Winn County City Will Be Host To Section In District Chamber of Commerce Convention

Optimism Reigns

Delegation From Here Expected To Be More Than 150; More Cars Needed At City Hall Friday

MORE delegates and a few more cars are necessary if Lubbock is to live up to its reputation as a center of the South Plains, at the district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, to be held at Tahoka today. With a goal of 150 delegates, the committee headed by Homer T. Grant and assisted by C. E. Gough and R. C. Light, have been working diligently to get everybody who can make the trip to motor town to the county seat of Lynn this morning.

The Lubbock high school band will lead the group from this city and lend both color and harmony to the Lubbockites.

Grant Urges Attendance

This is one time of the year that Lubbock has a chance to mix and mingle with friends and neighbors from the South Plains. Mr. Grant remarked yesterday, "and we feel that the time and effort needed to do this is a mighty investment."

An Editorial About Bond Issues

The $75,000 municipal bond issue to provide funds for the construction of an airport in Lubbock has carried by a majority of more than two to one and once again, Lubbock shows the world that the Capitol of the South Plains continues on the up-grade.

That stinging epithet—"Largest city in the United States without adequate airport facilities"—has been wiped out as the progressive citizenship of the Hub City moves to give it its rightful place in aviation.

The victory is a glorious one—but is yet unfinished. Many other problems remain to be solved and Lubbock must remember that in order to keep pace with the times a never-ending vigil against public corrosion must be kept.

We, as a people, might as well become resigned to bond issues. We need more schools, we need paved roads—and before long we will be needing a larger and more modern water system. Bond issues and increases in taxation are not altogether pleasant to contemplate but they are the price of living in a thriving, growing, progressive community.

Certainly, the price for living in Lubbock cannot be set too high.

Highway Nine Paving In Hale Goes To Kansas Concern For $467,791.62; More To Be Awarded

AUSTIN, April 23.—Contracts for new road construction and maintenance of present routes totaling $1,468,355.08 were let today by the state highway department on recommendation of Highway Engineer Gib Gilchrist. The projects affect 119.11 miles in 10 counties.

Approximately $1,500,000 in contracts will be awarded tomorrow. R. B. Sterling, chairman of the commission, announced.

Thirteen county delegations laid their plans for state aid and re-routing of highways before the commission during the session.

Lettings follow:

Archer county—18.31 miles concrete pavement highway 78, $412,972.76; Julian G. Peida, Denison.

Hale county—30.94 miles concrete pavement, highway 9, $467,791.62; Cook and Stucker, Ottawa, Kansas.

Freestone county—17.45 miles grading and drainage, highway 32, $232,969.97; F. H. Berry, Houston.

Houston county—17.45 miles grading and drainage, same highway, $35,833.12; Grant Williams, Oklahoma City.

Hot, Dry Climate Demands Skin Oils

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of Ruth Etting's authoritative articles on "All-American Beauty" — care of the complexion in different climates — written for The Avalanche and NEA Service. Miss Etting is a star of Flo Ziegfeld's "Whoopie."

By RUTH ETTING NEA Service Writer

From personal observation, I have found that the greatest of all care in the matter of skin culture must be exercised in the hot, dry climates of the states bordering on Mexico, such as Texas and Arizona. The lack of moisture in the air combined with intense heat makes the skin excessively dry and flaky. Oils, rather than creams, should be applied plentifully for cleansing and nourishing the complexion.

With this treatment, the skin continues to show signs of dryness, it may be wise to apply the overnight treatment of a tissue cream. This, however, must be thoroughly removed in the morning and a light application of astringent sprayed with an atomizer to close the pores.

THOUSANDS WONDER WHY THEY SUFFER

Constipation Is Often the Cause — Prevent It With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

The first symptoms of constipation may pass by unnoticed. A headache, fatigue, bad breath, spotted complexion are some of the signs. If allowed to continue, serious results follow. For constipation ruins health, steals beauty and may cause serious disease.

Your grocer sells ALL-BRAN. Hotels, restaurants and dining cars serve it. Made by Kellogg's Battle Creek.

ALL-BRAN is 100% bran and

NOW as never before you should be careful about lubrication

THE lubrication requirements of the present high speed motors are most exacting. With their fine adjustments, these motors will not operate efficiently with every oil. They require a lubricant which is made especially to meet the particular conditions which they have created.

That's why it's most important to always specify the oil you want—and it will pay you well to insist always on a brand which has back of it the resources and experience of the Continental Oil Company. Then you will always be sure to get the right oil—in the grade made especially for your motor.

Ask for these brands at the better service stations and garages.

holistic Census Reveals 1,466 For Year; Gains In Past Three Years In Census Total 288 (Special To The Avalanche) LUBBOCK, April 23.—If Slaton is a plan commonly used by many cities in computing population figures, the plan of multiplying the number of school children by three, then Slaton now has a population of 7,330. This year's official census, just completed by F. Drewery, shows there are 1,466 children here. This is a large gain over the 1,180 of the year 1926. Comparing these figures with those of previous years, it is shown that a gain of 268 scholars has been made in the past three years. Slaton's claim that the city is having a population increase of 10 in that time. This substantial gain is based on dependable records of a permanent nature.

