

Continue Hunt For Maniac in Double Murder

Man in Woman's Clothing Is Sought by Police as Mad Slayer of Queens; Letter Received by Newspaper

NEW YORK, June 24. (P) — A woman in woman's clothing was sought today as police began the second week of their search for the mad slayer of two men in Queens. Meanwhile a Brooklyn newspaper distributor, Meyer Newman, received a letter threatening his life unless he returned document "J. 4-2-45." This, the ninth letter purporting to have come from the maniac, followed an alleged announcement Saturday that his mission of death was ended and that he was returning to Russia. Police were uncertain as to the authenticity of either letter.

The theory that the maniac has changed women's clothing to elude the police was advanced today after Mrs. E. Brown, Madison, reported that a person at first thought to have been a woman accosted him and his family as they were eating a picnic lunch in Queens yesterday, and asked for a ride to New York. "They invited the woman to lunch with them, Brown said, but she refused to get into the man's motor trousers under the skirt.

Dread Neuritis Is Banished By Modern Konjola

Splendid Tribute Is Paid To New Medicine That Ended Four Years' Suffering

MR. CHAS. W. MORGAN. "I suffered dreadfully from neuritis for four years," said Mr. Chas. W. Morgan, 1218 South Millwood street, Wichita. "I tried many medicines, but none of them gave me the relief that I so much desired, until I took Konjola. I had attacks of severe, sharp pains through my shoulders and arms that at times ran down through my chest muscles. I was in misery as much of the time that my nerves became affected, and I felt sick and weak in every way. "A friend advised me to try Konjola, and as I noticed how he was being benefited by this medicine, I acted upon his advice. In a short time the pains began to ease. The attacks became less frequent. Today there is hardly a trace of the old ailment and pain, and the nervous has left the affected parts. I feel better in many respects; my nerves are calm, and I sleep well at night. I hope other sufferers will profit by my experiences. "Konjola has no time in getting to work; many are assured that it is a natural product of the best medicinal treatment of from six to eight bottles for best results. "Konjola is sold in Lubbock at Brown's Drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section."

Much Activity In Hobs Field

(By Staff Correspondent) NEW HOBBS, N. M., June 24.—Wholesale supply and building houses in this area have a material investment of approximately $13,000,000 at this time with the prospects that $2,000,000 more stocks will be added within the next thirty days. These figures include lumber yards which carry oil field supplies. It has been necessary for all businesses of every kind who desired to do business in this area to move supply houses to this point because of the distance from New Hobbs to other centers. Many firms have moved their houses from West Texas and Oklahoma points.

DRILLING RACE ON

With the Shell A-1 State and Shell No. 1 McKinley wells producing more than 20,000 barrels of oil per day and sufficient gas for a large city the drilling race is on in this field. Since the deep pay has proved that it is a heavy producer the companies who have acreage in that area within three miles of the north west corner of New Hobbs are making new locations and erecting rigs as fast as is physically possible. Friday four locations for new wells were working 220 men in their feverish haste to be the first to the pay.

NEW FIELD PROVEN

This field is proved now for a distance of six miles and wells at the north end of that extremely showing so strongly that oil men have hesitated to set the distance which the one pool will go on to the north. The prediction of prominent geologists that this is the greatest oil

Good Breakfasts Prevent Mishaps

Ladies who cook good breakfasts for their railroad-husbands are doing a lot to prevent accidents, the way M. J. Flannigan figures it out. Flannigan is manager of the safety bureau of the Chicago, Milwaukee railway. "Many an accident," he said, "can be traced directly to family rows. Any man who goes to work without any breakfast, or who has a grab something cold out of the icebox or who gulps his breakfast to the tune of a word battle with his wife, is just three times as liable to bungle his work or confuse his orders as the man who has had a good warm meal and is mentally at peace.

TRAFFIC CONGESTED

Traffic has become so congested on the principal streets here that some form of traffic regulation is being considered. Traffic lights may be the solution of the problem according to authorities.

HAS NEW JAIL

New Hobbs has a new jail which is proving quite an inducement to the boys of doubtful personality to leave town. It is an entirely steel affair that will neither burn nor blow away. Quite remarkable is the fact however that despite the rapid influx of people there has been little need for a jail and three officers have been handling the peace of the area very easily.

PRODUCING 40,000

This area is producing an estimated 40,000 barrels of oil per day from 24 producing wells and several others. The pay sand so that oil men estimate that Lea county will be producing 200,000 barrels of oil per day before the first of January. Governor R. O. Dillon has been quoted in the press as saying that pro-rating would not start here until the state is producing 750,000 barrels of oil per day so that the companies here have been stimu-

TOUGH SAILING

Whiskey and beer peddlers are having tough sailing here. Raids have been coming quite rapidly and unexpectedly with monotonous regularity for bootleggers so that many are becoming discouraged and seeking new pastures. Federal and county officers are making an effort to control as well as is possible the prohibition question in this new oil field.

