County Agent George Reese At Field Days

Mills County Agent George Reese attended the Junior Hereford Field days in Buffalo and Boerne on Tuesday and Thursday of this week.

The Buffalo field day was held at the Van Winkle Hereford Ranch on Tuesday and the one at Boerne is being held at the Fair Oaks Hereford Ranch today.

Reese spoke to the group and gave demonstration on selection of club calf prospects. One County Agent and one Vocational Agriculture Teacher were selected for each of these field days.

Reese was accompanied to Buffalo and Boerne by Eugene Dyas.

Good Lamb Sale Here Saturday

The fourth annual lamb sale was held here Saturday by Glynn and Roger Sanders from Mullin with buyers from over a wide area of Texas and from Louisiana.

Two hundred and ninety lambs were sold, according to Glynn Sanders, who said it was a good sale with about 175 persons attending.

Buyers at the sale came from as far as Louisiana, Texas areas represented with buyers were South Houston, San Antonio, Marfa, Alpine, Balmorhea, Lubbock, Austin and Granger, along with many points in the Central Texas area.

Some of the biggest buyers were FFA Chapters at Wall, Eldorado, San Saba and other Central Texas FFA groups, according to Sanders.

elle Fairman announced today.

"Everyone in Goldthwaite, Texas will use this ZIP Code on all their correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail," Postmaster Fairman said.

ZIP Code, the Post Office Department's revolutionary new system of improved mail dispatch and delivery, goes into effect nationally on July 1.

Postmaster Fairman stressed the importance of all citizens of Goldthwaite learning this city's ZIP Code and using it in their return address on all correspondence. In answering mail, she said, ZIP Codes taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

"The ZIP Code is literally the last word in mail addressing," Mrs. Fairman said, "It should follow the city and state in addresses."

The new ZIP Code plan, Mrs. Fairman said, for the first time will permit the Post Office Department to short-cut repeated address reading.

"The address on mail must often be read as many as eight or ten times by postal employees, to get it to the proper destination," Mrs. Fairman said. "Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error."

"With ZIP Code, a clerk needs only to glance at the code to know immediately to what national area, state and post office the letter is destined, and to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery."

Mrs. Fairman said that when ZIP Code is in full swing, the United States will have "the most modern system of mail distribution and delivery in existence."

How are your hens doing?

More and more, profit-conscious poultrymen these days have before them the facts it takes to decide how to feed and manage birds for most profit.

Look over your records. Ask yourself if your birds, over a 12-month period, will lay more than 240 eggs per hen and consume less than 4.2 lbs. feed per dozen.

These are the standards leading poultrymen all across the nation who feed the Purina Way have come to expect.

Hens on Purina's own Research Farms perform better than these standards, year in and year out.

Reaching goals like these helps poultrymen make money from eggs in these days of lower margins.

Come in and let us give you other reasons why so many top poultrymen feed their hens the Purina Way today.

Modern Drugs

MEAN

Lower Death Rates

With the advent of modern drugs, many serious and previously fatal diseases have been brought under control. Prescribed by physicians and dispensed by pharmacists, these drugs are serving mankind in every field of medicine.

And results can be measured with considerable accuracy in the lowered statistical death rates of such diseases as pneumonia, tuberculosis, mastoiditis, septicemia, syphilis and many other infectious conditions; in the leveling off and, in some cases, the decline of admissions to our mental institutions as well as tuberculosis hospitals, and, in the corresponding increase of the human life span in our United States.

Whereas, in 1900, a newborn infant had a life expectancy of 40 years, today, the newborn can expect to reach the ripe age of 70!

If there had been but a few ounces of sulfa drug in existence in 1923, Calvin Coolidge's son need not have died of septicemia. If, in 1790, they had known of streptomycin or isoniazid, or para-amino-salicylic acid, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart might have lived beyond his brief thirty-five years to enrich mankind with even greater contributions of his genius. If there had been only a half-dozen doses of penicillin available in 1863, President Lincoln's son, Willy, need not have died of pneumonia.

