Musings of the moment: There's a thrill in gardening and seeing living things push aside the clouds and come out into the sunlight. ... And down in central Gray county are garden spots and shallow water that would feed all the residents of the county. ... We are not wishing for any foreigners, but we recognize that Japanese, Bohemians or Italians could do wonders with that soil, water, and their willingness to bend their backs. ... Not the least important is our sunshine. Did you read that all the electric lights in America could not illuminate a square mile as brightly as does the sun?

SENATOR Clint C. Small is feeling very much encouraged by developments in his gubernatorial campaign. While the Wichita Falls boys are more or less chewing each other up, and most other candidates are fighting public indifference, Mr. Small continues to consolidate his sectional strength and cultivate friendship with East Texas. East Texans, with no candidate they call their own, are expected to put Senator Small in the run-off. With solid West Texas support, he can make it. And as the election draws nearer it will be

Answers to Previous Questions ONE explanation of the bowie knife invention is that Colonel Bowie got the idea when, in an encounter with Mexicans, his sword broke to within 20 inches of the hilt, leaving it easier to handle. Under the original law, patent rights were granted only to U. S. citizens. This was changed in 1891. First broadcloth came from the merino sheep of Arthur and John Scholfield at Pittsfield, Mass.

Cline Attacks Government's Public Works Policy In West Texas

CONVENTION IS TOLD SECTION WAS BETRAYED

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT 'BROKE FAITH' WITH WEST TEXAS

SAN ANGELO, May 15 (AP)—Charges that the federal government had broken faith with West Texas on public works projects and relief were hurled by Walter Cline, president of the West Texas chamber of commerce, today in the keynote address of the annual convention. "We spent considerable time and money on PWA projects, feeling that it was the route the government wanted us to take in relieving unemployment," Cline said. "We played the game and got the job done. We feel now that the federal government ought to go through with its contract. Instead it has spent 80 per cent of the funds appropriated for this work on federal projects." "I am going to be natural for awhile," he then plunged into a tirade of criticism of the handling of rehabilitation and relief. "I hope that some aspirant for a high political office in Texas will come forward soon to declare himself in favor of relief on the basis of need, elimination of overhead in administering relief, removal of relief work from politics, emergency relief where needed, and with a definite expression that the government should carry out its contracts on PWA projects.

"I have seen enough of undertaking to relieve people for nothing. I am not so alarmed over the wastage of money as the danger of creating multiplied thousands of parasites who will demand in increasing numbers that the government support them while they do nothing." Referring to an address yesterday by Charles F. Braun, of Austin, assistant state relief director, Cline said: "Mr. Braun made the observation that he would like for some West Texas county to achieve and declare its independence of relief and stand on its own, and suggested that our organization work toward that end. Applause and shouts of 'pour it on' greet Cline's criticism of relief administration in Texas.

Jaycees, Others Asked to Take Pageant Roles

All Pampa Jaycees and 40 or more volunteers are requested to meet at the city hall at 7:45 o'clock tonight to be assigned parts in the Pre-Centennial pageant. About 50 high school boys and 20 women are needed. Sherman White, chairman of the pageant committee, told Jaycees at their luncheon today that cooperation of 119 persons was absolutely necessary now to stage the historical event. There will be no expense to individuals. Costumes will be furnished. About 20 of a cast of 120 have been accepted thus far. Guy E. McTaggart, ticket sales chairman, said that the drive was well organized and going ahead. Jim Collins, publicity chairman, said statewide and Panhandle-wide attention was being drawn to the Pre-Centennial.

Carl Sturgeon, program chairman, presented Mrs. Earl Thomas in vocal solos, accompanied by Mrs. Forrest P. McSkimming. Gilmore Nunn gave a humorous speech on "The New Deal in the Home." John Sturgeon made a talk inducting Mason Gellatly, Coleman Williams, and Homer Elliott into the Junior chamber.

SHIP GUARDS SHOOT 5 IN TEXAS RIOTS

Imported Stevedores Hurt Negroes; Police Expect to File Charges in Case.

HOUSTON, May 15 (AP)—Negro independent longshoremen who were landed at the docks here yesterday after several hundred union longshoremen had been driven back in a blaze of gun fire unloaded a vessel today under protection of a canvas screen, special guards and police. Meanwhile, police threatened to file assault to murder charges against every armed man aboard the ship Wichita Falls at the time it brought in the non-union men. Four men were wounded when guards poured a hail of lead into the assemblage of union longshoremen along the docks. Lieutenant A. C. Thornton of the police homicide department, said charges would be filed against all of the 35 armed guards on the ship and any armed person aboard. The wounded men were Emmet Gibson, and L. W. Conacher, whites, and Arthur Chappell and Willie Black, negroes. Gibson and Chappell were seriously hurt. All were longshoremen except Conacher, a bystander.

It had been reported that a fifth man was wounded and a sixth hurt taking him to the hospital but an investigation disclosed that these men were injured before the dock disturbance started.

LABOR HEARING ON PHILLIPS IS FINISHED HERE

Decision Likely Will Be Month or More Later

FINAL evidence in hearing before Dr. George W. Stocking, member of the Petroleum Labor Policy board, on complaints that the Phillips Petroleum company has violated article 7-a of the oil code relating to collective bargaining, was heard in a session at the courthouse yesterday afternoon. With Dr. Stocking was L. L. Hollingsworth, special agent for the department of interior.

Dr. Stocking left Amarillo by plane this morning for Washington. As soon as transcripts are made of all testimony, copies will be made and given to attorneys for the Phillips company and to officials of the Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers organization which was represented here by Fred L. Phillips, vice-president, of Port Worth.

Much of the testimony here concerned organization of the Phillips Employees association, which has planned an extensive recreation program. Albert Lord, former Harvester athlete, is chairman of the special committee of this association. The complaint alleged that the company sponsored this group in opposition to the union, Phillips attorneys entered denials.

Briefs will be filed at Washington by both parties and a decision will be handed down there a month or more from now. The investigators would make no statement concerning the merits of the case. They

PRESIDENT ASKS OVER MILLION TO TAPER OFF RECOVERY FUNDS

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today for $1,322,000,000 to taper off the emergency recovery expenditures during the coming government year. The main portion of the fund—$940,000,000—was assigned by the president for general relief and public works purposes. He asked discretionary power to use it as demands required. Out of this, however, he has tagged $100,000,000 for road construction; $40,000,000 for starting the navy shipbuilding program; $48,000,000 for the Tennessee valley authority; $35,000,000 for public buildings construction; and $5,000,000 for the inter-American highway. The appropriation would increase the government debt to the all-time peak of $31,834,000,000 for

LETTER LEADS TO RESCUE OF TUCSON CHILD

NO RANSOM IS PAID IN EITHER CASE; PAIR IS UNINJURED

TUCSON, Ariz., May 15 (AP)—Carlos G. Robles, assistant Pima county attorney and uncle of 6-year-old June Robles, flatly denied today rumors the child's kidnapers had received $100,000 in ransom money before the little girl was released from her desert prison last night. "We absolutely did not pay a cent of ransom to anyone," declared Carlos.

By The Associated Press.

TWO victims of kidnapers—little June Robles of Tucson, Ariz., and William F. Gettle of Beverly Hills, Calif.—have been rescued alive, and without the payment of ransom.

Their rescues came late yesterday within a short time of each other. Abductors had demanded $75,000 for the return of Gettle and $15,000 for the 6-year-old Tucson child. Gettle was found in a house at La Crescenta, a foothills town near Beverly Hills. He was bound to a bed, and a courtplaster mask sealed his lips. He was unharmed. Authorities reported that three men under arrest had admitted participation in the Gettle kidnaping. Two women also were in custody for questioning.

The Robles girl was found in a desert grave, roofed with tin, bur-lap and cacti. She had been held there 19 days. She was dirty and sunburned. She was chained to a iron post driven into the floor of her shallow tomb. An unsigned letter to the governor of Arizona led to her rescue. No arrests have been made in the Robles case.

LOS ANGELES, May 15 (AP)—Three men arrested in the kidnaping of William F. Gettle, who was released unransomed and unharmed last night, were reported by authorities today to have admitted participation in the abduction of the Beverly Hills millionaire.

Statements of the three, made in the presence of police detectives, sheriff's deputies and postoffice inspectors named Jimmy Kirk as the alleged "brains" of the plot; Larry Kerrigan, as the man who guarded Gettle, and Roy Williams, as the one who aided Kirk in seizing the girl, were made at his summer home last week.

Under questioning by Capt. Morris G. Stensland of the sheriff's office, Kerrigan was quoted as saying he was to have received $18,000 for acting as Gettle's guard, and that Kirk had ordered Gettle to write the letters regarding arrangements for delivery of the $60,000 ransom. Kirk, in his statement before the officers, said the plot to kidnap Gettle was his idea, but that Williams and Kerrigan helped him make the plan.

Asked if anyone else was involved in the plot, Kirk said: "That is all."

