Pilot Closed Labor Day

Like most places of business governmental buildings and the schools, the Rockport Pilot will be closed on Labor Day, Monday, September 2.

Since ordinarily Monday is an extremely busy day at the Pilot as the staff goes through the necessary steps to get the paper out on time, those associated with the paper will greatly appreciate some assistance from our friends, particularly those who send in or bring in news items and also from the advertisers.

It would help us a lot if people could bring in news stories and advertising copy on Thursday, August 29 or Friday, August 30. This would give us a head start and help us get the job done.

The final deadline, as always, will be Tuesday noon (in this case Sept. 3).

DPS Predicts 34 Deaths During Labor Day Weekend

AUSTIN -- Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today estimated that traffic accidents in Texas over the Labor Day Weekend will claim 34 lives.

Speir noted that traffic deaths in Texas, which earlier were running up to 30% under the 1973 toll, have been rising throughout the summer months. He said the upward trend is related to heavier traffic and an alarming disregard for the 55 mile speed limit.

The DPS director said every effort would be made to prevent accidents and deaths by placing all available DPS troopers on duty during the holiday period which extends from 6 p.m. Friday, August 30, through midnight, Monday, September 2. Speir noted that many local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating in the all out effort to make the streets and highways safe.

In addition, he said the DPS would be working with the news media in a special public education program call "Operation Motorcade." A concerted effort will be made to focus public attention on where and why fatal accidents are occurring during the holiday.

level, a decrease in the enrollment was experienced over the previous year. Last year the elementary enrollment was 986 as compared to 951 this year.

This year's enrollment at the Junior High level was 565 students as compared to 560 last year.

The High School's first day enrollment was down slightly but is expected to show an increase in the next week. A total of 569 High School students were in attendance as compared to 583 last year.

CITY CHARGES ORDINANCE VIOLATION

At the City Council meeting Monday night it was reported that the city has filed charges against H.E.B. Food Stores for building an unloading platform on the west side of their local store building without first getting a building permit from the city.

Such cases are heard before Corporation Judge J. Paul Rogers at a hearing in the City Hall. Maximum fine for such an offense is $200.

During discussion of the matter one alderman said, "I'm quite sure than the unloading platform extends into the city right-of-way on the east side of Magnolia Street."

It was announced that a surveyor had been contacted to make a survey and determine if the unloading platform does extend into the right-of-way.

The same alderman who said the platform extends into the right-of-way said that if the survey shows this to be correct, "then some kind of additional action may be taken."

Other matters discussed at the Council meeting included: --It was stated that R. S. Black, Contractors, Corpus Christi, was behind schedule on the sewage treatment plant expansion. City Engineer Gene Urban said Black had had difficulties getting essential equipment and parts for the project but that these items are now on hand and the job should be completed within 30 days.

--Next item was discussion of financing a sewer line extension on South Water Street between Corpus Christi and Third Streets. It was reported that some work is now in progress and the cost will be about $15,000. It was announced that no Federal funds are available now for such projects without spend-

Seventeen Cases Being Tried

Thirty-sixth District court was a busy place this week with the courtroom packed with spectators as District Judge John H. Miller presided.

A check of the criminal docket revealed that 17 criminal cases were set for trial during the week.

The defendants have all been arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Two jury panels have been summoned, one to appear Monday and the other on Wednesday.

In nine of the cases the defendants are accused of selling heroin, in one with transportation of heroin with intent to sell, in three with sale of cocaine, and in two with sale of marijuana, one with attempted burglary, and one with possession of heroin.

When District Judge Miller was asked if he hoped to try all the cases this week he said, "Probably not, but it is my intention to try all these cases without delay and to reduce my criminal docket to manageable proportions at an early date."

City Hall Will Be Closed on Labor Day

City Hall will be closed on Monday, September 2nd, Labor Day. There will be no garbage pick-up on Monday. Monday pick-ups will be made on Tuesday.

CPL Fuel Cost Goes Up Again

Fuel cost for generating electricity at Central Power and Light Company power stations has gone up again, but it's not as high as earlier in the summer.

CPL Manager W.W. Janecek announced today that the price of fuel on electric bills starting August 26 would be 86.06 cents per million BTU. This is up from the 75.97 cent figure reported last month.

He pointed out that the 86.06 figure is more than seven cents below the price for July. He attributed the increased fuel cost for the coming billing month to the fact that large amounts of spot-purchased natural gas were burned to generate the electricity needed by South Texans.

The Manager said CPL reached a new system peak load of 1,942,000 kilowatts on Friday, July 26 and did not require any fuel oil to meet this record demand. Fuel oil is selling for about $2.00 per million BTU compared to spot-purchased natural gas at about $1.40 per million BTU.

Lo-Vaca Gathering Company has curtailed CPL's natural gas supplies by more than thirty percent during the month ended August 15.

A plan now before the Texas Railroad Commission would further limit CPL's supply of natural gas. If the plan proposed by Lo-Vaca is approved by the Texas Railroad Commission, utility companies would be placed at the bottom of the priority list for gas. This would force them to buy more expensive fuel oil and new supplies of natural gas at much more than present contract prices call for.

CPL is vigorously fighting the proposed allocation plan before the Texas Railroad Commission in Austin, the Manager said.

Governor of Rotary Visits Local Club

A review of Rotary objectives and accomplishments worldwide was given by G. Russell Kirkland of Corpus Christi, district governor who supervises operations of 43 clubs in the lower Coastal Bend and Rio Grande areas, during his first official visit to Rockport Rotary Club August 21, at Ramada Inn.

Prior to the luncheon meeting Governor Kirkland spent the evening of August 20 discussing operating problems and club policies with officers and directors of the local club. He made a number of suggestions on recruiting new members and stimulating interest and attendance of club members.

During his luncheon meeting talk he cited the fact that there are 16,000 Rotary clubs in 151 countries with a total membership of 775,000. He asserted world-wide service of Rotary International basically involves helping people. People the world around need the concern and help of other people in the sharing of fellowship and service, he declared. He reported Rotary is spending some four million dollars a year in grants of various kinds to worthy causes around the world.

On the local level Kirkland stressed the need for greater personal involvement. Only in this way can Rotary approach its potential for developing fellowship among members and with others in the community. He asserted that it is especially important to make certain that new members are given responsibilities and made to feel that their personal efforts are important to the success of the club.

He suggested that one method of spreading the influence of Rotary in the community was the staging of employer-employee events in which Rotarians had employees as guests at club meetings. This also could re-

Auto Dealers from Four States To Be Special Guests of Honor

Loyce Landrum and the Red Carpet Committee of the Rockport Chamber of Commerce are making plans to welcome automobile dealers from four states who were winners of a contest conducted by Bob Barclay & Associates, automotive advertising firm with offices in Rockport.

In August of 1973, as reported in the Pilot at the time, the Barclay firm sent catalogs of automotive advertising material to 4000 franchised dealers in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Each catalog contained eight serially-numbered order cards. As these cards came in, and the orders were filled, the cards were saved for a special drawing which took place last week. No purchase was required for a card to be eligible.

One card was drawn from each state box and then the grand prize winner was drawn from these four. The winner of the grand prize was Dwight Thomas Motors, a Lincoln-Mercury dealer, of Hutchinson, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will be flown to Corpus Christi on any date they choose within the next year and will be greeted there by a member of the Corpus Christi New Car Dealers Association who will present them with a car for their use during their Four-Day "Coastal Bend Holiday."

