Senate Oks Domestic Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, facing a veto threat, agreed early today to give President Reagan about $3.3 billion in new cuts in domestic programs in an emergency spending bill that would keep the government operating past midnight tonight.

The measure now goes to a House-Senate conference committee to reconcile differences with a House version of the bill, and Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., indicated the fight was not over.

He told reporters the Senate version contains "disastrous cuts" to social welfare programs and he could see no way the midnight deadline could be met. O'Neill held out the prospect of round-the-clock House sessions this weekend until the controversy is resolved.

Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., told weary colleagues early today that "the president will sign the bill" if the Senate would cut more than $3 billion, on an annual basis, from domestic programs while sparing the Defense Department.

O'Neill said that at first glance, the Senate bill seems to make major cuts in programs for the handicapped, foster care and other social programs. "Here we are, on the eve of Thanskgiving. I think it's a disastrous cut," O'Neill said.

Passage came just before 7 a.m. EST on a 69-26 vote that ended a rare all-night session. The key was a carefully crafted compromise amendment by Baker that incorporated the new budget cuts.

Spokesman Larry Speakes said the White House supports the Senate version and would "not like to see any erosion in the Senate's figures."

The Senate Appropriations Committee brought its version to the floor as a $417.4 billion spending package. Dozens of minor floor amendments changed that figure, but a new total was not immediately available.

The stopgap bill now goes to a House- Senate conference committee that will work out differences between the House and Senate-passed versions. The House had refused to make the cuts Reagan wanted in the bill it passed Monday, but House Republican leaders are hopeful that position can be changed.

Any compromise bill worked out by the conferees must be approved by the House and Senate before it can be sent to Reagan for his signature.

The Senate bill was passed after a 21-hour session hat featured 25 separate roll call votes and the consideration of dozens of amendments. Baker revised his proposal several times during the night in an effort to pick up the necessary votes.

The Republican leader told his weary colleagues early today that "the president will sign the bill" if it could cut more than $3 billion, on an annual basis, from domestic programs while sparing the Defense Department.

Without the additional spending cuts — an average of 4 percent in hundreds of programs — Reagan "would undoubtedly veto" the measure, Baker said Thursday as the Senate began what became an all-night session.

Republicans and Democrats in both houses said Reagan had enough support to sustain a veto.

Following adoption of Baker's plan, the Senate continued to consider several more amendments before moving to a final vote on the stopgap spending bill.

The House has refused to make the reductions Reagan is seeking. It was unclear whether House-Senate negotiators could work out the differences before midnight.

The Senate Appropriations Committee brought its version to the floor as a $417.4 billion spending package. Dozens of minor floor amendments changed that figure, but a new total was not immediately available.

The stopgap spending bill would keep almost the entire government in business after existing legislation expires at midnight. The bill is necessary because except for its own operations, Congress has

Gunrunning Conspiracy

HOUSTON (AP) —Two men, including an accused Canadian gunrunner, have been charged with conspiring to sell 337 tons of military hardware to undercover agents posing as revolutionaries planning to overthrow an unnamed Latin American government.

Agents from the U.S. Customs Service and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms capped a two-week investigation Thursday with the arrest of Ronald Mertens, 31, of Ottawa, Canada.

He was charged with conspiring to smuggle $3 million worth of arms into the United States, and bond was set at $1 million by U.S. Magistrate Calvin Botley.

The conspiracy charge carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Dental Suit

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The mother of a girl who died from dental surgery complications last spring has filed a lawsuit that accuses a hospital, a dentist and a doctor of "gross negligence" in the death.

In the medical malpractice suit, Mattie Mae Crumpton claims Harris Hospital employees "negligently failed to properly monitor, report, treat and carry out their responsibilities" to her 17-year-old daughter, Shonia Denise Crumpton.

The high school senior died in the hospital June 2, about a week after undergoing "routine" surgery to extract her wisdom teeth.

Policemen Sentenced

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Two suspended city policemen who pleaded guilty to drug charges last August have been given probated sentences.

Judge James Barlow of 186th District Court Thursday levied a $1,500 fine on Paul Hernandez, 38, and placed him on five years probation for two counts of delivery of 25 pounds of marijuana.

Roert James Alejandro, 34, also ws given five years probation and was fined $500 for delivery of methamphetamines.

Postman Killed

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service is offering a $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for killing a letter carrier on his route earlier this week.

Postman Raul M. Martinez, 37, was shot three times at point-blank range Wednesday with a .22-caliber weapon as he walked his mail route in the 1000 block of Northwest 36th Street.

White House Admits Mistake

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's chief spokesman is acknowledging that the White House has made mistakes about the investigation of national security adviser Richard V. Allen but says the matter has been handled in an "appropriate and proper manner."

Nevertheless, the spokesman, David R. Gergen, said Thursday that the full story won't be told until the Justice Department completes its investigation into Allen's receipt of $1,000 from two Japanese journalists who interviewed first lady Nancy Reagan last Jan. 21. Allen helped arrange the session.

Justice officials have said they hope to end the probe quickly, and sources said Thursday that department lawyers believe Allen committed no crime when he took the cash, put it in his safe and forgot about it for eight months.

Attorney General William French Smith will decide whether there is enough evidence to appoint a special prosecutor.

Even as Gergen was acknowledging mistakes in public pronouncements, the White House issued another written clarification. It said that, contrary to previous statements, Allen participated in a White House meeting last March on restricting Japanese auto imports.

That statement came a day after deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said Allen had disqualified himself from all consideration of the auto import question because of his previous business dealings with the Japanese.

The New York Times reported today, meanwhile, that unidentified senior White House aides, concerned that they do not have full information about Allen's activities, have ordered him to review his office records on contacts with Japanese businessmen.

Administration officials said the White House did not know if the Justice Department also was looking into the contacts, the newspaper said, adding that the president's three top advisers began their own inquiry because of worry about damage to Reagan's reputation.

Reagan aides "are pursuing the question of the extent that he met with Japanese businessmen during the time the auto import question was before" the administration, the official toldthe Times.

Gergen insisted that the White House has tried "to be straightforward about this" and added: "It is our view that this matter has been and continues to be handled by White House authorities in an appropriate and proper manner."

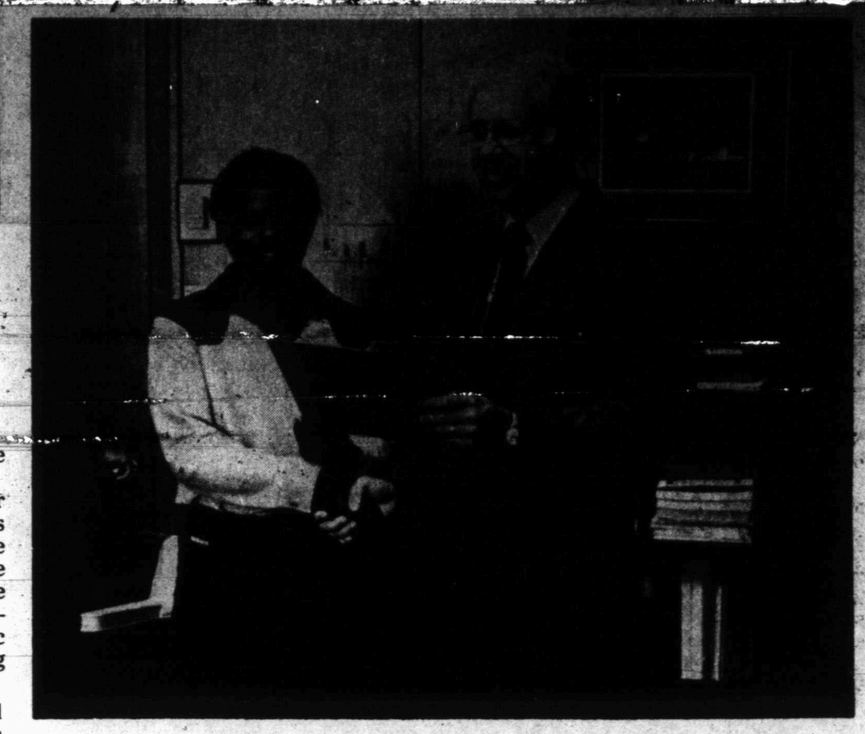

The Japanese journalists, representing the magazine Shufu no Pomo — Housewife's Friend — say they intended the cash for Mrs. Reagan as an honorarium. Allen says he intercepted it to avoid embarrassing her.

Gergen said the White House mistakes were made because aides were trying to answer reporters' questions quickly.

Q.—Does the education division of the United Way campaign include personnel of local public schools and the junior college, and if so, how much per capita did they contribute?

A.—Yes it does include school and college personnel and it averages out at slightly more than $14 each, which means that if all other adults give a third that much per person, the campaign will go over the top.

