

President Is Confident Coal Strike Is Settled

Agrees With His Assistant, Steelman

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 2 (UP)—Confident that the coal dispute will now be settled without a new walkout, President Truman continued his "swim and rest" vacation schedule today.

The Chief Executive apparently agreed with his assistant, John R. Steelman, who said yesterday that he regards John L. Lewis' decision to break off the coal strike as a possible forerunner of "a long period of industrial peace."

Stelman said he believed the miners and coal operators would now reach a settlement gradually, without another strike.

The President never had anything to say about the strike, leaving all the talking to Steelman.

But it developed yesterday that Mr. Truman had been pretty sure "for two or three days" that the walkout would end on the terms announced by Lewis, who sent his United Mine Workers back into the pits on a three-day week.

Stelman said that invocation of Continued On Page Two

Price Daniel Answers Charge Of Government's

AUSTIN, Dec. 2 (UP)—Attorney General Price Daniel, answering federal government accusations that Texas was attempting to delay the tidelands case, said today federal officials "delayed 104 years" in filing the suit.

"They should not get in such a hurry now," he said, "as to deny us the right to present all the evidence necessary in defense of our title."

U. S. Attorney General Howard McGrath asked the U. S. Supreme Court Monday to deny Texas' motion seeking permission to take the testimony of five elderly persons.

Daniel filed a reply in an eight-page brief to McGrath's charges. "President James K. Polk in 1945," Daniel said, "promised that the United States would defend the title of Texas to the extent which she claims it to be." The least that could be done in respecting this promise would be to allow the Supreme Court to hear the evidence before rendering a judgment."

Baptists Win Court Suit Over Tax Collections

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 2 (UP)—Oklahoma Baptist will not have to pay taxes on their headquarters building here, even though a book store is operating on the ground floor.

That is the ruling of District Judge Glen O. Morris, who gave the State Baptist Convention a decision yesterday over Oklahoma County Assessor Craig Smith.

However, it's only a temporary defeat for Smith. The Baptists are building a new headquarters, and when they move into it they expect to lease the present building to do that, Smith will put it on the tax rolls.

The assessor argued he could tax the convention now because the book store competes with other stores in the city. He also wanted to force the Baptists to pay 1947 taxes on two lots which now have been sold to St. Luke's Methodist Church.

Morris said he could not agree with the tax assessor that the book store and lots served no religious purpose.

Police Brutality To Be Probed

FORT WORTH, Dec. 2 (UP)—A grand jury investigation loomed today on charges of police brutality in treatment of prisoners here.

The inquiry was recommended by a criminal district court jury which last night found a 27-year-old welding supplies salesman and Sunday school teacher not guilty of charges of aggravated assault upon policeman M. L. Gray.

The salesman, Jack Barrington, testified officers kicked him "like a football," and beat him repeatedly. Officers testified Barrington had attacked Gray and knocked him down when the former was stopped by police for questioning.

A. B. Allen of Grapevine, foreman of the district court jury, said it agreed unanimously the grand jury should investigate treatment of prisoners. He said the probe should cover "all cases of alleged irregularities. We've been reading and hearing reports of beatings," he added.

Senator Wants MacArthur For Far Eastern Post

Will Ask Congress In January Session

TOKYO, Japan, Dec. 2 (UP)—Sen. William F. Knowland (R., Calif.) said today that he would recommend Gen. Douglas MacArthur as U. S. high commissioner for Asia when Congress meets again next January.

Knowland, who has been making a "personal reconnaissance" of the Far East, outlined a seven-point program to stop the further spread of Communism in Asia which he said he would propose in the Senate on the opening day of Congress.

Appointment of MacArthur as "coordinator of United States policy in the Far East" was the No. 1 point in his program, Knowland told a press conference.

Knowland's promise to recommend MacArthur's appointment to the new post followed a similar suggestion yesterday in Washington by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R., N. J.).

Smith suggested placing MacArthur in charge of a United Far Eastern command which would give support to anti-Communist forces in Asia.

MacArthur, in reply to a written question, told the United Press he had "no comment" to make on Smith's suggestion but observers believed he would accept and might be anxious to receive the post.

Close associates said MacArthur believes there is nothing more important than halting the spread of communism in Asia. They said that MacArthur, as a soldier, would take orders as long as he was in uniform.

Temperature In Panhandle Dips Below Freezing

By United Press
Temperatures in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains dipped to near seasonal lows early today, with Dalhart reporting a chilling 21.

Looking ahead, the U. S. Weather Service said, however, that some warming would occur in the western reaches of the state during the week end.

And the weatherman had a good word for the 75,347 football fans expected to jam into the Cotton Bowl at Dallas to watch the regular season football game between Notre Dame and Southern Methodist today. Temperature for the game will be about 70 degrees, the weatherman said, and the sky will be dry.

Early Friday, Texas weather was like a patchwork quilt. Skies were clear over North Texas, partly cloudy over the central regions, and cloudy and rainy in the southern portion. Rain fell during the morning in the area stretching out from San Angelo to San Antonio.

Besides Dalhart's low of 21, some other early-morning West Texas temperatures were: Amarillo, 24; Clarendon, 27; Childress, 28; and Lubbock, 29.

Yesterday afternoon's range of temperatures varied from a high of 79 at Alice to a low of 52 at Amarillo.

Rainfall totals in the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a. m. Friday included: Cotulla, 1.38 inches; San Antonio, .73 inch; Laredo, .28; Austin, .20; Alice, .04; Dallas, .03; and Fort Worth, .02.

A low pressure area, building up in Canada, was to result in warming for the western half of Texas. The weatherman said the low pressure center would pull up warmer air from the South.

Adair Faces More Charges

DALLAS, Dec. 2 (UP)—Police today filed two more rape charges against Dallas "love burglar" Fred Felix Adair, a 25-year-old father.

Adair, already indicted for one case of rape, will be tried December 12.

Included in the cases filed today was one which alleged the rape of a 17-year-old grandmother in her bedroom last July 7. Police said this was Adair's first known bedroom attack.

The other case, filed by detective L. G. Delk, alleged the rape of a 17-year-old girl November 7, 1949. Police said the handsome former concrete company clerk held a knife on the girl during the early morning attack in her bedroom.

The aged woman owned seven houses which she rented, and was a familiar sight on Austin streets. She also was receiving, her brother said, $100 a month from an estate in New York.

Childress Wins Cup

Eisenhower Eyed As GOP Possible

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is almost a sure bet today to be among the top three contenders for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination.

The other two are Sen. Robert A. Taft, Ohio, and President Harold E. Stassen of the University of Pennsylvania.

