Steel Strike At Standstill Today

Unionists Declare That They Have Won The Strike When Companies Fail To Reopen

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, June 22 — The Great Lakes steel strike was in "status quo" today on the intervention of President Roosevelt and the military might of the state of Ohio.

In the hills of the Mahoning valley unionists chanted "we've won the strike!" as police dispersed hundreds of men who sought to work in the plants.

Peace Parley Held

In the conference rooms of the federal mediators in Cleveland, three men appointed by Secretary of Labor Perkins went ahead with efforts to find a middle ground for peace.

Fast and furiously, quick moves were made last night and early today, and the "status quo" prevailed over the protest of the steel companies involved.

Scheduled reopenings of one Republic Steel plant in Youngstown, and three Youngstown Sheet & Tube company plants in the same city, moved Gov. Martin L. Davey to order 4,800 Ohio national guardsmen into the troubled areas today.

Butchery Is Feared

"There will be butchery, and bloodshed, if the mill gates open," frantically union leaders had wired the president and the governor.

First, the governor talked with the president who approved, said Davey. Charles P. Taft, chairman of the mediator board added his plea.

The steel companies, adamant, said the state must be responsible for keeping non-strikers from their jobs.

So the troops moved in and peace came to the Mahoning valley, most troubled area of the great strike which has made 100,000 idle in seven-states, over refusal of independent steel concerns to sign labor contracts with the C. I. O.

Spotlight On Cleveland

Now the spotlight was back to Cleveland and the mediation board.

Steel executives walked out yesterday. Flatly they said "we will not sign a contract with C. I. O."

C. I. O. chieftains remained on call, and the board, not indicating any discouragement over what appeared to be an insurmountable issue, went ahead with its deliberations.

Ohio national guardsmen rolled up to the doors of the Campbell plant of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. at 6:45 a. m.

The steel helmeted troopers, 20 men and four officers, climbed stiffly out of two olive-drab trucks.

Relief Is Felt

The military was there, and a fear ridden night of apprehension over possible bloodshed gave way to obvious relief.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. indicated it had abandoned plans to reopen its three plants in the Mahoning valley.

The company said in a prepared statement concerning the action of Davey in ordering state troops into the valley:

"We deeply regret this apparent breakdown of law enforcement in our midst.

"We were and are ready to provide work for such of our employes as desire to return to work. The responsibility for refusing admission to our plants for these citizens and taxpayers to resume work must rest upon the state of Ohio and not upon the company."

Entirely Out Of Hands

At Cleveland, the Republic Steel corporation announced "the action of Gov. Davey (in calling out troops) takes the announced plans for reopening of the plant entirely out of our hands."

Scores of special deputies sped to the outskirts shortly after dawn to halt a motorcade "invasion" of some 2,000 rubber workers from Akron, O., come to give support to CIO steel strikers.

More than 100 motor cars were turned back.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and Republic Steel, yesterday ordered their plants re-opened, and trouble was feared.

A crowd gathered as guard officers leaped from the trucks and saluted Mayor John J. Borak of Campbell, a suburb, and his civic reception committee.

Big Secret Of Fred, Ginger Is Revealed

PASADENA, Calif., June 22. (AP)—One of the secrets of the dancing success of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers was disclosed to the California Osteopathic association convention here today.

They're knock-kneed!

"Their dexterity, or the grace of ballet and esthetic artists like Theodore Kosloff or Fanchon Wolfe," said a speaker, Dr. William F. Madsen of Pasadena, "is due to the fact they are knock-kneed.

"In fact, one could make the startling assertion that the best dancers are knock-kneed. The anatomy of the pelvis, thighs, knees and legs put these members in a knock-kneed position when they properly support weight."

Farley Offers Mail Defense

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 22 — Postmaster General Farley contended in United States district court today that the postoffice department had legal authority to stop deliveries of mailed food stuff into strike-besieged steel plants in Ohio.

Farley made the contention to a mandamus action brought against him by the Republic Steel corporation in which the latter sought to compel the department to permit delivery of packages containing food and clothing to its plants in Niles and Warren, Ohio.

Would Involve Government

The postmaster general charged the corporation had offered such packages for delivery primarily to involve the government in the industrial controversy.

His reply petition said the packages "were not tendered in good faith but were offered with the design and ultimate and real purpose of involving the postal authorities and employes in controversy between the realtor (the corporation) and its striking employes."

Order In Port Of Spain Being Sought Following Riots

PORT OF SPAIN, June 22 (AP) — Authorities anxiously looked today to the arrival of a British warship to help restore order to this British-owned island, torn by labor unrest which had brought death to six persons.

Officials said a vessel of the West Indies squadron of the British navy was due today and marines and sailors would land immediately.

Securities Commission Gives Endorsement To Lea Bill

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP) — The Securities commission sent to congress today an endorsement of the Lea bill to regulate committees representing owners of securities in financial embarrassed corporations.

Commissioner William O. Douglas, who directed the study of such protective and reorganization committees which began in 1934, said.

The bill, by Representative Lea (D-Calif), would prevent the management, bankers and lawyers of a corporation from dominating committees formed to represent holders of the corporation's securities.

The measure also would bar members of such committees from speculating in the securities of the corporation involved and from profiting from contracts and job of the committees.

Prosperity Smoke Gets In Your Eyes In MKT Kansas Yards

PARSONS, Kas., June 22 (AP) — Prosperity smoke gets in your eyes at the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad yards here these days.

Puffing locomotives are busier now than at any time since 1929, officials reported.

Shipments of perishables, livestock and grain comprised the biggest part of the loadings. Grain from the Texas harvest is moving through Parsons on a steady stream now and empty grain cars are being rushed to that state.

Naval Display Is Refused By Britain

Germany Demands Punishment Of Spain After A Torpedo Attack Upon Cruiser

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 22 — Great Britain will refuse to join any naval demonstration off the coast of Spain as a German-sought "warning" to the Spanish government, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons today.

His announcement followed swiftly upon an excited report that Germany, demanding punishment of the Spanish republican regime for what the third reich contends was a torpedo attack on her cruiser Leipzig, had presented France and Britain with a virtual ultimatum for stringent action—perhaps a 4-power naval display of warning near Valencia.

Cheered By Members

Members of the house cheered Eden as he went on to declare that the British government feels the principal source of trouble in Spain is the presence of foreign fighters, and that the government wants these fighters removed immediately.

"His majesty's government," said the young foreign secretary, "is most dissatisfied with the present state of affairs."

Eden explained a new evacuation plan calls for an immediate start on the recall of some foreign fighters from Spain, even before a full program is put into force.

The argument advanced by the mouthpiece of the German foreign office in Berlin that "the guilty pirates" must be deprived of means of further attacks led to immediate speculation the reich had threatened independent action unless the Valencia government was ordered to hand over all its submarines.

Retains All Submarines

The central Spanish government retains all 13 of submarines held at the start of the civil war nearly a year ago. Three others were under construction at that time. However, one naval authority said today that only six of the total could be

Texas Rangers Still On Duty

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, June 22—Texas rangers continued to watch the Lone Star Gas company strike here today despite protests from several quarters. Fort Worth city officials declared there was "no need or reason for such action."

Eleven rangers were sent here yesterday on pleas of the gas company.

They guarded about 60 of the firm's non-striking workers who took possession of the warehouse and shops.

Allred Takes No Action

Gov. James V. Allred declined to request withdrawal of the rangers, replying to a telegram from Mayor W. J. Hammond of Fort Worth that the rangers were under direction of the public safety commission which he was informed ordered them sent there after receiving information that men detailed to make emergency installations and read meters, etc., had been beaten and were afraid to go about their work.

H. H. Carmichael, director of the department of public safety, said at Austin he would hold the officers in Fort Worth "as long as any danger to life and property exists."

James E. Van Zandt To Speak To Veterans' Convention

BEAUMONT, June 22 (AP)—The state convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was to hear an address by James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa., past national commander, as the feature of today's session.

The convention closes tomorrow with an address by Attorney General William McCraw, election of officers and selection of the 1938 convention city. Waco is the only one making an active bid for the honor.

Regular Polar Flights Are Forecast Within 2 Years

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—The man who piloted Soviet Russia's transpolar plane the 5,300 miles from Moscow to Vancouver, Wash., says such flights will be regular occurrences "in one or two years — maybe three."

"Return flight would be easier because we would have tail winds," said Pilot Valerio Chekaloff.

Chekaloff and his two companions, welcomed by 5,000 persons who thronged Oakland airport last evening, said they next wanted to try a Moscow-New York flight via the polar regions.

To View Country

Today they looked forward to viewing the country in which they landed Sunday after an epic, 63-hour flight from the Soviet capital.

Barefoot Man Being Sought By Officers

More Than $100 Reported As Missing Today; Entrance Made By Rear Doors

A barefoot burglar who took more than $100 from seven Brownfield residences early this morning was being sought by Sheriff Ches Gore today.

Sheriff Gore was in Lubbock this morning working on fingerprints and attempting to link the burglaries with those made by a man who used similar tactics in robbing four Lubbock residences Sunday night.

Trail Is Marked

The trail of the burglar was marked by bare footprints, torn window screens, and trousers left on outsides of the houses.

Entering each house but one by the rear door, the burglar took trousers from bedrooms and after taking their money contents left them on the porches or outside.

Dr. E. C. Davis, receiving a call at 2:45 o'clock this morning, found that he had been robbed of between $75 and $100 and notified Sheriff Gore. Other residences entered included those of Burton G. Hackney, county attorney, R. L. Adams, George Snodgrass, and R. T. Roane, highway engineer.

Houses Close Together

Six houses robbed were situated closely together in the east section of Brownfield and one was about a mile across town in the southeast section.

The burglar used an instrument, probably an ice pick, said Sheriff Gore, to tear screens so that he might open the latches, except in cases where doors were unlatched.

Evidences that the burglar in Lubbock Sunday night had used such an instrument had been found by Lubbock police. Four residences in 1700 and 1800 blocks of Avenue J were entered here Sunday night. Frank Warlick of 1812 Avenue J told police $12.50 had been taken from his wife's purse. Four dollars was taken from C. C. Jones of 1814 Avenue J. A man who gave his name as Johnston, police said, reported $21.50 was taken from the residence at 1802 Avenue J. A $65 gold Illinois watch, containing 21 jewels was taken from R. H. King of 1716 Avenue J. Police still are investigating.

Trousers Are Taken

County Attorney Hackney left his residence with Sheriff Gore this morning and did not learn until he returned that a resident of the house had been robbed. Trousers belonging to P. Pullian, a visitor of M. G. Bruce, who lives in the Hackney home, were taken from the bedroom and left on the back porch, and approximately $31 taken. Pullian said this morning in Lubbock. Pullian is from Donyshan, Mo.

The burglar apparently was alone, said Sheriff Gore. He apparently entered an automobile after making the burglaries. All of the burglaries were made between 1:30 and 2:45 o'clock. Roane lost approximately $3. Others lost small amounts.

Five persons including three negroes, were in jail this morning while the case was being investigated. They were found in vicinity of the houses burglarized, said Sheriff Gore. One, a negro, was a woman. Only small amounts of money were found on their persons.

Lubbock's Knot Hole Gang Has Merry Time In Daily Training

These youngsters, 211 of them in all, are members of Lubbock's Knot Hole Club, sponsored by the local Kiwanis club through the Texas Tech athletic department. Elbert (Highpockets) Overton, 220-pound varsity football center, is in charge of the boys' activities and daily training and play periods are held.

