Taxpayers seek homestead exemptions

The Aransas County Taxpayers Association decided Tuesday evening, June 28, to ask the various taxing entities to allow the 40 percent homestead exemption authorized by the Texas Legislature in November 1981 as a local option. A representative of ACTA will present a written request to allow the maximum exemption to the county commissioners, the Aransas County Navigation District, the City of Rockport, the Town of Fulton, and the Aransas County Independent School District.

The homestead exemption was authorized by the legislature when it became apparent that the 100 percent valuation which became mandatory in 1982 under the uniform appraisal law would result in undue hardship on homeowners, while at the same time providing a windfall for industrial or commercial property owners. The exemption may not exceed 40 percent of the value from 1982 until 1984, 30 percent from 1985 through 1987, or 20 percent of the value after 1987. Exemptions may not be less than $5,000, even if the percentage of exemption authorized by the governing body would result in a lower amount on a particular property.

Last year, none of the taxing entities allowed a homestead exemption except the City of Rockport which allowed a 1 percent exemption.

ACTA President Willis D. Pfeifer announced that all candidates who have filed for the August ACND and Aransas County Water Control and Improvement District elections will be invited to address the July meeting of the organization. In addition, Pfeifer announced that State Senator John Sharp would address the August meeting of ACTA.

Pfeifer reported no new developments in the controversy over whether several posts emplaced in the water of Live Oak Point by H.E.B. Inc. are on public or private property. A ruling by Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox has been requested along with a public hearing regarding a permit for the posts from the Army Corps of Engineers but neither has occurred.

A motion by ACTA member Gilbert Whitcomb and seconded by Harold Pinchin to authorize the Texas Association of Concerned Taxpayers to install a telephone in their Austin office was approved during Tuesday night's meeting. It was also suggested that the organization compose a letter to the Public Utilities Commission opposing the recent request by Southwestern Bell Telephone for a rate increase. Several members said they would try to attend any public hearings on the increase to voice their opinion.

Pinchin told those present that U.S. Rep. Bill Patman will hold a series of town meetings in Refugio, Beeville and Port Lavaca on July 6. He suggested that some ACTA members attend one of the town meetings to personally thank Patman for the help he has given the organization in getting action taken in the H.E.B. case.

ACTA member J.C. Harlan spoke up in support of the ACND commissioners and the job they have done. In a related matter, Pfeifer read a letter to the organization from Mr. and Mrs. Homer Faber criticizing the navigation district and making suggestions for improvements.

Hall hired as RFJHS principal

Karen S. Hall of Palm Beach, Fla., has been hired by the Aransas County Independent School District as principal of Rockport-Fulton Junior High School. She was chosen from a field of 38 applicants for the position.

Hall is certified as a teacher, principal, administrator, supervisor and junior college instructor for Florida schools. She is a 1967 graduate of Florida Atlantic University, where she earned a bachelor of science degree in elementary education. She earned a master of education degree in administration and supervision from Florida Atlantic in 1975, and the education specialist degree in 1978.

Hall will be leaving her position as principal of John F. Kennedy Junior High School in Palm Beach County, Fla., where she had held the position since December 1981. While there, she received the 1983 School Board Award for greatest student achievement in a single year at the junior high/middle school level.

Chosen from field of 38

Hall was employed by the Palm Beach County school board in August 1967 as an elementary school teacher. She was promoted in 1973 to resource teacher, supervising the development, implementation and administration of an Emergency School Assistance Act program in mathematics and reading. She was promoted again in 1975 to program and evaluation specialist in migrant and bilingual education, assisting in the design, development, implementation, articulation and evaluation of programs for migrant and bilingual students.

Accepted into the Palm Beach County Administrative Internship Training program in 1976, Hall served as acting dean and assistant principal in a junior high school; as acting assistant principal and principal in an elementary school; and as acting administrative assistant in an area office. She was elevated to district elementary math curriculum specialist in 1977, where she supervised the development and pilot testing of the Systematic Approach to Managing Mathematics Instruction, which the school board later granted Phi Delta Kappa International permission to publish. The Palm Beach County school board also built its current elementary mathematics curriculum from the program.

She became principal at Riviera Beach Elementary School in 1978 and received the School Board Award in 1980 for greatest sustained improvement in student achievement of the 60 elementary schools in the county before being promoted to her present position.

Hall will take over as principal of Rockport-Fulton Junior High School on July 5.

Senate honors Ed Doran

Rockport Police Officer Ed Doran, named Police Officer of the Year by the American Police Hall of Fame in May, has been further honored by a Texas Senate resolution.

A copy of Senate Resolution 769, authored by State Sen. John Sharp whose 18th district includes Aransas County, was made public by Rockport Mayor Burt Mills in Tuesday night's city council meeting. Mills added his — and the council's — own congratulations on this latest honor to the city police officer.

The Senate resolution notes that Doran is the first police officer of Rockport to receive the coveted Police Hall of Fame award and further notes that, "since joining the

Officer of the Year

Rockport Police on Oct. 1, 1981, Officer Doran has done an outstanding job."

In a letter accompanying the resolution, Sen. Sharp said, "In some small manner, Senate Resolution No. 769 is my way of showing attestation to your involvement for the betterment of the community of Rockport."

Doran received the national citation from the Police Hall of Fame from Rockport City Manager Herman Johnson at ceremonies at City Hall on May 14. At the time, Police Chief Joe Hinojosa observed, "I can't think of anybody else more deserving than Doran for this award."

He added that Doran "has been doing an outstanding job in everything — above and beyond the call of duty."

The chief noted at that time that he had received several letters from Rockport citizens commending Officer Doran. He himself issued a commendation to the officer last year for Doran's response to an alarm at the Escondido Gallery involving a burglar still inside the building.

New city hall, municipal swimming pool proposed for Rockport

By PAT BLAIR
Staff Writer

A capital improvement program that calls for a new city hall, municipal swimming pool and a water storage tank on the south side of Rockport within the next two years was presented to City Manager Herman Johnson for review at Tuesday night's meeting of Rockport's city council.

The program, presented by the city planning and zoning commission, was for Johnson's review only at this time. The city manager will study the recommendations and make a formal report at a later council meeting.

A request of the Rockport Art Association for a special use permit to allow location of the O'Connor Home on Rockport Beach as an art center was unanimously approved by the council on recommendation of the planning and zoning board.

Members of the Rockport Art Association, including President Cam Leonard, packed the council chamber at City Hall for the joint public hearing of the council and P&Z commission that began at 7:15 p.m. followed by the zoning board's meeting. Because of the numbers, the zoning commission remained in the council chamber for its separate meeting, and the city council moved its session to the office area in City Hall.

During the public hearing on the art association's request, Mayor Burt Mills read letters from Leonard, making the request, and from the Aransas County Navigation District giving ACND approval for the move. Johnson said the association was asking for a special use permit rather than a zoning change on Johnson's recommendation, because a special use permit is more limiting.

In the event the property should ever be abandoned by the art association, Johnson said, it could not be used for any other non-residential use without having to come before the zoning board and council again.

Leonard showed a proposed site plan for the art center and told the council the art association plans to request the closing of an adjoining street to provide for more "green space" around the building.

Following return of the council to the council chamber, the planning and zoning board presented its proposed program of capital improvements to be made in the next two years. In addition to the storage tank, pool and new city hall building, the P&Z board also proposes curb, gutter and storm sewer for Magnolia Street and recommended that proposed improvements at Memorial Park be recommended recently by the city park board be carried out.

Presentation of the capital improvements program is required under Rockport's city charter, adopted by voters last April. Under charter provisions, the capital improvements program is a list of capital projects to be undertaken during the next two years but is to be updated annually and submitted to the city manager.

In other action during Tuesday night's council meeting, the council approved the following requests on recommendation of the planning and zoning board:

A request by William G. (Bill) Walston and James L. Anderson Jr. for a special use permit allowing placement of a double-wide mobile home on a lot at Market and Ann for use as a residence. Walston said the mobile home "complies completely" with city ordinances.

A request by Rockport Country Club Inc. for rezoning of a lot in Unit 1-A of Rockport Country Club Estates from R-1 residential to R-5 multi-family zoning. Delmar Hiller, general manager for RCC, said the lot was platted for multi-family zoning and the plat was approved, but under Rockport's zoning codes, the property — being considered for annexation — would come in under R-1 zoning. In a related matter, the council during its regular meeting authorized institution of annexation proceedings on the 15.131-acre Unit 1-A.

A request of Delmar and Sherry Hiller and State Service Inc. for a replat of two lots in Unit 1 of RCC. Hiller told the council and P&Z commission the request was to "correct a screwball lot line."

A similar request by D. L. Morrison Jr. for a replat of three lots in Peninsula Park West subdivision was approved.

Also approved was a request of Robert S. Morgan, trustee, for a replat of five lots in Block 123 Smith & Wood Division into three larger lots. And approval was given of the preliminary plat of Rockport Country Club Estates Unit 2.

An ordinance for annexation of 6.327 acres on the north side of Enterprise Blvd., part of Morrison Development Company's proposed Easy Acres Subdivision, was given first reading approval. The ordinance must come (See Council, page 8a)

Notable notes

School board meeting

The Aransas County Independent School District board of education will hold a special meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, July 5, in the administration building to make a decision on elementary school attendance zones for the coming school year. The meeting is open to the public.

Can Collection

The Rockport-Fulton Band Boosters will collect aluminum cans July 1-5 to raise money to send the RFHS Pirate Band to the Cotton Bowl this winter. Drums will be placed along the beach for can drop-off; in addition, one can will be placed in the parking lot of the SeaAire Shopping Center. The public is encouraged to save aluminum cans and drop them off in one of the places mentioned.

Paintings given away

Tickets are on sale now for the "daily double," a giveaway of a Betty Walters painting and a Jack Cowan print sponsored by the newly-organized Rockport Lionesses Club. Tickets are $1 each and are available from Pam Roe, 729-2475, or Barbara Reddick, 729-5217. Drawing is set for Monday, July 4, during the Lions Club Barbecue. Proceeds from the drawing will be used for the Texas Crippled Children's Camp.

Lions barbecue

The Lions Club will hold its annual July 4 barbecue again this year at the Lions Pit near Rockport Harbor. Serving will begin at 11 a.m.

County considers sponsoring bonds

By LESLIE ABRAMS
Staff writer

The Aransas County commissioners will consider a request by the Retirement Corporation of America to establish the Aransas County Health Facilities Development Corporation to become the sponsoring entity in the sale of tax-free bonds for the development of a retirement community in the county. The request came during the Wednesday, June 29, meeting of the commissioners court.

Attorney Tom Andrews, representing the Retirement Corporation of America, said that the bonds would be used to develop Oak Villas, a 116-unit personal care facility to be located close to Enterprise Clinic and the new post office. Oak Villas Inc., a non-profit corporation, would be established to build the facility using the funds from the bonds.

Andrews told the court that the estimated cost of the project is $13½ million. He said that the Aransas County Industrial Development Corporation, set up earlier this year, only has the authority to issue up to $10 million in bonds. He said that the county health facilities development corporation would not be limited in the amount of bonds it has the authority to issue. He stressed that there would be no obligation on the part of the county or the state in terms of repayment or debt service on the bonds.

The attorney also mentioned that although bond purchasers do not pay taxes on interest accrued from the bonds, there is no exemption from ad valorem taxes, so the project would add to the county's tax base. Andrews also said that the board of directors can be, but does not have to be, comprised of county commissioners. Instead, members of the community may be appointed to serve.

Andrews said that units at the facility would start at $70,000, not including monthly maintenance fees.

The county granted a 15-year easement along Fulton Beach Road to the Town of Fulton for the proposed bike path. The motion, made by Commissioner Mike Womack, (See County, page 8a)

Editorial & opinion

Disposition of some criminal cases being delayed

Two widely differing reports dealing with appeals from lower court decisions serve to illustrate points we have often tried to make, one being the ultimate disposition of some criminal cases being delayed too long.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a long-standing Texas legal precedent that permits citizens to carry firearms to the site of disputes with others.

In again upholding the validity of this law, the court, in a 7-2 decision, overturned the murder conviction of a Houston man sentenced to 15 years in prison for the October 1977 slaying of a man during an argument over recovery of stolen money.

Meanwhile, in Murrell's Inlet, S.C., Tony Cimo waited four years while appeals delayed execution of the convict who killed Cimo's parents. Then he got another convict to kill the man on death row.

Now Cimo is in prison serving an eight-year sentence for his part in a bombing that killed the man convicted of murder in the death of Cimo's parents. Cimo pleaded guilty to withholding knowledge of a felony, conspiracy to murder and threatening to kill by means of an explosive.

Cimo had no regrets. He has no plans to appeal and will be eligible for parole in 32 months. Repeated appeals that were granted the man convicted of killing the elder Cimos is a travesty of justice, Cimo is convinced.

In the case of the Houstonian sentenced to 15 years for murder in the death of the man with whom he argued over the recovery of stolen money, the appeals court reversed the conviction and remanded the case to the trial court for further action.

According to the majority opinion, the Houston man carried a .32-caliber pistol when he went to recover the stolen money. He testified he carried the weapon because he was afraid the man he went to see would beat him up. Prior court rulings allow a person to carry a gun to a meeting if he believes he may be in danger.

It was on that basis the appeals court overturned and remanded the murder conviction. In the formal jury charge, State District Judge George Walker of Harris County refused to tell jurors of the previous court decisions about carrying a gun. The appeals court held he was in error.

It seems to us that the legal precedent allowing persons to take weapons to the scene of anticipated arguments makes a mockery of state laws prohibiting citizens from carrying certain kinds of firearms.

What if there were no witnesses to an argument between two persons in which one was killed? How could it be determined whether the killing was murder or self defense?

Should the U.S. Supreme Court's 69-year-old ban on use of all illegally seized evidence in criminal cases continue to apply when law enforcement officers make an honest mistake in obtaining it.

Attorneys and others interested in how present members of the high court feel about this so-called "exclusionary rule" must wait until a later time to find out.

In a rare "apologies to all" statement, the court postponed a decision on whether the rule should be modified.

However, the court abandoned at least one rule established when liberal justices were in control in the 1960s. It will now be easier for law enforcement officers to get search warrants based primarily on anonymous tips.

While the tip ruling may be of help in criminal investigations, it may not be as important as a change in the exclusionary rule, which has sometimes been used in criminal cases to free defendants who might otherwise have been convicted.

When the court gets around to deciding the fate of the rule, it may not remove it completely. The central question before the court is whether illegally seized evidence should always be excluded from criminal trials, especially when law enforcement officers make an unintentional error in gathering it.