Taft must be re-elected to the Senate next year to remain in the presidential nomination contest. There is no such hurdle confronting either Eisenhower or Stassen, both of whom are behaving precisely as candidates should behave although neither has yet said "I'm in."

Ike won't even say whether he is, was, or will be a Republican or a Democrat. When he registered for last month's elections in New York State the general put himself down as without party affiliation.

But as president of Columbia University he has waded shoulder deep into national politics. A series of statements and speeches reached a new political high this week when Eisenhower again directly attacked the Truman administration on domestic spending and individual security policies.

"The definition of a liberal," he said, "has become a man in Washington who wants to play the Almighty with our money."

None was puzzled about the identity of the man Eisenhower had in mind. He made the remark before the annual banquet of the St. Andrew's Society of the state of New York. It brought his relations with President Truman a long way from the incident in 1945 which he relates on page 444 of "Crusade in Europe," which was Ike's book.

Explaining that he and one other were riding with the President, Ike wrote:

"Now in the car he (Mr. Truman) suddenly turned toward me and said: 'General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the presidency in 1948.'"

Ike added that he assured the President he would not be his opponent in that year. Mr. Truman has given many evidences of confidence in Eisenhower since then. But the general has been pulling away from just about all the President stands for here at home.

At varying intervals of days and weeks, Ike has been pot shooting the administration on general policy and special issues. He began easily last March right in Washington when he told the conference of mayors that they should not look to the federal government to solve all their problems.

LIEUT. GOV. TO SPEAK HERE

Acting Lieut. Gov. G. C. Morris of Texas is scheduled to speak in Childress before the Lions Club on Tuesday, January 3, it was learned this morning.

Children, Adults Happily Fill Streets At Gay 14th Annual Treasure Hunt

Children, even from Ottawa, Ia., and adults revelled in the Christmas spirit which flowed through the downtown streets of Childress last night as the 14th Annual Treasure Hunt brought them all to see Santa Claus and seek prizes.

The Ottawa youngster, Danny Woods, received a $1 bill for being the child coming the farthest distance.

The annual affair, which has adults and children avidly looking at one (or more) tickets in their hands and comparing them with the tickets in almost 100 different store windows, filled the streets with rollicking laughter. More good-natured shouting and crying out, coupled with the screams of delight coming from the youngsters, was heard from the happy

Sapulpa Hotel Razed By Fire

At Least Two Persons Missing

SAPULPA, Okla., Dec. 2 (UP)—Fire spread by an explosion in early-morning darkness today razed the 75-room Loraine Hotel and two other buildings in Sapulpa's business district, and left at least two persons missing.

Fire Chief Will Collier said it was impossible to say whether others might be unaccounted for, since the hotel register was destroyed, exactly how many guests were staying in the four-story hotel was not known.

Collier said the damage may approach $1 million but other Sapulpan said they doubt that it will exceed $500,000.

The missing persons were identified as Harold Gibbons, Toledo, O. who checked in at the Loraine yesterday to visit friends here, and Jack Graves, local sign painter who lived at the hotel.

H. C. Baker, Kansas City, Mo., broke his ankle when he jumped out a third-story window, even though he landed on a mattress. Firemen rescued seven guests by ladder, and others jumped into nets or just hit the ground.

Collier said cause of the fire was undetermined. It started in the kitchen of the Loraine coffee shop, just north of the hotel.

Firemen said dense smoke went up to the third floor inside the walls, then suddenly burst out in flames that quickly ate through the entire building.

Collier said an explosion blew out the south wall shortly after the fire was discovered, but he did not know its origin.

Firemen brought the flames under control about 5 a. m., but hours later they were still unable to go into the wreckage. They pulled down charred walls that were left partially standing.

Plane Travels Past Speed Of Sound In Public Showing

MURDOC DRY LAKE, Calif., Dec. 2 (UP)—The needle-nosed Douglas Skyrocket streaked faster than sound at an estimated 750 miles an hour, but to the nonchalant pilot the jet and rocket powered planes' first public flight was "just an everyday, routine thing."

Test pilot Gene May, 45, was untired yesterday as he corkscrewed his stocky body out of the super-speed craft's tiny cockpit.

"There's a slight turbulence at the sonic speed," he said, "but that's all."

May opened all throttles wide for about 10 seconds as he zoomed 30 feet above the course with four rockets belching flame. Spectators didn't hear the roar of the rockets until the plane was past.

Although the navy refused to let observers make an official estimate of the Skyrocket's speed, a researcher said the demonstration was assumed to be "another supersonic flight." The speed of sound here yesterday was set at slightly more than 750 miles an hour.

Before cutting in the rockets one by one, May flew low over watchers under jet power alone at a speed estimated by a navy spokesman as "about equal to the present world's record of 670 miles an hour."

Tell Bridge Destroyed By Fire Yesterday

A bridge on the farm-to-market road about 2 miles north of Tell was destroyed by fire around 2:15 yesterday afternoon.

The 24-foot span was engulfed by flames by the time the Childress Fire Department arrived. A detour through a bar ditch has been made to facilitate traffic on the road.

Rotarians Hear "Isms" Discussed By Oklahoman

Jeff Williams, Oklahoma humorist and optimist by title, warned of the dangers of "isms" threatening our country, at the Rotary Club's annual Christmas party in Hotel Childress last night.

The Chickasha lawyer singled out America as the last stronghold for democracy and urged an "awakening" to the evils of communism and socialism.

Williams brought with him Fay Foster, of Chickasha, and Doane and Ione Farr, of Clinton, Okla.

Childress Rotary President Clarence Harp introduced guests and visiting Rotarians, then turned the program over to program director Roy Morrison.

Morrison turned the program over to J. Edd McLaughlin, of Ralls, who served as master of ceremonies.

Rotary Club members, their wives, and a number of out-of-town guests attended the affair.

Williams, McLaughlin and Farr are all past governors of Rotary. They have all participated as a director in Rotary International.

All three have done extensive work in the interest of Rotary in the United States and in several foreign countries.

16-Member Jury Panel Is Selected

A jury commission selected a 16-man jury panel to appear for a grand jury hearing at 10 Monday morning in the courthouse.

Childress residents chosen on the panel area were: C. V. Jones, Roy Key, Sim Vaughn, Irby Teague, Route 1, Will S. Carter, R. L. Murry, E. V. Fite, Wallace Jones.

Other county residents selected: R. D. Vinson, Kirkland, Clyde Nippert, Kirkland, J. F. Lawrence, Arlie, R. R. Crowley, Wellington, Route 5, Jack Garrison, Tell, Cloyce Haleman, Carey, W. C. Whiteside, Northfield Route, J. D. Hardin, Kirkland.

