Air Activities Resumed; Front In Italy Quiet

Fleets Of Bombers Crack Objectives Over Wide Area

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 17—U. S. heavy and medium bombers in a double-ply blow ripped up two Nazi airfields near Marseille yesterday, and other bomber fleets cracked again at German objectives in Greece and Yugoslavia, it was announced today.

On the Italian land front, mud, rain and snow bogged activities, but American troops in one brisk

DAMAGE HEAVY IN RAID

LONDON, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—Aerial photographs indicate "heavy damage" to the Rjukanos power station and Knaben molybdenum mines in the raid on Norway yesterday by American Flying Fortresses and Liberators, United States Army headquarters announced today.

patrol action regained some high ground on Monte Santa Croce north of Venafro which they had lost Monday.

Knock Down 12 Fighters

American Flying Fortresses knocked down 12 out of 25 to 30 defending German fighters over the air base at Istres le Tube near Marseille, where the Nazis have concentrated bombers against Allied Mediterreanean shipping. Many grounded bombers were left in flames, and large fires and explosions sowed over the field.

The Fortresses hit Istres le Tube shortly after noon. Fifteen minutes later, U. S. B-26 Marauders escorted by P-38 Lightnings began showering bombs on the nearby airfield at Salon. They downed one German fighter, hit grounded aircraft and possibly an ammunition dump.

Athens Airfield Hit

Hundreds of miles to the east, other medium bombers from Italian bases again battered the Elevsis airfield at Athens, starting 10 fires. Another force of mediums attacked Sibenik harbor in Yugoslavia while fighter-bombers hammered a 300-foot vessel near Ancona, Italy, and a smaller ship near Grottammare.

For the third consecutive day, the Italian front line remained virtually unchanged, rounding out a week in which Allied gains have

Losses Of U. S. Planes Slight

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 17. (AP)—U. S. Flying Fortresses in their first year of operations in the North African theater destroyed or damaged 1,348 enemy planes, and dropped 26,101 tons of bombs on enemy targets in Tunisia, Libya, Sicily, Sardinia, Pantelleria, Italy, France, Germany and Greece.

An official announcement today said that 87 Fortresses were lost from all causes, and that the losses amounted to only 67/100ths of one per cent of total sorties.

June 10 Biggest Day

The big planes, operating under command of Brig.-Gen. J. H. Atkinson of Dalhart, Tex., were credited with shooting down 775 enemy planes, probably destroying 294, and damaging 279 more since they made their first bombing raid from a North African base Nov. 16, 1942.

Statistics compiled by Lt. Herman W. Bandel, Portage, Mont., statistical officer at bomber headquarters, disclosed that one veteran Fortress group in 117 missions had flown a total mileage equivalent to 65 trips around the world.

The Fortresses had their biggest day June 10 when they unloaded 673 tons of bombs on Pantelleria island. The heaviest single raid was on Rome's railway yards when 436 tons of bombs were dropped.

Regional REA Meet Set Here Tuesday

Annual meeting of directors and managers of rural electric cooperatives from a four-state region will be held here Tuesday in Lubbock hotel beginning at 10 o'clock a. m., it was announced today.

States to be represented are New Mexico, Arizona, California and Texas.

Earl D. H. Farrow, Itasca, Tex., director of the four-state region of the National Rural Electric association, will preside.

Among speakers to address the conclave are Ed Gossett, congressman from Texas' 13th district, Clyde T. Ellis, national executive manager, Vincent Nicholson, deputy administrator of the Rural Electrification administration and Guy Thaxton, another offical of the REA.

Proposed War Ballot Is Hit

Substitute Plan Pushed By Critics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Congressional critics of a proposed federal war ballot tried to scrap it today and substitute a ballot-by-mail plan which would permit men and women in the armed services to cast next year's general election votes in their home counties.

The presidential and congressional war ballot — recently approved by the Senate elections committee — would be sent to service people all over the world under the supervision of the Army, the Navy and a bi-partisan election commission.

Party Voting Plan Hit

It was a provision for straight party voting on the war ballot which aroused the plan's House critics. They contend it would work against independent party candidates and would violate some state laws which forbid party labels on ballots.

The House elections committee, meeting in closed session today, considered a compromise plan which would eliminate the war ballot and replace it with service-distributed voting applications. Service men and women would be given cards through which they could ask for a ballot from their home county. It would be voted as any absentee ballot and would contain full tickets from presidential candidates through local office aspirants.

Guerrillas Launch Counter Offensive

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP) — The guerrilla forces of Gen. Josip Broz (Tito) have begun a counter offensive against German troops in some sections of Slovenia. A communique of the partisans said today they had broken up a Nazi drive that began Oct. 12 in that part of Yugoslavia.

The broadcast announcement asserted that six German divisions, perhaps more than 60,000 troops—had been in action against the Yugoslavs and that the guerrillas had inflicted many casualties during the sporadic fighting.

In addition, the Cairo radio broadcast a report that heavy demolitions set off by guerrillas had made Trieste and Fiume unusable by the Germans.

Tito claimed other successes, notably the liberation of the town of Nevesinje and villages of Zimlje and Visin in Hercegovina, but admitted that the Germans likewise had scored victories.

Dawson County Will Receive Farm Award

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 17 (AP)—In recognition of outstanding achievement of the combined efforts of farm and ranch families, special awards will be made to Cherokee, Mason, Dawson, Coryell and Wilbarger counties, B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas USDA war board, said today.

An "A" banner, similar to the Army-Navy "E" pennant given industrial plants for exceptional efficiency, will be awarded probably in December, by the War Food administration to these counties for outstanding agricultural achievement during 1943.

Subsidies Also Compared With 'Shot Of Opium'

FDR's Comparison On Inflation Is Given Parallel

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON Nov. 17 — Recalling President Roosevelt's recent message to Congress comparing a little inflation to the first shot of opium, South Dakota's secretary of agriculture, E. H. Everson, said today the same could be true of food subsidies.

Everson, former president of the National Farmers union, argued before the Senate agriculture committee that the $800,000,000 federal subsidy program to control and roll back food prices was the "principal source" of excess consumer purchasing power.

INFLATION THREAT DENIED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — Sen. Elmer Thomas, (D-Okla.), asserting that prices generally are only 2.5 points above the normal index, denied administration contentions today that the country faces a threat of runaway inflation.

"In asking for a continuance and broadening of subsidies is not the President asking Congress for more opium?" Everson asked. "Has he not already been given too many such shots?"

Farmers Opposition Cited

In response to questions by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), Everson expressed the view that farmers are almost universally opposed to subsidy payments by the government.

Everson said the President's hold-the-line order against inflation was being broken "in the defense plants" rather than on the food front.

Everson, a Republican, was one of two state agriculture department heads testifying on the third day of the Senate committee's hearings, which have produced an unbroken flow of anti-subsidy testimony from spokesmen for food and livestock industries and farm organizations.

Outnumbered and outmaneuvered, supporters of the administration's food subsidy program conceded privately today that they are licked in the House, but counted on mustering sufficient strength to sustain an anticipated veto.

The already hot argument over the price rollback method of combatting inflation will boil to an even higher pitch when the House begins two days of general debate tomorrow on a double-barreled bill to extend the life of the Commodity Credit corporation and to outlaw consumer subsidies.

Opposed to the subsidy program and determined to permit prices of agriculture products to rise to what they term "their natural level at the market place" were nearly all of the Republicans plus a substantial bloc of Democratic

Three Changes Made On Yount's Staff

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17 (AP) — Three changes in key personnel on Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount's staff were announced today by AAF Training command headquarters.

Col. Donald B. Smith, until recently commanding officer of Seymour Johnson field, Goldsboro, North Carolina, has been appointed acting deputy chief of staff for technical training, replacing Col. John P. McConnell who left Fort Worth last week for a new assignment.

Col. Philip P. Doddridge, formerly on the staff of Maj. Gen. Thomas J. Hanley, commanding general of the Eastern Flying Training command with headquarters at Maxwell Field, Ala., was appointed as adjutant general. His predecessor, Col. J. Huntington Hills, has reported to the adjutant general, War department, Washington, D. C.

Climax Is Near In Drive For Rabaul

Japs May Evacuate Key Base As "Too Hot To Handle", Naval Spokesman Suggests

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—A climax in the campaign for Rabaul, once powerful Japanese base in the South Pacific, appeared near today—dangerously near for the enemy.

This was emphasized by a naval spokesman who told of mounting damage to Japanese ships and planes in the Rabaul area, and asserted:

"The Japanese have suffered enough damage to important fleet units to give them cause for serious consideration of abandoning the base as too hot to handle."

Jap Units Battered

His statement, made after he reported the destruction of 102 enemy planes in the last six days, and the battering of surface units in the Rabaul area, tied in closely with a previous assertion by Secretary of the Navy Knox that there is a possibility the Japanese might in time evacuate Rabaul.

For weeks Allied bombers have hammered incessantly at the enemy stronghold on New Britain island northwest of the Solomons.

Many Ships Sunk

They have sent ship after ship to the bottom of the vast harbor, and some of those wrecks undoubtedly are hampering the movement of enemy reinforcements and supplies.

Ranging far to the north, other planes have battered convoys moving toward Rabaul, sinking ships loaded with men and supplies, even roaring out to blast homeward bound convoys that had evaded the Allied blockade.

Japanese positions ashore, too, have felt the blast of American bombs, and many buildings and emplacements presumably have been leveled.

Lebanon Crisis Solution Seen

CAIRO, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — Gen. Georges Catroux, armed with full powers from the French Committee of National liberation, was reported making progress today today toward settlement of the Lebanese crisis.

Reliable reports from Beirut said 121 Lebanese were killed or wounded by the French in the first five days of disturbances, but an armed truce now was in force pending the outcome of Catroux's conferences with Lebanese and local French authorities.

No details were available on Catroux's progress toward a solution of the crisis. However, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, president of the French committee, told the consultative assembly at Algiers the incident was "on the way to being settled."

Freeing Of Leaders Demanded

Lebanese leaders were known to be demanding the immediate liberation and restoration to power of President Beshara El-Khoury, Premier Riad Sohl and other cabinet members imprisoned by the French following their abortive bid for Lebanese independence. France has a Legaue of Nations mandate over Lebanon.

Leaders of the Lebanese guerrilla army told Sam Souki, United Press staff correspondent who visited them at their secret headquarters, they were prepared to wage war against the French if the imprisoned officials were not released.

Fugitive Bobby May Captured In Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — The jail-breaking partnership of Bobby May and Arlice Huffman appeared to be on the rocks today with the apprehension of the 21-year-old May, the second of the duo of Montgomery county fugitives to be captured in Houston.

Huffman, 20, was apprehended last Friday and charged that May had taken $37 from him after they fled the jail at Conroe, their second escape in less than six weeks.

May heatedly denied the accusation and answered that Huffman "never had $37 in his life."

Huffman had been charged with burglary. May, apprehended last night in a downtown cafe, had been convicted on a charge of automobile theft.

Rumanian Regime To Evacuate Bucharest

Capitulation Of Leros To Nazis Is Announced

Overwhelming Air And Ground Forces Take Tiny Island

(By The United Press)

CAIRO, Nov. 17—British and Italian troops on Leros, next-to-the-last Allied-held island on the Aegean invasion route to the Balkans, capitulated last evening in the face of an overwhelming German air and ground assault, a communique announced today.

The communique was issued by British Middle-Eastern headquarters a few hours after the official German DNB news agency reported that the garrison of 8,000 on the tiny Dodecanese island had laid down its arms

Doomed From The Start

The surrender of Leros, second of three British-controlled Aegean islands to yield to the Germans, came four days after Nazi seaborne forces first swarmed ashore early last Friday and established four beachheads at heavy cost.

Despite stubborn Allied resistance bolstered in its final stages by Allied warships that dared aerial attack to bombard the beachheads, relentless around-the-clock German bombing and strafing attacks and persistent German landings doomed the outpost almost from the start.

The British and Italians fought with bayonets and hand grenades at close quarters before finally giving up the fight in the face of hopeless odds. The arrival of fresh German reinforcements decided the issue.

"Throughout yesterday, the enemy continued his overwhelming air bombardment of Leros," the British communique said. "After very severe fighting and in spite of the most determined resistance in the face of fresh enemy reinforcements, organized resistance ceased in the evening."

Airfields Are Raided

Long-range British fighters, in one of their brief sweeps over the doomed island, shot down a German Arado 196 plane and blew up a Siebel invasion ferry west of Calinos. Bombers last night raided the Calato and Maritza airfields on Rhodes, from which the German assault was mounted, and preliminary reports indicated both attacks were successful, the communique said. Three Allied planes were lost.

