Farmers To Get Soil Conservation Payments Earlier

Payment To Be Made By AAA As Applications Received; Around 400 Have Already Gone In From Here

Farmers of Mitchell county, along with those in other sections of the state, are looking forward to receiving their 1939 soil conservation checks 90 to 99 days earlier this year than last.

Earlier payment is made possible under a new procedure announced recently from AAA headquarters at College Station. Under the old plan, payment of soil building application, to any one county did not begin until at least 90 days after the applications in that county had been received and checked. The new plan is to make payments as applications are received.

Some 400 of Mitchell county's approximately 1,300 applications, had been completed and sent in this week, according to J. Wiley Holmes, county AAA administrator. Holmes hopes to have all applications in by around Dec. 1.

Farmers are being sent notices as their applications become ready for signing, and Holmes warns that there is nothing to be gained by coming to the AAA office in regard to applications until such notices are received. Some applications require considerable time because they have to be mailed to distant points for land and signatures.

Soil conserving checks for 1939 have been received in a few scattered sections of the state already, Holmes says. This payment is earned by leaving soil building crops, such as sudan, coxpeas, sweet sorghum, etc., on the land or plowing them under. This does not mean grazing or harvesting for hay. Contouring, terracing, and strip cropping are other practices to earn soil building payment. Checks to Mitchell county farmers and landowners are to total around $225,000.

Payment of 1939 parity applications in the county is over 99 percent completed, Holmes estimates. The parity total will be around $155,000 for the county. Farmers and landowners will receive only the two payments, parity and soil conservation, under the 1939 program.

Still active enough in body to be proud of his birthday and still clear enough in mind to make his early West Texas memories of increasing value, W. A. Crowder quietly passed his 89th birthday last week.

The beginning of his 90th year, Mr. Crowder continuing all the interests which have occupied him since he was retired by the Texas & Pacific railroad 19 years ago, after having served as their freight and passenger agent here for 35 years. He still takes good care of his bees, and still maintains a perfect attendance record at First Christian church, of which he and Mrs. Crowder are the only surviving charter members.

His church attendance record is now more than 18 years old, and it includes church, Sunday school, prayer meeting, and board meetings—he's been an elder for 32 years. His ambition is to make his church attendance record a 20-year one.

As a telegraph operator with the Texas & Pacific railroad in the early eighties, Mr. Crowder had a ring-side seat for the beginning of West Texas. He first went to work for the T. & P. at Cisco in March, 1882.

While stationed there he saw the first passenger train which came to Colorado City—about May 1, 1882, he believes. The train spent the night here and next morning the engine was turned back east by a turntable which the railroad maintained here at that time. Until that time passenger trains had run only to Baird, although the railroad had been completed to Colorado City early in 1881 and was forging on toward El Paso in 1882.

In July, 1885, Mr. Crowder became Texas & Pacific agent at Colorado City, then in its heyday as the "biggest cattle shipping" point in the world. He remembers ordering as many as 200 cattle cars at a time, and how the huge cattle herds, driven in from points as far away as the Lubbock country and the Pecos river, would low while being held on the outskirts of the town or in the stock pens for shipping. Cattle loadings went on day and night, and Mr. Crowder, whose duties included that of being telegraph operator at the stock pens, was always on hand.

Born in Macon county, Missouri, on Oct. 25, 1850, Mr. Crowder spent his boyhood in Missouri and Illinois, coming to Texas by covered wagon in 1872 and settling near McKinney. He and Mrs. Crowder, the former Mary Elizabeth Lucas, were married on Feb. 2, 1879, at Allen, near McKinney. They quietly passed their 60th wedding anniversary last February.

Railroading seems to run in the Crowder family, both the Crowders being railroad men. Claude Crowder of Pampa has been, with the Santa Fe for 32 years, while Leslie Crowder has been T. & P. express agent here for 20 years.

Legion Leader Lauds Work of Red Cross As Annual Roll Call Near

WASHINGTON.—An appeal for greater Red Cross membership to meet new demands upon the organization's services was voiced by Raymond J. Kelly, newly elected national commander of the American Legion, as approximately 2,700 Red Cross Chapters throughout the country prepared for the opening day of Roll Call on November 11.

Commander Kelly's endorsement reached Chairman Norman H. Davis at Red Cross headquarters here with those of Archbishop John J. Cantwell, Archdiocese of Los Angeles; Bishop Charles L. Mead, Methodist Episcopal Church, Kansas City; and Rabbi Norman Gerstenfeld, of the Washington, D. C. Hebrew Congregation.

Support of the four leaders came as Red Cross Chapters throughout the nation were organizing for the greatest membership drive in two decades. Chairman Davis pointed out that needs for widening domestic operations of the organization follow with urgent appeals for war relief from Europe had prompted the Red Cross to make the widespread membership campaign.

In his appeal for greater membership support, Commander Kelly stated:

"The ties which knit the American Legion and the American Red Cross were forged on the battlefield in 1917-18, and have been strengthened in the ensuing years through cooperation in community service, disaster relief and aid to our sick and disabled comrades."

"Therefore, it is my privilege to recommend to the attention of our more than a million Legionnaires the need to keep the Red Cross prepared for action at home, and for humane and sympathetic relief to the distressed civilian populations in war-torn Europe, in this trying year. The American Red Cross, under its chartered obligations, was created for impartial and neutral assistance to meet human distress."

If both Forsan and Westbrook continue to be unbeaten, they will have to play off for the championship. Forsan defeated the Wildcats 22-7 early in the season, but Bill Fletcher's team evened that by defeating Forsan 30-0 a few weeks ago.

WHAT IS PASTURE WORTH?

By T. C. Richardson, Associate Editor

Breeder-Feeder Association

It has been comparatively easy to learn how many pounds of meat a pasture would produce per acre in a season, but data on the cash value of pastures for dairy cows have not been so plentiful nor so accurate.

The annual report of the Central Plains Dairy Herd Improvement Association issued last spring brings out the cash value of a year-round pasture in a forcible way, and the results are based on accurate records.

J. E. Rigler, with thirty-one registered and grade Jersey cows, was one member of the Association who maintained pasture the year round. He sowed wheat, in September, at about three times the normal rate of seeding for grain, to supply winter pasture.

With summer pastures the rest of the year, ensilage, grain sorghum and alfalfa, his herd produced an average per cow of 6,254 pounds of 5.2 per cent milk. This was not among the highest records in the Association, but was well up in average production among the larger herds.

The interesting fact is that Mr. Rigler got nearly half—49 per cent—of his production from pasture. In calculating costs each kind of feed is charged at a uniform price by D. M. Carroll, official tester. Pasture is charged at 75 cents per cow per month. But Mr. Rigler's pasture, after deducting the energy terms which were supplied by grain and roughage, paid off at the rate of $3 per cow per month as compared with the cost of roughage, and at the rate of $4.50 per cow per month.

calculated in terms of grain feed. To put it another way, each productive unit (technically "therms") cost 2.3 cents in the form of grain, 1.5 cents in the form of roughage, and only four-tenths of a cent from pasture. Of course it required grain and roughage to complete the balanced ration. The point is that the cost of production would have been considerably higher without the pasture.

This record, it should be remembered, was made on the Plains of West Texas. A longer growing season and more regular rainfall in other parts of the Southwest make it easier to have a year-round pasture than in the west. Winter pasture is relatively more valuable than summer pasture, and may be provided either in permanent pastures or planted fields.

The common cereals are the favorite stand-by for winter pastures in the Southwest, since the seed are cheap and easily available, and everybody knows how to plant them. Rye grass is becoming increasingly popular, and supplies more grazing per acre than either wheat, oats, rye or barley alone. Where grain is sown solely for pasturage, a good many farmers prefer a mixture of two or more kinds and a heavier seeding than for grain is preferable. The reason is obvious—they each grow better at different seasons, and a mixture therefore gives a longer grazing season. The mixture may be cut for hay in the dough stage.

For fall and early winter barley usually provides more pasturage, while wheat, oats and rye produce more grazing during the winter and early spring months. Rye grass continues to provide green pasture later in spring than the cereals.

Grain for harvest may be pastured without reducing the yield. In fact pasturing under proper conditions tends to increase the yield by encouraging standing. The Denton (Texas) experiment station found by measured tests that grain yields were increased by pasturing up to March 1, and grazing for another twenty days did not reduce the final yield of grain.

