City Sets Public Hearing

Colorado City Council has set Monday, April 8, as date for the public hearing on the city budget.

Meeting will be in City Hall at 7:30 p.m. in the council chamber, second floor, Mayor John Chinn has announced.

All citizens interested in the proposed budget prepared by City Council and J. A. Sadler Jr., city manager, are asked to be present at the public hearing.

Budget is for the fiscal year to begin May 1, 1968, and to end April 30, 1969.

With Budget Hearing Coming Up

Office Shuffle At City Hall

City Hall, right in the middle of preparation for a new municipal budget, is shuffling its offices.

The shifting, which will relocate all main floor offices and move Police Chief Jesse Browning up from the basement, is another project of new City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr.

Office changes will be completed early this week after phone lines and stations are revamped.

Here is the way main floor will be changed:

Mrs. Mattie Lou Wallace, city secretary, will move from City Hall's front southeast corner to the front southwest corner, where the Colorado Independent School District tax office was located in previous years.

City Manager Sadler will move up from the rear northeast corner office to the front southeast corner vacated by Mrs. Wallace.

Police Chief Browning, who has only a desk in the combination Police Station and Traffic Court area in the City Hall basement, moves upstairs to the main floor and into the rear office space vacated by Sadler.

Counter and clerk space in the main work area of the City Hall will be revamped for better customer service.

A space located on the northside of the main floor between the chief's new office and the fire station will be utilized for office storage filing.

Sadler said the change is planned specifically to put the city manager "out front" where he is easily available to the public and also to provide a place for the police chief to conduct private conversation.

The northeast corner office for Chief Browning will have police radio speaker [illegible] to allow him ready access to all police functions.

As the office shuffling is being completed, the City Hall staff is compiling figures for the 1968-69 municipal budget.

Public hearing on the proposed budget is scheduled for Monday, April 8, in City Hall.

Budget figures still are in the tentative stage, but it looks like the total will be close to $369,842 for operation plus about $66,000 more for payments on bonded indebtedness.

City Manager Sadler has estimated approximately $81,112 for water and sewer, approximately $242,1[illegible] for general fund, about $43,604 for general executives expenses.

Bond payments on principal and interest will be in two amounts [illegible] approximately $31,762 and $34,573, up from $27,287 and $34,278 from 1967.

At the start of the new 1968-69 fiscal year, the city will owe $344,000 and $325,000 remaining in its bond accounts.

'We Owe So Much'

Final Tribute To Sergeant

The big minister who taught him in high school and on the football field spoke the final words here Saturday for Sgt. Glenn Standefer.

Rev. Caddo Matthews, who doubles as coach and pastor, turned to the Bible as he conducted funeral service for the 19-year-old Army paratrooper, Colorado City's latest Vietnam casualty.

Service was in First Baptist Church with full military rites at graveside in Colorado City Cemetery.

"We owe so much to those to take arms to defend the things and the loved ones we hold dear," spoke the minister of Plainview Baptist Church, who himself was a Marine in the Pacific during World War 2.

"Many are paying the supreme sacrifice as Glenn has done," he continued. "We salute him and others like him with all that is within us."

The minister opened his Bible to the eighth chapter, 28th verse in the book of Romans for reassurance from the Word of God that "we know all things work together for good to them that work for God . . . for them called according to his purpose."

"We ask why . . . when it will end, but only God knows," he said.

Then he emphasized a series of truths for man to tie himself to in the face of uncertainties. "God's unchanging hand . . . anchorage for your soul in the haven of rest . . . heaven and earth shall pass away, but God's word shall not pass away."

With evident emotion, the minister quoted from a framed copy of General Douglas MacArthur's famed farewell address at the U. S. Military Academy which hangs in his Colorado High classroom.

"I have seen them on a hundred battlefields," he quoted, "and around the campfires of battlefields . . . seen them at their worst . . . at their best.

Military honors were provided by uniformed escort from Fort Hood. Youths who were classmates of the young sergeant in Colorado High were honorary pallbearers.

The sergeant, who was killed Feb. 18 in Vietnam when a helicopter was shot down on a combat mission near Da Nang, was born July 7, 1948, in Stanton, but lived most of his life in Colorado City, where he attended high school and was a member of the football B-Team under Coach Matthews.

Survivors include his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Strain; a son, James Dalton Standefer, 2; two sisters and a brother, Mrs. Raymond (Kathy) Rich of Ranger, Dianne Standefer and Terry Standefer; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Henderson of Colorado City, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Standefer of Stanton.