Unofficial observers expected the Germans would follow up the capture of Leros with a full-scale attack on Samos, Greek island 35 miles to the north and the last of the three Aegean islands seized by the British in a lightning thrust soon after Italy's surrender in September. Greek parachutists recently reinforced the Anglo-Italian garrison on Samos.

The second island, Cos, just south of Leros, was captured by the Germans last month.

Short Supplies Delaying Drive

Pacific Gets 5 Per Cent Of Resources

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 17—Comment by the chief of the U. S. Navy bureau of supplies on the amounts sent to the Southwest Pacific prompted Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spokesman to declare today that the available men and equipment were insufficent for a large scale offensive against the Japanese.

The spokesman, Col. Le Grande Diller, said the Southwest Pacific "has something less than five per cent of American military resources," excluding air resources which are even smaller; the area "is now receiving something under 10 per cent of what America is shipping overseas;" and "without complaint, the area is doing everything it can with what it has."

Diller's Reaction Asked

Colonel Diller commented after newsmen had asked his reaction to dispatches printed here quoting Rear Adm. William Brent Young as saying "American supplies are reaching the Southwest Pacific in quantities sufficient for large scale operations against the Japanese."

(Admiral Young, naval supply chief who recently was in the southwest Pacific, made his comments Monday in London).

Colonel Diller expressed the viewpoints during the issuance of today's communique which was limited largely to reports on aerial actions.

Here's That Place! Top-Kicks Get Turn At KP

EAGLE PASS, Nov. 17 (AP) — The Army Air field here is a buck private's paradise. Top-kicks and dog-faces sit side by side on the onion-peeling mourner's bench.

First and master sergeants of the AAF training command's advanced single engine pilot school at Eagle Pass Army Air field joined their brethren of lower rank on KP details this week, instituting what will be considered a GI millenium in some quarters.

The potato-peeling and pot-washing job was no stunt. Due to manpower shortage, it became impossible to procure "basic soldiers" to fill the KP duty roster. Colonel John H. Bundy, commanding officer, rebelled against putting the brunt of the work on buck privates and pfc's.

"Rockers" No Exemptions

Bundy called a meeting of the sergeants in the higher grades—men whose "rockers" had exempted them from such menial tasks—explained the situation. In order to meet the messing and kitchen police problem and be fair to all concerned, he said, it would be necessary for all enlisted personnel, including first and master sergeants, to take regular turns on KP.

"I suppose I can expect a lot of griping from you top-kicks and master sergeants," Colonel Bundy challenged.

"Sir," a first sergeant piped up, "we did it before and we can do it again"—but he didn't say it to music.

YOUTH HURT CRITICALLY

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 17 (AP) — Flavis Wallace, 14, was injured critically and 17 companions were bruised, shaken and suffered minor cuts in an automobile accident near Abernathy last night. The 18 were in an automobile returning to Abernathy from a Sunday school picnic when the car collided with a cotton trailer.

Nancy's Age Blocks De Marigny Wedding

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 17 (AP) —Alfred de Marigny explained today that his scheduled remarriage in a Catholic church was called off Monday because his wife Nancy has not reached the age where she may wed without her parent's consent.

Nancy is 19, and the legal age in the Bahamas is 21.

"It's a strange situation when a man can't marry his own wife," said de Marigny. "But that's how it stands."

Red Army Siege Guns Pounding Gomel Defenses

Nazis Striking Back Furiously Against Half Million Soviet Troops; Pressure Is Increased On Rail Hub Of Korosten

BY RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press War Editor

Russian siege guns bombarded outflanked Gomel today and German broadcasts forecast a fresh Nazi retreat from the Dnieper bend where they said a half million Red troops were attacking violently.

The Germans struck heavily and repeatedly at the lower flank of the great Kiev bulge, particularly in the Fastov and Zhitomir sectors, in actions which appeared aimed at protecting the withdrawal of their divisions to the south.

For their part, the Russians in the western Ukraine applied increased pressure from three sides of the railway junction of Korosten where lines from Kiev, Warsaw, Leningrad and Odessa converge. Weather, as well as the Germans, countered the Russian advances.

6,000 Germans Fall

Around 6,000 Germans fell. Sixty Ukrainian towns were captured. Ten strongpoints shielding Gomel were reduced. The Germans "sustained tremendous losses in manpower and equipment," the Russians said officially at midnight. Threatened Rumania was said to have completed plans to evacuate Bucharest, the capital, and the Morocco radio said all important documents had been moved to the hinterland.

Nazi Hold Weakened

(A Reuters dispatch from Moscow said the German hold on Korosten had been further weakened by severance of the third of six rail lines converging there. The dispatch added that Gomel was being heavily shelled by Russian field guns and that the city was virtually isolated.)

One Red army column, a Russian communique said, already had reached Turchenka, 14 miles south of Korosten. A second coming in from the southeast captured Chepovichi, 15 miles away, and a third was at Obikhodi, 15 miles northeast of Korosten and within

Border Rows Seen In Europe

Latvian Charges Annexation Forced

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 — The Latvian minister to the United States Dr. Alfred Bilmanis, charged today that the parliament of Latvia was "forced to vote Soviet annexation" when the Red armies invaded the Baltic countries in 1940, and said full post-war independence will be demanded.

His comment to reporters followed indications that the Moscow conference had decided that the ticklish questions of boundaries of over-run European countries should await the war's end.

Move Said Forced

Bilmanis said that "the Latvian parliament was forced to vote Soviet annexation in June, 1940 after the Red army had invaded the country. The United States has never accepted this annexation by force.

"All we ask now is that Soviet Russia resume with us the status quo ante established by our treaty with Moscow in 1920."

The legations here of the Baltic states of Esthonia and Lithuania here declined to discuss Bilmanis' statement although it was indicated a Lithuanian statement might be issued after Secretary of State Cordell Hull reports to Congress tomorrow on the Moscow conference.

Bilmanis' stand showed that regardless of the Russian-British-American intentions to postpone decisions on disputed boundaries, extensive debate over the issues would continue during the war.

Even the post-war decisions will not end the disputes. Some of them have been going on for hundreds of years.

Conditional Pardon Is Granted Saddler

AUSTIN, Nov. 17. (U.P.)—Louis (Buddy) Saddler, accomplice of the noted Irving Charles Chapman in robbery of the Atlanta, Tex., bank, has been released on conditional pardon from his 35-year sentence which would not have expired until July 22, 1966.

The condition of his release is that he report to the U. S. marshal at Houston.

Letters filed with his record by the Texas Pardon board trace his release to an impression he made on John A. Weeks, a Ballinger druggist.

Weeks heard Saddler on the "Boys and Girls in White" program broadcasted from the Texas prison system.

Weeks wrote Gov. Coke R. Stevenson in Saddler's behalf and the governor referred the matter to the state pardon board, as he can grant clemency only on the board's recommendation.

Twelve Billed By Grand Jury

Twelve indictments naming 12 persons were returned at 11:30 o'clock this morning to Judge Daniel A. Blair by a 72nd district court grand jury of which Early Daniel was foreman.

One indictment, naming Irie Duke, was a misdemeanor and was transferred to county court for trial. It charged driving an automobile when drunk.

Two of those indicted had not been reported arrested.

Names of those others charged, all of whom either are in jail or under bond, are:

Eunice C. McMillan, a negro, car theft.

Hood Abercrombie and Odie Brown, embezzlement over $50.

Dane Bennett, murder while driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Charles Graham, 17, burglary and car theft. Two indictments.

L. C. Crump, desertion of two minor children.

Glenn Monk, forgery.

Rufus Eady, burglary.

Eldon Newton, burglary.

Felony Handling Asked

The grand jury had been asked to handle the Duke case as a felony under the legal premise he earlier had been convicted of a similar offense of drunk driving, in county court; but the county court judgment was defective for that purpose.

McMillan was charged with taking a car belonging to W. L. Ingram; Abercrombie and Brown with having converted to their own use 188 sacks of irish potatoes valued at $475.60 by Bryan Edwards, for whom Abercrombie worked; Bennett with having driven a truck that was in collision Sept. 14 between Lubbock and Idalou with one driven by

Compromise Draft Bill Not To Affect Present Induction Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—Selective Service officials said today that their immediate reaction to the compromise bill which would place fathers at the bottom of the national draft pool was that it would have little effect on present induction policy.

They were reluctant to discuss the section of the bill agreed to by House and Senate conference committees—and almost certain to become law—which would permit President Roosevelt to delegate policy authority solely to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

The bill comes before the House Thursday.

As for the section negating the designation by War Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt of non-deferrable jobs, they said they were "inclined" to think that most fathers of draft-age and physically fit who were in such occupations have already been drafted.

It was unofficially suggested that the bill's design to require drafting of the nation's single men before fathers are taken could have an unforeseen effect—the stalling of normal induction rates because of the fact that new 18-year-olds, presumably all single, are continuously becoming eligible for induction.

The conference report provides that appeals boards with jurisdiction over the area in which a

Rotarians Urged To Support Fight To Preserve Democracy

What peoples now call "civilization" can be improved upon, said M. W. Larmour, 127th district Rotary governor, who quoted words of an inscription he had once seen: "At the dawn of victory they sat down to rest on the plains of hesitation and resting died."

Speaking before members of the Lubbock Rotary club at its luncheon in Hilton hotel, Larmour, a Graham theater owner, said "we must not lose our liberty while winning the war." For the post-war world he recommended a wide application of Rotary principles, fair play, tolerance and understanding.

Calling on Rotarians to join the fight for preservation of democracy and for all it stands, he suggested that they could do much to halt the spread of government bureaus and "government by directive" by corresponding freely with their representatives in law-making bodies. This would, he said, counter-act the thousands of communications which pour into officials' offices for pressure groups.

Selfish Groups Assailed

"No bloc should benefit at the expense of the general citizenship," Larmour said. "We, the common citizens, should raise mighty voices against destructive governmental proposals by selfish groups."

He said that Rotary clubs be-

City Commission On Planning Is Named

The city commission selected members for the newly authorized city planning commission Tuesday afternoon in city hall at the semi-monthly meeting which had been postponed.

Appointed were:

To two-year terms, Dr. J. T. Krueger, surgeon, and J. D. Hassell, jr., department store executive.

To three-year terms, K. N. Clapp, cotton company representative and chairman of the city parks board, and Chas. A. Guy, editor of Avalanche-Journal Newspapers and a member of the city school board.

To four-year terms, L. Wesley Read, insurance man and chairman of the city zoning commission; J. H. Murdough, head professor of civil engineering at Texas Technological college; and W. L. Bradshaw, associate professor of architecture and allied arts at Tech. Murdough and Bradshaw have been closely identified for several years with the evolution of city planning for Lubbock.

All terms upon the new commission will be four years after the first two and three year terms expire

Members of the city commission explained that it was by design that the membership of the first city plan commission includes representatives of the parks board, school board and zoning commission, as well as those who, through many years, have proved their interest in the civic affairs of Lubbock.

Serving as ex-officio non-voting members of the new commission will be City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., and City Engineer Arch L. King. The commission will select its own chairman, vice chairman and secretary.

The important part that the plan commission may have in shaping the future of Lubbock would be difficult to exaggerate.

However, not many improvements affecting the future can be made either within Lubbock, or within five miles of the city limits, without first clearing the new plan commission. Although its authority will be advisory, its recommendations in any matter necessarily must carry much weight with any city commission which will have the power of final action.

Duties of Commission

Duties of the plan commission, as listed in the ordinance creating it, include:

"To make recommendations x x x x relating to all nature of public improvements, civic improvements, city planning, opening, widening and changing of streets, routing of public utilities, controlling and regulating of traffic upon the public streets and ways of the city of Lubbock, and such other matters relating to city improvements such as the city planning commission and the city commission may deem beneficial to said city. x x x

"To submit to the city commission plans, together with recommendations, governing public improvements, for the establishment and location of additional streets, alleys, by-ways, schools, parks, playgrounds, fire stations, recreation centers, public amusements, outdoor theaters, swimming pools, the creation of new zones or the changing of present zones, of any other recommendation deemed by the city planning commission to come under the heading of civic improvement or city planning. x x x

"To examine all proposed divisions of lands located in the corporate limits of, or within five miles of the corporate limits of the city of Lubbock to determine if said divisions of lands conform to the general plan of said city, its streets, alleys, parks, playgrounds, public utility facilities, sanitary facilities, drainage facilities and any and all other facilities, or the extensions thereof."

Other actions taken at the commission meeting were routine.