Electric fences are coming into wide use for confining animals on temporary pasture, where a permanent fence is not desired. Pastures give better results when, grazed in rotation, and the electric fence offers a cheap and convenient means of resting one part of the pasture while grazing another.

FARM PRODUCTS INTO LUBRICANTS

CHICAGO—The wide use by the petroleum industry of agricultural products to improve the lubricating qualities of their oils and greases was revealed recently by Dr. B. H. Lincoln, chief chemist of the Continental Oil Company in a statement that manufacturers are now using about $22,000,000 worth of animal and vegetable fats and oils, largely of agricultural origin, in the production of lubricants.

Speaking before the American Oil Chemists' Society at the Hotel Stevens, Dr. Lincoln named lard and tallow and corn, cottonseed, linseed, rapeseed and soya bean oils as some of the farm products that go into lubricants or provide addition agents used in varying amounts in automobile and industrial oils and greases.

The animal and vegetable oils and fats were said to improve the wetting ability or "oiliness" of straight mineral oils, the consistency and other requirements of greases and the load-carrying capacity and resistance to oxidation and corrosion of both oils and greases. The use by the petroleum industry of fatty materials of farm origin is expanding yearly, Dr. Lincoln said.

If you wait it might be too late to call now and pay up your Colorado Record.

WACO—These 16 coeds were elected by Baylor university students last week as the most beautiful on the campus. Their pictures will be sent to Earl Carroll of Hollywood, that he might select seven to be featured on beauty pages of the 1940 Round Up, yearbook.

1940 RANGE PROGRAMS OFFERS TEXAS ADDITIONAL BENEFITS

COLLEGE STATION.—Although practically the same as 1939, the 1940 range-building program of the AAA includes several additions especially beneficial to Texas ranchmen, according to an announcement here at state headquarters of the AAA.

Of special interest to West Texas ranchmen is the change in the basis of payment for contour listing or furrowing, with payments being made at the rate of two and one-half cents per 100 linear foot instead of 50 cents per acre.

Approval of mowing of noxious weeds is especially designed for coastal ranchmen. Howard T. Kingsbery of Santa Anna, ranchman-member of the State Agricultural Conservation committee, said. Payment for mowing will be at the rate of 25 cents per acre with a limit of two mowings during the year for which payments will be made.

Going into its fourth year, the range-building program encourages the establishment and improvement of permanent cover on range land by providing for each ranch a range-building allowance to be earned by carrying out range-building practices, Kingsbery explained.

Greater emphasis will be placed on the carrying-out of supplemental range practices in connection with deferred grazing by which ranchers earn payments for keeping livestock off rangeland until the native grass can mature seed and reseed the land. The maximum that can be earned by deferred grazing in any area shall be 75 per cent, as compared with 60 per cent last year, but supplementary practices as recommended by the county committees must be carried out. The percentage of the allowance which can be earned by this practice depends on the county committee of each county, since the need of supplementary practices varies according to the area.

To encourage improvement of small ranches, the 1940 program provides for a minimum range-building allowance equivalent to 10 cents an acre up to 640 acres. In the past the range-building allowance has been computed on the size of the ranching unit and its grazing capacity received such small allowances they were hardly worth working for.

In an effort to simplify administration, provision has been made that the Range Program and the Agricultural Conservation Program may be combined in any state or area if the state committee desires to do so.

EMPLOYMENT UP IN COTTON COMPRESS INDUSTRY
AUSTIN—Cotton compresses led the state's industrial procession during September by seasonally doubling the number of workers employed and much more than doubling payrolls, University of Texas business research officials report.

These plants employed 97.5 per cent more workers than in August and a fraction of one per cent more than in September last year. Their weekly payrolls were 140.5 per cent higher than in August and 13.3 per cent above September, 1938.

Manufacturing industries raised their payroll level 3.6 per cent and number of workers 3.4 per cent above September last year. Little change was noted from the August, 1939, figures. Total estimated weekly payrolls were $2,615,693, and number of employed workers 130,247.

Non-manufacturing industries kept employment and payrolls at approximately the same as in August and in September, last year.

FLAX—A NEW TEXAS CROP

Travelers through the farm lands of the Gulf Coast of Texas have this year noted a new crop growing along with the traditional cotton, corn and feedstuffs of Gulf Coast agriculture. Inquiry elicited the information that the new crop is flax, and to the wondering questions, "why flax?", the answer is, "linseed oil," an essential oil in a good many industries, particularly in the manufacture of paint.

The crop season of 1938-39 saw 16,000 Gulf coast acres planted to flax, and the prospect for 1939-40 is between one and two hundred thousand acres planted to the crop.

Behind this profitable addition to the coastal farmer's crops is the idea of an industrialist that Texans can produce what Texans use. The industrialist is H. K. Kuhn, president of the Kuhn Paint & Varnish Works of Houston, where he practices the theory of Texas production for Texas use which he preaches. Indeed, the painting he manufactures—Kuhn's Climate Paint—is specially made for the climate of the Southwest, and in it he utilizes, insofar as it is at all possible, products of the region in which it is sold.

With this basic policy for his business, Mr. Kuhn has for years been endeavoring to interest agricultural interests on the Texas coast in the production of crops from which the oils needed in paint manufacture are derived.

In the face of the conviction of many that flax was not a crop which could be raised in Texas, Mr. Kuhn brought in parcels of flax seed from Argentina and distributed them among farming friends throughout the State. The results of these private experimental plots was so encouraging that the A. & M. College of Texas became interested in them, and eventually undertook to do some experimental work at the various Gulf Coast Experiment Stations. These experiments, carried out with scientific precision, were so successful that flax was established as a most desirable winter crop for Gulf Coast planting. As a cash crop, it replaced farm income reduced by restriction of cotton acreage, and it provided a needed diversification.

Today, a large cotton oil firm has two of its mills to crushing flaxseed, and the oil produced is said to be of better quality and more abundant than the oil derived from the flaxseed of the Middle West, formerly the chief North American source of supply.

So, now, if you please, Texas farmers have another cash crop on their farms. One Texas industry has broadened its scope by processing the new crop, and another Texas industry is supplied with one of its manufacturing resources from a supply at home.

History Of Methodists At Buford Worked Up By Mrs. Mack Holt For Homecoming

A history of Methodists at Buford before and after the organization of the Methodist church there was prepared and given by Mrs. Mack Holt on the homecoming program held by the church Sunday to mark the dedication of its new building.

The history reads as follows: It was in 1896 when I first moved to this community. There were no buildings at what is now Buford, nothing but grassland and large mesquite trees.

There was a schoolhouse called Bone Hollow, located on the hill two miles north, near where the Claude Feaster house now stands. There was no church nearer than Dunn on the north or Champion, eight miles to the east.

After our family moved into the community there were just three families here, one Baptist, one Christian and one Methodist.

My father organized a Methodist

Friday from Corsicana where they have been visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Nelson and son Allen, Jr., of Putman, Texas, and daughter, Mrs. Lavern Tabor and two sons of Clyde visited in the home of Mrs. Nelson Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nannie have recently moved in the Mrs. Richardson apartment formerly occupied by Mrs. Moore.

Juanita Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Davis was in the Big Spring hospital last week receiving treatments for throat trouble. She is now recovering at the home of her sister there.

C. W. Stokes of Stanton was in Loraine Saturday on his way to the bedside of his father who is ill at his home in Comanche. His mother was buried there last week. Mr. Stokes owns the former Clyde Smith farm near town and he and his family are planning on moving here very soon.

Miss Evelyn Land is visiting her aunt in San Angelo this week.

Douglas Taylor, who is attending Texas Tech at Lubbock spent the week-end with home folks.

Dell Johnson and Iris Riden of Hardin-Simmons University spent the week-end with home folks.

CHURCH GATHERING
(Contributed)
The Second Baptists enjoyed a day of fellowship last Sunday with dinner on the ground and visitors from Stamford, Westbrook and Sweetwater. In the afternoon Cephas Tidwell, W. P. Goodrich, Parr and Adams were ordained as deacons for the new church. The church voted to thank the friends who have contributed money or labor to make their house of worship possible.

Sunday school at the school house, people coming from other communities to help. But on account of such a few in the community it was soon discontinued.

About 1904 or '05 the school house was moved from the hill to near where Mrs. Redman's house now stands. About this time the community boasted a small store and post office. The post office was called Buford, hence the school house and community took that name. The school house served the community both as school house and church until 1908.

In 1908 the Baptists built a church at Buford on the highway. D. W. Prentice donated the land with the oral understanding that the Methodists be given permission to hold their services there also, which they did when they were organized in 1921.

