CLASSES WILL BE HELD IN DYKE CULLUM BUILDING

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Morning Avalanche Better Homes, Exposition and Cooking School today at 2 o'clock in the new Dyke Cullum building. Plans have been completed for taking care of a large crowd, with plenty of chairs for all. Everything possible has been done for the comfort and convenience of the women attending and a cordial invitation is extended to housewives of Lubbock and vicinity to attend the opening lecture and as many more of the remaining lectures as is possible.

The program as prepared by Mrs. Chase for the women of Lubbock appears below. Read it carefully, then clip it for future reference. The lectures and demonstrations will be new and up-to-the-minute. Mrs. Chase will assist homemakers with the problems of today. She could not do this with old, worn-out methods and materials.

Bring note book and pencil so you can preserve the recipes and helpful hints, and suggestions Mrs. Chase gives during a lecture period. Mrs. Chase recipes are never printed in the Avalanche and in order to obtain them one must attend the lectures. Mrs. Chase always dictates the recipe before beginning her demonstration. This she does slowly enough so that it can be copied by those in attendance. After the recipe has been copied it is demonstrated, slowly and carefully, and each step taken is fully explained, so that when the demonstration is completed all are anxious to sample the finished product.

Here is the program:

From early until late the gold links of the municipal course in the canyon of the park were dotted with players chasing the pill from one hole to the next. Men and women, boys and girls, and golf.

WOUNDS FATAL TO SOMERVILLE OFFICER

PLYMOUTH, Vt., March 14.—In spite of his remarkable display of courage and stamina, Colonel John C. Coolidge, is slowly losing ground in his battle against paralysis and heart trouble. A bulletin issued late Sunday by Dr. Albert M. Gram states that the aged father of the president was slightly weaker than on Saturday and indicates that hope of delaying the end for any length of time has been abandoned. "Although his heart action is somewhat improved, the colonel is weaker than he was Saturday," Dr. Gram told the United News following a visit to the Coolidge home. He is very quiet and in no pain. His respiration is about normal, but he appears to be growing weaker steadily. Our chief concern is now for his comfort, and we are doing everything possible to afford him the maximum ease. The country physician who has attended Colonel Coolidge through his long illness made it plain, however, that he did not consider the patient's condition serious enough to cause immediate alarm. He said he probably would not make another visit during the night unless there was a sudden turn for the worse.

WINEGAR ODOR PERVADES CHURCH AS SANTONE PASTOR BREAKS BOTTLE AFTER "BOOZE OR BOY AUCTION" TALK

SAN ANTONIO, March 14.—Crashing against the wall of the baptistry in Beacon Hill Baptist church tonight, a sealed bottle containing a liquid having the appearance of whiskey sprayed the walls and trickled down into the water. N. A. Baker, deputy prohibition administrator, was present. The bottle was hurled by Rev. M. C. Eidson, pastor, after he had used it illustrating his sermon, "Booze or Boy Auction." In defiance of threats that he would be arrested if he employed intoxicating liquor in his talk. He was not arrested, and no move was made to do so. Shortly after the crash of the bottle had startled the 2,000 persons who crowded the auditorium, a pungent odor of vinegar permeated the corner where the baptistry was. The preacher defied anyone to arrest him, and offered a reward of $50 to anyone who would do so. When he exhibited the bottle, he said he did not know what it contained because he had neither tasted nor smelled it, but referred to it as whiskey. An hour after the sermon Eidson reported that men said to be county or city officers were investigating around the church, he was told, but up to that time, he had not been arrested. Rev. Eidson held the bottle in one hand, and placed the other on the shoulder of Hal Pinn, 8 years-old, who stood on the platform with him and asked his congregation which it would rather have, the boy or the booze.

SPECTRE OF SOVIET RUSSIA FRIGHTENS GENEVA DIPLOMATS

DELEGATES PICTURE SLAV POWER AS OPPOSING GERMAN ENTRY

DANGEROUS CRISIS

BELGIUM MAY SACRIFICE SEAT FOR SAKE OF HARMONY

By United News

GENEVA, March 14.—The spectre of soviet Russia looking on with malicious satisfaction while the League of Nations wrangles and the entry of Germany is delayed, has been brought before the diplomats assembled at Geneva.

Without mentioning Russia by name, a leading delegate Sunday referred to "a larger power which is interested in seeing Germany's harmonious entry into the League frustrated," and reminded press representatives that the hopes of this "larger power" must be thwarted for the sake of international peace.

The discussion of the effect of the disension within the league on Russia marked the injection of a new factor into the dispute which has continued for one week and has brought league delegates face to face with the most dangerous crisis in the history of the international body.

The statement that Brazil had revised her intention to veto Germany's entrance into the council has served to further perplex league delegates.

The British delegates made the statement regarding Brazil's position it was understood that the Brazilian league member had refused to alter his position despite continued efforts on the part of British league members to influence him.

Sunday night found the delegates facing three alternatives in their attempts toward international accord. Chief of these was the suggestion said to have emanated from the Swedish delegation that Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Uruguay should resign from the league council with the understanding that a new election would be held and that from these four nations and Poland would be chosen for non-permanent council seats.

'HONEST BOOTLEGGERS' MAY PAY INCOME TAX AND NONE BE WISER

CHICAGO, March 14.—As expressed through the internal revenue office here Uncle Sam's attitude toward the prosperous bootlegger is simply this: "One good sized income tax payment in the hand is worth a half-dozen Volstead fines in the bush." C. E. Boulden, revenue agent in charge of the Chicago district, has assured all honest and conscientious bootleggers that they will not be turned over to the Volsteadians if they come in like little men and lay down their income tax. Boulden broadcast these tidings by radio recently and says that one would be surprised at the number of strictly honest bootleggers there are in the Chicago district.

Five Cremated in Shreveport Blaze

SHREVEPORT, La., March 14.—The bodies of five persons, victims of the Creswell hotel fire, were removed from the building's ruins early Sunday morning, some of them burned beyond recognition. The fire broke out late Saturday night on the ground floor of the hotel, spreading rapidly before the occupants could be notified. The life of every guest was threatened and some of them escaped only by jumping from the second and third stories into life nets.

Heavy wind prevented firemen from getting control of the fire and it burned to the ground. It was not until dawn that they were able to remove the bodies of the victims. They are: T. W. Hotkins, 55, day clerk of the hotel; August Bechet, 55, a salesman; Martin C. Lester, 26, employee of the Louisiana Oil Refining Co.; Jack Leguina, a painter living at Escabania, Mich.; and an unidentified man believed to be from Tulsa, Okla. LIBERAL EDUCATION "ON THE AIR" IN RADIO

BY WM. J. FAGIN
United News Radio Editor
NEW YORK, March 14.

Should she ask him in? How can I condition the farm horse for spring work? Should I take out a no-trump bid with a four card suit?

Your best friend may not tell you, but it's a ten-to-one chance that you'll be able to find out somewhere in the United States—just by twisting the dial of your radio set. The educational features of radio broadcasting run the gamut from instructions as to what to do before birth to conduct at a funeral. Bridge lessons, lessons in all languages, including the Scandinavian, vocal, piano and violin instructions, hints on the care of everything from radio storage batteries to prize balloons, breakfasts, luncheons and dinner menus, etiquette hints, courses in literature and drama, public speaking and glorified argumentation, bible instruction and physical, moral and mental health points make radio the greatest university in the history of man kind.

Under no college roof is it possible to obtain the catholicity of knowledge that is available to the radio student who can and has the will to profit.

A great deal of the educational matter broadcast in the United States naturally bears the taint of commercialism. But there is an immense amount of disinterested educational and instructive broadcast being done by colleges and universities and individuals throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Practically every station of any significance devotes part of its scheduled program to instruction calculated to improve its listeners. In fact, a very conservative check up of the radio broadcasting licenses reveals that there are more than 100 taken out in the names of colleges and universities alone.

Some of the most popular broadcasting stations in the country are owned and operated by educational institutions, in some cases wholly without outside assistance and in others through co-operative arrangement with a newspaper or business to be almost as large a factor in the popularity of a college as a winning football team can be.

Some universities offer college credits to those who successfully master the subjects taught by the professors to radio listeners. Practically every subject in a collegiate curriculum may be picked up at one or another educational broadcasting station.

But economics, science and the arts are perhaps the least of instructive service made available to the radio advance. The radio broadcaster is indispensable in many ways to the farmer and merchant and housewife.

Many times has the story been told of the farmer who refused an offer for his product, went home and tuned in on the market quotations and returned to sell his bidder at a price above the offer.

The advent of radio receiving sets had brought progress into the life of men of the rural districts. There is no isolation where the voices of prominent educators may be brought in with the twist of a knob.

The broadcast of household information has undoubtedly averted the breaking up of many a happy home. Instructions in physical culture has made more healthy neophytes than all the soothing syrups and vitamin producing juices yet devised. A veritable army arises early in the morning for the innumerable "gymnasium classes" which are fostered by broadcasting stations. A recent popularity contest in New York crowned the director of an early morning gymnasium class king of favorite local broadcasters.

Then too, the voice of national and state executives have been brought to the family fireside with their problems of government, a course in civics far more potent than that found between the covers of any book on the subject.