The commission decided to reopen to city employes the opportunity for group life insurance under a policy with Aetna Life Insurance company which first was put into effect for the city in 1929.

A lease under which Dr. Fred W. Standefer and J. Frank Gray have farmed land of the city sewage disposal plant the past several years was renewed for five years. In recent years, they have paid approximately $1,350 annual rental. Under the new agreement they will pay $3 per acre for each acre in cultivation, the minimum acreage to be 550. Although the new lease has been in process of negotiation the past several weeks, no other proposals for the land were submitted.

On the recommendation of City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley, the commision instructed that Idalou school district be advised that the city cannot be repuired to pay taxes on land within the Idalou district and belonging to the city. The land was bought about two years ago and is now under lease to the federal government as part of the tract occupied by South Plains Army Air field. The property has been assessed by the Idalou district for $94.80 taxes.

The request from E. C. Kuykendall, local representative of the Fort Worth & Denver City railway, for transfer of certain property bordering its switch tracks west of Avenue G and south of the line's depot from an industrial "J" zone to a manufacturing "L" zone was referred to the city zoning commission for study and recommendation.

Present at the meeting were Commissioners J. O. Jones, who presided in the absence of Mayor Carl Slaton, and Hub Jones and Garland Newsom.

Giraud's Conditions Due To Be Rejected

ALGIERS, Nov. 17 (AP)—The De Gaullist-controlled French committee of National Liberation will not accept the conditions of Gen. Henri Giraud for remaining as commander in chief of the French Armed forces, a committee spokesman predicted today, adding that the elderly general had submitted his resignation six times in the past week.

"What would be the use of having a war minister?" the spokesman said, commenting on the general' conditions, which would give Giraud a free hand in running the French army and directing its military operations.

The spokesman said both American Minister Robert Murphy and British Representative Harold MacMillan had been urging Giraud to stay on despite last week's committee reshuffle which saw the ousting of the general and three of his appointees from the National committee, leaving Gen. Charles De Gaulle as sole President.

Giraud was said to consider the shifts as a personal rebuffs.

Senate Passes Bill On Bond Advertising

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — The Senate passed Tuesday and sent to the House a bill authorizing the Treasury to spend from $12,500,000 to $15,000,000 a year for war bond advertising in small newspapers. Prior to passage the Senate cut the proposed expenditure in half.

Brenda—Will You Step Out With Me Tonight?

I know I've been an awful grouch not taking you any place lately. But after standing all day at my new job, my feet darn near killed me with calluses and burning. Now I've reformed—or rather my feet have—thanks to the Ice-Mint you advised. Never tried anything that seemed to draw the pain and fire right out so fast—and the way it helps soften calluses is nobody's business! Been able to get some extra overtime money—so what do you say, let's go dancing tonight. You can step on my Ice-Mint feet all you want.

Compensation Boost For Veterans Passed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — Without a dissenting vote, the House passed and sent to the Senate today legislation increasing monthly compensation of disabled war veterans and monthly payments to widows and children of veterans. The roll-call was 341 to 0.

The legislation provides for a flat increase of 15 per cent over present variable rates for service-incurred disabilities to veterans of the present war and the first World war.

It also increases by stated amounts, averaging about 20 per cent, the monthly rates of death compensation payable to widows and children of World war one veterans who die of disability not due to service but who have a service-connected disability at the time of their death. Rates for dependents of World war one veterans who died of service-connected disabilities were recently increased. Under the new bill these increases will also apply to dependents of veterans of the present war.

The element fluorine, in proper quantities, has been found essential to healthy teeth.

Solons Begin Liquor Probe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Voted $10,000 for an investigation of the current liquor situation, a Senate subcommittee organized today to determine where the old familiar high-octane brands have gone and when they'll be back.

The curious formulae of some of the new or victory model giggle-waters likewise will come under senatorial scrutiny.

Senator Kilgore (D-W Va), accepting assignment on the five-man committee, expressed belief that the distribution and sale of whiskey has entered a "racketeering phase." Senator Elmer Thomas, whose home town, Medicine Park, Okla., is as dry as the congressional record, went further.

"It's already one of the most vicious rackets in America," he asserted.

Prohibition Attempt Seen

"Unless some changes are made it will lead to another attempt at national prohibition—on the theory the people can get more and better liquor under prohibition than they can now."

Thomas, who spoke as an individual senator and not as a member of the investigating group, said he had been reliably informed that what little store-boughten liquor is now obtainable assays very low in legitimate aged-in-the-wood whiskey.

"It isn't whiskey at all," he said. "It's just a mixture of junk containing as little as 23 per cent of real whiskey and the rest just alcohol and some sort of coloring matter.

"Whether or not the Office of Price administration knows it, they are being handled by some of the liquor interests to the detriment of the public and the benefit of the monopoly."

City To Discontinue Fees On Bicycles

Here's good news from the city hall for Lubbock bicycle owners.

Members of the city commission plan to discontinue the city bicycle registration license fee. They have asked City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley to prepare a repealer for the bicycle registration ordinance, and to have it ready for the commission meeting next week.

The registration ordinance was enacted nearly five years ago, the registration fee being 35 cents yearly. Bicycle thefts were too numerous at that time, and the ordinance resulted from the belief that registrations might aid in coping with the problem. Chief of Police Don Reeder reported that the ordinance was a big help, and that thefts did drop sharply.

However, only about 2,500 license fees have been paid this year. The police chief believes that this is no more than half the bicycles in Lubbock. Since the ordinance was intended wholly for the protection of the bicycle owner, police and city officials have no desire to start tagging wheels and imposing fines. Nor do they want an unenforced ordinance, so the repeal has been decided upon.

At the same time, they agree that the bicycle owner who registers his wheel with police will be wise. This can be done without cost, and should assist in the recovery of any bicycle that may be stolen.

TAX CHANGE SUGGESTED

AUSTIN, Nov. 17 (AP) — State Rep. Richard Craig of Miami today suggested that state revenue losses caused by gasoline restrictions might be offset by making the state four-cents-a-gallon tax apply to federal government purchases which now are exempt.

WAR ERA CONSTIPATION IS DAMAGING

Bricker Warns On Financing

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker told the National Association of Real Estate Boards today that the only way to meet the nation's debt burden was through full industrial production at present day standards and warned against continued deficit financing after the war.

In his first major speech since announcing his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, the Ohio governor declared in a prepared address:

Must Plan Ahead

"With the coming of war, we faced no alternative to more deficit financing. Our national life was at stake. We had to build, almost overnight, defensive military weapons which we had so shamefully neglected . . .

"We do not complain about this cost—only victory and national security and world peace really matter. Every dollar honestly and wisely spent for these purposes is more than worth the expenditure.

"But we must not close our eyes to the day of reckoning or fail to plan for it. The welfare of future generations is involved. They, with us, must lift the mortgage. Too many of the boys who fight the war for us will have to help pay its cost. Unless we do our full share to solve these problems and share with them the benefits, history will haunt us with our failures."

More Women Due To Be In Next Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — There'll be more women members at the next session of Congress, the House leadership believes, and both Republicans and Democrats say, good, good!

"I wish I had 50 more women on my side of the aisle," declared Minority Leader Martin (R-Mass), who now counts six. Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass) says he would welcome an increase over the one now on the Democratic side — Rep. Norton of New Jersey.

Both agreed that with so many men in the armed forces, women have their best opportunity in history to enter politics.

Rites Set Thursday For Accident Victim

SLATON, Nov. 17 — Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Methodist church for Billy Bartley, 16, who was fatally injured Tuesday night when he was struck by an automobile at the intersection of Jean street and Ninth here. Rev. H. C. Gordon, pastor, will officiate.

Pallbearers will include members of the home guard of which young Bartley was a member. Interment will be in Slaton cemetery.

Bartley was a student in Slaton High school and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bartley of Slaton. Other survivors are two brothers, J. P., of Slaton, and Charles Sankey on Naval service, and three sisters, Mertie Ellen, Betty Sue and Alta Nell, all of Slaton.

Highway patrolmen who investigated said that the accident occurred when an automobile driven by Virgil Lee Smith of Southland, attempted to pass another vehicle. A projecting spotlight on the left side of the car driven by Smith struck the youth who was standing by the curb with another sister, Reba Bartley. The youth was rushed to a Slaton hospital where officials said he never regained consciousness and died within about 40 minutes. Injuries to the left shoulder and head were described as causing the fatality.

Two Bomber Crashes In Florida Kill 16

FORT MYERS, Fla., Nov. 17 (AP) Sixteen men were killed Tuesday when two Army medium bombers crashed at Buckingham field near here, public relations officers announced today.

The first crash occurred less than a mile west of the field. The bomber, on a routine training mission, appeared to go out of control and spun in from an altitude of approximately 1,000 feet. The eight men aboard were killed.

The second accident occurred an hour later as the plane was coming in for a landing. It crashed just off a ramp near an engineering building and burst into flames, taking the lives of the eight crewmen.

The dead in the first crash included 2nd Lt. James H. Findley, pilot, Tatum, Tex., and Pfc. Peter L. Long, San Antonio.

Victims of the second crash included Pfc. William H. Smith, San Antonio.

"Sulfa, Please!"

A WOUNDED AMERICAN BOY lies on a jungle trail in New Guinea. A companion stoops over him. "What can I do, fella?" "Sulfa, please. They got me pretty bad." And into the stricken man's wound goes the wonder drug that will fight off infection.

Few American women know that the same used cooking fats they save in their kitchens to provide this boy with shells and bullets also help to make sulfa drugs, vaccines and scores of other battle-field essentials. No material of war that you can help provide means more in terms of his life or death. Are you saving your used cooking fats? Even the blackest fat yields crystal-clear glycerine. America desperately needs them. Save them in any kind of a tin can, not in glass. Rush them to your meat dealer. Start doing it today!

LAAF Hospital Ward Receives First Baby

First child born in the newly constructed maternity ward at Lubbock Army Air field is Dolores Jane Gardner, daughter of Pvt. and Mrs. Lewis Gardner, 2112-A Avenue U. The baby, weighing 8 pounds eleven ounces was born Tuesday afternoon at 4:18 o'clock.

Because of the congestion of local hospitals this new ward was furnished and equipped by Llano Estacado Camp and Hospital council, composed of civic committees from 14 surroundng counties, and the Special Service department through the commanding officer, Col. Ralph E. Holmes commended the council and people of Lubbock on this worthy project.

Pvt. Gardner also celebrated Tuesday his thirteenth month in the armed services. Mrs. Gardner is the former Martha Sue Adams of Glenrose. The father serves with the 495th Flying and Training Squadron.

Maj. James French and Lt. John Pewters delivered the baby.

P-T Convention Speakers To Discuss Today's Problems

AUSTIN, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — Frank discussions of the girl picture, boys with too much war-earned money, mothers away from home, "lure of the uniform," and loneliness of the service man were to be heard today by the Texas Parent-Teacher conference, opening a two-day meeting here.

Dr. Alice Sowers, director of a family life institute of the University of Oklahoma and a vice-president of the National Congress of Parent-Teachers, opened the discussion of the effects of war on family life. R. C. Suran, special agent in charge of FBI activities, San Antonio, was to discuss juvenile delinquency tonight.

Discusses War Marriages

Dr. Sowers discussed war marriages. She distinguished between weddings advanced because of war conditions and "hasty and ill-considered marriages" that might never have taken place except under the stimulation of wartime excitement.

"Some of them," she said, "occur during 48-hour leaves between young people who never met before that week-end. They are brought about or made possible by the lure of the uniform, the loneliness of the service man, ambitious mothers, desire for the allotment, intoxication, the ability to secure midnight licenses, and the general attitude of living only for today."

Post-war family life, Dr. Sowers predicted, will be affected by the ability of the home folks, as well as the absent members of the family, to adjust themselves to one another.

An address by George Waverley Briggs of Dallas on Freedom of Speech was the other principal speech for the opening session.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Higinbotham and two children, Lynne and Louis, of Amarillo, are here this week visiting Mrs. Higinbotham's sisters, Mrs. Sid Clark, 1631 Ninth street, and Mrs. W. A. Clark, 2418 Twenty-seventh street, and families.

Mrs. Sid Clark, 1631 Ninth street, will leave Thursday morning for Wichita Falls where she will visit her son, Lt. Jim Bill Clark, who will be there on a flight mission. Lt. Clark is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

Mrs. Rogstad Zachary of New York City is spending several weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Keeton, 1902 Twenty-ninth street. She will return to spend the Christmas holidays with her husband who is in the Coast Guard.

Two Honored With Shower

A shower honoring Mrs. R. M. Truly and Mrs. C. H. Tubbs, jr., was given Monday night at the home of Mrs. F. R. Land.