He said he knew nothing about two women, Loretta Woody and Joan Burke, now in custody. Williams, in his statement, said he and Kirk were the two men who kidnaped Gettle.

Officers found the retired broker last night, bound to a bed and his and the statement was made repeatedly by other members of the court that it was not an argument as to necessity but a question of how to find the money for the construction.

Judge Ivy Duncan made a lengthy review of oil development in this section and told how a bridge was built during his administration over the North Fork of the Colorado river. He said that in his opinion, the money for the McClellan creek span could be obtained by issuing about $25,000 in warrants against the constitutional road and bridge fund, for which there is a compulsory 15-cent levy. He proposed that this be repaid at the rate of $5,000 a year, this amount to be saved by the commissioners court through curtailment of their grading. Told that commissioners have about $88,000 a year for precinct purposes, he said that they should be able to divert $5,000 a year to an emergency need. Bridge Costs To Be Probed

Oil Men Tell Court Why McClellan Span Vital to Gray County Now.

Members of the commissioners court today planned to inspect the McClellan creek crossing in east central Gray county and, with the aid of a representative of the Austin Bridge company, to arrive at an estimate of the cost of the proposed span. The court recessed yesterday until today after hearing many representatives of the oil industry tell why the bridge was an emergency need.

OFFICIALS of oil companies and supply houses, pointing out that their firms pay 85 per cent of the taxes of Gray county, made strong arguments before the commissioners court yesterday afternoon on why a bridge should be built at once across the McClellan creek ford near the "hot spot" of oil activity in eastern Gray county.

Question of Means Although Commissioner W. W. Wilson said there was some opposition in several precincts, he did not go into details.

Rules Levy Necessary If warrants of bonds are issued for construction of a McClellan creek bridge, a tax levy must be made at the time to guarantee payment. It was stated by County Attorney Sherman White today in answering a question of the commissioners court. An election would not be necessary, however, unless a protest were made by 10 per cent or more of property taxpayers of the county. The levy would not be large if the bonds were paid over a period of several years.

HAMILTON IS 'KILLER AND YELLOW PUNK'

IDENTIFY THUMB PRINT AS THAT OF BOLD DESPERADO

DALLAS, May 15 (AP)—Raymond Hamilton was branded as a "killer and a yellow punk" in a letter purportedly written by his former partner in crime, the desperado Clyde Barrow, and received today by Winter King, assistant district attorney here.

The letter, typewritten illegitimately on a telegraph blank, was signed "X-Clyde," and in the lower right hand corner appeared a smudgy thumb print.

King immediately took the letter to Douglas Walsh, identification expert for the Dallas police department. Walsh checked the print with his records and identified it by at least 20 counts as the left thumb print of the fugitive Barrow, wanted for a dozen cold-blooded killings and various other major crimes.

The envelope, addressed to "Mr. King, district attorney's office, Dallas, Texas," was printed in long-hand with a pencil. It bore a postmark showing the letter was mailed in McKinney, Collin county, at 7 p. m. yesterday. The envelope carried a three-cent Mother's day stamp.

Inside was the letter, reading: "So Raymond Hamilton never killed anybody. If he can make a jury believe that I'm willing to come in and be tried by myself. Why don't you ask Ray about those two policemen that got killed near Grapevine? And while you are at it better take it over with her friend Bonnie and me were in Missouri when that happened but where was Ray? Coming back from the West bank job wasn't he? Redhoe too wasn't he? I got it straight. And ask him about that escape at Spring on a farm where that guard was killed. Guess he claims he doesn't know who fired any shots there don't he? Well if he wasn't too dumb to know how to put a clip in an automatic. He's fired a lot of shots and some of the rest of the guards would be killed too. He was his lawyer he was too good for me and didn't go my pace, well it makes me sick to see a yellow punk like that playing baby and making a jury cry over him. If he was half as smart as me the officers couldn't catch him either. He stuck his finger print on a letter so here's mine too just to let you know this is on the level; X-CLYDE"

P. S. Ask Ray why he was so damn jumpy to get rid of those yellow wheels on his car and ask his girl friend how they spent Easter.

Shown the letter in his cell, Hamilton listened while it was read and then remarked: "Well, Clyde must have degenerated into a dirty lowdown skunk." Authorities indicated they would "talk to Raymond's girl." Mary O'Dare is at liberty under $5,000 bond for alleged participation in the West bank robbery. She was his companion for about two months after his escape from Eastham farm January 16.

ONE SLAIN, 21 INJURED IN RIOT OF 500 STRIKING LONGSHOREMEN

SAN PEDRO, Calif., May 15 (AP)—Storming a stockade in which 400 non-strikers had been housed, a mob of 500 or more striking longshoremen created a bloody riot at Los Angeles harbor about midnight in which one man was slain and 21 injured. Scores were hurt slightly. The violence brought to an end a peaceful strike of the cargo handlers, some 1,800 of whom had walked out with thousands of others in Pacific coast ports in protest against wages, working hours and demands for recognition of their union. Throughout yesterday there was a noticeable restlessness at the harbor and after nightfall rumblings of disorders were heard. A guard of 60 special police and sheriff's deputies was dispatched to the stockade, built in the west basin near the Grace Line docks. The shouting army of strikers launched the assault about midnight, descending upon the camp bearing lighted flares, clubs and sticks. The fence was battered down and torches applied to the inflammable canvas tents. Soon a terrific hand-to-hand struggle was staged between the two groups and guards. As tents continued to be fired, a volley rang out. Dick Parker, 20, was shot in the chest and killed. Checked momentarily, the rioters surged forward again, the melee spreading over the docks with a maddened mob of cursing, yelling men swinging or throwing anything their hands were laid upon. Several hundred, seeing the Grace liner, Santa Elena, at her berth, charged forward. Guards beat the intruders off and the sounds of rifle and pistol fire were heard again and more men fell, most of them wounded in the legs.

I SAW—Miss Louise Whitfield walking down the street with Miss Laverne Ballard casually take out her compact and then gaze in amazement at her nose. She had given her nose, instead of her cheek, a thorough rasping while attending a matinee picture show. On the face of Dr. Carl Schulkey, sideburns and whiskers that are historically correct in every detail, that is, they conform to the fashion of 1854—so he gets the prize: a free shave after the pre-Centennial celebration.

SOME ASPECTS OF ARMAMENTS

A widespread new attitude toward preparedness seems to be gripping America. The aggressiveness of Japan, and the possibility that that nation might successfully raid and seize Alaska as a base of operations against America, is a strong factor in public thought.

It is a long way from Pampa to the Orient, yet whatever affects the power and trade of America is vital to this oil and wheat area, not to mention the cotton district to our south. There is a strong feeling that all nations should gradually disarm, and President Roosevelt is a leader in this thought, yet as long as other nations arm so must America.

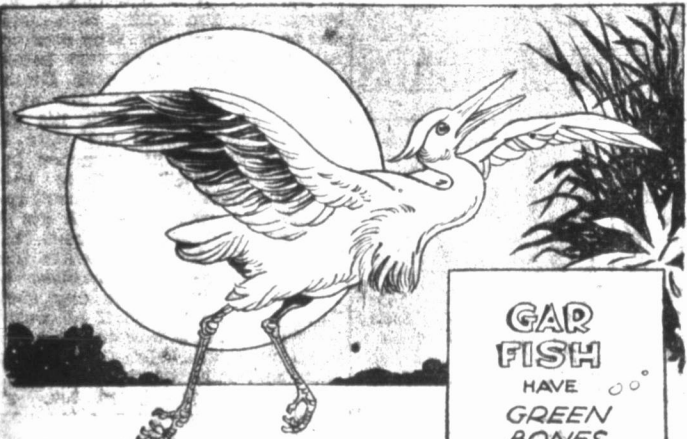

Russia has recently increased her huge army by 100,000 men. Japan has added twice as many in the last three years. Germany is re-arming and has increased her army-navy budget to $538,000,000 despite treaties to the contrary. France has enlarged her army and built a frontier of concrete forts. Italy, Poland, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, England and the other leading nations are building up their defenses to the best of their ability.

As long as there are territorial and trade disputes there will be trouble. And as long as there is trouble, wars are possible. The best-armed nation sets the pace for the others. A poor peace is a breeder of more wars. The world war did not settle the troubles of Europe. It hastened radicalism, set up a great new radical power—Russia—and likely made possible a new lineup against France.

Under these conditions, pacifism is far from a logical attitude. It is not surprising to see many groups which favor worldwide disarmament turning toward preparedness as a current necessity.

Political interest lags behind in west Texas, compared with other sections, where interest rises with the sap in the trees. In Gray county, this is partly due to the greatest distance from Austin, the capital. Also there are many out-of-state residents who have come here because of the oil and whose political interest has not been weaned from Oklahoma, Kansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Missouri, and other states.