Benson At A&M

In Industrial Short Course

Don Benson, who is chairman of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee, completed an industrial development course Friday at Texas A&M University.

The one week course equipped participants with basic knowledge of the factors and activities of industrial development organizations, such as chambers of commerce and public service companies.

A&M's Industrial Economics Research Division, state and national industrial development councils sponsor the course, the second at A&M and only the third held in the U.S.

"Industrial development is working into the total framework of community development," noted Thomas W. Finney, course dean and industrial development vice president of Dallas' First National Bank.

Class sessions eight hours a day were instructed by Texas and American Industrial Development Council officials, A&M, Texas and Oklahoma University faculty members. Forty-four participants have from one month to 20 years' experience in the field, according to James R. Bradley, course director of A&M's faculty.

RESOURCE MATERIAL

New Network To Serve Mitchell County Library

Texas State Library is ready to offer a new service to Texas citizens, including patrons of Mitchell County Public Library.

Public libraries throughout the state will now take part in the huge Texas State Library network.

Public libraries serving communities of 25,000 or less will soon be able to telephone a designated larger public library when this new service is needed.

Abilene has been designated as the major resource center for this area.

Requests for research material will be relayed by telephone to Abilene Public Library. If the needed material is not available, the Reference Division of Texas State Library will make every attempt to locate the resource material elsewhere, said Mrs. Ruth Dozier, Mitchell County Librarian.

Cost of this service will be paid for by funds made available under Title III of the Federal Library Services and Construction Act (P.L. 90-132) to be administered by Texas State Library Field Services Division.

Allocation for the Abilene area from Federal Libraries Services totals $11,000.

Other major resource centers in Texas are to be libraries in Amarillo, Austin, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Ft. Worth, Houston, Lubbock, and San Antonio.

Because no one library can own all the materials its

City Politics Dull

No Firework In Elections

This National Election year of 1968 is not sparking any races here on the city level.

Four places on Colorado Independent School District Board are to be filled in an April election. Four men have filed for the posts, two of them incumbents.

Tom Rees and O. B. Trulock, Jr. are seeking re-election. W. J. (Dub) Waldrip and Jeff Taylor announced their intention of running and filed their names for the ballot after Bill F. Carter and Warren Anderson, whose terms expire in April declined to seek re-election.

Three seats in City Council will also be filled in April. Three men, all incumbents, have filed for election. They are Eddie Piland asking for election to his first full term, Dr. John Chinn and R. J. Hoback.

Three members of Colorado City Hospital District board have terms expiring in April. Three men have placed their names on the hospital board ballot. They are the three incumbents, Bob Reily, Tom C. Moore, and Murrell Blassingame.

Deadline for filing as candidate in the hospital board election was Monday, March 11.

DINNER FOR 200 GUESTS

Mr. & Mrs. Otto Jones To Be Honored Monday

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Bassham of Colorado City and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chappell of Lubbock are to be host couples for a dinner party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jones Monday evening at 7 o'clock in Civic House.

The occasion will celebrate the more than 60 years of association of Mr. Jones with Renderbrook Ranch, one of the most widely known ranches in this area.

Born and reared at the ranch of his parents in the Decker Community south of Sweetwater in Nolan County, Mr. Jones joined the Renderbrook force as a young cowboy in August 1907.

The late D. N. Arnett was at that time manager of the giant spread established by the first J. L. Ellwood, late grandfather of Mrs. Bassham and Mr. Chappell.

Mr. Jones became manager of Renderbrook Ranch in 1912. Two years later he brought his bride to the ranch where the couple have lived continuously since. During the years when they were sending their two daughters to high school in Colorado City, they owned a home on Vine St. here which Mrs. Jones and the girls occupied weekdays, then spent weekends and all summer back at the ranch.

Their daughters will both be present at the banquet saluting their parents in appreciation of his six decades as "top hand" at Renderbrook and his wife's 54 years as his companion at the ranch.

The Jones daughters are Mrs. Pauline Kayser and Mrs. Lloyd (Frances) Croslin of Lubbock. Mrs. Croslin is mother of three sons, Lloyd, Lowell, and Eddie, one 13-year-old daughter, Carolyn. Lowell, in school in Tucson, Ariz., will miss the dinner party. The other Croslin sons and the daughter will attend with their mother and Mrs. Kayser.