Mrs. Arthur Bloodworth recalls that as a child she did her bit walking 1½ miles to carry her father's lunch in the heat of the day. Her father, Uncle Johnnie Neal, sweltered using the saw and hammer in helping to build the church.

She says she well remembers the red-headed, robust carpenter calling to her as she was leaving to go back home. "Why don't you wait, Ora, until a scab comes over the sun so it will not be so hot?"

I believe that if any one ever paid more to the church than they were financially able it was Uncle Johnnie Neal.

When my husband and I moved back to this community in 1912 the church was going at full swing with Rev. A. D. Leach as pastor and Tom Daugherty as superintendent. My husband said, "You're not going to join the Baptist Sunday school, are you?" I said, "I certainly am. It is the only Sunday school in the community and I have the habit and just must go to Sunday school."

Soon Tom Daugherty moved away and in the years to follow we had a succession of superintendents. We just couldn't seem to keep one.

We had as faithful a group of teachers as you will find anywhere. About half Methodist and half Baptist. We had one superintendent, a member of the Church of Christ, who steered our Sunday school creditably for about a year.

Once when we were minus a superintendent Mr. Ernest Keathley of Colorado City, learned that we needed a little boosting, so he and his good wife with others, took it upon themselves to "come over and help us" in answer to our Macedonian cry. The Sunday school thrived under his competent leadership for several months, having an average of over a hundred in attendance.

On March 2, 1919, Brewer Palmer, who came to us from Dunn, became our superintendent. The Sunday school flourished under his leadership and soon we had an average of over 100.

The latter part of 1921 or 1922 J. F. Bodine took over the superintendency and continued in that capacity until Mr. Lester Biggs took charge. Both Brewer Palmer and Mr. Bodine made us splendid superintendents. Each had just the tact needed to lead a union Sunday school, as we were then using both the Baptist and Methodist literature, six months each consecutively.

The Buford M. E. Church, South, was organized March 14, 1921, with H. G. Walton as pastor while Rev. G. S. Hardy, great man of God, was presiding elder.

The charter members were A. D. Powell, Mrs. A. D. Powell, R. A. Powell, Cullen Powell, Bryant Powell, Owen C. Powell, Mrs. Owen C. Powell, Mrs. G. E. Smith, Bonnie Smith (Hunter), Mrs. Gene Bedford, J. F. Bodine, Mrs. J. F. Bodine, E. W. McGuire, Mrs. Geo. A. Ross, Mattie Smith, and Mrs. D. W. Prentice. We now have 66 members.

Our presiding elders since our organization have been: G. S. Hardy, R. A. Stewart, L. N. Lipscomb, O. P. Clark, C. A. Long, S. H. Young, and C. O. Hooten.

Our bishops have been as follows: H. G. Walton, M. D. King, G. H. Brown, W. J. Knoy, J. S. Johnson, W. W. Riley, J. D. Farmer, J. P. McGee, W. G. Anderson, A. P. Click, C. D. Damron.

After our church was organized we continued to worship with the Baptist folks until 1935, at which time our new church was built. The cornerstone was laid with an impressive service in 1935.

Some pleasant memories linger around the old Baptist church, but it became very inadequate to accommodate the crowds that attended each Sunday. We used curtains to separate the classes at Sunday school and the confusion was so great we could hardly hear each other talk.

The Baptists were wonderful to us to allow us to remain with them so long but the old church had become sway-backed and tottery with old age and was no longer safe to use.

I sometimes wonder had the old church lasted, whether we would ever have had a new church. I think the cooperation at the old church was beautiful to see, and I believe we are still capable of co-operation that we may accomplish the Lord's work in the community.

It would take a whole book to record all of the struggles of the early Methodists in trying to create public sentiment in favor of building a new Methodist church at Buford when that was accomplished the rest came easy. Cooperation was all we needed.

COTTON MARKETING IN

TEXAS LEADS NATION

COLLEGE STATION.—Texas leads in every department of Agriculture.
E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas
A. and M. Extension Service, has announced.Quoting from information furnished by the Agricultural Marketing Service, he said applications had been approved for 286 Texas cotton groups, made up of 15,544 farmers with 628,557 acres planted to cotton of approved varieties.Oklahoma had the second largest number of cotton groups, with 106, and the second largest acreage, 352,- 603, but Mississippi, with 11,455 farmers, ranked second in that department.Although applications from 914
groups made up of 64,247 farmers and 1,792,954 acres were approved for the cotton states.The cotton marketing service, offered under the terms of the Smith-Doxey Act, provides free classing and market news to members of approved one-variety cotton associations in order that growers may know the correct grade, staple, and value of their cotton.There are 415 one-variety cotton associations, with 27,066 members and 977,358 acres, in Texas, but many did not apply for the service because

Immediate Action
On Cotton LoansImmediate action is being urged by Congressman George Mahon of the 19th district on proposed government cotton loans, although he has been vigorously protesting location differential, according to word received by County Agent Joe C. Williams from Washington, D. C.A communication from Mr. Mahon stated: "Department unofficially advises that if loan is announced with differential, the differential would not tend to reduce loan rate in interior but would increase loan basis near ports and mills. For example, if a loan rate of 8.30 cents on 7-8 middling cotton is announced, this would be the basis in interior, but a somewhat higher basis would obtain near ports and mills. Naturally, loan could not be less than 52% of parity."
"Members of Congress and others from interior have been protesting the proposed location differential for several weeks, feeling that confusion and injustice would result."Workers' Conference

All-Day Dedication And Homecoming Of Buford Methodist Church Drew Over 350; Note-Burning Ceremony Closes Program

Drawing an attendance of over 350, an all-day dedication and homecoming gathering was held at the Buford Methodist church Sunday.

Speakers of the day were Rev. G. S. Hardy of Clarendon, who was presiding elder of the Sweetwater Methodist district when the Buford Methodist church was organized March 14, 1921 and who assisted in the organization; Judge W. P. Leslie of Eastland, chief justice of the 11th court of civil appeals, a former Mitchell countian; and Rev. C. R. Hooton of Sweetwater, superintendent of the Sweetwater Methodist district.

Rev. Mr. Hardy's sermon was delivered at the morning church hour following a welcome by J. F. Bodine, chairman of the board of trustees, and song services led by Ewell Coles. Rev. C. D. Dameron of Dunn, pastor of the church, presided.

Taking his text from the 16th verse of the 9th chapter of Second Chronicles, Rev. Mr. Hardy, who is now superannuated and almost blind, preached so forcefully on the building of the first temple at Jerusalem through faith that his sermon was referred to time and again during the remainder of the program.

Assisted by Buford Baptists, members of the church served "dinner on the ground" in old-fashioned bounty at the noon hour.

Judge Leslie was the first speaker of the afternoon, following songs led by Aaron Dubose. He described the church as "a veritable gem in a fine section of West Texas." Later in his talk he declared that there is "no better panacea for a troubled world than the message the Christian religion has for the world."

A history of the church was given by Mrs. Mack Holt, whose family, the M. McGuire, were one of the first to settle in the community. She traced the growth of the Methodist congregation from its beginning in a Sunday school organized by her father and through the years when Methodists and Baptists worshipped together in the old Baptist church. She listed the following as charter members when the church was formally organized in 1921: Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Powell, R. A. Powell, Cullen Powell, Bryant Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Owen C. Powell, Mrs. G. E. Smith, Bonnie Smith (Hunter), Mrs. Genie Bedford, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bodine, Ewell McGuire, Mrs. Geo. A. Ross, Mattie Smith, and Mrs. D. W. Prentice. The first pastor was Rev. H. G. Walton.

Tribute was paid to the following in a memorial service conducted by Mrs. Ewell Coles: A. D. Powell, 1928; Mrs. Ella Laura Powell, 1928; Mrs. D. W. Prentice, 1929; Emmett Blasingame, 1935; Mrs. Mattie Houghton (Smith), 1929; James Thomas Garrett, 1926; Mrs. M. F. McGuire, 1938. Seven little girls, Nelda Biggs, Berry Powell, Frances Lou Ezell, Martha Blasingame, Ona Mae Brown, Peggy Sue Bodine, and Elcie Jane Coles, were flower-bearers for the service.

The dedicatory portion of the service was in charge of Rev. Mr. Hooton. Outlining that truly great church buildings should build great characters commensurate with their buildings, he pointed out that there are three structural levels for character building—the animalistic level, where the attitude is "all I want at any cost"; the conscience level, wherein the creed is "I will live and let live"; the "grace" level, where man strives to be uplifting.