Key Allegro Inn will provide them with accommodations for four days and three nights and a number of Rockport restaurants and merchants will welcome them with "Hospitality Gifts."

The other three winners are: Godner Motor Co., of Frederick, Oklahoma. Dixon Motor Co. of Washington, Missouri, and Volles Ford, Inc. of Perryton, Texas.

A list of the Rockport merchants and the hospitality gifts they will provide follows:

1. A breakfast for 2, a lunch for 2, OR a dinner for 2 at Corky's Restaurant, a popular eating place in downtown Rockport, plus a warm greeting by Corky, herself.

2. One man's and one ladies hair styling at Isles & Stephens, the Sebring Certified Hair Care Center and Barber Shop in Rockport.

3. One large size pizza at Daddy George's Pizzeria, on Hwy 35 on the north edge of Rockport -- Courtesy of Central Power and Light of Rockport.

4. A lunch for 2 OR a dinner for 2 at the fantastic Rockport Racquet and Yacht Club on the out-of-this-world- Fulton Beach Road, just north of Rockport. (Cocktails available, but not included in price).

5. A fishing, or a sight-seeing trip on The Whooping Crane, which sails twice daily out of the Sea Gun Sports Resort on Copano Bay, just north of Rockport. From October 20, each year, until April 10, the following year, Brownie Brown, skipper of the motor vessel "Whooping Crane", maneuvers his vessel through the winding waters of the Aransas Wildlife Refuge so that all persons on board may see many of the last of the world-famous Whooping Cranes during the time they spend their winter months with us, before departing for their summer home in Canada.

Artificial Baits on Saltwater Trotlines Banned on Sept. 1

AUSTIN--Sept. 1 is the effective date for a Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission ban on the use of artificial baits on saltwater trotlines.

Back in the spring, the commissioners acted to outlaw plastic strips, gold spoons and other artificial baits on saltwater trotlines and throwlines.

A sail line is defined as a type of trotline fixed at one end on shore, pier or jetty with the other end attached to a wind-powered device or sail and attended at all times while the line is fishing.

Only one sail line may be used per fisherman, and fish taken may not be sold. No sail line may contain more than 30 hooks, and no hook may be placed more than 200 feet from the sail.

Biologists with the TP&WD recommended the artificial lure ban on trotlines to reduce some of the fishing pressure on small redfish.

"Artificial baits continue to fish after trotlines are abandoned by fishermen," said department executive director Clayton Garrison. "The lines are particularly attractive to small redfish, many of which are under the 14-inch minimum standard."

Natural baits tend to catch legal-sized redfish and speckled trout.

Also going into effect Sept. 1 is the requirement that saltwater sport fishing nets set in public waters be tagged with some material as durable as the net, bearing the name and address of the fisherman and the date set out.

Other saltwater fishing regulations which take effect Sept. 1 include:

--Operators of drag seines in Gulf waters will be required to return to the water all unused aquatic life to help alleviate the litter problem on high-use areas of the Gulf beach.

--Swan Lake in Jackson County will be closed to netting, with the exception of cast nets, dip nets and minnow seines not more than 20-feet long used for taking bait.

--Standard rules for the construction, material, marking and spacing of trotlines in Kennedy, Kleberg, Nueces and Refugio Counties.

--Standard regulations for the harvest of crabs in these counties.

Simon Michael, Pioneer Rockport Artist, Discusses His Philosophy

By DAVID H. CROOKS

Working with an excellent mixture of practical philosophy, strong colors and skills acquired through years of formal training, self-discipline and constant practice, Simon G. Michael, Rockport's pioneer artist-in-residence, has come to occupy a unique place in art circles of this area.

In the process he has fashioned for himself a career which he says is far more rewarding than anything he might have achieved in any other field. Although his paintings have won acclaim at many shows in the United States, as well as in France and England, he says the Rockport area is the only place where he would want to live and work.

According to Michael, it all started when he was about eight years old and he first came into personal contact with creative art. His father, a Greek Orthodox priest, was responsible for commissioning interior decorations for a number of Orthodox churches. Young Michael watched the church artists with fascination and soon began to experiment on his own, utilizing sidewalks and fences for his drawings.

Unfortunately, his father was able to recognize his son's "style" even at that early age and the budding artist was required to wash away his creations. "Actually, I am sure I was no better nor any worse than the average 8-year-old who likes to use chalk or crayons on any inviting surface", Michael confessed.

His first formal introduction to art came at the age of 10 when a German artist who was executing a church commission for Michael's father offered to give the sidewalk artist lessons.

"From that time on I never wanted to do anything but draw and paint", Michael asserted.

There followed years of art schooling in this country and abroad, including Washington University in St. Louis, Detroit Institute of Fine Art, Arts and Crafts in the same city, Art Student's League in New York, as well as Academic De La Grande Chamiere and Julian Academy in Paris. He also studied sculpture under Ralph Holmes in St. Louis.

Michael gave his first one-man exhibit at 18 and since then has had scores of public and private showings of his work. At 24 he had a one-man show in Paris where he studied and taught for a number of years. After returning from Europe, Michael was associated with some of this country's largest art galleries before moving to Texas.

Proving that an artist can be a very practical fellow, Michael spent World War II years in the Army designing and supervising construction of life-size German and Japanese villages which were used for training purposes. In recognition of his contributions to the war effort, he was awarded the Legion of Merit medal.

He moved to this area in 1948 and founded an art school in Fulton which he operated until 1951 when he moved his school to its present location on a wooded five-acre tract on King Street in Rockport where he operates the Rockport School and Gallery of Fine Arts.

During August Michael has had a one-man show in the lobby of First National Bank. It includes a limited but very impressive sampling of his painting versatility.

James H. Sorenson, Jr., bank president, said recently that interest of the public in the show has been most impressive. "Hundreds of customers and visitors have spent a great deal of time studying Mr. Michael's paintings, commenting on them and asking questions about them", Sorenson said. "This has been an unusual and most gratifying experience for all of us at the bank", he added.

Simon G. Michael, pioneer Rockport artist, working on latest painting.

A very innovative and creative artist, Michael feels strongly his obligation to pass on to younger people skills and techniques he has acquired through years of formal training and practical experience.

"Knowledge and skill should be shared with those who are entering the field of creative art", he asserted. "Our young people can grasp in weeks what has taken older artists years to acquire. They have a more scholarly approach, a better academic background".

In support of this philosophy, Michael actually moved to this area with a determination to start an art school. Such was his first accomplishment and since then he has instructed hundreds of students, both in the Rockport art school and in almost a score of neighboring communities over the past two decades. In addition, he has held many summer school sessions in the hill country of Texas and in Mexico. Many of his paintings are of colorful scenes in Mexico and Central America.

Despite these field trips, Michael insists that the Rockport area offers an abundant wealth of material for translation into works of art. The scope of his own work proves his assertion that inspiration for creative art is all around us.

Unlike many artists, Michael never has specialized as to subject matter. He says that emotional impact on the artist himself should be the determining factor in deciding whether to use a given subject, be it an old anchor, a half-wrecked ship, a shrimp net, a garbage dump or a bit of nature. Also, he believes that first impressions are most authentic and should be seized upon and retained by the artist as he goes about his creative job.

