Griffith wins runoff

With a predicted light turnout of voters in Saturday's Democratic Party primary runoff, Gordon Griffith won over Virginia Klinkerman for the nomination of precinct 3 county commissioner.

Griffith's popularity in Iowa Park's box carried him to a 790-645 win. He won the combined voting precinct 32 and 33 box 441-288, and the box in the City View area 122-96. Klinkerman won three of the boxes and absentee voting to hold a 12-vote margin until the Iowa Park box was added in. She won box 7, 63-57; box 9, 90-87; box 21, 60-49; and absentee, 48-34.

Griffith picked up more votes that went to the five other candidates in the first election than did Klinkerman. He pulled 67 more votes Saturday than he did in the race when seven candidates were running. Klinkerman added only eight more than she received last month, when Griffith out-poll her 713-637.

The big turn around in Saturday's voting was in the race for nomination as county attorney. Harold Lerew beat Ann Krempf 2,136 to 1,587. Krempf was the big vote getter in the May voting.

Lerew's turn around county-wide was reflected locally, where he polled 459 votes in the three area boxes to Krempf's 371. In the combined 32-33 precinct box, he received 377 votes to Krempf's 314. Last May, Krempf drew 452 votes to Lerew's 251 in the same two boxes.

Only 3,844 votes were cast at the boxes and absentee in Saturday's runoff, out of 55,000 registered voters in Wichita County. Iowa Park's combined boxes attracted 732 voters and Burkburnett's combined boxes had 652, for a total of 1,384, or approximately one-third of the county's total votes cast.

Former students hired to faculty positions

Three former Iowa Park students were hired Tuesday night as faculty members. Both graduates of Midwestern

State University, Daryl Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Frazier, was hired as a junior high teacher and coach, and Barry Lucy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Lucy of Holliday, was hired as high school art teacher and assistant coach.

Frazier will replace Doug Chaney, who has resigned to enter the insurance business, but will continue teaching his class in drivers' education this summer.

Also hired by the board were Steve Parr, who has been a teacher and coach at Valley View, as head girls basketball coach and physical education instructor at high school. Anna Dowell was hired as a teacher's aide at the junior high, and Carrie Dale Roberts, another Iowa Park graduate, was hired for the homemaking department at high school. Mary Jacobi of Electra was hired as a science teacher at high school, and will also teach girls' PE and be assistant girls' coach.

Trustees approved salary adjustments for two changes on the coaching staff. Ernie Reusch was named head boys' basketball coach and Robert Needham boys' junior varsity basketball coach. Reusch came to Iowa Park originally in 1969 as the basketball coach.

Choral department director Janet Walker was offered a contract for next year with a bonus of $2,100 above state pay schedule, including the $300 given by the school to faculty members who live in the district. She has requested $3,000 above state.

With the hirings, Supt. Harold Cowley said the faculties of each campus was complete with the exception of one first grade teacher for Kidwell and one vacancy in the West Wichita Co-op here. Assignment of rooms to teachers has also been completed, he told board members.

A vacancy of first grade teacher was created when Linda Escue was named high school librarian.

At the present time, with two faculty members yet to be hired, the payroll is $115,244 less than it was in September of 1979, Cowley told trustees.

DELAY ACTION

Cold drinks turned out to be a hot potato issue for trustees. Informed that the Texas Education Agency, acting on new regulations set down by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, prohibits sale of certain drinks and foods considered in competition with the federal lunch and breakfast programs.

This means carbonated beverages which are available at the lunchrooms and in areas at the high school cannot be made available to students until after the lunch period, or the school will lose its financial and commodity assistance for the lunch program.

Trustees delayed taking any action on the issue until they could consider it further.

Soft drinks are available in the two vocational education buildings and the football field house, as well as in the lunchroom. They were considered especially desirable in one of the vocational buildings where three-hour afternoon classes in auto mechanics, auto body, agriculture and building trades are held in the afternoons. The building is not air conditioned.

The problem there is that students in the morning classes could not have the soft drinks, due to the regulations, if the machine were allowed to remain.

Cowley, Tommy Watkins said he would like to retain the machine in the field house because it is very handy to provide drinks to visiting teams during halftime, an accommodation shared by all schools in the district.

The regulation prohibits availability of soda water, water ices, chewing gum and certain candies until after the noon lunch period.

Acknowledging soft drinks in the cafeteria had increased lunchroom participation, Bill Steger told trustees students would continue to be served tea, fruit juices and non-carbonated soft drinks along with milk, if trustees banned the soft drinks.

TSTA RECOMMENDATIONS

Carolyn Richter, president of the local Texas State Teachers Association organization, presented a list of four recommendations which she said were the result of a survey of all teachers in the school district.

They included: 1. salary increase; 2. increase in annual leave by one day; 3. local sick leave increased three additional days with provisions for an employee to use them with their children when they were ill; and 4. consider continuing contracts after a three-year probation.

"We would like to see some type of action taken on it soon", she told trustees.

OTHER BUSINESS

Other action taken by the board included:

- * approve liability insurance policy with St. Paul Insurance (through Hill Insurance) at the annual premium of $1,334 to cover all school employees, administration and board members;
- * approved co-sponsoring a summer recreation program with the city, to be held weekday mornings in July at the high school campus;
- * heard a recommendation to hire a counselor for the elementary campus;
- * approved purchase of a drivers education car leased from Shaw Ford which was involved in an accident last week in Electra;
- * approved a plan for bussing students from areas in the city to campuses;
- * approved replacing football light poles at the junior high with those from Valley View.

REMOVING PARKING LINES HOT, DIRTY WORK

Theft, mischief cases reported

One case of theft and several cases of criminal mischief were reported to police this week.