LOVELY PARTY GIVEN FOR IDLE WIVES CLUB

At The Churches Sunday

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"Building for Time and for Eternity"

Rev. W. P. Jennings brought to his congregation Sunday morning a peculiarly applicable thought in his sermon under this head.

"And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up; and as his custom was, he went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up to read." Luke 4:16.

For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Christ Jesus." I. Cor. 3:11.

He said in part: "The pre-eminent business of life is not to accumulate wealth to make a fortune to leave, but to build a character which will be so strong amongst its fellows in this life that it will be good enough to last forever in the realm beyond our earthly pilgrimage. This life means far too much to ourselves and to our fellowman and to our God for us to neglect those things which lead us to the highest and best. And the building of strong Christian character is the ultimate goal toward which both old and young should direct their energies."

"No values are so important as moral and religious values. No man can move out of the structure of life which he has created for himself; it goes with him into the next world. Christian character is the corner and keystone of every noble deed—of every splendid achievement."

"There is one life recorded in sacred story whose character for nineteen centuries has been illuminating the world with its brightness. Men of strongest minds and keenest intellects bring the tribute of their genius and lay it at the feet of the Nazarene. Surely such a life and such a character is worthy to be followed, and the Bible tells us much of the personal life of Jesus."

"One of his customs was to go to church regularly. Is it ours? Other habits of his, such as prayer and reading of the Bible, and doing good, give us the key to his great life."

"We are, whether consciously or unconsciously, creatures of habit. There are some habits which we all have need to form and to rightly follow."

"The daily Bible reading habit—Christ was a diligent student of the Scriptures. The daily prayer habit—if we would build strong Christian character we must form the habit of daily prayer. We read passage after passage of the Scriptures which say that Christ went out to pray—chiefly in solitude; but he set an example for us in praying in public. He prayed to His Father before he took important steps in his ministry, just as we today should pray before setting about the largest things of our life."

"The church-going habit. Regularly, whether the weather was good or bad, whether he felt like it or not, faithfully, Christ attended the divine worship. Christian people must be aroused to the significance of church attendance. Too many simply allow trifles to keep them from the church; others do not plan to attend, and hence do not. Civilization depends upon the church, and the church depends upon public worship, when the one goes, the other grows."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"Fundamental Principles of Christian Stewardship"

Rev. Jack M. Lewis brought to the attention of the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning what he conceived to be the elemental principle of Christian stewardship. He quoted the Word of God as his authority, and noted a large number of passages as granting to him the right and privilege of speaking on the subject of money. After examining the question thoroughly, it is a simple matter to agree with Paul as he speaks to young Timothy: "The love of money is the root of all evil, which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through as with many sorrows."

He said in part: "The wrong attitude towards money is perhaps more responsible than any other one thing for religious failure in life. The rich young ruler failed because of his love of money. Dives failed because of his wrong attitude towards money. The prodigal son failed because of his attitude towards money. The rich man who tore down his barns to build larger ones failed because of this. Judas failed because of his love of money."

"And so all history would record individual after individual and nation after nation failing because of a wrong attitude, not only towards money, but also a misunderstanding of the whole question of stewardship."

"May we name certain principles which if studied thoroughly and followed closely will bring us to a proper attitude towards money?"

"Every man should dedicate a certain proportion of his income to the advancement of the Kingdom of God in the world. Scripture says, "Let every man lay by him in store." The rich and the poor alike are obligated here.

"Every man should dedicate a certain proportion of his income to the advancement of the Kingdom of God in the world because God is his owner. 'The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof, the world and they that dwell therein.' 'Ye are not your own, for ye are bought with a price.'"

"Every man should dedicate that proportion of his income to the advancement of the Kingdom of God that has already been named until God shall name for him another."

"What is that proportion? undoubtedly the tithe. No question about its being the proportion in the old dispensation. The new does not abrogate it. A law remains in force until abrogated."

"A man should dedicate the tithe to the advancement of the Kingdom of God or suffer the consequences. God said to His people of old, 'Ye are cursed with a curse. Why? Because ye have robbed me.'"

"How have we robbed Thee? 'In tithes and offerings.'"

"If a man dedicate at least the tithe to the advancement of the Kingdom of God he will receive the Blessing. 'Bring all ye the tithes in; herewith, if I will not pour you out a blessing such as there shall not be room enough to receive it.'"

FIRST METHODIST

Marking, as the pastor of the church said as he presented the certificates, a new day for First Methodist Church of Lubbock, ninety-eight people received certificates of completed work in the standard teachers' training classes held last week, during the Sunday School hour.

This event brings about a condition which is a beginning of a consummation to be desired, in that it spells a reserve of trained workers, trained teachers, with trained minds for the Sunday school work of the church.

Announcement was made of the revival meeting of the Church which will begin on next Sunday at the eleven o'clock hour, and continue thru two weeks. Rev. D. E. Duak, presiding elder of the Lubbock district will conduct the preaching services, aided by the pastor, Rev. E. E. White.

Next Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock, musical program will be given in the Methodist church.

In his sermon of the morning, Dr. White used a text which is remarkably applicable to present day conditions. Using it as the opening wedge, he drove home some dominant thoughts to the people who heard him upon some present day subjects.

Scripture lesson was taken from the first fourteen verses of the fourth chapter of Genesis, and the text for the sermon was a question that has come down to us from the beginning of time. "Where is thy brother?" God asked. "I know not; Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

He said in part: "The general tendency at the present time is to shun human responsibility, letting each fellow shift for himself; forgetting that we are responsible for our fellow man. We are our brother's keeper, and our fellowman looks to us for example."

"Where is Thy Brother?" This question should burn itself into the hearts of men and women today, and continue to burn there until they reach consciousness of the fact that they cannot live to themselves.

"Too often we are prone to close our eyes to the condition of others, and say that we expect them to do the same by us."

"Especially manifest is the full meaning of the question in the case of parent-hood. Every parent is entrusted with the care of his children. Of all weighty responsibilities, this is one of the weightiest—The home."

"There is present also the tendency to turn from the responsibilities of the home, as if by paying the cost, the church and the school might develop men and women from their boys and girls. This is an impossibility, if the foundation which should begin in the home is neglected."

averted had someone who was really a friend gone to a person who is despondent and down-cast and given him a welcoming word and encouragement, and a hearty grasp of the hand. Especially true, if we are to keep our young people off the road of immorality. Let them know that we are believing in them—with a kind word instead of being against them. There comes to every member of a church special responsibility in giving personal help to the large group of men and women and children who need it. There is no greater joy to be found anywhere than that of having taken the hand of someone in trouble, in despair; and lifted them up and set them on a new path—this is the highest conception of Christianity. It is the religion of Jesus. He sent men to go after other men, that they, too, might come and see.

Are we our brother's keeper? "There is a danger confronting every believing man and woman of America today in the menace of that anti-prohibition element responsible for the straw vote taken last week in regard to the repealing of the Volstead act, or of modifying it. If such a step were taken, it would be a backward step socially and economically that would take twenty years to overcome. Are the men and women of America going to sit by and let a small group of men say that America wants light wine and beer? When of the hundred and ten millions of people in the United States not one million votes were cast, and when it is known that a man who is "thirsty" will cast his vote? This move was instigated by sympathizers of the wet group—and in business, men are expected by God to live up to His principles, not taking undue advantages. We are our brother's keeper."

DISTRIBUTE TICKETS FOR METHODIST DINNER

The Methodist Men's Banquet to be held Tuesday night in the basement of the Leader building is promising to be a notable event due to the enthusiasm which is aroused, and the surprise program which the committee has arranged. Tickets were distributed in the Sunday School yesterday morning for sale at 50 cents each and a good number of men purchased them in order to insure a large crowd. The program with the big feed will start at 7:30 and the purpose will be to create good fellowship.

CHANGE CHURCH HOURS DURING MUSIC FETE

Owing to the Music Festival being held during the time the churches of Lubbock will hold revival services, Miss Mary Dunn states that the churches will hold services from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m., during the period of the Festival in order to allow people to attend the musical numbers after the church services.

Upon being interviewed, Miss Dunn said that the sale of tickets was dragging and that she requested all those who are going to attend the Music Festival to get their tickets early this week.

OUR POSSESSIONS AND GOD—"And Pharaoh called unto Moses, and said, Go ye, serve the Lord; only let your flocks and your herds be stayed; let your little ones also go with you. And Moses said, * * * Our cattle also shall go with us." Ex. 10:24-26.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

There is too much of a disposition on the part of many people to jump to general conclusions in regard to prohibition enforcement. "It is," says one man, "as satisfactory as could be expected so soon after the enactment of the law." "It is," says his neighbor, "a disgrace and a farce; the government is making no effort to enforce the law; it is on the contrary simply trying to discredit prohibition preparatory to a proposal to repeal it."

The truth is that prohibition enforcement is satisfactory in spots and highly unsatisfactory in other spots. The reorganization was admirably conceived and the proposed measures to perfect it by law are commendable. Since General Andrews assumed control a series of magnificent regulations have been promulgated and effective measures have been taken in various directions. The policy of decentralization has proven unsatisfactory, preventing Washington from taking immediate and effective measures to remedy bad conditions arising from inefficiency or susceptibility of administrators to local political influence. With quick perception, the Prohibition Unit seems to have realized this, as is indicated by the announced purpose to organize a mobile alcohol squad under the command of Mr. Foster.