Tax Probers Air New Names Today; Methods Described

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 22—Mason Leming, treasury attorney, mentioned the law firm of Hughes, Schurman and Dwight, of which Charles Evans Hughes, jr., is a member, in discussing today the creation of foreign insurance companies as a method of reducing income tax payments.

Testifying before the congressional committee on tax dodging, Leming said that in 1931 a Walter C. Baber, of New York City, whom he described as a citizen of Great Britain, was instrumental in organizing at Nassau, Bahama Islands, a firm known as the Standard Life Insurance Company, Ltd.

Company Incorporated

The company was incorporated, he said, with 5,000 shares of $10 par value each, of which 10 shares were subscribed for but not paid.

Baber, he said, took 5 shares.

Late in 1932, Leming asserted, the organization meeting was held and elected Artemus Pritchard to be president, William C. Knowles, vice-president, and Reginald Pritchard, secretary-treasurer.

In addition to Baber, one share of stock each was transferred to the present stockholders, he said, describing them as Artemus and Reginald Pritchard, Knowles, C. Trevor Kelly, and Frederick Pinder.

Man Is Approached

In late 1932, Leming said, William Baylis, who was Baber's partner in the Baber, Baylis company, of New York, approached Richard E. Dwight of th law firm of Hughes, Schurman and Dwight.

After mentioning that Baylis approached Dwight, Leming diverted his testimony to other topics without saying what topic the two may

State Control Issue In Relief Battle Being Revived Today

Cheap Parking Plan Studied

City officials today studied a proposed cheap solution of Lubbock's parking meter controversy but found the blueprints of a new device beyond their comprehension.

The proposal to supply the city with a minimum of 500 of the devices, which are termed "parking traffic control units", at $10 each was received from the firm of Taylor and Smith, 202 East Ninth street, Austin, Texas, after the city manager's department had made inquiry in a registered letter concerning them.

Claimed Most Efficient

The letters stated that "we know that our system is the most efficient, economical and satisfactory system that can be bought anywhere at any price."

The price of $10 proposed compares with $58 the city has agreed under a conditional contract to pay the Dual Parking Meter company of Oklahoma City for meters which probably will be installed late this week or early next. A recent ordinance adopted by the city commission directed that company to install the devices after altering the mechanism to establish two-hour

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) proposed today as a substitute for the administration's $1,500,000,000 relief bill that the states take over the unemployment problem.

ARTHUR H. VANDENBERG

He suggested a $1,250,000,000 appropriation for federal aid to the states, and $100,000,000 for a federal relief board to replace the Works Progress administration.

Vandenberg revived the state control issue, brought up in the 1936 presidential campaign, as the senate approached a final vote on the relief bill after five days of heated debate.

Comes To Rescue

Senator Barkley (D-Ky), marshal of administration forces which defeated two attempts yesterday to make states and cities pay a greater share of relief costs, jocularly commented he had "rescued the plan from the mildewed tomb of the Landon campaign."

Barkley's allies first voted down 49 to 34 an amendment by Senator Robinson (D-Ark), the majority leader, requiring states and cities where able to pay 25 per cent of the expense of relief projects.

Then they defeated 58 to 25 a 40 per cent matching proposal by Senator Byrnes (D-SC), head of an economy bloc.

The senate joined the house, however, in approving a two year extension of the Public Works administration.

Big Tarantula Hunt By Scouts Cut Short As Ban Is Ordered

Definite limits on the wild life South Plains Boy Scouts may exhibit during the national jamboree at Washington, D. C., were in effect today after one of the boys had captured a large tarantula at Camp Post Monday and announced that he intended to take it with him.

His capture gave other boys an idea and a general tarantula hunt was in the making when camp officials established the tarantula ban. Although insisting that tarantulas are nonpoisonous, officials explained that most parents would object to their sons handling the huge spiders. The South Plains "zoo" at the national assembly will be limited to horned toads and prairie dogs.

Earl M. McClure, executive, returned from the Post practice encampment today with the announcement that the program of Indian dances will proceed according to schedule tonight, starting at about 8:15 o'clock and lasting about 45 minutes. Forty-two boys in Indian costume and 20 in the garb of pioneers will participate.

He added, however, that "time out" will be called so that boys and guests may hear the broadcast of the heavyweight championship fight in Chicago. Parents and friends of Scouts have been invited to see the program.

McClure announced also that

Local Youths Kept Busy

"This rabbit foot—(it's the left hind one)—I ought to have better luck boxing today."

"Hey there, Highpockets, here's a guy wants to be a Knot Holer."

"Well if this hound hasn't followed me again."

Play Each Morning

Such are scraps of conversation heard around the Tech gymnasium any morning now since the Knot Hole Gang began its activities a week ago. Approximately three hundred youngsters from all parts of Lubbock play from 8 to 9 o'clock each morning under the direction of Tech athletes. This is a high mark in enrollment for the Gang, which was organized five years ago, and is sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The boys come on bicycles (two to a bike), walking, and in cars, to play basketball, football, croquet, tennis, baseball, and to box. After they "fall in" the coaches put them through certain exercises. Three hundred boys, in unison, quack and duck walk, bend and count, and it seems to be an unwritten law that one pants leg be rolled up and the other down.

Tech Athletes Directors

Elbert (Highpockets) Overton, a varsity man from Yeso, N. M., is directing Knot Hole activities with the help of Bud Owens of Littlefield, and Leslie (Broadway) Browning. Other Tech athletes who are now in school help the youngsters with their games.

At the end of two months' play all Knot Holers who have played regularly will be given tickets which entitle them to attend athletic activities at Texas Tech, and to sit in a reserved Knot Hole section. The only two requirements for admission to the gang are "no cussing" and attendance at Sunday school.

Land Morrow Lindbergh Name Given To Lindy's Child

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—The registration of the birth of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh's infant son disclosed today he had been named Land Morrow Lindbergh.

(Lindbergh's mother's maiden name was Evangeline Lodge Land. Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh was Anne Morrow. The Lindberghs' second son, Jon, now 4 years old, was named after one of Col. Lindbergh's ancestors. Their first son, Charles A. Lindbergh, jr., was kidnaped and killed).

Rabies Scare Noted Again

At least 10 persons, including members of four families, planned to take anti-rabies treatment immediately after test of the brain of a small dog at city laboratories this morning proved it to have been suffering from hydrophobia.

Those who were to begin treatment are:

To Begin Treatment

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Davis and her mother, Mrs. L. P. Gilbert, formerly of 1901 Twenty-eighth street but now of 2401 Twenty-fourth street, the owners of the dog.

A. R. Dalby and son, Giles, 5, of 1902 Twenty-ninth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henyon, residing in the rear of 1902 Twenty-ninth street.

Three children of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Toles, 1909 Twenty-ninth street, who are Penrod, 8, Christine 5, and Mary Bess, 3.

Others May Be Added

Others may be added to the list, according to sanitation officials, who said that anyone who may have played with the dog or upon whom it may have left salvia has been exposed to rabies.

Meanwhile, sanitation officials took immediate steps to safeguard against the dangers of a rabies epidemic in either of the neighborhoods where the dog, described as a playful friendly pup, may have wan-

Adapting Oneself To Various Situations Will Insure Successful Vacation

Expert Offers Suggestions

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff

No one is a more definite asset to a country house or a week-end cottage than a woman guest who can and does play tennis or golf or likes to ride or swim and who, when twilight falls, suddenly turns out to be an attractive bridge or dance partner. The trick, of course, lies in being an active sportswoman without looking it twenty-four hours a day. Any girl will get further with the other guests as well as her hostess if she is chameleon-like in her ability to adapt herself to various situations.

This means taking care of your skin and taking care not to overdevelop your muscles while doing the things which keep you out-of-doors and make your figure lean, slender and supple. If you play golf or tennis for hours and hours with no suntan lotion on face and arms and no hat on your head, you just won't be your prettiest at the dinner table.

Unless it is fearfully hot, wear gloves when golfing and, hot or cold, always wear them when you ride a horse or drive a car. Rubber ones will come in handy the Sunday you are elected to help scrub down the yacht, canoe, rowboat or whatever. Do apply hand cream or lotion several times a day, particularly after a prolonged swim, and use cuticle cream every night.

Keep a small hat on your head when it's your turn to ride in the rumble seat and wear a big one if you expect to sit in the sand all morning. Brush your hair every night and remember that there are various pomades to correct dryness in case brushing alone does not do the job well enough to suit you. Get into the swing of rearranging your coiffure attractively before dinner. You can cover up straggly ends with sports bandanas during the daytime, but you can't very well go to dinner with a shawl tied around your head.

Depend on suntan oils by day and softening cream by night to keep your complexion from getting a rough, weather-beaten look. Unless you think squint lines are attractive (you don't, and neither does anyone else) wear tinted glasses during the day.

Wear precious little makeup on golf courses, tennis courts, beaches and bridle paths of course, but don't discard it entirely. Lipstick is a must wherever you are, whatever you are doing. Wear a little more at night but don't overdo the job. During the hot months, simplicity has a lovely charm all its own. Feel like a Dr. Jeckyl-Mr. Hyde character if you must, but do manage somehow to look the part whether you are being an active sportswoman or a romantic, slightly clinging dancing girl.

White Suit With Black Accessories

A crisp, firmly-woven fabric which combines spun rayon and wool is used in a lightweight two-piece suit for summer wear. Smartly contrasted with the sheer white of the suit are the accessories—a black hat with stitched taffeta brim and a bag and slip-on gloves of soft black summer suede.

St. Paul's Auxiliary Has Meeting At Church

Mrs. J. I. Kilpatrick was program leader for a meeting of St. Paul's Episcopal auxiliary Monday afternoon at the church. Mrs. John B. Rountree presided for a business session.

Members of Circle 2 were hostesses during the refreshment hour. Thirteen members were present.

Mrs. Alan Strout Reviews Book

Mrs. Alan L. Strout reviewed Priestly's latest book, "Midnight on the Desert" Monday afternoon on the lawn of Mrs. Bradford Knapp's home on Texas Technological college campus.

After the review, sponsored by Circle 2 of the First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary, punch was served from a table covered with cream lace. Those serving were Misses Ruth and Helen Wagner, Virginia Knapp, Helen Cobb, Frances and Mary Wilson, Virginia Brown of Waco, and Vondelle Prideaux.

These Arrange Tea

Mesdames E. L. Reed, J. H. Murdough, R. H. Hester, Frank Gaines and Charles A. Guy were in charge of the review tea. Mrs. J. Sam Lewis is chairman of the circle.

Mrs. Strout, in a charming manner, presented "Midnight on the Desert" by reading salient excerpts from the book and making pertinent comments on Priestly's attitude. Throughout the excursion into autobiography this English author's humor is kindly, genial, and satisfying. His candid reflections on the American countryside, politics, the underworld, and American women are revealing yet not too hard on the American himself.

Having lived both in England and Canada, Mrs. Strout was especially fitted to review such a book as "Midnight on the Desert."

American coin counting machines may be introduced into Istanbul, Turkey.

Baptist Units Are In Bible Study

First Baptist Women's Missionary society, meeting in units Monday afternoon, studied lessons from the book of Romans.

Annie Jenkins Sallee circle met with Mrs. Tom Campbell on the Slaton highway. Devotional was by Mrs. G. E. Knight. Mrs. J. K. Miller taught the lesson. Ten women were present.

Seven members of Christine Coffee circle met with Mrs. J. H. Hankins, 2403 Broadway. The hostess taught the lesson. The next meeting, July 5, will be in the home of Mrs. C. W. Byers, 2108 Sixteenth street.