Scientist Reportedly Loses Research Grant

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A UCLA scientist was stripped of research grants worth $270,000 because he allegedly violated federal rules when he performed the first known genetic engineering experiments on humans, the Los Angeles Times said today.

The Times, citing documents it obtained Thursday, reported the director of the National Institutes of Health stripped Dr. Martin J. Cline of two of his four federal grants in part to warn other scientists that federal regulations must be obeyed.

The decision by Dr. Thomas E. Malone was based on institute reviews of 1980 experiments done by Cline on two women in Israel and Italy. The institutes' advisory councils came to different conclusions about how Cline should be dealt with, The Times said.

The advisory board of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute decided to cut off a three-year, $240,000 grant to Cline when its first year ends March 31, the newspaper said. The money would have allowed Cline to continue genetic engineering research into treatment of inherited blood disorders.

The advisory council of the National Caneer Institute reportedly recommended continuing Cline's $100,000 a year grant but dropping him from a larger grant that supports other investigators. Malone accepted the decision and took away Cline's $30,000 share, the Times said.

The National Institute of Arthritis, Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases, decided to continue a three-year $118,000 grant. But the institute's board asked that a UCLA representative give regular assurances that Cline's work "has been carried out in keeping with

George Wallace

On Verge Of Political Rebirth

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George Corley Wallace left the Alabama statehouse three years ago, a small man in a wheelchair, ready to find his place in the history books.

It was quite a history — once a jut-jawed, fist-shaking firebrand of a segregationist, four times Dixie's wild card candidate for president, a battler for "the little guy, the average American," then a crumpled victim of a would-be assassin at a Maryland shopping center.

When he left office in January 1979, he had dominated Alabama politics for 14 of the previous 16 years. To some, he said quietly, "I'm through."

He wasn't.

Wallace, at 62, is now on the verge of a political rebirth, emerging this time as a mild and healing man for all seasons — and, some say, of all races.

He says he will decide early next year if he will run for governor in 1982. Already he has begun assembling the framework of a campaign, meeting with longtime Wallace loyalists, who are urging him to run, and peppering his schedule with numerous public appearances.

Wallace is hardly the near-unconquerable figure he was when he ran for governor his last time, in 1974. But there are no dominating campaign personalities on the Alabama scene, at least not yet, and the idea of a Wallace candidacy is viewed with more than a little gravity by his opponents.

The man who succeeded Wallace — Gov. Fob James — could seek re-election in 1982, but as yet hasn't said what he will do.

James won in 1978 on the slogan "It's Time for a New Beginning," a veiled call for Alabama to leave the Wallace political era. A millionaire sporting goods manufacturer, James promised to run Alabama like a business, not a political machine.

Unlike Wallace, he has not used the governor's office to lay the groundwork for a long-term reign.

Out of office for three years, Wallace no longer has instant clout in all the counties. But he has the remnants of his old organization. And he has something of a new coalition, which could include blacks.

On his speaking itinerary today was the keynote address to the Alabama Conference of Black Mayors, a group of 20 black mayors holding a weekend meeting in Tuskegee.

The president of the conference, Tuskegee Mayor Johnny Ford, said the group wasn't endorsing any candidate. But, he said, Wallace was invited "because he has always been a friend of our conference."

Ford, once a campaign worker for the late U.S. Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York, said he personally hopes Wallace runs for governor. But he said he will eventually go along with the final endorsement of the Alabama Democratic Conference, the black political wing of the state Democratic Party.

Wallace's appearance in Tuskegee comes on the heels of a virtual endorsement by E.D. Nixon, an 82-year-old black who is the patriarch of the civil rights movement in Montgomery, a man instrumental in Martin Luther King Jr.'s rise to prominence.

"Wallace has done more for blacks than any other governor in the last 20 years," said Nixon. If Wallace runs, he said, "I certainly wouldn't be against him."

Wallace shed his segregationist stand years ago. When he ran in 1974, he was the incumbent, a man who had faced death while campaigning for president in 1972. No possible heavyweight candidates opposed him, and in his status as a shoo-in, he won endorsements from black leaders and got a significant number of black votes.

Last April, a University of Alabama poll showed again that Wallace is hardly the nemesis of the black community. Among blacks responding to the poll, Wallace was the favorite gubernatorial candidate of 44 percent. The next closest candidate got 31 percent. James got 8 percent.

Wallace also enhanced his standing among some Alabama Democratic party leaders when he stuck by President Carter in 1980. James, a former Republican, was the only Democratic governor in the country who refused to endorse Carter.

However, a campaign could alter his place in Alabama history, leaving him with something of a Jim Folsom stigma. Folsom, the colorful 6-foot-8 "Big Jim" who won two terms as governor, lost on his try for a third term and later turned into a perennial loser with repeated campaigns for one office or another.

A campaign also would raise Wallace's "health factor" to the level of public debate.

Wallace, who was left paralyzed by an assassin's bullet in 1972, is confined to a wheelchair and has repeatedly sought to ease the periodic pain he suffers in his midsection. But his health appears to be no different than it was when he held office, and, as before, campaigning seems to be his best medicine.

Then there's his personal life. He recently married for a third time, exchanging vows with a 32-year-old former country music singer, Lisa Taylor, the daughter of a wealthy coal miner. Their public appearances have been rare. A campaign might prompt a change.

Before his recent spate of speaking engagements, Wallace kept a low profile, working out of a Montgomery office as director of rehabilitation resources for the University of Alabama at Birmingham.

In that job, he's paid a salary of about $60,000 and has two secretaries and his longtime personal aide, Elvin Stanton, on the payroll.

Under a special state law, he was given six state troopers for round-the-clock protection, plus an $18,000-a-year stipend as "governor's counselor" when he turned 60.

In many ways, Wallace is a state agency all to himself. But it's still a far cry from the politically powerful life he lived in the white-columned governor's mansion.

Boy's Death Is Homicide

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — The killing of a 7-year-old boy whose throat was slashed is "one of the most heinous crimes in the city's history," says police Capt. Gene Davis.

Greg Allen Poore's death is a "definite homicide," Davis said.

The boy's body was found about 10 a.m. Thursday in a brushy area 30 feet from the dirt road he usually took to and from Kate Haynes Elementary School, where he was in second grade.

Police said they believed the boy was killed in the area where his body was found, a mesquite-covered field 200 yards southwest of the school. Davis said there were no "definite suspects" in the case.

The boy's body was flown to Dallas for an autopsy at Southwest Institute of Forensic Medicine.

Up to 300 searchers at a time had looked for the child, who was reported missing about 5 p.m. Wednesday after he failed to return home from school.

The searchers included personnel from Sheppard Air Force Base, police, family friends, neighbors and students. The effort continued through the night even though the area is not lighted. The body was found by Air Force Sgt. Michael Parrack.

Some residents of the Evergreen Mobile Home Park said they heard faint cries between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. Wednesday, but searchers were unable to find the boy.

"I heard a little boy — he did not seem very old — say something like 'Help me, somebody,' " said trailer park resident Carol Knight.

Early November's off-year elections demonstrated something else; President Reagan's personal following is not guaranteed deliverable to anybody else.

It may be that political coattail power has always been overestimated but while this President's gorgeous grin keeps the electorate firmly supportive of him, it cannot elect sombody else governor of Virginia.

From outside the White House and from inside I have observed most presidents since FDR.

This one has a personal magnetism that is incomparable.

The dogmatism of a Lyndon Johnson could never have disciplined a major union, reversed a Congress and rallied the electorate behind an austerity budget without engendering resentment, resistance, rejection.

Where the laid-back ease of this President's beautifully concealed stubborness moves mountains.

Few Americans have suffered more from high interest rates than have farmers. Farmers live season to season on borrowed money. Yet, hard as they've been pinched, I find them firm supporters of the President.

Similary, in the desperately depressed housing industry there remains an awareness that inflation must be brought under control and a willingness to give Reaganomics a chance to accomplish that.

U.S. News said it: "People are talking of hard times; some are hopeful; some are angry—but if the Presidential election were today they would vote for Reagan in even greater numbers than a year ago."

To describe his prescribed spending and tax cuts, this program is credited with coining the word "Reaganomics" on February 17, last.

The word might have become synonymous with "austerity," with "belt tightening," with "unemployment."

Instead the word is now headed for the dictionary as descriptive of the entire spectrum of "President Reagan's prescribed economic disciplines."

And though the media can seek and find vocal critics alleging that the President is "insensitive to poor people," it's difficult to convince even poor people that this naturally gracious President could or would be unneccessarily unkind to anybody.

If he can retain that image—and I see no reason why not—he will have time to prove or disprove his prescription for prosperity.

Already there are encouraging vital signs—less unemployment, higher household income, relaxed interest rates, the inflation fever subsiding.

