The SDN Column

There were many visitors in town for the Billionth Barrel of Oil Celebration. So, it was no surprise when Hondo Crouch, a big portion of the population of the City of Luckenback, turned up Thursday evening at about the time Gov. Dolph Briscoe was scheduled to arrive.

He was milling around with the crowd, plugging a special event they have scheduled down there in the Hill Country next Saturday. Luckenback is hosting the "Hell Hath No Fury" chili cooking contest. As the title indicates, this is a chili cook-off for women contestants. It is one of a series of events leading up to the national, or World Series for chili cooks, which is held each year at Terlingua, the latter now called the "Wick Fowler Memorial."

Hondo says the Hell Hath No Fury event this year is being called the "Lydia E. Pinkham Memorial." And he and the other citizens of Luckenback expect widespread competition.

It was mentioned in Hondo's presence that one Paul Crume who writes a column for the Dallas Morning News, came out with a piece the other day about rattlesnakes. Crume claimed he had an uncle who was chased home from the field one day by a rattler near Lariat.

Hondo didn't dispute this, but the look on his face indicated that he knew much more about rattlesankes than Paul Crume, and he promptly recalled a rattlesnake story.

"I was on this airplane with all of these people going to the Smithsonian Institution for a folk life festival," Crouch began. "I had this string of link sausages done up in a package and I had attached a set of rattles from a rattlesnake to the end sausage. I could tell it made some of them a little nervous when I got on the plane with it."

Once the plane was in the air, Hondo began crawling down the aisle of the plane on his hands and knees. Just as he suspected all along, a young lady asked if he had lost something.

"Yes ma'am," replied Hondo. "My rattlesnake got loose and I can't find him anywhere."

The subsequent scene, of course, was pandemonium.

"So many passengers rushed to the back of the plane that the nose shot up and we gained 2,000 feet of altitude in nothing flat," Hondo marveled.

This brought the captain back to the passenger section. He promptly ordered all to their seats. One big bruiser, fearing the snake was still loose, took exception to the order and seized the pilot by the collar and threatened to pitch him overboard.

"But one of the other passengers told the big fellow he thought that man was driving and he let him go," Hondo continued.

Back in the cockpit, the pilot radioed ahead that he was bringing in a plane with a rattlesnake at large somewhere in the passenger section.

"They were ready for us at the airport," Hondo said. "They had a crew of snake killers waiting."

How did Hondo explain the situation to them?

"Didn't have to," he revealed. "I eased off the plane and was over to one side getting my picture taken with a bunch of yellow roses from Texas when all of a sudden they began stomping some little old lady's knitting bag."

He still didn't say it in so many words, but his inflection indicated that the people around the Washington airport didn't know any more about rattlesnakes than Paul Crume.—WACIL McNAIR

Jordan Enters War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jordan announced today it has joined Egypt, Syria and Iraq in the war against Israel.

The announcement by a military spokesman in Amman opened a new potential 250-mile front against the Jewish state already battling Syrians and Iraqis in the Golan Heights area and Egyptians in the Sinai peninsula.

"We have committed part of our elite forces to play their part with the Syrian army on the Syrian front," the Jordanian Information Ministry quoted the military spokesman as saying.

He did not say how much of King Hussein's 75,000-man army would be dispatched into the eight-day-old battle. The Jordanian force is backed by only 33 combat planes but contains many tough Bedouin desert troops and is considered one of the best trained in the Middle East.

Amman's announcement came as Israeli tanks backed by heavy air power battled up the road to Damascus and as dogfights raged over the Golan battleground. Tel Aviv claimed Iraqi ground forces bolstering the Syrians had almost been eliminated.

Neither Syria nor Iraq responded to the Tel Aviv claim. But Syrian communiques issued in Damascus said antiaircraft batteries and Syrian jets shot down 18 more Israeli warplanes during a morning of heavy aerial combat.

Banquet Closes Oil Celebration

The biggest banquet ever held in Snyder was a fitting climax Saturday night for a week-long celebration commemorating the 25th anniversary of the discovery of the Canyon Reef Oilfield and production of its billionth barrel of oil.

The big celebration featured a series of daily events and brought Gov. Dolph Briscoe to town on Thursday.

The banquet, which had been "sold out" two weeks before it occurred, attracted 1,500 persons, scores of others who took advantage of special tickets for bleacher seats in the coliseum to see the banquet program.

Headliner for the banquet was Ken Curtis, who plays Festus on the Gunsmoke television series. Oil Industry personalities were honored at the event, which had Murphy Martin of Channel 8 Television, Dallas, as master of ceremonies.

The week's celebration featured daily highlights, beginning on Monday when the billionth barrel of Canyon Reef oil was withdrawn from a well north of Snyder. This event was followed Monday evening with the opening of "The Boom Town Follies" in the Snyder High School auditorium. The melodrama proved so popular that it was presented a third time on Friday evening after drawing huge crowds for its regularly-scheduled performances on Monday and Tuesday.

Public tours of oil facilities shared the Tuesday spotlight with the second performance of the Follies.

The highlight on Wednesday was the Billionth Barrel parade, which featured oil industry equipment, bands, decorated floats and the Suez Shrine's motor patrol. The Western Texas College Rodeo Club's float won first place in the judging, while the Snyder Jaycees' float was second and the Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary's float was third.

Gov. and Mrs. Briscoe were in the spotlight Thursday during a two-hour visit. The governor cut the ribbon opening the billionth barrel oil show in the Scurry County Coliseum and addressing a crowd that gathered for the opening ceremony and a barbecue on the coliseum grounds.

Participating in all major events of the week's celebration was Paula Bell, who was named "Miss Energy" from a field of 23 contestants in a pageant which predeced the celebration

Quick Approval Of Ford Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — House colleagues of Vice President-designate Gerald B. Ford gave him a standing ovation today, foreshadowing easy confirmation of his nomination.

Republicans and Democrats stood and applauded for a minute after a clerk read President Nixon's brief message nominating the Michigan Republican under the terms of the 25th Amendment — the first time it has been used.

The House remained in session only eight minutes — long enough to receive the message and to hear Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., urge the House Judiciary Committee, which will consider the nomination, to study the possibility of revising the amendment to eliminate what Gonzalez said was the possibility of abuse. Gonzalez expressed no opposition to Ford.

In the Senate, a presidential messenger sat in the secretary's office, waiting to deliver the nomination, while the Senate recessed for a Democratic caucus on procedures for considering the nomination.

The caucus broke up about noon with agreement that the nine-member Senate Rules Committee would handle the nomination. Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said it will take the panel about two weeks to begin the hearings.

Ford told a news conference that he knows of nothing in his past that could prove embarrassing to him.

He also repeated "emphatically and as strongly as I can that I have no intentions to run for either president or vice president in 1976."

President Nixon, with Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flanking him at the presidential desk in the Oval office, told newsmen Ford will immediately begin receiving daily intelligence briefings and will participate in all meetings of the Cabinet and National Security Council even before Congress acts on his nomination.

Both the House and Senate were poised to vote the swift confirmation the President sought in the name of national unity.

Nixon announced his choice Friday night in a nationally televised ceremony, with only oblique mention of the corruption scandal that forced Spiro T. Agnew's resignation Wednesday from the nation's second highest office.

Within hours, it was clear Ford was breezing toward easy confirmation, perhaps within a week or two, barring adverse disclosures during congressional hearings.

An Associated Press survey found Ford with 52 votes, one more than needed for confirmation. None of the senators initially contacted were opposed, but nine said they were reserving judgment pending the hearings.

Ford Claims Clean Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford said today he knows of nothing in his past that could prove embarrassing to him, including a diversion of $11,500 in 1970 campaign contributions.

Ford also repeated to newsmen that "I say as emphatically and as strongly as I can that I have no intentions to run for either president or vice president in 1976."

Ford said at a news conference that questions raised about the 1970 campaign contribution are the only thing he knows about that will be gone into fully at his confirmation hearings in Congress "and it should be gone into fully."

Ford told newsmen his official report of the contributions was absolutely correct because he turned the $11,500 over to the congressional committee for the use of other Republicans' campaigns, not his own.

"They weren't reported (to the House clerk) because I didn't spend them in my campaign," Ford said. "In order to get that money to other candidates I turned it over to the congressional campaign committee."

Ford said he had no ambitions to run for president or vice president before he learned at 7:30 p.m. Friday night that he was President Nixon's nominee to replace Spiro T. Agnew as vice president and said he has no such ambitions now.

Ford said neither the President nor anyone on Nixon's staff had asked him whether there was anything in his past that would be embarrassing if publicly disclosed.

Ford said the closest the President came to that was to smile and ask, "How's your health?"

He said he owns $9,000 in stocks and bonds. He said those bonds were for his late father's paint company which has now merged with a Detroit paint firm.

CRMWD, To Adopt Budget

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will adopt a budget at their meeting in Big Spring Oct. 18.

Other miscellaneous matters may come up, but the prime purpose of the meeting is to fix the operating budget for 1974, said P.C. Harbour, Odessa, president. This will be submitted to the trustee, and if bondholders raise no objection within 30 days, the budget stands adopted. Rates to support the budget are, under terms of the indenture, fixed in January.

The current operating budget is for $4,733,216. Of this, $1,422,786 is for operating the system, the remainder for debt service and the required reserves and indentured fund balances.

Threatens To Break US Ties

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia has threatened to break diplomatic relations with the United States and halt oil shipments to America if the United States provides new arms to Israel, the daily newspaper Al Anwar reported today.

Quoting diplomatic sources in Beirut, the daily said Faisal snubbed the new U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia and also had threatened to sever economic ties between the two countries.

President Expected To Appeal Ruling On Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon appears certain to appeal to the Supreme Court a federal appeals court ruling demanding surrender of White House tapes for judicial examination.

In a 5 to 2 decision Friday, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia upheld U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica's decision ordering the tapes turned over to him.

The appeals court gave the President until next Friday to ask the Supreme Court to review its decision.

The President "is not above the law's commands," the court said in rejecting Nixon's contention that the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers prohibits one branch of government from forcing another branch to obey its commands.

There was no immediate comment from the White House, where attention was focused Friday night on the presidential nomination of Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., for vice president.

Special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, who had subpoeaned tapes of nine presidential conversations about Watergate, has argued that the tapes are essential to the grand jury's attempt to determine the extent of the conspiracy to obstruct the probe of the June 17, 1972 break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters.

Charles Alan Wright, lawyer for the President, had argued that the doctrine of executive privilege and the Constitution gave Nixon sole authority to decide if presidential documents could be turned over either to the courts or to Congress.

In asking the appeals court to reverse Sirica's decision, Wright had argued that ordering release of the tapes would breach the traditional confidentiality of presidential discussions with his aides, and "from that moment on it would be simply impossible for any president of the United States to function."

Cox had contended that not even the President was above the law and that the tapes were unique in that they were evidence in a grand jury investigation of possible criminal activity.