In Twitty Home

Mrs. W. E. Twitty, 1109 Seventeenth street, was hostess for a meeting of Lottie Moon circle. A business discussion followed devotional. Four members were present.

Blanche Rose Walker circle met in the home of Mrs. W. F. Fry, 2621 Twenty-first street, for a lesson taught by Mrs. L. T. Vaughn. Mrs. Creek Brown presided for a business discussion. Five women attended.

Mrs. A. B. Knight was received as a member of Ann Judson circle in the home of Mrs. J. I. Noah, 910 Avenue R. Mrs. J. H. Agee taught the lesson. Seven members were present.

Social Is Planned

Mrs. W. L. Pattillo taught the lesson at a meeting of Lena Lair circle in the home of Mrs. Sue Jenness, 908 Avenue M. Twelve women attended. The group planned a social for July 5. Mrs. Pattillo will be hostess at her home 1501 Main street.

Six members and two guests attended a meeting of Lucille Reagan circle in the home of Mrs. John W. Thompson, 2123 Eighth street. Mrs. W. M. Lowrimore taught the lesson.

Annie Luther Bagby circle had a covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. Sam A. Henry, 1901 Thirteenth street. Ten members attended. Mrs. Erie Studeman of Edna, former Lubbock resident, taught the lesson. Mrs. Z. L. Wright presided for a short business discussion.

College Avenue Circles In Sessions On Monday

There were circle meetings of the College Avenue Baptist church Monday afternoon. East circle met with Mrs. Glenn Smith, 2102 Seventh street. Mrs. B. P. Milburn led a devotional.

A program from the Home and Foreign Fields magazine was presented by Mesdames H. E. Goeth, T. Martin, M. J. Ricketts and A. Mrs. Carnes. The hostess served refreshments to 12 members.

The West circle met with Mrs. G. E. Low, 2317 Seventh street, with five members and a guest, Mrs. J. E. Ross, present. Mrs. R. L. McDonald was leader for a Home and Foreign Fields program. A collection was taken for old ministers' relief.

SCHOOL CLUB MEETS

The second of a series of weekly summer meetings of the Loki club, composed of pupils in Mrs. Iris Bergholm's room at K. Carter school was held Monday afternoon in the home of Hazel Meredith, 1807 Seventh street. The first meeting was a picnic.

Summer reading and collections were discussed, stories were told and games were played by 21 children who will be in the third grade next year. Mrs. Bergholm has been their teacher since they were in the first grade.

Revelation Is Studied By Calvary Baptist Unit

Mrs. C. D. Puckett, 3201 Seventh street, entertained for Circle 2 of the Calvary Baptist Women's Missionary society Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. W. Ray taught a lesson from Revelation: 3-4.

Attending were Mesdames L. R. Wood, Roy Parks, Mary Bowers, W. F. McPherson, N. O. Vincent, E. N. Evans, E. L. O'Neal, Bill Deatherage and J. H. York and a guest, Mrs. E. W. Van Meter.

The circle will meet July 5 with Mrs. O'Neill, 1812 Avenue S.

Circle 1 did not have a meeting.

Lesson From Mark Taught At WMS Gathering

Central Baptist Women's Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon. Fourteen members and a guest, Mrs. Homer Smith, attended. Devotional was by Mrs. A. J. Allcon. The Rev. Jeff D. Welch taught a lesson from the tenth chapter of Mark.

The society packed a box of cookies for the Texas Baptist orphanage of Waxahachie. Dismissal prayer was by Mrs. James Vickery.

Mrs. Higbee Is Nominated For District Office

Mrs. Fred Higbee, who has been active in American Legion auxiliary work for several years, was nominated chairman of the nineteenth district at an annual convention held in Plainview last week-end. She will be elected at a state convention in San Angelo, August 21-24.

Mrs. George Berry, a vice-president in the state organization, presided for the meeting in the absence of the chairman. Lubbock will receive an attendance prize for having the largest delegation, except the host city.

ABC Wives' Party Will Be Given At Fulton Home

As a monthly courtesy for their wives, members of the A. B. C. club are entertaining with a barbecue picnic at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Fulton, 2703 Twenty-first street.

Rendezvous Club To Meet For Bridge-Supper

Miss Mary Florence Knox will be hostess to Rendezvous bridge club at 7:30 o'clock tonight with a bridge supper at the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2006 Broadway.

Auxiliary And Juniors Are At Lawn Supper

Members of the American Legion auxiliary and the Junior auxiliary enjoyed a basket supper on the lawn of the Legion home Monday night. Games of bingo were played after the meal. Mesdames A. I. Glassman, Fred Higbee and P. W. Wood directed the social.

THE SAFE, SENSIBLE WAY TO RELIEVE CONSTIPATION

Every one knows the dangers of constipation. Pills and drugs usually bring only temporary relief. That's because common constipation is due to meals low in "bulk."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains "bulk" that does not break down in the body as does that of many leafy vegetables. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water and forms a soft mass that gently sponges the intestines.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. In addition to "bulk"—it gives vitamin B to tone up the system, and iron for the blood. It is a healthful way to get rid of constipation and all its evils.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily with milk or cream—three times a day in severe cases. Or use it in making bran muffins, breads, in salads or soups. Guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Grange Leader Is At Pettit

Louis J. Taber of Columbus, Ohio, president of the National Grange, was to carry his campaign on behalf of American agriculture to Pettit, Hockley county, tonight after having told a Lubbock audience Monday night that the nation's farmers must organize and cooperate if they are to receive a fair return for their products.

Addressing several hundred South Plains farmers and business men in the gymnasium of Texas Technological college, he warned that farmers must work together if they are to place themselves on an equal footing with labor and industry.

Speaks At Open Meeting

He spoke at an open meeting of Lubbock County grange, and following his address, juvenile and adult degrees were conferred by the chapter.

Several hundred farmers and business men of Hockley and Cochran counties have been invited to attend the mass meeting at Pettit he is to address tonight.

County Judge Alvin Allison and County Agent D. W. Sherrill, both of Hockley county, announced that the meeting will be held in Pettit school auditorium starting at 8 o'clock and that effort has been made to extend a personal invitation to every farmer in the two counties to attend.

Preceding the session here, the college summer session band played a concert program under the direction of D. O. Wiley, director. Several state officers were introduced: Ralph J. Moore, state master, and Mrs. Moore; Mrs. W. A. Randall, state Pomona; James L. Binion, state secretary and H. W. Gaulrapp, state organizer.

Speaks At Lions Club Today

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the college, introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Taber speaks at noon today at the Lions club.

Urging a vigorous warfare on behalf of agriculture, Taber said there were four weapons: first, education and research; second, cooperation and collective bargaining; third, legislation and economic justice and fourth, organization.

One-third of the population of the nation is on the farm; they represent one-sixth of those gainfully employed and about the same amount of wealth. Yet the farm income was only one-tenth of the national income during the past decade. Seventy-five per cent of all articles in commerce are from the soil, he pointed out.

Should Have Greater Per Cent

"The farmer should have from 15 to 20 per cent of the nation's income," he added. "He should have the same protection as other groups enjoy.

"We should reduce service costs to the farmers," the speaker pointed out. Three leading services are: transportation, taxation and interest.

Speaking of the present farm problem and legislative problems facing agriculture, he said:

"The greatest problem confronting American agriculture is to fight to secure a fair share of the nation's income. We must demand the passage of legislation embodying the principles of the ever normal granary commodity loans and soil conservation.

Act Should Be Simplified

"The pending bill (the so-called legislative program for 1938) should be simplified and so amended that the program can be completed at an early date.

"In addition we must fight for lower interest rates, credit facilities, and the honest dollar. Tenancy legislation should be adopted at this session of congress."

Taber spoke to a similar meeting, not so heavily attended Monday afternoon in the college livestock pavilion.

In his afternoon talk, he declared organized agriculture was the "best and cheapest hired hand" for the American farmer. County agents, vocational agriculture teachers, Grange leaders and farmers were present.

Taber Record Cited

President Knapp, long a personal friend and co-worker with Taber in national agricultural matters, presided and introduced him. He spoke of the record of Taber and of his work among farmers and in organizing them and also of his efforts during the world war to get a fair price for wheat.

Jack Shelton, vice director of Extension service; Paul G. Haynes, organization director of the Extension service; K. J. Edwards, district county agent leader; Ray L. Chappelle, head of the department of vocational education; Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture; Cliff H. Day, Plainview, vice president of the Texas Agricultural association and Don L. Jones of the state experiment station, were among those present.

Must Secure Equitable Return

Taber spoke on the necessity of organization among farmers in seeing that agriculture secured a fair and just return for its products. He emphasized that agriculture had no quarrel with labor or capital in their efforts to secure a more equitable return.

County agents and extension service workers were praised for their efforts in showing the way to improved agricultural methods. He praised vocational workers for their efforts in teaching boys and girls better methods of living.

That Of Self Help

"Agriculture found seventy years ago that it, the farmer was beginning to lose out," he said. The philosophy behind agriculture is that of self help.

Farmers should "get to know each other," before they can work together, Taber said. It is this idea that will enable farm organizations to solidify the 6,000,000 people engaged in farming.

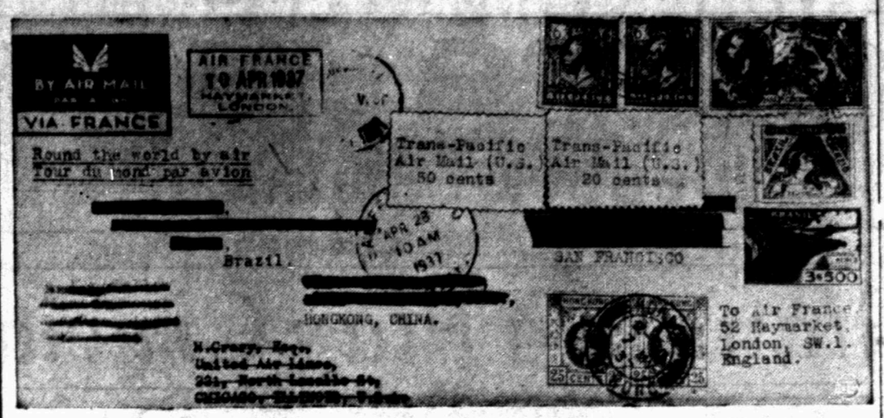

Following his talk, the meeting was thrown open for questions and a number were asked. Several were asked concerning proposed legislation before congress. Shelton, Jones, Haynes and others were among those who sought explanation of problems.

H. W. Gaulrapp, state organizer, introduced several men who were present. After the meeting a large portion of the crowd met the speaker. District Agent Edwards met with county agents for a brief discussion and Haynes with Lubbock county vocational agriculture teachers and County Agent C. C. Jobson.

Spent Hundreds Of Dollars In Vain

Unable To Find Anything To Help Him Until He Began Gly-Cas; Terrific Back Pains, Sleeplessness, Lack Of Energy Soon Yielded To New Remedy

"I spent hundreds of dollars doing my best to get relief from the awful suffering of kidney trouble, but met only with failure until I finally began Gly-Cas," said Mr. George McPherson, 605 Washington

MR. GEORGE McPHERSON

Street, Amarillo, Texas. "My kidneys often pained me to such an extent that I would have to quit my work. My back was so crippled that I often had to walk all bent over. I was unable to get any rest or sleep because of continual night risings. As medicine after medicine failed to have any effect on my case I grew discouraged. But after being persuaded to try Gly-Cas, it went right to the source of my health troubles as if it was made for my case alone.