The court had been expected to decide an appeal in an Illinois case involving the exclusionary rule, but Justice William H. Rehnquist explained the court's hesitation by saying Illinois courts had not considered or decided the rule issue.

There can be no easy decision on this issue on which there is wide disagreement by legal purists who flinch when the words "tainted evidence" is mentioned. That's the terminology they use to describe errors in gathering evidence.

There is also a question of intent in making a determination as to whether an officer made an honest mistake when he obtained evidence in a criminal case.

Changes in the exclusionary rule might also mean an increase in appeals from lower courts, which would further delay disposition of criminal cases at a time when the national crime rate is increasing.

The anonymous tip ruling establishes a new standard that allows law enforcement officers to strengthen their case for a search warrant by corroborating tips.

Decisions in 1964 and 1969 set up a two-part test: weighing an informant's reliability and basis of knowledge to determine whether search warrants should be issued to officers acting on a tip.

While a conscientious assessment of the basis for crediting such tips is required, a standard that leaves virtually no place for anonymous citizen informants is not, Justice Rehnquist wrote in the majority opinion.

By a 6-3 vote, the justices ruled that Bloomingdale, Ill., police acted lawfully when they arrested two persons and seized 350 pounds of marijuana from the couple's car. The Illinois Supreme Court ruled the marijuana could not be used as evidence against the defendants because a magistrate should not have given police a search warrant.

Postal rate hike bid timing may be wrong

As if rates weren't already high enough, the U.S. Postal Service has announced it will seek approval to increase the cost for mailing letters.

Amount of the proposed increase has not been disclosed, but there is speculation it may be between 2 and 5 cents, which would hike the First Class rate from the present 20 cents.

This is not likely to set well with postal patrons when they learn the Postal Service is forecasting at least a $100 million surplus during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30.

If the $100 million figure is realized, it will push the surplus since 1982 to more than $900 million. The Postal Service ended fiscal 1982 with $802 million surplus.

The public is protected from immediate postal rate increases by a requirement that mail rates can only be adjusted after approval by the independent Postal Rate Commission. It sometimes studies such cases for months before making a decision unless there are compelling reasons to act quickly, Postal Service Officials said.

Postmaster General William F. Bolger announced the proposed rate increase, confirmed the anticipated $900 million surplus and explained the Postal Service will need new income by 1984.

Since a final decision in the case may take as much as a year, Bolger said the Postal Service was presenting its request well in advance of actual need for new funds.

While no one wants to deny the Postal Service adequate operating funds, patrons have a right to expect an adequate service, which they are not now receiving in some cases.

Some funny things are happening in the news

Editor's note: The Live Oak Philosopher on his grassburr farm reports on a few sidelights in news this week.

Der Editor: Some funny things are happening in the news these days.

A man is suing a big department store for $250,000 because, he said, the automatic door didn't open when he started in and he bumped his head. What's the matter with him? Why's he suing for only $250,000? A damage suite for less than $10,000,000 nowadays is not worth taking up the court's time.

When a flood threatens, over and over you see television shots of people with shovels frantically filling up sandbags. Looks like some genius would stop long enough from tinkering with computers to perfect an automatic sandbagging machine.

Car production is up and experts are giving the credit to the improving economy, but part of the credit belongs to the demand for replacement cars wrecked on television shows. I figure 30 or 40 cars are blown up or driven over cliffs or smashed into each other in two nights of average TV shows.

I don't know how he arrived at his figures or what sort of tape measure he used, but a statistician claims that since hamburger, french fries and other fast foods were introduced into Japan, the average Japanese is now 1 1/4 inches taller. In a few years, if they can stand the diet and keep growing, they'll not only be ahead of us in manufacturing but in basketball.

India has launched its own satellite, to the cheers no doubt of its farmers as they looked up from behind their wooden walking plows. A lot of political pundits are wondering if President Reagan will run for re-election. Haven't you noticed? When he starts to board his airplane he bounds up the steps.

On the other hand, some persnickity reporter has claimed that when Mr. Reagan is out on his ranch clearing brush he doesn't use an ax, he uses a chainsaw.

This throws the matter back into doubt.

Yours faithfully,

Shades of Vietnam, but that belongs to the past

Item: Salvadoran leaders fight for their lives but refuse to declare a national emergency. More than half the 7,000 fighting men trained by Americans since Ronald Reagan took office have left the military. Take the elite Atlacatl Battalion. Only 15 percent of its 1,000 men who trained in the U.S. still serve their country — according to the U.S. News & World Report.

Shades of Vietnam, but that belongs to the past. More significantly for the present, there is very little, if any, real heart for their country in Salvador, and elsewhere in Central America amongst the people that the U.S. supports with advisors, weapons and money. Under those circumstances it might seem logical to cry a pox on those people, forget them. Ha, but it is not that easy, except perhaps for those not inclined to attach importance to the obvious fact that for us to get out would mean that the communists would swarm all over the place, this is both Central and South America. Regrettably there are those in this country willing to take that risk — "Better Red than dead."

In my youth and early manhood the British poet and author Rudyard Kipling was widely read and respected. Nowadays it is a rare thing to discover a young person who has even heard of Kipling. Perhaps as well because the theme of his verse was his deep love and respect for the British Empire. Ever conscious of his country's then vast responsibilities in the world, he frequently referred to its responsibilities throughout the world — in India, the Far East and Africa as "the white man's burden." Even without quite understanding his meaning, youth of today are likely to cringe at the words I have quoted, totally ignoring the reality that the masses of people who have become nations since the demise of the empire are today far less well off than when they were subjects of the crown. Simply put, there are people in this world who have never been and most likely never will be capable of self government, no matter the form.

This circumstance applies, as I have observed before, to countries south of our border. They are our burden, and more, a potential threat to our existence. These are hard lines, enough to make our State Department shudder. Yet history supports them, almost down to dotting the last i and crossing the last t.

True, the concept I have advanced appears, and perhaps is, contrary to what we regard as democratic social concepts. It is not a point which I will argue, but on the other hand refer those annoyed by my contentions to spend a few days delving into the pages of the history books, and here I refer not to the dull and often trumped up mush that is dished out to our school children.

I was about to suggest a formula for handling affairs south of the border, but I shall save that for later and instead offer another side of the coin which I encountered in a report of a recent speech to the graduating class at Harvard University. The speaker, Carlos Fuentes, a Mexican writer and statesman, was called in to pinch hit for Lech Walesa, the Polish Solidarity leader.

Fuentes declared that U.S. intervention in Central America and the Caribbean would be a tragic error and that it is not too late to negotiate peaceful settlements in El Salvador, Nicaragua and elsewhere in the area. He declared that "we the true friends of your great nation in Latin America, we the admirers of your extraordinary achievements in literature, science, and the arts, and of your democratic institutions... will not permit you to conduct yourselves in Latin American affairs as the Soviet Union conducts itself in Central European and Asian affairs." And, "We shall be the custodians of your own true interests by helping you avoid those mistakes," because "we have memory on our side, while you suffer too much from historical amnesia."

Need it be said that I totally agree with Fuentes' last seven words. For the rest, his speech, his words are no more than self-romanticizing. Had they come from a stateside politico I should laugh and put it all down to the bunkum and nonsense one hears at small town rallies in a political year. I am more patient, more tolerant of Fuentes. In his way, he dreams a romantic dream and he believes it, especially as a writer and politician who does not see or feel the suffering of the masses in his country who are undernourished, people whose numbers grow through ignorance with the result that they bring children into a world where there is no hope, in a word to live their lives as do their parents, without hope.

Even so this may change in a few years to come, and there rises a question: Will that change be influenced and guided by the United States or by Communist Russia and Cuba? Teams on either side are lined up and the winner will take all. South of the border destiny in the hands of the people who are native will become something that belongs to the past.

I don't believe the grass and shoal water vegetation on the east side of Fulton Beach Road adjoining Little Bay and the Connie Hagar Wildlife Refuge will benefit from this area being used as a boardboat school by private interests. Surely other areas can be found that wouldn't further the damage to those shore areas.

Hold your wallet and purse...the invisible tax

By SCOTT BURNS
Novelist Richard Condon would be inspired. Condon, author of "The Manchurian Candidate" and other novels of intrigue and politics, has a surreal vision of life and a sense of humor that is basically black... but it would be hard-pressed to keep up with the absurdities now displayed daily in Washington.

Witness:
— Defender of red tape and bureaucracy, Ronald Reagan. The man who came to Washington to reduce unnecessary red tape and to "get government off our backs" now says that he will veto any repeal of the withholding tax on dividends and interest scheduled to go into effect next month. This bill, which raises a pittance for the government, should really have been called "The Computer Programmers' Jobs Act" because the ONLY beneficiaries will be the programmers who must write the software for all the institutions that must account to the government and their customers for the withholding. Beyond that, the bill will consume millions of hours as individuals struggle with incomprehensible instructions to get their money back.

— America's only indigenous criminal, class, Congress. Few events illustrate Mark Twain's description of our governing body better than the hypocrisy being demonstrated over taxes. The same group that voted a few weeks ago to repeal the withholding tax on dividends and interest also has voted in a House Budget Resolution that repeals the indexing provision of the 1981 Tax Act. In other words, while they wind up their publicity mills to tell us how we have benefited from their first action, they were putting their seal of approval on a major tax increase, one measured in tens of billions of dollars.

If the Senate agrees and if they manage to pass it over Reagan's veto, it will mean that our total tax burden will begin to rise again and that Congress will have every incentive to promote inflation because it produces more tax revenues.

In fact, indexing probably was the most important single provision of the 1981 Tax Act.

Without indexing the value of basic tax deductions (such as the $1,000 personal exemption) declines each year. It is much the same with tax rates: Higher income from inflation means higher tax rates with no increase in purchasing power. Who benefits? The federal government.

According to the Congressional Budget Office, each 10 percent increase in inflation means a 16.2 percent increase in tax revenue. The same office has estimated that government tax revenue will increase by $90 billion between 1985 and 1988 solely because of "bracket creep"... if indexing is repealed.

What does this mean in dollars and cents for you and me?

To find out I went to David Keating at the National Taxpayers Union, a nonprofit Washington group that serves as a citizens' watchdog on government spending. Tax expert Keating calculated how much taxes would increase, at many levels of income, if indexing was repealed. Here are the figures:

The 'Invisible' Tax Increase(s)
1983 Income	1988 Tax With Indexing	1988 Tax Without Indexing	Tax Increase Percentage
$10,000	$410	$599	46.1 Pct.
15,000	1,254	1,523	21.5
25,000	2,823	3,183	12.8
35,000	5,001	5,626	12.5
50,000	9,200	10,319	12.2
100,000	27,956	30,185	8.0

(a) Based on a family of four, joint return.

"This," Keating says, "is a real increase we're talking about... That's additional taxes people will pay, not just inflation." The figures, by the way, are based on inflation estimates of about 4.5 percent, the same estimates that were used in the House

Budget Resolution.

The taxes, of course, don't stop there. As everyone knows, Social Security taxes are scheduled to rise sharply. The increases will be particularly high for the self-employed. Since a study by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia showed that the combined tax burden of Social Security and the federal income tax was only held at bay, NOT reduced, by the 1981 Tax Act, the threatened loss of indexing means the burden of taxes is only going one way: UP.

The bottom line? If you believe that all Americans should be in the 50 percent tax bracket, don't do anything.

Otherwise, this is a good time to start screaming bloody murder.

Eight apply to Board of Realtors

The following have submitted application for membership to the Rockport Area Board of Realtors. First notice applicants are: Garron G. Dean, Michael D. Eccles and Carole F. Kohl of Garron Dean & Associates and David C. Sweiven of Rogan Real Estate.

Second notice applicants are Sheryl Ann Wells of Security Real Estate, Joan P. Rowe of Rockport Realty, E. Jane Henderson of Sandpiper Realty and Larry D. Martin of Security Real Estate.

If anyone has any knowledge or information they feel will benefit the membership committee in making its recommendation to the board of directors concerning the above proposed membership please submit it in writing to the board office.

During the month of June the Rockport Board of Realtors has 57 active members, 55 associates members and 11 affiliate members.

Free tax book is available

Small business owners are being reminded by the Internal Revenue Service of a couple of free publications that explain federal tax requirements and procedures.

Publication 334, "Tax Guide for Small Business," goes into detail on such subjects as setting up a tax records system, determining net income and tax credits and business assets. Publication 583, "Information for Business Taxpayers," explains what a small business person needs to know to meet tax obligations, such as how to file forms and compute the tax.

Taxpayers can obtain these free publications by mail, using the order form in the tax package.

Permit requests

The Genesis Petroleum Corporation of Corpus Christi, through the agent of Duward G. Ford, Ford Engineering Firm of Victoria has applied for a permit to lay a pipeline 4 inches in diameter and buried 2 feet below the bottom except at channel crossings where it will be buried approximately 6 1/2 feet below the bottom.

The pipeline will be buried by disk, plowing or jetting. A marsh buggy backhoe will be used for pipeline burials in marshes and shallow water.

A preliminary review of this application indicates that an environmental impact statement is not required. Since permit assessment is a continuing process, this preliminary determination of EIS requirement will be changed if data or information brought forth in the coordination process is of a significant nature.

Consumer update

Service and cost of phone to change

Texas telephone customers soon will experience major changes in the way their telephone services are provided and how much they must pay for these services.

New regulatory philosophies and technological advances have created a more competitive environment in the telecommunications industry, with numerous companies emerging to offer alternatives to traditional services, especially long distance services.

Most of the changes stem from new rulings by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and the antitrust agreement between the U.S. Justice Department and American Telephone & Telegraph Co. (AT&T).

Some of the changes we expect have not been finalized yet. But because these changes ultimately will affect every telephone utility ratepayer in Texas, the Public Utility Commission began an investigation and review of the FCC rulings and the antitrust agreement in May 1983.

For nearly 50 years, the offering of basic telephone service at an affordable price to everyone who wanted it (known as universal service) has been a national goal. The current high level of universal service in Texas and the United States is due largely to a traditional pricing approach where part of the cost of accessing basic telephone service is paid by long distance users.

Today AT&T operating companies (including Southwestern Bell), AT&T's Long Lines Division and independent phone companies provide local and long distance services in a single network. Through this structure, some costs of providing local phone services are covered by the sharing of long distance revenues.

Local phone companies operate facilities enabling their customers to call across town or across the country. Local or in-state calls are handled by the local phone companies. Out-of-state calls are handled by the AT&T Long Lines Division and local companies, with these costs shared by the local and long distance companies.

Money collected for long distance is used to support basic service. The money is collected through an internal process known as the Bell System's "Division of Revenues." The internal revenues transfer was developed at a time when AT&T operated as a monopoly and provided most local and long distance services.