But if this President should fall short of his goals, in his own words as they were recently applied to another showdown situaton, "I'll lie down and bleed a while and then get up and try again."

And so will we.

Vivace Junior Music Club Studies England

The Vivace Junior Music Club, affiliated with the Musical Coterie and Texas Federated Music Clubs, met in the home of Chelle Krueger, 2708 28th Street, November 8 at 3 p.m. Hostesses were Jane Kirby, Angela Castillo, Stephanie Weaver, Teresa Dodson, and Chelle Krueger.

Tammy Farmer, president, conducted the business meeting. Officers stood for the repeating of the club collect and club hymn with lighted candles and led the members in singing "Texas, Our Texas." Members answered roll call with their favorite composer.

As members arrived, the royal wedding of Prince Charles and Lady Diana was viewed on TV tape. The program was "A Look at England" directed by Linda Walker, program chairman. Lyle Hale told briefly of the Magna Carta and showed pictures of important places in England. Don Osborn and Angela Castillo played duets entitled "Romance," "Minuet," and "Allegro" by Haydn. Teresa Dodson played a piano solo, "Ayre in D Minor" by Henry Purcell. The club enjoyed a surprise visit from a spry little ladye from England (played by Lisa Robbins). She gave a most interesting lecture on English customs, places to visit, people to meet and some interesting details of her own experiences in England. She taught the members a new English song.

Refreshments were served to the following members and guests: Michele Anderson, Alex and Alfred Brice, Angela Castillo, Dayla Church, Teresa Dodson, Tammy Farmer, Lyle Hale, Michelle Holmes, Carrie Keith, Jane Kirby, Chelle Krueger, Mysty Malone, Judson Morrison, Ann, Don and Michelle Osborn, Sam Raborn, Hayley Vineyard, Rebecca Vestal, Linda Walker, Stephanie and Brandon Weaver, Mrs. Harlan Ritchie, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sentell. Jolie Kansil of Honolulu is the inventor of a fascinating two-handed bridge game called, "Bridgette." He has added three extra cards to the deck to make it a unique and delightful game. Joli has invented many other games, but Bridgette is his best, in our opinion.

Here is a bridge hand played by him almost 20 years ago in intercollegiate competition.

The bidding was good by any standards and the play even better.

Joli saw that if spades broke 2-1 he had a heart finesse for seven. If they broke 3-0 it was up to him to guess where the trumps were. Then he saw that he had a perfect safety play for his contract.

At trick two he called for dummy's king of trumps. West showed out and Joli drew trumps and could afford to lose that heart finesse.

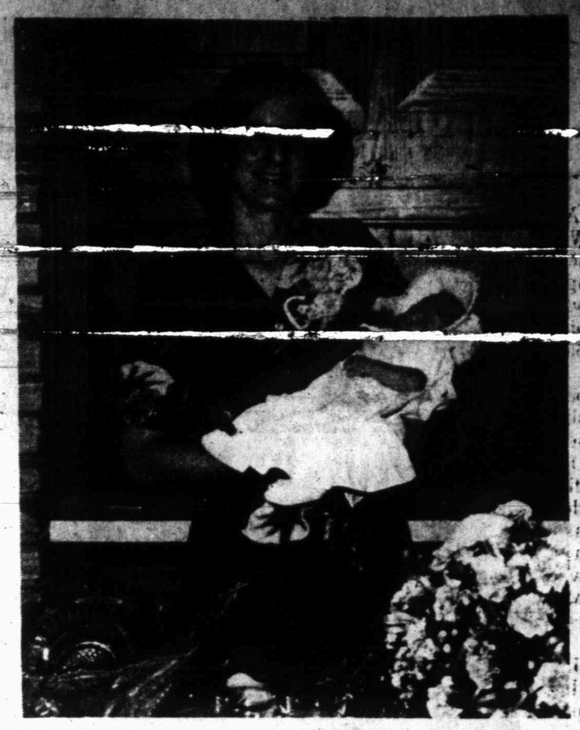

Why was this way of playing trumps a safety play?

Suppose that West held all three trumps. South would lead a second trump to his ace. Then he would cash the second high club in dummy and play diamonds.

West could ruff one of those diamonds or he could hold back his queen of trumps. If he did that Joli would throw him in with that card when he had finished with the diamonds.

West would be end-played. He would have to either lead a heart up to the tenace or give a ruff and discard.

Art Guild Hears Miller Robinson

The Art Guild Study Club met November 17 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for their annual Thanksgiving dinner. Husbands and other invited guests attended. Mrs. Don Adams and Mrs. Jerry Hendon were hostesses and program leaders. Mrs. Myron Roe assisted as hostess.

The invocation was given by Mr. Stanley Noah and Mrs. Maurice Pilcher presented dinner music. The dinner was served buffet style amid decorations for the Thanksgiving season.

Mrs. Adams presented Reverend Miller Robinson, pastor of Colonial Hill Baptish Church, who gave a very interesting and inspiring talk appropriate for the Thanksgiving season.

Helen Hayes Favors ERA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Helen Hayes, the 81-year-old doyenne of the American stage, says "of course" she's in favor of the Equal Rights Amendment. The only reason she's not campaigning actively for ERA is she doesn't want "to spread myself too thin."

Miss Hayes spoke Friday as part of a lecture series on Distinguished American Women at the University of Notre Dame.

"I've never given a lecture before in my life... and I don't intend to give one today," she said. Her appearance coincided with the dedication ceremonies for two new women's dormitories on campus.

First Test Of 1978 Law...

Jury Rules Holdings Be Forfeited

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A federal prosecutor says jurors have given the government the tools to seize property purchased with the profits of illegal drug trafficking.

In the first test of a 1978 federal law that allows confiscation of property bought with the proceeds of illegal drug transactions, jurors ruled Thursday that two brothers accused of narcotics dealing must forfeit — among other items — a home and the furnishings of two houses.

"It's going to give us a technique of proof in other situations similar to this one," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Jose Berlanga, who carried the government's case in the civil matter.

However, the lawyer for Benito and Matias Montemayor said his clients would appeal the verdict.

"There was no connection between any drug transaction and the purchase of property," said Michael Guinan.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela asked Berlanga to draw up a forfeiture judgment. The judge said he would give the Montemayor families time before ordering them out of the one house that was seized.

Drug Enforcement Administration agents have looked on the law as a key tool in fighting large-scale drug dealers by hitting them in the pocketbook.

"I think this verdict was a signal from the jury that crime doesn't pay," said DEA agent Ken Miley of McAllen.

In other action Thursday, a sealed indictment naming the Montemayors and three of their brothers on racketeering charges was made public.

The 16-count indictment returned Tuesday charges the five with "continuing criminal enterprise" since 1970 by dealing in heroin, cocaine and marijuana.

Two of the five brothers are fugitives but the other three were scheduled to be arraigned today on the charges.

In addition to Benito and Matias, the other brothers named were Manuel, Meynardo and Reyes Montemayor, the latter of whom has been a fugitive for several years. The other two are in custody on a separate cocaine charge.

The test of the law resulted from a suit Benito and Matias Montemayor filed to recover one home, furnishings of two houses, several horses, and an airplane which were seized April 28 in a raid codenamed "Operation Cat Claw."

Drug enforcement agents claim the Montemayors, Mexican-Americans, run a major heroin supply line from Mexico into the United States.

Matias is in custody on an unrelated firearms violation and his brother is a fugitive from a cocaine charge.

Judge Vela told the four men and two women of the jury that in order to find for the government, they must be satisfied that the seized property "must be directly traceable to a specific exchange of illicit drugs."

Guinan had called the April raid "totally unfair." Guinan said a key government witness, Benito Montemayor's stepson, had been "brainwashed" and manipulated by narcotics agents.

The witness, Ricky Lee Bowman, testified that he saw the family's heroin laboratory, helped count thousands of dollars from drug transactions and packed cocaine for smuggling inside a four-wheel-drive vehicle.

"How would you like to be taken out of the house with your children without enough money and just throw out?" Guinan said, referring to three days in which the men's wives were evicted from the two houses.

Berlanga asked jurors to "use common sense" in evaluating the Montemayors' claims that they made millions of dollars from a Mexican construction company incorporated in the late 1970s.

"The most difficult part of this whole story to swallow in terms of Montesa (the company) is that it was the entity that provided the wealth or riches used for these purchases," Berlanga said.

Traffic Mishaps Occupy Police

Snyder police officers investigated four traffic mishaps Thursday.

At 6:47 a.m., a major mishap occured in the 700 block of College Ave. Involved were a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Charley Edward Lovett and a 1978 GMC dump truck operated by Fred Chaney. Lovett was transported to Cogdell hospital by Scurry County EMS for treatment of possible injuries. Damage to his vehicle was extensive, but his injuries were not thought to be serious. Chaney was not injuried in the mishap.