She called him 'Bob'—husband Joe got upset

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 25-year-old mother of five boys ranging from 7 years old, down to 20 months. I am happily married, or at least I WAS until this unexplainable thing happened.

About three months ago, my husband and I were talking, and I said: "That's what you think, Bob." [His name is Joe.]

He asked me who "Bob" was, and I honestly couldn't give him an answer. I don't know any Bob, and I don't recall one who meant a thing to me.

I swear to you, Abby, I don't know what made me call my husband "Bob."

He keeps bringing it up. I'm sure he thinks there must be a "Bob" in my life. There isn't. How can I convince him? And can you give me one good reason why I called Joe "Bob?" INNOCENT

DEAR INNOCENT: Bob is a very common name, and there are lots of Bobs bobbing around on TV and radio and in the newspaper. Don't let it bother you. With five boys under seven, you could have unconsciously been thinking of bibs, boobs, or babes.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a clergyman. He does the least amount of work he can. Some days he stays in bed until 1:00 p.m. When people call for him I have to lie and say he's "out." His laziness irritates me.

I work hard for the church, teaching Sunday school, working with the auxiliary, and helping with study groups.

We've been married for over 30 years, and our children are gone. They seldom come home because their father is so hard to get along with. He never converses; he lectures. He monopolizes every conversation, contradicts everyone, and tells me not to express any opinions in public because I'm stupid.

I can't ask anyone for help with my problem because it would ruin my husband's image. Besides I wouldn't want anyone to know what kind of person he is.

I've secretly considered leaving him, but a divorced minister would have a hard time getting another church, and he couldn't stay here for the shame of it. [I could go to my daughter's. She knows what I'm putting up with.] Please help me. NO IDENTIFICATION, PLEASE

DEAR NO: Clergymen have the same problems as other men. [So do their wives.] Don't let the illusion of his "image" discourage you. He needs counseling, and so do you. Your county welfare or Family Service can offer you excellent confidential professional help. I suggest you get it.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me. My mother, who is in her middle sixties, has been ailing for five years, but she absolutely refuses to go to a doctor. She has not had a checkup in 20 years. Just the mention of it infuriates her.

Altho the rest of her is normal, her abdomen has become greatly enlarged, leading us to fear she could have a tumor. She eats very little, but lately she drinks a lot. I suspect she does this because of the pain-killing properties in alcohol.

I have nightmares about her having cancer, but she says a woman her age doesn't have to worry about that.

STUMPED IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

DEAR STUMPED: She is wrong. A woman "her age" is not immune to cancer. Your mother is probably avoiding the doctor because she's afraid of bad news. Stress your love and concern for her without communicating your fears. [P.S. If any doctors out there know of a better solution, I'll be glad to print it. And you may remain anonymous.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: Don't find yourself ineligible to vote because you "forgot" to register. Call the headquarters of your choice [political, that is] and, if you don't know, ask where you should register. "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing." [Edmund Burke: 17th Century]

Agnew Calls Gerald Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice presidential nominee Gerald R. Ford received a congratulatory phone call Friday night from former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, he disclosed Saturday.

He said that when he got home at about 11:30 p.m., he received word of a call from Agnew, who resigned Wednesday and pleaded no contest to income tax evasion.

"I returned the call and talked to him," Ford said "He was very complimentary and I thanked him."

Asked if Agnew gave him any advice, Ford said no.

HEALTH TIP from DEAN

Oily nose drops should be avoided. If the oil is inhaled into the lungs while sniffing, it can form a "pocket" in the lung tissue. There is no way for the lung to rid itself of the oily coating and so degeneration of the area sets in — surgery may finally be the only remedy. Aqueous (water soluble) nose drops avoid this risk and are preferred.

Snyderite In Glee Club At A&M Again

COLLEGE STATION — William L. Branson of Snyder, has rejoined the Singing Cadets of Texas A&M University for the 1973-74 school year.

The select, 63-voice all-male glee club presents the Texas Aggies vocally in performances throughout the Southwest, at campus conferences and short courses.

The Robert L. Boone-directed group also is a traditional part of the famed Aggie Muster and other special campus events.

A special tour next spring will take the Maroon-blazered Singing Cadets overseas, for performances in Iron Curtain countries.

Regular performers on regional and national television, the Singing Cadets have also participated in a White House religious service on invitation by President Nixon. A number of stereo LP recordings capture the professional sound of the Texas A&M organization.

A junior in accounting, Branson is in his fifth semester with the Singing Cadets. The son of Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Branson, 4003 Irving, he is tour manager of the organization this year. The 1971 Snyder High School graduate sings first tenor. At TAMU Branson is head resident of his dorm and in the freshman honors program.

New Firm Is Opened Here By Wilson

The Farm and Ranch Supply Company, 312 East Highway, opened for business last Wednesday.

David Wilson, a native of Scurry County, is the owner and operator. He is a 1968 graduate of Snyder High School. He played center on the Tiger football team. Wilson also graduated from Texas Tech in May of 1973. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson.

David and his wife, Karen, are parents of two children. Jana 3, and Doug, two weeks. The family resides at 3106 Thirty-seventh Place and attends services at Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Wilson has two employees, brother, Johnny Wilson, and Eugene Mauldin. Wilson said his firm will handle Purina feeds and health products. Later, they plan to carry a full line of seed, fertilizer and lawn and garden supplies.

Wilson made the decision to become a Purina dealer after meeting with Purina District sales manager Pat Thomas of Abilene.

"We are confident the Purina products, programs and services will help us provide this community with the type of individual attention each customer needs," Wilson said.

Cotton Crop Set At 4.75 Million Bales

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' cotton crop this year is forecast at 4.75 million bales with an estimated per-acre yield of 415 pounds, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

The nation's cotton crop this year is estimated at 13.1 million bales, up 1 per cent from last month's forecast but 4 per cent less than 1972 production, the department said.

The estimate, based on Oct. 1 indications, compared with 13.7 million bales produced last year.

The indicated yield per acre of upland cotton and in production in net weight bales of 480 pounds each included:

Gerald Who? Common Question

"Gerald who?" was the question of some as President Richard Nixon announced Friday night that he was nominating House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford to succeed Spiro T. Agnew as vice president.

Ford, 60, a Michigan resident who has served in Congress for 25 years, was unfamiliar to many. Mrs. Tina Moore, 49, the manager of Jocko's Pizza in Atlanta, Ga., commented, "To tell you the truth, I don't recognize the name. I wish it were Nixon who was being replaced. I think we should have another election."

Al Ruben, a cab driver in Manhattan, said: "I never heard of 'im. What's he done?"

Robert Glenn, a Boise, Idaho, resident who described himself as a Republican, "almost a Bircher," said Ford was "as good as any of them. He's kept his nose clean and his mouth shut."

For some people, the name was vaguely familiar, but that was about all.

"Sen. Ford?" asked a cashier at a Philadelphia restaurant. "Sure I know him. He's one of the Ford family," she said joking. "I'll be honest though, we've never heard of him."

But in Ford's hometown of Grand Rapids, Mich., most residents were happy and surprised at the news.

"Beautiful. It's not going to hurt us any here in Grand Rapids," said Bob Finch, a self-employed businessman.

Grand Rapids, a city of more than 200,000, is the largest metropolitan area in Ford's solidly Republican district covering Kent and Ionia counties in western Lower Michigan.

In 13 congressional races, Ford has never failed to collect at least 62 per cent of the vote. About 95 per cent of the district is white.

"I don't really know, but I think he would be better than Agnew," said Eloyce Chandler, an assembler at Grand Rapids Metalcraft. She said she particularly liked Ford's work in obtaining a federally funded housing project.

State Republican leaders, whom Nixon had sought to involve in the selection process, applauded the nomination of Ford.

"Ford will assume a heavy responsibility for helping the administration repair its damage and regain public confidence," commented Richard Rosenbaum, New York state GOP chairman.

Jack Ransom, Kansas state chairman, joined his counterparts in other states in predicting quick congressional approval of the nomination and said:

"I think it's indicative of the President's desire to heal some of the wounds caused by the differences between the two political parties. I think it's an outstanding choice."

Dr. Ben Clayburgh, national committeeman from North Dakota, said he was confident Ford would pass a rigorous examination by Congress.

Volunteers Are Sought By RSVP

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program is looking for volunteers to assist with entertainment and miscellaneous services for residents of nursing homes here, Mrs. Betsy Duncan, RSVP director, said.

"Birthday parties are planned at each of Snyder's nursing homes once a month," Mrs. Duncan said. "We would like to find volunteers who would go to these parties to help with the parties. People who would take pictures or plan entertainment would be most welcome."

Volunteers would be welcome any days from 2-4 p.m. to play table games, write letters, piece quilt tops, and perform various other personal services, Mrs. Duncan added. There is also a special need for men or women who could play the piano for the enjoyment of the residents.

Mrs. Duncan's office is in the administration building at Western Texas College and she may be contacted there by telephone. She has on file a number of volunteer jobs open to persons past 60 who would like to give their time and skills to community projects and welcomes inquiries from interested persons at any time. People who are presently doing volunteer work with other organizations are welcome to inquire about RSVP work, she said, since the volunteer may give as much time as he or she wishes and no requirements are made concerning a definite amount of time to be given.

Two More From SHS Rank High

Announcement has come from the College Entrance Examination Board and the National Merit Scholarship Corp. that two Snyder High School students have been selected as Commended Merit Students in the National Merit Scholarship competition. Commended Students have scored just below the Semifinalists who must fulfill certain standard requirements to advance to Finalist status.

Raleen Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Barber Martin, 2206 Thirty-second, was recently announced a Semifinalist. To be selected for either rating is one of the most widely recognized and prestigious academic honors a high school student has the opportunity to earn.

Charles Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Lee, 2300 Ave J, and Waynann Monroney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Monroney, 3612 Ave B., have received notification of their selection as Commended Students based upon their performance on the Oct., 1972, Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Their scores were 98 per cent, meaning that they rated in the highest 2 per cent of students all over the nation taking the tests.

Charles is a senior and is a member of the National Honor Society and the French Club. He was the recipient of the coveted T Award in science in the ninth grade at Travis Junior High and was a member of the science team in the UIL events this spring.

Waynann is a member of the Student Council, the National Honor Society, Future Teachers Club and was one of the Top Ten students in both sophomore and junior years. She is a member of the mixed choir and The Swingers and was voted Outstanding Junior Girl Choir Member this spring. She has taken Top Talent awards in piano both in UIL and the National Association of Piano Teachers competition the past three years. She has been a junior varsity cheer-leader and the Tiger mascot. In district UIL Ready Writing this spring she took second place and placed third in Regional. Presently she is vice president of the senior class and president of the French Club.

Theft Reported

Thieves took $313 from a floor safe and $15 from a soft drink vending machine and a cigarette machine at Kent Oil Co. on the East Highway either Thursday night or early Friday, according to city police. Officers said a .22 caliber pistol also was taken.

