men; Texas, $196,603, jobs for 229 men; North Dakota, $352,555, jobs for 318 men, and Nebraska, $345,848, jobs for 256 men.

This state's share, smaller than that for other states, will provide for 158 miles of strip planting, including planting of woods lots for protection around farm buildings in western Oklahoma.

Many Trees Available

Officials said about 50,000,000 trees will be available for 1936 and 150,000,000 for 1937. A total of 1,424 miles of strip plantings will be done in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas. Oklahoma counties in which most of the shelter belt program will be carried out will be announced tomorrow by George Phillips, Oklahoma state forester.

Alva A. Simpson, associate director of the project, said all men employed will be taken from relief rolls and those living in the counties affected will be given the first opportunity to work.

Legislation To Halt Suits On Gold Favored

Republican Cries Of Repudiation And Impairment For Federal Credit Marks Its Progress To Senate

Blocks Collection

Policy Of Maintaining Equal And Uniform Dollar For Dollar Basis In American Currency Reaffirmed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Legislation to block gold clause suits arising from Roosevelt monetary policies swept through the house today on a 258 to 88 ballot.

Republican cries of "repudiation" and "impairment" of federal credit marked its progress to the senate. There, similar charges by two prominent Democrats who once headed the treasury—Glass of Virginia, and McAdoo of California — foretold stubborn opposition. Glass and McAdoo already have clashed with Secretary Morgenthau and Attorney General Cummings, the president's spokesmen on the bill.

Consent Is Withdrawn

The measure withdraws the consent of the government to be sued on any securities, coins or currencies. It is designed to block efforts of gold-clause bond holders to collect in revalued dollars the equivalent of the old gold dollar they invested. More than $10,000,000,000 in gold-clause securities are outstanding. It requires $1.69 in dollars of the present gold content to equal the same gold weight as the old dollar.

The measue also reaffirms the policy of maintaining "an equal and uniform dollar for dollar" basis in American currency and directs the treasury to cash in on a face value basis or exchange new securities for all outstanding gold clause securities.

Effort Overwhelmed

Before the passage vote, a Republican effort to send the bill back to committee for limiting the refusal to be sued to gold cases alone was overwhelmed 250 to 92. The motion was made by Representative Hollister (R-Ohio).

In the background of the bill, requested by President Roosevelt in a special message June 27, were the supreme court gold decisions in which the government was held without power to abrogate the gold clause in its bonds. But the court also said claimants had showed no damages resulting from devaluation. Two efforts to show such damages now are pending in the court of claims and would be killed by the bill.

Section Of AAA Bill Is Attacked

Compromise On Plan Forced In Senate After Debate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 18. — A broadside attack on the section in the AAA bill prohibiting suits to recover processing taxes today forced a compromise in the senate.

A last minute protest of an administration member, however, stalled off final action on its acceptance until tomorrow.

Tentatively Accepted

The compromise, advanced by Senator George (D-Ga) and tentatively accepted by the administration, would permit suits only where the processor proved he had not transferred the tax to the consumer or the producer but had shouldered it himself.

Thoroughly displeased with the compromise tax amendment, Majority Leader Robinson (D-Ark) branded it as "dangerous" but said the senate appeared disposed to accept it.

The prolonged debate on the bill convinced Robinson a Saturday session would be necessary to dispose of the measure.

Scores Have Appeared

Scores of suits already have appeared on court dockets throughout the country, part of them seeking restraining orders to stop processing tax collection. A circuit court sitting at Boston yesterday ruled adversely.

Led by Senator Borah (R-Ida), who branded the tax suit prohibiton as a "libel upon free government," members from both sides of the chamber blasted away at it.

In defense of it, Senator Robinson declared the provision was to prevent processors from "mulcting" large sums from the government in the way of recovery of taxes which

Plea Of Railroads For Hike In Intrastate Rates Taken Under Advisement Thursday After Hearing

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 18. — Plea of railroads for an increase in intrastate freight rates to a parity with interstate rates was taken under advisement by the railroad commission today after hearing.

The railroads argued that an approximate increase of seven per cent granted recently by the Interstate Commerce Commission should be granted intrastate. Most agricultural and livestock products were exempted from the increase.

In Worse Condition

Despite a slight increase in operating revenues during the first five months of 1935, the carriers said, actually they were in worse financial condition, due to restoration of employes' wages.

They maintained the proposed increases were too small to be burdensome to the traffic and the shippers and that disparities between interstate and intrastate rates were harmful.

Under questioning by Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the commission, who, with Lon Smith, member, conducted the hearing, H. B. Cummins of Dallas, attorney for

Direct Queries On Capture Of Mahan Are Being Dodged

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—Attorney General Cummings today avoided a direct question on whether William Mahan, called "the remaining principal" in the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping, had been captured.

Reporters at Cummings' weekly press conference asked about numerous reports from northwest points that Mahan, also known as Dainard, had been captured and was being secretly held by "G-men."

The attorney general replied: "I'll only say that no statement will be made at all until an authoritative statement is given out. I say this only to stop any further inquiries."

Long Annexes More Powers In Louisiana

Four Thousand Sewerage And Water Board Employes Are Added To Political Machine Of The Kingfish

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, July 18.—Senator Huey P. Long's idea of "Democratic government" in New Orleans, where his forces are facing stubborn opposition, is "just about complete" the senator said today after he had annexed 4,000 sewerage and water board employes to his political machine.

"It looks like the jig is about up in New Orleans," Long said in Atlanta where he was en route to Washington to make reply in the senate to President Roosevelt's statement that Louisiana public works administration funds were endangered under Long's law ordering state approval of the federal expenditures.

To Accept Terms

Today the city commission council's minority, the mayor and Commissioner Fred A. Earhart, voted with the 11 other members of the sewerage and water board to accept the terms of the state civil service commission "to effect peace and cooperate with the state." This in effect turned over the legally contested sewerage and water board to Long's political control.

John E. Morrell, a chief clerk in the board, was named personnel director of the employes with authority to hire and fire and his salary was fixed at $4,000 a year.

Mayor Walmsley and Commissioner Earhart who led the fight against Long's attempt to seize the city government voted for civil service acceptance to "give the 4,000 men work," they said. But both said their votes were not to be considered as a peace move, and that they would "not surrender" to Long.

Coincidently he notified the house military committee he would oppose it in a minority report.

The measure passed the senate unanimously. It has been approved by the house military committee and Chairman McSwain (D-SC) plans to bring it up for action next week.

Joe Hanley And Harrell Harpin Held In Corpus Christi For Federal Men; Nabbed At Goliad Thursday

One Man Also Is Facing An Indictment For Kidnaping Of Iowa Bank Messenger In Holdup Last February

(By The Associated Press)

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 18.—Joe Hanley and Harrell Harpin, charged with kidnaping Sheriff Herman G. Bredensteiner and his deputy, Dean S. James, at Nishnabotna, Mo., last June 6, were held for federal officers here tonight under bonds totaling $75,000. Officers said Hanley also was charged with abducting an Iowa bank messenger.

They were arrested at Goliad this morning by Sheriff C. M. Harbison, his deputies, and Special Texas Ranger Joe Hogan. They were arraigned under the Lindbergh kidnaping law before United States Commissioner A. J. Mount late today at a hearing in the corridor of the Nueces county jail. The hearing was held in the jail as a precautionary measure.

Freed In Nebraska

The men were alleged to have kidnaped the Missouri officers and taken them to South Sioux City Falls, Neb., where they were released. They were held subject to orders from federal agents at Omaha.

Hanley was named in two kidnaping cases with bond of $25,000 each. There was only one count against Harpin.

Hanley at first gave his name as Joe Collier, and Harpin used the name of Robert Coalsen, but later they admitted their identity. Officers said Harpin also used the name of Robert Harpin.

Two Women Are Held

No charges were filed against two women who were with the men when they were arrested at a Goliad tourist camp, but government agents ordered the women held in the Nueces county jail for further investigation.

The quartet was taken by surprise when officers surrounded their cabin. A search of the place disclosed a rifle, four loaded pistols, an abundance of ammunition, four sticks of dynamite, and a complete set of burglar tools, the raiding officers reported. The Missouri sheriff's car, the officers said, was in the men's

From The Woman's Angle

By EVELYN BABB
(Of The Woman's Staff)

SUMMER months are when the more obese of us should wage our campaign against ole debbil avoirdupois. One's body needs less nourishment during hot weather.

• • •

When dieting to reduce, one should drink at least eight glasses of water a day between meals, never with them. Fresh fruit and coffee (unless advised otherwise by a physician) should be adequate breakfast. Green salad or vegetable plate, dessert of fresh or stewed fruit or an ice, rather than rich pastry, we suggest for lunch.

• • •

Dinner should depend upon what was had for lunch, since balance is important. One meal each day should include one hot dish, which does not have to be fattening. If one is hungry at bed time, a melon or green salad or glass of milk should suffice.

Dieting should be accompanied by a little active exercise, the kind that makes perspiration, each day. Rich sweets, starches and fat foods should be given up.

• • •

Determination and not much bread are two of the most important factors, prescribes Dr. Babb.

DON'TS FOR PARENTS

MARGARET told us to stay off the subject of children. She said "they know we don't know how to rear them." She hadn't seen, however, a set of don'ts set forth by Olive Roberts Barton, NEA writer, that sound as though they would help children weather summer activities.

• • •

Here they are in part, if you are interested:

"Don't parboil the baby in the sun with the idea it's good for him."

"Don't let the children 'piece' perpetually between meals."

"Don't let them play long hours in water. The tub in the yard, the hose and the shower are good fun and cooling, but too much is enervating."

"Children should wear lightweight brimmed hats on very hot days."

"Ice water gulped into a steaming hot stomach is terrible. Teach children to drink slowly."

"Watch fruit. It must be ripe and clean. Some children cannot eat certain fruits, and there's nothing strange about it. Just see that they don't eat that kind."

• • •

We know, you know those things already, but we see children everyday viclating those rules. We believe, as O. R. B. says, "Sometimes to review matters in black and white renews our guard."

• • •

IT PAID TOO MUCH

SOME Lubbock folk were vacationing in the old south and upon inquiry at a filling station as to where they might find a place to eat were told there was a place "up the road" where they could get a chicken dinner.

• • •

Driving on they passed a shack almost hidden by teres, but as there was no sign out they drove on. When they failed to find any other place they turned back. A small boy in overalls assured them they could get dinner there and called his daddy who came reluctantly, a dog at his heels.

• • •

"You ought to have a sign," said the man of the party. "We nearly missed the place."

"Wall, I tried that for awhile," drawled the southerner, "but so danged many people stopped I had to take it down."

Kansas City Man Is Chosen Assistant Professor Here

Honored for artistic contributions in the past, Robert Ivan Lockard of Kansas City has been appointed assistant professor of architecture at Texas Technological college.

Lockard received bachelor and master of science degrees at Kansas State Agricultural college, was assistant in the architectural department there two years, was assistant to Paul Gardner, director of the William Rockhill Nelson Gallery of Art in Kansas City, two years.

He exhibited three paintings in New York at an independent water color show; had two reproduced in the rotogravure section of the Metropolitan Press; sold two of the paintings.

He received high commendation three years ago from the College Art association, F. A. Kleinschmidt, head of the Texas Technological college architectural department, said. Critics consider Lockard as a water colorist to be one of the "most promising men in the Middle West", Kleinschmidt said. Kleinschmidt instructed Lockard at K. S. A. C. several years ago.

Vow Keepers Hold Session

Two Thousand Years Of Married Happiness Paraded At Fifth Annual Gathering Of Unique Organization

By NEA Service

KANSAS CITY, July 18.—Two thousand years of married happiness paraded here at the fifth annual session of the True Vow Keepers' Club. Nearly 400 men and women who have been married (without changing helpmates) for 50 years or more were the guests.

It was the answer of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Aurand to the tidal wave of divorces and quick repentance marriages that fill the papers these days.

96 Charter Members

They, organized the True Vow Keepers' club 10 years ago, with 96 members. Now it has 10,000 members, with branches scattered throughout the United States.

Each couple is a living sermon on how to be happy though married, for each contracted nuptial vows before 1885, and each has made them stick.