How to Achieve Beauty

Should women of mothers and grandmothers' ages wear make-up? Very frequently I am approached and reproached with horrified exclamations such as that. Splendid, conservative women—I remember especially one very charming very proper lady from Boston—occasionally ask if I a specialist who advocated health and scientific beauty precautions mainly, really recommend the use of cosmetics at all. And I am forced to admit that I do. Why not, if the cosmetics are pure, of exquisite, natural coloring, and are artistically put on? I am for creating beauty—by whatever health means I can. But if it is possible to enhance a healthy skin by applying color judiciously, I most certainly recommend it—for women of all ages. And, contrary to many women's beliefs, good make-up properly applied, acts as a protection to the skin as well as a beautifier. Remember, however, that there are cosmetics and cosmetics. Some are for one type and some for another. Only the purest and finest of cosmetics should ever be purchased at all. But even among very pure cosmetics, there are various grades of fineness and many, many different tones of color. The older woman must remember to keep her powders and rouges of extremely fine texture. Her face powders should be many times sifted—since the heavy powders emphasize the fine lines and wrinkles that an older skin is likely to have. In shade her powder should not be too light, since light, especially white powders, likewise accent the wrinkles. A powder matching the skin tone is the safest investment one that is fine in texture and made, if possible, on a cream base. The rouge should not be too bright in color, nor should it be purplish and dark. The older lady does not want to present a hectic flush or a mottled splotchy look. The crushed rose leaf rouges are a good color tone for nearly all older women. These are soft, delicate and conservative in impression and ex-

Hobbs Chamber of Commerce Formed

(Special To The Avalanche) STAMFORD, Apr. 23.—The business men of Hobbs, N. M., organized a Chamber of Commerce two weeks ago, and have written to Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for a constitution and by laws. The communication came from Alex Reeves, a citizen who is in business in Hobbs who is one of the forty men who became charter member of the organization. With the requested constitution and by-laws, the members of the young organization were extended a cordial invitation to attend and send a large delegation to the South Plains district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held Thursday at Tahoka. The eastern section of New Mexico is in that district, and is served by the regional organization. COLD TIME WAS HAD BY ALL KINSTON, N. C. (AP)—Milo Banks and E. W. Death Brings Death Meeting At Bier Is Cause Of Suicide

CHICAGO, April 23. (AP)—John Wildman and Beale, his estranged wife, knelt yesterday beside the bier of a mutual friend. When Wildman had finished his silent prayer he realized the wife, who had left him three months previously was kneeling at his side. In Mrs. Wildman's arms was their boy, Robert. Wildman moved as though to caress the child. Mrs. Wildman arose quickly and left the room. Some men walking through an alley last night stumbled over a rifle. Then they came to a man's body—John Wildman's body. Baby Robert's birth certificate was gripped in stiffened fingers. Upon it in the shaky handwriting of John Wildman, was written: "This is all I have." Air taxis are planned to operate between the ports of France and Paris. To Remain Closed

New Officials Not To Open Drawer

HOUSTON, April 23. (AP)—The new fire commissioner's desk here, which has not been opened for at least ten years, will remain a secret during the administration of H. Andy Delery. The new fire commissioner says he doesn't know and doesn't care what's in the drawer and therefore won't try to unlock it. Allie L. Anderson, former fire commissioner, found the drawer locked ten years ago when he took office. He was tossed a bunch of keys but none of them unlocked the drawer. Anderson let the drawer remain untouched. The present commissioner's attitude is the same.

IN THE REALM OF SPORE WITH ALLAN CARNEY Avalanch Sports Editor

SOME STEPPIN' Three of the events won by Simmons tracksters in the dual meet with Tech Monday were taken by marks which broke Texas Conference records. Principal among these was Johnny Gregg's leap of six feet, four inches to win the high jump. Bound's time on the 220 low hurdles, 25.1 seconds, is a tenth of a second better than the conference mark. Bartlett's loss of the javelin bettered the conference record by more than eight feet. His mark was 177 feet, 10 inches.

Simmons athletes are always welcome visitors here in Lubbock. The fine spirit of sportsmanship exhibited by Fats Cranfill and his crew of speedsters was especially impressive in the meet Monday. The Cowboys gave their best in all events and were never heard to protest at any ruling or decision by the judges. Although the majority of those who were at the tape in the finish of the 220 low hurdles picked Bounds as the winner, the judge of the first man thought Tadlock of Tech broke the tape ahead of the Simmons team. Cranfill was among those who watched the finish of this race and was convinced his man won, but did not protest the decision of the judge.

A huddle between Coaches Payne and Cranfill resulted in an agreement to divide the points in this event. Neither were willing to take the five points for first place unless the other was satisfied. This is a splendid tradition that is being built at Tech, of which only the highest grades can be using. An athletic department headed by E. Y. Freeland, a gentleman in the true sense of the word, has set an admirable precedent in athletic competition at the local state institution.

A college boasting this sort of policy can always be assured of a warm welcome when making visits to other institutions. From the standpoint of the fans, a winning team comes first, but the spirit of fair play and all that goes with it, is not to be overlooked in building up a college.

UNDEFEATED MAYBE The Great Plains Track and Field meet and dual affair with Abilene Christian college lie in the path which leads to another undefeated season for Tech tracksters. Each Victor Plume's cohorts have been impressive in their three successive wins over Canyon, Daniel Baker and Simmons, but a rough road lies ahead. The Matadors leave here Thursday for Canyon to enter the annual event this week-end with the leading track teams that will gather there from the Plains states, from Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Tech has already displayed its superiority over the Buffs but will likely encounter stiff competition in athletics from Missouri, Kansas college at Las Vegas and the Southwest Teachers college of Weatherford, Okla.