One result of the antitrust agreement between AT&T and the Justice Department is that Southwestern Bell and other local operating companies will lose the long distance revenues from the "Division of Revenues" arrangement. Southwestern Bell will not be permitted to offer long distance type service statewide as it does now. They will compensate for this revenue loss at least in part by charging to connect long distance carriers to the local telephone network. Billing for this process will be known as an access charge.

Southwestern Bell is expected to use changes brought on by FCC rulings and the coming divestiture of AT&T as partial justification for a record rate increase it will seek from the PUC. In reviewing this and other requests, the Commission will work to protect the interests of the ratepaying public and to explain any changes to the public as they occur.

Consumer Update is prepared and distributed by the Public Information Office of the Texas Public Utility Commission. Our address is 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757.

Check credentials of IRS people

Persons posing as employees of the Internal Revenue Service occasionally attempt to harass taxpayers, or collect money for what the imposter claims are unpaid taxes, the IRS says.

Taxpayers should request to see the credentials of any individual claiming to represent the IRS. Every IRS employee who makes contact with the public is required to carry distinctive identification and must show this when conducting official business.

Generally, taxpayers who owe money to the IRS will receive written notification before being contacted in person.

Taxpayers who doubt the validity of the credentials offered can verify the person's employment by contacting the nearest IRS office.

Under Southwestern Bell proposal

Local increase in rates to be sizeable

Southwestern Bell Telephone has filed for a rate hike that will raise rates for Aransas County residents three to four times the present charges if the request is approved by the Public Utilities Commission.

David Martin of the Southwestern Bell office in Corpus Christi said Monday that the rate increase, if approved, would raise single-party telephone residential rates for Aransas County customers from the present $7.85 to $27.45 per month. Two-party residential rates will go from $5.10 to $22.65 per month and four-party rates from $4.30 to $19.50, Martin said.

Business rates will not increase as significantly as the residential rates, according to figures cited by Martin, but one-party business rates would go from $18.40 to $34.05 per month and four-party business rates from $9.95 to $21.15.

The increase in Aransas County is part of a proposed $1.2 billion hike in local rates being sought by Southwestern Bell statewide. The request is basically divided into three parts, according to officials:

An increase of $502 million statewide is being sought to recover what Bell officials say is the added cost of doing business and produce a reasonable rate of return of the company's Texas investment.

Approximately $450 million of the increase is to cover depreciation expense and other capital recovery charges officials say are more consistent with today's rapid technological changes.

The company is seeking an access charge of $249 million to partially replace the subsidy provided by intrastate long distance revenues to local rates. Southwestern Bell will lose most long distance revenues at the end of 1983 as a result of recent action by the U. S. Justice Department.

Another part of the subsidy for local rates, Bell officials added, will come from $504 million in access charges to be paid by long distance carriers such as AT&T and MCI.

Paul Roth, vice president in charge of revenues and public affairs for Southwestern Bell, added that about half of whatever increase is approved will go to pay federal, state and local taxes.

"To a large extent," Roth said, "our rate application reflects the combined effects of many decisions made in Washington by the courts, the Federal Communications Commission and the Justice Department. Those decisions are bringing about vast changes in the telecommunications industry."

"Southwestern Bell," Roth continued, "urgently needs this rate increase to assure that we will be a viable, stand-alone company able to provide the quality telephone service in Texas when we spin off from AT&T on Jan. 1, 1984."

He added the rates include an average access charge of $4 per month for each line to provide the customers' portion of the long distance subsidy replacement, emphasizing that this charge is "average. When the rates are finally set, the business line access charge may well be higher and the residence charge lower," he said.

The access charges are not additional dollars for Southwestern Bell but are designed to replace subsidies lost from long distance, he continued.

The telephone company is researching and developing several lower-priced alternative offerings in an effort to hold down costs to phone customers. At the PUC's direction, the company is conducting a survey to determine customer preferences for these optional pricing plans, and survey results should be ready for the PUC's consideration later this year, Roth said.

Roth said $699 million — almost 60 percent — of the proposed $1.2 billion local rate increase results from federally-directed changes in national telecommunications policy. The $699 million includes customer access charges and capital recovery.

Southwestern Bell is requesting an allowed return of 13.57 percent on the company's Texas investment. For the test year on which the company's rate hike filing is based, the company earned less than 10 percent on its Texas investment.

Donations came through: tracksters will go to New Orleans

"These kids will go to New Orleans now — because of the local townspeople and merchants," says coach Brad Jett referring to the financial support — as of Thursday, some $600 — that enables six young athletes to travel to New Orleans and compete in the Tri-state Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Summer Track Meet, July 8-9. The ready support from the community was a pleasant surprise.

Darren Gurley, Demetrius Lewis, LaDonna Fennels, Kay Karstedt, Holly Logan and Bridgett Brundrett competed in last week's the AAU regional meet in San Antonio and qualified for the New Orleans meet. The athletes had qualified for regionals at a meet in Refugio. Speaking of their past performance, Jett said earlier this week, "These kids have excelled in everything they've done so far. We hate to see them not go on after they've done so well." Without financial help from sponsors, it seemed doubtful that the trip could be made.

Less than a week later, those doubts have disappeared. Jett and Coach Tim Tate began to approach local merchants with requests for help and the response came readily. "Times are hard, but these people still want to help these kids," said Jett. "We had a lot of people who asked us to come back Friday and they would help, too. It's been a very, very pleasant surprise."

A partial list of supporters of the track athletes' trip includes Allied Live Oak Bank, Ledbetter Interiors, Sail Printing, Janet Lewis, D and C Sporting Goods, Listo Western Auto, Dudley Parts, RYSCO and an individual known only as Mr. Cosby. Local grocery stores Super D and H.E.B. have promised donations of food and other needed items. A complete list of contributors will appear in the Midweek Pilot.

Students will travel to New Orleans via chartered bus with track teams from Flour Bluff and Corpus Christi and will stay in a hotel near the New Orleans meet site. The Aransas County Independent School District is paying to send two coaches to the meet — Coaches Tate and Jan Chesbro will accompany the students.

Bid is awarded for Lamar water lines

LAMAR — In a special meeting Tuesday night, June 28, the Aransas County Municipal Utility District No. 1 awarded bid for construction of 350 feet of connecting water lines to Dennis Jenkins Plumbing & Supply.

Jenkins was apparent low bidder for the project, offering to do the job for $8,995. Other bidders for the project were Rockport Central Plumbing Co., for $12,312, and Makhole with a bid of $9,160.

The project will be to construct connecting lines between the utility district (ACMUD) and Lamar Water Supply Corp. (LWS). LWS has contracted with the utility district to buy water from the ACMUD after the utility district's water plant is in operation.

Following the special meeting, Bud Marsh of Membrane Systems Inc. of Corpus Christi, the company that has been repairing the water plant, gave ACMUD directors a tour of the facility. Marsh told directors he anticipates being able to turn the plant over to the district by July 15.

The awarding of bids Tuesday night had been deferred from an earlier meeting of the district.

Portable playground can be made — inexpensively

Here are some suggestions for inexpensive, portable playground equipment from "Growing Child," the monthly child development newsletter.

Equipment for climbing
* Ladders — Conventional house ladders (3, 4, or 5 feet long by 14 inches wide) of metal, wood or rope.

* Boxes — Sturdy cardboard packing cases from appliances can be sanded and painted to make them more weatherproof. Given an assortment of boxes, children will be ingenious and creative in their construction of structures to climb into, over, around and under.

* Incline boards — Old doors and drawers may be placed against the side of the house and securely anchored. They make excellent devices for learning balance.

Equipment for swinging
* Tire swing — Attach an old automobile tire to a 1-inch diameter rope and hang from tree or crossbar. Punch holes in the bottom of the tire to permit the rainwater to drain.

* Log swing — Attach two ropes to a log which will serve as the seat. Hang from tree or bars.

* Sack swing — Fill a burlap bag with sawdust. Secure top of sack with rope and hang from tree limb or bar.

Equipment for jumping
* Bedsprings — Cover an old set of bedsprings or a mattress with old bed pads or quilts and dark-colored canvas. Attach two straps to hang from the ceiling when not in use.

* Poles — Saw logs two feet long from telephone poles. They can be used to roll, to sit on as they roll, to stand on and balance, to jump down from or to jump from one to the other.

Equipment for punching and kicking

* Laundry or duffel bag — Fill with wood shavings or styrofoam packing material, paper or rags and hang from a tree limb or door jamb by a rope. Adjust height for punching or kicking. Variation: Suspend a stuffed pillow or pair of blue jeans from a rope.

* Cans — Save cans with tight snap on lids and fill with sand, pebbles or water.

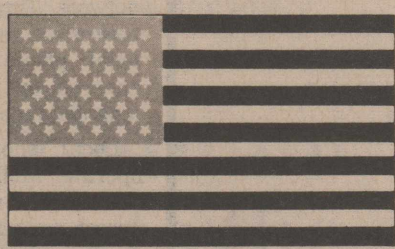

Equipment for throwing and target

* Ball, beanbags or sandbags — Fill different-sized bags with beans or sand.

* Targets — Cut holes in an old sheet or bedspread. Hand on clothesline or suspend from a tree limb. Box targets can be made by cutting holes in a wood or paper carton and putting on the ground or hanging from a limb.

The "Growing Child" newsletter follows a child's development month by month. For more information and a free sample copy of the newsletter, write Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.

THE TWENTY-SEVENTH U.S. FLAG, containing fifty stars, has remained unchanged since the admission of Hawaii on July 4, 1960.

This flag has the distinction of being the first banner to be planted on the lunar surface. On July 20, 1969, millions around the world witnessed the Apollo mission on television, as Captain Neil Armstrong became the first man to set foot on the moon. The flag remains there today, but to commemorate this historic achievement, flags of each state and virtually every nation were returned to earth and distributed to their respective countries.

For the approximately two hundred years that the Star Spangled Banner has flown, it has been a symbol of strength and integrity to generations of Americans and respected throughout the world.

before the council in second reading before it can receive final approval.

The council approved a request of David Rittiman of San Antonio for permission to anchor a 24-by-43-foot sailboat in Little Bay on the basis that the city not be held liable for the experimental craft, that the city can cancel the agreement on 72 hours notice and that it must be removed by no later than Oct. 1.

A request by Jerry Marston to fly and sell UFO kites on Rockport Beach was denied.

County

grants the easement with the stipulation that the land will revert back to county ownership if the path doesn't go through or if it is not maintained.

The court discussed the county's new platting ordinance requirements and decided on further study before accepting the new ordinance.

The court also granted an easement to the Town of Fulton for a portion of the railroad right-of-way between Woody Acres Trailer Park and the town limits. The request for the easement came after the new owner of Woody Acres asked to be annexed into the Town of Fulton. A motion by Commissioner Pete Sanders and seconded by Womack granted the easement.

Jim Stenbebach, Department of Public Safety supervisor for Aransas, San Patricio and Nueces Counties, requested the county to take over their portion of the cost of maintaining the DWI program here. Stenbebach said that since federal funding for the program has been cut off, the state can no longer sponsor the program so the financial responsibility for it must lay in the hands of the counties.

He said that the cost will be assumed on a percentage basis with Aransas County assuming 10 percent of the cost of the program, San Patricio 40 percent and Nueces County 50 percent. Total cost of the program would be $65,000 for one year, $6,500 of that coming from Aransas County. Any money left over at the end of the year will be returned to the counties on the same percentage basis, Stenbebach said. The program becomes effective October 1 of this year. A Sanders-Womack motion approved the request for funding.

Aransas County Judge John D. Wendell read a letter from the Texas Aeronautics Commission reporting the results of a safety and compliance inspection May 31 at the Aransas County Airport. The letter called the airport "neat, attractive and extremely active," but called attention to several minor conditions which need attention. The letter asked that all vegetation be removed from the runways, runway 17/35 is incorrect and should be changed to 18/36, grass should be cut away from runway lights, and runway numbers repainted, along with a few other minor items.

The commission asked for notification when all items had been corrected and also made a request for a copy of all airport leases and a financial statement from the past year.

Judge Wendell told the court that the Alpha Omega Players are interested in renting the old Mess Hall and Recreation Hall near the airport. The court agreed to lease the buildings and authorized Wendell to negotiate the rental fees.

The commissioners decided in favor of hiring an architectural firm to come up with ideas for renovation of several old military buildings out near the airport. Wendell said that it may be possible to get someone to put in a restaurant or business out there so that the county can get some revenue out of what is now an unused area.

In an emergency action, the commissioners purchased a new pickup truck for the county. The animal control officer's truck is no longer in service so the county decided to purchase a new truck for the road and bridge department and give a used one from the department to the animal control officer. Although Judge Wendell called three dealers for bids, only two responded. Bay Chevrolet in Aransas Pass bid $7,969 for a new 1983 pickup, including $2,000 for a trade-in. Commercial Motors in Aransas Pass put in two bids, one for $8,500 and one for $7,895. The court voted to purchase the pickup from Bay Chevrolet.

A "LITTLE LEAGUE RACE-OFF" was sponsored Wednesday night by Go Karts. To help Little League celebrate the end of another successful season, Go Karts hosted the ball players' own special night at the track. Some 80 Little Leaguers attended, raced go karts (below) and played game after game of mini-golf. Jerry Givens, owner-operator of Go Karts, termed the evening a success, saying, "The kids really seemed to enjoy themselves." Givens credited James Jennings and all the other league coaches and managers, as well as league parents, with helping to get the kids out and keep things running smoothly. Also contributing to the evening's fun was H.E.B., donating hot dogs; and Pepsi-Cola, responsible for cold drinks. According to Givens, the race-off may become an annual event. At left, Blue Dolphin Julia Fox "tees off" in mini-golf (center) while brother Jeff Fox, an Astro (right) and Lisa Loflin, also of the Blue Dolphins, watch.

Rockport Flyers lose to Rockets, end season in second place

Victory — and a first place in Senior League softball final standings — eluded the Rockport Flyers Tuesday night as they lost 10-9 in a play-off with the Ingleside Rockets.

Facing the Rockets in Aransas Pass, the Flyers were up against the formidable pitching of Kim Knippa coupled with what many Rockport supporters felt was a biased umpire — but they seemed to be their own worst enemy at times, making too many errors they just couldn't afford to make. After coming from behind to lead 9-7 in the fifth, they fell back in the top of the seventh and the first place title went home with the Rockets.

The Rockets batted first in the contest. Pitcher Michelle Dingenary walked the first up and the second got a hit to right field. Both Rocket runners stole, then Mary Randall on second caught a fly off the next one. One came home, Dingenary struck the next up out and the fifth up hit to Randall who caught the runner from second off base for the third out.

