 bigger responsibility too. I'll be meeting the public more."

The Kermit native said that she's been the secretary for 11 months. "September 3 will be a year," she said, adding that she likes the work, especially after becoming acquainted with the people and town.

"I'd grown up in Kermit and knew everyone there and they all knew me and coming here was a big change but now that I know people and they know me, I like it," she summarized.

She and her husband have been married two years and he is also a native of Kermit. She said that he worked in Mitchell County in the summer while he was going to Midland College and he liked it here and so when he graduated in 1980, they moved here and live at the lake.

Working at the Chamber of Commerce is not her first job experience as she worked first in the mailing department and then in the front office of "The Collector," a paper for antique collectors published in Kermit.

"I'm going to wait and think it through and see how much support I have for the manager's job. I want to know if there are people who will support me and I think they will since after the rodeo, they've seen how well we did with that," she said.

The job would be about a $400 per month raise for Mrs. McCombs, she said, and the work would be about the same but the directors indicated that she would have a secretary to help her with the details. Salary offered her was $1,100 monthly plus car allowance.

As for now, she said that she has no deadline for making her decision and she'll make it after she's considered all the aspects of making the change.

Parking

 lence our customers. We feel they'll shop where they can get a parking space."

Sears Catalog Store, Glenda Stinson owner: "Yes, we park in the back and save the front for customers."

J. C. Britton of Britton's Furniture: "We park in back and haven't had any problems. I think we need a few more parking lots for employees to use and I think they would if they were aware of it."

Anthony's manager John Cantu: "There's no problem here. We park at the side or in back. Sometimes we have so many customers that we don't have enough parking spaces, but that's all right."

Montgomery Ward catalog store owner Jan Lemons: "We have no problems because sometimes if our regular customers can't find a parking space in the front, they know they can come around to the back where there's parking space."

Marshall's Downtown, Manager Christine Henderson was not present for comment but store employees said that they never park in front but save the space for customers. They park on the side or in front of the Thompson Room.

Kirschbaum's owner Joe Kirschbaum said that they used to park in front of the store but "don't anymore because there's too many cars in front of their businesses. Now we park behind the Civic Center."

Sharon Myers, The Occasion: "We park behind the building. Since Donut Alley opened and the storm caused so much business at the insurance companies, we haven't had enough parking spaces on this street but since I talked to Jack Hollis at the savings and loan we've had more space in front of the shop recently."

Mildred Free of Free's Friendly Shop: "I don't know why people park in front of their business or especially in front of someone else's when they're just parking there and working somewhere all day. I don't know how they can be so inconsiderate."

Creations By You owner Ruth Haggerton: "Here in our location, I really don't have any problem because my customers can park in front of the Palace and I park in the back so there's no problem."

The Hair Affair owner Brenda Moore: "A lot of people gripe because they can't find a parking place and some people are old or have trouble getting around and have trouble walking very far so I can understand that they want a parking place that's close. We don't park out front but in front of the vacant lot next door."

Carol Sue Dakan of CC Athletics: "I don't have any solution to the problem. Maybe if people would park as close as possible to the place they're going that would help."

Stinson Jewelry manager Mary Kiling: "We park in the back and it's not a problem very often, but if people would not park in front of their business it would be better. We'd like to have these spaces for customers."

The Copper Penny employee Debbie Webb: "We all park at the side and in front of that vacant store but some people are used to parking in front here and we're open now and need the space for our customers."

Lloyd's Place employees park on the side and leave front space for customers.
 White Auto owner Gayle Houston: "We tell our employees to park in front of the fur company. I don't know why the city painted that curb yellow and marked no parking there anyway and so if someone might observe it, I just use it myself or let some of our employees park there. We also park in the alley where there's a space."

Mrs. Houston also noted that the parking stripes are faded and need repainting so that people will park straight and not take up two spaces by parking crooked.

In summarizing the parking space problem, it might be handy to keep in mind that parking in front of someone else's business is a No-No and parking in front of your own business might drive a customer away.

Police Report

The Colorado City Police Department reported only two calls during the past five days.

July 29 at 6:15 p.m., Officer Tommy Hendrick investigated a hit and run on the parking lot at Fuller Foods. The vehicle was a 1980 Plymouth two-door registered to Julie Crow of Colorado City.

July 31 at 12:45 a.m., Donna Ingram of 1326 Walnut in Colorado City, reported her purse and contents were stolen from a pickup parked in front of Trucktown. Officer Pat Taylor investigated.