The jury commission was comprised of P. J. Harp, G. A. Robinson, Lee Rothwell and C. A. Mitchell.

Champion Steer Bring Girl $6650

CHICAGO, Dec. 2 (UP)—Pretty Bonnie Lu Logan, 15, of Van Wert, O., pocketed about $6650 today from the sale of her junior grand champion steer at a new record price.

The taffy-haired 4-H Club girl attracted as much attention as the steer, a sleek, black Aberdeen Angus named Lin-Lo, as she led it around the auction ring at the International Livestock Exposition.

Spirited bidding pushed the price to $5 a pound, double last year's record of $2.50.

The animal weighed 1330 pounds.

When no further bids were made, a young auctioneer in a 10-gallon hat pounded his gavel and announced that the steer was sold to the Stevens Hotel of Chicago.

Some states will be asked to cut plantings more than the national average of 20 per cent. These include the western states, which have increased production tremendously in recent years. Some other states will be cut less than 20 per cent.

Growers have yet to accept Brannan's proposal for cotton marketing quotas. They will vote December 15 on the issue. Although a two-thirds vote is necessary for approval, officers are confident growers will accept them.

Even if they don't, the planting allotments still will be in force. The big difference is:

If allotments are voted down, growers who stay within their individual planting allotments will get price support at 50 per cent of parity.

If quotas are approved, such growers will get support at 90 per cent of parity.

Childress High School and fans were awarded the Rotary Club's District 2-AA Sportsmanship Trophy in a called assembly in CHS Auditorium this morning.

Rev. Wilson Cole, chairman of the three-man Childress committee, presented the trophy to Coach Don Ezell.

The award, which was won by Electra the first time it was presented in 1948, was awarded to Childress on the conduct of fans, football players and the student body over the 1949 season.

Three-man Rotary committees from each District 2-AA Club polled the officials and coaches of each team after the games.

Childress won the trophy by the narrowest possible margin over Vernon. The final points for the two top contenders were 19.163 and 19.165. Electra, which finished in third place, had slightly over 19 points.

"Childress — 1949" inscription will be placed on the trophy this afternoon. A District 2-AA city must win the award three years before retaining the four-foot trophy permanently.

Rev. Cole, Paul Ord and Sterling Buster comprised the Childress Rotary committee who did the scoring on teams during the season.

Medical Journal Editor Resigns

CHICAGO, Dec. 2 (UP)—Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association for 37 years, retired from the post and took on an assortment of health education jobs today.

The official announcement of his retirement by recommendation of the AMA board of trustees is not scheduled to be made until the board meets in Washington December 6, an AMA spokesman said.

But Fishbein, 60, set up a new office in his home here today and announced it was "impossible for me to continue editing the Journal under the circumstances."

"I could not produce the type of medical journal that I was accustomed to," he said. "I could not speak out freely and vigorously on issues which I felt were important."

Father Shoots Most Of Family

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 2 (UP)—Pale and trembling, 9-year-old Bonnie Faye Bean today told authorities how her 50-year-old father, in a fit of drunken rage, shot down her mother, sister and twin brother last night.

The little girl was so bewildered and shaken that she scarcely realized that the rifle blasts had killed her mother, 25-year-old Mrs. Fannie Bean, and sister, 11-year-old Dorris Bean.

Bonnie Faye's twin, Donald Ray, was sent to a hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen and his condition was critical.

While Sheriff Jimmy Thompson patiently learned the story of a terrible five minutes from the little girl, his deputies were searching for the father, W. F. Bean, a mechanic.

Bean was last seen as he walked away from the house after the massacre, muttering, "I'm going to kill myself."

House Cotton Committee Officials Confer On Planned Crop Cut-Backs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (UP)—Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D., N. C., of the House Agriculture Committee flew here today to confer with Agriculture Department officials about cotton.

Some growers have protested big planting cut-backs under the 1950 production control program.

The hastily-called conference threatened to delay the department's announcement of state planting allotments. The department already has set the national allotment at 21 million acres, a cut of 20 per cent.

It had planned to announce the official state allotments today.

Congressional sources said that Cooley had requested the conference to discuss alleged inequalities within the states in the prospective cut - backs facing counties and individual farmers.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that one county in Texas faced a possible cut of 94 per cent in its plantings under the department's interpretation of the cotton control law.

Some states will be asked to cut plantings more than the national average of 20 per cent. These include the western states, which have increased production tremendously in recent years. Some other states will be cut less than 20 per cent.

Growers have yet to accept Brannan's proposal for cotton marketing quotas. They will vote December 15 on the issue. Although a two-thirds vote is necessary for approval, officers are confident growers will accept them.

Frail, Aged Woman Is Found Dead In Hut Near The University Of Texas

AUSTIN, Dec. 2 (UP)—A frail, aged woman was found dead yesterday in her rubbish-heaped home a block from the University of Texas campus where she had shut out the world for 20 years.

Police found the elderly recluse, 72-year-old Miss Susan Hancock Stalnaker, in a small cleared space inside the door of her home, surrounded by a floor-to-ceiling collection of boxes, cans, bottles and newspapers.

The unpainted home in which she lived could hardly be seen from the street, blocked off by rotting limbs of trees, scraps of lumber and rubbish.

On one side of the home was a modern, spacious service station and on the other was a restaurant.

She was reportedly wealthy, though only a tedious search of the odd assortment of items stacked high through the house would reveal her secret.

Funeral services were scheduled to be held today.

Miss Stalnaker suffered a hip injury and had been confined to her home, sleeping apparently by choice on the floor in the small cleared space for the last two months.

Food was brought to her by her brother, Guy C. Stalnaker of Austin, who tried unsuccessfully to take her to a physician.

Her brother had expected to gain authority this week in a guardianship action to force her to move and receive medical attention.

The aged woman owned seven houses which she rented, and was a familiar sight on Austin streets.

She also was receiving, her brother said, $100 a month from an estate in New York.

Mrs. Alben Barkley Will Make Her First Official Appearance Tonight

By Barbara Bundschu
NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (UP)—Mrs. Alben Barkley will make her first official appearance tonight as the second lady of the land and she doesn't have a bit of stage fright.

The radiant, blue-eyed woman, who laughingly said she is having made on her first official appearance, already said in an interview that her only lesson in political protocol was her husband's advice. "He says if a lady doesn't know what to do, she should do as he does," Mrs. Barkley said. "That's what he does. And I think he's done just fine."