In the line with the hostess and honorees were Mesdames J. W. Truly and C. H. Tubbs, sr.

Mrs. C. L. Truly and Mrs. Rob Hillin presided at the guest books.

A bridal theme was carried out at the table of gifts for Mrs. Truly who was Miss Estrella Santiago of Juan Diaz, Puerto Rico, before her marriage. A simulated stork centered the table of gifts for Mrs. Tubbs.

The Thanksgiving theme was carried out in the refreshment plate.

South-Brady Wedding Is Being Announced Here

Miss Helen Frances Brady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Brady of Sulphur Springs and Pfc. Virgil M. South, son of Mrs. Essie South of Lubbock, were married in a ceremony read last Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the home of Rev. Ben D. Johnson, officiating pastor.

The bride wore a beige and brown plaid suit with brown accessories.

Miss Eva Nell South, sister of the bridegroom, was the only attendant.

The bridegroom has just returned from service with the U. S. Marines in the Southwest Pacific.

The couple is visiting his mother, 1706 Sixth street, and will visit in Temple before going to California to live.

Rev. Loesel Is Guest Speaker

"Women's Responsibility in the Present Day World" was the theme of a speech delivered by Rev. W. G. Loesel to 25 members of Lubbock Woman's club meeting at the Hilton hotel.

Supplementing Rev. Loesel's speech were talks by Mesdames Frank Gaines, "Woman's Opportunities;" B. H. Moore, "Woman's Achievements"; and A. T. Cocanougher, "Are You A Volunteer Worker?"

Mrs. Moore reported on the recent convention of federated clubs in Austin. Mesdames L. C. Harrison and F. A. Kennedy were admitted as new members.

Plan Christmas Party

Twenty-one members of Garden Study club heard a talk by Dr. W. W. Yocum of the horticulture department at Texas Technological college in the home of Mrs. W. I. Pittman, 3302 Twenty-second street. Mrs. Culver Hill and Mrs. Preston Smith were assisting hostesses.

Dr. Yocum presented members with outlines entitled "Fruits That Are Preferred on the High Plains of West Texas."

Members planned a Christmas party for the next club meeting to be in the home of Mrs. F. J. Davis, 2826 Twenty-second street. Mrs. C. D. Hall was introduced as a new member. Mesdames Reginald Rushing and Durward Mahon were guests.

Two Are Received Into OES At Hall Tuesday

Two candidates were initiated into the Order of the Eastern Star Tuesday night at the Masonic hall. They were Mrs. Henry Novak and Miss Ruth McLeod. Miss McLeod will hold membership in a Montana chapter of the organization.

A program honoring past matrons and past patrons was directed by Mrs. J. H. Portwood. Those taking part were Mesdames Max T. Davis, W. L. Stephens, Cliff Elliott, C. B. Cultra, jr., and Misses Beth Holland and Ruth Esther Starr.

Mrs. A. L. Stringer accompanied a quartet who sang.

Mrs. James B. O'Connell was hostess during a social hour and refreshments were served from a candle-lighted table covered with a lace cloth and centered with streamers of red, white and blue streamers.

Gerald Mann Hits Monopoly

DALLAS, Nov. 17 (AP) — Attorney Gerald Mann, in an address which he had forecast would outline his political philosophy, told the Texas Farm Bureau Federation last night: "When the last shot has been fired on the war fronts, the battle to save democracy will still be raging here at home."

"It is a battle against monopoly," Mann said in a speech prepared for delivery to the federation's annual convention. "Monopoly and democracy cannot march side by side. We are going to have a country dominated by one or the other.

"By the very nature of war, monopoly prospers," said Mann, charging: "they are using the war, the hardships that men suffer today because of rationing and other wartime necessities, in order to take your mind off regulating and controlling their iniquitous practices.

"They are trying now to develop an anti-government philosophy in the minds of the people.

Started People Talking

"Monopoly and its mouthpieces have gotten the barber, the little corner merchant, the farmer, and many others to talking about bureaucrats and bureaucracy when they know that they are operating the most iniquitous bureaucracy in the world, the bureaucracy of monopoly," Mann added.

He declared that "Texans has been a vassal state with its money, its wealth, and its resources being drained away and sent to the centers of power in the East."

"Our legislative halls have been filled with lobbyists maintained by monopoly to prevent our taxing sufficiently the oil and gas we produce," he said.

Mentions OPA Abuse

In a preface to his principal discussion of "democracy, monopoly, and free enterprise," Mann said, "I daresay I might be well received by a majority of Texas people if I lit in after OPA — abused it and all bureaucrats."

OPA and bureaucrats are unpopular because they have an unpopular job to do, said Mann: "of course many mistakes have been made, and many more will be made; but that does not mean a great job has not been done.

"If more people would quit their aching and get down to the job of thinking about how we can win this war as quickly as possible I think they would be doing a better job toward preserving the constitution and the freedom of enterprise."

Won't Lambast Labor

"I daresay I should strike a responsive chord if I should lambast labor from start to finish. I do not think it would be right.

"Don't let anyone tell you that I am making any appeal for support of organized labor.

"I do not know whether organized labor will ever vote for me or not, because I have filed several lawsuits against organized labor when I thought organized labor was wrong. I have put the vice president of the CIO in jail because he violated the laws of Texas.

"But labor is doing and has done a great and marvelous job in seeing that airplanes — arms, guns, shells, and ships reach their sons and your sons in order to fight this war."

Earlier, Mann in a luncheon interview was asked whether he thought Texas would go Republican next year.

"I don't know. I hope not," he answered.

Progress Is Made In Penicillin Research

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17 (AP) — The "biggest step forward" toward the synthesis of the scarce and precious drug penicillin was announced today at the meeting of the Southern Medical association.

Dr. William A. Altemeier, University of Cincinnati surgeon, told the doctors that researchers finally had produced a pure, crystalline form of the natural drug instead of the unconcentrated product that has hitherto been available.

Discovery Of A New Anesthetic Reported

PENNS GROVE, N. J., Nov. 17 (AP)—The discovery of a new anesthetic reported to be three to five times more potent than ether and considerably safer was announced today at a meeting of the New Jersey section of the American Chemical society.

Dr. John C. Krantz, jr., professor of pharmacology at the University of Maryland Medical school, said the new agent was the product of five years' research by him and three associates.

The anesthetic, dubbed "propethylene," will require only a fraction of the shipping space required by ether, Dr. Krantz said, is not highly volatile and does not quickly evaporate in tropical climates. Dr. Krantz said he expected the compound to become an important medical factor in the war.

He added that the anesthetic would be available for civilian use under certain limitations.

Overweight Motor Oil is "a Crime" this Winter!

Heavy, "lazy" oil proved needless—again and again—in engines kept Winter OIL-PLATED

All the Car Instruction Books can't be wrong. Yours probably calls for engine oil that's all of two or three grades lighter than was ever specified just a few years ago. The Winter rule is to go light!...

This Winter your mileage and speed—slashed by rationing—will have a tough time even keeping your battery charged...This Winter you'll want every last tenth-of-a-mile from your gasoline ration...This Winter you can't be sure of enough sustained speed and mileage to get overweight oil warmed up enough for halfway decent circulation...

Overweight oil kills countless batteries, wastes gasoline, and increases wear. You might be surprised to find how light an oil will be economical in your car—whatever its age—when your engine is OIL-PLATED with Conoco N*th* motor oil.

OIL-PLATING is the layer of lubricant that any Conoco N*th* oil sort of "magnetizes" to inner engine surfaces by synthetic means. Don't confuse this close-surfaced OIL-PLATING with fluid-type oil film. That's additional in Conoco N*th*—and extremely tough. But when liquid film must drain down to the crankcase during the frequent stops and long lay-ups that are common today, OIL-PLATING can still hold its topmost point...ready to help in making cold starts gentle...ready to help your lightest suitable oil in a great life-extension job on your battery, gasoline and engine. Ask what your lightest Winter N*th* should be—at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station—today.
Continental Oil Company

Dread Engine Acid is Fought by OIL-PLATING

Normal combustion always leaves acids inside of your engine when it stops. Formerly it seldom stood idle long. Soon mileage and speed heated your engine enough to oust acids. But nowadays rationing may force long rests, while corrosive acids gnaw. To combat corrosion, metals are plated. You combat acid corrosion with your engine OIL-PLATED.

Bible Leans Heavily On J. R. Callahan

Big Role Seen In Thanksgiving Game

BY ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 17—Three years ago Coach Dana X. Bible of Texas took a look at the crop of high school seniors and pointed to the name of James Ross Callahan from little Wink, Tex.

"There is the boy I'd like to have most on the Texas football team," he said, then dropped the matter because Callahan had other ideas. He went instead to Texas Tech where he starred last year and where he would have been co-captain of the football team this fall.

However, when the Navy established a V-5 pre-flight training course at Texas, Callahan transferred and when he appeared on the campus this fall Bible thought his wish had come true.

Finally Ruled Eligible

It was mid-season before Bible, the Navy and Southwest conference faculty officials ruled Callahan was eligible, but the timing was perfect.

The week before he was able to play, Bobby Coy Lee, brilliant little back was hurt and Callahan stepped into his shoes with just five days' practice.

Since then he has led Texas to one-sided victories over Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian. He has made six touchdowns and two conversions for 38 points and has passed for several other scores.

Mate For Ellsworth

He is a perfect running mate for Ralph Ellsworth, the Texas track star who became converted into a gridiron speedster. Both can shake a triple threat at Texas foes because they are adept at running, passing and kicking. They usually leave opposing players gasping or grabbing the wrong man when they start downfield with the ball.

Bible admits he is counting heavily on Callahan to bring the Longhorns a second consecutive conference championship — something never before accomplished down here. In order to win, the Longhorns will have to beat their oldest and bitterest rival Texas A. and M. at the Aggies' home field at College Station, Thanksgiving day. Both teams have open dates this week, but are priming for the title battle. Neither has lost a conference game.

Only one conference game is scheduled this week, Texas Christian meeting Rice at Fort Worth.

J. R. CALLAHAN

Southern Methodist plays Texas Tech at Dallas. Randolph Field, the only unbeaten untied team in the state plays North Texas at San Antonio.

Southwestern plays Arkansas A. and M. at neutral Shreveport, La., in the only other game scheduled.

Two Changes Due In Mustangs' Line-Up

DALLAS, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — Two new faces probably will appear in the starting Southern Methodist lineup against Texas Tech here Saturday, it appeared today as Coach Jimmy Stewart switched his backs in an effort to find a combination with a scoring punch.

Pass-throwing Bobby Stewart appeared as a likely successor to Lloyd Parker at tailback, while L. B. Cox may get the blocking back call over Gene McClintock or Leon Cunningham.

Gene Wilson, a reserve end who has shown flashes of stardom, may be shoved into the starting left end post in place of Sam Levy.

Tickets Going Fast For Texas Vs. A. & M.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—Travel restrictions to the contrary, Texans who love their football—especially that annual Thanksgiving day Texas-Texas A.&M. brawl—appeared headed today to make the game at College Station Nov. 25 a sell-out.

Coach Homer Norton said last night that there were still plenty of seats, but that all of them were in the end zone and "going fast."

No temporary bleachers or boxes will be available this year, Norton explained, due to a material shortage.

Cowhands Tie Cooper 12-12

Morris Makes 2 Cooper Tallies

Two long touchdown gallops by J. B. Morris, Cooper High school backfield ace, wiped out the early two touchdown lead of the Lubbock Cowhands Tuesday afternoon at Chapman Field, and gave the Cooper club a tie with the Cowhands, 12 to 12.

The fast improving Cowhands, who will be the Lubbock Westerners of future years, were making their fourth attempt to beat the Cooper club, and were off to a good start, but the return of Morris to the game made the Cowhands have to content themselves with a tie game.

Held out of the starting lineup because of a knee injury, Morris was rushed into the game when the Cowhands started clicking in the second quarter and rolled to a 12 to 0 lead.

Shortly after coming into the game, and just before the end of the half, Morris took a short pass from Donald Johnson, dodged a couple of tacklers, sidestepped another and broke into the clear to gallop 65 yards for the first touchdown.

In the third quarter, Johnson passed to the right flat to Shepperd, who flipped a lateral off to Morris who broke through a covey of tacklers and outstepped the Cowhands for 50 yards and another score that knotted the count.

After a scoreless first period, the Cowhands began to warm the hearts of Westerner fans, and with Noel Sikes, Johnny Gamble and Bobby Ketron working like a well oiled machine, began to click. The team rolled unstopped to two touchdowns in rapid order.