"It is remarkable how quickly Gly-Cas freed me of that dreadful suffering of nine years," continued Mr. McPherson. "I now never have to get up any the whole night through, get my natural rest and sleep and feel fine. My former strength and energy has been restored, the sharp pains in my back have left me and I am really enjoying life as others once more. It is wonderful to feel so well again and be able to tell other sufferers just how to gain good health—as I have done through Gly-Cas' use."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway St., this city, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

Third Oil Pool For Gaines Established

SAN ANGELO, June 22. (AP) — Definite establishment of Gaines county's third oil pool by Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, and the Continental Oil company's No. 1 A. L. Wasson was reported in West Texas oil circles today.

Another important development was the rising of oil 2,000 feet in the C. H. Mahres and others' No. 1 Pat Wilson, west-central Ward county wildcat.

The new well in Gaines county flowed 138.38 barrels of 34.5 gravity oil through a three-quarter inch choke on two inch tubing the first 24 hours after it was turned into storage. It is bottomed at 4,959 feet in the Permian lime.

The location is 2,310 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the west line of section 48-AX—PSL, 14 miles northwest of the Seminole pool, the nearest production on a Continental block of 12 sections.

Gas estimated at two to three million cubic feet daily carried a light oil spray from Mahres and others' No. 1 Wilson. It was bottomed at 4,085 feet, believed to be the top of the Delaware sand, and showed no water. The test is 1,650 feet from the southwest line and 330 feet from the southwest line of section 133-34 hand TC, six and one-half miles west of Pyote.

Braddock, Untested Champion, Is Underdog In Title Fight Tonight

Louis First Negro To Receive Chance At Title Since 1910; Odds 5 To 2 Against Champ

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—Joe Louis, sleepy-eyed son of an Alabama cotton picker, gets his greatest opportunity tonight.

In a flood-lighted ring, pitched over second base at Comiskey park, home of the Chicago White Sox, Louis battles James J. Braddock, untested heavyweight champion of the world. Watching them will be a crowd that may go as high as 60,000, with gate receipts that may reach $750,000.

It will be the first time a negro has had the opportunity of winning the world heavyweight championship since Jack Johnson in 1910 battered the shell of James J. Jeffries.

It also will be the first "mixed match" involving the title since Jess Willard defeated Johnson in Havana 22 years ago.

The fight will be held in the heart of Chicago's black belt with its 700,000 negroes. One thousand policemen will be on guard, 400 within the arena and 600 outside the park walls. Reserves will be held in readiness at nearby police stations.

For the first time, the heavyweight challenger goes into action the favorite. Louis, on the strength of his dynamite-laden fists, is held 5 to 2 over Braddock. Despite his defeat by Max Schmeling and his unfavorable showing against Bob Pastor, Louis holds the interest through the knockout power in his fists.

The fight is scheduled to go 15 rounds. It may start any time between 7 and 9 p. m., Central standard time, depending on weather, forecast fair. If rain threatens, the fight can start any time after 7 o'clock, with the probable start between 8:30 and 9 p. m.

Fight On Percentage

The champion and challenger, fighting on percentage, also will share in the $50,000 paid for the radio rights and $25,000 for motion picture contracts. Braddock will get 50 per cent of the total gate after taxes have been deducted and Louis 17 1-2 per cent.

Both men were ready to weigh in at noon today at the Auditorium theater, and then hide out to await time to go to the battle ground. They must be there at 7 p. m. Braddock figures to scale 197, with Louis about 198.

Braddock, idle since he defeated Max Baer for the championship in 1935, is strictly the "underdog." Experts said either Louis would win by a quick knockout or Braddock would take down the decision, with a few rating him chances for a knockout victory.

Is Better Boxer

The titleholder is conceded a better boxer than Louis. The chances are he'll keep out of the way of Louis' famous right, just as he circled away from Baer's Sunday punch.

Louis, 23, is the youngest challenger in heavyweight history. Jack Dempsey was 24 when he battered Willard in 1919.

There is no hope of a million dollar gate.

What is left of the gate receipts after Braddock and Louis get their share and expenses have been paid, will go to Mike Jacobs, the New York promoter, who with the assistance of Joe Foley of Chicago, made possible the title fight.

Ticket scalpers bemoaned a lack of demand for choice seats—even at regular prices.

Largest Since 1930

The greater proportion of tonight's crowd will be from outside Chicago, the largest to see a title fight since the first Sharkey-Schmeling match in 1930 at New York.

Two members of President Roosevelt's cabinet—Postmaster General James A. Farley and Attorney General Homer Cummings—will attend. The referee will be named by the Illinois state athletic commission just before the two principals enter the ring. Two judges will be named at the same time. The best guess is that "Little Phil" Collins, with no political affiliations and with a reputation for honesty and ability, will be the third man in the ring. There will be a "no foul" rule, which means that the battle cannot be won or lost on a foul.

BOTH CONFIDENT

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—The pre-battle statements of Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock, Challenger Joe Louis and their respective managers:

Braddock: "I have never felt better in my life. My legs are good, my breathing apparatus all right, and I have no mental worries. I predict I will knock out Louis in eight rounds."

Louis: "I'm going in there to win and win as quickly as I can. I'm not predicting I will knock out Braddock in any particular round. I simply must win this one."

Joe Gould, Braddock's manager — "Jim is going into the ring champion and he'll come out champion. People who regard Louis as a killer are in for a surprise."

Julian Black and John Roxborough, Louis' co-pilots: "Joe is in the best condition he has enjoyed since before he fought Max Baer. He's really ready for this one and will have no excuses to offer if he is beaten."

PRESENT FROM JIM

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP) — An hour before Joe Louis left Kenosha, Wis., for Chicago and his battle tonight with Champion Jim Braddock, he received a package by special messenger at his training quarters.

Joe and his handlers crowded around as Trainer Jack Blackburn unwrapped the parcel. It was a phonograph record entitled, "You Can't Take That Away From Me," and on a card was the name: "James J. Braddock."

PROVIDES GRID CHAMP

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Dutch Hill of Chickasha, Okla., one-time gridiron great at the University of Oklahoma, recently introduced a bill in the Oklahoma House of Representatives to provide for the selection of an official state high school football champion.

The playing of a card in order to deceive the opponents as to the player's holding in that suit is known as "false carding."

Balanced Card Offered Here

A well-balanced card that should produce all sorts of wild and wicked, as well as sane and scientific, wrestling is Promoter Sled Allen's offering to the fight public tomorrow night.

For instance, the show starts with Joe Kopecky and Tony Piluso, two very well conditioned, very clever athletes. They'd make a good main event on anybody's card. Piluso, still a youngster, looked very much improved last week, although he lost the special event to Jack Hagen. Bigger, stronger and wiser than he was two years ago when he last showed here, Piluso showed courage and spirit last week in his bout with Hagen. Kopecky also lost last week. The veteran panther man was taken for a ride by the referee and Jack Reynolds, welterweight champion, in an extra special main event. It was Joe's first defeat of the season. He is still considered ruler of the local roost, despite the defeat.

Weber Meets Hagen

Piluso and Kopecky offer a curtain raiser that should bring the fans to the Auditorium in time for the whole show.

The semi-windup finds two other neatly trimmed gents doing battle. Vic Weber, New York Dutchman, tangles with Tex Hager, who now resides in Oregon, in the 30-minute bout. Hager, appearing for the second time here, looked good last week, fixing up the troublesome Joe Bauer in short order. The biscuit-bodied Hager, who looks smaller and lighter than he really is, showed speed, ambition and even a touch of recklessness in his second debut here. He and Vic should stage a fair show.

The main event finds that scourge of the middleweight division, Buck Lipscomb, fighting the clean cut Jack Hagen, but it'll develop in to a rough brawl or somebody's guess is missed. Hagen has adopted a vindictive attitude of late, and takes nothing from the tough boys. He'll be in there to swap it out with Lipscomb, who was partially tamed by Weber last week and whose sudden demise would be no signal for regret among the local wrestling fans.

Cubs, Giants To Play Crucial Series

Sportometer

by COLLIER PARRIS

(Copyright, 1937)

ONCE MORE the opportunity is offered the gentlemen who haunt the press boxes to climb out on the well known limb and pick a winner.

We are aware of the fact that thousands of readers are nervously awaiting the publishing of today's column, and this department's prediction regarding the Joe Louis-Jim Braddock fight—so they can bet the opposite way.

We have held off until the very last, reveling in the suspense we were creating, knowing how jittery you were becoming.

And so, without further ado, and taking giant pride in being in a position to give you the lowdown, we present our chercе as follows, in big, bold letters so that you can't miss it:

Braddock by a k. o., maybe.

And now, having relieved the suspense, ended the jitters and thrilled our faithful public, let us explain just why Joe Louis will win from Jim Braddock tonight.

All along, we feared that Louis would whip the champion. Feared, we say—not hoped. Then to clinch the fear, there was that quotation from Mike Jacobs in the papers the other day. "Whoever wins," said Promoter Jacobs, who "owns" both fighters, "will not put the title on ice. He'll be fighting right away again, and will continue to fight."

If Louis were to whip Braddock tonight, Louis and Max Schmeling, the logical contender for the title, would draw a much bigger, oh, ever so much bigger, gate than would Braddock and Schmeling draw were Braddock to win from Louis. And the "gate" is what counts in the fight racket, as in most other rackets.

So Louis will whip Braddock tonight and fight Schmeling a few months later. And Schmeling will whip him again, because by that time there will be no important worlds to conquer, and Louis wouldn't draw with an ordinary ham-and-egger. But Braddock and Schmeling would bring a fair gate, and that'll be the match for the world's championship next fall, as it should have been early this month. The fight probably will take place in Berlin.

BRADDOCK'S IRISH MAY UPSET PLANS

"But how about that Braddock prediction?" says Elmer, who is always spoiling things.

It still goes.

In fact we are so confident that Braddock will beat Louis that if you have any more of that three-to-one money on Louis lying around, we'll take seven cents worth, more or less.

(Blondy Cross and Bill Hays of San Angelo are not supposed to be peeping).

There's no question in our over-worked mind regarding Braddock's superiority over the negro. The champion, even if he hasn't fought in two years, even if he has lost a total of twenty fights in his career and even if he is ten years older, is by far the greater man machine. And chances are that he'll win from Louis quicker than Schmeling did the trick.

Chances are, also, that Braddock will get stung by one of Louis' punches and forget all about "arrangements, gates, the future," etc. Braddock dared the ire of boxing's "higher ups" when he agreed to this match. It's possible that he'll challenge their revenge tonight by upsetting the dope and the "plans" and whipell out of Louis, because he's another man who can do it.

A fighter who'll take a run out on a power as mighty as Madison Square Garden wouldn't hesitate to upset the apple cart of a jumped-up Chicago promotional gang. The fight may be "fixed" and in the bag, but don't trust that fellow Braddock too for.

Now you have the dope on the fight, and you've picked your winner, no doubt. You'll probably pick Louis, because that's the logical choice and because we're stringing along with Braddock, financially, that is; the Irish boy was pretty good to us before.

INCIDENTALLY, tomorrow's paper will carry a story of the fight written by a staff writer—that is, if Judge DeWitt Landis can get close enough to the ring to tell what's going on. Our KFYO sidekick is in Chicago, ostensibly to attend the National Radio convention. It's just a coincidence that Louis and Braddock are fighting during the convention. If the Judge can get close enough, or get his opera glasses focused, he'll give us a little "personal coverage."