DALLAS boosters went to the trouble of "tripping" as far north as Amarillo, here they turned back by way of Clarendon and cities to our south. We don't appreciate that routing, although we realize that rail connections are such as to make it difficult to touch at all Panhandle cities. The fact is that Texas is so big that even Dallas can't visit the far recesses of it. And if Pampa sees a bit slighted, you can imagine the isolation of Dalhart, Canadian, Spearman, and Perryton. In failing to come to Gray county, Dallas will still be ignorant of one of Texas' richest oil territories and bread

BEING governed out of distant Austin has many disadvantages. There are times when this Pampa, like many others, would like to tell the lawmakers what he thinks of certain bills. We have no ambitions to be a professional lobbyist, but we'd like to have closer touch with those who represent us. We hear rumors about the conduct of various representatives, but we Panhandle residents cannot afford to journey down to Austin every time an important bill is up for a vote.

THAT'S a major reason why we look upon spreading federal control with alarm. Great influence goes with ability to get the ear of high officials. Few of us can go to Washington to make our opinions known at the proper time. Though Texas is large and Austin

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Sergeant Harper has questioned the household of Pierre Dufresne, contractor and political power, without obtaining any pertinent information about the murder of two men in the Dufresne breakfast room. It seems evident that one was the man who had threatened Dufresne in anonymous letters; the other was a policeman. Yet Harper is not convinced. He explains the matter to Mrs. Croyden, sister of Mrs. Dufresne.

Chapter 18
WORK BEGINS
"Only the central fact is obvious," Harper said. "Two men were killed in this room last night. The reason for that is anything but clear. Of course, I have some sort of a theory, but I won't even think about it until all the facts are in my possession. And that," he added, smiling grimly, "may blow my theory sky-high."

Mrs. Croyden looked around at the various evidences of the police search and research and made a grimace of distaste when her eyes rested on the chair with the dead man's clothing. "I am so sorry for that poor policeman," she remarked, with a shudder.

"Yes, that was too bad," Harper's lips tightened. "Officer Hamill leaves a wife and three children. That is what happens to many policemen's widows."

Alaine made an eloquent gesture. "Stop, please," she begged. "You make it sound so real. I can see that poor man walking up the steps, leaving his footprints in the snow, not knowing that he was going to his death." She paused, then went on ear-neasy. "Of course, we shall do everything possible to assist you, Mr. Harper. I know there are lots of questions you want to ask about the house, and the servants, and all that sort of thing. Please feel free to call upon me at any time for such information. It is my sister's home, but I am perfectly familiar with all the details."

Harper bowed. "Thank you, Mrs. Croyden. I shall have lots of questions, but first I have to chart my line of inquiry."

Alaine smiled in her friendly manner. "There are many questions I would like to ask, too," she replied, "but I'll restrain my curiosity until a more auspicious time. Meanwhile, all our facilities are at your disposal. I suppose you will be in this room a great deal?"

"Yes, this will be my office and headquarters while I am working on the case."

"I'll leave you to your labors, then," she responded, "and I wish you success."

graciously withdrew. "This is a fine, pleasant-spoken lady she is, Sergeant," was the policeman-guard's comment after she had gone. "Good-looking, too!"

Harper had almost forgotten the man's presence. "Yes, she is," he agreed, "a very charming lady, indeed. If every one else in the house is as frank and cordial it will make this job a lot easier. I'm afraid some of the others are going to be anything but helpful. By-the-way, what's your name?"

"O'Connell, Sir."

"You understand, O'Connell, that no one is to disturb anything in this room. I'll be in and out of here all the time and I want you to keep an eye on things."

"You can trust me, Sergeant. An order's an order."

investigating more thoroughly his most perishable clues—the footprints in the snow. The winter sun was shining brightly and it needed but a mild rise in temperature to dissolve the marks left by various visitors on the previous night.

He spent nearly half a hour in a careful study of these prints, and when he returned to the breakfast room he found that Detective Lafferty had just arrived from Headquarters.

"Hello, Steve, I've brought you all the stuff that Jackson and Doc Miller had ready," the lanky detective announced, tapping the briefcase he had been carrying. "You've got the boys at Headquarters stirred up. There's a rumor flying around that you've got on to something red-hot, up here."

Harper nodded. "As I told you last night, Jack, when it comes to murders I have a natural distrust of unusual and complicated layouts. I don't like some of the points about this affair, and after talking them over with Carlin I like them even less."

O'Connell saluted, grinning. Harper left the room, intent on Lafferty rubbed his chin thoughtfully. "You know, I felt that way, too, when I looked in here last night, but I thought I was just getting too suspicious in my old age. Where are we going to spread out this stuff?"

Harper looked around at the various pieces of furniture, but could see nothing that would serve as a work desk. He did not want to use the center table for fear of marring its highly polished surface, for this was one of the rooms which had been completely refurnished while the Dufresnes had gone to the Australia.

"Good morning, Andrews. I need a table to work on in here. Any ordinary table will do. Can you get one for me?"

Andrews thought for a moment. "There is a table in the library, sir, which will be just the thing. I'll bring it in."

"Perhaps you had better ask permission first?"

"Mrs. Croyden has already given orders that you are to have anything you need, sir." While speaking, the butler's eyes were moving swiftly over all parts of the room. He seemed very much interested in the fingerprint markings which had blossomed out over the various articles. The heap of the dead man's clothing also drew his inquiring attention, but his face retained its habitual mask of stolidity.

"O'Connell," Harper directed, "go with Andrews and help carry the table."

In a short time they returned, bearing a plain mahogany table. "Put it against the windows," Harper ordered, "the light is better there. Thank you, Andrews, that is just what I wanted." The butler nodded stiffly and with another lingering glance around the room, made his exit.

"I don't think he likes you, Steve," Lafferty said, after he had gone. (Copyright, 1934, by Walter C. Brown)

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in Week

Mrs. Betty Laudeke of Drayton, writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at Richards' Drug Co., Inc. or any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFEST way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen's—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health. —Adv.

CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT BETWEEN DUKE TRAMMELL AND CHINESE IS BOOKED

DOUBT WILL BE ATTRACTION OF MAY 31 EVENT

TRAMMELL IS CHAMP; CHONG IS STRONG CONTENDER

Cooperating with the local promoter and commissioner, the Pampa Daily NEWS will bring a championship fight to Pampa during the Pre-Centennial celebration and Pioneer roundup. The first fight of its caliber to be staged in the Panhandle will be at Roadrunner park on May 31, weather permitting. If the weather looks unfavorable during the afternoon the fight will be transferred to the high school gymnasium. The first preliminary will be at 8 o'clock.

Without thought of time and expense, THE NEWS succeeded in matching Duke Trammell of Fort Worth, recognized throughout sporting circles of Texas as state middleweight champion, and Ralph Chong of Houston, Chinese sensation who is one of the strongest contenders for middleweight honors.

Admission will be $1.65 for ring-side seats and $1.10 general admission, tax paid. This price, or more, has been charged for mediocre fights in this state. Tickets will be placed on sale in Pampa and nearby cities May 21.

The new American Legion ring in Amarillo will be brought to Pampa. The ring meets specifications of all kinds, having the correct dimensions, proper spring, regulation height from the ground, and rope tension, which will give the fighters every advantage.

A good supporting card is being arranged. Telegrams have been sent to several well known fighters and announcements will be forthcoming on the rest of the card. Jack Thompson of Marietta, Okla., is remaining in Pampa and training hard in hope of getting a semi-final match with some top-notch fighter. Trammell, a veteran boxer and hard hitter, has been recognized as one of the leading welterweights and middleweights of the nation for some time. He had received a high rating in boxing circles while fighting in both classes. Since boxing was legalized in Texas, Trammell has met and defeated several leading middleweights.

The Chinese challenger will be accompanied to Pampa by his manager, Matt Mathews of Houston. Mathews saw Chong fight soon after he arrived in this country from Shanghai, China, and he was the first of a number of promoters who tried to sign Chong. He was successful. The Chinaman is a club fighter, heavy and tough. He has not lost a fight since coming to Texas. He recently defeated Don La Rue to become number one contender for Trammell's standing.

Pampa's bid to get the championship fight was the first of a long string of applications. Such cities as Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, and others have been trying to match the two middleweights. Both fighters agreed on Pampa because of the Pre-Centennial.

San Antonio And Cats Win Games

By The Associated Press.
Rain prevented all but two Texas league games yesterday. In a day melee, the San Antonio Missions won a 6-inning battle from Galveston, 6 to 5. The game was called on account of rain. The Missions were led to victory by Chester Morgan, San Antonio third sacker, who hit four for four, including a home run and double. Linton, Galveston catcher, cracked a homer in the fourth frame with two on base.

In a night game at Dallas, the Steers dropped a 11 to 3 battle to Fort Worth. Peaches Davis stopped the Steers with nine hits. His makes hammered Southpaw Fred Stely for 16 hits, including home runs by Brockie and Davis. The Cats clicked with six runs the last two innings. The game was played in cold weather and witnessed by a small crowd.