Wholesale condemnation of the administration of prohibition enforcement is unwarranted. Essentially, the administration of enforcement is sound. No good purpose is served by unjust wholesale condemnation, nor by suspicion of the good faith of the government. A good purpose is served by frank criticism of faults in administration and by vigorous efforts to secure a change in local administration in those districts where prohibition enforcement is ineffective because of inefficiency, lack of interest, or infidelity to the service.

Prohibition enforcement must rest upon the wholehearted confidence of the majority of the nation. The administration of the federal prohibition law in some districts has not the confidence of the dry organizations or individuals.

In the State of Maryland a reorganization of federal prohibition administration is urgently needed. Wether Mr. Budnitz can be justly accused of being "wet" or not, it is beyond dispute that he is believed throughout the State of Maryland and the State of Delaware to be wet in his sympathies, hostile to the principle of the prohibition law and without the ability to enforce it. The conditions in Maryland are bad. The governor is attempting to make political capital of his opposition to the law. Prohibition has no metropolitan newspaper support. The political machines are absolutely against it and they control the politics of the state. In Baltimore, powerful influences encourage violation of the law as contributory to the movement for its destruction. In some of the southern counties of Maryland, utterly disgraceful conditions prevail, large stills operating seemingly without the least opposition on the part of local officials. Informers against violators are visited with violence and find themselves rather than their persecutors in difficulties with the state and local officials. If any state in the nation deserves an administrator known by every individual in the state to be heart and soul a friend of the prohibition law, known as a man of ability and determination, who can and will uphold the dignity and power of the federal government, who will demonstrate the ascendancy of the United States government over criminals and nullifiers, that state is Maryland. Budnitz ought to be replaced simply by way of convincing the people of Maryland that the United States government wants the law enforced if for no other reason.

In the case of Maryland, it seems that the bad situation is due to political influence which is unfriendly to the law. In Kentucky we face a situation which is not due to political hostility, but which nevertheless is due to the mischief of politics. The present administrator is named Mays. He is perhaps the most influential man in Republican politics in Kentucky. It is not unfair to say that no other reason for naming him is perceptible. We venture the opinion that three-fourths of the mail coming to the prohibition office relates to political matters. Certainly the administrator has not the conviction, the ability or the determination to handle the federal interest in prohibition enforcement in a state where the whiskey interest is exceedingly powerful. The dry people of Kentucky are profoundly dissatisfied and they have a right to be. As indicating the ability needed to deal with the Kentucky situation, let us cite the conditions in and around Newport, opposite Cincinnati. The George Wiedemann Co., Inc., the president of which is Carl Wiedemann, has, according to our information, permits to distill alcohol, denature it and use it in manufacture, as well as a brewer's permit. The company is reported to produce about 1,000,000 gallons of alcohol a year, half of which is specially denatured. It may be remarked that nine-tenths of the bootleg liquor is re-claimed specially denatured alcohol. The remainder of the Wiedemann output is completely denatured. We are informed that up to a recent date at least only one man, receiving approximately $4.00 a day, has been assigned to this plant to see to it that what is supposed to be denatured is really denatured. Apparently this company sells all of its specially denatured alcohol to one concern in Cincinnati, with the exception of about 16,500 gallons monthly which they are authorized to manufacture into rubbing alcohol. The eventual destination of such a commodity as rubbing alcohol should be a matter of vital concern to the prohibition office of Kentucky. No doubt, of course, it is all legitimately distributed. It is to the interest of the company as well as of the prohibition office, however, to show that none of this rubbing alcohol goes to a fictitious concern, that none of it is redistilled, in short, that none of it reaches the bootleg trade. It should be possible to exercise such supervision of the production of alcohol as will satisfy every citizen in Kentucky. Is it being done? It doesn't suffice to say, as uninformed people might say, "why bother about Newport; let them catch the big fellows in Cincinnati," or to say "Why bother about Memphis, let them catch the moonshiners in Arkansas," or to say that any girl clerk can handle the permit matter. Prohibition will rise or fall on the way the permit matter is handled.

Let us consider a typical instance of how indifference or inefficiency can prevent proper prohibition enforcement. A concern in Louisville holds a manufacturing permit authorizing the use of two hundred gallons of specially denatured alcohol every thirty days and a permit to use two hundred gallons of grain alcohol every ninety days. The premises of this concern consist of a two-story brick building both floors of which were, on a recent date, littered with junk and debris of all kinds. Apparently there was no alcohol of any nature on the premises, no evidence that there had been any alcohol in the storerooms for a considerable time. There were only ten gallons of toilet water on the premises, all in five-gallon glass jars, heavily coated with dust. We have no knowledge that this concern has maintained a record of alcohol preparations manufactured or sold. A young lady on the premises said she did not know the concern used any alcohol. Would not an energetic administration of the prohibition law call for an investigation to see whether or not any of this grain or denatured alcohol was being diverted directly from the freight station to parties other than those who should have received it?

Here are two-cases where those interested in the proper enforcement of prohibition can help the government by insisting that the local administration be radically changed in character. Such insistence does not constitute an unfriendly criticism of federal prohibition enforcement. On the contrary it is an act of friendship.

The above paragraphs relate to local situations. But how about the present astonishing policy of dumping upon the streets efficient and experienced men?

No one would claim that prohibition enforcement is what it ought to be. It seems that instead of firing men the Prohibition Unit would be hiring them and they ought to hang on desperately to every man who has proven his fidelity and ability. Discharging such men or replacing them with inexperienced men at the dictation of politicians is ruinous. Congress is perfectly willing to appropriate sufficient money for the proper enforcement of prohibition. Drastic economy can begin when prohibition enforcement becomes reasonably satisfactory in all parts of the country. Until it does, the prohibition force should be increased daily so long as valuable men can be found who are willing to risk their lives and put up with the miserable employment conditions of a service where men are likely to be dumped upon the street without a moment's warning, where an agent must in many cases advance out of his own pocket the money with which the government does business and where he is constantly subjected to systematic abuse and persecution on the part of the opponents of the law.

The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church is sincerely sympathetic with the difficulties so courageously faced by General Andrews. It believes much of the criticism of prohibition enforcement is because of faulty administration in a few localities and that this faulty administration is almost always the result of political interference. The time has come when a man should not be appointed to administer the prohibition law because he is a Democrat or a Republican, but because he is a prohibitionist and a man who has the ability to do the work. Give Andrews every chance—Give prohibition every chance.