The Wildcats of Abilene Christian college, 1928 champions of the T. I. A. A., boast one of the most formidable track and field aggregations in the state this season. Headed by a brilliant corps of dash men, the Cats have downed all opposition with one-sided scores. The Matador schedule calls for the Christians to appear here on May 4. A win over the A. C. C. crew would wind up a highly successful season for the locals.

Chicago Paper Says Army And Navy To Meet

CHICAGO, Apr. 23.—(AP)—The Chicago Daily News today printed a story that word had reached Chicago that the Army and Navy had buried the hatchet and would stage a football game on Soldiers Field here in 1931.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Apr. 23.—(AP)—

Nobody connected with the United States Naval Academy knows of any plan for resumption of Army-Navy football games at Chicago in 1931. Lieut. Commander A. H. Rooks, aid to Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendent of the Academy, said today. The statement was made in connection with the report from Chicago that a contract for the use of the stadium had been prepared.

After A Record

The record books show that Roland Locke, the Nebraska sprinter, established a world record for 220 yards in 1926 with a 29.6 second performance. If George Simpson, Ohio star, knows whereof he talks, that record is due to go by the boards this season. Simpson, who runs with a long stride, has come close to Locke's mark several times and feels sure that this is the year to establish a new record. He also runs the 100 for Ohio State.

The Nut Cracker

There seems to be no little decay in the wrestling profession since your friend Gus Sonnenberg butted in on the championship proceedings. Your average pachyderm doesn't care to have his medulla oblongata caved in and it begins to appear as if Gus really means to be frank about taking Fresno Thompson off the phil's hands. Dear old John!

JACK CURLEY'S LONG ISLAND ELEPHANT FARM IS HARDLY PAYING ITS OWN WEND HIS MAN-MOUNTAINS TO THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.

How long continue depends probably on how long Gus can go along unmolested. Wrestlers who have defied the tenets of pachyderm succession usually pull up with a broken leg or something and have to be shot.

Maybe Judge Fuchs is a pretty good baseball manager after all. His Braves overwhelmed your Uncle Wilbert's boys in the opener, 13 to 12.

John McGraw is said to be in a mellow mood again, and it is hinted broadly that he could be persuaded to take Fresno Thompson off the phil's hands. Dear old John!

Cotton Is Coming Up In Dawson; Big Year Is Predicted

(Special To The Avalanche) LAMESA, April 23.—Cotton is coming up in Dawson and is just now closing down for the 1928 crop. Dawson county has approximately 200,000 acres of cotton of which about 10 per cent is already planted. Weather conditions have been exceedingly favorable this spring due especially to the absence of the high winds that do so much damage. Also the good underground season and recent rains that put the soil in tip-top conditions for planting. This insures early planting as well as a good crop for the coming season. Due to the bright crop outlook much development is being made on the farms as well as in Lamesa. The farmers are building new barns and going the dairy route. Dawson county now having 320 registered cows, 30 of which are registered bulls in circles. Chickens and turkeys and hogs are to be seen everywhere every farm. According to a recent survey the average farm home has better than 100 chickens, and the county is estimated to have 15,000 good hogs. The farmers are learning to live at home, as well as some of their income from other resources than just cotton. It is estimated there will be 20,000 acres of new land go under the plow this year. Crops range from cotton to all kinds of feed, there being from 2,000 to 2,500 acres in Sunflower this year which is a new product of the Plains. It is fast taking its place along with cotton, corn and maize of this section, since the farmer has seen what the 1928 Sunflower crop brought to them financially. As a whole the outlook for Lamesa and Dawson county will never be better.

Gained 15 Pounds By Taking Sargon, Declares Abbott

"If my friends hesitate to buy Sargon because so many other medicines have failed them, I offer them this: if it is not all that is claimed for it. But they

M. E. ABBOTT... have all come back and thanked me in every case, and say that Sargon is all that I told them it was. "I had headaches and severe pains across my back and shoulders. I lost weight and was run-down so I was hardly able to work. My kidneys were in bad condition also. I was able to eat only a little food as I had suffered with indigestion for two years. I spent sums of hard earned money for medicines and treatments that did me no good, until I began taking Sargon. This new medicine suited my case like it had been made for it. "My kidneys have improved a hundred percent; I am not bothered with biliousness; no more headaches and pains in my back and shoulders; I sleep sound at night and feel better from head to foot. I can now eat three hearty meals every day and never have traces of indigestion or heartburn. When I began taking Sargon, I only weighed 123 pounds, now weigh 138 which is a gain of fifteen pounds. At sixty eight years of age I am on the job every day. "Sargon is as far ahead of other medicines as day is ahead of night. My wife has just begun the Sargon treatment, and I am sure it will benefit her as sure as it did me. "The above statement was made by M. E. Abbott, well known contractor of 909 East Hattie St., Ft. Worth. Sargon may be obtained in Lubbock from City Drug Stores; and in Stanton from City Drug Stores. Adv.

DISTRICT MEET WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Today the district meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is holding forth in Tahoka. At this meeting representatives from a large number of counties will gather to discuss the important and vital issues of this section of the State, and it is during these meetings that there is much of the get-together and get acquainted stuff in the atmosphere.

COMING NEW INDUSTRY IN TEXAS

There is a new industry in Texas—Cheese making. It is not a new industry in America, but so far as Texas is concerned it is practically speaking in its infancy.

Similar plans have worked in various other cities in Texas, the writer points out. Wichita Falls has its Kraft's Cheese Co. Temple, Denison, Goldsboro, Hamilton and Valley Mills all have their local plants.

SENATOR CONDEMNNS INSTITUTION AS BREEDER OF DRY LAW HATRED

BY CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Senator Coleman L. Blease, of South Carolina, pointed toward a handsome red brick structure across the street from the capitol grounds.