Of course, our red-headed friend of the Amarillo papers, Jerry Malin, will be in the press row at Comiskey Park tonight. He went, not for the radio convention, but specifically for the fight, so he'll be lording it over this perennial stay-at-home plenty when he gets back.

CAT MOTHERS BULLDOG

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP) — "Old Lady," a Persian cat owned by Otto Spring, has adopted a week-old bulldog pup and is nursing it along with the rest of her family. Spring says he got the pup from a man who had intended to kill it, and put it in with the cat's litter.

Favorites In Play Thick

DENVER, June 22. (AP)—Favorites are thick as water hazards at the Cherry Hills course for the 37th renewal of the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

Most of the railbirds feel you could drop the names of 20 or more contenders in a hat and stand a chance to pull out the name of the 1937 champion at a single draw.

In today's 18-hole qualifying shooting, the starting field of close to 220 had 64 places in the championship bracket at which to aim.

Play Opens Tomorrow

Match play—18 holes for the first three rounds, 36 thereafter — will begin tomorrow.

Johnny Dawson, Chicago veteran who won the "Trans-Miss" at Wichita last year, is the first to admit the present race looks as wide open as any in this amateur event in years.

Many like Dawson to repeat.

Sentiment also leaned toward two youngsters—Harry Todd, 20-year-old Texas open champion from Dallas, and Ed C. Kingsley, 22-year-old Magna, Utah, sharpshooter.

Leland Hamman of Paris, Texas; Reynolds Smith, Walker cup linksman from Dallas, and Jack Munger, Dallas, had their backers.

Chicago Leads By Game Over Giant Crew

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Loaded for bear," the Cubs and the Giants go to work on each other today in the National league's first "crucial" series of the season.

The tangle will decide, for the time being at least, just which way the pennant chase is headed.

Pending the results of the current club-wrecking by the Cardinals the series begins the jockeying for position for the start of the last half pennant drive.

Seeking Nice Spot

The Cubs, sporting a one game lead, figure to put themselves in a nice spot for the start of the campaign's after-July 4 run by taking the series. Their pitching is head and shoulders over that of the Giants, and their hitting tops the New Yorkers' like a tent.

But New York is primed. Not only are the Giants anxious to keep the Cubs in sight, but they must get ready for the Cardinals. In third by a half game now, it won't do any good if they wind up with less than even break with the Cubs and gas house gang.

Hubbell In Slump

Hubbell's slump makes a sorry sight of the Giant pitching, while the Cubs feature a flinging force that has gone the route in 14 of 21 contests. Only Clyde Castleman has been a consistent performer for the Terry troupe and seems certain of one win over the Cubs in the series, since he has beaten them three times already this season.

By the same token, Charley Grimm is throwing young Clyde Shoun at the Giants today, because Clyde has topped the Terry Terriers on three occasions so far, and should best Harry Gumbert today. The two clubs have split eight games to date.

SNYDER TO CLOSE

SNYDER, (Special) — Snyder stores will close Monday, July 5, as the Fourth of July holiday, it is announced here. J. W. Scott, secretary of the chamber of commerce, announced the plan after contacting merchants.

Curtain Raiser

Shaving to Edward Vanderwerker, above, is just the carnival tattooed man's way of "raising the curtain" on his own sideshow in Alexandria, Va.

Fort Worth's Cats Heading For Top

(By The Associated Press)

Jim Gravin, rookie right-hander, had pitched the Fort Worth Cats into third place in the hectic Texas league race today as Tulsa's Oilers, unable to stand prosperity, dropped back to the edge of the second division after a sensational spurt.

The Cats passed both Tulsa and the skidding San Antonio Missions when they downed the Padres 3-0 in a game where only Bejma and Mazzera could solve the puzzling slants of the Panther hurler.

Oklahoma Moves Ahead

Oklahoma City, meanwhile, moved farther away from the field in first place with a 7-4 win over Galveston. Beaumont again failed to keep the pace, losing to the lowly Dallas Steers 5-4.

The Indians smashed out four hits in the sixth frame to come from behind to beat Galveston. Manager Jim Keesey of the Redskins tripled to start the drive. Two hits and a walk brought in two runs. Vernon Mackie doubled to send in another and Pitcher Howell drove in the fourth tally.

Great pitching in a relief role by Curt Fullerton enabled the Dallas Steers to nose out Beaumont. He relieved Chief Euel Moore in the fifth and set the Shippers back to hold the Dallas lead.

Houston defeated Tulsa in a wild 13-11 contest. It was an old-fashioned slugfest and snapped the Tulsa winning streak at six games.

Experts Say Louis Must Win Early

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

CHICAGO, June 22. (AP) — Joe Louis may beat Jimmy Braddock, but he'll have to do it early. . . . Records show Joe isn't a strong finisher. . . . Mebbe that's because he's seldom had to be. . . . But in his past bouts which went the limit he was getting worse toward the end instead of better. . . . Unless he can tag the Irishman in the first five rounds, this corner believes Braddock will go on to win, possibly just as decisively as Max Schmeling did. . . . Anyway, Braddock is a darned good long shot and just a whole lot of the experts who picked Louis in the Sunday papers would give their right eye if they could shift. . . .

Too bad you can't go to the Giant-Cub game this afternoon, then get back to Comiskey park before the big push. . . . The fight has the town in such a frenzy the arrival of the Giants yesterday was scarcely noticed. . . . Hotels are jammed to the rafters. . . . You can't get into a night joint. . . . Everybody and his brother is raking in the dough. . . . Not likely the gate will gross more than $700,000 but even at that figure everybody stands to come out on top. . . . So many newspapermen here you have to have a card of admission to get into the weighing in.

Louis has bet a sports writer friend a plate of fried chicken Braddock will not hit him with a right all evening. . . . Before leaving for Chicago, Braddock was cheered by a telegram from home that his oldest son, Jay, has been promoted in school. . . . On the way down from Grand Beach, a moth flew into the champion's car. . . . "Ot, ot," shouted Manager-Chauffeur Joe Gould, narrowly missing a truck, "we're in. . . . When moths come to see you they bring luck. . . . A guy told me that last night." . . . Five hundred orphans from a South Bend institution will see the fight as guests of the B'Nai Brith—and from $16.50 seats, too.

Gertrude Ederle, the channel swimmer, took a talent test in New York the other day and discovered she has a real good soprano voice . . . So she's in training again—for the concert stage.

LUBBOCK MEN BEST AT ROLLING "MAKIN'S" SMOKES—
They agree that this tasty guaranteed "makin's" is swell for rolling 'em!
THERE are two things you notice about the roll-your-own smokers of this section: 1—What swell cigarettes they roll. 2—Most of 'em roll Prince Albert. P. A. assures a fast, neat, firm cigarette because it's "crimp cut." Doesn't spill or blow away, and it's easy to shape. Due to the "no-bite" process, P. A. smokes extra-mild. It's milder, tastier for pipes too!
70 fine roll-your-own cigarettes in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert.

I FIND NOTHING ELSE LIKE P.A. FOR RICH-TASTING, MILD, MELLOW 'MAKIN'S' CIGARETTES

"YES, SIR—Prince Albert is my best-selling brand. Almost all the roll-your-owners around here go for it. I smoke it myself."

"WELL, that's easy to figure out. Prince Albert's got everything—easy to roll, cool and mild on the tongue, and, boy, what real body and taste!"

PRINCE ALBERT THE NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

—The News Of The Day Through The Camera's Eye—

CADDIES. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., son of the President, and his fiancee, Miss Ethel du Pont, charming daughter of the family not always in accord with the administration, are shown as they engaged in a bit of golf on a links near Wilmington, Del. They are to be married June 30.

FIRST DEFENSE. James J. Braddock, heavyweight champion of the world, makes the first defense of his title in a bout with Joe Louis at Comiskey Park, Chicago. Braddock won his crown from Max Baer on June 13, 1935, at New York. He is 31 years old.

FIRST CHALLENGE. Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber of Detroit, makes his first challenge of the heavyweight title against Braddock. His career has been one of the most spectacular in ring history, marred only by a decisive beating from Max Schmeling. Joe is 23.

ROADHOUSE OPERA. Mary McCormic used to sing with the Chicago Civic Opera company, but her most recent engagement is three shows nightly at a Milwaukee roadhouse. "Just so I sing and get paid," she said. She's shown in her dressing room.

FAITH, NOT CHARITY. Amish schoolboys of Lampeter, Pa., whose principles forbid "accepting charity and riding in automobiles," refused to ride in school buses and continued to walk barefoot. The Amish contended also their one-room schools are adequate.

CAFETERIA A LA BASQUE. In the garbage dump at Bilbao, Spain, these housewives are shown foraging for food. Bombs and cannon destroyed their supplies, closed highways and wrecked railroads. Thousands were forced to take their food where they could find it. These war-time gleaners explained that orange and potato peelings were considered the choice morsels to be obtained in this fashion.

THE ROAD BACK. Back and ever back the desperate Basque defenders of Bilbao were driven by insurgent Spanish forces in the vicinity of Bilbao. These defenders of the region, bearing the body of a fallen comrade, were returning from the front lines as they paused beneath a sheltering tree while the planes of Franco roared overhead.

LIKE GRANDMA'S. Paris is ga-ga about scarfs. They are twined about straws in matching or contrasting colors. This one is in royal blue, draped down the back with the air of 1880.

LOOKING FOR A MUG. Mr. and Mrs. T. O. M. Sopwith, owners of the Endeavours I and II, America's Cup contenders, are shown aboard their Yacht Viva in which they came for the new conquest. They were watching trials at Newport, R. I.

FARMER BOB. Rep. Robert L. "Farmer Bob" Doughton (D-NC) took front place in capital news as chief of the congressional inquiry into tax dodging. He promised little privacy for dodgers.

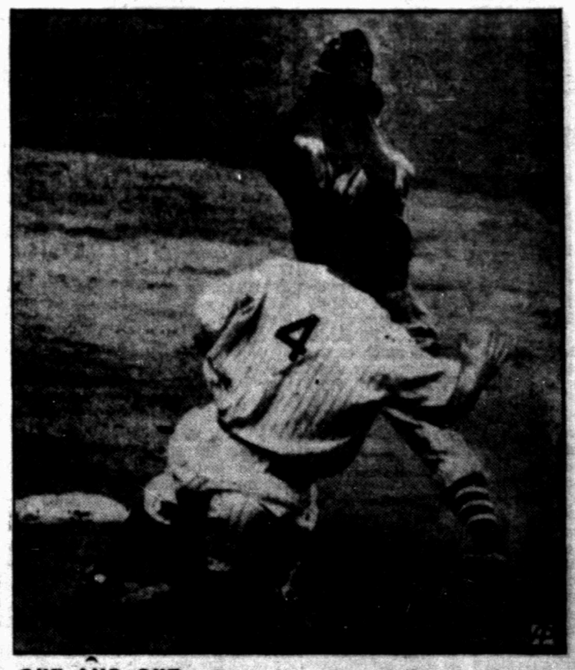

OH, DOCTOR. Working again, W. C. Fields, film comedian, faced a $12,000 suit for physicians services during his illness. Fields claimed retarded recovery and countered with a $25,000 action.

O-O-O-O-H-H-H-H-H-H! Divorced a month ago in Reno, Wynn, comedian, was married in New York to Miss Frieda ise, divorcee. Here they are aboard Ed's boat as the new bride ed a kiss on his cheek at the start of a honeymoon cruise.