MRS. CHARLES L. CARROLL

Couple United In Candlelight Service

Miss Dee Ann Book and Charles L. Carroll were united in marriage September 29 in a candlelight service at the Trinity Methodist Church. Rev. James Terry, minister, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John B. Book of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Carroll of Memphis, Texas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of white organza with Peau d'Ange chantilly lace and seed pearls overlay fashioned with wedding band neckline and Bishop sleeves. The skirt extended to a chapel length train. Completing her attire was a headpiece of lace and seed pearls with a chapel length veil. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of miniature white and pink carnations with ivy.

The bride's sister, Jo Lynn, served as maid of honor in the ceremony. Bridematrons were Mrs. Eddie Peters and Mrs. Tommy Davis, both of Snyder. Each attendant was similarly attired in deep pink empire gowns accented with white ribbon lace. Each carried a nosegay of pink carnations and purple statice.

Donnie Carroll of Dallas, the groom's brother, was best man. Ushering guests were Bobby Carroll, brother of the groom, and Terry Book, brother of the bride. Bobby Carroll and Wayne Ward, both of Memphis, served as groomsmen. Candlelighter for the evening affair was Terry Book of Wichita Falls.

The musical program was presented by Miss Walker.

A reception for the couple was held in the fellowship hall of the church. House party members were Charlotte and Glenda Carroll, sisters of the groom, Rita Ruff of Lubbock and Mrs. Paul Carrol, sister in law of the groom.

The couple plans to reside in Belleville, Illinois.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and Commercial College of Lubbock. She is employed by U-Joints, Inc. The groom is a graduate of Memphis High School and a member of the U.S. Air Force.

Out of town guests were from Abilene, Lubbock, Memphis and Dallas.

Pastor Discovers Church Truths

FEED WHOSE SHEEP? By Paul D. Lowder. Word Brooks, Waco, Tex. 127 pages. $3.95.

Paul D. Lowder always wanted to be a minister. Not until he became one, however, did he discover what he calls the sins of the church—lack of loving relationships, thinly veiled hostility toward the pastor, emphasis on numbers and buildings, preoccupation with money.

He says in this new book that he finally came upon this truth.

"It's as important to know the church is not all evil as that it's not all good."

The theme of the work is how to help create an atmosphere in your church so that it can more easily face challenge and change.

The author is pastor of Maple Springs United Methodist Church in Winston-Salem, N.C.—The AP (REF).

CAPONATA

A famous Italian appetizer.

½ cup olive oil
2 eggplants (each about 1 pound, 6 ounces), unpeeled, and cut into ½-inch cubes
1 large onion, cut into thin strips
2 large green peppers, seeded and cut into thin strips
2 ribs celery, thinly sliced
1 can (1 pound) plum tomatoes, drained
1 large clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
Pepper to taste
1 cup small pimiento-stuffed green olives, halved
3 tablespoons capers
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar

In a 12-inch skillet, heat ¼ cup of the oil; add eggplant; cook gently, stirring a few times, until cubes cook through but still retain their shape — about 10 minutes; remove with a slotted spoon. To skillet add remaining ¼ cup oil and heat; add onion, green pepper and celery; cook gently, stirring often, until wilted — about 10 minutes; add tomatoes, garlic, sugar, salt and pepper; cook gently 15 minutes longer. Stir in eggplant, olives, capers and vinegar. Cover and refrigerate overnight to allow flavors to blend. Serve as a first course, on salad plates with salad forks, with crusty Italian bread. Makes almost 1½ quarts.

Movie Actor Appreciates Young Fans

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (AP) — Young people may have found a movie hero in actor Joel Grey. Or so it has seemed on a movie set in nearby Norwalk where he has been co-starring with Cliff Robertson in the suspense thriller, "The Man on the Swing."

Grey and his family are living in a rented house here eight minutes from the main movie set in an armory.

In addition to sending fan letters, young people have been ogling the sets in various areas of Connecticut.

"In the last six months — since 'Cabaret,' really — I have been getting many letters from young people — mostly from girls, 12 to 20. It has surprised me. Something about the movie touched young people. They know how old I am (40), how much I weigh (119 pounds) and that I am married. I've also gotten letters from older women. One named her baby after me, and I suddenly realized a lot of people probably get their names that way, and it is, perhaps, how I got my own name — Joel MacRae was popular about the time I was born.

"Each person who has written feels he had a hand in winning the Academy award for me," he continued, "because apparently they all stayed home to root for me and all the while I thought it might go to Al Pacino for "The Godfather."

The idea of the home rooters cheering him on to the Oscar is in line with his interest in Extra Sensory Perception which began a few years ago, he remarked. He says there is a lot in thought transference.

"I think I must always have had a tendency to spiritual things that have been closed off until recently. For example even my attitude toward games has changed. I have a tennis teacher who is well into that sort of thing (ESP) and she has taught me to hit a tennis ball making a connection rather than a hitting. It is a less hostile way. I am with the ball rather than against it."

Grey says he is only now "loosening up in a number of ways" and new doors are opening with his "new vibrations of change," he observed.

"I just recently asked myself 'what the hell have I been afraid of all these years.' I am happier now than I have been in all my life on all levels. It is new growth. As a small child I didn't know how to enjoy life. We all imagine it is just there to enjoy if you want. But the capacity to accept pleasure or enjoy oneself is not something that is natural to everybody."

He has become "less hard" on himself and doesn't brood anymore when he isn't satisfied with something he has done. He just says, "I'll do better tomorrow."

Here's a cool harvest-time treat that'll put frost on your pumpkin. Frozen Pumpkin Pie. Chill one baked 9-inch pie shell in the freezer. Spoon one quart of softened vanilla ice cream evenly into the bottom of the crust. Return to the freezer to harden. In a small bowl, mix together 1 cup pumpkin, ¾ cup sugar, ¾ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice, and ½ teaspoon salt. Fold in 1 cup of whipped whipping cream. Spread over the ice cream layer. Then top with ½ cup chopped walnuts and freeze.

Solutions In Scriptures

CANDLES IN THE CITY. By G. Curtis Jones. Word Books, Waco, Tex. 92 pages. $3.50.

The author, looking at today's crowded, crime-filled, polluted cities, turns to John's addresses to the seven persecuted congregations in Asia Minor for solutions.

"Love is not only something one remembers but also something he does," G. Curtis Jones writes. "A transforming of life...so needed in today's crowded, choking cities...the Church, discerning and responding to its deficiencies, is a unique harbinger of hope."

The writer is pastor of the Woodland Christian Church, Maco, Ga. He has served metropolitan congregations for 25 years.—The AP (REF).

APPROACHING MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Caswell of 3757 Dalton Drive, Snyder announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sylvia Elaine, to Stephen Glenn Laughner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Laughner of New Braunfels. The couple plans a February wedding.

US Eating Less Meat

COLLEGE STATION — Due to higher prices, consumers have been buying less expensive cuts of meat — and less meat in general. Instead they're purchasing more meat alternatives,

"As a result, our present meat consumption (per capita) is running fully 10 per cent below 1972 — at the lowest level in nearly seven years," according to Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

However, this week finds meat counters mostly full with a wide variety of cuts to select from, she added.

"Fresh pork, on the other hand, is in greater supply and usually a good value. Boston butt roasts, shoulder and rib chops, shoulder steaks, quarter-loins sliced and small picnics are featured in some markets."

The specialist noted that fryer chickens usually present bargains when purchased whole and cut-up at home.

"Egg supplies continue ample with prices lower than a couple of weeks ago. Watch for medium-sized eggs in stores.

"Salad lovers will have no problem building a meal-in-one these days," Mrs. Clyatt continued.

"Combine lettuce and other greens, celery, green peppers, radishes, onions and tomatoes. Add cold cuts, cheese strips, hard cooked eggs or cooked fish for protein.

"Salads of this type offer appetite appeal and stretch protein dollars."

Vegetables in good supply at the most economical prices include head lettuce, celery, collards, mustard greens and cushaw. Also carrots, tomatoes, green peppers, squash, dry yellow onions, cucumbers, potatoes, sweet potatoes and rutabagas.

"This week also finds several varieties of grapes in good supply and the first of a large cranberry crop on their way to market," the specialist said.

"Peaches, however, are about gone for the season," she added.

TO WED—Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Varner of 2401 Twenty-fourth Street, Snyder, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kathryn Louise, to Lonnie Dean Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reynolds of Colorado City. The wedding will be October 15 at 8 p.m. in the Bethel Baptist Church with Rev. R. Virgil Mott officiating.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

This is or has just been Fair Time in many parts of the country. Magnificent displays of fruits and vegetables, contesting for coveted blue ribbons, are among features. This year, the New York State Fair at Syracuse had a special place for herbs, noting.

The wealth of nations has been built on them, explorers plied the seas for them, witches cast their curses with them and the ills of mankind were cured by them. But through the ages, the most common use for them was giving a fourth dimension to what otherwise can be boring eating.

Revived, common and new uses for herbs were emphasized. There were demonstrations on baking with herbs; herbs in salads and pickling; in soups and stews; in jellies, preserves, sweet items, drinks and punches; herbs in sachets and perfumes; medicinal values; herbs in the lives of Iroquois Indians and early settlers.

Contributing this "Herb Scent" recipe was Mrs. Cherry Thomson:

Petals from 12 pink roses and 12 red roses; 1 pint lavender flowers; 2 yellow daisies, for color; 12 mint leaves; 4 rose geranium leaves; 1 fern leaf, for decoration; 1 tablespoon each of dried orange peel, crushed; cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, allspice, caraway seed and ginger; 2 tablespoons of orris root, crushed.

Dry petals separately in warm, dry, dark place for two weeks; when dry add spices. Put in netting (for sachet) or ginger jar; or use in any other way imagination dictates.

Other recipes distributed were Herbed Pork Chops, Lurk-a-log Cardamon Cookies, Sesame Garlic Loaf, and Rosemary Fizz, from Flossie Davis, which is prepared this way:

2½ tablespoons crushed rosemary (more if fresh); 3 tablespoons sugar, one-half cup water; 1 eight ounce can of apricot nectar, chilled; 1 quart ginger ale, chilled; one half cup lime juice, chilled.

Summer sugar, water, rosemary for 2 minutes; cool and strain. In chilled pitcher mix nectar with ginger ale and lime juice. Add rosemary-sugar solution. Fill eight glasses with ice and pour in juices, then add sprig of mint and-or lime twist.

Some spiders, the liphistiids, have changed little since Carboniferous times, 340 million years ago, the National Geographic says.

PLANS REVEALED—Mr. and Mrs. Bennie L. Boyce of San Angelo announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Kay, to Leonard James Kuss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Kuss Jr. of Hermleigh. The ceremony will be held in Sacred Hearts Catherdral in San Angelo January 5.