Sikes knifed over his own guard from four yards out for the first touchdown, and Ketron flipped a pass into the endzone to Gamble from six yards out for the second.

Pass tries for both extra points failed.

Two plays after the second touchdown, Morris struck for his first counter, and two plays later the half ended.

On the last play of the third period, Johnson booted the ball out of bounds on the Cowhand one yard line and the Lubbock boys were never able to come out of this hole for the rest of the game.

The defensive star of the day was Paul Jones, blocking back of the Cowhands, who was in almost every tackle of the ball game and time after time stopped threats launched by the heavier Cooper club. Jones closely contested Morris for the honors of being the best man on the field for the day, and choosing between the two would be hard to do.

Both clubs showed some great line play and when the chips were down the two lines were both tough to crack. Gerald Davis, at center for the Cowhands, was perhaps the best lineman on the field, but he had plenty of crowding for the honors from both teams.

The lineups:

COWHANDS	POS.	COOPER
Dean	LE	Henderson
Wall	LT	Marton
Crawford	LG	Booter
Davis	C	N. Johnson
McGowan	RG	Ward
Dickenson	RT	B. Watson

Boom Year Enjoyed By Boxing, Pro Football And Horse Racing

BY JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—When the year-end reviews are written next month, statistics are expected to show that horse racing, professional football and professional boxing enjoyed unusual prosperity during 1943; whereas major league baseball and college football fell off in attendance, and college basketball was about normal.

Racing unquestionably enjoyed its most fabulous year because of the public's stepped-up war prosperity which enabled small-time around-the-corner bettors to meet the rather high admissions at the tracks, and enabled the normal $2.00 mutuel bettor to boost his wages to $5.00 or $10.00 on a race.

Pro Football Welcomed

Professional football, generally played on Sunday, provided a welcome diversion for thousands of busy war-time workers, who were unable to break loose from their jobs on other days.

But the apparent prosperity of professional boxing—not its mere survival—seems to us the biggest sports surprise of our global war's second year. No sport has been harder hit, from the manpower angle. Most of the name fighters are in service, including champions of every division above the lightweights. Lack of big-name fighters prevented Mike Jacobs from staging any outdoor New York shows during the summer.

Boxing Is Flourishing

Yet, we can not recall a year when boxing flourished in so many cities and towns throughout the country. National weekly fight schedules—though they merely skim the cream—are beginning to resemble gazeteers.

This widespread fistic activity prevails although the game has lost temporarily a large and choice section of its fans—the millions of young men now in service. It prevails also despite the fact that there are no million-dollar matches—no great pugilistic extravaganzas—to stimulate national boxing enthusiasm. Half of the lads now fighting main events would be down in the preliminaries in normal times.

Moreover, boxing shows, staged at night, still must compete with normal nocturnal attractions — theatres, pubs, nightclubs and dance halls, which are running full blast in all sections. If the average feller has more money today than in the past, he still has plenty of places to "blow it" at night—at higher prices. And the gambling lure in boxing is not a major factor as in racing; because it is our belief that seven of 10 consistent fight fans never bet on a bout.

Perhaps boxing is flourishing nationally, despite its handicaps, because the American male craves more robust entertainment in these war days than in normal times—primitive, brutal competition in which he can join mentally and vocally—letting off steam and forgetting everything else briefly but completely.

Harry Clark, Of Bears, Leads Pro Loop In Ball-Carrying; Sam Baugh Is Top Punter

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP)—While Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears set aerial records against New York, his teammate, Harry Clark, used the Giants as a convenient stepping stone to regain the ball-carrying leadership of the National football league this week.

Clark traveled 15 times with the ball to burn through the easterners' defense for 81 yards, bringing his total gain for eight games this season to 465. This production enabled the veteran Bear halfback from West Virginia to replace his rival, Tony Canadeo of the Green Bay Packers, in the No. 1 ball-lugging spot.

Canadeo, the former Gonzaga star who became top man in Green Bay's backfield this season with the departure of Cecil Isbell, fell into second place after being limited to 38 yards in eight attempts by the Chicago Cardinals Sunday. His total gain in eight games is 424. Canadeo's running average per play, however, is better than Clark's—53 to 4.6.

Luckman Leads In Passing

Luckman's feat of throwing seven touchdowns and officially gaining 433 yards on passes against the Giants—both new records—kept him entrenched in the aerial lead with a total of 91 completions in 158 attempts for 1,808 yards and 23 touchdowns.

Two more touchdown passes will eclipse Isbell's mark of 24 last year, and 214 additional yards gained will top Isbell's 2,021, also made in 1942.

Sammy Baugh of Washington also has a fine chance to better Isbell's standards as well as surpass Luckman before the season ends. He has four games to go and already has hit on 85 of 154 passes for 1,138 yards and 19 touchdowns.

Baugh's foot is becoming as famed as his arm. The 1942 punting king took over the lead this week after getting off 10 punts against Detroit for an average of 51.9 yards, including an 81-yard effort, the season's longest. This brought his average for 34 kicks for the season to 47.8.

Pro Gives Tip: Be Sure To Ask Santa For New Golf Balls

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Ross Sobel, the golf pro, comes up with a tip today that it might be a good idea to ask for three or four new golf balls when you write your annual letter to Santa Claus.

Ross is the shotmaker who is ranked, by other pros as one of the top teaching pros in the game. He says new golf balls are more valuable right now than any extra strip of "A" gas coupons.

"In fact," he went on, "there not only just won't be any new balls left next year, but we're even going to have to recover recovered balls and use them if the situation keeps up.

"Golf pros already are playing tournaments with re-covered balls—and will keep right on doing it. Why, Bobby Cruickshank won the North-South open with a re-covered ball last winter."

Ho Hum: Frogs Lose Another Gridman

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian felt in stride today—he's lost another regular starter from his Horned Frog football team—his 18th in recent weeks.

This time it was End George Gartner, ill with pneumonia.

He picked up a possible new backfield starter, however, as Chester Hall, a 175-pounder from Minneapolis, flashed through yesterday's workout in fine fashion at wingback.

Hall probably will be used extensively against Rice here Saturday.

Tulsa Asked To Play March Field Dec. 12

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — Tulsa University, undefeated and tied once this season, was sought today to oppose the March Field, Cal., Fourth Air Force Flyers for the All-Pacific recreation fund football game on Dec. 12.

The fund committee, headed by film comedian Joe E. Brown, announced that the once defeated Flyer who boast vistories over Southern California and the San Diego Training Station eleven, have agreed to play in the game.

Polish Children Are Seized As Hostages

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—The Germans have seized children as hostages in Poland, the Polish telegraph agency reported from London today.

The agency said 50 children had been taken in recent raids in Warsaw. Most of them were taken from a tuberculosis sanitarium in Otowck, a suburb of Warsaw.

The population of Warsaw, the agency said, has been reduced from 1,500,000 to 950,000, as a result of executions and imprisonments.

Nazis Slay Patriots In Mass Executions

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 17 (AP)—German occupation troops this morning carried out a series of mass executions of prisoners captured in an all-day battle with Italian partisans near Domodossola yesterday, dispatches from Brigue to the newspaper La Suisse reported today.

The bulk of the Italians escaped to the northern Italian hills, the Brigue reports stated.

Great Allied Decisions Believed In Offing

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Military and political decisions—surpassing those of the Moscow agreements—for a final victory drive in Europe in 1944, and to secure American-Russian-British post-war partnership for peace, are expected unofficially in London.

The expectation of historic new steps was heightened by reports from Washington and Vichy of a future conference of President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin, and Prime Minister Churchill

The Moscow conference of foreign ministers which met with such success had first been announced as the prelude to a meeting among the heads of the three governments.

Tooth decay is the most common disease of mankind.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says some salespeople these days seem to be unable to conceal their immense satisfaction in not being able to supply the customer with what he wants.

* * *

Personal liberty and freedom of speech are myths. If a fellow started out in the morning to do as he pleased and say what he thought, by noon he'd be in jail, in the hospital—or on a slab in the morgue!

* * *

DR. BERNICE MOORE, Hogg Foundation lecturer, and Mrs. Grafton Abbott, of the American Social Hygiene association, got down to brass tacks in Dallas the other day while addressing a group of people interested in methods to reduce juvenile delinquency. These women, experts in the field of sociology, flatly told their listeners that all the good intentions in the world won't get the youth job done unless the program is made attractive to the youngsters, themselves.

Doctor Moore told her audience that youth centers must be entertaining. Mrs. Grafton said the kids have to be given what they want, and not what the oldsters think they should have.

In short, the women reviewed the youth situation from a practical standpoint and without wearing rose-colored glasses.

Dr. Moore used as one example a youth center which the youngsters, themselves, helped to complete. They thought it would be a place where they could have fun, but when the place was opened a strong church element banned dancing. The kids left the youth center like rats from a sinking ship and instead of doing good, the center resulted in harmful reaction against all youth improvement agencies.

"The question," said Doctor Moore with logic which cannot be denied, "is not whether youth should dance, or not, but WHERE they will dance."

And anyone with even a nodding acquaintance with young people knows she is as right as rain.

THE Episcopalians, it seems to us, are using the best of judgment in the handling of their young people. Here in Lubbock, for instance, the Episcopal people have Seaman Hall, a building set aside for recreational purposes and where, in addition to other entertainments, there are held regular dances under the best sort of surroundings and chaperonage. Through this system the Episcopalian youngsters—and a great many others who subscribe to different theologies—have a lot of fun dancing, as well as in engaging in other social affairs.

The set-up at Seaman Hall, sponsored by the people of St. Paul's and carried on through the good offices of Rev. and Mrs. John Winslow, is of great assistance to those parents who want their youngsters to live normal, happy lives and who can more easily keep their children away from undesirable surroundings by letting them take their enjoyment temperately and under the best of circumstances.

The Plainsman is not in the dancing business, nor is he promoting dancing.

Having danced somewhere in the neighborhood of a million miles, he long ago had enough of it.

He knows, full well, that many people object to dancing on moral grounds—which is their right in this free land.

Yet the fact remains that all the exhortations under the sun will not keep most young people from dancing and having other forms of fun. So it seems to us that the smart thing to do is arrange to let the youngsters have their fun in good surroundings, rather than in bad or questionable ones.

CHURCH social organizations can hold kids with simple little parties for awhile, but they can't hold them after they get well into their 'teens. They tire of bobbing for apples, playing hide-and-go-seek or ping-pong, and listening to stories slanted at 12-year olds.

Therefore, the social organizations of the churches have to make this decision:

"Is it better for us to loosen up and really entertain the kids once-in-awhile; or shall we stick our heads into the sand and literally push them into other, and perhaps less desirable, atmospheres?"

It seems to The Plainsman that there's just one sensible answer to the question, although he knows full well that many will disagree and continue to butt their heads against a stone wall.

While the Episcopalians, as far as this section of the country is concerned, took the lead in modernizing church social affairs, they are not alone in the project. Since the Catholics have had a parish hall, they, too, have sponsored supervised dances for their young people. Others may be expected to follow suit.

Upon return from a meeting of Presbyterian leaders a few months ago, the Rev. Dr. Jack M. Lewis remarked to us that the younger preachers of his denomination were arguing for more liberal functions in connection with the church's social affairs. From Dr. Lewis' remarks, we drew the inference that if his church had a recreational hall the Presbyterians here would be having supervised dances. If and when such a building is erected by Presbyterians, doubtless they will have them.

While The Plainsman is still hide-bound enough to frown upon dancing inside a church building, itself, it seems to him that the post-war era should see all the denominations building recreation halls—places not only for dancing, but for other social assemblages.

From where we sit it looks like money can better be spent that way than on foreign missions—but there, of course, we know we've put our foot in it with a lot of people who have the right to disagree.

CERTAINLY, even the staunchest opponent of the dance must admit that if 'teen-agers are going to dance they will be better off in a church recreation hall than in a honky-tonk.

And whether the staunch opponent will admit it, or not, the fact remains that most youngsters want to dance, like to dance, and WILL dance, some place or another.

Here is a problem—call it a challenge—facing every religious denomination in the land.

How each denomination meets the challenge is, of course, the business of the people who are members of that denomination.

But they've all got to meet it, one way or another.

How the various ones meet it will be interesting to watch; how each attempted solution works out will also be of interest to society as a whole.

A psychologist says ignorance is the most expensive thing in the world.

Maybe so, but if ignorance is bliss, as the copybooks used to say, it's worth whatever it costs!

That Man on Avenue Q says a kleptomaniac is a fellow who helps himself because he can't help himself.

