Motorcycle Cop Tells His Story Of Aftermath To Tragedy; Statements Of Brady Related

COURT ROOM, AUSTIN, Jan. 31.—The remorse of a normal, sane man who had stabbed a girl to death came to John W. Brady in his cell an hour or so after Miss Leblanc Highsmith had been killed. The state sought to show this afternoon in the elderly former appellate court judge's trial for the girl's murder.

Part of the testimony District Attorney Harry Brooks drew out during the afternoon was in attack on the predicate for the Brady insanity defense. That much was submitted in an attempt to show he was not "sufficiently intoxicated on the night of the killing."

Attacked Girls

Edward Ralph, above, 18-year-old Cleveland youth, has confessed he shot and wounded Beatrice Gallagher and Mrs. Mary Pabek recently when the city was being terrorized by a so-called "master gunman." Cleveland police also are attempting to link Ralph with the fatal shooting of Janet Blood, 16-year-old high school girl.

PERJURY CHARGE DISMISSED
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31. (P)—Perjury charges against Garliah Biffle, law book salesman, which grew out of the assault trial of Alexander Pantages, were dismissed by the superior court today. Biffle had been tried twice, both juries failing to agree.

MISSING MAN SAFE
EL PASO, Jan. 31. (P)—Lieut. John B. Allen, 28, signal corps officer, was safe today in Juarez. He was there late yesterday after army and police officers had searched for him, fearing he might have met foul play. His absence from El Paso since last Friday had caused apprehension for his safety, but other than to say he had made a trip to San Diego, Calif., the lieutenant would not discuss his absence.

DALLAS, Jan. 31. (P)—The state will be asked to subsidize all county fairs, with the first step repeal of the present tax on fairs, delegates to the Texas Association of Fairs reported here today. Speakers today included Jerry W. Debenport of Childress and A. N. Davis of Lubbock.

It was a gift to the Speaker from Senator Harry B. Hawes, of Missouri, "to aid in keeping peace in the House during prohibition debates."

NEW BILL APPEARS

Another Prison Location Proposal Offered

AUSTIN, Jan. 31. (P)—While both houses of the legislature listened to testimony from persons whose ideas on penitentiary reformation were invited as probably helpful in framing acceptable legislation, a sixth relocation bill appeared in the house, bringing the number of district plans before both branches to seven.

Representative Henry A. Turner of Madisonville offered the latest measure, proposing centralization on a site of from 100 to 1,000 acres within two miles of Madisonville, the main plant to accommodate 1,200 prisoners. None of the farms or lands now owned by the system would be sold at this time. It carries an appropriation of $500,000 for each of the fiscal years 1931 and 1932.

GETS $10,000 BAIL

Fort Worth Man Charged In Shooting At Marlin

MARLIN, Jan. 31. (P)—Charles Allison of Fort Worth, charged with the slaying of R. G. Fox of Victoria, was granted $10,000 bail in a preliminary hearing this afternoon before Justice of the Peace B. C. Curry. Fox died after being shot here Wednesday.

Several witnesses testified at the hearing but no evidence was offered indicating what precipitated the shooting. Allison formerly lived in Marlin.

Fox was buried here this afternoon, his wife and baby arriving from Gonzales in time for the funeral. Mrs. Fox formerly lived here.

Pecan production in Texas this year is estimated at 42 per cent of a full crop.

Former London Barmaid Who Became High-Paid Chorus Girl Found Dead

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (P)—Bobby Storey, one-time London barmaid who became one of the highest paid chorus girls on Broadway, was found dead yesterday with a nickel in her purse. Police listed her death as a suicide. She was 24 years old.

Her body, clad in black lace pajamas, was found across a bed in the studio apartment of Raymond P. Holland, landscape artist, in East 36th street. A jet of the gas log was open, and the apartment was filled with gas.

Holland found the body when he returned to the apartment after an absence of two weeks in a sanitarium for treatment for a nervous disorder. He said he had loaned his apartment to Miss Storey before leaving.

Miss Storey, who in private life was Mrs. Robert E. Foster, wife of an English actor, was discovered by Andre Charlot, producer of Charlot's Revue, working as a bar maid in a "pub" near London. He engaged her for his chorus and brought her to this country in 1924.

In 1925 she was a member of Ziegfeld's Police company, then appeared in "Yours Truly," "Rio Rita," Earl Carroll's "Vanities" and "Pleasure Bound."

TESTIMONY GIVEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (P)—Testimony that he gave a campaign contribution of $1,000 for Senator King, democrat, Utah, in 1922 to Samuel Russell, King's secretary, was given before the senate lobby committee today by Herman A. Metz, president of the General Dye-stuffs corporation of New York.

ESCANABO, Mich., Jan. 31. (P)—The army's patrol of 17 pursuit and three transport planes took off from the ice of Dease bay here at 1:30 p. m. C. S. T. today for Selkridge field on the last lap of their flight to Spokane, Wash., and return. The patrol had stopped here for lunch.

Executive Group Of Farm Board In Houston Session

Numerous Important Decisions Confronting Members Of Committee; To Name Headquarters

HOUSTON, Jan. 31. (P)—Members of the executive committee of the American Cotton Co-operative association, headed by President Ellen Northington of Montgomery, Ala., were in session here today with numerous important decisions confronting them, including the selection of a city for headquarters and the naming of a general manager for the association.

Carl Williams, Oklahoma City, member of the farm board, was present. Committee members on hand were V. B. Black of Raleigh, N. C.; Sam L. Morley of Oklahoma City, and N. C. Williamson of Milliken, La.; N. Gowan Jones of El Paso had not reached here at noon but was expected this afternoon.

Mr. Williams said the meeting probably would continue the remainder of the week. Selection of a headquarters city will not be taken up until a general manager is named, Mr. Williams said. He said it was doubtful if a manager would be named before Saturday.

The committee was concerned with working out details connected with launching the organization. Mr. Williams was non-committal as to a general manager being elected from Texas.

"The federal farm board," he said, "has not been informed as to what candidates there are for the position or what persons, if any, the executive committee has in mind."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (P)—A sharp exchange took place today between Chairman Caraway of the senate lobby committee and Arthur F. Faubel, secretary of the American Tariff League, after the witness informed the committee he understood Caraway had received $500 for a speech before an importers' organization.

Sharp Charges In Immigration Row

Director Of United States Employment Service Is Termed As "Propagandist And Theorist"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. —(AP)—Sharp charges and contradictions here today before the house immigration committee as Representative Free, republican, California, characterized Francis I. Jones, director of the United States employment service, as a "propagandist and theorist."

The Californian accused Jones of "misleading" the committee "with a statement that is not true," and Jones immediately made a heated contradiction.

Frost Ruins Crops

The exchange followed testimony by Jones that a demand for 5,000 farm laborers had been sent out from Harlingen, Texas, but when 126 men were sent only 25 were hired. Free contended that between the time of the original call for men was sent and the arrival of the 126 workers there had been a frost that ruined crops in the district.

Jones was examining employment surveys when Free interrupted: "Yes, the trouble is that we got so darn many surveys, but get no help."

Word Battle Follows

A wordy battle followed. "Chester H. Gray, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau association, warned that curtailment of the Mexican labor supply would force farmers along the border into production of other crops that would compete with those in other sections of the country."

Present Plan To Eliminate Bombs

Special Investigator Says Closing Of Speakeasies And Gambling Houses Remedy For Crime Wave

CHICAGO, Jan. 31. —(AP)—The state's attorney John A. Nathan has been presented by his special investigator, Pat Roche, with a plan for eliminating bombings from the country's catalogue of crime.

The plan, reduced to its essentials, calls for the closing of every speakeasy and gambling place in Chicago. Roche does not believe the plan as difficult as it sounds.

Word would be passed along that every such place must be closed. The grand jury would stand by to give prompt action against any owners of speakeasies who attempted to oppose the cleanup campaign.

With elimination of gambling and liquor places, Roche said, the gangsters' sources of revenue will have been removed and a daily business estimated at $200,000 will have been checked. With their income cut off, Roche believes, the gangsters would halt bombings.

The plan was made known following the bombing of a wholesale grocery store Wednesday night. State's Attorney Nathan studied the proposal.