"Headquarters of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of a Protestant denomination," he said.

"I am a Protestant. Always have been. Always will be.

"That institution has done more to breed hatred of the prohibition law than any other agency.

"If Roman Catholics were to erect a building opposite our national capitol, dedicated to law enforcement under Roman Catholic auspices, they would be driven out of this country."

Senator Blease should know a deal about law enforcement and criminal law. From the position of governor on down, he has held more public offices in his home state, county and town than any other man in South Carolina's history.

"I do believe," says the Palmetto statesman, "that I have defended prisoners charged with breaking every commandment in the decalogue."

"A law enforcement official," he continued ought to have a thorough understanding of the causes of law violation.

"But if he has such an understanding—a deep and not an unkindly comprehension of his fellow creatures' frailties—people declare: 'He knows altogether too much of these things.'

"The trouble is, they know too little of human nature."

"Suppose," said the senator, seriously, "you are acquainted with a man who, you suspect, is planning a crime. And you say to him: 'As a friend, I warn you, you are taking this risk once too often. This time it will cost you your life. Or, if not, you will come out of it with blood on your hands—a murderer. I beg of you not to do it.' He will pause at least, won't he?"

"But suppose you threaten him. 'Do so-and-so, and I'll kill you.' Are you so likely to stop him? Or is he likelier to take a chance, to defy you?"

"As governor," said the South Carolinian, "nobody ever charged that I gave anything but a clean administration. The complaint of me was: 'He pardons too many convicts.'

"I understood them.

"Who ever heard of a chain-gang guard who was murdered for being kind to his men? Never. If he is murdered, he is murdered for brutality.

"I will guarantee that I can execute a search warrant at any house in Washington without trouble. No matter how guilty the bootlegger—shall we say—be, he will not resist, visited civilly, with a few words of explanation that it is an unpleasant duty and strictly without malice.

"But it can't be done peaceably by a gang of hoodlums with sawed-off shotguns, or by kicking in the door, cursing the family, jerking out the bureau drawers and scattering the housewife's underwear about the premises.

"That would make anybody fight."

"Of course law enforcement is impossible," agreed the senator, "while enforcement agents are making a great deal more from law violators than their salaries amount to.

"Still honest men can be found. I found them as an executive.

"I don't say the country can be dried up absolutely. Nevertheless there can be a big improvement. I know from trying.

"But not by lawless violence.

"I believe it can be accomplished even in a city like Chicago.

"The difficulty is not so much with the law as with the forces in control of its administration."

Your Health

DAILY APPLE IS GOOD FOOD BUT IT WON'T KEEP THE DOCTOR AWAY

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygieia, the eHealth Magazine

The old saying that an apple a day keeps the doctor away. The saying is like a great many other health hints based on just enough truth to make the contention easy to believe but without any actual scientific foundation.

The apple is an excellent fruit. One of the most healthful contributions to the diet that could be mentioned. There are numerous varieties: probably the earliest that was known is the crabapple of Europe and western Asia. Today there are thousands of varieties grown in this country and the annual crop in North America exceeds 100,000,000 barrels.

Green Apples—Well, No

A good, ripe apple, well chewed, is digested in about 90 minutes. Big chunks of green apple, swallowed without chewing, increase rather than decrease the doctor's practice.

Everybody knows about apple sauce and its qualities for aiding motion of the intestines. A good, medium-sized apple provides about 96 calories, of which 88.3 per cent are due to the carbohydrates or sugar, 5.5 per cent to the fat, and 2.2 per cent to the protein. Apples contain a considerable amount of vitamins C and also some vitamins A and B.

Apples contain much less vitamin A than spinach, egg yolk, or butter, but about the same amount as orange juice and about one-third as much as milk.

The apple contains as much vitamin B as carrots, tomatoes and potatoes, but much less than peas and cabbage. It takes about five times as many apples to supply an equivalent amount of vitamin C as is contained in orange, lemon or tomato. On the other hand, the amounts of vitamin in the apple are, as has been said, considerable in amount and it has the additional qualities of providing sugar, considerable amounts of phosphorus and iron.

It is not safe to say that an apple a day will keep the doctor away, but it is a good constituent of an average diet.

There is also a common saying that if one breaks out with boils or pimples, cleanliness is cleaner out. This is sometimes modified to the belief that the application of the boils on the surface are an indication that the blood is purifying itself from within. Both conceptions are about as unscientific as any of the other superstitions that afflict mankind.

Boils are due to germs. The germs get into the skin either by way of the blood or through an abrasion or cut on the surface of the skin which may be entirely accidental. Whenever there is a spot of broken resistance to disease brought about by injury of the tissue, germs that already are on the skin may take hold and set up a disturbance.

The boil forms due to the fact that the germs destroy these tissues and produce matter. The tissue then attempts to wall off the infection by setting up a barrier. The matter is held in the walled-off area under pressure and when the boil comes to a head it can be opened and the germs and matter may be released.

Uncle Sam: "And They Call Me Shylock!"

SO THINK WE

We think now since the baseball season has opened, and President Hoover has pitched the first ball that there will be plenty of excitement in America.

Some of the political players will get stubborn, and some of them will make wild catches, and others will fan out, while a few of them will possibly make a home run if they undertake to tell President Hoover to run things.

For Herbert seems to have an idea that he is pretty good on the game of managing the presidential team, and will at least be found doing his own battling.