Most Americans are patriotic and wish to bear the full share of the expense of the war. But so far we haven't heard anyone say "I regret that I have but one income to give for my country!"

* * *

WHEN you get to feeling like you're misused, and "never have a chance," remember it's a fair question whether there aren't more opportunities for success than men to take advantage of them.

I Am A Murderer

By MORRIS MARKEY

(Copyright, 1943, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE STORY: This is the story of the "perfect crime"—the murder of Col. Wesley Hope Merriwether in the library of his Long Island estate—and of the events leading up to it. The Colonel's daughter Cynthia has a half-hearted suitor in polo-playing Fred West; a bashful suitor in Mitchell Grace, the Colonel's secretary; a close friend in Henry Prentiss, another polo player. But Cynthia seems most attracted to a foreign correspondent, Vaughan Dunbar, who appeared unheralded one night with a message from Cynthia's old friend, Bill Stewart.

THREE MEN ON HER HANDS

CHAPTER IX

Colonel Merriwether picked up a card from his desk, and examined it quietly, and handed it to Grace. "Will you pleas telephone Mr. Vaughan Dunbar at the hotel he indicates here and ask him to dine with us this evening?"

Mitchell Grace said, "Certainly, sir," while chemical changes of a deplorable nature occurred in his blood stream.

He walked out with the card, and made his telephone call, and received word that Mr. Dunbar was out but would be given the message promptly upon his return. He sat then, at the window of his pool where he saw not only Cynthia Merriwether but also Henry Prentiss. They sat together on the stone bench, and between them there was laughter.

At the pool, the gravest matter to fall into the talk between Cynthia and Henry Prentiss was the disgusting fact that he could not go into the water.

"It wouldn't hurt the mitt," he said, "but think what it would do to all those nice, clean bandages."

"I could put on new ones. Hey! That's the way for a gentle maiden to capture the hero's heart, isn't it? Binding up his wounds! I could even tear a strip off my petticoat. That would make it perfect!"

Granting the maiden, I don't grant the gentle," he said.

And Cynthia Merriwether blushed.

"Furthermore," he said, "where in the name of Harper's Bazarr would you find a petticoat? Tell me that, Miss Pretty, and I'll do a half-gainer off the high board—and now!"

"Rat."

Which, for the ridiculous reasons that obtain in such encounters, brought on laughter, and Cynthia went swimming, and Prentiss looked at her. And Prentiss sighed. But then he got himself a cocktail from the glass-topped table near his chair, and drank it with plebeian swiftness.

When Cynthia came back to sit beside him on the bench with water dripping down from her legs to make small puddles on the ground, he got her a cocktail too, and admired her while she lifted it, and said with a detachment and perspicuity which were not of his usual way of speaking, "Something troubles you, Pretty. Tell the old boon companion what it is."

"Poor Grace," she said.

"The devil is head over heels for you, isn't he?"

"Is that it? Is that really it, Hank?"

"You talk like something out of 'Little Women.' "

"You make me feel like something out of 'Gone With the Wind.' "

In such trifling manner (though surely with no unkindness) the doleful plight of Mitchell Grace was discussed. And the discussion waned because there seemed nothing that anybody could do about it anyway. And the discussion died because Henry Prentiss suddenly remembered.

"People dance at the club tonight. For the sake of my prestige, I cannot afford to appear with anything but the loveliest and the best. Meaning you. If you want a sprig of posies, you'd better decide which of those two dresses you're going to wear."

"Thanking you just the same, but Fred West is in by a neck."

"All right, then, Miss Pretty, goodbye. I'll see you at the dance—if I'm permitted to look."

"Permitted is the word for it, after last night."

"I can explain!" He said this with an exaggeration of mockery, but she was trotting away up the lawn and it is doubtful whether she bothered to hear him.

Mitchell Grace, from his window, watched her approach. Pain was upon him.

Within the languid course of the afternoon, Vaughan Dunbar telephoned, and spoke with Mitchell Grace, and said that he would be pleased to dine at Stone House. When this word was dutifully delivered to Cynthia, she put in a call for Fred West:

"We've got to call signals again."

"If this is another runaround, my dear, I'm off to join the Canadian Air Force."

"You'll have to blame the Colonel. He has invited Vaughan Dunbar for dinner, and according to the rules I've got to be here for dinner too."

"All this just after I've called the club and reserved the best table in the joint."

"Why don't you come here for dinner yourself?"

"That's better. Not much, but a little."

"And how's for this—bring Anne along, if she hasn't got a date."

"Anne never has a date. Nobody's cousin ever has a date. But why drag her in on it?"

"Because there's got to be another gal, that's why."

"I get it. Somebody for me to talk to while you disappear somewhere with the great Dunbar. Well, I've already heard everything Cousin Anne has to say. Too often."

"Can't you trust me?"

"No."

"Then I'll expect the pair of you about half-past 7."

"Okay."

"Buy her a posy."

"I'll see you."

Thereafter, with the warmth of her well-designed ear still upon the telephone receiver, Cynthia dialed the number of Henry Prentiss. She knew perfectly well that she was being rather silly and childish, but that knowledge did not deter her in the least. Henry Prentiss was altogether too cocksure, and so she said to him when he answered:

"It may be, friend, that I will not make it to the dance after all. Just called so you wouldn't brood."

"Why aren't you going?"

"You needn't be so gruff about it. It's a damn fine thing for me to call you at all."

"Much obliged. But I would still like to know what you're up to."

"The Colonel is having Vaughan Dunbar to dinner. If he wants to go to the club after, I'll take him. Or he may go home early, and I'll come on with Fred. Or he may want to stay and talk."

"Personally, you prefer for him to stay and talk."

"On the contrary, Mr. Know, I prefer to show him off at the club, if he'll go. A new face is a kind of treat around these parts."

"How's for putting up a place at the table for me too, and letting me show the guy up?"

"No good. I've got only one other gal, and it wouldn't work."

"Well—wishing you a very pleasant time."

"Write soon."

"Love and kisses."

"Very truly yours."

This Curious World

BY WILLIAM FERGUSON

Today's Journal Editorial

THERE'S SOME SQUIRMING GOING ON!

Most people in the United Nations doubtless have enjoyed the recent squirmings of Spain and Argentina, which led the rooting section for the Axis when the war was going differently.

Franco, the pigmy dictator of Spain, has tried to explain why he sent a congratulatory message to the puppet government set up by the Japs in the Philippine Islands. The message was merely "an act of courtesy," Franco now whines. It meant nothing, he insists. He doesn't mention, of course, that it is contrary to international practice for a nation to send such messages to any government it does not recognize. The message in this case clearly implied Franco's recognition of the puppet government in the Philippines.

In the Argentine, the dictatorial government is reiterating its assurances that it actually has been for the Allies all along. The fact that Axis propagandists and spies made their headquarters there during the first three years of the war meant nothing. The fact that those agents were responsible for the sinkings of heaven knows how many Allied ships didn't mean anything, either. The Argentine still was for the United Nations while conniving in the murder of Allied people.

Spain and Argentina probably expected the receptions that their "explanations" have received. Doubtless they are fully aware that the Allies are enjoying the well-known last laugh at the expense of the nations which picked the Axis to win the war, and then acted accordingly.

Bureaucracy In Action!

By JAMES THRASHER
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—Tourists have been saying for years that New York is a wonderful place to visit but they'd hate to live there. Maybe they said it about Washington, too, before the war. But no transient caller in our nation's capital has delivered himself of any such observation since then. In fact, few of them have probably said anything printable in a family newspaper, what with the crowded trains, hotels, restaurants, theaters, busses and whatever else is likely to attract more than two people at one time.

And when an out-of-towner's visit involves business with the War Production Board, his feelings are apt to take on a violent tinge. By the time he has been through the involved process of getting to see his man and getting out again, the average visitor is more than ready to flee the town forever and let WPB do with him as it will.

Visitors find that any WPB employe, however humble his position, is slightly less accessible than the Grand Lama of Tibet. But if they think that the time and red tape involved in getting him is the result of inefficiency and lack of system, they're wrong.

It's all planned. And it may cheer the visitor who has been through the mill to discover that the receptionist who kept him from his quarry may have been quite as confused and frustrated as the visitor himself.

BOOKLET EXPLAINS ALL

THIS heartening conclusion is the result of reading a WPB booklet titled "Regulations Governing Entrance to Offices of the Board." In 14 pages of fine type it sets forth the front-door ceremonies involving the leisurely welcome of everybody from a cabinet member to a Western Union messenger onto the premises.

All the rules are different and none of them is easy. Employes, deliverymen, the press, special visitors, frequent visitors and just plain visitors, all require a different technique.

Suppose you are a visitor (the one defined in section 3.06, not the special one referred to in section 10.01). If the stern-faced guards at the entrance don't scare you out of the idea completely, you approach the receptionists' desk. There are lots of receptionists, all doing different jobs, but somebody will steer you right.

Having ascertained whom you wish to see, and if you have an appointment, the receptionist will then telephone the object of your quest. "If it is suggested by the employe that the visitor come to his office," says the booklet, "the receptionist shall fill out and initial a visitor's pass."

And what happens if, after you have come all the way from Muskogee, the employe is feeling out of sorts, or just forgets to make that necessary suggestion? Don't despair. "If a visitor is unable to secure an appointment, he will be given an exit check to permit him to leave the building."

PATIENCE PLUS PASS

IF, however, you do receive a cordial invitation, the receptionist writes down the date, your name and address, your quarry's name and room number, and the number of the badge you are going to get. You then sign the pass, and get the original and the pink copy. Don't pay any attention to the white and yellow copies. You also get your badge—provided your man is ready to see you.

Of course, if you try to carry out anything that you didn't carry in, or stay more than seven hours, or don't get your pass signed by the interviewer, or wander in a daze exceeding 30 minutes that isn't accounted for on your pass, you've got a lot of explaining to do with the gendarmes at the door. And if they don't like your explanation—well, even the booklet doesn't say what happens.

If you're going to be in and out of a WPB building for several days you can, with WPB's approval, get a special visitor's pass. This is issued if the Board thinks its work will be "expedited and benefited by allowing the prospective special visitor access frequently and without undue delay."

But don't think that the avoidance of "undue delay" is the regular thing, or a consummation devoutly to be wished. Not at all. A White House messenger is the only visitor who the booklet specifies is to be allowed to "proceed without delay." The rest of you guys can just take WPB's own sweet time.

Maybe you should have just written a letter, after all.

Ernie Goes Home To Find His Father In The Hospital

Elder Pyle Proves Quite A Problem To Nurses

By ERNIE PYLE
Journal Roving Correspondent

CLINTON, Ind.—My father is in the hospital for the first time in his life. He celebrated his 76th birthday there the other day.

He has been in the hospital for six weeks now, and has a month to go. He enjoys it more than anything that's happened to him in years.

My father stumbled and fell at the foot of some steps in the basement of Rhoades' store in Dana, the last of September. He didn't break anything, but he was so badly bruised and wrenched that he couldn't move, and Mr. Lunger said my dad felt just like a feather, for he's a little fellow like me.

ERNIE PYLE

They put him in an ambulance and brought him to the Clinton hospital, eight miles from our home near Dana. He couldn't move at all for several days, he was so sore.

Then he got to having nightmares and staggering around in his room at night, so the surgeon put a splint on his hip to keep him in bed.

Just A Safety Precaution

It's merely a safety precaution, for the doc says he might break his already weakened hip-bone just by wandering around the room. My dad gets mixed up and calls the splint a "flint" when he tells about it.

The nurses all adore my dad, because he is mild and undemanding and extremely grateful for everything they do. As a consequence, they do more for him than anybody else. They joke with him and poke fun at him, and he likes that.

THE night my dad had his night-long nightmare was quite an occasion. Actually he was delirious, for part of the time he thought he was in Rockville, 25 miles away, and part of the time out in a tent in the hospital grounds. (He must have been reading too many of my war stories, for there isn't any tent in the hospital grounds).

At any rate, it was while he was "in the tent" that he had to go to the toilet. He got out of bed and couldn't find the door to the bathroom. He got completely lost there in the dark. Then he felt the foot of the bed, and since he figured he was in a tent with no floor but the ground, what difference did it make? The nurses caught him at that, and put him back in bed. I don't believe I've heard my father get as tickled in 40 years as when he recounts the story.

After awhile the nurses found him wandering around the room again. They asked him what he thought he was doing. He said why, he was just trying to find his way back to the hospital. He thought he was up at Dana and it was time for him to be getting back.