GOLF CLUB ORGANIZED

Herschel McFarland was elected president of the newly organized Tech Golf club. Other officers elected were: Bob Webb, vice-president; Mose Witherspoon, secretary-treasurer; and Holmes Webb, reporter. Play will begin at once on the Meadowbrook golf course. A tournament is to be held within the club soon, to determine a team which can contest teams in other Texas schools.

Dues of $2 a month were assessed each member. The club is open to members of the faculty who are interested in the sport. Capt. Rhodes Ingerton, assistant professor of physical training, will coach the members. Twenty students are on the club roll.

Today is the last day for pictures to be entered in the La Ventana snapshot contest. A prize of $5 is to be awarded the person who submits the best picture. A committee from the members of the staff will judge the pictures. To the next eight pictures which are considered best will be awarded athletic action pictures, $210.

PLAY PRESENTED

At 10 o'clock yesterday a play was presented by several members of the play production class. The cast of old made, dressed in appropriate costumes, included the following: Claudine Cook, Edna Tom Davis, Effie Lou Keaster, Eileen Graves, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Grace Meredith. The play "Saved" was directed by Edna Davis and Myrtle Gibbs, members of the class.

CLASS TAKES TRIP

A class in farm management takes a trip every Friday afternoon to some near-by farm for the purpose of taking a complete inventory of the farm and the farm business. The material is filled out by following a mimeographed sheet. The 12 members of the class and the instructor, Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, go to the farms in the college bus. Following are the members: Warren Huff, Orval Burroughs, Frank Main, Robert Burdette, Dennis Vin Zandt, Ike Waller, H. L. Hershey, J. E.

TRIED ALL KINDS OF LAXATIVES Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Gave Only Permanent Relief

As everybody knows, the market is flooded with cathartics, pills and patent compounds for the relief of constipation. At best, whatever results are obtained are temporary. Besides, there is the danger in certain drugs and the habit-forming nature.

Mr. P. M. Fisher, 517 Olive Street, Scranton, Pa., has something to say on this subject which will be interesting to all constipation sufferers. He says:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse."

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and I keep me in a very healthful condition."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded.

In addition, it adds needed iron to the diet. You will like its delicious flavor. There are many delightful ways to eat it. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

your eyes...

care for their beauty

SHADOWS of weariness in your eyes will betray you! This breathes less pace of living tires the eyes—they look heavy, dull—they grow old. But you can help them to stay young!

Kathleen Mary Quinlan has devised a sure way to keep your eyes conditioned, bright, and sparkling. Three simple rules of Nature guided her.

The Quinlan Eye Bath cleanses and refreshes; Eye Cream nourishes and frees from lines the delicate skin around the eyes; Eye Astringent insures firm smoothness to the sensitive surrounding tissues. If used faithfully, these will preserve the young beauty of your eyes.

To enhance their loveliness, Kathleen Mary Quinlan has prepared Cosmetics to accentuate brows and lashes; Eye Shadow to intensify the color of the eyes, to make them alluring.

All Quinlan preparations are on display in our toilet goods department. Individualize your beauty. Ask for Miss Quinlan's booklets.

Beauty and Health Cannot Mingle, Says VeVerka, Authority on Charm

"Beauty and poor health cannot mingle. They are as dissociated as oil and water. Before a woman can be beautiful in any sense of the word, she must feel the radiant glow of health, which is the only foundation upon which the structure of magnetic personality can be erected. If the body machine is not functioning correctly in every detail, no amount of paints and powders can create beauty."

Eve VeVerka, who is to start her five-day free lecture course Monday evening, is author of those thoughts. In her lectures, she tells simple methods to regain and retain health, the essential to all happiness. Women readers of the Avalanche-Journal who have been following her articles daily, will hear her in person and learn first hand her teachings on beauty, health and charm.

There is not a dull moment for any woman in Eve VeVerka's lecture. It is said. With a commanding personality, clarity of thought and perfect diction, she delivers her message of pulchritude, giving beauty and charm aids that will be used by her listeners to great advantage for years to come.

Eve VeVerka's last lecture will be one for women only.

At all lectures, Eve VeVerka will allot a time to answer direct questions from her listeners. For the convenience of those who do not wish to state publicly their questions, a question box will be provided.

Ballot Recounting Continued By Sub Committee Friday

Wurzback-McCloskey Election Contest Still In Spotlight Of Interest At Washington

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—Recounting of the ballots in the Wurzback-McCloskey election contest for the seat in the house from the fourteenth Texas district was continued today by a sub-committee as the house elections committee itself went into executive session.

Report Accepted
The committee first accepted from its sub-committee a report on yesterday's recount of the ballots from three Bexar county precincts. The sub-committee then resumed its work, taking up the count of precinct No. 123 of Bexar county.

Counsel for the contestants, Harry M. Wurzback, who ran for re-election on the republican ticket in the 1928 campaign, and Augustus McCloskey, democrat, who holds the seat by virtue of a certificate from the state canvassing board, reiterated today the recount so far had strengthened their positions.

Alteration Claimed
Throughout Wurzback has contended that McCloskey won the election through fraudulent alteration of the returns. McCloskey was indicted on the charges and later acquitted.

In the precinct in which the recount started today, three of the four sets of returns required from each precinct under Texas law gave Wurzback 317 votes. The canvass by the commissioners court on the fourth set of returns allotted Wurzback 170 votes. The contestant claimed the canvass also should have given him 317 votes. McCloskey's vote of 149 from that precinct has not been contested.

Robbery Charges Will Face Youths Caught In Store

Eighteen-Year-Old "Scrap Book Bandits" Captured In Act Of Robbing Fort Worth Drug Store

FORT WORTH, Jan. 31. (AP)—Charges of robbery with firearms in at least three cases will be filed against two 18-year-old "scrap book bandits" captured here last night in the act of robbing a drug store. Police officials stated today. Other recent victims of hijackers will attempt to identify the youths. The youths who kept a scrap book containing newspaper clippings of holdups in Fort Worth and Dallas will be transferred to Dallas where they are suspected of having committed at least ten robberies during the past month. They gave their names as Roscoe Hendrix and John Collins and stated their homes were in Dallas.

The boys were captured by a watchman, in the act of robbing the Sun Drug store. The manager of the store, two employees and a customer had been forced into the rear of the store when surprised and arrested. Shortly before the watchman entered, the bandits had begun to bind their four victims with adhesive tape, a method used in holdups in Fort Worth and Dallas recently.

The boys gave their ages as 18 and declared they lived in Dallas, riding back and forth between the two cities on the interurban. A memorandum book taken from the pocket of one of the youths, was labelled "gunman's bluff." This notebook contained numerous clippings of holdups and robberies committed in Fort Worth and Dallas recently. A clipping from a Sunday Ft. Worth paper related the holdup of two filling stations here.

Whiskey Ring In Oil Fields Told

Story Of Operations Given By One Of 182 Defendants Held On Charges Of Conspiracy To Violate Pro

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31. (AP)—A story of the operation of a whiskey "line" in the oil fields of Pottawatomie county was related in federal court here today by Roy "Skinny" Grace, one of 182 defendants indicted on a charge of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws.

Grace, the son of the late W. A. Grace, former sheriff of the county, was the first government witness. This witness, with 24 other defendants, pleaded guilty Wednesday and is awaiting sentence. Thirty-two defendants are on trial. The government began presentation of evidence this morning after the outlining yesterday by Herbert K. Hyde, assistant district attorney of a case which he promised would show that protection money was distributed among officers "from constable to the state capital." Roy St. Lewis, district attorney, announced he had caused the arrest of Constable Black of Ada, on a charge of attempting to obstruct justice by arresting a government witness on an old five dollar bogus check charge.

AN OLD TIMER'S SCRAPBOOK

BY TIM MCGRATH

CORBETT'S HARDEST FIGHT WAS WITH JEFF; HIS EASIEST WITH SULLIVAN

Jim Corbett and I have some great fanning bees when we get together.

In one of these, I asked him what he considered his hardest fight. "Was it that great fight with Joe Choynski, on the barge?" I asked.

"That was a tough one, Tim, and no fooling, but though we just murdered each other, we were two tough, green fighters, who learned lots afterward."

"No, my worst fight was my first with Jim Jeffries, the Coney Island battle, when he stopped me in 23 rounds. The newspapers of that time say I was having things mighty easy when Jeff 'copped' me. But I wasn't; it was an awful time."