A pickup owned by Jim Virgin was unlocked while parked at 1125 Louisiana and a Crossman pellet gun allegedly removed.

Sometime Tuesday evening, four properties were defaced by vandals using a can of black spray paint. Reportedly hit were the clinic of Dr. Carter Pirkle, Jiffy on Johnson Road, the Texaco station at Pacific and expressway, and the bus of the Missionary Baptist Church.

Two policemen to be hired

City aldermen will consider hiring two policemen when the council meets in a called meeting at 7 p.m. Monday.

City administrator Steve Morath said applications for two vacancies on the force will be considered by council members.

Two ordinances will also be considered. One concerns mobile homes, establishing how they will be set up but not governing where they can be located, Morath said. The other ordinance authorizes placement of traffic control signs at certain locations.

A plat will be considered for a new multi-family housing area between Pacific Street and Oscar Park. It has already been approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Also on Monday's agenda will be a public appearance by Duncan Spruiell, requesting the water line south of town on FM 368 be enlarged; appointment of Bob Cole to replace Harold Cowley on the traffic safety council; and consider bids on a 1967 pickup to be sold.

Street dance slated June 21

The third annual street dance sponsored by the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department will be held the evening of June 21 in the 100 block of West Park.

A concession stand will be operated by the girls' softball league, the MuleSkinners will serve dinner, prizes will be awarded for the ugliest baby picture, most decorated cowboy hat and the best dance couple, and the music will be furnished by Ozan River Band.

City to have one-way street

Work on changing of parking and making the 100 block of West Cash Street one-way is expected to be completed by this weekend, according to Steve Morath, city administrator.

City workers began Tuesday erasing the old parking stripes, and the angle will be changed from 30 degrees to 45 degrees, increasing parking spaces from 22 to 36 in the block.

Islands will be build into the street at each of the four corners, on which traffic signs will be located. Signs ordered several weeks ago were allegedly shipped from the factory a month ago, but Morath said they had not yet arrived. He intends to borrow signs from Wichita Falls if they are not received this week, in order to complete the project.

A change in the parking angle some three months ago brought several complaints from merchants on the block who said their customers could not find parking and were going elsewhere. This prompted the city to change the parking angles.

Cash Street will be one-way west when the project is completed.

Early deadlines next week

Next week's edition of the Iowa Park Leader will be published a day earlier, requiring a change of deadlines for that week only.

Stories and display advertising will be accepted until 4 p.m. Monday, and classified advertising until 10 a.m. Tuesday. The paper will be printed Tuesday evening and be distributed to subscribers through the mail, and also be put on news stands Wednesday.

"Most of the Leader's staff will be attending the 100th summer convention of the Texas Press Association in Houston," commented Bob Hamilton, publisher. "We're supposed to be there Thursday morning, so we'll have to spend most of Wednesday traveling."

"We appreciate the cooperation we receive each time a trip necessitates our printing early," he added.

The Leader's office will remain open during regular business hours, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

State's 'basic skills' tests reported to trustees

Results of the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills tests given fifth and ninth grade students in the spring were reported to Iowa Park school board members Tuesday evening by counselors Herman Escue and Coleen Roberts.

The tests are used to measure basic skill areas in mathematics, reading and writing, and will be extended to the third grade this year.

Escue explained that the tests are primarily for local evaluation, and results have already been discussed with the school's curriculum committee from which recommendations of changes in teaching may result in the future.

Comparative results from all schools in the state are to be provided later this summer.

Escue said the test given the ninth graders contained questions which would normally be given a student about to graduate, and any grade of 70 percent or higher would be considered very good.

Some of the problems and questions posed students covered lessons and subjects which might be planned later in the student curriculum, and therefore grades in those areas could be low, he explained.

Of the 172 ninth graders taking the test, fewer than 70 percent demonstrated mastery (understanding) in only three of 11 areas of the reading test, and the class scored an 86 overall.

The class scored 62 on "distinguish fact and non-fact"; 67 percent on "use parts of book"; and 69 percent on "make generalizations."

In the other areas, scores were 86 percent on "identify main idea"; 81 percent on "sequence events"; 78 percent on "perceive cause-effect"; 85 on "evaluate information"; 80 on "draw conclusions"; 94 on "follow written directions"; 91 on "use reference skills"; and 88 on "use maps, charts".

On writing, ninth graders had a 73 percent mastery on a test which had six parts of demonstrating mastery, four parts on handwriting and one part of organization of ideas and appropriate response.

In the first section, they had their highest scores in spelling, 92 percent, commonly used forms, 92 percent, and sentence structure, 91. Other scores were 83 on capitalization, 73 on punctuation and 67 on correct English usage.

The report showed 95 percent had acceptable handwriting, five percent hard to read and none illegible or not ratable.

Under organization of ideas, four percent had a raw score of three or four, considered excellent; 72 percent had two, average; and 24 percent had raw scores of zero or one, poor.

Three areas of the mathematics test brought down the overall average to a still respectable 81 percent of mastery. They were "solve personal finance problems", 51 percent mastery; "use ratio/proportion/percent, 61 percent; and use fractions/mixed numbers, 65 percent.

The higher grades of the 11-part test included: 94 percent on "add/subtract whole numbers"; 87 on "multiply/divide whole numbers"; 75, "solve problems"; 78, "use decimals"; 82, "solve problems using money"; 78, "use measurement units"; 82, read maps; and 93 on "read, interpret charts/graphs".

FIFTH GRADE

Fifth graders, 140 taking the test, demonstrated their best strength in writing and reading, but falling back somewhat in math. The class scored a 65 percent percentile of mastery in reading and excelled in the organization of ideas in writing, but had an overall score of 52 in math.