The lady from St. Louis will make her political debut at the Democratic national committee's $100-a-plate dinner, at which Barkley will be the principal speaker. She'll be meeting the cabinet members and governors and party officials in a black satin and lace dinner dress and a pair of black satin pumps which she, acting naturally, carried unwrapped to a Fifth Avenue shop yesterday, had stretched and carried home in a bag.

The rest of her first New York shopping trip in five years—while her bridegroom napped in their Waldorf suite—was spent buying face cream and remedying the bridal boner.

That, she said, she discovered when she unpacked yesterday morning. All she found in her lingerie tissue papers were nightgowns.

"I didn't neck a single slip! Drawers full of beautiful new ones, and I completely forgot them. The only one I have is the one I have on."

The Barkleys arrived yesterday from Sea Island, Ga., where they have spent the greater part of their honeymoon. Mrs. Barkley, clad in a strapless black net evening gown, attended a performance at the Metropolitan Opera last night while the "Veep" went to a stag dinner given by the thoroughbred racing associations.

When the Vice President joined his wife in her opera box during the second act, persons seated in the four tiers of seats above hung over the railing to get a better look. The audience applauded the couple enthusiastically when they dashed to starring soprano Helen Traubel's dressing room for a chat during intermission.

Tomorrow the smiling bride hopes to shop for holiday party dresses for her two daughters, who will join the couple at their Sea Island, Ga., shangri-la for the Christmas holidays. And she may do some more Christmas shopping.

"I do wish Alben were going to have time to do some shopping with me," she said. "I think he loves window shopping even more than I do. But I don't know where he'll find the time."

Mrs. Barkley laughed and acted "natural" when a friend stepped aside to let her go first through the hotel's revolving door.

"Oh, fudge," said the Vice President's wife, "We're not in Washington now. Go ahead."

And she laughed again when she was asked if she was happy.

"Just take one look at my face!" She looked it.

Sunshine Club Presents Gifts To Mrs. Glenn

Sunshine Sewing Club women gathered at the home of Mrs. Nadine Glenn to hold a regular session and present gifts, the occasion being the hostess' birthday. The afternoon meeting was held yesterday.

Refreshments of open-faced sandwiches, jello, and hot chocolate were served following a business meeting. At that time, the holiday party was scheduled for December 15, at the home of Mrs. Silver Stewart.

Other members bringing gifts were Meses. Velma McCoy, Ethel Adams, Fannie Beavers, Ethel McLeland, Edith Watts, and Leota Todd.

Dallas Bank Teller Gets Suspended Sentence

DALLAS, Dec. 2 (UP)—A teller at the First National Bank for more than 30 years received a 13-month suspended prison sentence and a $250 fine yesterday after pleading guilty to embezzling $2088 "to pay off gambling debts and buy liquor."

Elmer Haden Wright, 51, father of two grown sons, told a federal court he took the money from the bank over a year's period.

He was charged with making improper entries when a bank auditor discovered the shortage while seeking the numbers on some lost travelers' checks.

Growing Air Traffic Congestion Has CAA Exploring "Specialized Airports"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (UP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration, plagued by growing air traffic congestion, is exploring the feasibility of "specialized airports" to relieve the jam.

Officials said a more adequate spacing of aircraft in flight may be needed to minimize the danger of collisions in large metropolitan areas.

CCAA records show that at the nation's busiest airport—Cleveland—an average of one plane takes off or lands every minute. At the 160 other airports where CCAA employs man control towers, the average is one plane every three minutes.

In some fields, giant passenger airlines, commercial freight carriers, military aircraft from heavy bombers to speedy fighters, and thousands of small local and itinerant civil craft are all funneled onto the same runways. Traffic is heaviest in the daylight hours.

A statistical breakdown of landing and takeoff operations under CAA control reveals that 11,300 big air carriers are handled at the nation's 161 principal airports daily. They share the runways with 173,000 air force, 84,545 navy, and 1,018,000 other civilian planes.

The CAA said this "mixed traffic" presents one of its knottiest safety problems.

The CAA has three types of airports in mind to reduce the hazards of congestion:

1. Super fields with 8000 foot runways to accommodate large passenger and cargo planes used by commercial airlines.
2. Medium-sized ports for charter service, plane maintenance, flight testing, sales demonstration and flight training.
3. Small ports to furnish civil flyline facilities to private flyers.

Officials admit such a program would be costly and could be achieved only through close cooperation of federal, state and local agencies.

A program designed to bring civilian airports up to a required 6000 units, they said, might cost more than $800 million.

School Official Is Accused For Hula Program

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 2 (UP)—Portland schools Supt. Paul A. Rehms considered today a protest letter filed by Rev. Louis P. Lehman over a recent grammar school carnival in which the principal and two teachers staged a hula dance.

The Evangel Baptist Church pastor labeled the carnival as a "violation of school responsibility, hardly rating the dignity of being called even cheap vaudeville."

He admitted today he did not see the show but was told about it by his wife and daughter, both of whom re-enacted hula scenes for him.

Lehman criticized Principal G. Miller Nicholson for portraying "himself as a girl-crazy sailor, staggering dizzily into a tree at the sight of a girl in a grass skirt wiggling her hips."

Principal Nicholson stated "I was not a 'drunken' sailor; the idea was to have some fun in a comedy act."

Mrs. J. E. Keyser, who attended the show, said "the hula dance tells a story. If one wants to read naughty meanings into it, that's just in your own mind."

Plastics, ordinarily good insulators, now can be made electrical conductors without affecting their strength and other desired properties, and will find greater service and use in military and industrial applications.

KNOW THE BIBLE

These days are busy ones, but they should not be too busy to take an hour Sunday to study God's Word. We invite all men to visit our discussion class and enjoy the Christian fellowship.

Next Sunday we study the 15th chapter of Exodus. Come prepared to join in the discussion. A real welcome awaits you.

Three families will receive Christmas gifts from the class this year. The committee in charge is composed of Ben Loper, Ben Writer and Claude Dudley.

Plans are being perfected for the annual Christmas Party to be held Friday, Dec. 16 in the Veterans' Building. It will be a turkey supper and program for all the families of the class.

the Taft-Hartley law to halt the strike by injunction had "never been in the picture." Two weeks ago, however, the President said he would not hesitate to use the law if a national emergency developed.

When reporters asked Steelman if Mr. Truman were gratified by the turn of events, Steelman answered that "it was all right."

It's Hard To Believe, But The Lip Appears To Be Quiet A Changed Man

By Oscar Fraley
NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (UP)—The umpires aren't going to believe this, but Leo Durocher is a new man --- a quiet one.