ALL-CONGRESS TAX TEAM. The hunt is on in congress for tax-dodgers. The joint congressional investigating committee announced that names of alleged tax evaders would be made public. Left to right: Sen. Arthur Capper (R-Kan), Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga), Sen. Robert M. LaFollette (Prog-Wis), Rep. Allen T. Treadway (R-Mass), Sen. David I. Walsh (D-Mass), Rep. Frank Crowther (R-NY), Rep. Fred M. Vinson (D-Ky), Rep. Thomas H. Cullen (D-NY), Rep. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn); seated, Sen. Pat Harrison (D-Miss) and Rep. Robert L. Doughton (D-NC), chairman.

OUT AND OUT. It wasn't exactly a double play, but Lou Gehrig was out twice in this one at New York. He was tagged on the head when trying to steal a base on Lyn Lary of the Indians. The Yankee first sacker was called out and knocked out.

WE hear a good deal of talk about "highly educated people" and, when compared with the average citizen's learning and knowledge, there are some who might properly be called "highly educated".

Yet when one compares the amount of knowledge held by any one man, or any group of men, with all there is to know in this complex world, he soon finds that the wisest of us know but little.

All of us have seen vegetation. We've seen it in some of its forms every day of our lives.

But how many of us can explain what starts vegetation; how the roots take hold, the shoots work up and how, for instance, the common ordinary tree leaf is manufactured by nature?

Perhaps there is an agronomist out at Texas Tech who knows these answers completely, yet it is doubtful if there is a man out at the college who knows all about such a commonplace thing.

BUT for the sake of discussion, let's say there is a man in Lubbock who knows all about vegetation. What does he know about copper mining?

And if we have among us an expert copper miner, what does he know about constructing a 12-story office building? And what does the construction engineer who can put up the office building know about internal medicine?

On and on, we could go with this sort of comment but there would be only one result. The further we went the more the reader would be convinced that even the wisest among us knows little of the world at large and of its contents.

It was Pope as we remember our high school English, who said:

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing; drink deep, or touch not the eternal spring"—or something very close to that.

But if there is a man anywhere who possesses anything but "a little knowledge", we haven't seen or heard of him.

Even if a person knows all about something, he still knows little of everything.

"Flame Trail"

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD
(Copyright, 1937, Marie De Nervaud)

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon of the Lazy Nine surprises a desperate young man about to set a forest fire. Ted Gaynor convinces her he is no firebug and that this is his first attempt—an aim to get a fire fighting job and buy food for his mother and sister. Kay offers him a place in her outfit. Tom Runyon, the fire patrol, rides up, and Kay has to use her wits to shield Ted from Runyon's suspicion. Riding home alone, Kay sees smoke, and races on to discover her ranch house and barn hopelessly lost to the flames. Seth Jordan, her faithful foreman, has saved the desk with the insurance papers.

Chapter Five
Come To The Flying Six

How Kay lived through the next few hours she never quite knew. After the arrival of the truck, everything seemed to happen all at once. Babs came home, accompanied by Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, and his daughter Ruth, Babs' chum and inseparable companion.

As she was soothing Babs, whose 10-year-old courage was temporarily eclipsed by the enormity of this disaster, Kay suddenly looked up to find Josh Hastings' eyes fixed on her with a peculiar, enigmatic stare. He quickly averted his gaze.

When Babs was finally calmed down, and had gone off with Ruth to inspect the charred ruins from a safe distance, Josh Hastings took Kay's hand in his possessively.

"It's a burning shame for you to have this happen, Kay."

In spite of the emotional strain she was under, Kay was quick to detect the note of hypocrisy in his tone. She looked up at the florid face and china blue eyes of her nearest neighbor, and it seemed as though his real thoughts were written all over him.

He wasn't sorry this had happened! He was glad, because he hoped that now Kay would be forced to do what he had been urging ever since her father died. From the first, he had been determined that Kay should sell out to him, and he had lost no opportunity to discourage her and drive home his point.

Kay's eyes narrowed as she drew her hand away.

"It's bad, of course. But I'm insured, so I can build again and carry on."

To her surprise, a gleam of triumph flashed in his eyes. He started to say something, then didn't.

"I expected you to say that." He smiled tolerantly. "It's foolish, but this is no time to talk business. You must come and stay with us until you decide what to do."

"Thank you, but I'd better stay here, I think." Kay tried to soften her refusal with a smile, but an ugly look flashed in Hastings' eyes at her answer. It passed so quickly, that Kay couldn't be really sure that she had rightly interpreted his expression. When he spoke again, he used the same note of patronizing tolerance.

"Just as you say. But I don't see exactly how you're going to manage." He glanced significantly at the smouldering ruins. "At least, let Babs come back with us for a few weeks. That would suit Ruth and me down to the ground."

Babs Does Some Coaxing

Kay hesitated. She hated accepting favors from him, but it would certainly be a lot easier to have Babs away just now. Babs' friendship with Ruth put it on a slightly different basis, and yet—

"That's awfully good of you," she temporized, "but—"

"What's good of him, Sis?" Kay started, as Babs' voice broke in on her, and the next minute, a small whirlwind was giving her an impulsive hug. "Is he asking us to stay at the Flying Six? Please say 'yes,' Sis! Please!"

Ruth's voice joined in the pleading, and Kay looked doubtfully from one eager face to the other, as she tried to decide.

"Please, Sis!" Babs repeated, pushing back her blonde curls and winking at Ruth to egg her on to join in the coaxing. "Where could we stay, anyway?"

"I'm going to stay in one of the cabins," Kay answered, with sudden decision. "But if Mr. Hastings and Ruth would really like to have you, you can go back with them for a little visit."

"Whoopee!" Babs and Ruth both broke into a triumphant shout, then Babs' eyes suddenly clouded. "But Sis, wouldn't you rather have me with you? I wish you'd come, too!"

"Perhaps she will yet." Josh Hastings' tone seemed to imply something.

"I am afraid I'll be too busy," Kay answered. "I'm going to start rebuilding at once."

The smug skeptical smile Kay had noticed before passed over Josh Hastings' mouth.

"I'll be going in to Red River tomorrow, to see about the insurance." Kay went on, bravely ignoring his implied doubt of her program, "and—" she broke off short, and pointed down the road. "What's that coming?"

The others followed her gaze.

Aunt Kate Rolls In

"Looks like Jennings' livery team," Josh Hastings scrutinized the oncoming buckboard, enveloped in a cloud of dust.

"But who could it be?" Even as she voiced the question, a dread suspicion flashed into Kay's mind, and she started to run down the road. This would be the last straw, if she was right, she thought, as she topped a rise and scanned the approaching vehicle. She saw that her worst fear was realized.

By the time the buckboard came up, the others had joined her, and Aunt Kate was waving them a smiling greeting.

"I felt so much better, I figgered I'd come on and surprise you," she called cheerily. Another moment, and the buckboard topped the rise, opening up a full view of the smouldering ruins.

With a sinking heart, Kay tried to answer Aunt Kate's flood of horrified questions. What could she do now? This last complication was just one too many!

As though answering her thought, Josh Hastings stepped forward, and smilingly extended his invitation to Aunt Kate.

Kay felt as though a trap from which there was no escape was closing around her, as she listened to Aunt Kate's voluble thanks and acceptance.

"That's mighty neighborly of you, Josh Hastings," she quavered, "and we'll all be right glad to come."

"I'm not coming, Aunt Kate, but it will be fine for you and Babs to go." Kay steeled herself to meet her aunt's piercing black eyes with firm determination. For all the old lady's 77 years, she had a strong will of her own.

"Tut, tut! Of course you're coming," she snapped. "What'll you do here, with a parcel of men, and no place to sleep?"

"I'm going to fix up one of the cabins." Kay gratefully turned to Seth who came up just then to join them, and put a hand on his arm to steady herself. "The bunkhouse and the boys' mess shack are all right," she went on. "I'll eat with them until I get my own housekeeping going. So there's nothing to worry about."

Ted Gaynor shows up, tomorrow, and bucks up Kay's sagging spirits.

GETTING DOWN TO BRASS TACKS

President Bradford Knapp, of Texas Tech, is not the only educational leader who believes, with good reason, that curricula should be pointed toward fitting the student for a definite job which he can and will fill after graduation.

That view is being held more and more by other educators whose demands for practical courses of instruction are being frequently heard.

While Doctor Knapp long has held the view that education should be practical, in the case of most of our educators such demand is a by-product of the depression. In recent years, young people have been impressed as never before with the desirability, not to say necessity, of utilizing school and college hours in pursuit of a tangible objective rather than of a vague cultural goal.

It is true, of course, that modern business and industry want trained workers who do not require a prolonged apprenticeship in order to start producing. At a time when the demand for jobs is far greater than the supply of positions, the young graduate must be able to make an immediate showing of personal fitness if he hopes to get anywhere.

Observers are inclined to doubt whether the "country club" conception of college education ever will be restored to its former level of popularity. The economic emergency has stripped the learning process of its luxury features, and the probabilities are that, for a long time to come, pedagogical aims will have to be adjusted to the dictates of brass tacks and common sense.

A Thought . .

And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive.—St. Matthew 21:22.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 22.—When a star dies before a picture is released, the work is seldom scrapped. "Ready, Willing and Able" was released shortly after the suicide of Ross Alexander, with no changes except in the billing.

"Saratoga," Jean Harlow's last picture, can't be released because it wasn't finished. She had appeared in most of the scenes as far as it went. These scenes will be rewritten and remade.

Rarely is a film shelved for any reason at all. Problems of censorship can be ironed out before production begins, and even if a feature happens to turn out a complete floperoo, or turkey, it can be marked down into the "B" class and released as roughage for the double-bill menus.

Called The "Doctor"

It was different in the old days when you didn't have to spend a week-end in a theater to catch the program. A great many poor pictures were made, and in some cases the producers figured it was cheaper to junk them than to risk their own reputations. Hollywood was teeming with men who owned a few hundred dollars' worth of equipment and the scripts of potential epics.

When a picture looked bad even to its director and producer, it was sent to a specialist of the silent era called a "film doctor." He'd look at the thing a few times, then get busy with a pair of shears and a lot of new titles.

Often the titles were so different from the originals that the entire story and plot would be changed.

One citizen of Poverty Row made a melodramatic western which ended with about three reels of the hero and his father chasing the villain and the girl almost across Wyoming.

The picture couldn't be sold, so it went to a film doctor, who had almost despaired of it when he got the bright idea of turning it into a travelog.

All the drama was cut out, leaving three reels of a careening tour in a buckboard over mountains and plains. Instead of waving his rifle and saying, "We'll catch the critter yet, son!" the old man was shown waving toward mountains and canyons and explaining, in titles, "There's another of the scenic wonders of the Rockies."

On The Shelf

Later, in the hey-day of the talents, there were a few big productions which got out of hand through poor direction, too ambitious ideas or inadequate stories. Some of these were shelved by executives rather than risk damage to the prestige of their stars.

In 1929, Eric Von Stroheim finished directing Gloria Swanson in a cinematic Irish stew called "Queen Kelly." Von Stroheim was no piker, and he gave it his all. Miss Swanson likewise gave it just about everything she had—some $900,000. (She was her own producer then.)

The picture was terrible. In this country it never got further than one preview. It was agreed that it had to be shelved. The reason given was that sound had come in while "Queen Kelly" was in the middle of production, and that the feature wasn't readaptable to sound.

The fact was that Miss Swanson figured that her faltering popularity couldn't stand much of a jolt at that time. She was smart, too. Her next picture, "Sadie Thompson," was a hit that revived the Swanson vogue.

Foreigners Protest

Lately several stories have been bought for filming and than laid aside in the face of foreign protests. But the only finished feature ever withheld from release for diplomatic reasons was a Universal product in 1923 about Emperor Maximilian of Mexico.