Senior citizens activities planned

The Colorado City Senior Citizens have several activities planned for August, including two dances at the Boys Club on August 10 and August 24.

All-Stars win for sportsmanship

The Division I UGSA All-Stars finished in third place and won the sportsmanship trophy in the state-wide tournament this past weekend held in Odessa. The team was given the chance to advance to state by placing second in the district tournament held in Sweetwater.

Cami Redwine and Amy Chitsey were honored with a spot on the all-tournament team at the close. Tammy Bradley was chosen by her teammates to serve as team captain during the tournament.

The girls went on a winning streak their first two games. The first game was against Merkel-Trent and Colorado City came out on top 9-6. Outstanding players were Tammy Bradley, Amy Chitsey and Cami Redwine.

Jal, New Mexico also felt a bit of Colorado City power when in the second game, the girls defeated them 24-5. Tammy and Cami aided the team with home runs. Tammy, Amy and Sandy Molina were outstanding players.

On July 30, the girls played two innings of ball against Mount Vernon and then the game was postponed because of rain. This would prove to come back and haunt Colorado City.

The game resumed Saturday morning at 7, but the rain the night before seemed to have put a damper on Colorado City's winning game plan. The girls lost to Mount Vernon 13-5 despite a second homerun by Cami Redwine. Cami, Amy and Tammy were named outstanding players. After a brief rest, the girls played again at noon. They played Sweetwater to an agonizing loss of 8-1. Sandy, Amy and Cami were chosen as outstanding players.

Others comprising the team were: Linda Sue Dockrey, Nat Gabba, Sunnye Biggs, Priscilla Anne Mayes, Christina Rosas, Jo Ann Ornelas, Debbie Gardner and Dalia Franco.

Compliments go out to these girls on behalf of their fine performance and their exemplary representation of Colorado City.

The team wanted to thank everyone for their support and for buying tickets to the beef they were taking donations for. They raised $1,849 toward the trip.

CLASSIC CUTLERY

featuring genuine PAKKAWOOD HANDLES

One unique design for every possible need

Ekco, the most famous name in the industry for kitchen knives, is proud to offer CLASSIC CUTLERY, a new complete cutlery assortment designed for the professional but priced exclusively for you. Twelve knives will be made available during the promotion. Each knife has its own unique design—one for every possible need.
Add to this collection five distinctive cutting boards and two convenient storage holsters and you can have the ultimate assortment of kitchen knives and accessories which will last and last for years to come. All items carry our famous EKCO ETERNA® five year warranty.
All handles are specially contoured for easy use and are made of 100% PAKKAWOOD®. It is a combination of northern and imported hardwood and phenolic resins blended together through the use of extremely high temperature and "tons" of pressure. In a few hours we have been able to do what has taken Mother Nature thousands and thousands of years to accomplish—produce a type of material similar to petrified wood. Our PAKKA-WOOD® handle is resistant to burns, bacteria stains, usual household acids as well as being dishwasher safe. Under normal use it will not chip, peel, break, crack or melt. No two handles look exactly alike because the natural grain of the wood is retained in the process.

Ekco's CLASSIC CUTLERY blades are specifically made for hard kitchen use. The true beauty and cutting ability of the knife blade is the perfect combination of carbon and chromium which produces a fine quality stainless steel alloy. It is specifically suited for kitchen knives because it is resistant to rust, corrosion and withstands repeated, prolonged exposure to moisture that stains and dulls ordinary steel.
Meal preparation calls for much cutting, slicing, paring, chopping, coring, boning or trimming, and it is impossible for one knife to do all these tasks easily, swiftly and well.

Preschoolers and television

Here is Part III of a four part series brought to you by the Texas State Teachers Association and the Colorado City RECORD to help you teach your child to use television productively.

Preschoolers and TV. Congratulations on being a parent. It is one of life's most rewarding experiences.

Part of being a parent is selecting the best for your new child. You want your youngster to grow up happy and healthy. Plan your youngster's time well. Your child needs fresh air, exercise, hugging, sleep, food, play time, thinking time, family time, reading time and a little TV time.

If your preschooler is watching too much television, then it's "prime time" for parental involvement!

Make certain your children watch TV for information and entertainment. Television should not be a babysitter.

Watch TV with your child—after you have carefully selected a good program.