"Jeff was tremendous, in size and power. He didn't have to land squaring to hurt. I couldn't get near him, because to have bug me or lean on me in a clinch would be like trying to handle a grizzly bear. I had to stay away from him and use every trick I knew to avoid those powerful fists."

"I hit him more than he did me. Sport experts figured I was just playing with him. But when you fought 20 rounds with a man like Jeff was in those days, it was a terribly tiring task."

"And your easiest fight?" I asked.

"The John L. Sullivan battle," Corbett replied. "If I had fought every man as carefully as I did Sullivan, I'd have been champion a lot longer."

"After the match was made, well-meaning friends would tell me that Sullivan would murder me. I didn't have a mark on me after that fight. Col. William A. Brady, then my manager, will attest. Sullivan just couldn't touch me, because I used caution."

"I wish they had talked to me the same way before I fought Fitzsimmons. Then I might not have let myself become so fresh or so careless."

Baseball Outlook For Aggies Bright

(Special To The Avalanche)

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 31.—The resounding impact of horsehide ball with cowhide glove, the crack of stinging pellet on willow bat, the thud of rushing feet across the historic sward of the Kyle Field diamond, shouts of coach and candidates, while from above a Texas sun beams down with a smile upon purposeful sweating bodies, will mark the opening of the 1930 baseball season at the A. and M. College of Texas, Monday, February 3. Coach Roosevelt Higginbotham, the "Little King" of the grid and diamond at A. and M. a few years back, is ready for the task ahead of him, the task of whipping into shape the 1930 Texas Aggie baseball machine.

First Season For Him

Higginbotham faces his first season as coach of the varsity nine at A. and M., with a nucleus of 11 lettermen from last year on which to build for the season ahead. Altogether a squad of 30 men is expected to report for the opening of training, these including in addition to the lettermen a promising array of candidates from last year's varsity squad and freshman teams. Nine of the prospective candidates earned freshman numerals under Coach Higginbotham at A. and M. last year.

Only three lettermen from last year's nine will not be among those who are expected to report for training this season, an outfielder, a pitcher and a first baseman. Austin Gray, heavy-hitting outfielder from Dallas, and Homer Childers, crack first baseman from Houston, were lost to the team through graduation while Max Kasproewer, twirler from Brownham, did not return to school this year.

Brownfield Grid Men Given Awards

(Special To The Avalanche)

BROWNFIELD, Jan. 31.—Cecil Burnett will captain the 1930 Brownfield High school eleven, it was announced here Friday following a special program at the high school auditorium when 14 letter men for the past grid season were awarded for the services.

Following are the members of the letter squad who were announced as letter men: Holgate, Stricklin, Perry, Burnett, G. Goodpasture, Barrett, Brownham, Huchings, Bunker Graham, Ballard, Miller, D. Goodpasture and Neill.

"Eleven of these letter men will be back next season," Coach Burnett said, "and the prospects for next year are brighter than in several years."

Dazzling Golf Is Displayed By Pair On Opening Round

Par-Breaking Trail Is Blazed Over Deceitful Brackenridge Course In Opening Round

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

BRACKENRIDGE PARK, SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Densmore Shute, slim Columbus Ohio, youngster, and Al Espinosa, Chicago veteran Spanish professional, blazed a par-breaking trail over this deceitful municipal course today to lead a field of almost 150 golfers in the opening round of the ninth annual Texas Open golf tournament. Each shot the par 71 layout in 68 strokes to gain a leg on the $1,500 first prize.

Shute, who had his first taste of important victory in the recent Los Angeles open, apparently found it pleasant. He posted his 68 early in the day and let the field shoot at it. Late in the afternoon, after scores of crack shots had fallen by the wayside, Espinosa came through to equal the mark. But for two, three-putt greens coming in the Chicago start would have led the field at the quarter mark.

Shute Shoots Steady Golf

Starting early and neglected by the gallery, Shute turned in a remarkable round. His card showed 15 pars and three birdies. Espinosa was not so steady. He burned up the first nine with a 32, four under par, but went one over perfect figures on the way back.

Shute's card:
425 444 435-35
344 334 343-33-68
Espinosa's card:
334 343 435-32
344 444 433-36-68

While this pair was cracking par wide open, dozens of other starters found the going tough. Among those who threw in the sponge was Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., a former Texas champion. He had ragged 38 going out and finally gave it up after he had smacked two out and finally gave it up after he had smacked two out of bounds and taken an eight on the par four twelfth.

Gets Hole-In-One

A hole-in-one enlivened the day's festivities. Jack Forrester, New Jersey professional champion, plunked his tee shot in on the 190 yard tenth to round out a 73 score.

Two strokes behind the leaders were two Elmsford, N. Y., par shooters, Tony Manero and Mike Turnesa, each with a 70. The younger Turnesa brother took a 37 on the outward trip, one over par, but clipped two strokes from perfect figures coming in. Manero was even par out and one under on the back nine.

One stroke further back, but still well in the running were Johnnie Hickman, Paterson, N. J.; O. P. Hart, Wheeling, W. Va.; and Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, each with a standard 71.

Seventy-two was a popular figure for the day, no less than eleven turning in that score. Included in the bracket were such favorites as Horton Smith, unattached; Bill Mehlhorn, unattached; defending champion, Frank Walsh, Chicago; Bobby Cruikshank, Purchase, N. Y.; Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del.; and Harry Cooper, unattached.

Texas In 72 Class

Others in that slot were George Aubuch, Waco, Texas; Tom Creamer, New York; Julius Ackerman, Little Rock; Herman Barron, Port Chester, N. Y.; and Tucker Bowles, San Antonio. All were within easy striking distance.

Horton Smith, the official fair haired favorite of the gallery, appeared on the verge of jumping out of the picture early when he had a wobbly 38 on the first nine, but he rallied to produce a 34 coming in. At that luck was in his corner. On one hole he sliced deep into the woods, but the ball cracked a spectator in the neck and bounced back onto the fairway.

All Complete Saturday

All players who turned in scores today will participate in tomorrow's 18-hole round, after which the field will be reduced to the 64 low and ties for the final 36 holes on Sunday.

Among Texas entrants were:
Joe Lally, El Paso, 39-35-74.

Lubbock Westerners Invade Jackrabbit Stronghold Tonight For Skirmish With Lovorn Crew

(Special To The Avalanche)

RALLS, Jan. 31.—Ralls Jackrabbits ran away with an easy triumph here Friday night over the Spur Bulldogs by the score of 41 to 19.

The locals got the jump on the Dickens county lads and were leading 22 to 10 at the half. In the closing period, the Rabbits continued their assault on the enemy basket while the visitors were held to nine points.

King of Ralls led the scorers for the night with 17 points. Mason Spur forward, was high for the invaders with 11 markers. Worthen the other Bulldogs forward, also turned in a nice performance. Bland, substitute Ralls guard, gave a good account of himself while in the game.

Ralls' girls' team lost to Crosbyton, 43 to 12.

Tonight the Lubbock Westerners came to Ralls for their first skirmish of the year with the Jackrabbits. Previous games gave the locals a decided edge over Del Morgan's lads, but reports from the Hub City indicate the Lubbock cagers have begun to show considerable improvement.

Veteran Baseball Man Was One of Game's Best

HICKMAN, Ky., Jan. 31.—(AP)—"Pongo Joe" Cantillon, 69, "Grand Old Man of Baseball" died at his home here today.

High on a bluff overlooking the Mississippi river he loved, "Pongo Joe" for days had been waging a valiant fight against paralysis—a fight full of the spirit and the courage he had displayed on the diamond for 52 years.

"Don't worry," he would say. "Don't call my brother I will be all right."

Cantillon's passing removed one of the most picturesque figures in the baseball world. Since he started his career as bat boy for the Louisville, Wisconsin club, "Pongo Joe" had served as manager, umpire, player and scout in a dozen leagues, had discovered some of the outstanding players of the game and was known from coast to coast as one of the "sagest heads" the game had ever produced.

While serving as bat boy at Jacksonville, he studied the game, then he practiced. When his chance came he was ready, and he started as a player with Green Bay of the old Wisconsin league.