Couples came to the garden party in Swope Park from as far as Pennsylvania. As they filed by their host and hostess, some so feeble that children or grandchildren assisted them, each was given roses by Mr. and Mrs. Aurand.

Organized As Example

"The club was organized," Aurand told them, "as an example to the younger generation how sacred and lasting can be the wedding vows. Looking into your faces, I see a wonderful picture. You have fulfilled your sacred vows and contributed to society much good in the way of showing how strong a foundation the American home can have."

The couple married longest had been together 68 years, the husband, John Clark, being 93.

Stories Are Related

Stories of traveling to and from weddings on horseback and of trials and tribulations of early days passed among the members, and not infrequently an elderly man slipped his hand over that of his "bride" for a sly squeeze just like the kind that were popular before 1885.

The old songs, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," "Old Grey Bonnet," and "In the Gloaming," were sung.

The Aurands have seen their idea grow steadily as an object lesson that fidelity, loyalty, and devotion are not dead, despite the faster pace of a newer day.

Weather Proves A Great Factor

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The voluminous mailing list of the United States weather bureau is evidence, if needed, of the important part weather still plays in the nation's life, W. R. Gregg, the bureau director reports.

The warnings sent out by Gregg's staff include:

Warnings of frosts to growers of citrus fruits who light some two million heaters when the weatherman tells them of oncoming cold waves; warnings of storms to captains of ships both at sea and in port; hourly weather reports to airplane pilots both in the port and aloft; long-time weather history to engineers who are building culverts and bridges; flood warnings to industrial plants in cities and to farmers who have crops and cattle in lowlands; and reports to railroads and shippers of perishable foods.

Additional Enrollees For Classing School Announced

Ten additional enrollees marked the second day at Texas Technological college of a free cotton classing school, M. E. Heard, in charge, said. Seventy-nine were enrolled Wednesday.

Thursday's additions: J. Burns Smith, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Tudor, Floyd Jackson and J. L. Stimson, jr., and W. M. Schroeder, all of Lubbock; E. C. Criswell and J. R. Minton, both of Anton; A. G. Nelson of Meadow, and W. P. Shugart of Spur.

EXTORTIONIST SLAIN

CAMAGUEY, Cuba, July 18. (AP)—Virgilio Carbonell Hernandez was shot and killed today in a fight with army intelligence agents who trapped him when he was alleged to have tried to collect money from a rich cattleman under threats of death.

The president of the United States receives his salary semi-monthly.

Louisiana Is Left In Cold

No PWA Relief Funds To Be Given And All Present Projects In Senator Long's State Held Up

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Secretary Ickes said today that not only would Louisiana receive no relief funds for PWA projects, but that all present projects were being held up until laws passed at the recent special session of the legislature are repealed.

Going beyond President Roosevelt's statement yesterday about new PWA projects, Ickes said at a press conference he had instructed the Louisiana PWA director to receive no applications for new projects.

Create Difficulties

The president said yesterday the Louisiana laws would create difficulties in carrying out new projects.

Ickes said today "there won't be any PWA projects as long as the law is what it is down there."

Denying that his move was prompted by Senator Long's (D-La) bitter enmity to the president, Ickes said "Senator Long personally has nothing to do with this."

Pennsylvania ranks first, California second, Oklahoma third, and Texas fourth among the states in total average annual value of all minerals produced in this country.

World War Flier Carries Crucifix

INDIANAPOLIS, July 18. (AP)—A crucifix, given him by an 8-year-old girl just before he entered the World war and became the country's greatest ace, is the constant companion of Col. Edward V. Rickenbacker.

The colonel carries the crucifix in the left front pocket of his coat just over his heart.

"I am not a Catholic, but I would not be anywhere without this crucifix," Col. Rickenbacker said. "It was with me in every air battle I had in the war and it has been with me all the time since."

More than 57,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 2,000,000 gallons of oil were consumed by civil and government aircraft in the United States during 1933.

Gly-Cas Gave Him Results After All Others Failed

Mr. Garrett's Entire System Regulated, Stomach and Bowels Now Fine, Eats and Sleeps Good, Headaches, Dizzy Spells Entirely ended

It is a striking fact that in many instances of awful suffering where all kinds of medicines and treatments had failed, this amazing new medical discovery, Gly-Cas, has given results which are astounding. Many Lubbock residents and people of this entire section have found Gly-Cas to be just the medicine they should have had years before to reach their stubborn cases and restore good and glorious health.

THE GLY-CAS MAN

Read what Mr. T. F. Garrett, R. F. D. No. 2, Abernathy, Texas, (just north of here) well known local resident who has lived here for the past 13 years, said recently to the Gly-Cas Man at the Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, Lubbock:

"There is only one Gly-Cas and it should not be confused with the ordinary medicines of today," said Mr. Garrett. "For the past twelve years each meal I ate would cause me terrible suffering with gas and indigestion. Often I would bloat until I could hardly get my breath. Dizzy spells were entirely too frequent and had such dreadful sick headaches continually. I was badly constipated and was always taking pills and medicines of all kinds doing my best to fine something to help me—but met only with failure—until I began the new Gly-Cas."

"This new medical discovery showed me improvement from the very first dose," continued Mr. Garrett. "I can now eat foods I dared not touch before without any distress afterwards. My stomach and bowels are now fine, dizzy spells and headaches are in the past. Even my nerves are quieted, sleep good, get my natural rest and feel fine. Gly-Cas is certainly one medicine worthy of a Trial by all sufferers for it gives results when all else fails."

The Gly-Cas Man is daily meeting crowds of local people at the Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, where he is introducing and explaining the merit of this new vegetable medical discovery.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted. No C. O. D. Mail Orders.—Adv

Margaret Waley Satisfied With Sentence; Long Years Are Ahead For Her

Japan's Desire To Penetrate Soviet Seclusion In Outer Mongolia Bared

TOKYO, July 18. (AP)—Japan's desire to penetrate the Soviet-fostered seclusion of Outer Mongolia, at least for intelligence purposes, was given a fresh and vigorous expression today at the Manchuli conference.

It is at Manchuli that representatives of Outer Mongolia and Manchoukuo are meeting in an effort to settle the "Kharka incident" of last January when armed forces of each nation clashed on the border.

New Crisis Reached

According to the Manchuli correspondent of the Rengo (Japanese) news agency, a new crisis was reached in the long-drawn-out haggling on a series of border disputes when the Japanese member of the Manchoukuan delegation delivered to the Mongolians "representations on behalf of the Manchoukuan foreign office."

These representations were reported to insist on "an exchange of resident representatives between Manchoukuo and Outer Mongolia with freedom of facilities to communicate with their respective governments in order to prevent a misunderstanding in disputes between the two countries."

According to Rengo: "In the event Outer Mongolia persists in the rejection of this request, Manchoukuo may be constrained to request Outer Mongolia to withdraw all troops from the area east of Tomskutsum." This is a village southwest of Lake Bor.

Panama was moved from the map of South America to North America when it seceded from Columbia in 1903.

Waley's Time To Serve Before He Will See Wife Is Doubled

Kidnaper May Be Released On Good Behavior After Serving 30 Years; Detainer Is Filed By State

TACOMA, Wash., July 18. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Thulin Waley, convicted Weyerhaeuser kidnaper, expressed satisfaction with her 20-year sentence today, unaware that she must wait much longer than she expected to rejoin her husband.

Harmon M. Waley, husband of the 19-year-old blonde, was transferred to Alcatraz island prison yesterday and at the same time a Washington state detainer was filed against him. This action doubles the time the kidnaper must serve before a possible reunion with his wife.

Long Years Ahead

Waley, who confessed to the abduction of the 9-year-old timber fortune heir, George Weyerhaeuser, may still be released after 30 years for good conduct but he may never be paroled. If the detainer had not been filed he would have been eligible for parole after serving 15-years of his 45-year sentence.

Mrs. Waley, who contentedly accepted her sentence because "it will make it easier waiting for Harmon," is expected to be taken to the federal women's detention farm at Milan, Mich., within a week.

She was sentenced by Federal Judge E. E. Cushman in federal district court after he had rejected motions for an arrest of judgment and a new trial.

Wants No Appeal

"Now every day will bring me nearer to Harmon," she said as she asked her attorney not to appeal.

Mrs. Waley was convicted Saturday of two counts in the $200,000 som kidnaping of May 24, to which she had repeatedly tried to plead guilty before and after her husband was sentenced.

She received 20-year sentences on each count of conspiring to kidnap and with kidnaping by transporting him into Idaho during ransom negotiations. The sentences are to be served concurrently.

When Waley pleaded guilty, Judge Cushman gave him 45 years on the kidnap count and two years on the conspiracy count, to be served concurrently.

Transfer Is Surprise

His surprise transfer to Alcatraz yesterday was made almost simultaneously with sentencing of his wife.

Once on the fortress-like island, he was virtually cut off from contact with the outside world by strict rules against visitors and communications.

Other kidnapers on the island include Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates and George "Machine Gun" Kelly.

The Waley's co-defendant, William Dainard, alias Mahan, still is a fugitive. He was last seen in Butte, Mont., June 9, the day the Waleys were arrested in Salt Lake City.

DESTROYER LAUNCHED

QUINCY, Mass., July 18. (AP)—The U. S. S. Phelps, $4,000,000 destroyer leader, was launched today at the Fore river yard of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, the first of four such fighting ships ordered by the United States navy.

Not A New One To Local Cops

Youth's inevitable antics vs. the more conservative conception of grownups cropped out in a complaint version of Eastin Wolffarth, night police sergeant:

"Some boys playing football. Threw the ball in the lady's yard. She got the ball and would not give it to them. She called police, as they (the boys) had been running over her flowers in the yard. J. W. Robinson and Don Reeder answered call and got the fuss quieted down."

Deadlock Over Mail Is Seen

Congressional Leaders Admit That Action On Air Mail This Session Now Appears To Be Doubtful

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—Congressional leaders acknowledged today that they are deadlocked over air mail legislation.

Last Jan. 31, President Roosevelt suggested new air mail legislation should be passed before March 1, 1935, when certain air mail contracts expired. The legislation has not been passed, however, and the contracts have been extended temporarily.

Up In The Air

Today Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the senate postal committee said he did not know whether such legislation would be enacted at this session or not.

"It's all up in the air," he said.

Chairman Mead (D-NY) of the house postal committee said:

"We have been unable to agree in conference on increases in rates for air mail contractors. Either the senate or the house will have to recede."

Farley Is Confident

Postmaster General Farley asserted: "I think there will be air mail legislation this session. Some of the lines are in bad shape financially and need increases in rates."

The two committee chairman said the impasse was over the house proposal to grant an increase in rates to lines which receive compensation described as unreasonably low. The increase would range up to 30 per cent, or a maximum of 48 cents an airplane mile.

"In the interests of safety some lines should be granted a 20 per cent increase," Mead declared.

The average bid rate for air mail transportation now in operation is 27 cents an airpalne mile. The statutory limit is 33 1-3 cents as a base rate with a maximum compensation of 40 cents for extra loads over 300 pounds. The senate bill calls for a continuance of these rate limits.

New Oil Or Gas Field For Galveston County Assured

HOUSTON, July 18. (AP)—A new oil or gas field for Galveston county, or a two and one-half mile extension of the Dickinson field, seemed assured today after completion of electric tests of the Coast Petroleum company's number 1 Maco Stewart wildcat well southwest of the proven Dickinson area.

The electric tests showed three sands of a total of 58 feet as follows: 8190-8210; 8321-32; and 8513-8540. The well is 26 miles north of Galveston.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal, and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Failures belong to other days...

The old-fashioned housewife who baked at home was never quite sure how her bread would turn out. Usually, the quality of her ingredients varied with every batch. Her oven temperatures were seldom uniform. And she was always experimenting with formulas.

Butter-Kist bread never varies from batch to batch or from loaf to loaf. It can't. All the ingredients we use are carefully selected by experts who know food values and their place in the baking process. Oven temperatures are scientifically regulated. There is no guesswork. We strive for and achieve perfection in every loaf of our bread.

'Enchanted Rock' Mystery Is Drawing Science Theory

LLANO, Tex., July 18. (AP)—Strange sounds and mysterious lights coming from Enchanted Rock, a huge granite eminence in the hill country are still unsolved, but scientists have advanced explanations of the possible causes.