Three areas of math lowered the overall score considerably, especially in "geometric terms, figures" where only 21 percent demonstrated mastery of the subject. A 39 was scored on "identify equivalent fractions" and 41 on "interpret place value".

The higher scores on the math test included: 84 percent on "add whole numbers"; 77 on "subtract whole numbers"; 74, "multiply whole numbers"; 71, "divide whole numbers"; 83, "solve word problems plus and minus"; 59, "solve word problems multiply and divide"; 90, "units of measure"; 89, "interpret graphs"; and 72 on "sequence numbers".

High scores on the reading test included: 94 percent on "recall facts, details"; 80 on "sequence events"; 83, "draw conclusions"; 98, "use context clues"; 86, "use index"; 92, use maps, charts"; 90, follow written directions"; and 90 on "identify character feelings".

Low scores in reading were: 66 percent on "identify main ideas"; 41 on "distinguish fact, non-fact"; and 64 on "predict outcomes".

Four of the six categories of writing mastery by the fifth graders were exceptional: 96 percent on spelling; 92 on capitalization; 90 on sentence structure; and 93 on commonly used forms. The other scores were a 68 percent on punctuation and 75 on correct English usage.

On the handwriting test, 96 percent was acceptable, four percent hard to read but none was illegible or not ratable.

In the section on organization of ideas and appropriate response, 71 percent of the raw scores were three or four, exceptional. Twenty eight of the scores were two, or average, and only one percent was poor.

Some time in the future, tests of this sort may be used to determine eligibility to graduate from high school, Escue said, but at the present, no plans are yet definite or time set.

Carter, Johnston wedding held Saturday in Dallas

As the organ sounded the notes of "Trumpet Voluntary" by Clarke for the processional, Miss Angela Lyn Carter entered Perkins Chapel at Southern Methodist University in Dallas Saturday afternoon to stand beside Dana Kerry Johnston, her betrothed, for the recitation of traditional marriage lines.

Rev. David Stringer, pastor of St. Stephens United Presbyterian Church in Dallas, officiated the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gloria Corbett and Jim Corbett of Irving, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M.E. Johnston of Iowa Park.

Robert Glib, organist of Perkins Chapel, presented a concert of prelude selections prior to playing the processional. His selections included "Now Thank We Our God", "Pavane" Chorale Prelude on "St. Peter", "Voluntary on the Dohology." Randy Johnston, brother of the groom was the trumpeter for the last number. For the recessional, the organist played "Toccata from Symphony No. 5."

The bride's father and mother presented her in marriage. She was an exquisite picture in a formal gown of white organza over peau de soie. The empire style bodice was fashioned with a sculptured Queen Anne neckline adorned with silk Venise lace fleurettes and straight organza sleeves. Her A-line skirt was edged in a ruffled flounce and flowed gently into a chapel length train.

The bride chose a graduated fingertip veil of white bridal illusion to complete her costume. The veil bordered in matching silk Venise fleurettes drifted gracefully from a Juliet headpiece. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white cymbidium orchids nestled in a cluster of gypsophila.

Miss Lisa Zuspan of Lewisville, cousin of the bride, participated in the wedding as maid of honor. She was distinguished by wearing an ivory pleated gown which captured attention with its high neckline embellished with silk Venise fleurettes.

Miss Vicki Goff and Miss Kelly Farris of Irving, the bridesmaids, wore modish formal gowns of ivory nyesta designed with a slight blouson bodice with split sleeves and pleated skirt.

Each bridal attendant carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations intermingled with baby's breath.

Kristina Corbett, sister of the bride, preceded her to the altar scattering rose petals in her path. Her dainty ivory organza and lace frock was full length and featured a neck ruffle and lace panel trimmed with navy.

Marc Johnston of Iowa Park, the groom's nephew, was ring bearer and wore a navy blue tuxedo with cream ruffled shirt.

When the groom met his bride at the altar, he was wearing a white tuxedo with tails and a white rose with a background of greenery for a boutonniere.

His attendants were attired in navy blue tuxedos with which they wore ruffled cream-colored shirts and white carnations.

Best man for the groom was Billy

Brasfield of Wichita Falls. The groomsmen, also from Wichita Falls, were Glen Veteto and Tony Silva. Duties of ushering and seating guests were assigned to M.K. Johnston of Iowa Park, brother of the groom, and Gene Phillips of Dallas, the bride's uncle.

Kirby Lounge at SMU was the scene of the postnuptial reception where decorations and appointments were characterized by exquisite taste.

Gary Peterson of Houston, cousin of the bride, registered guests and distributed the novel bird seed bags in lieu of traditional rice bags.

The bride's table was covered and skirted with ivory organza graced with bows in shades of blue. The three-tiered white cake was decorated attractively with blue velvety roses of frosting, and one set of colonial columns enhanced its stateliness.

The top ornament which lent itself to both traditional and contemporary taste, featured a bride and groom walking through a latticed gateway. Two white doves sitting on top looked down on the couple as they stepped into a garden of white roses. The punch fountain was a part of the table appointments.

The groom's table was covered in brown and ivory organza and held a chocolate cake.

Mothers of the bride and groom complemented the gowns that they wore to the wedding and reception with white orchid corsages. Mrs. Corbett wore a two-piece gown of imported French oyster white silk fashioned with a side-buttoned skirt, cummerbund band at the waist, and a white on white striped blouse with puffed sleeves. French lace collar worn over a silk camisole. Mrs. Johnston wore a soft pink polyester knit gown with three-quarter length bell sleeves and A-line skirt.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to San Antonio, the new Mrs. Johnston was wearing a blue gray sheer street length dress with a button down collar. They will live in Wichita Falls.