Mrs. Kayser is mother of Ensign Ray Kayser who is currently on duty with the Enterprise, and of the late Richard Kayser, USN pilot who lost his life in a plane crash off the coast of Florida last December.

Two hundred invitations were sent by the host couples, ranch owners, to friends of the Jones family for the banquet and program to honor Otto and Myrtle Jones.

The couple to be complimented are members of First Methodist Church. He received his 50-year Masonic pin several years ago. Both have long been active in the civic, church, and social life of their community and of Colorado City.

Mr. Jones is now semi-retired.

$86,810 River Pumps

Contract At Diversion Dam

Contract totaling more than $86,000 has been awarded to a California firm for pump facilities at the off-channel diversion reservoir north of Colorado City on Colorado River.

Directors of Colorado River Municipal Water District also Thursday set April 9 as date for receiving bids for construction of a channel dam for the reservoir diversion.

Bids for the 5-foot high dam and 100 surface acre reservoir (2,500 acre feet) 2 miles north of the city will be received in Big Spring.

An $86,810 contract for pumps at the diversion reservoir were awarded on low bid to Johnson Pump Company of Glendora, Calif. The pumps will have an aggregate capacity of 81.5 million gallons of water per day.

J. D. Jones Construction Company of Big Spring received the $95,200 low bid contract for construction of a water treatment plant for the Humble IAB Field in Coke County.

Crews are already on the job laying pipeline routes from Big Spring to Moss Creek Lake in Howard County, which will be an intermediate storage point for water from Lake J. B. Thomas and the new Colorado River lake at Robert Lee. Lines also are being placed from Moss Creek to Sun Oil Pipe Line in the central area of Mitchell County, a facility which will supply treatment water for Sun Oil projects.

A special public "open house" at the new Robert Lee dam project has been set for afternoon of Sunday, March 31. This will afford the public free range for inspecting the four-mile long dam and other lake facilities being constructed.

Deep Oil Prospector

Northwest of Westbrook

A wildcat test has spread new oil interest in Mitchell County from the county's southern to northwest area.

The new venture will be Aikman Brothers Corporation of Midland No. 2 J. C. Womack, 10 miles northwest of Westbrook.

It will be a deep test, drilling to a proposed depth of 7,850 feet in the Caddo Reef formation.

Aikman No. 2 Womack will be 1.75 miles northwest of the depleted East Vincent reef lime pool and 2.5 miles south of the depleted Dunn reef lime pool.

Drill site will be 2,202 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of Section 8, Block 26, H&TC Survey.

The wildcat will be a twin test to a previous 8,338 foot failure.

In the county's southwest area, Shaheen No. 2 McDaniel had bottomed at 7,990 feet for tests.

No. 2 McDaniel is a diagonal northwest offset to the discovery well in the new Albaugh-Shaheen (Mississippian) Field. It is spotted 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of Section 15, Block 22, SPRR Survey.

Rotary rig will be moved from the Shaheen No. 2 McDaniel to Ray Albaugh No. 1-17 Ellwood, a new prospector in the same area which will test the Wolfcamp.

Four miles southwest of Colorado City, the Albaugh No. 1 C.C. Thompson was drilling below 3,282 feet in lime on its wildcat test of the Clear Fork.

EFFECTIVE CONTROL

Residue Saves Soil In Cheap Method

Rex McKenney, Warren Anderson, and A. K. McCarley, Jr. are cooperators with the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District who believe that the proper management of crop residue is one of the most important soil and water conservation practices used today.

Residue management is one of the cheapest methods available to farmers in this area for controlling wind erosion, according to McKenney. Managing the residue on the soil's surface is the objective, because living or dead residues are effective in controlling soil movement he reports.

There are several methods of managing crop residue for soil protection, states John Kazda of the Soil Conservation Service.

One method is to plant sorghums broadcast or in close spaced rows, and then maintain the residue on the surface of the soil to the end of the blow season. This crop can provide grazing as long as 2,500 pounds per acre of residue on sandy soils and 1,750 pounds per acre of residue on tighter soils are maintained.

Another method is to seed small grain or either a forage sorghum or a grain sorghum in the blank rows in skip row planted cotton. The sorghum stubble left standing will provide protection for young cotton plants and eliminate the need for sand fighting. After the cotton plants are larger and the danger from blowing sand has passed, the stubble can be mulched and a seedbed can be prepared to start the cycle over again.

A third method is to spread cotton burs over the bare ground to give protection from wind erosion.