Discuss what you watch on TV with your child. Point out colors, animals and common objects around the house. Ask questions! This teaches youngsters to look more closely at what they see. Ask your child, "Did you like the program we watched?" This helps your youngster to evaluate feelings and to think clearly.

Stretch your child's imagination. Ask how else a character could have acted, (e.g. "could the baby duck have done something different in the cartoon?")

Keep toys and empty boxes around so your youngster learns to play creatively. Also, be sure there are some small, baby-size books available—cloth books are good. This will free your child from depending on TV for entertainment.

Be sure your child learns what is real and what is not real. This is a very difficult thing for a young child to do. Youngsters believe everything they see or hear on TV is real because they don't know anything else. There is a lot of make-believe on TV. Young people need to know the difference.

Help your child to learn to listen. Point out different sounds on TV sounds such as: laughter, crying, musical tones, animal noises and traffic, etc. This helps your child learn to listen carefully.

Read to your child as soon as possible. Reading soothes children and helps prepare them for school days ahead. Reading every day is not too much, and most children love stories at bedtime.

Caution young children not to sit or play too close to the TV set. Be sure a light is on in the same room where the TV set is on. Improper lighting can be harmful to eyesight.

Films to be shown

Three films will be shown at Mitchell County Library Saturday afternoon, free of charge. Screenings begin at 2 p.m. They are as follows:

—"The Possum That Didn't," 11 min. in color and sound for ages primary and elementary. How do you tell if a possum, hanging upside down, is smiling or frowning? A group of picknickers comes upon a smiling possum hanging in a tree. They decide the possum isn't smiling at all, but frowning. To remedy this, the busybodies set out to entertain the possum in the city. But he only grew sadder. Not until they returned him to his forest home, back among the things he loved, did he smile once more.

—"White Mane," 40 min. in black and white and sound for primary through junior high. A young boy eager to possess a beautiful wild stallion that roams the flatlands near the River Rhone, ultimately wins the confidence of the horse, tames him, and rides off with him to the sea. Filmed in the south of France.

—"Dorothy and the Kite," 8 min. in color and sound for primary ages. A story about the adventures of a parrot as he helps a little girl catch a paper kite which escaped into the sky.

"Bright spot" is seen in battle against angel dust

By LLOYD BENTSEN

As the reports on our nation's war against drugs become more discouraging, one bright spot has developed. According to the Drug Enforcement Administration, we have made dramatic strides in the fight to eliminate "angel dust."

When "angel dust," or phencyclidine hydrochloride (PCP), was developed in the mid-50s, it was seen as a promising anesthetic for use in operating rooms. Research, however showed that the drug produced horrifying psychotic reactions. It literally drove people mad, so it was barred completely for use on humans.

By the mid-70s, "angel dust" was fast becoming one of the most abused drugs in the nation since it could be produced at such a low cost—only $1 per "hit." Between 1976 and 1977, the DEA reported that confiscated dosage units had doubled, from 1.7 million to 3.5 million. This was happening in spite of appalling reports of derangement caused by the drug.

One young man under the influence of "angel dust" pulled out his own teeth with pliers; another gouged out his eyes to avoid seeing grotesque visions; a third youth drank rat poison to kill the rodents he believed had infested his body; and a fourth gnawed his forearms almost to the bone because of "voices" telling him his hands had offended him.

It took six police officers to arrest another young man brandishing a knife who kept such a "death-like" grip on the weapon that officers had to hit his hand with night-sticks. They shattered the knife handle, but the youth still clutched the blade when he finally was subdued. Later examination showed his hand was broken in four places.

These horror stories could not be allowed to continue.

In 1978, I authored and passed through Congress the Psychotropic Substances Act, making it difficult for drug dealers to purchase the chemical piperidine, a key ingredient of "angel dust." My bill also substantially increased penalties for trafficking in the drug.

Since the law went into effect in 1979, the results have been heartening. Within a year, emergency rooms reported a 24 percent decrease in cases involving "angel dust." Black market prices for piperidine skyrocketed a hundred-fold, and the average sentence for "angel dust" traffickers went from two years to six years.

Just recently, the new DEA deputy director Jack Lavin told me the best news yet. He told me that we'd had the most dramatic reduction in "angel dust," by legislation, that he'd ever seen in any drug before.

Hospital emergency cases involving use of "angel dust," he said, have now been cut in half—from approximately 10,000 in 1978 to about 5,000 last year.