Thirty-two attended the rehearsal dinner hosted by the groom's parents Friday evening at Victoria Station in Dallas.

The bride was graduated from MacArthur High School, Irving and the groom from Iowa Park High School and Midwestern State University where he was named Outstanding Young Man of America in 1979, was president of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and vice president of Cap and Gown. Both are employed by St. Stephens United Presbyterian Church in Dallas.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Charlotte Peterson and Gary from Houston and Joe Carter and Cheri from Phoenix, Ariz.

Lee, Jordan nuptial vows said

The Faith Tabernacle in Holliday was the scene of a high noon wedding Saturday when Miss Tracy Ann Lee became the bride of Robert Roland Jordan. Parents of the couple are Mrs. Sue Lee of Iowa Park and Mark Jordan of Bismarck, Ark.

Rev. Roy Don Stewart performed the double-ring ceremony before two greenery-entwined candelabra.

Mrs. Roy Don Stewart, pianist, played "Wedding Song" and "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" for prelude numbers and the wedding marches for the entrance and exit of the bridal party. Coy Lee, brother of the bride, the vocalist, furnished his guitar accompaniment for one of his own compositions.

The bride was given in marriage by Fred Simmons, her uncle. She wore a white organza gown enhanced with Chantilly lace that covered the empire waist, formed the cuffs of the long sleeves and ornamented the full skirt that extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil that included a blusher veil was attached to a beaded headpiece. She carried a teardrop bouquet consisting of white pixie carnations and chrysanthemums.

The bride was attended by her sister, Susan Griest, who wore a light blue permanent pleated lace dress. She carried a nosegay of pink, blue and yellow carnations.

Louis Jordan of Malvern, Ark., served as best man for his brother, and Steve Cleghorn was the usher.

MRS. ROBERT ROLAND JORDAN

The men wore blue suits, and the bride's mother wore a light blue polyester dress trimmed in silver.

The wedding reception given by the bride's mother was held in Texas Electric Reddy Room in Iowa Park. Assisting with duties of serving were Misses DaVeda Miller, Delia Denise Lemons and Trudi Joachim.

The bride's table was appointed with two cakes, one a small three-tiered confection decorated with icing roses in spring colors on the sides and silk flowers that completely covered the top of the second tier. The miniature bride and groom, popular with so many brides, was chosen for the top ornament. The sheet cake at one table extremity was decorated with wedding bells and a cluster of spring-colored flowers. The crystal punch bowl and various other wedding symbols added further table interest.

The groom's table held a round chocolate cake outlined with white rosettes. The bride and groom figurines were emphasized in his table decorations, as they stood by a "just married" car, and as an accessory for the cake where they were pictured standing on a dais in front of a circle of hearts, bells and net. The white net rice bags tied with pink and blue ribbons were placed on one extremity of the table.

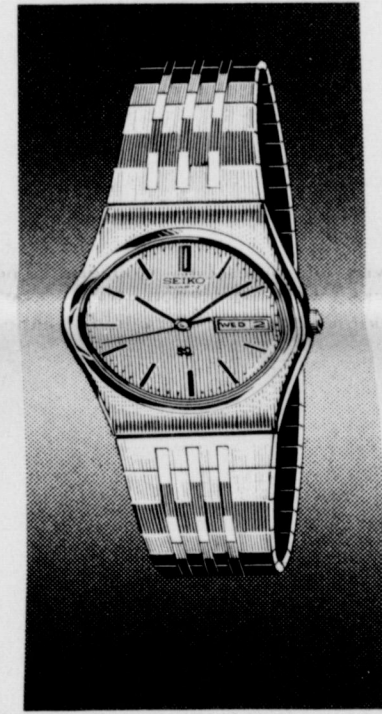

The bride, who was graduated from Iowa Park High School this spring, belonged to VICA and the Cosmetology Club. She is presently employed at Harvey's. The groom attended high school at Malvern, Ark. He was active in FFA, VICA and auto mechanics. He works for Galaxy Oil Co.

The couple departed from the reception for a trip to Quartz Mts. The bride traveled in a pastel street-length dress. They will live in Iowa Park.

The rehearsal party was given by the bride's mother at her home.

Out-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jordan and Susan, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jordan and Joey, Martha Jordan and Bruce Plicher, all of Malvern, Ark.; Bessie Logue, Frances Harlen and Eva and Drick Denham from Wichita Falls.

Evans, Cook vows recited in Faith Baptist Church

Honeymooning in Cancun, Mexico, are Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Cook, who were married Saturday evening at the Faith Baptist Church in an impressive double ring ceremony officiated by Rev. Ken Cole, pastor.

The bride is the former Miss Sherry Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Evans, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cook.

Upon arriving at the church for the wedding, guests registered in the foyer at the white lace-covered table appointed with a picture of the bride, a blue votive candle, a white plume pen and bride's book. Miss Carol Crush directed their signatures.

Mrs. John Rentschler, organist, Mrs. Billy Hacker, pianist, and Mrs. Lonnie Moore of Holliday, vocalist, provided a program of prelude music. The instrumentalists played "Colour My World" and "The Wedding Song" and accompanied Mrs. Moore for her solos, "Longer," "Sunrise Sunset" and "The Wedding Prayer". The time-honored marches were chosen for the processional and recessional.

The altar area where the sacred vows were repeated was adorned with a boxwood-entwined brass archway centered with two large white wedding bells. In flanking positions were spiral candelabra wrapped with the same greenery where cathedral candles burned to shed soft illumination on the setting. To provide further ornamentation, white and blue gladiola and cushion poms were arranged in wicker baskets on either side of the candelabra.