Creaking sounds on cool nights following warm days are ascribed by geologists to contraction caused by changes in temperature.

The occasional appearance of light, or lights in different places, mineralogists suggest, is caused by radium ores known to exist in the district.

Smart as Tomorrow—New-Value Dodge Sedan (2-door) now only $690*—Touring Sedan (4-door) with built-in trunk, as illustrated, now only $760*

EVERY day tens of thousands of Dodge owners drive millions of money-saving miles. And week after week—month after month—they continue to get gas and oil mileage that has always been considered impossible. They write in to the factory and tell their friends at home that they are getting 18-20-22 and even more miles per gallon.

This astounding economy has been deliberately engineered into the new Dodge. The powerful "Red Ram" engine has a combination of economy features that save you money every mile you drive. And Dodge owners say that these consistent gas, oil and upkeep savings soon make up the difference in price between the big, comfortable Dodge and small, lowest-priced, competitive cars.

Test Dodge Yourself

Drive a Dodge. Make the FREE economy test. See for yourself how much Dodge saves you. Examine the sturdy construction of the safe, Dodge all-steel body. Test the positive, smooth-stopping action of Dodge genuine hydraulic brakes. And remember, delivered right to your home, Dodge costs only a few dollars more than the lowest-priced makes.

DODGE DIVISION—CHRYSLER MOTORS

Roy Chapman Andrews, famed for his expeditions for the American Museum of Natural History, says: "Sturdy Dodge helped me blaze a way through the Far East. And now Dodge blazes the economy trail. I know my new Dodge costs less to run than a small car."

"Thought gas gauge wasn't working, because Dodge went so far on so little gas (21 miles a gallon)," writes Lorraine MacLean, of New York and Beverly Hills, California, one of society's most charming hostesses.

Many Talents Are Displayed

"Boy Hobos" Turn To Education As CTC Is Started In California; Transients Are Given Training

BY DUDLEY ROSS

CLYDE, Calif., July 18. (AP)—Boys who recently were part of the nation's depression-fed floating population are displaying and developing unsuspected talents under the curriculum of the Citizens' Training Corps here, first unit in what is hoped to be a part of the federal youth program.

Practical and mechanical, musical, dramatic, athletic, artistic and even intellectual abilities are revealing themselves under the stimulus of this transient youths' school here, staff members working under Dr. George O. Smith, corps director, are finding.

Publish Weekly Newspaper

Within a few weeks after the organization of the corps, whose facilities are still incomplete, the 200 boys were putting out their own weekly newspaper, staging their own shows—even putting on skits in the theater of a neighboring town—organizing their own athletic contests and planning for dances.

"I'd rather teach these youngsters than any I have ever tried," J. R. Clifford, instructor in journalism and history, commented.

The "project" method is mainly used, with practical training along vocational lines in addition to citizenship courses.

Gliders Built

In aeronautics, for instance, two gliders and an old airplane have been obtained from government service sources to provide laboratory work for the boys. They will tear them down and rebuild them.

One of the gliders has been tested for actual flight use, and Doctor Smith said he planned that each qualified pupil should complete a three-minute glider flight before finishing the course.

The same procedure is being followed with gas engines. In seamanship a fishing boat is being used to provide actual cruising experience.

Plenty Of Recreation

Several athletic stars have already cropped up in sports staged under the direction of Richard Worden, former Stanford football player who is physical instructor.

Outside of the regularly supervised curriculum, the corps members are given ample opportunity for informal recreation and "passes" for the evening or over a week-end.

Bugle calls regulate each day's program: starting with first call at 6:25 a. m., mess at 7 a. m., drill at 7:45, school sessions from 8:30 to 11:50, mess at noon, school again from 1 to 3:30 p. m., retreat at 5:55 followed by mess again and taps at 10 p. m.

The resolution also charged the commissioner was indifferent "to the best interests of agriculture and to that class of Texas citizens for whose benefit the office held by him was created."

The resolution recommended that any necessary duties of the office be transferred to A. & M. college.

Request Denied By Coast Guard

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—The coast guard today advised Representative Mansfield (D-Tex.) it would be unable to comply with his request that it assist in protecting bathers on the 25-mile long Galveston, Texas, beach.

Admiral H. G. Hamlet, coast guard commandant declined to assign a special patrol Mansfield suggested, asserting:

"Coast guard stations are established primarily for the preservation of life and property from shipwrecked vessels. They are not established for protection of bathers although the crews of existing stations are expected and required to render every possible assistance in cases of emergency, in whatever nature, occurring within the scope of their operations. I, therefore, do not feel the service is authorized to assign its men to the duty of protecting bathers."

Mansfield had been informed by Galveston citizens that several bathers there had lost their lives "unnecessarily."

Pearson is drafting a plan to divert a proportion of the recruits into practical mining field work and to obtain competent instructors in placer mining to tutor others.

Panhandle Gas Output Given

Statewide Oil And Gas Proration Hearing Conducted; Data On Which To Base An Order Is Sought

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP)—Potential production of 14,027,151,000 cubic feet of sweet gas in the Panhandle field each 24 hours was announced today at a statewide oil and gas proration hearing before the railroad commission.

The gas hearing was a continuation of others held recently to obtain data on which to base an order prorating gas production under a new law effective August 1.

Tests Completed

The commission stated its engineers had completed exhaustive tests on 1,074 wells in the Panhandle and 950 wells in the rest of the state to determine gravity, rock pressure and daily producing capacity of each well.

All fields containing the gas well have been contoured on a map. The weighted average pressure for the Panhandle field was 362.95 pounds per square inch as of July, 1935. The total potential was based on 14.65 pounds pressure and the observed gravity.

East Texas Potential

For the East Texas district engineers tested 254 wells which showed a potential of 2,440,915,073 cubic feet per day; Southwest Texas, 167 wells, potential 1,332,293 cubic feet; and Gulf Coast, 23 wells, potential 1,552,600,000 cubic feet.

Except in the Panhandle, where a 30-minute flow was recorded, all wells were tested by the bureau of mines back-pressure method. The total number of wells tested for gas in Texas gave a total potential of 20,076,022,923 cubic feet per day.

L. J. Peters, who said he represented an East Texas conservation association, charged more than 1,000,000 barrels of crude were being wasted annually in the East Texas field. He estimated there were 10,000 tanks in the field each of which had approximately 40 barrels below the drainage line. He said each tank was cleaned three times annually and that this oil was wasted.

New Ratio Sought

Gordon Griffin, chief petroleum engineer for the commission, recommended a new gas-oil ratio for the Panhandle field. Griffin proposed that producers be allowed to use 2,000 cubic feet of gas to produce one barrel of oil.

The current gas-oil ratio ranges from 200 cubic feet to 100,000 cubic feet per barrel, he testified, although 98 per cent of the oil is produced at a ratio of 25,000 feet or less to one barrel.

A request of the Humble Pipeline company that it be relieved of 4,000-barrel takings of Mirando crude in Southwest Texas, on grounds of no demand, brought a sharp objection from John Boyle of San Antonio that nominations for the great field were greater than the allowable.

Market Flooded

The Panhandle Royalty and Producers association offered testimony to the effect that the five-day open flow tests in that area had caused periodical flooding of the market and that one-day tests should be adopted.

It claimed the new gas law would eliminate 350,000 to 400,000 barrels of gasoline, equivalent to 12,000 barrels of crude oil now being manufactured from natural gas, and would increase the demand for crude oil.

TO ASK BIDS

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—Representative Manafield (D-Tex) said today the government planned to ask for bids nearly in August on the proposed new federal building at Wharton, Texas. Architects advised him construction had been delayed for several weeks because "difficulties which have arisen involving the foundation."

Pianist Appears At Kiwanis Club

Classical music was presented by J. Salvi, New York City pianist, on a 20-minute program before the Lubbock Kiwanis club at its meeting yesterday noon in the Hotel Lubbock.

The program was in charge of Father Gabriel Diamante, one of the new members of the club, and was one of a series by new members. Others on the committee were: Fred Childress, John Halsey and Floyd Coffman.

President Allen T. Stewart reminded the club of its visit to Amarillo next Monday. Bo Sexton and Secretary W. C. Rylander were placed in charge of securing a number of cars. Between 12 and 15 members of the Knot Hole gang band are expected to go along and furnish a musical number.

Fred Hemphill, R. L. Hooten, R. W. Matthews and Mark Halsey comprise the program committee for next week. During the absence from the city of the club pianist, Miss Willette Waters, Mrs. W. D. Benson, jr., will substitute for her, President Stewart said.

Trucker Claims Clean Slate In 400,000 Miles Of Driving

Wilde, who claims a national safety record for regularly employed drivers, has been awarded medals and bonuses for his achievement.

"TOOK ALL KINDS OF PILLS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF"

Constipation, Due to Insufficient "Bulk," Relieved by Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

A fine letter from Mrs. Snyder: "I have had trouble" with my bowels for years, taking all kinds of pills and drugs, with no relief.

"One year ago, I saw Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and bought a package. I have good movements every day. I am 73 years old. I am telling my friends what bran has done for me."—Mrs. Sallie Snyder, 918 N. Craft Ave., Hollywood, Cal.

Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.*

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to correct common constipation. With each meal, in serious cases.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the "bulk" in leafy vegetables. How much better to use this food in place of patent medicines.

At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

O'Donnell Plays Morton, Wilson Meets Lubbock In Tournament Games Today

Baseball Tourney Gets Tight Today With Four Teams Still In Running; Start At 2 Bells

O'Donnell Club Stays In Running With One-Sided Victory Over New Moore Yesterday; Lubbock And Wilson Meet In Another Big Feature In The Second Battle At Local Ball Park

It's tight like that in the fourth annual Lubbock Invitation Baseball tournament, what with four teams remaining to battle it out for first, second and third money in the two days left.

Last ditch fighting will come up this afternoon at 2 o'clock when Morton and O'Donnell clash in a battle to determine which will remain in the running. The loser will be out of the running for the first prize money, the winner will enter the final round Sunday.

In the second game today, Lubbock and Wilson will indulge in what promises to be an outstanding feature of the tournament. Should Wilson win, Lubbock will join Morton as an also-ran for first prize.

O'Donnell Blasts Away

The slugging O'Donnell club, after threatening to withdraw from the tournament Wednesday night, showed up yesterday and soundly trounced New Moore, another team which had indicated a strong desire to stay away, in the second game of the double bill. It was a battle between losers, each fighting for survival, and New Moore was eliminated by the top-heavy score of 17 to 5, the biggest runaway of the tournament.

In one of the best games of the tournament, and the closest scoring contest, the Lubbock Hub Clothiers, managed by Hollis Payne and promoted by Sam Rosenthal, edged out the strong Morton club, 6 to 4. It was a close ball game, Lubbock coming from behind to win from a hustling Morton crew that refused to give up.

A three-run rally in the sixth inning, opened by Buddy Aderton's double, brought the Clothier club from the rear and gave it a one-run lead, after Morton had pecked away at the offerings of young Boots Taylor for a run in the second inning, another in the third and two in the fourth.

Ramsey Brothers Star

The heavy clouting of the Ramsey brothers, "Red" and "Rat," was Lubbock's saving grace. Hershel "Red" Ramsey, destined to be a great end on Texas Tech's football team, slapped out a brace of home runs in his first two trips to the plate. He followed these with two singles, one of them scoring a run, for a perfect day at bat—and in center field. Brother "Rat" Ramsey came up in the eighth inning to blast out another home run, his second of the tournament, to give Lubbock the extra run.

An infield error accounted for Lubbock's fifth and winning run after Red Ramsey's third hit had scored brother Rat in the sixth.

Morton sent Coffman, a fast-ball pitcher, to the mound, and supported him almost perfectly. Lubbock combed him for a total of ten hits, bunching no more than three in one inning. Taylor, a southpaw drafted from Chillicothe, gave up but four hits during the ball game, and only two of Morton's four runs were earned.

Morton, playing the "home team" role, spiked a Lubbock threat in the first inning by pulling a fast double play to catch Hilliard, safe on an error and Aderton, and retired the side in order. Lubbock set down the visitors, one, two, three, and scored a tally in the second inning when Red Ramsey hit a booming four-bagger to left center. Two were out when Ramsey came up, and the next man was out.