"The man on this level says, 'His will be done,' and the light is lifted up on a skyscraper structure above the mists of the earth."

Burning of the note against the church closed the program. Trustees of the church, including J. F. Bodine, H. W. Ezell, Ewell McGuire, Mack Holt, and John Hooks, were grouped together for the burning. Bodine holding the note and McGuire setting fire to it.

Among those who registered from out of the county for the occasion were: Mrs. H. M. Anderson and Mattie Anderson of Hermleigh; Mrs. W. P. Edwards and Mrs. L. E. Russell of Lorenzo; Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Powell, Petersburg; Peyton Anderson, Hermleigh; J. C. Beakley, Dunn; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron DuBose, Petersburg; Nadine Hammond, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Biggs, Snyder; Lois Vanstory, Shallowater; Judge and Mrs.

CHS News Staff Invited To Join New Press Body

ABILENE.—Plans for the organization of a West Central Texas High School Press Association, to be formed here in Abilene on Saturday, November 11, were announced recently with the mailing of invitations to the session to more than fifty sponsors of high school newspapers. The invitation list includes Colorado City and Lorraine High school newspaper staffs and sponsors.

Student newspaper sponsors, together with the editors and business managers, and other key staff members, were invited to the organization session, to be held with Hardin-Simmons University as host.

Dr. F. L. McDonald, head of the department of journalism at Texas State College for Women, Denton, and director of the Texas High School Press Association, will attend, and affiliation with the state-wide organization will be considered.

In the afternoon, Hardin-Simmons University will have the visiting high school journalists as its guests for the Armistice Day football game, in which the H-SU Cowboys meet West Texas State, Canyon.

A permanent organization will be formed, as attending delegates desire, and future meeting times set, said Herschel Schooley, H-SU department of journalism head.

W. P. Leslie of Eastland; Mrs. W. G. Vanstory, Shallowater; R. A. Powell, Petersburg; L. M. Hardy, Stamford; Mrs. Eka Hammond, Petersburg; Mrs. Fred Davis, Snyder. Scores of former Buford residents now living in other sections of Mitchell county were registered.

Wolves Win Non-Conference Tilt With Robert Lee's Powerful Class-B Team

Taking on their first non-conference opponents in several weeks, the Colorado City Wolves defeated Robert Lee's Class B gridsters 13-6 on Cantrill field Friday night.

The Wolves' winning margin may be disappointing to those who weren't hardy enough to brave a fresh norther and witness the game, but one long look at Robert Lee's power was all that those who did attend needed to be thankful for any kind of a victory.

Robert Lee stacked up 12 first-downs of Colorado City's eight, and only the end of the game kept the score from being, in all likelihood, a tie.

Floyd Shock, Who Had Interests Here, Dies In Ft. Worth

State papers Sunday and Monday carried news of the death in San Antonio of Floyd Shock, pioneer West Texan and holder of extensive interests in Mitchell county.

At one time Shock and his associates handled farm mortgage loans in this county and vicinity totaling between $200,000 and $300,000, it is said. They pioneered in the financing of farms and ranches in West Texas. They still own a number of tracts of land in Mitchell county and elsewhere.

During recent years Shock's interests in this area were cared for by his son-in-law, Robert Humphries, who was registered at the Colorado hotel only a short time ago while here on one of his frequent business trips.

Mr. Shock assisted in organizing a number of West Texas counties back in the eighties. Prior to that time he was the first telegraph operator in the Graham area. He was in the bookbinding business at Fort Worth for a time before moving to San Antonio about 20 years ago to engage in the real estate business.

Two daughters and a son, Fretwell Shock, survive.

Light-Weight Coming Gridsters Battle Here On Cantrill Field

Future gridsters of Colorado City and Westbrook who now weigh between 70 and 95 pounds fought it out on Cantrill field Saturday morning, the game ending with 13 points for the Colorado Cottontails and 12 for the Westbrook Cubs.

A pass from Herman Moon, quarterback, to Billy Boyd, left end, was good for 40 yards and the first touchdown for Colorado City. Moon carried the ball over for the extra point. Jess Mills, left half for Westbrook, carried the ball 15 yards for Westbrook's first score in the second quarter. The try for extra point failed, leaving the score 7-6 at the half.

Herman Moon plunged over in the third quarter for the Cottontails' second touchdown. Westbrook's Cubs made their second touchdown late in the fourth quarter on a pass from Bobbie Gainey to the Cubs' left end. A second time the Westbrook try for extra point failed, leaving the score 13-12 as the game ended.

Truett Fulcher, city recreational director, arranged the game. Roster for the Cottontails included: Albert Dahlem, Harold Dillard, Hubert Bean, Billy Joe Chadwick, Charles Dillard, Billy Carter, Glen Womack, Cummings Wood, Billy Boyd, Jimmie Cain, Gene Parkham, Merle Chaney, Don Crockett, Dennon Rhea, Robert Joe Womack, Bobby Royce Rhea, Don Keith Shepherd, Douglas Crout, Weldon Hardegree, Nat Thomas, Don Knapp, Bob Craig, Ocie Lambeth, Doyle House, A. D. Nanney, Billy Gene Carter, and Herman Moon.

Roster for the Cubs was: James Lindsey, Jack Oliver, Travis Iglehart, Jess Mills, Tommie Taylor, Robert Methron, Jack McKenney, Laverne Kite, C. P. Carey, Thomas Conaway, Bobbie Gainey, Billie May, Robert Baskin, Herbert Harcastle, and Billie Cosby.

A Piece of BALING WIRE and a "GREASE GUN"

Time was, when an automobile owner could keep his car chugging right along if he used a "grease gun" at fairly regular intervals and kept a roll of baling wire under the front seat. . . . But then days, as the saying goes, is gone forever. . . . Today's automobiles are too complex in their requirements to run right and look good unless they get an expert's care. . . . And that's why Humble Service Stations are so completely equipped and Humble Station salesmen are so carefully trained. The salesman, using the equipment at his disposal, can give you car expert attention. He knows, in other words, which kind of lubricant to use where, he knows the right grade of motor oil for your car, he can tell you things about spark plugs and batteries, he can supply you with a gasoline that's second to none in performance. . . . It will pay you to shift the care of your car to his shoulders. Begin today; stop for service at the nearest Humble sign.

Here comes the news all of you boys and girls want to hear: the school play will be given Friday night at 8 o'clock. The name of it is "Her Emergency Family." This is a three-act play and I am sure you will say you got a good laugh when you see it. It is one of the best plays that has ever been at Westbrook. This you will agree when you see it, so come on all you people it is just 25c for outsiders and 10c for school children.

The characters are: Darrell Lambert, Ruth Smith, Van Boston, Mattie Blanch Byrd, Georgie Lasseter, Louise Shafer, O. D. Kite, Yvonne Horner and Bessie Mae Taylor.

The football boys and basketball girls really have been strutting this week. The basketball girls played Garner Thursday night and defeated them 31-37 in Westbrook's favor.

They played Forsan Friday night, the score being 30-31 in Westbrook's favor. Come on girls you are all doing fine and we hope you keep it up.

The football boys went to Garner Friday evening to return their game. Since the pep squad did not get to go we can't write much about it. The score was 13-14 in Westbrook's favor. That is not bad boys because you know a close game is always better than one that is not close.

The football boys will go to Coahoma for a game at 2 o'clock Thursday so don't miss the game. Come one and all; we need your help on this game for it will be a good one. Say, Skippy, where did you go Saturday night, Did Ginne go along? Do you happen to know, Skippy, why the roosters crow at 12 o'clock? You seniors be very careful when you start writing your description of a lady. You know that some of the girls might get mad when you start on them.

Virginia Beamon

HOME EC. NEWS

We surely will be glad when Saturday comes so that we may go to San Angelo. We know we shall have a good time.

We have been cooking eggs and were they good? Well, you should have eaten some of them if you doubt our word.

We all wish Oleta a happy birthday and hope she has many, many more. She will be a grown lady (but does she act it? No.) and we are glad because she wouldn't compare to most of us, and we all hope her party is a success.

Joan will be back Thursday we are told and we all welcome her back heartily.

Again we mention something about our trip to San Angelo. We shall go by bus and all girls that go up here at the schoolhouse at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. We hope to have a nice group to represent Westbrook Home Making chapter. We have 52 in all and most of them are going, so we think we shall.