Girl Scout News

Brownie Troop 239 held an investiture ceremony. Nine girls met the following requirements during the investiture ceremony: They attended at least four Brownie troop meetings, paid national membership dues, made the Brownie Promise, learned the Brownie B's, gave the Brownie handshake, and sang the "Brownie Smile Song."

Around a silver star, five Brownies received a star pin to represent one year of membership in the Girl Scouts. Annwyn Long, Tracie Day, Vickie Glasscock, Laura Stephens, and Melissa Clanton, promised to "keep their star bright by night and day by Brownie good turns along their way."

Hostess for this important meeting was Denise Davis, assisted by Marika Sitton. The troop played games, then collected in the Brownie Circle. It was announced that there will be a Brownie Tacky Party at the Towle Park Barn on October 27th. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes.

From our World Treasure Chest, Marika Sitton brought rice bowls and chop sticks from Japan.

The troop began working on their "sit-upons" which will be used for indoor and outdoor activities.

Troop 239 will not meet next Monday due to the school holiday.

Tracie Day took the "goodie" bucket home.

Senior Troop No. 83 met at the home of Mrs. Franklin Pruitt on October 4th. Those attending were Deborah Pruitt, Michele Graves, Karen Stewart, Elizabeth Mijares, Lynn Leavell, Ingun Grytli, Denise Holliday, Diane Chastain, Miss Wanda Hudgins, and Mrs. Wesley Graves. Karen Stewart and D'Ann Fisher were elected delegates to the Senior Planning Board. Deborah Pruitt is now President of the Board and Lynn Leavell will be a candidate for Vice-President. Watchdog Stolen

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Perhaps it was merely a case of living up to his name but Lazy, a St. Bernard pup, was the only item stolen during a mobile home burglary.

Police in nearby Benton Township said they were unable to determine if the dog was too lazy to protest when the burglars took him or got lost while trying to rout the thieves.

HIGHER FOOD PRICES INEVITABLE

Farmers Determined To Keep Seller's Market

EDITOR's NOTE — No matter what phase or form of control, the price of food on America's tables will never be the same. In the ebb and flow of supply and demand, it is a seller's market now. And the farmer is determined to keep it that way.

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The American farmer is grinning over record crops and record profits. The American housewife is groaning under the burden of high food prices.

In the last year the nation has endured both gross and subtle changes in the way it reaps and sells its harvest. The price of basic foods that reach the American table will never be the same.

Gone forever, say the farmers, are the days of 29-cents-a-pound chicken, 55-cents-a-dozen eggs and 69-cents-a-pound hamburger.

Gone with farm subsidies that some experts contend really subsidized the consumer, not the farmer.

Gone with the devaluation of the dollar which makes U.S. farm products cheaper and, in some cases, a bargain for other countries.

In the ebb and flow of supply and demand, it is a seller's market. And the farmer is determined to keep it that way.

"We've had three years that we've been in a depression and we've lost money," a Georgia egg producer says. "I've lost a half-million dollars in the last three years. People out there can't seem to realize that they've been buying eggs for less than production costs." He's making money now.

A large chicken producer, his product flowing across the nation, says: "We lost $9 million two years ago. But we made it back this year."

Overlaying this year's market have been government policies that both farmer and housewife have found unequal, and/or ineffective.

Poultry farmers cut flocks and cattlemen kept their herds from market.

In 1971 the United States had the largest laying flock in its history, over 307 million hens. But by August 1973, the flock had been cut to about 281 million birds, simply by not replacing hens taken out of production. It was the smallest flock since 1961.

Flocks were cut by 20 million birds in the first seven months of this year, and that means an annual deficit of over 4½ billion eggs.

Normally the nation slaughters 600,000 head of beef a week. During the price freeze the number fell to 500,000.

That meant there was a stockpile of beef on the hoof back in the hills and prairies.

"When the range dries up this fall, they've gotta come to town," says one feeder who pays to fatten cattle for market. "Most fellows who run a cow herd aren't equipped to keep them after calf weight."

Sure enough, when the price freeze ended, chicken and egg producers began rebuilding their flocks; beef poured to the market. Prices went down, at least somewhat. But only temporarily.

Most experts say that as the market evens out, as short-term oversupply clears up, prices will go back up again.

Higher prices. Inevitably. Calves in the feed lots now will come out of the packing houses costing at least 90 cents a pound, bone and all.

The current glut of beef stampeding to market has to force the price of other meat animals — hogs, calves and chicken — down as well, but only temporarily.

The high cost of feed grains must send the price up again.

Farmers are more sophisticated today, and the ones who survived the last decade are bigger. Smaller, less efficient farms have been forced out of business. And today's farmer is a keen student of the market.

Underneath it all there are some sharp economic facts of life, all of them tied to the higher costs of grain. Consider:

A baby chick costs almost nine cents to hatch. It eats 70 cents worth of feed in nine weeks and dresses out to a broiler weighing 2½ pounds on the supermarket shelf. Total cost: $1.09. But the price tag at 79 cents a pound is $1.98. At that price the farmer makes a healthy profit.

It costs $1.95 to raise a laying hen which will produce 230 eggs in 12 months of sitting. Prorated, it costs almost 60 cents to produce a dozen top-quality eggs. The supermarket price tag is more than $1 a dozen. The farmer makes a healthy profit.

It might cost about $70 to raise an acre of wheat. At $4 a bushel, assuming a 60-bushel yield per acre, a farmer would gross $240 an acre. The bigger the farm, the healthier the profit.

At the Southern Empire Egg Farm, Lithia Springs, Ga., a few miles from Atlanta, Paul J. Davis and his two sons oversee the production of more than 500,000 hens.

He is getting good prices now, in spite of high feed costs. Corn, which makes up almost two-thirds of the hens' diet, has doubled in price in a year. Soybeans, which make up most of the protein supplement in the chicken feed, is four to five times more expensive than a year ago.

It takes 25 weeks to raise a pullet to egg production, or about 10 cents of the cost of a dozen eggs. It used to run only eight cents.

His other costs break down to five cents a dozen for the cost of maintaining and gathering the hens, a half-cent to transport them from the independent growers to Davis' laying houses, a penny for loss to disease, another eight cents for labor, cartons, cases and refrigeration.

The overhead, minus feed, comes to about 24 cents. It takes at least four pounds of feed to produce a dozen eggs. That costs 36 cents.

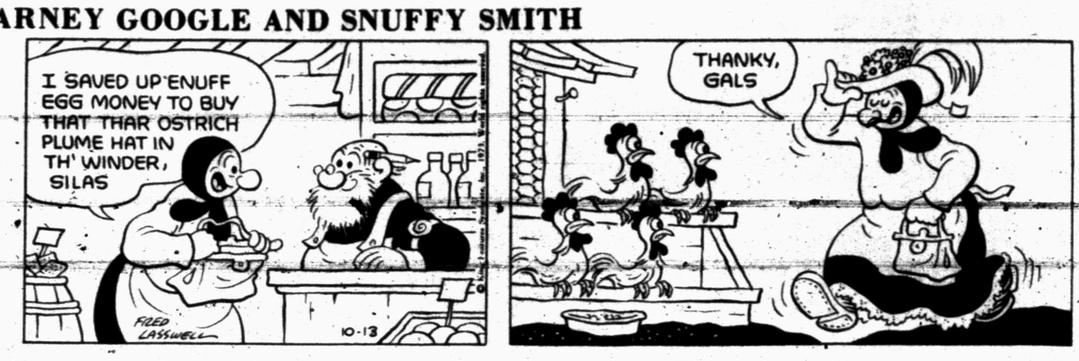

Davis runs a six-day-a-week operation. It is largely automated, with the hens in nests or wire coops, the feed replenished by conveyer, the eggs removed by conveyor. Even the handling and packing is done by machine, a machine that costs $100,000.

All around him chicken and egg producers have gone out of business, caught in the cost-price squeeze. Davis hires some of them to grow his hens to production age. These subcontractors will make from $300 to $1,000 a week.

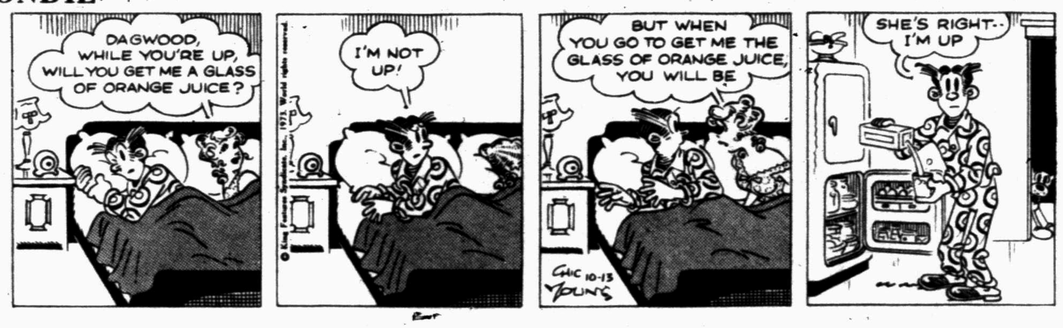

A U.S. Department of Agriculture study shows that the number of egg-producers declined by 50 per cent or better in five years ending in 1969, and the trend continues.

Junior Editors' Quiz on WHITE WHALES

QUESTION: Tell me about the white whale?

ANSWER: The Beluga or White Whale is a small whale related to the dolphin and narwhal. It is dark in color when it is young, but becomes white at about 5 years of age. It measures from 10 to 20 feet long and belongs to the group of toothed whales. It has about 36 teeth equally distributed in both upper and lower jaws. It is found in the Arctic region, usually in the cold waters of the Arctic Ocean and Hudson Bay. In a frigid winter, they were spotted as far south as Boston. Some people call Belugas "Sea Canaries" because they make chirping and whistling sounds. They have no enemies except man and perhaps the Killer Whale. Whalers, especially from Europe, slaughter them for such things as pet food, machine oil and car waxes. Eskimos kill them for food and make the hide into leather.

In the New York Aquarium at Coney Island, there are four White Whales. One is expecting a blessed event. The gestation period is 365 days, and since the White Whale is an endangered species, this is of great interest to scientists and the general public.

LAFF—A—DAY

"I was just passing this way, so I thought it was a good chance to report that my mother-in-law has been missing for about ten months."

SCHOOL LUNCH WEEK PROCLAIMED—Mayor Bill Seale signs proclamation designating Oct. 14-20 as School Lunch Week in Snyder as Charles Ketchum, director of school food service in Snyder Public Schools, looks on.

School Lunch Week Set Here

Mayor Bill Seale has issued a proclamation officially designating the week of Oct. 14-20 as Snyder School Lunch Week. This proclamation was issued simultaneously with the Governor's and the President's proclamations to coincide with the National School Lunch Week.

National School Lunch Week always starts on the second Sunday in October. It is a week of nutritious and inviting menus. Parents are asked to join their children in the school cafeteria for lunch during that week. Parents may eat for 75 cents per person.

