Fine Assessed in School Disturbances

A woman has been fined in county court on charges growing out a disturbance during a class at the Samnorwood School on April 23.

County Judge Zook Thomas assessed a fine of $1.00 and costs of $52.30 upon a guilty plea by Mrs. Euna Kincannon of the Abra community, Monday, May 17.

The charge, filed by District Attorney Charles Darter upon instruction of the 100th District Court grand jury, reads that Euna Kincannon "did disrupt the conduct of classes and other school activities on the premises of the Samnorwood Independent Building by scratching and biting a teacher, Jane Thomas, therein engaged in her educational duties, thereby violating Section 4.33 of the Educational Code."

Judge Thomas said that upon being informed of her rights, the woman said she did not want an attorney and entered her plea of guilty.

Rex Peeples, superintendent of Samnorwood Schools, and Mrs. Thomas appeared before the Grand Jury in its last meeting here earlier this month.

Mrs. Kincannon has children in the Samnorwood School.

Food Production Increase Hinges On Price, Land

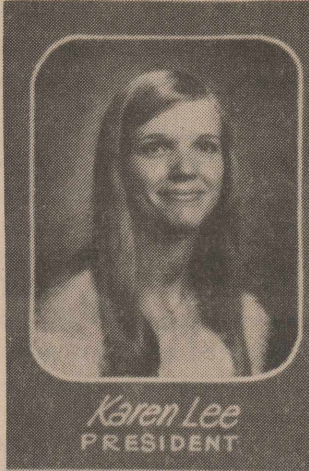

COLLEGE STATION -- If the call goes out to the nation's farmers for increased food production, they will likely respond as they have in the past -- full speed ahead. But that will hinge on two key factors -- new land will have to be brought into production, and prices for agricultural products will have to increase so that farmers will have an economic incentive.

Of course, improved management practices applied existing cropland along with good weather would provide for some increase in total agricultural output.

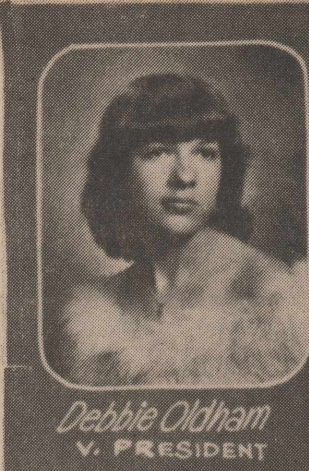

"As far as available land for agricultural production is concerned, about 266 million acres of forests and rangelands could be converted," points out Dr. W.E. Black, an economist in marketing for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Citing figures by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, he further notes that some 361 million acres were tilled for crops last year.

"Of the forests and rangelands that could be converted to crop production, this expansion would likely start in three main areas of the country -- the Northern and the Southern Plains (primarily in Texas and Oklahoma) and the Corn Belt," notes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

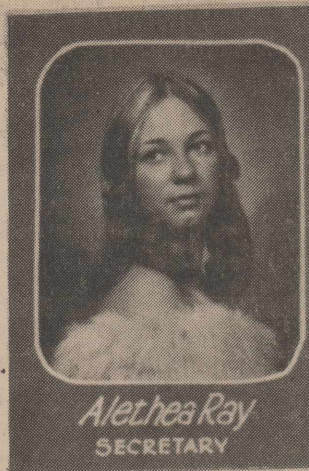

"Despite the fact that additional land exists for food production, farmers must have some incentive to produce," contends Black. "This means that prices for agricultural products will have to increase from current levels and remain at these levels over a period of years for farmers to invest heavily and make the necessary capital expenditures to make more land usable.

"Increased prices for farm commodities will, on the other hand, mean increased food prices for consumers," adds the economist. "You can't have one without the other."

"Consumers want a plentiful food supply at a fairly reasonable cost, but they will have to be prepared to pay more for food if farmers are called on to increase production," says Black. "Furthermore, it will mean that some of our nation's forests and rangelands will have to give way to the plow."

BY ANITA BLANTON County Extension Agent

POTPOURRI

May is "Older American Month" and this bicentennial year is an appropriate time to pause and pay special tribute to all the older adults of Collingsworth County.

For their lifetime, they have contributed work, energy, ideas, wisdom, money and any other resources at hand to make our community a better place to live. Take time from your busy schedule to honor the older persons you know for what they have done for you. Our community is enriched every day by the valuable contributions made by our older citizens.

For many of the older citizens nutrition is a problem. Many of them are one- and two-person households. Limited recipes, planning and serving balanced meals becomes a chore rather than the joy it once was with a growing family.

Eating a wide variety of foods is important. Sometimes older persons need to be encouraged to do this. Also, fewer calories are needed because activity is usually less. Foods should be selected from the four food groups— which are milk, meat, fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals. Selections from these groups will also discourage food faddism which becomes so popular this time of year.

Remember, also, to include water along with the fluids at mealtime or other times.

"Cooking for Two" is an excellent publication which provides recipes, helpful hints on planning and serving meals for small families. The publication is available, free of charge, from the County Extension Office, while the supply lasts.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

In 16th century Switzerland, people believed that throwing stones into a lake would cause storms.

Cattle Outlooks Sometimes Vary

COLLEGE STATION--The outlook for the cattle industry varies somewhat depending on the source you wish to pursue.

Two varying viewpoints on the cattle situation are offered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Dr. Ed Uvacek, a livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Both the USDA and Uvacek predict that cattle prices will continue to go up through the spring. It is on the degree of price rise and the length of the price rise upon which they differ.

Uvacek says an increase in marketings and slaughter of calves, yearlings and cull cows will begin in late June or early July, thus putting more beef on the market and resulting in lower fed cattle prices by late summer or early fall.

"Both fed and feeder cattle prices will turn downward toward the end of the April to June period after early spring gains. Further drops are expected between July and September," believes Uvacek. "The last quarter of the year should find prices averaging somewhere in the $38 to $42 range."

Contrary to this view, the USDA is predicting a decrease in the slaughter of cows, heifers and non-fed cattle which, officials say, would cause a reduction in total beef output and would push fed cattle prices into the mid-to-upper $40's this summer. Prices would continue in the mid-$40's for the last quarter of the year as well.

Furthermore, the USDA is predicting possible increases in cow and feeder cattle priced because of a smaller cow herd.

Two 4-H Girls Go To State Roundup

Tami Boswell and Peggy Popwell of the Willing Workers 4-H Club will travel to Texas A&M University June 1-2 to represent District I at Texas 4-H Roundup. These 4-Hers won top honors in district competition last spring allowing them to participate in state competition.

Peggy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Popwell, will represent District I in the State 4-H Food Show in the Breads and Desserts division. She will be judged on her preparation of a day's menu, a foods record book, and a five minute nutrition interview in addition to the food, Southern Cornbread Sticks, which she will prepare for the event.

Local supporters to provide the travel expenses for these contestants to go to College Station are the Collingsworth County Home Demonstration Council, Wellington State Bank, City State Bank, and the Farmers Co-op Gin.

Texas 4-H Roundup brings together some 1800 of the top youth in the state in judging contests and various demonstrations and skill events. Their goal is to be the best in Texas.

Roundup headquarters will be the Rudder Center and activities will get under way on June 1st. The 4-H Roundup provides an opportunity for youth to grow and develop and to share learning experiences across a broad spectrum of activities. Really, that's what 4-H is all about!

A former Wellington resident, Ted J. James, received a Master of Music Education in the commencement at Midwestern State University.

Cattle Outlook Still Muddled

COLLEGE STATION--The cattle industry is out of trouble. Cattlemen can start increasing their herd size and sell at a profit. Right? Wrong!

"The cattle industry still has a way to go before the picture brightens," believes Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

Uvacek attributes the false optimism of many cattlemen to misinformation and misinterpretation of some of the facts. He cites a few examples of this.

"In 1975, about 11.4 million cows were slaughtered and a lot of people thought the oversupply problem was over. What they didn't realize was that almost 11 million head of replacement heifers were added to the breeding herd."

Another mistaken belief, says Uvacek, is that the feedlot business has completely recovered and feedlots are using all the calves that are produced.

