PARTY DOWNTOWN

Santa Claus Visit Set Monday Night

Monday night, Nov. 30, will see the formal opening of the Christmas holiday season in Colorado City.

Santa Claus will ride the Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department truck to town Monday night for the first of two visits. He has promised to make a stop here. His first visit signals the coming of Christmas and the traditional Christmas spirit.

From seven until nine o'clock, Santa Claus will be at his stopping point, corner of 2nd and Elm Sts. (between Anthony's and Roberts Butane stores) in the downtown area.

Another big feature of the Monday evening pre-holiday celebration in town will be the turning on of the brightly colored Christmas lights which annually decorate the business district.

All stores will be open for business during the Santa Claus special hours, 7 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Candy favors for children will be given by Santa Claus to "All the good little girls and boys" who come to greet him.

There will be music to add festive notes to the gala night. Colorado High School Wolf Band will play a concert of Christmas music and other music of varied theme as the expected crowds gather for this season's first all-town Christmas party.

Wolf Band, made up of 117 musicians directed by Dwight Tomb, will present their band concert in front of Civic House, between 1st and 2nd Sts. on Elm. Musical program is scheduled for 7:15 p. m. and will last for about 20 minutes.

Throughout the two-hour open house party in downtown stores there will be the Mystery Shopper. Identity of that Mystery Shopper is a secret but the shopper will roam in and out of stores with pleasant surprises for lucky partygoers.

Gift certificates from stores taking part in the downtown party will be handed out as the Mystery Shopper makes the rounds from store to store.

Those gift certificates may be exchanged for valuable gifts by the lucky recipients of the surprise envelopes.

Monday night, Dec. 7, Santa Claus will circle back to Colorado City and a second downtown Christmas celebration is planned.

While we realize we have disturbed you, just think what electricity will mean to these people.

It has brought a new way of life to thousands of rural people. Uses for electricity are multiplying like... if you'll excuse the expression... like rabbits. And Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative, Inc. must stay ahead of demand, so dig another burrow close by. You'll be safe there... until the next rural family calls for service.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. PRESENT SWEETHARTS

Wolves & Wolverines
Celebrated at Banquet

"As one who saw every one of your 10 games this season, let me compliment you," Bob Rely told members of the Wolf football squad here Saturday night.

Rely, a former coach, made the chief address for the annual banquet, featuring Wolf football team with Wolverines, CHS pep squad girls, as hostesses. The Saturday evening banquet was served in the Terrace Room, Baker Hotel.

Rely was introduced by Jeff Taylor, president of the Quarterback Club. The speaker complimented the Wolves as "outstanding in three respects. You went on the field with the intention of being the best football player and the best team you were capable of. You gave it all you had to win—close to maximum capabilities. And you never quit fighting, regardless of the score of how it was in the game."

SANTA CLAUS —

fore he returns to North Pole — Mr. Claus will visit stores downtown and will again have candy to give away to eager little hands.

Dec. 7 also heralds the judging of the Light a Window contest being sponsored by Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce.

Rev. Neil Rogers, chairman of the Jaycees Religious activities committee, has announced that prizes will be awarded to organizations taking part. Theme of the Light a Window contest this year is "Keep Christ in Christmas" and all organizations are invited to participate.

First prize will be $50, second prize, $25 and third prize is to be $12.50.

Down town windows for decorating in the religious theme are still available at the office of the Chamber of Commerce. Deadline for entering the Light a Window contest is Friday, Dec. 4. Clubs, church organizations, Sunday School classes, school organizations are invited to enter the contest planned to add beauty and reverence to the season's business district.

To date, these organizations have entered the competition: Winsome Sunday School Class, Calvary Baptist Church; Hosperian Study Club; 1949 Study Club; Future Farmers of America; Colorado High School; Maranatha Study Club; Girls Athletic Department, Colorado High School.