Later, at 10:14 a.m., the 1000 block of College was the scene of a minor two vehicle mishap. Involved were a 1981 Ford driven by Sylvia Cerda and a tractor trailer rig operated by Averal Lee Canfield. Only minor damage and no injuries were reported in this mishap.

A 1974 Ford, owned by Burt Herrley, was the victim of a hit and run driver around 2:30 p.m., Thursday afternoon. The Herrley vehicle was parked in the 4000 block of Austin Ave. when it was struck by an unidentified vehicle which fled the scene. Only minor damage was reported.

Finally, in the fourth mishap of the day, a 1972 Chevrolet, owned by Ricardo S. Zamora collided with a utility pole owned by Wayne York. Only minor damage and no injuries were reported in this incident in the 1200 block of 8th St.

Doctors Study Whirlpool Link

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Doctors are studying a link between whirlpool baths and the pneumonia-like ailment known as Legionnaires' disease, says state epidemiologist Dr. Richard Vogt.

The bacteria that causes the disease was found in three whirlpools sampled in the southern part of the state, Vogt said Wednesday.

He said the bacteria that cause the disease have been found in several kinds of aquatic environments. The sampling effort was prompted by a report that a few Massachusetts residents who used whirlpools during a ski vacation in Vermont had caught the disease.

Dr. Joseph Reardon of the Massachusetts epidemiology department cautioned that the link is not firmly established.

The Battle of Waterloo — which ended Napoleon's ambitions of conquering Europe — was fought in 1815.

Reagan's Job Rating Continues To Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — President Reagan's job ratings in the Associated Press-NBC News poll continue to decline as the nation's economy settles into recession.

Forty-six percent of the 1,602 respondents telephoned in a nationwide random sampling Monday and Tuesday said they think Reagan is doing a good or excellent job as president.

Thirty-five percent said he is doing only a fair job, 16 percent said a poor job, and 3 percent were not sure.

This month's 46 percent good or excellent response was the lowest approval rating for Reagan since he became president, down from the previous low of 51 percent last month and the high of 66 percent in April when he was recovering from an assassination attempt.

The pattern of declining popularity for Reagan during his first year in office parallels the drop in approval ratings in 1977 for former President Jimmy Carter, who received a 43 percent good or excellent response in an NBC News poll during his 10th month in office.

Reagan's marks for handling the nation's economy were also down this month. He received a 35 percent good or excellent rating for handling the economy, down from the previous low of 39 percent last month and the high of 52 percent in August.

Respondents' answers reflected the heightened recession which has led Reagan administration officials to predict declining inflation and interest rates but rising unemployment during the coming months.

In August and September, poll respondents were more likely to say inflation rather than unemployment or interest rates is the most important economic problem for the government to help control.

But in the latest poll, 34 percent said high unemployment is the most important economic problem for the government to help control, while 32 percent said high inflation, 28 percent said high interest rates and 6 percent were not sure.

People who said unemployment was the most important problem were less likely than other respondents to give Reagan high marks for his performance in office.

Thirty percent of all respondents said they think their families are financially worse off today than they were a year ago, while 16 percent said they think they are better off. The rest either said they were about as well off or not sure.

In looking to the future, responses remained relatively consistent with last month's poll: 37 percent said they expect the economy to get worse in the next year, 27 percent said it will get better, 33 percent said it will stay about the same and 3 percent were not sure.

The 37-27 worse-better split does continue a turnaround, however, from five polls during the first seven months of the year, when the average split was 38-22 in favor of the economy getting better rather than worse.

As with all sample surveys, the results of AP-NBC News polls can vary from the opinions of all Americans because of chance variations in the sample.

Cancer Crusade Plans Discussed

Plans for the annual Crusade in April were discussed at a meeting of the Scurry County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

President Margaret Martin, who presided, introduced Leona Wiggins, Crusade chairman for the coming year.

Doris Byars, public information chairman for the unit and for District 16, gave a report on the telephone conference the district public information chairman had recently. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Byars served as co-chairmen for distribution of materials for the Smokeout on Thursday.

Public information co-chairman Jim Tully and Winnie Poyner gave a report on the number of people reached through their program last year and set their goals for the coming year.

The group discussed the method of obtaining equipment needed for patients in this area from state headquarters and the possibility of a faster way of getting it.

Other board members attending the meeting were Thelma Sims, Jo Sterling, Juanita Glass, Mamie Patterson, Bettie Atkins and Vera Baize.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Early rehabilitation vital

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had a light stroke five months ago. I was hospitalized three days. I'm almost back to normal now. I cannot play the piano like I used to — my left hand, especially, doesn't do as well. Also my singing is not as good as before.

I can walk one to two miles, although I could walk only a short distance after my stroke. I can do light work. I also do floor exercises — practically no limit to these.

When I jog or run or do heavy work I get a feeling of discomfort, no weakness or dizziness, no pain, no shortness of breath, just a punk feeling. Resting or walking slowly I feel OK again.

I am a World War I vet of 85 years of age. The doctors recommend two buffered aspirin a day. Would you advise any other medication?

DEAR READER — I just hope I'm doing that well when I reach 85. And I notice that your handwriting is steady.

You must have had a very light stroke and you were very fortunate that you had no significant residual damage. Many people who appear to have extensive damage the first day or two do have a good recovery. Some of the initial damage is from the swelling in the injured brain area. As the swelling subsides, these cells often regain normal function.

Early treatment designed to aid the ability to speak (speech therapy) and the full range of motion and activity is important. Most good stroke centers and most larger hospitals today have services for these available. I must emphasize, though, the importance of early rehabilitation.

Your story should provide a lot of encouragement to others. I am sending you The Health Letter number 16-6, What You Need to Know About Strokes, which explains the symptoms and what you can do about them. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I would not recommend any other medicines for you on the basis of your letter. However, I think it is important for stroke patients to have a normal blood pressure. Some people need to lose weight to lower it and to maintain a low cholesterol level. Smoking is out. I presume with your story that you don't have that bad habit. And I think you should concentrate on an enjoyable walk and not try to jog or run.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Will you please settle my fears about lumps found near the skin? I have had one such lump for six years that the doctors call a harmless lipoma just on the basis of feeling it. It is near the bottom of my rib cage. Now I can feel one forming on my outer right thigh. You said once that any lump should be biopsied. Now I'm frightened that any lumps I have or might get might be cancerous. Do I need to get a biopsy every time one forms? I have no other symptoms and they are painless.

DEAR READER — I think everyone who develops any lump other than a swelling from a sting or an abscess that is easily identified should see a doctor and let him examine it to decide what should be done. You shouldn't make this decision yourself.

In some instances the doctor can be confident what the lump is by examination, but in others the only way he can be sure is to biopsy it and look at cells under the microscope. Let your doctor decide if you need a biopsy or not after he has examined the lump.

Simple lipomas are harmless. They are not cancer lumps but fat lumps.

Snowstorm Kills Five In Midwest

The first big snowstorm of the Midwestern winter killed at least five people and may have been a factor in the collapse of huge fabric dome over the new Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome in Minneapolis, officials said.

The storm left up to 11 inches of heavy, wet snow in the southern half of Minnesota and ranked "somewhere in the top 10" of the worst storms in the state's history, said radar specialist Rainer Dombrowsky of the National Weather Service. More than 100,000 homes and businesses lost electrical power when snow-covered trees fell on power lines.

Slushy roads led to an automobile accident that killed two teen-agers near Marshall, Minn., on Wednesday, the State Patrol said. They were identified as Brian Martin, 18, and Keith Paradis, 17, both of the Marshall area.

The Iowa Highway Patrol said a 49-year-old minister, Roderick Jackson, was killed in an icy crash Thursday near Maurice, Iowa, and police in Lincoln, Neb., said Mabel B. Yaney, 91, died of exposure Thursday after accidentally locking herself out of her home.

Jane A. Folsom, 30, of Robinson, Kan., was killed Thursday after losing control of her car on an ice-covered bridge near Hiawatha, Kan., the Kansas Highway Patrol said.

Sixteen people were hurt in a 26-car pileup Thursday night just north of Kansas City, Mo., authorities said. The wrecked cars stretched for a half-mile along the icy highway.

The snow, chilly air and gusty winds snapped a spell of unusually mild weather Wednesday, and only a few flurries were still falling in most areas Thursday night.

The Humphrey Metrodome in downtown Minneapolis collapsed in about an hour Thursday night, less than a day after the roof sagged under the weight of heavy, wet snow.

No injuries were reported. Don Poss, executive director of the Metropolitan Sports Facilities Commission, said the collapse may have been caused indirectly by the 10 inches of snow that fell on the Twin Cities Wednesday night.