Rutherford Comes Home

Morton tied the score by sending big Ted Rutherford across the platter, the run being aided by a bobble on the part of Lubbock's club which started home after completing a double play, apparently thinking three were out. Rutherford came dashing in after Coffman, who had walked, and Catcher Buck Green had been retired by the double play. Douglas Howell struck out for the third out.

Lubbock was retired in order in the second, but Morton took a lead when M. Burke singled, advanced on a putout at first, and scored on Vaughan's single.

Ramsey came up again in the fourth inning, after two were out, to slap his second home run for another Lubbock score, tying the count, but Morton untied it in the same frame with a couple of runs, Buck Green slapping a home run to deep center, scoring Coffman, who had gone safe on an infield error.

A scoreless inning followed, and Lubbock touched Coffman for three hits, started by Aderton's double, to score three runs and take the lead for the last time. Rat Ramsey's single scored Aderton, and Red Ramsey singled to help score Rat, a two-base error on the part of the Morton shortstop doing the other damage. Red Ramsey, on third, scored for his third time when Charley Presley lifted a high fly to center. Breedlove whiffed to retire the side.

Taylor Gets Stingy

Pitcher Taylor handcuffed the Morton batsmen the rest of the way, and Rat Ramsey's homer in the eighth added the sixth tally to Lubbock's side.

The Lubbock team looked good yesterday, played perfectly except for a couple of bobbles at first base, another through second. The offensive punch was furnished entirely by the Ramsey boys. Texas Tech students, who personally accounted for all of the six runs.

After threatening in the first inning, the New Moore club folded up and fell victim to the merciless clouting of O'Donnell's heavy hitters.

Rogers Leads His Men

Manager Ted Rogers of O'Donnell played a fine game, fielding perfectly in center field, once making a running catch that would have done justice to any major leaguer, accounting for four putouts in his garden. At the bat, he slapped out two singles, batting in one run and scoring another.

The O'Donnell bunch worked on three pitchers, Sullivan and M. Rogers, for a total of 19 bingles in the seven innings they went to bat. New Moore gave up the ghost after failing to score in the eighth.

Lefty Reeves, who pitched for O'Donnell in its first game and Britt, each enjoyed a perfect day at bat, hitting three singles, getting hit once and twice respectively.

New Moore jumped on Paul Reeves for three straight hits to open the ball game, and scored two runs. A fast double play ended the spree, and O'Donnell got one run back in the first frame when Stewart scored on a passed ball.

Parade Of Pitchers

O'Donnell took the lead in the third with three runs, Stewart, McVickers, L. Reeves, Britt, Prather and Lemmons following each other with safe hits or "dust-offs." With the sacks loaded, M. Rogers came to the mound for New Moore. He was touched for four bingles, and hit two batsmen and retired in favor of Sullivan.

R. D. Prather's home run in the seventh, scoring three tallies, after Lefty Reeves had driven in another, mounted the score to 17 runs, and after failing to score in the eighth, New Moore pulled out.

Texan And Ex-Texan Blamed For Losing Of Golf Lights

(By The Associated Press)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 18.—Johnny Goodman of Omaha and Defending Champion Zell Eaton of Oklahoma City were blasted into the discard of the western amateur golf tournament here late today as Rodney Bliss of Omaha, the medalist, led the way into the 36 hole quarter finals.

Goodman, the Trans-Mississippi champion and former U. S. open title holder, was checked out by his own faulty putting on the back nine of his second round and the sub-par rally that Dave Goldman of Dallas, Texas, staged coming in.

Three-Putts Greens

The Omahan three-putted the twelfth hole from 12 feet and needed three blows again on the fifteenth green. Settling down from a three over par 38 going out, Goldman beat par by a stroke coming in and finished 2 up on Goodman with a birdie 3 on the home green where he planted his iron second five feet from the pin.

Recovering from a hard struggle through the first round this morning when he beat Dave Connell of Raton, N. M., an outside qualifier, by only one up, Goodman parred the first nine against Goldman and was one up at the turn.

Moreland Brilliant

Eaton was side-tracked by Gus Moreland, the former Texan now hailing from Peoria, Ill., who shot a par barrage that blew the Oklahoma youngster out of the running by the decisive margin of 5 and 3.

Eaton's game, troubled principally by wind and misjudgment of distances in the deceptive mountain air, fell apart this afternoon after he breezed through the 18 holes first round with a record 4 triumph over Nathan Grimley of Denver.

Narrowly Escapes

Moreland, who barely escaped elimination in the first round, winning from Bob Conliff, jr., of Oklahoma City on the 19th hole, this morning settled back in stride except for poor work on the greens which was offset by his brilliant shots from the tees and fairways.

Bliss, who had to stage a great come-back in the first round to defeat Charley Reaser of Duncan, Okla., 3 and one, brought in a 3 and one triumph this afternoon over Neil Smith of Dallas, whose putter failed him.

Five Others Advance

The five others who advanced through the second round with Bliss, Moreland and Goldman were Charley Yates of Atlanta, who was one over par defeating Paul Leslie of Jefferson City, Mo.; Jack Malloy, Tulsa, victor over Jackson Bean of San Francisco, 3 and 2; Jack Gaines, Los Angeles, who was carried to the 20th hole by Howard Creel, Pueblo, Colo., left hander; Walter Emery, former inter-collegiate champion from Shawnee, Okla., winner over M. L. Massingill, Fort Worth, Texas, 4 and 3, and Don Edwards, Stanford university, who ousted Leland Hamman, former Trans-Mississippi champion from Paris, Texas.

Chuck Dressen Is Fined After Riot

CINCINNATI, July 18. (AP)—Chuck Dressen, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, was fined $50 today for helping to incite a disturbance here yesterday when spectators hurled pop bottles at the umpires during the game between the Reds and New York Giants. He received notice of the fine from League President Ford Frick just before the final game of the series today.

The bottle-heaving incident arose over a decision which went against the Reds when a Giant double play was allowed because Gordon Slade, who had been forced at second, bumped Dick Bartell and prevented his making the throw to first. Dressen and other Cincinnati players protested against the decision and later some fans tossed glassware at Umpire Beans Reardon without doing any damage.

Mrs. John Edmisson With 83 Wins Medal In Country Club Women's Golf Title Tourney

Slack Showing Of 13 Women Enter Championship Play; Mrs. Cliff Dean In Second With Score Of 88

Mrs. John Edmisson, medalist and winner of three women's golf tournaments last year, fired an 83—three over par—to capture medalist honors and No. 1 place in the Lubbock Country club's annual women's championship tournament yesterday.

A 40-43 did the work, and as a result of the showing, Mrs. Edmisson was acclaimed favorite in the Calcutta pool party last night. She meets Miss Mary Lois Thompson, who qualified with a 95, in a first round match today.

Only 13 Qualify

A disappointing number of thirteen women qualified for the tournament, the list including most of the better golfers but less than half of the total number of women who play golf with more or less regularity at the Country club.

Second in the qualifying was Mrs. Cliff Dean, who fired an 88. In the championship flight of eight, Mrs. Dean takes the second, or bottom place, meeting Mrs. Guy McAfee in a first round match today. Mrs. McAfee shot an even hundred.

The 108 fired by Mrs. Hooper Stiles was good enough for the championship flight. Mrs. Stiles plays Mrs. K. L. Riggs, who qualified with a 94.

Helwig Meets Key

With Mrs. Edmisson and Miss Thompson in the top bracket are Mrs. W. F. Helwig and Mrs. Olan Key, who meet each other today. Mrs. Helwig, third in the qualifying with a 92, is a slight favorite over Mrs. Key, who qualified with a 103.

With only five players in the first flight, three drew first round byes. Mrs. Ralph Trolinger plays Mrs. Ford Benham in a first round match, Mrs. Trolinger scoring a 112 and Mrs. Benham a 128 in qualifying. Mrs. E. A. Henry, with 126; Mrs. J. P. Giles, 127, and Mrs. M. M. Brown, 115, drew first round byes.

GREAT GOLF By Art Krenz

The last foreign golfer to win our National Open was Ted Ray. He annexed it in 1920 at Inverness in Toledo by beating par four times, to score birdies on the seventh hole.

The seventh at Inverness is a famous dogleg that has occupied the spotlight for years. It is 316 yards via the fairway and permits no off-line or careless tee shots. Hazards line both sides with traps before and behind the green.

Three times Ray took the short route and but once made the journey by the longer and safer way around. With one booming tee shot, he actually drove the green 285 yards and in full view from the tee.

The four birdies were needed in the final tabulations. Had he missed but one, he would have fallen into a tie with Vardon, one of his countrymen, Hutchison, Leo Diegel, and Jack Burke. These four golfers finished one stroke behind Ray in a tie for second place.

More bad tee shots can be chalked up against improper pivoting than any other fault. The beginner will sway the body instead of pivoting, which is the turning of the body so that the club can be taken to its proper position in the backswing.

If one sways the body as the backswing is started, the body cannot return to its original position at address. Then the arc of the swing is moved back a few inches. This also moves the lowest point in the arc of the downswing backward, so that when the ball is hit the club has already started upward in the swing. The result is a topped ball.

In the swing for the drive, the head must remain in one vertical plane. It must not move out of its plane, toward the right in the backswing or toward the left in the downswing.

This does not mean that the head must remain rigid throughout the swing. Many good golfers will slightly turn the head with the body to allow for the complete pivot.

Der Max Is Not Certain Of His Foe

No Offer Definitely Accepted, Manager Jacobs Informs

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, July 18.—Rival New York fight promoters, frenziedly bidding for the services of Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, must spend at least another week on the anxious bench.

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, now en route home on the liner George Washington, wirelessed the Associated Press today Max has not made up his mind whether he'll fight Max Baer, dethroned champion, or the negro sensation, Joe Louis, in New York next September.

Decision Pending

Furthermore, the message said, no decision will be made until Jacobs reaches New York next week. Then he'll decide which match it will be advantageous for Max to accept and sign the German accordingly.

In denying an announcement by the 20th Century Sporting club of New York that Schmeling has agreed to fight Louis in one of the New York ball parks September 17 or 18, Jacobs said he has authorization from Schmeling to decide between the offers of the 20th Century club for a Louis fight and the Madison Square Garden corporation's bid for Schmeling to meet Baer on Sept. 26, the winner to get the first shot at James J. Braddock's heavyweight title next summer.

Announcements Clash

Both Mike Jacobs, representing the 20th Century club and James J. Johnston, garden matchmaker, have announced they had Schmeling's agreement to meet their man. Joe Jacobs' announcement today apparently leaves the field wide open again.

Californian Has First Assignment In Wimbledon Go

LONDON, July 18. (AP)—Donald Budge, the red-headed Californian who, within a busy month since reaching England, sky-rocketed from comparative obscurity as a singles player to become the ace of the American Davis cup team, will be entrusted with the opening singles assignment in the interzone matches with Germany starting Saturday.

Meeting Heiner Henkel, the weaker half of the German singles duo, the west coast phenom will be an overwhelming favorite to run the Stars and Stripes to the head of Wimbledon's flagpole.

The luck of today's draw came out exactly as Joseph W. Wear, non-playing captain of the Americans, had hoped.

Budge and Henkel will be followed to the court Saturday by Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., who meets Baron Gottfried von Cramm, the German ace, in another singles match.

Monday will find Allison and John van Ryn of Philadelphia teaming against von Cramm and Kha Lund in doubles. The final singles encounters Tuesday will send Budge against the blond nobleman while Allison tackles Henkel.

Although none too sanguine about Allison's chances against von Cramm, the American maestro is confident Allison and van Ryn will capture the doubles from the Germans, with Allison clinching the series by defeating Henkel in the singles.

Lenore Kight, Mary Hoerger Steal Women's Swim Show

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP) — The big and the little of it—husky Lenore Kight, of Homestead, Pa., and tiny 11-year-old Mary Hoerger, of Miami Beach, Fla.—ran off with the show today in the opening performance of the four day national women's swimming championships at Manhattan beach.

Miss Kight, 23 years old and a husky 157 pounder, opened the defense of her three national titles by setting a new American record of 24 minutes 20.4 seconds for the title.