Cantillon served as a player for several years, when he was judged a manager and quick decision attracted the attention of club owners. Then he became a manager, first at Burlington, Ia., and then in succession at Dubuque, Ia., Marinette, Wis., Rockford, Ill., Oakland, Cal., and Dayton, O.

Became Umpire.

Then he umpired in the American league and later managed the Washington Senators, was manager of the Minneapolis and the Little Rock clubs and in 1929, again secured for the White Sox, relinquishing this position to serve as supervisor of umpires in the American association, a position which he held at his death.

He was credited with developing Walter Johnson and Rube Waddell. Cantillon was born in Janesville, Wis., Aug. 19, 1861. Until 20 years ago he had made his home wherever he happened to be. Then one day, while on a boat trip down the Mississippi river, Joe noticed a house at Hickman, Ky., perched on a bluff overlooking the Mississippi river.

"That's where I am going to live," said Joe, making one of his famous quick decisions. He bought the house and had spent most of his spare time there since.

Cantillon will be buried at noon Monday in the family plot at Janesville, Wis.

Babe Herman, Brooklyn's big slugger, says he will hold out for $50,000 this year.

Seven Rural Teams Engaged In Battle For Title On Wolfarth Court; Meet Closes Today

(Special To The Avalanche)

WOLFARTH, Jan. 31.—Fast-stepping basketball quintets from Posey and Hardy came through the first round of Lubbock county's Class C tournament here Friday afternoon as strong favorites to cop the championship in the rural school class, both clubs winning their two games played.

Of the seven teams entered in the meet, only these two emerged undefeated after Friday's 8-game session. The round robin program will continue Saturday, beginning at 9 o'clock this morning and going continuously up through 9 o'clock tonight.

A large crowd attended festivities here Friday and an even larger turnout is expected for the finals today. R. L. Hooten, director of athletics for Lubbock county, is in charge of the tournament.

In taking the lead along with Posey, the Hardy quintet downed Poster, 17 to 15, and New Hope, 10 to 2. Posey had a close call in its first game, nosing out Grovesville 11 to 10, but defeated McClung 20 to 14.

Other results of Friday games are: Hurlwood 11; Poster 18.
New Hope 17; McClung 23.
Grovesville 21; Hurlwood 10.

Hawkeye School Punished Enough Committee Avers

Reinstated Expected To Take Effect On March 1; Action Taken To Prevent Further Humiliation

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—(AP)—The University of Iowa, suspended from the Western conference on charges of subsidizing and proselyting its athletes, will be voted back into the Big Ten at a meeting of the faculty committee on athletics here tomorrow. Reinstatement is expected to become effective March 1.

This action, it was authoritatively learned today, will be taken to save the Hawkeye institution from further humiliation as it had been reported that the North Central Association of Colleges intended to investigate conditions at Iowa at its meeting March 7.

The general sentiment of the other nine institutions in the Western conference, apparently, is that Iowa has been sufficiently punished for its infraction of rules governing athletics.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Putting God's Kingdom First.
Scripture Lesson: Matt. 6:5-13, 19-21, 31-33.

5. And when ye pray, ye shall not be as the hypocrites: for they love to stand and pray in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have received their reward.

6. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thine inner chamber, and having shut thy door, pray to thy Father who is in secret, and thy Father who seeth in secret shall recompense thee.

7. And in praying use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.

8. Be not therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

9. After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father who art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.

10. Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth.

11. Give us this day our daily bread.

12. And forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors.

13. And bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one.

14. Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust consume, and where thieves break through and steal:

15. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth consume, and where thieves do not break through and steal:

16. For where thy treasure is, there will thy heart be also.

17. Be not therefore anxious, saying, What shall we eat? or What shall we drink? or Whither shall we be clothed?

18. For after all these things do the Gentiles seek: for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.

19. But seek ye first his kingdom, and his righteousness: and all these things shall be added unto you.

Golden Text: Seek ye first his kingdom, and his righteousness: and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matt. 6:33.

Time.—The sermon on the Mount was preached in the mountain of A. D. 28, in the second year of Christ's ministry.

Place.—The Mount of Hattin, a hill southwest of Capernaum, on the west shore of the Sea of Galilee.

Introduction.—A Prayer, answered by the voice of Father, makes me confident of getting all I ask.—The Ven. Rev. Dr. J. E. Nunn.

Christ commands us to pray, because he knows that our hearts are easily led astray by the temptations of the world, the flesh, and the devil.

We pray for our Father's honor, dominion, service, and then for our own preservation, pardon, protection.—Gratitude.

The Lord's Prayer teaches: 1. Our dependence upon God—give; 2. Modesty in request—bread; 3. Trustfulness—this day; 4. Brotherhood—us, our;—Glen Dana Boardman.

Why do you lay up where you may lose, and where, if you do not lose, you cannot always stay?—Augustine.

"And let the know my Father reigns, and trust his tender care."—Anne Steele.

The Model Prayer.—The Model Prayer is a model fitting designation of the one recorded here: "After this manner therefore pray ye." That it may be regarded as an outline; suggestive rather than a set prayer. On the other hand it is so perfect and complete that at times it finds its entire adequate voicing our whole heart's cry and need.

"Thy Father Who is in Heaven." Verse 6.

"Pray to thy Father who is in secret." Perhaps there are some thoughts here of the dark Holy of Holies in the temple consecrated to the secret Presence of the Almighty. Note the token of individuality, "thine inner chamber," "thy door," "thy Father," emphasizing the personal nature of true prayer. We are, of course, to pray with others, and Christ elsewhere speaks of the presence of the Father where even two or three are met together in the name; but they meet to no purpose in social prayer unless each by himself has become acquainted with God in solitary prayer. "And thy Father who seeth in secret shall recompense thee."

"Openly" is omitted from the most ancient manuscripts, and so from the modern translation. God's most blessed reward for secret prayer is a secret recompense, the consciousness of fellowship with the Father, the constant presence of the Holy Spirit in our lives. There are open rewards also, but they are as nothing compared with this.

"Vain Repetitions." v. 7.

"And in praying use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do." The heathen, all that are not Jews. "Use vain repetitions" is one word in the Greek, properly to stammer; then to babble or prate, to repeat the same formula many times, as the worshippers of Baal and of Diana of Ephesus (1 Kings 18:26; Acts 19:34) and the Romanists and their posterity and avatars.—Marvin R. Vincent.

A conspicuous illustration is the Buddhist prayer wheel, which is a wheel of prayer, whirled around by hand every revolution counting as a repetition of the prayers inside the wheel. "For they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking." Christ does not forbid the repetition of prayers that are born of earnestness and not of empty formalism, and we are to remember his parable of the widow who wore out the unjust judge by her passionately reiterated appeals. Neither is Christ forbidding long prayers if they are real prayers; he is only forbidding prayers that are false, unreal.

"As-In Heaven, So On Earth." Verse 10.

"Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth." God's will is that we should do justly and love mercy, and walk humbly with our God. It is done in heaven by the angels host. These, we are told, keep his commandments, harkening unto the voice of his word, and are the eternal model of how God's work should be done, whatever it is. They do it joyously, whatever it is. They do it harmoniously; there are no jealousies among the angels. Christ's life and death are the eternal model of how God's work should be done, whatever it is, on earth and in heaven.—P. W. Farrar.

"Lead Us Not Into Temptation." Verse 13.

"And lead us not into temptation." This is a prayer for God's leading—"You are in the world of temptation and you have never passed this way before. How can you avoid anxiety? How many routes tremble at the shadow of tomorrow! Your Father will be the same tomorrow as today. Take his hand and boldly say 'Lead us: lead us not into temptation.'—Rev. James A. Francis, D. D. "There must be some great blessing in temptation. It is to the soul what storms are to the tree, fixing its roots deeper in the soil."—Fanny Crosby.

Cassidy Duncan. Why, then, do we ask God not to bring us into temptation. Because we dread it, we fear the power of Satan, we know our weakness, we pray that God will not bring us within the reach of any temptation without at the same time providing a means of escape from it.

"Treasures Upon The Earth." Verse 19.

"Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth." This precept does not forbid us to acquire wealth, honor, possessions, but forbids us to treasure them set our heart upon them, obtain them at the cost of the higher life, use them for ourselves alone. Our attitude toward a very slight possession may make it a "treasure upon the earth," while many a person has owned vast wealth and yet made it a means of securing treasures in heaven.