After that they put sideboards on his bed, so he couldn't get out. But he thought some strange men in the room were after him, and in trying to get away he worked his legs out through the spaces in the sideboard, and got caught and all tangled up, and was hanging practically upside down when the nurses found him. After that they put the "flint" on his hip, to keep him in bed for sure. He hasn't had any nightmares since.

Baby Production Up

My father really seems to relish being in the hospital. He has a nice corner room where he can look out at the front lawn and see people come in. His general health is good, and he looks fine. The nurses give him a bath every morning, and one of them shaves him.

He says the hospital food is wonderful. They've really converted him down here. He has never eaten butter nor drunk coffee in his life; now he's consuming both and loving it. He has about 10 visitors a day, and he keeps his door open all the time for fear he'll miss something going on out in the hall.

The Clinton hospital, like hospitals all over the country I'm told, is producing more babies than at any time in history. As one of the nurses said, "The Army is sure shelling out the babies."

My dad is quite struck with this wholesale addition to the population, and every morning asks the nurses the score for the night. He and the nurses make jokes about it. My dad is scared to death they'll get mixed up and take him to the delivery room some day.

* * *

MY dad is neither blind nor deaf, but he is a little of each. His eyes are so bad people have to read his letters to him, and you have to speak rather loud to him. Which leads to a little story.

The night I arrived, several members of our family met the train and we drove right to the hospital. The folks hung back so I could go ahead into the room alone.

So I went in and my father held out his hand, and we talked together for about a minute, and then the rest of them came in. He greeted them all, and then asked if they had been to the depot yet. They said yes, and then my dad said:

"Did Ernest come?"

So they all howled and said, "Who do you think you've been talking to the last few minutes?"

"Why," he said, "I thought it was Clyde Howard." Clyde is the barber up at Dana. My dad was very chagrined.

Furniture Men To Hear Dallas Man In Talk Here Tonight

Lubbock furniture men are invited to attend a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Groce Furniture company, 1801 Broadway, to hear H. E. Dill of Dallas, secretary of the Texas Retail Furniture association, discuss problems of the industry.

OPA and ODT regulations will be given special discussion by Dill and another representative of the association, whose name was not available this morning.

All new and used furniture dealers of Lubbock and surrounding area are invited to attend tonight's meeting, it was said.

Fight Over Subsidies

lawmakers from farm states.

Higher Wages Feared

On the other side were administration stalwarts and legislators from districts in industrial and urban areas. They contend that increased food prices will force higher wages and shatter the "hold-the-line" program.

This was the theme broadcast over the radio last night by Price Administrator Chester Bowles, who predicted that abolition of subsidies would lead to a rise in all food costs, with the result that the War Labor board would be unable to resist pressure for higher wages.

He predicted milk would go up a cent a quart, butter four and a half cents a pound, cheese three cents, and meats two to six cents a pound.

Reds Closing In On Gomel

13 miles of the north-south Odessa-Leningrad railway.

More than 1,000 Germans were slain in the triple drive on Korosten and 60 towns were liberated by Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's forces, the communique announced. Great quantities of war material fell to the advancing troops, it added.

Reds Battering Gomel

The Red army columns battering the defenses of Gomel, having cut the Gomel-Kalinkovichi rail line yesterday, were driving toward the latter stronghold, which is still another rail junction important to the enemy supply setup.

The Moscow bulletin said the Germans had "sustained tremendous losses in manpower and equipment" in this westward surge which netted the Russians an additional 10 German strongpoints.

(The Berlin radio said 25 Russian divisions and large tank forces, perhaps 400,000 men in all, were attacking with strong artillery support on both sides of the Smolensk-Orsha highway in the frozen north.

(Today's German communique said the Russians had "dented" their lines northeast of Kerch in the Crimea; southwest of Dnepropetrovsk and north of Krivoi Rog in the Dnieper bend; and southwest of Gomel. The Germans reported that Nazi counter-attacks had made "good headway" near Zhitomir and that numerous prisoners and arms were captured on an island in the Dnieper near Zaporozhe.

Suit Asks $70,000 In Mince's Death

Mrs. Minnie Mince, individually and as next friend for two minor children, Tuesday afternoon asked judgment of $70,000 from four defendants as outgrowth of the Sept. 14 death of her husband Alvin Eugene Mince, 21, on the Lubbock-Idalou highway.

She named as defendants Jack Dudley of Lubbock and Jo W. Jack of Dallas, owners of South Plains Transport company; Paul H. Jones and R. V. Martin, both of Dallas, represented to have been owner of a truck driven by Dane Bennett that allegedly was in collision with one driven by Mince and said to have been leased by the transport company.

In addition, Mrs. Mince named as a defendant H. W. Stotts, of Lubbock, employer of Mince, and asked judgment against him of $7,200, represented to have been the amount of recovery to which she would have been entitled had Mince been protected by workman's compensation.

The court was asked to award Mrs. Mince $35,000; Don Gaylord Mince, 2, $17,500 and Jessie Delane Mince, 1, $17,500.

Health Units Are To Follow Up Armies

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 17 (AP)—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration will send life-saving teams of doctors and nurses into Europe behind the armies to fight disease and starvation, Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general, of the U. S. Public health service, said today.

Chairman of UNRRA's commission on medical care for civilians in war zones, Dr. Parran said at a press conference that reports gathered from France and Poland indicated the UNRRA must move rapidly to prevent a world-wide spread of epidemics.

Before Dr. Parran revealed the plans to counteract disease, a high source said that it had been decided that title to the relief supplies would pass, at the post of entry, into the hands of whatever existing government controls the territory.

Thus, if the first food boat into the Netherlands, is followed shortly by a boat carrying Queen Wilhelmina and her cabinet, the distribution of the food will be turned over to them.

Miners, Operators Framing Contract

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—The United Mine Workers and a group of soft coal operators took the first steps today toward a new contract, amid signs that a significant and new lineup is developing among the operators.

The conferees, including John L. Lewis, got together at a meeting sponsored by Interior Secretary Ickes, who got the session under way and then left them alone. They agreed, after talking for a couple of hours, to meet again tomorrow when it is expected a formal conference body will be organized and the actual work of contract making begun.

Ickes, boss of the government operated mines, has been urging a new contract so that he could return the mines to private operation.

Errand Boy's Bank Account Gets Boost

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. (AP)—Bobby Ownbey's modest bank account, built up on his $5-a-week errand boy salary, received a $1,000 boost today.

The 11-year-old boy found a pouch containing three diamond rings, a diamond studded pin and a diamond necklace, outside a bank several days ago.

He gave the gems, valued at $115,000, to his father who located the owner, Mrs. Pauline Weise, an elderly woman in her 70's. Bobby handed over the pouch to Mrs. Weiss who, in turn, presented the youth with nine crisp $100 bills and two equally as crisp $50 bills.

PEACE MOVE SEEN

LONDON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Reuters, in a Zurich dispatch, said today that Bulgarian Foreign Minister Shishmanov had flown to Budapest to discuss the possibilities of joint peace action with Hungary.

Markets At A Glance

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) — Cotton futures held to a relatively narrow range today. Business was restricted by uncertainties of the subsidy question in Congress. Price fixing against textile contracts, and commission house buying lifted prices 35 cents a bale in early trading, but most of the gain was erased later on hedge selling and liquidation.

Futures closed (old contracts)— unchanged to 25 cents a bale higher.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — Strong demand for wheat in the cash market and a news dispatch quoting "informed sources" as saying subsidies for hard wheat millers will be announced some time this week sent the bread cereal into new high territory for as long as 18 years today.

Final prices on wheat were at the day's highs. The grain closed ¾-1¾ higher, December $1.60½-⅝, rye was up ⅞-1, December $1.13⅝-½, oats were ahead ⅛-⅜, December 78⅞-79, and barley was ⅞-1⅛ higher, December $1.20¼.

Stock Market

STOCKS LOSE GROUND

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) — The stock market lost ground today under the weight of sporadic liquidation and most leaders were behind despite resistance that developed late in the session.

Selling was well scattered through the list and left numerous prominent issues behind fractions to more than two points toward the close.

Dealings picked up intermittently, mostly on downturns, and for the full session amounted to about 850,000 shares.

Liquors, steels, rails, chemicals and specialties led the retreat, although some of them pared or erased their losses.

Allied Mills, which has a liquor subsidiary, defied the lower trend and was active on the upside touching a new peak for the year. American Distilling slipped but tended to come back. Hiram Walker, Schenley and Park & Tilford were laggard.

Other backward shares included Bethlehem, General Motors, Goodyear, American Telephone, Westinghouse, General Electric, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville, J. I. Case, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Northern Pacific, Anaconda and American Smelting.

Ahead now and then were Chrysler, Goodrich, Western Union, Texas Co. and Boeing.

Negro's Conviction For Rape Is Upheld

AUSTIN, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — The Texas court of criminal appeals today affirmed a life prison sentence given J. C. Lomax, negro, in his third trial for rape committed on a white woman near New Caney, Tex., March 30, 1938.

Lomax twice was given death verdicts. The first was reversed by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals because the trial judge in Montgomery county failed to instruct the jurors to consider whether an alleged confession was forced. A second death verdict, on retrial in Walker county, was affirmed by the Texas appellate court but reversed by the U. S. Supreme court. The alleged confession had been used in that trial also and although the U. S. Supreme court wrote no opinion in reversing the case, the court here concluded from cases cited in briefs that the reversal was because of use of the defendant's statement.

At the third trial in Jefferson county, the statement was not used. The appeal this time urged insufficiency of evidence. The evidence included dog hairs from a quilt, a footprint, a muddied trouser knee, and the victim's identification of Lomax' voice.

Victory Gardeners Produce Much Food

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — Victory gardeners produced 42 per cent of all vegetables grown in 1943, and more than half the fresh vegetables available to civilians, James H. Burdett, director of the National Garden bureau, said today.

The Lincoln highway, connecting New York and San Francisco, is 3,384 miles long.

City Building Permit Total Up Slightly

The Lubbock building permit total for 1943 climbed a little higher from the bottom among the years with the issuance of a $125 permit this morning.

The permit, issued to F. D. Miller for residence enlargement work at 2306 Sixteenth street, shoved the construction total for the year to $217,761, thus nosing ahead of the $217,748 of 1935. The 1943 total now takes its place, without prospect of further climb, as the fourth lowest in the modern history of Lubbock.

The all-time low, since Lubbock started moving into the city class, was the $122,204 in 1932, with the $163,954 of 1933 next to the bottom. Fifth from the bottom is the $517,596 of 1931, when Lubbock construction first began to reflect the depression paralysis.

During the several years before the depression, much building was done in the city. Permits for 1929 totaled $3,337,305, which stood as the all time high for several years. Building began to pick up again in 1937, when the total passed the million dollar mark, and climbed steadily from year to year until it reached an all-time peak of $4,442,766 in 1940. Then the war emergency hit, and permits dropped to $3,543,939 in 1941 and to $2,068,875 in 1942.

Sheriff Abel Back From Vacation Trip

A lot happened to mark the vacation of Sheriff and Mrs. Tom Abel, but not much that was pleasant.

The sheriff, back at his desk this morning, explained.

He and Mrs. Abel left Sept. 2, upon advice of his physician, for a rest in California.

"The night I got there I ran a high fever that soon reached 105 degrees—and it was 38 days before I was allowed to walk. I was in a stupor much of that time, broken only by one thing that I can remember. It was Oct. 25, about 9:30 o'clock at night.

"Somebody began shaking my bed. I asked them not to shake it. Nobody answered, and about that time I heard a car hit the side of the house. I opened my eyes and nobody was in the room, but a large mirror hanging on the wall was swinging back and forth like a pendulum. Somebody stuck his head into the room and told me, 'it's an earthquake!'

"The 'car' I thought had hit the house proved to be a plateglass window going out across the street. The quake was soon over. Plenty of damage had been done, though."

Sheriff Abel lost 26 pounds in weight, but said he was "feeling fit as a fiddle now and ready to go back to work."

He visited with several sons and daughters when on the coast, at Fresno and Compton.

Gene Mince of Lubbock, who was killed; Graham with having burglarized a place owned by June L. Roberts and also with theft of a car owned by Monroe Williams and to have driven it to Amarillo with intention of attending a Lubbock-Amarillo football game; Monk with forging a $7.75 check to which had been signed the name of T. J. Davis, jr., and with passing it to J. R. Dickerson; Eady with having broken and entered the house of J. A. Peel, Newton with having burglarized a house of Steve Etter.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks said he hoped to dispose of some of the indictments this week through pleas of guilty, but that trial of indictments not so disposed of would have to be after Jan. 1.

tralian-manned Beauforts on Rabaul, New Britain; the bombing by an American Catalina flying boat of a 9,000-ton merchantman which had to be beached on the coast of New Ireland; and the downing of between 20 and 26 of 54 enemy planes which raided Allied airfields in the Ramu and Markham valleys of New Guinea, causing some damage.