Escorted by her father and given in marriage by both parents, the bride was radiant in a white chiffonette and imported Chantilly lace gown fashioned to create a redingote effect. The lace graced the sheer bishop sleeves, trimmed the sweetheart neckline and was repeated in multiple hemline ruffles of the skirt that formed a semi-cathedral train.

The bride's headdress featured a two-tiered illusion veil edged in Chantilly lace that swept to fingertip length and a butterfly face veil caught to a pearl-scattered Chantilly lace cap. She carried her colonial bouquet centered with a white cymbidium orchid surrounded by white sweetheart rosebuds, blue cushion poms, gypsophila and greenery on top of a pearl-covered Bible that her mother carried in her wedding twenty-three years ago.

For her jewelry, she wore diamond earrings and necklace given to her by an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Graves. She chose her mother's Bible for both "something old" and "something borrowed", a garter for "something blue" and her beautiful gown for "something new."

Miss Jacalyn Hale of San Angelo, a former resident of Iowa Park, served as the bride's maid of honor. Composing the quartet of bridesmaids were Miss Jayna Evans and Miss Michelle Evans, sisters of the bride, Miss Kathy Johnson and Miss Dana Mikkelsen.

They carried round bouquets of blue and white cushion poms, baby's breath and greenery to emphasize the beauty of their identically-styled gowns of bluestone tinaseta. The frocks were designed with scoop necklines with attached capes trimmed in Chantilly lace, empire waistlines and circular pleated skirts. They wore pearl bracelets, gifts from the bride.

Robert Cook, uncle of the groom, acted as best man. Groomsmen were James Spears of Wichita Falls, Dennis Herder, Randy Stone of Holliday and Pat Cooke. Ushers and candlelighters were Rafan Graves of Ardmore, Okla., cousin of the bride, and Kevin Callahan.

The groom and masculine participants in the wedding wore silver gray tuxedos. The groom wore a white ruffled shirt and three sweetheart roses for his boutonniere, and the others wore gray ruffled shirts.

Mothers of the bride and groom wore corsages of white sweetheart roses and baby's breath trimmed in blue with long gowns that they selected for the wedding. Mrs. Evans was dressed in light blue chiffon with an attached cape and A-line skirt. Mrs. Cook was attired in a gray slipper satin shirtwaist dress trimmed with rhinestone buttons.

The wedding reception took place in the Silver Square of Parker Square Bank in Wichita Falls and was hosted by the bride's parents.

A treasured ornament for the registry table there was an open book carved out of wood holding the couple's decoupage wedding invitation. The table was laid with white lace over blue and also held a bouquet of blue and gray silk flowers, the bride's book and white plume pen.

The bride's cake was on a round table covered with white organdy centered with a runner of bluestone tinaseta from which a skirt formed of white eyelet ruffles threaded with narrow blue silk ribbons fell to the floor.

The three-tiered cake was a delight to the eyes with its lavish frosting trim of blue rose clusters and scalloped ribbon trim design on the sides of each layer. Sugar bells and rose clusters decorated the top of the second tier separated from the top tier by lacy dividers. The exquisite top ornament featured the traditional symbols of a bride and groom standing on a heart accented with lovebirds and wedding bells, all in blown glass. The crystal punch service fit into the decorative scheme of the table.

The groom's table was laid with a bluestone tinaseta cloth topped with a gray burlap cover swagged with tassel-centered white satin rope. An appropriate accessory was a miniature stained glass and pewter airplane suggestive of his vocation. The chocolate cake was attractively trimmed with chocolate frosting roses and a lacy heart containing "Sherry-Sonny, June 7, 1980" in blue lettering. The silver coffee service was a part of the decor.

An interesting feature of the room decorations was a blue velvet-covered improvised "picture gallery" centered with a picture of the bride and groom together and surrounded with separate pictures of them taken from babyhood to the time of their wedding. A separate table held the display of pictures.

The buffet table was covered with candlelight slipper satin.

Reception assistants were Miss Judy Cook, sister of the groom, Mmes. Mark Simons, Mike Lane, Robert Cook, Wayne Graves, Pat Cooke, Horace Robinson, Ed Pryor and Les Maple.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Underwood's. The betrothed couple presented their attendants with gifts of appreciation. She gave hers the pearl bracelets that they wore in the wedding and he remembered his with pen and pencil sets.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Iowa Park High School. She was in FHA and a member of National Honor Society. As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

I shudder with sympathy when someone asks "Who is Sammy Baugh?"

Realizing not everyone is as old as I, surely some of them have glanced at record books of college and professional football.

"Slingin' Sammy Baugh" was the apple of any Texan's eye in the late 1930s and early 1940s, regardless of whether they followed football or not. He was a hero in a period when hero worshiping was a fact of life.

I've had the pleasure of meeting about every type of state, national and world celebrity there is, with the exception of kings and popes. But it wasn't until Tuesday that my need to meet my hero, the person I held the highest, was satisfied.

By golly, I not only got to see him, hear him and even talk with him, but I got to play a round of golf with him. That, to me, satisfied about everything I had yet wanted to accomplish on this earth and I'm at peace.

Looking back at the last couple of years, I'm sorry for the way I've treated his son, David, who is one of our assistant coaches. My desire to meet his father was one which I don't think he could comprehend. Most people probably wouldn't.

Sam had pretty well dropped out of the public in the late 1940s, but when I learned that the youngster playing on the Texas Red Raiders in the 1960s was David, his son, my interest in meeting the man among men was rekindled.

After Tommy Watkins and his crew moved to Andrews and I learned through the Andrews newspaper that David had joined him, I was often tempted to drive down there to wrangle an audience with Sammy. But I never did.

And then, glory be, David moved here when Watkins returned. . . . I knew my day was coming.

I was heartbroken after finding out Sammy had been here to see one of the Hawks' games in the 1978 season.

