Winter's Icy Burden

Colorado City's ice storm chilled trees into broken icycles, causing widespread damage. At left, an auto, owned by A. C. Craig, is shown trapped amidst fallen iced branches of a tree beside the Craig home in 700 block of Austin. Majestic limbs of large trees in the 900 block of Chestnut are broken in a chilly scene in middle photo. At Courthouse

2 Candidates Open Politics

Politics comes quickly into view with the New Year.

First to announce their candidacies are two at the Courthouse -- Mrs. Marie Bassham, who will seek the office of County Clerk, and Leonard Henderson, who will run for re-election to Precinct 1 Justice of Peace.

Mrs. Bassham's announcement makes it certain that County Clerk Gilbert Leach will go ahead with plans to retire instead of seeking another term.

Bassham For Clerk

Mrs. Marie Bassham, who has been an employe in the County Clerk's office for 16 years, Wednesday authorized Colorado City Record to announce her candidacy for the office of Mitchell County Clerk.

The Colorado City native has been serving several years as chief deputy to County Clerk Gilbert Leach.

"I am completely know-

Henderson For J-P

Leonard Henderson, a businessman in downtown Colorado City for 41 years before being elected Justice of Peace, Precinct 1, Wednesday announced he would be a candidate for re-election.

The former Colorado City mayor was elected to the office in 1965. Henderson retired from his Texaco business at the start of his term Jan. 1, 1966.

"My pledge when I was a candidate four years ago," Henderson stated, "was to conduct the affairs of this office in a manner to best serve the public and the taxpayers."

"I believe the record of my

Crushed But Not Hurt

A 1969 Plymouth is shown crushed under a truck loaded with carpet on Interstate 20 at Loraine Sunday afternoon. But no one in either the flattened car or the wrecked truck was injured. Moments after the Record's Lacy Boles shot this photo two persons were hurt when a car struck two other cars which had stopped for the wreck.

Plant Cost Listed

Engineers Itemize $347,800

What's so expensive about a municipal waste water reclamation plant (sewage disposal)?

The facility needs to be either updated in a major rennovation or replaced entirely by a new plant.

Cost for a new plant, according to Parkhill, Smith & Cooper Inc. will be about $347,800 at today's building prices.

Parkhill, Smith & Cooper is the Lubbock firm of consulting engineers preparing the city's new master plan and just completed with a report on the city's disposal plant.

The engineers, after recommending a complete new plant, itemized the cost. Here is what they estimated in current costs:

1. Grading and site work - $3,000.

2. Lift station - $38,000.

3. Entrance works - $33,000.

4. Contact stabilization, including equipment, blowers, installation, structure and blower building - $144,500.

5. Main building, including office, laboratory, toilets, storage, chlorination room and chlorination equipment - $18,500.

6. Plant piping - $20,000.

7. Miscellaneous, including fencing, paving, sidewalks, etc. - $9,000.

Crews Work To Repair Ice Damage

Mitchell County, still shivering as it thawed out from its most severe ice storm in decades, counted up a costly damage list Wednesday.

Fifty per cent of Lone Wolf's customers still were without electrice power Wednesday as the co-op's crews worked on emergency basis with three out-of-town crews to restore service.

Approximately 15 rural lines of Southwestern Bell Telephone still were "out" Wednesday and service had been interrupted for about 150 phone customers within Colorado City.

Texas Electric Service Company, with its crews on emergency basis also, reported as many as 90 customers at a time with out electricity at various times throughout the four-day period.

Television went off for dozens of customers of Frontier TV Cable Company and more had a blackout as their antennas toppled.

Electric and phone company spokesman said their troubles increased with the thaw-out as heavy lines, forced downward by ice, snapped back up, burning other lines or knocking out transformers or breakers.

That was only part of the loss caused by the storm which blew in on this area Sunday afternoon and caused serious highway accidents.

Branches cracked and fell from trees large and small with their burdening loads of ice.

Their dazzling cyrstal-like sheaths were only a temporary beauty mark of the severe damage which will require costly pruning and shaping as well

See DAMAGE Page 7

2 Pile-Ups In Traffic

Two auto pile-ups on Interstate 20 -- one Sunday at the outset of the ice storm and the other Tuesday evening -- caused only minor injuries.

Mrs. Pauline Lee of Midland, driving a 1969 Plymouth, miracusly escaped injury when her car was crushed on I-20 overpass at Loraine.