Coltexo Loses To Carter 6-2

LEFORS, May 15.—The Coltexo Black Cat team lost a 6 to 2 game in Carter, Okla., Sunday afternoon. The game was played in a cold wind and errors were numerous. Carter collected six hits and made five errors. Coltexo made five hits and five errors.

Mullens and White were on the mound for Coltexo with "Pockets" Flynn behind the bat. Both pitchers were handicapped by the cold. Flynn caught a great game. Seago and Newsome were the big hitters, Newsome getting the only home run of the game.

Nichols went the route on the mound for Carter with Thomas behind the bat. Nichols was particularly effective in the pinches. Smith was the heavy hitter for Carter.

Perry Seago has been named manager of the Coltexo team and he sees a bright future for his nine. He is securing some added strength and expects to send a strong team against Shamrock, in Shamrock, Sunday afternoon.

GROVE SEEMS TO BE BACK IN OLD CONDITION

ALLOWS 3 HITS, FANS 2, WALKS ONE IN SIX INNINGS

BY EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer.
The stock of the Boston Red Sox, fading recently on the major league market, is rising again, and the reason is the same impetus that sent the Sox chances kiting in the first place—Lefty Robert Moses Grove.

Robert Moses apparently is back in the condition that won him ranking among the best left handers in baseball's history.

Lefty didn't win a ball game yesterday but he proved he has recovered from the sore arm that has been shrouding both him and Boston's populace in gloom since the first week of spring training.

Grove picked up the gauntlet against the White Sox, relieving Henry Johnson in the third inning with one out, the bases full, and the score 5 to 0 against Boston. The White Sox won, 8 to 2, behind 4-hit pitching by "Big Jarge" Earnshaw, but Grove, pitching with much of his old skill, accomplished the following:

He allowed three hits in 6 2-3 innings, walked one and fanned two. He was scored on twice before he got the side out in the sixth, thru a walk and a forceout, though the runs aren't charged against him because he took the game over with the bases full. He allowed one run of his own making in the seventh when he dropped Eddie Morgan's toss to first base on a ground ball that would have retired the side.

Lon Warneke gather in his fifth victory of the season as the Cubs beat down the world champion Giants for the second straight day in a 3 to 2 10-inning thriller that alone survived the rain in the National League. With two on base, Chuck Klein got to young Hal Schumacher for a double in the tenth after Dolph Camilli had tied the score in the ninth.

Vic Sorrell, Detroit southpaw, snuffed out the Senators, 5 to 0, with only two hits in the only other game of the day, called because of rain after six innings.

Davis Cuppers To Play Canada Stars in Week

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—Frank Shields, George Lott, John Van Ryn, and Lester Stiefen will represent the United States against Canada in their first round Davis cup tennis contest at the Wilmington, Del., Country club, May 24, 25, and 26.

Shields and Stiefen, the only newcomers to Davis cup play, probably will handle the singles assignments against the Canadians while Lott and Van Ryn take over the doubles duty.

Neither Sidney B. Wood nor Wilmer Allison, the other two members of the cup squad asked to report for training under the direction of Captain R. Norris Williams at Philadelphia, were considered for the first round of play. Wood has played no tournament tennis this spring and Allison is suffering from a sprained ankle.

It was to fill in for Allison that Van Ryn reconsidered his decision not to play Davis cup tennis this year.

The winner of the United States-Canada matches will meet Mexico at Baltimore May 30, 31, and June 2, in the American zone finals. The ultimate survivor then will meet the European champions in the inter-zonal final at Wimbledon.

ROADRUNNERS PLAY MEMPHIS NEXT FRIDAY

FORMER PAMPANS ARE IN LINEUP OF OWLS

Many well known faces will appear in the Memphis lineup against the Danziger Roadrunners, Friday afternoon when the Pampa team invades Memphis for a game with the Owls at 3:30 o'clock.

Behind the bat will be Jake Leggit, first string catcher for the Roadrunners last year. Leggit has been going big guns for the Owls this season. He has not only been doing some heavy catching but has been hitting well for the Owls.

Three of the four members of "murderers' row" are known to Pampa baseball fans. They are Marcum, Neyman, and Hale; the three outfielders on the team. Melear, first baseman and lead-off man, is the fourth member.

'SHORTY' LONG IS ONE OF 5 FAVORITES TO WIN TOURNEY

Shot Making Wizard Needs Golfing Confidence More Than Anything Else

(Editor's note: A new state amateur golf champion will be crowned the week of May 27 at the Brook Hollow Golf club. Gus Moreland, three consecutive times champion, will defend his title. He is in Europe to compete in the British amateur. This is the second of a series of stories on prominent candidates for Moreland's championship.)

BY BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.
"I have been scoring well. Now doing some practice to work off rough edges, which is the only thing I have always needed to do and never could get around to it. I hope to play well in the state tournament over the Brook Hollow course which I like very much."

That's from William Robert Long Jr., Austin city champion in 1932 and 1933, Austin Country club champion in 30, 31, and 32, and finalist with Gus Moreland in the Texas Golf association state championship tourney at Texarkana in 1932.

"Shorty" Long, who has scored as low as 65 and who is a wizard with a mashie-niblick, is definitely sure of being one of the first five favorites when the best of Texas golfers tee up in the qualifying round on May 30. He is ready to start his sixth year of major tournament golf. He closed last year's campaign with honors when he successfully qualified in the sectional and later in the regular medal play test for competition in the national amateur. He later was selected as a member of the Texas cup team. In the singles he lost a tough match to Professional Levi Lynch, one up. Paired with Peyton Slade of Dallas, he lost in the doubles to Professionals Willie Maguire of Houston and Harvey Penick of Austin, 3 and 2.

It did not require an impressive victorious march for Long to establish himself as one of Texas' finest shot-makers. It was his very consistent play through several of the state's big invitation events.

The pride of the Austin links has always needed confidence in himself. In 1932 several critics believed Long had arrived when he shot his way into the finals of the state tournament, but Gus Moreland ridiculed Long's golf confidence with a 10 and 9 decision in the finals. It was such an overwhelming defeat it would have removed the star from most young players, but Long laughed it off the best he knew how and started out to rebuild his confidence. He got the exact tone he needed last year when he qualified for the national amateur and played well in the earlier rounds. That one tournament put that added and needed zest in Long's game that is sure to be with him when he tees up in the 1934 state championships.

Long will be Austin's most powerful bid for honors, and he faces an excellent chance of going somewhere because he has a sound game, a reliable putting blade and new confidence.

FOUR THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY NINE MILES ON A TOTAL OF FIVE QUARTS OF OIL

The "Hidden Quart" principle of penetrative lubrication has proved itself greatly superior in competition with five widely advertised and nationally known Motor Oils.

CONOCO has a New and Improved Germ Processed Motor Oil. This new oil has two to four times the film strength of any mineral oil on the market. Its oily penetration adds greatly increased protection to a cold motor during starting periods, when most wear occurs. It materially decreases carbon and sludge troubles. You will agree that the following test, made at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, is conclusive, understandable and unbiased proof of performance, not only of this new oil, but its superiority over other oils on the market.

The test was the first of this positive type ever made under the supervision of the Contest Board, American Automobile Association. Six new, strictly stock cars, of the medium priced class, were used. They obtained five well-known and recognized leading brands of oil by purchase on the open market. They also secured New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. These six oils of the same S. A. E. grade were assigned to cars by lot.

The cars were started on a test that would prove, beyond question, the relative value of each oil. They were driven 500 miles a day at an average of 50 miles an hour, until the motors could no longer operate. Every oil had an equal chance to prove exactly what lubricating value it had—to run until it completely wrecked its motor.

Here are the results: Oil No. 4 lubricated only to 1,713.2 miles, when the motor destroyed itself; Oil No. 6 quit at 1,764.4 miles; Oil No. 5 at 1,815.9 miles. Then Oil No. 1 finished 2,266.8 miles before it broke down its motor. Oil No. 3, after a valiant fight, ruined the motor it had protected for 3,318.8 miles. Then only one continued—it had New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil in the crankcase—Oil No. 2. Finally, 1,400 miles farther than the second best—when a connecting rod went out—it piled up a grand and glorious total of 4,729 miles on five quarts of oil—nearly a thousand miles to the quart! The "Hidden Quart" principle had won!

Conoco wrecked these motors to show which oil has the lowest consumption—true economy.

Drive into a Red Triangle Station, drain and fill with this new and improved oil. Whether your car is new or old, you need and should have this extra margin of economy and safety.

Warning TO NEW CAR OWNERS...
Some car manufacturers are using new types of bearings which will stand greater pressures and temperatures, resulting from increased power and speed. New and improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has been exhaustively tested on these new bearings. The results show that it gives them greater protection against damage than many straight mineral oils now on the market.
Protect your new car by using the motor oil you can be sure of.