OIL ORDER RESCINDED

HOUSTON, June 24. —The recent order of the Humble company eliminating itself as a purchaser of crude oil in Wichita, Wilbarger, Archer, Carson, Hutchinson and Gray counties, and subsequent order adding Young county to the list, was rescinded today after a conference between W. S. Parish, president, and members of the Independent Petroleum association, and North Texas Oil operators here.

Mr. Parish said his company was renewing its purchasing until such a time as the association and production commission could work out some permanent relief from over production in that area.

Miss Beecher Speaks Here

Discusses Field Work Before Members of Auxiliary and Summer Conference; Meet Held in Wilson Home

Members of the Episcopal Summer Conference were special guests at a meeting of the local branch of the Episcopal Women's Auxiliary Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Frances Wilson, 2381 Broadway.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beecher was the principal speaker. She prefaced her remarks with a resume of her field work done during the past two months throughout the diocese of North Texas, commencing upon the organization of the church's program in the diocese and the extent of cooperation she had enjoyed in all the places visited. Her appeal in behalf of the young people's work was for an understanding on the part of older members of the church and for giving to the young people tasks worthy of their talents and ability and for trusting them to do what they undertake. The character and judgment of conscience, she said, are vital elements in any program involving young people, as well as a knowledge of the psychology of adolescence.

Lubbock Business Man Endorses Argotane

"I'm Grateful For Health And Happiness It Has Brought To My Home"

"I'm one of the happiest men in Texas today and I just want to tell my friends what Argotane has done for my wife," said Mr. J. T. South of 1613 Sixteenth Street, Lubbock, Texas, who owns and operates the J. T. South Oil Company.

"She had suffered so for the last fifteen years," he continued, "with stomach trouble and indigestion that we had almost given up hope. She had very little appetite and misery for her; her nerves went all to pieces, and she got weak and run-down and would have to lie down and rest during the day while trying to do her housework. She was very restless and could hardly sleep, her weight and felt depressed and down-hearted all the time. Her liver was in a bad condition and she never found any kind of medicine that would give her much relief until we found Argotane."

"She is getting wonderful results and we both think Argotane is the best medicine in the world. Her stomach trouble and indigestion is a thing of the past now, and she has such a big appetite that she can hardly get enough to eat. She sleeps good every night and is enjoying life better than she had in a long time. I'm certainly grateful for the happiness Argotane brought to my home by restoring my wife's health. I honestly believe it will help anybody."

Claim Co-Ops To Hold Wheat

Chairman Legge of Federal Board Discusses Emergency Created by Slump in Current Market

WASHINGTON, June 24. (P)—Wheat cooperatives probably will voluntarily hold wheat of the 1930 crop so long as the price is low, Chairman Legge of the farm board said today in discussing the emergency created by the current market slump.

The board, Legge said, has made no definite plans for emergency stabilization of either the 1930 wheat crop or the 1930 cotton crop.

The farmers national grain corporation, he said, expects to handle upwards of 300 million bushels of wheat this year without pegging the price. The wheat stabilization corporation will presumably continue to hold the 1929 surplus, he said. He explained he was not at liberty to disclose the amount held by the latter because speculators might take advantage of the information.

How important a factor stabilization operators would be in the present situation would be difficult to determine, he said, because nearly all commodities and stocks were "on the toboggan."

Legge said the board had not contemplated asking congress for an additional $100,000,000 as had been reported. The Farmers National Grain corporation, he added, would finance its operations largely through loans from private agencies and the intermediate credit banks.

C. L. Yeager, another real estate man, was chosen as mayor. Members of the board of trustees are: Frank Spraker, a shoe dealer; W. H. Brown, confectionery owner; C. L. Miller, water works manager and Mr. Yelverton.

Plans are under way by the Le-Mex development company, owners of the townsite, for an improvement program to include paving, water works and sewers.

CONOCO MARCHES ON TO NEW VICTORIES!

CONOCO'S recent victories with the celebrated new Germ-Processed oil have all been sensational in their theory-blasting results. . . . And what is even more important, every fact about these victories has been verified and attested to by that great impartial body, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association.

So, when you read that Germ-Processed oil is the first really stock oil to "place" in the Indianapolis Speedway Race . . . when you learn the remarkably good condition of this oil after that motor-punishing grind . . . when you are advised that you can buy this same oil at your own near-by CONOCO Station, you know it's true! The AAA Contest Board says so!

You remember, too, how the Pike's Peak Tests disclosed such startling facts about CONOCO'S superiority as to literally upset many preconceived ideas about motor lubrication. Germ-Processed excelled three nationally known oils in the Pike's Peak Test on many vital points, particularly reducing motor wear 76.4% over the average of the

In both the Pike's Peak Tests and the Indianapolis Speedway Races, observers of the AAA Contest Board checked the absolute honesty of CONOCO'S claims. Every statement regarding either of these events is therefore guaranteed by impartial authority.