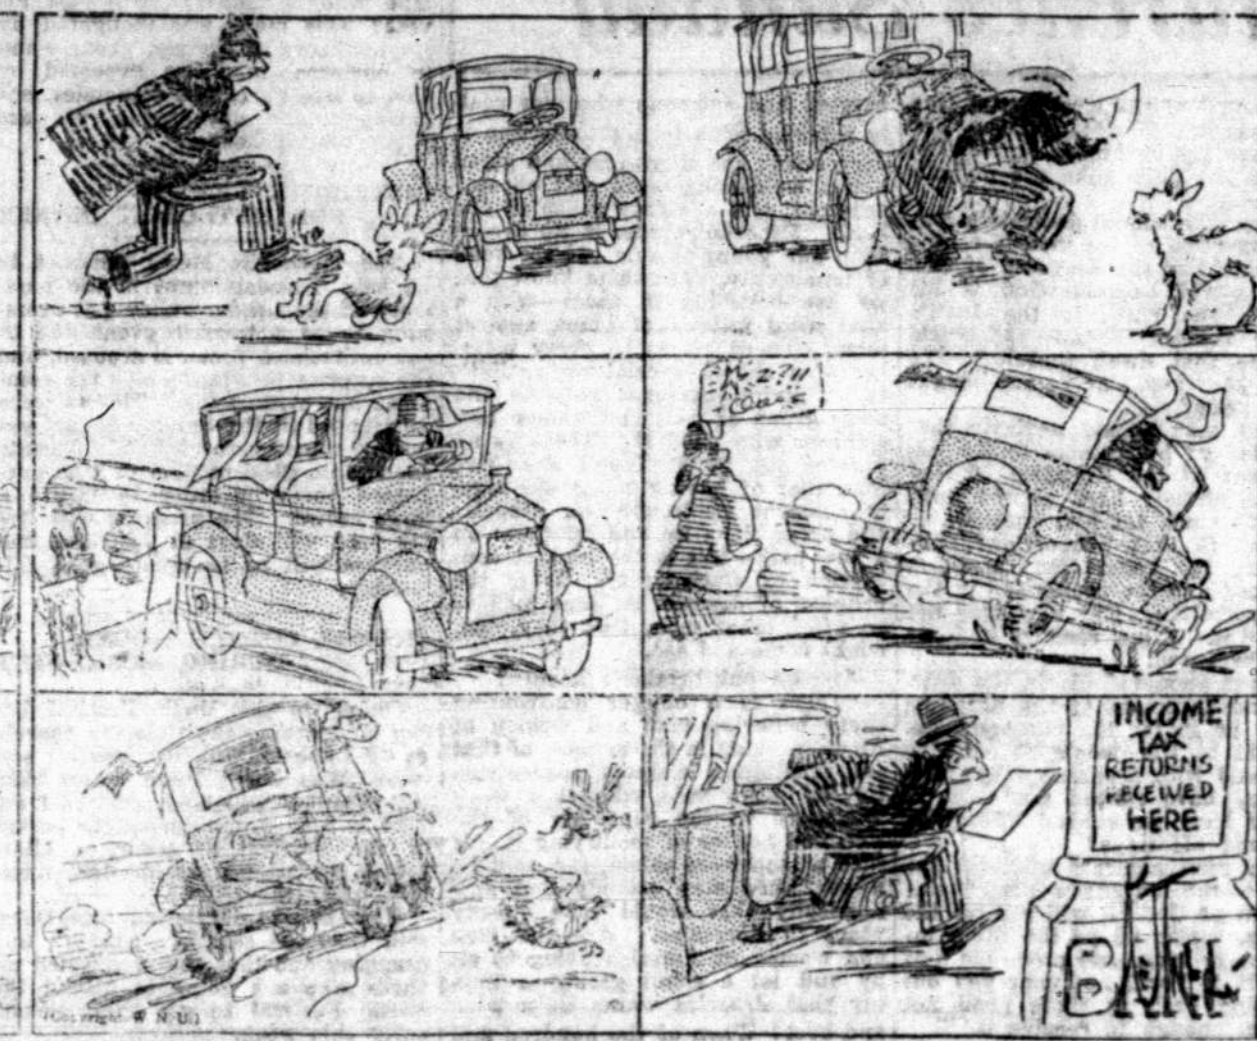

Little Avalanches

Since May, 1924, France has had six changes in government every one of them owing to the financial situation. If the French people will not accept the tax program arranged by Briand they must finally accept the program prepared by somebody else. Their lot is hard, but no more so than that of the people of other nations.

French and Spaniards are preparing for a renewal of hostilities in Morocco and the Riffs seem to be determined to defend their land to the bitter end. While it is a question of physical endurance on the part of the Riffs it is a serious question of financial endurance on the part of France which has already expended far more than the whole territory is worth.

The average man who invests or speculates in mining gets a very poor run for his money. Figures recently produced in the engineering and mining Journal-Press shows that less than one investor in 200 ever gets his money back. It beats the three shell game twenty ways.

The Fifteenth of March

SO THINK WE

We think that there is one thing more about grand opera over the radio, you can easily escape from it.

We think that most people who hide their light under a bushel could very well place it under a pint can anyway.

We think it is very well to listen to the advice of your friends but the first thing is to be very certain that they are your friends.

We think Jim and Miriam are taking a long time to reply to charges that Dan brought against them.

We think it will take more than one sweep a week to keep no man's land cleaned up. The entrance to the postoffice which is disowned by everyone, was swept Monday morning, but not since, and it needs it three times a day. Everyone who goes to the postoffice, and more people go there than anywhere else in town shouldn't be forced to wade through the litter of paper, amber, cigar stubs, cigar stubs, etc. to get to the postoffice. We even saw one lady who wears skirts about as short as any of them tiptoe through, holding her skirt up, for fear of dragging it in the litter that was found there.

We think that people who signed notes for the hotel should do their very best to meet these obligations. The committee needs the money to proceed with the work, and they based their building plans on the amount subscribed, so it is not right that you should fall down on the proposition. Pay now if you can or make some arrangements for taking care of the obligation satisfactory to the committee.

We think some folks not living in Lubbock would like to see the bigger hotel in Lubbock fail to be completed, but this is not going to be the fate of this building. It is going to be completed and will be one of the best in West Texas.

We think possibly the people of Texas are just about as tired of Majim as the American people are of Majon.

We think domestic conditions get in a mess when the wife has a torpid liver and the husband a torpid flivver. It's a mighty good time for the kids to skidoo.

We think when a fellow gets to where he thinks the community, the county, the state or the nation can get along without him it is a fine time for him to kiss the family goodbye, and go on a journey that will keep you gone for a long, long time.

We think it would not be a good idea for a bachelor to be governor, for no one might want to run to vindicate the former governor.

We think if so many people did not work at undoing things that other folks do, it would not be such a big job for people to do things.

We think old battle axe had a nice day Saturday and he was much in evidence. The only reason that the entrance to the postoffice was not worse bespattered than it was is probably due to the fact that the weather was fine and battle axe did not have to stay indoors.

We think as a usual thing when we hunt something cheap we usually find it.

We think our suggestion about creating a sinking fund from the fines for spitting on the sidewalks would be a good one. Let's build a new city auditorium with the proceeds.

IT IS REPORTED

That according to the straw vote taken by a number of newspapers in the United States there is a great demand for the repeal of the Volstead law or at least a change in the law. We would be willing to bet that it is not the true feeling of the people of this country. Out of a congregation of more than eight hundred people in Lubbock a test was made yesterday and only six cast their vote either way. The claim that such a vote is a true test of the issue is absurd. Give prohibition a chance.

That even after all the cool weather we have had the past few days, there will still be a good crop of fruit in this section of the country.

That business is better in South Plains towns this year than it was last year at this time, and there need not be any special wonder at that.

That there is going to be a lot more paving done in this city this summer.

That a lot of folks are in favor of buying land or getting a long lease on the land on the canyon on which to put in a big lake. Lubbock will need it in a few years and we should have it.

That not many towns have things that Lubbock does not, except knockers. Some towns have more knockers than Lubbock.

That Lubbock is going to have a dog race track. That's all right. Few things can out run them.

That several more carloads of chickens will be grown on the South Plains this year than last. That's fine. Cut the cotton acreage down, raise more chickens and the people will be better off.

That when a bride recently reminded her husband that he promised to give her the whole world if she would marry him, whereupon he delivered to her an atlas of the world.

TEXAS

By J. MARVIN NICHOLS

Cherokee—1846

Organized July 1, 1846; created April 11, 1846.

Built out of the original municipality of Nacogdoches. Rusk, the county seat.

Named for the Cherokee Indians. As early as 1819, the Cherokee Indians from Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and the Carolinas drifted in large numbers into that Texas region between the Sabine and the Trinity, north of San Antonio. Mexico permitted them to settle. Great friction arose between them and the Texans. The Cherokee War of 1838 was the result. They were driven from Texas in 1839.

Denton—1846

Organized July 13, 1846; created April 11, 1846.

Built out of Fannin County and original municipality of Red River, Denton, the county seat.

Named for John B. Denton, who by appointment of the Methodist Conference of Missouri, was sent as a missionary to the territory on Red River near Clarksville, in the winter of 1836. In 1841, a big battle with the Indians was fought at a point on Village Creek, now in Tarrant County, between Dallas and Fort Worth. Denton was killed. In 1891, his body was reburied on the court house square in the city of Denton.

Wharton—1846

Organized July 13, 1846; created April 13, 1846.

Built out of Matagorda and Jackson Counties, and the original municipality of Colorado. Wharton, the county seat.

Named for two sons of an old Virginia family—William H. and John A. Wharton. They came to Texas in their most tragic days, and invested their very souls and bodies in her struggle for independence. They both rose to great prominence in the history of the Republic.

Angelina—1846

Organized July 13, 1846; created April 21, 1846.

Built out of the original municipality of Nacogdoches. Lufkin, the county seat.

Named for Angelina River. On the second visit of De Leon in 1690, he brought among others the parades who founded missions. From the ancient Hainai village there came an Indian maiden convert who became famous among the early Spanish settlers and mission builders. For her the river was named. The noted Mission Concepcion, near San Antonio, established in 1716, is clearly ly connected with her romantic history.

Newton—1846

Organized July 13, 1846; created April 25, 1846.

Built out of the original municipality of Jasper. Newton, the county seat.

Named for John Newton, of South Carolina, one of the outstanding heroes of the Revolutionary War.

Navarro—186

Organized July 13, 1846; created April 25, 1846.

Built out of Robertson County, and original municipality of Millam. Corsicana, the county seat.

Named after Juan Antonio Navarro, who was born in San Antonio, February 27, 1795—over 130 years ago. Texas never had a greater patriot. For that reason Santa Anna hated him beyond all measure. He was a member of the Convention that drafted the Constitution. His father was a native of Corsica—and thus the name of the county seat.

Cass—1846

Organized July 13, 1846; created April 25, 1846.

Built out of Bowie County and original municipality of Red River. Linden, the county seat.

Named for General Lewis Cass, who held high offices in the United States Government. When he was United States Senator, he strongly advocated the annexation of Texas. Died in Detroit, Michigan, 1868.

Upshur—1846

Organized July 13, 1846; created April 27, 1846.

Built out of Harrison County and original municipality of Nacogdoches. Gilmer, the county seat.

Named after Abel P. Upshur, a Virginian, famous as a Constitutional lawyer. He was Secretary of State under President Tyler. In 1843, he began negotiations for the annexation of Texas. Thus has Texas honored his memory. Killed in 1844 by the explosion of a gun on a steamer.

Henderson—1846

Organized July 13, 1846; created April 27, 1846.

Built out of Houston County and original municipality of Nacogdoches. Athens, the county seat.

Named for J. Pinckney Henderson, first Governor of the State of Texas, in 1846. In 1836, he brought a company of Mississippi volunteers to defend Texas. Foremost in the defense and official life of the Republic. He was elected United States Senator in 1857, but died in Washington before he could take his seat.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

ACHIEVEMENT
I may not have the strength to climb
The heights of glory or the skill
To weave a deathless song or rhyme,
But I can play the man, and will.