That's doing pretty well, as I see it. But I won't be content until we've wiped out this menacing drug entirely.

Becky Hardegree honored

Holcombe reports on brucellosis

Texas livestock producers are continuing to show an increasing interest in establishing certified brucellosis free herds, Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, reports.

By the end of this month, it is expected there will be more than 450 certified brucellosis free herds in Texas. By the end of the year, the figure could jump to more than 800. "As of the end of July, 1981, there were only 150 certified free herds in Texas," Dr. Holcombe said.

"The reasons for this are many; a cattleman's best assurance for as much free movement of his cattle as possible within Texas or out-of-state is a certified brucellosis free herd," Dr. Holcombe explained.

Firemen return from A&M

Three Colorado City firemen have returned home from the 53rd annual Texas Fireman's Training School at Texas A&M University in Bryan.

Ray Dillard and Brian Bassham received training of the latest firefighting techniques and equipment operations.

Doyle Mitchell trained in investigations, cause and detection of arson, State laws, inspections and public relations.

The fire school is held annually in an effort to train firemen to more effectively fight fires with regard to their own safety and the safety of others. Attendance of firemen to this school also affects the Key Rating of Insurance in the city.

Currently, there are 26 different breeds in Texas with certified free herds. These include Brangus, Angus, Maine Anjou, Holstein, Beefmaster, Brahman, Charolais, Santa Gertrudis, Red Angus, Polled Hereford, Hereford, Pinzgauer, Simmental, Jersey, Limousin, Red Brangus, Red Brahman, Longhorn, Beefalo, Polled Brahman, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Aberdeen Angus, Tarentaise, Braford and Chianina.

A certified brucellosis free herd is available for beef cattle producers, both registered and commercial as well as dairymen.

"The interest in establishing a certified free herd is statewide, and we are finding commercial as well as purebred breeders are getting their herds certified brucellosis free," Dr. Holcombe said.

Complete details on getting a herd certified may be obtained from any area TAHC office, county Extension agents, or from veterinarians.

Obituary

Bennett

Funeral services for Stella Bennett, 88, of Loraine were held at the First Baptist Church in Loraine at 4 p.m. Sunday, August 1, with the pastor, the Rev. David McNary officiating.

Mrs. Bennett died at 5:45 a.m. Saturday at Leisure Lodge in Loraine, where she had been a patient several months.

Born Stella Edna Welch December 24, 1893, in Llano county, she moved to Mitchell County with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Welch, at an early age. She attended Colorado City school, Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene and North Texas State in Denton. She married Robert Hal Bennett September 7, 1919 in Colorado City. He died November 3, 1966. She taught school in Mitchell County and the surrounding area for 12 years. She was an active member of First Baptist Church of Loraine, a Sunday School teacher for many years and compiled a history of the church which is now on file in the church library. She was a member of the Atheneum Study Club of Loraine and of the Texas and Mitchell County Historical Societies.

Survivors include a son, Robert Charles of Midland; a daughter, Mrs. Joe F. Reeder of Odessa; two sisters, Mrs. C. P. Gary of Colorado City and Mrs. James K. Avera of San Angelo; a brother, Horace Welch of Tulsa and four grandchildren.

Palbearers were Ray Preston, Woodrow Pratt, Gus Armstrong, Ted Lefevre, Atwood Sheffield, Willie Taylor and H. Alcott.

Burial was in the Loraine Cemetery, directed by Kiker-Seale Funeral Home of Colorado City.

Budget cutting goal exceeded

The House Agriculture Committee exceeded its goal of spending cuts called for by the First Budget Resolution and should serve as an example to other committees currently debating spending cuts, Congressman Charles W. Stenholm said.

"If every other committee acted in as conscientious a manner, great strides in reduction of federal spending would be made quickly," Stenholm, a two-term member of the Ag Committee, added.

The Ag Committee was directed by the First Budget Resolution to make savings in program spending of some $779 million. Actual savings approved by the committee totaled $1.3 billion, an additional savings of $539 million.

"Agriculture has taken more overall cuts than any other area of spending over the past few years," Stenholm said, "but there is a limit as to how far this one committee can go or how much one industry can bear. As far as I am concerned we would not cut one more penny until other committees prove that they are going to do their share. To date there has been no indication that they will do so."