Three other oils! After the Pike's Peak Tests, the AAA Contest Board issued their official Test Certificate No. 2268 verifying every result which we made public.

CONOCO'S chief competition at Indianapolis was specially blended castor oils unsuited for every-day driving. . . . oils made for racing motors. While the Indianapolis achievement was made with regular "stock" CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, the kind you buy at the sign of the CONOCO Red Triangle.

So CONOCO is marching on to new victories. A march which began November 14, 1929, when the now famous CONOCO challenge was issued coincident with the announcement of the new Germ-Processed oil as "the first really new oil of the century" . . . This claim was based on the utilization of the CONOCO-owned Germ Process patents, which endorse this new oil with that sensational metal-penetrating safety factor, which has since been termed: "Penetrative Lubricity".

Only CONOCO has the Germ Process . . . only CONOCO has Penetrative Lubricity . . . only CONOCO has proved to you, by certified tests like these, that this is the best oil for you to use. Drive in at the sign of the Red Triangle and ask for:

Three United States Women Representatives Advance in English Championship; Texans in Limelight

By FRANK H. KING Associated Press Staff Writer

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 24. (P) —Continuing its parade through the English tennis championship field, the United States today landed seven of its ranking men stars in the third round and advanced three of its women representatives to the second in the play at Wimbledon.

Without losing a set, Bill Tilden, George Lott, Johnny Doeg, Berkeley Bell, Johnny Van Ryn, Wilmer Allison and Gregory Mangin easily brushed aside all opposition. The women invaders from across the Atlantic were not so fortunate. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody came through as expected along with the youthful Sarah Paulney of Boston, Mary Greaf of Kansas City and Elizabeth Ryan, but Miss Edith Cross of San Francisco fell before the drives of Miss. Joanne Sigart, Belgium's No. 1 ranking player, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

College Golfers Start Match Play

OAKMONT, Pa., June 24. (P) — With 21 colleges represented in the 22 qualifiers, a new record, the intercollegiate golf championship today finished the medal play stage and moved on to the man to man encounters, starting tomorrow.

Is It Wasted Energy?

When a golfer drives a ball 300 yards, he applies approximately 2200 pounds of pressure between the club and the sphere, according to an experiment conducted by students of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

JULIUS KLEIN SPURNS HUGE SALARY TO CONTINUE JOB WITH UNCLE SAM

By Charles F. Stewart
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Assistant Secretary of Commerce Julius Klein, who broadcasts a talk a week on trade conditions, here at home and abroad, is referred to by the radio outfit through which he addresses the country as "one of the world's leading authorities on business and economic problems."

The description is no exaggeration.

Also according to the wireless folk, Dr. Klein recently received a $100,000 a year offer to quit his government post for an industrial position—but he declined it.

This is the kind of individual Dr. Klein is.

He is worth $100,000 a year. We know he is because it is offered to him; radio people undoubtedly know what they are talking about, and the price sounds reasonable, for the doctor's services, anyway.

It is offered to him—and he declines.

Without investigating, we don't know exactly what Dr. Klein gets as assistant secretary of commerce, for commerce department salaries are not arbitrarily fixed like most government salaries; they vary, under the "classification act." However, the usual salary of a first assistant secretary in a cabinet department is $20,000 annually. Dr. Klein gets about that; the secretary of commerce himself gets only $15,000.

On a salary, then, of about $20,000, the doctor declines $100,000.

It is not as if Dr. Klein were a rich man.

Plenty of cabinet members and their assistants are satisfied with salaries that do not begin to pay rent on the houses they occupy in Washington, but they have a taste for public office and can afford to gratify it.

It is one thing for a man who already has so many millions that his pay means nothing to him, to hold a $5,000 or $10,000 or 15,000 job for mere amusement or in an effort to make himself useful. It is entirely a different thing for a man, who could be making big money but has not yet made it, to be contented with just enough to live on.

Dr. Klein was a college professor before wartime conditions set him to working for the government—and it is notorious that pedagogy is not a highly remunerative calling.

While without any knowledge of the doctor's private means, I do know that he quit shortly after the war's end, as commercial attaches of the U. S. embassy in Buenos Aires—and everyone there was very much surprised because he had been making a tremendous success) until the explanation was forthcoming that his official salary was insufficient to live on comfortably—and that he did have to live on it.

Thus (although Uncle Sam did not finally let him get away, but slapped him back into the commerce department on his return to this country from South America) it seems fair to assume that he is not one of the phobocrats who work for the government simply to keep their minds occupied.

Dr. Klein is the sort of person who gives the impression that nature literally created him to order for an administration of the type of President Hoover's.