"Any of these methods can be used to protect the soil. The one thing to remember, is that the more sandy the soil, the more residue is needed to protect it" said Kazda.

Wind Strip Cotton System

This forage sorghum planted in the middle 2 blank rows in a 2-4 skip row planted cotton will protect the soil from wind erosion throughout the blow season when it is left on the surface of the soil. This stubble left standing will protect young cotton or eliminate the need for sand fighting.

Deadlitter Cover on Field

No soil will be lost from this field to wind erosion. This sorghum stubble was shredded and chiseled and left on the surface. The residue will also hold the water on the surface and let more of the rainfall soak in.

LED BY MRS. CRADDOCK

Self Culture Club Has "Texas Day" Program

Texas Day program for Trinity River, Sabine River, day included a study of the rivers in Texas, San Antonio, Galveston and the state emblems.

Mrs. J. S. (Jess) Craddock Sr. was leader for the program hosted in the home of Mrs. Bill Broaddus by Mrs. H. B. Broaddus.

Mrs. Sam L. Majors Sr. spoke on the Rivers of Texas tracing the rivers and streams on a state outline.

She reported that approximately 3,700 streams of varying length and volume are listed in the Gazetteer of Texas Streams. Their combined length approaches 80,000 miles.

"In Texas," Mrs. Majors continued, "there are about 3,700 smaller streams."

She reported briefly on the Rio Grande, La Vaca, Canadian River, Red River, Concho, Colorado River, Trinity River, Sabine River, Guadalupe, Brazos, San Antonio River and the Nueces River.

Mrs. Glenn Coon of Loraine presented a brief study of San Antonio and HemisFair '68.

Mrs. Coon listed the countries taking part in HemisFair exhibitions as El Salvador, Belgium, Bolivia, Canada, Republic of China, Colombia, France, Germany and Berlin, Honduras, Italy, Korea, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, the Phillippines, Spain, Switzerland, Tunisia, United States and Venezuela.

In addition to those countries, Mrs. Coon explained, major private exhibitors totalled 15. Texas and Arkansas will also participate.

Mrs. Doyle Hester talked about Galveston, the City on Stilts.

She reported on the 1900 hurricane which brought disaster to Galveston but led to elevating the entire island as much as 13 feet in 11 years.

"Each building in the enormous undertaking was a project in itself," Mrs. Hester said.

She explained how schools, homes, stores and [illegible] buildings and churches sat perilously on stilts while [illegible] of cubic [illegible] of sand was pumped underneath.

"People continued to live, work, worship and go to school in these buildings, getting about via spidery catwalks," Mrs. Coon stated.

In concluding, Mrs. Coon reported that the [illegible] Galveston has stood the test of two hurricanes, one in 1915 and the other in 1965.

Mrs. Winnie Gunney displayed pictures and discussed bird life in Texas, noting that the mockingbird has been adopted as the state bird; the pecan tree, state tree, and the bluebonnet (state flower).

Refreshments were served following the program to Mrs. Coon, Mrs. Craddock, Mrs. W. L. Doss, Mrs. L. G. Hardison, Mrs. Doyle Hester, Mrs. Majors, Mrs. Doris Martin of Loraine, Mrs. J. T. Pritchett, Mrs. Gunney, Mrs. W. W. Rhode, Mrs. V. R. Trulock and the hostess.

ON PUBLIC RELATIONS

Record News Editor Speaks At B&PW Dinner Meeting

Mrs. Bill Coffey, news editor of Colorado City Record, spoke to Business and Professional Women Tuesday evening in Civic House.

Subject of Mrs. Coffey's talk for the regular dinner and business meeting was "Public Relations."

"Public relations has grown from a comparatively new field to a profession of giant stature," Mrs. Coffey began.

"The only field growing faster is the computer system field.

"Private businesses are usually represented in the public relations field by owners, managers and employees," the group was told. "All present an image, good or bad."

In answering the question, "How are we as working women to make that image an attractive, warm, cooperative one?" the speaker discussed three ideas.

First, she said, it's important to like what you do.

"And it's important to like people.

"Most important thing is to like yourself," Mrs. Coffey [illegible].

"The public is like West Texas weather. You can't depend on it. Your best method of course, then, is to [illegible] yourself [illegible] [illegible] so that the [illegible] public will come to know that it can depend on you [illegible] can know that if you say a thing is true, it's true.

"Make your own public image the calm, dependable person you know you are," she concluded.