Many of the drugs which we take for granted today just did not exist twenty-five years ago; some of them were unknown as recently as five years ago.

Our pharmacy and your physician are dedicated to your welfare. In keeping with the high standards of pharmacy, we maintain a comprehensive supply of these modern drugs of many brands, so that your prescription may be filled promptly and in accordance with your physician's specification whenever the need arises.

News Of The Ebony Community

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Oh Joy! A good rain Sunday afternoon. It measured 2 3/4 inches at our house. And are we thankful!

We worked the cemetery Saturday. Alvin Hanna and Hubert Reeves ran tractors, scraping the ground wherever possible. The rest of us used hoes and spades, etc., to work where the tractors could not go. There was dinner on the ground. It was so hot not many of us went back to work after dinner. We stayed under the tabernacle and visited with one another. Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Neal were there from their home near Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Reid from Goldthwaite, and Mrs. Lena Crowder from Brownwood. It was good to see these old friends again.

Miss Gerry Egger is attending summer school at ACC at Abilene. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Egger, went after her Saturday and brought her home for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Numa Crowder and their children from Macomb, Illinois, have been here visiting his father, Frank Crowder. They also visited the Truman Crowders at San Antonio. They left this week for Searcy, Arkansas. Mr. Benson, president of Harding College at Searcy, is Mrs. Crowder's father. From there they will return to Macomb, Illinois.

Charles and Helen Griffin and their three little girls have returned from Japan and have been visiting at the Griffin home.

Ever since we got home our water system has been out of fix. The first Friday we were here I talked to some plumbers who said they would come Saturday and fix things up, but they didn't show up. We went to town Thursday. We found an old friend in the plumber's office. He said he would send some boys out Friday morning who would fix things up. They missed the road and were a little late. I was afraid they were not coming. As soon as they got here they went right to work. I was afraid every pipe under the house had been frozen and had burst, but they found only one leak. That was at the bath tub. They had to take out part of the wall to get to it. The pilot to the hot water tank would light, but it wouldn't flame up. They soon had it handing out the hot water. The faucet at the sink was ruined by the freeze. They soon replaced that with a shiny new faucet. They went over the cooler and soon had it cooling the room. The windmill plunger wouldn't strike the pipe right. They soon remedied that. A hydrant out in the yard with an individual cutoff had been leaking since last fall. They soon had it all fixed up good as new. One of the boys said, "We went to school to you at Mullin."

They were Aaron Roberts and Theros Ward. Believe me they really know how to fix things. And are we enjoying their work!

Duren News

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Daniel and children spent last weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Daniel. Fred was here buying lambs for his agriculture chapter at Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cox also visited their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wasserman and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crockett attended funeral services at Odessa, Tuesday, for their brother, Ernest Crockett. We extend our sympathy to the Crockett family in their loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Henry, Bart and Durk, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Henry. Durk and Bart remained for a longer visit.

Mrs. H. L. Pyburn and daughters spent the weekend in Rankin visiting their daughter and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Chesser and girls. Marquita returned home with her mother after a visit with her sister.

Mrs. Rufus Carr and children and Mrs. E. J. Cox and children visited Mrs. Robert Lee, who is in the Dublin Hospital, Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. and Mrs. Billy Vaughan and children were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Duren, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Henry and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Duaine Horton and girls, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark of Comanche attended church here Sunday. We are always proud to have visitors.

Our revival date has been changed to June 28 through July 7. We had decided not to have our singing since our revival would be going on at the time. But since the revival change we will have our singing here at Duren Saturday night, June 22. Hope you can come.

Community News From Mullin

By MRS. JOHNNIE HOLLAND

We have had the best rain of the season in Mullin. This area of the State has been extremely dry. In fact we just haven't had enough rain through the spring months to raise a garden. Most people have had to water their plants daily to keep them from dying.