Leading off for the Flyers was Shannon Liggett, hitting long and hard into right field. Liggett took first, ran on to second and third on an overthrow, then jumped over the catcher to tag the plate with her hand and get a home run.

Randall was up next and out at first before Dingenary was struck out by Knippa. Lori Adkinson followed Dingenary and suffered the same fate. The score was a 1-1 tie going into the second, where Dingenary struck out one Rocket but another came in for a run to put them ahead 2-1.

Shortstop Norma Aleman led off the bottom of the second with a strike out. Daphne Yardley walked, Larry Randall singled and Dahlia Dominguez walked, loading up the bases. Elva Contreras struck out, then Liggett hit to Knippa who threw to the catcher to take Yardley out on her way home, vanquishing any Flyer scoring in the second.

The first Rocket up in the third hit into left field and

Flyer overthrows made it a triple. Dingenary allowed a single, then a double and walked the fourth up after the first runner had scored. A fly to Randall on second was the first out, but was followed by a hit into center, missed by Contreras; that let two more come home. The last batter up hit to Aleman for an out, then the shortstop hopped on second to trap the advancing runner for a double play.

Randall walked to lead off the third, then Knippa took down Dingenary again, the fifth of 13 strike outs for the evening. Adkinson walked, then Aleman was struck out, too. Yardley gave the score a shot in the arm, hitting a triple into left field and bringing in Randall and Adkinson. Larry Randall walked, but he and Yardley were left on when Dominguez had a pop fly caught by the catcher for the third out.

The first Rocket up in the fourth hit to Dominguez who threw to Adkinson for the out on first. Dingenary struck out the next up, then walked two more but the fifth up got a double into right, missed by Yardley. Two runs had come in, raising the score to 7-3, before Adkinson managed to get out number three on first, after she and Dingenary both failed to call a catch and collided in the infield.

Sarilyn Taylor led off the bottom of the fourth with a single to right field. Liggett followed suit, then stole second with Taylor running ahead and getting tagged out attempting to take third. Mary Randall was struck out then Dingenary doubled, bringing in Liggett and raising the Flyers' run total to four. Adkinson was out number three, hitting a high fly caught by the Rocket right fielder.

The top of the fifth was good for the Flyers' morale — Dingenary walked two, but the third up hit to Randall on second for an out. She then got a runner off base for the second out and Dingenary bagged a strike out for number three. The bottom of the inning was even better — the Flyers finally got ahead.

Aleman started off with a walk, then Yardley singled to pitcher Knippa who missed the ball. A double from Larry Randall brought Aleman in, then Dingenary walked to load the bases. Taylor's walk brought Yardley in, but Dominguez was caught between bases for the first out during Liggett's bat. Liggett hit deep into left field to bring Randall in. Mary Randall struck out again, the Dingenary walked, but a passed ball let Liggett and Taylor come in. Adkinson walked and so did Aleman, but everyone was left on base when Yardley struck out. The Flyers led 9-7 going into the sixth.

Aleman caught a fly off the first Rocket for out number one in the top of the sixth. The next up hit to Dingenary who threw to Adkinson on first for the out. Dominguez caught a fly from the next, making it three up, three down. Things looked good for the Flyers.

But not for long. They couldn't widen their scoring margin in the bottom of the sixth — Larry Randall was out attempting to take first on a passed ball, Dominguez struck out, Taylor did the same and the inning was over.

The next was the clincher. Dingenary walked the first batter, the next was out on a hit to first and the third up got a single. A center field slam from the fourth batter brought two in and tied the score at 9-9. Two more batters up and the score was 10-9 in the Rockets' favor, hits to the field missed or overthrown by the Flyers. Dingenary managed a quick strike out for out number three and the Flyers were up to try and regain their lead.

It didn't happen. After Liggett singled into center, then stole second, Mary Randall was struck out by Knippa. Liggett stole third but Dingenary went down too and the game was over when Adkinson was Knippa's last strike out of the night, leaving the score 10-9.

Win first place

Indians defeat Cubs

After remaining neck and neck at the top of the Major League standings for much of the season, the Cubs and the Indians met in a play-off Thursday night to determine who would take home the first place ranking. The game was close and both sides played their best but someone had to win and it was the Indians, coming out on top 12-8. The Cubs, champs for the first half of season play, took second place in the overall standings.

The Indians were up first in the game, led off by John "E.T." Tijerina, who singled into left field. Next, Phillip Williams singled to second where Roland Rios took E.T. out. Williams was safe on first and took second on Dean Wix's single. Pitcher Collins Herron walked and Josh Mennen did the same, bringing in Williams for the score. Curtis Herron struck out and Israel Ybarra hit to pitcher Mario Hernandez. Hernandez threw to third baseman Jason Moon who took Collins Herron out to retire the side.

Moon, up first for the Cubs, was walked by Herron, who then struck out Rios. John Sanchez got a huge left field double and brought Moon in to tie things up 1-1. Eric Florez walked, Sanchez was out on an attempted steal to third and Hernandez walked, then was out on a steal to second during catcher Markie Garza's bat.

Up first in the second,

Rosendo Ricarte had the bad luck to hit a fly to Florez in left field. Catcher Eddie Knudsen followed with a single to left, then E.T. did the same. Williams singled to second, where E.T. was tagged for out number two. Wix got a center field single and brought Knudsen home, then Collins Herron got a short hit and took first. Mennen surprised everyone with a long hit into center that brought Williams and took the score up to 3-1. Florez was under another fly, this time from Curtis Herron, for the third out, and the Cubs were up to bat.

But not for too long. Collins Herron got to work and struck out Charlie Lozano, then John Valdez. Ramon Garcia followed with a short hit to Herron who threw to Wix on first for the third out. The score remained 3-1.

Beginning the third, Ybarra singled into right but Ricarte's high fly was caught in center field by Garcia for the first out. Knudsen was walked by Hernandez and so was E.T. Then Williams walked, bringing in Ybarra. A single from Wix took Knudsen home and Collins Herron singled past shortstop Lozano to bring in E.T. Wix, caught off base by Lozano, was the third out. The score was 6-1 when the Cubs came up to bat.

The Cubs didn't like trailing 6-1 and in the bottom of the third they did something about it — they put six runs on the board and took the lead. Moon led off with a walk, Rios followed with the same and Sanchez singled before Florez got a double that brought the first two in. With his best hit of the night, Hernandez tripled into left field and brought Sanchez and Florez home. Garza followed with a hit to shortstop Curtis Herron that had him out on first but brought Hernandez in to tie the score at 6-6. Lozano doubled, straight down the third base line and Valdez got a single.

Garcia walked and so did Moon, bringing in Lozano and putting the Cubs ahead. Rios struck out, Herron's fourth of seven that night. Sanchez had a nice hit to third but Williams snagged it and tagged Garcia.

With Florez on the mound for the Cubs and Lozano behind the plate, the fourth began with a strike out from Mennen, followed by a single from Curtis Herron, then one from Ybarra. Ricarte singled, then Knudsen walked, bringing in Herron. Ybarra didn't wait to be hit in, he stole home, then E.T. struck out and Williams walked to load the bases. Dean Wix got a single and brought in Ricarte and Knudsen. He and Williams were left on base when Collins Herron was struck out by Florez. The Cubs were up with the score at 10-7, once again in the Indians' favor.

The Cubs couldn't retake the lead in the bottom of the fourth. After Florez walked, Hernandez struck out, Armando Rios walked, then Lozano hit a fly to E.T. in left field for the second out. Bubba Kellough walked, then Junior Martinez hit a fly, caught by Ybarra.

Knudsen led off the last inning with a pretty little double but E.T. followed with another strike out. Phillip Williams was 2-0 when the Cubs pulled Florez off the mound and put Moon on. Moon walked Williams. He then allowed Wix a double that brought Knudsen and Williams in. A single from Collins Herron was followed with a strike out from Richard Romero, then Curtis Herron walked and went out at second when Ybarra hit right to Roland Rios. The Indians had 12 runs going into the bottom of the sixth.

And the Cubs didn't catch up. A run from Hernandez, walked in by Moon, gave the Cubs 8, but strike outs from Kellough and Martinez and a tag on Moon ended it all at 12-8.

Laura Hutt and Keith Davis exchange vows

Laura Delynn Hutt became the bride of Roger Keith Davis, Saturday evening, June 25, at Golf Course Road Church of Christ in Midland. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Warren Hutt of Rockport and the groom's parents are Roxie Davis and Don Clark Davis of Midland.

The groom's father officiated in the double-ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. The couple exchanged their vows before an arrangement of white lattice work entwined with matched roping and accented with bouquets of spring flowers. Candelabras holding white tapers were at each side of the unity stand. Family pews were marked with lamps, greenery and satin bows.

Eddie Pleasant sang "Truly" while the guests were seated. A choral group directed by Tim Walker sang "Follow Me," "Longer," "Sometime," "Wedding Song," "Whither Thou Goest" and "Father, Hear the Prayer We Offer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown designed by Alessandro. The sculptured bodice of candlelight delustered satin was accented with Chantilly lace which formed the Queen Anne neckline and long sheer sleeve that were beaded with seed pearls. The pleated floor-length skirt was trimmed with Chantilly lace. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was gathered in a cap covered with Chantilly lace and sprinkled with pearls. She carried a semicascade of bridal pink roses, stephanotis and gardenias accented with camellia foliage.

Mrs. Steve Cantrell of Abilene attended as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Tim Tyng of Houston, cousin of the bride, Shele McEnroe of Missouri City, Carrie Stevens of Midland and Lori McCormick of Snyder. They were attired in long pink organza gowns fashioned with a diagonal tier boat neckline. The full-length skirt was gathered at the waistline and tied with a spaghetti string. The attendants wore baby's breath in their hair and each carried nosegays of silk camellias, rosebuds and tiger lilies.

of Victoria, niece and nephew of the bride, served as flower girl and ring bearer. Stacey's dress was made of candlelight lace and satin with a rounded neckline, puffed sleeves and a ruffle of lace around the hemline. She carried a basket lined with candlelight satin and lace filled with pink and white rose petals. Brian wore a candlelight tux with matching ascot and carried a heart-shaped pillow of satin and lace.

The groom, attired in a candlelight tuxedo with matching ascot, escorted the bride's mother to her seat. Mrs. Hutt's full-length dress was designed in shades of mauve crepe and chiffon with a matching jacket edged with lace. Her corsage was made of a cymbidium orchid and stephanotis.

Kevin Davis of Midland, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Rusty Rhoades, Chris Hatfield, Byron Fender and Scott McLean, all of Midland. Ushers were Eddie Coleman of Oklahoma City, Don Cherry, Travis McGraw, Terry Payne and Kevin Fender of Midland. Candlelighters were Jeffrey Hutt, brother of the bride, and Jason Hutt of Breckenridge, a cousin of the bride.

The reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the Formal Room of Golf Course Road Church of Christ. Receiving were the bride's parents and the bride and groom. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with her bouquet.

The layered bride's cake was topped with ceramic bells and a matching bridal couple stood between the two top layers. An arrangement of pink silk flowers accented the bottom layer. A white linen cloth covered the groom's table, which held a three-layer chocolate cake topped with chocolate-dipped strawberries. Fresh strawberries coated with powdered sugar were served. The silver coffee service completed the table.

Julie Hutt of Breckenridge, cousin of the bride, presided over the bride's book. Decor on the table was an arrangement of spring flowers beside the bride's book. Guests were presented with rice bags designed as pink and candlelight satin rosebuds.

In the houseparty were Mrs. Dan Fender, Mrs. Jess Hatfield, Mrs. Ed Carnes, Mrs. Eldon Wetzel, Mrs. Ed Brannon, Mrs. Robert Hawkins, Mrs. Bill Childers, Paula Fender and Sharon McDaniel.

After a wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Midland until August, when they return to Lubbock to continue their studies at Texas Tech University.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School and the groom is a 1980 graduate of Robert E. Lee High School in Midland. They attended Abilene Christian University two years and have completed their junior year at Texas Tech University. The bride will be a senior with a major in marketing and the groom's major is petroleum engineering.

The morning of the wedding, Mrs. Hutt hosted a luncheon in the Garden Room at Midland Country Club for her daughter and the attendants, the bride's grandmothers and aunts. Grandmothers attending were Elzora Davis of Big Springs, Sallie Hempel of Victoria and Ruth Hutt of Rockport. Aunts present were Mrs. Gene Partain of Stafford, Mrs. Eugene Jacobs of Victoria, Mrs. Betty Nix of Rockport, Mrs. John Hutt of Breckenridge and Margaret Hall of Junction.

The rehearsal supper was held Friday evening, June 24, in the Family Center of Golf Course Road Church of Christ and was hosted by the groom's father.

By Ann Thomas

This week we're going to do something a little different. All of us who cook have, at one time or another, found ourselves in a position (or predicament!) where we needed to make a substitution, but what? Here's a handy list of substitutions and equivalents to make your cooking and baking a little easier.

One square unsweetened chocolate equals 3 tablespoons cocoa plus one tablespoon oleo or shortening.

One tablespoon cornstarch equals 2 tablespoons flour.

One cup milk equals 1/2 cup water or 4 tablespoons powdered milk plus 1 cup water.

Eight ounces sugar is equal to 4 ounces honey.

One cake yeast equals 1 package or 2 teaspoons dry yeast.

One cup buttermilk or sour milk is equal to 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice plus enough milk to make one cup.

One cup sifted all-purpose flour equals 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted cake flour.

Four sandwich-slice sizes of bread crumbs makes either 2 cups fresh, loosely packed, or 3/4 cup dry.

One pound brown sugar is equal to 2 1/2 cups sugar.

One pound powdered sugar equals 4 cups sugar.

One large egg yolk equals 1 tablespoon yolk.

Egg whites from 1 large egg is equal to 2 tablespoons egg whites.

Six medium root vegetables equal 3 cups sliced or 1 1/2 cups pureed.

Three medium onions yield 3 cups chopped.

One medium apple is equal to 1 cup chopped.

One pound flour is equal to 3 1/2 cups sifted.

One lemon, squeezed, yields 3 tablespoons lemon juice.

One orange, squeezed, yields 1/2 cup orange juice.

Two sticks oleo is equal to 1 cup shortening.

One pound granulated sugar is equal to 2 cups.

One cup whipping cream makes 2 cups whipped cream.

One pound cheese equals 5 cups grated.

One pound pitted dates is equal to 2 cups.