Colonel Diller said the five per cent figure for resources at hand did not take in the Navy because its facilities can be shifted quickly from one sector to another.

In noting the flow of supplies "is much more than formerly," he added: "the percentage for air resources is somewhat lower."

(In Washington yesterday, Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Echols, assistant chief of air staff, said the limiting factor in the Pacific has been the "problem of supplying combat units, rather than the number of aircraft available . . ."

Mothers Are Warned Against Forces Attacking The Home

AUSTIN, Nov. 17. (AP)—Mothers tempted to over-indulge in activities outside the home were called upon today to guard against the many-sided forces of war that are attacking homes and families.

The speaker was Dr. Alice Sowers, director of the family life institute of the University of Oklahoma, before the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers in the opening session of its annual convention.

"It is important that mothers consider the care of their families and the companionship with them as important contributions to the home front during wartime, and that they keep this in mind when considering duties which require them to spend many hours outside the home," she said.

"This does not mean that mothers must remain at home all the time . . . but it does mean that today, when children are feeling more insecure than many adults realize, parents need to determine its effect upon each member of the family."

She urged, for example, that dinner not be allowed to degenerate into a "sort of lunch wagon affair" despite the inability to obtain paid help and becaue mother is busy and father is absent. Everything possible should be done to maintain family unity, she said.

Migration of families, family separations, working mothers, boys working in men's jobs, ill-considered marriages, and changing housekeeping standards, were listed as important factors brought on by the war that hold danger for the home.

News Briefs

Fine of $25 and assessment of 10 days in county jail were given Garland Flynn, who pleaded guilty of swindling by worthless check, a judgment of County Judge G. V. Pardue showed this morning.

Two girls, 17 and 18, were paroled to their Lynn county Mother, a 15-year-old "Phantom of Twenty-Sixth street" lectured, city-county juvenile officials said this morning. Juvenile Judge G. V. Pardue was informed the Lynn county girls had wandered unescorted on Lubbock streets late at night. One of them probably will accompany an older sister to California and seek employment in an airplane plant. The boy, Judge Pardue was informed, had admitted, in addition to his wearing a robe and mask, to having cut tires on a bike belonging to a friend and to have stolen property from his school room.

Officials of police this morning were studying clues in connection with the breaking of a two-foot hole in a display window of Clark's Drug store, at 1702 Broadway. A rock was thrown early today through the window, but no merchandise apparently had been taken.

Lewis T. Carpenter, Dallas attorney, is in Lubbock today, discussing business matters with Neil H. Wright. Mr. Carpenter, as a member of the state House of Representatives in 1922, wrote the bill which resulted in the founding of Texas Technological college. He will return to Dallas on tonight's train.

McMurry Endowment Proposal Discussed

Preliminary plans were discussed for Lubbock Methodists' part in the proposed campaign to endow McMurry college, Abilene, at a dinner meeting of majors and captains Tuesday night at First Methodist Fellowship hall.

Clay E. Thompson and R. P. Fuller are majors and their captains are C. D. Doggett, Watson Wilson, Ben V. Smith, J. H. Portwood, Freelan W. Groce, R. E. Hamilton, G. H. Williams, R. B. Luker, Arch L. King, R. O. Short, Joe Telford, J. P. Elms, Marshall Howard and John Austin.

At a banquet to be given at the same hall Friday night for teams in the campaign, Alfred T. Snoke, executive secretary with headquarters in Abilene, will tell of methods of procedure in raising the money.

Mesdames Otis Felty and C. C. Chambers were in charge of serving the meal, assisted by Mesdames B. F. Hodges, H. D. Delaney and O. L. Dixon.

Snow Hampers Movement

Snowfalls in the higher mountain areas hampered movement of men and supplies.

Near the western coast, British troops intercepted an enemy patrol which crossed the Garigliano river, shooting it up badly. In another patrol clash on the mountain road beyond Rionero in central Italy, more than a dozen German prisoners were seized.

North of Atessa, near the Adriatic, offiial frontline reports said Eighth Army forces improved their positions.

Three Allied Planes Lost

Three Allied planes were lost in the day's air forays.

The Fortresses striking Istres le Tube rounded out a full year since they first went into action in North Africa. Half a dozen of them bombed an airfield near Bizerte Nov. 16, 1942, a week after the Allied landings.

They pounded Istres le Tube yesterday in "considerable force," raining hundreds of high explosive and fragmentation bombs on the field, boring through heavy fighter and anti-aircraft defenses. This field was first attacked by Africa-based planes in mid-August.

The blow against harbor installations and the railway at Sibenik in Yugoslavia was another effective raid in close support of Yugoslav guerrillas. From Sibenik the Germans are conducting operations against guerrillas holding nearby islands.

The Mitchells struck Elevsis airfield in Greece with what was officially termed "the aim of further reducing the enemy air striking force which is closely based to the island of Leros." Fall of that Dodecanese island, however, was announced in Cairo today.

Stockmen Await Soybean Meal

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17 (AP) — Texas farmers, dairymen and ranchers are anxiously awaiting the distribution of soybean meal, proclaimed as the solution to the protein shortage.

Early in October some 300 cars of soybeans were shipped to South Texas cotton oil mills for processing. In addition, some 462 cars have arrived in Fort Worth for storage either by oil mills or in grain elevators.

But with these almost 700 carloads of soybeans within the borders of the state, protein feeds seem just as scarce and just as hard to get as they were before soybean shipments started.

Ranges are dry in many sections and small ranchmen in many areas are having to haul water for their livestock.

Trading Is Slow

Trading in stocker and feeder calves and yearlings and lambs has been slow for the past month, and some sections of West Texas report 30 to 50 per cent of the calves and lambs unsold, mainly light weight calves and lambs, and no buyers at prices sharply under prices paid for supplies that have moved and were contracted early.

Forced marketing of thin calves and yearlings will be a severe loss to ranchmen and will mean a big curtailment of future supplies of beef.

Reports indicate that many feeders are inactive due to their inability to buy or contract supplies of protein feeds.

A severe winter coupled with an inadequate supply of protein feeds would hit hard at breeding herds, the foundation of the beef supply for several years to come.

registrant works, rather than where he might be registered, shall handle occupational deferment appeals, and makes the President finally responsible for questions regarding industrial deferments.

The bill also authorizes the President to name a medical board to review physical standards set by the Army and Navy, and permits, under restrictions, pre-induction physical examinations.

It was said that most single men of the nation, physically and otherwise acceptable to the armed forces, now are in the armed forces and the bill would have no retarding effect on the drafting of fathers who consistently have been on the bottom of the list. As for non-deferrables, it was said, those not already in the Army would just go in their regular order number.

Shortage Of Surface Water Said Critical

AUSTIN, Nov. 17 (AP) — West Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma in the Southwest are suffering from a surface water supply shortage that was characterized as critical today by the U. S. geological survey.

In its monthly water resources survey, for October, the agency said that these supplies will reach new lows in many areas of the regions named if deficient precipitation continues during November.

Sub-normal stream flow characterized the southern two-thirds of the nation, but there remained surplus water in storage for irrigation. Natural ground water storage decrease was indicated by a continued decline of water levels in most key observation wells.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 — If you've had trouble buying infants' and children's underwear — the supply hasn't been too plentiful everywhere—then this is what Arthur Whiteside, head of the Office of Civilian requirements (OCR), said today:

"The situation in that line should be safe in the next 30 to 60 days."

But Roy Cheney, president of the ready-to-wear institute which claims membership of 85 per cent of the manufacturers, will go along with Whiteside's "safe" forecast only to this extent:

"If the War Manpower commission (WMC) declares the underwear industry essential to the war and, therefore, its workers essential, I'm hopeful that we can begin approaching production for minimum needs in the next 30 to 60 days."

Whiteside's word "safe" meant only enough garments to meet essential needs.

It did not mean enough to meet demands, for the difference between need and demand is something like this:

A woman, needing only two dozen diapers for her child, buys only that many. A woman, needing only two dozen diapers for her child but, having plenty of spending money or feeling a diaper shortage, demands 12 dozen.

Cheney say that because the underwear workers have not been declared essential—and therefore given draft deferment—they have gone into the Army or into other industries, by the thousands.

A second factor in production of infants' and children's low-priced garments, Cheney says, has been ceilings which, imposed by the Office of Price administration (OPA), the industry considered too low.

Those ceilings, Cheney says, have forced manufacturers to turn to other lines where the margin of profit is larger. He says it will continue that way unless the ceilings are relaxed.

BEST GUARD

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP)—Coache at Penn State say John Jaffurs, veteran Nittany Lion guard, has made about one-fourth of all the tackles in the college's games this season.

Jaffurs, mentioned on several all-American teams last season, is called "the best guard in the country," by Head Coach Bob Higgins.

Lebanese Situation Is Dynamite-Packed

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

It would be difficult to wrap up a larger amount of explosive in a smaller package than has been done by circumstances in the case of the tiny republic of Lebanon.

The efforts of this unquenchable bantam state to escape the French mandate and establish its absolute independence, with the resulting disturbances and bloodshed, have created a dangerous problem for the United Nations. Indeed, the situation has become so serious that one would expect it to be one of the important matters to be dealt with at any conference which may be held by Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin.

Arrangement Unhappy

You will recall that at the time of World war number one Lebanon was part of the Turkish province of Syria. The Allies drove the Turks out and Syria was placed under French mandate.

Lebanon was most unhappy about this arrangement for two reasons. She didn't want to be controlled by the French, but preferred either America or Britain, and she didn't wish to be part of Syria, which is Moslem while Lebanon was one of the earliest Christian countries. France gave her autonomous status, but still retained control.

Promised Independence

Early in the present war the Hitlerites, with the connivance of the French Vichy government, were infiltrating into militarily strategic Syria when the British and Free French sent troops into the country and took charge.

The Free French under General de Gaulle assumed administration and his representative, General Georges Catroux, promised Lebanon and Syria their independence. However, freedom didn't move fast enough for the Lebanese and recently they took matters into their own hands by proclaiming their sovereignty. The French delegate general, Jean-Louis Helleu, arrested the Lebanese ministers, and subsequent clashes between French troops and demonstrators resulted in scores of casualties.

Moslems Resent Action

The Moslems of Syria immediately swung into support of their one-time enemies, the Christian Lebanese. The whole Great Moslem world of the Middle East began to seethe with resentment against the French. Saudia Arabia's powerful Moslem king, Ibn Saud, protested the French action but telegraphed to the Syrian government to keep calm.

Britain protested to the French Committee of National Liberation under General de Gaulle in Algiers, and the United States also made representations. De Gaulle sent General Catroux to release the imprisoned Lebanese ministers and try to straighten things out.

That's the situation as it is at the moment, and one doesn't need to be clairvoyant to see that it's packed with dynamite.

Big Job Follows As 4,000 Nickels Spill

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) —The crowd made its way along 42nd street. Of a sudden, came a staccato, metallic clattering — 2,000 jingles and 2,000 jangles, to be exact, as $200 worth of nickles slithered to the sidewalk and through a subway grating.

The buffalo heads poured from a burst bag being carried by a money express delivery man to a cafeteria.

Police stood guard as the unhappy man methodically picked up the 4,000 potential cups of coffee. The back-breaking, finger-scraping job took a half hour.

How many of the nickels he recovered was not known. But, commented a patrolman, "while he was down there he found two dimes and two pennies. For all I know, maybe he came out with a profit."

OPA's Suspension Of Business Is Upheld

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 17 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration, says Federal Judge A. B. Lovett, is not exceeding its authority when it suspends a business for rationing violation.

In a decision upholding an OPA order temporarily suspending a Savannah filling station, Judge Lovett ruled yesterday that the order was primarily remedial and only incidentally punitive, and that Congress had given the president the right to delegate such functions.

Judge Lovett said his decision differed from rulings given by a district of Columbia and a northern district of Texas ruling in similar cases. Those courts held suspension was primarily punitive and that Congress had delegated no authority to the OPA to punish.

Tapps' Home Burns; Gas Heater Blamed

Flareup of a butane gas heater in the bathroom caused loss of the home of Homer Tapps, eight miles from Lubbock on the Slide road, fireman who answered an 11:45 o'clock fire alarm Tuesday night said.

Several soldiers passing in a car awakened the Tapps family and were accredited with having possibly saved several lives.

Loss to property approximated $6,000, firemen from No. 1 and No. 2 stations said.