Here is the winner—the car that covered 4,729 miles at fifty miles an hour, lubricated with New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil.

Five quarts of each brand of oil of the same S. A. E. grade from measure checked by the Bureau of Weights and Measures, State of Indiana, were carefully put in the cars by AAA officials.

Here are the representatives of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association who supervised every detail of the test and attested to the records made.

These six new, strictly stock cars were used in the "destructive" test. AAA officials weighed the brand of oil each carried by drawing of lot numbers. Only AAA officials knew which oil was in any car.

AUSTIN WAS RELEASED FROM SOLITARY CELL 100 YEARS AGO

WHY PAMPA IS NOT 'AHEAD' IS MADE OBVIOUS

FATHER OF TEXAS MAY SUNLIGHT ON MAY 9, 1834

The other day a "Pampa lawyer put this query in an ardent advocate of the Pre-Centennial celebration to be held here May 31 and June 1: "Why, you boys are two years ahead of yourselves—there's nothing about Texas history to celebrate until 1936."

So he said. But Dale Miller, associate editor, ably answered such a question this week in an article, "A Centennial Day," in the Texas Weekly. Mr. Miller in showing that the Centennial is already upon us, said that last Wednesday marked the 100th anniversary of Austin's release from solitary confinement in the Mexico City prison.

The Father of Texas' imprisonment in Mexico is the last scene in the Pre-Centennial pageant to be produced on the evening of June 1 in Central park's natural theater. Mr. Miller's article:

A Centennial Date

Last Wednesday was the one hundredth anniversary of the day that Stephen F. Austin was released from solitary confinement in a dungeon at Mexico City. He was not released from prison until the following Christmas, but on May 9, 1834, his period of solitary confinement came to an end, and he was permitted to visit other parts of the prison thereafter. He was also permitted to receive visitors and to write and receive letters. He had been held incommunicado since February 13th, and during the ensuing three months the people of Texas had had no word from him. And when he was permitted to write, his first letter to Texas very characteristically excused those responsible for his imprisonment.

Austin had been arrested by the order of the Vice President Gomez Farias, a great Mexican liberal and disinterested patriot, who regarded a letter which Austin had written to San Antonio authorizing to be seditions. Austin did not know the cause of his arrest, but suspected it was something of the kind. In writing to his brother-in-law, James F. Perry, he said:

"I have never complained of Vice President Farias. He has been deceived. He has been made to believe, as I am told, that my object was to separate Texas from Mexico and deliver it to the United States of the North, which is absolutely false and without the shadow of foundation, besides being a great absurdity. In a moment of irritation, I said to the Vice President that if the evils of Texas were not remedied the public there would remedy them of themselves. This irritated him and my difficulties commenced. The truth is I lost patience and was imprudent and of course to blame, for patience is necessary in such cases. I hope that no friend of mine will blame the Vice President or complain of him."

Sixteen months after that letter was written, Austin called the Texans to arms and thus started the revolt which ended in independence and led ultimately to annexation to the United States. At the time he wrote the letter nothing was further from his mind. It was events that occurred in the meantime—the destruction of the Constitution by Santa Anna and the setting up of a dictatorship—that made this loyal Mexican citizen Stephen Austin, call his fellow Texans to arms. There is no more striking justification of the revolt than the circumstance that it was Austin who issued the call to arms.

P. H. S. SPORTS

Spring training has ended. Sports as well as all other outside activities of P. H. S. have closed for the vacation.

All week various clubs have been having their final practices and closing the season with intra-squad games, but football again held the lime light as the Harvester squad was divided and played a game between the two groups. Coach Fox was in charge of one squad and Coach Dennard took over the other while Coach Mitchell was out of town. Mitchell returned in time to sit on the sidelines. The Fox group won.

The teams were so mixed up that hardly anyone was playing his old position. An effort has been made to discover any players who were not playing their positions and many changes have been tried. Prospects look good for next year.

Mack Graham Is Shrine Official

Mack Graham of Pampa has been added to the Khiva Shrine Divan to serve as Marshall of Khiva Temple. The Divan met recently and completed plans for the outdoor ceremonial to be held in Amarillo May 26.

Many Pampa Shriners and their ladies will attend the ceremonial and the barbeque and dance. Shriners are urged to wear their Fez, in order that they might be more easily identified.

James E. "Jim" King is potentate of Khiva temple and he will preside at all functions.

Frank Davis of LeFors was a Pampa visitor yesterday.

'ALICE IN WONDERLAND' TO BE PARODIED BY SENIOR CLASS IN ASSEMBLY PROGRAM WEDNESDAY

98 Students To Take Part in Fanciful Story

The spirit of make-believe will predominate in the class day program in the city auditorium tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock when the seniors present a parody of "Alice in Wonderland" called "Alice in High School." All 98 of the graduating seniors will take part in the senior assembly. President Joe Stephens will be in charge of the program, which is being directed by class sponsors, Fannie May and Louise Durrenberger, assisted by Mrs. Roy Wallrabenstein.

Dorothy Harris as Alice will go through many strange adventures as Sue Dodson reads the story of "Alice in High School" to the little child Fay Compton. All members of the graduating class in costumes will pantomime the adventures as related. The fun of the program will be in the costumes, as books, pencils, fountain pens, notebooks, vanities, test tubes and beakers, typewriters, witches, great black giants, and beautiful green creatures with gold wings wander about the castle of high school.

This will be the first of the commencement activities. The Senior Service will be held in the First Baptist church next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, with the Rev. John Mullen giving the address. The graduation program will be held in the First Baptist church the evening of May 24.

Blue Star Ends Eczema Itching

To relieve eczema itching, ringworm, tetter, rash or foot-itch, cover with soothing Blue Star Ointment. Tested medicines melt and quickly soak in killing germs. Itching ends. Skin heals. No burning—no blistering. Safe and reliable. (adv.)

Some bright student remarks that trousers is an uncommon noun—singular at the top and plural at the bottom.

DID YOU KNOW?

The last edition of the Little Harvester for this year will come out May 20 as a section of the Sunday paper honoring the graduates.

Refunds were made to students who went on the Carlsbad trip, $2.70 to those who rode the bus and 92¢ to those who went in cars?

The last order of senior rings is here? Senior examinations will be held on Thursday and Friday of this week?

Nearly all the senior teachers are having "responder hours" with their students—reviews? The junior-senior banquet was about the swellest we've been to?

NOTABLE NOTHINGS OF P. H. S. By the Nimble Nit-Wits

Dorothy Harris saw a horse coming home from the show Saturday night! she said. Snooper saw a couple of girls going home in stocking feet recently. It must be those new spring shoes, girls.

Driver of overturned taxi: Are you hurt, madam? Miss McFarlin: Don't bother about my being hurt, young man. Stop that taximeter of yours! Pauline Gregory says there's a new man in town. You could count on her to know. As I was lying on the green. A small English book I seen. Carlyle's essay on Burns was the edition. So I left it lay in the same position.

Snooper suggests that everybody learn to square dance. It looks as if it would be plenty of fun. Miss Cox: I'm afraid the Louis XV heels are much too high for me. Perhaps you have lower ones—about Louis X would do, I think. Why all the stiff neck, Scott? Snooper says something is always happening around this school to upset a fellow's equilibrium—if it's not the junior-senior banquet or a class day program, it's final examinations.

Miss May Gives Tea For Little Harvester Staff

Miss Fannie May entertained members of the Little Harvester staff and students who are working on the senior edition with a tea in her home Sunday evening at five o'clock. After an hour spent in making plans and assignments for the enlarged commencement edition, which will come off the press next Sunday, a salad course with small sandwiches, potato chips, olives, and iced tea was served to the following: Samuel Stennis, Josephine Lane, Lorraine Noel, Reed Clarke, Sue Dodson, Virginia Roberts, George Lane, Mildred Tolbert, Joe Gribbon, and Glenn Earl Davis.

Wallrabensteins Give Tea Sunday For Band Members

Members of the band were honored at a tea given by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wallrabenstein at their home after the band concert Sunday afternoon.

Plans for a summer band were discussed. It is hoped that most of the members of the high school band can join with town musicians to form a band this summer. A salad course with dainty sandwiches, iced tea, and mints was served. The plates were cleverly decorated with pigs, cows, horses, and other animals blowing various horns.

Those who attended were Turney Mullinax, Virginia Roberts, Harriett Hunkapillar, Ann Sweatman, Paul Schneider, Madge Tieman, Roger Townsend, Burnett Lunsford, Robert Surratt, Robert Lee Banks, Charles Frazee, Robert Mann, John Lawson, Billie Bratton, Junior McIlrath, Jack Allison, Hallard Hinkle, Dorothy Harris, Wayne Larsh, William Gilstrap, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Sone, and Mr. Hurst and Mr. Cabe, directors of ward school bands, were honor guests.