We received more than three inches and it looks favorable for more.

Channel cats are the only fish of the catfish tribe to be considered truly game fish by Texas anglers. They rate on a par with white bass and crappie, and just below the lordly black bass. More pugnacious than crappie, they equal white bass as scrappers and measure only a few notches below black bass when it comes to putting up a fight. Also, they are the only cats to consistently strike on plugs and spoons.

Channel cats go by many names — mostly according to geography. Besides their ritzy Latin moniker, Ictalurus laevis, trispunctatus, they are known in some sections of the country as fiddlers. Other states call them spotted cat, forktail cat, marble cat, silver cat and white cat. But in Texas they are just plain channel cat, a very descriptive name.

Distributed all over Texas, the channel cat is most abundant in streams that have swift currents and channels. However, the species often is taken from the big lakes and quiet rivers.

This succulent fish is similar to the blue cat that grows to such a size in the Mississippi River and its tributaries. This same blue is found in almost all Texas lakes and rivers, though in somewhat smaller sizes than the Mississippi River variety.

You might say that the channel cat is the blue cat's little brother. Where the blue cat sometimes reaches 50 or 75 pounds in weight, the world record channel cat only tipped the scales at 57 pounds. A five pound channel cat is considered good size. Two or three pounds are most common, and make better eating.

So alike are the channel and blue cats that they often are mistaken for each other. Both are slim shaped with rather narrow heads and forked tails.

You can distinguish the species by the shape and structure of the anal fins. In channel cats the outer edge of this fin is rounded and has 25 to 30 rays. Blue cats have 31 to 33 rays in a straight anal fin. Also, the coloring is different in the two fish. Where channel cats are a darkish blue, or muddy green on the back, going into whites on the sides and stomach, the blues are a much clearer blue on top and more striking white underneath. Channels under five pounds also have dark spots along their sides. These spots tend to disappear when the fish grows beyond five pounds.

Nesting habits of channel cats are similar to those of most fish. Nests are laid in bank hollows or in other secluded spots such as underwater brush, sunken logs and stumps. Spring is spawning time... usually in May but sometimes earlier or later, depending upon water temperature. Like humans, the menfolks generally mind the youngsters and do most of the housework, after the eggs are hatched. The 5,000 to 7,000 eggs laid are about the size of a buckshot. They stick to the nest in a gold-colored, jello-like lump. It takes about seven days for these eggs to hatch, which job the old man tends to, hovering over and fanning them with his tail, always alert to chase away predators.

Small fry stay in the nest about a week under daddy's care before going out into the wide, cruel world — usually followed by the old man for several days who sees they aren't gobbled up.

Channel cats, like the other cats, eat just about everything when they are hungry. The young feed on insects, insect larvae, and other such light diet. The adults go for crawfish, dead fish, small animals such as mice, carrion, or anything else that drifts by, providing it has a strong odor.

During daylight hours channel cats siesta in sheltered spots such as deep holes, overhanging rocks and underwater brush. At dark they move out into the swift and shallow water.

Almost any method of fishing will catch channel cats. One of the most effective is the old, time-honored pole and line. Then there are drop lines and trotlines stretched across channels. Also what is known as a bank pole. The bank pole is a variation of the drop line, made by attaching a 2/0 hook to a 3-foot chalk line tied to any slim, green wood pole. Push butt of pole into mud bank so that the live bait will move and jump just below the water surface.

Minnows make good channel cat bait—either live or wadded balls of slightly ripe dead ones. Crawfish, all sorts of stink bait, chicken guts, cheese and dough also make excellent bait. Cottonseed meal and flour mixed with enough water to form a tough round ball is a bait for channels that is good at any time.

Channel cats are lively, healthy fish, almost free of parasites. They have an insatiable appetite and can thrive in almost any kind of water, even where other fish will die. In the north, channel cats have been known to survive after being frozen in ice all winter. Just so the gills are moist, channel cats are able to live.