We think that about all some people can add to the general picture of the contention early in the year is a great deal toward muddying the water, and keeping things stirred up.

We think that the bus companies are going to have a Mason and Dixon line for does they are to continue to carry passengers and keep in a good humor with the passengers. We rode in a bus not many days ago, and there were almost as many dogs as people on the bus.

We think now since Babe Ruth is safely married again, for the second time, that he will have a different kind of home runs to make this year. His admiring friends wish him good luck.

We think that even Louisiana governors are not safe from the impetuosity of a governor. It looks like a governor never can tell how just how long they will be governor, even though his name may be Long.

We think when the tourist trade is slow in California, they always have Almee to fall back on.

We think all of the mysteries of the world haven't been solved yet. For instance the fifty-seven varieties of soap, and all of them tasting just exactly alike.

We think in the rank and file of humanity there must certainly be more rank than file.

We think it takes some people so long to embrace their golden opportunity that it turns to brass before they get hold of it.

We think that Washington as the capital of the United States should express the soul of the nation, but we do not think it does especially when they are having such a hectic session of Congress as they sometimes have in that country.

We think there is one place that logic and reason doesn't help a fellow out very much, and that is in a family row.

We think the more harmony clubs that Lubbock has the better they will make, and all of them should not be music clubs either.

We think the main reason some towns and some communities and even some families do not get along any better than they do is because the people do not know anything about mathematics except division.

We think one of the most optimistic of optimists is the man who will during the months of June, July and August break an egg into a skillet of hot grease.

We think it may be true that apparel often proclaims the man, but there is sometimes scarcely enough

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL

DEWLY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MILDRED LAWRENCE, stenographer in the Judson Hotel, has her fox fur snatched from her neck through a subway car window.

Rushing back on the next train, she finds a crowd gathered on the platform and learns that the thief has been caught by STEPHEN ARMITAGE.

An officer takes them all to the station house and after the routine details are disposed of, Stephen insists on taking Mildred home. She demurs but does not wish to seem ungrateful so finally asks him home to dinner where he gains favor with the mother by praising her home cooking.

Mildred's young sister, CONNIE, promptly decides for Stephen and hopes that her old-fashioned sister will mix enough pep with her usual quiet manner to hold the newcomer.

The evening is spoiled, however, when PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of Mildred's employer, phones and insists on her returning to the hotel to assist at a ball. Stephen tells Mildred that he is an auto salesman and that he had recently sold a car to Pamela. The latter recognizes him as he is leaving Mildred in the lobby for the fourth greatest period of her life.

Usually Mildred had something to say about it, too, but just now she was not in a mood to notice the black voile pajamas.

"I couldn't sleep," Connie confided in a whisper, "until I heard what happened."

Mildred tossed her hat onto a chair and her bag on the dresser.

Connie jerked up her lips and hummed softly. Mildred always put her hat on a peg and her bag in a drawer. Connie scented trouble.

"Just a flat tire after all," she questioned somewhat skeptically.

Mildred looked at her then.

"Go to sleep," she said crossly.

"Aw, come on, Sis, tell me all about it. But I'm awfully disappointed. Honestly I am. I thought he was a real person. Someone you could like."

"I'm not looking for anyone to like."

"Horse feathers! You're normal, aren't you?"

"Your young ideas give me a pain," Mildred snapped, and she appeared into the clothes closet to get her nightgown.

A few minutes later Mildred crept in beside her, moist from hasty ablutions and misty-eyed with unshed tears. Connie put a firm warm arm about her and pressed her face close to Mildred's, but she said nothing more.

"It's not that I care," Mildred told herself, "but suppose I did?"

She meant suppose she cared for Stephen. She thought her feeling of being ill-used by Pamela's high-handed treatment, and her resentment against her, that she minded having him grabbed up by Pamela.

"I'd quit in a minute if it were for Mom and Connie," she stormed silently.

It wasn't fair that one girl should have everything in the world and another should have to struggle through within sight but not within reach of all that the other had.

"I'm sick of it," Mildred rebelled, "but she knew she would go on tolerating Pamela's abuses for the sake of her position."

The next morning she was unusually silent and hardly touched her breakfast. Mrs. Lawrence was too busy to notice. Somehow Connie's belongings invariably got scattered all over the flat and she needed a searching party to help her off to school on the next day.

Mildred did not expect Stephen to show up at the hotel, at least not with any work for her to do, but just before noon he surprised her by appearing at her desk.

"He looked precisely what Pamela had said. All that a girl could wish for. His dusty-blue striped shirt were brownish all over the perfection."

"Good morning," he said cheerily, and placed a nocey of violets on her desk.

Mildred was a trifle nonplussed when she did not show it. Her manner, but she got out her notebook and prepared to take his dictation.

"Don't bother about that," he said. "I'll dictate slowly." Here're some Mistle lettershead."

True to his word he dictated slowly and anyone could have seen that his mind was on the job more than on the work. They'd done just two letters when Mildred was required to go up to a suite on the tenth floor.

Stephen glanced at his watch. "Sorry, I can't wait until you come back," he said. "I've a luncheon date at one-thirty and I've got to run over to the office first."

When Mildred saw him again he was making his way with Pamela to the dining room. And Pamela

MAN IS SENTENCED

Colorado Man Is Given One Year Term In Pen

(Special To The Avalanche) LAMESA, April 23.—R. E. Baker, of Colorado City was sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary by Judge Gordon B. McGuire of the district court here today on a charge of the sale of intoxicating liquors. Baker pleaded guilty after all testimony was in and the case was ready to go to the jury. The jury had only to determine the number of years to assign Baker to the pen.