Each Monday evening from Nov. 30 through Monday, Dec. 23, stores will be open for the convenience of shoppers, Mrs. Bob Carver, chairman of the Chamber's Christmas planning committee has announced.

the county will be County Judge Martin.

Economics of the lake picture will be vigorously discussed by Robinson and by Dr. Bill Rhode.

It was noted by citizens attending the Wednesday break-out the cost of a dam at the Coke County site at $12,800,000. Cost of construction at the previously approved site in Mitchell County was estimated at $11,860,000.

Lorraine and Westbrook sister towns of Colorado City in Mitchell County will be represented by their mayors, Dr. Bruce Johnson and D. A. Gleshey. Ronald Bruce, president of Lorraine Lions Club is also expected to be a spokesman for Lorraine.

Gus D. Chesnev, president of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, will accompany the group to speak the local Chamber's position on the sudden switch from the original site, already approved by TWA, to a neighboring county.

Loss the dam site will end hopes of a Colorado River dam, for Mitchell County, civic leaders interested in the future of water declared. City and County leaders plan, they said, to take their fight with the CRMD decision to Austin and to the Texas Water Commission hearing.

Rely praised the game of football as a voluntary program of enjoyment, as a means of learning team work and the ability to work and live with others.

"You can not fake it or slack it," he said. "Football requires self discipline and self choice."

"As society becomes more complex, there are more and more things we have to do. We have no choice. Football is one of the things we make a choice. . . . and if we decide it is the thing we want to do, then we must also decide that we are willing to make the sacrifices involved and accept the self-discipline involved. . . . There are some things to give up."

"Football calls for the best. A 50 percent of 71 percent effort by a football player is not accepted. The game requires 100 percent effort. I think this is the greatest contribution of football—the development of fortitude and courage," Rely told banquet guests.

Preceding the main address Taylor gave the welcome address. Frank W. Wilson, Colorado Public Schools superintendent, introduced Joe Burchard, Colorado High School principal. Burchard introduced Truman Nix, head football coach and athletic director; Ray Morgan, line coach for varsity squad; and Caddo Matthews, coach of the B team.

Annual awards, a surprise until banquet night, went to Reggie Noble as "Hustlingest" Wolf of the season. Noble, linebacker was outstanding in Wolf defense all season.

Colorado City Record's "E" award was presented to Perry Millsap. The engraved trophy goes each year to the football player showing the most effort in order to play. Millsap, dogged by a knee injury, made the season on effort. Coach Nix presented the "Hustlingest" and the "E" trophies.

Wolf Sweetheart, Miss Cheryl Nunley, was presented by the three captains of the Wolf team this year, Paul Yeager, Dee Dearen and Mike Mundy. The captains also presented gifts to Nix and Morgan.

Roger Proctor, elected Wolverine Sweetheart by the Colorado High School girls pep squad, was presented by Miss Pam Pratt, president of the Wolverines.

The program was opened with an invocation said by Miss Jan Williams, chaplain of the high school student council. Two musical numbers were given by Miss Martha Putman, soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Nell Rogers. Benediction was spoken by Rev. Matthews, the coach who is pastor of Plainview Baptist Church.

Decorative theme of the dinner party was "Autumn Mist" with colorful leaves used lavishly on tables and walls.

Ruth Coffey's CONVERSATION CORNER

SOME YEARS ago when the son and the daughter were little, they learned to sing a little song of thankfulness at Sunday School. Every now and then, even now, words and melody of that Thank You song echo in the heart . . . and across the years.

Thank You for the world so sweet
Thank You for the food we eat
Thank You for the birds that sing
Thank You, God . . . for everything.

ONE COULD search English literature throughout ages of praises . . . and not find a Thanksgiving of more eloquent phrases.

Thank You for the world so sweet . . . for the sun that warms the day . . . stars that sparkle at night. For rivers and oceans . . . Majestic, tall trees . . . For flowers . . . For full moons . . . For all of these.