The 74 pound Mary Hoerger flipped off the 3 meters springboard with such ease, confidence, and agility, that she completely won both the hearts of 5,000 spectators and the points of six judges to capture the event and become the youngest national champion in the history of the amateur athletic union.

Olive McKean opened the title day by winning the 100 meters free-style for the second straight year in one minute, 10.2 seconds, considerable over Helene Madison's mark of 1:06.8 set in Los Angeles in 1932.

Chicago Gangster Is Slain By Assassins; Was Capone Leader

"Two Gun" Alterie Fatally Wounded; Woman Identified As His Wife Escapes Hail Of Leaden Death

CHICAGO, July 18. (AP)—Louis (Two Gun) Alterie, "big time" Chicago gangster who survived some of the city's bloodiest bootlegging wars, was shot down as he left his hotel today and died an hour later.

A blast of shotgun slugs dropped Alterie so seriously wounded that he barely survived the ambulance ride to a hospital. But the assassins missed Alterie's woman companion, identified as his wife, Irma, 35.

O'Banion Lieutenant

Alterie was known as a lieutenant of Dion O'Banion at the time the first picturesque figure in the city's gang hierarchy was shot to death in his flower shop acorss the street from the Catholic cathedral.

The O'Banion-Alterie mob had gained control of the North Side beer and booze distribution by virtue of their quickness with pistols. Although the South Side Capone mob was blamed for O'Banion's killing, Alterie was later known as a Capone underling.

He went to Colorado "for his health" after a realignment in gangdom, and there received what he never had been given in Chicago—a prison sentence.

Used As Witness

When the federal government went after Al Capone for income tax evasion, and eventually convicted him, Alterie was brought back from his ranch to testify before the grand jury.

He was arrested for perjury afterward, but was never tried. Several months later he was brought back again and tried with Charles "Buster" Brown for the kidnaping of Edward Dobkin, but was acquitted.

Alterie won his nick name "Two Gun" when O'Banion was slain. Then Alterie posed for photographs, brandishing a pair of pistols, and announced:

"I'll shoot it out at State and Madison streets with O'Banion's killers."

The dueling scene he proposed is called "the world's busiest corner," in the heart of downtown Chicago.

Even though the repeal of prohibition ruined the beer business, Alterie still lived in style. Waiting at the curb for him today, as he and his fashionably dressed brunette wife strolled from their hotel, was an [illegible].

Other gangsters frowned on Alterie as a "wild man," noted for shooting out park lights and firing random shots in hotel rooms. First associated with a North Side gang, with "Schemer" Drucci and O'Banion, he emerged unharmed from the bloody gang war they waged with Johnnie Torrio's South Side gang, reputedly because Alterie was a boon companion of Capone.

When Chicago became "too hot," Alterie went west to buy a ranch at Jarr Canon, Colo.

Judgment Given In State's Case

AUSTIN, July 18. (AP)—Judgment for $17,197.12 against the Amerada Petroleum corporation was returned in favor of the state by District Judge C. A. Wheeler here today.

The judgment was in a suit, originally filed in 1933 and later amended, to collect certain bonus and rentals on school lands due the public free school fund.

Oil and gas leases on the school lands involved were in Pecos, Menard, Val Verde, Crockett, Andrews, Gaines, Crane and Reeves counties.

Last week Attorney General McCraw obtained judgment for $185,759.33 against the Humble Oil and Refining company, also in behalf of the school fund.

Both judgments were paid.

Bodies Found In Coal Mine

State Mine Chief Declares All Men Were Killed Instantly By Gas; Some Of Bodies Crushed

VAN LEAR, Ky., July 18. (AP)—Bodies of the nine men entombed by a coal mine explosion here yesterday were found by rescue workers today.

Seven of the bodies were brought to the surface, one by one, in mine railway cars as police and mine officials held back an assembled crowd.

Killed By Gas

John F. Daniel, Lexington, chief of the state department of mines and minerals, expressed belief that all nine had been killed instantly by gas.

Some of the bodies had been crushed by falling slate and coal. All were brought to undertaking establishments in Van Lear.

Frank Price, chief clerk of the Consolidation Coal company, whose mine No. 5 was the scene of the disaster, said the bodies recovered were those of William Kretzler, 41, assistant foreman; Charles Kretzler, 46; Virgil Clay, 21; James E. Vaughan, 52; Derwood Litz, 34; Sherley Hereford, 38, and Roy Murray, 38.

The bodies of John Gool, 56, and Frank Tuzy, 45, were located last, Daniels said.

Women In Tears

Women were in tears at the mine entrance last night, but today there was no weeping as the bodies were brought out, wrapped in sheets. There were women with babies, and women with children who played games as if enjoying a holiday.

"The explosion," Daniels said today, "was due to the release of a large quantity of gas. What ignited it we don't know, but hope to find out from our investigation."

Rescue squads worked all yesterday, through the night, and were still fighting through falling slate and rock today.

Progress Delayed

Coal fires, set off by the blast, and the necessity of proceeding with extreme caution because of gas delayed their progress.

Contrary to first reports, women were mining coal in other sections of the mine, which is a network of tunnels running from a hillside entrance, at the time of the explosion.

Some 400 men normally are employed in the mine, and as many as 600 have been working there at once. Recently operations have been on a reduced schedule of three days a week.

Texas And Roosevelt

THE Editor of The Morning Avalanche has been curious for sometime concerning the position of Mr. Roosevelt and the present national administration in the State of Texas.

He has been made even more curious by statements which have come out from a widely quoted and generally considered responsible source of information in Washington.

This source of information said just yesterday:

"Texas is a hotbed of antagonism to Roosevelt.

"'If the Republicans nominate anybody but Hoover, we'll vote for him', is the message that comes from Texas Democrats. 'I never saw such unanimity of sentiment,' says a Democrat who knows Texas in and out. 'Democrats are off Roosevelt. They just simply won't stand for him'".

* * *

IS THAT true—or anywhere near true?

The Morning Avalanche would like to know and invites letters from readers in that regard.

Frankly, The Editor doubts it, in spite of the fact that many a Lubbock and South Plains business man has to him expressed a fear of many-a Rooseveltian theory and of many a policy being followed in Washington.

An interesting angle to all this is that without an exception, these dissenting citizens preface their remarks with something like this:

"I wouldn't say this publicly, for the world, but I'm nervous over what is going on. I just can't see how a lot of that stuff is going to do anything but set us back."

* * *

OUR view of the matter is that while many a Texas Democrat dislikes many Rooseveltian policies, he is not ready to turn Republican for at least two reasons.

In the first place, he is naturally anti-Republican through training and education.

In the second place, he can't see where the Republicans have anything better to offer.

True, Texas went against Democracy in the Presidential campaign of 1928—voting for Republican Hoover against Democrat Smith. But the great majority of dissenting votes were cast upon the predicate of religious opinion, even if most Texans refuse to admit the fact.

* * *

OUR guess, briefly, is this: the "well-informed Democrat" who gave the Washington agency the above information has permitted his personal wish to be father to the thought and has gauged, in his own mind, the ideas of the many by talking merely to the few.

We would be the last to insist that Mr. Roosevelt is as strong in Texas today as he was a year ago, yet at the same time we think he still has sufficient strength to carry Texas were the election held tomorrow.

What do you think?

"OUT OF HOCK"

It was a sign of better times the other day, when a member of the Los Angeles police force reported that people are not resorting so much to the pawn shops to borrow money. Probably it will be found all over the country, that the people are getting cherished possessions "out of hock."

The world is full of startling changes. Many a stylish lady who glittered in high society a few years ago, has had to take those shining jewels and shove them up to "your uncle," to buy her bread and butter. Cautious people don't like that way of living, but when pawned valuables are being redeemed, it means that a new stream of money is flowing through the community, and bringing better times.

A hitch-hiker found wounded beside a road in Ohio, said an automobilist who had given him a lift assaulted and robbed him. Another case of the man biting the dog.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

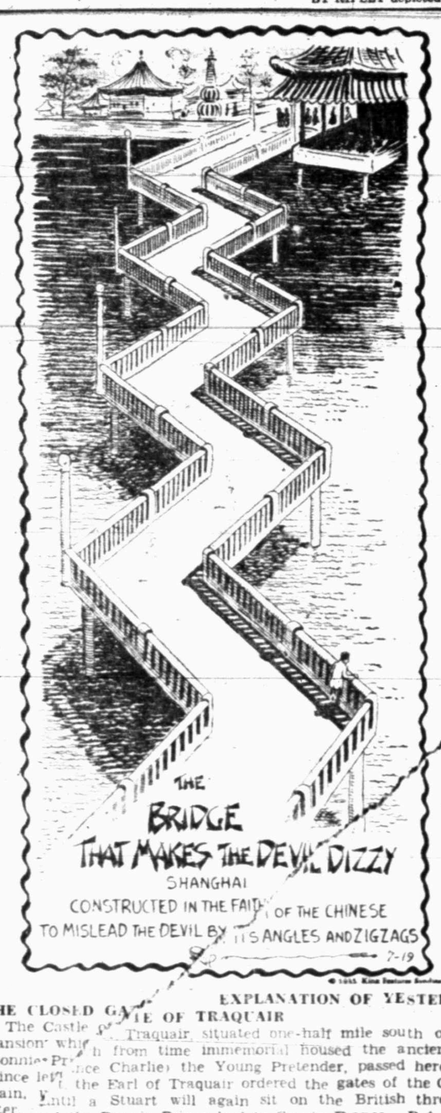

"If there arise among you a prophet, or a dreamer of dreams, and giveth thee a sign or a wonder,

And the sign or the wonder come to pass, whereof he spake unto thee, saying, Let us go after other gods, which thou hast not known, and let us serve them:

Thou shalt not hearken unto the words of that prophet, or that dreamer of dreams: for the Lord your God proveth you, to know whether ye love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul."—Deuteronomy XIII: 1-4.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE CLOSED GATE OF TRAQUAIR

The Castle of Traquair, situated one-half mile south of Innerleithen, Scotland, is an ancient baronial mansion which from time immemorial housed the ancient Scottish Kings. In 1745 Charles Edward Stuart, (Bonnie Prince Charlie) the Young Pretender, passed here on his way to England. As soon as the Bonnie Prince left, the Earl of Traquair ordered the gates of the Castle closed, vowing that they would not be opened again, until a Stuart will again sit on the British throne. The Stuart forces were defeated shortly after, and the Bonnie Prince had to flee to France. But Traquair kept the vow, and the gates of the castle have remained closed to the present day, an interval of 190 years.

CHAPTER XXIX

SALLY said furiously, "I don't understand it. I simply don't get it at all!" She glared at the inoffensive Tips and at Clarence stooped and grazing, at the background.

"You say he said he was going to the city?" Sally demanded.

Clarence nodded. They had been over the ground several times before, but if the young lady wanted to ask the same questions over and over he had no choice but to answer them.

"He say he goin' to the city," Clarence elaborated, with a slide-long roll of chocolate eyes in a dark face. "He say fo' me to lock up."

"And that was day before yesterday?"

"Yes'm. In the evenin'. We ain't heard nothing from him since."

Sally waved an afternoon newspaper in his eyes. "Have you seen this?"

"No'm. Ain't seen nothin'." Clarence's eyes executed a sudden roll of apprehension. "They ain't nothin' in it 'bout Mist' Michael, is they?"

Sally laughed — an unpleasant laugh, drawing back the corners of her lips from small predatory teeth. "Read it."

Tips bent over. "Pa can't read," he said. "Lessen he has a magnifying glass. His eyes is bad."

"What do it say?" Clarence wanted to know.

* * *

Tips bent over the newspaper, reading slowly. "It says how Mister Michael is a lord or something," he said slowly. "It says how his daddy was a son of a lord in England or Ireland—and now Mister Michael, seems he comes into the business."

"Exactly," Sally Moon, with a sound that was more like a snort than the sarcastic laugh she had intended, slipped down into the shabby porch chair. Over her linked, gloved hands she regarded the two shabby men.

"I believe you two know more about this than you pretend to," she said on a note of angry suspicion. "I believe you perfectly well know where Michael is."

"No'm." Clarence shook his head. "Well, I'm going to find out," Sally said swiftly. Before either one of them could stop her she had flung herself inside the door of Michael's house. "I'm going to search his papers," she said. "And don't either of you interfere!"