She was traveling west when a 1969 Mack truck-tractor and trailer loaded with 800 pounds of carpet, driven by James McGuffin of Cement, Okla., struck the rear of her car. Then the trailer turned over onto her car.

Moments later two cars stopped for the accident were hit by a 1968 Ford driven by Caroline Scott of Odessa. Two persons riding in the Scott car -- Paul Hibler, 18, of Oklahoma City and Elizabeth Scott, 18, of Odessa -- were treated at Johnson Hospital in Loraine for minor injuries.

At 7:15 p.m. Tuesday on Interstate 20 overpass at Westbrook, a truck-tractor and trailer stuck a horse on the highway. In quick succession two other cars hit the horse.

Cotton Iced At 17,747

Mitchell County's harvested cotton counted 17,747 bales before ice and snow bogged farmers down again.

That's more than half the total expected from the county's 1969 crop, but just how much more is not certain.

Farmers, hampered by foul weather off and on since the earliest crops started to roll toward the gins, will have another delay before getting on with the stripping.

Heavy moisture in the snow, sleet and ice will probably keep crews out of fields longer than a good rain. It puffs the soil and soaks slowly downward, increasing the penetration of moisture along with the bogginess.

Only two gins had processed more than 3,000 bales Tuesday. Producers Co-op in Colorado City reported 3,352 bales and Loraine Co-op reported 3,338 bales.

Buford Co-op reported 1,930 bales and Planters Gin in Westbrook had 1,633.

Lamb Judging Opens Show

Immediately after the show, the youths will move their animals to Colorado City for the 1970 Mitchell County 4-H & FFA Livestock Show.

Approximately 185 animals are expected to be entered into the county competition, which has its first judging Friday and concludes with two more divisions Saturday.

County Agent Bobby Lemons said the county show entries would include about 25 steers, three heifers, 60 lambs, and 100 hogs.

Judging of swine by Paul Gross, Howard County agricultural agent, will begin at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Fred Igo, Sterling City vocational ag teacher, will judge lambs beginning at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Closing the 1970 show will be steer judging by Jimmie Walker, Hale County assistant agricultural agent, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

There will be three classes -- heavy, medium and lightweight -- in the steer division with winners in each class, plus a grand champion and reserve champion.

In addition awards also will be presented for champion Hereford, Champion Hereford bred in Mitchell County, champion Angus and best calf bred in Mitchell County.

In addition to grand champion and reserve champion animals and winners for each class, awards also will be presented for best lamb bred in Mitchell County and groups of three from each of the classes.

Six classes of pigs will be judged. These are (1) and (2), lightweight and heavyweight Duroc; (3) and (4), lightweight and heavyweight Hampshire; (5) and (6) lightweight and heavyweight other breeds and crosses.

Best barrow bred in Mitchell County and champion pen of 3 barrows will be selected in addtion to winners of each class and the grand champion and reserve champion pigs.

Showmanship awards will be awarded all three divisions -- steer, lamb and swine.

New herdsman awards will be presented to exhibitors in each division who best maintain their pen or stall exhibits.

Only one class of heifers will be judged and this will include all breeds owned and cared for by the exhibitor 150 days prior to the show.

EVIDENCE OF THE BEST
I've talked to some of those who have been working day and night to repair all the broken electric, phone and TV lines.
They all report that the citizens who are inconvenienced -- those whose phone service and electricity and TV has been cutoff -- have been exceptionally patient and understanding.
That's a pretty fine compliment for our community.
Our people are the best -- and the nicest -- even in trying times.

WHERE did 1969 go? For that matter, where did 1939, 1949, and 1959 go? Can you tell me?

Anyhow, looking through the grab-bag of memories, find that 1969 was the year President Richard Nixon began to show signs that he, too, knows, "How to Win Friends and Influence People," including some doubtful Democrats.

This was the year Vice President Spiro Agnew took over the duties of loudly scolding the news media, television commentators, and anybody who disagrees with the Nixon Administration.

This was the year when Joe Namath shed tears all over a TV interview when his private business venture was declared off-limits for a pro football player. This was the year when Don Meredith willed his share of the Cowboy stands' boo's to Craig Morton.

And old 1969 was the year when the high cost of living joined the space age. . .soaring plumb out of sight. In orbit.

DID NOT, what with the short days surrounding Christmas get the annual letter to Santa Claus written. . .nor the Christmas cards mailed, either.

Wish for Liz Taylor Burton a diamond-studded bicycle. . . and for Jackie Kennedy Onassis a sable-lined bathtub.