"The dome was under higher pressure than normal because of the snow load," he said. "The additional pressure may well have been enough to catch a manufacturing flaw in the dome panel."

Seen through the stadium doors, the sagging roof resembled a souffle gone flat.

Up to 8 inches of snow fell in parts of Wisconsin, and winds gusted up to 41 mph Thursday night. Temperatures were in the mid 20s in some areas, but the wind-chill factor made it feel more like 2 degrees, officials said. Iowa had up to 3 inches of snow.

In Atlanta, meanwhile, a line of thunderstorms slashed across the huge Hartsfield International Airport early today, damaging buildings and six Delta Air Lines planes. There were reports of three minor injuries.

Prison Riot Is Probed

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Prison officials say an investigation is underway into what sparked a riot in which 400 to 500 inmates threw bottles, shattered windows and started fires in the Darrington prison for more than five hours.

Most of the nine convicts and four guards who were injured suffered cuts from flying glass. One guard, Sgt. Ariel J. Obregon, 29, was hospitalized for treatment of a severed tendon in his arm.

The disturbance began about 9 p.m. Wednesday and was brought under control at 2:30 a.m. Thursday, said Texas Department of Corrections spokesman Rick Hartley.

Several thousand dollars in damage was done by inmates, who burned mattresses and tents set up last summer to relieve overcrowding, Hartley said.

The Darrington Unit is a prison farm with a vocational school and a tire-recapping plant. It is in Brazoria County, five miles north of Rosharon.

Hartley said disciplinary action against the riot's ringleaders was pending.

He said the disturbance began with 21 inmates and spread quickly.

"The inmates were on the run on the second tier of the three-tiered cellblock. They refused to go back into their cells when the officers instructed them to," Hartley said. "They started shouting obscenities and making loud noises and that kind of chain-reacted to two to three other cellblocks."

Convicts then started setting fires and threw burning debris and bottles at guards, Hartley said. Other inmates joined in, and at least 200 left the building and went to the unit's tent compound where they burned two tents, Taylor said.

Helmeted guards with night sticks, gas masks and shields then fired tear gas to restore order, Hartley said. He said the riot lasted more than five hours because "They had 400 or 500, and about 200 had gotten out of the building."

The fires were extinguished by guards with prison fire equipment.

Hartley said the Darrington Unit was not considered a trouble spot, and that prison officials did not know what caused the riot.

The unit, one of 19 prisons in the TDC system, houses 1,594 inmates, including repeat offenders 21 to 25 years old and first offenders older than 25.

A report filed in federal court in Houston earlier this week called the prison one of the worst offenders in failing to provide recreational opportunities to prisoners confined to their cells.

The report said in the Darrington Unit 23 inmates reported being held in their cells without recreation for 10 to 113 days.

It cited one instance in which two convicts climbed a wall and refused to come down for 10 hours. The report said the two inmates demanded to talk to the special master appointed by a federal judge to oversee reforms he ordered. The report said lack of recreation was a "contributing factor" to the incident.

Pruett Wins Legal Skirmish

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Marion Albert Pruett, who faces state capital murder charges in the hostage-slaying of a Jackson savings and loan employee, has complained that the FBI is making an "errand boy" out of his court-appointed adviser, P. Zeb Jones.

Pruett is acting as his own attorney in the case, and won two skirmishes Thursday in fighting federal kidnap and robbery charges.

U.S. Magistrate John R. Countiss III said that Jones did not have to take messages and "when he gets tired of carrying messages, he can quit," then he advised the representatives of the U.S. attorney's office and the FBI they could talk directly to Pruett, who appeared at the proceedings in chains.

Countiss ruled that Pruett was entitled to copies of the government's evidence against him, and that federal investigators and lawyers should deal with him rather than Jones.

Pruett appeared before Countiss to press a motion to discover what evidence the government has developed in the case of Peggy Lowe, who was abducted Sept. 17 when a Unifirst Federal Savings and Loan branch was held up.

During the hearing, he complained that the FBI and federal attorneys were contacting Jones instead of him, and making "an errand-boy" out of Jones.

Pruett, 32, a native of Gastonia, N.C., said, "They can come right into the jailhouse and talk to me. The FBI is constantly calling him and asking him if I will talk to them."

He said he would be willing to talk to the federal officials either in the federal building if they preferred that to the Jackson City Jail.

When Countiss asked whether the government had any objections to giving Pruett copies of most of the evidence he sought, Assistant U.S. Attorney Pshon Barrett said there was not.

However, Countiss said he could not order investigators to turn over rough notes because "I have no authority to do it," and Pruett, on the advice of Jones, withdrew that request.

The magistrate first refused to turn over a list of government witnesses until after the trial, but Jones said stages of the trial would be delayed unless the list were secured in advance.

Countiss then agreed to turn it over to Pruett and Jones five days in advance of the trial, with orders that it was not to be released to the news media or others.

He said it was also with the understanding that Jones' contacts with the witnesses would be in a discreet manner.

Reagan Prefers Israeli Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, trying to calm Jewish fears about his Middle East policy, says he prefers to keep Jerusalem undivided under Israeli rule but also favors a "Vatican-like solution" to preserve free access to the city's holy sites.

The White House said, however, that Reagan's views about Israeli control did not reflect official U.S. policy, which is for the future of Jerusalem to be determined through negotiations.

The question came up during White House meetings Thursday, when Reagan also promised Jewish leaders to "do anything in this world I can in this office to stamp out anti-Semitism when it raises its head." The leaders were told that only recently a White House staff member was severely reprimanded for a bigoted remark.

A White House statement issued later acknowledged Reagan "said that he preferred for Jerusalem to remain undivided under Israeli sovereignty, but the president also said he favored some type of a Vatican-like solution that would continue to preserve the free access to the holy sites that Israel has afforded since 1967."

That "does not reflect a change in United States policy," the statement continued. "American policy toward Jerusalem is that it should remain undivided with free access to the holy sites."

The State Department said only last week that the status of the city "was a matter to be negotiated among the parties," and Reagan said much the same thing as a candidate in September 1980.

But State Department sources said the question of Israeli control over Jerusalem was not implied in that statement, and the White House statement said: "The president has always believed that issues such as the sovereignty of Jersusalem should be determined as a result of negotiations among the parties. The Camp David peace process provides a negotiating framework that eventually could result in a final determination of such complex issues as Jerusalem."

An administration official who asked not to be identified said Reagan's remarks represented "a viewpoint that the president is willing to express to Jewish leaders but not one he is willing to translate into policy for the United States."

"The policy is that we don't accept the Israeli annexation of East Jerusalem," the official said. "We do not accept Jerusalem as the capital of Israel."

Israel claims Jerusalem as its undivided eternal capital. Saudi Arabia, in a Mideast plan it put forward in August, called for creation of a Palestinian state on the West Bank of the Jordan River with Arab Jerusalem as its capital.

Reagan met twice with Jewish leaders to respond to concerns that the debate over the $8.5 billon arms sale to Saudi Arabia had stirred anti-Semitic feelings and that the administration was considering alternatives to the Camp David accords as the road to a Mideast peace settlement.

At both meetings — first with Jewish political supporters and later with the Conference of Presidents of American Jewish Organizations — the participants expressed strong concern about perceptions of anti-Semitism.

Sudden Fame Is Devastating

NEW YORK (AP) — A 79-year-old geneticist who has won two major prizes in two days for her pioneering work says her sudden fame is "devastating. I like to be anonymous, and I'm not now."

The Albert and Mary Lasker Association on Wednesday gave its $15,000 Albert Lasker Basic Medical Research Award to Barbara McClintock of Cold Spring Harbor. On Tuesday she won $60,000 a year for life from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation. And two months ago she got $50,000 from Israel's Wolf Foundation.

Miss McClintock said she doesn't know what she will do with the windfall. "Years ago, all I cared about was a pair of glasses and a car. Now all I care about is a pair of glasses," she said.

Indian Work At Gallery

PEKING (AP) — A Colorado gallery opened a 10-day exhibit of paintings, sculpture, knitting and ceramics by 59 living American Indians at the Peking exhibition center.

The works were provided by the Driscol Gallery of Denver.

Bottles can be made slip-proof by wrapping a thin piece of masking tape around the middle.

No Barber At French Town

FOIX, France (AP) — The residents of the tiny village of Belesta near here had a close shave: They almost found themselves without a barber.

Belesta's only haircutter decided to retire last summer, and residents took their problem to city hall. The town fathers contacted ex-barber Marcel Costesque, who hadn't cut hair since he took work as a salesman, and asked him to return to his old trade twice a week.

He agreed to the arrangement, but that made him a government employee, so now villagers who want a haircut have to get a ticket first, from city hall.

New England Indians made soup and salads from squash blossoms.