"Subject matter is really of no great consequence", Michael declared. "The man behind the brush is the important factor. Greatness comes from what is put into the project. There is an all-important but indescribable something that exists between the artist and his subject", he continued.

"Training and self-discipline are as important in developing ability in art as in any other field", according to Michael who illustrates the point by calling attention to the fact that he has done and continues to do scores -- hundreds -- of sketches in black and white and pastels of subjects he sees in the ordinary course of his activities, such as driving to a near-by community to conduct an art class. "Often I do two or three sketches in the course of one afternoon. Some of these I never use but others may be developed into a completed painting or parts from them used in combination with other subjects". Sketches are the shorthand of the artist, according to Michael.

"The important thing is to capture the mood of the subject when it is first seen, when the impact is fresh and before extraneous influences crowd in to obscure the clarity of the first impression. Actually no subject ever remains quite the same. Lighting conditions, mood and the effect of surroundings change constantly. Don't stare at a subject. Take in what you see at a glance. Accept the first impression and then hold on to the emotional impact it has on you", Michael advised.

"How you feel about it at a particular time is important. And the skilled artist has the ability to preserve that moment for posterity", he asserted. "It might even turn out to be a great work of art".

Michael's collection of prints, in both black and white and pastel crayons, represent an inclusive cross section of scenes from this area, particularly the waterfront.

Many of them are scenes no longer available, and they have definite historical value.

As to the Rockport area as a whole, Michael says it is not equaled anywhere from an artist's viewpoint. There are intriguing subjects everywhere, he asserts, adding that nature itself provides an invaluable and inexhaustible source of inspiration for the perceptive artist. Since his first visit to Rockport, several decades ago, Michael has been encouraging artists and aspiring artists to make this area their home. And he is credited with attracting many who agree with his evaluation.

As might be expected of one who does not believe in specializing in a limited subject area, Michael's work encompasses a LOOT RECOVERED — Stereo equipment, tape cartridges and other items burglarized from the Ken Leonard home were recovered by Rockport City Police.

Burglary Solved, Loot Recovered

On Aug. 18 Ken Leonard of 2001 Cochran reported that his home had been burglarized and numerous items had been stolen. A few days later Rockport City Police solved the case by apprehending a male juvenile who was visiting here from Pittsburgh, Pa. The boy has been returned to his parents in Pittsburgh. All of the items taken from the Leonard residence were recovered by the police. Estimated value of the loot was over $200. "The young man we nabbed is fortunate," Chief of Police James Craigmile said, "since in a few months he would have been old enough to be tried on a felony charge as an adult."

First Natl. Officials Attend Conference

The annual four-day conference of Texas Bankers Association in Austin last week was attended by James H. Sorenson, Jr., president, and Robert D. Mosier, Jr., executive vice president of First National Bank. After the opening session Sunday at which Senator John G. Tower spoke, morning and afternoon discussion sessions were held through Wednesday. An evening session was staged Tuesday. Current operating problems and what's ahead for the banking industry were considered by speakers and panels. The Monday morning session dealt with the impact of the energy situation on banking, while the afternoon meeting featured a discussion of bank programs for women. Tuesday morning the bankers discussed problems of kidnap, hostage and extortion, as well as current legal developments, and responsibilities of bank directors. In the afternoon there was a discussion of commercial and agricultural lending. Other subjects covered were personnel, installment credit and computer fraud. Wednesday morning's discussions covered financial statements on contractor loans, independent banking and holding companies and credit life insurance.

Riddle Returns From Convention

Paul J. Riddle just returned from a four-day convention of Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity, where he was present as an alumni delegate. Over two hundred alumni and undergraduate brothers were in attendance, and enjoyed a good working convention as well as the splendid facilities of the world famous Seven Springs Mountain Resort in Pennsylvania. The highlight of the awards was the presentation of the fraternity's "Distinguished Service Award" to Robert Lee Howsam of the Cincinnati Reds, who is a member of the fraternity.

Police Warning Issued on Radar

The Rockport City Police would like to again urge motorists to slow down in school zones. Several citations were written within the first couple of days for speeding in school zones. "No emergency is so great, that we cannot slow down in these zones to protect our children," Chief of Police James Craigmile said. The police department will continue to operate radar in the city school zones throughout the school year. "Many motorists criticize the use of radar and it's probably because they were caught by it, but this instrument has probably done more to slow down motorists and protect lives than any thing else we use," the chief said.

SOCIAL SECURITY REPRESENTATIVE TO VISIT ROCKPORT

Eligible persons can secure assistance in applying for old-age, survivors, or disability insurance payments, and for Medicare benefits, from the representative at that time.

Tom Mullins of Impact Ad Company of Houston appeared before the Council and said his firm would like to be considered for installing trash receptacles throughout the business district, with the cost to be paid by local business establishments placing advertising on the receptacles.

He was informed that the city presently has 10 trash receptacles located throughout the business district, placed there in 1972 by a firm called Special Services, Inc. It was stated that the receptacles have been well maintained, that apparently local merchants are satisfied with the arrangements, but that city officials will check with the local firms and find out if they are completely satisfied with the present service. City Attorney Dave Conery stated that it is against the law for the city to make cash contributions to any local organizations, groups or individuals, regardless of how worthwhile that cause may be.

A representative of the Girl Scouts informed the Council that the Girl Scout Hut on North Church Street is in bad repair and the request was made to have it torn down and replaced with a mobile home. The Council said a mobile home would not be satisfactory for this purpose. The Council voted not to rehire Bumgardner, Morrison & Co., CPAs, of Port Lavaca, as auditor for the city, and instead to contact one or more firms located closer to Rockport for consideration for the job.

wide range of subjects, including land and seascapes, colorful scenes from Mexico and Central America, portraits, nature studies, animals and still life. He says he never paints anything just because it is "pretty". He insists on emotional involvement with the subject. Even his still life studies include a variety of intriguing objects, usually with a story of some sort behind each.

In addition to his own work, Michael's gallery which serves as classrooms during three summer sessions contains a collection of drawings, paintings and sculpture by other Gulf Coast artists as well as a variety of other art work from Mexico, Europe and the United States. On the subject of great works of art, Michael says no individual really owns them for long. Owners merely serve as guardians pending the time when they become public property. First they are the temporary property of the artist who creates them. Then they are sold to interested individuals. Next they may be acquired by collectors as they increase in value. Finally, if their quality is good enough they become the property of museums. He added that great works of art are the first to be protected in time of war or other disasters.

Recognizing the fact that not everyone can be or wants to be an artist in the strict sense of the word, Michael is convinced that some form of creative work is excellent medicine for everyone. He urges business and professional men to take up some type of home craft work just for fun as well as for its therapeutic value. He believes too many people are obsessed with a drive for financial success to the exclusion of many other worthwhile accomplishments.

"There are so many interesting things to do and life is so short. Many people never get around to doing some of the things they enjoy most", Michael said. Michael says fishing has been his long-time hobby, and then admits that he hasn't had much time for it lately.

Governor of Rotary—

(Continued from Page One) sult in attracting new members, he added. Kirkland stressed the importance of selecting and attracting qualified new members, pointing out that every club experiences about a 10 per cent attrition in members each year. "Just to stay even, a club must enlist at least that many new members each year," he said. Kirkland, who is a retired associate of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith in Corpus Christi, reported that he is spending practically full time visiting clubs in his district, and enjoying every minute of it.