"Treasures In Heaven." v. 20.

"But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven." Such treasure is laid up by active faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. We lay up treasure of love in heaven, the outflow of generous pity in loving assistance to the needy. Such treasure is laid up in our support of mission work. And then there is heart treasure in heaven. We have lost loved ones who have gone before; and so, with much thought of them, and of God, and of the dear Saviour, our conversation is in heaven. "Treasures in heaven" is lasting treasure. The man who has given his heart and his life to Christ, who has set his affections upon things above is in no fear of losing his riches. The man who has laid up treasure on earth loses it all when he dies; but the man whose treasure is laid up in heaven loses forward to an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled and which fadeth not away.

The Heart Is With The Treasure. Verse 21.

"For where thy treasure is, there will thy heart be also." "If we lay up treasure in heaven, live pure, useful, Christian lives, our hearts will be where our treasure is; we shall love God, and good men, and the noblest things. If we lay up treasure upon earth alone, live only for selfish and worldly purposes, our hearts will also be with our treasure; we shall love things and men unworthy our affection, and become incapable of appreciating or enjoying what is better than ourselves."—A. D. Mayo.

"Consider The Lilies." v. 28.

In regard to worldly possessions, avarice, which we have just considered, is the special temptation of the rich, and anxiety, which we are now to consider, is the special temptation of the poor. "Jesus warns us against anxiety. Of course he does not forbid foresight and prudence, but he would keep us from that carefulness and worry which destroy our peace and hamper our usefulness. He points us to the birds, to show that the heavenly Father will provide necessary food. He suggests the folly of anxiety which can shorten but can never lengthen the life of man. He bids us 'consider the lilies of the field' in their beauty, in order to assure us that the heavenly Father will clothe those who trust in him. It is indeed a confident dependence upon the care of the heavenly Father which banishes anxiety."—Prof. Charles R. Erdman.

"Seek First His Kingdom." Verse 33.

"But seek ye first his kingdom, and his righteousness." Other things may be sought, but sought, secondarily. Our main aim must be to promote the reign of God—that is, God's righteousness—in our own hearts and in all the world. First things first, and these are the first things.

Indigestion Gone, Has Fine Appetite Since Taking Orgatone—Feels Splendid

"I am certainly glad to say a good word for Orgatone," said Mr. J. L. Towell, retired business man, who was formerly in the real estate and oil business, who resides at 1800 Burnett.

"I am enjoying better health than I have in years, since I have taken two bottles of Orgatone," he continued.

"For about the last 18 or 20 years I have suffered dreadfully from stomach and nervous indigestion. I've had several pains in my right side, I had no appetite at all and I would bloat up and gas formed on my stomach after eating. Gas crowded my heart and caused me to have smothering spells and I thought I had heart trouble. My nerves were so badly upset and for months and months I couldn't get any rest and would not go to sleep until about 3 o'clock in the morning."

"When I saw Orgatone advertised, I began taking it. I had not finished my first bottle when I noticed I was getting better. My appetite is simply enormous and I eat anything I want without being troubled afterward. I never have a headache and the gas that used to crowd my heart has left me and I know now that I have heart trouble. My nerves are in good condition and I sleep like a log every night. In fact, my whole system has been relieved and Orgatone has done wonders for me and I am glad to recommend it."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Lubbock at Brown's Drug Store.

U. S. Attorney Makes Claim That Contribution Aided In Election Of Walsh To Seat In Senate

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Brewers and wet republicans blamed by U. S. Attorney Frederick H. Tate in charges published today for helping to raise $74,000 which was used to elect David I. Walsh, democrat, to the office of United States senator in 1926 over William M. Butler, republican. The $74,000, he said in an address

Georgian Says He Had A Dull, Tired Feeling; Dizzy and Nauseated.

Draketown, Ga.—"I am fifty-two years of age, and I remember my father taking Black-Draught and giving it to us when I was just a child," says the Rev. J. J. Wisener, of this place. "He gave it to us when we were bilious or had colds. After I grew up, I kept on taking Black-Draught, for I had never found anything better. My health is good."

"When I would get bilious, I would feel like shuffling along instead of walking. My feet felt too heavy to lift. I had such a dull, tired feeling, and I would feel dizzy and nauseated like I couldn't hold my head up."

"I found how much the Black-Draught helped me, and I took it. I quit having these bad spells, and find now I only have to take a few doses and I am good as new. Don't have to take much now. My health is good."

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

OLTON'S RAIL NEEDS

A railroad into Olton from somewhere!—That was the slogan adopted by the Chamber of Commerce of the Lamb county capital at its annual banquet Thursday night and is a war cry worthy of Plains-wide cognizance.

Not so many months ago the Santa Fe railroad proposed to construct a branch line, a "cut-off," you please, from Hale Center west through Olton to connect with its Amarillo-Clovis tracks at a point near Farmington. The extension would have connected the main line of the Panhandle and Santa Fe, between Amarillo and Sweetwater, and the main line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, running from Amarillo on through New Mexico.

With the aid and assistance of the Port Worth and Denver, South Plains railway, however, which fought the proposed line upon the contention that it was building from Plainview to Dimmitt, the Interstate Commerce Commission refused to permit the Santa Fe's project. The Interstate Commerce Commission, through the sage counsel of H. C. Davis, you'll recall, is the same vehicle which recently agreed to permit two rail lines, the Santa Fe and the Texas and Pacific, to build into Lea county, New Mexico.

"Consistency, Thou Art a Jewel!"

At any rate, a fertile strip of agricultural land in Western Hale, Northern Lamb and Northern Bexar counties, has thus far been denied a railway service and the way things are looking now will be without a railroad for some time. The situation offers a problem upon which Lubbock, particularly, may well spend some study.

One of the best sections of the South Plains and located in one of the finest agricultural counties to be found anywhere in the territory, the vicinity of Olton offers to Lubbock a profitable field if a rail connection between this city and the Lamb county capital can some way be arranged. Olton people naturally look to Lubbock as their city, but they are closer to Plainview and miles, in this country, mean money when traversed over dirt roads. A rail line into Olton from the south, through Amarillo, Clovis, and either to Amarillo or Amarillo would give that section a "straight shot" into Lubbock, the South Plains metropolis, and would not only be of benefit to Olton but to Lubbock as well.

They raise fine crops, of all kinds, in the Olton section. They raise produce, milk hundreds of cows daily, make butter, and their poultry flocks produce many eggs. There is plenty of land left to be broken room for hundreds of more families to settle. Lubbock is missing a bet when it doesn't formulate some plan or another to help Olton get a railroad.

BUS TRANSPORTATION

Council for railroads should not forget that one-way or two-way bus lines, imposed upon the trucking and bus lines, certainly will have its boomerang effect. In advocating such regulation it should be remembered that railroads are themselves becoming increasingly large users of trucks and buses, which, after all, are only an adjunct, but a very important one, to the old established transportation system.

Forward-looking railroads are aware of these facts. It remains for the cautious and experienced ones to counsel against legislation certain to be harmful not only to railroads but to this younger partner in the vital business of moving people and goods from place to place.

The competitive effect of motor buses and trucks has been greatly exaggerated. Students of the subject know now that the real competitor of the steam and electric lines is the privately owned automobile.

Quite aside from all other considerations, the railroads should remember their own sorry plight as a result of bungling government regulation. And bungling regulation directed against the motor carriers will react more and more against the railroads as they go in for truck and bus "feeders."

KEEPING PRISONERS BUSY

Experiments in the way of making federal prisons self-supporting give promise of success. Men confined in penal institutions prefer activity to idleness, and it is not surprising that prisoners should manifest a desire, when once started in a productive industry, to excel their own accomplishments as they become more expert.

It is a result of this inherent desire, which produces "champions" in every line of endeavor, that the production of cotton duck in the Atlanta penitentiary is constantly growing in volume. Prisoners in that institution take pride in beating their former production records.

While the object of the prison factories at Atlanta is to produce a sufficient quantity of coarser cotton materials for the needs of the federal government, Leavenworth is striving to increase its production of shoes to supply the demands of the Indian service and all federal prisons. In the course of a month this shoe factory increased its output 40 per cent without materially increasing its working force.