Thank You for the seasons to give spirits a lift. Thank You for making weather . . . it's such a wonderful gift!

THANK YOU for the food we eat. And forgive us when we forget to speak our gratitude . . . for bright berries and fruit and bountiful grain . . . For every good thing that grows. Thank You again.

Thank You for the birds that sing . . . For earth's songs that echo in ears listening . . . The soft sound of rain and the high notes of wind . . . for rustling of leaves as the old branches bend. Thank You for every enchanting sound . . . songs and laughter of children, when they're around.

THANK YOU, GOD . . . for everything. Thank You for warm houses . . . For families to love. Thank You for dear memories . . . Sweet hopes we dream of. Thank You for friends along the way . . . Thank You for comforting words they say.

Thank You for home, where love shuts out the day, time defeat, weariness . . . doubt.

Thank You for work by day and sleep by night. Thank You for the blessed sight of each new morning . . . Be it winter or spring. Oh, Thank You, God, for every thing!

Thank You, too, for teaching hearts to be glad . . . for blessing in disguise—they've had.

KNOW what a blessing in disguise is? It's a good thing which never comes gift-wrapped. It's a bad beginning with a good ending.

It can be a frustration that turns into an incentive. It can be a misfortune that, once the mask of tears is removed from your eyes, turns out to be a thing of purpose and deep meaning.

It can be anything that looks worse but proves itself to be better, in the long run, than you ever dared to dream. A blessing in disguise can be a bitter cup. You taste just before the REAL YOU can stand up.

OFF THE CUFF: Saw our Linnie Thompson (Mrs. Sam) on the downtown scene, wagging a big toy for her little granddaughter, child of her daughter Sue and her husband Bill Mathis of Midland.

The little girl was scheduled for a tonsillectomy this week. Hear tell Mrs. Will Betty took off for Austin and is to join her daughter Billie's two sons in Austin where they both go to school. She'll spend Thanksgiving in Mexico where Billie's husband is a doctor.

THANKSGIVING in this town will find the Randles, Bill and Josie Ree, hosts to their daughter Ann, her children Randy and Jill, and for the big-day dinner, her husband Eddie Davis, all of Lubbock.

The McCords, Maule and E. S., will have the Ralph Milburns as dinner guests. Lucille and Oren B. Tallock and their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Winters of Borger, will join Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harris for Thanksgiving in their Ozona home. Mrs. Winters, Mrs. Harris and our Lucille Tallock are sisters. Lucille, by the way, spent two weeks, recently as guest in the home of her son Captain C. A. Wilkins, his wife Marian and their children Cecile and Walter in Tucson, Arizona.

THE OSCAR PRICE family, Lola, her two daughters, her son and their families will keep Thanksgiving in their traditional family way.

Mrs. Price, daughter Mary her husband Jack Womack and their sons Price and Kyle, plus Bob Price, his wife Rebecca (nee Cole) and their sons David and Doug, will board the night train at Snyder (the Santa Fe) to go to Houston together.

In Houston they will be guests in the home of Nancy, the elder Price daughter, her husband Earl Neal and their sons Byron and Mark.

The pullman trips to Houston for turkey day were started by the late Mr. Price as a special treat for the Price children and grandchildren. Isn't it nice that the trips to Houston have become standard procedure for the family's Thanksgiving season?

THE RALPH LEES and Mrs. J. D. Norman plus Irene Norman, teacher in Brownfield, will meet Rodney Lee, Waco attorney, his wife Sara (nee Norman) and their children Rebecca and Ralph Norman at the Coleman home of Barney and Jane Norman Popcoe and their son Jeff.

Up at the Hickory St. home of Mrs. L. A. Costin

there will be a family gathering. Hazel Costin will be here from Odessa, coming from Magnolia Arkansas, are the Costin daughter Cecil and her husband Clarence Du-hon.

To drive over and join the family are Ben and Bertie Thelma (Lipps) Costin and their son Bonnie, now of Big Spring.