Whatever anyone else may think about it, I would say offhand that no other single official has done the Hoover regime as much good, up to date, as Dr. Klein has done for it. It may well be questioned whether the doctor has his equal at the stult of talking business entertainingly and convincingly—and business, of course, is the topic par excellence that the Hoover administration needs to have presented for it in just this fashion.

The doctor is a theorist, to be sure—rather than a practical business man. Indeed, I understand he never had a lick of practical experience, but his talk is wonderful.

What stumped me when Mr. Hoover was making up his cabinet, was his failure to give the commerce portfolio to Dr. Klein.

He was in line for it, obviously.

Unless he got it, I took it for granted he would retire and speedily make millions of dollars in private business. But I thought he might be tempted to stick along for the sake of cabinet rank. And how Mr. Hoover could do without him (with that silver tongue of his) I could hardly imagine.

It is clear enough how, though.

Mr. Hoover knew he had him hypnotized somehow; he would stay anyway—as witness his refusal of that $100,000 offer. And the portfolio would still be available to hypnotize some one else—who was harder to hypnotize.

Dr. Klein must be very susceptible to hypnotism.

Alexander Legge Pictured as Presidential Timber Here by Judge Wilson at Lions Meet

Head of Farm Board Branded One of Outstanding Characters in United States by Federal Jurist in Talk

In a speech delivered yesterday noon before the Lubbock Lions club at the Hilton Hotel, Judge Jas. C. Wilson, United States District Judge, northern district of Texas, highly praised Alexander Legge in his speech "The Government's Farm Relief Program."

"Alexander Legge is not merely one of the outstanding characters of the United States, but he has hardly an equal in the nation—in fact he is presidential timber and is able to land the president's chair. At least, those are the indications now," declared Judge Wilson.

Legge, Farm Relief

The speaker declared that the Farm Relief measure and the Federal Banking Act were the two greatest pieces of legislation this nation has ever passed, and urged every man in every community to get behind the government in putting the present program over.

"Every man interested in the future of Lubbock should back the government in this program," he declared. "As for me, I have absolute faith in it and in the honor and ability of every member of the Federal Farm Board. I am going to join every association that Alexander Legge tells me to join."

Going to hold, when he says to hold, and I'm going to sell when he says sell. This thing is a staff toward the solution of the greatest economic problem in America.

The middlemen are doing a lot of kicking. They are going to pay for putting out a lot of propaganda, in desperate efforts at stopping this relief measure but, the cooperative marketing organizations the government is sponsoring are not to be political, nor secret—they are business organizations. It is perfect, utter folly, for anyone to oppose the government."

Judge Wilson referred to success of cooperatives in California and other states, declaring that they served to give the producers better profit from the benefit of their toil, and giving the consumers various commodities at less cost.

"We have been seeing too much of speculators making too much from the profits that should go to the farmers."

"It is necessary for our economic progress that some of the middlemen are to be eliminated. They should bow out gracefully and seek another vocation. The present situation, and that of many years past, is that no hope is offered for any man to make any money out of farming."

COMPLAINED TO A FRIEND

She Said To Take Cardui, and "It Made All the Difference in My Health."

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—"For a long time I suffered with pains right across my back," writes Mrs. M. Bostwright, of 839 Park Avenue, this city.

"I had nervous headaches and sometimes I could not sleep. When I began to take Cardui I began to feel better. I was complaining to a friend how bad I felt. She had been taking Cardui and she told me to try it, so I did. Before that, I just could not relax and I got very little rest at night. I took Cardui for several months and it made all the difference in the world in my health. I felt stronger and better than I had in many a year.

"I recommended Cardui to other women whom they suffer from weakness and bad health."

Thousands of women have been benefited by taking Cardui, and their experience prompts them to recommend it to their friends. Cardui is a purely vegetable medicinal tonic and contains nothing harmful or injurious.

SMALL GAINS STRENGTH

There are men in Lubbock—and all over this country for that matter—who are outspoken in support of Clint Small in the Governor's race, but who close their declarations of allegiance with "I don't think he can get over but I'm for him, anyway."

The condition is a dangerous one and psychologically wrong. It should be altered and altered now.

Watching closely over the newspapers of the state, The Morning Avalanche is here to testify that Clint Small, clean West Texas, is gaining strength more rapidly than any other candidate in the campaign. Solidly landed in West Texas, the Wellington man is literally sweeping other districts and before the voters go to the polls will entrench himself as a leading candidate for the nomination.

Clint Small has a good chance to gain the democratic nomination if his supporters will work. "Singing the blues, with 'I don't think he can get over' won't do the job, but a lot of labor, coupled with sane campaigning will win the trick.