He had actually sat right there in Hawk Stadium, and I didn't know it. "Why didn't you tell me Sammy was coming?" I posed to David.

"Well, gosh," David responded. "There were several fathers in the stadium that night. Did any of their sons tell you their dads would be there?"

He had a point. But it didn't satisfy me. And to emphasize my desire to meet his father, I called David an unprintable name every time I saw him for several months.

It finally paid off. . . . about two years later.

Slingin' Sammy Baugh looked just exactly like I had expected: tall, lean, his face beginning to show his 64 years of age, and friendly.

He's the most common, un-common man I've ever known.

And he plays a pretty darn good game of golf, too!

'Faye Day' set Sunday

Sunday will still be "Faye Day", even if Iowa Park's mayor and mayor protem weren't available to sign a proclamation to the fact.

Similar proclamations have been made official in several parts of the state, honoring Mrs. Bob Birdett, who has been elected grand president of the State of Texas MOCA for 1980-81.

As head of the Women's Auxiliary of the Military Order of the Cootie, an organization which promotes hospital work and programs and social work at them, with a motto of "Keep them smiling in beds of white," Mrs. Birdett will be honored Sunday when friends from all points of the state gather here.

Moore, nine years, Forest Cook, five years, Lee Towns, five years, Billy Nunsley, five years, L.F. Davis Jr., three years, and Robbie Watts, two years. Steve Lowe, five years, is not photographed. Wayne Williams, superintendent of postal operations, is in the background.

Lions hear Iowa Parkan

Harry Moore Jr., native Iowa Parkan who is now manager of Beacon Lighthouse workshop in Wichita Falls, was guest speaker Tuesday for the Noon Lions Club.

Moore said Beacon Lighthouse was originated in 1974 with five visually handicapped employees, and today has some 40 workers making ballpoint pens, mops, nylon abrasive pads and other items for its five government contracts.

Sales of the workshop's products grew to $112,000 gross by 1978, but have zoomed to an anticipated $700,000 this year.

Besides providing employment for the visually handicapped, the center provides counseling, training, social activities and also assists in seeking employment in the private sector, Moore said.

The first sheltered workshop for the handicapped was started in 1840 in New England. Today there are some 3,500 workshops across the nation, some 300 of them for the visually impaired.

Moore was graduated from Iowa Park High School in 1964.

What Texas Electric says about setting your central air to save money.

At Texas Electric we are often asked about the cheapest way to operate a central air conditioning unit and still be comfortable.

Here's what we recommend.

- Keep the temperature at 78 or higher. Each degree below that causes the unit to use about 5% more energy.

- Leave your air conditioner's fan switch in the "auto" position. This way the fan only comes on when it's needed.

- Finally, before you leave the house, turn your air conditioner switch to "off." Even though your house may be warmer when you return, you won't be paying to air condition an empty house while you were gone.

For more energy-saving ideas and answers to your questions, call Texas Electric and arrange to attend an Operation Tighten-Up workshop in your neighborhood.

Compton, Daniels wedding held Saturday

The beauty of simplicity was highlighted in the impressive marriage ceremony which was performed Saturday evening in the chapel of First Baptist Church to unite Miss Sandra Lee Compton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michie Ray Compton, and Terry DeWayne Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Daniels, Rev. Carl Kent, pastor of Scotland Baptist Church, directed the couple in their recitation of vows.

The focal point of chapel decorations was the beautiful lighted stained glass window which enhanced the solemnity of the occasion. Flanking the window were seven-branched votive candelabra enwreathed with baby's breath.

In keeping with the rainbow colors chosen by the bride, the piano held an all silk arrangement of gladioli, snapdragons, mums, poppies, dahlias, hibiscus and baby's breath in shades of pink, blue, yellow, orchid and lavender. Extending from the flowers on both sides were three low crystal votive cups filled with yellow candles.

Family members were marked with large silk bows in the pastel shades.

The tasteful beauty of the all-silk floral decorations for the wedding and reception, the bouquets, corsages and boutonnieres was enhanced through appreciation for the handiwork of Mrs. Joe Pembroke of Gainesville, aunt of the bride's mother, who designed and created all of them.

The wedding music was provided by two of the bride's cousins, Miss Ellen Pembroke of Gainesville, the pianist, who played the wedding marches and accompanied Miss Melissa Stowe of Colleyville for her solo renditions of "Always and Forever" and "If".

The bride wore a lovely formal white gown of pointe de spirite detailed with Venise lace to compliment her youthful beauty. The slightly raised bodice was romantically touched with the lace around the high neck, sheer yoke and cap sleeves. The full skirt with a lace hem flowed into a wateau chapel length train.

She chose a two-tiered elbow length veil of bridal illusion trimmed in lace that drifted from a lace tiara. The bride's formal classic-style bouquet blended silk roses, poppies, tulips, mums and carnations in the rainbow colors with baby's breath, puffs of net, a lace background and streamers to complete the beautiful picture.

She chose a 1980 penny for the "something new" tradition, a party garter for "something blue" and kept the "something old" and "something borrowed" sentimental additions by carrying her grandmother's handkerchief and wearing a white gold diamond ring.

The bride's father walked the path to the altar with her and presented her in marriage for both of her parents.

Preceding them to the altar were a maid of honor, two bridesmaids, two flower girls and a ring bearer.

Miss Dana Pembroke, the maid of honor, wore a long sleeveless A-line peach Qiana dress topped with a matching sheer cape. She carried a nosegay of varied silk flowers in rainbow hues finished with matching streamers the color of her dress.

Bridesmaids wearing gowns identical to the maid of honor's gown, except for color, were Miss Jackie Compton, sister of the bride, who wore yellow, and Miss Hayli Hudson, who wore pink.