The change in the New York Giant manager was downright flabbergasting as he returned from the West Coast to "try to push through several deals which are cooking with three clubs."

Leo, the erstwhile "Lip," no longer is a bombastic pop-off. Here was a man whose cockiness had fled almost without trace. Was peace in the placid blue eyes and -- almost without precedent --- he weighed his answers carefully.

The old Yankees hung that nickname on Leo when he first came up 24 years ago and it was a fitting one, down through all his hectic baseball years. "The Lip" was all tongue, teeth and volume. He had the answer faster than you could think up the questions.

But now, suddenly, that chip-on-shoulder, fiery-eye attitude is gone. Don't get the idea from a pate which is practically naked and an ear fringe which is white on the edges that the 43-year-old Frenchman is old. He's trim, hard an eager.

Yet there's a difference. A happy marriage to screen actress Laraine Day probably is the answer. They've just finished a new home at Santa Monica, a neat little thing with six bedrooms and four baths, and Leo is prouder of it than he would be if the Giants won the pennant.

Which, he intimated rather carefully, they might.

"We're got to fill several spots, but if we make these deals the club prospectively will have a great chance," he said. "Where we need help is in the infield and a good, solid pitcher."

The "new" Durocher, who has been suspended more often than a window washer, showed a brand new discretion when asked whether he would like to have the Braves' Eddie Stanky and whether he thought the Dodgers' Bruce Edwards was through.

"You will have me tampering," hedged Leo, who heretofore never dodged a direct, and usually inflammatory answer. "But I've always said I liked him. And I certainly don't think Edwards is through."

Durocher, who is high on Bobby Thomson and Whitey Lockman, startled his press conference when he asserted that Lockman was "an astute youngster." Wait'll the umpires hear that one.

Considering each consonant before it was uttered, Leo also asserted that Thompson is the only man in baseball at the moment who "can come close to filling the shoes of Joe DiMaggio," that Brooklyn's Don Newcombe is "great" and the best pitcher in the National League; and "will be given that opportunity."

He also disclosed that Kenny Washington, former UCLA football star who played with Jackie Robinson, would be taken to Phoenix for spring training. An outfielder, Washington has power and speed.

Somebody asked Durocher then what he thought about plans to reinstate the spit ball. Leo, known during his playing days as the "All-America out," thought a full minute and then smiled:

"If I was still playing it would n't effect my hitting. I couldn't hit over .220 if they rolled it up to the plate."

Which shows that anything can happen. Imagine modesty from "Leo the Lip."

Kirkland And Wellington Win First Cage Tilts

Notre Dame's Irish Arrive In Dallas Today

DALLAS, Dec. 2 (UP)—Notre Dame's fighting Irish rolled into Dallas today, all set to polish off another perfect season against a Southern Methodist team that failed to live up to its pre-season billing.

But as time for the game neared, it appeared that an expected duel between two great All-American quarterbacks—SMU's Doak Walker and Notre Dame's Bob Williams—may not materialize.

Walker came out of the game with Baylor two weeks ago with a bad charley horse. He injured his leg against Texas Christian last Saturday, and complications have prevented the injury from healing properly.

Hence, the Southwest's great All-America triple-threat probably will see only limited action in his valedictory as a college player.

Coach Matty Bell had listed Walker in his regular quarterback slot in the SMU starting lineup, but had Fred (Needle) Benner ready to go in to Doak's place.

The anticipated duel between Walker and Williams would have added significance, in view of the fact that Williams nosed out the SMU star as the United Press "Back of the Year." Williams took a three-vote margin to cop the honor that fell Walker's way last year.

Aside from Walker and Williams, however, there will be other All-America players in action for the 75,000 fans in Cotton Bowl Stadium Saturday.

There will be Emil (six yards) Sitko at Fullback. But big Leon Hart, the All-America end, voted "Player of the Year," was destined to be the main attraction.

Childress Boy Making Good At Boys Ranch

Jimmy D. Dawson of Childress, one of the "hands" at Boy's Ranch near Amarillo, has been on his very best behavior, lately, looking forward to Christmas. He is planning to ask Old Nick for a couple of pairs of jeans, maybe a good western shirt, and a lot of candy.

More than 100 boys are living, working, and studying together at Boy's Ranch, a real West Texas cattle ranch with white-face cattle, horses, and other livestock. The boys attend school at the Ranch every day, and Jimmy is coming along fine in his studies.

In addition to regular school work, the boys have certain chores to do around the ranch, such as milking, cleaning details, feeding the stock, or helping in the Rotary mess hall.

This fall a vocational school has been added to the curriculum to teach the boys a trade that will be useful to them when they leave the ranch. At present, they're learning carpentry and automobile mechanics, and if enough boys can be found who don't mind losing a piece of an ear, barbering will be added.

Later on, it is hoped that the school can be expanded to include cooking and baking, shoe repairing, printing, and electrical work. One of the problems during the first semester was getting enough typewriters for the typing class. Almost all the boys wanted to take this class, which shows that they are eager to learn and willing to study.

With the Christmas holidays almost here, all the boys at Boy's Ranch, especially Jimmy Dawson, want to wish everyone a very merry Christmas!

with Kirkland at 8:30 and Thompson's Appliance meets Williams High in the finale at 9:30.

Finals will be held Saturday night in Bobcat Gym.

Rice, Baylor Dominate Southwest Mythical All-Conference Eleven

DALLAS, Dec. 2 (UP)—Champion Rice and runner-up Baylor dominated the 1949 United Press All-Southwest Conference football team, each placing three stars on the mythical team released today.

With these two clubs grabbing off more than half the team, the other five places were divided among three teams—two each for Texas and SMU and one for TCU. Neither Arkansas nor Texas A&M placed a man on the first team.

Five players were the unanimous choices of the United Press sports writers and correspondents who had covered the Southwest Conference schedule this fall: backs Doak Walker of SMU and Lindy Berry of TCU, end James Williams and center Joe Watson of Rice and Lewis McFadin, Texas tackle.

In addition to Williams and Watson, the Cotton Bowl-bound Owls also placed tackle Ralph Murphy on the first team, which lined up like this:

Ends: Williams and J. D. Ison, Baylor; tackles: Murphy and Lewis McFadin of Texas; guards: Danny Wolfe, Texas, and Don Mouser, Baylor; center: Watson; and backs: Walker and Kyle Rote of SMU; Berry, and Adrian Burk, Baylor.