We are studying art now and are learning how to mount and draw pictures nicely and we do have some pretty good artists.

Reporter: Yvonne Horner

FIFTH GRADE NEWS

The fifth and sixth grade boys played Colorado's fifth and sixth grade boys in football at Colorado. We lost 13-12. Lynn Doyle Boston was our captain.

SENIOR NEWS

We held a class meeting this morning in order to elect the staff of the Annual for 1939-1940.

Van Boston, Editor-in-chief; Ruth Smith, assistant editor; Mary Julia Bullock, business manager; James Skelton, assistant business manager.

Now Jamie, what is this about your going to West Texas Saturday night. Was it supposed to be a secret? If it was how come everyone knows it?

The school play, "Her Emergency Family," is to be given this coming Friday night. All you folks be sure and attend.

Well this is I signing off till next time.

Reporter: Helen Moon

Another week is passed and oh, my, we Sophs don't seem to be learning much. At least we don't show it.

We're expecting Joan home Thursday and are we glad, although she will be just a little late for our entertainment. Remember, Sophs, let's give her a hearty welcome and help her "catch up."

It seems two Soph girls have been coming to school very sleepy and without their lessons. Could it be play practice?

Don't get scared at the show. Sophs, remember it's Halloween and time for spooks to be out.

Those Soph girls surely did yell at the ball game Thursday night. Could it be they wanted to play or were they just trying to outyell Garner?

JUNIOR NEWS

Well, the football boys and basketball girls won Friday. Both won by one point. The boys played Garner and the score was 13-14. The girls played Forsan Friday night and won, score being 30-31.

Some of you may ask Joe why she has two points off. Well ask her why she did not ask to leave the Geometry class.

Say "Handsome" where did you go Saturday night? I know it was not the show to see as many people as you did. Maybe you will go back tonight since this is Halloween.

Youn Junior boys had better be careful in Public Speaking class you might say something you don't really mean.

Waiter, what became of that 35c you brought to school the other day? You had better put up your pennies or you might have 50c missing the next time.

Say, Valerie, why were you not playing in the second half? Could it be that you had something else up your sleeve?

We happen to have a Joe E. Brown in our Junior class. Guess who it is. Is it Mutt Berry?

Ask Junior why he doesn't get up the nerve to ask a certain girl for a date.

This is your reporter signing off until next time.

ROGERS RAMBLINGS

Old man winter has come stalking back in our community again. But we are going to show Mr. Winter that we are not afraid of him and are going to keep up our good work as we ever have done at Rogers. However it seemed that he scared some of our good singers off Sunday night and did we miss them? So don't be frightened at old man winter any more and come on out and let's sing our good cheerful songs. We had visitors with us at singing Sunday night and were proud to have them. Visitors are always welcome. Singing each Sunday night at 7 o'clock. Sunday school each Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY NEWS

Ninety-five year old Baylor University will observe its annual Homecoming week-end Friday and Saturday.

The week-end will be centered around the football game between the Baylor Bears and the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, but excitement will run high beginning with the arrival of the first ex-student on Friday afternoon.

A reorganized Baylor club in Waco will serve as host this year to the returning alumni. A peppy get-together on the Kendall quadrangle of the campus is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Friday, probably to continue around bon fires by present Baylor students until the wee hours of the morning.

Baylor's Chamber of Commerce is managing the homecoming affairs for the present record student body. Inter-class fellowship gatherings throughout the week, a parade and pep rally Saturday morning, selection of a Homecoming queen and the coronation of that queen on the grid field between halves are on their program.

Candidates for Homecoming queen are being nominated by various classes and clubs on the campus.

Billie Murray, girl graduate of the Baylor-University Law school who has opened offices in Waco, considers herself fully initiated as a woman in the legal profession.

She held a proxy from an Arkansas client at the Fort Worth sessions of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, and after considerable discussion among registration officials was enrolled as the only woman delegate at the conference.

The main hitch came when she applied for admission to a banquet, originally scheduled as a stag affair. But she won her case, and was admitted through that gate also.

English betting odds are five-to-one that Sir Neville Chamberlain won't be in office another six months. Eric Illingsworth Grimwade, British journalist in Waco for a Rotary International institute, told the Baylor University chapel.

"Chamberlain has served his term," Grimwade observed. "He is a pacifist in a nation which wants war to the finish. He served his purpose in giving England a breathing spell in which to prepare for war."

The English people believe, according to the speaker, that Great Britain used war threats without direct damage to Germany as further appeasement procedure. They now are convinced however, he continued, that appeasement with Hitler is out of the question.

Great Britain wants no longer war than can be helped and is hoping for the decay of German morale despite revelation of polls to the effect that 80 per cent of the Nazi people back Hitler as long as he is successful. "Confetti raids" are not likely to bear fruit until Allied troops invade German land, Grimwade said.

"Many believe that it was consideration of the English for American opinion, in light of possible changes in the embargo, that has kept us from bombing the babies in Berlin just as the Nazis bombed Polish towns," he stated.

Orba Lee Malone, the Plainview boy with the flaming red hair, has been elected president of the Baylor University Red Head club.

Other officers of the scarlet-topped group are Mazelle Allen, Waco, vice-president; Mary Bob Coughran, Houston, secretary; Audrey Vernon, Waco, treasurer; Roy Fletcher, Waco, program chairman; Dick Clark, Waco, publicity manager, and Lirnie Mae Hight, Mexia, social chairman.

HOME FROM BAYLOR

Returning from a visit with her mother in Oklahoma, Mrs. Wm. Brookover stopped by Waco last Friday to bring her daughter, Hazel, and Alene Bodine, students in Baylor university, home for the week-end.

Zanuck Makes A Great Film Of Bromfield's "The Rains Came"

Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power And George Brent Are Stars Of Picture

The power of one of today's great novels finds its full scope on the screen in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Rains Came," the sensational best-seller by Louis Bromfield, which comes to the Palace theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday, with Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power and George Brent sharing stellar honors.

These fascinating strangely-assorted humans, cut off from the world in the colorful mythical city of Ranchipur, India, with all restraint swept away, as the angry forces of nature made life a fading hope and love, desperate longings, are brought vividly to life in this 29th Century-Fox film.

Faithful in mood and detail to the book, "The Rains Came" preserves all of Bromfield's characters.

Myrna Loy breaks with the "perfect wife" tradition to play the amorous Lady Edwina Esketh; Tyrone Power has his most romantic role as the high-caste Hindu surgeon, Major Rama Saffi, who proves to be the one great love of Lady Edwina's.

penskaya as the Maharani; Joseph Schildkraut as Mr. Bannerjee; Mary Nash as Miss MacDaid; Jane Darwell as Aunt Phoebe Smiley; Marjorie Rambeau as Mrs. Simon; Henry Travers as Rev. Homer Smiley and H. B. Warner as the Maharajah.

Zanuck entrusted the direction of his most ambitious production to the distinguished Clarence Brown, while Philip Dunne and Julien Josephson prepared the screen play. Harry Joe Brown acted as associate producer.

Ginger Rogers and David Niven in "BACHELOR MOTHER"

Ginger Rogers, David Niven Gay Love Team In "Bachelor Mother"

Paired for the first time, Ginger Rogers and David Niven are co-starring in the new romantic laugh hit, "Bachelor Mother," coming to the Palace theatre Friday and Saturday.

Weaving a unique and clever love story into its hilarious plot, "Bachelor Mother" has Ginger as a salesgirl in a metropolitan department store, in which Niven appears as the store's efficient and business-like executive-son of the owner, played by Charles Coburn.

Passing by an orphanage during her lunch hour, Ginger spies a woman leaving a baby on the steps and rush away. She goes to pick up the child and is seen by one of the institution's matrons, who assumes that Ginger is the baby's mother. Her denials merely make matters worse, and an investigator is sent to the department store to check up.

This brings Ginger to Niven's attention who magnanimously enhances her job — if she will be a good "mother" and take proper care of "her" baby! Ginger goes berserk and desperately endeavors to make the orphanage take the child. Failing, she tries to wish it on Niven.

Horrified, Niven lectures her on her inhuman conduct and using her job as a threat, forces her to rear the youngster. The consequent association between Ginger and Niven arouses the jealousy of her self-appointed boy friend, a young stock clerk in the store, who anonymously informs Coburn that Niven is the father of Ginger's child.

This leads to the hilarious climax of the picture, when Coburn tries to make Niven marry the girl so that he may claim the infant as his grandson!