Raylyn Compton, another sister of the bride, and Tammie Blagg, her cousin, were the diminutive flower girls. They wore dotted swiss empire frocks styled with ruffled yokes and skirts, puffed sleeves and narrow sashes that tied in bows at the back. The former wore a yellow frock and the latter was dressed in pink. They carried white baskets filled with white silk flowers accented with pastel bows.

Andy Sisk, the groom's cousin, carried the rings for the service on a blue silk pillow edged in lace. He wore a mint green tuxedo.

The groom wore a white tuxedo trimmed in light blue, a white ruffled shirt and blue silk roses combined with baby's breath for a boutonniere. The groomsmen wore tuxedos and shirts to coordinate with the bridal attendants' gowns. The ushers and fathers were clad in tuxedos that conformed with the colors emphasized in the wedding.

Steve Lindsey of Fort Worth was best man. Groomsmen were Bobby Collins and Bobby Wilson, and the ushers were Kelly Compton, brother of the bride, and Jim Shannon.

The bride, as a symbol of her devotion, presented each of the mothers with red silk roses at appropriate times during the service. Mrs. Compton wore a long sleeveless yellow print white crepe gown trimmed with yellow rosebud buttons featuring a round neck and a tie belt. Mrs. Daniels was attired in a smoky blue cotton and polyester floor length dress designed with empire waist and long sleeves with deep white trim. They wore corsages of silk roses to harmonize with their dresses.

The bride's parents honored the newlyweds at a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the wedding. They were assisted by Mrs. John Stowe, Mrs. Joe Pembroke; Misses Vicki Moore, Stephanie Frazier, Caran Cope, Malinda Reeves at the refreshment table, Jo Ann Evans, who registered guests.

Rice bags were passed out by Rachel Stowe, Pam Dawn Moss and Lee Ann Pembroke.

In the reception hall, the beauty of simplicity was again the favoring factor, and the refreshment table was the focal point of interest.

The table was gracefully draped with blue taffeta overlaid with rich Chantilly lace detailed with a ruffle of lace around the top. The centerpiece reflected the rainbow colors at their height in the silk floral arrangement of yellow mums and hibiscus, white, pink and yellow snapdragons, blue daisies, pink and orchid poppies, vari-colored candytuft and baby's breath. They were arranged in an antique crystal compote flanked by blue candles uprising from candlewick crystal holders. Among the interesting table appointments were a silver crumb tray, cake server gloves and crystal fork holders.

The traditional-style of the wedding cake was accentuated in the antique top ornament that had been used by family brides for many years. A bride dressed in antique white satin and a groom attired in a black and white tuxedo, reminiscent of wedding dress in yesteryear, stood before a heart of white flowers and beads.

The three-tiered white cake clearly stood apart with petalled roses, full scallops and drop flowers of rainbow-colored velvety icing. White ceramic doves surrounded the bottom tier, and filigree pillars raised the top tier to afford a glimpse of angels playing their harps on the second tier. The table decor was completed with an antique crystal punch service and bridal napkins.

The registry table was covered with white lace over pink silk. The adornments were a miniature bouquet of the silk flowers in the chosen shades and the bride's book.

The dinner given in connection with the wedding rehearsal was hosted by the groom's parents at their home.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Iowa Park High School. He is self-employed and they will live in the Sun Valley Apartments in Wichita Falls. In high school, she was a cheerleader and in OEA, and he was president of Building Trades and played football and baseball.

Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Coy Blagg of Gainesville and Iley Compton of Dumas, grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sisk of Fort Worth, the groom's grandparents.

Likin, Wilson uniting performed here recently

Miss Rhonda Jolene Likin became the bride of Jackie Darwayne Wilson in a double-ring ceremony performed May 31 at the United Pentecostal Church by the bride's grandfather, Rev. W.A. Likin.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Likin and Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Wilson.

The nuptial setting featured an arch entwined with greenery interspersed with yellow and white stephanotis blossoms, two arrangements of yellow gladioli and the unity candelabrum.

Mrs. Amos Teafatiller and Mrs. G.W. Milner provided the piano music for the wedding, the former playing the accompaniment for Miss Anna Milner's solo, "Walk Through This World With Me", and the wedding marches. Mrs. Milner played for the bridal attendants to sing "Bind Us Together, Lord" while the couple lighted the unity candle.

The bride was given in marriage for both parents by her father. She wore a Spanish style gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta. The basque bodice featured a sabrina neckline trimmed in iridescent, long lace fitted sleeves. The full skirt worn over a hoop was formed of tiers of lace-trimmed organza in front and all lace tiers in the back.

She wore a mantilla veil of bridal illusion trimmed in lace that was caught to a pearl and rhinestone headpiece. She completed her costume by carrying a cascade bouquet of white silk daisies and stephanotis accented with puffs of tulle and white satin streamers tied in love knots centered with stephanotis.

Miss Karen Likin, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, and Miss Sandra Conway of Wichita Falls was bridesmaid. They wore long yellow silk gowns designed with lace yokes and sleeves and hemline flounces. They wore baby's breath in their hair and carried nosegays of yellow and white carnations touched with silver bells and streamers.

Marcie Perry of Garland, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. She was clad in a long yellow silk frock trimmed with white lace and carried a basket of yellow and white carnations showered with baby's breath.

Robbie Wilson, brother of the groom, was ring bearer and wore a silver gray suit with white shirt and black bow tie.

MRS. JACKIE WILSON

The groom and his attendants wore beige tuxedos with yellow shirts and black bow ties, the groom wearing a white carnation with baby's breath for his boutonniere.