Wednesday, Oct. 17, is the big day of the week. It is the Universal Menu Day which means that every school across the nation will be serving the same menu. Universal Day menu includes - Popeye Salad, Buttered Whole Kernel Corn, Barbecue Beef on a Bun, Yellow Cake with Cherry Sauce and Milk.

"You Are What You Eat," is the current theme for National School Lunch Week. It is a simple way of introducing children to nutrition. Nutrition is something that everyone talks about, but often like weather, no one does much about it. It is an overused term that has far reaching implications for the future of society. National School Lunch Week stresses the importance of a balanced and nutritious diet.

Archie Bunker Proven Right

NEW YORK (AP) — It seems that Archie Bunker knows a thing or two after all.

The Queens director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has issued a report saying that there is indeed a difference between Jewish, Irish and Italian Americans.

For instance, he reports, in closely knit Italian and Jewish families, "both exhibit strong ties between mother and son," but the Jewish father is usually on the periphery, while the Italian father, embodying male strength, inspires fear."

Joseph Giordana's point is that psyehiatrists treating patients of different backgrounds should be aware of ethnic differences.

WTC Rider Holds Lead In Saddle Bronc Event

Johnny Gass, WTC Rodeo Team member, is presently the leading saddle bronc rider in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) Southwest Region.

Russ Baize, also on the WTC team, is in second place in bull riding in the region.

The WTC Rodo Team entered the first rodeo of the season at New Mexico Military Institute. Baize won first in bull riding there with a mark of 66. He is a freshman student from Stamford attending college for the first time this fall. Gass won third in saddle bronc riding at the NMMI rodeo with a mark of 60. The team won enough points to take third place.

Eastern New Mexico University hosted a second rodeo last week end in Clovis. Gass won first in saddle bronc riding there with a mark of 65. Scott Hudson, freshman from Colorado City, placed fifth in calf roping with 12.2. The WTC team placed third in team standings.

WTC's team will be in Alpine for the Sul Ross NIRA rodeo on Oct. 25-28.

The WTC rodeo team will be adding new members when transfer students become eligible for competition. Van Rugby, rodeo team sponsor, said. Transfer students must be enrolled in the college they are to represent for 11 weeks before becoming eligible to enter NIRA competition.

Transfer students expected to join the WTC team include Johnny Trout, 24, a native of Wichita Falls and a transfer from Midwestern University there. He is a RCA bareback rider and works five events in college rodeo. He was All-Around Cowboy for the Southwest Region in NIRA in 1969 and All-Around Cowboy in AJRA in 1968.

A transfer from Weatherford Junior College is David McLaughlin, 21, RCA bull rider and bareback rider who has won several RCA shows. He sustained a broken hip but hopes to be back in action soon.

Bill Baber, 20, from Ft. Worth, also transferred to WTC from Weatherford Junior College. He is a bull rider.

Cheryl Cornelius, 19, from Wichita, Kan., transferred here from the University of Missouri. She is a Girls' Rodeo Association barrel racer and also works break-away roping and goat tying in college rodeo.

Gena Day, 18, from Woodward, Okla., now second in the nation in GRA barrel racing, is expected to attend WTC in the spring and would be eligible for competition in the spring.

Kim Harston, 18, from Southlake, Tex., is presently on the WTC team and works barrel racing and goat tying. She was All-Around Cowgirl at North Texas High School for 1972-73 and champion goat tier in high school competition in 1972. She competed in the invitational barrel race at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth last spring and will compete there again this spring.

NJCAA Accepts Technical School

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Officials of the James Connally Campus of the Texas State Technical Institute report that the technical school has been accepted into the National Junior College Athletic Association.

George Sauer, program chairman for recreation supervision and director of intercollegiate athletics, said plans are to field teams in basketball, golf and tennis. These activities are expected to get under way during the 1973-74 school year.

Sauer is working with the National Junior College Athletic Association arranging a schedule with member schools.

Implementation of the athletic program is somewhat dependent upon the completion of the renovation of the gymnasium on the James Connally Campus. The work is expected to be completed before Jan. 1. Included in the project is installation of bleachers, scoreboard, new basketball backboards and goals and improvements in the ventilation system.

IBM Suit Back In Headlines

NEW YORK (AP) — The antitrust suit International Business Machines lost last month to Telex Corp., returned to business headlines this past week and the readings this time were at least partly favorable to IBM.

Federal Judge A. Sherman Christensen said he would reconsider the size of the $352.5 million damage assessment he levied against IBM, conceding there had been substantial error in figuring the award.

Christensen didn't say whether his adjustment, due at a hearing this Tuesday in Salt Lake, would be up or down. But attorneys and analysts expected a reduction.

Meanwhile, Christensen's September ruling, which held the computer giant had violated antitrust laws and committed unfair acts against Telex, Christensen's announcement left nothing to change that basic ruling.

Nor did Christensen indicate in his brief that he orders that IBM share some of its operating processes with Telex and other smaller makers of computer-related equipment more of a competitive break. IBM has asked for a new trial on the issue of Christensen's injunctions and motions on that request also were scheduled to be heard at the Tuesday hearing.

Christensen's September ruling was seen as potentially of major importance to the computer industry. If it survives appeals, many believe IBM's dominance could be considerably reduced. There is also the question of what effect, if any, the ruling might have on a pending Justice Department suit asking that IBM be broken up into smaller units.

The Justice Department suit will draw even more attention. Some businessmen contend that breaking up IBM might end American leadership in computer manufacturing.

Another Midwestern bank trimmed its prime lending rate back from the prevailing record 10 per cent this past week and analysts predicted a continuation of the Federal Reserve System's easier credit policy might soon bring a widespread cut in the rate.

The prime rate, raised no fewer than 16 times this year, is the interest charged on business loans to top customers.

Medium-sized Continental Bank of Cleveland cuts its rate to 9.6 per cent, joining a handful of other Midwestern banks which cut the rate late last month.

No such reductions have been announced by bigger banks in major financial centers, but there was a growing expectation that such a move might soon be touched off if money marker rates continue to ease.

TEXAS TATERS— Omer Partain of 100 Thirty-fifth Street is weighing a seven-pound sweet potato he dug from his garden. He is holding a six pound specimen also from his season's crop. Partain, an avid gardener for the past five years, explains the huge size of these two potatoes as a product of sufficient water and careful handling. He harvested about 10 bushels of sweet potatoes this year.

Agnew Sets TV Address Monday

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apparently determined to vindicate himself as much as possible from criminal allegations, former Vice President Spiro Agnew has scheduled a television address to the nation for Monday night.

Arrangements for the speech, to be broadcast live on all three national networks, were disclosed Friday night, shortly after President Nixon announced he would nominate Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House minority leader, as Agnew's successor.

Agnew, who has spent the last two days working on his address in his private office next door to the White House, was assumed by aides to have watched Nixon's telecast.

However, there were no indications that he planned to comment on it.

50TH ANNIVERSARY — This year marks the 50th anniversary of football in Snyder. The high school student council is planning a coffee for ex-players, a bon fire and a pep rally. The 1973 team will open its District 4-AAAA schedule here Friday night against the Lubbock Westerners. Pictured here, is the first Tiger team of 1923. The Coach, Bill Falls, appears at the right. The team operated from the Notre Dame box formation.

Snyder High Plans For 50th Grid Anniversary

The student council at Snyder High School is busy with plans for the 50th anniversary of football at Snyder High School.

The Tigers fielded their first team in 1923, and this year marks the 50th anniversary.

All ex-football players of Snyder High School will be honored with a coffee from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 18, in the high school cafeteria. There will be a bon fire following the coffee.

The 1973 Tigers open their District 4-AAAA schedule at 7:30 p.m. Friday, hosting the Lubbock Westerners. There will be a pep rally in the high school gym that morning at 10:25 a.m. There also are after game activities being planned in the high school gym.

Members of the first football team of 1923 and members of this year's team will be special guests at the coffee, but all ex-football players are invited to attend.

The late Bill Falls was coach of the 1923 team. He coached the team that one year, then moved to Wichita Falls where he was a teacher.

No records on the 1923 team are available. However, it is known they played Rotan twice, Slaton, Roscoe, Tahoka, Post and the "City Slickers," a group of Snyder businessmen who clashed with the high school team in a charity game.

Thirty-two merchants contributed up to $25 each for equipment for the first team.

As far as can be determined, the team members included Hollis Lloyd, a captain who played quarterback, guard and tackle; Noel Banks, a quarterback; Alph Page; Ward Golden, fullback; Albert Smith, end; Judd McGaha, tackle and guard; Jesse Jones, tackle; Sam Etheredge, tackle and guard; A. D. Dodson, Jr., end and halfback; Wade Greene, halfback and end; Bernon Etheredge, tackle and guard; Harold Brown, end; Ray Fesmire, guard; Pete Golden, end; Guy Stoker, Watson Adams, fullback; Harvey Carroll, Elton Nicholas, quarterback; John Carroll, center; Olan Curry, tackle and guard; and J. G. Morrow, utility lineman.

In a letter written Feb. 21, 1970 to his mother, Mrs. J. B. Adams, H. W. (Doc) Adams had a few comments on that 1923 football team. Excerpts from the letter follow:

"...It was a good team, and if we had known a little more about the game we would have won a lot more games.

"Our first game was played in Snyder in Wolf Park against Rotan. We won 33-0.

"The second game was played in Rotan, and again we won 33-13, but on the opening kickoff to Rotan, a fast back returned the ball 85 yards for a touchdown. This game was my most productive as I scored three touchdowns.

"We were furnished regulation uniforms and helmets, but we had to furnish our shoes. These were work shoes, which Pete Benenek worked over and made the cleats. When he had finished they were pretty good shoes. Our helmets were not padded quite as well as they are today.

"I forgot to mention that our extra points were made by the lost art of drop kicking whereas today they are made by running the ball over—passing or kicking from placement.

"Our punter and drop kicker was Elton Nicholas, our quarterback. He was very good at both. I saw him punt 84 yards, which is far above the average even in pro ball today.

"Only two or three of the members of the 1923 team had played previous ball, but we were all eager and healthy, and some had very good talent for the game.

"We had very little passing, but Elton could pass when needed. We ran our plays mostly from the Notre Dame box formation which afforded pretty good interference.."

Gail Rallies, Rips Klondike, 32-26

GAIL—The Borden County Cayotes roared back from an 18 point deficit to defeat the Klondike Cougars 36-26 in a District Eight-Man football clash here Friday night.

The Gail-based crew scored first on a 25 yard run by Garland Williams in the first quarter. Monty Smith passed to Rex Cox for the two extra points.

Klondike tied it up early in the second quarter on a four yard run by Jesse Martinez. Barry Harris passed to Randy Lambright for the two bonus points.