I cannot pass beyond my best,
Beyond my strength I cannot go,
But I can meet a simpler test—
I need not hate or malice show.

I can be friendly and be kind,
For that great gifts are not required.

To leave glad memories behind,
One does not have to be inspired.

I can without resentment face
The disappointments of the day
And add some little touch of grace
To mark the paths I loved to stray.

This privilege God gives us all,
From birth until our struggles end
Whether our tasks be great or small
To play the neighbor and the friend.

SPORT NEWS

FIRST CHOICE FOR BIG PRIZE FIGHT CHICAGO

By United News
SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 14.—Their business deal completely consummated, Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion and Floyd Fitzsimmons, eastern promoter, turned to pleasure Sunday.

The pair celebrated the posting of a half-million dollars to insure the Labor Day championship fight between Dempsey and Harry Wills by attending the horse races at the Tia Juana track near here.

"We sure mean business," chimed Dempsey and Fitzsimmons. "Everything is settled but the city where the bout will be held and the selection of a referee."

"Of course we will have to get a ticket seller, but we don't figure it will take much of a salesman to get rid of $3,000,000 worth of tickets to this fight. It will be the battle of the century."

The champion declared he had deposited half of the $500,000 to show the people he would fight. He signed over his "Barbara hotel" in Los Angeles as security for his bond. Fitzsimmons said he made up the remainder of the pot with money he has received from Chicago and South Bend capitalists.

According to agreement, Dempsey will fight on a percentage basis, taking about 40 per cent of the gate receipts.

The scrap will be staged in Chicago unless the Illinois boxing law falls at the polls. In event the law is defeated the bout will be held in Michigan City.

Dempsey and Fitzsimmons plan to stay here for several days. They are looking over a prospect live training camp for the champion. Jack would like to set up his training camp here but he is also considering a location near Denver and another in the east.

The promoter will leave for Chicago at the end of this week, he announced.

The race was over a course of a mile and an eighth. Caharis' time was 1:49 4-5, a new track record.

Caharis, a strong favorite won by eight lengths. He brought only one dollar on a two dollar pari mutel ticket.

More than 20,000 persons witnessed the race. Motion picture actresses and prominent society women from across the line exhibited the new spring styles. Green was the predominating shade.

Hoff Vs. Osborne At N. Y. Tuesday in Pole Vault Test

By United News
NEW YORK, March 14.—Two unique events in which the foremost all around athletes of the world are to compete will bring the indoor track and field season to a close this week.

At the Knights of Columbus games in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night, Charley Hoff, the versatile Norwegian, will attempt to make good his challenge to Harold Osborne's supremacy in a special seven event test. Emerson Norton, Georgetown's powerful all around ace, will be the third man in the competition.

For the postoffice clerks games at the 102 engineers armory on Saturday night, when the curtain will be rung down upon the 1925-26 season, De Hart Hubbard, leaving from a special take off will attempt to set the world's indoor broad jump record at 25 feet. The present indoor record is 23 feet 1-8 inches. Charley Hoff, Paul Courtois, the national pentathlon champion and Phil Delhanty, a metropolitan jumper will furnish the opposition to the negy.

It is also probable that Hoff will break the pole vault record twice more before leaving for the west. On next Saturday night, the occasion of his final appearance, it may be learned just how high the lithe, dark haired, laughing boy from Norway really can vault. Charley has broken his own world's record repeatedly since he came to the United States, his best height thus far being 13 feet 6-3-4 inches.

Missouri Valley Be Represented In Relay Games

AUSTIN, Texas, March 14.—Real competition from the Missouri Valley was assured for the Texas Relay Games, to be held here March 26, with the announcement from Bob Simpson, track coach of the University of Missouri, that his entire team will enter the relays. Missouri won the Missouri Valley championship hands down in 1925 and returns most of her strongest material for 1926. From 16 to 20 men will make the trip to Austin. Missouri is at that time on its way to meet California in a dual meet and has at last satisfactorily arranged to take in Texas on the same tour.

Langster, pole vaulter and broad jumper extraordinary, will be one of the feature attractions that the 1925 champions bring to Austin. Langster in February at the Kansas Indoor Meet vaulted 12 feet 9 inches, and his performance for the last year and a half in all meets he has entered has placed him in forefront of modern American vaulters. Langster regularly makes 24 feet in the broad jump.

In addition to Langster, another real attraction will be Doss Richardson. Richardson is a Texas boy, a graduate of Cleburne High School, and one of the most powerful of preaday shot putters.

Missouri is also expected to show strength in the dashes this spring and will bring its full strength on the Texas trip.

Professor Joseph Barcroft who remained a week in a glass chamber, while all the air was pumped out except the minimum necessary to sustain life, gained a Cambridge University post.

Governor Shows Mercy Unto Seven

AUSTIN, Texas, March 14.—One full and six conditional pardons were granted yesterday by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and she also revoked one furlough.

Ray Arnold of Lamar county, breaking and entering a railroad car, two years was given a full pardon.

Conditional pardons were granted Edward, Milan county, murder, five years; Strand Harris, Milan county, manufacturing liquor, one year; Grant Frierson, Milan county, violating liquor law, one year; M. N. Barber, Smith county, forgery, three years, and Fred Berringer, McLennan county burglary, twelve years.

Upon recommendation of the board of pardons the furlough granted in March 1925, to Joe File, El Paso county, burglary, seven years, was revoked. File had been furloughed a year ago, for the purpose of having his eyes treated. Immediately after his arrival at the hospital he escaped, thereby violating the terms of his furlough.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Austen Chamberlin, British foreign secretary told British correspondents "but there has been no resignations thus far."

The suggestion of resignations was taken up by Viscount Ishii, Japanese delegate, and urged as a possible solution of the difficulty.

The inevitable loss of its seat by one of the four nations provided such a course were followed, caused one of the leading delegates to characterize such an agreement as a "suicide pact."

The weakness of such a solution, as suggested at once, was that even if it were followed Germany might continue her refusal to sit opposite Poland at the council table and might ruin the plan.

Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany, who stated the three alternatives said that the second course suggested was that instead of the four nations resigning from the council it might be suggested that Belgium alone could sacrifice her seat for Poland. This course said to be agreed upon by Minister Wanderele of Belgium possesses the advantage that it would leave the balance of power within the league intact.

The final possibility of solution was said to be a suggestion that instead of the resignations a solution along the lines suggested by the Germans might be found. However, the statement by Premier Briand of France that "we have reached the point of discussions as to where a solution doubtful, and shifts the burden of further conciliation toward Germany."

New suggestions for solution notwithstanding, the league council dispute stood much the same Sunday night as it stood during the latter part of last week. The difficulty before the league was made clear in the assertion of Premier Briand that the German delegates must be "reconciled to sitting opposite Poland in the league council."

Poland's candidacy for a seat on the council and Germany's apparent determination that Poland should not have a seat, the entire argument continue to center.

German jurists continued to work on a formula whereby Germany after her entrance on the council, could serve on a commission the function of which would be a study of the claims of Poland. But while the jurists studied such a possible commission, the fact remained clear that the German delegates had not consented to inclusion in the specified instructions of such a commission the seating of Poland on the council.

Early Sunday the council meeting scheduled for 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon was cancelled and it became apparent that the next official action by the league itself on the dispute would come Tuesday when both the assembly and the council will meet.

The entire dispute will in all probability be taken before the assembly Tuesday unless the German delegation yields in its opposition to Poland in the meantime. If Luther and Stresemann have not yielded they will be forced to hear their policy which has been characterized one of obstruction, aired formally before the representatives of all nations having seats in the league assembly.

While the German delegates in public that they will welcome such a solution there is every indication to believe that they are seeking in every way possible to avoid it.

THE SECRET

of more tempting foods

Tests by Domestic Science teachers over all the country have revealed in Crisco unique advantages:

In deep frying, they noticed that Crisco put a rich brown on croquettes and doughnuts.

They noticed, too, that an egg fried in Crisco looked as delicately delicious as a poached egg—the white unscorched and the edges of the yolk set like a full moon in an ivory circle.

Their Crisco cake layers came out of the pans whole, without any ragged little breaks to mar their beauty. Their cakes, too, had a wonderfully even texture, and stayed moist and fresh for days.

And pie-crusts made with Crisco were rich-brown, inviting—short and flaky.

So it is not surprising that Florence Austin Chase, will use Crisco exclusively in the Cooking School to be conducted by the Avalanche this week. She will be glad to show you how you, too, can serve—with the aid of Crisco—crisp, digestible fried foods; flaky tender pastry; delicious, full-flavored cakes.

Crisco—for homes that want the best in cooking.

CAPITAL CITY DRYS ATTACK MELLON AS BEING RESPONSIBLE FOR POLITICAL CONTROL OF PROHIBITION FORCES

BY RAYMOND GLAPPER

United News Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, March 14.—Dry are meeting the complaint that prohibition has failed to stop drinking with a demand that the enforcement personnel be cleaned up and taken out of politics.

This attack is directed not only at the field agents but at Secretary of the Treasurer Mellon himself. For diplomatic reasons, the dry organization as such skirt around official mention of Mellon. But Senator McKellar, Tennessee, democrat, undertook to state the private feeling of some extreme drys when he declared in the senate that prohibition has been put in the hands of a man who was the half owner of one of the biggest distilleries in the land. This was the most vigorous attack on Mellon since Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania denounced him at a prohibition conference recently in Chicago.