NOT ALL this collection of personal New Year's wished are so unimportant or highly unnecessary.

Wish for Lyndon B. Johnson more rest on his ranch. He looked so wonderfully relaxed on that TV special "Why I Chose Not to Run."

Wish for Bob Hope everything that is good.

Wish for Art Linkletter good luck with his new show. It takes a brave man to air any show in the same time slot wherein "As The World Turns" captures all the ladies.

Wish for the soap opera writers a catalogue of new names for their long-suffering characters. Tune in any one you care to and meet at least one Lisa, one Nicole, one Susan, one Val, one Lori or Laurie. And why are all aunts in the things always named Aunt Aggie?

WISH for all readers of the Record everywhere a fine New Year!

Wish for all makers of New Year's resolutions the strength to keep at least some of them. . .and, for those who didn't make any to break, the will power to make at least one. How can anybody break what they didn't bother to make?

Wish for all C-City tree-lovers the desire (and the money) for replacing all the town's beautiful old trees broken by the ice storm here Monday night. How could such utter beauty wreak such heartbreak? It did. All over town.

Wish for all who mourn the ease from grief which only time can bring them.

Wish for the young the blessing of hope and courage. . .and for the old the comfort of faith and the richness of sweet memories to keep.

Wish for the middleaged the patience and wisdom and good humor they will surely need again all through 1970.

HAPPY New Year. Happy New Year! As the New Year starts I wish you love. . .and peace in your hearts.

NEW YEAR celebration at the home of Rochelle and Arnel B. Smith is sure to be a happy one.

Smith daughter Ronell (Mrs. Thomas T. Cunyas) and 16-month-old baby daughter Kelly came home with the Smiths Sunday after a Christmas celebration for the family in the Cunyas home at Arlington. Thomas Cunyas joins his wife and daughter here for New Year's holidays.

Their son Dr. Bob Aycock, his wife and baby daughter Kim had a pre-holiday visit here then spent Christmas in Denton. Bob's twin sister Cynthia, her husband J. R. Johes, and children Kristy and Bryan of Beaumont, arrived here Dec. 20 to meet Bob and his family. J. R. came back Christmas Eve, left Saturday Dec. 27, and will meet his family in Gatesville the Sunday after New Year's day.

Aycock identical twin sons, Doug of Hardin-Simmons University, and David of Angelo State University, were here for Christmas and will be here for the ringing out of the old, ringing in of the new.

Bill Randle's sister Lucy and her husband Ed Warren of Hereford shared the Randle family feast which also included Ann Randle Davis and children Randle and Jill.

Among the holiday cards was one for the Record Staff from the Don Maynard family wishing happiness to all Colorado City.

DEPARTMENT of Corrections—which has nothing to do with the state penal system or some of us would be sunk—takes note that Carol Prewitt, wife of Frank, is employed in the tax office of the Colorado Independent School System, NOT the county tax-assessor-collector's office at the Court House.

Clay Strange, son of Gwan and Lena Strange, is now living in Austin where he is employed by Gulf Insurance Co. He received his degree from Austin College in Sherman last May. Saturday night, Clay was married to his college sweetheart, Janelle Guinn, of Dallas.

Ceremony took place in the Southwest Methodist Church at Dallas and Lena and Gwan were there for the wedding. Janelle is now a student in University of Texas at Austin.

Furthermore, the Jimmie Costins moved from Dallas to Atlanta, Ga., some time ago. Jim, son of Mrs. Wilson (Glade) Hrbacek and the late Jim Costin, is a medical student at Emroy University and is doing researeh in the lab at the famous Grady Hospital.

Green Rites Set Friday

Final rites for Velma (Preacher) Green will be conducted Friday at 2:30 p.m. in Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

Green, 63, died Sunday at 11:15 a.m. in the local hospital.

Rev. F. N. Nelson, Mt. Zion pastor, will officiate in funeral service. Burial will be in Mitchell County Cemetery under direction of Kiker and Son.

Born in Louisiana April 27, 1906, Green was an employe of Colorado Compress Company. He married Maggie Mae Wallace here Oct. 3, 1925.

He is survived by his wife of 1013 College Street; his mother, Mrs. Martha Green of Los Angeles, Cal.; five sons-Matthew Green of Lubbock, Iasiah Green and James Green of Amarillo, John Green of Los Angeles and Velma Green Jr. of Colorado City.