RAYMOND FULLER, wife Virginia and daughters Terry and Judy Myers, will spend Thanksgiving with Virginia's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Tayman in Stamford.

Our Mary Ruth Rudd, wife of Dr. Laurence H. Rudd, will be spending the holiday in Harris, Methodist Hospital, Worth, for treatment. A Thanksgiving party for the Rudds and their daughter Ann, her husband Louis Lester and their son will be postponed until Mary Ruth is released from the hospital. Ann and her family live in Richardson, a Dallas suburb.

HOME of Naomi and Dr. Bill Rhode will be scene of a family celebration, joined with their daughter Susan, student in Perkins School of Theology, S. M. U., her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cost-nut, Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Rhode, Mrs. W. W. Rhode, mother of the two doctors, Congressman George Mahon and his wife Helen as shar-ers of the feast. Mrs. Mahon is sister of Mrs. W. W. Rhode, you'll remember.

Younger daughter of the Bill Rhode household, Ann, will spend Thanksgiving with her father's youngest brother, Alred Rhode, and his wife in Wilmington, Delaware. Ann's a freshman in Wellesley.

COMING to town as guests of Bill and Nettie Doss are Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Foster and their son James of San Antonio. Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Doss are sisters. The Philip Bermans, back recently from a Good Neighbor meeting in Big D, will stay home for Thanksgiving. Ditto Mabel Smith.

BILBERRYS, Henry and Luna, are aglow with the idea of having both their daughters here for the holiday. And their grandson! Their daughter Carolyn, her husband Charles Black and their little son Chuck will be here from Post.

Daughter Judy and her husband Arthur Barnes students in University of Oklahoma, will be from Norman, Okla.

P. S. Historical Museum will be open Thursday afternoon (Thanksgiving Day) according to a call from Lois Burns (Mrs. Douglas).

A visit to the Colorado City Historical Museum, 3rd & Chestnut Sts., might be a fine way to entertain out-of-town guests for a while after dinner.

Holiday Visitors In Costin Home

Visiting in the home of Mrs. L. A. Costin for Thanksgiving will be Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Du-hon of Magnolia, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Ben Costin and family of Big Spring and Mrs. Hazel Costin of Odessa.

BLESSINGS

One of the richest blessings this Thanksgiving season is that none of us need grope and hunt for something about which to be thankful.

Our blessings, really, are piled high . . . in every path of our everyday living. And among the finest of these, of course, are the friendships and fellowships which make our community extraordinary.

While you rest and count these good things this Thanksgiving . . . tie a string around your finger for remembering our annual anniversary sale starts next Monday. PLANS RELATED FOR

Winter Scewworm Program

Eradication workers are plotting their strategy for combating scewworms this winter which they hope will eliminate the threat of reinfection of the United States by the livestock pest in 1965.

Their plan is to release all available sterile scewworm flies up to 200 miles or more below the international border along both east and west coasts of Mexico where large numbers of native scewworms live throughout the winter.

Sterile males mate with native females and prevent reproduction. This action is expected to weaken Mexican scewworm colonies which form the principal threat to the Southwest and slow the northward migration of the insects next spring.

Eradicators' ability to carry out this plan hinges on whether the number of scewworm cases in Texas can first be brought to an absolute minimum. If scewworms persist in Texas, it will require diverting sterile flies, airplanes and manpower from the task of strengthening the barrier zone in Mexico to fighting small but costly outbreaks in Texas.

Each infestation in Texas costs approximately $750 to treat with sterile flies, field inspection and spray. For the same amount of money, one million sterile flies could be dispersed in Mexico where they would help protect against reinvasion from the south in 1965.

A mild winter, which would allow scewworms to survive and build up in numbers in much of the southern part of the state, would be particularly harmful to the program, authorities said. They fear stockmen may stop looking for scewworms because of the low number of cases experienced this year and the prospects of cold weather ahead.