Pinchot's current announcement as a dry republican contained for the United States senate probably will further emphasize this situation as the Mellon influence will be used against him in the primary fight.

Following up the direct criticism of Mellon, the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals issued a statement Sunday declaring "the most important consideration at the present time is the personnel of prohibition enforcement." Politics was held responsible for enforcement condition in Maryland, Delaware and Kentucky.

"It is impossible, for instance, to convince the dry people of Maryland and Delaware that real prohibition enforcement is intended in those states so long as Mr. Budnitz is retained in charge of prohibition enforcement," the Methodist board stated in criticizing certain field agents.

"This indicates to the people of that district that the political fortunes of Senator Water are held to be of greater importance than prohibition enforcement." Kentucky conditions also were assailed.

"The people of Kentucky can hardly be convinced in the face of an increasingly bad situation that the government is serious in its effort so long as Mr. Mays, appointed solely for political reasons and maintaining a prohibition office, which can hardly be called anything other than a political machine headquarters, remains in power."

Conditions in Washington have been disappointing, the board stated, citing the recent arrest of a driver for the prohibition unit on a charge of driving while drunk.

"In every district where a man not in sympathy with prohibition is in charge of prohibition enforcement, a bad situation has been developed while in such a difficult district as Chicago, with the dry Yelowsky in charge there is every evidence of energetic effort and success. The churches should demand that everywhere the interest of prohibition be considered rather than the interest of the wet politicians."

Some hope was seen in the flying alcohol squad which has materially reduced the flow of industrial alcohol into bootleg rings in New York and Philadelphia. Recent regulations have been productive of results, the board said.

Congress still has many hours of prohibition talk in its system. Bruce, Maryland wet democrat, expects to speak Monday.

Representative Upshaw, Georgia, dry democrat, was cut off from speaking Saturday night and probably will make some heated observations this week. There is no end in sight.

TACNA ARICA VOTE DELAYED; CHILE MAY PROTEST

ARICA, March 14.—Registration of voters for the Tacna-Arica plebiscite as arranged under the arbitral award of President Coolidge, has been officially postponed from Mar. 15 to 27.

A communique from the plebiscitary commission which met Sunday under the chairmanship of General Wm. Lassiter stated that the postponement of registration has been made to give every opportunity for reconciliation of opposing Chilean and Peruvian viewpoints.

Claims of the Peruvian delegation for additional guarantees for protection of voters as outlined under the so-called eleven points of General Pershing when he was chairman of the commission caused the postponement. Those who have followed the work of the plebiscitary commission most closely claim that the postponement is in reality another delay in the inevitable crisis which must come between the rival Chilean and Peruvian delegations.

Jacques Bernier was stabbed to death by a hatpin in the hands of a young woman he had insulted on the street at Toul, France.

REAR ADMIRAL IS DEFENDER OF BUTLER

By United News.
SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 14.—Granting General Smedley D. Butler's friends the final word, defenders of Colonel Alexander Williams brought about a temporary peace here Sunday.

The action that has threatened the general with ostracism from social functions and ridiculed him for demanding the court-martial of Colonel Williams, failed to answer the statement of Rear Admiral Ashley Robertson, which upheld the marine base commandant's action.

Rear Admiral Robertson, commanding officer of the eleventh naval district and Butler's immediate superior, declared the leader of the local "devil dogs" was forced to act as he did.

"His duty was plain, unfortunate as it seemed," Robertson declared. "The gossip going around that Butler had failed to live up to his reputation as an officer of the law left nothing for him to do but report the matter to me and I advised that he recommend a court-martial."

Meanwhile, with the battle of words ended temporarily, San Diegans are anxiously awaiting the decision of Major General John A. Lejeune, marine corp commandant at Washington, regarding the court-martial. The decision is expected early this week and it is anticipated that the colonel will be court-martialed for drunkenness and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

"Very few believe he will be convicted, however. The absence of a physician's affidavit concerning the extent of his intoxication will free the colonel, his friends contend."

General Butler is still confined to the naval hospital here. He is having several teeth extracted. Colonel Williams is under technical arrest at his home.

WILL DEMAND COST BILL ON WHEELER TRIAL

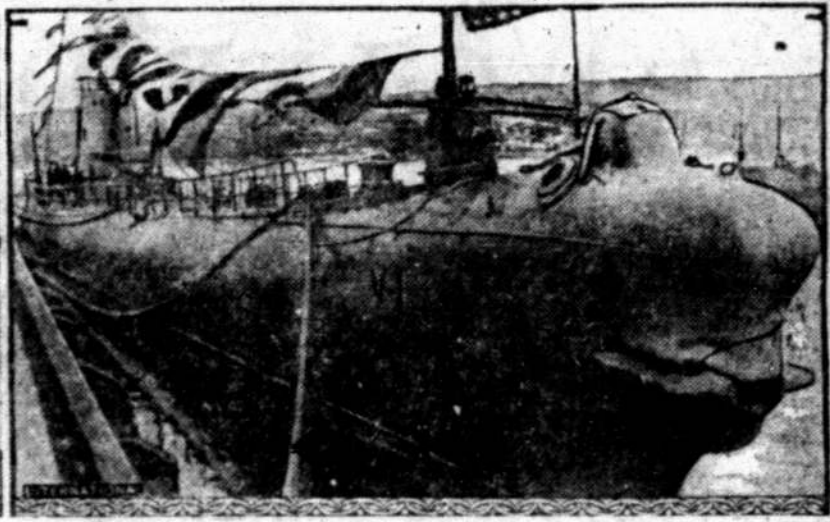

WASHINGTON, March 14.—A demand that the department of justice tell the senate just how much money it spent in fruitless prosecution of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, democrat, Montana, will be introduced in the senate Monday by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, his colleague, who acted as his counsel in the Montana and Washington trials.

The demand will be in the form of a resolution which will also ask the justice department if it had instituted perjury proceedings against the star witness, George B. Hayes, a New York attorney.

Wheeler, whose activities as a senate investigator resulted in the resignation of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty was indicted in Great Falls, Montana, and legally used his office to get favors from the interior department for Gordon Campbell, a Montana oil operator, whom himself was charged with shady dealings.

A jury in Montana acquitted Wheeler who contended that the pro-

Hayes was the star government witness at the Great Falls trial testifying that Wheeler met him in a New York hotel and tried to arrange to have him handle Campbell's affair before the interior department and split big fees which according to Hayes, Wheeler said "would run into millions."

THIS BOOTLEGGER IS HIGH-CLASS OR NOTHING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 14.—Say anything you please against Edward Conrad, throw him in jail, put a padlock on his cellar and pour his liquor into the gutter. But don't accuse him of handling anything but good stuff.

The assistant prosecutor in charge of liquor cases in Kansas City made that mistake shortly after Conrad had been arrested.

Questioning him he queried.

"You admit selling corn whiskey, don't you?"

"No sir, I do not," Conrad bristled. "I'll admit bootlegging, but I don't sell anything but the best stuff ask some of the best people in town. You insult me. I sell the best stuff, at $7 a pint."

The prosecutor apologized and Conrad, satisfied, went to a cell.

Ships in Distress on Stormy Atlantic

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—Coast guard advices last night brought word that the crippled pleasure yacht Cutty Sark, owned by Alexander Smith of New York had been towed by the cutter Mascowin into Hampton Roads this afternoon.

At the same time from out the storm torn Atlantic came a message that the steamer J. K. Mitchell, Mobile to Porto Rico had put water aboard after the crew for three days had had only a little fruit juice to drink.

The water had been "lost in a blow," said an intercepted message, which the Radio Corporation transmitted to headquarters.

A third mishap of the seas was met by the British freighter Tafna which with fire in her hold, was dragged into Baltimore harbor this afternoon by fire boats. The flames were still smoldering. A Norfolk message tonight claimed that the Mascowin had been unable in the Sark but had picked up the yacht Michabo owned by S. L. Carlisle, New York with nine aboard.

NOT DEAD, BUT ROBBED

By United News.

No pauper's grave will be the fate of any resident of the town of Milton, Massachusetts. The town has a beautiful cemetery in which any citizen may have a lot for the asking.

QUAKER BOSS TOSSES ALCOHOLIC HAT IN RING

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—Representative William S. Vare, republican boss of Philadelphia, lived up to political expectations Sunday and swished a hat oozing with moisture into the Pennsylvania senatorial fight.

Vare's announcement of his candidacy for the republican nomination makes the race three cornered as Senator Pepper is a candidate for re-election and Governor Gifford Pinchot had entered the contest Saturday.

Pennsylvania becomes the second major state where prohibition will be a leading issue this fall, and because of the expected administration support of Pepper, makes Pennsylvania temporarily the center of republican interest in the country.

Illinois, with George E. Brennan, Governor Al Smith's friend, certain to be the democratic senatorial nominee, was the first state to inject the wet and dry question prominently into the race for the senate, as Brennan is dripping wet.

Political observers are united in declaring that the situation here and in Illinois is certain to occupy foremost attention in the senatorial fights next fall unless Governor Al Smith decides to oppose Senator James E. Wadsworth for re-election in New York.