Second Team
Ends, Ben Procter, Texas, Frank Fischel, Arkansas; tackles, Harold Kilman, TCU, John Lunney, Arkansas; guards, Gerald Weatherly, Rice, Charles Stone, Baylor; center, Eugene Huebner, Baylor; backs, Paul Campbell, Texas, Gordon Wyatt, Rice, Robert Smith, Texas A&M and Geno Mazzanti, Arkansas.

Honorable Mention:
Ends—Bailey, Bob and Bill Moorman, TCU; Milan and Blakeley, SMU; S. Williams, Baylor; Stone, Texas; Wolcott, Rice. Tackles—Collier and Vann, SMU; Holditch, Texas A&M; Heironimus and Wright, Baylor; Vyukal and Jackson, Texas; Narrell, TCU. Guards—Riderer and Roberts, Arkansas; Halliday, SMU; Molberg, Texas A&M; Conaway, TCU; Schwarz, and S. J. Roberts, Rice. Centers—Rowan, Texas; Hightower, SMU; Flowers, Texas A&M. Backs—Clay, Borneman and Townsend, Texas; McKissack, SMU; T. Rote, Lantrip and Burkhalter, Rice; L. Campbell, Arkansas; Morton and Wilde, TCU; Johnson, J. Parker, D. Parker and Mangum, Baylor.

CIO Trial Reset For December 19

THE DALLES, Ore., Dec. 2 (UP)—The trial of 24 CIO Longshoremen charged with rioting here September 28 will reconvene December 19 when the court considers defense motions to hold separate trials for each of the accused.

Grants Pass Circuit Judge Orval Millard Thursday gave defense attorney Edwin Hicks until December 12 to file his motions. District Attorney Donald Heisler will have seven days to file a counter motion.

In an earlier session the longshoremen pleaded innocent to charges of rioting over the unloading of so-called "hot" pineapple at the Port of the Dalles.

New York doctors gave blood tests to a 4000-year-old Egyptian mummy. It was found to belong under group B.

Employees' Wages Not Cut To Get Funds For Employment Insurance

A great many workers have the idea that money is deducted from their checks or wages toward the Employment Insurance Program. Not so, says the Texas Employment Commission who administers the jobless benefits program.

The money to pay employment insurance to unemployed workers comes from a direct tax on an employer's payroll coming under the provisions of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act. It is the purpose of this act, and the Legislature has declared it to be the purpose of the state by this enactment, to provide an orderly system of contributions for the care of the justifiably unemployed during time of economic difficulty, thereby preserving and establishing self-respect, reliance and good citizenship to those persons who are unemployed through no fault of their own.

The Old-age and Survivors' Insurance Program—social security—provides for a 1 per cent tax on the worker's salary or wages, which in turn is matched penny for penny by the employer if he comes under the provisions of the program. This is often confused with, but is not employment insurance.

Unemployment benefits are provided to help tide the qualified worker over between a period of unemployment and employment. Although the money he may receive will be below his former wages or salary when he was full-time employed, it will help him until he is able to find another job either through his own efforts or through the local offices of the Texas Employment Commission.

The commission is interested in having all insured workers—usually workers who have worked for employers who employ 8 or more workers—fully informed on now the employment insurance program works, since many appeals are made on claims needlessly. For instance, the commission points out some workers appeal negative claim decision because, "I paid my money in and I want it," they say. As already pointed out, the claimant did not pay the money in, and the decisions are based on his own statement which appears on his first claim filed, together with any statements made by his former employers, and what the law says.

The law also specifies certain provisions which the claimant for employment insurance must meet in order to qualify and receive benefits. Here are some of those provisions: If the claimant left his last employment voluntarily without good cause connected with the employment, then he can be disqualified from receiving either part or all of his employment insurance.

If the claimant is discharged for misconduct connected with his last employment; or if he refuses suitable work during his last employment; or if he refuses suitable filing claims, he can lose part or all of his employment insurance.

"...wherefore they are no more twain but one flesh. What, therefore GOD hath joined together, let no man put asunder."
Matthew 19:6

Homes are wrecked and lives estranged; children are pulled this way and that by divorced parents. What can be done? For the nation, one divorce for each four marriages and in some cities, as many divorces as marriages. Think on these things.

Let's see to it that we respect and honor marriage as the most delicate and perhaps the most important of all human relations. No man or woman ought to laugh or make sport of the family, or of the relation of women and men in the home. Let's have done with the mother-in-law jokes and all other caricatures of this sacred union of hearts and minds.

Let's prepare our young people for successful marriage. Do we give as much attention as did our fathers to the direction of our children toward making good homes? It is about the most important task that falls to mothers and fathers and teachers and preachers, in fact, to all of us. We must get our young people well married. Then tell them the truth about this intimate and familiar human relation. Warn them and counsel them, as did the writer of Proverbs in the Old Testament.

Let's make marriage a sacrament, entered upon in the reverent mood of prayer, and supported by the aids of religion. Surround this union of immortal spirits with every sacred and wholesome influence from the very beginning. Dedicate every new home as a shrine where the children of God shall expect the guidance of their Heavenly Father in their conduct toward each other.

Marriage is not only the mating of bodies; it is the mating of souls. Two souls do not become one in a few hours of courtship or in a few weeks of marriage. Only patience and good will and mutual respect and faithful affection will equip two different persons to live together with growing union of body and soul. Divorce means the failure of the home, the failure of us all in the building of a good society. Less haste and more care in preparation for marriage will make fewer divorces after marriage. Every home requires God's aid and blessing, if it succeeds. "Wherefore they are no more twain but one flesh. What, therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 4.
The Golden Text is: "Unto thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee do we give thanks for that thy name is near thy wondrous works declare" (Psalms 75:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is individual, incorporeal. He is divine Principle, Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existence" (page 331).

New A-Bombs May Be 10 Times More Powerful

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (UP)—Scientists believe the new A-bombs to be tested at Eniwetok may turn out to be 10 times more powerful than the wartime models.

They figure that much improvement is feasible even without any material increase in the amount of atomic explosive used. The bombs that knocked Japan out of the war unleashed violence comparable to 20,000 tons of TNT. The new bombs therefore should be the equivalent of 200,000 tons of TNT.

The official announcement of the forthcoming tests, expected some time next spring, said nothing about the bomb designs which will undergo trial by explosion.

But physicists familiar with the nuclear principles involved in atomic bombs say the wartime weapons were extremely inefficient. Only a small fraction of their explosive contents actually went off. The test was wasted.