Klondike scored twice more in the second quarter, on a 30 yard run by Rickey Singleton and a 25 yard pass, Harris to Jimmy Ross. They led 20-8 at halftime.

The Cougars boosted their margin to 26-8 in the third quarter on another touchdown pass from Harris to Ross. This one also was good for 25 yards.

Borden County started playing football and narrowed the gap to 26-14 on a 72 yard run by Garland Williams. Still in the third, Doug Isaacs turned in a 51 yard touchdown run and added two extra points as Gail pulled within four points at 16-22 as the third quarter ended.

Gail scored twice in the fourth quarter to turn defeat into victory. The first TD was a 65 yard pass and run play, Monty Smith to Junior Oliverez. Junior Oliferez scored the second one on a 21 yard run, and Monty Smith ran across for the two bonus points.

Gail will be at Cotton Center next Friday.

Eliminate Pre Game Meals?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — High school football coaches should eliminate the traditional big meal players eat before their games, Dr. William T. Wilder said Friday.

Speaking to coaches and teachers at a one-day sports seminar, Wilder said large helpings of meat provide psychological rather than physiological benefits. He said they can result in abdominal pain, cramps, diarrhea and heart pain.

Horned Frogs To Induct 5

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas Christian will induct five former football greats into the Letterman's Hall of Fame Friday night on the eve of the TCU-Texas A&M game.

The honorees were Charley Needham, A. D. "Judge" Green, Lon Evans, Bruce Alford and the late Johnny Washmon.

Needham, who served many years as a Southwest Conference football official, was a TCU letterman in 1935-1936, playing end on the 1936 championship team.

Green lettered four years, from 1920 to 1923, serving as captain his junior year.

Evans, now sheriff of Tarrant County (Fort Worth), lettered in 1930-1932 and was an all-SWC guard on the undefeated 1932 team. He was also all-pro with the Green Bay Packers.

Alford captained the 1942 football team during his three years as letterman and was voted the team's most valuable player in 1942 when he led the squad in pass receiving.

Freshman Jay Haas shot three rounds of 71 to win the Atlantic Coast Conference golf title last April.

Pokes Face Undefeated LA Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Unbeaten, unintercepted and unthreatened in four National Football League games, the Los Angeles Rams could face an interruption of their happy days Sunday when they battle the "Doomsday Defense" of Dallas.

Under new head coach Chuck Knox, Los Angeles has built a 4-0 record with emphasis on the new professional football concept of ball control.

With their winning ways, the Rams are expected to sell out the Memorial Coliseum for the 1 p.m. kickoff with about 79,281 fans watching. The game wasn't sold out, however, in time for local telecasting.

Jim Bertelsen and Lawrence McCutcheon head the Rams ball carrying corps so this game will have three of the top six rushers of the National Conference—Calvin Hill of Dallas with 388 yards, McCutcheon with 345 and Bertelsen is sixth with 315.

The Cowboys were undefeated until last Monday night when a national television audience saw them lose a 7-0 lead in the fourth quarter and fall 14-7 to the Washington Redskins.

The Cowboys still debate whether Roger Staubach or Craig Morton will carry the quarterback load but there is absolutely no doubt that John Hadl will be heading up the offense of the surprising Rams.

John leads the league.

He has completed 38 of 52 pass attempts without being intercepted and eight of his passes have gone for touchdowns—four to Harold Jackson, the reclaimed little wide receiver.

Jackson, who started his pro career with the Rams, came back to them in the deal that sent quarterback Roman Gabriel to Philadelphia.

The 175-pound Jackson has caught nine passes for 185 yards, proving he's the payoff type since four have gone for touchdowns.

"The Rams at this point are probably as good as any club we'll play this year," commented Dallas Coach Tom Landry who put Morton into the game against Washington when Staubach suffered a leg injury.

The former Navy all-American and Heisman Trophy winner is expected to be in good enough physical shape to start against the undefeated Rams.

The Rams reportedly were all in good health except for wide receiver Dick Gordon who suffered a dislocated shoulder last Sunday in the 31-26 victory over Houston. Gordon is out indefinitely.

UP A TREE FOR A DOUBLE BOGEY—Tom woodall of Ocala, Fla., is really up a tree as he poses before hitting his ball which landed in this tree. Woodall was playing recently at the Continental Country Club in Wildwood, Fla. He managed to hit the ball about twenty yeards but ended with a double bogey on the hole. (AP Wirephoto)

San Diego Gives Berth To Fouts

By HOWARD SMITH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Forty-year-old Johnny Unitas holds almost all National Football League passing records and 22-year-old Dan Fouts doesn't hold any.

But when the San Diego Chargers go on offense Sunday against the Oakland Raiders, it'll be Fouts on the field and Unitas on the bench.

Chargers' Coach Harland Svare said Friday that Unitas "needs a rest."

The Chargers have won just one of four games, with Unitas completing just two of the nine passes he threw against Pittsburgh last week.

Fouts, a third-round draft choice out of Oregon, hit on 11 of 21 tosses for 174 yards in the second half, racking up 21 points in the process.

Quarterback is not the only problem area on the San Diego team. Offensive coach Bob Schnelker quit this week and was replaced by George Dickson, and there's grumbling in the backfield.

Cid Edwards and Clint Jones are slated to start at the running backs which leaves an unhappy Mike Garrett on the sidelines.

The Raiders, 2-2, are also going with a young quarterback in place of a veteran. Lefthander Ken Stabler has sent Daryle Lamonica to the sidelines, for the time being anyway. The Raiders, with Stabler at the helm, rolled up 446 yards in total offense against St. Louis last week—the club's best offensive showing since 1970.

Other games on Sunday's schedule: Dallas at Los Angeles, Minnesota at San Francisco, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, Kansas City at Green Bay in Milwaukee, Baltimore at Buffalo, Washington meets the New York Giants in New Haven, Conn., Philadelphia at St. Louis, Detroit at New Orleans, Chicago at Atlanta, the New York Jets visit New England and Houston welcomes Denver.

Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, knocked out of Monday night's game against Washington with a leg injury, is expected to start against the undefeated Rams.

Minnesota, also 4-0, faces a San Francisco team which lost running backs Lary Schreiber and Jimmy Thomas last week with injuries.

The Steelers, the NFL's other unbeaten club, have scored more points and allowed fewer than anyone else in their conference. The Bengals have lost five starters to injuries.

Scott Hunter will start behind center for Green Bay in place of Jim Del Gaizo. The Chiefs have won three straight.

Baltimore's porous defense will have to find a way to stop Buffalo speedster O.J. Simpson, who has gained more than 100 yards in four consecutive games.

The Giants, shaken by the desertion of reserve quarterback Randy Johnson, have yet to win a game against a George Allen team in seven tries. A Redskin victory would just about end any lingering New York division-title hopes.

Philadelphia had its own problems this week when defensive end Mel Thom bolted the club after a run-in with an assistant coach. Tom Sullivan and Norm Bulaich both topped 100 yards against Buffalo last week but the Eagles lost to Buffalo by one point anyway.

New Orleans is coming off its first win of the season and the Lions are coming off their 11th straight loss to Minnesota. Saints Coach John North was an assistant at Detroit for eight years.

Bob Lee gets a shot at the starting quarterback spot in place of Dick Shiner. The Falcons haven't scored a touchdown in the last three games.

The New York Jets have lost two quarterbacks and three ballgames this year. Rookie free agent Bill Demory will try his luck against the Patriots who beat Baltimore last week for their first victory.

Denver quarterback Charley Johnson needs 217 yards in the air to reach the 20,000-yard mark and hopes to do it before the hometown folks in Houston. The Oilers are the NFL's only 0-4 team.

The Miami-Cleveland game is a rematch of last year's AFC divisional playoff game, won by the Dolphins 20-14.

Royal, Other Coaches Left Holding Bag

DALLAS (AP) — University of Texas Coach Darrell Royal and at least six other major college football coaches were left holding thousands of dollars in options when a temporary receiver for state Atty. Gen. John Hill seized assets of King Commodity Co. of Texas, the Dallas News reported today.

The newspaper said the coaches bought their commodity options in the financially troubled company through Wayne S. Philpott of Houston, a broker who had contacts with sports figures as a song writer for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

These details were given by the News:

Royal spent $6,600 with King for the options, Coaches Frank Broyles of Arkansas $3,600, Jim Carlen of Texas Tech $8,000, Paul Dietzel of the University of South Carolina $3,860, Johnny Majors of Pittsburgh University $1,600, Charles McClendon of Louisiana State $5,100 and Steve Sloan of Vanderbilt $3,600.

Four coaches didn't come out as badly as later investors in King's options because they collected more money from their options than they invested.

Royal invested $10,000 and withdrew $16,000, Carlen invested $5,600 and withdrew $7,490, Dietzel spent $2,800 and got back $3,860 and Majors put in $3,700 for a $5,905 return.

Most of the heavy investors in August and September probably will be forced to take substantial losses, records of the transactions showed.

State investigators said so far they have found $254,389 in unsigned checks drawn on King's bank account for investors who liquidated their options but were not paid.

McClendon and Sloan each invested $2,800 last July and got back $2,520 and $930, respectively.

Broyles made a $390 profit in five days in a 60-day silver option last July, but ended up on the loser's end on another investment in which he showed a $2,000 initial investment against only $730.

Also dealing through Philpott, head baskeball Coach Bob Boyd of the University of Southern California, invested $3,600 in options exactly one month before King's assets were seized and recovered none of the money.

An investigation of the King operation is being continued at Houston by the attorney general's office, the paper said.

Pro Tilt Moved To Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers-New York Jets National Football League game scheduled to be played Oct. 21 at Shea Stadium in New York has been moved to Pittsburgh.

The switch, announced Wednesday, was the result of the New York Mets winning the National League baseball title and moving to the World Series. The Mets share Shea with the Jets.

The Steelers said regular season ticket holders would be given the opportunity to purchase their season seats for the contest. Public ticket sales will begin next Wednesday.

Jockey Finally Gets Trophy

ARCADIA, Calif.(AP) — More than five years after the 1968 Kentucky Derby, jockey Milo Valenzuela Thursday was presented the trophy for riding Forward Pass to victory in the disputed race.

Dancer's Image finished first but was disqualified and Forward Pass, originally second, was declared the winner.

However, a series of legal fights kept the purse money and trophy from being presented.

Officials at Churchill Downs mailed the jockey's trophy to Santa Anita where it was given to Valenzuela, who is riding in the Oak Tree thoroughbred meeting.

Swim Site Chosen

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont (AP) — The community park pool at Concord, Calif., was selected by the Amateur Athletic Union convention today as site of the 1974 National AAU Long-Course Swimming Championships.

An AAU spokesman said the event held in an outdoor 50-meter pool, usually attracts more than 700 swimmers who must meet a qualifying time, which remains to be set at this week's convention. The meet is scheduled for Aug. 22-25.

Price Hikes Up Drilling Activity

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Higher prices have boosted domestic oil and gas drilling activity to its highest level in four years.