"It's true that feedlot placements have increased substantially, but the number available for feeding is still much higher than the feedlots can handle. In 1975, only 23 million head of cattle out of a total supply of 103 million available head were placed on feed.

"The idea that both beef consumption and retail beef prices were at record highs in 1975 is not completely true either," says the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Retail prices for Choice beef were at record highs in 1975, but because there was so much non-fed cattle slaughtered, the consumption of Choice beef was down," he explains.

Calf prices will probably go up in 1976 and 1977, says Uvacek, but the cost of inflation will take away any potential profits.

"It costs about $200 a year to keep a cow in Texas," says Uvacek. "A typical Texas producer has about an 80 per cent calf crop and sells his calves at about 400 pounds. That calls for a breakeven price of $62.50 per hundred-weight--a price level that doesn't seem too likely for the next two or three years."

Some say that an effective remedy for many cases of hiccoughs is to breathe into a paper bag repeatedly until normal breathing rhythm is restored.

London Actress to Appear in Bicentennial Documentary

A young London actress who spent her childhood in Wellington, will appear in an Anglo-American Bicentennial television documentary series, "The Age of Uncertainty."

She is Pat Starr and will appear in two of the 12 segments, which will air in the United States after the Democratic National Convention. This should be late July or early August.

The actress is the daughter of Mrs. Mildred Starr now of Amarillo and the late John Herman Starr. In private life, she is the wife of the English playwright, Stephen Rich, and they have a two-year-old son, Samuel Nathaniel Starr Rich, named for his two Wellington great-grandfathers, Paul E. Starr and the late George Nathaniel Scruggs.

This is but one of her many appearances on the stage and for television and radio. Her new documentary will be presented by Kenneth Galbraith. It is also by the same team that made "The Ascent of Man," a PBS presentation seen here on Channel 13.

Her work began several months ago. She has described it in a letter to her mother:

"I went off for a wig fitting yesterday and to have a cast made of my face(!) for one of my teles. Then a costume fitting today. A beautiful 1860's gown with hooped skirts. That, and the wig, is for the first tele. The 'cast' is for the second, where I'm encased in plastic looking like a sculpture, only able to move and speak."

Pat Starr moved to Amarillo when she was 12, graduated from high school there and received a B.S. degree in English and dramatic arts from West Texas State University.

At WT, she combined her stage work between Branding Iron Theatre on campus and as a guests actress as Theatre Amarillo (formerly Amarillo Little Theatre).

It was after seeing her in "The Lion's Cub" that Paul Baker, director of the Dallas Theatre Center, offered her a scholarship, which led to her master's degree from Trinity University, San Antonio, in dramatic arts in 1964.

She was a member of the original repertory group of the Graduate School of Drama at Dallas Theatre Center for three years. She appeared in classics and the many new plays premiered there, most notably creating the role of Tama Lang in "Joshua Beene and God", opposite Burl Ives.

In 1963, upon moving to New York she went into

Michael Cacovannis' hit production of "The Trojan Women." Following this, she played Annie Sullivan in "The Miracle Worker," Sabrina in "Sabrina Fair," and Annie in "Annie Get Your Gun."

Two years later she joined the National Shakespeare Company and after opening in New York, embarked on a coast-to-coast tour, playing in repertory, as Kate in "Taming of the Shrew," Ophelia and Lady Macbeth. Several Wellington friends saw her in this when the company played in Amarillo.

She has lived in London since 1967, where she has played the lead in "Plaza Suite" with Robert Beatty, created the role of Miss Stacy in "Anne of Green Gables," and successively stand-by for Lauren Bacall in "Applause" and Angela Lansbury in "Gypsy".

For her work with Miss Bacall, Pat Starr received accolades from the noted Irving Wardle of The Times of London:

"Witnessing the stealthy duel in which Angela Richards' Eve edges Lauren Bacall's Margo against the ropes, my thoughts kept returning to Miss Pat Starr--Miss Bacall's stand-in. If ever she should take over the part, that will be the night when the show might make some sense."

In England also, Miss Starr has appeared in the BBC performances of the TV comedy series, "Bird's Eye View," seen over CBS in the United States; the TV adaption of "Applause" during the run of the stage play, which was also seen over CBS in the U.S. She has had parts in numerous radio plays originating from BBC.

Miss Starr has made language recordings with the Company Pneuophone of London, teaching American-English to Japanese teenagers, Mexican and Indian (India) British subjects.

She was cast in the original London production of "Anne of Green Gables" with the play adaption by Donald Harron and music by Norman Campbell.

Recognition came again from the noted Irving Wardle of The Times of London for her performance as "the new and dynamic teacher, Miss Muriel Stacy" at the Albery Theatre. The London cast album of musical hits featured two of her songs, "Learn Everything" and "If it Hadn't Been for Me." The play, directed and choreographed by Alan Lund, ran for a year in London.

More recently, she was in the cast of "Kennedy's Children" by Robert Patrick directed by Clive Donner, which also ran for a year at the King's Head Theatre.

Besides her grandfather, Mr. Starr, four aunts still live in Wellington. Mrs. Earl Hunter, Mrs. John Holton, Mrs. Lowell Wells and Mrs. Herbert Duncan. Her mother and her only sister, Mrs. Mary John Howington, live in Amarillo. Mrs. Starr plans to visit her daughter in London this summer.

Services for a southeast Panhandle pioneer, Mrs. John B. Harvey, 91, were at 2:00 p.m. Sunday at Shamrock First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Richard Payne, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Shamrock Cemetery.

Mrs. Harvey died Friday in Canadian where she went earlier this year to be near a daughter, Mrs. Ted Rogers. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers formerly lived here.

A native of Branson, Mo., she was the last of the original settlers of Wheeler County, coming in 1886 with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones. Mrs. Harvey had published several books, short stories and poems and was a librarian in the Shamrock Public Library.

She was a member of First United Methodist Church, the King's Daughters Sunday school class, and was a charter member of the United Methodist Women.

Mrs. Harvey was a life member of the Panhandle Pen Women, a member of the Penhandlers, Shamrock Garden Club and of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Survivors include a son, Richard M. Harvey of El Paso; two daughters, Mrs. Clyde A. Whittle of Shamrock and Mrs. Rogers of Canadian; a sister; seven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Spring Time to Check Boats

AUSTIN -- Weekend skippers all over Texas will soon be heading for the lakes, looking forward to another summer season on the water.

Parks and Wildlife Department water safety officials remind boat owners their crafts need thorough check-ups before being ready for the water.

If your boat has been inactive during the long winter months a little maintenance is probably in order. This could range from a few minor repairs to avoid inconvenience, to very important matters which could endanger life.

First, clean the boat hull while it is still on the trailer. Be sure to drain any standing rain water, if the boat is stored outside, and give the interior a good scrubbing.

Wooden boats should be stripped of all old and cracked paint and repainted. Check the caulking to see if it is still smooth and doing its job. If it's cracked, replace it with fresh caulking before painting. Fiber glass hulls should be cleaned and coated with wax. This helps the boat glide through the water, helping both speed and fuel economy.

Make a quick check of running lights and horn and replace any light bulbs which don't shine. If they all shine but seem dim, the battery probably needs charging. Engine trouble in the middle of the lake can spoil an outing, so a tune-up is a good idea before the first day out.

Safety equipment is important and deserves more than just a quick once-over. Your personal flotation devices (life preservers) are required by law to be serviceable. Yank on the straps. If the fabric tears, it's rotten and the jacket or cushion should be replaced. The kapok bags inside should be light and fluffy. If the preserver feels heavy, one of the bags may have ruptured and be waterlogged.

Fire extinguishers also need to be checked for cracked or broken hoses or obstructed nozzles. Look at the pressure gauge, locking pins and sealing wires. Recharge the extinguisher if the gauge indicates low pressure.

When you're finished checking out your boat, move on to the boat trailer. Wheel bearings should be packed with grease at the first of the season. If you find pits or rust on the bearings replace them. Lubricate all working parts of the couplers, winch, tilting mechanism, moving brackets and rollers.

Check trailer tires for proper pressure and wear, and see that the car hitch is tight. Hook the trailer to the car and test the lights.