Operetta Given By Glee Club Is Colorful Event

The girls' glee club under the direction of Miss Josephine Cariker gave an operetta, "The Windmills of Holland," last Saturday evening at the gym in connection with Music Week. They were assisted by LaVerne Courson, Mickey Ledrick, Fred Mason, and John Martin. Helen Marie Jones was accompanist.

The story concerned Hotogenboch, with his family and neighbors, who had been living in contentment beneath the whirling wheels of windmills until Bob Yankee, an American salesman, endeavored to introduce modern machinery to displace the picturesque windmills. But the Hollander's love for the mills prevailed and Bob was outdone.

The quaint and colorful costumes, pleasing melodies, and sprightly dialogue made a very delightful and pleasing sketch.

The characters of the operetta were: Mynhier Hotogenboch, a rich Holland farm—Mickey Ledrick; Vrow Hotogenboch, his wife—Lillian Rice; Wilhelmima, one of his daughters—Mary Ellen Cary; Hilda, another daughter—Eloise Mitchell; Bob Yankee, an American salesman—Fred Mason; Hans, a student of music—John Martin; Franz, a rich farmer's son—La Verne Courson; Katrina, a rich farmer's daughter—Janice Purviance; chorus of farmer's daughters: Lucille Belle, Margaret Carr, Dorothy Davis, Jessie Marie Gilbert, Doris Hall, Lorrin Hogan, Marilyn McClements, Rosa Belle Reid, Etoile Sirman, Minnie Dittmeyer, and Ruby Scafe; a chorus of workhands: Alice Bowers, Irene Brewer, Ruth Clay, Beulah Ford, Lois Johnson, Anita King, Blanche McMullen, Norma Kidd, Anna Lee Prather, Mazie Perkins, Ruth Slaughter, Pauline Stewart, Edna Turcotte, Peggy Chishere, Genevieve Smith, Albertine Schulkey, Charlotte Tidlow, Pauline Fox, Charlene Simpson, and Fern Brunley.

UNGRATEFUL TABBY

NEW YORK—A black and white cat of the alley variety, trapped on a girder beneath the elevated tracks on Second avenue, failed to appreciate attempts to rescue it.

The cat, mewling piteously, attracted a watchman's attention, and a police emergency squad was called.

But when the officers raised a ladder, the animal scampered off along the girder and disappeared.

"SHOPPING...THERE'S A REAL TEST OF NERVES, TOO, MR. BUCK!"

Listen to what Mrs. Abbot J. Copeland has to say on shopping—and nerves:
"There's no doubt in the world that healthy nerves are vital to a man who goes out and catches wild animals alive. But take it from a busy wife and mother who spends many hours each week searching through the stores— anxious to make the family budget reach as far as possible—you need healthy nerves to be a shopper, too! Tramping through miles and miles of aisles... pricing, comparing, judging quality and values... well, that's a test of anyone's nerves. 'Nerves' don't ever bother me, though. As for cigarettes, I smoke Camels. They don't upset my nerves. And I have never tasted such flavor and mildness."

Frank Buck, who has brought back many tons of wild cargo from the jungles of Asia, says:
"It takes healthy nerves to bring 'em back alive. It's a job packed with thrills, excitement, and real danger. I never would have been able to populate half the zoos in this country, cross the Pacific 29 times with tons of savage live cargo, and save my own life a half dozen times by quick action if I didn't have healthy nerves. I am a heavy smoker. I prefer Camels, knowing that I can safely smoke all I want without upsetting my nerves."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Jangled nerves are apt to visit us all. You know the signs—telephone slamming, frowning, hot words that wound others, worrying and fuming over trifles. If you are inclined toward jumpy nerves check up now—on your eating and sleeping, your habits of work and play. Make Camels your cigarette. They never get on your nerves.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.

JUNE ROBIES KEPT CHAINED IN DESERT GRAVE NEAR TUCSON

GIRL DISPLAYS UNUSUAL CALM DURING RESCUE

KIDNAPERS' BARBARITY WITHOUT PARALLEL IN PRESENT DAY

TUCSON, Ariz., May 15. (AP)—Little June Robies is home again, rescued from the desert tomb where kidnapers had kept her prisoner for 19 terrifying days. Physicians watched over her today anxiously to ascertain how seriously she may have been affected by an ordeal which might easily have killed her; blazing days of a sun that burned her olive skin, and chilly, lonely nights in iron chains that gripped her slender ankles.

An unsigned letter, postmarked Chicago, gave the directions that led to her rescue late yesterday afternoon by her uncle, Carlos Robies, and Clarence Houston, Pima county attorney.

No ransom was paid. Fifteen thousand dollars had been demanded when the child was kidnaped April 25.

The letter that saved the girl's life she could not have survived much longer in her desert dungeon—was received yesterday at the office of Governor Moore in Phoenix.

It gave explicit instructions for finding the girl "buried under a cactus" near Tucson. The use of word "buried" sent a chill down the backs of the hunters for they feared she was dead.

The letter was sent to Houston and his deputy, Robies. Driving out to a point indicated on Rincon Way, a desert road, they began beating about the bushes and thorny east.

Houston was separated from Robies when he stumbled onto the prison.

Rescued From Grave
The child was literally rescued from the grave. Her prison was a boxlike hole dug in the desert nine and a half miles from her home. It had virtually the same dimensions as a grave, except for depth, being six feet long, three feet deep and two and a half feet wide.

Over the grave it might indeed have been a grave had the rescue been much longer delayed—was a roof of cacti, tin and burlap, crudely put together. There were several holes in the roof, and the sun burned down to make the pit, despite the covering of cacti, a sweltering inferno by day, a chill, horrifying terror by night.

"Only the fact that she was always a robust child permitted her to go through 19 days and nights of such imprisonment," her uncle, Carlos Robies, said.

When they found her she was ill and too weak to walk. She appeared calm but the horrors of her experiences had written themselves upon her.

The barbarity of the girl's kidnapers was without present day parallel. The prison itself could have been conceived by no one but a person insensible to human suffering. The pit, with its covering, would not allow her to stand erect; and she could hardly sit. There was room only to turn over, but this was difficult, if not impossible, because of the chains that held her ankles. The chain was fastened to an iron stake.

Treatment Inhuman
Seldom do records of crime show more callous treatment of a kidnap victim than that accorded June Robies. The kidnapers supplied enough food to keep the child alive, but the food was poor, and not clean.

She was in no wise frightened or timid when her rescuers arrived. As Houston made an attempt to lift her heavy top that had been built over the hole and looked down upon the child whose fate had been a question mark for nearly three weeks, she was calmly sucking an orange.

"Do you know me, honey?" he called down, softly.

With childlike leisureliness she glanced up and looked the attorney carefully over.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

(Editor's note: The following paper, read at a meeting of the Garden club last week, is published for its timeliness and practical suggestions to gardeners.)

By Mrs. R. B. Fisher.

There is nothing more discouraging to the home gardener than sick, rusty plants. In spring our hopes are high as we dream of a gorgeous array of flowers, but too often they are shattered when a blight or rot or insects destroy the plants or ruin the flowers.

One important factor in the successful culture of flowers, shrubs, or vegetables is the control of diseases and insects.

It is well to remember that control measures recommended must be followed accurately and thoroughly. Some think if a little is good, a lot is better. We must remember that it is the right proportion that kills the disease and not the plant. Be thorough—spray or dust or wash both top and bottom of leaves as well as stems of plants.

Do not treat cloudy soil; pulverize it first. Bordeaux mix and sulphur and lime will kill bacteria, molds, mildew, or other fungus.

This is an age of insects. This is due partly to importation, more than half our most destructive pests being of foreign origin. Then some insects have transferred themselves from native vegetation to cultivated vegetation. Here are some of the simplest methods of artificial control:

Larvae: Large curled white grub worms with brown heads eat roots of grass, causing it to turn brown and die in patches. Remedy: Sodium cyanide solution, dissolve 8 or 10 ounces in 50 gallons of water, sprinkling on grass at rate of 2½ gallons per square yard and water thoroughly afterwards. It may burn the tips of grass, but injury is only temporary.

Perennials: All of them should be sprayed with Bordeaux mixture just as they appear in the ground in spring and spraying should be repeated every 10 days in early spring. This also prevents phlox mildew and peony blight.

The formula for Bordeaux mixture: 10 level tablespoons hydrated lime; 3 level tablespoons blue vitriol; 1 quart water. Dissolve blue vitriol in hot water. Make a paste with the lime and add the proper amount of water. Stir hard and pour to insure good quality. This mixture does not lose its strength. It will discolor foliage.

If you find small insects, green, red, black, yellow, or white, on sweet peas, nasturtiums, roses, or other plants, usually in more or less large groups, they are probably aphids or plant lice.

No matter what plant they are one, they are controlled in the same manner, by a contact spray—one that actually hits them. Use 1½ teaspoons of nicotine in a gallon of water, and to make the solution sticky to the insect add an ounce of soap. Spray early as the buds are leaving out. There are many generations of aphid a year and the plants must be sprayed as often as the insects return.