She was inside the room which had served Michael as a bedroom before either one could say a word. Tips looked at his father, and the older man looked back apprehensively.

"She ain't got a bit o' business in there," the boy said humbly.

"How we goin' to stop her?" Clarence wanted to know.

Sally went through bureau drawers like a whirlwind. The neat plain bare chamber did not afford many hiding places. A bed, tidily made up with a mended white spread, a common oak chest of drawers, a wardrobe with one of the old-fashioned doors swinging wide—she went through them all.

There was little enough. There was pitifully little. A handful of old letters with the postmark of a little town in a western state. A thick, clumsy old gold watch. A button box.

Sally riffled through the letters. The stable boy came to the door to stare at her.

"You go away Tips," she said crossly. "Don't you bother me. This is my business."

"Ain't nobody got any right buttin into Mister Michael's private things," he said stubbornly. But he dared not interfere. After all, she was the girl his employer had been engaged to marry.

Clarence had shuffled out into the kitchen. You could hear him rattling pots and pans and setting down the cups with angry gusto. Sally paid no attention to all this. She had come with a determination to go through Michael's belongings, to see if she could find any clue to his disappearance. She flounced into the living room after a busy five minutes, a small bundle in her hand.

* * *

Tips watched her go, open-mouthed. His father came out of the kitchen to ask him, "That her car goin' away?"

"That's it," Tips sniffed, going into Michael's room and picking up a cushion Sally had dropped in her haste. "She sure made a mess of this here place. She sure is a big-talking young lady, Miss Moon."

"Her!" Clarence uttered contemptuously. "Ain't no Moons ever goin' to come high-tonin' me. I know 'em."

"She taken away a lot of stuff of Mist' Michael's," Tips offered hesitantly. "Letters and such."

Clarence grinned, an old man's wide, sly grin. His lips were stretched incongruously wide. "She did, huh?"

"Yes, suh!" The stable boy was emphatic. "Looks like Mist' Michael run away from her while the runnin' was good. What you think about it?"

His father lifted his shoulders in an eloquent shrug. "Boy, I ain't mindin' nobody's business."

"You think we better stay on a while?" Tips said.

"Where'd we go, anyways?' Clarence demanded. "You talk crazy, sonny-boy. Course we're stayin.' And, case that girl comes back here lookin' some more, we goin' to lock up this here place."

He turned the key in the lock and went back to his leisurely puttering among the kettels. Tips wandered out into the stableyard, fed the horses and idly swept up some scattered hay. In the kitchen, the red checked curtains, an old man took out an official-looking paper and chuckled over it.

"Here's somethin' that big-talkin' young lady ain't goin' to find," Clarence said to himself. "'Cause I got it first. An' it's Mist' Michael's private business."

It was the marriage certificate of Michael Heatheroe and Katharine Strykhurst.

* * *

Sally rushed to her room and opened the letters she had found in Michael's bureau. They were not very interesting letters. There were several notes from the bank about the mortgage. There was a bill of sale for a mare. There were one or two brief and badly written, personal letters from a man in Montana—a man who signed himself quite simply "Bill." Nothing incriminating, nothing to point the way Michael had gone.

Sally stood staring at the letters in bafflement and anger. Her temperament demanded that she expend energy on someone. So she dressed herself in plain dark silk and boarded a train for the city. The clipping about Michael's inheritance lay in the smart dark blue handbag.

She went straight to Mr. Downrigg's hotel and that gentleman came down to the foyer to meet her. He was a lean, elderly Englishman with a stoop and a courteous, tired voice. No, he hadn't had any communication from Mr. Heatheroe as yet. And that was odd because Messrs. Malley & Gerhardt had assured him Michael was easily to be found. All his telephone calls on the day before had been fruitless. Mr. Heatheroe, the servants said, was away and it was not known when he would return.

"Somthing's happened then," Sally announced firmly. "Somethings happened to Michael the night he came into New York." She saw it all now. She had been stupid to be so frightened and angry. Of course Michael had been hurt. He had no reason on earth to run away on the eve of this triumph.

Her manner softened perceptibly. She had met Mr. Downrigg with an air of challenge, thinking he knew something about the absent Michael, thinking, perhaps, he had aided and abetted him in his escape.

"You must help me," she said, her voice taking on its cooing note. "We must search the hospitals—the morgues—"

"My dear young woman!" shuddered Mr. Downrigg. "surely you don't think—"

She was firm, but to show him how deeply she was affected by the thought of Michael injured or dead she wept a little, quite prettily and convincingly.

"We must," she said. "We dare not do otherwise. After all," she reminded him, with a liquid glance of those dark, opaque eyes, "I'm his promised wife, you know."

She could see herself telling the story to newspaper reporters. Dead or alive, Michael should not escape her.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

UNLESS President Roosevelt steps on the two publicity-struck chairmen—Messrs. O'Connor and Black—the double-barreled power lobby investigation will turn out to be a dud.

In this inquiry the utilities are making a last-ditch fight for all suffering interests. Their successful mobilization of protestant stockholders has taught a useful lesson to all corporations beset by Rooseveltian policies. Prospective victims of tax and railroad legislation are mimeographing lists of shareholders so as to play the same game. If the utilities get away with their vast expenditure of money—possibly $2,000,000—in this sort of "scare" campaign, business has a new form of dominance over government.

Both sides realize that they are playing for high stakes. That's why the utilities rejoice at the division among their enemies. Personal and political rivalries among the politicians benefit them. You can gauge the sincerity of the Congressional investigators by watching what happens to the proposal that House and Senate sleuths pool their forces and finances.

* * *

PERHAPS: President Roosevelt is catching more Congressmen with molasses than with vinegar. His recent conferences with members of House and Senate have been love feasts instead of occasions for trading and bickering.

Mr. Roosevelt has listened to Senators who never before had a chance to whisper in his ear. They complained of patronage neglect. They [illegible] his dictatorial demands sometimes made them appear as "dummies," lessening their prestige with the public and especially their constits. They told him they were tired and anxious to get home. They expressed their resentment at the tactics of some of his over-enthusiastic liaison men.

Mr. Roosevelt listened to all this Congressional cackling. He made no specific promises—that is not his way—but the boys felt better when they got their groans off their chests. They left the President with the impression that he will give more weight to their advice here after, and not spend all his time listening to the "Brain Trust."

* * *

TEAM: Republican scouts list only two men as actively seeking the Republican presidential nomination for 1936. They are Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, and Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., Mr. Roosevelt's New York neighbor.

Other men, especially Senators Borah and Vandenberg, may crave the honor as much as Messrs. Knox and Fish, but they are lying low. Mr. Knox's friends are quietly campaigning for him in the Middle West and in the Northeast. They seem to be spending real money, too. Not so long ago Mr. Knox recalled to the Chicago office a veteran Washington correspondent who is the confidant of almost every GOP leader in the country.

Mr. Fish is traveling, speaking and flirting. In more than 30 states in six months, by 1936 convention time he will have spoken in every state in the union. He is fishing for American Legion backing as a nucleus for his candidacy. His friends warn him that the early fish often gets the hook.

* * *

OPEN: State department diplomats are piqued at reports that Stalin outsmarted Cordell Hull in negotiating the recent Russo-American trade agreement. They think the Tennessee horse-trader put one over on the slick Soviet dickerers.

According to the press, what Mr. Hull was not thinking solely in terms of present exchange of goods. All he got was the Russians' promise to buy $30,000,000 worth of American products each year in return for the Soviet's right to benefit from tariff reductions according to other countries. Thus he gave Moscow nothing which her competitors do not enjoy. The Russians won't get fat on those privileges.

Our European competitors, however, are giving the Soviet credit in a mad drive for their trade. Mr. Hull will not follow suit until Moscow agrees to payment of pre-war debts to American claimants. For a time his stiff-necked attitude threatened to sever all trade relations, and to throw Russia into the commercial arms of France, Germany, England. Now he counts on this new treaty to keep the door open to American goods until more fundamental differences are settled. It affords us a breathing spell.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

NEW YORK conservatives are pained to note that the government hasn't abandoned its plans for regulating private industry—even temporarily—as a result of the NRA setback.

The pending bill backed by labor would authorize the President to require certain standards of wages, hours and working conditions for all government contracts with private manufacturers. But that's not the worst of it. It would also empower him to demand that a bidder for a federal contract bind himself in advance—if he got the award—to obey any executive order issued for the purpose of carrying out a mandate from Congress. You might put it that anyone wishing to do business with Uncle Sam would have to agree to sign a blank check before he can qualify. Since most large corporations sell something to the government—directly or indirectly—this stunt could be used to hamstring their plans to fight the Wagner Labor Disputes act in the courts and you can imagine how they would love that.

* * *

HATEFUL: Here's the background to the bill as financial insiders get it. Not long ago Admiral C. J. Peoples had the bright idea of hitching up New Deal reforms to the persuasive powers of four billion dollars as above. He thought it could be done by simple executive fiat.

Then—as our Washington column reported at the time—Comptroller General McCarl horned into the picture. Mr. McCarl has two annoying habits. He wants proof of legal authority before he approves contracts and he declines to kowtow to the wishes of the executive branch. He represented a serious obstacle to the force play. In the crisis some genius in the administration remembered that the Comptroller is obliged to heed the will of Congress whether he wants to or not. That indicated a detour—easy as pie—just pass a law giving official legislative sanction to Admiral Peoples' solution and McCarl is checkmated.

The bill is now being smoothed up behind the scenes to make it easier for the legislators to take. There will be terrific yells from industry when it is introduced—but impartial observers rate its chances for passage as excellent. In that case "regimentation" will be back in the driver's seat. Already industrial circles are moaning about the proposed innovation in "government by intimidation"—but they will scuttle a lot of prejudices if they have to. They need their share of the four billion too badly to hold out in earnest even if they do resent such interference with private initiative.

* * *

SURRENDER: Dealers in municipal bonds are all wrought up about the proposed change in the municipal bankruptcy law. What irks them most is the secrecy and speed with which it is being pushed through. The Investment Bankers' Association and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce both had strenuous objections to offer but nobody gave them a chance.

The change would give the RFC authority to pay off defaulted bonds of political subdivisions at any price it chooses to offer—and with no redress available to creditors. They wouldn't even have to be consulted. Under existing law no bankruptcy plan can go into effect without the approval of a suubstantial majority of creditors and they can't see why they should be summarily deprived of this bargaining power.

The worst of it all—from the creditor's standpoint—is that Jesse Jones will be anxious to settle defaulted municipal debts as cheaply as possible. If he's to be judge as well as advocate holders of lower grade liens of political subdivisions might as well surrender any hope for a financial comeback.

Negotiations For Sale Continuing

BEAUMONT, July 18. (AP) — The Beaumont Journal says indications are that negotiations for the sale of the Yount-Lee company have been resumed.

While no statement was available from officials of either company, the presence of high officials of the Stanolind, including Frank O. Prior, president and L. A. Thompson, general counsel, and approximately 30 others, indicated that negotiations had been resumed.

The general counsel of the Standard Oil company of Indiana also was present here today.

With several million dollars in taxes to go to the treasury department, the tax features were occupying the attention of the department officials to teh extent that a representative from Washington was sent here to confer with officials regarding the transaction, the journal said.

In addition to the Stanolind and Standard of Indiana, officials participating in the negotiations were Wright Morrow of Houston, who has an original option on the Yount-Lee company, and T. P. Lee, large stockholder in the company.

Officials declined to make a statement in regard to the proposed sale, involving approximately $50,000,000.

University Now Experiments With Activated Carbon Plan

BISMARCK, N. D., July 18 (AP) —The manufacture of activated carbon has been started at the University of North Dakota to determine feasibility of its production on a commercial basis.

As a result of an FERA project, research and experiments with this derivative of lignite coal have been conducted at the school of mines at the university under direction of Dean L. C. Harrington.

Large tonnages of activated carbon are required in refining cane and beet sugar, water purification, deodorization of dry cleaning fluids, decoloration of edible fats and oils, honey, gelatine and glycerine.