Dear Abby

Woman's Loving Outlook Turns Pain Into Joy

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: "Sue in San Francisco" wrote: "Recently, I received a phone call from the 35-year-old illegitimate daughter of my deceased husband. She said she was anxious to know something about her father. She knew before contacting me that she had been conceived within six months after my marriage and that the affair with her mother, of which I had no knowledge, was an ongoing thing since before our marriage. She also knew that her father had died some years ago."

Sue closed with, "I don't need this woman to enter my life as a constant reminder of my late husband's infidelity. Abby, I beg you to ask those who seek their natural parents to please consider the heartaches they can bring to others in order to satisfy their own curiosity."

I had been married only seven months when my husband told me that his son by another woman had just been born. I recall that I literally "froze." But the next morning I made up my mind that I would acknowledge that child so he could bear our surname. (My mother-in-law's advice was, "Leave him in the street where he belongs.")

Although today my husband is in a mental hospital and will not get better, our own daughter, 9, and I make twice-yearly visits to her stepbrother of whom she is very proud. He has also brought me a great deal of joy, and his own mother has done a splendid job of bringing him up. Sign me . . .

BARRY'S STEPMOTHER

DEAR STEPMOTHER: There must be a special place in heaven reserved for people like you, but I hope you don't have to wait that long for your reward. Bless you for your generous, understanding heart.

DEAR ABBY: A while back someone wrote in asking if pigs made good pets. May I add my 2 cents' worth? Pigs may be cute when they are little piglets, but when they grow up to be hogs, they are mean and dangerous. And they will eat anything! I know. My husband (at 71) was knocked down by a sow. He was alone at the time, and the fall rendered him unconscious, and before anyone could get to him the sow had killed him. Once a sow tastes blood, she continues to eat and there is no stopping her.

All farmers know this, Abby, and they never turn their backs on a hog or sow. I hope you print this letter. It may save someone from going through what I experienced.

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR ABBY: You forgot to tell that man who has a large backyard and a nice piece of property that it won't stay that way if he puts a pig back there.

First of all, a pig is going to "root" up all the grass so he can have a wallowing hole. This wallowing hole will have a very unpleasant odor after being used as a bathroom and playground combined, and before long, the whole neighborhood will know where "Miss Piggy" lives.

If this man can train the pig to come inside and use the bathroom, bathe daily, use a good deodorant, keep himself clean and eat like a person, then I would say he has a wonderful pet that probably smells better than some people.

LIVES IN HOG COUNTRY

DEAR ABBY: You can do every elementary and junior high school teacher a huge favor by suggesting that from a teacher's point of view, the best Christmas or Hanukkah gift parents can buy their children is a set of pencils with the students' name printed on them. Teachers spend a lot of time settling arguments regarding ownership of pencils.

SEVENTH-GRADE TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: Thanks for a dandy suggestion. Write on, teacher!

Offering Set For Alliance

An offering for the "Good Samaritan Fund" of the Scurry County Ministerial Alliance will be taken at the community Thanksgiving service Sunday night.

The service is set for 7 p. m. at First Baptist Church.

The "Good Samaritan Fund" is used by the alliance to help meet emergency needs of people in the community.

There are several advantages to this fund over having churches deal with needy individually, according to alliance spokesmen. First, it allows the churches in Snyder to pool their resources and thereby help more people. Second, because the fund is administered by one group, it goes a long way toward stopping those who seek to take advantage of charity by "hitting" church after church. Third, because the program is in cooperation with the Snyder Police Department, the funds most often go to those with legitimate needs and eliminates those who know they do not want to go the the police station for a voucher signature which okays the gift.

The fund is replenished each year by the offering taken at the Thanksgiving service. The only other source of income for the fund is through contributions from member churches and individuals.

Nuclear Plant Loses Its License

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — A power plant that protesters sought to make a symbol in the struggle over nuclear safety temporarily lost its license because design errors cast doubt on its ability to withstand an earthquake.

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission suspended the low-power testing license it granted Sept. 21 to the Diablo Canyon nuclear plant, which stands on the coast 2½ miles from a fault in the Earth's crust.

At a closed meeting in Washington, D.C., the commission voted 4-1 Thursday to suspend the license until the $2.3 billion plant passes a series of seismic tests.

Malcolm H. Furbush, senior vice president and general counsel for the plant's owner, the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., said the utility was the victim of a "concerted attack" by anti-nuclear activists and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

A statement released by PG&E said the utility was "disappointed" at the license suspension, "especially since nothing has been discovered to date that would indicate that the plant is not safe."

Brown said the license suspension was "unprecedented, quite remarkable and very sobering."

"The real test is what's to come," said the governor, who has demanded a completely independent safety review. "What will the government do? Will it be a paper study, a whitewash?"

Brown promised in San Francisco to "direct my energies to making sure the audit is independent, adequate and extensive."

The NRC called for verification of Diablo's seismic safety systems, but left the choice of an independent consultant and testing program to the utility, subject to NRC approval.

A coalition of 60 anti-nuclear groups that staged a two-week demonstration at the $2.3 billion seaside plant in September, resulting in 1,900 arrests, objected to the utility's role in the safety review.

"We're encouraged they won't be able to fire up their reactor, but it seems now that PG&E will have a hand in the (safety) audit," said Tim Carpenter, an organizer of the Abalone Alliance. "It's difficult for us to see how a utility can audit itself given the problems they've already had."

Commission Chairman Nunzio Palladino said opponents of the plant would have 15 days to comment on the utility's choice, but NRC spokesman Joseph Fouchard said another round of public hearings wouldn't be required.

Neither the utility nor the NRC would estimate how long the suspension would last. The utility has estimated each day's delay in full operation costs $1 million in interest charges — a bill that Jan Miller, a PG&E spokeswoman, said would probably be passed to consumers.

The plant, midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, ran into trouble in the mid-1970s with the discovery of the Hosgri earthquake fault 2½ miles offshore.

U.S. Steel Makes A Bid For Marathon

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., which has been making less steel over the years, took another big step toward diversification with its $6.5 billion bid to acquire the Marathon Oil Co. of Ohio.

With the continually disappointing profit returns in the steel industry, a move into the energy field makes good financial sense, several analysts said of U.S. Steel's move Thursday.

"I think it's a favorable deal for U.S. Steel," David Healy, a steel analyst for the Wall Street firm of Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc, said in a telephone interview.

U.S. Steel's bid challenges a hostile takeover attempt by the Mobil Corp.

In a joint announcement by U.S. Steel and Marathon, the oil company said its directors had accepted U.S. Steel's offer to buy 30 million shares, or about 51 percent, of Marathon common stock at $125 a share.

Mobil had offered $85 a share in cash for up to 40 million shares of stock. The nation's second largest oil company said it was studying U.S. Steel's offer.

The steelmaker also would have an option to buy up to 10 million of Marathon's shares at $90 a share and would purchase additional shares through a stock-for-notes transaction.

Park Service Set Tonight

Services are scheduled tonight at the Towle Park barn under sponsorship of the United Pentecostal Church.

The services will begin at 7:30 p. m., and everyone is invited to attend, according to the Rev. A. J. Haley, pastor.

Espicopalians Attend Council

Several members of St. John's Episcopal Church attended the 23rd annual Council of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas at Midland.

The council approved a budget of $589,000, approved the purchase and renovation of a building in downtown Lubbock for an Episcopal Center for the Diocese and elected officers and members of committees and commissions, including delegates to the national council in 1982.

The Rt. Rev. Sam B. Hulsey, Bishop, presided over the council.

Representing St. John's Church in Snyder were the Rev. Monte Jones, vicar; Mike Thornton, senior warden, and John Thomas. Alternates were Mrs. W. C. Hart and Mrs. Charles Shaw. Fr. Jones was elected as a trustee of the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., an institution owned by dioceses of the Episcopal Church.

Army May Quell Tribal Fights

PORT MORESBY, Papua New Guinea (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Julius Chan says the government may have to use the army to quell tribal fighting in the highlands of this island nation in the southwest Pacific.

Chan told Parliament Wednesday 80 tribesmen have been killed in the past eight months.

In Bi-District...

Plowboys To Face Hornets

It could be billed as offense versus defense, tonight's 7:30 bi-district playoff here between the 4-A champion Aspermont Hornets and the pride of District 3-A, Roscoe.

Aspermont, undefeated in 10 games and ranked No. 5 in the latest schoolboy football poll, boasts two running backs wo have compiled over 1,000 yards each. Roscoe will attempt to counter with a defense that has been stingy almost all season long.

Area football enthusiasts will no doubt be more familiar with Coach Troy Kennedy's Plowboys, who last week nipped Garden City 21-20 in a zone playoff to reach tonight's plateau. But unless the 'Boys cinch things down tight, it will be a couple of Hornet running backs most remember when Tiger Stadium is emptying.