In keeping with the atmosphere of "Bachelor Mother," elaborate settings were constructed for the department store sequences as well as for the Coburn-Niven home, and for various night clubs and dance halls. As in Miss Rogers' recent "Vivacious Lady," Coburn again plays the role of the father-in-law, while such favorites as Frank Albertson, E. E. Clive, Ernest Truex, Perke Boros and Leonard Penn have important supporting roles.

"Bachelor Mother" is a production by E. D. DeSylva and was directed by Garson Kanin for RKO Radio from Norman Krasna's screen play.

KEEPING UP WITH COLORADO GIRLS AT TSCW

By Ruth Marian Elliott

Muriel Lester, English peace advocate, spoke in both colleges in Denton this week. Miss Lester declared, "Democracy was killed in the World War, for to get rid of the Kaiser 11 million dollars were spent killing Germans and today the Kaiser is the only one who is safe." Dr. Homer P. Rainey, president of the University of Texas, began the Drama Series this year with the topic "Prospect of College Youth." The Mexican Dramatic club of Dallas presented a one-act comedy and several song and dance numbers for the second of the series.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Doss, Jr., Mrs. Motley, and Mrs. W. W. Porter of Colorado City and Mrs. MacKenzie of Weatherford visited their daughters here this week. Mrs. Porter saw her friend Dr. Judd, formerly of Colorado City, while here.

Everyone was everywhere in Lowry woods during the All-College Picnic. Erna Lou Merrill attended the picnic for the Business Administration majors last Thursday.

Dallas and Fort Worth were the hosts of a large number of T.S.C.W. ites during the annual T.S.C.W.-A.M. holiday. Fae Porter met Gene Haley in Fort Worth for the corps trip. Grace Doss, Mary Etta Motley, Mary Ellen Trickey, Erna Lou Merrill, Melba Slaton, Bernice Roberts, and Mabel Earnest Cooper went to Fort Worth for the corps trip and A.M.-T.C.U. game. Earlene Brown witnessed the Aggie parade Saturday morning then visited in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bentley who live near Dallas.

Doris Wynne spent the week-end in Colorado City. Frances and Ruth Elliott entertained Evelyn Pollard of Snyder Sunday.

Elizabeth Taylor attended the Dallas Fair Sunday week while Virginia Gurney was a visitor there last Saturday.

Mary Ellen Trickey, a new-comer to Colorado City, was one of the seventeen candidates for freshman class president.

The students remaining in Denton over the week-end were given the privilege of attending the midnight show. Nina Laura Smith took advantage of this opportunity while Geneva Campbell, Elizabeth Taylor, Ruth and Frances Elliott remained in town.

SPENCES LEAVE

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Spence left Tuesday morning for Midland, where they are to make their home in the future. Spence recently resigned as manager of the Colorado City chamber of commerce to become executive secretary of the Permian Basin association with headquarters in Midland.

AUTUMN JOTTINGS: Leaves drifting down in the R. J. Wallace's beautiful tree-filled yard on a mild golden morning. . . . Cosmos dreaming in a long bed south of the Ford Morris home. . . . Crackle of drying cottonwood leaves on the Henry Vaught tree. . . . Touches and splashes of yellow in every yard. . . . Chrysanthemums. . . . Closed doors. . . . Leaves skittering down paved streets with the season's first norther behind. . . . Dying vines in the once-lush and always well-kept H. B. Broadus yard. . . . Brown dying-awayness in fields and pastures. . . . Dark green of stripped cotton stalks. . . . Beauty of the Buford country, with norther-dust like thick autumn mist in the hollows and along the horizon, and with the beauty of bare branches showing through thinning leaves in a cottonwood grove. . . . Shocked feed. . . . Thoughts of pleasant firesides, snugness against blizzard-bluesness to come, popcorn, down comforts, chili, home-made candy—sniffles, frozen, water pipes, and gas bills. . . .

It may prove difficult for many local folks to realize that the Leonard Simons (he's the son of Mrs. Anna Simon) have a daughter of marrying age, but there was her picture on the front page of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram society section Sunday morning. . . . The Simons, now of Fort Worth, formerly lived in Cisco, and it seems almost yesterday that they were bringing small daughters to visit their Grandmother Simon. . . . The marrying daughter is Julia Lee, and her wedding to James Edward Taubert has been announced for Nov. 18. . . . The wedding will, according to news stories, be a highlight of November society in Fort Worth. . . . The other Simon daughter, Mary Ann, will attend her sister. . . . Julia Lee Simon attended TCU and the University of Texas. . . . Her prospective husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Taubert of Fort Worth, attended TCU and A.M. . . .

If you were listening to the Kraft Music Hall (Bing Crosby) hour on the radio last Thursday night, you heard a former Colorado City boy, Lee Snowden, introduced as a member of a dairy judging team which won a first place in contests held at the National Dairy Show in San Francisco. . . . Winners of the contests are to receive a $250 scholarship to their state university. . . . Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Snowden of Moriarty, N. M., and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Snowden of near Colorado City. . . .

The Chuck Wagon Gossip column of Frank Reeves, Sr. in Monday morning's Fort Worth Star-Telegram was largely devoted to Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Davenport of the Sweetwater section and their attractive ranch home. . . . There were pictures of the home and the Davenports with the write-up, and in both pictures and write-up Colorado Citizens had a special interest because Mrs. Davenport is the daughter of the late J. S. McCall, whose name is well-established in the early history of this town and county. . . . The McCall's (he's probably better remembered as Jake McCall) built what is now the T. J. Ratliff place and lived there for years. . . . When their daughter married Dr. R. G. Davenport, the McCall's gave her the home now owned by Mrs. Ben Plaster, but the Davenports never lived there, since his practice took him elsewhere—Alpine and points in Colorado state. . . . The Davenports' modern ranch residence is located near the headquarters site of the old Buffalo Creek Ranch which Jake McCall established in 1889. . . . The ranch, containing 19 sections, is regarded as one of the best little ranches in this section, according to the Chuck Wagon Gossip column. . . . The Davenports call it the Keystone ranch because their brand is a keystone. . . .

"Like father, like son" seems to go double for Dr. Reeves Coleman of Washington, D. C., and his father, the late Dr. P. C. Coleman of Colorado City. . . . The fact that Dr. Reeves has followed his father's footsteps in the matter of profession needs no pointing out. . . . But the fact that he's also following his father's footsteps in the matter of church activities may not be so generally known here in Colorado City. . . . The late Dr. Coleman was an elder in the Presbyterian church from the time he was 18 years old. . . . His son has been chairman of the board of deacons in the Church of the Pilgrims (Presbyterian) at Washington for some time.

Buffeted by high winds and seeming to barely clear some of the taller buildings here (of which there is, to be quite truthful, just one), the Goodyear blimp "Volunteer" passed over Colorado City about 3:30 or a little later Sunday afternoon, enroute from Los Angeles, where it has seen 10 years service, to Akron, Ohio, where it will be de-commissioned. . . .

OUR WEEKLY SERMON REFINING FIRES

Misfortune and suffering constitute the refining fires which produce the jewels in human character, and education and study combine as the lapidary which does away with the dross and polishes the gem and fits it for the setting for which it was intended.

Persons are much like gems in another way. The gems know not why they are subjected to the lapidary's treatment, but they come out beautiful and bright because of it. Human beings know not always why they are made to suffer and sorrow, to experience the pangs of pain and the tears of grief, but the Divine Lapidary does.

Muscles are strengthened by exercise, mind is quickened by study, character is made beautiful by the crucible of human experience, and spiritual exaltation is attained through suffering. "Afflictions, though they seem severe, are oft in mercy sent."

How often we find that the very troubles about which we most complain have been the means of lifting us to higher and better things.

How often the sorrows which break our hearts cause us to seek the consolation that only the Deity can give, and thus are drawn nearer to Him and to heaven.

But the most precious of all precious stones is "the Stone which the builders rejected."

It not only converts baser metals into finer ones, but baser materials into precious stones which shall adorn His brow "while the years of eternity roll."

"The flame shall not hurt thee; I only design Thy dross to consume and thy gold to refine."

HALLOWEEN

Halloween again this week. What we want to say is that so few people, and especially the kiddies, know anything about the history of Halloween.

On that night when goblins and ghosts leer at you from behind every tree; and invisible spectres walk in your footsteps on your way home, just think how this night of superstitions originated.

Two thousand years ago in the days of Nero, when the much persecuted Christians had to worship under cover of darkness on "All Hallow" eve, their biggest congregation of the year, the Roman guards all over the city were startled at various white shapes flitting from tree to tree, and thus the ghost idea was born.