Success of their strategy, therefore, will depend on farmers and ranchers detecting and reporting scewworm infestations before they can multiply, so that emergency treatment can be provided. Treatment of animal wounds with smears is also called for to ward off scewworm attack.

ORGANIZING AGAINST POVERTY

Neighborhood Youth Corps

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has launched the Neighborhood Youth Corps, one of the largest programs in this nation's war against poverty.

The corps will eventually enroll about 150,000 disadvantaged boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 21. It will provide part-time employment in public or private, non-profit institutions to enable students having financial difficulty to stay in school, to enable those who have left school for economic reasons to return, and to provide needed work experience for those permanently out of school and unemployed.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps, designated by that title, will be a part of the Department of Labor's Manpower Administration. The responsibility for its administration was delegated to the Secretary of Labor by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

"The Neighborhood Youth Corps programs," Secretary Wirtz said, "represent one of this nation's most ambitious and positive efforts in the conservation of the talents and development of the skills of our neglected young people."

"Most young Americans are well off. They go to good schools. They have promising futures."

"But far too many others have been born on a dead-end street. For these, the unskilled seeking work in a computer age, the children being raised in poverty, the young men and women struggling against slum environments, the economic progress of this nation is a meaningless set of statistics.

"We intend to do all that we can to make the future meaningful to the disadvantaged young," Wirtz said, "to make the idea of progress meaningful to make the possibility of good employment real. For many thousands of boys and girls, the employment provided by Youth Corps projects will be the exact difference between having no future as a high school drop-out and having a good future as a graduate."

"For thousands of others who have dropped out of school permanently, this program will rescue their job hopes by providing them with desperately needed work experience."

"The response so far to this program, even before it officially begins has been most encouraging. A small task force has been working in the Department for several weeks, preparing for the agency. And already, before this announcement today, almost 150 Neighborhood Youth Corps project proposals have come in from sponsors in 33 states."

"These projects alone, if approved," Wirtz said, "could assist 100,000 unemployed youths from poor families. For more than half of those young people, these proposals would enable them to remain in school and complete their education."

"The need is evident. The desire of the American people to meet that need is equally evident. Few things have given me more pleasure as Secretary of Labor than to be able to announce today that the Neighborhood Youth Corps is in business."

Jack Howard has been appointed director of the newly formed Neighborhood Youth Corps.

In his new post, Howard will direct arrangements for Federal contracts with local NYC sponsors—public and private non-profit agencies—who will provide young men and women between ages of 16 and 22 with jobs, supervision, counseling and training.

Howard, 40, a former newspaperman, brings a board background of government experience to his new war-on-poverty position.

As special assistant to the Under Secretary of Labor, he was active in the planning and operation of the Labor Department's Manpower Administration in its first year. He also played a major role in the establishment in 1963 of the Department of Labor's Apprenticeship Information Centers which are designed to increase youth employment opportunities.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Military Bases May Add Woes for Re-Districting

VERN SAMFORD

Texas Press Association State Representatives who were sworn to the 1965 Legislature on Monday have military matters very much on their minds.

Constituencies of those lawmakers with military bases in their districts stand to be affected by both federal and State proposals.

Some lawmakers were sworn in with the knowledge that many Federal workers in their districts stand to lose their jobs by U. S. Defense Department cutbacks. Operations will be cut at James Connally Air Force Base at Waco and Amarillo Air Force Base and cut down at Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene and Eagle Mountain Army maintenance facility at Fort Worth.

San Antonio bases and Carswell AFB at Fort Worth stand to gain by the big shift. And that also will present new problems for State Representatives.

REDISTRICTING — Congressional redistricting, one of the major problems facing the 1965 Legislature, may cause a headache for legislators whose districts embrace bases.

Bob Johns, executive director of the Texas Legislative Council, believes the Legislature could—if it chose—leave out military and State hospital populations in deciding the "population" of a county for redistricting purposes.