Vare announced his candidacy Sunday by declaring that he was the only wet hope in a three cornered race. As did Pinchot Saturday, the republican boss emphasized allegiance to President and to the republican stand for a strong protective tariff.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 14.—J. D. Thomas, a negro sent to the penitentiary for stealing chickens, has written an indignant protest to the governor of Oklahoma. I was double crossed, he maintains. NEW YORK, March 14. Yesterday's developments in the stock market at the end of the week were somewhat confusing in general but one very definite fact was developed in regard to the recent buyers and this concerned their hopes for ultimately higher prices. Apparently the main basis of the recent buying movement was the belief that the market had been oversold and that stocks could be bought and resold to covering shorts.

This belief was accentuated during the last hour of Saturday's abbreviated trading session when practically all stocks, especially those which have been in the van of the reopening movement, were sold very freely. The close found the commercial averages for the rails off 1.89 points with Pere Marquette, Delaware and Hudson and other recent leaders sustained the greater part of the loss. Industrials were down 1.64 on the average and here to the recent rallying points were called upon to absorb the greater amount of profit taking. Average price of 50 miscellaneous stocks including industrials, rails, utilities, motors and specialties was 98.70, off 1.76 from Friday's closing basis. There was nothing in the day's news to cause this sudden shift in the market's temperament and tempo. Geneva might have been a worrisome factor if one could conceive of a stock market reflecting anything so important without stimulus from the existing markets. The latter offers one of the most sensitive and significant barometers of any of the financial fields. Possibilities and potentialities of the world movement which even the exact details are not known generally here can be measured to a fair breadth medium of foreign exchanges, therefore the quiet dormancy of the principal exchanges in the face of the Geneva crisis is reassuring to those in the stock markets who allowed their thoughts to stray beneath the surf indicated their reflections on the ticker tape. This waiting attitude on the part of sterling, francs, etc., might be described as hopeful rather than indicative. It is inconceivable that the leaders handling the destiny of the League of Nations will not be able to find some way out of the German, Swedish, Brazilian, Spanish embroglio. New trade and political alliances may be formed as a result of this panming of national politics in the formerly peaceful Swiss city. Pending more definite indication along this line the exchanges are quiescent. To some extent the proximity of income tax day may have had something to do with the selling mood in which the market found itself. With the gradual scaling down in tax rates, there is no longer the annual necessity to sell stocks to raise the funds needed to pay off the government. Nevertheless the actual payment will make a considerable factor in the money markets.

Banks naturally held funds in anticipation of the drain occasioned by the one day demand for funds. Just how far the events of the past week can be accepted as the basis for calculations on the immediate future of the market is open to question. Ordinarily the strong demand which became evident in the market after the previous week's sharp break would be fair evidence of an actual demand for stocks at fair prices. Many well seasoned stocks were selling on a basis which would justify the entrance of investment funds.

COLONIZATION OF TEXAS WELL TOLD IN "LIFE OF STEPHEN F. AUSTIN", WRITTEN BY DR. EUGENE BARKER

AUSTIN, March 14.—Dr. Eugene C. Barker's "Life of Stephen F. Austin" is regarded as the most notable contribution to Texas history that has been made, and the exhaustive investigation made by Barker into the activities of Austin places him along with Penn, Baltimore, and other early colonizers. Dr. L. W. Payne, Jr., professor of English in the University of Texas, who has made a careful study of the book says:

The aim of the biography is to present the man and his work in the facts as they are presented and allowed to speak for themselves. There is none of the fulsome adulation which we are ordinarily subjected to when we take up the life of a national hero. There is no verbal display, no high flown, rhetoric, no spread eagle glorification, no soap box oratory. Everywhere we encounter facts, and official papers, and private letters, and authoritative pronouncements, and each fact is amply substantiated with documentation. The footnotes indicate that no statement is made on mere hearsay or guess work. Every item is firmly established by accurate references to available authentic sources, and thus a feeling of assured confidence and entire satisfaction is established in the mind of the reader from the very first page.

Not is this a history and biography of a single state and of a merely local hero. The later problems of the nation, national and international in scope and significance, the only one of the columns indicates that the author in the West, and Barker's work is a contribution to the history of the United States. Barker's work is a contribution to the history of the United States. Barker's work is a contribution to the history of the United States.

As come to be of great interest and importance in the study of the general westward movement of Anglo-American civilization.

Of the author of the book, who is professor of American history in the University, Dr. Payne declares:

"There is no man living better equipped by training, knowledge, temperament, and circumstances to write a definitive history of the life and times of Austin than is Professor Barker. A sound scholar, and indefatigable investigator, a natural historian, a scrupulously honest and forthright character and though a plain, blunt man with a thoroughly lovable one; he is the one living person preeminently fitted to write the history of the colonial period in Texas and to interpret the character and the significance of Stephen F. Austin, the Father of Texas. Moreover Professor Barker's acknowledged rank as the leading authority in American on the history of Texas and the Southwest makes his findings and conclusions acceptable without question by the scholars of the world."

DENIES LADY CATHART DROVE HIM TO QUIT

NEW YORK, March 14.—Denial that his resignation as immigration commissioner of Ellis Island had been influenced by the Countess Cathart "moral turpitude" controversy was made today by Henry H. Curran, who will leave over the post on March 15, to return to his post in Cuba, and he reached his destination by the steamer, and he reached his destination by the steamer, and he reached his destination by the steamer.

Says T. B. M. Likes Chorus Girls To Wear Some Clothes

PARIS, March 14.—Chorus girls partly dressed but not nude are most popular with the men in American audience, according to Mlle Mistinguett, famous as the first lady with the "million dollar legs."

"The day is coming," said Mlle Mistinguett now a producer and music hall director, "when the theater will purge itself of nudity."

"The American man is a hard theater patron to please," she continued, "he is uncomfortable in a theater when a chorus is entirely undressed. He sleeps if the chorus averages over 25 years."

"But turn loose on the stage a job of bobbed haired girls under 20, dressed to reveal rather than to cover, and the American will come back to your theater every night he is in Paris."

Mistinguett applied her theory to her most recent revue at the Moulin Rouge, and its success seems to bear out her contentions. There is far less nudity in this revue than in other productions in Paris recently. Realizing that her audience would be chiefly Americans, Mlle Mistinguett planned the revue to appeal to the eye rather than the ear. Her stage settings are the richest in Paris.

She has been a success both as a producer and a star with her "million dollar legs," she has learned English for this show, and is quite proud of her accomplishment. She is busy every day for not only does she watch for the slightest error by a member of her cast, but she directs 100 milliners, and continues to freshen the revue and set of more attractive for every of her hundred changes.

PRESIDENT RELUCTANT TO VISIT SICK DAD

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—President and Mrs. Coolidge spent Sunday night aboard the presidential yacht, Mayflower, but were kept advised by radio of the condition of Colonel John C. Coolidge, the president's father. The president cruised down the Potomac Saturday, Sunday night the yacht anchored off Haines Point near Washington so that the president could come ashore within a short time if summoned.

The president is reluctant to go to Vermont for any extended stay because it is mid-winter there and the meager accommodations would cause hardship to the large entourage which the president is compelled to take with him when ever he travels.

COMMISSIONERS GRANT TWO PUBLIC ROADS

TAHOCA, March 14.—The commissioners' court in session last week granted two road petitions, one asking for a public road seven miles long in the southeast portion of the county, and one asking for a road almost six miles long in the northwest portion of the county. The first road mentioned is to begin at the northeast corner of Survey No. 474 about eight miles southeast of Tahoka, and extend due south seven miles to intersect with another public road at that point. The other road begins at the county line of Lynn and Lubbock Counties, four miles east of the northwest corner of the county, and thence extends due south to the intersection of the public road which intersects an existing public road. This road passes through the Butler Ranch lands, which were recently sold out in small tracts to homeseekers.

MEMORABLE INDIAN BUFFALO HUNT OF 50 YEARS AGO DESCRIBED

GLACIER PARK, Mont., Mar. 14.—Dr. George Bird Grinnell, of New York, after whom the Indians named Grinnell Glacier in Glacier National Park, is one of a few white men still living who actually hunted buffalo with American Indians. On a recent visit to Glacier Park, Dr. Grinnell found there are only about half a dozen of the older Indians left who hunted with him 50 years ago.

"The Indians in those days made two buffalo hunts a year and it was one of their fall hunts when they went forth for winter supplies that I accompanied a large band of Black feet," said Dr. Grinnell. "There were 800 braves in the party, riding over the prairie of the west Medicine in a wide line. The women followed with pack horses and tepees. Except for rifles carried by three white men, there were no weapons other than bows and arrows.

"We presently topped a rise and sighted a large herd of buffalo whereupon the hunters threw the ends of their line forward and engaged in a circling movement which enveloped the herd. The hunters then free to attack singly and within an hour they had killed approximately 1,000 buffalo. Soon afterward the women came up and the party went into camp to skin the buffalo and smoke the meat. Unlike the white man, the Indians consumed the buffalo for his own use. He made clothes and shelter of the skins, and buffalo meat was his principal food."