"The outlook for increased U.S. oil and gas drilling is brighter than at any time during the past 17 years," says Warren L. Baker, executive vice president of the International Association of Drilling Contractors.

September had an average of 1,270 rotary drilling rigs in action and the first two weekly reports for October posted averages of 1,290 and 1,330.

"As expected, rising U.S. crude oil and natural gas prices are having the desired effect of stimulating the search for new production," Baker says.

"Oil and gas drilling has expanded sharply in recent months and additional growth is certain in coming months."

The September average for active rotary rigs was 28 per cent above April and 10 per cent above the comparable year earlier month.

"Besides experiencing the usual seasonal increase that occurs during the last three months each year, drilling this year will benefit from the improved economic outlook," Baker says.

"With rigs already in short supply, future drilling activity becomes a question of rig availability. Every rig capable of working will be utilized during the rest of 1973."

With rigs in tight supply, Baker says, a large volume of drilling work will be carried over into 1974. This, he adds, will result in a smaller than normal decrease in drilling activity during the early months of the new year.

Baker says the September average of 1,270 rigs was the highest monthly average since December, 1969, and was the highest average for the month of September since 1965.

The September average was 121 rigs or 10.5 per cent above the year earlier level, 282 rigs or 28.5 per cent above April this year, and 42 rigs or 3.4 per cent above August.

Baker says both November and December should hold above the 1,300 level. The early October weekly average of 1,330 marked the first time more than 1,300 rigs were active since December, 1969.

Baker says the current upward trend should be even higher.

"Despite recent substantial growth in rig activity, it must be recognized that the number of active rigs still falls far short of attaining levels reached to materially alleviate the nation's oil and gas shortage," he says.

"In earlier years when U.S. production and consumption of oil and gas were much smaller than today, far more rotary rigs were in operation. Ten years ago 1,500 rotary rigs were active, and 15 years ago 2,000 rotaries were utilized."

Baker said an average of 135 rigs active in September was 41 above the year earlier level and was Oklahoma's highest level since December, 1969.

"Texas had an average of 384 rotary rigs active in September, contrasted with 314 a year earlier, and had its largest number since December, 1968," he added.

The early October reports gave Texas weekly averages of 399 and 411.

Topless Restaurant Sidetracked

HOUSTON (AP) — Plans to open a restaurant with topless waitresses and dancers in the downtown area were sidetracked when the owners of the building obtained a temporary restraining order.

State District Court Judge Arthur Lesner, Friday enjoined Leo Kalantzakis, one of the city's top restaurant operators, from taking off the blouses in his Leo's Broadway Bar and Grill which opened Friday in the Houston First Savings Building.

Charles E. Fitch, attorney for the owners of the building, U.S. Leasing, said other tenants in the building said the nudity would offend their clients. Other tenants said they were moving out if the girls in the basemen restaurant are allowed to bare their bosoms.

Judge Lesher set a hearing on a temporary injunction for Thursday.

Michael Black, Kalantzakis' lawyer, said, "We have told the girls to keep their tops on until the hearing Thursday. At that time we will be present to testify what we feel will make the situation plain, as far as our side is concerned.

"The styles of dress being what they are," Black added, "there is really only six square inches of difference between this and non-topless waitresses."

Rain Helps Cut Riots In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — It was Orgy Night, an annual debauch marking the eve of Saturday's fiercely contested Texas-Oklahoma football game in the Cotton Bowl, and hundreds reeled through the big downtown binge despite soaking rain.

Even so, the damp weather restricted the usually riotous merrymaking and police counted the smallest number of arrests in recent years.

Oklahoma fans sporting red hats and horns helped raise a din and orange-lade Texas backers chanted as they filled sidewalks for several blocks in the center of the business district. Cars idling bumper to bumper jammed the streets and the cacophony could be heard for blocks.

As often is the case, however, authorities said the biggest part of the revelers—often sipping from cans of beer—apparently reside in this immediate area and comparatively few were Oklahoma or Texas students.

In early evening, the number of policemen mobilized in expectation of trouble appeared to outnumber the rest of the crowd, and an officer manning a sidewalk barricade murmured, "I hope the rain keeps up."

It was all over by 3 a.m. when police listed 144 arrests, generally for drunk and disorderly conduct. The figure compared with 278 at the same time last year and 402 in 1971.

Most of the arrested posted bonds, expecting to forfeit them for non-appearance in court, and were free before game-time.

Officers said only 24 of those taken into custody lived outside the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

4-H WEEK

Besides being, Billionth Barrel of Oil Week in Scurry County October 7-13 is also National 4-H Week. The theme this year is "4-H Gets It All Together."

4-H is the largest youth organization in the world, involving some 5.5 million youth between the ages of 9 and 19 in the United States.

Texas has about 146,000 members. Scurry County has 174 members, completing 462 projects and another 227 youths participating in a 4-H related study project.

4-H week is a time for members, leaders and friends of 4-H to take stock of the year's accomplishments and achievements, and to look to the future for continued improvement. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is the parent organization of 4-H clubs in Texas.

The annual 4-H Achievement Program for Scurry County will be October 20 at 7:30 p.m. in Towle Park Barn. Awards will be presented to approximately 60 4-H members in the county.

DEFOLIATION

There has been some defoliation of cotton in the county and several of the gins have begun processing cotton. If you plan to defoliate, make sure your equipment is in good working condition, that your application rate is figured correctly and that you are applying the chemical as it is recommended. If you employ a custom applicator, especially on aerial applicators, caution him to be careful. Seldom do we have a year go by that some damage is not experienced. Shut off valves are not working or spray drifts onto a neighboring field or around the homestead. These are the most common complaints and can be avoided. So let's be real cautious and keep our neighbors happy by using a little extra care and consideration.

TAX IDEAS

Many of you producers are faced with income from two crops in one year. Most of the 1972 crop was sold after January 1, 1973 and it appears that much of the 1973 crop will be harvested and possibly sold before the end of 1973.

Your accountant or income tax consultant should be able to offer ideas and advice for ways to offset this situation. The sooner you check with him the better the possibilities are that he will be able to help you.

In the future columns we plan to offer some suggestions you might consider. These will only be suggestions and would not be as good as you personal consultant about your particular situation.

GRASS JUDGING TEAM

We want to add our congratulations to the Snyder FFA Grass Judging Team on their win at the Dallas Fair. The Snyder FFA consistantly has a strong grass judging team and we wish them continued success, not only the grass judging team but their other teams as well.

Asks Telecasts On Confirmation

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks have asked congressional leaders to permit live telecasts of confirmation hearings for the vice presidential nominee.

"Only through the eyes of television cameras can the public across the nation witness the performance of their elected representatives in meeting their grave constitutional duties," said Arthur R. Taylor, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, in a telegram to Senate and House leaders.

Taylor's telegram requested permission to cover proceedings "both in committee and during the ensuing action on the floor."

Probation Officers Busy

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I am interested in becoming a probation officer. What are the education and/or training requirements? -- J.S., Nashville, Tenn.

Probation officers are social workers employed by courts, although their work is classified in the corrections field. More than half of all legal offenders are on probation. Probation officers make pre-sentence investigations and recommendations to the courts, supervise youthful and adult probationers, help them stay out of trouble, and aid probationers to make a good adjustment to society as useful citizens.

A PROBATION OFFICER does more than keep a watchful eye on probationers. He/she advises them and takes a personal interest in their problems, ranging from employment and finances to relocating probationers to new residential settings where they have a better chance of improving.

Many probationers never get into trouble with the law a second time. When this happens, much of the credit reflects on the officer's concern and dedication. But sometimes, despite the efforts of the probation officer, the probationer backslides into old ways and commits another crime. When this happens the officer needs the emotional maturity not to let it get him down and adversely affect his work.

PROBATION OFFICERS work for juvenile, family, domestic and criminal courts and agencies. Most of them work at the county or city level although some work for state and Federal courts and agencies. In the large probation departments, the officer may specialize, working only with young people or only with adults. He may concentrate on certain services such as job placement or programs to help addicts stay away from drugs or alcohol. In smaller rural county departments, the officer often is responsible for all types of probation services.

AT MINIMUM, to become a probation officer, you should have a bachelor's degree in corrections (law enforcement or criminal justice programs) or the behavioral science and a year of casework experience in a correctional institution, social agency or similar organization. Most agencies will substitute the experience requirement if you have had a field-training experience as part of your undergraduate degree program.

However, you may be able to find employment with less than ideal preparation, depending on the supply and demand situation in your area. For advancement to such positions as supervisor, chief probation officer, or director of the probation department, you'll do better with the appropriate college background. At some point, you may want to consider graduate work.

STAGE PROPS — Clayton Black, left, technical director for "Charley's Aunt," and Karen Hardy are shown putting finishing touches on flats to be used in the forthcoming production. Students at the college have worked with Michael Crawford, technical advisor, and Charles Holland, drama director, to design and construct a complete set of scenery for "Charley's Aunt." This is the first time the drama department has gone into set construction on a large scale and many hours of work have been required to cut and assemble the materials into sets tailor-made for the WTC stage.

Energy Crisis Is SPE Meet Topic

The causes and possible solutions to the nation's energy crisis will be discussed by Granville Dutton, manager of unitization and joint operations for Sun Oil Co. in Dallas and a 1973-74 Distinguished Lecturer for the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME, at the October meeting of the Snyder Section of SPE. The section meeting is scheduled for Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Snyder Country Club.

Dutton's speech, which is entitled "Key to Survival-Solving the Energy Crisis—The Government's Role and The Engineer's Duty," will examine the causes of the current energy crisis facing the U. S., and how restrictive government policies have affected the petroleum industry. Dutton will discuss how an extensive and expensive domestic exploration and production program must be initiated if the U. S. is to avoid dependence on foreign energy. Dutton will also analyze how engineers and professionals within the industry need to work with the media and with elected officials to help create a better understanding of the country's energy problems.

Dutton's career covers a wide range of activities related to the legal aspects of the petroleum industry and to government-industry relations. After joining Sun Oil Co. in 1949, Sutton worked in various engineering and administrative positions until 1957 when he was appointed conservation engineer and attorney dealing with the regulation of the oil industry by state administrative agencies and with the control of the natural gas industry by the Federal Power Commission. He assumed his present position with Sun as manager of unitization and joint operations in 1970.

GRANVILLE DUTTON

Dutton is a past member of the SPE Board of Directors and a former chairman of the Society's Distinguished Lecturer Committee, and he is currently a member of the national SPE Technical Information Committee. He has served on the Interstate Oil Compact Engineering Committee for the Governor's Oil Efficiency Study in Texas, and on the Technical Committee of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's Water Conservation Committee. A native of Dallas, Dutton holds a BS degree in engineering from the U. S. Naval Academy and a LLB degree from the SMU School of Law.

The Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME is an international technical and professional organization for engineers, scientists, and executives in the exploration, drilling, and production phases of the petroleum and natural gas industries. SPE has more than 20,000 members located in the major oil producing areas of the free world.

Pipe Strung For Project

Pipe is being strung on the Beal's Creek diversion project of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Approximately a mile of the 12-inch line is on the right of way from Three-mile Lake west of Big Spring, and ditching will begin within days for laying the six-mile pipeline to the Natural Dam Lake. Footings and pipe for two pump stations are largely in place, said O. H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager.

By the end of November the district hopes to be pumping the highly mineralized water in the natural or playa lakes back to the Natural Dam holding reservoir so that the contents will not flow down Beal's Creek to the Colorado and eventually into Lake E. V. Spence. R. B. Hodgson, Midland, has the contract for laying the pipeline.

Tickets For WTC Play To Go On Sale

Tickets for the Western Texas College production of "Charley's Aunt" will go on sale Wednesday, Charles Holland, WTC drama director, has announced.

Tickets will be $2 for adults and $1 for students. They may be purchased at West Texas State Bank, Snyder National Bank, Snyder Drug, State Farm Insurance, Rogers, Inc., the Chamber of Commerce office, the business office at WTC, or in the Student Center.

"Charley's Aunt" is scheduled for presentation Oct. 24-27 in the Fine Arts Theatre at WTC.

Tips For Long-Hairs

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The University of Arizona's student handbook gives long-haired students a tip on how to get into Mexico without encountering trouble: bribe the Mexican border guards.

Under a paragraph titled "Getting into Mexico with Long Hair," the handbook says:

"If you are male and have long hair or a beard, you should not expect too much trouble getting into Mexico if you obtain your tourist card at the border. Sometimes a friendly dollar or two can clear up any question in this area that might come to the mind of the border personnel."

The handbook is distributed to the 25,000 students on campus. The Mexican border is about 65 miles south of here.

In the past, some students have had trouble getting across the border because Mexican authorities have been trying to keep young vagrants out of the country.

The conterminous 48 United States get an average of 30 inches of precipitation a year, or about 1,430 cubic miles in total volume.

CELEBRITIES ON THE COUCH

By Dick Maurice

Interview: Toni Holt

Beautiful and glamorous Toni Holt is ideally suited to her new position as Centerfold Editor for Playgirl Magazine. It is Toni who helps select, then deftly interviews the handsome men who are featured nude in Playgirl each month. In addition to this, Miss Holt is known in Hollywood as an inquisitive and probing reporter through her syndicated newspaper writings; frequent columns and features in dozens of major magazines and her own television news commentary. A former actress, Toni Holt exemplifies the epitomy of beauty.

MAURICE: Would you have liked to become a famous actress?

HOLT: I think at one time when I was growing up I thought if I could be anybody in the world I'd be Rita Hayworth. When I was very very young, I started modeling. I was taken out to Hollywood and screen tested for the role of Marjorie Morningstar, which I did not get. Before I came back I was offered a contract with Columbia. I was not quite sixteen yet. The head of casting told me he wanted to groom me to be the new Rita Hayworth of the lot. Needless to say I nearly went out of my mind because I had idolized her so much. I went back to New York and told my mother what had transpired. My mother said you are not going back; you are going back to school; you're not going to become one of those kind of girls and that was the end of it.

MAURICE: Let's talk about what you're doing today. You are involved with a magazine that has really taken off.

HOLT: Taken off everything and taken off in statistics, too-in readership and subscriptions and of course taken off clothes. Playgirl Magazine is the only magazine of its kind. There is no other magazine like Playgirl. We have a new male nude centerfold every month plus we have a nude New Discovery every month. We have such men as Lyle Waggoner, Fabian, Fred Williamson, Gary Conway, George Maharis and Don Stroud in our centerfold section.

MAURICE: You're a celebrity interviewer and you have interviewed so many famous people. Do you recall what your first interview was like?

HOLT: Oh yes, indeed, I do. My first interview was with Glenn Ford. I can not tell you how my knees were knocking. I went to his house but before I did it took me four hours to dress. I went up to the house and I was so nervous. He opened the door and as he did this enormous grin spread from ear to ear and his opening words to me were, "you're a reporter?" From that second on he just was so sweet. Since that time we have become very close friends. In fact he gives me all my fruits and vegetables. I don't buy produce in the market because Glen has one of the best fruits and vegetables gardens in all of southern California.

MAURICE: What was one of the most embarrassing things that happened during a celebrity interview?

HOLT: I think Raquel Welch was probably the most embarrassing. I had to interview her in front of one of the theatres on Hollywood Blvd. which was showing the film Myra Breckinridge. I was suppose to see the film after the interview. As she approached the camera after giving me a lot of static about not directly to me but to the director there that she thought she should have a male interviewer instead of a female, I finally turned around and said, Miss Welch, the throne since Marilyn Monroe died and Jane Mansfield has been vacated. Now with Myra Breckinridge, having not seen it I can only ask you, do you think this film will put you on the throne? Will you be the new sex queen of Hollywood? And she said, How could you say such a thing. That is the most stupid thing I've ever heard. She was very belligerent to me. After I saw the film, I heartily agreed with her-she was never going to be the sex queen of Hollywood.

HOLT: Actually the prettier the ladies the better I get along with them. My close friends are the very glamorous ladies of Hollywood.

MAURICE: Who do you think is the new male sex symbol of Hollywood? Ryan O'Neal?

HOLT: I don't think Ryan O'Neal is sexy. To me he is cherubic. He is a cherubic sex symbol. There is a funny story with Ryan. You asked me about an embarrassing moment before. I was coming home from the television station about two years ago and as I got to an intersection I saw Ryan leaning against a lamp post in the middle of the intersection, with traffic going in all directions. Ryan had a shoulder strap handbag on. In those days not every man had one. I stopped my car and honked by horn and yelled to him. I asked him what he was doing. He said, ah, nothing, just standing. I said just standing? When the light changed I had to go but I was dying to see where he was going, being a gossip columnist. With that Ryan took off by foot and started running down a back street of Santa Monica. I made an illegal turn and started following him. Finally he ducked into a building and I never saw him again. Six months later I read in Esquire Magazine Ryan O'Neal's encounter with Toni Holt as she followed him through the streets of Hollywood. It made me sound like some kind of super snoop, which I am.

MAURICE: Do you feel celebrities resent gossip columnists?

HOLT: I have one line that I tell everybody. I don't make your news, I only print it. If you don't want me to find out, just be discreet enough that I don't.

MAURICE: How about you doing a centerfold for Playboy?

HOLT: They haven't asked me and if they did, I don't think so. If somebody asks me I promise you one thing, I will call you first and I will give you the exclusive as th whether I say yes or no.

MAURICE: What is your definition of sexy?

HOLT: Sexy starts in the eyes, to me. That doesn't mean that someone has to have pretty eyes. It means that they have to have aware alert interesting eyes that want to experience more-alive. Then the next step is personality—somebody who can really talk; edit everything they say-someone who is free talking and easy thinking, bright, humorous and then of course you look at the next thing-chemicals, vibrations. I also think success has a great deal to do with sex, because it's not so much for the dollar and it really isn't. But you stop and think about it for a minute. Successful men are usually men who are very aggresive men. Men who have had to fight to get where they are going. Therefore their minds are aware, alert. They absorb and they are always on key and they are always interested.

WTC Enrollment Hits 1,002 For Fall Term

Enrollment at Western Texas College has reached 1,002, Dr. Duane Hood, registrar, has announced. This is an increase of 193 students over the fall enrollment for 1972, which was 809.

A grand total of 1,210 students is enrolled in all departments at the college. This total includes 986 college credit students, 16 vocational nursing students, 60 high school students in Occupational-Technical courses, 112 persons in Community Services courses, and 36 persons in Adult Basic Education.

The 986 students registered for college credit courses represents an increase of 26.7 per cent over last year's enrollment of 778. That in turn was an increase of 19.8 per cent over the 1971 fall enrollment. Overall enrollment in the fall of 1972 was 975, an increase of 33.2 per cent over the fall of 1971.

There are 749.3 students classified as full-time equivalent students, or students taking at least 15 semester hours. This is an increase of 17.1 per cent over the 1972 fall enrollment of 639.8 and an increase of 77.5 per cent over the 1971 figure.

Community Services and Adult Basic Education courses continue through the year and additional students may enroll as new classes are formed.

The college has students from 54 Texas counties and 14 other states. Texas counties represented by at least three students are: Scurry, 549; Mitchell, 69; Haskell, 54; Nolan, 50; Fisher, 37; Taylor, 42; Jones, 36; Garza, 14; Lubbock, 11; Howard, 6 ; Dawson, 5; Kent, 3.

Occupational-Technical students taking college level courses are divided as follows: Auto Mechanics, 17; Diesel Mechanics, 17; Welding, 35; Law Enforcement, 64; Mid-Management, 57; Office Occupations, 133; Electromechanical Technology, 50; Farm and Ranch Management, 8; Golf and Grounds, 3;

Classification statistics show there are 674 freshmen, 450 of these attending college for the first time, 211 sophomore students, and 101 students not classed as freshmen or sophomores. These include persons who are classified above the sophomore level or persons who have not furnished high school transcripts. There are 578 male students among the college credit students and 408 female student.

Western Texas College is one of the state's newest public institutions of higher education. It has candidacy status with the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and affiliate membership in the Association of Texas Colleges and Universities.

Russia Airlifting Ammo, Weapons

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russian transport planes have delivered at least 1,000 tons of weapons and ammunition to Syria and Egypt since midweek, Pentagon officials say.

However, Israeli air attacks on Syrian and Egyptian airfields appear to have impeded the Russian airlift.

Some Russian transport planes were reported to have turned back from Syria and headed home because Syrian airfields were too badly damaged to land.

At least two Russian AN12 Cub transports were reported damaged on the ground at Aleppo, Syria. Israeli jet pilots have refrained from threatening or attacking Soviet transports in the air.

The Russians also are flying heavy military cargo into Egypt aboard giant AN22 transport planes which can carry about 50 tons apiece. War gear unloaded from Soviet planes in Egypt and Syria has included surface-to-air missiles, antitank weapons and ammunition, officials said.

It was noted that Egyptian SAM batteries along the Suez canal have been firing missiles at Israeli planes in salvos. This may indicate the Egyptians are confident of receiving plentiful supplies of missiles from Russia.

Some sources reported the Russians had placed air controller teams at Syrian and Egyptian airports to handle a stream of planes flying in from the Soviet Union.

The Russians also have been resupplying their Arab clients by sea, U.S. intelligence sources said.

More than 50 medium tanks and a number of potent surface-to-air missile batteries were reported to have been landed by a Soviet fighter at Alexandria, Egypt.

The Soviet sealift of war supplies is proving to be risky. Russia claimed one of its freighters was sunk by Israeli missiles in the Syrian port of Tartus.