Four brothers -- Robert Green, John Berry Green and O. T. Green, all of Los Angeles, Delton Green of Colorado City; a half-brother, Precious Green of Dallas.

PLANT

8. Sludge drying beds - $8,800.

All of that totals up to $274,800 for construction costs.

Another sum of $27,500 was estimated by the engineers for contingencies -- those extras which usually show in a big construction job.

On top of all that cost is $45,500 more -- fees to be paid to the consulting engineers for engineering, inspection and testing.

That brings the total estimate for a new plant to $347,800.

Of course, if prices continue to climb upward, you can figure a higher total.

And this is for a plant to adequately serve a city of 10,000 population or to put it another way, to handle an average daily sewage flow of one million gallons per day.

The city's present plant, now definitely inadequate in its current condition, went into operation in 1946 and another consulting engineer firm then said it was good enough for 15,000 population.

DAMAGE

as future over-loading for pick-up crews.

The chilling storm turned the area into an icycle by dropping the temperature from a high of 64 degrees Sunday to a freezing 30 degrees within a few hours.

Temperature plunged down to 23 Monday and 20 Tuesday -- the third coldest date officially for Colorado City during all of 1969. Only other dates colder were last March 23 when the termometer dipped to 19 degrees with rain and sleet.

The icy trouble started for Lone Wolf Electric Sunday afternoon with calls of broken lines. Crews worked through Sunday night before finally quitting at 3 a.m.

Knocked out was the entire metering point for the Loraine area. All co-op electricity was "out" to all customers there.

The blackout area included all of Lone Wolf's area south of Roscoe, all in the vicinity of Ira.

The co-op immediately called in 5-men crews from electric cooperatives in Talioka and Brackettville and one from D. R. Florence Construction Company in Athens.

One Florence crewman was killed and another seriously injured enroute to Colorado City in a wreck near Putnam.

"I would estimate we had 80 per cent of our system off at one time," reported Kenneth Rogers, Lone Wolf manager, Wednesday. "Probably 50 per cent is still off today."

His crews were having trouble getting into damage areas Wednesday with the thaw.

"We can't predict when we will restore everyone to service," Rogers said. "A lot depends upon the weather and soil conditions."

Dollar loss to Lone Wolf "is going to run high. . .it really is going up there," he said.

One complete metering point at Lake J. B. Thomas was still on Wednesday without damage.

Most of the damage was in the Loraine and Colorado City areas.

"Twenty-nine poles went down in a row near Loraine," Rogers reported. "These went down like dominoes."

Texas Electric's first line went out about 9 o'clock Sunday night. That was in the China Grove area when 13 poles went down.

"From then on we had some 90 customers off at one time or another for varying amounts of time," said Don Benson, TESCO manager.

"Initial freeze Sunday caused trouble, sure," he explained, "but as the thaw comes on, our troubles increase."

"Ice drops off bottom lines first, then they jump up into the top lines and either burn down or knock transformers out."

This same increasing difficulty was reported also by Lone Wolf.

TESCO brought in out-of-town crews from Midland at midnight Sunday to work with two emergency Colorado City crews which included office workers.

"These men kept working around the clock mostly until finally quitting at midnight Tuesday to rest," Benson said.

TESCO counted 22 poles down over the county and 8 or 10 badly leaning, about 30 lines with limbs or trees on the wire.

"We are giving priority to restoring electricity to those who are without service," Benson said. "We appreciate reports of limbs across lines, but if they still have electricity despite the tree limbs, then we will work them later."

TESCO reported heavy damage in Loraine area most of its Westbrook service was out 12 to 14 hours.

West side of Lake Colorado City was out also for a period of hours.

One of the most severe interruptions for Colorado City came in the northern section when 22 customers were without electric service for about three hours.

"We are especially appreciative of the splendid spirit of our customers who have had patience and understood our problems," Benson said. "It is wonderful to have such fine customers."

Southwestern Bell Telephone reported most of its damage was east of Colorado City. About 15 lines were out in the rural areas, cutting about 90 customers out of phone service.

Much of their rural work will await replacement of downed poles by Lone Wolf Electric because the phone compnay is using those lines for their phone service.

Phone service was interrupted for about a total of 150 homes in Colorado City up to Wednesday noon.

Most of the phone trouble started Tuesday with the thaw and crews have been working 14-hour work days in an effort to restore service.

"My pledge, if elected," she continued, "will be to operate the office in an efficient and business - like manner with emphasis on cooperation and service to the public."