It was a big production, with impressive sets and hundreds of extras, and cost nearly $800,000. Reginald Denny was the star, and Claire Dolores, and James Horne directed. The entire story, about an American soldier-of-fortune's adventures at Ferdinand's court, was burlesqued.

For example, there was a sequence in which the mad emperor sat on his throne peeling a banana, and when Mr. Denny bowed low, the end of his sword upped and sliced off his majesty's banana. For that, Denny was ordered shot.

The picture might have been a laugh riot in this country, but it would have brought real riots in the Latin Americas. Every foreign consul from the Rio Grande to Cape Horn entered a vigorous protest.

For years the studio offered $10,000 to anybody who could think of a way of salvaging the picture. But nobody could, and it now lies on the shelves, forgotten.

Florida has 134 usable airports.

Senate Anti-Court Change Filibuster Hinges On Several Contingencies; Townsend Through

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 22.—We may be headed toward a great and historic Senate filibuster and then again we may not.

The question has arisen in the verbal maneuvers on the court fight. The no-compromise opponents are bragging about what good filibusterers they are, and promising they will have at least 20 human wind machines working in five-man shifts to talk to death any new version of the Roosevelt court proposal that may be presented.

Dutcher

There is no question that a score of determined senators could talk until the last cow came home, and one would hate to guess the month in which they might be expected to run out of breath. They could be stopped only by a two-thirds cloture vote.

But there would be no point in a filibuster unless the filibusterers knew they would be licked if the issue came to a vote.

Famous filibusters of the past have depended for success on the fact that Congress was scheduled to quit on a certain day and that legislation could be blocked by the process of taking up the intervening time by abuse of the Senate's unlimited debate privilege. But the Twentieth constitutional amendment has always been considered a blow at the filibuster technique because there is no longer any short session or definite adjournment date.

Furthermore, administration supporters are inclined to believe that there aren't enough men on the opposition side who will want to make themselves conspicuous last ditch fighters against a compromise.

There may be more light on these points later. And the Washington climate gives assurance that there'll be at least as much if not more heat than light.

Homey Shell Holes

The question whether to bring hundreds of Basque children to this country for refuge while their fathers and mothers are being massacred at home has been widely argued here as the State department has sought to avoid saying yes or no.

A prominent Children's Bureau official and an assistant secretary of a federal department were overheard wrangling over the problem.

"Those kids ought to be kept in their homes," said she.

"Yes," was the reply, "I suppose a shell hole is a pretty nice home for a baby with a bottle!"

Complete And Total Wreck

There isn't going to be any big Townsend convention here or any 55,000,000 Townsend lobby fund. And as far as Washington is concerned there isn't going to be any more Dr. Townsend.

Announcement of "indefinite postponement" of a convention of 15,000 Townsendites here has been followed by the declaration of Congressman John S. McGroarty of California, once official sponsor of the Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension plan, that "the plan is a complete and total wreck due, I believe, wholly to the erratic and dubious methods employed by the man whose name the movement bore."

This and the walkout of the Townsend Weekly staff, coupled with the row over $16,000 in prize money offered by the weekly, appear to ring down the curtain on an extraordinary movement which once roused the hopes and lured the dimes or dollars of millions—most of them elderly folk led to fondly believe that they would spend their remaining days on several pensions of $200 a month.

Politically, of course, Townsend died in the election last fall [illegible] sister act with Father Coughlin, Bill Lemke and the Rev. Gerald K. Smith.

Which reminds one that the country has been strangely free of demagogues these last few months. No one has popped up to take the place of the gentlemen just mentioned or that of the late Huey Long, the king of them all.

Or perhaps you will agree with a viewpoint not uncommonly held in the east that Roosevelt, with more finesse, has out-demagogued everybody.

Good Registration Is Reported For Vacation Bible School

Approximately 40 pupils ranging in ages from 8 to 14 years registered Monday for the opening session of the vacation 'ible school sponsored by St. Paul's-on-the-Plains Episcopal church, according to Rev. J. Hodge Alves, priest in charge.

Classes will be held from 9 to 12 o'clock every morning at Seaman Hall with exception of Saturdays and Sundays. Starting Monday morning it will continue through next week.

Superintendents of the four departments are: Mrs. O. R. Hand, kindergarten; Miss Cora Fox Yonge, primary; Mrs. Mark Allen, juniors; and Mrs. W. Brophy, seniors.

New pupils will be registered all this week, Rev. Alves said, but none will be taken next week. The school is open to all children of the city.

Program Of Fun And Music Is Staged By Kiwanis Club

A program of fun and of music featured the annual Kiwanis club ladies' night celebration which attracted a record crowd of more than 150 at Lubbock hotel Monday night.

The organization here joined with Kiwanians throughout the world in observing the annual international affair. At 9:30 o'clock sharp the chapter here joined with the other groups in one minute of silence.

Ladies of the club were in charge of the program presented with Mrs. A. W. Evans as toastmistress. Mrs. T. E. Buckner, chairman of the committee on arrangements, was in charge.

Miss Etoile McLeod was presented in two piano solos and Miss Billye Frances Brundage of Palo Pinto, who is here visiting an aunt, Mrs. S. E. Arnold, tap danced. Miss Madeline Ely sang two numbers, accompanied at the piano by Miss Myrtle Dunn. Mrs. H. D. Woods gave Kiwanians an intelligence test and Mrs. Ray Mowery staged a play, "The Gathering of the Nuts" with members of the club as the cast. Miss Johnnie Birdwell read "Julia at the Ballgame."

State Highway Patrolman Is Injured In Collision

Weldon Lawson, Texas state highway patrolman, nursed painful bruises at his home, 1306 Twenty-third street, today received Monday afternoon when his motorcycle collided with an automobile in the 900 block on Broadway.

He was discharged from Lubbock sanitarium after an x-ray examination determined that a badly bruised left arm was not broken, as first feared.

Lawson said he attempted to quit his motorcycle but it fell on him when an automobile stopped in front of him. "I must have released my brake," he said. "The car ahead was not traveling fast."

Mrs. J. F. Landers of 1810 Fifteenth street told Sid Caraway, police office, she had stopped her car to get a parking place and that she heard the noise of the falling motorcycle. She was driving slowly, said witnesses.

Ashmore Funeral Rites Held At Santa Anna On Monday

Funeral services were held at Santa Anna Monday for Miss Lela Ashmore, resident of Lubbock for several years, who died there Sunday after a long illness.

Miss Ashmore had received treatment in Dallas and Santa Anna for a malignant ailment since leaving Lubbock about two months ago.

She was employed as secretary in the sheriff's department here for four years and later for two years as bookkeeper at Sherrod Bros. hardware.

Miss Helen Hart, assistant to the county auditor, went to Santa Anna Saturday.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 22 (AP) — Despite bearish influences cotton opened steady today and prices were unchanged to 2 points net higher. A little covering by shorts was the only activity in the early trading.

Private crop advices continued good and Liverpool cables were not as favorable as expected. The weather over the belt was considered ideal for the crop and the deadlock in the steel strike discouraged much speculative sentiment on the buying side.

Oct. contracts opened at 12.12, Dec. at 12.18, Jan. at 12.20, March at 12.27 and May at 12.33. Trading was extremely dull during the first half hour, but there was enough selling to carry near months off 2 to 3 points below the previous close.

Liverpool cables said hedging against outside growths and scattered selling met trade price fixing.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 22. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 1 higher with trading largely confined to July liquidation and exchanging to late positions. July 12.04; Oct. 12.14; Dec. 12.10; Jan. 12.13; March 12.20; May 12.26.

The market was quiet with traders inclined to await developments, following yesterday's covering movements.

Spot houses and the trade were the best buyers of July to absorb the continued liquidation in this position. While there was some Liverpool and continental buying, the far east sold.

Following the call, prices were slightly easier under light scattered selling owing to almost complete lack of rain in the cotton belt and a forecast of generally fair weather in the east, from which recent complaints of weevil activity have been received.

There was also a belief prevalent that the technical position had been eased after yesterday's active Wall street covering.

Oct. sold off from 12.15 to 12.10 shortly after the first half hour when prices were at net losses of 3 to 5 points.

Liverpool reported a small narrow market with political problems in Europe restricting business.

After losses of a point or so further had been registered during the middle of the morning, prices turned steady on a little commission house, local and New Orleans buying. Offerings were not plentiful. Private reports of weevil activity in Texas attracted some attention. The volume of business was not large. Traders inclined to await further developments in the labor situation.

October recovered from 12.08 to 12.18 and at midday was within a point of the best when prices were generally 2 to 4 points net higher.

Indiana Bureau Policies Scored By Senate Affairs Committee

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP) — Members of the senate Indians affairs committ' have joined with Navajos in criticism of Indian bureau policies.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana told John Collier, Indian commissioner, at one point in a committee ring, "you're running things in exactly the same way as did previous administrations about which you complained loudest. You're giving Indians jobs to pack their councils with your own supporters. It's the same old scheme. The Indian bureau is manipulating the Indians and they have about as much to say in their elections as a chicken with its head off."

have had under discussion.

Leming said that he "understood" the firm of Hughes, Schurman and Dwight had been dissolved, "I thnk last week."

Senator Harrison (D-Miss) interrupted to instruct the witness: "Tell us what happened."

"Mr. Dwight," Leming resumed, "had an income in 1932 which could be wiped out by a deduction of $143,000. "He undertook with the Standard Life Insurance company, Ltd., of the Bahamas to enter into a contract."

Asks About Covering Up

Representative Treadway (R-Mass) asked whether Dwight "had attempted to cover the contract up."

Leming replied he would come to that "presently."

Before Leming started testifying, members of the committee wrangled heatedly over methods used by the treasury in selecting for public disclosure names of persons accused of tax-dodging.

Representative Treadway (R-Mass) asked Undersecretary Roswell Magill of the treasury how names were being selected to illustrate types of evasion and avoidance, and then asserted he did not believe the treasury had discovered revenue loop holes only last March.

Magill replied that "most of these matters are not particularly new."

Turning to Treadway, who sat next to him, Representative Cooper (D-Tenn) snapped: "There is no confusion in anybody's mind but yours."

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) began banging his gavel loudly.

Parking Plan

parking limits for five cents instead of a one-hour limit for which they originally were set.

No Interpretation Given

City officials said today that members of their own engineering department as well as several others who were consulted were unable to interpret blueprints of the so-called traffic control units. As best they could make out, they said, the contraption involves the chaining of the automobile to a metal post. If there is any mechanism to set a time limit on parking, no reference is made to it in the blueprints.

However, officials said that further investigation will be made and a more complete explanation as to the workings of the device will be invited with the assurance that the city commission will adopt the least expensive parking limit device if it becomes apparent that the particular theory of traffic regulation is desired by a majority of Lubbock citizens.

No word has been received from the Dual Parking Meter company as to when their meters will be placed on the streets for a 120-day test, after which the city may retain or reject them without obligation to itself.

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, announced today payment of an additional $2 per capita apportionment of the available school fund aggregating $3,133,780. The payment brought to $17 the apportionment to date, leaving $2 of the current apportionment of $19 to be paid by Sept. 1, 1937.

Apache War Chieftains Now Peaceful Indian Citizens

(By The Associated Press)

TUCSON, Ariz., June 22 — What has become of the fierce Apache war chieftains of half a century ago who followed the renegade Geronimo into and subsequently into captivity?

Dr. Frank C. Lockwood of the University of Arizona set out to learn.