The building is of frame construction, 36 by 44 feet and is located on the road leading out to Sparks Colony, north of Rockport. Mr. Spencer is fixing it up for the scout troop. It will be known as the Girl Scout Little House.

Members of the Rockport Rotary Club heard a very interesting program at their regular weekly meeting Wednesday noon at the Methodist annex, when A.C. Audubon Society Levels Charges Against Coast Guard National Audubon Society President Elvis J. Stahr has accused the U.S. Coast Guard of retreating on oil pollution control requirements for new oil tankers and barges. Stahr charged that proposed regulations issued recently by the Coast Guard are "needlessly timid" and "seem to be motivated more by cost and political considerations than by environmental considerations."

Stahr said the Coast Guard failed to require new oil tankers and barges to use available pollution control technology. As a result, he said, its proposed regulations "will assure continuation of unnecessary oil pollution of the marine environment" and continuation of the "unnecessary threat of catastrophic pollution in event of the grounding or collision of a single supertanker."

Stahr's criticisms of the proposed regulations were contained in a letter sent to the Coast Guard a few days ago and released by the 320,000-member environmental organization.

At issue is whether the Coast Guard, under the Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972, should require all new tankers and barges to be built with segregated ballast tanks and double bottoms. Segregated ballast tanks prevent ballast water from being contaminated with oil. Double bottoms reduce the chances of an oil spill if a tanker goes aground or collides with another ship.

Stahr said: "On January 26, 1973, the Coast Guard announced it was considering making segregated ballast and double bottoms mandatory for new oil tankers and barges operating in U.S. navigable waters. On June 28, 1974, almost a year and a half later, the Coast Guard issued the proposed regulations. In a change of position, the Coast Guard dropped the double bottom requirement and now wants to require segregated ballast only on new tankers of 70,000 tons or larger. Also, the new proposals will not apply to barges at all."

"By not requiring double bottoms on new vessels," said Stahr in his letter, "the Coast Guard is shunning its responsibility and discarding an opportunity to minimize oil pollution in the future."

Stahr noted that the Coast Guard's draft environmental impact statement on the proposed regulations observed that "present levels of oil pollution represent a serious threat to the marine and coastal environment." While the regulations are likely to bring some reduction in oil pollution from tankers, Stahr continued, "half-measures are not enough to defuse that threat."

Urging the Coast Guard to strengthen the proposed regulations, Stahr said: "To the degree that zero discharge technology is available, it should be used -- and as soon as possible."

High quality cranberries bounce; bad ones don't. So the industry, in grading them, feeds the berries over a series of baffle boards and they are graded by how well they bounce off the boards.

Football Gets Under Way Here

By Bob Crawford

Rockport-Fulton High School football is underway. After two weeks of practice the Pirates met their first opponents in a scrimmage last Friday night in the Calallen Wildcats, an opponent the Pirates will meet later in the playing season in district play.

Calallen scored four times and converted three of four point after kicks to score 27 points, while the Pirates scored three times and converted two kicks.

Head Coach Bill Lee had praise for his boys, especially pointing out the offensive blocking of center Benet Stewart and guard Joe Herrington, the ball carrying of Ricky Herron, and the passing of quarterback Scott Gillis.

Defensively, the Pirates

were led by Bill Smith, David Mundine, and David Brooks.

Rockport-Fulton scored their three touchdowns on a 70-yard march with Herron blasting over from the 5-yard line after the Pirates had gone 65 yards through the air to the 5-yard line. Gillis hit end David Munine on a nine-yard pass for the next score. David Brooks kicked successfully after the first two scores. The Pirates closed to within one point of the Wildcats on a two-yard plunge by Denzell Bardwell. The Pirates elected to go for the two point conversion and fell inches short. Calallen scored again with less than a minute to go.

This week (Friday evening) the Pirates will scrimmage Bloomington in Bloomington for their last tune-up before the season starts in two weeks for the Rockport-Fulton team.

Duck, Goose Seasons Split

AUSTIN--A second consecutive year of split duck and goose season was set for most of Texas by Parks and Wildlife Commissioners in their August meeting.

Acting within federally approved migratory waterfowl hunting frameworks, the commissioners established a 65-day duck season in the High Plains Mallard Management Unit of Texas for Nov. 4-24 and Dec. 7, 1974 - Jan. 19, 1975.

The High Plains Mallard Management Unit is defined as that part of Texas lying west of a line from the International Toll Bridge at Del Rio, northward along U.S. Hwy. 277 through San Angelo to Abilene, along State Highway 351 from Abilene to Albany and U.S. Hwy. 283 from Albany to Vernon, and easterly along U.S. Hwy. 183 to the point of intersection with the Texas-Oklahoma line in Wilbarger County.

As was the case last year, canvasbacks and redheads may not be hunted in the coastal counties of Aransas, Brazoria, Calhoun, Cameron, Chambers, Galveston, Harris, Jackson, Jefferson, Kenedy, Kleberg, Matagorda, Nueces, Refugio, San Patricio and Willacy.

For that portion of Texas lying east of U.S. Hwy. 81, commissioners set a 72-day goose season to run Oct. 28 - Nov. 24, 1974; Dec. 7, 1974 - Jan. 19, 1975.

Bag and possession limits for this eastern portion of the state are five geese to include not more than one Canada or one white-fronted goose.

The possession limit can include no more than two Canada geese or one white-fronted goose, or one of each.

70-point ducks - Mallard hens, wood ducks and hooded mergansers.

15-point ducks - Bluewing and cinnamon teal, pintails, widgeons, gadwalls, scaups, shovelers and mergansers except hooded.

35-point ducks - All other species and sexes (to include mallard drakes, greenwinged teal and mottled ducks).

The season remains closed on New Mexican ducks, black-bellied and fulvous tree ducks.

Nov. 30, 1974 - Jan. 26, 1975, was established for hunting sandhills in that area of the state west of a line from San Angelo along U.S. Hwy. 277 to Abilene, then along State Highway 351 from Abilene to Albany and U.S. Hwy. 283 from Albany to Vernon, easterly along U.S. Hwy. 183 to the point of intersection with the Texas-Oklahoma state line in Wilbarger County; and east of a line from San Angelo along U.S. Hwy. 87 excluding all of Howard and Lynn Counties, to the junction of Highways 87 and 287 at Dumas, and then along U.S. Hwy. 287 from Dumas to the Texas-Oklahoma line in Dallam County.

Sandhill bag and possession limits are three and six respectively.

Coot seasons will run parallel to the respective duck seasons; bag limit is 15, possession limit is 30.

Letter to the Editor

Last Sunday my wife and I ate Sunday dinner at the Key Allegro Motel. As we sat there looking out there on the Bay, Marina and boats of all sizes, it struck us that we were looking at one of the prettiest sights on the Gulf Coast. A perfect jewel. This is something that all Rockport citizens should really be proud of. First, because of its beauty; and secondly, for the economic impact it is bound to have on the community. You can't tell me that people who own boats in value up to half a million dollars don't drop a lot of money into Rockport's economy.

Then, Tuesday afternoon I went to Corpus Christi to attend a meeting of the Governor's Committee on Aging that is being set up by C.O.G. (a local chapter of this called the Aransas County Council of the Aging is functioning.)