The Amarillo Daily News, staunch in support of Small, editorialized on Senator Love and his candidacy. The Dallas bolter made the same kind of speech in Amarillo that he made here, namely lambasting Tammany Hall, Al Smith and Raabok and raising a great smoke screen about prohibition. But he failed to touch on the issues of the gubernatorial derby, thus causing The News to remark:

"Inasmuch as advanced by Senator Love are but for the sole purpose of trying to renew the prejudices and discord within the party with a hope of riding into the Governor's office. But the majority of Texans this year are giving serious thought to the election of a Governor; they are tired of internal warfare and want to see an administration wherein constructive leadership and open mind are essential.

"The campaign this year concerns the problems of Texas in 1932. The political issues of the national campaign in 1928 are not concerned.

"Consequently the candidacy of Senator Clint Small is gaining favor with voters of all sections of the state and new pledges of support are being tendered him daily."

The San Angelo Morning Times, in a front page column of comment points out that both Pink Parrish and Lynch Davidson have retired from the race and both have climbed on the Small bandwagon. Says the Times:

"Undoubtedly the West Texas, (Small) whose home is in Wellington, 'way up in the Panhandle, is going to run a good race in the many-sided campaign. Plenty of astute political observers are freely predicting that he will be in the second primary."

These two excerpts of public thought are typical of many others seen in Texas papers today. Clint Small is capturing public fancy—and will continue to do so to the final date of the campaign.

Those who count him out of the race are reckoning without their hosts. Small offers too many fine points in a topey-turvy campaign to relegate him to the sidelines until the final ballot is counted on the July primary.

LESSON TAUGHT BY CHILDREN

William F. Russell, dean of Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York, recently made an observation which might have important bearing upon world peace. "When we are children," said he, "we have no animosity at all toward children of other nations."

It may be concluded that the whole matter of racial antipathies and international hatreds are products of education. Adults who have the training and influence of children as their responsibility, pour into their minds suggestions that produce distrust and fear and hatred.

And by like course of reasoning it would appear possible to conserve in the minds of growing youths that freedom from animosity which is a birthright. The process might require some revision of history books and a curb upon the foolish utterances of so-called statesmen and suppression of the big game. For the safety of civilization evidently the biggest problem of education is the education of adults.

But there is encouragement in the fact stated by the educational authority, the children have no animosity toward the children of other nations. In two or three decades these same children will be voters and arbiters of national policy.

LOSS OF APPETITE IS SOMETIMES CAUSED BY MENTAL UPSET

By Dr. Morris Fishbein
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Failure of the appetite is a serious symptom because it carries the possibility of malnutrition and lowered resistance to disease. It is usually closely associated with nervous disturbances as well as with physical disturbances.

Indeed, there is one form of failure of appetite which is likely to arise in young girls who are susceptible. Cases of this type have been grouped by physicians under the name anorexia nervosa, a form occurring almost exclusively in young girls.

A British physician, Dr. J. P. Venables, has recently collected a series of nine such cases occurring in his practice. At the basis of this condition there is usually some mental factor of great importance. In one instance, a boy developed this form or lack of appetite due to the fact that he had read that sexual stimulation was much less likely if less food were taken.

There were other instances in which the condition arose from physical factors, but invariably there was some mental condition which started the patient on his way. Even though the original condition disappeared, the loss of appetite continued.

In this form of disturbance there was absolute aversion to food, the shallowest mouthful producing a keen sense of complete fullness and distention and sometimes prompt vomiting.

In every case it was necessary to make a complete study of the patient to rule out all physical factors relating to the intestinal tract. In every instance after the condition had been fully studied and the mental problem which concerned the patient eliminated, the appetite was promptly restored, digestion improved and the condition was overcome.

Dr. Venables points out that these patients are inclined to resent the suggestion at first that the cause of the condition is mental, and advises that one proceed slowly in getting at the underlying factors.

A local hitch-hiker has thought up a neat advertising scheme to attract the attention of motorists. He wraps his right thumb in a white bandage.

Many doctors are now having the patient say "Ee" instead of "ah" as formerly. This is not true in Boston, where nothing will be done about the broad "a."

We don't know about barrels and bottle caps, but the possession of any quantity of either ought to be prima facie evidence that the owner has commercial beer in mind.

Quotations of Real Merit

"The making of a good misanthrope must be in running blood. The work becomes more drudgery, if one's thumb is not in it."—Roy Chapman Andrews, explorer, real point.

Occasionally the world's opportunities are only beginning to open. Every generation leaves more opportunities than the one that is found."

"Our language, in nearly every detail, is illogical. The only thing that has a charm."—Janet Rankin Alton.

"We all talk to ourselves. Each of us is not one, but three. 'I' and 'We'—and with endless persistence these two center."—Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick.

"There are many alumni who assume that colleges have been steadily degenerating and that somewhere in the last few years a golden age."—Christian Gunn, dean of the University of Chicago.