Channel cats make great game fish. When snagged in shallow water they often leap out of the water like bass in an attempt to throw the hook. Interspersing these jumps, they take long, explosive runs into deep water.

And man, oh man, there is nothing better to eat than a meal of hot hushpuppies and fried channel catfish. The meat is flaky, juicy, and white — a prime favorite in Texas and other southern states. As a warm water fish, channel cats can't be beat... whether on the end of your line or on the dinner table afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Simpson of Garland visited over the weekend here with relatives and friends.

David L. Cole of Fort Worth is spending a week's vacation visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cole and other relatives.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Y. Tullos Father's Day were their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tullos of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sanderson, Mesquite, and Mr. and Mrs. Sid Smart and son, Sidney Jr., of Dallas.

ACP Helps Get Conservation Job Done By Farmers-Ranchers

Conservation work costs money. That's why we have an ACP, E. L. Burkett, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Mills County Committee, said today. He pointed out that being convinced about the benefits of conservation is not enough, and expressed the belief that some farmers still may not understand that they can obtain program help in getting the needed conservation job done on their farms.

"Just drive around the country," the Chairman declared, "and you can easily spot the farms where conservation farming is being practiced. In many cases, you would also find that the Agricultural Conservation Program is cooperating with the farmer in carrying out the conservation practice on the land."

For farmers who may not fully understand just how ACP works, Mr. Burkett explained that the program's purpose is to encourage the establishment of soil, water, woodland, and wildlife conservation practices needed in the public interest. The program, therefore, has an incentive type of approach to the problem — it "shares the cost" of sound conservation measures which the farmer would not carry out without such assistance.

Funds for this purpose are authorized by Congress in recognition of the fact that the Nation's natural resources are vital not only to the farmers and ranchers who operate the land but also to the health and well-being of each citizen, both now and in the future.

ACP practices to promote conservation measures are selected to meet local as well as national conditions. Each county has a list of the practices, specifications, and cost-share rates approved for local farmers participating in the program.

In brief, the farmer obtains ACP cooperation by filing a request with the ASC County Committee for ACP cost-sharing before carrying out the practice. He receives a definite notice from the committee of the extent to which his request has been approved. After completion of the practice, the farmer certifies this by filing the necessary report form with the county office. His cost-sharing assistance, in the form of either cash, or a purchase order for a conservation service or material, usually covers about half the cost of the approved practice.

Under the cash plan, the farmer pays the total cost of establishing the approved practice, and he is later reimbursed for the Government's share of the cost. Under the purchase order plan, the Government's cost-share is advanced to the vendor who supplies the farmer (1) a conservation material — such as seed, trees, fertilizer, lime, or tile; or (2) a service — such as earth moving, tree planting, or tile laying. The farmer pays the vendor the difference between the amount the Government pays and the total cost of the material or service used.

ACP also helps pay for technical service where required to determine need and practicability or to plan and lay out the practice. This is accomplished through special arrangements with the Soil Conservation Service, the State Forester and others.

Farmers who wish further details about ACP are urged to call at the ASCS County Office.

Sheep And Goat Raisers' Directors To Meet In Odessa

Mohair and mohair promotion will get considerable attention of directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association at their summer quarterly meeting in Odessa Friday and Saturday, June 21 and 22, says Tom Wallace, Executive Secretary. Headquarters will be at the Lincoln Hotel.

Much of the discussion on mohair will be the promotion program which is being handled by a New York City fashion agency. James L. Powell of Fort McKavett, TS&GRA president, and Wallace are scheduled to make reports on legislative activities. The two spent several days in Washington last month and also considerable time in Austin while the Legislature was in session.

"This should be an important meeting from a business standpoint," Powell says, "as it pertains to our livestock industry. Reports will be given on screw-worm eradication, predatory animal problems, including the golden eagle problem, marketing problems and tax matters."