If something is chewing the foliage of your plant, whether you can find the culprit or not, it may be a caterpillar. Use an application of arsenate of lead, 9½ teaspoons to a gallon of water. It is necessary for this poison to be on the foliage awaiting the insect's next meal.

If your strong plants are cut down, young or old, it is probably by cut worms. They work at night and hide in the soil during the day. Mix ½ teaspoon Paris green with quart of bran. In a separate container mix ¼ cupful molasses or brown sugar with 1½ cups water. Mix this thoroughly with the poison bran and scatter around seedbeds or plants in the evening.

Grasshoppers may be eating your plants. The same poison bran scattered in the morning will kill them.

Plants stunted in growth, weak, and with foliage yellowish-green, especially chrysanthemums, may be suffering from root lice. Dig down carefully and you will see them on the soil where they are present. Scrape the soil away from the base to within a cup. Pour one cupful of nicotine sulphate mixed at the rate of one teaspoon to a gallon of water.

Two new talking pictures, one of them featuring the nation-wide activities of the Conoco Travel Bureau, are due to be shown in this city tomorrow night, May 16, and will arrive here aboard one of the bureau's big red, green, and white buses. It was announced today by Frank Kelm, representative of Continental Oil company.

BRIDGE

This fund had been reduced from $17,000 for the previous year and that opening of many new roads had made further economy impossible.

Judge Duncan replied that he was not convinced that an increased tax levy would be necessary, but he was willing to pay his share of the 15 per cent of the taxes for the purpose not paid by a bridge. He said it was needed for the court on its consistent economies.

Mel B. Davis, on invitation of Judge Cary, opened the discussion with a brief talk on the necessity of quick action. Max Mahaffey, of the Empire Oil & Gas company, spoke in favor of the McClellan creek location for a bridge. He said it was needed for the county as well as trucks.

Commissioner H. G. McCleskey of precinct 3 made the comment that it was a "question of means" and added a request for harmony in the county.

"Needs All Funds"

Commissioner Wilson of precinct 4 pointed out that he had a place for all the money in his care and did not have enough to take care of the new grading near the heavy oil play. Judge Cary said he was not in favor of reducing precinct road maintenance. Mr. Wilson added that maintenance on his share of the Pampa-McLean road was a heavy drain on his funds.

E. J. Dunigan, supply man, said the new area would have a potential daily production of 50,000 to 100,000 barrels. Without a bridge, he said, the industry would be forced to move valuable supplies into Wheeler county.

Costly Alternative

"It will cost the county more to build the bridge quickly," he declared. "And we think the court is skillful enough to find a way to build this bridge out of the huge amount of taxes paid by the oil industry."

Tom Rose, automobile dealer, said that a county of this size and wealth should certainly be able to meet an emergency involving no more than $25,000 or $30,000. He predicted that the oil companies would buy the warrants, if necessary. He pointed out that it was the first time the companies had made such a request.

Bond Man Talks

C. M. Smith, representative of the Brown-Crummer company which bought most of Gray county's bonds, said that warrants up to $1,000 for each million dollars of valuations could be issued with one election. The county valuations total more than 23 millions.

D. J. Gribbon of the Texas company said that the oil companies did not wish to cripple road maintenance but added: "God help other counties if they can't build a bridge with all the tax money that is receiving."

It was brought out that Commissioners John Haggard and McCleskey had not been to the proposed bridge site, and talk shifted to a visit of the court and an meeting will likely be called after data is completed.

HEARING

reserved the right to have independent investigations of their own concerning activities of the unions and the company, and also the right to request additional information if they desire after all briefs are submitted.

Similar hearings are expected to be held in nearly all fields of the petroleum industry.

MARKET RECAPS

NEW YORK, May 15. (AP)—Stocks resumed their movement toward recovery today, although most indications that the administration expects the banks to do a greater share of carrying the load and putting out credit to carry the recovery drive along.

Today's appropriation request completes the $3,166,000,000 emergency recovery fund proposed for the 1934-1935 fiscal years in the Roosevelt budget of January. The president trimmed down today's estimate to take care of within the $3,166,000,000 limit the extra appropriations voted by the congress, including added allowances for veterans and government salaries.

The civilian conservation corps would get $285,000,000 of the fund proposed today.

The $100,000,000 tentatively tagged by the president for road construction contracts with the $480,000,000 road authorization bill recently voted by the house.

However, it is the opinion of Mr. Roosevelt that planned civil works is a quicker method of providing work relief and spreading government expenditures and there is every indication that he has a renewal of the civil works administration in mind on a more planned basis than the emergency CWA put quickly into operation last winter.

The deficit for this fiscal year ending June 30 so far stands at little more than $3,000,000,000 whereas the original Roosevelt budget contemplated a $7,000,000,000 deficit for this year and $2,000,000,000 next year.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 15. (AP)—Dominated by the fact that rainless skies persisted over the spring wheat belt, threatening collapse of crops, wheat prices made sharp new upturns today.

Trade authorities said it was impossible to measure in days how long the wheat crop in large parts of the northwest could go without complete collapse. Some correspondents estimated three to four days, others ten days, but adding it was very apparent that with continued lack of moisture the damage would become increasingly severe.

When closed firm, 1 to 1½ cents above yesterday's finish, July 86¼, corn ½-¾ up, oats 1 to 1½ advanced, and provisions showing 10 cents gain.

RECOVERY

be in session and will have full opportunity to act.

Simultaneously strong intimations came from high government sources that the administration expects the banks to do a greater share of carrying the load and putting out credit to carry the recovery drive along.

Today's appropriation request completes the $3,166,000,000 emergency recovery fund proposed for the 1934-1935 fiscal years in the Roosevelt budget of January. The president trimmed down today's estimate to take care of within the $3,166,000,000 limit the extra appropriations voted by the congress, including added allowances for veterans and government salaries.

The civilian conservation corps would get $285,000,000 of the fund proposed today.

The $100,000,000 tentatively tagged by the president for road construction contracts with the $480,000,000 road authorization bill recently voted by the house.

However, it is the opinion of Mr. Roosevelt that planned civil works is a quicker method of providing work relief and spreading government expenditures and there is every indication that he has a renewal of the civil works administration in mind on a more planned basis than the emergency CWA put quickly into operation last winter.

The deficit for this fiscal year ending June 30 so far stands at little more than $3,000,000,000 whereas the original Roosevelt budget contemplated a $7,000,000,000 deficit for this year and $2,000,000,000 next year.

FIFTH AVENUE FASHIONS By ELLEN WORTH

Paris Matches Your Frocks and Jacket

Now that nearly every frock boasts its own little jacket, Paris tries many tricks which give ensembles effectiveness, but the matching jacket remains the favored type. Here, cool printed linen is suggested for an ensemble appropriate for town and country, and flattering to all figures.

Noted touches are the plain white linen lapels which are smartly trimmed with stitching and which button back on the jacket. Note the new three-quarter sleeves. Size 16 requires 5 1/2 yards 36-inch print, 3/4 yard 36-inch contrast. Width about 1 1/4 yard.

Pattern No. 5536 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 bust.

BAKER SCHOOL BAND PLAYS IN NEARBY TOWN

MEMBERS RESPOND TO INVITATION FROM WHITE DEER

LAST evening 45 members of the Baker school band went to White Deer where they played an invitation concert at the White Deer high school. The band in their snappy white ship's officers uniforms presented a colorful spectacle as they played to an enthusiastic audience.

The band played three numbers, then the members and their director, Walter Hurst, were welcomed by the principal, Mr. Armstrong. Mr. Hurst presented the members of his band and gave a short history of their growth from the beginning of the school year.

The clarinet quartet was introduced and played "Kiss Me Again," Victor Herbert's immortal love song, followed by the number which caused so much favorable comment in Pampa, "The Rosary," by Nevin. The brass quartet was also introduced and answered with "Sweet and Low."

Sweaters Presented.
The program was halted for the presentation by Principal Armstrong of sweaters to this year's White Deer band. Each member of the band was introduced with a humorous comment, and given his sweater, to loud applause from the audience.

Little Miss Ernestine Holmes was presented in a piano solo, and the band finished the program with a march and the singing of their school song.

The whole program was much enjoyed by both the audience from White Deer and the parents and friends of the Pampa band who accompanied the children. Programs of this sort, exchanged between schools in neighboring cities do much to create a friendly feeling between citizens and schools.

The welcome extended by Principal Armstrong and the people of White Deer was greatly appreciated by Principal Meek and the Pampa citizens who were present.

Parents who made the trip with the band from Pampa included Mmes. H. L. Cox, Earl Roof, Cecil Lundford, L. C. Bailey, A. R. Eldridge, Claude Lard, Art Jaynes Jr., Art Jaynes Sr., Mr. and Mrs. L. Holmes, Bill Jaynes, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, A. Thomas, D. A. Dickinson, J. W. Reeves, and Principal J. A. Meek and his son, Roscoe.