At this meeting, we were read a letter from Gov. Dolph Briscoe that Rockport sits in the middle of a forty-county area of the state that has found to be low in all cultural aspects. Well below the rest of the State. More people live in this area that are below the poverty level of income -- more people on Food Stamps -- less help on health problems etc. Rockport has very little medical help and no plans for the emergency treatment of sick people.

In my connection with A.A.R.P. and the new Aransas County Committee on Aging many of these low spots in this county are coming to the surface. Many more problems than answers are available.

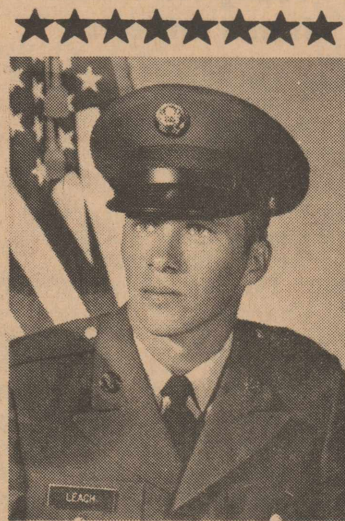

The Governor has asked and set up an active South Texas Cultural Commission with orders for us to come up in the very near future to some answers to these problems and for some suggestions for raising this forty-county area to at least the equal of the average both economically and culturally.

The question I now raise is what will the rank and file of the Rockport citizens living well above the poverty line do to help. What will local government do? Let's examine our hearts and help when called on.

Let's brag on our jewel on the coast but not forget those less fortunate.

Sincerely,
John L. Leslie
"Uncle John"

The Census Bureau reported 5.7 million persons regularly walk to work.

PRIVATE I, DEE LEACH, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Leach of Fort Hood, recently graduated from Intensive Training School with honors in rank of PFC. Leach volunteered for service in March of this year.

Other members of the Leach family are their sons-in-law, A/C Paul Lusby, husband of their daughter Leah, with the Air Force at Randolph Field in San Antonio, and Spec 4 Harvey W. Rice, husband of their daughter Carol, who will be stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo.

VACATION OVER

Mrs. Grace Rowe, Mrs. Lorean Collins and Mrs. Allen Johnson returned after a ten-day vacation to Palo Duro Canyon, Amarillo, Dodge City, Kansas, Mount Rushmore, Custer State Park, South Dakota and on to Elwood, Ind., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Knopp. Mrs. Knopp returned with them to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Johnson.

Florida Bass Growth In Texas

AUSTIN -- It's been some two years now since the first of the highly touted Florida bass were stocked in selected Texas waters.

How are they doing? Charles Inman, Florida bass project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department at Tyler, has filed two reports on the fish with some very preliminary but promising information.

For control purposes, several private lakes across different ecological zones of Texas were stocked with pure strains of Floridas, native Texas largemouths and hybrids of the two. Inman reports on the results from one Anderson County pond after 12 months of study.

"Seventy-five each of the three largemouth strains were stocked in the test lake in March 1973," according to his report.

Inman marked the three strains of fish with a blue die he injected into soft membranes of the lower jaw. Hybrids were marked on both membranes, Floridas on the right and Texas bass on the left membrane.

"Fishing was prohibited during the study period. On April 2, 1974, an investigation was made to compare growth rates of the three basses."

Inman and his crew found few significant differences in the growth rate of the three basses but discovered a very significant difference in weight.

"Both the Florida and hybrid basses increased in weight at a faster pace than did the Texas fish. The Florida and hybrid basses are heavier than the Texas bass at comparable lengths."

The comparison is based on only one pond and one year of growth, but Inman and other fisheries biologists are pleased with the results.

The same biologists, however, say that it will take from six to eight years of study to get firm data on the differences between the three fish.

Back in May 1972, Florida bass were stocked in four private lakes while Texas/Florida hybrids were released in another four lakes. Both Floridas and hybrids were approximately two inches long at release.

One spectacular, but probably atypical, Florida fish was pulled from another private test lake in Anderson County. After 21 months, biologists found a 19-inch, six-pound fish.

The largest Florida/Texas hybrid bass after 21 months of growth in another test lake was an 18-1/2-inch fish weighing 4.6 pounds.

In 1974, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department stocked 779,350 Florida bass in seven public Texas lakes: Benbrook, Calvaras, Halbert, Houston County, New Martin Creek, Mexia and Winnsboro.

Georgia bass, another seemingly distinct strain of large bass, have not been placed in any public waters as yet and no field work has been done by the department.

Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council

(RELEASED THROUGH PUBLIC INFORMATION OFFICE TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY, AUSTIN)

EDITOR'S NOTE: In this third signature story, Colonel Wilson E. Speir, Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, explains wiretapping from the viewpoint of better law enforcement saying: "those responsible for stopping organized crime need additional legal weapons." The twelve stories in this series were developed by the Texas Department of Public Safety through interviews with state law enforcement officials and representatives from the ten Texas

Organized Crime Task Forces.

By WILSON E. SPEIR
Director, Texas Department of Public Safety

Few issues on the current scene attract such emotional response as the issue of wiretapping.

There are sincere arguments that any type of electronic surveillance -- for any purpose -- violates basic human rights. There are more limited arguments that electronic surveillance should be used only where national security is at stake, and then only under rigid control of the federal judiciary.

Then there are those -- including most law enforcement authorities -- who argue that without carefully controlled electronic surveillance under court orders, it is almost impossible to obtain evidence for indictment and conviction of the higher ups of organized crime.

As Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety and co-chairman of the Organized Crime Prevention Council, I am convinced that this latter statement is a fact.

The top men in organized crime are isolated from the people who do the dirty work. More often than not, their only contact is by telephone.

Electronic surveillance is illegal in Texas. Under federal law it can be used, but this is rarely beneficial to state and local authorities.

Under the federal procedure, an agent applies formally for permission to place a tap, his application is reviewed by the Department of Justice in Washington if approved it goes to the local U.S. attorney who in turn takes it to federal court to get specific authority. It is not a simple matter to receive this permission and in my opinion this is a proper safeguard. I believe we would be better armed in Texas for our war against organized crime if we had similar state procedures.

There is always the risk that such authority could be abused, but there is possible abuse in any type of investigation and enforcement. The key is the system of safeguards -- the assurance that there is strong evidence of criminal activity before the electronic surveillance is permitted, as well as the assurance that the court will closely control recordings of conversations unrelated to the investigation.

No system is perfect but the federal system has worked satisfactorily with little criticism for invasion of civil rights.

The Texas decision on electronic surveillance will be made by the people through their elected legislators. The Department of Public Safety does its best to present the facts from the standpoint of better law enforcement, believing that the public should be fully aware that those responsible for stopping organized crime need additional legal weapons. While an electronic surveillance bill failed in the last session of the Legislature, the issue will continue to exist.

Veterans Eligible For Group Insurance

Some 2.7 million Vietnam-era veterans are eligible for a new low-cost Veterans Group Life Insurance program which offers as much as $20,000 coverage for $3.40 per month to young veterans, but they must apply before August 1, 1975, the Veterans Administration pointed out today.

The nonrenewable, five-year term insurance is available for veterans discharged from military service since April 2, 1970.