These precautions may be time-consuming, but they can help insure that your first trip to the lake is an enjoyable and safe experience.

The U.S. celebrated its first official Thanksgiving in 1777--not in honor of the Pilgrim event but to celebrate the defeat of British Gen. John Burgoyne.

Weddings Turn Formal Again

COLLEGE STATION--Today's brides are marrying in more formal, traditional ceremonies, Mrs. Becky Culp, a clothing specialist, reports.

"Weddings are clothing oriented, and today's bridal gowns reflect both current fashion trends and the traditional element," she added.

Mrs. Culp is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Full skirts, fitted waistlines, long sleeves and high necklines are favorite design details."

"The beauty and luxury of traditional fabrics--laces, ribbons, brocades or tulle in white or shades of off-white--stand alone or mingle flexibly with popular pastel or printed muslins, crinkles, knits or sheers."

"Texture provides major interest and variety from velvety touches to light, airy layers or dainty flower petals," she notes.

The specialist said that a recent survey indicated that the average bride will spend $250 when buying her gown and $200 on buying gowns for her attendants.

"Almost one-third of the brides make their own gowns and can save two-thirds the cost of ready-to-wear by doing this."

"And besides the money saving, brides can achieve a custom look."

Refrigerator Easy to Clean if Done Often

COLLEGE STATION--Food keeps longer and stays fresher in a clean refrigerator, Mrs. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist says.

"Most manufacturers recommend a thorough cleaning every six months. But this may vary with each family, depending on the amount of food stored and number of spills which occur," she said.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To clean the refrigerator, turn the control dial to OFF, or unplug and remove food. Take out all shelves, racks and storage drawers.

"Wash all removable metal and porcelain parts in soap or mild detergent-water solution; rinse with clear water."

"Wipe interior and door shelves with same solution, or with a solution of borax or baking soda and water; rinse and dry."

"Wipe door gasket with borax or baking soda solution only; strong detergents can cause deterioration. Rinse and dry thoroughly. Periodic

DAR Installs Officers, Hears John Brim, Conservationist

The annual meeting, a dinner at Cherokee Inn Restaurant, was held by La Paisana Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday May 24.

Members heard John Brim, a member of Salt Fork Soil Conservation District board of directors, discuss Conservation, and this was followed by the installation of new officers.

Calling land "Our most precious heritage," Mr. Brim reminded the chapter that because America's natural resources are so great, they have had a great bearing on the establishment of a strong nation.

"We should do everything to conserve them for our continuing strength will depend on how well we take care of these resources," he said.

Mr. Brim praised the work of the Wellington Soil Conservation Office and its trained personnel. He reminded DAR members there are 3,000 soil conservation districts in the United States.

One of the First Winners of the state-wide Save the Soil and Save Texas conservation Awards Program from Salt Fork SCD, Mr. Brim then explained the conservation program carried out on his farm.

Mrs. W.L. White, regent, led the opening ritual and conducted the business session. The national defense program was presented by Mrs. Dee Coleman and Mrs. Clyde Drake.

cleaning not only makes gasket last longer—it also insures a tighter seal," she said.

She reminded consumers not to forget to sweep or vacuum under the refrigerator and around the coils.

"When frost in freezer compartment is one-quarter inch thick, it is time to defrost—because any heavier accumulation will affect cooling efficiency," she explained.

Do You Need That Bath?

Just a little over 100 years ago, it was believed by the American people that taking a bath too often was uncalled for and even dangerous to one's health if taken during the winter months. In Pennsylvania, there was even an attempt to make it illegal to bathe from November to March.

When the bathtub "hit it big" in England, the American public denounced it as an "epicurean innovation from England designed to corrupt the simplicity of the Republic."

One can imagine the public furor that arose in 1851 when it was announced that a bathroom was to be installed in the White House, says Mrs. Janice Carberry, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Fix-It Tip

The way you use sandpaper determines how successful that finishing or refinishing project turns out. This is especially true with the clear finishes - varnish, shellac, lacquer. In fact, any of them will gleam on a properly sanded surface. But you can buy the most expensive finish available and if your sanding has been careless it will magnify every flaw, scratch and rough spot. Any rough spot will immediately come through darker than a smooth surface. Power sanding has become popular, but power sanders can be tricky and if not used properly can ruin a job. Nothing really beats hand-sanding. here, he was superintendent at Ft. Sumner, New Mexico and Spade Schools before going to Lubbock.

Cotton---The Popular Fabric

COLLEGE STATION--Cotton is The Fabric for summer-woven, knitted, in solids and prints, it's popular for sports, casuals and dress up clothes, Marlene Odle, clothing specialist, reports.

She's with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Brights, white and stripes head the scene for cool comfortable looks in gauze. And cotton knit T-shirts will be worn with skirts and shorts made of poplin broadcloth with napped, lustered and brushed surfaces," she said.

The homespuns-peasant cloth, wrinkled cottons, linen looks and burlap-like wovens--will be used for dresses and skirt suits, she continued.

New textures of seersucker and blister fabrics are seen in caftans and jumpsuits. "The colorful prints--Persian and batiks, florals and borders--are found in blouses and dresses.

"For evening, jersey, silk, rayon and polyester crepe de chines in prints, stripes and abstract designs head the list of favorites.

"And gray tops the color favorites," the specialist reported.

Court House Personnel and Guests Picnic at Pioneer Park

County officials and employees held a picnic at pioneer Park Friday evening, May 21, their first at that site since it was completed.

Weiners were roasted in the barbecue pits and served with all the trimmings.

Those attending spent much of the time walking over the park to see recent improvements, including playground equipment and trailer hook-ups.

Court House personnel and their guests included Judge and Mrs. Zook Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Don Reeves and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard "Father" Power Important, Too

COLLEGE STATION---"Just being a man" is the most important aspect of fatherhood, Mrs. Ilene Miller, a family life education specialist, says.

"From their dad's examples children learn what it means to be masculine. Watching and listening to their father helps children perceive how men should behave. They learn that men are more than only fathers--they're husbands, career men, citizens and individuals with varied interests and talents," she added.

Mrs. Miller is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"The best gift a father can give a son or daughter is himself--spending time working and playing with his children.

"Fathers also help their children become more sociable and behave acceptably as they interpret the codes of society. They show and tell children what is right and wrong--what they can and cannot do, and why.

"Fathers are one of the children's prime links with the wide world of the community. Through his conversations, interests and activities, a father influences his child's attitudes about the community," she said.

Being a good father is closely tied with being a good husband, the specialist added.

"Children benefit from family situations where father and mother share their work, friends, concerns, along with their joys too. The child's attitudes about home and parental roles are shaped by these early contacts with both father and mother and remain with him all his life," she said.

Fathers' roles have changed over the past 20 years. They are becoming more involved with home affairs and child rearing and realizing that fathering is a full time position beginning with the baby's birth, she said.

"Fathers are as essential as mothers in the lives of their children. For best physical, mental, emotional and social development, a child needs involvement with both parents through play, decision-making, discussions and everyday activities.

GENE COOK

Sandia Honors Gene Cook

Eugene W. Cook, a former resident of Wellington, and the son-in-law of Mrs. L.M. Bartlett, recently received an award in recognition of 20 years' service in the nuclear weapons program at Sandia Laboratories, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Sandia is an Energy Research & Development Administration (ERDA) prime contractor and a subsidiary of Western Electric engaged primarily in research and development on the ordnance phases of nuclear weapons design. It operates laboratories in Albuquerque and in Livermore, Calif.

Mr. Cook is a member of Sandia's Engineering Sciences Department.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Cook, formerly of Wellington, now reside in Lubbock.

Mr. Cook and his wife, the former Gwen Bartlett of Wellington, live at 800 Kentucky SE, Albuquerque.

fall wormings. Once the program has begun the fall worming should be after fly season and should be either a tube worming or gel which will kill the bots. The spring worming should consist of rotation with either a thiabendazole or telmin product to prevent the development of resistant strain of strongyles. Colts and stalled horses should be wormed basically every 6-8 weeks starting at 6 months old on colts and again rotating the worming product.