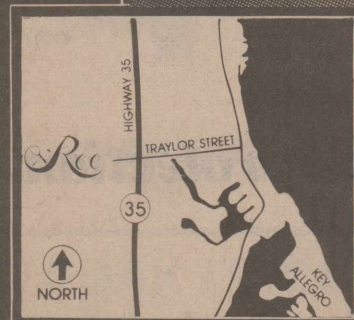

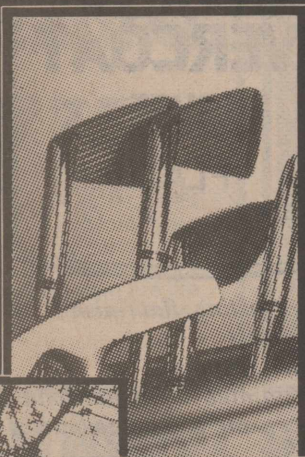

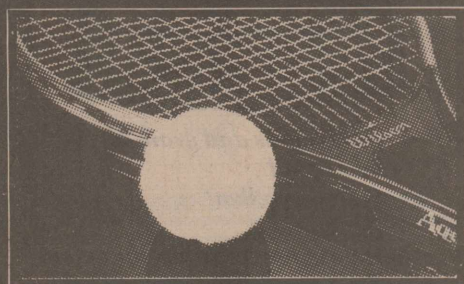

Three ounces cream cheese equal 6 tablespoons.

Sixteen marshmallows is equal to 1/4 pound.

Next week we'll have weights and measures. See you then; bon appetit!

Freedom comes high

By the Rev. JOHN NORVELL
Pastor, Gospel Lighthouse Church

What would you give your life for? Freedom? Millions of hometown boys and young fathers have given their lives so this country and their families could enjoy freedom. Jesus Christ shed his blood outside Jerusalem so that all might have freedom from sin.

Sounds like freedom is pretty expensive. It is. With the ultimate cost paid, the true horror is that freedom can be ignored, overlooked and abused.

Some would stress that real freedom is not having to give allegiance to anyone or anything. They advocate "doing your own thing." Obviously their humanistic ideology has blinded them to the truth. Freedom begins from within. Until we realize that Jesus died for us and confess His Lordship of our lives, the bondage, discontent and trappings of sin will still be evident.

The Apostle Paul, under the inspiration of the Holy

The Shepherd's staff

Spirit, penned these words:

"Therefore do not let sin reign in your mortal body that you should obey its lusts, and do not go on presenting the members of your body to sin as instruments of unrighteousness; but present yourselves to God as those alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness to God. Do you not know that when you present yourselves to someone as slaves to obedience, you are slaves of the one you obey, either of sin resulting in death, or of obedience resulting in righteousness? For just as you presented your members as slaves to impurity and lawlessness, resulting in further lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves to righteousness, resulting in sanctification.

"For when you were slaves of sin, you were free in regard to righteousness. Therefore what benefit were you deriving from the things of which you are now ashamed? For the outcome of those things is death. But now having been freed from sin and enslaved to God, you derive your benefit, resulting in sanctification, and the outcome, eternal life.

"For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 6: 12, 13, 16, 19-23)

In order to be free from something, you must give yourself to something. Freedom does not just happen. Not for a nation or an individual. You are either a slave to sin and free from righteousness, or you are enslaved to God and freed from sin. The choice is yours. But remember, it cost God an awful lot to provide you this option. Freedom is expensive.

Rick Stanley speaks at youth rallies in Sinton

SINTON — Rick Stanley, stepbrother and former body guard to Elvis Presley, is speaking at two youth rallies in Sinton this weekend.

Stanley was to appear at Sinton Park at 7 p.m. Friday, July 1, and will speak at the First Baptist Church in Sinton at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 2.

A letter to the pastor

Note: The following is taken from "The Church Connection," newsletter of Rockport's First United Methodist Church, with thanks to the church for sharing it:

You often stress attendance at worship as being very important for a Christian. I think a person has a right to miss now and then. I think every person ought to be excused for the following reasons and the number of times indicated:

1 Christmas (Sunday before or after)

1 New Years (party lasted too long)
1 July 4th (national holiday)
1 Memorial Day (visit home town)
1 School closed (kids need break)
1 School opens (one last fling)
2 Family reunions (mine and wife's)
4 Sleep late (Saturday night activities)
4 Deaths in family
1 Anniversary (second honeymoon)
5 Sickness (one for each family member)

6 Bad weather (ice, snow, rain, clouds)
4 Ball games
5 Unexpected company (can't walk out)
2 Time changes (spring ahead, fall back)
3 Special on TV (Super Bowl, etc.)

That leaves only two Sundays per year. So you can count on us to be in church the 4th Sunday in February and the 3rd Sunday in August unless something comes up.

Sincerely,
A FAITHFUL CHURCH MEMBER

Rockport Baptists host youth games

Rockport's First Baptist Church hosted for the June 30 games against Ingleside in the Blanco Baptist Association's Summer

Sports Program for area Baptist youth. July and August game schedules will be announced later.

If you observe a really happy man you will find him building a boat, writing a symphony, educating his son, growing dahlias in his garden, or looking for dinosaur eggs in the Gobi Desert. He will not be searching for happiness as if it were a collar button that has rolled under the radiator. He will not be striving for it as a goal in itself. He will have become aware that he is happy in the course of living life twenty-four crowded hours of the day.

Fireworks are dangerous, warns Texas Society to Prevent Blindness

Fireworks and the Fourth are a patriotic combination. Yet too often the combination misfires and results in the tragic stories that can be found in the Independence Day files of the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness.

"These stories are of youngsters — and their parents — who learned too late, 'Don't play with fireworks; they're not toys,' says John L. Mann, M.D., an ophthalmologist who is chairman of the Society's State Medical Advisory Committee.

"Fireworks belong at licensed public displays," said Mann. "There, their colorful patriotic skybursts can be enjoyed without endangering life or property. But when private individuals start playing with fireworks, trouble and tragedy are inevitable."

As proof Mann cited a survey Prevent Blindness conducted a year ago among Texas ophthalmologists that indicated that 23 Texans were blinded or lost most of their sight on July 4 because of fireworks. An additional 49 people suffered eye injuries ranging from second degree burns to corneal lacerations. He added that the Consumer Product Safety Commission also reported last year that, nationwide, over 11,000 were treated in hospital emergency rooms for fireworks-caused injuries; 1,600 of these were to the eyes.

"What these figures show is that there is no such thing as a safe firecracker," Mann emphasized. "Even seemingly harmless sparklers sizzle at 1,500 degrees F. and can give a burn that will quickly take the sparkle out of the eyes of any youngster who has been playing with one."

"But the most dangerous projectiles are bottle rockets. Bottle rockets caused almost all the cases of blindness reported in the Texas survey and over half of the other injuries."

"The majority of injuries were to teen-aged males who seem prone to 'horse play' when they get a hazardous projectile such as a bottle rocket in their hands," he said. As examples, he told of two boys who jokingly 'waged war' with lighted bottle rockets and of two others who competed with each other to create the biggest bottle rocket blast. In each instance this "Fourth of July fun" resulted in a boy blinded and cosmetically disfigured.

To prevent such tragedies, Mann said that the Society would like to see fireworks strictly controlled throughout the state and is disappointed that all of the bills introduced recently in Austin to strengthen existing laws have apparently died in legislative committees.

"Preventing fireworks injuries is better than trying to cure them. Even with all the miracles of modern medicine, it is not always possible to save the sight of a child who bends over a firecracker, only to have it explode in his face. That is why Prevent Blindness urges all parents to insist that family fireworks be limited to public displays and no exceptions permitted."

The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness is an affiliate of the National Society to Prevent Blindness, now celebrating its 75th year of preventing blindness through programs, education and research.

Multimedia show traces history of the Olympics since beginning

As interest in the 1984 Olympic Games in Los Angeles continues to build, Six Flags Over Texas has introduced an elaborate multimedia show which traces the history of the Olympics from its beginnings in ancient Greece to modern times.

The show, titled "Spirit of the Olympics," is being presented by Olympic sponsors in the theme park's Good Time Theater each evening during the summer months.

More than 4,500 individual images flash across the theater's three motion picture screens during the 22-minute show.

The rapid-fire presentation was made possible by computer technology. The show's producers used computers to synchronize 27 projectors. The result was three synchronized motion picture films which show pictures taken from 35mm slides, still photographs, videotape, film and computer animation.

Actual TV and radio broadcasts rekindle the drama of Olympic highlights including Bruce Jenner's decathlon victory in 1976, Jesse Owens' gold medal track and field performance in 1936 and Mark Spitz' sweep of seven gold medals for swimming in the 1972 games.

Eric Heiden, Cathy Rigby and Jenner recall their personal moments of glory. Sombre moments are remembered too, as headlines flash the U.S. skating team's plane crash and Jim Thorpe's disqualification in 1912.

Olympic superstars of the last 70 years are featured in a fast-moving salute of their achievements. The segment brings to mind the accomplishments of Frank Shorter, Rafer Johnson, Buster Crabbe, Peggy Fleming, Johnny Weissmuller, Babe Didrikson, the 1980 U.S. hockey team, Jean Claude Killy, Dorothy Hamill, Nadia Comaneci and others.

The show also includes tributes to the youngsters who test their skills in the Special Olympics and the oldsters who strain for glory in the Senior Olympics.

The presentation's original musical score adds to the impact of one emotional sports highlight after another.

The "Spirit of the Olympics" is projected onto three screens are the focal point of a specially-designed set themed in Olympic bronze, silver and gold and highlighted by computerized lighting which flashes in dramatic patterns to underscore the show's emotional high points.

"Spirit of the Olympics" will be presented hourly each evening beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Volleyball tourney scheduled in CC

The largest and most popular sand volleyball tournament in Texas will be held in Corpus Christi over the 4th of July holiday weekend at Corpus Christi Beach north of the Harbor Bridge.

Over 400 men and women from all over Texas will gather for the CLEM Martin Corpus Christi Beach Triples Tournament, which is divided into six levels: Men's AA, A and B, and Women's AA, A and B. Cash prizes will be awarded to the winners of both the men's and women's AA competition.

The Corpus Christi Beach Triples Tournament is now in its sixth year. Play begins this year at 8 a.m. Saturday, July 2, and the semi-finals will commence at 11 a.m. on Sunday, July 3. The championship finals will be held immediately after the semi-finals, approximately noon.

Spectators are encouraged to come out and witness Texas' largest sand volleyball event. Many of the state's top male and female indoor players will be competing for the largest cash prize ever at this prestigious three-player tournament.

For more information on the Corpus Christi Beach Triples Championships, contact Doug Knopp at 1-937-0720.

Michigan man dies after accident

Kevin Michael Dietz, 23, of Menaygo, MI., temporarily of Rockport, died at 4:30 a.m. Thursday in Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi after suffering injuries in a car-pedestrian accident near Fulton Wednesday night.

Chief Aransas County Paramedic Bill Aston said the accident occurred about 11:11 p.m. on Hwy. 35 North near The Bull.

He said Dietz suffered compound fractures of both lower legs, head injuries, stomach and chest injuries. He was taken to the hospital by a unit of the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service.

Body found in

Rockport Harbor

The body of a possibly Black or Mexican-American male was recovered from Rockport Harbor about 9:46 a.m. Thursday morning after police were called by a fisherman who saw the body floating in the water.

Police Chief Joe Hinojosa said the body was transferred to Corpus Christi and an autopsy ordered. As of noon

Thursday, police were still trying to identify the man. The case is currently under investigation.

A Rockport police officer said the body was recovered from the water between the Rockport Shrimp Co-op and Jackson Seaford. Dr. Joseph Rupp of Corpus Christi was handling the autopsy.

Dave Crooks once hired Ernie Pyle as a reporter

By PAT BLAIR
Staff Writer

Dave Crooks' only claim to fame in the newspaper field, he says, is that he once hired Ernie Pyle as a reporter.

That was back in 1923 or '24 — "probably '23," he said in an interview this past week at his residence in Palm Harbor. Dave was city editor of the daily paper in LaPorte, Ind., and Pyle "was a scrawny little redhead" who had just left the University of Indiana, where he'd been a student, because of dispute with a professor. Pyle of course went on to fame as the nation's best known and best-loved war correspondent in World War II.

Dave went on the Ft. Lauderdale Daily News followed by a stint on the Miami Herald, first as a reporter then as assistant city editor. It was while he was a reporter for the Herald that he was the focus of a lawsuit filed by the newspaper after he was "roughed up" by federal agents.

He was born in Galena, Ill., on Oct. 20, 1899 — a town that "has remained practically unchanged since the Civil War days," he said. It was the home of Union General, later President Ulysses S. Grant both before and after the war.

"His (Grant's) father and my father both owned and operated leather stores in Galena," Dave said. "When the Grants first came there, he and his father tried to buy my father's and grandfather's store." The Crooks father and son refused to sell, so the Grants set up in competition.

Although Dave doesn't push the issue, he and his family think there may be some relationship between his family and the Grants: "They both came originally from the same region," he said. "But I don't know for sure."

Dave attended the Joseph Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., where, he said, "I went out for football, basketball and track but was soon cut from the squads — no talent. I did manage to make the varsity wrestling team." His first working experience as a journalist was as associate editor of the Daily Northwestern.

He graduated from Medill in 1922 and went immediately to the LaPorte paper and the hiring of Ernie Pyle. "He worked for me for three or four months, then went to the Washington Post as aviation editor," Dave recalled. "To a very limited extent, I kept in contact with him — though not after he became famous."

From Indiana, Dave went to Ft. Lauderdale — then to the Miami Herald and his brush with the Secret Service.

It began, he said, with a man named Horace Alderman who had been found guilty of murder and piracy on the high seas. Alderman made his living running aliens into this country. Dave said, and was rumored to throw his cargo overboard when threatened with capture.

Alderman was finally caught, sometime around 1925 or '26, and was sentenced to be hanged. The only federal property available for the hanging was a Coast Guard hangar in Ft. Lauderdale. Dave was covering Ft. Lauderdale for the Miami paper — and the fact that the federal judge involved in the case had ordered all newsmen away from the execution made the assignment all the more challenging.

"I was waiting in the courtyard when they brought him (Alderman) out," Dave remembered. "I raised my camera, took the picture — and when the lens clicked, I was jumped." The Secret Service men who "jumped" Dave roughed him up, broke his camera — and brought a suit for damages from the Miami Herald. The suit, Dave added, was later abandoned.

Dave continued with the paper for a while after that, but in the meantime the land boom that had originally brought him to the area had broken, the stock market crashed in 1929, "and I could see the handwriting on the wall. Things were not too good." So when, in 1930, a friend and former newspaperman then with the Kroger Company approached Dave about a job with Kroger — Dave took it.