The new Veterans Administration-supervised program, authorized May 24 under the Veterans Insurance Act, also offers coverage in amounts of $5,000, $10,000 and $15,000. Rates for the maximum $20,000 coverage are $3.40 per month for veterans aged 34 and under and $6.80 for those 35 and over. Application forms for veterans discharged prior to Aug. 1, 1974, are available from VA offices or from the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington St., Newark, N.J. 07102. Applicants must furnish evidence of good health. However, VA-rated service-connected disabilities will be waived.

Servicemen discharged after Aug. 1 will receive application forms automatically, VA pointed out. Personnel leaving active duty are permitted 120 premium-free days to convert Servicemen's Group Life Insurance to Veterans Group Life Insurance without medical examination.

People are catching on to the idea of "plant a tree." Several donations and pledges have already been made to purchase a palm tree. The "Plant a Tree" committee has a list of chamber members and are contacting each one to share in this beautification project. Anyone can participate and we encourage each citizen to purchase a tree.

New members this month in the Chamber of Commerce include Tom Martin and Fred Wright, new owners of Key Allegro Inn, Rev. Paul Bohot, a newly appointed director of the Chamber, and Dr. J.M. Shellenberger, whose office is located in Encina Plaza Center.

The Lieutenant Governor's Report

By BILL HOBBY

The fastest growing country in the world has some lessons for Texas.

That country is Israel. My wife Diana and I had the opportunity to visit Israel last month. For five days we toured Israeli schools and hospitals and were briefed by government officials on the problems that country faces.

What are those problems and how do they resemble those of Texas? Like Texas, Israel is a rapidly growing state, an increasingly urban state, and an increasingly industrial state. Like Israel, Texas has a large minority of its people who need special education to work in an increasingly technical and complex world.

Unlike Texas, Israel makes a massive effort to help its citizens who need new skills learn in order to become productive citizens.

In spite of the fact that our world civilization began in the Middle East, that our religion (Christian, Jewish or Moslem) began in Israel, it is today what Texas was a few generations ago: a frontier state, struggling for survival. Israel cannot afford to have citizens of working age who cannot contribute to the national effort. So she makes the massive commitment to education that she must to survive.

Twenty-five years ago, when the modern state of Israel was being born, most of the emigrants were from Western Europe. Most of those early emigrants were highly trained and educated people. They came from countries with fine systems of public education. Many of them came from families with traditions of educational and professional excellence.

That pattern has now changed. Most of the emigrants now are from North Africa and the Middle East. These newer emigrants frequently lack the skills necessary to survive in a modern technical society. So Israel has developed a variety of programs to see to it that the newcomers learn the skills the country needs. Some of this training takes place in the cities, some on farms and in kibbutzes. But it takes place.

We visited a kibbutz on the Sea of Galilee whose principal industry is farming and fishing (Would you believe their biggest crop is bananas?) This kibbutz has opened a hotel that is so popular you have to make reservations months ahead.

This same kibbutz, in order to provide employment for its older members who can no longer do the heavy work of farming and fishing, has opened an electronics factory, producing a device invented by one of its members.

ENOUGH TURTLE to make soup for dozens was pieced together by Harvard University's Museum of Comparative Zoology which discovered the six million year old reptile in Northern Venezuela. Researcher Gabrielle Dundon (above) said the 8-foot long, 6-foot wide turtle shell took over six months to reconstruct.

Throughout the country, emigrants are given instruction in Hebrew, training in technical skills, and placed in jobs. Unemployment is almost unknown.

In short, Israel, in order to survive, has had to make the investment necessary to see that each citizen functions at the highest possible level.

That's the lesson we Texans can learn from Israel. In Texas, we have one of the highest unemployment rates of any state. We have the highest dropout rate from our school system. We have more poor people than any other state. In fact, one person out of every ten classified by the federal government as poor lives in Texas.

Wages in Texas are farther below the national average than they were in the 1940's. Texans are farther below the national average in education (number of school years completed) than we were in the 1940's.

We are beginning to do something about these problems. Every year our system of community colleges grows remarkably. And most of that growth by far is in the technical subjects.

Each year vocational education comes closer to getting the emphasis it deserves in our school system. But we've got a long way to go, and a lot of lessons to learn from a small nation about the size of Houston and Dallas put together.

Presley, Lauer Wed

Miss Kayellyn Marie Lauer became the bride of James David Presley in a double ring ceremony August 17 at St. Gertrude's Catholic Church in Kingsville. Rev. Msgr. Robert E. Clark officiated.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lauer, Sr., of Fulton and the daughter of Glenn Lauer, Jr., of Augusta, Michigan, and the late Mrs. Lauer.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Presley of Portland.

Miss Sharon Davidson of Portland provided traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Joy Currey of Sinton who sang "The Right Thing to Do" and "Follow Me."

Given in marriage by her father and grandfather, the bride wore a formal lengthem-pire gown of satin peau de soie under sparkle georgette. The fitted bodice was accented with long puff sleeves of re-embroidered rose lace, with satin bows at the wrists. A floral beaded headpiece held her three-tiered floor length illusion veil.

White carnations and blue daisies formed her nosegay bouquet and were adorned with white ribbons and blue streamers. The bride also carried a lace-covered missal belonging to the groom and two long stemmed red roses for her grandmother and the groom's mother.

Mrs. Linda Howland of Sinton was the bride's matron of honor. Her formal length gown of cotton crepe had a blue and white background with a multi-colored floral design. She carried an artificial bouquet of flowers made from the same material as her dress, adorned with pastel purple streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Vicki Webb of Brownsville. Bridesmaids were Misses Mary Harrist and Laura Lelsenheimer of Rockport and Miss Jeannie Lauer, sister of the bride, of Augusta, Michigan.

The bridesmaids' dresses were identical to the matron of honor's. Each carried an artificial bouquet of cloth flowers with streamers of pastels blue, hot pink, yellow and white.

Tom Rusnack of Rockville, Maryland, was the best man. Groomsman were Robert Hunter of Mercedes, Claude Brown of San Antonio, Russell Owens and Bob Murr of Portland.

Ushers were David Fake of Rockport, Jim Williams of Kingsville, and Rodney Tashiro of San Benito.

Following the nuptial mass, a reception was held at the University Catholic Center at Texas A&I University in Kingsville.

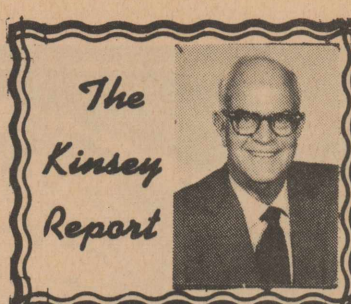

The bride's table, covered with hand crocheted ecru tablecloths made by the grandmother of the bride, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. The cake, decorated with blue and yellow flowers, was topped with the traditional bride and groom. Crystal dishes were used to serve nuts, mints, and lime sherbet-gingerale punch.

The groom's table also covered with a hand crocheted cloth, held a German chocolate cake, made by the groom's mother. Also on the groom's table were champagne glasses and champagne for the bride and groom.

Members of the house party were Misses Lorraine Simons and Jo Ann Simons of Corpus Christi, Michele Orbinati of San Antonio, Del Rhea King of Bishop, and Mesdames Janet Morgan and Cris Higginbotham of Bishop, Kathy Higginbotham of Alvin, Marilyn Hopkins of Portland, La Dell Moody of Robstown and Harriet Lauer of Fulton.