When good pasture management and a regular worming and vaccination program are in effect a lot of time and work can be lost by bringing in new horses and turning them out with the "native" horses. One infected horse can quickly introduce worms as well as infectious diseases to the whole herd especially the young horses. Therefore before introducing a new horse it is important to quarantine him from the others for 10 days to 2 weeks in which time he should be vaccinated and wormed.

Cleaning of stalls and fresh water is as important to parasite and disease control as regular worming. Pasture rotation is equally important in foals to prevent ascarid round worm build ups.

Hog Outlook Now Bright But Caution Needed

COLLEGE STATION--For hog producers 1976 should be a profitable year if they don't get overanxious and expand operations too quickly.

That's how the hog picture looks to Dr. Ernest Davis, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

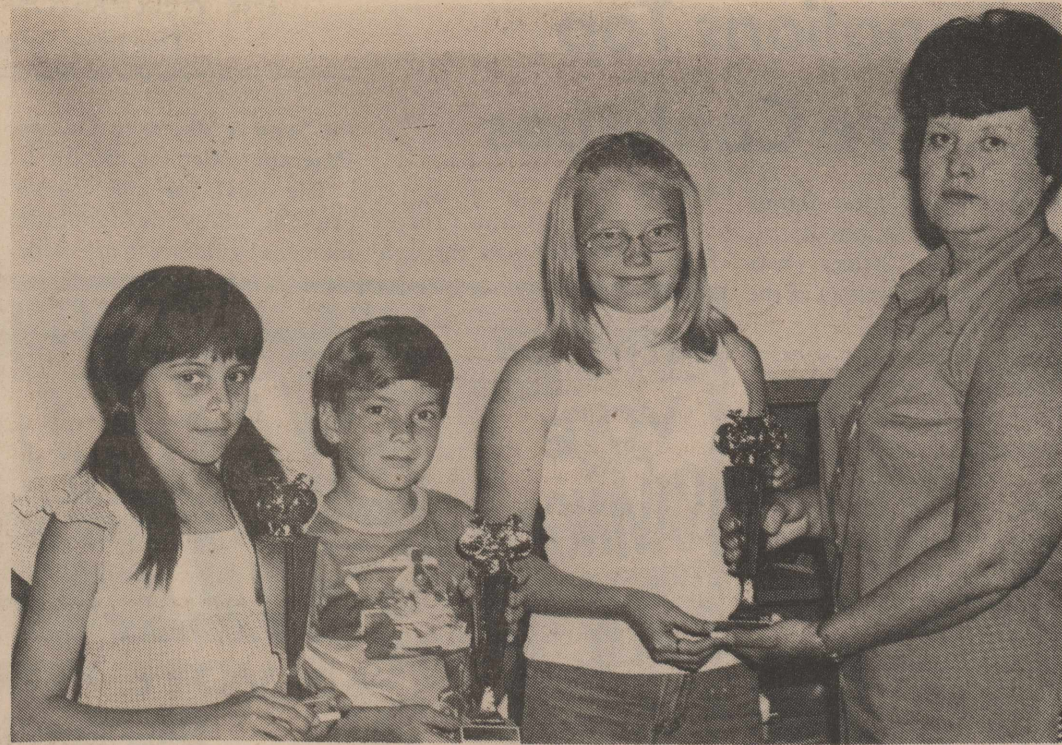

Hog prices should continue strong during most of the year due mainly to a continued shortage of pork supplies.

"Pork supplies per person in the United States last year were the lowest since 1935," notes the Texas A&M University System specialist. "This caused market prices to reach an average record of $48.32 per hundredweight, more than $8 above the record level set in 1973."

For the first half of 1976, Davis estimates pork supplies to run 9 to 10 per cent below the same period a year ago. However, increased farrowings during this period could boost pork supplies for the second half of the year as much as 16 per cent above those of the second half of 1975.

"Producers can expect to see market barrow and gilt prices average near the $46 to $48 per hundredweight level during the first half of the year," believes the specialist. "But prices will probably drop off during the second half of 1976 and average in the $40 to $42 range during the last quarter."

Flexitime is the idea of letting employees set their own working hours. There are many variations to the system which permits workers to vary starting and quitting times. All workers must be on the job during "core hours". The minimum number of hours all workers must put in is still 40 hours a week or 80 hours bi-weekly.

Where did the idea come from? The big push for flexitime came from women's organizations trying to get away from the rigid, no-give, five-day, 8-to-5 work schedule, which made it virtually impossible for many working mothers to hold down a job. Being able to start work at 9 instead of 8 would enable a mother to feed her youngster and have him off to school. A recent study concludes that flexibility in work schedules is a key factor in equal opportunity for women.

The first company to use flexitime was a West German manufacturer in 1967. Since then it has spread in popularity. Over 100 U.S. corporations are using it or testing it including General Motors, Montgomery Ward, National Cash Register, American Airlines and Pacific Gas and Electric.

Companies using flexitime usually like the concept. Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., experimented with 400 clerical and staff personnel on flexitime and found that productivity increased while absenteeism and tardiness decreased. Smith Kline Corp. tried the experiment with 175 employees and noted a drop in turnover and tardiness. Absenteeism dropped by one-third and overtime dropped sharply.

The federal government has tried flexitime. The Army tank depot at Warren, Michigan started flexitime with 400 employees and now has 4000 workers on the system. An Air Force base in Alabama started the program with 200 workers and now has 1,100 on flexitime with plans to expand the program to 6,000 and maybe 8,000 employees. The Social Security Administration facility in Baltimore was one of the first federal agencies to use flexitime. It has 2,000 employees on the program and has authorized other offices to begin the plan. One flexitime expert has commented that, "No shop in the government has tried it and dropped it."

Not everyone has forgotten the oil embargo. But then, Washington has not been setting any records coming up with a solution to the problem, either. The Federal Energy Administration has been charged with the responsibility of formulating a plan to stockpile enough oil as to act as a buffer against any future oil embargo. Their report to Congress, a month overdue, proposes a storage program for the first reserve of 150 million barrels by December, 1978. This reserve should be stored in salt domes and mines along and under the Gulf of Mexico. Interestingly, one of the big problems in moving

Eight Couples at Toledo Bend Reservoir

Six Wellington couples and two others from Louisiana and Mississippi, met at Shelby Beach on Toledo Bend Reservoir recently for a week of fishing.

Rain cut short the time they could spend on the lake, nevertheless they caught enough fish, mostly brim and crappie, for two good fish fries. Sandy Parsons reported.

The group included Mr. and Mrs. Velman Warrick, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur DePauw, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Couch of Homer, La., Mr. and Mrs. C.T. Hubbard, joined by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hubbard of Jackson, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons returned through eastern

Oklahoma to pick up her mother, Mrs. Claud McMillin, who was visiting a son, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McMillin of Tulsa.

Toledo Bend Reservoir, on the Texas-Louisiana state line, is more than 75 miles long and impounds 4,447,000 acre feet of water.

Shelby Beach is near Shelbyville.

UNDERSTANDING DRUG ABUSE

a health column from the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Drug Use, Step by Step

When young people's use of illegal drugs became widespread during the past decade, an often expressed fear of some of their elders was that experimentation with any drug would lead to experimentation with—and addiction to—narcotics. Marijuana was referred to by some as a narcotic (which it is not), and the smoking of marijuana cigarettes was singled out as the first step toward dangerous, chronic addiction.

Recent research supported by the National Institute on Drug Abuse has now revealed that there are clear stages in drug-using behavior, but this progression does not appear to start with marijuana.

Marijuana, instead, is a link in a chain. From the research it appears that young people, as they are going through adolescence, begin their drug consumption with beer and wine (if they use drugs at all).

If they pursue drug use, the next step can be in two directions: to cigarettes and to hard liquor. The next step for both groups, if the young person continues, is almost inevitably to marijuana use.

Many people, of course, stop at any one of these steps, but for those who continue the next step is to other illicit drugs—most often tranquilizers, amphetamines, and barbiturates. Next come LSD and other hallucinogens, the oil to market in case of an embargo, is the lack of pipeline facilities. The oil would have to be moved by tanker and barge from the Gulf refineries to the East coast.