Mrs. Chester Hart was awarded the state president's "measuring up" citation by the local club president, Mrs. R. V. Hock.

Mrs. Hart received the award "for measuring up in her career, in her club, in her community."

The citation was signed by Mrs. Bonnie Merriman, president of Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Hostess for the evening were members of the public relations committee — Mrs. Ross Dixon Sr., chairman; Mrs. J. Ed Richardson and Mrs. Maude Charters.

Mrs. Zella Davis, district director for B&PW, was a guest for the evening.

FOR 1968-69

Mrs. Latimer Elected Primary PTA President

Mrs. Curtis Latimer was elected 1968-69 president of the Primary Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday in the school auditorium.

The new officer slate, which will be installed before the next school term, includes Mrs. Latimer; Mrs. Earl Cook, first vice president; Mrs. Tom Neff, second vice president; Mrs. W. J. Waldrup, secretary.

Also, Mrs. Gerald Harrell treasurer; Mrs. Bob Shamburger, historian and reporter, and Mrs. Eddie Braswell, parliamentarian.

The P-TA also voted to fiance the beautification of the planter box at Primary by the Colorado City Garden Club.

Mrs. T. P. Fowler introduced the guest speaker, Sam Anderson, superintendent of school at Big Spring and past president of Texas State Teachers' Association, who spoke on special education.

Anderson reported that there were no provisions for special education in Texas until 1945. At that time two divisions — speech and hearing and physical handicap were established.

In 1955 provisions were made in public schools for trainable retarded children.

"Today we have programs for blind, deaf, partially sighted, physically handicapped and crippled children, heart defects and emotionally disturbed as well as brain damaged and retarded children," Anderson said.

He stated that Big Spring State Hospital has two units of emotionally disturbed children being taught now.

"This is a trial project," the group was told, "and will soon be wide spread."

He emphasized that occupational training is upcoming for the marginal (drop out) children.

"While these children will not be admitted to a senior college," he said, "they will be confident, self-supporting citizens because of special education."

Anderson reported that in 1945 there were 38 special education units in Texas serving 926 children. In 1967-68 there were 4,018 units activated which served 115,545 children in 439 school districts.

"Although this sounds like quite a bit there are 233,000 children that need special education that are not getting any kind of service.

"The state is spending thirty million on special education but $230,000,000 is needed," the speaker said.

In conclusion Anderson said, "We are making progress because more and more people are accepting responsibility and seeing that education is necessary for these children in order that they can be tomorrow's citizens."

CONVERSATION CORNER

Ruth Coffey's

TWO HEADLINES in Friday's Dallas News take the fancy and call for comment.

Both were over by-lined stories written by Arthur Ribbel of California News Service.

Turns out that Governor Ronald Reagon of California appointed a big committee to investigate ways and means of more economy and efficiency in state government offices out there.

Committee suggested coffee carts to serve employees at their desks. "Wise men in government," writes Ribbell "know the coffee break is here to stay."

. . Yeah. And if Governor Reagon is unwise enough to try abolishing it he'll be Ex-Governor Reagon . . . for sure.

COFFEE BREAK is as American as deep-dish apple pie . . . broiled steak and baked potato with sour cream . . . as the two-car family . . . as a movie star for governor and a Texas rancher for President.

Half the people in this town would be deprived of the pleasure of talking about the other half without the coffee break.

A coffee cart would not be the same as. At least 75 percent of the pleasure in a coffee break comes with seeing different faces and walking out, even if ever so briefly, on the routine and the job environment.

SECOND headline that gave me pause concerned an ex-governor, a good Democrat named Pat Brown, also of California.

"PRIVATE LIFE HAS MELLOWED FORMER POLITICIAN PAT BROWN," the headline reads.

That's the trouble with the private life of anybody. It's always mellowing you . . . seasoning you . . . aging you . . . confusing you.

The private life of people is what makes the hair turn gray. Keep at it long enough and you're liable to wind up with bifocals and maybe a hearing aid . . . along with assorted sizes of grandkids.

If that won't mellow you, what will?

First thing you know the old spizarinktum turns to philosophizing. And the get-up turns to sit down.

Next thing you know you're too tired for the coffee break.

M. N. CADDELL and Mrs. Caddell, former C-Citian now of Lawton, Okla., were highly praised by their pastor, Rev. Forrest H. Siler of First Baptist Church, Lawton, in a recent church bulletin.

The Caddells were praised for support given the new First Baptist Church West, mission which has a new building.