He started with the store at its headquarters in Cincinnati, Ohio, as a store manager trainee, became a store manager then was put in charge of 25 of the company's stores, finally returned to headquarters in Cincinnati as a personnel manager whose duties included writing and publishing the company's employee magazine.

"My Kroger store days," Dave added as an aside, "were in the era when it was impossible for one person to carry home $5 worth of groceries!"

After a time as personnel manager, Dave was made Kroger's public relations director, the first such office in the firm's history. In that capacity, he handled PR work for the store in 14 states.

In all, Dave was with the store for 30 years, a period that also saw his marriage, the birth of his two sons, a period of service in the second World War. "I served in both World Wars," he added. During World War I, he was a sergeant; in the second war, he advanced to lieutenant colonel.

Originally, Dave had planned to retire in Florida, but both his sons and four grandchildren were living in Texas, and Dave and his wife "thought better of the idea."

"We were looking," Dave says, "for a spot that was close enough to be close and yet far enough that we wouldn't have to do any babysitting." In addition, Dave likes the water, likes to fish, he said, so they came to the coast.

"We took a trailer trip from Port Isabel to Port Lavaca, spending several days to a week or more in the Gulf Coast communities." It took two visits, but they finally decided that Rockport was the most desirable of possible retirement homes. In April 1967, the Crooks bought a home in Palm Harbor, enjoying it together until the death of his wife after 55 years of marriage. Two and a half years ago, he married his present wife, Peggy, a long-time friend of both Dave and his first wife. "Our children grew up together," Peggy says of the friendship between the two families.

From the beginning of his arrival in Aransas County, Dave has been active in community affairs. He was the second president of the Palm Harbor Property Owners Association and was instrumental in obtaining a substantial reduction in telephone rates for Palm Harbor residents at that time because he protested a cable charge that was being added to Palm Harbor phone bills. The charge was subsequently dropped.

In 1971, Dave was put in charge of advertising and promotion for the county's Centennial celebration and a few years later, for a while, he was active in promotion and advertising for Rockport's annual SeaFair.

He served as a director and handled news coverage for the Aransas County United Fund for several years, handled advertising and promotion of the annual Art Festival one year during an emergency, has served as a director of the local Red Cross chapter and at one time handled publicity for both the Red Cross and the annual county Cancer Crusade.

Dave was a member of the committee that met and surpassed the Richardson Foundation grant that helped launch the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service.

A member of the Rotary Club for years and a former Rotary director, he has written possibly hundreds of news releases on the club's speakers and special events.

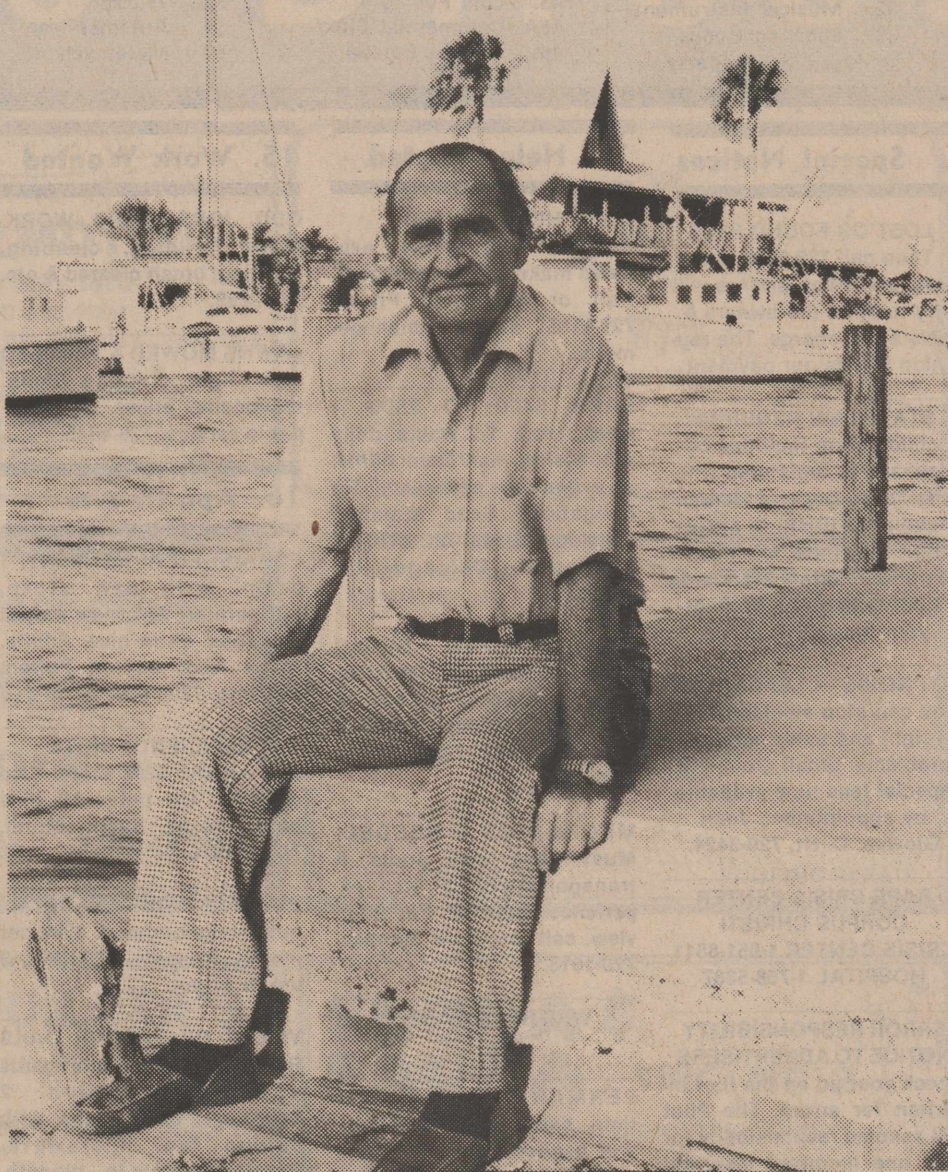

Dave served as public relations council for First National Bank for nine years, provided the same service for Harbor Oaks residential development during its early years.

And he figures he has written "scores — perhaps hundreds" of news stories promoting tennis in general and tennis tournaments in the area during the past 10 years — all on a volunteer basis. Tennis must be ranked high on any list of Dave's loves.

"I was an active tennis player until about two years ago," he says. He added he is also an avid fisherman and duck hunter — but it was in tennis, he admits, that he always wanted to win a trophy. He finally got his trophy, in 1981, from the Rockport Tennis Association. Presented in appreciation of Dave's efforts on the association's behalf, the inscription says, "Thanks for your help."

"It's the only trophy I've ever won," Dave said. Justifiably, he's proud of it.

And in Aransas County at least, Dave Crooks is known as much more than the man who first hired Ernie Pyle

Artist Michael Frary to be honored at reception

An exhibit of the works of artist Michael Frary will be launched by a reception in honor of Frary and his wife, Peggy, at Allied Live Oak Bank in Rockport Sunday, July 17.

The reception, open to the public, will be from 2 until 5 p.m. Approximately 30 of Frary's recent works in oils, water colors and mixed media will be on exhibit at Allied Live Oak from July 17 until about mid-August.

Following the reception, the exhibit will be open during regular banking hours, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Fridays.

A professor of art at the University of Texas in Austin, Frary is one of nine artists whose works are featured in the book, "The Texas Gulf Coast."

Frary holds a bachelor of art in architecture and a master of fine arts degree in painting from the University of Southern California and is the author of "Impressions of the Big Thicket", "Impressions of the Texas Panhandle" and "Impressions of the Texas Hill Country."

Frary has visited and painted in the Rockport area frequently. His works include three paintings done in the Port Aransas area: "Fourth of July", "South

Jetty, Port Aransas" and "Tarpon Inn," all featured in "The Texas Gulf Coast."

Frary has designated that a 25 percent gallery commission from any sales made during the coming show in Rockport will be donated to the Rockport Art Association's building fund.

Half Moon holidays get underway this weekend

SHINER — The fourth annual Half Moon Holidays are set to get underway in Shiner this weekend, with Sunday's July 3 parade and picnic highlighting the three-day event.

The holidays get off to a swinging start Friday, July 1, when a downtown street dance featuring music by Double Kross will be held near the First National Bank. The dance will be from 8:30 p.m. to midnight.

Saturday afternoon activities have been designed with youngsters in mind as the carnival rides open at 4 p.m. with the Junior and Senior Olympics also on the agenda that afternoon.

The sparkle of Saturday's activities will begin at 7 p.m. when the Miss Shiner Beauty Pageant gets underway at the air conditioned American Legion Hall. A field of 30 contestants are vying for the Miss Shiner, Little Miss and Little Mister Shiner crowns.

It's a day full of fun and excitement on tap Sunday, July 3, when the big parade and picnic gets underway.

It all begins at 8 a.m. when the 10,000-meter half moon fun run starts off in downtown Shiner. Entries for the run will still be accepted Sunday morning.

At 12:30 p.m. a colorful Independence Day Parade will work its way down Shiner's main street ending at the American Legion Park where a full slate of activities is on tap.

There will be a variety of amusements for young and old with plenty of game and food booths located on the grounds. There will be a stew and sausage meal served from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. sponsored by the Shiner Hospital Foundation and the Shiner Knights of Columbus.

An auction, benefiting the hospital, will be held at 2 p.m. inside the new dining hall.

Also in air conditioned comfort will be the 11½ hours of dancing featuring the Country Classics from 1:30 to 4 p.m.; Country Fever, 4 to 7 p.m.; Double Kross, 7 to 10 p.m.; and the Emotions, 10 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The Wence Shimek Orchestra will provide toe-tapping entertainment throughout the afternoon inside the beer garden, where the Knights of Columbus will have plenty of ice-cold brew flowing from kegs.

The World Championship John-A-Thon, a rolling out-house race, is back on the agenda and set to begin at 2 p.m. on the grounds at American Legion Park.

Other activities on the schedule include the first Horseshoe Pitching Championship, an afternoon Volleyball Tournament and the always zany Half Moon Olympics featuring such contests as the chug-a-lug relay, the tug-of-war, egg toss and more.

For more information on the contests or any of the weekend activities please contact the Shiner City Hall 594-3362.

The Sandbar Cafe offers variety

The Sandbar Cafe at Cove Harbor offers a wide variety of sandwiches and beverages for those of you who may become hungry as you are driving by. Run by Jim Lawhorn, the cafe has a bait stand next door so those who are going fishing can stock up on live bait and food at the same time.

The cafe menu offers hamburgers, steak sandwiches, barbeque, corn dogs, fries, chips, and a large selection of beverages, including beer. The inside of the cafe has several redwood picnic tables and benches for those who want to eat inside in the comfort of air conditioning. There are also tables outside for those who enjoy their meals in the great outdoors. Carry-outs are available.

The Sandbar Cafe has been open since March 18. Lawhorn's bait stand offers a supply of live bait, fishing tackle and piggy perch, when available. He has a unique system for aerating the water at the bait stand — the water is filtered through a cooling tower which keeps the water temperature down, keeping the shrimp alive for a longer period of time.

The Sandbar Cafe and Bait Stand is open at 6:30 a.m. every day of the week. Closing hours are 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 6 p.m. Sunday. The phone number is 729-4046.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION

It is estimated that there are at least 390,000 new cases of disabling occupational disease annually.
Yet only about five percent of those severely disabled from an occupational disease receive the Workers' Compensation benefits they're entitled to. Here are some more facts you may not know about Workers' Compensation:

- You can receive Workers' Compensation for many conditions, not just a job-related accident or injury.
Workers whose emotional health has been adversely affected by on-the-job stress may be entitled to Workers' Compensation benefits.
Workers injured while traveling to and from work may also be entitled to benefits.

If you're injured at work, seek immediate medical attention and file an accident report with your employer.

- The surviving spouse and/or children of an injured or deceased worker may be entitled to dependency benefits.
- Benefits can include weekly payments, medical and hospital bills, payments for scarring, rehabilitation, re-training and travel expenses.
- If you're injured at work you should seek immediate medical attention, file an accident report with your employer and get the names and addresses of witnesses.

was the first, and only,
president, to be descended from a president — his father.

Do you know?

Whenever the first-time homebuyer chooses a home and gets the family moved in, has enjoyed a cup of coffee with neighbors and has surveyed the startling growth rate of his grass, the homebuyer suddenly begins to worry about fire and theft prevention. After all, the purchase of a home is often the biggest purchase any of us ever make.

With such an investment of money and time, it may help first-time homebuyers especially to refresh their information by looking over this test provided by a national fire and casualty company. As a realtor working with homeowners wanting to enjoy the most secure life possible in their home, I appreciate this refresher course myself.

So, herewith: a prevention test.

(Answers will be at the end of the column.)

1. Sixty-five percent of all home fires start in the a) kitchen, b) basement, c) bedroom.
2. The most common cause of fatal home fires is a) spark from fireplace, b) careless smoking, c) defective electrical wiring.
3. Never try to put out a grease fire with a) baking soda, b) CO₂ fire extinguisher, c) water.
4. Burglars may be tipped off that you're on vacation by a) a car in the driveway,
b) empty garbage cans, c) a light in the window.
5. One thing you should not do in case of fire is a) get out of the house, b) crawl along the floor to avoid smoke, c) go back inside if you have forgotten something valuable or a pet.
6. The best way to handle mail deliveries when you are out of town is a) stop them,
b) put out a box for the overflow, c) ask a neighbor to collect them daily.
7. Seventy-five percent of all home fires occur a) at mealtimes, b) at night, c) when the TV is on.
8. A factor that is a frequent reason for fire fatalities in homes is a) a defective smoke alarm, b) using the wrong kind of wood, c) lack of a family escape plan.
9. The kind of fire extinguisher effective against all kinds of fire is a) multi-purpose dry chemical, b) CO₂, c) water.
10. If you're the victim of a burglary, one thing you should not do is a) call the police, b) notify your insurance agent (he may raise your rates), c) try to catch the burglar.
11. A place that an itemized list of your belongings should not be kept is a) a metal box in your home, b) a bank safety deposit box, c) the office of your insurance agent.
12. The best rule for using gasoline as a fuel or solvent in the home is a) use it with great care, b) use it with proper ventilation, c) don't use it.
13. The thing least likely to help you establish an insurance claim in case of fire or theft is a) a collection of purchase receipts, b) your memory, c) an itemized list of your belongings.
14. The first thing to do in case of fire at night is a) call the fire department, b) get everyone out of the house, c) remove valuables.

The correct answers, in case you missed one: 1. a; 2. b; 3. c; 4. b; 5. c; 6. c; 7. b; 8.
c; 9. a; 10. c; 11. a; 12. c; 13.
b; 14. b.