Beauty Contest Winner Will Compete In International Pageant In Spite Of Disqualification Love Under Way

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 24. (AP) Miss Eastman of Fort Worth, Texas, winner of the Miami beauty contest, will go to the International Beauty contest to be held in Rio de Janeiro "if it is $100,000 to defeat the attempt Florida representatives to stipulate her on the ground that she married when she appeared in Miami pageant."

This statement was made here today by her manager, J. J. Sullivan.

Sullivan hadn't heard of the trouble until read of it in the papers," Sullivan said. "The charge that Miss Eastman was married is untrue. I followed her activities for the six or seven years and have never heard of her being married."

Both Miss Eastman, who as "Miss Eastman" won first place, and Miss Virginia McKellop of San Diego, who as "Miss California" won second place, were here yesterday but not in the city.

Miss McKellop's right to retain her place also has been questioned on the ground that she was not bona fide California entry.

A. A. McKellop, her father, said she was intended to carry on the fight to protect her position of second place.

Although she is a California, Miss McKellop entered the Miami contest from Oklahoma, where she is visiting her grandmother.

Cotton Trade Moderately Active on Tuesday Lively in Fort Worth Yards Grain Wheat at Lowest Level Since War

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON NEW ORLEANS, June 24. (AP)—Cotton was only moderately active today, and there was a lack of definite trend to prices which were more or less influenced by evening up in advance of first July notice day tomorrow.

NEW MONTHLY RALLY New crop months after declining 8 to 10 points on rains in Oklahoma which were expected to end the heat wave rallied 12 to 16 points on covering but lost most of this gain later.

LIVERPOOL Good Liverpool came in 3 to 6 points higher than last week but that trade here were 3 points down to 1 up. The market soon eased off, July dropping to 12.85, down 21 points while October eased to 12.75 and December to 12.50, down 9 to 10 points.

NEW YORK COTTON NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Cotton was nervous and irregular today. July was generally lower under further profit taking liquidation, while new crop months met increased offerings on moderate bulges owing to weakness in grain and the unsettled condition of the stock market.

OPENING STEADY The opening was barely steady at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 3 points with some months lower under overnight selling orders and a reversal of near month liquidation, while others were influenced by covering and relatively steady Liverpool cables.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Stock irregular; railroads sink to new lows. Bonds: irregular; U. S. Government advance. Curb irregular; leaders move narrowly in double trading.

Prices Break Throughout Last Tuesday As Speculative Sentiment Is Bearish

Livestock

PORT WORTH LIVESTOCK PORT WORTH, June 24. (AP)—Steady prices prevailed in cattle yards at Fort Worth today even though trading was a little slow.

PACKAGES OF SLAUGHTER YEARNING calves at 11.90 with lead lots at 10.00 and down. Common kind around 1.00.

TRADING IN COWS was a little slow and buyers placed lower bids, but bulk of the sales about steady. Fairly good fat cows around 6.00.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK KANSAS CITY, June 24. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.) Curtailed supplies of cattle stimulated trade and values on the most red steers and yearlings were steady to strong with a few choice grades as much as 20 higher.

BUYING INTERESTS were still on the offensive and refused to expand purchases at any advance. Best fed steers at 12.01 at Chicago.

Grain

PORT WORTH GRAIN PORT WORTH, June 24. (AP)—Weight of new crop grain was heavy on the markets Tuesday and wheat sagged to the lowest levels since the opening of the World War.

CHICAGO GRAIN CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Reported northward spread of the 1935 wheat harvest into Nebraska gave a fresh jolt to the wheat market today.

WHEAT finished unsteady 3 3/4 to 4 1/2 bushels below yesterday's close. Corn showed 1 to 1 1/2-cent decline with oats 1-4 to 1-2-cent down.

FADING-WAY of active buying power here characterized the wheat market today, rather than any unusual pressure to sell.

RAINS HALT HEAT WAVE CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Terrible heat, setting a new season's record at 97 degrees and causing twelve deaths in Chicago yesterday, was driven off during the night by the coming of gentle north wind.

Judge Wilson

"And the chief need of this nation today is to organize the farmer, because in no other way can the problems of agriculture be solved."

How many can insist that "our greatest industry, agriculture" should remain in complete disorganization, Judge Wilson says he can not understand.

"The farmer is robbed from year to year and plundered out of his profits, to which no other, but he can ever be entitled. The only chance to make money is from half a failure," he says.

Speculation Starts "And just as soon as the crop gets out of the hands of the farmer, the speculators start the drive to price the price up again."

Parasites and combinations of parasites are sucking the blood out of the farmer today.

Judge Wilson continued with statements that the consumer is never benefitted by low prices paid to farmers.

"This is the first time in American history that our government has signed itself and has entered into league with any one class of the United States.