Storage for 500 million barrels are to be ready by 1982. The oil will come from the open market and the Elk Hills, California reservoir. Some of the oil for the reserve will have to come from foreign sources. The U.S. has been dicker with Kuwait, Venezuela, and Russia but has not been able to get oil any cheaper than the current $12 per barrel price. Purchase of the foreign oil will result in an eventual payment of almost $2 billion to overseas producers over the next three years. The effect on foreign oil prices won't be to raise them but more in the area of supporting prices until the foreign oil has been purchased. Sending almost $2 billion overseas will increase the balance of payments deficit we consistently run over the next 36 months.

The big question is whether the oil industry will have to create a huge oil reserve for standby purposes in addition to the present program. The report doesn't cover that subject. Nor does the report say just who is going to pay the huge sums of money with which to pay for the storage facilities ($314 million) and the oil itself ($554 million for the first 50 million barrels). I think you can guess the answer to those two questions; the consumer, who else?

followed by the final step in this progression to the use of what are generally known as the hardest drugs, heroin and cocaine.

Only a minority of drug users make this complete progression to hard drug use. The others stop at any one of the steps. When they do stop, and if they give up drug use, they tend to go back down the same series of steps in the reverse order. Thus, a person who is giving up heroin tends to come back down the steps to the use of LSD and hallucinogens, and on down to tranquilizers, amphetamines, barbiturates and other illicit drugs, including marijuana, then again to hard liquor, tobacco, and beer and wine.

A pattern of drug use, though by no means inevitable, is now predictable.

Cancer Fund Donations Top $2,500 Mark, Drive Continues

Donations to the Cancer Crusade passed the $2,500 mark this week as Bike-A-Thon donations were turned in, according to Mrs. Margaret Vines, secretary of the Collingsworth County unit of the American Cancer Society.

This makes it one of the most successful fund campaigns held here. The total of $2,516.67 is more than $500 above the county's quota of $2,000.

The Bike-A-Thon raised $796.12 to date, and some funds have not been turned in, according to Mrs. Margaret Vines, secretary. Winners were announced Monday, May 24 in four categories.

The youngest rider was Jerry Davis, 8 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Davis, 1208 Dallas Street.

The oldest rider was Tom Anderson, minister of the church of Christ.

Most sponsors were secured by Jannon Thomason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy G. Thomason, 1602 Haskell Street.

Most money, $91.00, was raised by Martha Renee Murdock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Murdock, 1606 Amarillo Street.

Mrs. Vines urged all riders who still have Bike-A-Thon money to turn it in this week.

Collections in the residential area of Wellington and outlying areas of the county raised $1,194.19, while the business community donated $444.20.

Students of the three schools did their part through the Send a Mouse to College Program, collecting $82.07.

The total for the cancer crusade does not include memorial gifts which are made year around at either of the Wellington banks.

Donations to the Cancer Crusade are still being accepted, Mrs. Vines said.

Pee Wee Baseball Program Explained

The only equipment children playing Pee Wee baseball need to furnish is their own gloves. Everything else is provided by the league—uniforms, bats, balls, hard hats, and anything else needed.

Pee Wee baseball is for boys and girls 5, 6, 7 and 8 years old.

Beginning June 1, they will play at 5:30 p.m. at the Ellison Park Field each Tuesday and Thursday.

These children do not do serious hitting, but it is a good basic program to teach them baseball fundamentals, said Mrs. Earl L. Bartlett, one of the mothers working with the program.

She also emphasized that parents must sign an authorization slip for each player and if this has not been done, it should be taken care of Tuesday, June 1, when they come to the park.

Both boys and girls will be playing in the league. Four girls were members last summer, but a number of others are interested this year.

"This year, if we can have enough children turn out, we can group them in teams according to age and ability," Mrs. Bartlett explained.

There are no practice sessions, and the only time involved will be the two afternoons, Tuesday and Thursday, of each week.

"It's a good fun program for your child," Mrs. Bartlett urged.

There's a Big Welcome for Darrell Royal and Friends

A genuine Collingsworth County style welcome goes out Saturday and Sunday to those who will participate in the Darrell Royal Celebrity Golf Tournament at Hay Camp Country Club.

First, we welcome our old neighbor, Darrell Royal, who will be at the tournament twice Saturday and again Sunday. There is unlimited good will and liking in this part of the Southeast Panhandle toward the University of Texas football coach.

The same open-handed hospitality is awaiting all the others from the world of sports and country-western music who will be at Hay Camp, those who played football or have been associated in other ways with Darrell Royal.

We hope they will relax in the warm-hearted hospitality for which Collingsworth County is noted.

Congratulations to A.B. Dean, owner, and Jim Terry, professional, at Hay Camp Country Club. They have given us an exceptional golf course in a ranch setting that is unusual and beautiful and invigorating. The greens are in perfect condition for the celebrity tournament and the whole course is right for challenging golf.

They and Dr. Chester Harrison, who is tournament chairman, are giving this area a sports event to be remembered for many years.

Graduates — and Jobs

With graduation on both high school and college level just around the corner, a lot of graduates are thinking seriously about finding a job. The 1976 graduating classes have a little bit different outlook than some graduates of recent years because jobs are not being dangled in front of them as jobs once were. Last year's class and the one before that found that the job market tends to dry up when economic conditions are such as to worry employers. The graduates who are job hunting this year are in earnest about it and we believe they will be better employees because they will appreciate a job much more when they have to hunt hard for it and work hard to keep it.

There is a generation before them who never knew a major recession, never knew what it is to be laid off with no chance of being rehired or even getting a job, never knew the hopeless feeling or worried concern over where the next grocery check was coming from. This new generation grew up in the 1950's and 1960's. It was a generation known for rebelliousness, restiveness and they had sharply different values from their parents. Because they had known nothing but affluence, they rejected material things.

Yet the job market today is nothing like it was a few decades ago when any kind of a steady job was something to be prized and the person who had one certainly didn't leave it until he had another one lined up. Today's unemployment rate is swelled by those who actually are not in the market for a job and by those who work on a seasonal basis. The hard worker who is willing to work hard can find a job today and whole lot easier than he could have in the 1940's. Most unemployment is in fields of work which have unpleasant working conditions and other factors which make these jobs unattractive. A lot of the unemployed are not looking for these jobs but have in mind one with easy work, short hours and big pay. There has always been a shortage of these jobs.

WACO—Waco has shipped about 36,000 bales of cotton this season. More than a bale of cotton is often made to the acre on the river and creek bottoms and more than half a bale on the uplands. From 25 to 30 bushels of corn, from 30 to 50 bushels of barley or oats are the usual products of an acre.

STATE CAPITAL

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Two runoff races on the June 5 Democratic ballot are turning into tough contests.

State Rep. Jon Newton, 35, of Beeville, and former Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, 68, of Grapeland are attacking each other heavily in the Railroad Commission race.

Carl Dally, 52, of Houston is heating up his own campaign for the Court of Criminal Appeals against W. T. Phillips, 63, of Waco, although in a more-restrained, judicial key.

Newton hammers hard on Sadler's record as land commissioner in the 1960's. He notes Sadler put in less than fulltime at the job and was once investigated for having an employee of the land office working in a hotel at Palestine.

Newton also labels Sadler as a figure from the Great Depression, noting his opponent's 1939-1942 service on the Railroad Commission.

Sadler retaliates by terming Newton an "embryo energy expert," not yet born when he (Sadler) began his single term on the oil, gas and transportation regulatory agency. The former commissioner also dwells at length on Newton's financial aid from oil industry representatives and recently claimed the young lawmaker once voted against investigation of the Sharpstown scandals.

Dally claims better qualifications than Phillips on strength of his service as a commissioner in aid to the court for five years and questions whether his opponent (who led in first primary voting) has been active in practicing criminal law during recent years.

Rules Set

Texas Public Utility Commission adopted new rules providing that utility companies cannot add late charges to homeowners' bills. "Net" as stated on monthly bills must reflect a true discount for early payment.

In return, companies were allowed to disconnect service for non-payment 20 days after a bill is sent out.

Other rules would make telephone companies refund money if telephones are out of order eight hours after faulty service is reported unless the trouble is caused by a disaster or the customer's own acts.