By state constitutional provision, persons in state mental hospitals cannot vote, nor can persons in military service who enlisted in other states. Therefore, they could be left out of population totals if the Congressional redistricting goal of "one man, one vote" is considered paramount.

However, Johnson conceded, that the mathematics involved in paring down population in communities as heavily military as, say, Bexar County might become so complicated that the legislature would choose to proceed on full population figures.

outer offshore boundary of 10.5 miles.

Controversy grew out of Louisiana's offer of two oil and gas lease tracts which lie in an area claimed by Texas, but also claimed by Louisiana. Governor Connally has requested Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr be brought into discussions, so he will be fully informed should the dispute travel to the U. S. Supreme Court.

INDUSTRIAL GROWTH

A study of UT's Bureau of Business Research's monthly reports on industrial growth from January through November shows that a total of 611 new plant locations and significant plant expansions were announced for Texas in those 11 months.

The Houston metropolitan area led all others with 126 new plants and expansions; Dallas with 11 was next; and Fort Worth, followed with 65. However, there were dozens of little towns which boasted big first-trial boosts.

COLLEGE FUND — Texas Commission on Higher Education has adopted a plan for distribution of $11,700,000 in federal building funds among 90 junior and senior colleges in 1965.

Forty-five per cent of points allocated to schools under the system must be based on projected enrollment increases and utilization of existing facilities.

Formal applications of schools can be submitted after the U. S. Office of Education approves the state of plan—probably about December 1. January 15 is deadline for applications.

RIO GRANDE WATER — Texas Water Commission has estimated Rio Grande Valley has water supplies to irrigate up to 680,000 acres over the requirement for municipal and industrial purposes.

ACCENT ON HEALTH

Symptoms Increase For 'Buck Fever'

BY J. E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health
For State of Texas

Have you ever heard of "buck fever"?

Chances are you have, if you've ever hunted—or listened to hunting tales, as most Texans have.

Few hunters—or deer, for that matter—ever die as a result of buck fever. This so-called fever or disease usually occurs when a hunter spots a deer and loses his head instead of being calm.

But over a hundred died last year and will this year from a symptom on this disease—light-headedness—although it is labeled "hunting accidents" in the books.

For example, who would ever climb up an unfamiliar tree in the dark, carrying a loaded gun—except on the first morning of deer season?

Who would ever put a loaded gun in the hands of an untrained teenager and turn him loose in the woods—except during deer season?

Or who would ever snake his way through a barbed wire fence, wagging a loaded rifle behind him—except during deer season?

And when would you ever choose a loaded rifle for a companion around the campfire or over a hot cup of coffee—except during a hunting excursion? Planning, preparedness and thoughtfulness would eliminate—many unnecessary hunting fatalities. Unloading your rifle before you climb a tree or go through a fence takes a few seconds—maybe even a minute—but why gamble a minute against your life?

If your youngster wants to hunt, prepare him before you take him out. Teach him gun-handling techniques and safety, or check in your community for gun-handling courses.

When you take time out from your hunting for coffee, a nap or supper, unload your gun. A loaded gun is a dangerous companion.

A cardinal rule for hunters of any kind and at any time is to make sure you know what you are shooting. Almost every year the headlines tell about someone who was mistaken and shot for a turkey, deer or game of some sort.

Buck fever is nothing to be ashamed of, but carelessness is. When you load your rifle this season—or any time, for that matter—leave your light-headedness behind.

(A feature from the Division of Public Health Education, Texas State Department of Health.)

LBJ RANCH — Orders involving President Johnson's ranch home near Stonewall from the Parks and Wildlife Commission and the State Highway Commission raised the question of whether tourists from Texas and elsewhere ever will get glimpses of the President at his "little White House" as Washington, D. C., visitors enjoy at the big White House.