POLITENESS

Good little boys never say "I will," and "Give me these"; "O, no!" that never is the way. But "Mother if you please."

And "If you please," to Sister Ann Good boys to say are ready; And, "Yes, sir," to a Gentleman, And, "Yes, ma'am," to a Lady.

Today's Poem

SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR

Thirty-one years ago today Spain declared war on the United States in answer to resolutions adopted by Congress, recognizing the independence of the Cuban republic.

These resolutions, adopted on April 22, 1898, the anniversary of the battle of Lexington, the star of the Revolutionary War, and of the first bloodshed of the Civil War on the streets of Baltimore, were in effect declarations of war on Spain.

As soon as they had been approved by the president, April 23, the Spanish minister asked for his passports, thus severing diplomatic relations. The following day, the American minister to Spain left Madrid.

On April 24 came Spain's formal declaration of war to create an enthusiastic patriotic sentiment in America. War had been expected since the sinking of the Battleship Maine in Havana harbor in its middle of February. A tragedy in which 260 members of the crew lost their lives.

This crisis was always regarded as the start of difficulties with Spain and gave rise to the cry: "The member the Maine!"

Reign For Short While On Stocks Wednesday

Total Goes Above Four Million Shares; Public Again Coming Back Into Market

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER, Associated Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Aggressive bullish operations on the market carried the volume of trading to a record of 4,000,000 shares the first time in three weeks.

but the movement once more into the stock wall of course was not so easily permanent as this seemingly permanent one.

Brokers said the public was again coming into the market, as was shown by the large number of transactions.

There has been a gradual increase in the past week, money still remains tight, and federal reserve authorities are believed to be earnestly working to keep it so.

The renewal rate was again 7-1/2 per cent but the increasing demands of the market have caused it to rise to 8 per cent.

Save for the afternoon collapse of the reparations advance, the day's news was generally of a bullish influence.

The outstanding strong features of the market were General Motors and Petroleum, the day's transaction in these accounting for about 40 per cent of the total turnover.

General Motors climbed nearly 3/4 to 37-3/8 in a turnover of 1,000 shares and Simms Petroleum mounted about 3 1/2 points to a high of 32-3/8.

In a turnover of 500 shares, Simms opened with a bid of 100,000 shares, the largest single transaction ever made on the floor of the exchange.

The buying of General Motors was attributed to powerful Detroit interests acting on the belief that the earnings report for the first quarter shortly will break all records.

Have was again a strong feature of the rally, touching a new high of 102-3/8 in further buying in speculation that 1929 earnings will reach $10 a share.

Commodity markets were irregular. Foreign exchanges were irregular.

Cotton Recovers Slightly On New York Wednesday

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Early advances on relatively firm Liverpool cables and talk of a firmer position of the market caused cotton prices to advance nearly 1/2 a bale today but the improvement met realizing and liquidation and the close was only about 50 cents a bale net higher.

The opening was steady at an advance of 6 to 14 points in response to the higher cables, with the active months selling about 16 to 21 points net higher.

May was relatively easy and appeared to be for sale about 90 points over July. The difference at the close was 59 points.

May was only 32 points over December at the close compared with 47 points yesterday. Exports today 20,738 making 7,233,951 so far this season. Port receipts 14,339 U. S. port stocks 1,422,209.

The cat was said to have moved the squirrels to a more desirable nest in the same fashion she employed in moving her own family—that of carrying them in her mouth.

Lockney Plans On New Highway Route

Artie Baker, of Lockney, president of the Lockney National bank, and brother of Francis Baker, of Lubbock, president of the Citizens National bank, while in Lubbock this week, stated that on May 11 a special election will be held in the Lockney precinct of Floyd county, for the purpose of voting $25,000 to provide right-of-way and maintenance of the new highway proposed along the western end of the county.

The new highway is part of the Lubbock to Silverton project, and will parallel the South Plains and Denver railway through Floyd county for a distance of about 20 miles. The Floyd county commissioners court had been asked to take over the project as a county proposition, but they failed to do so, and a new road district was created prior to calling of this election.

MOTORIST IS FINED

Man Pays $50 For Driving Amuck In City Streets
A fine of $50, for drunkenness, was paid in city court yesterday morning by the driver of a light car who on Monday night ran down a newsboy on a bicycle, and ran into two other automobiles, on downtown streets.
Because of failure of any of the parties concerned to file a complaint against the man, following his action in paying for all damages, a charge of driving a car while intoxicated was not filed against him.

Sees First Well Day In 11 Years

"Orgatone Has Restored My Health and Has Been One of My Greatest Blessings" Says Lubbock Woman.

"I am so grateful for the good Orgatone has done me, I consider it a duty to make this statement, so that others may learn how I was relieved of eleven long years of suffering," said Mrs. J. H. Wilson, of 704 Ave. L, Lubbock, Texas, Mrs. Wilson is a well known, popular business lady, she runs an apartment house.

"I suffered with a case of serious stomach trouble that just made my life miserable. My food would lay in my stomach just like lead and wouldn't digest, and gas formed on my stomach which crowded my heart until I nearly smothered to death, and my heart would palpitate so fast, I often thought I had a very bad heart and had heart burn always after eating.

"My liver and kidneys were bad, and I would have severe pains in my sides and back. I lost my appetite until I hardly ate enough to keep me alive and was getting weaker and thinner all the time. My complexion wasn't as clear as it should be, and I was very nervous and was so restless when I went to bed, I couldn't get any rest at all. I also had a bad case of constipation.