TARZAN AND THE LION MAN, No. 83 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

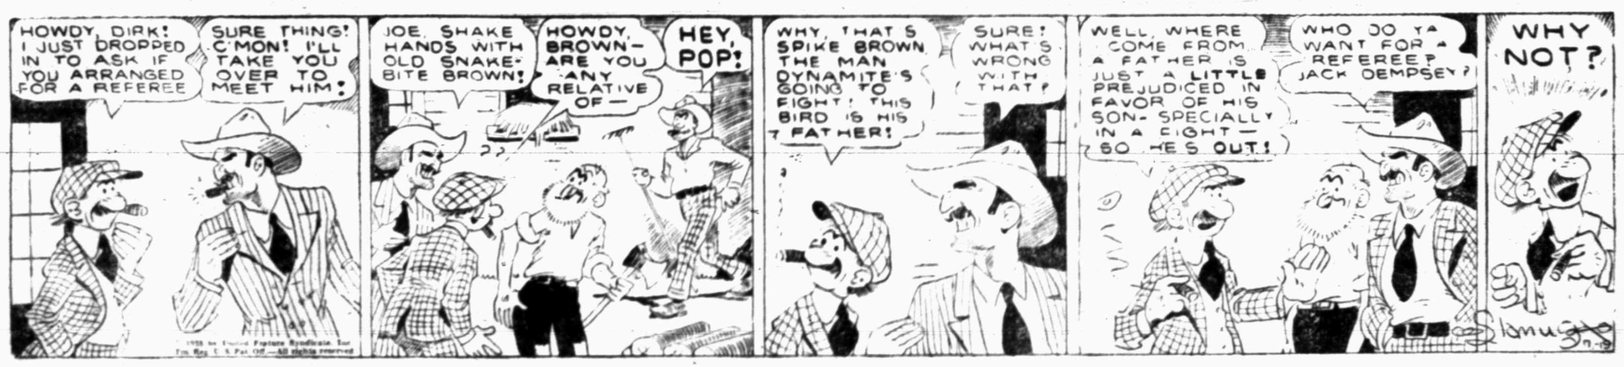

When the giant gorilla declared he would keep her for his own, Naomi struggled wildly; but Buckingham clasped her tightly and sped southward. After a while, he perceived that he was being pursued by another gorilla, evidently intent on challenging his possession of the girl.

Turning abruptly, Buckingham descended the cliff and deposited the girl in a small cave half way down. Then he hurried away to throw his pursuer off the trail. He returned next day to resume the journey to some refuge where he could house his beautiful captive.

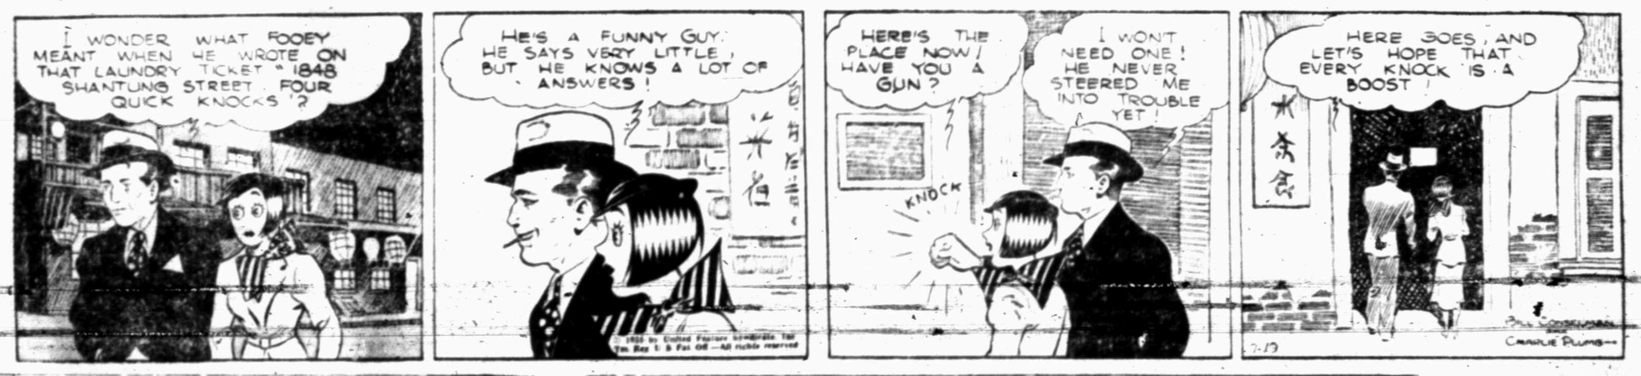

At the top of the cliff he lowered the girl to her feet. She was weak. She staggered and fell. Buckingham jerked her up roughly. Soon she fell again. The enraged beast kicked her brutally, then seized her by the hair and dragged her, muttering strange medieval oaths.

With vicious jerks he tugged her onward. But he did not go far. After a while he came to a sudden and surprised halt. With a savage growl and with upturned lips baring powerful yellow fanks, he faced a man who had dropped down from a tree directly in his path!

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—In somewhat more active trading, shares rosed along to new highs for 1935 on the New York stock exchange today.

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market closed at 45.8, a new high for the year and a net gain of 1 of a point.

Brokers said that bargain-hunting investors put in a good demand for specialty stocks and that it was this buying which played a large part in the advance.

The turnover of various prominent equities in large lots testified once more to the quest of huge sums of idle money for profitable work, analysts said.

The report that bank clearings in 22 leading cities had risen 12.6 per cent for the week ended yesterday brought some encouragement to those who lean to the favorable side of business news. At the same time, it was realized the expansion was due in part to the contrast with the preceding week which included the holiday.

The reduction of the Bank of France rate from 4 to 3 1-2 per cent served to shift financial attention from the gathering war clouds in Ethiopia.

The cut in the rate was seen as symptomatic of an optimistic view of the French financial position in the light of the stringent economy decrees promulgated by Premier Laval.

Trading was more active at 1,517,740 shares compared with 1,383,340 shares on Wednesday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 18. (AP)—Bearish developments outweighed light buying orders and the cotton market lost 1 to 6 points today.

Favorable weather in the belt, combined with easier foreign markets and uncertainty over what the final developments will be in the AAA legislation now pending in Washington, was too much for the market to absorb and prices lost ground.

Futures fluctuated uncertainly during the early dealings, half of the time being above the previous close and the rest of the time holding net unchanged or lower. But at the final bell the selling orders exceeded purchases and July closed at 11.97, Oct. at 11.50, Dec. at 11.54 and Jan. at 11.53.

The trade is keenly interested in but highly uncertain over the final shape the the AAA amendments will take.

The weather wires continued to report excellent progress being made in the belt, and as the time approaches for the new crop to move in volume there is a tendency among traders to increase their earlier estimates on what the final outturn will be.

The eastern section of the belt had light rains today, notably along the gulf area, but the rest of the cotton growing region was high and dry for the most part.

Another damper for speculative sentiment on the long side was provided by the abnormal dullness of the cloth markets.

Port receipts 1339; week 21,150, season 4,393,183; last season 7,731,870. Exports 2,944; week 32,256; season 4,720,635; last season 7,238,554. Port stocks 1,152,994. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston were 50,723; last year 52,462. Spot sales at southern markets were 2,253; year ago 8,518.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP)—Cotton was comparatively quiet today and prices moved irregularly within a range of 13 to 14 points. The market closed steady at net declines of 3 to 6 points on the more active positions while May was 1 point higher.

There was liquidation and scattered selling at the opening attributed to reports of continued good weather in the south and some foreign selling. Light offerings were absorbed by trade buying and covering. Closing quotations were 5 to 6 points up from the lowest on near months.

Reports of continued dullness in the cotton cloth market and the later reactions in wheat may have accounted for some selling but general business was restricted. Exports 7,061, making a total of 4,909,292 so far this season. Port receipts 1,360; U. S. port stocks 1,154,702.

Yield of a western apple orchard was increased from 1400 bushels to 6000, after hives of bees were placed near the trees. The bees carried pollen from bossom to blossom.

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 18. (AP)—Big offerings of new wheat from Ohio for shipment to this city gave a sudden jolt today to enthusiasts for higher prices on grain.

With much profit-taking in evidence on the part of recent buyers, and with pressure enlarged from hedging of newly harvested winter wheat both southwest and in areas adjacent to Chicago, effects of black rust damage to spring wheat crops northwest became almost totally eclipsed for at least the time being.

Wheat closed unstable at the day's bottom level, 7-8 to 1 3-4 under yesterday's finish, Sept. 84 1-4@84 3-8, corn 5-8 to 1 1-4 down, Sept. 75 1-4@75 3-8, oats 1-2 to 5-8 off, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to 10 cents advance.

Under Indictment

Officers said that in addition to the Missouri case, Hanley was under indictment in Sioux City, Iowa, for the kidnaping of a bank messenger, Ernest Newman, last February 4, in a robbery. Newman was carried into Minnesota before being released.

C. R. Davis and E. M. O'Donnell, San Antonio agents of the department of justice, said Hanley had served prison sentences in Iowa and Minnesota. Harpin's record had not been compiled.

The two couples aroused the suspicions of Deputy Sheriff R. A. Rogan at Victoria when they passed through there headed toward Goliad. He telephoned Sheriff Harbison who located them at Goliad.

The Missouri officers were abducted after they had attempted to question two men in an automobile.

A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Board of City Development, and R. C. Hopping, member of the state planning board, presented a proposal for a Texas Quality Cotton Reporting service. Mr. Davis read the application for $600,000 funds, and explained the object of the program. It would be a work-relief program.

Resume Of Attitude

Mr. Hopping gave a resume of the board's attitude. The agents were asked to seek support among their county farm groups. Copies of a resolution which county farm groups in the area were asked to adopt, were distributed during the late afternoon.

Among the agents here were: D. A. Adam, Lamb; W. W. Evans, Hale; H. B. Howe, Yoakum; V. F. Jones, Lynn; Grady Lane, Dickens; Glen Lindsey, Floyd; C. B. Martin, Swisher; R. N. McClain, Terry; W. T. (Ox) Emmons, cotton adjustment assistant; Fred Elliott, secretary, and James Bishop, office clerk for the corn-hog program.

the railroads said the average increase in the rate as applied to all commodities affected would be about two per cent.

Products Are Excluded

"With few exceptions, products of the farm and ranch have been excluded from the emergency increases," Cummins said. "Hence it is clear that industry in general rather than agriculture is being called upon to help the transportation industry in its present hour of need."

The new interstate rates were authorized last April. Chairman Thompson suggested that since then Texas jobbers, because of a provision exempting shipments within a radius of 180 miles, were enjoying a seven per cent rate advantage over out of state jobbers.

English Taxes Much Greater

Income Tax Is "Old Stuff" To Britons; American Should Pause In Groaning And Shed Tear For Others

BY DON JOSEPH

NEW YORK, July 18. (AP) — The American income tax payer, groaning under the prospect of new government demands on his pocketbook, may pause to shed a tear for his English cousin who has been paying a much heavier tax for a longer period.

Whereas the first income tax was levied in the United States in 1913 as far back as 1884 in England W. S. Gilbert had his king come on the stage in the operetta "Princess Ida," and sing:

"I know everybody's income and what everybody earns;

"And I carefully compare it with the income tax returns."

And then go on to complain:

"But to benefit humanity however much I plan,

"Yet everybody says I'm such a disagreeable man!

"And I can't think why!"

Englishmen Pay More

Similar complaints may be heard some day in America musical comedies, although the English still seem to have a greater cause for objection.

Not only is the per capita tax burden greater in England ($99.11 in 1934) than in the United States ($74.37), but the British government, with its years of experience, seems to collect its revenues with a firmer hand.

Nearly twice as many field men are employed for this purpose in England as in America. In 1934, the report to the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation noted that there were 22,589 members in the personnel of the British revenue service, while the United States was employing 11,524.

The British income tax collector is also the possessor of wider powers than the American, and whereas American taxpayers are allowed a three-year period within which claims for refunds may be made, and another two years may be spent by them in the courts, the disgruntled Britisher must file his appeal within 21 days.

While an English married man with three children, deriving an income of 50,000 pounds sterling or $250,000 from investment, may have to pay $133,620 in income and surtaxes, an American in the same situation today would have as his limit an income tax of $9,840, and a surtax of $105,502, or a total tax of $115,342.

Incomes Of $1,500 Hit

In both estate and income taxes the British tax gatherer's fist hits lower in the body economic than that of his American confrere. A married Briton starts handing part of his earnings over to the government when his salary reaches $1,500 a year.