Prison factories, if properly operated, can perform a twofold service without working any appreciable hardship upon free labor. They aid in the rehabilitation of fallen men and women by teaching them how to work and how to earn an honest living. Prisoners cannot reform those it schools in the demoralizing habit of idleness. Moreover, it has been demonstrated that prisoners can be made self-supporting through utilization of their inmates in useful production.

THE UNIVERSAL SPORT

Formerly it was the boast of country dwellers, existing over their lot in contrast with the city-bound, that among other treasured possessions a trout stream ran through their acres. City fishermen have been known to travel hundreds of miles to find one, and lately salmon rivers have been bought and leased as if they were houses and lots. When Duke of Ormond was recounting his visit to Zulika Dobson didn't he mention a salmon river?

All the while, this has been going on the government has been filling lakes and brooks with trout, free to the patient and cunning, until now the city dweller in some states can catch the limit or a satisfactory fraction thereof between quitting time and dinner, and no near have restocking efforts and the automobile brought the trout stream to town.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

BIG APPROPRIATIONS AND DRY LEGISLATION NOW URGED BY ANTI-PROHIBITIONISTS

By CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Members of the wet bloc in congress would applaud a billion dollar appropriation for prohibition enforcement. Or more. The bigger the appropriation the happier the wets will be. A big appropriation, like the $15,000,000 suggested by Dry Commissioners, is what will make the wets look sour.

Of course the dries want no such plethora of money as the wets would be glad to wish onto them. As we know, however, they are opposed to any modification calculated to make mere misdeemeanors out of a certain class of Volstead act violations which now go into the felony category.

Wet policy on Capitol hill has undergone a complete transformation in recent weeks. Formerly the wets' idea was to hamper the dries as much as possible, which was not much, the dries having been in an overwhelming majority for the last 10 years. Today wet strategy is to urge dry legislation and appropriations to extremes. It can be done, with the deliberate object of giving the country a surfeit of prohibition.

"I believe the time is ripe for real, effective enforcement and I shall cooperate fully with the president to that end," said Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York a few days ago.

Senator Wagner is a winging wet from Manhattan island.

The New Yorker's remark may be freely interpreted as meaning that he does not believe the least possibility exists of prohibition's actual enforcement; he does want to compel the government to put forth every ounce of effort it is capable of, in an attempt to enforce it—convinced that it will fail and thus unmistakably reveal its impotency.

It is not altogether a new wet method of fighting. Senator Bruce of Maryland and Representative LaGuardia of New York did their utmost in the two houses of congress a year ago for a $300,000,000 dry appropriation—and dry votes were required to beat them.

Nevertheless it is a wet method which has won converts of late; whenever a dry lawmaker needs help today to put through an extreme dry measure—as, for example, Senator Sheppard's bill to make liquor buyers as guilty as bootleggers—he can get it from wet sources.

The truth is (though not many wets will admit it) that the strategists feared, earlier in prohibition's history, that a 100 per cent enforcement campaign really would dry up the country, and shrink from encouraging what they thought might rob them of their stock argument concerning the prevalence of Volstead violations.

The present wet bloc has the courage (according to its own account) of its convictions; the courage of despair according to dry proponents. At all events, the wets are ready for a genuine show-down.

Their complaints now is that the dries are trying to sidestep it.

The wets cite (among themselves, as a basis for their judgment that they can afford to exert themselves in behalf of more rigorous enforcement activities):

TOLL TAKEN BY HEART DISEASE MOUNTS HIGHER EACH YEAR

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein discussing the future of heart disease.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEGIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

On any single day, there are in the United States approximately 2,000,000 people suffering with heart disease. The mortality has been steadily increasing, rising in Chicago from a rate of 108.3 per hundred thousand population in 1925.

For the whole country, the rate was almost 300 per hundred thousand, and is almost double the rate for the next most important causes of death, including such serious conditions as cancer, pneumonia, tuberculosis and diseases of the kidneys. Of the deaths occurring from heart disease 90 per cent are in persons over 40 years of age.

The diseases of the heart represent the results of rheumatic fever occurring in childhood and of degenerative disorders occurring in middle life. Most of the consideration of the future of heart disease must take into account the trend of disease in general during the past half century.

The increase in life expectancy from 35 years at birth to 55 years means that a much larger number of persons are available to die at advanced ages from degenerative disorders whereas many died at early ages from the infectious diseases which scientific medicine now prevents.

The question has been raised as to whether the increase in death from heart disease represents an actual increase in the incidence of such diseases, or whether it can be explained, as is the rise in mortality from cancer, by the fact that scientific medicine now makes much more accurate diagnoses, and by the fact that people are living longer than formerly. Unquestionably both these factors are of the greatest importance.

The medical point of view toward heart disease has changed greatly in the past half century. Medicine was formerly concerned primarily with the pathological changes that took place in the heart associated with disease, and it was customary to classify heart disease according to the changes found after death.

Next came the period of classification according to established causes, and in various clinics it is now recognized that rheumatic fever, in youth primarily but also at advanced ages, is responsible for at least 50 per cent of all heart disease; that arteriosclerosis and degenerative changes in the body are responsible for some 35 per cent; that syphilis produces the changes in approximately 10 per cent; that the effects of over-activity of the thyroid gland may be responsible for 1 per cent, and that diseases of unknown origin are responsible for the rest.

If the human being passes through life without serious disease of any kind, his cells undergo a cycle which includes a period of growth, a period of maturity, and a period of degeneration and senility. Obviously, it is the hope of scientific medicine to give to all mankind a life expectancy of approximately the three score years and ten which Biblical legend establishes as the expectancy of man.

The loss of life before the period of maturity, due to heart disease, represents a tremendous economic wastage. The care of those with heart disease costs at least $100,000,000 annually.

Many visitors to Washington have been impressed by the United States senate. Yes, the architecture is unusual.

Today's Poem

THE MOON

O look at the moon!
She is shining up there
O mother, she looks
Like a lamp in the air.Last week she was smaller,
And shaped like a bow,
But now she's grown bigger
And round as an O.Pretty moon, pretty moon,
How you shine on the door,
And make it all bright
On my nursery floor!You shine on my playthings,
And show me their place,
And I love to look up
At your bright pretty face.And there is a star
Close by you and maybe
That small twinkling star
Is your little baby.

—Eliza Lee Follen (1787-1859)

Anniversary Notes

SECESSION OF TEXAS

On Feb. 1, 1861, Texas seceded from the Union despite the opposition of Sam Houston, its governor.

Removed from the center of conflict, Texas saw little actual fighting during the civil war. The federal forces captured Galveston and held it for three months, but two attempts of the Union forces to enter the state from Louisiana were defeated.

The last battle of the war was fought on the lower Rio Grande, near Palo Alto, a month after Appomattox.

Following the period of reconstruction, a constitution was submitted to the people in 1869, when congressmen and state officers were elected.

On March 30 of the following year Texas was readmitted to the Union.

At the election in November, 1872, the democrats secured control of the state and have since held it.

TO CLOSE LEGATION

RUSSIAN ENVOY TO MEXICO Is Called Home

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Alexander Makar, Russian minister to Mexico, today received orders from Moscow telling him to close the legation.

This officially completes the severance of relations between the two countries, the break starting when Mexico recalled its representatives from Moscow as a protest against communist demonstrations in front of the Mexican embassies in Washington, Buenos Aires, and Rio de Janeiro.

Record Low Price For Wheat Friday

Grain Sells At A Half Dollar Bushel Cheaper Than Season's Top: News Of Frost Revives Trading

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Wheat descended again in record low prices for the crop, and sold today at a half dollar bushel cheaper than the season's top. News of frost in the domestic winter wheat area with possible damage to the crop, revived late buying and the close was unchanged to 3-8 cent higher than Thursday.

Buyers for the Farmers' National Grain corporation were active on the cash grain boards of Minneapolis, Omaha, Kansas City and Duluth, but there were no indication of purchases here, although prices have hovered on the loan value fixed by the farm board.

At its low point today March futures of wheat sold at $1.13 7-8 a bushel. Weakness at foreign markets was held chiefly responsible. Much of the selling here was touched off by orders to stop losses.

The late rally brought March wheat back to close at $1.15 3-4 to 7-8; May $1.20 1-2 to 5-8; July $1.22 3-8 to 1-2 and September $1.24 5-8.