Stenholm commended Ag Committee Chairman E. (Kika) de la Garza in his work on the reconciliation process, saying, "I can't give enough credit to de la Garza, because there is tremendous pressure to ignore the First Budget Resolution recommendations and continue with spending patterns of the past. That is where the budgetary process bogged down last year. Anytime a committee chairman is able not only to make recommended cuts, but to actually exceed those goals, it has to be considered something of a political miracle."

"Now we will see if other chairmen can come close to that achievement," Stenholm said.

Major changes in the agriculture budget were recommended in areas affecting dairy, feed grains, wheat, cotton, rice and food stamps.

"The dairy provisions proved to be central," Stenholm said. "Without the initiative taken by the dairy industry itself to resolve problems caused by oversupply, our task would have been almost impossible. Revision of the dairy program not only accounted for a large portion of the total savings, but the industry's actions were the first critical step in rebuilding the farm coalition broken apart during debate on the farm bill last year. We have to have cooperation among all farm groups when we begin work on the next farm bill or we will all go down together."

Hole-in-one highlight golf tourney

Carl Guelker highlighted Sunday's two-man low ball scramble golf tournament at the Colorado Country Club with a hole-in-one. Guelker aced the 147 yard par 3 14th hole with a seven iron. It was his first hole-in-one.

Guelker was playing in a foursome with Jay Guelker, Joe Williamson and Jene Steakley, Jr.

In the championship flight two teams were tied for the lead after 18 holes with a 6 under par 64. The team of Pete McKinney and Joe Marshall defeated Joe Maddox and George Powell in a playoff to capture the title in the championship flight. Third place went to Ben Sparks and Jene Steakley with a 67.

First Flight

- (1) Lee Snead and Sam Snead 55.
- (2) Joe Williamson and Jene Steakley, Jr. 69.
- (3) Carl Guelker and Jay Guelker 71.

Second Flight

- (1) Jimmy Hammond and Blake Hammond 68.
- (2) Bill Hudson and Scott Hudson 72.
- (3) Jay Craddock and Jerry Reynolds 73.

If You Don't Teach Him To Save Money Who Will?

We can help. The younger years are the best time in life to prepare your children for the future. A savings account that you open in their names and then insist they save regularly is a fine way to get started.

Here on this end, we will praise and encourage them in every possible way. You are cordially invited to bring your youngsters in so we may become acquainted.

TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY

PAY TO THE ORDER OF: J. M. De 1982 $2400.00
J. M. De
"1490935591: 0373 *6660000"

The amount shown is for a 3-ton central electric air conditioner with an SEER of 8.5.

If you replace your central electric air conditioner with one that's more efficient, Texas Electric will pay you a bonus of $80 per ton.

Not only that, you'll save on your electric bill as well. For example, a high-efficiency 3-ton unit will save you up to $160 a year.

This equipment costs more initially, but the bonus from Texas Electric plus the savings on your electric bill will make up the difference in just a few years.

If enough people buy high-efficiency equipment, summer peak load growth will be slowed — and so will the need to build new generating plants. In the long run, this will help hold down everyone's electric bill.

Before you replace your old air conditioner, ask your dealer about central air conditioners, heat pumps, and window units that qualify for this program.

Strake Talk

Education—Our Money's Worth?

In my travels over Texas, it has become clear that Texas rate crime, the economy, and the education of their children among their principal concerns.

This week I would like to discuss education. As the father of six children, this has long been one of my principal concerns also.

We currently spend over half our tax revenue on education, and many people raise the question to me, "Are we getting our money's worth?" The questions put to me indicate some think we are spending too much, others, not enough.

I too am concerned about the amount of money we spend on education, but I am more concerned about the quality of that education. I believe the quality of education our children receive can be improved by making some fundamental changes in the way we pay and treat our teachers.

I believe in merit pay for teachers. Frankly, I think good teachers ought to be paid more than poor teachers. A good, conscientious teacher cannot help but become discouraged and disillusioned when he or she ends the month with the same pay as one whom they know to be indifferent. The result is apt to be that they leave the teaching profession altogether.

I also think we ought to enter a system of competency testing not only for new teachers, but for those who are currently teaching. We test our kids, why not also test those who teach them?

In short, I think we ought to bear down on the basics, relieve our teachers of burdensome paper work now placed upon them, and recognize and reward our better teachers with better pay, for the sake of our children, and our future.

If you have thoughts on this subject, I would welcome them. Just write to me at 1213 W. 34th in Austin, 78705.