A married American waits until he is raised to $2,500 before he starts making these federal contributions.

Americans may die without thinking of the tax collector unless their estates are going to net over $50,000. When an Englishman dies, the government lays a levying hand on his earthly possessions if they represent $500 or more.

American and British estate tax levies compare as follows:

Net Estate	U. S. Tax	British Tax
$2,500	None	$25
$5,000	None	$100
$25,000	None	$750
$50,000	None	$2,000
$100,000	$1,500	$8,000
$500,000	$59,100	$95,000
$1,000,000	$169,100	$240,000
$10,000,000	$4,387,600	$4,500,000
$100,000,000	$58,386,600	$50,000,000

American and British income tax levies for married men with no dependents compare as follows:

Net Income	U. S. Tax	British T. *
$1,000	None	None
$2,000	None	$67.50
$4,000	$44	$427.50
$5,000	$80	$607.50
$10,000	$415	$1,620
$25,000	$2,489	$6,679.38
$50,000	$8,869	$18,216.88
$100,000	$30,594	$45,279.38
$1,000,000	$571,394	$613,529.38

Break For Mike

Monkey And Pals Safe On Island

HONOLULU, July 18. (AP)—"Hula Mike" henceforth will wrinkle his flat nose and crinkle his retreating eyes with increased joviality if the plans of E. H. Lewis, superintendent of the new Waikiki bird park, are carried out.

"Hula Mike" is no bird but a monkey of uncertain species. By being placed on a miniature island unhampered by cages, he and a few of his pals will benefit from Lewis' plan for the "world's finest" bird sanctuary at Kapiolani park, a short jaunt from downtown Honolulu.

The new freedom will allow Mike to put more zest into his simian hula.

Denver Traffic Violators Forced To Attend A School

DENVER, July 18. (AP)—Traffic law violators in Denver must go to night school. Traffic officers are the teachers. The wisdom of observing regulations is the chief lesson.

The school is for "repeaters" who get two or three tickets a month, and those lacking funds to pay fines.

If a motorist fails to obey an order to attend the school, he is subject to arrest and compelled to pay a fine or go to jail. Motorists must pass a written examination before they may be "graduated."

North Dakota Will Conserve Water After Drouth Period

BISMARCK, N. D., July 18 (AP)—Profiting by bitter experiences of the last several years of drouth, North Dakota farmers and citizens have become water conservation minded.

Farmers, wherever possible, are carrying out irrigation projects, and under federal sponsorship water conservation is being developed throughout the state.

A total of 279 dams have been completed by the civilian conservation corps in less than two years.

asserted) they had already passed on the consumer.

Action Is Deferred

Action on the recovery suit provision was deferred in an attempt to work out a compromise.

The senate then took up and defeated 41 to 34 an amendment by Senator Connally (D-Tex) proposing to restore the export debenture machinery contained in the measure as it passed the house but eliminated in senate committee consideration.

It would apply 30 per cent of tariff revenues to finance export of surplus farm crops. As re-introduced by Connally, raw cotton was eliminated from the debenture program at the request of many cotton growers.

With scarcely a note of protest, the senate booted out of the bill a compensatory tax on rayon and other competitors of cotton, amounting to 125 per cent of the cotton processing tax, after withdrawal of an earlier proposal by Senator Byrnes (D-SC) to protect rayon makers by a compensatory tax also on silk.

Two Women From Muensteer Are Killed In Car Mishap

SHERMAN, July 18. (AP)—Mrs. Joe Thrachta and her daughter, Mrs. Frank Koenig, both of Muenster, Cooke county, were killed and Mrs. M. J. Endres, wife of the mayor of Muenster, was critically hurt in an automobile accident 12 miles east of Gainesville today.

Physicians at a hospital here said tonight that Mrs. Endres' condition still was serious.

Bond For Man Charged In Bronte Robbery Is $7,500

SAN ANGELO, July 18. (AP)—Bond for Charlie White, 27, charged with robbery of the First National bank in Bronte last July 1, was set at $7,500 this afternoon in a hearing at Robert Lee. Charges against Allen Hall, 25, Amarillo, were dismissed and he was released.

White was returned to the county jail here tonight.

The robbery netted less than $500.

Selassie Asks Battle To End

Challenge Hurled At Il Duce As Leader Claims Ethiopia Is Prepared To Resist All Invaders To Last Man

ed the emperor's fighting speech, in which he repeatedly invoked God's help for the Ethiopian cause.

While members of parliament, tribal chieftains and leaders of his army listened, the king of kings and the conquering lion of Judah said:

"God will be our fortress and shield and the modern armament of aggressors can not deter our duty which is sacred for Ethiopian independence."

Call Is Sounded

(The God upon whom he called is the God of Solomon and David, for Haile Selassie's dynasty claims direct descent from King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba. Ethiopians are Coptic Christians.)

While the dark, curly-bearded emperor did not order general mobilization of Ethiopia's fierce fighting men, as had been expected, he sounded the call to approaching battle in vigorous tones, shouting:

"Our ancestors preserved their independence by sacrificing their lives. Follow their example!"

Out in the sun-washed streets of this high-set capital dusky soldiers from the provinces had but lately been drilling barefoot in the dust, learning the rudiments of modern warfare, as Haile Selassie told his people Italy's intention to use modern scientific methods of warfare would be met with Ethiopia's united resistance.

Many Persons Weep

Many in the audience wept as he continued:

"Soldiers: When on the battlefield you learn the death of your beloved and respected chief, who has fallen in the defense of liberty, do not weep and do not despair, but think of those who died for the fatherland as happy mortals."

"Soldiers, traders, peasants, young and old men and women: unite and cooperate for the defense of your country!

"As in the past, women will heroically participate in the defense of the country, encouraging the soldiers and treating the wounded.

"Regardless of faith, all will face the invader in common unity, thwarting the efforts of Italy to create discord between Christians and Mohammedans."

Ethiopia Wants Peace

Revealing for the first time that Ethiopia had accepted Britain's ill-fated proposal for three-way exchange of land to avert war, which Italy rejected, Haile Selassie reminded parliament, the soldiers and the country that Ethiopia wanted peace.

His appeal to the United States under the Kellogg-Briand pact outlawing war and Ethiopia's repeated appeals to the League of Nations, resulting in initiation of final steps by the League council, was proof of his peaceful aims, he said.

Efforts to avert war have been unsuccessful, however, the emperor continued, because of Italy's determination to avenge in blood the defeat Italy suffered at Adua, Ethiopia, in 1896.

Ethiopian rights to the province of Ogaden are clearly established, Haile Selassie asserted, but nevertheless, following Great Britain's conciliatory intervention, the Addis Ababa government consented to cede part of it to Italy, consenting to accept as recompense an outlet to the Red sea at Zeila through British Somaliland, offered by the British.

Rejected By Mussolini

This, however, Mussolini "brutally rejected," he asserted.

"If our repeated efforts for good will fail," the king of kings continued, in impassioned tones, "our conscience is clear and the Ethiopian people, united, can confidently stretch their hands to God who will defend the just cause of our country, upholding the heroic courage of our soldiers in a battle for independence."

He termed an insult to Ethiopia Mussolini's charge that Ethiopian barbarity precluded peaceful settlement of the dispute, and Il Duce's reference to Italy's "civilizing mission" in Africa.

A moving demonstration of Ethiopian unity to Haile Selassie came at the close of his speech as the Somali chief of Ogaden rose and, speaking in Arabic which was translated into the state language, Amharic, pledged his own loyalty and that of his people in the apparently approaching fight.

Promising Mohammedans would fight to the last man against an invader, he shouted:

"Long live the emperor and Ethiopia!"

Observers To View Conflict

War Department Officials Decline Comment On What The United States Might Do In Event Of War

WASHINGTON, July 18. (AP)—If war drums sound in Africa, United States army officers probably will study equipment, tactics and any new developments in this type of warfare.

However, war department officials declined any comment today on what plans the United States might have for observing hostilities in the event Italy and Ethiopia go to war.

Gather Information

Col. Jerome G. Pillow, cavalry, is military attache at Rome, and Lieut. Thomas White, air corps, is assistant attache for air. Their normal duties include the gathering of all legitimate information concerning the Italian army. In the event of actual fighting, they might be invited to observe action from the Italian lines.

The United States has no military attache at Addis Ababa, but officers now attached to American embassies in Paris, London, or some other European power, might be assigned as observers with Emperor Haile Selassie's mountain fighters.

The American army had observers with each army in the Russo-Japanese war, including Lieut. Gen. Arthur MacArthur (father of the Gen. Douglas MacArthur, present chief of staff), and Captains John J. Pershing and Peyton C. March.

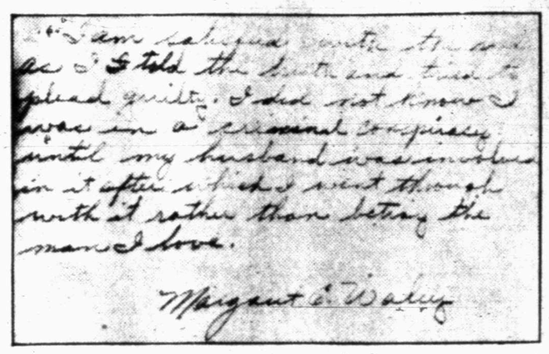

Staffs Were Hampered

American officers also were assigned to the German and Allied armies in the early days of the World war. There were so many such observers from neutral nations, however, that they hampered the staffs directing the fighting. As a result, some military experts believe observers may not be so welcome in future conflicts.

The United States general staff, headed by General MacArthur, keeps abreast of all military movements throughout the world. While no officers will comment, it is understood that American experts are now checking on all preparations for war being made by Italy and Ethiopia.

Work Started On Buildings

Hundreds Of Workmen Begin Construction Of Project; Present Structures Are To Be Remodeled

(Special To The Avalanche)

DALLAS, July 18.—Hundreds of workmen began construction today on the World's fair of 1936 — the Texas centennial exposition—which will open in Dallas next June.

Although scores of new exhibit buildings are to be built, work at this time is being concentrated upon remodeling of present structures. First to fall into the hands of workmen was the administration building, a huge structure which is being remodeled at a cost of $125,000. An entirely new front for the administration building has been designated by the architects so that it will conform with other structures on the exposition grounds.

Several Are Razed

Meanwhile, demolition of other buildings on the 200 acre fair grounds continues, with workmen razing various exhibit structures of the State fair of Texas, which annually has attracted 1,000,000 visitors. As soon as demolition is completed, construction of exhibit palaces will begin.

Among the first of the new buildings to go up will be the architectural group, which consists of the livestock building, poultry building, agricultural building and the foods building.

To provide additional space for exhibit buildings many city blocks adjacent to the World's fair grounds have been condemned. Removal of residential structures now existing in this area is expected to start within the next few weeks.

Civic Center Group

In this section, a permanent civic center group will be built, including an art museum, aquarium, sports building, social hall, natural history building, better homes, and other structures of a cultural nature.

The Texas centennial exposition will commemorate the rapid growth of the Southwest in the last 100 years, since Texas declared and achieved its independence. In keeping with the concrete reasons for the centennial celebration, history is the theme predominating throughout the exposition. In addition to the great central exposition to open in Dallas June 6, celebrations will be held throughout 1936 at Texas' historic shrines: San Antonio, Goliad, Houston, Nacogdoches, Gonzales, Huntsville and elsewhere.

The ancient Egyptians regarded the crocodile as sacred. The animals were decorated with expensive jewelry; when they died, they were buried in royal tombs.

Speedy Railway Automobiles Move Paris Nearer To Sea

PARIS, July 18. (AP)—The railroad automobile, the latest model of which made 122 miles an hour in tests, has brought Paris within two hours of the sea. Regular services cover the 142 miles to le Havre within this time.

The combined use of ordinary trains and these rail automobiles has led to a great acceleration of services particularly in linking up one railway system with another.

Electrification of railways, which is being pushed in the south, also has brought speedier travel, and France now claims to have 58 per cent of the world's trains traveling at more than 62 miles an hour.

Harvard has the largest law school in the United States, with 1450 students. Its roster contains students from 216 colleges and universities.