Aspermont has zipped over ground with the greatest of ease this season, averaging over 20 points a heaps of acerage. Pat Boyd leads the Hornets in rushing with 1,342 yards. Marvin Louis in a half-step behind with 1,048 despite losing part of the season to injury.

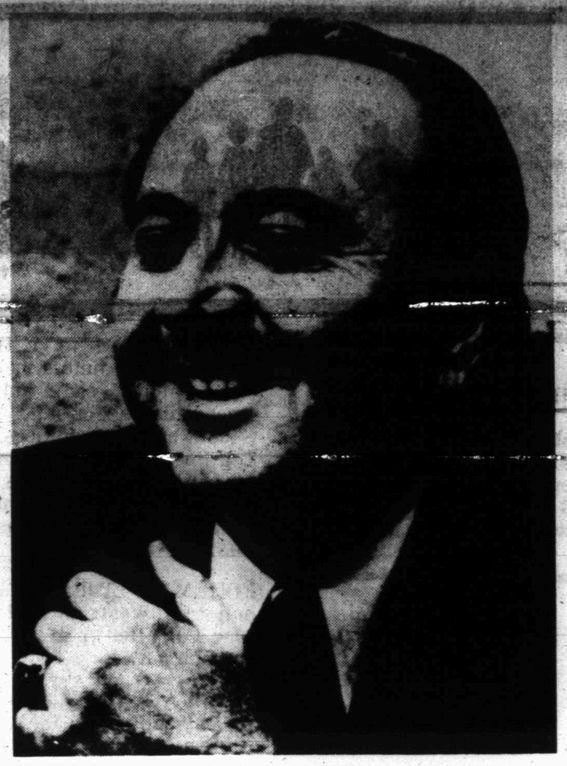

The QB for the Hornets is capable Willie Rash, not a flashy, all-state prospect, but a player who gets the job done right. Other keys for the speedy Aspermont crew include defensive end Brian Jones and tight end Mark Kluting.

Roscoe's main forte this season has been defense, but the Plowboys aren't weak on offense either. Though Kennedy would probably be quick to admit stopping Aspermont's running game is crucial, it'll be necessary for Roscoe to control the ball offensively at times - in short, keep the ball away from the favored Hornets.

The Plowboys rely on a mixture of run and pass to push the ball down the field. Quarterback Mark Denmen leads the team out of a Veer offense, and does it well. Denmen has 678 yards rushing and 700 passing this season - proof that he's not an easy athlete to contain.

Leading rusher for the Plowboys is Zahn Aljoe, who has 946 yards. Right behind is Rudy Guzman, who's totalled more than 850.

TONY MASON

Tiger Boosters Set For Banquet

Tony Mason, former football coach at Arizona, Purdue and Michigan, will be the guest speaker at Saturday night's Snyder Football Booster Club Banquet, to be held at 7 at the country club.

In addition to Mason's talk, entertainment will be provided by John Davis, John Goodwin, James Hanks and Randy Lyon with Joe Martin on lead guitar, Mitch Leaming on guitar, Martha Womack on piano and Whit Parks on drums.

The banquet honors the 1981 Snyder High School football team and coaching staff.

Mason is acclaimed as one of the nation's most successful football coaches and is rapidly becoming in demand as a motivational speaker.

He hails most recently from the University of Arizona where he took his team to the Fiesta Bowl against nationally ranked Pittsburgh in 1980.

Mason, 50, built an outstanding 87-9-7 record as a high school coach at Brookfield, and Niles, Ohio, where he coached seven undefeated teams and fashioned winning streaks of 25 and 47 games. He later served as offensive backfield coach for Rose Bowl and Big Ten champion Michigan for 10 years and as defensive line coach at Purdue University for four years.

Before coming to Arizona in 1977, Mason was head coach at the University of Cincinnati for four years where he took a 4-7 team to a 9-2 record.

At Arizona, his teams finished 5-7 in 1977, 5-6 in 1978 and 6-5-1 in 1979 and moved from the Western Athletic Conference to the PAC 10.

Elrod Calm As Snyder Girls Head For Austin

AUSTIN – For someone who usually gets the heebie-jeebies days before a key district ballgame, Snyder Coach Joyce Elrod seems to be taking her third trip to the State Volleyball Tournament as calmly as a cat stretched out in front of a fireplace.

"I guess it's because I know we've done all we can do to get ready," she said after the Tigers' Region I Tournament championship last weekend. "I'm not really worried about how we'll do. I wasn't worried about this regional tournament either. I don't know. Maybe it's predestined. I kind of just expect us to win. If we don't, it will be because we weren't supposed to, I guess."

Snyder was slated to open its defense of the state crown at 3:10 today in Gregory Gym against Waxahachie. The Class 4A finals are 3:15 Saturday.

Husband Don Elrod, who photographs as many of the Tiger games as he can get to, agreed that his wife was acting differently. "I don't know what it is, but she's not worried at all. She's been real calm before each match. I'm not sure how to take it," he laughed.

The question was brought up that maybe three tough games with Monahans - including a district playoff - took all the adrenalin out or her.

"No, I've had time to reccuperate from that," she grinned. "There were some tough nights before those matches, but ever since we won the playoff I've been more confident."

She has reason to be confident. Snyder is the No. 1 ranked team this year and has never lost a state tournament match. This will be the school's fourth appearance, three of which were under Elrod's guidance.

Pam Hess directed the 1972 team to a 3A title 10 years ago. Ironically, that team will be honored in ceremonies here at approximately 5:30 Saturday, just hours after the 1981 team expects to be playing for this year's title. Snyder also won the 3A title in 1978, and the 4A crown in 1980.

Don't get the idea that Coach Elrod might sit passively if her team falls behind this weekend. On the contrary, at regionals she got pretty warm when Snyder found itself down 7-12 at one time. A perfectionist at revealing her player's moods, she knows how and when to give them confidence, encouragement or rake them over the coals. This time she apparently chose the latter.

"She's bobbing her head up and down," said Don from his position across the court from the team. "When she bobs her head up and down, watch out! She really means it," he grinned.

Later, the coach laughed when told of the incident. "We just needed to get our composure back together. So," she added, feining something between a grin and a vicious glare, "I threatened 'em!"

Maybe Elrod's not as calm as she makes out to be.

COACH JOYCE ELROD with Assistant Coach Patty Grimmett.

Westerners In Tourney

WACO -- Western Texas' Westerners are looking for their third straight win here tonight as they take on Temple Junior College at 7 in the McLennan Community College Classic.

The Westerners, polled sixth in the WJCAC this year, are 4-2 going into the game.

Saturday's opponent for the crew will be Wharton Junior College. That game will start at 5 p.m.

Down Ranger, 81-60...

Dusters Advance In Howard College Meet

BIG SPRING—The Western Texas College Dusters will meet McClennan Community College at 6 p. m. today in the second round of the championship bracket of the Howard College Women's Basketball Tournament.

The Dusters of Coach Joe Cushing downed Ranger Junior College, 81-60, in the first round Thursday.

McClennan edged Odessa College, 65-62.

The other match in the championship bracket tonight matches host Howard College and Abilene Christian University, winners over Weatherford and Temple, respectively, in the opening round.

Cushing was able to play all 15 girls on his squad against Ranger. Vickie Teal paced the Dusters in scoring with 30 points, while Valorie Wells also was in double figures with 19.

Dana Arnold led Ranger with 19 points.

The Dusters held the upper hand in all statistical categories, except free throw shooting. They outrebounded Ranger, 41-21, and they had 10 steals. From the field, the Dusters hit 31 of 64 shots, for an average of 48 percent, while Ranger hit 20 of 62 for 31 percent. However, the Dusters got only 19 of 30 free shots to fall for 57 percent. Ranger hit 20 of 30, or 67 percent, from the charity line.

Wells led in rebounding with 10, Cindy Maddox had 7 assists and Dorcas Perkins blocked three shots, alhough she saw limited action the second half after picking up her fourth personal foul early in the game.

Teal, Wells and Dale Pieper drew special praise from Cushing for their play.

"Dorcas (Perkins) also was headed for a good game until she got those four fouls," said Cushing.

Tournament finals are scheduled for 7 p. m. Saturday in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum on the Howard College campus.

DUSTERS—Goltl 1-2-4; Maddox 1-0-2; Pieper 3-0-6; Wells 9-1-19; Heflin 1-0-2; Briggs 1-0-2; Frazier 4-0-8; Teal 8-14-30; Perkins 3-2-8; Totals 31-19-81.

Mustangs In Last Shot For Glory This Season

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

Southern Methodist is calling the game "The Polyester Bowl" since the probation-soiled Mustangs can't go to any bowl game, particularly the Cotton Bowl.