Rev. Siler wrote "To call a fellow a big man may mean almost anything. He may be improtant in industry, influential in the community. Or he may simply be a great Christian personality. Oh yes, he could be a big man, physically.

"Nap Caddell could fit into most of the categories if not all of them. He is a big man, take it as you will." The pastor then praised Nap for "sacrificial service."

Dedication sermon at the new mission church was preached by the way by Darwin Farmer, secretary of the department of mission for Texas Baptists. He is a former music-education minister for First Baptists in Colorado City.

Saw attractive Shirley DeLaney, Playhouse wardrobe mistress who made all these colorful costumes for Li'l Abner, and her husband Don who played Available Jones lunching together.

Jim Kelley was on the downtown scene . . . so was attractive . . . Anne Tiller Palmer (Mrs. Tommy) who lives in Houston . . . Emma Taylor, wife of E. J.

Frank Prewitt, music-education director at First Baptist, looks like a new man . . . about 50 pounds thinner . . . on purpose.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS brought a chat with Edna Coe Majors (Mrs. Sam L. Sr.) who was invited by Governor Connally to attend his conference on fine arts in Texas.

Vivacious Amoria Lee and her husband Rusty have been remodeling their home including their kitchen and Amoria's been loving eating downtown at noon. The Lees live at Tesco Village.

Saw Sudie and Wright Hock lunching out, too. J. A. Sadler, Jr. at coffee break . . . Janie Greenlee (Mrs. Don) . . . Nelda Garrett and Annie Dixon . . . pretty Nettie Doss, wife of Bill . . . Parnesa (Mrs. Chester) Hart. Viola (Mrs. Curtis) Erwin is home from Kansas City where she visited her sister Irene and Irene's husband Baxter Scroggin.

Addie V. Payne, wife of Jimmy, was in with Kiwanis Club news. Wayne Shawn, City National executive, stepped by a minute.

1968-69 Officer Slate

Final Rites Set for Mrs. Hagood

Funeral service for Mrs Oscar S. Hagood, 75, will be conducted Sunday (today) at 3:30 p.m. in Roscoe Church of Christ.

Mrs. Hagood, mother of Mrs. Alfred Hackfeld of Loraine, died Friday afternoon in Roland Nursing Home in Loraine.

J. B. Hudson, minister of Roscoe Church of Christ, and Wayne Cothra, minister of a Sweetwater Church of Christ, will officiate in final rites.

Burial will be in Roscoe Cemetery.

Mrs. Hagood was born April 7, 1892, in Hamilton County. She came to Westbrook and Mitchell County in 1906 and has lived in the Loraine and Roscoe area since.

She was married to Oscar Hagood Aug. 10, 1913 in Loraine. He died in 1965.

Survivors include four daughters — Mrs. Leland Light of Roscoe, Mrs. Tillman Parker of Roscoe, Mrs. James Ince of Hermleigh and Mrs. Alfred Hackfeld of Loraine; two sons — Clyde Hagood of Kermit and Wayne Hagood of Sweetwater.

Also, 17 grandchildren, three sisters and two brothers.

March ASC Letter Notes Programs

March newsletter from the Mitchell County Committee of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program have been mailed.

Concerning the 1968 cotton, feed grain and wheat programs, it was noted that 97 percent of the participants in the cotton program plan to divert 35 percent and plant 65 percent of their cotton allotment.

Almost 100 percent have requested advance payment from both the cotton and feed grain program.

Advance payment made to date total $174,355.91. Total cotton payments made in 1967, the letter continues, were $2,704,151.74.

Money is still available under the Agricultural Conservation program this quarter for producers to carry out cost-share practices on farm or ranch. A request must be signed before work is started on any practice.

Most frequently used practices in the first quarter have been mesquite chaining terraces and chiseling.

Signup for next quarter's money is to begin May 1. Second quarter funds are usually used for aerial spraying of mesquite and summer cover crop practices.

Library

patrons may need, the new service will allow each public library to submit requests to major resource centers nearest them, Mrs. Dozier said.

Mitchell County Public Library will also continue the policy of borrowing up to 100 books of all classifications from the Abilene Public Library every three months.

Mrs. Dozier, accompanied by Mrs. John Chinn and Mrs. Rex T. McKenney, library board members, expects to attend a workshop, March 25 in Abilene.

Improved library service to all citizens will be the subject for Mrs. Gretchn Schenk, nationally known library leader who will conduct six workshops in Texas during March.