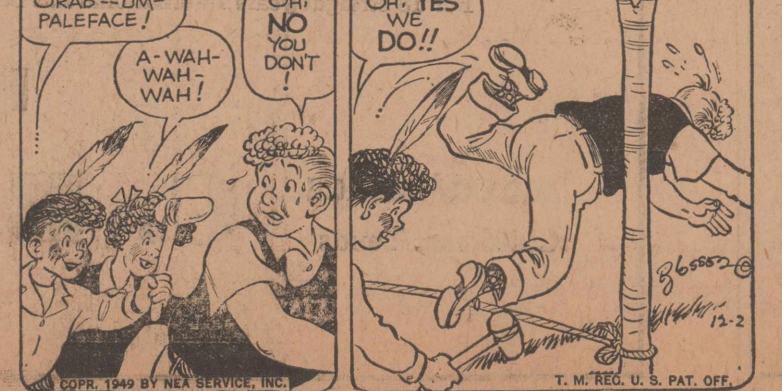

The wartime designs were greatly improved in the years since Japan surrendered, and bombs "substantially" more powerful than the old models were tested at Eniwetok in 1948. Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, D. Colo., a member of the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee, has said they were six times more potent than the "Model T's" of 1945.

JUST THINKING

BY FRANK HATT

The 14th Treasure Hunt last night was a great success and we arrived at this conclusion not only because there was such a large crowd but also because everyone seemed to enjoy it so much.

As in past years, the ticket lines extended to the corners and half way down the block and the sidewalks were crowded in spite of the chilly weather.

Many happy youngsters, some more scared than delighted, met Santa and told him what they wanted for Christmas. Everywhere Santa went he was surrounded by dozens of youngsters and mothers and dads carrying little ones. It was a memorable night for the little ones.

Parking space except blocks from downtown district was impossible to find. At the Fort Worth and Denver parking lot the cars were jammed in fender to fender. A huge crowd met Santa at the Zephyr and a fire truck brought him through town with siren going.

The most popular window was at West Texas Utilities where a bed was in the window with two young ladies sleeping peacefully beneath a new G-E electric blanket. A display of blankets occupied one part of the window. Very fortunate was Jimmie Legate whose number won an electric G-E blanket.

Christmas carols were played in front of The Index, at the Palace Theater and Prather-Williams Drug.

Loud speakers were going full blast at the Lions Carnival on Avenue B and business was good.

there with plenty of customers at the hamburger stands, cake walk and other concessions. They realized a nice profit for their trouble.

The store windows were exceptionally attractive and original. I would hate to single out any for fear of doing an injustice to some. But five or six in particular were outstanding.

I want personally to thank Chief of Police Dick Williams and the officers who directed traffic. By closing the 200 block Main Street much danger to children was averted. Constable Rowden Jeffries assisted greatly, too.

And to Fire Chief John Ballew for the use of the fire truck and firemen we extend our appreciation. Also to the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad who cooperated by getting Santa here right on time.

To the Chamber of Commerce for arranging the Christmas street lights, Jake Gallagher for the use of his trailer, Bill McGann for barriers used in controlling ticket lines, White's Auto Store for their electricity, Roe Hughes for his record player and records, the city for use of five parking spaces, Santa Claus for his time and effort, and all the merchants who sponsored the event we say thanks a lot.

And, believe me, other West Texas towns are talking about how Childress does things in a big way!

Spending Said To Help Some In Unemployment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (UP)—Heavy government spending has relieved unemployment in some areas, but something extra must be done to relieve a "chronic condition" in others, President Truman has been informed today.

Mr. Truman received the report from his assistant, John R. Steelman. The presidential aide said $72,842,508 in federal money was funneled into 35 critical unemployment areas, in 14 states, during July, August and September.

"Experience indicates that while this program has benefitted many of the areas where unemployment is high, it does not provide the answer for others," Steelman said in his report to the President.

"Certain of the affected areas are suffering from a chronic condition unrelated, or related only in a minor way, to the economic decline recently experienced."

"For them, some additional approach is indicated."

Federal aid to the 35 labor areas in the three months comprised $22,787,550 in purchase contracts, $47,960,085 in construction and public works contracts, and $2,094,900 in loans to business and to rural electrification projects.

"Prince" Wants Soviet Guard, Royal Privileges

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 2 (UP)—A 26-year-old German who claims to be a Hohenzollern "prince" offered today to return to the United States for trial on robbery charges if he were permitted "an escort of Soviet officers" and guaranteed "royal privileges."

"Prince" Otto Wilhelm Hohenzollern said he would be willing to be tried by the U. S. Supreme Court to prove that he was innocent of charges that he robbed the home of former Undersecretary Sumner Welles in Washington of $4000 worth of paintings. The prince said attempts to "expose" him as a thief were part of a political plot to be the center of a growing monarchial movement in Germany which is bolstered by Russia's "sincere desire to unify the country."

The suave young "pretender" said he had proof to clear himself of "all these lies that I am an imposter and about my marriage" to a New Orleans society woman 10 years his senior.

While the couple still were on their honeymoon, New Orleans newspapers "exposed" him as Rico David Tancous, an ex-actor under indictment for the Welles robbery.

Yesterday a Bamberg, Germany, umbrella manufacturer identified the "prince" from photographs as his son, Curt Koziel, reported killed during the war.

Hohenzollern denied both reports. He also said there was no truth in the report that he had tried to sell his wife's jewelry.

Soldier Doesn't Take Any Chance, He Hits The Silk

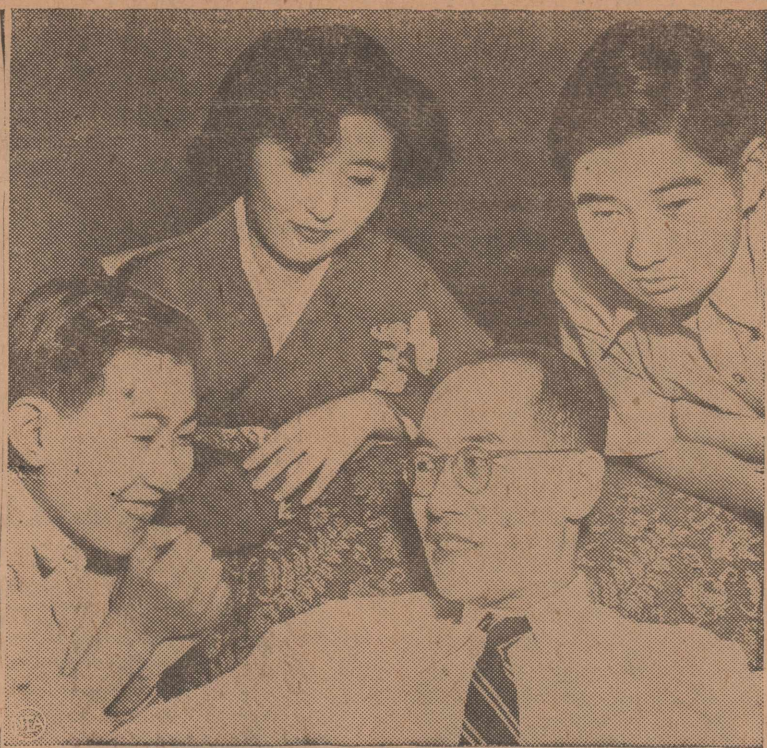

FORT WORTH, Dec. 2 (UP)—Staff Sgt. Lowell A. Reif, a gunner on a B-36 super bomber, came in for some practice at parachute jumping yesterday.