Donnie Napier of Electra was best man and Steven Routh of Kamay was groomsman. Ushers were Johnny Routh of Kamay, W. Mack Painter and John Bunton of Iowa Park.

The bride will be a senior at Iowa Park High School next year. She works at Wood Convalescent Center. The groom, a 1979 graduate of Iowa Park High School, is employed by Howmet. They will live in Iowa Park and are planning a wedding trip to San Antonio in July.

The wedding reception given by the bride's parents was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church where the tables were laid with white lace over white linen.

The bride's table was centered with a bouquet of yellow and white carnations accented with wedding bells with the bridal attendants' bouquets placed at the base of the container. The bride's colors of yellow and white were emphasized in her cake which was decorated with yellow icing roses on the sides of each layer and a cluster covering the second tier divided from the top tier centered with yellow satin wedding bells by Grecian pedestals.

Mrs. Petrich Henderson and Miss Teresa Boyd served the bride's cake and Miss Sheila Farr and Miss Jo Ann Bowen served the groom's cake with punch and coffee to the wedding guests.

Mrs. John Able presided at the bride's book at a table holding two white doves backgrounded by balance scales filled with yellow flowers, and a yellow plume pen.

In addition, Lions Club members will be canvassing the area door-to-door during the last week to sell the remaining items.

Trustees let contract for another building

T.A. Litteken Co. was awarded a second contract bid in as many weeks, this one for the construction of a metal storage building, and the athletic budget for 1980-81 was approved during Monday's Holliday school board meeting.

When bids were opened during the meeting, Litteken's bid was third lowest at $12,822. Virgil Mills Construction Co. was lowest at $11,746, and M.F. Litteken second at $12,804. But options listed in T.A. Litteken's bid, included omitting transportation costs (with Litteken's equipment to be on site for construction of the vo-ag building), brought the bid down to $11,315.

Trustees also added a stipulation to the contract awarded to Litteken for construction of the vo-ag building, calling for a penalty of $100 per day over the 75-day construction schedule included in Litteken's bid.

The athletic budget for 1980-81, totaling $36,445, was approved by the board. Football will take the biggest hunk, with $20,367 budgeted for next year. Other figures in the budget include: Basketball, $6,662; track, $5,787; tennis, $2,221; golf, $975; and volleyball, $433.

The band budget, totaling $14,460.50, was tabled until the July meeting when trustees learned band director Tom Woody was in Canyon at a band camp, and was unable to attend the meeting.

In other business:

* Trustees amended the budget allowing $103,000 for the construction order on the vo-ag building;

* Voted to allow the volunteer fire department use of the high school auditorium for a fund raising event scheduled for June 27;

* Heard a report from principals Bill Lee and Dan Owen on basic skills tests given to fifth and ninth graders, with both principals giving favorable results, and

* Motioned to allow Howard Morgan time to submit a job description for maintenance of the school grounds, at which time board president Tommy Mankins will poll trustees on Morgan's bid.

INSURANCE VOTE SPLIT

Don Talley of Talley Insurance Co. was present to discuss renewing the school's liability insurance.

The first liability insurance policy taken by the school, in 1975, included board members and school personnel, but excluded teachers. Later teachers were added to the policy, according to Talley.

When Talley read the quotes on premiums, including $746 for all school employees and board members, $522 for board members only, and $671 for all personnel excluding teachers, board member Larry Finnell stated that he believed the present policy to be illegal, "...and we are going to be sued over it," he said.

Finnell motioned to add discussion of the policy to the July agenda, at which time a lawyer will be present to discuss the legalities of the policy.

Trustee Durhl Caussey, siding with Finnell in disagreement over the policy, stated "I am not in favor of any liability insurance that covers anyone but board members...the others can carry their own." He also cited the policy as a "conflict of interest."

A motion by Caussey to take the policy only for board members died for lack of a second. Trustee Jake Cottrell then made a motion to renew the policy including all school personnel and board members, and it passed with Caussey casting the lone dissenting vote.

Cook of the Week

In the "good ole summertime" nothing tastes quite as good as ice cream, and when it is homemade it tastes even better. Mrs. Jerry Denton's recipe for Homemade Strawberry Ice Cream will probably be enjoyed by quite a few people this summer, especially when the temperature climbs as high as it did last Saturday.

The colonists brought the formula for making ice cream, or milk ice as it was known then, from England. It has been a strong favorite since that time and stands today as something of an American symbol.

The first ice cream freezer suitable for family use was invented in 1846. Before that time it was made in an "ice pot".

Homemade ice cream had its heyday in the Victorian era when ice cream socials were a part of American way of life. After that, interest dwindled but was revived when the electric refrigerator with its freezing compartment was in common use during the 1930s and 1940s.

Current enthusiasm for the churned ice cream has returned as a result of the electrification of the old-time ice cream freezer.

Margaret and Jerry Denton and their two-year-old son, Mark, have lived in Iowa Park for 20 months. He is service manager for Copy and Litho Inc.

She was graduated from high school at Port Lavaca and attended Dallas Baptist College three years. She worked for four years for the Southern Baptist Annuity Board in Dallas. Her hobbies are sewing and ceramics.

ATTENTION MATURE TEXANS MEDICARE PEOPLE

Have your supplement insurance policy rates increased lately? Do you only have 20% coverage of what Medicare approves on doctor charges-and you pay the rest?

You can have 100% coverage. We are proud of our American Retirement policy that pays 100%. Yes, it even pays the overcharges on the doctor bills that Medicare doesn't allow.

We only know of one other company that pays 100% and they have had several price increases in the last few months. Even the hospital entrance fee went up $20.00 this year. We DID NOT raise the premium on our policyholders who took out our 100% coverage policy last year. We even write the 100% coverage plus $70 or $100 cash per week while in the hospital.