Persons over 65 would be exempt from utility deposits unless they owe money from two years back. Rules would also require the utilities to pay interest on deposit, and prohibit them from requiring deposits for home service where customers have a good record with similar connections and furnish evidence of a good credit rating or written guarantee of payment.

On the other hand, the commission allowed about $20 million in advertising expenditures and charitable contributions to be passed along to utility customers by companies.

Release Ordered

The State Insurance Board has been ordered by a district judge here to release its application for a $1.2 million federal grant to finance a plan to regulate hospital charges.

Atty. Gen. John Hill brought suit to make the document public.

AG Opinions

Attorney General Hill said the Department of Public Safety doesn't have to reveal the list it keeps of people who come and go at the Texas governor's mansion.

In other simultaneous interpretations of the open records act, Hill concluded:

- Names and addresses of burglary victims are public information.
- A city is not required to provide criminal records of drivers in driving while intoxicated arrests.
- A request to a sheriff for "any record your department has" on an individual should be rejected.
- A criminal history record is excepted from required public disclosure, but an individual can see his own record.
- Dallas arson investigation records are partially excepted from disclosure.
- Photos and supplemental witness statements in a carbon monoxide death should not be disclosed as "evidentiary matters."

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court set a June 16 hearing on a suit to determine if the state can levy charges on river dredgers for spill from a pipeline company's wharves on the Neches River near Port Arthur.

The high court upheld Arlington in an annexation controversy with the Kennedale community.

In another case, the Supreme Court affirmed a $2,500 award to a Fort Worth man fired for instituting a workmen's compensation claim. Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the murder conviction of a Houston woman who gave her husband Secondal capsules while he was asleep.

Appointments

Lynn M. Moak, former assistant comptroller, will coordinate research for Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby on school finance, property tax reform and the new state budget.

Lee C. Clyburn will become administrative assistant to Atty. Gen. John Hill, and Jim Bushala will move up to the post of executive assistant to the attorney general, succeeding John W. Odam.

Short Snorts

Comptroller Bob Bullock warned diesel rig truckers against attempts to violate Texas motor fuel laws.

Gov. and Mrs. Dolph Briscoe will present 1976 Janey Briscoe Bicentennial awards for Texas beautification efforts in San Antonio June 11. A total of 127 cities and organizations participated in the competition.

A special election was set July 17 in Mart to pick a new mayor and two other city council members.

Cornerstone of the new Texas Law Center was set in ceremonies May 22. A time capsule placed there will be opened in 2026.

The U. S. Department of Labor is readying for nationwide use a computerized job-matching system pioneered by Texas Employment Commission.

The comptroller's sales tax division has collected $993,000 in tax judgments since Jan. 1, 1975.

Nearly 600 Texas cities and towns received checks for $9.1 million as their share of May city sales tax rebates.

HAY CAMP PICNIC - 1913

KIM GOFORTH

Classmates will be watching Kim Goforth, the tall, distinctive, blond who was chosen Most Likely to Succeed. This is only one of a number of major honors that have come to her.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Goforth, 1105 Houston Street, Kim was born in Amarillo September 1, 1958. All her school work has been in Wellington.

Kim was the editor of the handsome annual, The Skyrocket, issued this year, and as a junior, she was co-editor. She also belonged to Future Homemakers of America.

She was a varsity cheerleader and played the flute in That Skyrocket Band.

Classmates have picked her for some of the finest honors, Miss Wellington High School, the Football Queen, Best All Around Student.

Other honors came, too. Kim was named Most Versatile her junior year, and the Sophomore Favorite. She was a band officer and on the student council. Additionally, she was a football attendant.

A leader among Future Homemakers of America members, she was president two years and is second vice-president this year.

She was named to Who's Who two years and Who's Who Among American High School Students two years.

Outside of school, Kim was the Key Club Sweetheart. A member of Ko Shari, she was historian two years.

Her favorite studies are business law and English; her hobbies are art and water skiing.

Kim will attend Texas Women's University at Denton to be a nursing major.

Salutatorian of this year's graduating class is Richard McDowell Sims. It will be a long while before Wellington has a pair of brothers who represent their high school so ably as the pair who are generally known as "the Sims twins."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Mac Sims, 1612 Corsicana and was born October 9, 1957, in Wellington. He has attended only Wellington Schools.

He is also the student body vice-president. With his brother, he won the District 2-A doubles tennis championship this year and was second twice previously. He was on the 2-A Championship football team and was named an all-district back. He also was on the championship basketball team last year.

An officer of Beta Club four years, he also played in That Skyrocket Band four years and was in the All-Region Band the last three; was an officer and member of Future Farmers of America and was on the track team four years. He was a regional alternate on the 1976 relay team.

Richard had perfect attendance awards his first three years in high school.

He was on the Rocket Reader staff, and classmates named him Friendliest and, this year, Most Dependable. He was chosen for Who's Who.

With his brother, Randall, he was co-recipient of the Larry Wright Fighting Heart Award a few weeks ago.

His achievements outside of school have been equally impressive.

Richard sang in "I Love America," and was in the cast of "Man & Land & Love" this year. Last year he was soloist in the community Easter Cantata.

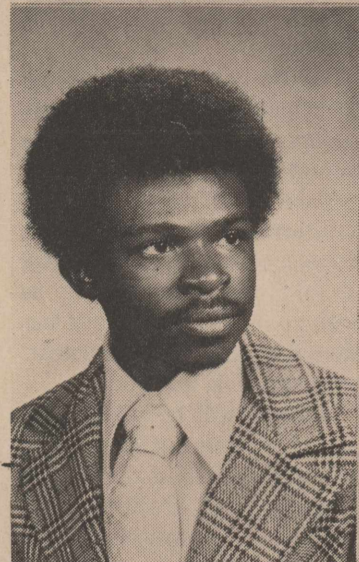

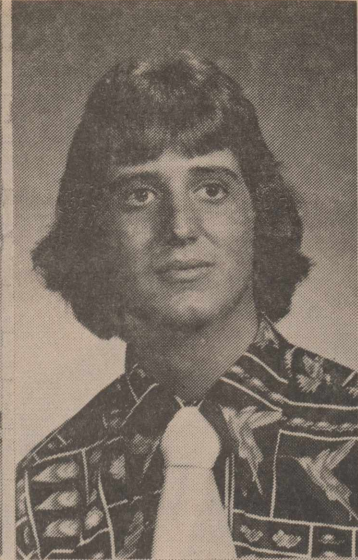

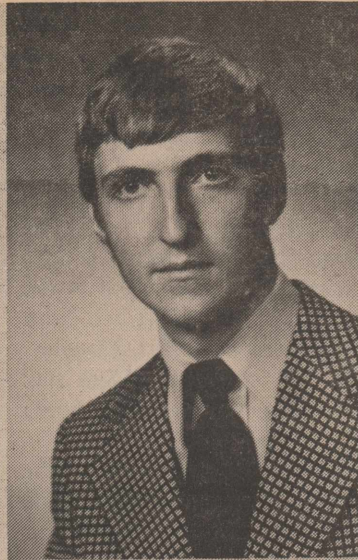

He was area winner of the United Daughters of the Confederacy Essay Contest and first place winner in the Chamber of Commerce essay on Collingsworth County. He received the Daughters of the American Revolution American History Award.

He is an Eagle Scout and belongs to the Order of the Arrow and the Brotherhood.

Aware of his duties as a citizen, he served this May as a delegate from Precinct 1 to the County Democratic Convention.

Math and English are Richard's favorite studies. His hobbies are fishing, hunting, tennis, baseball and football. Outside of school, he enjoys working at his family's ranch.

Richard says he will attend West Texas State University or Texas A&M University.

GRADUATING FROM WHS FRIDAY

Honors in sports, music, scholastic achievement and extracurricular activities have come to this group, not only as seniors, but through high school. Reading from left, in the top row are

LINDA COFFEE

If the school gave an award for the greatest achiever, Linda Coffee would certainly be in the running.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coffee, 1709 Ellison Street. She was born here May 26, 1958, and has attended only Wellington schools.

One of the good things that has happened to her came this spring, when she was chosen fourth runner-up in the fifth annual Miss Texas National Teen Ager Contest, in competition with girls from throughout the state.