At its closing price March wheat was 2 1-4 to 3 1-4 cents below the farm board's loan price of $1.18 for No. 2 hard wheat, which is deliverable under March contracts. Traders for the National Grain corporation on the Chicago board of trade said the corporation is buying only country run of wheat and none was offered as low as the loan value today.

CASE COLLAPSED

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 31.—(AP)—The government's conspiracy case collapsed here today in federal court against all but five of the 29 persons originally indicted for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law when Judge T. Blake Kennedy sustained motions for directed verdicts for seven more persons involved in the hearing.

JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing house, marries ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of the department in which she works. Knight is a widower with a daughter, TONY, 18, in Paris, and a son, JUNIOR, 16, at school.

A honeymoon in Bermuda is interrupted by a cablegram that Tony is on her way to America. Judith and Arthur sail to meet her. When Knight brings his daughter home the girl ignores her stepmother. Later she commands Judith to leave the house. Knight, overhearing, forces Tony to apologize.

The girl spends much of her time with MICKEY MORTIMER, blasé amusement seeker whom she met in Paris. As days pass a state of armed neutrality exists between Tony and Judith. Junior arrives home for the holidays and treats Judith with cold, aloof politeness. Christmas proves to be a dismal day with both children away from home and all Knight's eager preparations wasted. Judith is uncomfortable until the boy returns to school.

AND CRAIG, a young man Knight has helped through college, calls on Tony. Craig is to be employed in the legal department of the publishing house. He has loved Tony for years—rather hopelessly. One afternoon Judith encounters Craig unexpectedly. She is annoyed at her embarrassment.

Because time hangs heavily on her hands, Arthur suggests that Judith have the house redecorated. Craig calls frequently and one evening when Tony refuses to accompany him to a dog show at Madison Square Garden, Judith goes.

Tony, left alone with her father, tells him it is Judith and not herself whom Craig comes to the house to see. Knight denies this angrily. Tony surprises Judith by asking her to have lunch with her in town next day.

Judith keeps the appointment and is met by Andy Craig, who explains the two asked her to meet her. The two are together when Tony arrives half an hour later with her father. She is artful enough to make Judith's and Craig's protests sound insignificant. After Judith has gone Judith goes to his office to explain. She is told by his secretary he cannot see her.

There is a reconciliation after Knight arrives home. He tells Judith they are to entertain a group of his business associates next week at a theater party. Judith buys a beautiful gown for the occasion. When she tries it on Arthur praises her extravagantly. Tony overhears and next day Judith finds the dress ripped to bits.

wouldn't it, to have Tony catch us getting in with the milk men? Don't you think that would be a good one - after I made her promise not to stay out after midnight?"

"Yes," Judith answered, "I guess it would."

She didn't know there was any great humor in the idea really. Nothing is apt to seem particularly humorous at 4 a. m. after a day and night of activity. But Judith was willing to be amiable.

Bert seemed sleepy, too, when he finally let them out of the car and drove on slowly toward the garage. Knight had his latchkey, fumbled getting it into the keyhole and then swung the door back.

Judith came after him. They had not been in the house two minutes before the strident jangling of a ringing telephone cut the silence.

Arthur hesitated on the stairway. "What the dickens?"

"It must be a wrong number," suggested Judith. "No one would be calling at this hour."

"Well, never know, Lord, I hope nothing happened to Junior!"

He went down the steps, through the living room and into his study. Judith, carrying her wrap thrown over her arm, followed.

Knight picked up the telephone. "Hello," he called in a gruff voice.

Judith could hear the faint answering "hello" from where she stood beside him.

"Yes," said Arthur Knight. "Yes. This is Knight speaking. He was worried now, plainly anxious."

"Yes, I told you so. Yes. What's that you say? WHAT'S THAT? Oh, my God! (this feebly) Yes-I'll be right down."

He set down the receiver.

"Arthur," cried Judith, now thoroughly aroused. "Oh, what is it, dear?"

Arthur Knight looked at his wife bitterly.

"It's Tony," he said. "Arrested. Down at the police station now with some fool who's charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. Tony-th, my God!"

The man shut his eyes as if to blot out the thought. His lips trembled.

"You're going down to bring her home?" Judith asked quickly.

"Yes," her husband answered. "How very tired, how very drawn and careworn Arthur Knight looked."

Judith sprang into action.

"You get your coat and hat. Arthur, I'll run out and have Bert bring the car back."

She was gone, the front door slammed, and almost in a moment it seemed as if she was back.

"It's waiting," she told Knight. "Dear, are you sure you'll be warm enough? Hadn't you better have your heavy coat?"

Knight was wearing the same evening topcoat he had had on for the theater. He brushed aside Judith's suggestions.

"I'm all right," he said. "It isn't cold out. Won't take us long to get there. Goodbye, Judith."

He went out of the house and down the walk to the car.

Knight had said it would not take long to reach the police station but as usual in affairs of this sort there were delays. Judith glanced at her watch and saw it was 20 minutes after 4 when he left the house. It was nearly 6 before the big car came purring up the drive again.

Judith knew but the scantiest details of the escapade. She was afraid to think of these or imagine what else Arthur might find on reaching the station. Tony Knight, as Judith knew, all too well, was a reckless, devil-may-care, young woman.

But who was the young man she was with tonight? Where had they been speeding so recklessly in the early morning hours?

Judith went up to her own room and changed the fragile evening frock for a soft woollen bathrobe.

Then she came downstairs again, went out into the kitchen and made coffee. After a cup of the dark warming brew she felt strengthened.

She could not sleep, she knew, and there would be a long, dreary wait until Arthur and Tony arrived. Judith curled up on the bigavenport and waited.

From time to time she glanced at her watch. Five o'clock. Five-fifteen. Five-thirty.

She was resting back quietly again when the noise of the car reached her. Instantly Judith was on her feet, hurrying out into the hall.

It was still too dark to see far outside but in a moment Judith heard them. Another instant and the door was flung open to admit Tony Knight. Her father appeared in the doorway.

Tony's scarlet velvet cap was awry. Her hair was tousled and she looked generally disheveled. Her eyes lit on Judith.

"You told him!" screamed Tony. "It's all your fault. But I'll get even with you, all right, and don't you forget it!"

Half-crying, half-mumbling, the girl ran up stairs.

FIVE CHILDREN PERISH

NAPANESE, Oct. 31, 1929

Five small children perished in their burning home at North Frederickburg Station, five miles east of here this morning. They ranged in age from one to nine years and were the family of Arthur Lloyd. One was sick in bed.

As early as 4:24 p. m. before the birth of Christ, the Egyptians had calculated that the year contained 365 days and an extra one every four years.

THE CITY OF LUBBOCK, TEXAS, SECTION I

That it is the intention of the City Commission to pass an ordinance on the 17th day of February, 1930, or so soon thereafter as such ordinance can be finally passed, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of said City, amendments to the existing Charter and calling an election for that purpose.

SECTION II

That the Mayor is authorized and instructed to cause a substantial copy of this resolution to be published in the official newspaper in the City of Lubbock, and same when so published is to be due notice to all said matters.

SECTION III

Such notice shall be published for ten days and the first of such publications shall be made as much as twenty days before the said 17th day of February 1930.

SECTION IV

This resolution shall take effect and be in force immediately upon its passage.

Passed, adopted and approved this 23rd day of January 1930.

H. D. WOODS, Mayor.

Attest—W. H. RODGERS, City Secretary—(Seal).

NOTICE OF BANKRUPTCY PETITION FOR DISCHARGE

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS.

NO. 38 IN BANKRUPTCY.

IN THE MATTER OF William Jackson Johnson, Bankrupt.

OFFICE OF REFEREE, LUBBOCK, TEXAS, January 29, 1930.

Notice is hereby given that William Jackson Johnson of the County of Terry, and district aforesaid, did on the 28th day of January 1930 file in the Clerk's office of said Court, at Lubbock, a petition setting up that he has heretofore duly adjudged a bankrupt under the act of Congress approved July 1, 1898; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said act and the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy, and praying for a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate, save such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

On considering the above mentioned petition, it is ordered that any creditor who has proved his claim and other parties in interest, if they desire to oppose the discharge prayed for in said petition, shall, on or before the 3rd day of March 1930, file with the Referee for the Lubbock Division of said district, a notice in writing of their opposition to a discharge in the above entitled cause.