"Every man should favor and advocate this thing. It is a start toward the solution of the greatest economic problem in America. There will be lots of picking, but every

ONE JUROR LOCKED BOERNE, June 24. (AP)—Twenty-nine takersmen were examined today by Judge C. L. Brucke here today and one juror was accepted in the case of Ernest Young charged with the murder of John W. Bradshaw.

Young maintained the same jovial spirit he has shown since the trial began, and J. F. Hall, his attorney, rebuked him once.

Pro Agents Dress Up To Raid Hotel

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—A large squad of federal prohibition agents in evening-clothes tonight raided the Central Park Casino and the dining room of the Hotel Ritz-Carlton.

More than 300 persons were dining in the casino when four agents sitting at a table, arose, walked to the veranda and signaled to 16 of their aides.

The casino immediately became the scene of the wildest disorders. Guests around the agents of dancing women, and Sidney Solomon, owner of the casino, phoned police headquarters and demanded that an emergency squad be sent.

Interest Is High In Bible School Gratifying interest has been manifested in the Daily Variation Bible school in progress at the Cumberland Presbyterian church according to the Rev. O. H. Baucum.

The evangelistic services in the evening have attracted a good congregation thus far, said Rev. Baucum, and we are pleased at the showing of the school.

It was timed 9:36 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. The navy expressed the opinion that the Harbor Grace airport had offered assistance to the crew if they decided to land there.

The tri-motored airplane "Southern Cross," veteran of the speed across the ocean seas, Tuesday night hummed steadily toward the North American continent, her good progress indicating she might reach Roosevelt Field at New York by 10 o'clock (E. S. T.) Wednesday morning.

Numerous reports of the Southern Cross' progress were received and showed the plane was shooting toward its goal as steadily as a railroad train.

The Southern Cross, named by Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith as commander, Capt. J. P. Seal, as navigator, and E. E. Van Dyke as assistant pilot, took off from Port Marnock, Irish Free State, at 4:27 a. m. Tuesday morning (10:27 P. M. Monday, E. S. T.) and the plane's wireless reports indicated that at no place was the going particularly difficult.

The plane was particularly good, the pilots only complaint being of the intense cold at the 20,000-foot altitude. The speed indicator stayed around 100 miles an hour most of the time, and increased slightly as the lead of fuel was steadily lightened.

Memorable progress had been made in the United States for the flying the plane, A Curtis Robinson, refueling plane provided by an oil company went to Portland, Me., planning to refuel the Southern Cross at Portland or somewhere on the coast if the trans-Atlantic voyage needs gasoline to continue the flight to New York.

The plane was equipped to transport 125 gallons of fuel.

Harrison, San Antonio, department chaplain.

Interest in mail and travel aviation in Argentina is growing rapidly.

Plans Another Hop NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Friends of Captain Kingsford-Smith revealed today that he planned to make a non-stop flight to the Pacific coast from New York City, probably come time next week, if he reached here on his ocean flight.

That would complete the circuit of the world which he began two years ago when he took off from the west coast on his thrilling flight to Australia. Since then he has flown from Australia to England and with the completion of the ocean hop would only lack the 2,700 mile link between New York and the Pacific to finish his circumnavigation of the globe.

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—The naval communications system received a message tonight from Captain Kingsford-Smith aboard the Southern Cross describing how the trans-Atlantic plane approached the grand banks of Newfoundland as the sun set.

"Neither a cheery 'good morning,' nor a 'hello,' was just off the fringe of the grand banks and it is overcast and bleak with fog almost to the water. However, we are not careless ourselves. All O. K."

Word Picture Given A little later a cheery word picture of sunset aboard the Southern Cross was received by the Radio Marine corporation. The message, which gave no position, said: "All going well. Quite dark inside cabin now, but cheerful glow of red light from the chummed plates, make cabin look cozy. The complete picture, I think I will wrap myself around another sandwich."

"Well, that is a pretty decent supper, I think for this ship. Snappy children sandwich and a cup of coffee, royal. The coffee was not so good, but the royal is Jamaica's Irish, seven years old."

A Favorite Kipling Story

It is recorded of this well-known British author that he once remembered with a friend for having sent him a publication from which the advertising pages had been cut. "Why, you have thrown away the most interesting section," Mr. Kipling said.

Advertisements are more interesting today than at any time since the invention of movable type. Merchants and manufacturers realize that their announcements must compete for interest with the work of the high-priced authors and illustrators.

If you are not a regular reader of the advertisements in this paper, this is a good time to cultivate their acquaintance. You will find them interesting. You will find them friendly. They show you where to stop and take considerable strain off both shoe-leather and pocketbooks.

Read the advertisements because they are interesting. Believe them, because they are true. Act upon their suggestions because it will pay you in many ways. Before you start out to shop, consult the advertising columns of this paper. They will give you a direct connection with the merchandise you want.