She also received one of the top honors for this county when she was named Collingsworth County Farm Bureau Queen last summer.

She was also Lions Club Sweetheart and was the Collingsworth 4-H Club Gold Star Award winner, highest on the county level.

She has been in Beta Club four years, is now vice-president, and was delegate to the state convention. She is secretary-treasurer of the band, in which she played four years. She is reporter for both the senior class and the student council.

Classmates chose her Most Courteous and Junior Class Favorite.

She was a twirler with the band two years, was selected for the all-region band two, and was B team cheerleader two.

This year, Linda is listed in Who's Who and previously she was co-editor of the annual.

Interested in drama, she was in the one-act play last year and in the children's play this. Outside of school, she had a part in the bicentennial play, "Man & Land & Love."

A four-year-member of Future Homemakers, Linda is this year's president after being first vice-president two years. She sang in the FHA area choir three years and the FHA state choir as a junior. Twice she attended State FHA meetings.

She names shorthand and government her favorite subjects, while tennis and twirling are her hobbies.

Linda will attend Abilene Christian University.

SAMMY GONZALES

The president of the senior class, Sammy Gonzales has probably been a member of more championship teams than any other senior—and in three different sports.

He was on the District 2A Championship Skyrocket football team and basketball teams this year, and in the 1974-75 year, he played on the 2-A victorious basketball and tennis teams.

Each of these sports he has participated in four years.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Baldemar Gonzales, 701 El Paso Street, Sammy was born in Shamrock October 27, 1957. He has attended only the Wellington Schools.

Sammy belonged to Future Farmers of America two years and Future Teachers of America three, serving as president last year. He ran track two years.

Popular among his classmates, he was also president of the freshmen and vice-president of the junior classes.

He was in the UIL one-act play contest the last two years and the children's play this year.

Sammy was chosen Most Friendly as a freshman and sophomore; Most Courteous as a junior and senior. He was the freshman and junior Class Favorite.

He is treasurer of Student Council this year and a football escort.

Algebra and government are his favorite studies, while his hobbies are tennis, football and basketball.

Sammy plans to attend college, but he has not decided where he will enroll.

The Veterans Administration is the largest of all independent government agencies.

EDWARD THOMAS He was on the varsity football team three years and two of these he won all-district honors.

In this bicentennial year, Edward Thomas' birthday will be a little special, for he was born July 4, 1957. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Nash, 412 Ft. Worth Street, and has attended only the Wellington Schools.

Edward is the first Skyrocket in a number of years to earn state basketball honors, having been chosen for the third All-State basketball team. He received the Outstanding Basketball Player Award at the All-sports Banquet.

Last year, he was chosen All-American in basketball. These honors came after he was chosen to the 2-A All District team both years and this year to the All-Regional team.

Edward was also on the varsity track team two years. Additionally, he was a football escort this year, and he will play in the Plainview Panhandle All-Star Game.

Classmates named him Mr. Basketball as a junior, and for two years he has been Mr. School Spirit.

Edward says his favorite courses were British Novels and history.

Outside of school, he was employed at Collingsworth General Hospital.

He plans to attend Odessa College.

FREDDIE CHAMBERS

Probably the most musical of the graduates is Freddie Chambers, the fantastic drummer of That Skyrocket Band. Besides the band, he also played in the stage band and sang in the high school choir. Freddie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chambers of Wellington and was born here March 22, 1957. He attended only Wellington Schools.

He is completing his high school years with two major honors: he will compete in the state University Interscholastic League solo and ensemble contest at Austin, and at the band banquet, for the second consecutive year, he received That Skyrocket Bandsman award.

For three years, Freddie won a place in the All-Region Band and for two he had Division I ratings in solo and ensemble UIL competition. This year, Freddie was vice-president of That Skyrocket Band and was chosen Band King. He was chosen Most Valuable to the School. Interested in speech, also, he was in the UIL One Act Play and was chosen for the District 2-A All-Star cast. He has been named to Who's Who and for two years was selected Most Talented.

Speech, English and band are his favorite studies. His hobbies are putting together and recording music, making tapes, and similar activities.

In summing up his school work, Freddie said: "I have enjoyed going to school. The first important 12 years of my life are up and now it's on to reach new goals and think at all times.... Freddie, you are going to make it."

RANDALL MAXWELL

Skyrocket football fans will remember Randall Maxwell for a good many years to come. His stellar work in the line also made an impression on his contemporaries from other District 2-A teams.

This ability and devotion to football won him dual honors on the All-District team, as first team center and second team defensive lineman for the 1975 season.

This spring, at the all-sports banquet, to climax his four years as a Skyrocket, Randall was named Outstanding Lineman, one of the four sports honors given.

This senior also was in the track program two years.

He was a member of Future Farmers of America four years and lists agriculture as his favorite study.

Randall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Maxwell of Route 1, Wellington. He was born November 8, 1957 at Hereford and attended Hereford school before coming here.

MICKEY VASSEY

Mickey Vassey has been an outstanding athlete, but that is only one of his interests in Wellington High School.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lockhart, Mickey was born at Ocilla, Georgia, September 20, 1957. Most of his education has been in the Wellington Schools.

In High School, Mickey was in all types of athletics in the full four years. The climax to this came when he was a member of the District 2-A championship football team last fall.

He also played in the band two years and was a member of Future Farmers of America three. Mickey studied auto mechanics this year and placed third in a speed-skill contest in Plainview.

As a freshman, he received a perfect attendance certificate.

Mickey competed in the 1975 UIL regional track meet. Motorcycles are his hobby, and he names as favorite subjects Texas history and natural science.

He plans to attend Angelo State College two years, then go to Texas Christian University.

MARIANNE MORGAN

Marianne Morgan received one of the top honors to come to a senior when she received the Betty Crocker Family Leader award for 1976.

She is also known as the senior with the lovely singing voice. Marianne was soloist in "I Love America..." the bicentennial musical, in "Let Love Live," and was in the cast of "Man & Land & Love."

Born July 22, 1958, in Amarillo, Marianne is the daughter of Mrs. Dee Anna Morgan of 906 Corsicana Street and Sam Dick Morgan, also of Wellington. She has attended Wellington Schools since 1964.

A member of Beta Club four years, she was delegate to the state Beta Club Convention last year. She belonged to Future Homemakers of America two years and Future Teachers of America one. She worked on the school paper last year and belonged to the Pep Squad two years.

Last year she won third place in the UIL informative speaking contest.

Marianne lists business law and Speech II as her favorite studies. Her hobbies are playing tennis and frisbees, and more important, continuing with her music.

She plans to enroll in Clarendon College this fall.

DiAnna Schaub Listed in Volume

DiAnna Schaub, a sophomore, has been selected to represent Samnorwood High School in The Society of Distinguished American High School Students, the nation's leading honorary.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaub, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Jack Lowry and Mrs. Marie Schaub.

Each year high school principals and counselors from across the country assist the society in recognizing and rewarding these outstanding students. The honor is representative of her superior scholastic achievement, as well as the leadership she has demonstrated in extracurricular and civic activities.

DiAnna will be featured in the 1976 volume of The Society of Distinguished American High School Students and becomes a permanent means of recognizing her achievements.

BILL HAVENS

For a long time to come, people are going to remember the bicentennial presentation of the Collingsworth County musical, "Man & Land & Love." They will remember, too, that Bill Havens had the leading male role—that of the pioneer farmer.

Bill is son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jeffrey, Sr., 1310 17th Street. He was born March 4, 1958, at Kerrville and came to Wellington from a ranch in the Cloudcroft, N.M. area. He has attended only Wellington High School.

This year he was on that 2-A District champion Skyrocket varsity basketball team, after playing on the freshman and B teams. He also played freshman football.

As a junior, he was a teacher's aide.

Last year, Bill received a perfect attendance certificate. Active in 4-H, he received the automotive award.

History and agriculture are Bill's favorite studies.

His hobbies are rodeo, cycle riding, dancing and pool, he says.

Bill will attend Clarendon College next year.

DAVID NULL

President of the student body this year is David Null, but this is only one of a number of his important accomplishments.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Null, 1209 Graham Street, he was born in Wellington September 2, 1958.