"Orgatone was recommended to me by a friend and I started taking it. I have just taken one bottle and wish you could just see me now. Really, I haven't felt so well as I do now in the past seven years. I have no discomfort since I have begun on Orgatone, my stomach has toned up, and my food digests properly and I sleep fine every night. I believe Orgatone is one of the greatest blessings I ever had, for I know that it has been a great benefit to me."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowers Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Also at Plainview by the South Plains Drug. Out of town customers are being shipped by mail upon receipt of price, $1.25 per one bottle or $2.25 for six bottles. —44—

"Blue Streak" To Represent Lubbock

"Blue Streak," a record-breaking carrier pigeon will represent Lubbock in the pigeon-airplane race from this city to Wichita Falls on May 1, it was announced here yesterday.

The pigeon will race against Miss Bonnie Dale, popular aviatrix, in the race and other birds released from the principal towns and cities of West Texas, under the sponsorship of the Orgatone company. A first prize of $100 in gold has been posted for the pigeon winning first place in the race. All pigeons, as well as the plane, will be judged according to the speed they make per mile in flying to Wichita Falls.

possible to be acquired with the funds. Although an option has been held by the airport committee of the chamber of commerce on a section of land lying northeast of the city some four or five miles, on the Plainview highway, the city commission is not bound to purchase this site. If some other acreage should be found better adapted to the purpose, no doubt the commission will consider that fact. The option, however, might have a tendency to make available a more suitable site at a price in keeping with that stipulated in the option, $65 per acre.

As Thursday is the regular meeting date for the city commission, it is very likely that action will be taken about calling for bids on the bonds, and it is also not unlikely that a committee will be appointed by the body to prepare plans for getting every bit of dollars' worth to the city for the project. Plans will be necessary on standardizations as given by the United States Chamber of Commerce, on airport arrangements and equipment. Problems, such as obtaining water and lights for the field will have to be met, as both are very essential.

Equipment Needed In addition to the building of hangars to house the airplanes, there will be need of flood lights to light the field up at night, markers to show its location to aviators as they fly overhead, parking places for automobiles, runways for ships as they alight or take off, and other equipment.

to other citizens, towns, cities and communities of the South Plains, was the statement of Mr. Wright. "We believe that our progressive business men will be on hand in enthusiastic numbers."

Most At 7:30 All who are to go from here are to meet at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock this morning. They will leave in a body, the motorcade to remain through the day at Tahoka and return when the convention closes.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, is scheduled for an address on the subject of "Education As An Aid to Business," and another good speaker from this city will be Lennis Baker, son of France Baker, president of the Citizens National Bank, who will be heard in the "My Home Town Contest." Young Baker defeated a number of Lubbock high school orators recently for the honor to represent this city at Tahoka.

Tahoka Is Resplendent With Flags For Visitors

TAHOKA, April 23. (Special)—Every business house of Tahoka is the setting for resplendent colors from flags, bunting and other decorations, much detailed work is being completed by various committees and the meeting halls are ready and waiting, foods are being prepared for the luncheon—in fact, about everything that can be thought of in the way of making all in readiness for the thousands who are expected to be in attendance at the district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is being rushed.

C. C. Williams, secretary of the Tahoka chamber of commerce, stated today that every reliable advance information available indicates that an exceedingly large crowd will be here tomorrow, weather permitting. There will be some 10 or 12 bands, as well as glee clubs, and choral clubs, quartets, orchestras and other musical organizations.

Towns that have written they would bring spirited delegations include Lubbock, Spur, Crosbyton, Floydada, Ralls, Abernathy, Slaton, Lamesa, Brownfield, O'Donnell, Levelland, Littlefield, Sudan, Amherst, Matador, Plainview and Wilson. Most of these towns will be headed by musical organizations of different kinds.

A. P. Duggan, of Littlefield, vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will preside over the meeting, which will open in the English theatre.

Rails Planning On Having Delegation Of 300 Present

RAILS, April 23. (Special)—A large delegation is planned to go from this city and Crosby county tomorrow for attendance at the district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held in Tahoka. This city's chamber of commerce is aiming at a delegation of at least 300. Committees appointed some weeks ago have been working diligently on plans for this program and Crosby county has promised to cooperate with Ralls in attempting to secure the 1930 meeting for this city.

Littlefield To Send Group To Convention

LITTLEFIELD, April 23.—A party of boosters from the Little Chamber of Commerce will go to Tahoka on Wednesday to attend the district meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce being held there. and dairymen to increase milk production on their farm, and to also better the quality of that which is being produced. Butterfat tests determining the income to be derived from milk and cream, a premium being offered to quality production from practically all buyers of this commodity.

With the recent change in plan of purchasing cream a penalty is placed on the farmer or dairyman who offers poor quality and small quantity. The testing station will greatly assist these producers in eliminating the penalty phase and increasing the premium phase. The action of the board of directors Tuesday night followed recommendations by the Dairy Committee, which is headed by P. A. Norman, other members being, K. M. Renner, Dick Smith, W. J. Stangler, W. A. Myrick Jr., Dr. I. E. Barr and A. H. Leisigh. Street Signs Approved It was through the recommendation of the B. C. D.'s street sign committee, headed by L. G. H. Williams, that the action was taken on this matter, also. This committee has been working on the problem for several months and had prepared an elaborate and detailed recommendation which was adopted as offered. This calls for the erection of plainly visible markers, to be made of durable material, at the intersection of every street and avenue in the now well-populated business and residential districts of the city.

tentary relocation plans, apparently was in no hurry to get the committee together. The house educational committee attempted to pass Representative Holder's bill creating a board of education of nine members to be appointed by the governor for terms of six years, the board to elect a commissioner of education to replace the superintendent of public instruction, but differences of opinion on several points blocked quick action. Another meeting has been called for tomorrow. An effort to amend the bill to provide for popular election of the commissioner of education was voted down.