Costly Screen Tests Make It Harder To Break Into Movies Now; Magnates Must Gamble On Each Tryout

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, June 24.—When a girl gets a movie test in Hollywood now, it simply means that some movie magnate is willing to bet $500 that she will become a valuable movie actress.

For getting a movie test now is a lot harder than it used to be. In the days of silent films it was easy. Almost anybody could bounce into a studio and have a length of test film run off. But those days have ended. The average talking screen test costs $500—and while studio executives will often waste $25,000 on a single production, they will not toss $500 out of the window unless they see some prospect of getting it back.

Must Show Talent Now
As a result of all this, the prospective player must show considerable talent before a test is arranged. Such newcomers as Laura Lee, Irene Delroy, Marjorie White, Eleanor Hunt, Jeanie Lang, Frances McCoy, Grace Moore, Mary Lewis, Zelma O'Neal, Bernice Claire and Frances Dee were given the tests that won them their contracts only because the producers knew in advance that they were practically surefire material.

When the talkies first developed, screen tests were made lavishly. In many cases merely voice tests were made, with the film part left undone—with the result that many actors who were engaged didn't last out their first pictures. Now the business is systematized, however. A candidate who gets a screen test is almost sure to go on and make the grade.

Was Easy Once
Back in the days when Clara Bow, Joan Crawford, Alice White, Barbara Kent, Mary Brian and others of our present-day stars were getting their starts, it was a comparatively simple matter to secure work before the flickie movie cameras. Casting directors were given a free rein and made tests of nearly every girl who came along, providing she had a pretty face or shapely figure.

Today all is different. It costs money to make a test of a player, now that the "squawks" have taken possession of the film colony. Even in the early days of audible films conditions weren't what they are now. In fact, more tests were made during that particular period than at any other similar length of time during the history of pictures. Studio executives were so eager to grab stage talent that anyone who had spent at least two nights behind the footlights was considered a good prospect.

Today the studios carefully file all tests, even though the actor might not get the part he or she was after. And in the future if this player is considered for another similar role that studio borrows his test from the first one instead of going to the expense of making its own. In that way one test takes the place of many and money is saved.

Prison Mutiny Proves Fatal To 49 Indians

Two Sentries, Forty Convicts, Two Military Police and Prison Truck Driver Die in Bitter Riot
RANGOON, Burma, India, June 24. (P)—One of the most serious prison mutinies in recent history occurred here today in the Rangoon central jail. Before the police and wardens had subdued the rioters, in two hours of fighting, 49 persons were killed and 71 wounded.

The dead included two sentries, two military police, a prison truck driver and 40 convicts.

The armed forces of the law poured volley after volley into the ranks of the prisoners. Heavily mowing them down. Many of the injured were not expected to survive.

One report attributed the outbreak to indignation among the Indian convicts over the findings of the Simon commission.

The authorities said all indications pointed to a well organized plot for a jail delivery.

Some hundred convicts, both Indians and Burmans, working in the jail shops, suddenly attacked and killed two sentries. In an instant other convicts had thronged to the riotous cause. They raided the armory, seized all rifles and ammunition, attempted to break down the prison gates and some succeeded in scaling the walls.

The military police arrived on the scene in answer to hurry calls from within the prison. They went into action immediately. The convicts retreated, so rally and resumed the attack as soon as the first weight of the warder's onslaught had diminished.

Heads Of State Schools Should Not Have To Beg For Funds, Says Small

DENTON, June 24. (P)—President of state educational institutions should not be put in a position of "begging" the legislature to appropriate money for their needs, Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington, candidate for governor, said last night in an address before the students body of North Texas State Teachers college and the public in general.

"These long drawn-out special sessions of the legislature are wrong, and it is also wrong to compel presidents of colleges, such as this, to beg money to run their institutions," Senator Small said.

"The legislature should appropriate enough for the immediate needs of all state schools and the government at once. Then if there is money left for further appropriations, appropriation it to the various institutions for building and other expansion."

surprises her husband, her friends and herself!

SHE didn't know much about cooking. SHE admitted it, but HE was willing to take the Risk... so they went ahead with the Ceremony. A modern gas range had been installed in the kitchen with a heat regulator, insulated oven, smokeless broiler and a touch-a-button lighter. Even so, she depended more on a Can Opener for the first few weeks... and then, a Dinner for twelve!

Panic-Stricken, SHE explored the shiny new cook book, ordered groceries, planned an elaborate menu. Scrupulously, she obeyed directions on the use of the Oven Control Dial to keep temperatures Right for each recipe. Came the heart-fluttering moment when she served...

Need we say the dinner was an overwhelming success? Need we say that no one was more surprised than "herself"? And SHE is but one of the thousands of "amateurs" who have discovered how easy it is to cook with a MODERN gas range. Even good cooks become better cooks with scientific Heat Control. Stop in and let us explain why.