Flying at 3700 feet, Reif, of Bay City, Mich., looked through a port of the big plane and saw that the No. 3 engine was on fire.

Engines No. 4 and 5 already were feathered, and Reif didn't wait around to ask questions.

He called a warning to his mates, gave through an escape hatch and pulled the cord on his chute.

Reif landed safely. But so did the plane. Lt. Clifford Shoemaker, the pilot, used an emergency fire extinguisher to put out the blaze, then started No. 4 engine again.

PHYSICIST AND FAMILY: Dr. Hideki Yukawa, who won the Nobel Prize in physics, calls himself a "very impractical man." Here is his practical family—his wife and two sons, Taka-aki (left), 15, and Harumi, 16.

Nobel Prize Is Easy Compared To Carpentry

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Dr. Hideki Yukawa took a despairing look at the unpainted knock-down bookshelf that had been delivered to his apartment.

The assorted pieces of wood, nails and screws spread out on the living room floor were too much for the 42-year-old Japanese-born physicist.

At 28, Dr. Yukawa had been able to figure out a revolutionary theory on the existence of the meson in the atom. But now he had to summon help from his sons, Taka-aki, 15, and Harumi, 16.

"Boys," he said, "here is a job for you. Everything in this bookcase is separate. It must all be put together and you know that your father is a very impractical man."

The impractical Dr. Yukawa is now on the faculty of Columbia University here. He was the first Oriental to win a Nobel Prize, taking this year's award in physics for his meson theory. He and his wife have been in the United States a year, the boys four months.

Although still retaining their fondness for most of their native

Japanese food, they have begun to learn to like some American dishes. But American dancing is still alien to them, especially to Mrs. Yukawa, who is an accomplished dancer in the classical Japanese tradition.

"The steps, the movements of Japanese dances are exactly opposite those in American dances," she explained. "Japanese dancing is much more difficult to learn."

The boys, although proficient in mathematics—as is, of course their father—are having slight difficulties mastering English and social studies in school. They have so much homework they don't have much time for what they would prefer to do—play baseball. Harumi specializes in the short-stopping science, but Tak-aki is versatile.

"Anywhere, I play—pitcher, infield, outfield," he says.

With their father a distinguished mathematician-physicist, the boys are a jump ahead of their classmates when it comes to homework help. Dr. Yukawa admits that he is "sometimes" pressed into service in the connection.

The Nobel Prize winner confesses to a deep respect for his sons—for their ability at putting together that bookshelf. But he has one complaint.

"They are polite to everybody—but me," he says. "They argue with me. For some reason, they don't think of me as a distinguished physicist. To them, I am just their father."

WITH THE CLASSES

The first grade has two new pupils, Don Boydston and Johnny Jones from Oklahoma.

We have four pupils absent today.

We are looking forward to Christmas and Old Santa. We hope to get our room decorated soon. 2nd and 3rd grade

In the third grade there are three new pupils. They are Buford Croney and Gary Osborne from Oklahoma schools and Doris Easin from Oregon school.

The second grade has a new pupil also; he is Buford Croney from Oklahoma. The second grade planted some bulbs and we are watching them grow.

4th and 5th grade

The fourth and fifth grade would like to express their appreciation for the excellent Thanksgiving lunch which was served to the children last Wednesday.

We are glad to have Tommy Jones join our fifth grade group. Our attendance for Monday was almost perfect and so we are hoping that ball pulling days have ended for our classmates.

Marce Reyes program was of special interest to the fourth grade because his talk was on what they had been studying in reading.

6th grade
The sixth grade has four new pupils this week. They are: Dokores Foulk, Jannette Osbourne, Phyllis Jiniunsm, and Tommy Jones.

7th grade
The seventh grade are learning about verbs and their helpers in English.

We are going to have six weeks test this week.

8th grade
The 8th grade has been reviewing all week for their six weeks tests. They find that math and English are the worst of all.

Every afternoon they play basketball in the gym.

9th grade
The 9th grade students are getting prepared for their six weeks tests. They are studying "Light" in science. They find it is very interesting.

They are hoping to make good grades on their tests, and will be glad when they are over.

CAREY CHARACTERS

DONNA—JOHNSON

Donna Routh Johnson is not only a very attractive Junior girl but has a pleasant disposition, and is liked by everyone. Donna works very well in all her classes especially American history and typing.

The girls' basketball team regrets that because of Donna's ill health she can not play with them. Donna is interested in all athletics and she has a well-rounded personality, enjoying all classes and extra-curricula activities.

BOBBY HILL

Who is the boy with the ever-present smile? Yes, it is Bobby Hill, who never lets displeasure of any kind mar his pleasant disposition. He has a reputation among students and teachers for being a good-humored, congenial boy.

Bobby works hard in basketball being on the A team and showing an interest in all types of athletics. He will even make a great effort to pass his academic subjects in order to be on the team! He says his present ambition is to be an athletic coach. Bobby is a boy whom everyone enjoys being with and whom we miss when he is away.

Heavy-Duty Engineered

INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS

America's most complete truck line. 87 basic models, thousands of specialized variations—each heavy-duty engineered.

Every International Truck in the line is all new. And every new International Truck from 4,200 to 90,000 pounds GVW is HEAVY-DUTY ENGINEERED!

That means the new International Trucks give you lower operating and maintenance costs. It means they'll last longer. Look at the record.

For 18 straight years International has been first in the sale of heavy-duty trucks (16,001 pounds and over, GVW). Cost-conscious men who buy these trucks buy on a basis of performance proved by cost records.

The same management, the same engineers, the same production men, the same test experts who have kept International Trucks the outstanding value in the heavy-duty truck field, have developed every single new model in the new International Truck line.

Come in—find out what heavy-duty engineering means in terms of operating economy. See how heavy-duty engineered truck stamina is combined with new comfort and ease of handling. Go over the outstanding new features—each one proved under actual operating conditions in years of tests from coast to coast.