Parks and Wildlife Commission authorized creation of a Lyndon B. Johnson State Park directly across from the LBJ Ranch. Commission said the proposed park—located on some 245 acres between Ranch Road 1 and Highway 290—would be created in cooperation with Gillespie County. Commission does not have authority to condemn land for parks but the County does.

The question came up a day later when the Texas Highway Commission granted the U. S. Secret Service's requested authority to restrict traffic on that part of Ranch Road 1 when President Johnson is there—in the interest of presidential safety.

The President returned home last Thursday and is due to remain on the LBJ Ranch until after Thanksgiving.

BORDER DISPUTE Gov. John Connally, Land Commission Jerry Sadler and Attorney Wilson Fox of Taylor, members of the State School Land Board, filed a protest with Louisiana's Board of Mineral Development over the Sabine River border dispute.

Area in dispute is the western half of the Sabine River and Sabine Lake and a pie-shaped wedge of the Gulf of Mexico pointed at the mouth of the Sabine and widening sharply until it reaches the line three miles out where Louisiana's offshore boundary lies. Beyond that point, the area extends to Texas.

West-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

Post for very good reason will give enthusiastic support to the proposition of a new state highway from Borger to Big Spring through Post.

The tourist business is more important than most folks hereabouts realize who aren't directly involved with it.

If the "short, scenic route to Oklahoma" approach can be sold at the Big Spring end, and the "Big Bend route" on the Oklahoma end considerable traffic each way could result.

Since there will be no cities on the route, the smaller communities will get all the business which develops along the 230-mile stretch.

Connecting up the Ralls and Gail highways through Post would bring the traffic right through the business district.

An organizational meeting is planned at a luncheon here Friday, Dec. 4, at which time the "pitch" will be prepared for a state highway destination for the route at the January meeting of the State Highway Commission in Austin.

The Borger Chamber of Commerce is the No. 1 backer of the project and if you look at a highway map it is easy to tell why Borger is simply without highways—and hence is minus the tourist business.

The reasoning behind the project is extremely logical. No highway construction will be necessary. It is an excellent scenic route for tourists going either way. It does avoid the time-consuming procedure of going around or through a big city.

Here is a good example of cooperative "Chamber of Commerce" effort which can produce real dividends for all the towns involved.

The Post Chamber reacted so enthusiastically that the organizational meeting was scheduled for Post.

— POST DISPATCH

Local organization have joined together to schedule a public meeting Tuesday to air the bracero situation.

With the bracero law (PL 78) due to expire on the last day of this year, Dawson individuals and groups have become quite concerned over the loss of a major labor source.

With a Labor Dept. hearing slated in Dallas early next month on the subject, the session here will air problems on the Dawson County scene, and what, if anything, can be done. Local farmers are also being urged to make plans to attend the Dallas session. Speak now or forever hold your peace would be appropriate in this instance.

— LAMESA REPORTER

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Our Laws Aren't Necessarily Legal

(Editor's Note: This article was prepared for Colorado City Record by State Bar of Texas.)

Our Constitution says Congress shall pass no bill of attainder nor any ex post facto law. The fear that our Parliament might repeat what the early English parliament did, lead our founding fathers to limit the power of Congress.

1. In a bill of attainder a legislative body punishes someone without a court trial, most often someone the lawmaker don't like.

2. After the Civil War, some northern states tried to keep Confederate supporters from suing in their courts. The U. S. Supreme Court said no; such laws punished without a fair trial.

In later years Congress has tried and then to penalize persons who have not cooperated with Congressional Investigating Committees, in one case by cutting their salaries and requiring Senate reconfirmation before they got paid. The U. S. Supreme Court held: The law is unconstitutional. Congress could not thus punish a person without a court trial.

Usually a bill of attainder strikes at a few persons by burdening them without fair warning or hearing.

Our legislature may penalize anyone who breaks its laws. If you don't pay your auto registration on time, you have to pay a penalty automatically. Such a penalty does not violate the bill of attainder clause.