The middle ages with a thousand different superstitions and wholesale ignorance added fuel to the fire. Witches, devils, imps, spooks and other citizens of the lower world were said to run about on a certain night in the fall. The men of Ireland completed the story as we know it today. They set the actual date, October 31, and claimed that at midnight on that evil night, the dead arose from their graves and walked again over the earth.

Halloween came over to America with the pilgrims and doubtless many luckless redskins were perforated by deadly bullets intended for "hants."

The black cats, bats, etc., of today's superstitions also originated in Europe, and were supposed to be messengers from Hades, pets of the witches, or at any rate symbols of evil. Fearful negro slaves in the South added their store of African nonsense to the remainder of the customary beliefs. However, America contributed the final touch. Roving groups of spooks run wild on Halloween, breaking windows, stealing porch furniture and gates, de-airing tires, harassing cops and common citizens in general.

It is comforting to this columnist to believe that salvation to the spiritually born is an all inclusive term for freedom from sin. It means deliverance, safety, preservation, and resurrection healing and soundness. Salvation is in three tenses, past, present and future. It saves from past sins; it delivers from the dominion and power of present sins; and it provides protection from future sins. Salvation gathers into itself all the redemptive acts and processes, such as justification, redemption, grace, propitiation, imputation, forgiveness, sanctification, and finally glorification. Spiritual birth is admittance into the family of God, and God's children have a guaranteed title to an inheritance in heaven, and the devil and all his angels can't take it away from him.

The toe of my boot itches to kick the pants off of those cowardly, solistier peewees who have warm water hemorrhages at the thought of displeasing Hitler. I may be old-fashioned and antiquated, but I am human and despise such creatures as Hitler and his gang of ghouls. I despise those who are afraid to displease the onary buzzard.—Uncle Bill.

I believe the f'rest tax that can be levied to pay the old-age pension is a sales tax. A hen this is done the young and the old both pay and when the young each the proper age they take out more than they pay. It is certainly equitable in that he who buys much pays much. He who buys little pays little, and the best feature of the sales tax is that each member of society is forcibly confronted with the fact that he is paying taxes. In hidden taxes the same principle works, but the unthinking do not know they are being taxed and are thus deceived. Why not be open and above-board about this taxing the people and let everyone know he is paying a tax?

HELPING THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

You can be of great help to the fire department by not following the fire truck to the scene of the fire when the fire alarm is given. When cars get thick around a fire, most of them are in the way of the firemen, and do more harm than good. When the fire alarm is given, cars can greatly aid the fire department by pulling over to one side of the street, and giving the firetruck the right of way. Do not turn in a false alarm. And if the occasion comes when you have to turn in an alarm, always turn in the correct address. The most important thing of all is to prevent fires. Be careful with the use of gasoline and matches. Be sure that all gas jets are closed. If we keep these facts well in mind, we will all be helping the fire department.

MRS. JAMES K. POLK

It is a pleasure to introduce to you Mrs. James K. Polk. She was born and reared in Abilene, Texas, where she went to Abilene public schools. After graduating from the Abilene High School, Mrs. Polk attended Hardin-Simmons university where she received a B. A. degree. Mrs. Polk studied voice in Hollywood, California, under the direction of Isaac Van Grove, who was at that time Grace Moore's coach. She used to collect dogs for a hobby. Music is her favorite occupation, but she likes to take care of children.

THE EIGHTH GRADE TEA

A very enjoyable occasion took place Wednesday, Oct. 25. The ninth grade Homemaking girls gave the Freshmen, their mothers and the teachers a tea. There was an exhibit in which the work of the girls who took the summer project was shown. Dorothy Womack, Margaret Smoot, and Mildred Wynne stood in the receiving line in front of the building, while Marjorie Hamilton greeted us at the door of the Homemaking room. Sarah Alice Harper and Pauline Lord presided over the table.

The Halloween idea was carried out with a beautifully decorated table that gave us all the spirit of Halloween. White candles in large red apples burned on the table. Halloween napkins were also used. The Halloween idea was further carried out in the refreshments which were olives, candy, tea, sandwiches variously shaped, and tea or coffee. It was enjoyed by everyone and we hope to reciprocate your kindness very soon.

SPORTS

The football game last Thursday night played between the Jackrabbits and Snyder, was won by the Jackrabbits. The final score was 31 to 6. The first touchdown was made by Snyder in the first quarter.

The score at the first quarter was 6 and 6 and our boys were playing a good game. The score was the same at the half. The Jackrabbits made four touchdowns in the last half and one extra point to beat Snyder.

—Ralph Mann and Bob Craig

Tuesday, Oct. 24, the Jackrabbits played the Dunn Owls. The final score was 26 to 0 in the Owls favor.

CLOTHING CLASS

The Home Making Department is coming along fine. They are making a library for the Home Making girls only. They have a number of magazines and six new books.

Don't forget to notice the beautiful new curtains in the sewing department.

The cooking class also has a surprise. Miss Lovelace has bought a set of new dishes to serve a six course breakfast which they are going to prepare in the future.

THE ANCIENT ORDER OF BOOKWORMS

The Ancient Order of Bookworms met Tuesday and had the honor of seeing the new books first. There are 25 of them in the library, and part of them were presented to the club by members. We hope the books may be put out Monday.

HALLOWEEN

What do you say when firecrackers pop?

And the Jack-O-Lanterns are seen?

What do you say when cats climb posts?

I say it's Halloween.

What do you say when witches go riding?

On broomsticks long and thin?

Women's "Build-Up"

Women's headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pains may be symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition. Often, relief for these symptoms follows the use of CARDUI because it usually builds needed physical resistance by improving appetite and digestion. Many women also report that CARDUI, taken just before and during "the time," helps to ease pain and discomfort. Popular for more than 50 years.

What do you say when ghosts appear?

I say it's Halloween.

FRIDAY ASSEMBLY

Friday, October 20, our assembly was in our new gymnasium where Mr. Fulcher presented some of the Junior High boxers. Weidon Miles defeated Austin Fuller; Albert Dahlem defeated Hermon Moon; Raymond Moore and Thomas Franklin defeated R. C. Alexander. We enjoyed the boxing very much. Mr. Fulcher says he will give us more boxing throughout the year.

—Willie Nell Grisham

HIKE AND BREAKFAST

The Rabbit Twister club enjoyed an early hike Saturday morning. Cars took the hikers part of the way and they walked the rest of the way. They enjoyed cooking their breakfast. After breakfast they hunted for arrowheads.

—Doris Laverne Hague

WEDNESDAY ASSEMBLY

The pupils of Junior High school enjoyed hearing the talk, "The Polish Things of Life," that Brother Mueller brought us. We appreciated his talk very much and will try to profit by it.

DURING the common cold months, or winter season, it is especially important to take every precaution to protect your health. Quick changes of temperature should be avoided. Sudden changes of temperature, such as occur when going from a warm room into a cold one, make it easy for you to "catch cold."
* Don't give a common cold an even break.

Prevention is the best remedy. However, if you should catch cold, consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.

For your health's sake, and to obtain the greatest value from the fuel you use, heat your entire house and provide adequate

OUR WEEKLY SERMON REFINING FIRES

Misfortune and suffering constitute the refining fires which produce the jewels in human character, and education and study combine as the lapidary which does away with the dross and polishes the gem and fits it for the setting for which it was intended.

Persons are much like gems in another way. The gems know not why they are subjected to the lapidary's treatment, but they come out beautiful and bright because of it. Human beings know not always why they are made to suffer and sorrow, to experience the pangs of pain and the tears of grief, but the Divine Lapidary does.

Muscles are strengthened by exercise, mind is quickened by study, character is made beautiful by the crucible of human experience, and spiritual exaltation is attained through suffering. "Afflictions, though they seem severe, are oft in mercy sent."

How often we find that the very troubles about which we most complain have been the means of lifting us to higher and better things.

How often the sorrows which break our hearts cause us to seek the consolation that only the Deity can give, and thus are drawn nearer to Him and to heaven.

But the most precious of all precious stones is "the Stone which the builders rejected."

It not only converts baser metals into finer ones, but baser materials into precious stones which shall adorn His brow "while the years of eternity roll."

"The flame shall not hurt thee; I only design
Thy dross to consume and thy gold to refine."

PKKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

There was no advance notice of the blimp's passing by, and so its appearance in the Sunday afternoon sky took everybody by surprise—everybody who happened to be looking that it. . . . One woman remarked that when she first saw it she was quite sure for an instant that Hitler had come. . . . The blimp made an emergency landing at the Sweetwater airport, being moored to a hastily provided mooring mast after a tussle of more than six hours. . . . The Walter Whipkeys, enroute home from the Baylor-Aggle game at College Station, witnessed part of that struggle, as did others from here who happened to be passing along the highway while the battle was going on. . . .

This column was in the market for a new astronomer last Friday night when the moon remained blandly round and golden and clear-edged long past the hour we had set for the beginning of its eclipse. . . . We still think we've got a mental anguish suit against somebody—the man in the moon, maybe—because of certain subtle remarks made by our football game neighbors when the eclipse didn't materialize as promised by game-ending time. . . . Although the next day's papers still maintained that the eclipse really began before 10 o'clock, we'll stand pat on the fact that it couldn't be discerned until after 10 o'clock—and we were looking close, just to see who had gone haywire. . . . At 12:45 (we used the trusty alarm clock) the moon was a dull smoked copper disc with a thin gold edging on one side, high overhead in a midnight blue sky where stars had been brightening and multiplying ever since the shadow began thinning the moonlight. . . .

Pleasing names, picked at random: Neal Prichard, . . . Roy Davis Coles, . . . Don Wallace, . . . Princess Martin, . . . Lee Annis Jay, . . . Paul Gray, . . . Jane Machia, . . . Sue Simons, . . . Friends of the George Mahons have received word that Mrs. Mahon and Daphne will not undertake to return to Texas this fall because Daphne is in the midst of her school term, although Congressman Mahon intends to visit in the district for a few weeks some time after the adjournment of the special session, which is generally expected to end around Nov. 15. . . .

For the most expressive blue eyes and the most kewpie-like face of any youngster in Mitchell county, we nominate little Carol Blasingame, daughter of the Don Blasingames of Buford. . . .

It's quite a time we've had with our "matrimonial" prediction this week. . . . When we first picked it up, we were quite gleeful because this column has been woefully short on romance lately. . . . Then it seemed to fizzle, because we heard it whispered that the event we were so anxious to predict had already taken place in secret. . . . But now the whispers have fizzled, and we venture once more to promise that by next week we'll have a wedding of considerable interest to grace the society page. . . .

From the 50-years-ago column of the Dallas News: "Rev. Robert B. Palmer, recently pastor of the Presbyterian church at Colorado, died yesterday after an extended illness at the home of his brother, Ed G. Palmer, in Corsicana."

Nobody's going to get ahead of Sallie Low (Mrs. Harry) Ragan, it seems. . . . When she received an "autumn leaf" invitation in verse to the London Bridge party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Doss last week, she promptly did her RSVP-ing thus: "Come, said the autumn leaf, to the Dosses and play Seven-thirty the hour and Thursday the day."

I'll hustle and bustle and be there on time—I know there'll be fun and the pleasure'll be mine!"

Nominated for the originator of the week's most expressive comment: Chuck Wadzeck, who smoothed down J. Wiley Holmes' new suede cloth jacket and said, "It feels just like a cat a-purring."

Whenever there's a community gathering of note in Mitchell county, it's safe to expect Judge and Mrs. W. P. Leslie of Eastland, if they can possibly get here. . . . They were at the Buford Methodist church dedication and homecoming Sunday, having the best time of anybody. . . . Sitting on one of the state's higher tribunals these several years hasn't lessened Judge Leslie's appetite for "dinner on the ground" one whit. . . . To put it his own way, he "et". . . . We have mentioned Mrs. Leslie's beauty in this column before, and at the risk of seeming fulsome, we are mentioning it again—we just can't help it, because she is beautiful, and we are struck with it anew every time we see her. . . . As for Judge Leslie, he has thoroughly absorbed the dignity of his justiceship without letting it absorb him or change him in any way. . . . He still has the quiet humor, the intelligent attentiveness, and the quick, deep interest in people and happenings which have always characterized him. . . .

When W. A. Crowder's 89th birthday arrived last week, George Blair and Jim Jamson, who have lived at the Crowder home for the past several years, surprised him with a birthday dinner. . . . It must have been a rare treat, for two people with so much cooking experience must be super-good when they're really trying to outdo themselves. . . .

A familiar figure was missing from Colorado City streets and alleys Tuesday night—Halloween night, when he would have been testing supposed-to-be locked doors with extra thoroughness because of the pranksters at large. . . . Porter Mosley was a faithful nightwatchman, an always friendly and obliging officer. . . . Colorado Citizens will miss him. . . .

The cover page of the November issue of "House and Garden," a double edition devoted to homes of the "Deep South," should be of special interest to Mitchell countians because one of the costumed women appearing in that cover page picture is Louise (Mrs. Sam) Geisenberger of Natchez, Miss., best-remembered here as Louise Wulfjen, daughter of the Bert Wulfjens. . . . The picture is a colored photograph of the stately columned front of one of the famous "Old South" homes in Natchez with men and women in the romantic attire of pre-Civil War days grouped about. . . . Louise is shown beside

There was the usual downtown "spooking" Tuesday night, though perhaps the throng of children was off a bit from previous years because of the big school parties. . . . Anyway, there were enough of them left to set the eardrums vibrating. . . . Little Mary Ruth Shell summed the whole spooking business up thusly: "But I'm really not a spook, Mother—I'm just Mary Ruth."

DON'T GIVE A COLD AN EVEN BREAK!

DURING the common cold months, or winter season, it is especially important to take every precaution to protect your health. Quick changes of temperature should be avoided. Sudden changes of temperature, such as occur when going from a warm room into a cold one, make it easy for you to "catch cold."

* Don't give a common cold an even break.

Prevention is the best remedy. However, if you should catch cold, consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.

For your health's sake, and to obtain the greatest value from the fuel you use, heat your entire house and provide adequate ventilation during the short winter season.

"Didn't you ever want to run away from home and join the circus?" we wondered.

"No, I had such a lovely home that the thought never occurred to me," he replied.

Mr. Thomas is an enthusiastic football fan. He also likes baseball, hunting, fishing, and (although he hasn't recently) he used to play golf. By the way, he is first vice-president of the Lion's club at Colorado City.

Lee Strain

Mr. Strain was born in McCrory, Arkansas, in Woodruff county. He lived there about 10 years. Then he moved to East Texas and remained there about 5 years. Leaving East Texas, he came to Fairview, and has lived there up to the present time.

Lee is a farmer and he has always been one. His hobbies are hunting and raising livestock. Mr. Strain has three daughters, two who are in C.H.S. They are Minnie Lee and Irene. In July, 1918 he became active in the World War, and he remained active until August, 1919. Lee belongs to the Methodist church and also the Masonic Order.

FOOTBALL GAME

Last Tuesday the High school Jackrabbits played the Dunn Owls here under the Cantrill Field lights. The Jackrabbits played a good game but they were defeated 31-0. The Dunn boys weighed a little more than the high school boys and had much more experience. The Jackrabbits play Hermleigh Friday afternoon on Cantrill field and this promises to be a real game. Earlier in the season the Jackrabbits played the Cardinals and were defeated by a small score of 6-0. Everyone come and see this game. The admission 10c to all.

of 'em we're still yelling. . . .

Who?
Those Colorado Wolves of course. Haven't you heard? The Wolves beat our southern neighbors Friday night by a score of 13-6.

With no scores made during the first half, the Wolves came out at the beginning of the last half with a determination to break the tie with the Steers from the little cowtown. However that was easier said than done. . . . Finally after many unsuccessful attempts fullback Jack (Bullet) Smith pushed through the Robert Lee line for the first tally of the game. The play for the extra point failed.

Soon after, a pass from the arm of little Johnnie (Davey O'Brien) Grubbs to end, Burl Ballard, who stepped off the remaining five yards across the little white line, resulted in the last score made by the Wolves. Johnnie kicked the extra point.

Near the end of the game a fumble by the Wolves gave the Steers their scoring opportunity which they made good. Their only score. . . .

Although the game was a non-conference one, it proved to be very interesting. We want you all out week after next to see the Wolves manhandle those Rotan Yellowhammers. The game is scheduled for November 11, which comes on Saturday. We are endeavoring to get it played on the preceding Friday night, Nov. 10.

IN LOVING HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Malvin King of Big Spring arrived Sunday to spend a few days with Mrs. King's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Loving. They were accompanied by Mackey Loving, who had been their guest over the week-end.