This is an annual affair, sponsored by the ministerial alliance. Last year the contest was open only to high school pupils. This year both schools were allowed to enter. Lovely medals of gold and silver were given to the first and second place winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank King of Mangrum, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Emery Crockett of Pampa were guests in the Harris King home Sunday.

"A PRIMER FOR TOMORROW." By Christian Gauss; (Scribners, New York.)

With almost the insouciance of an undergraduate, Christian Gauss has set out to find, if possible, where we are going. The journey is undertaken in his "A Primer For Tomorrow," published today.

This brave man has been dean of the college at Princeton University since 1925. He has taught at Princeton since 1905, when Woodrow Wilson imported him thither from Ann Arbor, Mich. And through the years he has, it would seem, absorbed a certain detachment from the calmly beautiful town in which he has lived.

He is not one to be swept into a hurried statement by the prophetic chatter which surrounds us at present. He begins his quest a long way back, among the ancients. He traces the forces which have animated life through history with coolness and in sometimes exquisite English. He establishes, in other words, a historical background for his deductions and prophecies and relates them to the long perspective of the years.

"SHORT STORY HITS OF 1933." by Thomas H. Uzzell; (Harcourt Brace, New York.)

There is no doubt but that the short story as an art form has put on long pants in the last few years. Thomas H. Uzzell's "Short Story Hits of 1933," the second volume of the sort he has compiled, is one indication among many. Anthologies and short story collections have appeared lately with almost fatal regularity; curiously enough, some of them have broken the usual rule, and sold quite well.

Mr. Uzzell's anthology is unusual for two reasons at least. One is that it contains no pieces from "Story," and the other that it does contain material from the big circulation magazines. The reason for the first omission is, the compiler frankly remarks, that the editors of "Story" had drawn the line against reprinting "just before I got there."

And one reason he has included five pieces from the slick paper group is, he points out, that the lovely blurbs about the heroine who was "presented in the last line with a popular illustrator's husband, a fat bank balance, and a nice new red automobile" are disappearing slowly. "The stubborn, long-courting influence of O. Henry has at last in the big books given way to the tonic in the pages of Sherwood Anderson and Ernest Hemingway."

The book: "City Harvest." The author: Margaret Cheney Dawson.

The Comment:

Mrs. Dawson's theme is, specifically, "this freedom—the freedom which in certain circles has become almost an obligation laid upon the modern sophisticated wife to live and let live, to follow whatever roads look tempting and let her marriage make the best of what to a woman's feeling about herself, how such a way of life cuts her off from making the most of what possibilities for happiness lie in her marriage. Mrs. Dawson illustrates with sympathetic understanding and persuasive detail. Mrs. Dawson's book is clever, intelligent, comprehending.

Thames Williamson, whose new story for boys, "North After Seas," will be published by Houghton Mifflin Company in the Fall, has just left Spain for North Africa, where he will divide his time between the Moroccan city of Fez and the Algerian village of Sidi Khapi Najl. This latter place he will visit at the invitation of the Arabian sheik of the village. Mr. Williamson takes his wife and two-year old son along. Also he takes canned vegetables for the boy, as no fresh vegetables will be available in Sidi Khapi Najl, which is on the edge of the Sahara desert. Camels and donkeys will furnish milk for the youngster, and young goats will be his meat.

According to no less an authority than Lee Shippey of the Los Angeles Times, Scott O'Dell, whose "Woman of Spain" has just been published by Houghton Mifflin Company, was born in Los Angeles thirty-three years ago. He went to school in Long Beach and then attended Cornell, Wisconsin, Occidental and Stanford. His idea was to get a cross-section of university inspirations and standards, the conservative worth of Cornell, the aggressive liberalism of Wisconsin, the small-college individualism of Occidental, and, again, the conservatism and solidity of Stanford. Scott O'Dell believes in the soil. He lives on an orange ranch at Pomona and draws his inspirations directly from it. To him the romance of California is largely the romance of the soil.

Thumbnail Reviews

"How Odd Of God," by Lewis Browne (Macmillan, New York): a book written to prove that the cleavage between Jew and Gentile is largely the result of the Jews' excessive urbanization; some will snort but after all Mr. Browne was once a rabbi and cannot avoid knowing more than most about the subject.

"Memories of My Childhood," by Selma Lagerlof (Doubleday, Doran, New York): a gentle story of Miss Lagerlof's girlhood; a continuation of "Marbacka" and written with out the distorting insertion of the adult viewpoint.

"Gentlemen of Vienna," by Count Wilczek (Reynal & Hitchcock, New York): the autobiography of a great gentleman of a great, and vanished, time.

"Music on the Air," by Gertrude Kinsella (Viking, New York): what the radio listener might want to know about the music and the musicians he hears.

HEARD LOSES TO MARALLAH

Sheik Uses Japanese Crab Hold to Put Charlie In Useless Condition.

Punishing Japanese crab holds caused the downfall of Charley Heard, San Antonio grappler, at the Pla-Mor auditorium last night as Sheik Ben Ali Marallah, Asiatic champion, won two straight falls of the main event.

The bronze warrior from the east got Heard in a Japanese crab hold after 35 minutes of furious wrestling and before the Santone flash could put the mat, his back was strained badly. Marallah allowed Heard 15 minutes between falls but the San Antonio flash was in no condition to continue. He tried strategy, at the suggestion of Danny McShain, wild Irishman, who was at the ringside, but Marallah got another crab hold and Heard had to give up.

A doctor worked on Heard's back during the extended intermission and he advised Heard not to go back for the second fall. The game little speedster wouldn't listen to advice and went back after the sheik, but the end was apparent from the first hold.

Fans were fooled completely during the main event. They expected to see a wild and woolly match and, instead, witnessed some of the best wrestling seen here in many weeks. The going got rough at times but for the most part, both maulers stuck to the rules. Heard's speed was blinding and many times he had the sheik looking around the ring for him.

Fat Garrison, local grappler, undesignated Prince Omar Yoachin, Persia, and the foreigner slammed Garrison to the mat in 19 minutes. Garrison, unable to cope with Yoachin at wrestling, resorted to rough stuff but got a big surprise when the youngster with the long nose retaliated. Last week Yoachin looked pitiful against Danny McShain when it came to the rough stuff but he showed much promise as a wrestler.

Both maulers were nearly out several times during the hectic battle but they recovered and came back strong. They wrestled along with sly punches and hair pulling.

Special Belgian Mission to Talk Debts With U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—A direct discussion of war debts with Belgium this week was hinted as a possibility today.

Officially, the special delegation of four Belgians arriving in New York today aboard the liner Olympic comes to announce with diplomatic formality the accession of Leopold III to the throne.

The state department, announcing the Belgians would talk with Mr. Roosevelt tomorrow and his secretary of state on Thursday, declined to confirm persistent reports that war debts would enter the picture.

Observers noted, however, that the mission is headed by Emile Franqui, a leading Belgian banker, and includes other financial authorities.

Should the Belgians desire to talk debts they will find a ready ear. President Roosevelt has made plain he is ready to discuss the matter with any nation individually.

Belgium's debt to the United States is $411,665,529. The latest official compilation, published in January, showed the Brussels government to be $11,309,453 behind in its payments.

Under the Johnson act, Belgium is in default and cannot float securities in this country. Her installment due next June 15 is $7,119,453.

The state department listed other members of the mission as Camille Gut, Etienne Allard, and Count Philippe d'Aarschot.

President Plans Drought Relief For Middle West

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt guided into operation today a six-cornered plan for aiding midwestern farmers in a comeback against the unrelenting drought.

Direct word issued from the White House that the program would be pushed "energetically and expended as necessary."

The United States weather bureau also contributed a word of hope, reporting that the precipitation yesterday over part of the heat-seared area would be followed by showers in many sections today.

The administration's relief plan, formulated at a meeting yesterday between President Roosevelt and four of his agricultural and relief aids, calls for:

Continuation and expansion of direct relief to farm families; financing of stock feed and seed for emergency forage crops; cash purchase of a substantial number of cattle in the drought area; relaxation of provisions of wheat and corn-hog reduction contracts to permit farmers to raise summer forage; a request to railroads to reduce freight rates on cattle shipped out of the drought area and feed shipped in; and additional work by the relief administration to provide increased water supplies.

Pennsylvania Is Voting on Pinchot

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 15 (AP)—Pennsylvania's voters passed judgment in the primary election today on Senator David A. Reed and Gov. Gifford Pinchot, battling for the republican senatorial nomination.

The electorate also passed on some 4,000 other candidates for congressional, state and party offices.

The "new deal" of President Roosevelt was the major issue in the bitter Reed-Pinchot fight. Pinchot, liberal and independent, denounced his conservative opponent as the "errand boy of the Mellons; Reed countered with the assertion that he would continue to pour cold water on the theories of "the professors," if he could thereby "sober" the nation.