SMU can win its first Southwest Conference title in 16 years Saturday in Fayetteville by defeating the Arkansas Razorbacks.

"It's a one-shot opportunity for our team," said SMU linebacker Eric Ferguson. "Fayetteville is a tough place to play but road crowds don't seem to get to our team. We won at (Texas) A&M and that's a hard place to play."

The Mustangs are a safety favorite over the Razorbacks who could pull into a tie at 6-2 with SMU by pulling off an upset.

Should Arkansas beat SMU and Texas lose to Baylor it would put the Razorbacks in the Cotton Bowl.

An Arkansas loss and a Texas victory would give the Cotton Bowl host role to the Longhorns.

Freshman quarterback sensation Brad Taylor of Arkansas was a doubtful starter with a bruised right hand.

The No. 6 ranked Mustangs are looking for the ninth SWC title in the school's history.

They stand 9-1 for the season and 6-1 in SWC play. No. 16 ranked Arkansas is 8-2 overall.

Arkansas and Texas both have a consolation prize--the non-Cotton Bowl traveler goes to the Gator Bowl to play North Carolina.

No. 8 ranked Texas was a 12-point favorite over Baylor in Austin. The Longhorns are looking for their 17th Cotton Bowl appearnace.

Texas will be without All-American tackle Kenneth Sims and his opposite Mark Weber, both out for the season with injuries.

Baylor hasn't won in Austin in 30 years.

In other games, Texas A&M was a touchdown choice over Texas Christian in Fort Worth and the Sun Bowl-bound Houston Cougars were a 16-point pick over Texas Tech.

The Aggies are hoping an impressive victory over the Horned Frogs will earn them an Independence Bowl berth.

A&M is 5-4 and 3-3 in the SWC while TCU is 3-6-1 and 1-5-1. A TCU victory would clinch the Horned Frogs best record since 1972.

Tech is still looking for new Coach Jerry Moore's initial SWC victory.

If the Raiders lose, it will be the poorest start ever for a first year Red Raider coach. Grady Higgenbotham was 1-7-2 back in 1929. Moore is 1-8-1.

Houston is 5-3-1 and 3-2-1 and scheduled to play Oklahoma in the Sun Bowl when the SWC Cotton Bowl picture is finally settled.

Tiger Cagers Edged By Steer Quintet, 34-32

BIG SPRING—A strong second-half surge fell short for the Snyder Tigers here Thursday night as they dropped a 34-32 decision to the Big Spring Steers in their second basketball game of the season.

The loss gives the Tigers a 1-1 record, with both games against District 5-5A opponents. The locals won over the Abilene Cooper Cougars in their opener Tuesday night.

"We just made too many little mistakes," said Coach Larry Scott. "Things like jumping in the lane too quickly on free throws and other things that we just haven't done before."

The Tigers had trouble with the Big Spring zone defense in the second quarter when the Snyder teamed managed only two points. Still, they had a chance to pull it out after they fought back from a 20-10 deficit at half-time.

"They pushed us out with their zone defense in the second quarter," said Scott.

The Tigers came back to out-score the Steers, 22-14, in the second half, but it wasn't quite enough.

James Caldwell led the Tigers in scoring with 10 points, while Riley Kitchens had 8.

Blake Rosson was high scorer for Big Spring with 10 points.

The Big Spring Junior Varsity edged the Snyder JV team, 48-43. Mark Cypert was the leading scorer for the Snyder JV with 13 points. David Miller had 6, Trey McWilliams, Whit Parks, Don Johnson, Richard Derrick and Paul Pate had 4 each, and Marcus McGlouthin had 2.

Next action for the Tigers will be Tuesday night when they go to Abilene to face the Abilene High Eagles. A JV game will begin at 6:15 p. m. and the varsity game will follow at 8 p. m. The games at Abilene will be played in the Mabee Athletic Complex on the Hardin-Simmons University campus, since the Eagle Gym is undergoing repairs.

SNYDER VARSITY—Robertson 0-0-0; Wilson 1-0-2; Housden 0-0-0; Wallace 0-0-0; Caldwell 4-2-10; Lofton 2-0-4; Kitchens 3-2-8; Shaw 0-4-4; Gafford 2-0-4; Totals 12-8-32.

Snyder Girls Nip New Deal, 45-42

ROOSEVELT—The Snyder High School Girls basketball team put on a rally in the fourth period to edge New Deal, 45-42, and advance in the Roosevelt Tournament here Thursday.

The Snyder girls held a narrow 21-20 advantage at half-time, but New Deal came out in the third quarter to surge to a 37-33 lead.

Snyder held New Deal to five points in the fourth while scoring 12 of their own to sew up the victory.

Coach Ken Housden's Snyder girls were to face Idalou at 3 p. m. today in the second round of play.

Pam Perceval led Snyder scorers in the opener with 16 points. Brenda Anderson had 11.

Melissa Mayo roped 20 points for New deal.

CARD OF THANKS 060

THE FAMILY of W.F. (Frank) Arnett would like to thank all our friends for the get well cards, flowers, food, visits and many other acts of sympathy extended to us in our time of sorrow. Our appreciation for all the contributions made to the American Cancer Society, Children's Home of Lubbock, Needy Children's Fund, Boy's Home of Amarillo and San Angelo, and the Scurry County Museum. We would also like to express special thanks to the singers of Eastside Church of Christ for the beautiful music sang at the funeral. Our prayer is for each of you to have such wounderful friends in your time of need.

Cotton

The average price for strict low middling 1 & 1-16 inch spot cotton declined 69 points to 56.34 cents a pound Thursday for the nine leading markets,according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were $1.00 a bale higher to $4.05 lower than the previous close. Dec 62.00, Mar 64.78, May 66.35, Jul 67.86, Oct 69.90, Dec 71.15, Mar 72.00.

Budget

not yet approved any of the regular money bills for fiscal 1982, which began Oct. 1.

Baker's plan would exempt the Pentagon, revenue sharing to the states, the judiciary and benefit programs such as food stamps and Medicare from the newest round of spending reductions.

The plan, which was agreed to on a 62-35 vote at 4:29 a.m. EST, specifies that no individual program may be reduced by more than 5 percent and gives the president flexibility in determining how reductions will be applied.

Some senators said giving Reagan this authority was an abdication of legislative responsibity.

"It appears that just a threat from the president down the avenue is enough to make us toe the mark," said Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio.

Sen. Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., said Congress would be giving up a constitutional perogative for a small price.

"Why die on a small cross," Biden said.

As the Senate session dragged into the early morning, some members napped in the cloakrooms while others slumped in their chairs or huddled off the floor to discuss strategy.

A major stumbling block to getting acceptance of Baker's plan had been the Sept. 30 expiration date for the emergency legislation, which would carry it through the remainder of the fiscal year.

A number of senators said they wanted an earlier expiration date to ensure that Congress would vote on the regular appropriations bills for fiscal 1982.

When a compromise amendment for an expiration date of March 31 was offered by Senate Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and accepted on a 94-3 vote, it signalcd that the impasse was over.

Sources had indicated Baker might drop his plan if it appeared likely to lose, effectively inviting the veto.

Baker said a veto, in turn, probably would force Congress into an around-the-clock weekend session to produce a second measure that Reagan would approve.

However, the House rejected a cut of 5 percent across the board in domestic programs when it approved its own version of the stopgap spending bill Monday. But House Republican leaders were expected to try again. The House bill runs through Sept. 30.

House Republican leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois said the Democatic-controlled House could be persuaded to reverse itself and approve additional cuts of up to 5 percent in domestic programs.

OBITUARIES

Tommy Graves

Munden's Names Contest Winners

Melissa Bassett, age 6, and Jackie Severs were named winners in the Eagle Claw Pot of Gold contest, held recently at Munden's Discount Center in Snyder.

Participants in the contest were asked to guess the number of fish hooks in a bowl on display in the store. Melissa earned a new Eagle Claw fishing reel and Severs garnered a new Eagle Claw fishing rod for their efforts.

Britain did not end food rationing — which was instituted during World War II — until 1954.

the intent and conditions for which the award was made."

Cline told the newspaper the only substantial loss would be the heart institute's grant, which provides 20 percent of his federal funding. He said he would not appeal the decision.

The women involved suffered from beta-thalassemia, a fatal genetic disease making them unable to produce normal hemoglobin, which carries oxygen to the body.

Cline removed cells from the women's bone marrow and treated the cells with genes containing the information to produce normal hemoglobin. Had it worked, the women's bone marrow would have been able to produce red blood cells with normal hemoglobin, arresting the almost certainly fatal disease. The women are alive, but their conditions reportedly have not improved.

Cline failed to gain required approval for the treatments.

Cline has stepped down as chief of UCLA medical school's division of hematology and oncology but remains on the faculty.