Ex post facto laws would make crimes out of acts which when they were done were lawful. In one case a new law took away a court defense which had been allowed. In another case a state law cut the jurors allowed in a criminal trial from 12 to 8. The U. S. Supreme Court said that no such law could apply to past crimes. A person accused might be put to a disadvantage.

The ex post facto clause applies only to legislative acts, not to new court interpretations.

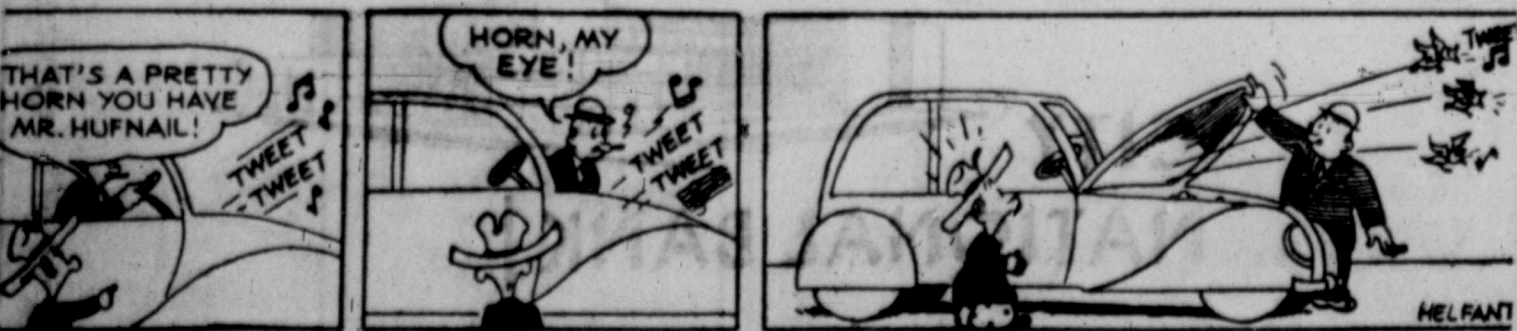

One law changed the punishment for murder from hanging to electrocution. The courts held the law valid. It did not change the punishment.

The procedure for the trial, or the rules of evidence may be revised if they do not add punishment or take away a protection.

(This new statute, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise.)

MARANATHA STUDY CLUB

'Hands' Is Theme For Club Meeting

"Hands" was the theme for the Maranatha Study Club Thursday afternoon.

Speakers for the meeting in the home of Mrs. Wayne Shaw were Mrs. Newt Miller and Mrs. P. H. Pace.

Subject for Mrs. Miller's talk was, "Hands," Mrs. Pace spoke on, "Meditations of A Preacher."

"Since our hands are so important in our living," Mrs. Miller said, "What kind of hands should we have?"

"The psalmist says that first of all, they must be clean hands. Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? And who shall stand in his holy place? He that has clean hands."

"The cleanliness of our hands depends upon the condition of our hearts. No one can have clean hands and an impure heart. One reason that the hand is so important is that the hand carries out what the mind plans. Our hands do as good or as evil as our mind directs them," said the speaker.

In closing, Mrs. Miller said, "God gave us our hands. He wants them to be clean, busy for him, and lifted often in prayer."

Mrs. Pace said, "The best preacher is the heart." "While we think with our heads, some of our best thinking comes when our hearts impel our heads. I wonder, if life, after all is so much a matter of logic as of love," said Mrs. Pace.

"The best teacher," Mrs. Pace said, "Is time. The best book is the world. The best friend is God."

"Amid all the changes which often confuse our faith, one unchanging fact is everywhere; God."

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Sam Bullock, the club voted to send two dollars to the Mitchell County TB Association, three dollars to United Fund, and $10. to Big Spring State Hospital.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to 10 members.

Next meeting will be Dec. 17 with Mrs. R. M. Reed as hostess.