Transform fireplace with moldings

Do you love your fireplace, but wish it were a more striking focal point of your living room? You can transform the look of your fireplace by framing it in a creative design with decorative moldings. Here are some ideas to help:

- Variations on an Early Colonial fireplace will blend with many conservative, clean-lined decorating styles.

Understanding a lease

Most disagreements between tenants and landlord center on the lease. As a tenant, there are several ways for you to avoid a misunderstanding with your landlord.

For example, before you sign a lease be sure to read it carefully. In general, a comprehensive lease that reduces the chance for a misunderstanding is better than a simplified one.

Also, it's a good idea to have everything in writing.
This includes changes in the lease and other agreements.
After you sign the lease,
keep a copy signed by you and the manager.

Make a checklist of the condition of the dwelling and its contents at the time you move in. Go over the list with the manager when you move out. Be sure to pay rent on time, otherwise you become subject to eviction and liable for the remaining months of rent for which you contracted in the lease.

Remember, the cause of most landlord-tenant problems is a lack of communication.

FNMA home seller loans

Many home sellers have been frustrated by the inability of buyers to qualify for a mortgage loan. Consequently, they are driven to offering financing as a condition of the sale.

Most sellers, however, need cash from their sale so they can purchase another home. The Federal National Mortgage Association, or Fannie Mae, has a program to assist such sellers.

The seller needs to contact a mortgage lender approved by Fannie Mae. For a fee, the lender will check credit reports and perform other tasks to make the loan acceptable to Fannie Mae. The lender also may be contracted to collect payments after the loan is made.

The seller then negotiates the terms of a first or second mortgage with the buyer. At that point, Fannie Mae stands ready to purchase the loan when the seller desires. For more information about this program contact your broker.

Build on with decks

If you have usable lawn space and need more living area, a deck system can be the answer. The total system can include:

- a screened-in porch
- a barbecue deck with plenty of work space
- a sun deck with or without a hot tub
- a children's play deck

These decks can be built easily and quickly with pneumatic tools. Duo-Fast Corporation recommends a heavy-duty pneumatic nailer such as its CN-325, like professional builders use. It can drive galvanized nails from 1 to 2 inches long—this range of nail sizes makes the tool versatile enough to handle other home improvement jobs as well.

By choosing the right combination of decks and by using pneumatic tools, that much-needed living space can be ready for you soon.

I dreamed our church had been converted into a travel agency and I was the chief tour guide. A huge neon sign beamed a new giant step for modern man — "E.T.T.H.," which translated is "Extra Terrestrial Tours of Heaven." I was getting ready to lead the first mortal tour of Heaven in my 1955 reconditioned, all-white school bus! "See Heaven without dying!"
was blazed in pink letters across our mobile missile.
So many people applied for the first trip to the celestial city that we had to choose the passengers by lottery. As we loaded, excitement was at fever pitch.

As we pulled up at the long-awaited gate, the Gate Angel said, "Welcome Comrades! Please take all possessions from the bus because they might be stolen and stay in your group to prevent mugging. Please do not smoke except in designated areas. Thank you!"
We sang "When the Saints Go Marching In"
as we headed for downtown. "Hey! what's that?!" asked a traveler.
"It's an angel addressing the other angels, I suppose," said I. The angel's voice grew clearer,
"Listen my fellow workers, I must be elected! I've got to become Mayor. My opponent is black — do we want a black Mayor?"
"No! No! No!" went the chant. One of our tour members clapped his hands and said, "That's what I told my Pastor back home." "And what did he say?" someone asked. "Oh, he mumbled something about 'Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven.' Just wait
'til I tell him about this."

I approached one of the angels and said, "I never expected Heaven to be like this!" He replied, "Heaven? This isn't Heaven — this is Hell."
"Holy Smoke!" I shouted to my group, "we made a wrong turn somewhere."

I think it's important to review your family situation. This may affect his behavior. How do you and your husband get along?
Have you recently moved?
Is your son attending a new school? Has he taken on new responsibilities that produce stress?

Such may be reasons for recurrence. Consult with a doctor this time.
Drugs such as Imipramine hydrochloride are often quite helpful in controlling bedwetting.
Above all, be patient.

Tips YOU Can Use From The Garage Door Council

Family security is one very good reason a growing number of homeowners are looking over their garage doors very carefully. They know that a well-maintained garage door is an important key to keeping the uninvited outside and keeping families safely on the inside.

Following these tips from Frank S. Fitzgerald, president of the Garage Door Council, may help you during a garage door security check. Says Fitzgerald:

- If your garage door is damaged in any way,
don't put off repairs.
- An electrically operated door, if properly counterbalanced, will operate smoothly. If counterbalancing isn't done right at installation, it will reduce the life expectancy of your door opener.
- Look for qualified repair people. Check the Yellow Pages under "Doors" for your nearest garage door dealer. Look for those dealers who display the emblem of the Far Western Garage Door Association or the Door and Operator Dealers of America.
- Keep the tracks and other moving parts properly lubricated. This type of maintenance can be

LeBlanc appointed to game committee

William B. "Bill" LeBlanc, immediate past president of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas (SCOT), has been appointed to serve on the Operation Game Thief Committee for a six-year term by Charles D. Travis, executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

LeBlanc resides in Fulton, but grew up duck hunting in the Liberty and Jefferson Counties area, where he was a member and served as vice-president on the board of the Sabine-Neches

Sportsmen Club. He also was active in the Port Arthur Hunting Club, Golden Triangle Conservation Club, the Bob Smith Youth Club, and is a life sponsor of Ducks Unlimited.

His father, Henry LeBlanc Sr., now 90 years old and a highly respected conservationist and sportsman in his own right, is a past member of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission and SCOT's Honorary Chairman of the Board.

LeBlanc replaces Ed Stedman Jr., of Beaumont, also a member of SCOT's board of directors. Stedman has served on the committee since it was authorized by the 67th Legislature.

Operation Game Thief (OGT) is a relatively simple, yet effective program similar to the "Crime Stoppers" projects that many city and state law enforcement agencies have instituted. However, OGT is aimed at stopping poachers and other illegal operations that steal our wildlife resources.

The six members of the OGT Committee serve without pay and meet in April and October each year in Austin to review cases processed during the six months prior to the meeting. They discuss rewards, from monies donated by the public, to those who have given information that led to the arrest and conviction of game law violators. The amount of the reward is based on the degree of flagrancy of the violation.

During the past 18 months, $12,125 has been paid out in rewards. However, Senate Bill 251, which passed during the recent legislative session, erased the $50 to $200 limit on rewards. The amounts paid now are up to the committee and larger payments are anticipated.

As an added incentive, those reporting game law violations need not identify themselves when calling the toll-free OGT number (1-800-GAME). They may be given an identification code and payments may be left at an agreed-upon site.

Weekly report

Education quality can be improved

By Congressman
BILL PATMAN

"A cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy." That quotation is well remembered as the powerful belief of Merabeau B. Lamar, an early president of the Republic of Texas.

What Lamar said then has been true throughout our history. As your congressman, I share the conviction expressed by Lamar that education is the cornerstone of our greatness.

The need for a strong education system has become increasingly important in a world of accelerating change. I see that need as we wrestle with hundreds of complex problems in Washington, and I see it as I travel through the 14th Congressional District and talk to people about the aspirations they hold for themselves and, particularly, for their children.

Sadly, however, the quality of education has been sliding downward — both nationally and in Texas. The excellence in which we once took great pride has turned to mediocrity.

Many of you have heard about a recent report by the National Commission on Excellence in Education. That report — titled "A Nation at Risk: The Imperative for Education Reform" — has become a bombshell.

President Reagan, as well as Democratic presidential hopefuls are reacting to the report and pushing their ideas on how to improve education.

Educators, columnists, editorial writers, commentators and P.T.A. groups are joining the debate. All this ferment about improving education is fine. But mere talk won't do any good.

If true value is to come from this report, we must carry out its recommendations. They are strong. They are sound.

There are many striking statements by the commission. One, in particular, caught my eye: "If an unfriendly foreign power had attempted to impose on America the mediocre educational performance that exists today, we might well have viewed it as an act of war. As it stands, we have allowed this to happen to ourselves."

That is a most serious indictment of what has happened to our education system.

The commission calls for a return to basics — but not simply the three R's. The real emphasis is on basics at the high school level, where too many of our youngsters are graduating ill-prepared for either college or the working world.

The commission says flatly that all graduates should be required to have taken four years of English and three years in math, science and social studies.

The commission urges the imperative need for hard work by both teachers and students — plus equally dedicated support from parents. And it says we must keep strong leadership in our superintendents, principals and school boards. Education must stay strong at the local level.

The commission makes no bones about the need for better teacher pay.

"Salaries for the teaching profession," it says, "should be increased... teacher salaries should be professionally competitive, market-sensitive and performance-based."

We should, they say, make salary distinctions between teachers who are beginners, those who are experienced and those who have proved their outstanding merit. But the commission makes clear that competitive, professional salaries must be paid to all if we are to get and keep quality teachers.

I urge you to study the commission's report and to back the effort in Texas to improve education — for the welfare of our children and that of our state and nation.

The need is great — and urgent.

Area fishing report

Fulton Harbor Bait — 729-8532 — "Just fair." Few trout and reds off pier and wall. Plenty of live and dead bait for the holiday weekend.

Copano Causeway — 729-8633 — Lot of trout, wind isn't high and the water is clear. Aside from trout (some of them 5 pounds) there have been a lot of flounder during the day. Live bait, dead, squid and eel during the weekend.

Sandollar — 729-8562 — Good. Trout and redfish off pier. Plenty of all kinds of bait over the weekend.

Palm Harbor Marina — 729-8540 — Pretty good all week. Reds and trout and few flounder, one a 5-pounder caught last Tuesday. Plenty of live bait for the weekend.

Sea Gun — 729-2341 — Not too good — "Slow catchin'." Weather looks good for the weekend though and all six charters will be running every day. One charter brought in a big 29-inch red during the week and all have been having pretty good runs. Plenty of bait for the weekend.

Kleine's Rattlesnake Point — 729-2892 — Plenty of trout in the 2-4-pound range. Catching off point in back. Few small drum. Only dead bait for the weekend.

Key Allegro Marina — 729-2761 — Pretty good fishing out in bays. All set for the weekend — ribbon fish, rigged ballyhoo, unrigged bait, frozen and squid.

St. Charles Bay — 729-2051 — "Fishing picking up some." Great in Ayers and "San Antonio" Bay, only fair in St. Charles. Plenty of live and dead bait for the weekend.

Beach Road Bait House — 729-8614 — Not many fishermen out this weekend, so it's been slow. Plenty of bait for the weekend — live and dead, live crab. Also minnows and chubbies. Plenty of tackle, too.

Riding association holds horse show

Kenny Keller and horse Bandy placed first in four events during the Aransas County Riding Association's June 26 Horse Show. Other winners at the show included Clois Brewster, Ginny Sanders, Laurie Jones and Pee-Wee riders Carrie Silchenstedt and Julia Fox.

Keller and Bandy took first in pegged stallion, bareback equestrian and western pleasure events. In ribbon roping with Jerry Balderee as the runner, Keller and Bandy took another first place. They got third in cloverleaf barrels and took last in trail class.

Keller, on Popcorn, was third in grade geldings and fifth in modern western pleasure.

Brewster, of Aransas Pass, on Call Me Sugar, took first in trail class and seconds in registered mares, bareback equestrian, western pleasure and cloverleaf barrels.

Sanders, riding Shady, was first in figure eight and cloverleaf barrels. Jones, from Ingleside and riding Doc's Skip To My Lou, was first in western pleasure, second in figure eight barrels, third in trail class, fifth in bare back equestrian, poles and cloverleaf barrels. Jones and Image were sixth in registered geldings.

Lots of youngsters under age 10, just starting out riding, competed in Sunday's Pee-Wee division. Silchenstedt, on her gray mare Busy, placed in western pleasure and trail class. Amanda Bravenec of Corpus Christi, on paint Patches, placed in the poles and figure eight barrels. Fox, with Appaloosa mare Cleo, took places in poles and figure eight barrels. Jennifer Parnell of Sinton, riding Pepper, took places in western pleasure, trail class, poles and figure eight. On Smoker, her new Appaloosa, Parnell placed in the cloverleaf barrels. It was a good day for Parnell and a great way to finish out her Pee-Wee days — she turned 10 Sunday.

Wendy Lile of Corpus Christi and her black mule Judy were something of a first for Rockport — show judge John Brown. They placed in the graded mare class. Later, on Dandy, Lile placed in the trail class as well.

Scott Murphy of Aransas Pass, on Pay Day Is Sweet, placed in western pleasure and Jack Oaks of Corpus Christi, on Turdy, placed in the trail class and figure eight barrels.

The next show will be 10 a.m. July 24. Another is scheduled for the fourth Sunday in August. In addition to the shows, a day ride is planned for July and there will be a play day in August. The association welcomes spectators to events and issues an invitation to anyone with a horse to come and join in the fun. Members are more than happy to help newcomers.

Week of July 3-9

ARIES
(March 21-April 20) A person met at a social gathering may influence you in a love matter that could have far-reaching consequences. Think before you reveal a secret that shouldn't be shared.

TAURUS
(April 21-May 21) You could be invited to an unusual outing that involves much glitter and entertainment. Think positive if approached with an unusual proposition regarding business.

GEMINI
(May 22-June 21) Your week to shine is here, so make the most of it. You will be on the telephone day and night putting finishing touches on a project that had been forgotten about until now.

CANCER
(June 22-July 23) Love comes in a most unusual way. Someone may take notice of you at a gathering and contact you, saying you remind them of someone they once knew.

LEO
(July 24-Aug. 23) Follow your hunches in romance. Your income will rise sharply but you should be aware of spending more than you earn. Get rid of your credit card.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24-Sept. 23) People at a distance are thinking of you and would like to maintain a more fluid correspondence with you in the future. Contact persons important to your well-being.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24-Oct. 23) Tips you receive from friends could turn out to be correct, and if you follow their suggestions you could be in the winner's box.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Someone will approach you with a good idea and it will be worth your while to pursue it. Money will be forthcoming once you make up your mind to settle a dispute.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's to your advantage to pursue goals set long ago with respect to a romantic situation that couldn't get off the ground due to another's interference.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22-Jan. 20) A friend will come to your aid with information sought about one you have been wanting to meet. Accept social invitations.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21-Feb. 19) You could be working too hard and not realizing the whole benefit of your labor. Get needed rest before attempting to pursue new ventures that may be time consuming and not at all rewarding.

PISCES
(Feb. 20-March 20) A long-lost acquaintance will show up when you succeed in a business area that has been difficult to mold. Don't be misled by this person's talk.