After a short wedding trip to Corpus Christi and Lake Mathis, the couple will reside in Kingsville where both are juniors at Texas A&I University.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School,

During the last few years before he died a local gentleman, who was well liked and highly respected, occasionally commented to close friends:

"I must be getting old. About all I do these days is one of two things: either look for a rest room or try to remember someone's name."

I guess I must be getting old, too. I don't spend much time looking for rest rooms, but I sure have a heck of a time trying to remember names.

Here's an example. For some reason I have a hard time remembering the name of the surgeon who operated

The groom, a 1972 graduate of Gregory-Portland High School, is a junior chemistry major at A&I where he is employed as a stockroom clerk and solutionist in the Chemistry Department.

The wedding party was honored the night before the wedding with a rehearsal dinner barbeque by Mr. and Mrs. D.E. Higginbotham, aunt and uncle of the bride, at their home in Bishop.

Attending the barbeque, besides the wedding party, were Jack Howland of Kingsville, Miss Michele Orbinati of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan and Clint of Bishop, Mrs. David Higginbotham of Alvin, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lauer, Sr., of Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lauer, Jr. of Augusta, Michigan, and Mr. and Mrs. T. on my wife early this year.

For a while I found myself calling him "Dr. Upjohn," and each time my wife would say, kindly and tolerantly: "No, honey, his name isn't Upjohn." And then she'd give me the correct name.

One day we were having lunch in a restaurant when I suddenly said, "You know, I've finally figured out a way to always remember your surgeon's name."

"It's Dr. Allgood, and I'll always be able to remember that because I can think he's 'all good'."

In response to this brilliant idea, my wife first started shaking her head slowly, then she broke out laughing, and then she said, "No, sweetheart, his name is Dr. Alsop."

As she continued laughing to the point the tears came to her eyes, I started looking for a rest room and when I returned she was still chuckling and when she finally got control of herself she said:

"Please don't ever again say something like that and then get up and leave me by myself because when something really strikes me as being terribly funny I get the giggles and can hardly stop laughing. This time, everybody sitting nearby looked at me and apparently wondered what on earth was wrong with me."

Castaways News

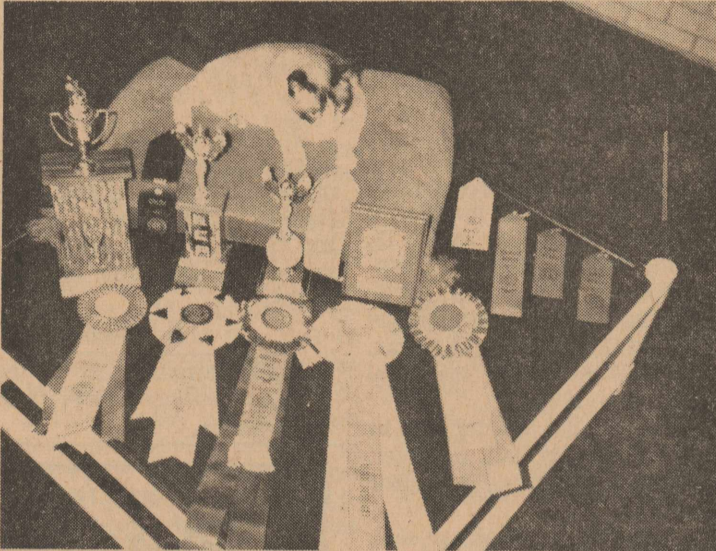

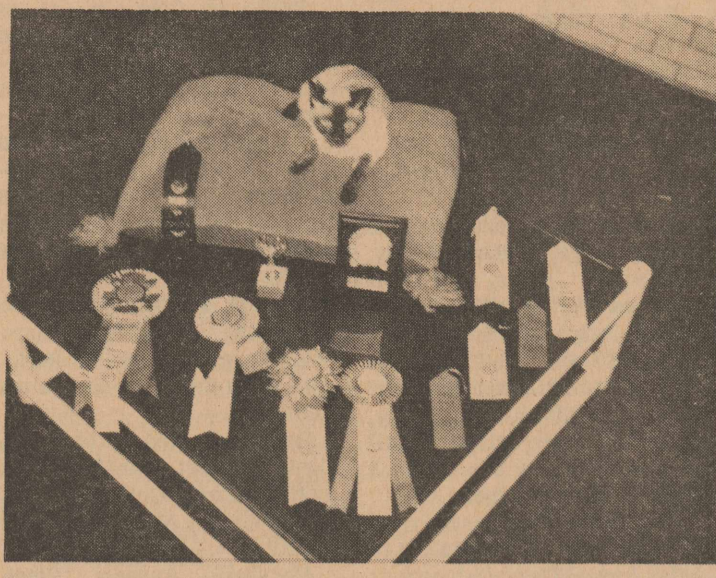

Castaways is a resale project of the Concerned Women of Aransas County. There are two selling locations. One is a weekly rummage sale at 114 N. Church. Starting this week it will only be open on Saturdays from 9-11 a.m. for sales.

The other location is a thrift shop at 1001 Concho, in Alsulu Shopping Center across from H. E. B., which is open every day Monday through Saturday 9-11 a.m.

What makes the difference between the rummage and the Thrift Shop? All clothing is in good condition, plus there is furniture and items other than clothing which is sold on consignment. (Donated furniture is also handled at the shop.)

The rummage sale, in addition to good clothing, will have outdated or things needing minor repairs which many shop for to remake or use in rugs, quilts, etc. (The handy man can find things to "tinker with".) Garments are often bought for the zipper, buttons, material or trim rather than its wearing quality.

Anyone with donations may bring them to 114 N. Church on Saturday 9-11 a.m. or 1001 Concho Monday through Saturday 9-11 a.m. If you have something you would like sold for you come and talk to the salesladies about the consignment set-up. (There is a bulletin board to advertise large and/or heavy items.)

Bo, Edie and Mack Clark just returned from the Alamo City Cat Club's Annual Cat Show held in Convention Center of HemisFair in San Antonio. As can be seen in the pictures, Poosey (at top) and Milford (below) stole the show with a total of 18 ribbons, 2 places and 4 trophies. Poosey received such honors as "Best Siamese" and "Oldest Cat in the Show", (he is 15 years old). Milford was honored with "Second Best Shorthair", "Second Best Neuter", "Third Best Cat of the Show", and "Best Groomed" among others. You may remember Poosey in articles in the Pilot last December and January when he was lost for 33 days and the object of a giant search. As you can see by his many prizes, he has recovered fully.

Calcium—Necessary But Often Ignored

COLLEGE STATION — Calcium, one of the body's most essential minerals, is often one of the most ignored, according to one authority.

"This mineral is necessary for healthy bones and teeth," Mrs. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System, said.

"People need this important mineral all their lives—not just during the growing years—to prevent the 'deminerallization process.'

"One problem caused by deminerallization is a condition known as osteoporosis. This clinical disorder is characterized by a decrease in the total bone mass without any known change in the chemical composition," she explained.

The disease is widespread—particularly during middle and old age—in both men and women.

Causes of osteoporosis are complex, but the lack of calcium in the diet and the length of lack of calcium in the body play vital roles in determining the onset of the disease, she said.

"The best source of calcium is milk and milk products. They provide three-fourths of the calcium present in foods.