W. D. GIRARD, Referee in Bankruptcy.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (AP)—An opening advance met a renewal of liquidation which sent prices into new low ground for the movement during today's early trading in cotton, but rallies followed on trade buying and covering. May contracts after selling off from 16.51 to 16.27 touched 16.97 in the late trading and closed at 16.46 with the general market closing barely steady at net advances of 6 to 9 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 8 to 15 points on trade buying and covering which was evidently promoted by the relatively steady showing of Liverpool. March reached 16.30 and October 16.92. The demand was quickly supplied and prices broke quite sharply.

March sold off to 16.04 and October to 16.70 making net declines of about 8 to 12 points and a decline of about 14 points from the best price touched on the mid January advance in the case of May deliveries. Offerings tapered and the market firmed.

May contracts after selling off from 16.51 to 16.27 touched 16.97 in the late trading and closed at 16.46 with the general market closing barely steady at net advances of 6 to 9 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 8 to 15 points on trade buying and covering which was evidently promoted by the relatively steady showing of Liverpool. March reached 16.30 and October 16.92. The demand was quickly supplied and prices broke quite sharply.

March sold off to 16.04 and October to 16.70 making net declines of about 8 to 12 points and a decline of about 14 points from the best price touched on the mid January advance in the case of May deliveries. Offerings tapered and the market firmed.

Cotton Reaches New Low Ground

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (AP)—An opening advance met a renewal of liquidation which sent prices into new low ground for the movement during today's early trading in cotton, but rallies followed on trade buying and covering. May contracts after selling off from 16.51 to 16.27 touched 16.97 in the late trading and closed at 16.46 with the general market closing barely steady at net advances of 6 to 9 points.

After Ten Years Of Selling Champagne To Americans, Zoe Zelli Comes To See What "Dry" United States Is Like

Former Night Club Owner Holds Open House in Paris

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer
NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—For ten years, Joe Zelli has been operating the most popular American night club. No tourist who makes any pretense of "doing" Paris considers he has been properly introduced to the city until he goes to Zelli's, sits in the "Royal Box," submits to a sketch for the golden gallery, watches an impromptu show with Broadway headlines doing their stuff for fun, and drinks some of Joe's honest-to-goodness champagne.

In the tourist season, which now lasts nearly 365 days, Joe keeps open house for Americans, and he probably meets more of them than any other person in Europe.

Then, when he gets a vacation, what does he do? Why, he comes right over to America, to meet Americans, and to go to night clubs. The hiking man has nothing on him.

An International Showman
However, this is his first visit here in fifteen years. Prohibition America is new to him, though the imbibing American is not. Zelli is an internationalist—an Italian by birth, an American by adoption, and a resident of Paris. He is a born restaurateur and a showman. He could have retired years ago on the money he has made, but not to have a night club would make him as unhappy as an actor without a public.

He has had clubs in London, Paris, New York, and even in Cairo, Town, Africa. Before the World War he conducted a small cabaret in the Broadway section of New York, which was just becoming famous when he joined the Italian army at the outbreak of the war and went to Europe.

Immediately after the armistice, Zelli opened a night club in Tours.

Because he believed what he heard about prohibition coming to the United States ten years ago, Joe Zelli, shown above, made a fortune. For he went to Paris and founded his celebrated night club. Home for a vacation, he calls the liquor "poison," but the water "marvelous."

France, for the accommodation of a number of American officers who were stationed there, intending to return to America, and resume his club there.

Profits from U. S. Prohibition
About this time, the news was broken to him that America had gone dry. Joe, naive fellow, believed this, so he went to Paris instead, figuring that there were lots of Americans there, and that they would appreciate a night club—something for which the real Parisian has no particular use.

So he opened Zelli's in Paris, and it clicked so hard from the start that he has never had the time to get back to this country, even for a visit.

"I am supported by Americans," he said frankly. "I should have closed the first week if I had depended on French patronage. I would prefer to be in America—but really I couldn't serve my guests poison. Honestly, I could not; nor could I drink it myself."

Poison is what our bootleg liquor tastes like to Zelli, who is a connoisseur of vintage wines and champagnes, but has no taste for hard liquor. He doesn't even sell the latter.

"But the drinking water is the best I have ever tasted." He became ecstatic at the sight of a goblet of to deceive a Frenchman. He was the first restaurateur to realize Americans like pretty girls in cabaret numbers, and that the French type of show girl was too mature for their taste. He made it popular for American actors and dancers to appear in his club as guests and do their stuff—by request.

"I can crack jokes only in English," he said, "because if you learn them in that language, they never fit any other. And of course, my program is in English, because it is for Americans."

Sons to be Bankers
Zelli has two sons, who rarely come to his club. Significantly enough, they are being trained to become bankers.

This winter there are three versions of "Zelli's" on Broadway, reproduced in shows dealing with French life to give authenticity. The scene has been used over so many times in pictures. After he installed his system of table telephones so that guests could call each other from one table to another, his place was filmed as a news picture and shown all over the country.

Joe has been pointed out at the New York theaters and lionized at the night clubs. He expects to go out to Hollywood, and possibly to appear personally as the proprietor in a forthcoming movie that centers about his place.

Announcement was made yesterday from the office of the county home demonstration agent that the Sorosis club, of Lubbock, will give two prizes for the best improved bedrooms of Lubbock county 4-H girls during the coming year. The prizes are to be given through the Better Homes committee of the club of which Mrs. R. T. Campbell is chairman. The prizes have not yet been selected.

Last year two pictures were given by the club as prizes and were won by Lura Barton and Elizabeth Elliott.

To date only instructions have been given the clubs but in February directions will be given for the making of braided rugs and more details explained in construction of book cases. The rooms will be visited by all club members and are to be scored by the local leaders and Mrs. Louis Bed. Lewis, demonstration agent. The local leaders include: Miss Elmer Noble, Mrs. Douglas Pounds, Mrs. Victor Blasengame, Miss Berdie Alexander, Mrs. Floyd Carroll, Mrs. John Harrell, Mrs. C. E. Merrill, Mrs. Fay Richardson, Mrs. J. L. Bassenger, Mrs. J. N. Townsend and Mrs. E. E. Henderson.

Imports Much Talent
That's where Zelli comes in. He provides a thoroughly American place, with just enough French atmosphere to add a flavor—but not

Leidigh Speaker At Ralls Confab

(Special To The Avalanche)
RALLS, Jan. 31.—Dean A. H. Leidigh, of the agricultural department at Texas Technological college, Lubbock, was the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon at the Ralls Rotary club at noon today. Dean Leidigh took as his subject "Cooperation."

Twenty farmers of the immediate vicinity were visitors at the luncheon, several of them taking part on the program.

Walter Olson, T. J. DeFee and H. G. Miller all farmers, made short talks before the gathering on the rural and urban conditions, stressing the idea of cooperation between the farmer and townspeople.

The meeting today was the twenty-second consecutive one at which the attendance has been 100 per cent.

Lecture Program Postponed Week

According to an announcement yesterday afternoon by Dr. J. C. Granbery, the scheduled lecture program at Texas Technological college for Sunday afternoon has been postponed for a week, due to the fact that Prof. C. B. Qualla, head of the Spanish department at the college, has been called out of the city.

Following a message received Thursday night stating that his brother's wife had died, Professor Qualla left for Del Rio.

The program will be held Sunday afternoon, February 9 at 4 o'clock in the chemistry building. At that time Professor Qualla will speak on the subject of "Culture and Religion."

Senate Confirms Envoy to Poland

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—The senate today confirmed the nomination of Alexander P. Moore, of Pennsylvania to be ambassador to Poland.

The senate also confirmed the nominations of Fred Morris Deering of Missouri, to be ambassador to Peru; Edward E. Brodie, of Oregon, to be minister to Finland, and John J. Deane to be controller of customs at San Francisco.

CRANE ON PROGRAM Sweetwater Judge To Talk To Historical Society

Announcement was made yesterday that Judge R. C. Crane, of Sweetwater, will be one of the speakers in Lubbock April 5 at a meeting of the West Texas Historical society.

Judge crane is father of Roy Crane, originator of Wash Tubbs popular comic feature in the Daily Journal.

Ching Johnson has recovered his old form and is playing great hockey for the New York Rangers.