OCTOPUSSY, from MGM/UA Entertainment Co. Directed by John Glen, screenplay by George MacDonald Fraser, Richard Maibaum and Michael G. Wilson. Starring Roger Moore, Louis Jourdan, Maud Adams. Rated 'PG.' ★ ★ ★

By J.T. YURKO

After 21 years and 12 James Bond films, the filmmakers should have the recipe down to a science. With "Octopussy," the thirteenth — and certainly not the last — film in the series, the Bond sagas show no sign of stopping. Even though three actors have played Bond, the real star of these films is the formula.

"Octopussy" is no exception. In order to whip up a Bond film you need various ingredients. They include:

The Villain: Here Louis Jourdan proves to be like most of Bond's adversaries, suave but slimy. His dirty work is done by...

The Henchman: From Oddjob to Jaws, he's the guy who does the required maiming and killing. Lean and mean, he has about three words of dialogue in the whole film.

The Woman: Usually leaner, but never meaner, the girl is exotic, mysterious, but above all, beautiful.

The Women: With the accent on the plural, they are all voluptuous and scantily clad. They are for decorative purposes only. They collectively have fewer lines of dialogue than the Henchman.

The Threat: Be it lasers in space or a stolen nuclear missile or a plot to blow up Fort Knox, Bond always has 90 to 120 minutes to save the world.

The Gadgets: "Q" is the person who assigns Bond with the latest electronic gizmo or cars with options GM never heard of. Somehow the gadget turns out to be exactly what's needed by Bond to help him escape a tight spot.

Stunts: The stunt man's (and woman's) union, hope the Bond films go on forever. In "Octopussy" there are dozens of opportunities for stunt people to visit their local bone doctors. No doubt the filmmakers saw "Raiders of the Lost Ark." "Octopussy's" stunts are similarly outrageous.

Formula filmmaking it is, but production values are tops, and as an adult comic book, well, to quote another Bond film, nobody does it better.

Ask Kate

Forsythe's saga

By Kate Woods

Since my last name is Forsythe, I'm wondering whether John Forsythe may be related to me. Also, when did "Bachelor Father" run? — M.F.

He's not a relative. The "Dynasty" star's real name is John Freund. "Bachelor Father" ran from 1957-'62.

SHIP TO SHORE — Where can I write the producer of "The Love Boat"? — J.B.T.

The executive producers are Aaron Spelling and Doug Cramer. You can write both at Aaron Spelling Productions Inc., Warner Hollywood Studios, P.O. Box 60257, Los Angeles, CA 90060.

REMAR-KABLE — Can you please tell me where to write actor James Remar, who played one of the killers in "48 Hrs."

and had a small part in "Partners"? — M.H.

You can write Remar, who has one of the best sneers in the business, in care of Hildy Gottlieb at ICM, 8899 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90048. He's just started work on another picture for Paramount, "Uncommon Valor." Gene Hackman headlines the adventure flick, which is along the lines of "The Dirty Dozen." At one time it was called "Youth in Asia."

MIGHTY MATT — How old is Matthew Broderick from "WarGames"? My mother says he really isn't a kid. — L.A.

Broderick is 20, so it depends on your vantage point as to whether or not he's still a kid. His father was the late actor James Broderick, who viewers

John Forsythe

may recall as the father on "Family."

WHITHER PARKER — Whatever happened to Parker Stevenson of "The Hardy Boys"? — J.J.

Stevenson made a pilot earlier this year with Billy Dee Williams about a couple of actors turned private eyes. It's called "Shooting Stars." ABC hasn't picked the show up for the fall, but the pilot is expected to air July 28. If the response is good, it might get a mid-season slot.

Send your letters to Kate Woods, United Feature Syndicate, 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, N.Y. 10166.

PBS in the spotlight

Gordon Jackson (l.), Helen Morse and Bryan Brown are featured in "A Town Like Alice."

'Town Like Alice' airs

The six-part drama "A Town Like Alice," winner of an International Emmy and the National Board of Review's Best Drama award, encores on "Masterpiece Theatre," beginning Sunday, July 3 on PBS. (Please check local listings for time.)

Starring Gordon Jackson, Helen Morse and Bryan Brown, the drama won huge audiences and rave reviews when originally aired in England and Australia and also received a British Broadcasting Critics award and another at the Banff Canadian Film Festival.

Adapted by Rosemary Anne Sisson and Tom Hegarty from Nevil Shute's best-selling novel and filmed on location in Malaya, Australia and London, "A Town Like Alice" deals with the romance between Joe Harman (Brown), a brashly heroic Australian ranch-hand, and Jean Paget (Miss Morse), an Englishwoman working in Malaya in 1941 when the Japanese invaded the country.

After Joe is caught stealing chickens for Jean and other British women and children forced on an aimless death march by their captors, he is tortured and left to die. An aging London solicitor (played by Jackson) is on hand, and he falls in love with Jean.

BEFORE & AFTER

SOAPS.....

by SEL GROVES

All My Children: Opal printed up some "unforgettable" t-shirts to bolster her campaign for a seat on the City Council. Erica ran amuck raiding the staff of "Sensuelle" for her own cosmetics company. Palmer, continuing his suit for Daisy's heart, gave her another surprise gift and was somewhat surprised at her reaction. Coming: Nina unwittingly gets involved in her parents' romance.

Another Life: Kate told Dave she wasn't engaged to Lee. Russ apologized to Lester for all the trouble he caused at the hospital. Ben lost his job at the hospital because of his injured hand. Carla accused Monk of being involved in a recent rash of burglaries. Coming: Miriam tries to counter the influence Charles has on Erick.

Another World: An angry Cass returned to Bay City. He realized Cecile had set him up to take the rap for murdering Alma. Sandy's divorce was final; he proposed to Blaine. Donna planned to disrupt Peter's romance with Sally. Coming: Cass lets out a surprise of his own which shakes Cecile's confidence.

As The World Turns: Lyla offered Betsy some advice, but was turned down. James continued to offer Barbara advice, and was not too surprised to find her responding more positively each time. Coming: Miranda and Bob set out some new conditions.

Capitol: Thomas McCandless realized things were different from the way they were before he left town. In spite of Clarissa's arguments, he tried to make some other changes. Sloane continued to "impress" Tyler. Coming: Sloane misreads Tyler's attitude for something more than it is.

Days Of Our Lives: Beau rescued Hope from a knife-wielding pervert and got her reluctant thanks. Julie and Doug defused the tensions between their daughter and themselves by sending her away for the summer. Liz considered leaving the country. Coming: Renee takes a desperate bid to rejoin Tony. Anna makes another attempt to stop her.

Edge Of Night: Ganz was murdered. While investigating the case with Calvin, Chris confessed

she and Ganz were once married. Spencer, whom Ganz was trying to find, now became a murder suspect as well as an embezzler of Sky's fortune. Coming: Calvin stumbles on a new mystery about Nicole and Ganz.

General Hospital: Scorpio and Connie made a discovery about the disc. Luke was pressured into running for mayor. Heather hatched a plot to get Allan to give her permanent custody of Jason. Coming: Heather's plan works in an unexpected fashion. Lesley arranges to cover for Rick while he's away. Tiffany and Gregory have a meeting. Guiding Light: Beth's attitude continued to puzzle Kelly who felt something strange was happening to her. Philip thought he had some proof about Beth's stepfather. Hope refused to accept Mike's advice. Coming: Lillian denies any hint of a problem at home.

One Life To Live: Workers at Brad's hotel were cheating him. Someone was also trying to make time with Jenny behind Brad's back. Dorian and Vicki learned about the devious trick played on them by the newly-arrived conductor, David Renaldi. Coming: Becky's reaction to Drew's shooting startles Asa.

Ryan's Hope: Jill was leading in the polls. Siobhan and Bill examined a suitcase which suddenly exploded. Frank learned that Charlotte and Rae lied to him. Coming: Lee's meeting with Maeve helps her face Jack later on. Frank's second meeting with Charlotte's father leads to a new disclosure.

Search For Tomorrow: Liza decided to have the surgery performed on her unborn baby. Wendy's tete-a-tetes with Warren, her best friend's husband, don't escape the attention of others. Coming: Stephanie learns what Ruby meant in her last, barely-veiled "barb."

Young & The Restless: Danny misinterpreted a message from Traci. Paul misinterpreted Carl's warning. Victor misinterpreted Julia's suggestion. Coming: Gina considers confronting Traci on Danny's behalf.

By Doug Davis

In case you didn't know — Alabama's RCA LP "The Closer You Get," passed the 1 million mark in sales within four weeks of its release.

The group set an all-time single day box-office record with a recent Tennessee concert. Twenty-three thousand and forty people paid $288,000. Not bad for a day's work.

Loretta Lynn

Loretta Lynn is set to sing her latest single, "Lyn' Cheatin' Woman Chasin' Honky Tonkin", Whiskey Drinkin' You," July 6 on the "Tonight Show." She also trades stories with guest host Joan Rivers. Should be quite a sight.

Dottie West's next album, her 40th LP release, will be recorded in Los Angeles. Snuff Garrett and Steve Dorff will produce the album, her first to be recorded outside Nashville.

There are presently 2,266 U.S. and Canadian radio stations programming country music full-time. This is a seven percent increase over last year's figure, and it marks a 48 percent jump since the turn of the decade.

Bobby Bare is going up the charts with his Columbia single, "The Jagger," while his duet single with Lacy J. Dalton, "It's a Dirty Job," is coming down the charts.

Dave Rowland and Helen Cornelius are set for a national tour of "Annie Get Your Gun," to debut in Texas.

Jerry Clower calls Jerry Reed the "worst fisherman in the whole world. If I wanted to punish somebody — I'd just send 'em fishin' with ole Jerry."

Richard Bowden and Sandy Pinkard have been called country music's replacement for Homer & Jethro. The act, along with third member Rob Strandlin, have added many to their growing list of fans, with their recent appearances on the Nashville Network's "Nashville Now."

The trio is set to record their first LP for Warner Brothers this summer.

Rex Allen Sr. has been elected to the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City. The "Arizona Cowboy" is back from his honeymoon, after recently marrying Jean Hilderbrand.

Ricky Skaggs, who is pulling in the coin with his "Highway 40 Blues," now has a gold certificate for his "Waitin' for the Sun to Shine." The LP, released in 1981, has total sales of more than 500,000 units.

Soap Beat

Sexy Steve Bond soap stud of the year

By Connie Passalacqua

In the last few years much has been made of a new breed of actor — the so-called soap stud. Possessed of a classic Greek profile, his only other requirement is a young, firm body, rippling with muscles. Serious critics of the medium have chastised these body beautifuls for lack of acting talent.

All of the above seemingly makes an attractive new soap actor easy to "type."

But then there's "General Hospital's" Steve Bond, who as Jimmy Lee Holt (aka Eric Quartermaine), has mesmerized even the severest of those soap critics.

One look from his baby blues, and his pure sex appeal makes all criticisms of him and his abilities fade away. Pleasing to everyone, Bond is definitely and in a positive sense, the Soap Stud of the Year.

Bond is by no means ashamed or apologetic about his looks.

"I thank God for the way I look. I've always taken good care of myself. I try to come across as best as I can. There's nothing wrong with beefcake."

Not surprisingly, prior to his "GH" stint, he also worked as a model.

Bond's life story in no way centers only on his looks. Born in Israel, he came to America at the age of 12. As a boy, he had the title role in the film "Tarzan and the Jungle Boy." As a teen, he started work in a Burbank, Calif., stable and later joined the professional circuit as a rodeo rider.

Injuries when he was 17 ended that career and he went back to acting. Eventually he got a contract from Universal, where he had guest roles on such shows as "McCloud" and "The Incredible Hulk." Then it was off to "GH."

Ah, yes, Bond lacks one qualification for being the ultimate "soap stud." Last year he got married to a professional golfer named Cindy, who is every bit as beautiful as he is.

Dear Debbie

DEAR DEBBIE:

I am a 16-year-old girl. My boyfriend and I have been going steady for three years. Recently, my boyfriend and I have gone "all the way." My problem is I think I might be pregnant. I am very frightened and I don't know what to do. My boyfriend wants me to have an abortion, but I don't know if I want to. Can you help?

TERRIFIED DEAR TERRIFIED:

The first thing you should do is find out if you are, in fact, pregnant. Then you will know whether or not a decision has to be made. Secondly, when you're at the doctor's, inquire about birth control. If you have decided to exercise an "adult" right, you should assume the responsibility.

I don't know what your relationship is with your parents, but I suggest you sit down with one, or both of them, and discuss what's been happening in your life. Contrary to what a lot of teenagers believe, parents are understanding, especially so in times of need. Remember, your parents were once teenagers also.

If you are pregnant, you, your boyfriend, and your parents must sit down and discuss what your options are. While I will not tell you whether or not to have an abortion, I will tell you NOT to get married. You're both too young and having a baby will not make a marriage like this work. Good luck.

DEAR DEBBIE:

I am a 31-year-old career woman who is planning on getting married for the first time. To tell you the truth, I don't love my fiance. I'm only marrying him because he is stable financially and I will never want for anything if I marry him. Also, at 31, I feel my chances of meeting the man of my dreams are pretty slim.

Now that the wedding is almost here, I'm panicking. Logically, I feel I've made the right decision. However, emotionally, I'm going through enormous turmoil. Is it just normal pre-wedding jitters?

NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS:

I have a sneaky suspicion you already know the answer to your question. However, here goes:

No, I don't feel you're having normal jitters. I feel that deep down, you know you are compromising a lot of your dreams. In other words, you're "settling." I'm not saying your fiance is wrong for you. No one can know that for sure. However, the situation is not really right, either.

Society no longer looks upon single, career women as spinsters. At 31, you have plenty of time to find the right man. Somehow, I feel you think you're "over the hill."

Think it over. If you really have a lot of doubts, postpone the wedding. Don't feel you have to go through with it because all the plans are made. That's a silly excuse.

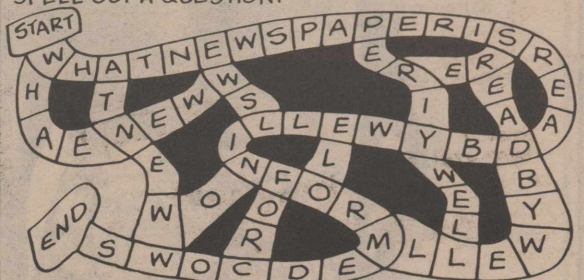

Confidential to Hopeless:

There are a lot of nice, single women who are anxious to meet a man like you. You sound wonderful. Keep trying and you will meet someone special. Just don't give up!