"Other sources of calcium—dried fruit, dark green leafy vegetables, molasses and dried beans—are eaten in such small quantities that it is impossible to obtain enough calcium from those sources alone," she explained.

Two cups of milk a day will fulfill an adult's daily requirement of the mineral, the specialist said. "Taking mineral calcium supplements is the only other way to meet the recommended amount of calcium needed," she concluded.

drive friendlier!

Last year, traffic accidents on Texas highways during Labor Day Weekend claimed the lives of 31 people. Hundreds more suffered injuries.

Help reduce these numbers this Labor Day Weekend.

It takes extra care. Use your lap and shoulder belts. Observe all rules, and look out for the driver who doesn't.

You might say that, this year, we're asking you to drive friendlier.

Fight against heroin addiction
Threatened

Some encouraging headway has been made in the fight against heroin addiction in the U.S. over the past several months, but the recent decision by Turkey to resume growing opium poppies may seriously endanger that effort.

The United States and Turkey have enjoyed excellent relations for a number of years.

In 1971, as a demonstration of good will, Turkey agreed to impose a ban on opium poppies because the problem of addiction to the heroin derived from the poppies was a matter of pressing concern to America. In turn, this country agreed to provide some $35 million to compensate Turkish farmers.

At that time, our government estimated that about 80% of the heroin on the streets of our cities originated in Turkey. It is not necessary to recount the destruction and misery that heroin brings to the lives of those it touches. And, in addition to the heartbreak and ruined lives, addiction causes a significant percentage of the crime committed in the big cities of Texas and across our nation. In the 1960's, it also made disturbing inroads into medium - size and smaller cities as well.

Illegal heroin trafficking is a big, profitable business. As of three years ago, the amount of opium required for a kilo of heroin cost only $220 in Turkey - but by the time it reached the streets of New York, it was worth $240,000.

When the Turks agreed to enforce a ban on opium in 1971, the course of much of the heroin in this country dried up. As a result, many addicts turned to health and law enforcement officials for help in freeing themselves from the grip of the drug.

The number of addicts in this country dropped by 60% from an estimated 600,000 to 250,000. In the Nation's Capital alone, the number of addicts fell from about 16,000 to 2,000 and there was a corresponding reduction in the crime rate.

But all this will change when the Turkish poppy fields go back into production and again ship their illicit cargo through underworld channels to this country.

Since 1971, opium has legally been grown in only four provinces of Turkey; and only for legitimate, pharmaceutical purposes. But now the Turks intend to allow more production than ever before. Full scale opium farming is to start up again this fall.

U.S. drug officials say cities in this country will feel the impact within 60 to 90 days.

The Turkish government has given assurances that opium will be grown for legal, pharmaceutical purposes and that illegal smuggling will be controlled. But the expected supply, once full production resumes, will far out-strip the demand by legitimate purchasers.

The President has demonstrated his concern over the situation by recalling the American Ambassador from Turkey. And, Congress has taken action to put teeth into the American effort to persuade Turkey to reverse its decision.

The Senate has voted to cut off foreign aid to any country which permits poppies to be raised and allows opium from them to be sold on the illegal drug market.

Down through the years, Turkey has received more than $3 billion in economic and military aid from the United States, and this year that country stands to receive an additional $232 million.

I strongly support the Senate decision to eliminate foreign aid to Turkey and to any other country that profits from the illicit narcotics trade.

We should not hand out millions of dollars in assistance to nations that willingly supply an illegal drug market that costs our country dearly.

For 25 years the U.S. and Turkey have maintained a record of friendship and cooperation. And it is in the interests of both nations to continue their friendship - but not at the expense of the health and welfare of the American people.

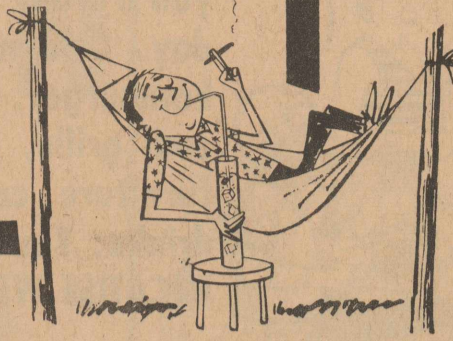

Asian farmers raise more than 200-billion tons of rice per year.

Freshwater Shrimp Subject Of Fisheries Research

HUNT — Lobster tail in lemon and butter sauce is one of the pleasures which makes life bearable. The price tag on this epicurian delight has always been higher than chopped liver but inflation has all but done in the average man who has such tastes.

But, out at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Heart of the Hills Freshwater Research Station in Kerr County, work is just underway with the freshwater shrimp, scientifically known as the Macrobrachium carolinus.

Found in some of the warmer rivers of the state, this critter grows to 27 inches in length and its tail has been described as similar in flavor to that of the lobster.

Project supervisor Bill Rutledge has some 120,000 larval shrimp in the lab's aquaria and aims to try and rear them to the juvenile stage.

"We obtained female shrimp in June from the Rio Grande near Brownsville," said Rutledge.

"Purpose of our work is to see if it is feasible to rear the shrimp and stock them in some of the state's rivers to encourage a sport similar to crabbing on the coast."

Rutledge is cautious about predicting any success for the project.

"In experiments with a species similar to carolinus it was found that the shrimp die in waters below 46 degrees Fahrenheit.

"Also, the adults migrate to the coast to spawn and will spawn only in waters with about one half the salt content as sea water."

Specimens have been found in the San Marcos River but no shrimp were discovered above the Lake Corpus Christi dam on the Nueces River.

It's relatively easy to rear small numbers in a lab," said Rutledge, "but a large-scale production for stocking purposes would probably have to be on the coast and I would imagine that it would be expensive.

Work with the shrimp is supported by the Governor's Public Service Intern Program. A college-age intern is doing the actual work at the TP&WD's facility with his salary coming from the Governor's Program.

WHAT IT COSTS TO KEEP COOL

COLLEGE STATION - If you are shopping for an air conditioner, the Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) on the label will indicate which model will cool most efficiently, one expert said.

She is Lynn Bourland, home management specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

"The higher the EER number, the better the air conditioner will cool your area. The unit with a higher EER may cost more but will operate for less.

"You can work out the comparison yourself using figures from the utility company and from the air conditioner label," she said.

Ask the local utility company for the cost of electricity per kilowatt hour in your community and the annual hours of air conditioning required for your climate.

The third figure -- kilowatts per hour required by each air conditioner -- is on the air conditioner label, or the salesperson will tell you.

To figure the cost of keeping cool: Multiply the cost of electricity times the hours of cooling needed, times the watts required by the air conditioner.

Divide the answer by 1,000 and the final figure will be the cost in dollars.

For example: model A (EER 8.9) uses 1,000 kw and costs $40 more than model B (EER 5.9), using 1,500 kw. You need 600 hours of cooling and the utility rate is four cents per kilowatt hour.

For model A, multiply all three figures -- $.04 x 600 x 1,000 equals 24,000 or $24 average for the year.

For model B, multiply all three figures -- $.04 x 600 x 1,500 equals 36,000 or $36 average for the year.

So model A is cheaper, as the difference of $40 initial cost will be made up in about three years.

"This formula gives you an estimate of what it will cost to keep cool. Your home's insulation, layout, and tightness of doors and windows will affect the operating costs," the specialist said.