INVITES ATTENDANCE AT U. T. SUMMER SCHOOL

AUSTIN, Texas, March 14.—Dr. Frederick Eby, director of the University of Texas summer school, has sent a card of greetings to all who might be interested in the coming summer session. He says: "The University plans, with all departments, libraries, laboratories, museums, etc., will carry on as usual during the summer months. Ample funds have been provided. An unusually strong faculty has been employed numbering more than 200, more than forty of whom are distinguished members of the faculties of other colleges and universities. An enrollment of 3,500 to 4,000 is expected, more than 200 of whom will be graduate students. The newly organized Graduate School will give to research and advance students much more attention than has hitherto been possible. Public lectures and concerts are scheduled for every week of the session."

The first term of the summer session is to start June 9 and will close on July 21. The second term will last from July 21 to August 31.

MAIN STREET BEING GRADED AT LORENZO

LORENZO, March 14.—Workmen have been busy grading Main street and opening up the drainage ditches, getting ready for the spring rains that will come a little later. Grading up the streets is a continual expense that has to be done over and over every few months if they are to be kept in shape for the public to travel upon. The only way to eliminate this expense is to pave all principle streets of the city. Lorenzo should pave its streets and take its place among more progressive towns on the South Plains.

It is hard to please the general public in the matter of grading streets in a town the size of Lorenzo. Every man wants the street graded in front of his property. It costs money to have streets graded. The most important streets are graded first and then the more or less important streets are graded. It is a slow process and this work can only be done as money accumulates in the street and alley fund of the city treasury. All the money collected can not be spent on the streets.

It is divided up into several departments and each department has its part in carrying on the city government. All of our streets will eventually be graded and properly drained. Our mayor and city councilmen are censured for not doing this and that just a few private citizens think it should be done. This is the wrong attitude to take in the matter. We elected these men to carry on the work of the city using their best judgment when or where this or that piece of work should be done. They are all men of sound judgment and have been very successful with their own affairs and we have the utmost confidence in these gentlemen that our city affairs will be carried on in a business like manner. We are strong for our present city officers.

SCHOOL CENSUS IS TAKEN IN TAHOKA

TAHOKA, March 14.—At a meeting of the school board done night last week J. S. Weatherford was selected as census trustee, an dbe is busy this week taking the scholastic census of the Tahoka Independent taken during the month of March School District. This census must and it is highly important that every scholastic in the district be enumerated, since the state funds are apportioned according to the number of scholastics. Each child this year drew $14.00 from the state, and the apportionment will no doubt be fully this large and possibly larger for the next school year. The omission of any scholastic from the census rolls means the loss of at least $14.00 to the district. If you know of any child in any community visited by the enumerator who has been missed, please report the same to Mr. Weatherford and he will be glad to add its name to the list.

SPECIAL CENSUS TO BE TAKEN OF BROWNFIELD

BROWNFIELD, Mar. 14.—Since the census of 1920, the city of Brownfield has grown at such a rapid rate that it has not been possible to give an accurate estimate of the population and being desirous of knowing the exact number of people residing within the corporate limits, the Chamber of Commerce has employed a special census taker and within the next few weeks will be able to furnish accurate information along this line.

Chinese Hospital Closed by Boycott

CANTON, March 14.—The Canton hospital has been forced to close by a boycott on the part of Chinese. Pickets have shut off the water and lights and have prevented food supplies reaching the institution during the last three days. The boycott resulted from the refusal of the hospital administration to submit to government control. All of the patients in the hospital were Chinese. They have been transferred to other institutions.

verily, I say unto you, the servant is not greater than his lord; neither he that is sent than he that sent him. The washing of ones feet was a menial task, a service emblematic of humility, but in that day it was customary and necessary and Jesus gave His disciples that symbol to show them that true greatness is in humble service to other.

Society as well as the church needs to learn this lesson of service and humility. False standards have been erected, so that men and women are not given credit for what they are and do, but for what they have. Despite the traditional democracy of America, there are classes into which the people are arbitrarily separated, so that snobbery flourishes and false pride is gratified. Every man or woman is worthy who performs worthily the task in hand; and every vocation is worthy which serves mankind and honors God. The possession of riches is not a mark of nobility, nor is the lack of riches a mark of ignominy. It frequently requires more of the people are arbitrarily separated, so that snobbery flourishes and false pride is gratified. THE informality of the St. Patrick's day party will permit the game suggestions given below to be played in a group of people of any age.

There is no person who will admit to years enough to excuse him from the potato rolling relay race, where two sides are formed, and with a teaspoon a potato is rolled the length of a room and back again to the next person in line who continues the race until one side has won. A somewhat similar contest between two men where a potato is rolled by pushing it along the floor with the nose is not recommended for every group, but it is certainly amusing if two volunteers can be obtained to try it.

A potato peeling race as similar to the apple peeling contest of high school time. The person who removes the skin first without breaking it wins the race. A recipe is given for a cake which can be baked in a sheet, cut into squares and fed with the green frosting.

Children always enjoy the following adaptation of an old game. Someone at the piano plays snatches of familiar airs for everyone to guess. But when the "Wearin' of the Green" is played, as it is at intervals, no one must call out the name—there should be complete silence. Anyone who answers is out of the game and must go and sit in a corner.

To find partners for lunch, match divided sections of familiar Irish quotations, part being written on one piece of paper the remainder on another. Among the short quotations which can be used are: The Harp that—Once thru Tara's Halls

The Bells — of Shannon
They're hangin' — Men and women
The Wearing — of the Green
Mother — Macbride
The Lakes — of Killarney

For table favors, pigs can be made of fat little green pickles with toothpick legs and tall, clove eyes and nose, and a slit mouth. These will prove useful as well as ornamental, for they can be eaten with the sandwiches which are made of white bread decorated with green peppers cut into shamrock shapes.

Genoise Cake
3 cup flour
6 tablespoons sugar
6 tablespoons melted Crisco

2 teaspoon baking powder
2 teaspoon almond extract
4 teaspoon salt

Break eggs into bowl, add sugar and beat for ten minutes over a pan of boiling water. Remove from water and beat until mixture is thick and cold. Remove beater, sift in flour, salt and baking powder; mix carefully, add melted Crisco and almond extract. Turn at once into square, greased and papered tin. Bake in a moderate oven 350° F. 20 minutes. Turn out and remove paper. Cool and cut into square pieces. Cover with the following icing:

2 cups confectioner's sugar
2 tablespoons Crisco
3 tablespoons milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon almond or vanilla extract

Cream Crisco with salt and part of sugar. Add milk, flavoring and rest of sugar. Mix. Add sufficient green coloring to tint a delicate shade.

U. S. GOVERNMENT SURVEY SHOWS RAPID DEVELOPMENT INSTALLMENT SELLING PLAN REACHES HIGH PEAK

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The rapid growth of installment selling which has now reached a peak of $5,000,000,000 annually, is reflected in a preliminary survey made by the Department of Domestic Distribution of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the results of which were announced today.

The Department estimates that 17 per cent of the entire amount of consumer goods sold at retail are disposed of in this manner and the trend is still upward. It finds, however, that information concerning extent and character of the practice is too meager to justify a conclusion as to whether it is an economic menace or a legitimate credit development.

The Farmer's Loan and Trust Co., estimates that $3,293,411,878 worth of automobiles, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, phonographs, furniture, pianos, jewelry and radio apparatus are sold on the installment plan. The General Motors Acceptance Corporation's operations for its seven years of existence totalled $509,250,454, with a loss ratio for 1925 .012 per cent.

It is found that "outside of the trades in which it is an established practice installment selling shows an increase in the clothing and radio trades and that in others, hardware and paints and varnish, its introduction has been strongly resisted.

"Where such large sums are involved as the credits represented by $5,000,000,000 annually," says the report of the Domestic Distribution Department, "it was inevitable that some form of financial aid would be evolved and it is found now in the organization of large numbers of so-called finance companies or commercial credit companies which were organized first as an outgrowth of the immense increase in the production of automobile. At a meeting in December, 1924, three hundred companies representing 90 per cent of all automobile financing, were organized as the National Association of Finance Companies."

No accurate statistics as to the number of such companies are available because the increase has been too rapid. Many are purely local or are used only in the sale of one particular device, and they appear and disappear with great frequency.

The report continues:— It is asserted further, that the credit companies perform a service for the banks in the supervision and collection of small sums which, heretofore, there has been no means of discounting in the United States, although for example, in France it is possible to negotiate loans on accounts even so small as one dollar.

FRONTIER TRAGEDY REVEALED WHEN BOY FINDS SKELETON

PORTLAND, Ore., March 14.—Mute evidence that at least one Oregon pioneer "died with his boots on" has been "uncovered here with the discovery of a human skeleton, crouched in a shack near the McKenzie River Highway.

A Winchester rifle of the type used in 1870 was grasped in the boy's hands. The belt was drawn as though he had ejected a shell just before being shot down by an enemy.

In the ancient stable nearby, was found the skeleton of a horse, evidently the mount of the man. It, too, died in action, for the iron bit was between its teeth. The rope, tying it to the manger was still in place indicating that the animal had starved to death.

The discovery was made by William Harder, 12, boy scout, who became curious about the old buildings while on a camping trip on the McKenzie River. He reported his find to J. Neilson Barry of the Trail Seekers.

Barry is conducting an investigation to ascertain who the man was. He reports that settlers of that district thought the place haunted which explains why the skeleton remained undiscovered for many years.

Mrs. T. H. Nixon of Chicago, claimed insurance on her canary, lost in a fire, on the grounds that her policy covered all her musical instruments.