The house had received 19 bills, 12 of which retained to education committee by Representative W. M. Harman of Waco. Civil Service Bill Up. The civil service bill by Rep. Geo. Kimble of Fort Worth, sponsored by the governor, was referred to the committee on state affairs, but a meeting to consider the bill was called for tomorrow. Young of Wellington said his penitentiary bill, representing the ideas on concentration of those opposed to the governor's measure, would be introduced tomorrow.

Members of both houses were taken on an excursion through the University of Texas plant by the board of regents this afternoon. The inspection ended with a dinner on the campus given by the regents. The regents spent a good part of the day before the senate finance committee presiding needs of the university for consideration when the educational appropriations bill is finally drawn.

The Hyer parole bill would enlarge the scope of the present state pardon board. The chairman of the board of pardons and paroles would receive $3,000 annually for full time work and the other two members would receive $10 daily for time actually put in.

By PHILIP J. SINNOTT NEA Service Writer

SEATTLE, Wash., April 23.—Dr. Frank R. Loope, Seattle's "sunshine doctor," is a firm believer in keeping busy to keep your mind off yourself.

And in spite of the fact that he has been helpless and bedridden for 17 years—unable even to turn his head—the good doctor just radiates sunshine, cheer and helpfulness, and has become a big factor in this city's welfare work.

He's a weekly contributor to the Seattle Star. He takes over and perfects relief work. He handles special shows for "shut-ins," even to the job of hustling transportation for 200 or more cripples and invalids from his bedroom, he even supervises a factory and store—operated by cripples.

Studies Visitor in Mirror Loope was a successful physician when arthritis struck him down. And being a physician, he couldn't be kidded; he knew as much about his own condition as did attending doctors. He knew it was hopeless. "I was miserable, too, for months," Loope smiles now, as with his hands he manipulates a mirror so he can study a visitor's face. "Then I realized that my misfortune could be a blessing if I would keep other folks in mind."

Telephones were installed at his bed room, he was in communication with sick, blind and crippled in hospitals and homes. And he was finding that persons more fortunately situated were glad to help those needing help. It was then that Dr. Loope began writing his "Sunshine Smiles" for the Seattle Star, to help in work of cheer and rehabilitation.

Radios for Shut-Ins Loope was quick to see the advantage of radio sets for shut-ins. He carried on campaigns and even in the days of the crystal detector, Seattle sick rooms and hospital wards had access to air programs. "We've been gradually replacing these with better sets," Loope explains. "Our 'Shut-Ins' Emporium' is successfully disposing of brooms, brushes, bed-clothes and other products of blind or crippled workers."

We also have a fuel supply concern, giving work to men who can use their arms."

But Dr. Loope's great ambition is the creation of a home and industrial center for shut-ins—where homeless, but not hopeless, cripples can live well at a minimum cost in comfortable surroundings, and still be close to their own workshops where they can earn all or part of their way, instead of being classed as mendicants.

"We are working to keep these people from contacting the public; this is as abhorrent to the shut-in as it is distasteful to the public," Dr. Loope says. "We can't remake a cripple but if we can reshape his work, we help the man and help society. Our shut-in store, for instance, is in charge of a wheel-chair invalid. The stilt is well perfected and patented help several. A man with both legs off and with but one arm saws the blocks for steps. A man with a broken back does the metal work and a legless boy does painting and stenciling. Our kiddie car patent also gives work. There is other work for those who can do repair jobs, for many Seattle people send this kind of work to our present workshops."

Aided 60 Families Sale of special cheerful postcards boosted the funds for shut-in work. Stories carried in Dr. Loope's newspaper column brought clothing and relief for 60 families last winter. Other funds were raised to rehabilitate cripples and pay nurses and hospital bills for needy cases. Then there have been many theater parties, etc., arranged for the shut-ins—red-letter days in their none too cheerful lives.

And the moving spirit houses a broken body that has been fettered to a cot for 17 years. One could feel very sorry for Dr. Loope's predicament were it not for the fact that he's so cheerful himself, and too busy to give himself a thought. In fact, not half of the Seattleites who read his cheerful writings know the writer's condition.

"There's lots of work we folks can do for each other—and lots of fun doing it," says the "Sunshine Doctor" with a cheery wave of his mirror.

FROM AIR-TIGHT CAN TO FRYING PAN—AND BACK AGAIN TO CAN
That is the cycle of the Snowdrift you use for frying. For Snowdrift is not only a wholesome fat for frying—it's really a very economical one as well.
After straining, you know, Snowdrift can be used again and again. It doesn't absorb any of the frying odors—even that of fish.
Try it with French Fried Potatoes. Here's the recipe:
FRENCH FRIED POTATOES
Thinly pare the potatoes and cut them in eighth lengthwise, if smooth in skin, if they are very large. Let the cut potatoes stand in cold water for thirty minutes, drain on a cloth and dry in deep Snowdrift, hot enough to brown a bit of bread in one and a half minutes. Drain on crumpled, unglazed paper. Dust lightly with salt, and serve.
Crisp... brown... delicious. So quickly fried there's no chance for the hot fat to be absorbed. That's why food fried in Snowdrift is so wholesome.