On the Jacarilla reservation in New Mexico he obtained this answer:

Three of the old warriors, who have found peace to their taste in waning years, still are alive. Sons and grandsons of others of the savage renegades, including Geronimo, are industrious and respected members of their tribe, leading a peaceful, pastoral life.

In the early days of Arizona the white settlers were filled with terror at the atrocious deeds of Geronimo, Chihuahua, Cochise, Victorio, Juh and Nachez, leaders of the massacring Apaches.

Subdued by federal troops, Geronimo and his followers were imprisoned in Florida and later at Fort Sill, Okla., where many of the warriors died.

Of the chiefs who went into captivity with Geronimo, only Jokhanni, Martine, and Charlie Istee remain alive.

Jokhanni, Dr. Lockwood said, "is old, very old, a fine old fellow, tall, handsome, of pleasing expression. He wears a blue army blouse, and on his breast is a bright badge of the "Veterans of Indian Wars.'"

"Martine still lives, a senile, very old man," Lockwood said.

"Istee, son of the renowned Victorio, was sent to Carlisle university soon after he reached Florida. He remembers his father and his amazing exploits as a warrior. Istee is a successful farmer, coming seldom to the agency, and unwilling to be pointed out and marveled at as Victorio's son."

Children of the old warriors apparently have inherited none of their fierceness, Dr. Lockwood said, but in most instances are leaders in tribal affairs.

"Two remarkable children of Chihuahua, now in their sixties, Ramona and Eugene, reside at White Tail on the Mescalero reservation," Dr. Lockwood related. "They were nearly grown when taken to Florida, and were sent to Carlisle to school. Ramona is a fine, intelligent Christian woman. Eugene is an industrious and successful farmer.

"Nachez' son, Christian, Cochise's grandson, is a member of the tribal council and an associate judge. Geronimo's son Robert is president of the stock growers' association and the most successful sheep and cattle man on the reservation."

Nachez was the only one of the stalwart and blood thirsty leaders to live through the Florida and Oklahoma captivity and return to the Mescalero reservation.

WASHINGTON, June 22 —The Justice department announced today a $1,500 reward for information leading to the arrest of the Alfred Brady gang which has operated in the mid-west for the last two years.

Texas Lions Are To Aid Blind Kiddies

GALVESTON, June 22 (AP) — Approximately 300 Texas Lions, at their annual state convention here today unanimously approved a resolution to form the Lions Blind Foundation of Texas, Inc.

Presented by Sam Braswell of Clarendon, and seconded by Ross Covey of Sweetwater, the resolution provided for formation of a non-profit corporation to co-ordinate Lions blind work throughout the state. Headquarters will be located here.

Directors of the corporation will include the outgoing district governors, Elmer D. Elliot of Dalhart, Ross S. Covey of Sweetwater, Burris C. Jackson of Hillsboro, Murphy A. Winn of San Antonio, and R. C. Franks of Bryan, and also the five incoming district governors, Joe Pond of Colorado, Tom Gillis of Fort Worth, William L. A barbecue is planned, as well as other entertainment.

Another Suggested Form Of Lobbying Control Bobs Up

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP) — Another suggested form of controlling lobbyists bobbed up today in the house of representatives.

J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene and others proposed creation of a standing committee on representation of special interests. Their resolution automatically went to the rules committee.

Persons in Austin would have to register with the lobbying committee on such forms as it might prescribe before they could approach a legislator regarding any bill.

State's Deficit Is $10,515,077

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 22—The deficit in the state's general revenue fund again has soared past the $10,000,000 mark.

State Treasurer Charley Lockhart reported today it was $10,515,077.35, an increase of approximately $540,000 since June 5.

Lockhart calle. for payment of all revenue warrants through last January 12. .ie new call number was 77,136. There was no change in the Confederate pension call.

dered. There is unquestioned danger, officials explained that the dog may have infected other pets, and residents of the two neighborhoods have been advised to keep their own dogs and cats under careful observation. At least one dog owner caused his dog to be destroyed this morning because it tussled with the Davis pup in the last two or three days.

First Suspected Poisoning

Members of the Davis family reported that they first supposed the dog might have been poisoned and caused it to be destroyed. The brain was taken to Miss Dora Snyder, city bacteriologist, whose report that the animal was rabied made just before noon caused miniature panics in the affected neighborhoods.

None of those exposed, so far as officials could ascertain, actually had been bitten. All, however, had played with or petted the pup, and may have gotten salvia upon their skins, officials said.

Officials added that the actual danger of infection from salvia contact is not great. But without exception they added, "if it were me, in such case, I would take treatment."

Tribute To Baldwin's Handling Of Abdication Crisis Is Made

LONDON, June 22 (AP) — An anonymous donor has given £250,000 ($1,250,000) to the empire as a tribute to the way Stanley Baldwin handled the abdication crisis, it was disclosed in commons lobbies today.

The money was placed at the disposal of the premier's office for the purpose of "endowing any object best calculated to strengthen still further" the ties that bind the empire.

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP) — The treasury reported late today that income tax collections between June 1 and June 19 totaled $504,155,451, an increase of 69 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Did you see it, Yourself?

AMERICANS LIKE TO SEE THINGS with their own eyes. The first question we ask anyone describing an event of importance is: "Did you see it yourself?" A skeptical race, perhaps, but that is one reason this newspaper prints the extra-fast, world-girdling TELEMAT service of The Associated Press—so you may see the news for yourself.

Telemats take advantage of the swift transmission of pictures by wire—an average size picture is flashed from coast to coast in a few minutes—and enable us to print pictures of the news along with the story. They cost a little more than slower, ordinary pictures, but we believe our readers understand we are trying to produce the best possible newspaper, and appreciate the service.

Loss Of Beard Is A Grave Problem

MEXICO CITY, June 22. (AP)—A congressional candidate's loss of his highly prized bushy beard and eyebrows presented President Lazaro Cardenas with a troublesome political problem today.

The beard and brows belonged to Aurelio Manriques, who used them to good effect during several years he lived as a political exile in California and worked as an extra in Hollywood.

He lost them in the climax of a turbulent political meeting at San Luis Potosi, where he was running for congress as an independent, opposing the choice of the national revolutionary (government) party. Strenuous opponents broke up his meeting and applied the razor to Manriques' beard and brows.

Also some one hit him on the head with a pistol butt. He said he recognized his assailants as adherents of General Saturnino Cedillo, secretary of agriculture, which brought the issue up to the national capital.

The beardless candidate hurried to Mexico City to lay his complaint before the president.

Manriques is director of the national library in Mexico City.

New Kind Of Farm Map Today Explained To Scientists

DENVER, June 22 (AP)—A new kind of farm map, which sees the land as it looks from the air and indicates where to plant and how to till to preserve the soil for future generations, was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science here today.

The map was developed by the U. S. department of agriculture soil conservation service. It was explained by Vern O. Stebbins of Dayton, Washington.

The maps run four to eight inches to the mile. Most of them are made by airplane photography. They chart gullies, cultivated land, pasture, woodland, slopes and something new for map-making, the "tenderness" of each area to erosion.

Not until 1632 was it discovered that, in order for a seed to form, the pollen of a flower must touch the ovule.

Brother Of Lubbock Woman Is Taken By Death Monday

William C. Farmer, 45, brother of Mrs. John W. Schulte of 1408 Avenue K, died at a veterans hospital at Livermore, Calif., about 5:15 o'clock Monday morning.

A former resident of Childress, he had visited relatives at Lubbock several times.

Last rites will be read here Thursday and burial will be in a Lubbock cemetery. Other funeral arrangements last night had not been announced. Veterans of Foreign Wars probably will be in charge of services, it was reported last night.

Other than his sister here, he was survived by his wife and two sisters, Mrs. Tink Warren of Crosbyton and Mrs. Will Bolling of Sapulpa, Okla.

He had been in ill health several years.

NAMED DEPUTY SHERIFF

GAIL, (Special)—Sid Reeder has been named deputy sheriff of Borden county by Mrs. D. R. Covey, sheriff. Mrs. Covey was recently named to succeed her husband, who died of pneumonia.

BAILEY IS ACTIVE

MULESHOE, (Special) — During April 6,755 acres of land were sold in Bailey county and nine town lots were sold. Also, 10,029 acres of land were leased for oil and 1,611 acres of mineral deeds granted, records in the county clerk's office show.

West Texas Exhibit Is Being Arranged

FORT WORTH, June 22. (AP) — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce building at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta this year will become a museum revealing the history and products of that section of the state, J. A. Rix, Lubbock, the supervisor, announced last night. Rix explained that state colleges and universities will furnish the majority of materials to be exhibited.

Rix was busy with John Hendrix, publicity director, arranging space in the newly painted and decorated building for exhibits from six of the state's leading schools, including Texas Tech at Lubbock; Sul Ross State Teachers college at Alpine; Texas State College of Mines at El Paso; West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon; John Tarleton college, Stephenville; and North Texas State Teachers college, Denton.

Materials have been borrowed from the museums of each school, weaving together a historical story of West Texas that goes back into prehistoric times.

DOGS KILL CALVES

MORTON, (Special)—A. C. Ward, dairyman, reports dogs killed five of his whitefaced calves. Dogs have bothered the stock and Ward says he will kill all dogs entering his place.

If Rats Were Encouraged To Smoke They'd Lose Appetite

DENVER, June 22. (AP)—If rats could be encouraged to take up smoking, they would tend to lose two of their most annoying habits—raiding the pantry and having more rats—Dr. Robert H. Wilson, of the U. S. department of agriculture, reported today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Wilson told an association convention group that experiments at the Stanford university school of medicine, San Francisco, showed rats given a daily "dose" of nicotine lost their appetites. They reduced their food consumption to such an extent they definitely "stunted their growth," Wilson reported.

Moreover, some of the rats became so interested in their new habit that they forgot about having more rats.

German Trials To Be Staged

MUNICH, Germany, June 22. (AP)—The Nazi regime announced last night new immorality trials of Catholics would show justification for its drastic action against Catholic schools in Bavaria.

Adolf Wagner, Bavarian minister of the interior who yesterday announced the closing of 11 private Catholic schools, declared the public would know the reason for this "when the trials begin."

Wagner also ordered transformation of 966 parochial schools into secular institutions. Hundreds of school children in Bavaria, long the German stronghold of Catholicism, were affected.

Report Distributed

Supporting the campaign against alleged evil conditions in private Catholic schools, the official news agency distributed a report on the slaying of a 12-year-old schoolboy near the Unterkirnach monastery June 17 it said an 18-year-old monastery student, accused of the crime, developed a homicidal urge because of "religious hysteria" produced by a "monastic ascetic" atmosphere complicated by rampant immorality in the school.

The 71 boarding schools closed thus far were operated by Catholic lay orders, several of whose members were involved in recent immorality trials. A dozen other Catholic boarding schools in Bavaria have not been affected.

Now that 966 Vollage schools have been given non-denominational status, Catholics feared that Catholic teachers may be forced to leave the church to keep their jobs.

Under the new decree all children will go to the same schools.

Vatican To Attempt To Avoid Open Break With Germany

VATICAN CITY, June 22. (AP) — The Vatican indicated today it would try to avoid a diplomatic break with Germany although high prelates believe Germany violated the Berlin-Vatican concordat of 1933 by changing private Catholic schools in Bavaria into secular schools.

A semi-official statement said the Vatican would follow a policy of conciliation toward the reich.

Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Vatican secretary of state, and the Pope were said to differ on procedure toward Germany. The pontiff was said to favor a strong attitude, while the cardinal favored moderation.