David was a member of Beta Club, Future Farmers of America and Future Teachers of America and the Student Council, and an officer in all of these.

This year, he was a tri-captain of the District 2-A Championship football team and was the DAR Good Citizenship award recipient—the first boy La Paisana Chapter has honored.

Bart was active in the 4-H Horse Program and participated in competition on district and state level.

Agriculture is his favorite study and rodeo his hobby. He plans to attend college but he does not know where.

Mildred Starr Retires From Highway Office

The May 31st retirement of Mrs. Mildred S. Starr from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has been announced by A.L. McKee, Amarillo District Engineer.

Mrs. Starr, of 3702 S. Linda in Amarillo, has served as executive secretary during the tenure of two district engineers, first, Charles W. Smith, who is now retired, and McKee, who succeeded Smith on November 1, 1973.

Mrs. Starr, who joined the Texas Highway Department in March 1956, served as recording secretary at the first public hearing held on the routing of Interstate Highway 40 in this area.

She has gained recognition for the Amarillo District from the Department's Travel and Information Division in Austin on the development of and distribution of materials from the district's education film library. Upon request, films and slide shows are distributed to area public schools, civic and service clubs and business organizations. The Amarillo District excels in the number of viewers and mileage coverage in this public service.

Program participation in the Panhandle Chapter of the Texas Public Employees Association with her fellow employees of the Department was one of her most enjoyable duties.

A Memphis, Texas native, Mrs. Starr attended public schools in Wellington and graduated from Wellington High School. She later attended Amarillo College and West Texas State University.

She worked as registrar and secretary at Wellington High School from 1940 to 1942. She then worked as a secretary at Childress Air Force Base from 1942-46. She was employed at Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo 1946-50 and a secretary-receptionist at Goldston Clinic in Amarillo 1950-56.

As an employee of the Highway Department, Mrs. Starr realizes the importance of civic participation. She is a charter member of the womens division of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. As chairman of that division's tourist and convention committee, she has worked toward the successful promotion of tourism in Amarillo and Texas and the historical designation of the Alibates Flint Quarries as a national monument. She participates in "Rural Homemakers Day", an annual project of the womens division when Amarillo plays host to representatives of Home Demonstration clubs from six states. Mrs. Starr was awarded the "Recognition of Achievement in Tourism" Certificate by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

As president of the Zonta Club of Amarillo, an international service club, she will go as delegate to the club's international convention in Wiesbaden, Germany, this summer.

She is past president of the Amarillo Business and Professional Womens Club with duties as personal development chairman this year. She was honored as "Woman of the Year" by that club.

She is a member and has served as a Sunday school teacher at St. Paul United Methodist Church in Amarillo.

"It has been a distinct privilege to serve the Highway Department in the office of two such dedicated and capable district engineers as Mr. A.L. McKee and Mr. Charles W. Smith," said Mrs. Starr. "They have been instrumental in my happiness and sense of belonging in the field of highway construction and maintenance."

Mrs. Starr has two daughters and two grandsons; Mrs. Stephen Rich and her son, Samuel Nathan Starr Rich of London, England, and Mrs. Mary John Howington and her son, Roy Don Howington, II, of Amarillo.

YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

By BILLY MOSELEY
President
CITY STATE BANK

Inflation, simply stated, means it takes more to buy less, and while the experience may be new to some, anyone over 60, or even 45, has been through it before. The one thing the over 45 generation knows is that nothing lasts forever. That holds true for inflation, recession and unemployment.

Since the turn of the century, we have had two major price inflation periods, not counting the present one, 1914-20 and 1939-48, during and after two World Wars. Prices doubled, but so did our money supply. The nation also has experienced one fairly long continued peacetime rise in prices, 1897-1914, when everything went up 40-50%.

The economist-historians say we also have had four periods of economic stability, 1882-92, 1903-1913, 1923-29 and 1948-1960, and, since economic growth depends upon stable money, this nation experienced unprecedented industrial growth during each period.

As a nation, we have overcome and taken advantage of our setbacks, and we will continue to do so. One strength of our economy is its banking system, which is among the strongest in the world. Your bank provides the loans that build the businesses that generate the income that pays the salaries that pay the bills that keep industry moving.

"The more you know about our business, the more we can help you!"

Burial Services Held Here Friday For J. O. Stone

Graveside services were conducted at Fairview Cemetery Friday, May 21, for a former county resident, J.O. Stone, 77, of Canyon.

He died there Wednesday, May 19.

The Rev. James Price officiated at the service here and at the funeral held earlier at First United Methodist Church in Childress. Burial was beside his son, L.D. Stone, who was killed in action in World War II, and an infant daughter, under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Gene Stewart, Jack Quisenberry, Doy Skinner, Preston Price, John Forbis, and E.W. Burkett of Childress.

Born October 15, 1898, at Sulphur Bluff, Mr. Stone farmed for a number of years in the Rolla Community and later a short distance east of Wellington.

He moved to Lubbock about 32 years ago and was a contractor there at Oklahoma City for a long period. He had also lived at Childress and Paris, and operated a motel at Lake Texhoma until he retired in 1967.

He was a Methodist. Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Edna Stone; two sisters, Mrs. Roy Williamson of Childress and Mrs. Sherman Reynolds of Paris; and a brother, Neal R. Stone of Pueblo, Colorado. Bill Fincher is a brother-in-law.

Discard Food With Fluffy Mold "Bloom"

If you see a small amount of white fluffy mold on food, it's a good idea to throw away the item.

The fluff is actually the "bloom" of the mold—and where there is bloom, there are often deep, widespread roots.

I Saw... by Virginia Robey

Women who learned to cook on the New Perfection coal oil stove will smile at a recent incident at the County Historical Museum recently.

Much has been said about the wood or coal range of pioneers. But there was a whole era before gas came to Wellington 50 years ago, and butane arrived after World War II, that the New Perfection coal oil stove was supreme in the kitchen. Coal oil (few people said kerosene) flowed from a gallon tank on the right, through a pipe to moisten wicks in the four burners, each inside a chimney. These were lighted manually. The only way to regulate heat was to turn the wick up or down.

The tin oven could be lifted off as needed. The museum's kitchen has a New Perfection.

Recently a group of Quail children were going through the museum, and the kitchen furnishings were being explained.

One youngster raised his voice to be heard by the docent. Pointing toward the stove, he asked, "What's that?"

And when you think of it, there are almost two generations that know nothing about the delicious food that could be cooked on a New Perfection.

From the picnic given by county officials and employees at Pioneer Park Friday:

Mrs. Melvin Seale (Mickey) remembered a community picnic at that same site when she was a tiny girl. Her mother, the late Mrs. S.B. Bowen introduced herself to Melvin's mother the late Mrs. Marvin Seale. They had much in common and spent the afternoon sitting under a tree visiting.

Mrs. Seale's piano had been brought down in a truck so there could be singing, and there was much other entertainment through the day.

Mrs. Chester (Juanita) White had another kind of memory. She and Chester lived on the Loveless Ranch northwest of Marella, near the river, during the tragic flooding the summer of 1938.

Five people died. A family of three was caught in the headrise east of Lelia Lake. Two trainmen on the Ft. Worth & Denver night train from Childress were killed when the bridge gave away beneath their train.

Juanita recalls that so great was the force of the water in

Samnorwood Seniors On Trip to Galveston

They went first to Galveston, and for three days they went sightseeing and engaged in beach activities along that city's famous seawall.

There were side trips to Houston.

En route home, the seniors the river, they could feel the ground tremble and their house, three-quarters of a mile from the bank, was shaking.

Judge Zook Thomas noted that the park is only three miles from the geographic center of the county.

are spending two days in Arlington, and part of their fun there will be a visit to Six Flags Over Texas.

Senior going were Vonnie Knoll, Alethea Ray, Karen Lee, Debbie Oldham, Cindy Coleman and Mark Thomas.

Sponsors were the class parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Graves, and Kenneth Martindale, high principal and class sponsor, and Mrs. Martindale.

Mr. and Mrs. Orin Murray of Yukon, Oklahoma visited over the weekend with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moore.
